Testimonial Dinner Friday Honors J. E. Scott For Years Of Service

As a testimonial of their esteem, the city officials, employees of the Municipal Gas and Water System, and the administrative personnel honored J. E. Scott on Friday evening with a buffet dinner, which was truly, in every phase, an outstanding recognition for his fifteen years' service as Superintendent of the Gas and Water System.

Mr. Scott, retired on December 1, 1964, after signally serving his state with the State Highway Department, county, as Supervisor of the First District, and city for a period of 38 years. There was a full attendance of the officials and employees, which was a demonstration of their ties of friendship, high interest and regard for his administration, which was marked throughout by integrity and efficiency.

In an atmosphere of good will, the setting at the Town Motel, abounded with the sparkle and gaiety of the holiday season. Centering the long table, clusters of poinsettias filled a handsome crystal epergne nestled with red candles to give gleam and color to the striking arrangement. Along the table, red satin balls were tucked among graceful sprays of foliage. Repeating the color accent, smaller arrangements were on the holiday buffet. The party pattern was conducive to the full enjoyment of the superb food, a traditional turkey menu.

Original in design the place cards were meter faces cut from old meter cards. Outlined and lettered in gold, they provided a footnote of history with the inscription 1950-1964 — 38 — J. E. Scott Meter Co. They were made by Mrs. Sara Pounds and Mrs. Gerald Smith from the office personnel.

After the invocation by Police Commissioner, Charles Crabb, Mayor, Marion Smith, Master of Ceremonies, duly recognized and welcomed the guests, the City Officials, Vice-Mayor and Mrs. John Mahaffy, Mr. and Mrs. Rob Sartin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crabb, Mr. and Mrs. Lealon George, City Attorney and Mrs. Floyd Cunningham, City Clerk and Mrs. Ovid Robertson, Gas and Water employees, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Robinson and Mrs. Jettie Nunley.

Mayor Smith, who is always distinguished for the hearty sincerity of his spirit and the power and charm of his fluent speaking, is an originator of constructive ideas and the inaugurator of far-sighted activities. It is his policy to see his city and county grow and prosper, to live in harmony and sympathy with others and to plan for the future with confidence. He expressed a fine appreciation for Mr. Scott's service, and he gave eloquent voice, with commendations and congratulations for Mr. Scott's role in the system's progress. He recognized Mr. Scott in glowing terms as one who knew how to translate our local strength into the achievements of our local purpose and his ability to move forward to a continuous growth in his supervision of two of man's most essential needs, if he is to survive, water and the protection of warmth. His work has been forwarded by responsible action in his wise and prudent management. All of his commitments received his earnest interest and concern. In the Booneville of his generation, it was shown he had a vital part and that

A Broken Promise

For some time, reports from Washington forecast that the Administration would urge repeal of the retail excise taxes when Congress meets again. Now it's official. The President has stated that these taxes, often called "nuisance taxes," should be removed. Furthermore, said the announcement, this is a minimum goal. Other excise taxes may also be repealed or reduced.

For the most part, the retail taxes in question were war born. They were imposed as emergency measures, the general understanding being that they would end with war's end. But they remain on the books, all these many years after. And they are not confined to luxuries. They apply, usually at a 10 per cent rate, to cosmetics, toilet goods, expensive as well as expensive jewelry, luggage and pocketbooks, and other items in universal use. Their repeal would result in a great revenue loss to the government. And the increased purchasing of the goods involved would be a stimulant to business all along the line from factory to retail store, which is one of the Administration's often-stressed goals.

Beyond that, there is a question of justice—and, in this case, it is justice long-delayed. In effect, the government broke a promise to the public when it failed to bring about repeal after the emergencies ended.

100 Years Ago—

Hood's Rebels Face Thomas At Nashville

By LON K. SAVAGE

The armies of Federal General George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamaqua," and Confederate General John B. Hood came face to face at Nashville 100 years ago this week.

And as a result, the long-expected showdown was imminent in Tennessee, to make or break Hood's bold invasion of the state at a time when Confederate forces elsewhere were fighting a defensive, losing war.

The showdown had long been developing. All during late November, as Hood came marching northward into Tennessee from Alabama with an army of 40,000, old "Pap" Thomas had worked feverishly at Nashville to gather an army to repel the foe.

Federal troops had converged on the city from all directions, and as they arrived, Thomas organized them into an effective fighting organization. But this required time.

