Mosquito Control Is Discussed By Health Official

Mosquitoes have probably had a greater influence on human health and wellbeing throughout the world than any other insects.

This is not due wholly to the important human diseases they transmit but also to the severe annoyances they cause.

We are fortunate here to enjoy the services of our city fogging machine that does an excellent job of knocking the mosquito down but does little in preventing it from breeding on or near the home in small ponds, auto tires, cans, buckets or anything that will hold water until the wiggly tail can hatch out. As we know, the mosquito, whether it be the malaria, yellow fever, or what not, has to first bite an infected person before it can transmit a disease to another person, consequently mosquito borne diseases in our area are a very rare thing but the mosquitoes, especially the culex, continue to be a real pest.

If you are bothered with mosquitoes, we suggest that you spray the house before bedtime and make a survey of your yard and surroundings, removing all cans, auto tires or anything that will hold water. A small amount of oil on ponds or in ditches will form a leathery coat on the surface of the water through which the wiggly tail is unable to thrust its breathing tube.

From now until frost seems to be the peak of our mosquito infestation. Let us all cooperate in eliminating the mosquito breeding places.

Grand Jury Issues Report

Prentiss County grand jury issued the following report last week after inspecting the county home, the county jail, the theaters, and other public buildings and records.

Now comes the grand jury for the August, 1964, term of Circuit Court in Prentiss County, Mississippi, and begs leave to submit its final report.

Your grand jury has been in session for two days, has examined 18 witnesses, and has returned into open court 8 true bills.

Your grand jury has examined by committee the county home, the county jail, all of the factories of the county, the theaters, the tax collector's books and county auditor's books.

We find the county home to be in excellent condition. It is suggested, however, that some type of deodorant be used to alleviate existing odors. We find that the inmates are well provided for and well cared for.

We find the theaters to be in good, safe condition.

We find that the county jail is in good, safe condition, and the prisoners well provided for and properly supervised.

We find all the factories of the county to be in good condition and properly equipped with a sufficient number of exit doors opening outwardly as required by law.

The grand jury would particularly like to recommend that a permanent grand jury room be provided with adequate seating facilities, lights, and heating and cooling arrangement. The work of the grand jury is such that it is in the best interest of Prentiss County for it to be performed under favorable circumstances. In the same area, it is recommended that consideration be given to providing larger and more comfortable seats for the petit jury.

By the nature of the work they are called upon to do, it is necessary that they remain in the seat for long periods of time, giving due and deliberate consideration to the testimony being offered, it is felt they could better do this if they were in comfortable rather than cramped and uncomfortable seats.

We find the tax collector's books and the county auditor's books appear to be neat, well-kept and in balance.

AND, NOW, having concluded our labors, your grand jury respectfully begs to be finally discharged.

Respectfully submitted,
s/ Earl B. Cochran,
Foreman, Grand Jury.

Still Hope

As was expected, Senate-House conferees killed a Senate-approved effort to rid the nation of a series of excise taxes which are hangovers from World War II. They were passed then as emergency measures, and everyone supposed they would die when the emergency died. But they are still on the books all these years later, and they are destined to remain there for at least another year.

It is argued that the taxes in question apply to luxuries. But that involves a definition of luxury that, it is safe to say, is hardly in consonance with the thinking of most of us. Among the items which are taxed, for instance, are handbags, luggage, watches and cosmetics. In a nation which prides itself on the highest of living standards, these are necessities used and needed by virtually every family. They are not comparable with the two classic sources of excise tax revenue—liquor and cigarettes.

The Korean War also saw increases in excise tax rates—also billed as an emergency measure—on such essentials as automobiles, auto parts and local telephone service. These too are to be continued.

At the same time, it is evident that there is growing sentiment in favor of either repeal or substantial reduction in these taxes and that the campaign will continue. The chance for success next year, or possibly the year thereafter, is considered good by Washington reporters. If that proves to be the case, consumers everywhere will benefit. And so will workers and all others concerned—sales will certainly rise when these taxes are eliminated and prices of the affected wares go down accordingly.

