Gunman Robs Store At New Hope Friday

A dark-complexioned gunman held up Mr. Wroten, owner of a store east of Booneville, shortly after noon Friday and escaped with about $65 in cash.

Sheriff Gerald Green, who investigated, said that a man driving a pale blue Chevrolet pulled up in front of Dexter Wroten's store in the New Hope community, 12 miles east of Booneville, about 12:30 p.m. He walked into the store and pulled a gun on Mr. Wroten and told him to get the money out of the cash register. The owner was forced to give the man all bills and most of the silver from his cash register, the sheriff said.

Mr. Wroten was then forced by the gunman to lie on the floor. He ran out of the store and sped off so fast that Mr. Wroten could not get his tag number. He drove east toward Tishomingo County.

Mr. Wroten described the man as dark complexioned, between 18 and 22 years of age, about five feet, four inches tall, of slender build, and weighing about 125 pounds. He was said to be wearing a cap, dark sunglasses, and black gloves, and brandishing a small automatic pistol.

As of Wednesday afternoon Sheriff Green said there had been no arrest made in the case.

Garden Club's Flower Show Friday Is Termed A Very Successful Event

The first annual Town and Country Garden Club Flower Show, held Friday at the Prentiss County Electric Power Association building, was deemed a big success by local people and the out-of-town judges. The judges made the statement that any show which is successful reflects on the chairman.

Mrs. W. V. Kemp, president of the club, said the success was due to the "untiring efforts of the entire club, especially the special committees." Chairman of the show, Mrs. Harold Robertson, and co-chairman, Mrs. Joe Carter, "truly worked diligently for its success," she said. "Likewise, the staging committee, Mrs. Paul Ellzey, Mrs. Theron Pounds, Mrs. Loyce Farrar, Mrs. Kenneth Pounds and Mrs. Troy Moore are due words of praise for their efforts," she added.

Mrs. Kemp has expressed appreciation to all who attended the show which she said the judges thought was unusually good for the first show of a garden club. She also expressed appreciation to the Power Association for allowing the show to be held in the building.

The following is a list of the winners. It was pointed out that the list may not be complete since all the names were not recorded.

Speaking Of Labels

Many well-known writers, professors and commentators would have us believe there are no Communists in America to speak of and no Socialists worth bothering about. There are only "liberals," as opposed to "conservatives."

But what makes a Socialist? Norman Thomas, a sincere and honest Socialist, says: "The advocacy of public power does not of itself make a Socialist. . . But, of course, the principle behind public development of power is socialist, and it is rather childish to deny it."

Yet a great many people do deny it. Likewise, they would deny it is socialist for government to fix wages and prices, or to place controls over business profits. But it is just as childish to deny that these are socialistic as to deny public power is socialistic, and Mr. Thomas, who ought to know, makes that much clear.

Socialism generally has failed to work. That is one reason "liberals" deny that any of their programs are socialistic. Another reason is that Americans do not like socialism, although they can be misled as to what it is and what it is not.

Government currently is delving into the labeling of consumer products. It ought to be equally concerned about labeling of legislative programs; it ought to call them socialistic when they are—and see whether the American people will go for them when they are correctly labeled.

the abandoned Confederate lines.

Next day, Independence Day for the United States of America, Sherman entered Marietta, only 15 miles from Atlanta. Johnston waited in new lines along the Chattahoochee River, half-way between the two cities. Atlanta was in danger, but not lost.

AN ENDURING ASSET

Ode To July 4th

Today her thanks shall fly on every wind,
Unstinted, unrebuked, from shore to shore,
One love, one hope, and not a doubt behind!
Cannon to cannon shall repeat her praise,
Banner to banner flap it forth in flame;
Her children shall rise up to bless her name,
And wish her harmless length of days,
The mighty mother of a mighty brood,
Blessed in all tongues and dear to every blood
The beautiful, the strong, and, best of all, the good.

Local Business

By S. S. TALBOT
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

The more local a newspaper is, the more it means to a community. This generalization is illustrated by the recent failure of the New York Times to maintain a Pacific Coast edition, with the center of publication in Los Angeles.