Thomas had sent Gen. John M. Schofield into southern Tennessee to delay Hood, and he watched gratefully as Schofield maneuvered and fought against Hood at Pulaski, Columbia and Franklin. By early December, Thomas had an army bigger than Hood's.

Hood Arrives

And right on cue, Hood's army, battered from the fighting at Franklin, pulled up at Nashville in early December, ready for the showdown.

The fight didn't occur immediately, however. Hood's army was nearly spent, and he dug his men in to await developments.

Thomas, meanwhile, still did not consider his army quite ready for an attack. Each day, he received orders from General Ulysses S. Grant in Virginia to attack Hood, but Thomas waited.

Grant, showing a rare streak of nervousness, insisted that Thomas attack, and still Thomas delayed. Grant wrote out an order relieving Thomas of command, then rescinded it, but even then Thomas refused to attack before he felt he was ready. "If General Grant should order me to be relieved," he wrote to Washington, "I will submit without a murmur."

Hail Storm

Finally, on December 11, Thomas considered his army ready to

"The most important public for a retailer's advertising is his old customers..."

This statement by a department store sales manager may puzzle the retailer who concerns himself primarily with getting "new" business. The sales executive considers any repeat business as new business.

"The difference is only in the start we have in reselling old customers. We do have to resell over and over. However, we know for-attack. But as he was preparing the assault, a great hail and sleet storm covered the area with ice, and he waited again. Grant, at the end of his patience, dispatched Gen. John Logan from Washington to Nashville with orders relieving Thomas and putting Logan in command.

But Logan's orders were never delivered. On December 14, the weather broke, warm air came in, and Thomas sent off a telegram to Washington: "The ice having melted away today, the enemy will be attacked tomorrow morning."

He went to bed in a Nashville hotel, leaving word at the desk to call him at 5 a.m. The showdown time had come.

Next Week: Hood Is Crushed.

TOWARD REALIGNMENT

It will take some time for the election returns to be fully analyzed and for the complete meaning of the Goldwater-Johnson contest to be understood. But even before the voters had handed in their verdict, it was clear that the campaign had produced great changes in the nation.

One of the ironies of the election campaign — from the standpoint of conservatives — was that the incumbent administration was forced to use conservative appeals in certain areas of political controversy. For example, Mr. Johnson repeatedly declared that his aims insofar as fiscal policy is concerned are in the direction of prudent management. This in itself, even if not carried out, represented a victory for the conservative movement in America, which over a long period of years has been regarded as captive voters of one party. But the two-party system blossomed as never before in scores of Southern communities during an exciting campaign. Whatever the outcome on a state-by-state basis, it is clear from the campaign activity within each

Another great change reflected in the campaign has to do with the Southern states. Not in a century has the South been the object of such strenuous political attention. Heretofore, Southerners have been regarded as captive voters of one party. But the two-party system blossomed as never before in scores of Southern communities during an exciting campaign. Whatever the outcome on a state-by-state basis, it is clear from the campaign activity within each mer clients are more likely to read our advertising than anyone else.

"If they were satisfied with us they want to keep up the relationship. They look for our ads. When we stop advertising they look at other advertisements," he said.

It is true that consumers feel a special attachment to stores that have served them well. It is this feeling which causes many women to read advertising before they read the news.

In Atlanta, the woman who does not get her daily "news" about Rich's feels that her newspaper is incomplete. In Chicago, a newspaper without shopping news from Marshall Field's would be rejected by many subscribers.

In thousands of small cities, the weekly or daily messages from local retailers are received with equal interest. Advertisers do not have to "stop" old customers. They are interested readers who look for advertising.

However, the retailer may easily misjudge longtime interest and loyalty.

Both are quickly transferred when the merchant seems to lose interest in his old customers by failing to talk with them through local advertising.

state that South is no longer a monolith. It contains both liberals and conservatives, and conservatives have no reason to regret the splits that showed up in the election.

One of the reasons conservatism has lagged as a national force in the United States is that conservatives in the South were cut off and isolated from conservatives elsewhere in the nation. This time Southern conservatives had a big voice in the national campaign waged by the Republican Party. And Southern conservative spokesmen such as Senator Strom Thurmond (R., S.C.) were as welcome before California audiences as they were in Dixie.

There is no question but that Southern politics underwent a massive shaking up as a result of the campaign. They were forced to choose sides as never before, and this applied as much to business interests as to individuals. But, after all, this is precisely what conservatives have been seeking for years. They have been calling for a realignment of parties in the United States, with conservatives on one side and liberals on the other.

