Leaders Are Named For County's 1965 March Of Dimes Campaign

"Birth defects kill and cripple more American children than any other human disorder," said J. W. Smith, Jr., of Booneville, who has been named Prentiss County director for the January 1965 March of Dimes campaign.

Dr. A. L. Gray, State Health Officer and state March of Dimes chairman in announcing the local drive leadership, said, "At least half the beds in children's hospitals of America are occupied by birth defects victims."

"The massive health emergency posed by the birth of 250,000 defective infants in this country each year will never be met until people realize that birth defects are shock realities instead of pretending that they do not exist," the health officer declared.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the March of Dimes in the past six years has made important advances in the fight against birth defects.

Through the 50 March of Dimes-financed centers across the country, one of which is at the University Medical Center in Jackson, trained medical teams are providing the best medical care available for birth defect children and working to develop new techniques which will enable many more of them to live a useful life. Scientists supported by March of Dimes grants are also at work in a great number of university laboratories in this country and abroad, seeking the causes of these fearful conditions and ways of preventing them, as was done by this organization in the battle against polio.

Marion W. Smith, chairman of the Prentiss County Chapter of The National Foundation — March of Dimes, called for wholehearted support by the citizens of the county to enable scientists to probe ever closer to prevention or cure of birth defects and to help fashion a "Haven of Hope" for the millions of mothers who ask, "Why did this happen to my child?"

Other chapter officers are: Wallace Poole, vice chairman; Mrs. Mabel Nelson, secretary; and Mrs. Toy Smith, treasurer.

Cerebral Palsy Campaign Is Sunday, December 6th

Whether hundreds of handicapped youngsters in 23 Northeast Mississippi counties achieve as useful and meaningful life as is possible for them depends upon how successful the 1964 Cerebral Palsy radio and television fund raising campaign is Sunday, December 6th at the Community Center, Fairgrounds, in Tupelo.

The radiothon will be held from 1 until 4 p.m. and local talent will be presented. The telethon will begin at 4 p.m. and among local talent will be members of the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Highbaugh at 4:05; the Musical Notes from New Site under the direction of Miss Sue Kimbrell at 6:05; an accordion number by Susie Tucker of Blackland at 9:05 and the Booneville Mel-O-Tones.

Thursday and Friday members of the Booneville Pilot Club will call on business firms to offer them an opportunity to participate in this program. The Pilot Club members will also be at the Cerebral Palsy Headquarters which will be located at Radio Station WBIP to receive telephone calls and give out information concerning the program. Civitan and Jaycee members will pick up contributions that are called in. Telephone numbers from the Booneville area to call are 728-5301 and 728-5302. You may call in your contribution from 1 p.m. until 12 p.m. Sunday, December 6th. Those in the Baldwin area can call 365-9061.

Mrs. E. O. Roden is chairman for Prentiss County and Mrs. Bill Moore is co-chairman.

The city police will stage road blocks Sunday afternoon on the highways.

The goal for Prentiss County is $2800.00. There are 28 patients from this county receiving treatment at the Regional Rehabilitation Center in Tupelo.

Other talent for the eighth annual television spectacular for cerebral palsied and handicapped people will include Rosanna Burleson, Mississippi's Miss Hospitality; Poni Gillman, Broadway star; Bill Boren and Anita Wood, plus many more.

The public is invited to Open House at the center from 3 o'clock until 8 o'clock. Since that time last year the case load has grown from 90 to almost 500.

Still needed to complete the budget for the Regional Rehabilitation Center in Tupelo is $28,000 for the 1965 operating year, according to J. A. Rasberry of Tupelo. President of the Center.

The Regional Rehabilitation Center, which is "Three Acres of Hope" for the handicapped people all over Northeast Mississippi is made possible because of your continuing help. Many boys and girls as well as adults, who could not walk, talk and go to school are now doing all these things due to your efforts.

A special meeting of interested parties has been set for Tuesday night, December 8, in the Itawamba courthouse at Fulton to reactivate interest in a proposed Mackey Creek Waterfowl Project.

It is estimated that the project will cost more than a million dollars and embrace 10,000 acres of land in Itawamba, Prentiss and Tishomingo Counties. The meeting has been called by Hon. Gene Gifford of Booneville and Delmus Hardin, editor of the Itawamba Times of Fulton.

Principal speaker at the organizational meeting will be Thompson Pounds, executive secretary of the Tombigbee Valley Water Management District. It is hoped that plans can be developed which will enable the TVWMD to handle the project for the interested counties and the Mississippi Game & Fish Commission.

Federal Grants Approved For Area's War On Poverty; Dean Is Director

Federal grants totaling $651,887 have been approved for the start of a five-county war on poverty to be administered by the Corinth Urban Renewal Commission, it was announced Tuesday.