Nearly everyone agrees that the New York Times is a great newspaper. But the Times could not succeed where other newspapers were in greater demand.

In spite of its prestige, the Times made no inroad into the demand for local newspapers.

Local advertising, then, remained in local newspapers. Advertising inevitably follows the greatest concentration of paid circulation. The retailer knows that his soundest promotion investment is advertising in a publication read most extensively by people who live within the vicinity of his store.

In some cases the best read publication is a suburban weekly or daily; in some cases it is a county seat newspaper; for a huge department store it may be the nearest metropolitan daily. In every case the newspaper which gets the bulk of retail advertising investment is one which gives emphasis to local news and community problems.

In New York City such a newspaper is the New York Times which flourishes on local retail advertising. In California, as elsewhere, the primary local advertising medium is the hometown newspaper.

"One way to make money is to forget who you borrowed it from." —Tom Phillips, Pana (Ill.) News Paladium.

Public Relations Notebook

BY Neil Woodruff, Asst. Professor of Journalism, MSCW

In living our lives, each of us is primarily interested in the relationships existing between ourselves and other persons with whom we come into contact day by day and year by year.

But there also exists in our society a most dedicated relationship of people to pets, some quite rare, but most very common such as dogs, cats, birds, fish and many others.

While relationships with other persons promote real values in our lives, people obviously find a great deal of comfort, enjoyment and pleasure from associations with their pets. They spend large sums of money and go out of their way in any number of ways to assure the welfare of a pet.

Dogs and cats are the most common pets. And most of them live the life of Riley. Nothing is too good for the canine or feline member of the household. Some have elaborate houses outside or else they have the run of the house and even sleep with their masters. They are given the finest food and are taken to the "vets" at the least sign of illness. They often become the number one topic of conversation. They are given elaborate birthday parties and their gifts take prominence under the Christmas tree.

Through the years there has been almost fantastic stories in newspapers about inheritances left to pets, usually cats, by their masters. These instances have brought on equally fantastic legal tangles. In cold climates, masters protect their pets with sweaters, coats, hats, ear muffs, and even shoes. A recent photograph in newspapers was most touching. It showed an eight-ounce miniature poodle nursing a cast on one of its broken front legs. The poodle's appropriate name was Hercules.

The real devotion of persons to their pets reaches its peak when misfortune or death occurs. In most cases it is taken quite hard. Burial ceremonies are held. Prayers may even be said. And a young boy may end his bedtime prayer "and God, please take care of Sandy."

There is a most unique cemetery located just outside of New Orleans. On any given day you can find this beautiful and well-kept piece of land populated with people moving from grave to grave. It's an elaborate, and as far as is known, the only formally-designed cemetery for pets in the United States. Some of the epitaphs are very touching. They sum up vividly the devotion and dedication that owners have for their pets, not only in this particular place, but everywhere.

Pets truly have become a part of our lives. We plan vacations and other trips around our pets. We find ourselves sitting up at night or walking the floor with an ill pet or acting as a helpless midwife. We will even fight a neighbor over our pets if necessary. But we love it because pets are considered a part of the family. I know this very well for the dominant member of our household, more often than not, seems to be our nine-year-old Lady, undoubtedly the finest dog that ever roamed a household. And she knows this very well.

Mr. Woodruff

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS MILES COTHRAN

Miss Brenda Kaye Williams And Dennis Miles Cothran Wed In Lovely Church Ceremony

Miss Brenda Kaye Williams of Booneville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Williams of Okolona and Mr. Dennis Miles Cothran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cothran of Memphis were united in marriage at the Calvary Baptist Church on Saturday, June 27 at 4 p.m.