They have no reason to complain when this happens in an election. If it means a temporary setback at some points, then it must be understood that the word temporary is the key to understanding. The South, as is the case with other sections of the country, cannot afford to speak with a confused, muffled voice. People must decide to support one public philosophy or another. In the long run, this is the way to better government in the United States.

Of course, a real realignment takes time. One election doesn't change everything. The build-up of the conservative movement in America extends back many years. One can trace it to the opposition to the Roosevelt New Deal. Or one can show conservatism's rebirth in the early cold war years of the late 1940's.

Gradually, year by year, conservatives gained understanding of their mission. They began to build contacts, many of which were not cemented until the election just ended. A great literature of conservative books, including studies of economics and foreign policy, has come into being during the last 15 years. These are amazing accomplishments in view of the ruthlessness of the welfare statist in the United States and the pressures for liberal conformity and censorship.

Perhaps the most telling accomplishment of 1964 was the domination of the national Republican Party by real conservatives who rejected "me tooism" for the GOP. And one can be sure that one of the major political objectives of the next four years, on the part of many people will be to maintain and expand the real conservative strength within the Republican Party, keeping out those forces that want to deny Americans a real choice at the polls.

At the same time conservative Southern Democrats on the local level, who did not support the national ticket, undoubtedly will be under heavy pressure, if not actually the subject of purge attempts, to obey a party line issued by the national political apparatus of the party. A realignment must come; a choice must be made.

All in all, the next four years will be full of challenges and opportunity. Conservatives should welcome the mood of initiative and activity, and use these years to win converts to the cause of responsible government.

RECORD FARM INCOME GAIN

The Mississippi Experiment Station reports that Mississippi farmers outstripped all others in the nation in increasing their income in 1963. Mississippi farmers sold $783 million worth of farm products in 1963. The 1963 net income was $3,400 per farm, a whopping 47 per cent increase over 1962. Mississippi's gain in income was due to larger marketings of farm products and a slight gain of one per cent in prices paid for farm commodities. The state's big 1963 cotton and soybean crops and larger markets of eggs and broilers contributed most to farm income gains. Livestock marketings were high. The station reported that farm expenses increased by 13 per cent due to larger purchases of fertilizers, farm machinery and equipment and other materials and supplies.

plies. Farm marketings this year will exceed the large sales of 1963. Biggest gain will be in cotton, cotton seed, soybeans, cattle, eggs and broilers.

The Booneville Water And Sewer System

In 1953 a project was initiated under the guidance of Leland Cook, Engineer of Tupelo and our Attorney, Floyd Cunningham, to purchase the Peoples Water Company water system, expand the system into adjacent areas, put in new fire hydrants, big mains and additional sewage.

To accomplish this much negotiation and almost litigation was necessary with the officials of The Peoples Water Service Company. Mr. Cook and Mr. Cunningham will remember how Mr. Silverman from Baltimore jumped straight up and down in the conference in the City Hall when we made him an offer of about $125,000.00 and I believe he was asking about $250,000, something similar.

Anyway, after many days and weeks of litigation we finally made a settlement with them.

The vote was called on the proposition of issuing $400,000.00 in water revenue bonds. This issue brought a little more opposition I think due to the fact that we already had outstanding $600,000.00 gas revenue bonds and a number of people could not believe that somehow these bonds would not affect their taxes. Anyway, the vote was 375 for and 42 against.

The Water System has never made any great amount of money, but we have maintained the lowest water rates I suppose in Northeast

Miss. and possibly in the State and at the same time have furnished good service and have reduced the bond issue and the system has paid its way (with possibly some subsidy from the gas system).

Mr. J. E. Scott was the Superintendent from the beginning and we joined the Water and Sewer System in with the Gas System and he was of course Superintendent of both systems.

It is a tribute not only to the capability, judgment and hard work of our Superintendent, Mr. J. E. Scott, but also to his honesty and integrity that these Utility Systems have been successful in serving the people of the City of Booneville at reasonable rates and the System itself has grown and prospered and in excellent condition as to equipment, records, finances and personnel as Mr. Scott retires after 15 years of service to the City and 38 years of service to the State, County and the City.

In the year 1954 there were 1,180 customers with a revenue of $37,854. In 1964 there are 1,830 customers with a revenue of $82,667.