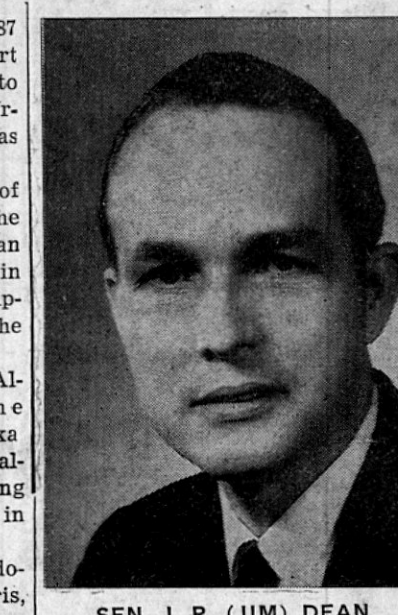

State Sen. J. P. (Jim) Dean of Corinth was named director of the program, which will begin with an effort to curb school dropouts in Alcorn, Prentiss, Tishomingo, Tipah and Union counties under the new Economic Opportunity Act.

In addition to Corinth and Alcorn County, five towns in the area—Walnut, Tishomingo, Iuka, Belmont and Booneville—have already adopted resolutions paving the way for their participation in the program.

"Others are in the process of doing so," according to Troy Norris, Chairman of the Corinth Urban Renewal Commission.

Sen. Dean, who said it is hoped to get the program in operation by Dec. 1, said an advisory committee, with members from all five counties, would be formed as soon as possible to coordinate efforts and to "lay the groundwork for a program of economic development for this area of Northeast Mississippi."

He pointed out that although the

Corinth Urban Renewal Commission would administer program funds, each county or city would have complete jurisdiction over its own operation.

Of the total grant, $620,000 will finance part-time jobs for high school students, recent dropouts, or persons found to be ineligible for military service. Participants, who must be between the ages of 16 and 21, will be selected on the basis of need for money to continue or resume their secondary education. The other $49,877 will be used for research to determine the economic needs of the five counties.

It is estimated that part-time jobs will be provided for 1,350 high school students and 150 recent dropouts. The students will work an average of 15 hours per week and those out of school for 30 hours. Starting pay will be about 80 cents an hour.

The jobs may be provided by governmental agencies or private, non-profit organizations operated for the public benefit.

Sen. Dean announced that applications for the jobs are now being accepted. Schools in the participating cities and counties will handle applications from their students. Dropouts, and those rejected for military service, should apply at the nearest office of the State Employment Security Commission.

Mr. Dean explained that the program "is not designed to provide jobs for just anyone who wants one. Its purpose is to help students who need money, and plan to use it, to continue or resume their high school education."

HOLIDAY PATCHES

You can turn a plain white table cloth into something festive for Christmas or any holiday by using pinking shears to cut brightly colored bits of cloth into appropriate designs. Trees, bells and stars for Christmas, or clocks, horns and bells for New Years are a few of the designs you might like to use. Dip these cut-outs into starch and iron them onto the cloth here and there. The starch and heat will combine to make the colorful motifs adhere until they are pulled off.

When the holidays are over, launder the cloth as usual and its ready.

Services For Mrs. Mattie Floyd

The passing of Mrs. Mattie Pharr Floyd, on November 27th closed a long and useful life, following an extended illness of a dearly loved matron.

Funeral services were held from her late residence November 28th, with the Reverend Huey Wood, her pastor, assisted by the Reverend V. V. Collier of Hickory Flat, officiating.

Mrs. Floyd was a member of a family dating back to the Revolutionary period of history. She possessed a rich heritage that was reflected throughout her entire life, having as her background the finest traditions of service and leadership in the professional and civic life of this section.

Born in Itawamba County, Mrs. Floyd was the daughter of the late William Pekendrick Pharr and Mrs. Mary Ann Redden Pharr of Prentiss County. Mr. Pharr was a large landowner and an influential citizen. She was the granddaughter of the Reverend John C. Pharr, Methodist minister and Mrs. Elizabeth Womack Pharr, and a great-granddaughter of the Reverend Thomas Pharr, Presbyterian minister and Mrs. Elizabeth Raser Pharr. He was an early settler of Itawamba and Tishomingo Counties. They were among our best and most stalwart citizens.

Beautiful and gifted, in her early life Mrs. Floyd participated in the constructive objectives of her community and she was a favorite with kindred and friends. In her more mature years her interest was primarily on her home and she was a devoted wife and mother. Her death breaks a happy family circle.

Mrs. Floyd wielded a definite and gracious influence as a woman of noble aspirations. She was recognized as an example of how wholesome, how helpful and how exemplary an individual may become to a community.

She was a diligent student and her leadership was combined with a broad outlook. Having a well-trained mind she was a scholar and a generous friend of literature and the cultural arts. Deeply sympathetic and understanding in her attitude toward others, she was liberal in her kindness and consideration.

She was one of the most patriotic and dedicated members of the Natchez Trace Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and the D. T. Beall Chapter U.D.C. She was ardent in her spirit, and in the promotion of the purposes and ideals of these organizations.

Her thoughts and feelings were a gift quality of her personality which made itself felt as well as her educational awareness of spir-

Pisgah H.D. Club Has November Meeting

The Pisgah Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. T. J. Storey for their November meeting. Mrs. G. W. Taylor gave the devotional. The hymn, "Count Your Blessings," was sung by the group.

At the conclusion of the program a Christmas program was planned. The hostess served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Clarence McCutchen.

Crickets' chirps have surprising carrying power. One cricket barely an inch long sounds a note audible for almost a mile.

As a member of the Shady Grove Methodist Church, she was a noble Christian and her courage was one of her most notable characteristics. A courage based on her strong faith, it may be truly said of her, "She walked with God."