Local Business

By S. S. TALBOT

Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

The local retailer can be a major force in the increase in the wealth and welfare of his community.

In fact, to be successful in modern business, the retailer necessarily becomes a primary factor in community progress. A suburban retail association lists some of the merchant's contributions as follows:

1. "Sales efficiency. To stay in business the merchant must continuously seek more effective methods of distribution. This leads to cheaper prices for everyone."
2. "Increased motivation. Retail advertising is the most important factor in the immediate purchase of new products which reduce labor and make living more pleasant and healthful."
3. "Creation of a trade center. A community is unified by its trading center. Take away the progressive risen to $110."

stores and the citizens focus their interests and spend their money at more distant centers.

4. "Promotion of stronger institutions. The merchant knows that good schools, stable government, and recreational and cultural facilities affect his own business, because happy, informed and active people are his best customers."

Retail advertising which is the best mirror of the nature of a trading center, then, does more than sell goods from day to day. Advertising of good merchants is the repository of stimuli which keeps a community alive.

REAL TAX POCKET

"I would like to submit," said Rep. Katherine St. George (Rep., N.Y.) "that a woman's handbag is not a luxury. It is a necessity. If you want to tax handbags for women you should tax pockets for men."

RUBBER CHICKEN?

Due to inflation, the cost of $100 a plate political dinner, has now center. Take away the progressive risen to $110."

100 Years Ago—Atlanta Bombarded; Civilians Are Killed

By LON K. SAVAGE

It was about breakfast time in Atlanta when the first shell exploded on the morning of August 9, 1864, 100 years ago this week. The people of the city were not too surprised; shells had been falling on the city for weeks, and already civilians had been killed. But there had not been a day like this one.

Outside the city, Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman had his army of 100,000 Federals was tightening his grip on the city and on the Confederate army of Gen. John B. Hood who was defending it.

Hood's artillery answered the Federal fire, and soon the full firepower of both armies was lobbying shells back and forth, as the people of Atlanta suffered tragic losses.

Wallace Reed, young Atlanta writer, described the bombardment as follows, according to A. A. Hoehling in his book, "Last Train From Atlanta." (Thomas Yoseloff, Publisher).

Shells Rain

"Shot and shell rained in every direction," Reed wrote. "Great volumes of sulphurous smoke rolled over the town, trailing down to the ground, and through this stifling gloom the sun glared down like a great red eye peering through a bronze colored cloud. It was on this day of horrors that the destruction of human life was greatest among the citizens."

A Confederate officer was talking to a lady and her little boy when a shell struck, killing the officer and the boy. Another lady was struck and killed by a shell while doing her ironing. A well known city barber was wounded while standing on a street corner, and he died from shock after a leg had been amputated. A young lady was struck and fatally injured while on the way to a shed.

Many families in the city long since had dug bomb proofs in their yards, and they spent much of the day in them. Hoehling wrote of an unconfirmed report that one bombproof, with a family of six and several neighbors inside it, was the target of a direct hit that crashed through the bombproof's roof.

Buildings Fall

Houses and buildings crumbled under the artillery fire. A well known mansion, a button factory, an office building, stores and churches were among the buildings that were wrecked.

The day, Hood wrote later, "was made memorable by the most furious cannonading which the city sustained during the siege."

The war in Atlanta had become total war, and it appeared only a matter of time before the city fell.

Outside the city, Sherman edged his army farther and farther around the city, hoping to choke off aid from other areas.

Two days earlier, Sherman had written to army headquarters in Washington: "We keep hammering away all the time, and there is no peace inside or outside of Atlanta."

One thing is certain, whether we get inside Atlanta or not, it will be a used-up community when we are done with it."

Next Week: Burning in the Shenandoah Valley.

FREEZING TIPS

With the thermometer ticking 100° this seems to be a timely subject. The fact is, many calls are coming in for information on home freezing of food. Let's look at a few facts and suggestions on the subject.

*Select foods in prime condition for table use. You get out of your freezer what you put into it.

