Mental Health Drive Is On

We have already had many worthy campaigns on polio, cancer, heart disease, etc., but now we come to the last—Mental Health. This may be the most important. One-half of the hospital beds are occupied by mental cases. Nineteen million people in the nation are suffering with some form of mental or emotional disease, one person out of ten. Fifty per cent of the hospital beds are occupied by mental illness patients. One-half million mental cases are admitted to hospitals for the first time each year. About two billion dollars is spent each year on mental cases. In mental hospitals, the cost is about five dollars per day. In general hospitals the cost is about 34 dollars. One encouraging note is that about 7 out of 10 patients can leave the hospital each year recovered or improved.

Much attention is now being given to mental illness. The nation is waking up to its importance. Provision is being made to do an unlimited amount for the mentally ill. Every person needs to help, every person, every organization, every factory.

There is a plan in the making to carry this campaign out to the people, out to the people in the country, out to the homes.

It is hoped that Booneville may have an organization before too long that can be a big help to our community.

Mississippi has an institution at Whitfield. It is not surpassed in the

43 Cases Tried In City Court Monday

Chief of Police W. W. Stacy reports that there were 43 cases tried in city court this week, which consisted of public drunkenness, speeding, reckless driving and operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcoholic beverage. The total fines amounted to $690.00.

Chief Stacy said he appreciates the information that he and his force have received in the past and assures the citizens of Booneville that any and all information received by the Booneville Police Department will be kept in complete confidence.

South, we are sure, but we need to carry this help out to the people. Dr. Jacquith, head of the institution at Whitfield is very outstanding. He will help the cause in every way.

We are to raise $600 at once for our quota for Prentiss County. Individuals and factories, some of them have already responded. We want to finish this campaign at an early date.

The papers of the county and the radio have always been very cooperative. We thank them. The ones who have not been called upon for a contribution will be called on at an early date. If more convenient leave your contribution at the Peoples Bank, the Home Bank, the Baldwin bank or with Donald Franks, John Mahaffy, Mrs. Harold Spain or Mrs. Gene Walden.

Thank you,
W. H. Anderson, M. D.,
County Chairman, Prentiss County.

Anyone between the ages of 6 and 12 years who wants to participate in a baseball program this summer please come by and register so that we can place you on a team. We plan to begin practice next Tuesday and set up our league play. This will be a city league and most games will be played on the new little league baseball field which is near completion.

So far there has not been too much enthusiasm shown in a softball program for this summer. Some of the teams from last year have decided to go to Corinth and enter that league. If this program isn't worked out in the next few days we may abandon softball this year. So far, American Seating Co. and Prentiss Manufacturing Co. are the only two teams who have shown their intentions.

Oral Polio Vaccine Program Successfully Concluded Sun.

This area's third Sabin Oral Sunday for immunization against polio was held May 17, completing the three-dose series, and a spokesman for the Prentiss County Medical Society said that this group felt that it has been a highly successful program. The members of the medical society expressed their appreciation to the volunteer workers and the citizens of the area for their cooperation in making the program an overwhelming success.

The medical society plans to have a staff meeting next month to determine whether or not makeup doses of the types vaccine which some persons may have missed in the series will be made available through the society. But, in the meantime, persons who missed one or two types of the vaccine should contact their private physicians and make arrangements for the makeup dose.

Dr. D. F. Crowe, campaign chairman for the Sabin Oral Sunday campaign here said that approximately the same number of persons received the third dose of vaccine Sunday as had taken the first one.

The first Sabin Oral Sunday was held on March 8 and at the Booneville clinics located in the Northeast Mississippi Junior College gymnasium and at Wick Anderson Attendance Center, 10,300 doses of the first type vaccine were given. Some 4,000 doses were given at Baldwin on the first day. It was estimated that since clinics were set up at all schools in Lee County, probably two-thirds or more of those receiving the vaccine at Baldwin were from Prentiss County, so that approximately 75 per cent of the population of the county received the first type.

The second Sabin Oral Sunday held April 12 was even more successful than the first as approximately 12,500 doses of the Type III vaccine were administered on that date at the two feeding stations in Booneville.

Representatives of the medical society and of the pharmaceutical laboratories making the vaccine point out that if those who missed one or two types of the vaccine will be diligent about getting their makeup doses, and if persons moving into the area will make it a point to see about getting the oral vaccine, our county should be virtually immune to paralytic polio.

S.O.S. TRAFFIC—Members of the Booneville National Guard unit kept the extra heavy flow of traffic moving in an orderly manner Sunday afternoon at the intersection of College Boulevard and Highway 45 during the Sabin Oral Sunday vaccinations at Northeast Mississippi Junior College here. This was the third and final Sunday in the three-dose series and more than 10,000 persons came to the college between noon and 5 p.m. to receive their vaccine.

Mississippi Leads The Way

It took brawn in the old days of steam locomotives and hand brakes to get a loaded freight train rolling—and get it stopped. That featherbedding you've been hearing about is the result of the retention of the "smoke-eaters" working rules—along with equally outmoded state laws—in spite of the advent of diesel locomotives and air brakes.

