Easter Seal Goal Set At $1,000.00

Mrs. Clyde Jones, 1966 campaign chairman for the Prentiss County Easter Seal announced the goal of $1,000.00 as B. & P. W. Club mailed the last of 2,000 of sheets of Easter Seals to residents of Prentiss County.

"Crippled children are the reason for Easter Seals," she said. "And so we are hopeful that they will prompt generous giving for crippled children in keeping with the Easter tradition. Our slogan is 'a little money works wonders' and I would add that more money works miracles."

"This year's appeal, which continues through Easter Sunday, April 10, we hope will bring sufficient funds so we can reach out to the children who need our services and get them started on the road to good lives," she said.

"Even to maintain the same services to the same number of handicapped will require a budget increase in view of the rising costs of operating a center. And we must not remain static in our work for the crippled, especially because their number is increasing."

She explained that increases in the crippled population reflect growth of population, advances in medicine which save many babies that in other decades would not have survived, and new knowledge about treatment of stroke and other conditions once thought beyond help.

So please, when you receive your Easter Seal letter, read it, and then return your contribution whether great or small. If each person receiving a letter would only contribute $1.00 then we would double our goal.

The Easter Seal Society is not a member of the Community Chest.

4-H'ers Look After Time, Money, Skills

New Management Project Shows How

"Work smarter . . . not harder," advises Mary Ann Dean, home economist. "Think, plan ahead, compare, evaluate your time, talents and cash before you take on any major projects around the house."

Miss Dean's comments are directed to 4-H Club members about to embark on the new 4-H Home Management program announced by the National 4-H Service Committee in cooperation with the Extension Service.

The practical home-based program was designed to fill a need of older club members, and was a couple of years in the planning stage. Miss Dean, a staff member of the 4-H Service Committee, also disclosed that a national sponsor has been secured to provide awards and other assistance to the program. Tupperware Home Parties of Orlando, Fla. is the new sponsor.

Annual awards will consist of eight $500 scholarships (national winners); one expense-paid trip per state to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, and four gold-filled medals of honor per county.

Winners will be announced next fall by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Miss Dean urges girls, and boys too, to take up home management now. The idea behind this modern program for the older teenager is to learn to make the best possible use of your resources, energy, knowledge and ability.

No Response To Molybdenum On Delta Soybeans

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — Seed treatment with the micronutrient molybdenum has resulted in increased yields of soybeans on certain acid soils in the hill area of Mississippi, and also in Georgia, but it apparently is not needed in the Yazoo-Mississippi Delta.

Several plantings of molybdenum treated seed have been observed at Stoneville since 1959 and no responses have been observed in these Delta tests according to Dr. E. E. Hartwig, USDA research agronomist at Delta Branch Experiment Station.

In 1965, replicated tests were grown at Stoneville on Sharkey clay having a pH of 5.6, and on Bosket fine sandy loam having a pH of 6.1. The variety Hill was grown on clay. The yield for plots receiving molybdenum was 26.5 bushels per acre, and for plots receiving no treatment the yield was 26.8 bushels per acre. While the yields were low because of drought stress, no differences were observed in plant color, plant growth, or nodulation.

The variety Lee was planted on sandy loam. This planting received one irrigation in mid-August. Seed yields were 38.5 bushels for plots receiving molybdenum, and 39.2 bushels for untreated plots. Here also no plant color, growth, or nodulation differences were observed.

"Results obtained to date indicate that molybdenum deficiency is not limiting soybean yields in the Delta area of Mississippi," Dr. Hartwig said. "Although plants use only a very small amount of molybdenum, it does serve a vital role."

"The fact that molybdenum is not limiting in the Delta area should not discourage soybean growers in other parts of the State from using the material, particularly if soil pH is 5.7 or lower."

Eastland Urges Expansion And Speedup Of Interstate Highways

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) has called on the Federal government to issue bonds to complete and expand the interstate highway system immediately.