She has stepped with triumph across the threshold and has reflected the radiance and beauty of Him in whose service she gave her best gifts—gentleness and innate kindness. Her personality and the quality of her nature, which was endearing to all, will be missed.

She leaves her husband, J. E. Floyd; one daughter, Dr. Mary Summers; two grandsons, John and Bill Summers; one sister, Mrs. Alie Googe of Marietta; two brothers, G. T. Pharr of Booneville and M. C. Pharr of Flint, Michigan.

Interment was made in the family plot in the Old Booneville Cemetery with McMillan Funeral Directors in charge.

Watershed Projects Provide Recreation

Thousands of Mississippians enjoy boating, fishing and other water-based sports in the numerous small watershed projects sponsored by Soil Conservation Districts throughout the state.

Thousands of Mississippians enjoy camping, fishing and hunting in the National Forest.

Now these two primary attractions of outdoor recreation—water and trees—are teaming up in the Holly Springs National Forest.

Believe it or not, Chewalla Lake is the first flood prevention reservoir in the southeastern United States to be developed for multiple purposes in national forest land.

This 164-acre, Soil Conservation Service designed lake will be 8 miles east of Holly Springs in an 984-acre tract which the U.S. Forest Service has dedicated to recreation.

Located within 50 miles of a million people, J. C. Franson, Jackson, U. S. Forest Service, estimates the area should attract 100,000 visitors annually within a few years after completion, and put a quarter million dollars into circulation through camping, hunting and other expenditures.

Congressman Jamie Whitten, touring the site recently, advised that the "value of these recreational lakes is just unbelievable."

This sounds good to local people who have taken a very active part in the project. Harris Gholson, President of the Holly bank; A. T. Gunter, RFD Belden, Chairman of the Tallahatchie River SCD, which is sponsoring the project; Marshall Clifton, Potts Camp, Chairman of the Tippah River Drainage District; Representative Edgar Stephens, Senator Talmadge Littlejohn, New Albany; Senator George Yarbrough, Red Banks; Mrs. Gladys Slayden, Holly Springs, and many others have promoted the development.

The Marshall County Board of Supervisors acquired and donated about 88 acres of adjoining land, and is working on access roads into the area.

Like all reservoirs in the small watershed program, Chewalla has been primarily designed for flood prevention. The lake, actually a part of the lower Tippah River Subwatershed, will control flood waters from 18,500 acres. W. L. Heard, Jackson, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, said a quarter of a million dollars has been appropriated for the flood prevention features of the lake. He set a target date of early spring, 1965, for letting the dam contract and said work should be completed in two construction seasons.

SCS engineers began operations November 9 to drain swampy areas along Chewalla Creek. In the meantime, the Forest Service will spend about a quarter million dollars, as funds become available, in stage construction of roads, sanitation facilities, camp sites, boat ramps, etc. In addition, they have put up $50,000 to add recreational benefits to the lake.

The Yazoo-Little Tallahatchie flood prevention project, which is administered by SCS and USFS, extends across 19 north Mississippi counties and has changed much of this country from raw gullies to green pastures, lakes and towering trees.

The Holly Springs National Forest is no exception. Here some 200,000 pine trees, planted over the years as part of the erosion control measures in the project, add to the beauty of the forest.

Large dogwoods star these woods in the spring, and giant cypress soak their feet in the swamp. Deer, drawn to forage and shelter, have concentrated here in one of the highest populations in the state. The Mississippi Game and Fish Commission, which manages hunting and fishing in the area, annually record a high kill here.

L. R. Johnson, Jackson, USFS, says the Forest Service will continue to manage wildlife habitat for maximum populations of deer, turkey and quail. An ancient Indian mound on the west of the lake

Vaccination Only Effective Method Of Preventing Flu

Vaccination is the only effective method of preventing flu, according to Dr. Durward Blakey of the State Board of Health.

The state's preventable disease director says that to date the number of influenza cases has been few but that with the coming of inclement winter weather the virus will spread more rapidly.

Particularly does Dr. Blakey recommend flu vaccine for expectant mothers, senior citizens and persons of any age who have chronic diseases, such as heart disease, kidney disease, diabetes, tuberculosis, and other lung and bronchial disorders.

"Children of school age," said the public health specialist, "are attacked by flu more than any other group. Frequently they come in contact with the virus at school and bring it home, where it spreads throughout the family."

While no major nationwide outbreak of flu is expected this year, Dr. Blakey urges each Mississippi family to seek the advice of the private physician as to which family members should be vaccinated against local outbreaks.

"Flu vaccine has provided up to 80 per cent protection against this epidemic disease in repeated scientifically conducted trials," said Dr. Blakey. "This year an even stronger vaccine containing added protection is available."

John D. Dawson Dies Nov. 25

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Agusta Dawson; two sons, Freeman Dawson of Memphis and Truman Dawson of Rienzi; four daughters, Mrs. Zelma Gardner and Mrs. Vera Holmwood of Memphis, Mrs. Lucille Woodard of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Eunice Smith of Charleston, S. C.; 14 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Cotton Quotas Up For Vote December 15th

By CHARLES CALVERT
Prentiss ASCS Office Mgr.

The cotton quota vote coming up on December 15 will mark the 12th consecutive year in which growers have voted on marketing quotas for their upland cotton crop, Orville E. Bostick, Chairman of the Mississippi Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, said today.