Obviously, three men are hardly needed in the cab of a freight diesel when the head brakeman checks the signals with the engineer, leaving nothing to be done by the fireman, who has no fires to tend. Nor, when the engineer controls the brakes with his air-valve, is there a need for so many brakemen.

The ruling of the national Arbitration Board last November, that 90 per cent of freight and yard diesel firemen positions are to be gradually eliminated, finally set in motion the long-needed reforms to relieve the $600 million a year burden imposed on the railroads for work not needed or not performed. But the Board's award is undercut in states which have ancient laws setting the size of train crews.

The first break at the state level has now come, with repeal by the Mississippi Legislature of a 50-year-old excess-crew law that required five men on all freight trains of four or more cars. It is thus reasonable to hope that the legislatures of 15 other states with archaic excess-crew laws may follow the forward-looking example of Mississippi. Similar action in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin would cut excess labor costs an estimated $140 million a year.

Work rules formulated 40 to 50 years ago are, as one railroadman has said, "cinders in everyone's eyes—and gotta go!" Certainly, they are just as out-of-date as cinders and are painful to all in their influence on the price of everything Americans eat, drink, wear, use and live in.

fenses at Dalton, 20 miles across the border. There, he achieved his first victory.

As the two armies skirmished near Dalton, Sherman sent a corps under Gen. James B. McPherson looping southward behind the mountains toward Resaca, 12 miles away. On May 9, McPherson pushed through Snake Creek Gap to Resaca's outskirts where he could have cut Johnston's supply line with ease.

But McPherson delayed, and while he did, Johnston sent men down to meet him. In the next three days, Johnston moved his whole army of 50,000 down from Dalton to Resaca, and Sherman's army followed. By the 11th, the two armies again faced each other, but Johnston no longer had his Dalton defense.

On May 13, the battle erupted. Gen. John B. Hood of Johnston's army attacked Sherman's center. Sherman retaliated by sending Joe Hooker's corps into Hood's flank, and Hood's attack withered and died. Next day, Sherman knocked two holes in Johnston's line and rained artillery onto the town of Resaca. Johnston pulled out, and on the 15th, Sherman occupied Resaca.

Public Relations Notebook

BY Neil Woodruff, Asst. Professor of Journalism, MSCW

Of all the relationships existing between people, the relationship of student to teacher is one of the most important. This relationship exists at all educational levels beginning with kindergarten and going on through to graduate school and beyond. In so many cases, this relationship determines the direction in which a student's future life will take.

Mr. Woodruff

Some of the most fond and permanent memories that people have can be traced back to teachers who played a part in their educational development. Most persons can recall things which occurred in the first, second, or third grades more vividly than of any other time in their young lives.

Early in a student's educational career, he forms attitudes toward teachers with whom he comes into contact. And students encounter those teachers all through their educational years that they like and those that they dislike. A teacher has a monumental and almost impossible task of maintaining a close intimate relationship with each and every student.

However, almost every student encounters a teacher or teachers which leave lasting impressions. These impressions take many forms. It may be something a teacher says which inspires a student to pursue a particular career or special interest. It may be the personal appearance and moral bearing that leaves its mark. Or it may be any number of other things which causes a student to form an attitude which has an influence in his life.

Teaching is not an easy profession. It is one of the most demanding professions that we have today. Teachers, of course, are people too. They once had teachers themselves. And, perhaps more than in any other profession, past relationships play an important role in a teacher's life. The writer recalls one particular bit of advice given by a junior college teacher several years ago. She said, "Never forget for one minute that a student's primary respect for a teacher is based on what the teacher knows."

America has always put its hope, trust and money into educational institutions. It has been a growing, changing and expansive process which continues today and will continue to be our foremost concern. The persistent cry is for more schools and colleges and better-trained teachers. And in the background there is common acknowledgment that almost all teachers are underpaid. But there is universal agreement that every effort is being made and will continue to be made to close these gaps.

And, of course, always present on the educational scene will be the continual relationship of teacher and student—the most important aspect of our entire educational system.

Newspaper advertising men may appear to make excessively strong claims about the impact of advertising on the economy of a community.

Actual case histories, however, sometimes make the claims appear to be understated.

For instance, the entire rebuilding of a Texas city may be traced to newspaper advertising.

Recently, when an Air Force Base closed in Harlingen, Texas, 6000 people left the area. Bad weather ruined the citrus and truck farms. The outlook for the city was bleak.

But the city still had something to sell — a good climate for retirement and a lot of empty houses.

Newspaper ads run in 22 publications provided the answer. Advertisements which cost only $5,000 brought 3000 inquiries to the chamber of commerce.

After two years of newspaper advertising the vacated homes have been filled with permanent residents. And the city has recovered nearly all of the population lost by the phase-out of the air base.

This, of course, is a dramatic, obvious account of the effect of newspaper advertising.

But less dramatically, in communities throughout the country, strong retail advertising of progressive merchants is keeping thousands of communities alive in the face of growing encroachment from metropolitan centers.

ward, Sherman's swept along behind it, repairing railroads as it moved to keep connection with the North. Johnston pulled up at Cassville, 40 miles north of Atlanta, to make a stand, and Sherman called his army together to attack. Next morning, May 20, Sherman was surprised to find Johnston had retreated again.