"At the current rate of progress," he said, "completion of the present program, and of urgently needed additional highways, will be 15 or 20 years away. The interstate highway system now underway leaves out roads that are just as important as those being constructed. This highway system must be equalized between all communities."

Senator Eastland said that when the interstate system was started five years ago, the total cost was estimated at $41 million. "Now it has risen to nearly $47 million," he pointed out, "and you can well imagine how far it might climb in 15 years. A further saving resulting from immediate completion would be the thousands of lives now lost because of outmoded inferior roads."

"The interest on a Federal bond issue probably could be paid by the gains of normal inflation,"

Senator Eastland said, "and thus would cost the government very little. It is the worst kind of discrimination to deprive some areas of safe, modern highways, and it is an injustice to all taxpayers to delay this program any longer."

National FHA Week - March 27 - April 2

Mississippi's 22,000 Future Homemakers of America are observing 20 years of success during National FHA Week March 27 to April 2. The state's 365 chapters are a vital part of the national organization composed of junior and senior high school home economics students.

The FHA is an incorporated, non-profit organization, supported by membership dues. Membership is voluntary. All students who are enrolled or have been enrolled in home economics are eligible for membership.

The youth organization provides opportunities for developing individual and group initiative in planning and carrying out activities related to the home and home economic-related employment. On the local, state and national levels it operates through the framework of the secondary schools.

National membership totals some 600,000 in 11,000 chapters in the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

FHA goals are to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living. National projects, adopted every four years, guide their activities toward this goal. Projects for 1965-69 are: individuality counts; good health—a valuable asset; jobs, careers, and you; morals and manners matter; good family relations through communications; citizenship challenges you; your neighbors near and far; make your money behave; and leisure time—constructive time.

MRS. FD JOHNSON

We rejoice that our local college continues to grow. We believe we have well-qualified and capable administrative leaders and faculty and that, having reached an all-time high of 1,000, we'll keep right on growing. Our college deserves the utmost support from our city and county as well as from the entire area it serves.

We compliment George McGregor on the progress he's making with the BHS Band. With most of the band students being in the eighth grade, we thought the concert on Monday night was exceptionally good.

Bob Buchberger, as president of the Band Parents Club, is also due praise for the work he's doing.

Easter is April 10th this year and in this issue of the paper you'll find many fashionable buys for the entire family — at reasonable prices. No need to shop out of town. You'll find merchandise right here — for those who want the very best right down to those who want economically priced goods.

I thank Mrs. A. L. Galloway for the following item which any shopper might give to a grocery store owner:

To the Grocer: How do I like thee? Let me count the way. For mustard and pickles and mayonnaise; for produce, canned goods, cakes and pies; soap powders, cereal, dairy supplies, ironingboard covers, bulbs for my lamp. But most of all, thank you for my stamps!

Men retire on pensions but did anybody ever hear of a married woman who was able to retire from housework?

Everything comes out about as expected except the family budget, which always seems to be overspent.

Sherrill Bennett, in the Northeast Christian student "Echo" edition of the Booneville Informer, Church of Christ, wrote the following:

One day a city fellow was visiting his friend in Kentucky and he asked his friend to take him up in the hills to see a real hillbilly. They came to a farm where a man was lying on the porch of his house, smoking a cornob pipe, and a woman was digging in a plot of land. The visitor approached the man and asked, "Isn't that hard work for your wife?"

He said, "Yep, but we work in shifts."
"Oh, I see, when she gets tired you take over."
"Naw" he said. "When she gets tired out in the garden she shifts to the house chores."

Of course Mr. Bennett went on to point out that every church member could be represented in one of those two persons. There are some who NEVER shift. Any real shifting of responsibilities goes to the same ones year in and year out.

Talk about rushing the season! Well, J. L. Keeton, Sr. brought a bloom from a Christmas cactus to the office Wednesday — said it had 36 more on it.
And it bloomed Christmas — had a 100 then!