The Rev. T. F. Grubbs conducted the impressive double-ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

Tall baskets filled with pink roses and pink stock with greenery and pink candles glowing from wrought-iron arches against a background of polished greenery and wedding bells with pink ribbons, formed a beautiful setting for the sacred rites. The candles were lit by Mr. Jackie Loveless of Houka and Mr. Don Williams of Booneville.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss June Walden, organist, and Miss Mary Grace Nabors, soloist, who sang, "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. D. D. Williams of Booneville, the radiant bride wore a wedding gown of silk organza and chantilly lace. A vidingote coat, with a chapel train and elbow length sleeves, covered a comesole bodice and a bell shaped skirt. A miniature French net crown secured a triple-tiered veil of imported English illusion that billowed to the waist. Her bouquet was of pink rose buds, feathered carnations and lily of the valley with pink streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Geraldine Williams of Booneville attended her sister as maid of honor. The Senate passed the bill which was $329,080,000 below the budget figure recommended by President Johnson.

Stennis, chairman of the Military Construction Subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, won immediate praise from fellow Senators for submitting "such a carefully screened recommendation."

Booneville Mayor Has Friend He Can't Lose

It has been said that Man's best friend is his dog. If this is true, then Mayor Marion Smith of Booneville is in pretty good shape. For Rebel, his mostly fox terrier dog, has been the mayor's devoted companion for twelve years.

He not only has an uncanny sense of direction and time, but, according to the mayor, is a good judge of character.

He finds the mayor wherever he happens to be in town—either at the bank, where Mr. Smith is also vice-president, or at church. Rebel hasn't told anybody yet how he knows his Sundays from his weekdays.

Rebel does not follow the mayor. Instead, he waits until the bank has opened for business, then finds his way there, some three-quarters of a mile from the Smith home.

He is one of the town's better-known citizens, and is evidently in no danger when winding his way through downtown traffic. The mayor said that drivers watch for the dog, and he has met with no accident in the five years he has followed this schedule.

While Rebel tolerates strangers and will permit them to pet him, he is, strictly speaking, a one-man dog. Sometimes, when the bank is open and Mayor Smith is in, Rebel stays outside on the sidewalk, waiting time for his master to take him home. As often as not, though, Rebel can be found at the mayor's feet, or in his own "private office," an anteroom adjoining his master's office.

Rebel has a habit of riding home from the bank with Mayor Smith. Usually, the dog jumps from the car and runs around the lot surrounding the Smith home. However, on Wednesdays, the afternoon the bank is closed, Rebel will not leave the car because he doesn't want to miss going with the mayor for a drive in the country, or for his golf game. Mayor Smith says that Rebel follows him around the golf course, but will not shag golf balls.

People around town have been using Rebel as an indicator of their mayor's whereabouts for years. If Rebel is at the bank, it naturally follows that his master is there. Last year when the mayor attended a banker's convention out of town, Rebel came down to the bank on the first day the mayor was gone, wandered all over the place looking for his master, and then stayed home until Mr. Smith returned home from the convention.

He informs the mayor when it is time to go home—either for lunch or at the end of the day—by getting restless and growing.

Rebel is not only well-known in Booneville, he has been greeted by a number of celebrities in his day. When former Governor Ross Barnett visited Booneville, he was accorded the signal honor of being introduced to Rebel.

Not only does Rebel know his Wednesday from his other days, and what time it is, he somehow knows when Sunday comes.

On Sundays, after the Smiths have left, Rebel goes to their church, five blocks away, and is permitted entrance to its basement. Here he finds Mayor Smith's Sunday School class, and listens attentively to Elmer E. McCoy, the teacher. Mr. McCoy told the class recently, "If all the members of this class would exercise as much loyalty and devotion as Rebel does, the class would be 100 per cent every Sunday."

Mr. McCoy said that Rebel lies at his feet on Sunday morning, and looks up at him while he teaches, never batting an eye.

Rebel has also been known to welcome new members into the church, preceding Mayor Smith down the aisle to be patted by the new member. However, Rebel does not attend church services, but waits outside until they are ended. The mayor said that Rebel rarely barks at anyone passing his house, but once warned the mayor by barking in the night that someone was trying to steal the hubcaps off Mr. Smith's car.

The Smiths acquired Rebel from the Memphis dog pound 12 years ago. He was just a pup then, and their daughter, a majorette with the Ole Miss Rebel band at the time, gave him his name.

Mayor Smith, who appears to be a one-dog man, said with a twinkle in his eye, that most applicants for loans from the bank have learned to pat Rebel's head. It seems that there have been times when Rebel shook his head at the mayor or his compatriot at the bank, Ken Pounds, indicating the applicant to be a poor risk.