*Freeze foods as quickly as possible after harvesting them.

*Many manufacturers suggest limiting the amount to be frozen in each 24-hour period to 2 or 3 pounds for each cubic foot of space.

*Blanching is a "must" for all vegetables.

*Fruits may be packaged in sugar syrup, rolled in sugar, and a few may be stored. Ascorbic acid prevents discoloration. (Crystalline form can be purchased at drug stores.)

*Package carefully. Packaging material should be moisture-vapor-proof, and durable.

*Label accurately and date. (Keep an inventory—so you will always know at a glance what foods you have on hand.)

*After preparing foods, freeze as quickly as possible.

*Freeze and store at 0°F. Once frozen, foods should be kept at a constant temperature.

It might be a good idea to check the temperature of your freezer.

Quality of much frozen food is lost due to fluctuation of temperatures in freezers.

Try This: With the help of the modern freezer, it is possible to enjoy watermelon during the winter.

To freeze watermelon:

—Remove seeds.
—Cut flesh into small slices, balls, or cubes, and pack loosely into containers.

—Cover with a cold 30% syrup (2 cups sugar and 4 cups water)—about 1/2 to 2/3 cup of syrup for each pint package of melon.

—Allow ample head space in containers for freezing expansion.

—For wide-top opening, allow about 1/2 inch per pint.

—For narrow-top opening, allow about 3/4 inch per pint.

—Seal and freeze.

When you serve it next winter, do not allow frozen melon to thaw. Complete thawing turns the flesh flabby. Serve while it is still filled with ice crystals.

Mississippi Workers Underpaid $738,306

JACKSON, Miss. — Back pay found due workers in 60 Mississippi counties served by the Jackson Wage-Hour office totaled $738,306 in the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The wages due under provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act consisted of $434,819 for 2,366 persons paid hourly rates below the legal minimum established by Federal law and $303,487 for 2,535 workers improperly compensated for overtime hours.

Sterling B. Williams, director of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions' regional office in Birmingham, Ala., said here today that the final figures were based on findings at 426 establishments checked by the department's investigative personnel in the 12-month period.

In the four Southern states where he administers provisions of the Federal Wage-Hour law, Williams said that reported under payments for the period ending June 30, 1964, totaled $5,669,805. This was divided into $3,135,983 in minimum wages for 20,895 workers and $2,533,822 in overtime pay for 20,439 persons.

J. C. Massey, supervisor of the Jackson Wage-Hour office at Room 320A, U. S. Post Office Building, pointed out that 142 minors in the field office area were found employed in violation of the oppressive child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Insect Infestation In Cotton Normal

Cotton checkers all over the Mid South are reporting an increase in boll weevils, bollworms and mites. The crop and the season is far enough along to justify a protection program. Examine your cotton for a bottom crop; if you do not have one, get to work setting a middle and top crop. Use an insecticide such as Big 3 or a similar mixture at rate of one gallon to 3 acres.

Praise as the closing prayer. A delicious lime freeze was served by members of the Night Circle. Mrs. Herschel Thomason and Mrs. Thomas Denson.

Flyers will jump at the Civil Air Patrol fly-in dinner at the Corinth, Miss., airport (Roscoe Turner Field) on Sunday, August 16. Proceeds from the fly-in dinner will go to the Corinth Eagle Composite Squadron Civil Air Patrol.

Jumpers will be: Burt Alderson, Richard Laughter, Herb Rea and George Shook. The jumpers will exit the aircraft from altitudes up to 10,000 feet and free fall to 2500 feet before opening their main parachutes. This free fall technique involves controlling the flight of the human body in much the same manner as an aircraft is controlled. Skydivers can perform precision maneuvers such as back loops, front loops, barrel rolls, turns, figure 8's and pass small objects to each other. They can control their bodies so as to travel horizontally at almost the same rate of speed as they are traveling vertically. During this free fall, the parachutists reach speeds in excess of 120 miles per hour, yet have absolutely no sensation of falling.

