BHS Has Successful FFA Parent-Son Banquet With 250 Attending

In a spirit of thankfulness, 250 Booneville FFA Chapter members, their parents, and guests gathered in the Booneville High School Cafeteria on Friday evening, November 20. The cafeteria was looking its gayest as the Thanksgiving mood was evident. The pumpkins filled with yellow and white chrysanthemums over many colored leaves were at random. The traditional turkeys kept watch over the long tables, while the centerpiece featured the national blue and corn gold of the FFA colors in beautiful chrysanthemums.

Chapter President Gary Chittom and Chapter Sweetheart Becky Gullett welcomed the guests at the door. The guests were then led through the cafeteria where they were served buffet style. An array of food was before the guests which featured turkey and dressing, ham, fried chicken, potato salad, and cakes and pies of every kind, baked by the loving hands of FFA mothers.

Gary Chittom and his co-officers, Jesse Sims, Leo Lambert, Jerry Hill, Roy Holley and James Gargus gave the Opening Ceremony. David Spain welcomed the group, and Mr. Luther Moore, FFA Dad, gave the response. President Gary, acting as toastmaster, introduced the many guests, recognizing especially Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Holland from Jackson. Mr. Holland is Executive Secretary of the Mississippi FFA Association. Special recognition was also given to Senator and Mrs. Jim Dean, Alcorn and Prentiss County Representative.

Mayor M. W. Smith gave a short talk praising the work of the Future Farmers, and presented Mr. Kenneth Pounds, Vice President of the Peoples Bank and Trust Company. Mr. Pounds presented awards in behalf of the Peoples Bank to Dale White as Chapter Star Farmer, William Hall for Cotton Production, Leo Lambert for Corn Production, and Jesse Sims in Soil and Water Management.

Mr. Wallace Poole, President of the Prentiss County Home Bank, presented awards to Randy Moore for Beef Cattle Production, James Gargus for Poultry Production, David Spain as Most Outstanding Freshman Ag Student, and Gary Chittom as Most Outstanding Senior Ag Student.

Diane Freeman, Kathryn Tays, and Mary Grace Nabers, accompanied by Mr. W. T. Rutledge, thrilled the agricultural group with "Hail the FFA."

Honorary Chapter Farmer Degrees were given to the officers' dads, Mr. William Chittom, Mr. J. L. Sims, Jr., Mr. C. H. Lambert, Mr. Jack Hill, Mr. Herschel Gargus, Grady Holley, as well as to Mr. Luther Moore, Mr. Cecil W. Spain, Mr. Harmon Caver, and Mr. W. M. Murphy.

The big moment of the evening came when Gary Chittom presented the Chapter Sweetheart for 1964-65, Miss Rebecca Lee Gullett. Miss Gullett graciously responded, then joined Miss Freeman, Miss Tays, and Miss Nabers with "I'm In Love With A Boy In FFA."

The speaker of the evening was Mr. George J. Lewis, Attorney-at-Law, Quincy, Ill. Mr. Lewis was National President of the Future Farmers of America, a graduate with honors and B. S. Degree in Agricultural Science and an honor student in the College of Law at the University of Illinois. He then was designated as a Fullbright Scholar to conduct legal research and study law at the University of London. He is author of several books.

Mr. Lewis kept the audience spellbound with his entertaining and inspirational talk. He stressed guidance by parents and teachers, but warned the students that teachers and parents could not do everything for them, that they must think and carry on for themselves.

After Mr. Merrill T. Cartwright, Chapter Adviser, had promised the people if they would promise to come back next year, that he would promise them the program would be shorter. The FFA officers gave the FFA Closing Ceremony.

Politics And Medical Care

It is an unfortunate fact that medical care for the elderly has been made into a partisan political issue. For—regardless of one's particular views on this matter, or the party to which one belongs—the inevitable result is to distort and cloud facts and to air claims and charges which cannot be substantiated.

For one thing, it is said that an appallingly high percentage of people past 65 are completely unable to pay for medical care. Trustworthy surveys have disputed this. As a whole, this group is in a much better financial position than the Medicare proponents would admit.

The growth and worth of Blue Cross and other voluntary insurance plans have been minimized. The truth is that these plans have been and are making dramatic progress. Testimony given a Senate subcommittee a short time ago showed that the percentage of older persons with voluntary insurance more than doubled in the 10-year, 1952-62 period, going from 26 per cent to 54 to 60 per cent. The number of over-65 persons thus covered at the end of 1962 was in the neighborhood of 10 million.

No one opposes help for the needy, and federal-state programs to achieve this are now in effect. They can and should be broadened and improved, and that certainly can be done without the socialistic—and extremely costly—Medicare approach.

The work of the medical profession in this field deserves a great deal more recognition than it has been given. Organized medicine has been studying and working on the problems connected with it for years. It pledges that no one shall be denied care because of lack of funds. Doctors everywhere devote time and skill, without charge, to those who are too poor to pay.

Finally, nonsocialized medicine has provided this country with standards of care which are not surpassed anywhere. And the way to assure still higher standards is to maintain the system which has made that achievement possible.

THANKSGIVING DAY — 1964

In the United States of America, November traditionally is the month of Thanksgiving. It is the time especially set aside to give thanks to our bountiful, loving, all-providing Father-God.

It is the time set aside to look appreciatively at our many blessings. It is the time set aside to give thanks for all the things we usually take for granted.