In one of his recent Newsweek columns, Henry C. Wallich dealt with the surging problem of inflation. And what he has to say should send shudders up the spine of everyone who is concerned with what remains of the dollar's value.

Washington, he observes "...seems to be raising its inflation tolerance." In other words, it seems to have drifted into an attitude where steady inflation is more or less calmly accepted as a fact of life. At the end, Mr. Wallich makes this point: "Is there anything the saver can do to protect himself?...The fact is that the great majority of people are defenseless against inflation, if the government will not protect them. Inflation, it has been said, is the time when people who have saved for a rainy day get soaked. That soaking seems about to begin."

All that can save us, apparently is an assumption of responsibility on the part of Congress—a responsibility that will take the form of drastic cuts in every nonessential expenditure. We cannot fight a major and extending war and create an expensive welfare state at the same time without eating away the dollar's value at a dismaying rate. This is the most critical of the domestic issues our country faces.

A fellow took his dog to a veterinarian and said, "Doc, my dog does nothing but chase sport cars."

"That's only natural," replied the veterinarian, "many dogs chase cars."

"I know," answered the owner, "but mine catches them and then buries them in the backyard."

Till next week

Jobs Available for Youngsters

Recently the seniors of Prentiss County High Schools have under one aptitude tests given by the Mississippi State Employment Service. These tests are designed to show each individual the fields of work in which he would most likely succeed. The seniors who have entered the testing program are those who are planning to enter the labor market this June. In order to provide adequate placement service for these young people for summer jobs and permanent jobs, the Mis-issippi State Employment Service has begun an extensive campaign to locate jobs which will be available for these young people.

Any employers interested in hiring high school graduates this summer should contact the Employment Office in Corinth. The Mississippi State Employment Service is also recruiting young people 16-21 for various training programs that are available to them at this time.

At the present there are openings for 50 boys and girls in the Neighborhood Youth Corps program in Booneville. Our representative will be at the old welfare building in Booneville each Thursday for

LETTER AND THE ANSWER

The following letter was received by Garvin Green at Prentiss Hdw. Co., from W. B. Langford of 725 South Main Street, Jonesboro, Arkansas:

Dear Sir:
Boys, this is to tell you March 21, 1966 was my 64th anniversary in Jonesboro, Arkansas as a new-comer.

Left Booneville early in the morning March 21, 1899 and I have been a subscriber to the Booneville paper ever since. Sitting in my home tonight at 9:30 reading the B. paper I got today.

I never saw an ad for redoing saddles. I have an old side saddle that needs redoing all over. Make me a price. I will be 95 years old on December 21, 1966. I was in Booneville in '61 during the Centennial.

Thanks for a reply. A hillbilly from Prentiss County, Mississippi.
W. B. Langford

Mr. Green answered:
Dear Mr. Langford,
Thank you for your letter of March 25th, 1966, informing me that you wished to have a side saddle refinished.

Since I do not know the condition your saddle is in, I cannot give you a firm price on the refinish-ing.

If you will ship the saddle to me I will refinish it and return it to you as soon as possible.

It is very nice to hear from a Senior Citizen who keeps in touch with the City of Booneville, Mississippi.

If I can be of further service to you, do not hesitate to holler at a fellow hillbilly from Prentiss County, Mississippi.

Local Business

By S. S. TALBERT
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

Who says YOU can't tell a big business how to operate? You do it every day.

Each time a consumer reads an advertisement and decides to buy or not to buy a product, he tells some company how they should do business.

More and more business firms are depending on a statistical analysis of their advertising before making decisions. How readers respond to their ads could well make them decide to market a new product, alter an old one, or even to throw one on the scrap pile.