Sherman halted there to rest a bit, and he caught up on the news from Virginia—of the bloody battles of the Wilderness and Spotsylvania. As he rested, there also came news of two Union defeats in Virginia.

Both had happened May 15, one in the Shenandoah Valley and the other on the James River just east of Richmond. In the valley, a hastily assembled army of 5,000 Confederates — including the cadet corps of Virginia Military Institute — had soundly trounced the Federal army of Gen. Franz Sigel at New Market. East of Richmond, Gen. Benjamin "Beast" Butler, with an army of 35,000, marched on Richmond with grand hopes to end the war. Instead, he was hit from behind by Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard who had moved up from the South, and Butler retreated down the river with heavy losses.

New Bidrin® Insecticide lies in wait inside cotton—knocks out thrips, fleahoppers, aphids, mites, lygus wherever they attack tender foliage

Above: magnified cross sections of cotton leaves. In left picture, Bidrin (dark strip, top) kills cotton insect with contact action, covers and protects leaf surface. 24 hours later, Bidrin has entered leaf tissue (picture right). Insect attacking from below where spray didn't reach—sucks up Bidrin with juices. This systemic action keeps protecting 7 to 14 days.

Magnified cross sections of cotton leaves (above) show how one application of new Bidrin keeps working 7 to 14 days, rain or shine.

BIDRIN is the new phosphate insecticide that kills cotton pests with both contact and systemic actions.

• It kills all major cotton insects on contact, at time of spraying—even weevils and worms.

• It enters and spreads through plant tissue, makes cotton deadly to thrips, aphids, fleahoppers, mites, lygus.

When insects attack, they die—even if they pierce bottom of leaves where spray doesn't reach. This is systemic action. It keeps working 7 to 14 days.

Proven by growers

New Bidrin's amazing two-way action paid off for thousands of cotton growers in '63. They grew more cotton. And, thanks to early insect control with Bidrin, a higher percent of their crop was early, high-quality, bottom cotton.

Weather resistant—economical

Soon after spraying, Bidrin enters your cotton plants. Once inside, rain can't wash it off. Sun can't break it down. Bidrin has practically eliminated weather as a cause for re-spraying.

Bidrin costs little compared to insecticides that can't begin to do the same kind of job. Bidrin's long-lasting effectiveness means fewer sprays. With Bidrin you avoid buying early insect control at seeding before you know whether or not insects will come.

Bidrin gives you systemic control, yet it lets you wait and see. Result: maximum insect control at minimum cost.

Get Bidrin from your pesticide supplier. Many brands available.

Always read and follow label directions. For more information write: Shell Chemical Company, Agricultural Chemicals Division, 119 So. Claiborne Ave., New Orleans 12, La.

Maintain control with endrin-methyl parathion

During squaring and fruiting, stay ahead of insects with endrin-methyl parathion. It knocks out bollworms and weevils plus many other insects—quickly and surely. Gives you maximum length of control per spray, minimum number of sprays to do the job. Send for free, full-color booklet.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has proclaimed May as Senior Citizens Month. The President is urging all Americans to recognize and understand the problems and opportunities of America's 18 million men and women over the age of 65. President Johnson said, "since not everyone is blessed with the gift of long life, those who are so endowed should occupy a place of special honor among us...let us take all necessary steps to see that they have a real chance to enjoy health, love and a lift of dignity."

Judge W. H. Anderson, Ripley, commented on a statement of a Mississippi criminal court judge who said, "I've come to the conclusion that there are only two kinds of people, the caught and the uncaught." With so many laws on the books, both state and federal, it is impossible to keep from violating some of them some of the time.

The weather has gotten warm and with the season comes my annual complaint...hurting feet. I have never found a pair of shoes that felt as good as going bare-footed...and each year I keep getting a bigger size.

It's surely good to see Mr. T. A. Cook, Sr., out again following two operations this spring. His flowers and gardening have become a legend with local folks and the phrase, "God's in his heaven and all's right with the world," went through my mind Tuesday afternoon when I passed his house and saw him tending his immaculate garden.

The quotation in the above paragraph may not be exactly right. I tried to find it in the book, "Dictionary of Thoughts," but couldn't. I found several quotes you might enjoy though.

"Better limp all the way to heaven than not get there at all." —Billy Sunday.

"It is not talking but walking that will bring us to heaven." —M. Henry.

"To appreciate heaven well 'tis good for a man to have some fifteen minutes of hell." —Will Carleton.

And finally that favorite, "Earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal." —Moore

I want to add my congratulations and best wishes to those who are graduating this spring. I wish for them a most successful life.

Especially do I congratulate the parents of the graduates. From the first grade, when they begrudgingly wore the raincoat to school and conveniently lost it—right on up through the time they gradually learned to be smarter than their folks—you've cooked, washed, ironed, hurried, reasoned, counseled, guided, pleaded, begged and hollered—until that glorious day when they donned their caps and gowns—still looking to you like that first grader—and received a diploma. It's been a long, hard struggle and whom do you think got the most education?