After pulling their ripcords at 2500 feet, the jumpers then begin manipulating their steerable 28-ft. canopies to land within a pre-determined target area. WMCT's Kitty Kelly will be on hand to narrate the sky-divers' maneuvers. Tickets for the fly-in dinner are on sale for $1.25 per person and can be obtained from any C.A.P. member or at Roscoe Turner Field. Tickets for the spot landing contest are $2.00 for each contest entry.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

LAWN NOTES

Give your home lawn at least one more fertilization this summer. Supply enough nitrogen to keep grass healthy and vigorous until frost. Also plan a potash fertilization. Potash should increase winter hardiness and improve drought and disease resistance of grasses.

GET CLOVER BACK

Renovating your sods may help get clover back and growing in pastures. Many areas of bermuda, bahia and fescue need renovation to get the white clover back.

Graze these areas heavily during August. Then in September, renovate with a heavy disk or regular renovator. Put out your fertilizer and lime before renovating.

Grass sods that are heavy and have been that way for a number of years need reseeding, even though clover grew there in the past. Be sure to inoculate clover seed before planting.

Drying Off Dairy Cows

Here is a method of drying off dairy cows that many dairymen have found successful: Reduce the grain ration to one pound each milking for two or three days before the dry date. On the dry date, quit feeding and milking the cow. Unless the cow is a persistent milker, turn her on the pasture with the rest of the herd.

In case cow is a persistent milker, put her in a dry lot with only hay for feed and a small amount of water daily. The udder is likely to get a little tight for two or three days, then soften up and everything return to normal.

Cows with chronic or serious udder trouble should be milked dry about one week after dry date and treated with udder infusions.

Observe all cows daily that are being turned dry!

HORNFILIES

Hornflies cost you good money. They reduce gains on fattening cattle and cause a drop in milk production on dairy cows.

They are easy to control. Check with this office for a specific list of materials to use and how to use them for controlling hornflies and other livestock insects.

Lunch Sponsors Are Needed At Boys' Town

Forty-four citizens at Magnolia Boys' Town located on Boguema Lake at Laurel, Miss., are making plans for school to open the last of August and in addition to paper, pencils, workbooks and countless other needy items, the major expense is to furnish hot lunches each day for each boy at school.

Director Henry Bucklew stated, "The public must assist us again by helping sponsor a boys lunch for a day, week, month or year. The cost is $1.00 per week, $4.00 per month or $34.00 for a school year. The boy's name will be furnished the sponsor, if requested and the sponsors may pay by the week, month or year."

The home has accepted 251 boys during the past 10 years and in the past has added a new Vocational Building and have also projects including walk-in freezer, adding steam heating system and completing the interior of the Vocational Building.

"We sincerely hope that friends, firms and organizations will again respond to this most urgent need of our boys in order to assure that each boy has a hot lunch every day at school."

Our address: Magnolia Boys' Town, P. O. Box 608, Laurel, Miss.

Cattle Grubs

August is the time to treat cattle on the range, etc., for grubs. Use Ruelene or Co-ral or similar materials. See your local dealer and county agent at once.

CREATING WEALTH

Pointing out that while the U. S. has only 6 per cent of the world's population it produces one-third of the goods and services, Rep. Wm. H. Harrison (R., Wyo.), asserted that our system has already proved that the way to reduce poverty is not by redistributing wealth but by creating it. The solid and progressive remedy for poverty lies in fiscal responsibility and economic freedom, he added.

New Classification Procedure

Announced For CCC Cotton
The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced changes in cotton classification procedures for Commodity Credit Corporation-owned upland cotton delivered in exchange for payment-in-kind certificates received under the 1964 upland cotton program (domestic allotment) and the cotton equalization program. The changes became effective August 1. The new procedure calls for a USDA board of cotton examiners, as a part of the re-classification service, to determine the micronaire reading of each bale of cotton in any lot acquired under Announcement NO-C-26, as well as the grade and staple length of the cotton. Under the former procedure, micronaire readings were made only at the request of the purchaser.