Summary for the 10 years:

Increased number of customers, 650; increased gross revenue, $44,813; reduced bonds outstanding, $53,000; increased operating funds, $21,650; increased reserved funds, $36,851.

The Booneville Municipal Gas System

In 1950 T. O. Mabry, Jr., Engineer of Okolona approached city officials with reference to a survey toward the probability and possibility of Booneville securing natural gas.

Efforts had been made over the years to secure natural gas but sufficient supplies were not available north of Tupelo.

Mr. Mabry worked out a deal to hook on with Ripley to the T. G. T. line near Ashland and in 1950 after exhaustive surveys the proposition of issuing $675,000.00 Revenue Bonds to build the distribution and transmission system was submitted to the voters.

The vote was favorable with 387 votes for and 5 against.

Immediately thereafter bonds were sold in the amount of $675,000 to Wilson Arnold of New Orleans and the construction contract let to M. L. Hulchur Company of Virden, Ill. Mr. J. E. Scott was inspector on the job and later became Superintendent of the System.

It was a long, hard spring, summer and fall during the course of construction. Lots of rain, lots of bad weather, many complaints about the streets being torn up.

Much anxiety on the part of Mr. Scott, Superintendent and the city officials due to the fact many people planning on using gas and the system was not ready in the fall when it was anticipated. So several customers waited until the next year and revenue was very slim the first year and it was touch and go that enough money would be available to meet the maturing interest and bonds.

However, this worked out all right and there were 687 meter deposits as of audit date July 5, 1952, covering operations for 1951.

In May 1952 there were 687 customers with a revenue of $18,386.

On January 1, 1964, there were 1,659 customers with a revenue of $250,617.

Summary for the 12 years:

Increased number of customers, 972; increased gross revenue, $232,231; reduced bonds outstanding, $230,000; increased operating funds, $56,756; increased special funds, $108,909.

HOME AGENT NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS

As you plan your Christmas decorations, don't overlook the gay washable cotton prints with holiday designs such as pine cones and big red bows. You can use this inexpensive material to make Merry Christmas place mats, table runners, kitchen towels, aprons, pinafores, bibs and even cafe curtains. These handmade items will make wonderful holiday gifts, too, especially if you present them early so they can be put to immediate use.

You may also find plastic materials you can put to good use. Remember, when sewing on plastic that you can avoid unnecessary holes by using cellophane tape instead of pins or basting stitches. If you use a soft pencil to make cutting lines, they can easily be washed off later.

HOLIDAY TABLECLOTH

A bright idea for a holiday table is to dye an old or an inexpensive new cotton lace cloth in a brilliant Christmas color. You will want to use a cloth somewhat larger than you need because cotton tends to shrink considerably in a boiling dye bath. The dye will take best on a clean fabric, so start by laundering the cloth.

MEASURING TIPS

During the holidays you will probably be using recipes that you seldom use at any other time, many of which will call for measured shortening. And, as you know, measuring refrigerated shortening is difficult since it is hard to pack into a measuring cup.

To make this job easier, try this method. Say your recipe calls for ½ cup of solid fat. Put ½ cup cold water in a 1-cup measure. Add fat, pushing it under the water until the water level stands at the 1-cup mark. Pour out the water, and you have a half-cup of fat.

Some water may cling to the fat, so it is best to use this method for such foods as pastry, which calls for moisture.

POULTRY PRODUCTION IN STATE HEADED TOWARD $175 MILLION MARK

Mississippi ranks fifth among the ten southeastern states which have led all other regions of the country by a substantial margin in cash income from poultry as shown by data just released. Mississippi's rank as the nation's fifth biggest poultry-producing state underscores the economic importance of this $132,288,000 industry which can be expected to reach new heights within the next decade. Poultry industry leaders anticipate big gains in sales of eggs, poultry, and turkeys in the nation as a whole and particularly in the pace-setting southeastern region. By 1974, Mississippi should be able to boost its income from poultry production to at least $175 million annually. It is a goal worth shooting for, to say the least.

Mrs. T. C. Gardner, Jr., Mrs. W. C. Milner, Mrs. J. W. Abernethy and Mrs. S. S. Sargent, were hostesses at a tea Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 in compliment to Miss Linda Tollison, the Natchez Trace Chapter DAR Good Citizenship Girl, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin (Spud) Tollison.