"Beginning with the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1954 crop, growers have approved quotas for each year's cotton crop," he stated. "In the vote last year, on quotas for the 1964 upland cotton crop, 94 per cent of the growers voting approved the quotas."

By law, quotas must be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture in years when the cotton supply exceeds normal. The estimated 1964-65 total supply of upland cotton exceeds the estimated normal supply by 41 per cent.

The carryover of upland cotton on August 1 of this year was 12.1 million bales. With 1964 crop yields indicated at a record high of 522 pounds per acre, domestic usage plus exports during this marketing year is expected to be less than the 1964 crop, and the carryover is expected to increase to about 12.6 million bales by August 1, 1965. A carryover this size has been exceeded only once—in 1956. For 1965 the chairman explained, Mississippi has a total of 1,551,570 acres available for allotment to growers on which to grow their upland cotton crop. This represents the State's share of the national acreage allotment of 16 million acres (the smallest permitted under law) plus 200,000 acres from the national acreage reserve to take care of minimum farm allotments. Notices of individual farm allotments will be mailed to operators of cotton farms in advance of the December 15 referendum.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approve quotas for the 1965 upland cotton crop, price support at a level within the range of 65 to 90 per cent of parity will be available to growers who do not exceed the farm's acreage allotment, additional price support in the form of payments will be available to growers who keep their acreage within the farm's "domestic allotment," and marketing quota penalties will apply to any excess cotton produced on a farm.

If more than one-third of the voters oppose quotas for the 1965 crop, the regular allotment program will remain in effect, and price support will be available to growers who do not exceed their acreage allotments at 50 per cent of parity, as provided by law.

All farmers who are engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1964 are eligible to vote in the December 15 referendum.

Cotton Vote Choices Defined
Just what a "yes" or "no" vote will mean in the December 15 referendum on upland cotton marketing quotas was explained by Orville E. Bostick, Chairman of the Miss.

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee. All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1964 are eligible to vote in the referendum. The chairman said that the basic program choices are:

1. If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve of quotas, the quotas will be in effect for the 1965 upland cotton crop, marketing penalties will apply to any excess cotton produced on a farm, price support loans at a level within the range of 65 to 90 per cent of parity will be available to farmers who do not exceed their acreage allotments, and—in addition—price support payments can be earned by farmers for keeping their acreage within the farm's "domestic" allotment.

2. On the other hand, if more than one-third of the growers who vote oppose the quotas, then there will be no quotas and no penalties applicable to the 1965 upland cotton crop, no "domestic allotment" program providing price support payments, and price support to farmers who comply with their acreage allotments will be available at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law.

The regular acreage allotment program is not affected by the outcome of the balloting. The allotments will remain in effect—whether or not quotas are approved—as a means of determining eligibility for the available price support.

Mr. Bostick pointed out that, while the Secretary of Agriculture is directed by law to proclaim quotas for the next crop when the total upland cotton supply exceeds normal, it is the growers themselves who decide whether or not quotas shall be used. Previous votes on the subject have been outstandingly favorable. Marketing quotas for the 1964 upland cotton crop were approved by 94 per cent of the growers voting.

Allotments and other program details for individual farms will be made available to growers within the next few days, so that farmers may have the information prior to the Dec. 15 referendum. Details of the domestic allotment program will be announced later if quotas are approved.

ASC County Committee Election Convention Set

The Prentiss Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committee for next year will be elected by farmer-chosen delegates to a county convention December 8, 1964 at 10 o'clock a.m. at the Prentiss County Electric Power Building. The convention will be open to the public, and any person interested in observing the voting procedure may attend. However, only farmer-delegates to the convention may participate in the election process. Election is by secret ballot and plurality vote.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

FARM RECORDS

December is a good month to check your records for this year. There are two major reasons for this: First, you need to know the enterprises that were profitable — maybe you need to expand some — discontinue some — apply more fertilizer — do a better job of controlling insects and weeds — grow more grass and forage. Second, you can legally save on taxes by purchasing some of your needs for next year so as to come off of this year's receipts or you might need to wait until after December 31 to sell or collect for products produced this year.

INSECT CONTROL CONFERENCE

The latest information on controlling harmful insects will be outlined at the 11th annual Mississippi Insect Control Conference at the Heidelberg Hotel in Jackson, December 9-10.

Some of the leading research entomologists will outline their latest findings on boll weevils, bollworms, other cotton insects; livestock insects; ants and mosquitoes.

The 1965 cotton insect control recommendations will be announced during the meeting.

SOYBEAN MEETING

Soybean growers, processors and others interested in soybeans will attend a one-day soybean meeting in Greenville, December 9 at the Downtowner Motor Inn.

Research on soybean weed control, varieties and other cultural practices will be discussed.

Growers who entered the Mississippi Soybean contest and produced as much as 40 bushels per acre will be recognized and presented with certificates.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Today's agriculture is much bigger than just farming. It is an industry consisting of three parts — the farmer or producer; the agribusiness and industries; and the agricultural research and education.

Good jobs are available in all of these fields. Each year in the United States more than 15,000 such jobs are available, but only around 7,500 qualified people apply for these jobs.

