Pioneer 4-H Reunion Planned As Highlight Of 50th Anniversary

By J. W. ARCHER

During the past several years there has been considerable interest in a reunion for Pioneer 4-H Club members in Mississippi. It has been decided such a reunion would be held on July 9, 1964, at Mississippi State University during 4-H Club Congress. This year is the 50th Anniversary of Cooperative Extension Service and the reunion will be one of the state highlights. We believe such an event will be of interest to many people who were early 4-H Club members.

Men and women who were 4-H Club members during the period 1907-1914 will be honored and given special recognition. These are the ones who were members before the Extension Service began (Corn, Tomato and Sewing Club members).

Those who were members from 1914 to 1930 will also be recognized and they are invited to attend.

Your help is needed in order to make this event a success. If you were a 4-H Club member from 1907 to 1930, or know of someone who was, please call the County Agent's office at once and give us this information. Telephone Number is 728-5631.

Mental Health Drive Completed

We have closed the campaign for funds for mental health. Our quota was $600. Ken Pounds, treasurer for the Mental Health Drive in Prentiss County, mailed a check in for $738.14 this week.

We have had many campaigns for raising funds and this was the last one. We are very grateful for the interest and the response. We hope to organize a group before long that will help us to receive more help on this important problem. We hope to have Dr. Jaquith from Whitfield to speak to us before long. He is outstanding over the nation on mental illness.

We want to thank every contributor to the noble cause. Especially we want to thank Mrs. Hazel Spain, Gene Walden, Helen Jones, John Mahaffy, Roy Lowrey and Merton Franks for their wonderful help in this campaign. The Booneville High School, the Junior High, and the Wick Anderson High did well. The factory response was almost unanimous. The papers and the radio were fine. We want to especially thank the Banner-Independent which was very generous and cooperative. We are sure that others deserve special mention.

W. H. Anderson, M. D., Prentiss County Chairman for Mental Health.

Booneville Remains Undeclared As Whitfield Stars

By BARRY PARDUE

David Martin (3-0) counted another victory Friday as the Pee Wees beat New Albany 4-3 in an extra inning. Jerry Allen had 2 for 3 for Booneville.

Adair suffered the loss in the Junior game by the score of 5-0. Adair had the only hit in D. T. Whitfield's one-hit ball game. Dean Koon and the boy the majors will be seeking next year, D. T. Whitfield, both went 3 for 3 for Booneville. D. T. is batting at cool .889.

Rightfielder Benny Stennett saved D. T.'s one-hitter, when the catcher hit a line-drive into right field. It looked like a sure hit, but the accurate arm of Benny tossed him out at first base.

We still miss you, Nob!

State Legislator Discusses Scope Of Civil Rights Bill

Speaking to members of the Booneville Kiwanis Club and guests Tuesday at noon, Charlie McCoy, Prentiss County's representative in the state legislature, discussed some of the ways in which the Federal civil rights legislation, which will come to a vote in the United States Senate within the next few days and is virtually certain of passage, will under the cloak of protecting the civil rights of certain minorities actually destroy the civil rights of all citizens of the United States who fall within its scope.

Quoting from dissenting views of members of the House Judiciary Committee, through which the bill was "railroaded" without benefit of any consideration, debate or study, the civil rights bill was described as follows: "The reported bill is not a 'moderate' bill and it has not been 'watered down.' It constitutes the greatest grasp for executive power conceived in the 20th century."

Mr. McCoy told the group that the depth, the revolutionary meaning of this act, is almost beyond description, and it will give almost unlimited authority to the President and his appointees to do whatever they desire.

He quoted some examples of how the power in this bill could completely dominate the lives of even the least of us.

If experience has taught a farmer that a member of one race is less reliable than another, does less for his pay, he will no longer be allowed to hire those he prefers for this reason. Under the power conferred by this bill, he may be forced to hire according to race, to "racially balance" those who work for him in every job classification or be in violation of Federal Law.

The right of homeowners to freely build, occupy, rent, lease, and sell their homes will be destroyed by this bill whenever there is involved FHA or GI financing, financing by a national bank or any bank or savings and loan association covered by the FDIC or any other type of Federal financial support. Mr. McCoy summarized how enforcement by Federal inspectors could dictate the operation of banks and bankers, corporations, hotels and restaurants, the courts and rights to jury trials, and even to the curtailment of freedom of speech.

To illustrate this last point, Mr. McCoy quoted from the "Dissenting Views" of the members of the House Judiciary Committee as follows: "If a person stands in a public square or before a civic club and advocates that segregation is best for either race and urges that it be maintained — and his stand is editorially supported by a newspaper — both would be in violation of Federal law and both would be subject to fine and imprisonment."

Commenting briefly on the problems facing the Mississippi legislature in trying to maintain our public school system, Mr. McCoy concluded that there was no clear course of action left open, and he could not predict what the outcome will be.

DISCUSS CIVIL RIGHTS—Charlie McCoy, center, Prentiss County's representative in the state legislature, told the Booneville Kiwanis Club members and guests Tuesday of some of the ways in which pending Federal civil rights legislation will actually impair the civil and property rights of citizens when it is enacted into law. R. G. Houston, left, was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker. Dewey Martin is president of the club.

There's no better way to start your campaign than with these recipes. I'm sure these are included in many recipe collections in Prentiss County already. They originated from the Extension Service at Mississippi State University. With such an origin they are bound to be tried and true!

