Think Of The Future

It is almost inconceivable that anyone would deliberately take any action which could be detrimental to their own future, as well as to the future of their entire county and area, yet that could easily be the case if more unionism is allowed to creep in.

Business and civic leaders and residents of the area would not be too concerned if this were merely a matter affecting a few workers, but this is a situation of far greater scope. It affects everyone as it affects the economy of the area, and the taxpayers who voted to pledge their credit in bonds to finance construction of industries to provide these workers with jobs. And it is not right for a few paid organizers from outside, who have no interest in the welfare of the county or its workers, to come in and try to upset the work and development to which so many have devoted such time, money and effort.

This guy from Fordyce, Arkansas didn't come to this area because he felt sorry for the workers here. No, he came strictly to get his hand in their pocketbook, and when and if he can get them signed up he won't be around to help them with their problems. He'll be off somewhere else spending their dues while he tries to organize another group.

The basic reason Northeast Mississippi has so much new industrial employment is that workers, management and the community have all cooperated and each one has done its part to make more jobs available. All efforts to build prosperity and to make better communities are like that.

Anyone who is seriously concerned with better job opportunities for himself or herself, who is concerned with making more and better jobs available for his or her family and friends needs to stop and realize the part that he or she is called on to play in creating these new and better job opportunities.

All the people of our area are proud of the reputation that our workers have earned during the past years. Our workers have a proven record of working with management, rather than against it. When community leaders seek to attract new industries to our area the greatest single advantage that our area has over any other area is that we can truthfully say that our friends and neighbors who work in local plants are cooperative and productive, that our people do not fight management but instead appreciate their jobs.

It has taken a long time to gain this reputation. It is our greatest single asset in the effort to gain more and better jobs for our people. A good reputation takes a long time to build, but it can be destroyed in a few moments.

Of course, management has its responsibilities also. Unless management is competent the business will fail. If a plant continues to lose money it will eventually have to close. Management has to be fair to its employees, but in order to even have any need for employees it must also be fair to its customers and to its stockholders.

Hundreds of citizens have given their time and energies to helping create a better community in which to live. These citizens who have spent their own money and worked long and hard to make more jobs available say with all sincerity to all the workers of the area: "Help the people of your area keep the good reputation that has done so much to bring new jobs to all our people."

Think of your own future, the future of your children, your friends and neighbors and their children, the future of your community, before you think of signing up for any union.

Local Officers Aid In Search For Lone Gunman Who Robbed Tupelo Bank

$16,800 Taken In Wed. Morning Holdup
Suspect Is Captured

Law officers of the City of Booneville and Prentiss County joined other officers from all over this area as well as FBI agents from Tupelo, Columbus and Memphis in a search Wednesday for a gunman who robbed the Crosstown Office of the Peoples Bank and Trust Co., Tupelo, of $16,800.

Despite concentrated efforts and road blocks it seemed late Wednesday afternoon that the robber had evaded capture.

However, Boyd Augustine Willis was apprehended at 6:45 three miles east of New Albany one mile off of Highway 30 on a country road. His car had gotten stuck earlier Wednesday afternoon and he had been in the woods, evidently trying to find someone to get the car out.

The car had been spotted earlier and when Patrol Chief Creekmore Wright, Mayor of Baldwin Bernard Coggins, an armed patrolman, R. J. Johnson, and FBI Agent Meter went with a wrecker to pick up the car they found Willis sitting in it. He surrendered, offering no resistance.

The money was recovered with the exception of $2,000, which was found about as quarter of a mile from where the car was parked. He was taken to the New Albany jail.

Sheriff Gerald Green worked Highways 4 and 30 and moved on to Baldwin as the search centered there. Police Chief W. W. Stacy in a 80 worked Highway 45 and Elton Barron in Unit 10 worked Lake City as reports were received that the wanted man was in that vicinity. The newly organized Citizen Band Operator Club had units all over the county.

From papers left in one of the cars the robber abandoned, he was identified as Boyd Willis, 45 years old, 5'10", red hair and weighing approximately 185 pounds. He is from Bowling Green, Ky., paroled March 10, 1964, from Levingworth Prison in Kansas and had served time in the Indiana State Prison. This identity was later verified after his capture.

The holdup occurred Wednesday morning, Mr. A. M. Furr, Vice-president and manager of the Crosstown Office told the Banner-Independent: "The gunman entered the bank at 9:02 and left at 9:04. There were witnesses to the time. He held up the four tellers — Mrs. Mary Metcalf, Mrs. Marjorie Coggins, Mrs. Wilma Wallis and myself. He got the money from all the four cash drawers. There was one customer in the bank and while the gunman was in here, two more entered. They were put in the corner with us and the other customer."

Mr. Furr said one of the customers at the First Baptist Church. The nursery will be open for those who have small children, ages birth through three.

all of you."

After he left the bank, officials sounded the alarm system notifying the police who were there in three minutes. The bank notified the FBI and they were also on the job in minutes.

The Booneville police were notified by radio shortly after 9 o'clock. Horace Thornton said they gave a description of the car as a black and white Chevrolet with an Alabama license. Later the description was changed to an Oldsmobile. Roy Horton assisted on the radio.

The gunman was reported to be in the Ellistown area, then east of Baldwin, then Wheeler, Marietta, Lake City, back to Baldwin. These reports were not verified by this newspaper.