The College of Agriculture at Mississippi State University offers three options qualifying young people for these jobs. Students majoring in animal husbandry, general agriculture, dairy science, agronomy, poultry science and most of the other subject matter areas can choose either agri-production, agri-business or agri-science.

The agri-production option prepares students for general and specified farming, for positions with state and federal agricultural agencies and with private organizations dealing with production of food and fiber.

In the agri-business option more emphasis is placed on economics, marketing, accounting, finance and other management aspects. It prepares students for work with many of the off farm businesses and industries that provide supplies and services for farmers and who process and market farm products.

The agri-science option places greater emphasis on physical and biological sciences and trains students for positions in teaching and research fields.

THRASHER RCDC HARVEST SUPPER was held Wednesday night, Nov. 25. Shown left to right are Mr. Brown McCutchen, who gave the devotion; Mr. Bobby Liddon, chairman of the board of directors of the Security Bank in Corinth, guest speaker, and Mr. James Chase, president of the RCDC. This was the last meeting of the year. Mrs. Roy Gilley and Mr. Bluford Allen each won a half of beef, given away by the RCDC.

Letter Praises Work— You Are Urged To Make Donation Now To Help Fight Tuberculosis

The following letter was received last week with a wonderful contribution by the Prentiss County Tuberculosis Association:

"Dear Mrs. Nelson: Thank you for the opportunity to help in the stamping out of tuberculosis.

You are doing a wonderful work, and our prayers are that through the efforts of the many workers there will be fewer and fewer cases in our state and in our nation.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Thomason"

Several other Prentiss Countians have sent nice contributions and many others have sent what they could; however, many, many letters of Christmas Seals have not been answered. Have you answered yours?

As you have read, tuberculosis is on the increase in Mississippi and in the nation. Prentiss County has never been one of the counties in which tuberculosis cases have decreased. Every year Prentiss County has always been one of the counties with an increase in tuberculosis.

Remember when you forget to send in your contribution to your annual Christmas Seal campaign, you may have forgotten to help your next door neighbor, your very close friend or even one of your loved ones.

Mail your contribution now to your Prentiss County Tuberculosis Association, so that Christmas can be a happy time for so many if not a healthy Christmas.

Local Guardsman Is Promoted

On October 15, 1964, Capt. Joseph C. Carter, Jr., formerly Troop Commander of the Booneville National Guard unit, Troop B 108th Armored Cavalry, was promoted to Squadron Operations Officer and assigned to headquarters First Recon. Sq. 108th Armored Cavalry in Baldwin.

Capt. Carter served in Europe during the Korean War and upon discharge joined a reserve unit and upon return to Booneville joined the Booneville National Guard unit, where he has served since 1955.

Capt. Carter's replacement at Troop B will be Capt. Billy L. Stewart from Saltillo, who has been with the unit since 1959. He is a graduate of the Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky., and has 14 years military service.

Others Follow State's Lead

In a very significant development in the national election — one that received little or no attention — the residents of California, Arizona and North Dakota voted to repeal laws permitting featherbedding by railroad employees.

The Mississippi legislature repealed the state's excess crew law earlier this year and seven other states — Connecticut, Louisiana, Michigan, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and West Virginia — have given their regulatory bodies the power to establish crew sizes, although only the first three have done so, to date.

The state laws of the type repealed cost the nation's railroads an estimated $144 million in 1963 by forcing the employment of excess men for work either not needed, or not performed.

California's tally showed 60 per cent voting for repeal; North Dakota had a 64 per cent margin and Arizona, 53 per cent.

The only thing that amazes us about the whole thing is that all the votes were not 100 per cent. It is unthinkable that we, as a nation, have gotten to the point where an employer, whether it be a nationwide railroad or a Prentiss County farmer, can be forced by a union or a government to spend money or hire labor for things he does not want and does not need.

In God We Still Trust

We think it is about time that our Supreme Court refused to hear some of the silly, worthless appeals that have been addressed to it — such as the New York non-sectarian school prayer case, the invocation of God in a Federal oath of office and the Court's intervention to protect innocent children from subversion by the Lords Prayer and Bible readings in schoolrooms.

Furthermore, we hope the Justices are setting a healthy precedent for themselves in refusing to review the ruling of New York's State Court of Appeals upholding the inclusion of the words "under God" in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

It should be mentioned, however, that the attorneys-general of 39 out of 50 states had previously filed a brief as "friends of the court" urging the Justices "not to remove from our public life every vestige of our religious heritage."

This should be a warning to the Court to look to its own prestige.

Hood's Attack Fails At Franklin, Tennessee

By LON K. SAVAGE

The Confederacy's Gen. John B. Hood was fighting mad.

It was partly because of his anger — and partly because he figured he could win — that Hood launched a desperate and hopeless attack against a Federal army at Franklin, Tennessee, 100 years ago this week. When the battle was over — after a few short hours of the most bitter fighting of the war — Hood had reason to be still angrier, for the battle served only to deplete his army and to give the Federals reason for rejoicing.

When Hood went into the battle, he was angry not only at the Federals but at his own staff. In the preceding week, he and Nathan Bedford Forrest had skillfully cut off a Federal army under Gen. John M. Schofield; they were converging to make the kill when, through a foul-up in the Confederate chain of command, Schofield managed to escape from the trap and beat it safely with his army to Franklin. There, Schofield dug in, and Hood's big chance had been muffed.