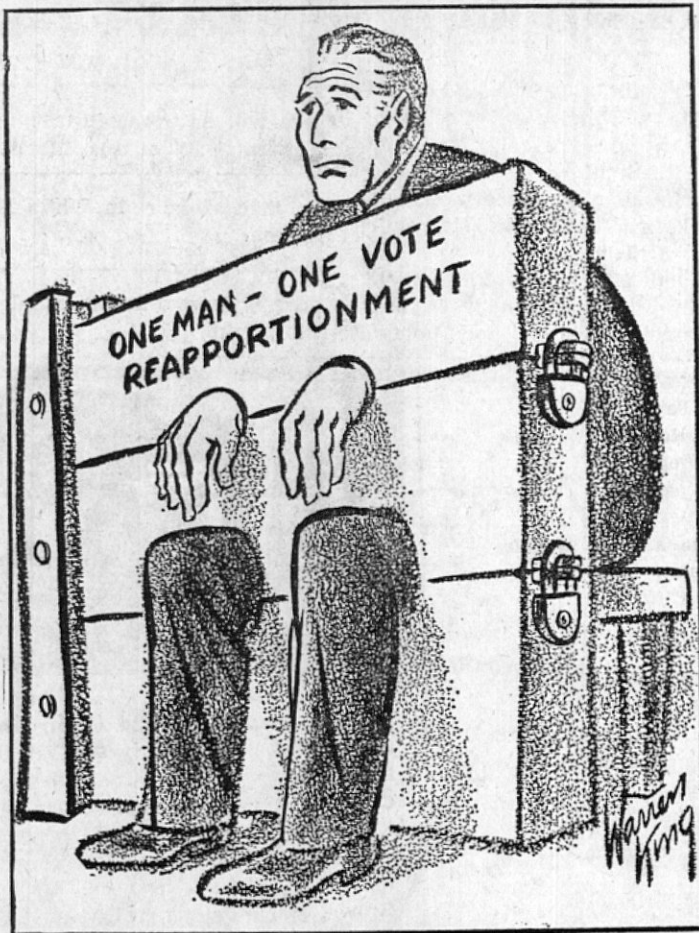

But large businesses are not the only ones who make use of advertisements in this way. Local merchants have been using the same method for years. Statistics may not play such an important part in local analysis, but the end result is the same.

When a grocer places an ad in the community newspaper, he generally knows just what products to advertise. How does he know this? Well, he applies the same principle which big business uses—market analysis. The grocer knows what customers noticed in past ads. He can tell this by looking at his sales.

The use of local advertising tells merchants not only what products to feature, but how to advertise them, when to advertise them, and what medium to use. Consistently, the local newspaper has proved to be the most effective publication the next two weeks to recruit N. Y. C. applicants. There are now openings in the Job Corps Program for 8 young people who are out of school and unemployed. Any young person interested in the Job Corps Program should come by the Employment Office in Corinth as soon as possible. The address of the Mississippi Employment Office in Corinth is 733 Foote Street or P.O. Box 791.

SQUEEZE ON RURAL VOTERS

A Rural Vote Should Count

The question of state legislature reapportionment is vital to all Americans. What does the so-called "one man, one vote" doctrine—under which the Supreme Court overturned the checks and balances of state government—really mean to the voters from small towns and rural areas?

It means that they will have little voice in government, since they cannot match the urban machines that control a regimented vote.

Under the amendment sponsored by Senator Dirksen, the apportionment system that now applies to the Congress would be guaranteed to the states. In other words, one house of the state legislature would be elected strictly according to population, and the other house by geographical districts.

What does organized labor think about this issue? Well, it approves the "one man, one vote" theory even if it has to be forced on the states by federal district courts. But when the Administration proposes anti-strike legislation covering city and state employees, George Meany of the AFL-CIO says this would be "reaching far down into the lives of citizens in their own locality." He says it would violate the federal-state relationships envisioned in the Constitution.

If logic prevailed it would then seem that organized labor should agree that the people of a state should have the right to elect their legislators in the time-honored manner patterned after the Congress, too. This issue also reaches down to the citizens of each small locality.