Booneville police reported that Unit 71, with Creekmore Wright, Chief of District 4, stopped the gunman on Highway 370 east of Baldwin and was fired on 3 times. He returned the fire.

Mr. Wright pursued the car but lost track when the gunman pulled into Horace Long's Body Shop and at gunpoint took one of the cars. The scene shifted to the Paul England residence in Baldwin. Mr. and Mrs. England went to lunch at 11:30. Mr. England told the Banner-Independent, "We had been listening to the accounts on the radio. When I came around the door at my home, he drew the gun on me and made me go get Annie Ruth (his wife) who was still in the car. The car he had stolen, a 1956 black and white Chevrolet, was in the garage. He tied us both on the bed with neckties. He seemed calm and apologized, saying, 'I want to get away and I don't want to get caught.' He took off his shirt and got one of mine from the closet. He also got my hat and overcoat. He took a red-checked suitcase, put the money in it and showed the money to us. He seemed to be about 6 feet tall, red hair, rough complexion and in his 40's. I would say he weighed 170 pounds. He did not threaten us. He asked for the car keys and did not take the others. We were in the house about 45 minutes. We got loose soon after he left and notified the police."

The robber took the 1962 Ford car belonging to the Englands.

CORFAM — THE NEW MATERIAL FOR SHOES

With the Easter season in full swing, a timely interest centers around clothes and accessories.

Corfam, a new material, is making its appearance in some shoe departments. Corfam is a material that is being developed to make the upper parts of shoes.

In addition to breathability, comfort, shape, retention and ease of care, this new shoe upper material is also noted for its scuff and abrasive resistance, lightness of weight, and indifference to weather.

Corfam has so much to offer we think it must be almost too good to be true. In fact, we thought the price might be the discouraging feature. However, in recent magazine and newspaper ads the cost of shoes made of this material seems to be of around average price.

So, the new shoe seems to be that Corfam is manufactured only in small amounts and so shoes of the material are not too easy to find.

By late 1964 it is expected to be in full production at a plant being built in Old Hickory, Tenn.

Men's shoes will be black, white, russet and brown, in both smooth and grained effects. Women's shoes will be in smooth, grained and napped surfaces in a broad array of colors. The napped material has the new look and feel of the finest napped and sueded surfaces and will not rub off on stockings.

Corfam can be cleaned with soap and water... even the soft-napped version. In surfaces other than the napped, it usually requires only wiping with a damp cloth or tissue, followed by a quick buffing with a dry cloth. Water spots as well as soiling disappear quickly in the easy "wipe-and-wear" fashion. If you prefer a brilliant shine, Corfam readily accepts shoe polishes and holds a shine well.

If you buy shoes made from Corfam, be sure they fit properly. You need not allow them to stretch into shape later, for they will fit comfortably from the first wearing. They will look better longer, because they resist stretching out of shape.

EASTER EGGS

For those of you who will be cooperating with the children and the Easter bunny in preparing Easter eggs, remember the eggs may be hard-cooked or "blown" before they are dyed.

To hard-cook eggs, wash them, then put them in a pan and cover completely with cold water. Bring water to simmering and simmer 20 to 25 minutes. Do not let the water boil.

To blow an egg, puncture both ends with a sharp-pointed instrument. A pick or sharp-pointed skewer will do the job. Make sure you puncture the inner membrane of the egg. Make a hole about the size of a small pea. Hold the egg over a bowl and blow through one hole until all the contents are spilled out the other hole. Rinse the shell in cool water.

WHEN WASHING WINDOWS, dry the glass with crumpled newspaper. The result is a crystal-clear shine.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

1963 — A RECORD FARM YEAR
Cotton is still "King" in Mississippi. 1963 yield of 709 pounds per acre is an all time record for the state.

A new record in total production of soybeans was also set in 1963 with 25 million bushels produced. Beans produced $65 million for Mississippi farmers.

Rice yields per acre set a new record of 3,900 pounds — a 500 pound increase over the previous record.

Pecans produced record crops totaling 27 million pounds. Corn yields were the second highest ever in the state.

Mississippi growers also reached new highs in numbers of commercial layers, total eggs produced, number of eggs per hen and in broiler production.

A new record was set in 1963 in total milk production per cow.

With all of these increases, Mississippi farmers also set a new record in farm income. The preliminary report places farm income at $788 million, a 13 per cent increase over the previous high of $697 million. Gross income per farm also reached a record. In 1963 this was $7,406—an increase of 17 per cent above the previous record.

A breakdown of sources of income to Mississippi farmers shows that crops accounted for 62 per cent of the total and livestock and livestock products accounted for 38 per cent.

CHEMICAL WEED CONTROL IN COTTON

Planning to use chemicals to control weeds this year in your cotton? If so, when preparing the seedbed is the time to be sure that you get the field set up properly for use of the chemicals and for flaming. We can help you on this.

Some suggested chemicals to use include CIPC, Karmex (diuron), Telvar (monuron).

Reflex has created a lot of interest. Only one year's test results are available. But the material shows promise. To get results claimed by the manufacturer, reflex must be incorporated into the soil.