Thanksgiving quickens a new spirit of appreciation within us. Thanksgiving creates joy. Thanksgiving builds faith. Thanksgiving for our blessings never fails to open the way for more good. Thanksgiving sets in motion an endless cycle of good that enriches us in mind and body.

Let us make this an unforgettable day of Thanksgiving. Let us give thanks for peace, life, family and friends. Let us give thanks to God for the glorious world in which we live. Let us give thanks for our blessings great and small. Let us say, "Thank You, God, for everything." —The Daily Word.

Public Relations Notebook

BY Neil Woodruff, Asst. Professor of Journalism, MSCW

Money plays one of the biggest and perhaps the most important overall role in relationships among people. It is quite likely that a majority of the working force in this country feel that they do not earn a proper wage or that they are qualified to perform work of a higher skill which would, of course, command a higher salary. In any case, one of the ever-present elements in our society is the differences in money incomes or wealth of individuals.

A sign in a bank proclaims, "Money is not everything, but it is way ahead of whatever is in second place." Money differences among persons show in our lives in many ways. Our money incomes determine the particular neighborhood in which we live. In most cases, it will determine our friends and associates. It will also determine the extent of personal comfort and convenience. And it will determine the extent to which we are able to educate our children, and on and on.

A home which sells for $15,000 in Texas or Iowa would cost $30,000 in France. It would cost $20,000 in Italy.

The difference in cost of homes in southern Europe and the U. S. can be traced largely to efficiency in construction techniques.

Semi-automated home building was made possible by mass demand for good, new housing. Creation of this demand has been a major accomplishment of local newspaper advertising during the past fifteen years.

"Today, I can sell a $20,000 home to people who would not consider paying more than $7,000 for a house in 1950. It wasn't the money; it just took people a long time to realize that they could enjoy the benefits of the more costly investment," one of the nation's leading home builders asserts.

"Of course, advertising was essential — big, hard-selling advertisements, week after week, year after year," he added. "That advertising has helped us to change the face of cities. It has provided thousands of good jobs."

It is notable that the advertising and promotion which guide the home construction boom in America was 80 per cent local newspaper advertising.

No other medium could present to all potential home buyers details on plans, lots, construction, and financing, with maps, photographs, and illustrations.

thing is sure: Hood's army had lost an opportunity to score a smashing victory — an opportunity it would never have again.

Next Week: The Battle of Franklin.

100 Years Ago—

Tennessee Invaded; Hood, Schofield Clash

By LON K. SAVAGE

Gen. John B. Hood, the Confederate who had given up Atlanta to William Tecumseh Sherman, marched through Tennessee 100 years ago this week in the Confederacy's last invasion of Federal territory.

Hood had 55,000 veterans in his army, including about 10,000 crack cavalrymen under Nathan Bedford Forrest, the South's best cavalry general, and the things seemed to be going well for him. Since leaving Georgia, Hood's men had swept across Alabama, had met Forrest and his men at Florence, and then, with Forrest in the lead, had turned northward toward Tennessee.

There had been delays, to be sure. At now a Southern army was moving north again, on the offensive, and in front of it the Federal resistance seemed uncertain. Despite freezing cold, hail, rain and snow, Confederates were crossing the Tennessee line near Rawhide, Ala., by November 22.

Thomas Resists

Old Gen. George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," was assigned the task of stopping Hood, but he was not quite ready. Early in the campaign, he had sent Gen. John Schofield with 22,000 men to Pulaski, Tenn., to hold the line and then, working in Nashville, began trying to accumulate the rest of his far flung army.

As Hood drew near, Schofield found Pulaski too hot. On November 22 and 23, with Hood's army due west of him, Schofield pulled out and retreated northwestward to Columbia on the Duck River, where his men dug new defense works.

Hood came on. By November 26, the Confederates were at Columbia, ready to attack across the river against the smaller Federal army.

Forrest then showed his military genius. While Hood blasted at the Federal line with artillery, Forrest slipped up the river to the east with his cavalry and pushed his way across, ready to come in on Schofield's flank.

He was met there by young James H. Wilson, commanding the Federal cavalry, and fighting broke out. Forrest quickly drove Wilson back toward the north; more of Hood's army pushed across the river and followed, and suddenly Schofield's army was being trapped with Confederates to his south, east and north.

Schofield Pulls Out
Wilson told Schofield of Forrest's breakthrough, and Schofield again pulled out, this time at full speed. The Confederates already near Spring Hill, ready to step across the road to Franklin and Nashville and cut Schofield off from his base. Schofield's task: to get to Spring Hill and beat it back toward Franklin before this could happen.

What happened still is being argued. The facts are these: Schofield's army marched, full speed ahead, all the way to Spring Hill; while some of his army guarded the road, the rest of his army slipped through to safety, and within two days, he was out of the trap entirely and in Franklin, to the north.

Whether Hood gave proper leadership; whether his generals followed orders properly; these questions have not been resolved. One

NOTICE TO ALL House Trailer Owners

House Bill 747 Laws of 1962 require that all House Trailers within this County must be registered during the month of November in the Sheriff's Office. Registration fee is $2.50 plus all advalorem taxes. Upon payment of this fee and taxes a registration label will be issued which will be displayed on the right hand corner on the draw bar end of the trailer. You will need to bring the name, model, serial number, and length of your trailer to the Sheriff's Office. If this is not done by December 1st, 25% damages and interest must be added and the Sheriff, under the law, must proceed to sell the property for the taxes.

portion of American families are living on such a fine line of making ends meet that if income were lacking for one to three months, such family units would be in a position of acute indebtedness or bankrupt.