Our city is in the midst of a "Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up" campaign, so Mayor Smith gave me this quote: "The difference between a litter bug and a litter bag is you."

Till next week,
Helen

Miss Linda Cole Becomes Bride Of J. C. McAnally, Jr., In Lovely Ceremony

Miss Linda Cole and J. C. McAnally, Jr., pledged their marriage vows on Friday, May 15 at 7:00 p.m. in Candler's Chapel Baptist Church. Rev. Dewey Wallis performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Cole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cole of Route 5, Booneville. Mrs. May Bell Simmons and the late Mr. J. C. McAnally of Booneville are the bridegroom's parents.

Vows were exchanged before a lovely green and white setting of gladioli and palms with lighted white tapers in candelabra forming the background.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length dress of white satin and lace. The bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long needle-point sleeves. Miniature white satin buttons secured the wrists and back bodice. The softly pleated skirt formed a train. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations, centered with a white orchid, tied with love knots and satin streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Joseph Jones, and Mrs. Bobby Barnett was bridesmaid. They wore street-length dresses of green satin with scalloped neckline and short scalloped sleeves. Their veils fell from an open crown of matching fabric. They wore matching accessories with corsages of white carnations.

Attending the groom as best man was Joseph Jones. Ushers were David McAnally, brother of the groom, and Randel Cole, brother of the bride.

Nuptial music was presented by Miss Phyllis Hare and Mrs. James Davis sang "I Love You Truly."

Following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip. The bride chose for travel a light blue dress of whipped cream with white accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home on Route 5, Booneville.

M/Sgt. Ramon H. Cox Named Top Airman

M/Sgt. Ramon H. Cox, NCOIC of the 51st Combat Support Group's punch card accounting machine (PGAM) section, was one of the two Naha NCO's selected to represent the base in the annual "Airman of the Year" contest.

Among Sgt. Cox's recommendations for this titular honor is an excerpt from a letter signed by Maj. Gen. A. M. Minton, PACAF Deputy Chief of Staff, Administration and Logistics. It stated in part: "The quality of input data and the resultant accelerated conversion at Naha far surpass our experience at the six bases previously converted to the PACAF Supply EDP."

According to Maj. Milton Friend, Cox is primarily responsible for the outstanding results of the conversion. He was also cited for his self-improvement activities, participation in social, cultural and religious activities and his accomplishments on the job during the past twelve months.

Sgt. Cox, a native of Booneville, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hite Cox of Parchman, Miss. He is married and has two children. He resides with his family on the base in Okinawa.

HOME AGENT NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS

The following information comes from the office of Henry J. Smith, Associate Extension Horticulturist of Mississippi State University. These facts will be of particular interest to venturesome gardeners interested in adding some new and different to their home grounds:

BEWARE "MIRACLE" PLANTS

In coming weeks gardening enthusiasts will be swamped with newspaper ads and direct mail promotions pitching fabulous new "products of scientific plant research." In light of recent, real genetic breakthroughs, the offers will sound persuasively plausible.

But if you look behind the long Latin names and the extravagant claims, you will find your purchase can be a giant disappointment. For instance:

Ad: Robina tree: "Sensational Blooming Show Tree!!!"
"Grows roof-high in just one single year! ... Jewel-like flowers ... jasmine-like fragrance ... Drenches your garden in color all four seasons of the year!"

Fact: Far from being a gardener's dream, the Robina tree is commonly known as the Black Locust or Thorn Locust—it is noted for its thorns, its sparse growth, and the fact that it takes five years to flower.

Ad: Ailanthus—or Tree of Heaven ... "Super-growing shade tree ... Grows higher than a fullgrown red maple tree—in one single season ... Breathtaking umbrella of beauty ... Most incredible shade tree on this planet ... Super-hardy showpiece."

Fact: This one is even worse than the "Weed Tree." Experts call the Ailanthus the "stink tree" because its blooms have a persistent foul odor. It is usually found in city alleys and railroad right-of-ways, if you want one cheap.

Ad: Smashing Scarlet Roses! Now! An amazing discovery — 11,000 Giant Red Roses in one season ... Each flower up to five inches across ... Sweeps across walls like wildfire, actually grows in sub-freezing temperatures ... Supplies strictly limited!"

Fact: The rose is not new. It is the well-known climbing rose called Blaze which has been on the market for more than a decade. It does not bloom profusely in the first season and nowhere as profusely as the ads claim in any season. This is a "Number 22"—or second-grade quality rose. And supplies are endless, of course.

Ad: Sure Crop "Climbing Strawberry." "Baskets of lush red Super-sweet Surecrop Strawberries from a single high climbing plant in one year. Blooms all summer long."

Fact: The ad is grossly exaggerated. This variety is a June bearer and does not climb. It does not produce "baskets of fruit" the first season. You pay a typical $2.95 for seven plants — which cost the shipper around one penny apiece.

How do you check up on such "miracle" plants and avoid being stuck with a weed tree in place of the flood of blossoms you expected?