Mr. Smith said that they don't always wait for Rebel's nod of assent, but really watch for that negative head shake.

At this point, Rebel winked one big brown eye, and said nothing. (Copied from The Tupelo Journal)

Just Scribbling

by

MRS. ED JOHNSON

First, I want to congratulate the local Town and Country Garden Club for their flower show held Friday at the Power Association building.

The show was a big success and the pretty arrangements and beautiful flowers made me wish I, too, had a green thumb.

Luster Wilson, who lives with Brown Holliday on East Church St., is gaining a reputation as a tomato grower. A specimen he brought by the office weighed 2 pounds, 2 ounces, was 6 inches in diameter and almost 19 inches around!

Saturday is the 4th of July. It's time for us to pause and be thankful that our country is free — not under the rule of some other country. We should strive to protect all of our rights and, as the late President Kennedy said, "Think not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

The latest project of our youngsters is collecting animals in a large partitioned cage. Along with the twins, Jim and John Hutchins, and Bill Caver, they now have snakes, lizards, rabbits, turtles, frogs, etc.—several of each kind — in this cage which is more in our neighbor's yard than ours. And of course, they say that Marie (Dalton) doesn't mind, just as long as the snakes don't get loose!

We've just about quit struggling for an existence — the struggle now is to keep up with the payments!

Most moth-in-law jokes may not be funny, but I enjoyed the one about the son-in-law who was given two ties for his birthday by his mother-in-law; when he appeared at her house wearing one of them, she asked him, "What's the matter, didn't you like the other one?"

The surest way to acquire good will is to do good work.

Perhaps you've had the same following experience: I ask our teen age sons where they have been and the answer is usually, "Nowhere."

I ask what they have been doing and the answer is usually, "Nothing."

Then I say, "You left the house two hours ago. What did you do?"

They say, "We went to the baseball field to see if anybody was playing ball."

I say, "I drove by there over an hour ago and you weren't there."

They say, "Nobody was there so we went to the hut."

I say, "What did you do?"

They say, "We played ping-pong."

I say, "Where did you get the snake?"

They say, "We walked part of the way home with John and there was this little creek and the snake was just lying there."

Then I tell them I've got to go to the grocery store and I want to know where they are going. They answer, "Nowhere."

I continue, "Well, what are you going to do?"

They answer, "Nothing."

I am indebted to Mr. B. G. Horton for the following item. And I'm going to try it — just for one day:

A PATTERN TO LIVE BY

JUST FOR TODAY I will try to live through this day only, and will not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do something for 12 hours that would appall me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a lifetime.

JUST FOR TODAY I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful. I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

JUST FOR TODAY I will adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my "luck" as it comes, and fit myself to it.

JUST FOR TODAY I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, talk low, act courteously, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything and not try to improve or regulate anybody except myself.

JUST FOR TODAY I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two pests: hurry and indecision.

JUST FOR TODAY I will be unafraid. Especially I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me.

Till next week,
Helen

Death came Monday, June 29 to a beloved member of one of Prentiss County's oldest families. Mr. Arthur Zimriah Smith passed away in the Memphis Methodist Hospital after an illness of two weeks. He has been in failing health for the past two years.

Mr. Smith was born April 1, 1881 in the New Hope Community. He was the youngest son of the late Jeff L. Smith and Sarah Ann Holley Smith, one of nine children; four sons and five daughters. His paternal grandparents were the late V. A. T. Smith and Eleanor Patrick Smith and maternal grandparents were Jape Holley and Mary Jane Rogers Holley. Both families are remembered as respected pioneer pillars of the community in which they lived and reared their families.

He is also survived by three sisters, Miss Pearl Smith, Booneville, Mrs. Leona S. Taylor, McMinnville, Tenn., and Mrs. Gustava S. Sims, Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Turner III Are Honored At Open House Sunday Afternoon

With the charm of their traditional hospitality, Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Turner, Jr., were hosts at Open House on Sunday afternoon from 4 o'clock until 6 o'clock honoring Mr. and Mrs. David E. Turner III, at their spacious home which is one of the most beautiful of the series on picturesque Wildwood Drive.