With anyone's salad, the following are bound to be a delightful complement:

CHEESE STRAWS

2 c flour
 1 t salt
 2/3 c butter
 2/3 c American cheese, grated
 1/3 to 1/2 c ice water
 Paprika

Sift flour and salt, cut in butter, add sufficient water to hold together. Turn onto lightly floured board and roll in oblong shape. Sprinkle half the dough with a portion of the cheese and paprika. Fold over two or three times and roll out. Repeat until all cheese is used. Roll slightly thinner than pie pastry. Cut into tiny circles or 4-inch cheese-stick length. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in hot oven (425°) 7 to 10 minutes.

For the "overloaded" day full of too many extra activities, this casserole will be just the very thing with a cool, colorful garden salad:

CHEESE AND HAM FONDUE

6 slices bread
 3 t. butter or margarine
 6 slices (about 1/2 lb.) American Cheese
 3 slices boiled ham
 1 t. prepared mustard
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 2 c. milk
 1 t. salt
 1/4 t. pepper

Set oven for moderate (350 degrees). Spread 3 slices of the bread with butter. Top each with a slice of cheese, then a slice of ham, and finally another of cheese. Spread the three remaining slices with mustard and place on the cheese to make sandwiches. Cut each into 9 cubes and place in a well-greased 2-qt. casserole. Beat the eggs, milk, salt, and pepper together with a rotary beater. Pour over bread cubes. Set casserole in a pan of hot water and bake about 1 hour, or until a knife inserted in the center of egg mixture comes out clean, and the top is brown. This makes 4 to 6 servings.

Four home demonstration ladies spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week at the State Council meeting with me: Mrs. Walter Dilworth, Pisgah Club, Mrs. Prentiss Daniels and Mrs. L. H. Stutts, Booneville Club, and Mrs. Harold Burns of the Baldwin Club. Seven hundred and seventeen ladies were registered from all over the state. Our Mrs. Daniels participated in the pageant celebrating 50 years of Extension service. Mrs. Burns served on the State Council Nominating Committee. Mrs. Dilworth, as the State Awards Chairman presented awards to 29 ladies for various achievements. Speaking of awards Mrs. Stutts received a 5-ruby pin for meritorious service in her district and State Council. Mrs. Dilworth received a 3-diamond pin for service on national level, as well as in this District and State.

Prentiss County ladies did well this past year, wouldn't you say?

Endrin-methyl parathion kills bollworms fast.

Spray on a 4 to 5 day schedule and you'll have your cotton made.

Endrin-methyl parathion gets weevils too, resists weathering, protects your crop through the critical fruiting period.

LET'S FACE IT: bollworms are tough. There just isn't any magic bollworm killer.

Yet you can get excellent bollworm control with endrin-methyl parathion if you apply the right amount in a regular program, and get thorough coverage.

You will automatically control and stay ahead of boll weevils, including resistant strains.

And you will stop cabbage loopers, leafworms, plant and stink bugs—a total of 9 other insects that attack your cotton.

Protects two ways:

1. Methyl parathion gives you fast action. Just hours after application, you'll find the ground littered with dying worms and weevils methyl parathion knocks off your cotton.

2. Endrin gives endrin-methyl parathion its long lasting quality. It resists weathering. Pound for pound, it's the longest-lasting chlorinated insecticide you can use on cotton.

Endrin puts a chemical barrier on your cotton that helps protect it until the next spray in your schedule. That's why you can expect 4 to 5 days' protection from each spray.

Cuts spray costs two ways:

1. Because endrin-methyl parathion has staying power, you can lengthen the intervals between sprays in your regular program up to a total of 5 days. Result: you will probably apply fewer sprays—yet you'll get excellent control of bollworms and other insects. By keeping down insect populations, you slow down reinfestation. You may eliminate one or more costly, late-season sprays altogether.

2. Low dosages do the job. By applying sprays regularly you won't have to use extra-high dosages to "catch up" with bollworms and other insects. Result: you save money.

A regular endrin-methyl parathion schedule also increases your income by helping you grow more, early cotton.

Get endrin-methyl parathion sprays and dusts available from your dealer.

Gospel Singer's Voice Heard At Own Rites

(Taken from the Haleyville, Alabama Paper)

ADDISON, Ala.—The rich voice of S. Whit Denson, who gladdened the hearts of many gospel song listeners in Alabama and the South for decades, was heard recently at a funeral—his own.

In keeping with his request, relatives arranged that two recordings by Denson, who died at the age of 74, be played at his funeral service in a Methodist Church near this small northwest Alabama community.

The selections were, "I Won't Turn Back" and "New Morning Sun," both favorites of Denson.

Each recording was a quartet rendition with Denson singing all four parts and also serving as pianist.

Its effect was powerful on those who attended. Twenty-seven ministers were there (Denson was also a retired minister) and relatives

Following the wedding, a reception was given. The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace tablecloth. The three-tiered cake was surrounded by pom-poms and fern, flanked by candelabra holding lighted candles. Mrs. Pat Thacker and Mrs. Marie Campbell served at the reception. Mrs. Jane Ator presided over the bride's book.

The couple left immediately following the reception on a wedding trip. For going away, the bride wore a two-piece sleeveless yellow and white ensemble of eyelet over cotton, white accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

When the couple returns, they will be at home on Lone Willow Lane in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

and friends crowded into the church. Numerous flowers, shaped like musical notes, bedecked the altar.

The church, though large, could not hold everyone.

The unusual funeral service, held last week and disclosed only Wednesday, thus fulfilled a long-time wish of Denson.