The middle and bottom rungs on the income ladder are one thing. The top rungs are something else. This is the area of top executives, presidents of corporations, and bank and financial institution officials. In addition to staggering regular salary income, big business executives often have written into their contracts provisions for stock options, big pensions, compensation deferred until after retirement, and many other plans which often make many millionaires.

Compensation of the dimensions now in practice conveys the image of superman. A man worth $200,000 a year or more must, in the eyes of the man on the street, be a genius who has it in his power to control economic factors so as to avoid recessions, unemployment, and so on. In 1931, a stockholder of the American Tobacco Co. brought suit against the company after the president had been given a bonus of $840,000 added to his annual salary of $168,000. The plaintiff lost the case, but in a dissenting opinion, one judge stated that the particular company was giving away its money far beyond fair compensation for services.

High tax rates on current salary is part of the reason for skyrocketing executive salaries. Corporations think constantly in terms of take-home pay. For an executive to have a take-home pay of $100,000, the overall salary must be about $530,000. The general consensus of economists and others concerned is that a good executive is worth every penny that he is paid. However, out of line the income may seem, the executive is considered that valuable to the corporation.

MRS. ED JOHNSON

That reader said she'd missed this column again... so I thought I'd write a word or two.

Quite frankly the Johnson clan has been plagued with a plain old cold for the past few weeks, but instead of all being "down" at once we've been taking turns every few days... and to think I had recently bragged about how healthy all of us were!

The 13th was on Friday this month and a good friend of mine celebrated her birthday—Ruth Vail. But here are the amazing statistics. Ruth's sister, five years younger, likewise celebrated her birthday on November 13th... her brother, John, has a birthday on the 13th of August and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sanders were married on May 13th. Now hold on a second... and turn your thoughts the other way. I know most of the family and they're all happy, and successful and not the least bit superstitious!

Following the recent election of President Johnson and vice-president Humphrey, Folly Orff was surprised to receive a letter signed "Hubert Humphrey" saying she owed $200 because she bought a time switch and $350 and 10c for having the house redone. The prankster turned out to be her grandson, Jimmy Garner, but the letter puzzled her for a while.

You readers may not think the following bit of information is unusual, but most businessmen will. Mrs. R. C. Bonds told me she had received a "Thank You" letter, her first in 16 years of business which read: "Thank you men for the hard work they did drilling our nice well. Here's 37 cents odd change I forgot to give them." It was signed by Gladys Isbell, Marietta. Wasn't that a fine gesture!

Mrs. Nell Jones, well known local nurse, recently left 7 Agatha Christi books at the office for me. Sorta seemed like Christmas came early as I read the books and thoroughly enjoyed them. Now I'm saving some for her.

Ed said to cut this column short because we were running out of space, so I'll close for now. I sincerely hope all of you have a happy and safe Thanksgiving. Most of us can look around and find much for which to be thankful. Let's do it.

Till next week,
Helen

Animal Health

This is the foot rot season for cattle and the problem will be a constant threat from now until spring.

The infection is a problem now because the organisms often find their way into feet which have been injured on the frozen ground of feed lots. Later, as the weather warms, ground thaws and as spring rains start, the constant exposure to moisture softens the tissue between the claws of the animals' feet and again makes it easy for foot rot organisms to invade.

Although foot rot is most often seen among cattle in feed lots, it may also develop when the animals are on range or pasture. Lameness is the most prominent first symptom. But, unfortunately, many cases of the infection appear to start in the deep tissue without showing immediate symptoms.

Foot rot is often a serious problem in cattle at this time of year.

A slight swelling and reddening of the skin just above the hoof usually is seen early in the course of the disease. Animals with foot rot may be reluctant to move to feed and water and as a result lose weight, and milk production declines.

The best way to hold losses to a minimum is to have a veterinarian examine the feet of any animal which appears to be lame. If the cause is foot rot, surgical trimming of the feet or medication may be necessary. But prevention also is important. This means that lots and pens used by infected animals should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected before new animals are permitted in them. It also means that lots, pens and pastures should be kept clear of foreign objects which might injure animals' feet. Surfaces should be harrowed if they become hard. Other preventive recommendations include continuous feeding of iodides in salt and medicated foot baths at gates or alleys.

THE MORALS ISSUE
Historians, surveying the nations of the past, time and again have traced the downfall of great states to a decline in moral values. Nations can lose on the battlefield and suffer poverty on the home front, but from such setbacks recovery usually is possible. On the other hand, when a country falls under a government that is morally corrupt, there is no hope of salvation unless that government is promptly discarded.

The classical case is the history of the Roman republic. In its day, Rome was the strongest nation on earth. Like the United States in our own time, Rome had far-flung military commitments. It had a great system of law, and Roman citizenship was prized throughout the ancient world. The Roman republic should have endured for many centuries, but its fate was to be cut down not long after the opening of the Christian era.