Hood Pursues

In a rage, Hood pursued Schofield to Franklin and there on November 30 threw his army at Schofield's lines — determined to make up for the preceding week's blunder.

Local Business

Three billion dollars were spent by United States consumers for products sold by house-to-house salesmen in 1964.

A few companies still flourish by exploiting the ancient art of personal salesmanship. The sales are usually made at high cost to the consumer.

A careful comparison of prices shows that products advertised and sold by regular retailers often cost less than half of the price of similar products sold in house-to-house calls.

The difference is in the cost of selling. Commissions and bonuses for personal salesmen average ten times as high as selling costs through advertising in newspapers.

Ironically, even the best of products sold by personal salesmen must be supported by advertising. Although the house-to-house salesman uses claims he would not dare put in print, he finds that his product will not be accepted unless der.

It was a bloody affair. Schofield, his back to the unbridged and unforgable Harpeth River, gave not an inch, and Hood spared nothing in his assault.

It was a pleasant, Indian summer day, and Hood's men had to cross broad, open fields to reach the Union lines. That did not deter them, and by late afternoon, 18,000 Southern infantrymen were sweeping across the fields, their battle flags flying.

With wild Rebel yells, the Confederates came forward at the run, and the smoke of battle rose and spread all along the line. The Southerners fell by the dozens under the Union fire, but they came on. Hundreds of them smashed right on into the Union trenches, driving the Federals back. Hand to hand fighting broke out; muskets and artillery boomed and swords slashed.

Generals Killed

Confederate Gen. John Adams galloped with his men into the Union line and both he and his horse were shot dead in one fusillade, the horse falling spraddle legged across a Union barricade. Gen. Pat Cleburne, the Irish Confederate, also charged and was shot dead. Four other Southern generals were killed, and 6,000 men were killed or wounded.

Schofield, who watched the battle from across the river, trained his artillery on the Confederates, and the effect was telling. At those spots where the Federal line was broken, other Federals rallied and killed or captured the Confederates who had broken through.

Finally, the day — and the slaughter — ended. During the battle, Schofield's engineers had been working on a bridge across the river. With the bridge completed, Schofield's army fled across the span and headed north to Nashville, under the protection of General George H. Thomas' large Federal army.

Hood, whose initial blunder had now been compounded into two blunders, came limping on northward. A naturally pugnacious man, he still had plenty of fight left in him.

Next Week: Nashville.

Public Relations Notebook

By Neil Woodruff, Asst. Professor of Journalism, MSCW

The way a person feels when he is communicating or associating with other persons can have an effect on relationships existing between persons. A person may actually be ill when dealing with other persons which can result in an unfavorable first impression. One of the most common and persistent ills along this line is the headache.

Headaches come in all varieties and sizes, it seems. Some people show effects of a headache more than other persons. Some are chronic complainers while still others are uncomplaining.

An executive may tell his secretary in early afternoon to cancel his appointments due to a sudden headache. A girl may cancel a date because of a "bad headache." A person may leave a meeting or social affair with the explanation that he "has to get something for a terrible headache." And the examples could go on and on about how the headache plays a part in our relationships with other persons.

A recent pamphlet from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare explains some facts about headaches. The dictionary defines headache simply as "a pain in the head." What most people mean by headache is a pain which lasts several minutes or hours, and covers the whole head, or one side of it, or maybe the back or front of the head. Some people, however, call any dizzy or tense or queer feeling in the head a headache.

Headache actually is important. It can be the first warning sign of a serious condition. If a person knocks down the warning sign, day after day, with a painkiller, he may pass the point of headache control. Headache becomes quite important when it is allowed to interfere with normal, happy, efficient living.

The HEW lists some headaches which are alarm signals for prompt and thorough medical checkup: Sudden, severe headaches "out of it has attained prestige through regular advertising.

Thus, the housewife who pays $150 for a home appliance obtained from the house-to-house salesman really contributes approximately $60 to the pleasant gentlemen for his demonstration. By shopping through advertising she might have bought the same product for less than $100 at a retail store.

A mark-up of more than 50 per cent is a high price to pay for personal calls. But the high mark-up is necessary when old and inefficient methods are used instead of mass selling by advertising through local retail channels.

the blue"; headaches associated with fever; headache accompanied by confusion; headache associated with pain in the eye, ear, or elsewhere; headache beginning in older persons, previously free of headache; recurring headache in children; daily or frequent headache; and others.

For emergency treatment of headache, fresh air often gives relief. Rest and quiet can end many headaches. Tension headaches can usually be relieved by massaging the neck muscles or by a heating pad or a warm shower. Often if a regular meal is postponed for more than an hour it will create a hunger headache. Likewise, missing a habitual coffee break can cause a headache. The weekend headache can result from rushing to finish the week's work on Friday or Saturday, and then the letdown.

Contrary to popular opinion, reading or other vision problems rarely cause headache. Constipation rarely if ever causes headache, although worry about it can. Chronic sinus trouble is an uncommon headache cause, but acute sinus can cause headache. A steady headache is no more and no less likely to be serious than an occasional one.