"He had so many requests for them (the two songs) everywhere he went. People wanted him to sing them. He just loved them. He was a kind of man who wanted to be different," said Mrs. Virnell Kemp, one of the 11 children in Denson's family.

Denson was probably the most widely known gospel singer in Winston County history. He organized the Denson trio, made up of himself, his son Owe, and daughter Delilah. Together they sang in more than 30 states over a period of years.

His original group was a quartet, with Denson, Owe, and daughters Virnell and Eulah. When the daughters married, Delilah substituted and the trio was born.

The trio claims to have been the first gospel group to broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York many years ago.

Music and the name Denson have been one for five generations. That many generations have been associated with the writing, publishing and singing of gospel and old Sacred Harp songs. Denson was the son of one of the two Denson brothers who originated the "Sacred Harp" singing. Names of the two brothers are inscribed on a stone marker at the Double Springs Court House.

Whit Denson's voice was rich and could vary to any pitch, his relatives said. He was a former publisher of the Haleyville Advertiser. He published 200 song books and music publications.

"He inspired everybody that heard him sing. He had a most wonderful voice," Mrs. Kemp said. She said her father was born in Cleburne County, Ala., and later

Keep It Voluntary

Before any presidential election, proposals and promises are made by candidates that purport to care for various groups, generally at the expense of all the people.

Some of the plans are good and some are not, so it is up to citizens and taxpayers to try and sift the wheat from the chaff.

A function of government is to help the unfortunate and the needy, but proposals that put millions of citizens in that class just because they have reached a certain age seem to be going beyond the bounds of reason.

Already taxation absorbs the savings of young people at an alarming rate. Is it necessary to dump a heavier load on them by way of increased social security taxes for government-controlled medical care for persons who don't need it?

The supporters of a federal Medicare plan assume that no alternative exists for the social security tax for financing medical care for the elderly.

Voluntary health insurance plans have been growing at a fantastic rate. Figures recently published show that 60 per cent of the aged had voluntary health insurance in 1962 and that at the rate of increase, coverage can be expected to reach 68 to 75 per cent by 1969.

With existing public aid plans in the medical field, and with the continued growth of voluntary health insurance, if it operates in a free competitive economy, there is every reason to believe that the number of elderly persons needing public medical assistance can be cared for properly without loading the younger generation with billion dollar tax bills for compulsory health insurance payments through social security.

but no one believed them.

Then, the Federals made a drastic error. William F. "Baldy" Smith, leading the assault on Petersburg, delayed to ponder his situation. As he did, Beauregard received his first re-enforcements on June 15. On the 16th and 17th, Smith attacked and drove Beauregard's line back, but failed to exert the necessary force to take the city.

Finally, on June 18, Lee understood the situation. He fired off orders, and the Army of Northern Virginia moved out sharply. Next day, Grant's men faced the battle-hardened veterans of Lee's army—the same Confederates they had faced at Cold Harbor. A great Federal opportunity had been missed.

Next Week: France Gets a Taste of War.

Important To Look For Bugs And Worms

A. G. Bennett, Extension Entomologist, said, "This is starting off as a typical buggy year." Get out and look now! Squares are forming on the eighth and ninth nodes. Protect these squares now and get large bolls for early harvest. Ask your county agent for copy of local and state recommendations for cotton insect control.

June is Hospitality Month in Mississippi. This is the month when towns and cities open their arms and welcome tourists passing through the state. It has proven to be a very worthwhile program and is being copied in various ways in other states—including Mississippi's original idea of a Miss Hospitality.

The truth of the matter is and always has been that Mississippi does not have to advertise its hospitality. It has always been a main part of the state's social structure. Of course, the Hospitality Month program is very good, but what many do not realize from without is that hos-

One of the necessary costs in retailing is the payment of rent.

The cost of rent of course depends upon the location of a store. When traffic passing a store is high, then the rent is high.

Newspaper advertising is, in a real sense, a type of rent and should be considered as an investment in the same light. The merchant who utilizes advertising extensively is paying for a high rate of traffic just as the merchant pays for attention he receives from a good location.

In many cases the cost of traffic is less through advertising than it would be through a good physical location. And it can be more effective, too.

Modern shopping conditions are making advertising more important as a replacement for high rent locations. Many people prefer to shop at places easily accessible by automobile and with free and convenient parking space.

Stores, restaurants, and service establishments often find that their businesses are more attractive when they move away from high rent locations.

However, the new low rent locations are never an answer alone. The business which operates in a non-central location finds that investments which were made previously in rent must be transferred to advertising.

In fact, the farther any business is from the center of traffic the greater his advertising costs should become.

Consumers are not likely to search out an isolated location unless they are frequently reminded of the address and of the advantages of using the location.

100 Years Ago—

Siege Of Petersburg Begins In Virginia

By LON K. SAVAGE

The Civil War in Virginia took a dramatic new shift 100 years ago this week as Generals Ulysses S. Grant and Robert E. Lee played a game of cat and mouse outside Richmond.

When the game was over, each had outsmarted the other. Grant had fooled Lee by stealing a march southward, crossing the James River and marching on Petersburg, 21 miles south of Richmond before Lee realized what was happening. Lee, in turn, outsmarted Grant when he finally learned of the Federal move: with his usual swiftness, he raced his army for Petersburg and occupied that city's defenses before Grant could capture it.

The result was that Lee and Grant again faced each other in new lines, and their fighting was far from over. Because of the move, Grant was forced to lay siege on Petersburg, a siege destined to continue until the last days of the Civil War.