Some post emergence treatments recommended include: herbicidal oil when cotton is two to six inches tall; diuron plus surfactant for cotton over six inches tall; DMA plus surfactant for cotton three inches tall to first bloom; flame cultivation for cotton eight to ten inches tall. For lay-by, Karmex is recommended.

COUNTY CONTEST

If you haven't enrolled in the County Pasture, Forestry, and Cotton Contest, you are urged to do so. Valuable awards are offered in each.

By carrying out recommended practices in each of these contests you will profit whether you are a county winner or not.

Red River Campaign Begins In Louisiana

By LON K. SAVAGE

During the busy month of March 1864, while big changes were in the making in Washington, Gen. Nathaniel Banks undertook a new Federal campaign that was destined to become a historical flop.

It was the famous "Red River Campaign," designed to reduce the state of Louisiana, restore the Union flag over Texas and recommence the flow of cotton from Texas to the North. Authorities in Washington had promoted the plan and Banks dutifully set out to execute it.

On March 10, therefore, the campaign opened when a fleet of 13 ironclads and seven gunboats, followed by 30 transports carrying 10,000 troops, dropped down the Mississippi River from Vicksburg and turned westward into the Red River.

So far so good. The fleet—under the veteran Admiral David D. Porter—was the strongest ever assembled on a river, and more men were coming. Up from New Orleans, Banks was to lead another 20,000 troops to meet Porter's fleet at Alexandria, deep in Confederate held territory of central Louisiana.

Good Start

Porter did his job well. His fleet moved up the Red River and landed the 10,000 troops at Simsport on the 13th. The soldiers, under Gen. A. J. Smith, attacked Fort De Russy near Alexandria and drove out or captured the Confederate defenders.

Porter slowly brought his fleet on upstream, clearing the river of obstructions, while Smith's men marched smartly 10 more miles to Alexandria. Everyone arrived on the 14th, as Confederates fell back hastily.

Then trouble began developing. Banks' army didn't appear at the rendezvous point until the 18th, and Banks and the rest of his men were not on hand for another week. Finally, on the 26th, Banks, Porter, Smith, the fleet and 30,000 men were ready to march on.

Confederates

Confederates in the state had mobilized in the meantime. As the first Federals marched into Alexandria, Confederate Gen. Richard Taylor was not far away, leading his 11,000 men in a hasty 70-mile retreat through pine woods toward Shreveport. Gen. E. Kirby Smith, commander of the Confederacy's department of the Mississippi, was firing off messages calling for support. Gen. Sterling Price in Arkansas was to send 5,000 troops; more were called in from Shreveport and surrounding territory.

As March ended, Banks began pushing farther up the river, where a long line of well-prepared Confederates awaited.

SWEETPOTATO PLANT GROWERS' LIST

A list of all Mississippi Certified Sweetpotato Plant Growers is being prepared and will be ready for distribution by the first week in April. Request for the list should be addressed to the State Plant Board at State College. This list will contain the names and addresses of the certified growers and will also give the varieties and bushels bedded for production of plants. Certified sweetpotato plants are tied in bundles of 100 with official certificate tape which gives the grower's number and year of production. The sweetpotato tape this year has purple edges and is printed in purple ink.

Public Relations Notebook

By Neil Woodruff, Asst. Professor of Journalism, MSCW

Almost traditionally, every generation has come through with some unique tales about the "good ole days." Things are never quite like those which our parents and grandparents relish telling to each other. The thought occurs that this generation may come up short on this count. When you look about and see the mad pace of the world today, it appears almost impossible to think of ever being able to relate our good ole days to our children and grandchildren and have them even compare closely to the colorful and inspiring stories of the older generation.

However, there is one thread of several generations which remains with us today, even though it has been modernized in many ways. Reference is to barber shops and to their more modern counterpart, beauty parlors. The nearest thing to the faded old general store where men of the community gathered to swap yarns can be found in our barber shops of today.

Many things are missing from the olden scene. Few if any barbers still harmonize away the hours in the famed barber shop quartet fashion. And you won't find too many barber shops which relish shaving a man's whiskers off today. Actually, shaving, which was once perhaps equal to the haircut, is fading from the barber shop scene.

But the main element of this traditional old enterprise is still present. It is one of the few places where upon entering a man can really relax and enjoy the atmosphere and forget the cares of the day. Barbering is a real personal service. Barbers have to be good public relations persons or they will suffer. They are wholly dependent upon their service to customers. Most barbers become expert conversationalists because it is natural and almost necessary to their work.

Barber shops are one place where men relax and talk about the things in which they are interested. In one day's listening, conversation in a barber shop might run from a contest on telling fishing yarns to how the government should conduct its foreign policy. And the people doing the talking are sincere for the most part. Human nature is at its best during barber shop gabfests.

Barbers are interesting people. It is not an easy profession. They must have a smooth disposition. And they must be able to carry on almost any conversation which the customer brings up. Through this maze of conversation, barbers become well versed with a store of information, including a multitude of gossip. But barbers become intelligent persons and in their many conversations they learn to eliminate obvious gossip and not pass it along. But for a mass of information about a community, barbers are most likely to know, perhaps more than any other person in a community, the general history of goings on.

More children and adults with physical handicaps are rehabilitated today than ever before, according to the Prentiss County Easter Seal Society, which is conducting its Easter Seal Campaign here March 1 to March 29, Easter Sunday.

It Is Easter

God made His world so wonderful today!