Greeting guests informally in the hallway, Mrs. Emmons Turner, Jr. wore aqua silk linen with lace over a taffeta bodice. Mrs. David Turner was wearing a two-piece dress of white lace over beige taffeta styled with a beige satin bow with which she wore a pink carnation corsage. Featured on the console, a crystal epergne of crimson roses was radiantly reflected on a gold framed mirror at the entrance.

In the living room varying shades of red and pink roses were combined with greenery and fruit on the coffee table.

Mrs. D. E. Turner Sr. and Mrs. T. L. Word of Okolona received in the living room. Mrs. Turner wore a pink silk linen sheath and Mrs. Word was attired in blue and white chiffon.

In the dining room the tea table was overlaid with an imported Italian cut work cloth. An English silver candelabra epergne arranged with white stock, Queen Anne's lace, gladioli and roses gleaming with slender white tapers observed a green and white theme. Miss Mary Jane Turner, attired in pink voile with white lace trim, presided at the tea table. Lime punch was served by Mrs. T. L. Word, Jr. and Mrs. Max Word of Okolona. Trays of dainty party confections, pastries, and tasty hors d'oeuvres in the newer food fashions with the green and white motif predominant, gave an appealing emphasis.

HOME AGENT NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS

If you're planning a trip to visit relatives, a vacation resort, or a favorite picnic spot during the 4th of July weekend, please be the most careful driver on the road and follow all the safe driving rules.

If you can't avoid night driving, please read and follow these rules for night driving:

*Stop every hour, whether you feel tired or not. Always get out of the car for at least a minute or two. If possible drink coffee, tea or a soft drink. Don't eat a big meal just before or during a long trip. Instead stop often and eat small amounts.

*Keep the dash light as dim as possible... this particular glare is hypnotic.

*Don't keep your eyes focused on a point straight ahead; look to the right and left, and don't follow the same car too long. If you find your eyes beginning to glaze because of the monotonous road, run the windshield wipers a few minutes for distraction.

*Play the radio, but avoid slow, dreamy music. Change stations often. Sing out loud; whistle.

*After an hour of driving, pull over and take off your right shoe. Vibration from the gas pedal will have a stimulating effect.

*Chew gum, eat a candy bar; keep plenty of fresh air coming into the car. Don't smoke too much... it may fatigue your eyes.

*Vary speeds from time to time, keeping below maximum allowed. Unvarying speeds have a tendency to induce "speed hypnosis."

*Before taking a trip, check your car thoroughly. Test all electrical equipment, tire pressure including spare tire, tools, jack, headlights, wipers, brakes, battery. Be sure to include a torch or flash light, a good first aid kit and a tool kit.

Wash Bathing Suits Often
Swish your bathing suit through suds and rinse after every swim. This removes harmful sea salt, oily scum, chlorine and sharp sand particles which cut fabrics.

Toasted Honey-Sesame Sticks
Trim crusts from 8 slices enriched bread. Brush with a honey-butter mixture... 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons honey. Sprinkle with toasted sesame seeds. Cut slices in to four strips. Place on a baking sheet and toast in a hot oven (400 degrees F) for 9 minutes until crisp and golden brown.

THE WAR FROM WITHIN

The ability of the international communist movement to find support inside the United States is said by liberals to be virtually non-existent. The liberals consistently take the position that "superpatriots" see Reds under the bed all the time.

But the liberals will find it extremely difficult to avoid recognizing attacks that have been made recently by young Americans against their own country.

I refer, in the first instance, to the Associated Press report of June 12 which stated that destruction of the U. S. government was advocated by four Negro American students visiting Cuba in defiance of State Department regulations.

In a statement denouncing the United States, the students said: "We realize the United States government is the biggest force in history and must be destroyed." Another member of the student group arriving in Havana identified himself as the leader of the visitors and a communist.

That a group of American citizens would go to Cuba, in defiance of U. S. law, and speak in condemnation of their land from the soil of a country drenched with the blood of anti-communists killed by a communist regime, should shock the American people into new vigilance against the enemy within our gates.