Grant's March

Grant had decided on his bold move after his disastrous defeat at Cold Harbor. Convinced he could not crack Lee's line through the middle, he decided to swing south and choke off Richmond's supply line from the south.

Ordering a cavalry division to hold off Lee, Grant swung his huge army of 113,000 southward toward the James; boats arrived; bridges were thrown across, and Grant began herding his men across.

Lee soon discovered Grant had withdrawn from his Cold Harbor lines, but he did not think Grant would cross the James. Lee moved his men into new lines just southeast of Richmond where he had whipped George McClellan 2 years earlier and waited for what he figured would be a new assault on Richmond.

In Petersburg

Down in Petersburg, Confederate Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard was beginning to realize what was happening. With about 2,200 men to defend Petersburg, he saw the Federals massing outside his lines; he heard reports that thousands of Federals were crossing the James; he felt the attacks on his thin line grow heavier. He sent off one message after another to Lee and to Richmond telling of his worries,

Impressive Tea Given Saturday Afternoon By Mrs. Hayden Sutherland And Mrs. Eva Eskridge In Lovely Sutherland Home

One of the loveliest events of all social seasons was the tea, impressive with its grace of hospitality, given by Mrs. Hayden Sutherland and Mrs. Eva Cook Eskridge on Saturday afternoon in Mrs. Sutherland's home on Washington Street. Lovely and liveable with appreciation for heritage, the artful blending of the traditional with the contemporary in the furnishings lends a distinct charm to the home.

To greet their guests, Mrs. Sutherland wore a pink linen sheath; Mrs. Eskridge was wearing a model in all-over embroidered pink voile. In the long living room, the guests, in colorful summer attire, mingled briefly for the pleasant exchange of greetings and conversation during the tea hours from 3 to 6.

Magnolias, the stately creamy, white flowers, dramatically contrasted against the deep green foliage, were featured in a white urn on an accent table. In a harmony of colors, a prized collection of superb roses included the newer introductions and some award winners. The roses — in tones of coral pink, velvety red, gardenia — like white, and a very rare orchid color — in a modern design, were viewed and admired on an antique bookcase. They were a gift from W. L. Gullett, Jr.'s rose garden.

The tea table was a dream-like picture of unrestrained beauty and elegance overlaid with a cutwork cloth. In the center was a magnificent five-branched silver epergne, finely crafted, with a raised center and arranged with fluffy bouquets of soft shaded pink carnations billowing over the sides, with touches of tiny sprays of deeper pink yarrow; the effect was enchanting. Trays of hot hors d'oeuvres, festive looking with decorating technique creating originality, and dainty tinted and frosted party confections, added to the table drama. Miss Kay Sutherland wearing a pink linen shift and presiding at the tea table, ladeled punch from a crystal punch bowl. Mrs. L. H. Sutherland assisted in the dining room.

A gift bouquet, a handsome grouping of hybrid lilies of the Green Magic, Emerald and Pink Perfection varieties, gave refreshing beauty and interest to the hallway. A dainty accent in the guest bedroom was given with a mound of deep blue hydrangeas in a pretty container.

Among the group were two attractive out-of-town guests, Mrs. Richard Alford of Henderson, Texas, and Miss Sarah Hodges of Memphis.

Everyone is invited to attend. Charlie Barron will be in charge.

Worms In Cotton

Peggy Moore adjourned the group with the pledge.

Refreshments were served by the Booneville High School.

YOU SAVINGS BOND

Question: It has been suggested that we look into Savings Bonds as a means of building an education fund for our two-year-old son. How does this work?

Answer: Very simple. If you begin investing $37.50 each month in a $50 Series E Savings Bond for your son, he will have a fund worth $9,713 when he reaches age 18 and is ready for college. If you could step up this investment program to $56.25 each month—the price of the new denomination $75 bond—his fund at age 18 would be $14,570. By purchasing these bonds in the name of your son — listing either parent as beneficiary — and filing a Federal income tax return for him declaring his interest earnings to be on an accrual basis, he probably would be able to apply the full value of his bonds, undiminished by tax, to his education.

Question: I own a number of Series E bonds bought during the 40's and 50's. Would it be to my advantage to cash them and put the money into the current issue E bonds which pay 3 1/2 per cent interest?

Answer: No; for more than one reason. First, no Series E bond now outstanding, regardless of issue date, is earning less than 3 1/2 per cent from now until next maturity. And this is based on its present value. Second, if you cashed in your older bonds, you would be obliged to report the gain in value for income tax purposes during the current year, thus reducing the amount available for reinvestment in newer bonds.

Question: Is it necessary that I keep a separate list of the serial numbers of my Savings Bonds in

VA Answers Vets Questions

Q.—Can I allow my annual GI insurance dividend to remain on deposit to meet future premiums?

A.—Yes, you may. You should notify the Insurance Service of the Veterans Administration Office where you pay your premiums to hold future dividends to your credit, at interest, to meet premiums if you should fail to pay when due.

Q.—I served less than a year in the Army between 1942 and 1943 and was honorably discharged at my own request to accept employment in essential industry. Will I be entitled to a pension when I become 65 years old?

A.—Pension may be granted at any age if a veteran has the requisite honorable service and is unable to follow substantially gainful employment due to disability.

Q.—I had service during both World War II and the Korean conflict but I have heard that the latter period would be used in determining my deadline for a GI loan. Is this true?

A.—Ordinarily yes. However, if the computed time based on a long period of service during World War II would establish a later deadline than a short period of service during the Korean Conflict, the World War II period may be used.

order to have them replaced should they be stolen or destroyed?