PAY UP OR GET OUT

One place where American firmness is absolutely essential is in the United Nations organization. The necessity for this is a timely issue because of the problems of Soviet non-payment of their so-called peace-keeping dues.

However one may regard the wisdom of the U. S. staying in the U. N., there should be common agreement among Americans that the United States of America is not to be the permanent golden goose for that body. Obviously, if we are to remain in the U. N., other U. N. members will have to pay their fair share of the bills. It would be utterly absurd for the U. S. to go along paying the bulk of the costs while the Soviet Union, which benefits from so many U. N. actions, continually refuses to pick up its part of the tab.

A case in point is Russia's steadfast refusal to pay its assessed share of the U. N. Congo and Middle East operations. The Reds currently owe $2.6 million for these projects, which is a sum equal to their total assessments for the years 1962 and '63. Under the very clear provisions of the U. N. Charter, a member nation falling two years behind in assessments loses its vote in the General Assembly. It is to be hoped that the U. S. government will do its utmost to insist that the Soviets receive no special favored treatment in the U. N. on this point. The fact that the Russians have threatened to quit the U. N. if the charter provision is enforced is typical Russian bullying. They want to revise the rules of the game so as to favor them at every opportunity. If they want to get out of the U. N., then they should be allowed to go. Indeed it wouldn't hurt if another dozen or so pro-communist or neutralist nations packed up their bags, sold their fancy mansions on Long Island (largely paid for with U. S. aid funds) and left these shores. Then the U. N. might become what many people hope it would be in the beginning — a meeting place for the genuinely free anti-communist nations of the world.

One encouraging sign from the U. S. government was the action November 9th by which the United States, as an indication of its intentions, announced it would not pledge to contribute this year to the U. N. Special Fund and Technical Assistance Program. The U. S. contributions, normally 40 per cent of the total, would have been about $60 million for the new year.

It should be remembered that the U. N. Special Fund, headed by the ultra-liberal American, Paul Hoffman, is the agency that channeled U. S. taxpayer-supplied funds to Castro's Cuba over the protests of great numbers of American citizens.

The Los Angeles Times, commenting on this action, said: "The goose that lays the golden egg has gone on strike." Indeed the money-hungry new nations of the world should be able to discern a warning in the cut-off of funds to these agencies. They should understand that backward states cannot endlessly abuse the generosity of the United States, and still expect to receive annual handouts through the U. N., for which they thank the international body, not Uncle Sam.

For much too long a time the United States has been taken for a sucker by the U. N. members. They have milked this country of hundreds of millions and showed no appreciation in return. Indeed many of the nations that are most aggressive in seeking money from the United States are prominent in attacking the U. S. in the U. N.

and in following Russia's lead. Now if the Soviets decide to go, let these aggressive upstart states play follow the leader. It would make possible a tremendous amount of tax relief for the taxpayers of the United States.

A change in American attitude is essential, and the public can only hope that those who manage our foreign affairs will not grow faint-hearted at the last moment, lose all firmness and resolution, and give in to Russia and its friends in the U. N.

Certainly, the American people cannot accept the spineless suggestion made by some of our high officials that maybe we can accept a "token" payment by Russia to the U. N. as satisfactory. Our position should be "pay all or get out." It is time for the United States to display some of the toughness that is essential for national survival.

END THIS INJUSTICE

Despite its constant crusade against injustices, America appears to have a blind side in the area of income taxation. How else can you explain the fact that for 50 years, the federal government has imposed double taxation on dividend income?

This deplorable situation results from the fact that a corporation pays tax on its income and then the individual stockholder is also taxed on the dividends he receives from the same corporation.

It is gratifying to note, therefore, that the National Association of Manufacturers has launched a drive to abolish double taxation of dividend income.

W. P. Gullander, NAM president, points out that termination of the injustice, which could easily be accomplished by allowing the corporation to deduct from its tax base earnings which are paid out in dividends, would have many wholesome effects. Among other things, he said, it would:

- 1. Provide relief proportionate to the burden of double taxation at different income levels.
- 2. Largely eliminate the threat of penalty taxation to family owned or other small corporations.
- 3. Make American industry more competitive, taxwise, with European producers.
- 4. Remove the bias against equity capital in new corporate financing, arising from the fact that interest on borrowed money is now deductible but dividends are not.
- 5. Tend to neutralize the tax factor in deciding whether a business should be incorporated.

Both the Administration and the Congress, we believe, should take immediate steps to end the double-taxation blight.

Mr. And Mrs. Hiram Douglas Palmertre Are Wed In Home Of Bride's Parents Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murray Gordon of Gordon Road, Baldwin, Miss., announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Carol, to Hiram Douglas Palmertre of Vaiden, Miss.

Characterized by beauty and simplicity the ceremony took place at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Mr. H. S. Whitesides, pastor of the Baldwin First Methodist Church, officiated in the double ring service in the presence of both families and a few close friends.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Clanton Sansom rendered a program of nuptial music.

The large mantel in the living room marked the place of ceremony with a background of woodwardia fern trees and a long arrangement, before the mantel mirror, of ivory chrysanthemums, gladioli and fern. Garlands of fern extended to the ends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece costume of candlelight, brocade silk with a headpiece of the same. She carried a white Bible adorned with a purple-throated orchid. Her only attendant, Miss Martina Palmertre, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor, wore a three-piece costume of pink and white wool and a white phalaenopsis orchid corsage.