I try to capture all the bliss He gives,

And want to weep, or sing aloud, or pray

For living on a day like this. I'll build

A shrine within my heart and keep the joy

Of seeing beauty, hearing song, heaven gild!

God filled the world with ecstasy again.

His tributes rendered are so gentle, benign;

My soul is lifted from margins of deep pain.

God's tranquil voice I hear so debonaire

Revealing celestial portals, majestic climes

And words divine proclaimed in reverent prayer.

The Want Ad section of a newspaper has an importance far beyond its immediate service to the individual advertiser.

More than any other feature the Want Ad section is evidence that the newspaper is truly the "people's medium." The Want Ad puts the individual with a few dollars to invest in selling on an equal footing with a billion dollar corporation.

Nothing gives more insurance to the integrity and independence of newspapers than the thousands of individuals and small businesses which invest in Want Ads.

For Want Ads, like subscriptions, are repeated expressions of faith in the local newspaper by the whole public. They help to remove a question about the newspaper being unduly influenced by any special interests.

In fact, throughout the country, there are many newspapers which could thrive on Want Ads and subscriptions alone. Before the development of modern display advertising all newspapers were thus supported.

But most people do not think about the contribution of Want Ads to a free press. They think of the section as a place of unsurpassed

Mrs. Mabel Nelson Is Nominated For Lane Bryant Award

Mrs. Mabel Nelson was nominated recently by the Booneville Pilot Club as a candidate for the 1963 Lane Bryant Award. This award is given annually by Lane Bryant, Inc., for distinguished volunteer service which benefits the community, state or nation. The two hundred word statement which accompanied the nomination was written by members of the Pilot Club in recognition of the unselfish service which Mrs. Nelson has given to Prentiss County, and reads as follows:

NOMINATION FOR LANE BRYANT ANNUAL AWARDS 1963

We, hereby nominate MRS. MABEL NELSON, Prentiss County Health Department, Booneville, Mississippi, for one of the $1,000 Lane Bryant Awards for 1963 in recognition of her outstanding volunteer community service.

We feel that she is worthy of this honor because:

Her hands have earned it by doing, her heart by trying, and her spirit by trusting God to help find ways to aid the needy. A nurse by profession, a philanthropist by nature, she exemplifies goodness and mercy. She goes far beyond the line of duty to alleviate suffering and bring hope to the unfortunate.

When public funds are exhausted, suffering people say, "Mrs. Nelson can find a way," and with God's help, she does. Renowned specialists from the Mid-South area respond to her call without hesitancy.

She bathes the ill, takes provisions to the hovel, counsels with the discouraged, feeds or clothes a

If you value farmers' and ginners' opinions about a variety . . . If you compare performance, yield and profit per acre—you'll plant at least a trial acreage of Coker Carolina Queen this spring.

"I planted Coker Carolina Queen on my plantation in 1963 and was highly pleased with the results. On my first picking I picked over three bales per acre. Besides being a high yielder, this cotton is an early maturing variety with excellent adaptability for machine or hand picking. I have found it to be an outstanding cotton for planting under Delta conditions, and do not hesitate to recommend it to other planters in the Mississippi Valley."

Chevrolet will go to any length to make you happy

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be.

So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevrolet—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size makes it a luxury car. But not the price.

Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15¼-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space.

This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevyrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over).

Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you girls, in particular) that we've never touched an inch of it. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to.

The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

He is risen has no meaning or significance except to his followers. When He came back after his ascension, He went into a room where the door was closed, and He was spirit, yet flesh and bone, and when we ascend we will be like Him, and experience no more shortcomings or impossibilities.

8 From County At Memphis State

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Prentiss County has 8 students among the more than 8,000 students enrolled at Memphis State University for the spring semester.

This spring's enrollment is the largest in history at Memphis State. For the same term last year, a total of 7,136 students registered for classes at MSU.

More than 1,000 students live in seven dormitories on the Memphis State campus. Two dormitories—one a six-story women's residence hall—are being constructed on campus this year to provide living quarters for 450 more out of town students.

The students are: James William McGee and Treva Dale A. Shackelford of Route One, Baldwin; Mary C. Wright Crow of 214 Miller, Vera Mae W. Puckett of Route Five, and William Howard Strange of 501 College Street, all from Booneville.

Other Prentiss County students include Charles Honeycutt of Ridenzi; Margaret M. Conway of New Site; and Dorothy H. Googe Robbins of Marietta, Miss.

A small town is about the only place that takes pride in traffic congestion.

Miss Loula Milton Returns Waitress' Life Savings

COLUMBUS, Miss.—A senior at Mississippi State College for Women, finding $129 with no accompanying identification, turned the money in to the Dean of Students' Office so that the owner could be discovered.

The honest young lady is Miss Loula Milton, 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Milton, Jr., of Booneville.

The money represented the life savings of Mrs. Jane Hutcherson, waitress in the MSCW student grill. Loula found the money in the Charles P. Hogarth Student Center the night it was lost. "Since the money did not belong to me," Loula explained, "I turned it in to the Dean of Students' Office as soon as possible."

Loula hid the money in her room and locked the door. When she turned in the money the next day to the dean of students' office, the office had already been notified of the loss, so a delighted waitress recovered her life savings.