Answer: Not necessary, but certainly advisable since being able to supply the numbers of any such bonds would facilitate establishing your identity as owner of the bonds. But this is not essential to having any lost, stolen or destroyed bonds replaced.

Beautifully Planned Tea-Shower Saturday Honors Bride-Elect, Miss Judy Simmons

Mrs. Lila Caldwell and Miss Sandra Stutts were hostesses for a beautifully planned tea shower, honoring Miss Judy Simmons, bride-elect of Willard Barnett of Kossuth.

The shower, which was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Gaston Baptist Church on Saturday, May 30, featured green, white and pink in the decorations.

Pink and white rose buds centered the register table which was also adorned by a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Carlos White, sister of the bride, presided at the register.

The refreshment table, overlaid with a lace cloth over green, held a crystal punch bowl, surrounded with ivy and pink rose buds, silver candelabra with green tapers and accessory serving pieces of silver. An arrangement of pink rose buds and mums were placed at one end of the table.

The gift tables, overlaid in green and white linen, each held a bride doll. The center of interest table was covered with white linen centered with the bride doll and her attendants, and miniature white baskets, holding pink rose buds and baby white mums. The dolls were dressed in bridal attire. The maid of honor doll represented Miss Shirley Rhoads and the two bridesmaids represented Miss Nadara Morris and Miss Kaye Evans.

Pink punch, green individual cakes decorated with wedding bells, nuts and pastel mints were served by Mrs. Betty Jo Downs, Miss Sandra Stutts and Mrs. Frances Eaton.

Misses Debra Morris, Vicky Downs and Stephanie Livingston gave out small rice bags.

The honoree wore a trousseau dress of white whipped cream complemented with a gift corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. John Simmons, Jr., mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Odell Barnett, mother of the bridegroom and Mrs. Box, sister of the bridegroom were special guests and received with the honoree.

Miss Simmons and Mr. Barnett's wedding will be solemnized June 26 at 8 o'clock p.m. in the Gaston Baptist Church. The public is invited.

Miss Shirley Breedlove Is Honored With Shower-Tea At Town Motel On Saturday

Miss Shirley Breedlove, whose marriage to King Palmer of Mobile, Alabama, will be solemnized on June 20, was honored with a shower-tea on Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 at the Town Motel.

Hostesses for the hospitality were Mrs. John Curlee, Mrs. Herschel Stennett, Mrs. Charles Maddox, Mrs. Joseph Hill, Mrs. Harmon Barron, Mrs. David Berryhill, Mrs. Hoyle Eaton, Mrs. Margie Martin and Miss Lillian Gaines.

Mrs. Maddox met the guests at the entrance. After being greeted by the bride-elect and her mother, the guests were directed to the refreshment table by Mrs. John Curlee.

Mrs. Barron, Mrs. Martin and Miss Gaines circulated among the guests during the tea hours. Adorning the piano near the entrance, was a classic arrangement of magnolia with a silver candelabra with lighted candles to cast a glow over the all-white composition.

An exotic effect was given the registry table with panicles of pink and orchid phlox and a silver candelabra to complete the spire-like modern version in design. Mrs. Joseph Hill kept the register of guests.

A traditional arrangement of beautiful and fragrant roses in a color harmony of varied hues, in a tall, fluted crystal epergne, entwined at the base with pink phlox and soft fern enhanced the exquisitely appointed silver and crystal table setting, overlaid with a linen cut-work cloth. From a crystal bowl refreshing punch and dainty individual cakes ornamented with wedding bells were served by Mrs. Berryhill, Mrs. Stennett, and Mrs. Eaton.

The gift tables were laden with a beautiful collection of china, crystal, corning ware, linens and miscellaneous selections. Each table was centered with a conventional arrangement of magnolia buds fringed with glossy green foliage.

For the event the bride-elect looked lovely in a yellow silk dress sheath smartly stylized with a brief shoulder cape which was accented with a white carnation corsage.

A special guest, her mother, Mrs. Landrum Breedlove, wore a casual model of blue and white arnel jersey with a white carnation corsage.

Most of the meeting consisted of making plans for the annual flower show which the club will sponsor June 26 at the PCEPA Building. The theme of the show is "Saying It With Flowers." All ladies clubs are invited to enter the horticultural and artistic arrangements as specified in last week's paper.

The rules may be obtained from any member of the Garden Club. There is a deadline, Wednesday, June 24, for making any entries to be entered in competition.

The show will be free and open to the public from 2 to 6 p.m.

Charles Sullivan Is Seeing World

Charles Sullivan, the Clarksdale attorney and businessman who ran two strong races for governor, is seeing a lot of the world.

Mr. Sullivan, a major in the Air National Guard, was in Paris in April; he'll be in Germany next week and has a trip to Japan scheduled in the fall, all in connection with his Air Guard duties.

In the meantime, he's keeping busy with his law practice and as president of the rapidly expanding North Mississippi Savings & Loan Association (of which a branch is located in Booneville).

Mr. Sullivan, a former district attorney, made his first statewide political effort in 1959, the year Ross Barnett defeated Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin for the governorship. His strong third place showing marked him as a political newcomer.

Last summer, he polled about 125,000 votes in the Democratic primary, but fell short of the runoff in which Gov. Paul Johnson defeated former Gov. J. P. Coleman.