In this matter the citizens of each small locality have the opportunity to be just as vocal as the powerful urban voice of labor. If you think the vote on the Dirksen amendment should be affirmative, tell your Congressmen.

FROM THE CAPITOL—

Republicans Get Blame For Passage Of Civil Rights Bill

By Kenneth Tolliver

Washington — If the new Civil Rights Bill passes Congress you might thank the Republican Party. That's right, even though the Republicans are the minority party, they must shoulder blame for this piece of legislation.

First, let me give you a little history lesson. For years, the Senate Committee on the Judiciary was called "the graveyard of Civil Rights Bills." Senator James O. Eastland is Chairman of that Committee and no Civil Rights Bill has ever received a report from his powerful committee.

Senator Eastland has managed through careful planning to keep his committee from giving civil rights legislation the time of day. He accomplished this even though his committee outnumbers him 11-4 in Administration supporters of such bills.

If this is true, how come the Civil Rights Law of 1964 passed and how come a new and more far-reaching one may pass this year?

The answer to that question is tied up in two names, Nixon and Knowland. In 1957 these two chaps changed the rules to allow Congress to by-pass Senator Eastland's Committee and place the infamous Civil Rights Bill before the Senate. It was Vice President Richard for local retail advertising.

Community newspapers are the best testing ground for new products, new ideas, and fresh advertising. By introducing local newspapers, businesses both large and small create a basis for consumer decisions.

Nixon, working hand in glove with the liberals who managed to outflank stubborn southern resistance.

Now, once again a Civil Rights Bill is before Congress. This new bill further promotes the Administration's policies of a dictatorial, super-socialist police state on the shores of the Potomac. If this bill becomes law it will be one more step toward a society in which every area of human behavior is supervised, directed, and controlled by the unchecked federal bureaucracy of social engineers.

This new bill gives tremendous powers to the Justice Department and gives the Attorney General the power to take over the administration of those jury systems which do not vote "right".

There doesn't need to be a complaint either to give the Attorney General this initiative. He will decide on his own when he should interfere with traditional jurisprudence.

This bill vests in the Attorney General the coercive authority to initiate or intervene in Federal suits against property owners and to bring all the resources and power of his office against the private citizen. Of course, you must understand this will be done with the "rights" of the private citizen in mind.

Acting both as judge and jury, the Attorney General will make his hand, and the hand of the Administration felt, wherever he feels it is needed.

Senator Eastland has already said, "As for myself, I intend to fight this vicious legislation with every resource at my command

Sunflower Food Stores Cited As 'Brand Names Retailer Of The Year'

The Lewis Grocer Company and its 62 Sunflower Food Stores recently received national recognition in three distinct areas of the food industry.

Company President Morris Lewis, Jr., also President of the National-American Wholesale Grocers Association for the past two years, was named Chairman of the Board of NAWGA at its recent annual meeting in Chicago, March 6-9. Mr. Lewis will serve as Chairman of the Board through March 1968. The National-American Wholesale Grocers Association is an organization of wholesale food distributors who are serving retail food stores in 49 states and the 10 provinces of Canada. NAWGA's cooperating retail stores represent a volume of food business in excess of 12 billion dollars annually.

Sunflower Food Stores and The Lewis Grocer Company also have just been cited by "Voluntary and Cooperative Groups Magazine", a national food industry publication. At the NAWGA meeting in Chicago, the company won the first place award "for excellence in the field of internal communications" and was especially honored for an employee manual, produced locally in the company's own printing department.

The third national recognition has cited Sunflower Food Stores as a "Brand Names Retailer of the Year" for the second consecutive year.

Again this year at the annual awards dinner on April 12th in New York City, the company will receive a Certificate of Distinction for outstanding Brand Name retail merchandising in 1965. Sunflower Food Stores is one of four organizations recognized in Class III of the annual competition.