The reason for Rome's decline and fall was moral corruption. It suffered defeat within its own government. Ambitious men, with a thirst for personal power, brought the lowest types of Romans into the government of the empire. There was corruption involving thievery, and there was corruption involving influence peddling. Ancient Rome had its Bobby Bakers, to be sure. But the darkest stains on the Roman nation came when men of ugly personal vices gained places of power near the summit of the Roman government. These ugly vices were overlooked or concealed from the Roman people. Men with deeply corrupt moral character occupied the seats of power or served as the principal advisers and lieutenants to the leaders charged with defending the interests of Rome. Because they were corrupt, they were more concerned with their pleasures and their vices than they were with the security of the Roman republic. Ultimately, the barbarians overran Rome, where liberty had been nurtured and the Senate had been the glory of republican government in the ancient world.

What happened to Rome should have special meaning for Americans as they ponder the moral mess in Washington in the fall of 1964. The United States of America could suffer its own decline and fall if men of ugly vices are not rooted out of government and if the people do not dismiss those who have tolerated corrupt men.

The pages of history, contemporary as well as ancient, clearly show that the enemies of freedom are skilled at preying on corrupt men who are vulnerable to blackmail. The Soviets, for example, frequently use their hold over corrupt men in free lands to force them to reveal defense secrets.

Everyone who occupies a post of high responsibility in the U. S. government should know that he has a solemn obligation not to employ a person who is a potential security risk because of his personal peculiarities.

A high government official cannot afford a show of excessive tolerance for some psychologically weak individual, for the government is charged with the duty of defending the public interests which transcend the concern for individuals. No man in government should be more aware of this truth than the President of the United States. For a President to neglect his duty to maintain regular security checks on his aides and advisers constitutes neglect of presidential responsibility. Immediately the question is raised whether any man who so neglects his duty is fit to be President.

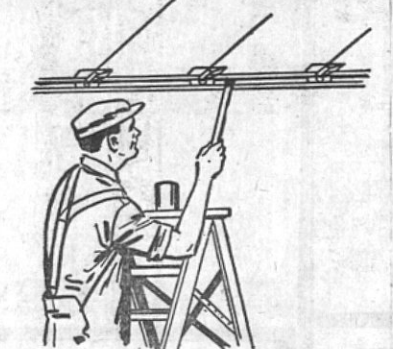

Moreover, if the President surrounds himself with men who peddle influence or who have dark personal vices, he sets an example for the government. If corruption is tolerated and protected at the top of government, it is only a matter of time before it spreads, like cancer, throughout the entire governmental structure.

GARAGE DOORS
Overhead type garage doors are probably taken for granted more than any other section of a person's property. Yet, they are also one of the things that should be inspected and serviced regularly.

Actually all doors need a certain amount of maintenance in order to give smooth trouble-free daily operation.

Your garage door has many metal parts which should be oiled and greased twice a year, preferably before and after winter.

The average garage door operates on a track which guides it smoothly up to the overhead of the garage. These tracks and the rollers which fit into them require greasing to prevent rusting and sticking. Any commercial type grease will do. Your service station has it as well as SAE 10 oil for the many hinges on the door. This same oil can be used on the springs.

Most garage doors already have weather stripping across the bottom. The condition of this stripping should be checked when servicing the door.

Personnel at the Thor Center for Better Living recommend rubber stripping as the most hardy and effective. The stripping will serve a number of purposes for you.

For heated garages it will help to keep the heat in. For unheated garages it will make a big difference in keeping out wind, rain, and snow. The rubber stripping also does a good job as a shock absorber when you slam the door down to contact with the ground.

Thor Tip — Some new garage doors are featuring nylon rollers. They need less maintenance.

Handyman Questions
Q. My screwdriver often ruins the slot in the screw I am driving. How can I avoid this?

Vehicle Owners Urged To Get Them In Shape For Inspection

Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong states that the annual motor vehicle inspection will begin January 1, 1965 and urges all owners to take note and have their vehicles in shape for this 1965 inspection. The Commissioner says further that two new items have been added to the five (5) elements—these being HORN and GLASS. The 1965 inspection will include brakes, lights, steering, tires, windshield wipers on the driver's side, HORN and GLASS.

The new item HORN must be securely fastened to a part of the vehicle and be in good working order, capable of emitting sound audible at least 200 feet.

The other new item GLASS will include windshield, which must have no cracks or breaks which interfere with the driver's vision. Window to the driver's left shall be in good working order.

There are 1300 privately owned garages and repair shops authorized as inspection stations over the State and all motorists are urged to have their vehicle inspected during the three-month inspection period beginning January 1, 1965 and ending March 31, 1965.

The inspection fee is $1.25, plus any repairs that may be necessary for the vehicle to pass inspection.

Jimmy Cox Is Rotary Guest

Jimmy Cox, talented son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox, was a special guest of the Rotary Club which met Tuesday at the Blue Room of Northeast Mississippi Junior College. President Fred Houston presided at the meeting.

Mr. Cox, a music major at Mississippi Southern College, told the group that the college's music department ranked third in the nation.

He was introduced by Mrs. Cox in the absence of Rotarian Bill Cox who was out of town on business. Jimmy belongs to a large number of organizations and fraternities including some of the country's best known with highest requirements.

He delighted the group with a wide variety of folk songs, popular songs and spirituals. He was accompanied by Mrs. Mary Gault Nabers at the piano.

Sportsmen Plan Deer Hunt

There will be plenty of deer hunting in Prentiss County throughout this week. Some parts of every hunting area in the county are open at this time. A camp has been set up near Holly Springs and perhaps in other sections.