The Gardner home in Foster Park was in traditional splendor. With special occasion elegance, the entire home was radiant with the colors and symbols of the joyous season to keynote a hospitality that was most gracious.

Mrs. Gardner greeted the guests in the living room where a wood fire glowed cheerily, giving the warmth of hospitality to an enchanting holiday scene.

Mrs. James Ward, chairman of the Good Citizenship Committee, presented Miss Tollison and her mother.

Mrs. Abernethy and Mrs. Milner mingling with the guests at the entrance, directed them to the dining room.

The table was lovely with a white net cloth appliqued with Christmas bells, and poinsettias in felt and studded with glittering sequins adding opulence to the setting.

A symbolic centerpiece with all the beautiful notes of the Christmas theme was a wrought iron candelabra, kindled with red candles interspersed with white poinsettias.

Silver trays of holiday delicacies were adorned with garnishes like fresh bouquets, enhancing the table and buffet, making the occasion more festive.

Mrs. Lewis Earl Perry, chapter regent, presided at the silver coffee service.

A grouping of red candles in a silver candelabra with silver and red arrangements on each end, cast a soft glow over the buffet.

Guests found their way to the den for a chat with Mr. Gardner.

a delightful ending to the happiness of the afternoon.

The aim of the Good Citizen Committee is to stress the qualities of Good Citizenship among our senior high schools. The girl chosen is selected from the senior class and must possess to an outstanding degree the following qualities:

Dependability — which includes truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality.

Service — Cooperation, courtesy consideration of others.

Leadership — Personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility.

Patriotism — Unselfish interest in family, school, community and nation.

Miss Tollison has been given the Good Citizen pin by the Natchez Trace Chapter DAR and will be presented a certificate of award given by NSDAR at the School's Annual Award Day at the closing of the school year.

This committee work is approved by the local high school and by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, a department of the National Education Association.

Miss Tollison well deserves this honor as these traits are strongly manifested in her life in school, home and community activities.

She has served in the following capacities: president of Library Club; member of Science club, vice-president of Speech Club and office assistant during her four years in high school.

She is a member of East Booneville Baptist Church and is an officer in her Sunday School Class.

Reflective License Plates Can Reduce Nighttime Collisions

The value of reflective automobile license plates was expressed today by Donald J. Gray, President of the Mississippi Safety Council.

Gray stated that reflective automobile license plates give warning a much greater distance than was heretofore possible and promised to reduce collisions between vehicles at night.

He stated that traffic safety experts consider the plates a means to prevent night-time collisions with parked or disabled cars and rear end crashes.

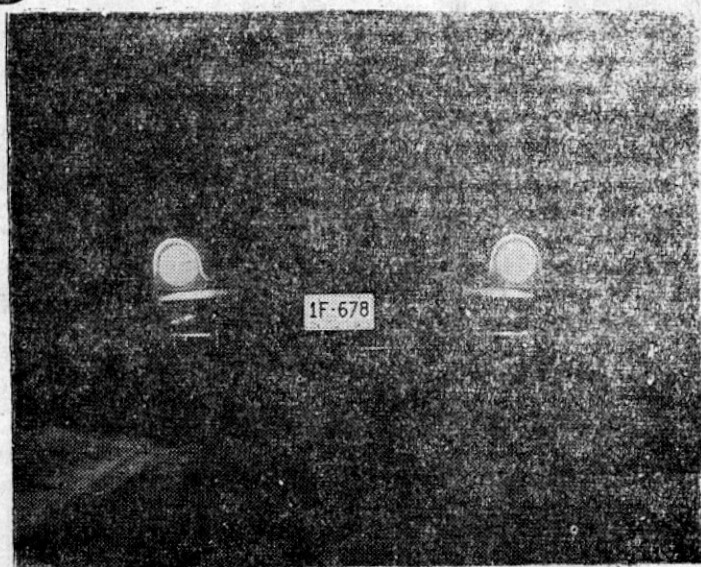

According to these traffic specialists the plates can be seen up to 2,000 feet, which is more than three times farther than the visibility of ordinary license plates.

Gray said the reflective plates were no more than standard license tags, covered with a special reflective material and this material reflects directed light 150 times brighter than ordinary paint.

Gray said the state should adopt reflectorized plates as standard for all motor vehicles and that in addition, there should be two plates issued to each vehicle instead of one.

From a safety standpoint as well as that of enforcement, a reflectorized plate should be placed on the front and back of each vehicle," Gray said.