1. Deal only with established, well known nurseries and compare the prices quoted in the reliable catalogs of reliable firms.

2. Beware of "miracle" plants of any sort. If the product seems too good to be true, it usually is too good to be true.

3. If you have any doubts, consult your county extension agents, botanical garden, or nearest Better Business Bureau. All are up-to-date on current plant frauds and have solid experience to help you spot the real from the phony thing.

INCREASE IN PERSONAL INCOME IN STATE

A big feather in Mississippi's economic cap is first-place rank total personal income gains between 1962 and 1963, and also for the 10-year period from 1953 to 1963. Mississippi's per capita income jumped a whopping 7.9 per cent in 1963. Total income for the state surged up 9.3 per cent in 1963 over 1962 figures. Encouraging is the fact that such progress is not just happening as a flash in the pan, but consistently steady over a long period.

Second Graders Vacation Plans

Some of the second graders at Booneville Grammar School have written stories of their summer vacation plans. Two of the stories follow:

HOW TO SPEND YOUR SUMMER VACATION

Vacation is a good time. It is fun to travel and see different places. We can take swimming lessons in our pool at the City Park.

Mr. Gullett will coach baseball. Mrs. Smith will help us with our Summer Reading Program.

Elizabeth Keenum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Keenum

HOW TO SPEND YOUR SUMMER VACATION

In summer time I play baseball. I go swimming also. This summer I will go to Disneyland on my vacation. My birthday is in the summer. It is on July 20th. This summer I will hike in the woods. I will have fun this summer. Mr. Gullett will coach the baseball.

Eligible Teachers Should Check On S. S. Benefits

Teachers older than 65, who have not filed claims for social security payments, should do so at once. Also those who have previously filed claims for payments and had them stopped at the beginning of the present school year should let the Social Security Office know if they do or do not expect to work during the summer vacation period.

This advice comes from Hugh Tigrett, District Manager, Social Security Administration.

According to Mr. Tigrett, the teacher over age 65 may get social security payments for any month during summer vacation periods in which she does not earn more than $100 in wages or perform substantial services in self-employment. However, he said, no payment can be made until a claim is filed.

Mr. Tigrett also said a teacher over 62 and under 65 may get social security payments on a reduced basis under the same work rules as those over 65.

Tupelo Extension Center Plans For Summer Semester

TUPELO, Miss.—Plans were released here Friday by A. V. Weatherford, Director of the Tupelo Extension Center of Mississippi State University for the summer semester.

The session will begin June 8 and close August 28, with classes being held each Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening in the City-County building on South Spring Street in Tupelo.

Director Weatherford praised local leaders, city and county officials for the support he had received in establishing the Center here earlier this year. Miss. State University Director of General Extension, Dr. Homer Coskrey was very optimistic about the enrollment during the summer session and predicted that enrollment could exceed 300 students, an all time high for a Center in this area.

Former Miss. State students have until June 8 to enroll in a variety of graduate and undergraduate courses. However, May 19 was the deadline for students who have never attended State to enroll.

The Tupelo Center offers courses which meet degree requirements at Miss. State and which are transferable to other colleges. School teachers, professional workers and others employed in the daytime who are interested in furthering their education find the night classes and summer session very convenient.

Prospective students may obtain more information by calling 842-4924 or 842-4521 after 4 p.m. or by writing Mr. Weatherford at 518 Park St., Tupelo, Miss.

Vacation Driving Adds New Problems

With summer vacations and the end of school approaching, Donald J. Gray, President of the Mississippi Safety Council, reminds Mississippians that it will be much better to vote for "Recreation Safety" than for "Fun-Time Folly."

The Council President said that in order to enjoy a vacation to the fullest, one should follow three simple rules, beginning with planning the vacation correctly, then to avoid any chance-taking while on vacation. The third rule is perhaps the most important and that is to return from a vacation refreshed.

Gray said that in order to get an automobile ready for a vacation, it would be a good idea to take it to an official motor vehicle inspection station and have it re-inspected just to make sure everything is in good working order.

"In addition," he said, "Pack a flashlight, emergency flares, and a first-aid kit where you can get at them. If you don't have seat belts, you certainly should have them installed before you leave on vacation."

He stated further that the car will be loaded heavier than usual and a loaded vehicle demands much more driving caution.

"Acceleration is slower, stopping distance longer, sway on curves is greater. Plenty of additional room should be allowed for passing and 'stopping.'"

On longer trips the Council recommends frequent rest stops as a big safety factor. A good practice is to take a stretch or change drivers at least once every two hours.

The safety official stated that distractions on a motor trip are a vacation driving trap and he advises that a motorist stop to look at scenery, check a map, settle restless children or to swat a bee. The Council recommends also that whenever a stop is made to make certain the car is well off the road.

Gray said that an accident is a dark horse candidate to defeat vacation fun unless you vote the straight vacation ticket.

"Vote for safety and assure you and your family to be in the winning party," Gray said. The Council President reminded the vacationer to use reasonable caution and logic in whatever recreation activity they undertake.

He said a vacation was designed for relaxation and if the simple rules for safety are followed, then relaxation will result.