Some of the Booneville hunters who plan to join in this sport are Joe Duckworth, Herbert Sumners, Kimble Bolen, Frank Lawler, Dr. Joseph Hurst, Garfield Wheeler, Bud McCary, Milton Floyd, Luther Moore, Bill Sumners, Bill Jones, Ken Pounds, Eddie Caveness, Jr., Joe Kingsley, Clay Perry, Roy Lowrey and Charles Calvert.

"WHAN THAT APRILLE WITH HIS SHOURES SOOTE"—the familiar strain from Geoffrey Chaucer's great monument in English Literature, "The Canterbury Tales" arises from the midst of these sophomores on the Northeast Mississippi Junior College campus. The students find that getting their heads together, the memorizing of the first eighteen lines of Chaucer's immortal Prologue goes just a little faster. From left to right are Mary Jane Lail, Corinth; Linda Greene, Booneville; Larry Goudelock, New Albany; Gary Moore, Tishomingo; and Ray Hodges, Ripley.

Beauties Selected At BHS Monday Night

Four girls were selected from a group of 25 entries, as the most beautiful girls in Booneville High School at the annual revue sponsored by the school yearbook "Spotlight," which was held on Monday night.

These four are Laura Rutherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Rutherford; Linda Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Sanders; Charlotte Oakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Oakley; and Dianne Freeman, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. R. B. Freeman. All are seniors. Pictures will appear in next week's edition of the paper.

On The Local Scene

and Mrs. Billy Hopkins and Emily of Baldwin and Mrs. Allie M. Isbell visited Mrs. Marion Pinkstaff at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis Sunday. Mrs. Pinkstaff is recuperating from surgery.

Larry Fulghum Is Associate Pastor At Drew

(From the Miss. Methodist Advocate)

Larry Fulghum of First Church, Louisville, answered the call to preach, not long ago. He is now serving as associate pastor of the First Methodist Church in Drew and is a student at Delta State.

The above item will be read with much interest by Booneville friends. Larry is the son of W. R. Fulghum and grandson of Mrs. Lucy Floyd Fulghum and the late Will R. Fulghum, esteemed former citizens.

Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Huddleston will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Sunday, November 29. Any of their friends who would like to go visit with them for a while will be most welcome from 2 to 4 p.m.

SCORES AGAIN—Boyd Riddle, left, and his father, J. V. Riddle, right, killed two deer about 300 yards apart Friday on the first day of deer season. Boyd's was a nice five point, while his father's was a large spike. Mr. Riddle killed a deer in the same spot in Marshall County last year. Eight deer have been reported killed in Prentiss County by the following: M. L. Pannel, J. K. Ivy, Ronny Sparks, Eugene Brosious, Hubert Pounds, James Pounds, M. J. Gilley and Eugene Roberts. Joe Duckworth also killed one in Benton County. Prentiss County deer season will close Wednesday, November 25.

MR. AND MRS. G. E. MORGAN

Miss Demetria Bonds Becomes Bride Of G. E. Morgan In Lovely Church Ceremony

Miss Demetria Bonds and G. E. Morgan were united in marriage Friday night at the First United Pentecostal Church in Booneville. Rev. C. Holliday officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with white gladiolus, fern and palm trees.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. R. C. Bonds and the late Mr. Bonds of Booneville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie E. Morgan of Booneville.

Jarrie Shannon, soloist, sang "Whither Thou Goest," and "Because," accompanied by Glen Clark, organist. Miss Dorothy Cole was maid of honor and Miss Mary Elizabeth Harwood was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of blue brocade with shoulder length veils. Hoyle Lambert served the groom as best man. Billy Brasel was groomsman. Ushers were Bobby Ashcraft and H. B. Lindsey. Candelighters were Harmon and Ted Laster.

The radiant bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Billy Bonds, was lovely in a white bridal satin gown, which had a fitted bodice and long tapering sleeves that came to dainty petal-points at the hands. Her veil of imported silk illusion cascaded from a crown of pearls with tiny jewels. Her bouquet of carnations was centered with an orchid.

Mrs. R. C. Bonds, mother of the bride, wore a pink wool shift with gray accessories. Mrs. Lonnie Morgan, mother of the groom, wore a blue wool shift with black accessories. Both mothers wore carnation corsages.

After a short wedding trip the couple are at home in Booneville where the groom is employed at Prentiss Mfg. Co.

MISSISSIPPI UNEMPLOYMENT RATE

Employment is at an impressively high level in our state these days and latest figures show that slightly over 777,000 persons were working or seeking work in September — a gain of 21,500 over the previous month and 5,000 over the same period last year. Both agricultural and non-agricultural employment rose sharply during September according to figures of the Miss. Employment Commission. Unemployment ebbed to the lowest level since World War II. Nearly 755,000 persons or about one-third of our total population were working in Mississippi during September, almost 27,000 more than in August and 11,000 more than a year ago. Mississippi's current rate of unemployment is significantly low, substantially below the national unemployment level.

It takes 6½ seconds to fasten a seat belt

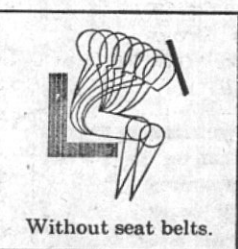

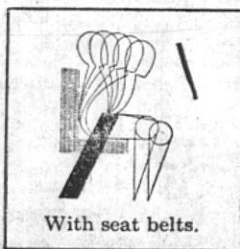

Best investment in time you'll ever make 6½ seconds could save your life. Or prevent serious injury. That's all the time it takes to pick up a seat belt ... and fasten it.