"If you are approaching a one-eyed vehicle head-on, a reflective license plate in the center of the vehicle will let you know which light is not functioning."

Gray said that the reflective plates have proved so satisfactory that 15 states and the District of Columbia have adopted them permanently. The Safety Council President said that this type plate has been endorsed by the National

Get Social Security Card If You Plan To Work During Holidays

If you're planning to work during the Christmas holidays and you do not have a social security card, you should apply for one now. If you've had a card and lost it, you should apply for a duplicate now. This advice was given by Hugh Tigrett, Manager of the Social Security Office, today.

Mr. Tigrett pointed out that more and more employers require you to have a social security number with you before they will hire you; and since it takes as much as 10 days in some cases to obtain a social security number, a person could fail to obtain a job because he didn't apply for his social security number early enough.

Applications for social security account numbers, both originals and duplicates, can be obtained at any Post Office or from the Social Security Representative who visits the City Hall each Monday.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH RELEASE

Vaccination is the only effective method of preventing flu, according to the State Board of Health release. The state's preventable disease director says that to date the number of influenza cases has been few but that with the coming of inclement winter weather the virus will spread more rapidly.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

TIMBER STAND IMPROVEMENT

The first rule is, do not kill any tree unless you have a better tree to take its place!

Where cull trees are interfering with the growth of better trees, take them out. Cull trees include trees that because of crooks, twists, rot, fire or insect damage, or excessive knots, do not have promise in the reasonably near future.

A new method of killing cull trees involves the use of a meter-type tree injector, with which amine 2,4-D is injected into the ground level.

Amine 2,4-D is used full strength. It is cheaper than 2,4,5-T in oil. The material should be injected at the ground level at two-inch intervals all around the tree that is to be killed.

Some reasons for doing timber stand improvement work in the dormant season include: travel through the woods is easier, working in the woods is more pleasant, labor is more generally available, insects and snakes are less of a problem. Also, small trees of desirable species are more easily seen.

FARM INCOME TAX

Right now is a good time to get your farm account books in shape to figure income tax. You can legally save money tax-wise by purchasing supplies needed for next year from this year's income, or wait until January 1 to market farm products.

STORING PESTICIDES

Here are some rules for safe storage of pesticides: Be sure that caps are tightened securely on all bottles and cans. Destroy leaky containers. Do not store weed killers close to such materials as wettable powders and dusts. Some of the weed killers like 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T are highly volatile and can contaminate other materials.

Store wettable powders, dusts and granules of insecticide in cool, dry places. Do not store liquid pesticides in a place where the temperatures will drop below 40 degrees F. Too low a temperature may result in a breakdown of liquid material. If the liquid should freeze, there is danger of breakage of container.

If you have any pesticide for which the label has been destroyed or made unreadable, do not store it!

Keep all stored pesticide materials under lock where children and animals cannot get to them.

WEED CONTROL

Dock and thistle are up to good stands on most farms. You can spray now when weather permits to get rid of these pests. Amine 2,4-D will kill the dock and thistle and knock down wild onions out of the way of grazing.

Land that is being winter fallowed can be sprayed and kill all the dock and thistle that is up and growing.

DEEP BREAKING OF LAND on fields that will not erode — it will usually pay to deep break. Deep breaking with either moldboard or chisel plow will loosen any compaction or plow pan you may have. You will get better shattering of the soil with fall breaking than in the spring. This will increase the absorption of water and improve the tilth of heavy clay soils. Where you turn the soil this leaves crop residue and allows it to decompose over the winter.

Major Post Offices Have ZIP System For Parcel Post

All major post offices have recently converted their parcel post sorting and transportation facilities to the ZIP Code system, reports Postmaster J. K. Lindsey.

hours or more in the delivery of most parcel post.

"ZIP Codes on parcels means a far less chance of damage because of more direct routing and fewer handlings, but the success of the program hinges on public use of the ZIP Code numbers in addressing packages," he said.

Postmaster J. K. Lindsey suggested that even if people do not know the ZIP Code of the address to which their mail is going, they should use the code on return ad-resses. When cards and packages arrive, the five digit return address codes should be added to Christmas lists for use in the future.

ZIP Coded mail from a smaller post office will generally be sent to the nearest main post office or "sectional center." From there, it is sent directly to the sectional center nearest the final destination. In most instances, this eliminates at least one further separation of mail.