As a dark note, Gray said that our summertime months always showed an increase in the number of highway deaths—mostly among vacationers, and he cautioned the

Aid Offered In Identifying New Disease Of Corn

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — Because corn stunt disease may be a new threat to one of the state's major crops, agricultural research at Mississippi State University is being geared to combat it.

The major problem with corn stunt disease is that so little is known about it. First observed in California, then later in Texas, it was found to be transmitted by two species of leafhoppers. In 1962 the disease was found in Mississippi but entomologists say the insects which transmit the virus have not been collected here.

Species of leafhoppers and other insects to be found in the area are being collected. A three-year research contract between the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture is being negotiated. Under this project research men will seek to learn if insects other than the known vectors can transmit the virus. Another approach being explored is a study of possible plant resistance. Various corn hybrids will be compared to see if some are more susceptible than others.

As a further step in the fight against corn stunt, the Experiment Station, again with the help of the USDA, has published a leaflet in full color to help growers identify the disease. Land Grant universities in Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, and West Virginia have purchased copies of the Mississippi leaflet for use of farmers and Extension workers in their states.

Copies of this leaflet (Information Sheet 844) may be obtained from county agents throughout the state or from the Experiment Station at State College. It describes in detail the symptoms of this disease which shortens the internodes to such an extent that the stalk attains only one-third to one-half its normal height. Areas of reddish purple develop in the leaves and excessive branching of the roots have been observed. Infected plants bear little grain.

A total of 141,151,000 — 76 per cent of the U. S. civilian population — was protected by some form of voluntary health insurance in 1962. More than 141 million persons had this type of financial support or medical expenses.

What adds to accidents in the home is the fact that some people don't spend enough time there to get to know their way around.

To the Parents Of All the Seniors of Prentiss County

We, at Way-Fil Jewelry, join with all who say congratulations to the Seniors of 1964. However, we feel that the parents of the seniors deserve to be congratulated.

We often lose sight of the motivating force which makes it possible for us to accomplish our goal. Without the sacrifice made by most of our parents, this milestone could not have been reached.

May we congratulate you—PARENTS AND SENIORS—upon this momentous occasion.

Tippah Native Will Retire As Wyoming Prexy

Dr. G. D. Humphrey, the Tippah County native who has been president of the University of Wyoming since 1945, will retire from that position June 30.

Dr. Humphrey will continue to serve the institution as president emeritus, consultant to the board of trustees and as administrator of the UW school of American studies.

His tenure in UW's top office, by six months, the longest in UW history and Dr. Humphrey's 30-year career as a university president, makes him the senior executive among America's land-grant college and state university presidents.

He graduated from the Tippah County Agricultural High School in 1915, attended Mississippi State Teacher College (now the University of Southern Mississippi) and received his B.A. degree from Blue Mountain College in 1929 with majors in English, history and education.

In 1931 he received the M.A. degree from the University of Chicago with a major in educational administration and a minor in history of education. His doctorate, in land-grant college and university administration with a minor in educational philosophy and history of education, was granted by the Ohio State University in 1939. Dr. Humphrey holds the honorary LL.D. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University (1959) and the Litt.D. degree from the University of Arizona (1962).

His career in education began in 1915 when he served as the only teacher in a Tishomingo County school for a year following graduation from high school.

He served as superintendent of education for Tippah County and as superintendent of the Ripley Separate School District. He also taught in the Tippah and Benton County schools.

He was an instructor in education at Furman University for the summer of 1932; then became state high school supervisor, Mississippi State Department of Education, 1932-33; and served as president of Mississippi State University from July 1934 until August of 1945 when he came to UW as president.

Dr. Humphrey's administration of Wyoming's only four-year institution of higher learning has been characterized by the most vigorous single period of growth in the university's 77-year history. Since 1945, the student body has grown from about 3,000 students in the fall of 1943.

Some 13 major campus structures or additions to existing buildings, currently valued at more than $17,683,000 have been erected during this period at very little cost to the taxpayers. Commensurate advances have been made in the academic development of the university.

Named Wyoming's "Man of the Year" for 1951, Dr. Humphrey has also been active with a number of non-professional organizations including the Freedoms Foundation which he served as a board member from 1949 until 1951 and as chairman of its awards jury in 1954.

He was recipient of the National 4-H Alumni Award in 1958.

He is active in Masonic Orders (Knights Templar, Shrine), Rotary International, the Denver Club, the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C. and the Laramie Country Club.

A member of Kappa Gamma social fraternity, he also holds membership in a number of honorary societies, including Blue Key, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Iota Lambda Sigma, Beta Gamma Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi and Scabbard and Blade.

Dr. Humphrey has published widely during his long and varied career, authoring some 20 studies and papers chiefly in the field of education for various professional journals and similar publications.

He and his wife, Josephine Robertson Humphrey, are the parents of one son, John Julius Humphrey, a Laramie businessman and are members of the local Methodist Church.

Dr. Humphrey is a relative of Mrs. Leonard Downs of Booneville.

A total of 6.2 billion dollars in hospital-surgical-medical insurance benefits was paid in 1962. Another 906 million dollars was paid to insured persons for loss of income during illness or hospitalization.