If everyone did this—every time—the National Safety Council says at least 5,000 lives could be saved each year, and serious injuries reduced by one-third.

Here's a simple reminder for you and your passengers the next time you drive—"Buckle your seat belt, please."

Newspaper Advertising DOESN'T INTRUDE

... It Goes Where It Is Invited!

People Buy Newspapers
Because They Want
All The News

They are as much interested in the advertising columns as the news columns because advertising is the news of what is valuable in goods and other items.

Every survey ever made shows that people prefer to have the newspaper they buy contain advertising because

ADVERTISING IS NEWS!

The newspaper is there all day and far into the night. It is there for the whole family to read.

AND THEY DO!

It is there to be read at the time and under the circumstances when the reader asks to be informed. It is there for the housewife to tear out the ads and take them with her when she shops.

AND SHE DOES!

There is never a question about whether the advertiser's message gets to the reader.

Newspaper Advertising Goes Where It Is Wanted.

It sells because it is read at your customer's convenience.

Three Cookies From One Batter Are Holiday Timesavers

Here are two new twists on a cookie that's made American history. The first twist is a "cookie pop." The second twist is an "easy-do" bar cookie. And the cookie that made history is the Toll House® Cookie, a scrumptious invention that all began when somebody added nuggets of semi-sweet chocolate chopped from a semi-sweet chocolate candy bar to a traditional drop cookie batter — and created the cookie that's now America's favorite. Semi-sweet chocolate morsels, created just to make the wonderful new cookie, have made history, too, in a whole new art of shortcut chocolate cookery.

You'll find the recipe for authentic Toll House Cookies on every package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels. To make the "easy-do" bar cookies, just spread the Toll House Cookie batter evenly in a greased 13" by 9" by 2" pan and bake in a 375° oven for 12 to 14 minutes. The same batter is used for the cookie pops.

Toll House Cookie Pops
Make the batter for authentic Toll House Cookies, following the recipe instructions found on every 6-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels. To make cookie pops, drop batter by tablespoonfuls 4 inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Flatten slightly with back of spoon. Insert 5-inch sticks — push sticks from edge to about two-thirds through batter. Bake at 375°F. 10 to 12 minutes. Remove gently while warm with wide spatula. Let cool thoroughly before serving. YIELD: approximately 1 1/2 dozen 3" cookies.

COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS

Thanksgiving Day is a fitting climax this year to National Farm City Week! Probably more than ever before we have much to be thankful for. Record crop yields, a continued strong economy and the lowest costs in history for the family food all combine to make this an outstanding year.

According to statistics, only around 19 per cent of the take-home dollar goes for food. This is the lowest percentage in the world and is even lower than at any other time in our Nation's history.

COTTON COMMENTS

With an all-time record cotton yield behind us, right now is a good time to begin making plans to help assure another top crop next year.

One of the first things to do is to make sure that your cotton fields are not suffering from lack of lime. This is the season to apply lime to fields where needed.

Destroy old stalks as soon after harvest as possible. On land that is not subject to severe erosion, use of a chisel is recommended to break up any hard pan that may exist. This "sub-soiling" is more effective in the fall than in the ing, remove the machine.

It is important that the machine not be left on too long as this is one of the major causes of injured under tissue, which often leads to mastitis.

COASTAL BERMUDA

Land should be prepared now for spring setting of Coastal Bermuda. Poor seedbeds are often the cause of failure to get a good stand.

If dock or thistle come up on the prepared land, these areas can be sprayed and killed out before setting the Coastal. Use 1 pound of amine 2,4-D to the acre when all dock and thistle are up.

Beginning December 1, the County Extension office will be closed on Saturday.

vice-president.

The major points of the two-year settlement agreed on by committee vote of union representatives give the union members:

A 13.9c package which amounted to:

A 2 per cent general wage increase, effective January 4, 1965.

Another 2 per cent general wage increase January 3, 1966.

In addition to the general wage advances, the lower rated factory operations will receive an increase ranging from 0.8 of 1 per cent to a high of 10 per cent.

In addition to the wage increases an increase in pension payments from the current $1.25 per month per year of service to $1.50 per month per year of service is effective November 1, 1964. The pension payments increase from $1.25 per month per year of service to $1.50 per month per year of service is effective Nov. 1, 1964. The pension payments increase from $1.50 per month per year of service to $1.75 per month per year of service on November 1, 1965. The maximum pension allocations will reach $52.50 per month for an employee with 30 years' service.

A health and welfare increase of daily hospital allowance from $12 to $15 per day and a surgical schedule increase from $200 to $300.

An extra paid holiday effective the first year of contract — Good Friday.

The eligibility requirements for a disability pension were modified by the contract to the degree that any employee with 15 years of service, regardless of age, is entitled to a pension. (There had previously been an age (50) stipulation tied to this point.)

The spokesmen representing the union during the joint negotiations were Bob Wilton, Regional Director of the BSWU and Jack Mara, President of the BSWU. Morris Timbes of Booneville was also a member of the contract committee.

Mrs. W. T. Barnett, Jr., Speaks On Fashion At Thursday Study Club Meeting

Mrs. W. T. Barnett, Jr., was the featured speaker at the Thursday Study Club meeting on Thursday afternoon at the Town Motel, with Mrs. Edd Honeycutt, the gracious hostess. A delicious dessert plate with coffee was served before the program.