In fact, if this particular group of people are ever allowed to re-enter this country, it will be definite proof of a terrible weakness in our State Department that must be eliminated if we are to remain a free nation.

The student group in Cuba is not the only instance of radical youth turning against our country's stand. In May, The Philadelphia Evening

Bulletin disclosed the fact that five students at Haverford College in Pennsylvania had formed an organization to raise money to send assistance to Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam. The Bulletin printed the facts after it learned that a Chinese Communist propaganda agency had announced the student support for the communist cause in Southeast Asia.

The Haverford students called their organization "The Front of National Liberation of South Viet Nam." They admitted that they had been in contact with Nguyen Van Hieu, secretary of the Communist Viet Cong in Communist Czechoslovakia. And they accused the United States of "persecution of a people fighting for their national independence."

As might be expected, liberals on the Haverford faculty rushed to the defense of these youths, saying they had a right of free expression. The American Civil Liberties Union jumped to their side, giving them legal assistance. In Pennsylvania, leaders of veterans' groups rightly condemned the students, pointing out that support for the Communist Viet Cong was the ugliest of insults against the memory of more than 200 Americans who have died in combat against communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The whole free world knows that the Viet Cong are but one of the satellite armies under the direction of Communist China. Brave Americans are daily risking their lives—and many are losing their lives—to prevent the defeat of the cause of freedom. And these scandalous youths at Haverford dare say that the fight in South Viet Nam is a struggle between "the U. S.-sponsored dictatorial regimes and the victims of these regimes."

These students should be firmly advised that what they are doing is closely akin to treason, if not treason itself. They should be strongly told there is no place for treason in any nation, much less our own.

While Americans fly over Cuba, searching for missiles, and while other patriots fight the Viet Cong in the rice paddies of South Viet Nam, there is dirty work being done at home. This dirty work calls for searching investigation by U. S. agencies. In total war, the communists never neglect the fifth column method — the war from within.

Senator Explains School Legislation

By SEN. J. P. DEAN

During the past few days the Mississippi State Senate in the First Extraordinary Session of the Mississippi Legislature, called by Governor Paul B. Johnson in Jackson, Mississippi, passed Senate Bill No. 1501, an act to create the establishment of private schools for the education of the children of the State of Mississippi.

Several newspapers in the past few weeks have made very definite stands concerning the enactment of such legislation and I feel that explanation of the bill is important to the voters of our Senatorial District.

At the present time, the Mississippi Public School System is under Federal Court orders in certain counties of our State to integrate their class rooms this coming September. Mississippi for a number of years has operated a dual public school system with the complete separation of the races.

The Senate last week passed authorization for the financial assistance of the operation of private schools in the sum of $167 per student from our state revenue ($151.85 for tuition costs and $13.15 for building maintenance). Also it was provided that no applicant could receive any financial assistance unless the local community paid additional supplement of at least $35.00. These amounts were reached by taking the state average as it now stands for assistance in educating the children in our State of Mississippi in the state owned schools.

There has been some objection by some religious groups as to the first introduced bill so amendments were added to make the private schools nonsectarian.

Although many people in the State of Mississippi question the constitutionality of such an act in the face of two federal court decisions from the State of Virginia, the State Legislature felt that this particular state act would have to be taken to the U. S. Supreme Court before the final constitutionality question will be answered.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

INSECTICIDE SAFETY

Keep pesticides in original containers with labels intact. This could save you lots of trouble. Putting pesticides in containers other than the ones in which they came can be dangerous and lead to serious mis-use of the materials.

The contents of an unlabeled container or package are unknown, therefore, there is no guide on what crops the material should be used.

Using material on crops for which it is not intended can lead to crop damage, illegal and unwanted pesticide residues.

A soft drink bottle full of insecticide is an invitation to disaster. It not only is a temptation to children and others, but the bottle has no information on its contents. Such information might be vital to a doctor undertaking treatments for pesticide poisoning.

Remember, do not store pesticides in unlabeled containers. Never use old pesticide drums for mixing livestock insecticide. It can cause a serious loss. Always read and follow directions on the label. Burn and destroy all pesticide containers.