James Mayfield of Vaiden served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Miss. State University, with a major in elementary education. Her maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. John Shelton Barnett, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Bettersworth of Booneville. Her paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Gordon of Gordon Road, Baldwin.

The bridegroom is a graduate with an M. A. degree from Miss. State University. He is on the staff at the State University as assistant in the Department of Agronomy. He has been the recipient of many scholastic honors.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Gordon home. The dining table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. The punch bowls were wreathed at the base with ivory colored chrysanthemums and fern. Mrs. William T. Jones and Mrs. Don Eubank presided at the refreshment table assisted by Mrs. Harmon Duncan.

For traveling the bride wore a mink trimmed suit of muted pink

Parcel Post Hints...

Please pack parcels solidly," was the plea of Postmaster J. K. Lindsey.

The head of the Booneville Post Office also reminded his patrons that the use of free "local" and "out-of-town" separation bands will help move the mails faster. The bands are available at the post office or from most letter carriers.

December 5 is the suggested deadline for mailing out-of-town packages. "Don't worry about the parcels being delivered too early, just mark 'Don't Open Until Christmas' on the front," Mr. Lindsey said.

A tightly stuffed package, with nothing rattling around inside, will have less chance of being damaged in transit, he noted.

"When packing a gift, remember that the package you send may be shipped on the bottom of a mail sack and there may be heavier packages on top. Among the relatively few packages that are damaged in transit, improper packaging is the greatest factor," the postmaster cautioned.

Just to be on the safe side, the postmaster suggests that all packages be insured.

He noted that poor packaging and addresses which are either incorrect or not legible are responsible for the non-delivery of about half a million parcels each year. If the return address is incorrect or illegible and the package cannot be returned, it will be saved for 90 days. If unclaimed, the parcel is usually lost to the sender or intended recipient. Such parcels wind up in public auctions held at 15 major post offices across the nation.

All parcels should be addressed on only one side and should also have the address written on the inside of the package in case the exterior wrapping should come off.

Mr. Lindsey emphasized that ZIP Coding the addresses on parcels and letters helps insure against loss due to improper addressing. Since each area of the country has an individual ZIP Code, there is little chance of a piece of mail destined for one city being directed to a city which may have a similar name. For example, there are at least 26 possible areas around the country which would have Springfield in the address. Use of the proper ZIP Code would send the mail to the right post office.

"We are asking everyone to be especially cooperative this holiday season. During the peak of the 'rush' we expect that seven billion pieces of mail will flow through the system and it looks as if 12 million pieces may be delivered during the entire month of December. That's quite a bit of mail," the postmaster said.

No Tree Cutting Allowed On Natchez Trace Parkway

With the approach of the holiday season, Natchez Trace Parkway Headquarters has released the following information and request for public cooperation.

Many persons prepare for the Yule season by cutting and gathering evergreens, holly, mistletoe, and other greenery for home decorations. The selecting and cutting of a "Christmas tree" in local surroundings has been traditional with some families. National Park Service regulations, comparable with the provision of Mississippi Statute 1084, are designed to protect the lands held in public trust for the benefit of the people of the United States.

The law requires that Natchez Trace Parkway lands be administered to provide for the public enjoyment "in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations."

The trees and other vegetation in natural surroundings, as well as those in landscaped areas of the Parkway, add to the attractiveness of this high standard scenic road. The esthetic attractions of the Parkway can be destroyed by the cutting and removal of trees and shrubs by a few thoughtless persons who fail to realize that they too share the benefits derived from use of park facilities.

The Natchez Trace Parkway is nationally known for the superlative examples of natural beauty which enhances any visitor's drive along the roadway. It is recommended that Christmas trees and greenery for Yule decorations be acquired through authorized distributors of such material.

Park Rangers are obligated to enforce this regulations and request that all persons refrain from such activity on parkway lands. This practice can be costly as well as embarrassing to the violator who must appear in court.

Beavers can work under water sawing poles with their teeth without getting water in their mouths. The lips are so designed that they close in back of the long, front incisor teeth.

Mrs. Cleveland Entertains Visitors From Wisconsin With Morning Coffee

The hospitable home of Dr. and Mrs. Webster Cleveland, Jr., on Wildwood Drive was the scene of a delightful coffee on Wednesday morning, November 25th, honoring Mrs. August Seubert and Mrs. Ray Goldbach of Marathon, Wisconsin, charming visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buchberger. Mrs. Seubert is the mother of Mrs. Buchberger and Mrs. Goldbach is her sister.

In her gracious manner, Mrs. Cleveland greeted the guests and introduced them to the honorees. The large number of friends calling at the home between the hours of 9 o'clock and 10 o'clock also enjoyed meeting a newcomer, Mrs.

George McGregor.

The dining table was overlaid with a handsome handmade cloth of wheat color trimmed with beige and brown crosstitch. Centering it was a unique autumn arrangement, a study in artistic lines and hues. Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Jim Tigrett, Mrs. Stewart Vail and Mrs. Will Wallace.

After guests were served delicious cheese Cornelia, miniature blueberry muffins, tempting fruit cake and luscious dream squares with coffee they gathered in the lovely living room for an entertaining and heart-warming hour of conversation and fellowship.