Mrs. Barnett, a speaker who is genuinely charming and poised, is a fashion authority on fabrics and design and one who well understands the art of correct dress, made a most excellent presentation of her subject, Fashion, the Mysterious Art.

Mrs. Barnett, in brief but impressive detail, as an introduction gave the highlights of her recent visit to the Dallas Fashion Mart, which is claimed to be the No. 1 style center in the world. While describing the beauty and magnitude of the mart, the group was updated with the fashion trends.

Her review embraced the art during the past five centuries, known as the Elizabethan, Empire, Victorian, Edwardian and Flapper. The costumes of these periods have been displayed at Boston's Museum of Fine Arts, in a glorious record of history in the showing, "She walks in Splendor," a cavalcade of costumes.

Mrs. Barnett explained that no one can say exactly where styles spring from, nor why. Some hold that great ladies set the styles. Others describe fashion changes to stirring events in history, to still others its fashion designers, who dictate how we should look. They are all right in at least a part. All the might of Tudor, England was reflected in the huge ruffs of Elizabeth, the First of England, who had fashion sense and daring.

In the 17th Century, women wore clothes that were tortuous and in Italy it was told that women wore overshoes to make them look tall. Conceding to history, Mrs. Barnett revealed, we had Eisenhower jackets in the last World War and tassels and trimmings after the Crimean War. The head seems to have been peculiarly sensitive to the thunder of history, it was noted. Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown, but in the 1780's on the eve of the French Revolution, the more uneasy the head of Marie Antoinette, the richer the fabric and more astounding her head-dress. The guillotine put an end to all these fashions.

After the fury of the Revolution, Napoleon lived with the beautiful Josephine, when waist lines crept up, heavy fabrics were discarded for lighter clinging silks, to look like white, Greek statues.

In Washington, Dolly Madison, until Jackie, was the most style conscious. She wore the Empire style, which was of short duration.

In England reigned the virtuous Victoria! This was the Romantic era, when women wanted to look like the heroines in the sentimental novels, they went over.

In 1840, Amelia Bloomer, tried to put a stop to nonsense by introducing the bloomer.

Men became designers probably in the mid-nineteenth century, the first, Worth, an Englishman, came to Paris followed by Poiret, Molyneux, and Patou. Worth had nine queens as his clients, among them Empress Eugenie of France.

By 1900, women were clinging to their bedposts, while maids drew waist lines. Victoria was an old lady now, and Edward Prince of Wales led the gay world in racy style. At the turn of the century, Charles Dana Gibson publicized the unconventional beauty in the new world. Then came World War I, women came out in the 1900's emancipated.

Gabriel Chanel launched the care-free casuals and hemlines went up in 1927. Youth seemed in the saddle. From then on diet and exercise have played a part in style, instructive and entertaining.

The dress of the 20th century, comfortable and youthful — the fashion we are still wearing had been born.

Mrs. Barnett's portrayal of the fashion pageantry was appealing

ASC Committee Elections To Be Concluded Dec. 3

Farmers today got a "last-minute" reminder about important elections which will be held in Prentiss County to end December 3, 1964. The elections are to choose ASC farmer-committeemen who will serve for the next year as local administrators of national farm-action programs.

These ASC committeemen have broad important program responsibilities, which make it all the more urgent that representative farmers be elected to the job. All qualified voters are urged to be sure to cast their ballots.

Each year such qualified voters—farmers who are taking part or are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committees administer—elect a community committee from among their own number. The chairman, vice chairman, and regular member of this committee also serve respectively as delegate, alternate delegate, and second alternate delegate to the county convention, where the ASC county committee is elected.

Programs administered by the committeemen include the agricultural conservation program, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed programs, the voluntary wheat program, the Sugar Act program, the national wool program, and farm storage facility loans. Other duties are assigned to the committees by the Secretary of Agriculture as the need arises.

In Prentiss County, eligible voters will cast ballots for community committeemen by mail. Ballots have been mailed to all eligible voters. If by any chance a ballot is not furnished an eligible voter, a ballot may be secured by visiting the county ASCS office.

GERALD'S NEW LUCKY-LEADWAY

Your Complete One-Stop Food Store

HOME AGENT NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS

Turkey's on the table, friends all gathered 'round;
Pies are in the oven, gettin' golden brown.
The first of these two lines is probably true for you and your family this Thanksgiving Holiday, but I'll bet you cooked your pies days ago and put them in the freezer.

During the Thanksgiving holiday, we will be enjoying the food that we find bountiful and of top quality in the United States. We will taste and enjoy the evidence of that familiar slogan, "Food is a bargain."

When you go to your supermarket you find about 6000 food items from which to choose. When you get to the checkout line, you can expect to spend less than 19 per cent of your take-home pay for food. Back in 1947-49 you were spending about 26 per cent of your take-home pay for food.

The British people are spending 29 per cent of their income on food now, and the Russians 50 per cent or more.

You may have heard and read these figures and many others about our bountiful food supply in the United States many times. But it is appropriate to repeat them this week during Farm-City Week and at Thanksgiving time when we give thanks as we enjoy good food with our family and friends.