In exchanging cotton for payment-in-kind certificates, holders of certificates submit a bid on specific lots of cotton listed in a catalog of the CCC cotton inventory available for sale. Before making final settlement, the cotton is re-weighed and reclassified as to grade, staple, and micronaire readings. The final price to the buyer is adjusted for any changes resulting from the reclassification. CCC-owned cotton is exchanged at the market price.

Under the changed procedure, the same discount will be applied to cotton having a micronaire reading of 2.6 or below as was formerly given to "Wasty" cotton. If the micronaire reading for any bale of cotton is 2.6 or below, the person bidding on the cotton may reject the bale. However, he may retain the bale if he desires, and final settlement will be made on this cotton with a discount of 3 cents per pound in addition to any other adjustments from the bid price resulting from the reclassification.

1964 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

Farmers participating in the Feed Grain Program are reminded that diverted acreage or land rented must be mowed, clipped or other action taken to dispose of weeds one time during the months of June, July or August.

Final payments will be made beginning September 1. You will be asked to certify that the mowing and clipping requirements have been met.

1964 PRICE SUPPORT

Those farmers qualifying for the domestic cotton allotment payments are urged to visit the county office to pick up your payment.

The News From Frankstown Mission

On August 8, 1964, a young man, now 18 years old, visited this Mission. This was the second visit in four years.

This boy was born on a farm and the first years of his life were happy ones. He loved his Mother and Daddy, as all normal children do. Many times he would ride the big horses to the field and sometimes he would go to the field to ride to ride them home. How he loved and admired his Daddy as he rode the horse and watched his Daddy walking ahead and leading the horse.

When he was about 7 years old a terrible tragedy happened that changed his whole life. He saw his Daddy shoot his Mother. The whole world reeled and rocked before his eyes. She fell in a heap on the floor. Could this be real? How could they not love each other when he loved them both so much?

His Daddy pleaded that it was accidental, but the courts sent him to the penitentiary for life and the boy's life seemed doomed to ruin.

When he was about 12 years old he began to come to the Mission. He would talk often to my wife and I and tell us he wished he could come and stay with us all the time and could call us father and mother. We encouraged him to go to school, but in the upper grades the teachers saw that he could not go farther so after proper counsel, was dropped from school, encouraged by us and others to get a job or learn some trade. It resulted in finding a place in a factory where he is now working fair wages, has a good car, and has come out many times more than anyone could imagine; however not to the extent of a fully normal person. I once asked him how often he thought of the great tragedy and he said he believed that it was always on his mind.

This young man as he did before when he came to this Mission, put his arms around me and shed tears of joy. He also kissed my wife on the cheek. He has been here many times and the part this Mission played in helping him gives us encouragement to press forward to higher goals, taking care only of people that can not take care of themselves.

We have many similar testimonials. We have just purchased a tract of land consisting of 120 acres on Highway 30, five miles west of the Mission at a cost of $7,500 solely by faith. We hope to pay for it by Christmas.

If we would have had this property long before now, we see that we could have completely rehabilitated many people. Any donation to this cause will be graciously received and acknowledged with a receipt.

We do, above all things, covet your prayers.

J. M. Franks, Chief Promoter of Frankstown Mission, P. O. Drawer 309, Baldwin, Miss.

NOTICE

WE HAVE BEEN ADVISED BY THE MOTOR VEHICLE COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE TO ENFORCE THE FOLLOWING LAW CONCERNING TRADE-IN TAGS ON MOTOR VEHICLES.

General Laws of 1958
Chapter 588
H. B. No. 3

If a taxpayer shall sell or trade a motor vehicle, on which the ad valorem and road and bridge privilege taxes have been paid in any county in the state, to a regular automobile dealer and shall receive in trade or shall purchase another motor vehicle during the same taxable year, then the taxes already paid for the remaining portion of the taxable year on the trade-in motor vehicle shall be credited on the taxes due on any such replacement motor vehicle, if the license issued for the trade-in motor vehicle is surrendered to the tax collector. This means if you do not trade vehicles with a dealer that you can not receive credit on a trade-in tag.