Mrs. Hutcherson, whom "w" girls affectionately call "Mama," said sincerely, "Loula will never know how grateful and thankful I am to her for returning my money."

To express her gratitude, Mrs. Hutcherson gave Loula a five dollar bill and a note of appreciation. "Petite, auburn-haired Loula majors in library science and in English. Her ambition is to become a children's librarian."

Greetings and congenial conversation filled the meal time hours for the group. Following the meal the group moved to the high school auditorium for the program. The assembly was called to order by Mr. Woodrow English.

Mr. English extended a welcome to all and introduced Mr. Eddie Caveness, Co-Op manager. Mr. Caveness discussed the chemical analysis of fertilizer and how farmers could best benefit by different ratios. Mr. Caveness presented the following to complete the program. Mr. Charles Calvert of the ASCS Office spoke on cotton acreage and the importance of releasing unused acreage. Mr. Walter Nunley lectured on pasturing, its importance in dairying and the pasture club. Mr. Taylor Smith spoke on soil testing. Its importance is economy to the farmer and each farmer can get his soil tested free.

Mr. Caveness concluded the program by thanking each one present and that the Prentiss County Co-Op is here to serve the farmer.

George Morton Gooze Wins First Prize In Tennessee District Poetry Contest

In a city-wide poetry contest sponsored by the Woman's Club of Jackson, Tenn., George Morton Gooze won first prize for his original poem, "The Man in the Moon." The poem was then entered in the Tennessee District Poetry Contest and captured first prize there, also. George Morton is the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walker Gooze of Jackson, Tenn., and the grandson of Mrs. Charles Morton of Booneville.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

By George Morton Gooze

The man in the moon sits high in the skies,
And frowns and raises his brows in surprise.
At the antics of men with their science and schemes,
They must be out to get him, it seems!
They've blasted him with rockets and missiles and such,
And I'll bet he doesn't like it much.
His age-old companions were the sun and the stars
And comets and meteorites and planets like Mars.
Then Little Sir Echo came flying by,
And Ranger-6 hit him smack in the eye!
Astronauts, cosmonauts, satellites too—
He wants to eclipse when they come into view!
He thought 'twas excitement when the cow came his way,
But that cow was nothing compared to men of today!
If things on the moon become more severe,
The man in the moon may have to move down here!

Farm Work Open To Youngsters When School Doors Are Closed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (Special) — "Children of any age may work on farms after school hours, on weekends, or on holidays, but when school is in session youngsters under 16 belong in the classroom."

That message came today from Regional Director Sterling B. Williams of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage-and-Hour and Public Contracts Divisions. Williams administers the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

"The Act sets a 16-year minimum for boys and girls working in agriculture when school is in session in the district where the child lives while working. This applies to employment in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for commerce," Williams pointed out.

"Child-labor provisions apply to farmers who ship their crops to other states or have reason to believe that the products will enter into interstate commerce. It includes farmers who supply canneries and processors which ship goods across state lines."

Williams said that the only exception to the law is the child working exclusively for his parents or guardian on their own farm. The law applies equally to the children of migrant families.

"When state and Federal laws differ, the employer must observe the higher standard," Williams said. He reminded youngsters that a high school education is required for more and more jobs with fewer and fewer opportunities being offered unskilled workers. He urged every boy and girl to stay in school until he has earned his high school diploma and learned a basic skill.

Williams said that additional information on child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act may be obtained from Wage-Hour field offices serving Mississippi. They are located at Room 320A, U. S. Post Office Building, Jackson, Miss., and Room 406, 951 Government Street Building, Mobile, Ala.

V A Answers Vets Questions

Q.—As an amputee, I have been receiving a pension for non-service-connected disabilities. During my present hospitalization, it was necessary to amputate my other leg. Can I receive a greater pension now?

A.—You may now be eligible for an additional allowance for aid and attendance after discharge from the hospital. This is not a general benefit but one made based on individual circumstances. You will have to apply to the VA for it.

Q.—As a non-veteran, may I buy a GI home when it has been repossessed and again offered for sale?

A.—The Veterans Administration has for sale to anyone who can qualify as to credit standing a large number of homes which have been foreclosed following non-payment by the GI purchaser. See your real estate broker, since most brokers are cooperating with the VA, to find out if any of these foreclosed homes are in your area.

Q.—Can I make a personal loan from the VA to meet a financial emergency?

A.—No. The benefits granted to veterans by Congress do not include provision for personal loans.

DOG CARE

With the end of the hunting seasons, there is always the problem of caring for the dogs until next hunting season. All true sportsmen have nice dog yards and housing for their dogs summer and winter, town or country. There are a great number of reasons for this, and one is that the dogs have a comfortable place to eat, sleep and exercise.

The Guild Corner

Did you miss the last Guild meeting? Then the loss is yours. Miss Hobson gave a very interesting and informative continuation review of our Church-Wide Mission Study. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Hall were hostesses to the group. Mrs. Price visited with us—and we are always happy to have her. We miss Mrs. Johnnie Young when she is not there.

Plan to be with us on March 30 (fifth Monday) for a study; also food and fellowship when it is a dish supper night.

The other lucky winner and his or her teacher will board a Lykes Line ship on a 45-day cruise, bound for Europe—England, the Continent or the Mediterranean, wherever the cargo waits.