His future political plans? "Right now, I'm just not certain," Mr. Sullivan said last week. But there's no doubt he is still interested and, at 39, has the age factor in his favor. —The Commercial Appeal

SBA Liberalized Loan Program Will Aid Small Establishments

The very small businessmen — chiefly operators of retail shops or service establishments — many of whom have had a hard time obtaining financing in the past — will now find it much easier to qualify for a Government loan, George A. Feild, Branch Manager of the Small Business Administration, said today.

The new, liberalized loan program was announced by President Johnson at White House ceremonies in Washington last week which Feild attended, along with SBA Administrator Eugene P. Foley, M. P. "Hot" Moore of Senatobia, Miss., member of SBA's National Advisory Council, and other businessmen and Government officials.

The White House ceremonies, in connection with National Small Business Week, were the climax of a trip to Washington by Feild along with other SBA regional directors and branch managers to review the Agency's activities.

"President Johnson's Administration is very definitely concerned with the welfare of small business," Feild said. "He assured us that he has small businessmen very much in mind every day and his interest was clearly demonstrated by his willingness to take time out from a very busy schedule personally to greet the SBA representatives."

The SBA's new small loan program reflects a new emphasis on helping the very small businesses, Feild said.

A Successful Master Water Management District Explained

A Master Water Management District must first of all be a community or area cooperative effort to solve a common problem that cannot be treated on individual farms.

Steps In Securing Help

Mississippi House Bill 670, 1960 Session, enabled farmers to secure help in water management problems that affect more than one farm as follows: Section H 2 states purpose and defines the Bill—Section 3, governs the method of organizing the method of organizing; Section 4 gives requirements of petition; Section 5 provides for a public hearing; Section 6 provides for the development of a plan through the assistance of the Department of Agriculture and also provides for another public hearing with adequate time for study by all landowners before the required approval by Chancery Court. If the plan is not satisfactory the matter will be dropped. If it is satisfactory provisions are made to form a permanent district to carry out the plan of improvement.

Duties of local groups and agencies—A Steering Committee of interested land owners must be in charge of organizing a temporary organization which requests a tentative survey of area.

The Extension Service and vocational agriculture teachers will conduct an educational program to create understanding by landowners. The Soil Conservation Service will furnish technical assistance and make a preliminary plan of Watershed treatment. ASCS County Committee will cooperate and provide ACP assistance in land treatment when approved for operation. FFA will work with Commissioners in securing loan if needed. Forestry Service will assist with tree planting to prevent erosion. Fish and wildlife Service will assist in developing fish and wildlife part of the program.

Local leaders can assist in creating an understanding by furnishing information, organizing tours of nearby watersheds that are in process or have completed construction.

SBA Administrator Foley has frequently expressed the view that the Agency in the past has not done as much as it should to help the businessman at the lower end of small business scale, he said. Yet they are often the businessmen most in need of financial help, and those who have the most difficulty in obtaining it.

The new small loan program was designed to meet this need, Feild said. Under this program SBA will make loans to small firms up to a maximum of $15,000 for as long as 6 years under greatly liberalized terms.

Primary emphasis will be on the character of the applicant and his past record of meeting obligations, and no application will be turned away merely because he lacks collateral to pledge as security for the loan.

"SBA believes that you have to take a chance on people," Feild said, "and we will take a calculated risk in cases where we believe the applicant has a favorable earnings potential sufficient to repay the loan."

"We have simplified our procedures and requirements for these loans. We believe it is important to help the many thousands of struggling small firms, as a means of creating new jobs, and stimulating the Nation's economy."

"It is clear," Feild said, "that the SBA will have an important role in President Johnson's war against poverty. More and more it is becoming apparent that a thriving small business community can do much toward taking up the slack in unemployment."

He said that top SBA officials in Washington are also concerned with the large number of business mergers which may be a threat to small business, and the problem of industrial conversion from defense to commercial production.

Feild added that SBA officials are giving serious thought to the effects on small business in the future as the Government cuts back on defense production and the economy converts primarily to provide for civilian needs.

He suggested that those desiring additional information should contact the Jackson SGA Office which is located in the U. S. Post Office and Courthouse Building. The telephone number is: 354-3881, Extension 333.

BLALOCK

By DICK BROWN

Listen you fellows as you gather around, Hear the story when Blalock came to town. The bootleggin' crowd had things their way, It looked like they were here to stay. These 'leggin boys were plenty rough, They had the law completely bluffed. Blalock told the Mayor he was ready to go, Whatever he wanted done just to let him know. The white corn whiskey that was being sold, Made men and animals awfully bold. A fellow spilled a few drops on the floor, Right next to a little mouse's door. The little mouse came out, took a sip or two, Smacked his lips and said, "What a fine brew." He reared back, threw down his hat, And said, "Where can I find that D- cat?" The Mayor told Blalock just to begin, There were several bootleggers that should be brought in. Blalock said, "Are there four or five, Do you want them dead or want them alive?" Blalock took off down the street, When a big bootlegger he did meet. Blalock said, "I am the new law. You are under arrest and don't gimme no jaw."

The 'legger looked around and kindly grinned, Talk like that sounded silly to him. Blalock put a forty-four slug right past his ear, And said, "I don't believe the boy can hear." Now the bootleggers understand this kind of talk, A forty-four will make any man walk. Blalock brought them in big and small, He didn't miss a 'legger, he got 'em all. Being a cop was lots of fun, So for the sheriff's office he thought he would run. He had a big following around about, It took three days to count him out. Blalock drifted away just like he came, In Prentiss County he had made his name.