Farm-City Week is scheduled about this time each year to remind people of how they depend on the farmer for food and fiber and how in turn he is a good customer of many merchants for fertilizers and seed and trucks and clothing and gas and oil and many services. Keeping our economy healthy and growing is all tied up in a package of inter-dependence between the farmer and the merchant and the teacher and the factory worker and just about everybody.

DECEMBER PLENTIFULS

When you go to do your shopping in December, you will find turkey, peanuts and peanut products at the top of the plentiful foods list. Apples, cranberries, canned ripe olives, broiler-fryers and beef are other foods on the list.

Woman's Societies Report Progress At The Half-Year Mark

Sundry and varied activities make for progress in the Woman's Society of Christian Service for the New Albany District as it reaches the half-way mark in carrying out the purpose of the Methodist organization for the year.

Attractive yearbooks for 1964-65, with Booneville and Corinth books as examples, carry full plans for the year by the month under the title, "Summoned To A New Age." The purpose, new language, goals and approved studies for the year, list of officers on all levels, lists of members and special memberships, budget and achievement sheet are some of the features.

Listed by the Kossuth, Gaines Chapel and Baldwin societies, fresh flowers for the church service, cards and visits for the sick and shut-ins, studies, well planned programs for regular meetings and World Federation, observance of the 25th anniversary in cooperation with the Wesleyan Service Guild, representative at School of Missions, prayer group, pledges sent in and birthday dollars given, gift of $100 for parsonage fund, meals for Methodist Men during a three-month period, entertaining the visiting minister and visitation teams and "filling the pews" for revivals are some of the activities for the Corinth-Booneville Sub-District during the first half of the church year.

Three representative societies of the Iuka Subdistrict reveal these additional achievements: Iuka society adopted a girl of the Methodist Children's Home, gave money and gifts to a sick member, bought carpet for parsonage, organized a new circle.

Wheeler society paid $50 on the air conditioning system for the church and $36 support for a child at the Children's Home, secured supplies for Junior Sunday School room, sent in to treasurer $73 for the first quarter, served refreshments for MYF each Sunday night, pays bills for lighting church lawn.

The Belmont society deserves much credit for the new parsonage and uses new purpose in each monthly meeting, made contributions to Best Fund and Inremembrance gifts, held Installation Service and Pledge Service, observed the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial Week, attended district meetings, collected Red Scissors coupons and observed UNICEF Trick or Treat.

Several representative societies in the New Albany Sub-district reveals still other different and additional activities: A three-day camp for Juniors, involving Bible Study, nature projects, Biblical drama and recreation ... new members and membership prospect list assisting leaders of St. John's church with youth program ... observance of World Day of Prayer with offering ... hostesses for Official Board and Methodist Men's Club, and refreshments for vacation church school annual dinner with the Wesleyan Service Guild ... sponsors of shut-in visitation program and a Sabin Oral Polio vaccine Sunday increased funds through selling flavoring and Christmas cards draperies purchased for four Sunday school rooms ... $135 sent in for first and second reports with some $25 on hand ...

These are but a few representative activities to give a glimpse of the Woman's work through the 35 societies in the district. Through study, prayer and worship the spiritual life of the members is enriched and through the activities pledges and special giving the Woman's work is carried on to enrich the lives of others at home and abroad in 34 countries.

A Connecticut woman was carried to the Northeast Mississippi Hospital here Tuesday afternoon

Mrs. Sara Blalock Is Dietician At Northeast Hospital

The Northeast Mississippi Hospital has announced the appointment of Mrs. Sara Nell Blalock, ADA, as Dietitian at the hospital.

Mrs. Blalock is a graduate of Itawamba County High School, Itawamba Junior College, and also received a degree in Home Economics in Nutrition, Mississippi State College for Women, Columbus, Miss.

She received nine months of her training in dietetics at the Baptist Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., and for the past three years has served on the staff of dietitians at the Methodist Hospital, Memphis. She is a member of the American Dietetic Association, AHA.

Mrs. Blalock is formerly of Mantachie, Miss., and is married to Milford Blalock. They have one child, Donna.

The N. E. Miss. Hospital is pleased to announce this appointment and feels they are fortunate to secure the services of this qualified person to serve in the dietary department of the hospital.

Mrs. Rebecca Culpepper introduced the film program and led the discussion at the conclusion, which was highly informative.

This is probably the first time a program of this type has been sponsored for nurses in the Northeast area. It is hoped it will continue, to help improve the nursing care which the public receives for a No. 1 ailment.

Northeast Mississippi Hospital Personnel Receives Recognition

The Northeast Mississippi Hospital has been notified by the National Executive Housekeepers Association that Mrs. Nean Holder has completed all requirements necessary to receive certified membership in this Association.

Mrs. Hazel M. Bancroft, National Executive Housekeepers Association, states, "The atomic age has changed the face of the institutional housekeeper. It not only demands additional facilities for the institution, but it requires more training for all workers." The accreditation program is based on the idea that the future will bring more responsibilities, more training, and the need for more education for the executive housekeeper and assistants.

Two more members of the N.E. Miss. Hospital staff have earned recognition in their respective fields. Mr. Bruce Lester, plant engineer, has been accorded membership in the American Society of Hospital Engineers, (AHA), while Mr. Bill Chase, purchasing agent, has been admitted to the American Society of Hospital Purchasing Agents, AHA.

These recognitions indicate that our personnel is becoming better qualified to serve the needs of the patients in this hospital.

We congratulate our personnel on their new achievements.