Each cruise has a June sailing date from a Gulf port, with transportation from home to port of departure and port of return at the expense of the winning individuals.

Additional prizes offered are: a three-day vacation for student and teacher, Edgewater Gulf Hotel; portable typewriter; Office Supply Company and Mississippi School Supply Company; $100 savings bond, Gulf National Bank; $100 savings bond, Hancock Bank; 2—$50 savings bonds, Mississippi Power Company; $50 savings bond, Coast Federal Savings and Loan Association.

In discussing contest rules, Stebbins said that any boy or girl resident of Mississippi, regularly enrolled in the 9th, 10th, 11th or 12th grade in an accredited public or private school is eligible to enter the competition.

Contestants may submit as many entries as they wish. Entries should be mailed to Essay Contest Department, Gulfport State Port Authority, Gulfport, Mississippi.

Entries will be judged on neatness, originality of thought, clarity of expression and effectiveness of content, and contain not less than 300 words or more than 500 words.

In the event a winner is unable to use his or her prize as offered, the prize will be awarded to the entrant next in order. The teacher's prize will go to the teacher of the entrant who actually receives and uses the prize.

February 18, 1964

Police Department
Booneville, Mississippi
Gentlemen:

When driving through your city last Sunday on my way back home after spending several weeks in Florida, I failed to make a stop sign, either because I was driving too fast in a thirty mile speed zone or because I failed to see the sign before it was too late to stop. I did apply my brakes when I realized I had run the stop, but I wound up in the middle of the intersection.

Your city patrolman apparently watched the whole performance, because almost immediately he was behind me in his car. He stopped me in a very courteous manner and requested that I observe the thirty mile speed through the balance of the town, which, of course, I was happy to do.

It is, I believe, unusual to be treated with such courtesy after one has violated a speed ordinance and I just wanted you to know that I truly appreciate the courteous treatment I received at the hands of one of your city patrolmen.

I failed to get the name of the officer but I wish you would please tell him that I tried to observe all highway regulations for the balance of my journey. Also, if you will, express my appreciation for his thoughtful consideration.

Yours very truly,
Ben Ober,
City National Bank of Centralia, Centralia, Ill.

2 From Booneville Appointed For National VFW Posts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Joseph J. Lombardo, Brooklyn, N. Y., Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, has announced the appointments of Winfred B. Dawson and George Lauderdale of Booneville as National Aides-de-Camp, Recruiting Class, VFW.

In making the announcement of the appointments, Commander Lombardo said: "It is an honor for me to extend this appointment to Dawson and Lauderdale. They have earned this appointment through their own hard work. In many ways an aide-de-camp recruiting class is the most important appointment within our organization. It is because of the efforts of men such as Dawson and Lauderdale that the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is a growing organization. Were it not for our membership strength we could not carry on our many youth and community service projects nor could we continue to alert our nation to the dangers of Communism. I want to publicly commend Mr. Dawson and Mr. Lauderdale for their tremendous work in our organization."

Economic Council's Legislative Bulletin

MARCH 20, 1964

Highlight of 11th Week ... insofar as welfare of employers and employees is concerned, and to build a better industrial development climate, as backed by 40 statewide business organizations and chamber of commerce, including MEC ... was introduced in House Wednesday as H 505, bill to establish charge-back principle of financing unemployment compensation ... there'll be some opposition to this bill from labor leaders and it is vital that light of truth be kept on this measure as it passes through legislature

Among facts to keep in mind: Employers pay 100 per cent of tax for this insurance; no employee will be denied any benefit due him for unemployment; maximum rate over which no employer would pay is 4 per cent (Mississippi now has the highest average rate in South); some 8000 employers would get reduced rates, and some 3000 would get some increase in rates; all but 4 states have some form of charge-back; the plan would definitely attract heavy industry, something our state needs. There were 53 signers to the bill, which is encouraging, unless measure passes, it will take another three-year record-keeping by Employment Security Commission before it can be considered. Give it your support NOW!

During the 11th Week ... partial answer to "where is new money coming from" was given by special joint fiscal committee set up to make recommendation ... it came in form of S 1815, bill increasing state sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent, estimated to bring in additional $20 million biennium. This would cover needs of $336 million budget, but does not give anything for proposed teacher-pay increases, or for a number of needed items, such as topographic mapping, for instance ... meanwhile, another bill, S 1825, has been presented to increase sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent, including utilities, services, wholesale sales of motor fuels, and beer ... Then there's earlier proposal to increase soft drink tax ... most agree more taxes, one way or another, are in prospect.

Bills signed by Governor during week: H 131, model weights and measures law; H 134, authorize counties levy tax to eradicate fire ants; S 1612, raise jurisdiction of county courts over matters up to $10,000; H 41, raise per diem rate to hospitals for indigent care to $12.50; H 112, broaden duties of division of vocational education to include industrial arts; H 135, relieve physicians from certifying indigency of persons in hospitals; H 80, establish forest products utilization lab at Miss. State; H 79, create revolving fund for industrial training.