Are You Interested In Feeding Your Family Better?

There is no doubt that families who own freezers DO eat better! That is just one of the joys of a home freezer. Economy and convenience are also important considerations to the homemaker.

With the "freezing season" almost upon us, Mrs. Edwina Wise, Foods and Nutrition Specialist, of Mississippi Extension Service, will conduct a special interest meeting on new and improved methods for home freezing.

Woman's Club Meets Thursday In Home Of Mrs. Homer Parker; New Officers Installed

The Booneville Woman's Club met Thursday afternoon, May 14th, in the lovely home of Mrs. Homer Parker with Mrs. Hill Hodges and Miss Irene Bane as co-hostesses. The hostesses served a refreshing dessert plate and coffee from a beautifully appointed table as the guests arrived.

The meeting was called to order and the Club Collect was read in unison. Mrs. Homer Parker reported on the Convention of the Mississippi Federation of Women's Clubs which she attended in Jackson May 7, 8, 9. Mrs. Emmons Turner, Jr. announced that the Club would again this summer sponsor the Summer Reading Program at the local library and she asked for volunteers to help.

Miss Loui Wier of Starkville was welcomed as a guest and Mrs. W. C. Eaker was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. B. G. Horton was program director for the afternoon and introduced Mrs. J. W. Hollandsworth, Historian, who gave the club history for 1963-64 in verse form. Mrs. Jack Dubard sang the hymn of the month which was "Faith of Our Fathers." Mrs. Horton then conducted the installation of the new officers, using the General Federation emblem in her installation remarks. The installation was most impressive as Mrs. Horton charged each officer with his responsibility. Those installed were: President, Mrs. Homer Parker; Vice-president, Mrs. Henry Mize; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Taylor Smith; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Webster Cleveland; Treasurer, Mrs. John Henry Price; Historian, Mrs. Kimble Bolen.

Of special significance throughout the afternoon was an arrangement of white flowers with a lighted white candle which was a memorial to Mrs. Leslie McCullar.

Mrs. Henry Mize presented tentative schedule of program arranged by the Program Committee for 1964-65. The club voted to adopt them.

The Club scrapbook, first place winner in the state, was on display.

In Loving Memory Of Archie Armstrong

We have come to realize that a light that was so bright has just been turned off in each one of our lives. It was a light that showed so clear, that helped bring happiness to everyone near. It was a light of love for loved ones and friends. It was the kind of love that has no end.

As we have a Maker over us that is so right, who couldn't bear to see the pain in his life so on February 8th, 1964, He was asked to take his step through Heaven's door. And as he was received with a welcoming hand by the King of Kings and the Lord of Man, I feel that I can hear those words that rang so clear, "For my Uncle Archie whom we all loved so dear. 'Come Ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the World. For I was hungry and you gave me meat, Thirsty and you gave me drink, I was a stranger and you took me in. You have walked a straight and narrow path, Welcome to eternal life.'"

His shoes will never be filled by neither me or you, but these things I think he would ask of us to do. Be faithful to our families and carry out God's work so true, for it won't be long until we all will be stepping through. Life is very short, it is full of bitter and sweet. But this is an appointment we all must meet. As we look upward and see the stars so bright, We know it won't be long until we'll take that flight.

Ladies' Shoe Taste Favors Younger Look

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—One of the most subtle and far-reaching revolutions in the world of women's fashions is taking place today, according to Edward T. Bomar, general manager of Brown Shoe Company's Air Step Division.

"Grandma is getting whistled at and so is Mama," Bomar said. "They aren't what they used to be and neither is their taste in shoes."

His point is simply that these ladies have almost deserted the old classic they've been buying for many years in favor of a younger look in basics. And if they can't find what they want at their favorite retailers, they go elsewhere. Bomar said that among the causes of this fashion revolution is the increased activity and sophistication of mature women. "They refuse to settle for the frumpy old gunboats that maiden Aunt Elizabeth used to wear," he explained. "They want fashion—not high fashion, but smart fashion, nevertheless."

Bomar said that perhaps the most significant factor is that these women have discovered they can have both fashion and comfort. Today's shoes are smarter, lighter, trimmer, and offer a greater variety of leathers and colors as well as more fashionable detailing. And they still afford old-fashioned comfort and quality construction.

"Only in the specialized orthopedic stores have sizable numbers of today's customers sought extremely basic shoes," Bomar said. "Air Step continues to offer a few of these traditional classics for its few unconstructed customers (and even these have been slimmed and trimmed), but five out of six customers are buying younger, smarter and accepted fashion."

The Air Step line has been beamed at these customers because — as Ed Bomar puts it — "Grandma seems to enjoy being whistled at."

And Grandma, as well as Mama and daughter, can find these latest styles at GRAY's in Booneville. (Adv.)

"The one great solution for all passion, emotionalism and intolerance is the broad knowledge that none of us knows he is right."—Willie C. Jewell, Carmel (N. Y.) Putnam County Courier.