BITTERWEED CONTROL

Five reasons why bitterweed is so widespread in Mississippi are lack of good grass or overgrazing, poor soil management, tight soil in poor condition, lack of moisture and early season drought.

Control it by: Clipping the pasture two or three times during the growing season, or by spraying with amine 2,4-D in water. Spray anytime bitterweeds are present. Do not spray real close to cotton fields as 2,4-D will kill broadleaf plants. Clip weeds close to cotton fields and spray the rest.

After using 2,4-D in equipment, do not use the same equipment to spray cotton. You do not have to remove livestock from the area.

TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF SALE

Crimson Clover Maintains Hard Seed In Long Test

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — The ability of crimson clover to produce volunteer stands has been shown to be a very persistent trait in eight years of research at the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station.

Hard seed, which can resist weathering in the field, are required if the clover is to reseed itself without being replanted. In order to insure this hardness, certifying agencies required that only seed from volunteer stands could be certified as hard-seeded crimson clover.

In a long range experiment, Dr. W. E. Knight, USDA research agronomist, established a stand of Dixie crimson clover from foundation seed at State College, in 1952. For eight successive generations, he compared volunteer and non-volunteer stands in a regional study which included similar plantings in Alabama and Georgia.

Little difference was found in hard seed percentages in seed harvested from volunteer and planted stands. While the highest level of hard seed was maintained from successive volunteer stands, the hard seed trait persisted at high levels in the non-volunteer plantings also.

Dr. Knight says results of this study show that once the hard seeded trait is established it can be maintained, under climate conditions of the Southeast, without volunteer generations. The results were obtained in isolated fields which eliminated contamination from soft-seeded clover pollens.

Based on these findings, Mississippi regulations governing certification of this crop were changed. Now seed from the first crop may be certified and growers get better returns from crimson clover seed production because they do not have to wait for a volunteer crop.

The President also noted that "... early examination will NOT mean early induction. There will be no change in the present practice of calling older registrants for actual induction into the Armed Forces before younger ones are called."

At the present time, men are being reached for induction between 21 1/2 and 22, as a national average. In Mississippi the average age of involuntary induction is about 22 1/2, Colonel Sanders said.

National Acreage Allotment For 1965 - Crop Wheat

A national wheat allotment of 49 1/2 million acres for the 1965-crop has been proclaimed by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman, according to O. E. Bostick, Chairman of the Mississippi ASCS State Committee. It is the same as the 1964 allotment.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture simultaneously announced the allocation of the allotment, less reserves, among the states. All except Hawaii are listed as commercial wheat states. The 1965 wheat allotment for Mississippi will be 45,980 acres, down by 1,269 acres from 1964.

The national allotment has been apportioned among the states on the basis of acreage seeded for production of wheat during the 10-year period, 1954-63, with adjustments for abnormal weather, the so-called Anfuso amendment concerning loss of acreage history through overplanting, and trends in acreage. County allotments, determined in essentially the same manner, will be apportioned among individual farms according to past acreage of wheat, tillable acres, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and topography, with special provisions for small farms.

Included in the national allotment for 1965-crop wheat is a national reserve of 20,000 acres for additional allotments to be issued on the basis of relative need due to new areas coming into production of wheat during the last ten years. It has been the same amount for several years. A special acreage reserve of 100,000 acres is being established for the first time as provided by the Agricultural Act of 1964. This special reserve is for additional allotments to eligible farms in counties where wheat is a major income-producing crop. It will be used in adjusting allotments for eligible old wheat farms. Each state shared proportionately in providing these reserves.

FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

Farmers who have diverted land to a conservation practice in the Feed Grain Program are reminded of two program requirements. One, the diverted acreage can not be grazed during the period May 1 to October 1, 1964. Two, the diverted acreage must be disced, mowed or broken in some manner to destroy the weeds at least one time during June, July or August. If the diverted acreage has been planted in a grass or legume such as sericea, Bermuda, Dallis, lespedeza or other improved cover, it will not have to be mowed, disced or clipped.