Bills clearing final hurdle and ready for governor's action are: H 35, extend maximum maturity dates of public school bonds from 1982 to 1986; H 257, provide tax is not imposed on devise or descent of a mineral estate; H 268, permit mixing of petroleum products for weed control; H 152, for licensing of rendering plants; S 1520, authorize articles of incorporation be published within 30 days after passage of this act; S 1524, provide for payment of $250 or less from accrued or impounded runs of production under oil, gas or mineral leases to minors without guardianship; S 1697, extend time for chancery court or chancellor in vacation to allow an executor or administrator continue business; H 70, expand livestock diagnostic clinic at Jackson; H 118, clarify powers of agricultural co-ops; S 1587, for vocational, technical training in junior college system.

Important measure set ... for special order in Senate on Tuesday, March 24, at 10:30 a.m., is S 1501, Uniform Commercial Code, bill to modernize all business transaction laws and allow money to flow more freely in transactions across state lines. Over 28 states now have law; Mississippi needs it for maximum business development. Size of bill, some 300 pages, scares some, but is basic.

Bills passed by Senate during the week: S 1729, increase fees for renewal of architects' license; S 1760, add two probation and parole officers to staff of state board; S 1757, provide for senate confirmation of director of A & I Board; S 1801, monopoly provisions apply to sellers of liquefied petroleum gases or gas appliances; S 1761, reduce the minimum service of sentence for eligibility of parole; S 1619, prohibit sale, possession of fireworks; S 1715, counties may join cities in expansion of port facilities; S 1709, create state aircraft pool under the governor to serve state agencies and departments; S 1720, eliminate certain disqualifications for admission of students to institutions of higher learning.

State Will Lose More Millions Unless Farmers Plant Or Release

By Thomas G. Abernethy
Member of Congress

The economy of our State has been improving. In recent years, more job producing enterprises have come our way, and there are more to come.

These new sources of income and job opportunity cause many to overlook that one old familiar item which spins more money into our economy than scores of factories. And what is it? Cotton! Just plain old cotton — cotton which has been intertwined in the history and economy of Magnolia State people since before being admitted to the Union.

Some will say that in this industrial era cotton just cannot be that important to Mississippi. Well it is, and it is going to be that way for a long, long time. And what we have to say herein is important to every Mississippian whether he raises cotton or not.

Mississippi produced more bales of cotton last year on slightly less than 1½-million acres than it produced in years gone by on more than 4-million acres. With a cotton crop as big as ever on only 1½-million acres, the other 2½-million have been released for the production of other crops — timber, cattle, dairying, etc., worth millions and millions more.

In 1963, Mississippi's cotton yield reached the extremely high level of 709 pounds per acre, almost 1½-bales, a level of production which once was only a dream. The State's total yield was 2,125,000 bales of a value (bales and seed) of more than $25,000,000. Our Congressional District was second only to the alluvial Delta in production.

This bumper crop rolled extra dollars through the pockets of farmers and cash registers of farm supply houses, implement dealers, field hands, oil mills, gins, cotton buyers, merchants, banks, warehouses, truck lines, railroads, and many others. The economists tell us that no other dollar equals the turnover, or benefits as many, as the dollar yielded from a cotton field.

But Mississippi did not benefit to the full extent of its cotton potential last year. More than $25-million were lost and can never be recovered because many farmers failed to plant their full allotments and many others neglected to surrender allotments which they did not want. There were 102,151 acres of the State allotment which never received the planting of one single seed. Our own Congressional District was a substantial participant in this extraordinary loss when 20,054 allotted acres when unplanted and unsundered for reallocation. Each and all of the 17 counties in our District had acreage to fall into the unplanted column, upward of 2,000 acres in some counties.

This staggering loss to Mississippi and our Congressional District was avoidable. Avoidance would have required little or no effort. If those who permitted their allotments to lie out had only dropped by the County ASC Office and signed a surrender and reallocation slip, millions more would have rolled through Mississippi's economy last fall. That's all it would have taken—just a simple stop at the ASC Office. The person making the stop would also have helped himself. He would have preserved his history of planting. Since the history is now lost, his allotment has been cut and so have the allotments to his County and State.

The loss will be repeated in 1964 unless those who hold unwanted allotments drop by the ASC Office and sign a surrender slip. Time is running out. March 31 is the last day. Now is the time to visit the ASC Office. Do it today.

We have devoted our Newsletter this week to this subject at the suggestion of many farmers and several ASC County Committees in our Congressional District. We are pleased to cooperate in their drive to bring about the planting of every allotted acre.

Where cotton grows, money flows! If you have an allotment, plant it or turn it in.

Mrs. Jackson Hostess To The Elizabeth Merritt Circle

The Elizabeth Merritt Circle of Calvary Baptist Church met with Mrs. D. L. Jackson on Monday night with nine members present.

Miss Jessie Pressley gave the devotional and had prayer for those on the prayer calendar.

Mrs. Richard Harber, Circle Chairman, had charge of the program, which was a discussion of the responsibilities of Christians toward government. Mrs. Angie Barnes, Mrs. Ruby Lee Moore, Miss Bill Clark, Mrs. Dean Pressley and Mrs. Evelyn Grubbs gave a very informative program.

After special prayer for the revival, which begins March 29, the meeting adjourned and the hostess served a salad plate.