In Loving Memory Of Archie Armstrong

We have come to realize that a light that was so bright has just been turned off in each one of our lives. It was a light that showed so clear, that helped bring happiness to everyone near. It was a light of love for loved ones and friends. It was the kind of love that has no end.

As we have a Maker over us that is so right, who couldn't bear to see the pain in his life so on February 8th, 1964, He was asked to take his step through Heaven's door. And as he was received with a welcoming hand by the King of Kings and the Lord of Man, I feel that I can hear those words that rang so clear, For my Uncle Archie whom we all loved so dear. "Come Ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the World, For I was hungry and you gave me meat, Thirsty and you gave me drink, I was a stranger and you took me in, You have walked a straight and narrow path, Welcome to eternal life."

His shoes will never be filled by neither me or you, but these things I think he would ask of us to do. Be faithful to our families and carry out God's work so true, for it won't be long until we all will be stepping through. Life is very short, it is full of bitter and sweet. But this is an appointment we all must meet. As we look upward and see the stars so bright, We know it won't be long until we'll take that flight.

Written by a nephew,

Ladies' Shoe Taste Favors Younger Look

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—One of the most subtle and far-reaching revolutions in the world of women's fashions is taking place today, according to Edward T. Bomar, general manager of Brown Shoe Company's Air Step Division.

"Grandma is getting whistled at and so is Mama," Bomar said. "They aren't what they used to be and neither is their taste in shoes."

"The point is simply that these ladies have almost deserted the old classic they've been buying for many years in favor of a younger look in basics. And if they can't find what they want at their favorite retailers, they go elsewhere. Bomar said that among the causes of this fashion revolution is the increased activity and sophistication of mature women. "They refuse to settle for the frumpy old gunboats that maiden Aunt Elizabeth used to wear," he explained. "They want fashion—not high fashion, but smart fashion, nevertheless."

Bomar said that perhaps the most significant factor is that these women have discovered they can have both fashion and comfort. Today's shoes are smarter, lighter, trimmer, and offer a greater variety of leathers and colors as well as more fashionable detailing. And they still afford old-fashioned comfort and quality construction.

"Only in the specialized orthopedic stores have sizable numbers of today's customers sought extremely basic shoes," Bomar said. "Air Step continues to offer a few of these traditional classics for its few unreconstructed customers (and even these have been slimmed and trimmed), but five out of six customers are buying younger, smarter and accepted fashion."

The Air Step line has been beamed at these customers because — as Ed Bomar puts it — "Grandma seems to enjoy being whistled at."

And Grandma, as well as Mama and daughter, can find these latest styles at GRAY's in Booneville. (Adv.)

"The one great solution for all passion, emotionalism and intolerance is the broad knowledge that none of us knows he is right."—Willie C. Jewell, Carmel (N. Y.) Putnam County Courier.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

SAFE USE OF PESTICIDES

Here are some rules for using insecticides safely and profitably: First, use a pesticide only when it is needed. And be sure that you use one that is recommended to control the pest you want to control.

Read the label before you buy. Make sure that the label lists the name of the pest you want to kill. After you buy the pesticide, read the label again before using it. Study it carefully. Then, Mr. Smith follow all label directions and precautions for storing, mixing and applying and for disposing of the unused pesticide or empty container.

SOYBEANS

Research indicates that no yield advantage can be expected under most conditions by planting adapted soybean varieties closer than 36- to 40-inch rows, according to Dr. Hartwig. Although the middles shade out early with narrow rows, more lodging is encountered. A recent report on work done at the Northeast Arkansas Branch Experiment Station at Keiser, supports previously published data showing no advantage to narrow row planting under normal conditions.

COTTON WEED CONTROL

It is a good idea to establish good grass and weed control in cotton as soon as possible.

Charles Moore, cotton specialist of the Cooperative Extension Service, says that use of herbicidal oils and chemicals give good control.

You can make the first application of oils after the cotton has been in the ground seven to ten days and is two or three inches tall.

Recommended rates of oil for the first application are four to seven gallons per acre in the drill area. If shoulder nozzles are used, 12 to 14 gallons will be needed as shoulder nozzles should apply one and a half to two times as much as the drill nozzles. Nozzles should not contact the young cotton plants.

You can make a second application of oil five days after the first application, provided permanent bark has not begun to form on the base of the cotton stem.

If using herbicidal oils a smooth seedbed is needed so the applicator gauging devices will keep the spray out of the young cotton buds. DMA plus surfactant can be used on cotton that is three inches tall. This does a good job of some of the more difficult grasses, including Johnsongrass and nutgrass. This material is recommended for use only on a trial scale.

Although cotton plants are not likely to be killed by using DMA, it is possible that residue problems can arise if the chemical is sprayed on the young cotton. Also, the young cotton can be stunted and yields reduced.

Remember, when using any farm chemical be sure to read and follow directions on the label.

TEMPORARY GRAZING CROPS

If you will need additional grazing within the next 30 days, plant one of the Sorghum-Sudangrass hybrids now. Apply 500 pounds of complete fertilizer at time of seeding. Start grazing when growth reaches 15 inches in height. Topdress with 60 pounds of nitrogen after grazing.