The "Brand Names Retailer of the Year" awards are based on scrapbooks submitted by 238 finalists selected in January. The judges' decisions "honor those organizations who best use the available advertising and sales promotional tools in the promotion of famous brand names."

MISSISSIPPI STATE UNIVERSITY

Reports

A new doctor of education program, new curriculums in special education and library science and enriched offerings in physical education are among the recent and progressive developments in Mississippi State University's College of Education.

The new Ed. D. program in elementary education, secondary education and school administration represents a kind of "coming of age" in the College.

"There is increasing demand for school administrators with terminal degrees," said Dean Francis Rhodes in explaining the need for the program. "School boards in surrounding states are encouraging their principals and superintendents to obtain the terminal degree. It would seem likely that Mississippi might soon be doing the same thing. In addition, there is increasing demand for college teachers in the area of school administration."

A $13,000 GRANT from the U.S. Office of Education has helped initiate a new teaching program in special education in the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. A new director of special education is on the job — Dr. Ladean E. Ebersole — and the first major objective is being sought.

This is to provide a master's level curriculum in special education with courses on the teaching of the mentally retarded, the gifted, the physically handicapped, socially handicapped or multiple handicapped child. Some 12.7 percent of Mississippi's children are in one of these categories of exceptional and the state, at present, has only 150 qualified teachers of exceptional children.

Both undergraduate and graduate special education courses are already being offered in the department.

AN UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE program in library science is also a goal of the department and Mitchell Memorial Library. An approved addition to the latter facility promises to help these aspirations be realized.

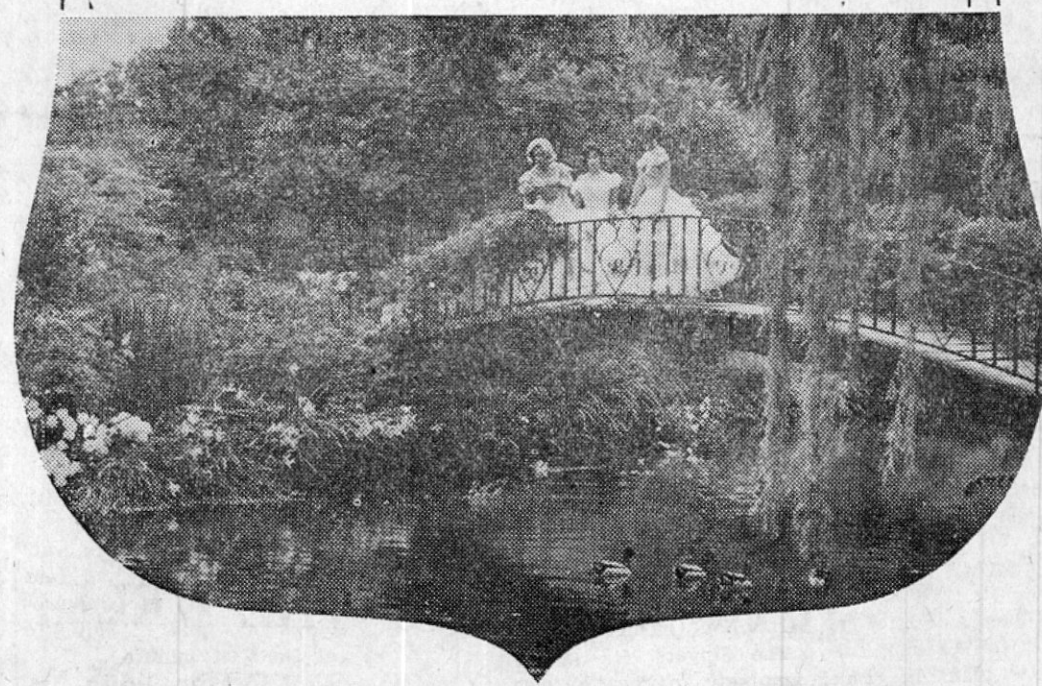

A new curriculum to minimally qualify a person as a school librarian has been newly developed, but in today's complex and ever-changing educational scene, this isn't nearly enough.