POND MANAGEMENT

In fertilizing a pond, the recommended fertilizer is 8-8-4 or its equivalent. Use 100 pounds per acre at each application, starting in the spring after the heavy rains are over. Put in this amount every two weeks until a green color comes in the water to the extent that a bright object can barely be seen at a depth of one foot. After this color is reached, fertilizer thereafter should be added when the water shows a marked degree of clearing. Maintain this color until fall.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length wedding gown of white brocade satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves ending in lily points over the hands. The bouffant skirt flowed into a train and her veil of illusion fell from a five tiered crown of seed pearls.

Miss Slack chose to wear for her daughter's wedding a beige brocade two piece ensemble with matching accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

Fertilize Pecan Trees Now

Pecans are heavy feeders. Apply 2½ pounds of 9-12-12 Golden River Premium fertilizer, or a similar product, for each year of the tree's age. The fertilizer should be applied annually in a band around each tree out under the branch spread where the feeder roots are.

The trees should be fertilized in March. If nitrogen alone is needed in your soil, use one-half to one pound per tree per year of age.

Just Scribbling

by

MRS. ED JOHNSON

Dear Helen:
What do you think about the Beetles?
Years ago folks use to talk about women who "bobbed" their hair. The younger generation just decided to get even, I guess.

Dear Helen:
Why did you stop writing about your sons?
The oldest one is now 16 and old enough to write a column himself. Imagine how I'd like to see in print what I told him Tuesday morning—"Hurry and brush your teeth and get out of the kitchen so I can take a bath." The youngest one who is 12—soon to be 13—is a big talker—and tells too much on me already.

Dear Helen:
What do you think about Unions?
I think our good people have forgotten how a few years ago they just plain out "wanted a job." Today, some of them are wanting to help run the business. Do you remember when you—regardless of whom you work—applied for a job? More than likely you smiled—said, "Yes, sir, this and yes, sir, that—promised to work hard, etc., and were so pleased when you got the job. Have you since that time ever told your employer you appreciate your job? I want you to do me a favor. If you work for someone, try to find an opportunity this week to tell that person that you appreciate your job.

In the Lamar Democrat, newspaper at Vernon, Ala. your editor's hometown, Tom Davis, Jr. wrote the following article:

"Alabama farmers have been advised by Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd to be suspicious if any of your hogs are staggering around the lot in a peculiar manner. Not in a pigs eye would I suggest you smell the breath of your hogs to see what they have had to drink lately, but someone has been making sots out of our sows."

"Todd said one of his Stockyard and Brand investigators, Franklin Smith, turned up a ring of 18 men, between the ages 18 and 26, who were stealing hogs by soaking loaves of bread in corn whiskey and feeding it to the animals. When the hogs got drunk and passed out, Smith said they were then loaded into cars and trucks without squealing or commotion. Most of the thefts occurred in the North Alabama Tennessee Valley area. All eighteen men pleaded guilty, were tried and sentenced from two to seven years each."

Thanks to Evelyn Tigrett for this poem:

There's nothing whatever the matter with me,
I'm just as healthy as I can be.
I have arthritis in both of my knees
And when I talk, I talk with a wheeze.
My pulse is weak and my blood is thin.
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

My teeth eventually have to come out,
And my diet I hate to think about.
I'm overweight and I can't get thin,
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.

Arch supports I have for my feet,
Or I wouldn't be able to walk on the street.
Sleep is denied me every night,
And every morning I'm a sight.
My memory is failing, my head's in a spin,
I'm practically living on aspirin.

The moral is as this tale we unfold,
That for you and me who are growing old,
It's better to say "I'm fine" with a grin,
Than to let them know the shape that we're in.

How do I know my youth has been spent?
Because my "get up and go" has got up and went.
But in spite of all that, I'm able to grin—
When I think of where my "get up" has been.

"Old Age is golden," I've heard it said,
But sometimes I wonder as I go to bed,
My ears in a drawer, my teeth in a cup,
My eyes on the table until I get up.

Ere sleep dims my eyes I say to myself,
"Is there anything else I should lay on the shelf?"
But I'm happy to say as I close my eyes,
My friends are the same as in days gone by.

When I was young, my slippers were red,
I could kick my heels right over my head,

When I grew older my slippers were blue,
But I still could dance the whole night through.

Now I am old, my slippers are black,
I walk to the corner and puff my way back.
How do I know my youth has been spent—
My "get up and go" has got up and went.
But I really don't mind when I think with a grin,
Of all the places my "get up" has been.

I get up each morning and dust off my wits,
I pick up the paper and read the 'obits',
If my name is missing I know I'm not dead,
So I eat a good breakfast and go back to bed.

Deadline Nears For 1964 Feed Grain Signup

Friday, March 27, is the last day for filing an application to take part in the 1964 Feed Grain Program, Virgil Nicholson, Chairman of the Prentiss Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today. He urges growers who are interested in the program to call at the Prentiss ASCS County Office as soon as possible.

"Time has a way of slipping up on us even though we think we have plenty," the chairman pointed out. "Actually, there are only two working days left in which to sign up for this year's program. The office is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. from Monday through Friday. We don't want anybody to be disappointed because he waited too long."

Final Date To Release Cotton Acreage Is Almost Here

March 31, 1964, is the final date to release cotton acreage. Farmers are being asked by all people interested in the economy of the county and state to release any acreage that will not be planted, regardless of the size of the allotment. We cannot afford to continue losing acreage history simply because it is not planted. This loss can be stopped by our securing a release of acreage that will not be planted. This saves the allotment