QUAIL DOING FINE

Quail season has been underway for nine days now, and reports have been coming in praising the large number of birds available to hunters around the state.

Some of the finest quail hunting in the state can be found in the Durant and Lexington areas, about 60 miles north of Jackson. We have (unbelievably) yet to hear of a hunter in that area who has failed to reap the harvest of a full bag limit.

Another report reaches us via Ed Brown, Warden Supervisor in the Grenada and Enid Reservoir section, that the bird kill is well above average in his area of the state.

Dewitt Hutton, Warden Supervisor for District 7, reports that quail hunters have had good luck in Neshoba, Kemper, and Madison counties.

South Mississippi has not reported a substantial kill to date, although, says Gordon Strickland, Warden Supervisor for District 2, plenty of birds are available in Forrest, Greene, Perry, Lamar and Pearl River counties. Strickland attributes the low kill so far to a lack of really cold weather, and a lack of hunting pressure. As this is being written we are glad to report that a good frost has descended upon that area, and hunting conditions should pick up considerably.

Central Mississippi can be said to have the same conditions aforementioned, and Ernest Sullivan, Warden Supervisor for that area, advises us that quail hunters should find increased luck now that the first frosts have hit central Mississippi.

THIRD DOVE SEASON OPENS TODAY

The best of the dove seasons, the last one, is scheduled to open December 10. Why is the last dove Drewrys Transferred To Lexington, Tenn.

Mr. Royce Drewry, who was foreman of the cutting room at the Brown Shoe Co. factory has been transferred to the Lexington, Tenn. plant, where he will be employed in the same capacity.

Mr. Drewry left last week to assume his duties. The family will join him sometime early in the new year.

Their daughter, Kathy, is a student at the Booneville High School and their son, David, attends Mississippi State University.

It is much regretted that this excellent and highly esteemed family is leaving Booneville. They were active members of the First Methodist Church and Mrs. Drewry is a member of the Woman's Club. Through the various organizations they have contributed generously to our city's cultural and civic life and they will be greatly missed.

season the best? The birds are now full grown, more experienced, and much harder to hit. The true sportsman will agree that the more challenge presented by a quarry, the better the hunt.

Since nearly every game season is now open, the dedicated dove hunter will have the gray speedsters almost entirely to himself, and, if time permits, maybe this ardent dove fan will see you on the dove field.

Mr. Green has a wife and four children who will accompany him to Hawaii.

ASC COUNTY COMMITTEE ELECTION CONVENTION SET

The Prentiss Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committee for next year will be elected by farmer-chosen delegates to a county convention on December 10, 1964 at 9 o'clock a.m. at the Prentiss County Electric Power Association Building. The convention will be open to the public, and any person interested in observing the voting procedure may attend. However, only farmer-delegates to the convention may participate in the election process. Election is by secret ballot and plurality vote.

ASC county and community committeemen are in charge of the local administration of such farm-action programs as the agricultural conservation program, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, the National Wool program, commodity loans, and storage facility loans. A qualified candidate for service on the ASC county committee is one who is a resident eligible to vote in the county election and who meets other eligibility requirements. It is desirable that a member of the county committee be representative of the type and kind of farming in the county. Other details as to qualifications of candidates are available in the ASCS county office.

Any questions on eligibility to hold office as an ASC county committeeman will be decided by the incumbent county committee subject to appeal to the state committee; the convention would proceed, however, on the basis of the county committee decision. All ASC farmer-delegates be sure to attend the county convention. These farmers were chosen as convention delegates at recent ASC community committee elections throughout the county.

VA Answers Vets Questions

Q—I did not receive my check for last month, and I want to know why.

A—Wait a reasonable period of time and then notify the VA regional office having custody of your claim file. Make sure you furnish your claim number and, if you have moved, give them both your old and new addresses.

Q—The envelope containing my check had the large letters "V-O" on it. What does that mean?

A—That is the way the postal authorities identify Veterans Administration checks that are to be released for delivery on the 30th of the month. Checks are printed and shipped to key delivery points throughout the country prior to delivery dates.

Q—I am a patient in this VA hospital. How do I find out if I am eligible for a pension?

A—File application and request that your treatment records be requisitioned to support your claim that you are permanently incapacitated for earning a living. The VA rating officials must also consider the amount and nature of military service and type of discharge, amount of money you expect to receive other than from the pension, and your "net worth" and dependency status.