Prentiss ASCS County News

By CHARLES E. CALVERT, Office Manager

FARMERS URGED TO CHECK STORAGE

Virgil Nicholson, Chairman, Prentiss Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee today urged grain producers to study their storage needs. The farm storage facility loan program administered by the ASC County Committee can help finance construction of additional storage space. Producers may borrow up to 85 per cent of the cost of new grain bins or cribs and equipment needed to handle or condition grain.

Loans are repayable in four installments over a five-year period with interest at 4 per cent a year on the unpaid principal balance. Loans to construct storage facilities are available to landowner-operators, share-landlords, or tenants who produce barley, corn, grain sorghums, oats, rice, soybeans, or wheat. There are no longer any provisions requiring Mississippi producers to be in compliance with price support or other programs to be eligible for a farm storage facility loan.

Mr. Nicholson added, "Good storage doesn't cost, it pays." So plan ahead for your storage requirements and avoid the rush at harvest time this fall.

ACP'S ROLE IMPORTANT IN WATERSHEDS

Watershed programs are of growing importance to both farm and city. Cost-sharing assistance, available through the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), in most cases is an important factor in getting watershed farmers to commit themselves to carry out the needed land-treatment measures and in speeding up their application. In addition to direct agricultural benefits, watershed program means (1) adequate supplies of clean water, (2) less damage and expense from floods and erosion and from stream and reservoir siltation, and (3) better, more accessible recreational facilities.

The backbone of any watershed program is the timely establishment by farmers, ranchers, and woodland owners of needed conservation practices on the land in the watershed. Public Law 566, under which the largest number of watershed programs now organized have been developed, provides that Federal assistance for works of improvement will be available only if the owners of not less than 50 per cent of the lands in the drainage area above each proposed retention reservoir in a project enter into agreements to carry out the recommended soil - conservation measures and farm plans.

Since the watershed plans provide no P. L. 566 funds for land-treatment measures except in certain critical situations, ACP assistance has been invaluable in helping accomplish watershed conservation objectives.

Throughout the country, land-treatment measures were performed during 1963 alone in about 1,200 organized watersheds by the owners and operators of more than 132,000 farms and ranches. Farmer-and-ACP investment in watershed conservation work for the year amounted to about $43 million.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

SUMMER PASTURE MANAGEMENT

Weed control is number one in summer pasture jobs. Do this by either clipping or spraying. If by spraying, make sure that the material you use does not drift and damage cotton or soybeans. When clipping, be sure to raise the clipper blade five to six inches to avoid cutting the grass too short.

Alternate the cows from one pasture to another. This gives the grazing a chance to make a comeback.

Fallow land for fall planting. This will do more to help assure early stands and fast growth than any other practice. Crops to plant on fallowed land include alfalfa, small grains, ryegrass and clovers.

Lime pastures. Lime areas before fallowing, during fallowing, or on land not to be plowed, to dress the lime.

Fertilize permanent pastures by broadcasting phosphorus and potash. Get rid of broomsedge by liming, plowing, clipping and alternate grazing.

FEEDER PIG SALE

The next area feeder pig sale is scheduled for Thursday, July 16. If you have pigs to consign let us know by June 20.

More of our farmers need to add the pig enterprise—it requires little investment and is a good source of supplemental income.

SUMMER HOG MANAGEMENT
Keep 'em cool and comfortable. With hogs, this advice can make money for you!

Research showed that sows raise bigger and stronger litters when kept comfortable. For sows on pasture, make sure that they have shade . . . either natural shade or some that you provide. Sprinklers will also help on pasture. Do not over-feed your sows.

Some millet in the summer grazing will help. It will go a long way toward cutting feed costs.

If needed, insulate the farrowing house.

On finishing hogs, provide sprinklers. But be sure to leave some dry space where the pigs can get away from the sprinkler. It might be a good idea to cut off the sprinkler on cool nights.

COTTON INSECTS

If DDT fails to control bollworms, consider switching to one of these materials: Sevin at one to two pounds per acre; toxaphene and DDT at two pounds toxaphene and one pound DDT; endrin at 3 to 5 pound per acre; strobane and DDT at two pounds strobane and one pound DDT.

Experimental tests indicate that 25 to 50 pounds of methyl parathion ADDED to these materials resulted in better control.

Methyl parathion alone is not recommended. It has been used in emergency by some farmers to kill BIG WORMS. Results have been erratic. It gave control in some cases; no control in others. Remember, small worms are much easier to kill than big worms. Check fields and kill the worms while they are still small.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Board of Supervisors will, on July 6, 1964 at 10 O'Clock A.M., receive bids for the purchasing for the Second District, one mounted truck dump bed, 6½ feet by 8 feet, 5 yard capacity.

This the 1st day of June, 1964.

Sensing The News

By THURMAN SENSING
Executive Vice-President
Southern States Industrial Council

STATUS FOR THE SLOTHFUL

Speaking in Chicago last year, an economist by the name of Robert Theobald advanced the extraordinary notion that people ought to receive an income whether or not they work. Those persons who prefer to live on public charity undoubtedly thought Mr. Theobald's idea just dandy. The concept that nonwork should be as productive of income as work is absurd, of course, and should have been treated as an absurdity.

But these days absurdities have no trouble finding a sponsor. In this case, something called "The Ad Hoc Committee For A Triple Revolution" dredged up the same theme in late March. It proposed that government provide every individual with a guaranteed annual income as a matter of right — and without respect to whether that income is earned.

Not surprisingly, Mr. Theobald is a member of the committee. The public should familiarize itself, however, with some of the other members of the committee. An advertisement placed by the committee carried the signatures of Gunnar Myrdal, Gerald Johnson, W. H.

Ferry, Linus Pauling and others. Mr. Myrdal is the Swedish socialist who wants the U. S. to distribute its national income to other countries. Gerald Johnson is the veteran writer for the left-wing Nation magazine. Mr. Ferry is a vice president of the ultra-liberal Fund for The Republic. He was last in the news when he directed ugly criticism at FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. In 1962, the late U. S. Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Penn.) described some of Mr. Ferry's writings, saying that in one book he reviewed the Fund official expressed his contempt and disdain for the United States and its people and pointed out that, in his opinion, the author of the book had succeeded brilliantly in his stated aim of showing the evils of the capitalist system and the "only true remedy—socialism." Dr. Pauling is internationally known as a signer of communist-front petitions.

So much for the background of the people saying that every person, irrespective of whether he works, is entitled to a guaranteed annual income.

Even if the plan had a better type of sponsor, it would still be without a logical foundation. If a society is to survive and prosper, the central importance of hard work has to be esteemed.

The Bible says that a man must earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. This is as true today as in Biblical times. No nation can live if its people do not believe that they have to work for what they have. If people in the U. S. were to be told by their government that a living was owed to them, even though they never lifted a hand in gainful employment, how long would they exert themselves? If John Jones saw that his neighbor, Tom Smith, decided not to take a job—choosing instead to accept a weekly check from Uncle Sam—John Jones soon would tire of being a sucker. He, too, would be tempted to go on the dole. Obviously, the country would not last very long if swarms of people thought it respectable to be supported by the government.

We have been tending in this direction as a result of welfare state programs. But at least the federal government has never come right out and said that a loafer had just as much right to an income as a hard worker. Its basic assumption has been that a man without a job wanted to find employment.

Spreading the notion that non-workers should be supported at public expense is subversive of the economic foundations of the country. Of course, everyone wants to help the man who is out of a job. He may need charity, and conservatives have never opposed charity for those who want work and can't find it. The man out of work also may require retraining, and numerous corporations are endeavoring to retrain people for more skilled employment.

But these efforts don't seek to give status to loafing, as the Ad Hoc Committee would do. Moreover, too soft a cushion for unemployed persons is bad in principle, for it weakens the incentive to work. This incentive has to be kept in our society, or our society will crumble through idleness and the moral rot that idleness breeds.

The best means of arriving at a guaranteed annual income for every individual is for every individual to work hard. A job, not a handout should be the goal of government.

Just Scribbling

Before Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Prichard left for their trip to the Holy Land, I asked them to write and tell us what they were seeing and doing because I knew many of you readers would be interested.

I was happy to receive, this week, the following letter written June 8, from the American Colony Hotel in Jerusalem:

"You asked us to write you and we have put it off until we got to Jerusalem. We are on the go nearly every hour of the day and do not get to write much except at night after a hard day of sightseeing. We are going to give you a few things about our trip so far and you can put it in your own words for the paper." (I liked the way they wrote the letter, so I'm using their words).

"We flew from New York to Cairo, Egypt and spent a few days. We were on a jet and the flight was wonderful. While in Cairo we rode on camels to see the Great Pyramids of Egypt. The ride was rough and bumpy but we had a big time. There is much poverty in Egypt which makes one sad to see."

"Next we visited the countries of Lebanon, Syria, and now we are in Jerusalem, Jordan. The people of all these countries have been so friendly and nice to us. We have spent this day visiting the Biblical places of interest. We walked the street that Jesus was said to have carried his cross, and where he was buried; also where he was tried by Pilate."

"Tomorrow we go to Bethlehem to see where Jesus was born and many other interesting places. Then we will visit Mount of Olives, the place of ascension and see the Garden of Gethsemane. We are sure we are going to enjoy the remainder of our visit here in Jerusalem for we have many places yet to see."

"After leaving here, we will fly to Athens, Greece for a few days stay and then to Spain and Portugal. Then it's back to New York for a few days at the World's Fair."

I appreciate the letter because I know they have a busy schedule, and I just rejoice that they can take such a fabulous trip.

Sign in a travel agency window: "Please go away."

Do you ever get the feeling that things can't go on without you? It's not true, I found out. Our family attended the Press Association convention at Biloxi, and everything went well at the newspaper and Aletha Lodge.

The Earl Hargetts visited in Booneville Monday, but we missed seeing them. You will recall that he was president of Northeast Mississippi Junior College. The son, Gil, started in Ed's Scout Troop and on your editor's desk was the note, "I got my Eagle." That's the highest rank in Scouting and it made us feel good that he continued his Scouting after leaving here.

"Father's Day" is Sunday and as each year goes by, I realize just how much fathers mean. When our sons want to go somewhere, I pass the buck with, "Ask your daddy". I also threaten to tell Daddy to whip them, or take away their privileges or make them do more work, etc. Seriously, though, all Fathers are very special and I think it's fitting to have a day to honor them.

Receiving praise from townfolks is W. L. Gullett, Jr., for the beautiful roses he has grown; most of them are the award-winning varieties. Unique is the Sterling Silver, which is an orchid color. The Gulletts live on the corner of Blackland Road and Fifth Street and you may drive by and see the flowers from the road. I've been by twice this week to admire their beauty.

There's some extra about men who grow roses. Most of you already know about the beautiful rose garden of Dr. Joseph Hurst and I understand that Dr. Paul Ellzey has also joined the select clan.

I just wonder if they also mow the lawn.

I'll close for now. I'm hoping we'll get the rain we need, and that all of you are well and happy.

Till next week,
Helen Johnson