Elder R. J. Townsend will preach at Mount Pleasant Church Sunday night, Dec. 13 at 8:30. Everyone has an invitation to attend.

NON-RESIDENT SUMMONS THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

To Billy Smith, an adult non-resident of the State of Mississippi, whose street and post office address is 2443 Notre Dame, Pomona, California; Gordon Smith, an adult non-resident of the State of Mississippi, whose street and post office address is 3973 Sixth Street, Riverside, California; and Mrs. Alice Robinson, an adult non-resident of the State of Mississippi, whose street and post office address is 1616 Normandy Terrace, Corona, California. You are summoned to appear before the Chancery Court of the County of Prentiss in said State on the second Monday of January, A.D., 1965 to defend suit No. 8094 in said Court, styled "In the Matter of the Last Will and Testament of Winnie Smith Gresham, deceased," to show cause, if any you can, why the Petition of Mrs. Alice C. Rittenour and others, wherein they allege they are the heirs of Miss Lucie Carraway, deceased, should not be sustained, said Petition asking for a construction of the Will of Mrs. Winnie Smith Gresham, deceased, so as to have the Court hold that the heirs of Miss Lucie Carraway receive and own the Blackland Farm mentioned in the Will and not the heirs of Mrs. Winnie Smith Gresham, deceased, of whom you are one, and also to show cause, if any you can, why the objections of Mrs. Alice C. Rittenour and others, as the heirs of Miss Lucie Carraway, in the partition suit of said Blackland Farm, being No. 8450 in said Court, styled "W. W. Smith, et al., Complainants vs. Billy Smith, et al., Defendants," should not be sustained on the ground that the said Blackland Farm is the property of and is owned by the Lucie Carraway heirs under the Will of the said Mrs. Gresham and not by the heirs of the said Mrs. Gresham, the said two cases having been consolidated by Order of the Court for the purpose of trial; wherein you are a Defendant in cause No. 8094 to the Petition by the Carraway heirs for the construction of the Will and wherein you are also a Defendant in the partition suit, cause No. 8450. This, the 27th day of November, A. D., 1964.

Rites For Former Citizen Held Thursday

O. W. Smith, Jr., 39, died at his home in Meridian on a heart ailment at 2:30 Wednesday morning, December 2.

Mr. Smith was the son of Mrs. Mae Smith and the late Mr. O. W. Smith of Booneville.

He was a graduate of the Booneville High School and in his early youth was an employee of Cox-Blythe Drug Co. He was a brilliant college student with high scholastic attainment at Howard College, where he was graduated. He was a member of the honorary pharmaceutical fraternity with membership in other pharmaceutical organizations.

Twelve years ago, Mr. Smith went to Meridian to make his home where for many years he was associated with Anderson Clinic as a hospital pharmacist. His dedication to the vital interests of this institution will long be remembered. Fortright and true to his own traditions of the responsibilities of life, he was taken into the hearts of the people of his adopted city.

He was a zealous Christian and an example of good citizenship, truly a citizen of the empire of humanity. He was a remarkable individual of rare qualities of mind and heart.

In June 1950, he was married to the former Miss Jeannine White of Meridian. They have three daughters, Jenny, Brenda, and Lesia.

Mr. Smith was a member of the Arkadelphia Baptist Church, and a Mason. He held membership in several civic organizations, and he had made exceptional meritorious contributions to significant community endeavors.

Beloved by many, an unusually large assemblage was present at the services held at Webb Funeral Home in Meridian at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, December 3. In addition to a magnificent expression which flowers speak, a large contribution was made to the Heart Fund and the Athletic Department of the West Lauderdale School, where his children are enrolled.

An impressive feature of the services was a huge cross in the chapel over the bier, glowing as a symbol of love and friendship which formed an elaborate manifestation, with sprays of red roses.

To his children he has left a precious heritage through his cultivation with the things of the spirit.

His pastor, the Rev. Frank Rigby, conducted the final rites. His former pastors who returned for the services impressing their appreciation for Mr. Smith, with their presence, assisted in the service. They were the Reverend Carlos Evans of the Pecayune First Baptist Church, the Reverend E. J. Wright of Collins, and the Reverend Loyd of Ft. Benning, Ga.

He leaves his wife, three daughters, his mother, Mrs. Mae Smith two sisters, Mrs. Troy Moore of Booneville and Mrs. Bill Reece and a brother, James Luther Smith of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Interment was made in Meridian Arkadelphia Cemetery.