"There is a shortage of trained librarians throughout the Southeast," said one MSU educator. "Only a precious few school librarians in Mississippi have had the opportunity for library science training. Senior and junior high schools simply employ teachers who are not trained for the job, but the time may be approaching when they can't afford to do that."

"THERE WAS A TIME when a teacher simply used a textbook, but modern teaching methods demand the use of many books, so libraries are becoming not only larger but more and more important in teaching. With much more to learn today, reading material is becoming more important all the way from kindergarten to the doctoral level."

The physical education curriculum is being enriched with more courses and the development of a complete program for girls. The debut of a doctoral program is slated for the near future.

CAROLYN MILLER IS TOP SELLER

Carolyn Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Miller, was the leader in sales in the Booneville Neighborhood Cookie Sale sponsored by the Girl Scouts.

She is a member of Cadet Troop No. 140. Mrs. W. M. Anderson is the troop leader.

Carolyn, a 13-year-old eighth grade student, won the honor by selling 190 boxes of cookies during this sales campaign. This is no new accomplishment for her as she was last year's top seller, too.

Library Services And Construction Act Spurs Increase In Facilities

Mississippi is enjoying a tremendous surge in the construction of new public library buildings. Since the first of the year new libraries have opened their doors in Amory, Yazoo City, and Moss Point. Construction has been completed in Long Beach and Fulton with their dedication dates set for March 27 and April 24, respectively. Brookhaven, Greenville and Gulfport, now constructing libraries of major size for the state, will hold dedication ceremonies in mid-summer.

"At long last, having achieved some degree of adequacy in the more important considerations of service, many Mississippi towns and/or counties are directing energies and finances toward providing public library buildings," said Mrs. Lura G. Currier, Director of the Miss. Library Commission.

"Certainly funds received through the Library Services and Construction Act have provided encouragement for towns and counties to begin a building program. Under terms of the Library Services and Construction Act federal funds are made available to aid in library construction when citizens provide 50% of the total amount needed," said Mrs. Currier.

The above named towns except Gulfport are building their libraries through a combination of federal and local funds. This new library building being erected in Gulfport is being financed by the Harrison County Board of Supervisors.

The monies of the Library Services and Construction Act are administered through the Mississippi Library Commission. In June, 1964, a state plan for public library construction was formulated following a statewide meeting of citizens interested in library construction. The plan was later adopted by the Board of Commissioners of the Mississippi Library Commission as official policy and was approved by the Library Services Branch of the U. S. Office of Education.

Twelve additional libraries, also projects under the Library Services and Construction Act, are in various stages of construction.

A recent bond election has made possible local matching funds for libraries in Maben, Starkville and Sturgis. Construction contracts have been let for libraries in Rich-ton and Rolling Fork. In Louisville a private donor has given funds to match federal monies for library construction.

Plans for a new library are being finalized in Batesville and Hernando with drawings and specifications nearing completion. Cleveland has advertised for bids for an extensive remodeling of its present facility. Clarksdale has plans to remodel its Myrtle Hall Branch. Tallahatchie also has plans in the making for 2 new library buildings, one to serve the eastern portion of the county in Charleston and one for the western court district in the Summer-Webb-Tutwiler area.

"Without help through the Library Services and Construction Act most of these new library buildings would have continued to be a dream of the citizens of each community. Of course, giving good service — getting the right book to the right person when he wants it — is the paramount concern of librarians and their boards of trustees. And it is possible to give that kind of service in an old, run-down library — but it's not probable. A new, clean, colorful library stimulates reading, attracts readers. A modern library building is a source of pride to a town. The quality of library service is bound to improve when the citizens are vitally interested in and proud of their new library building," said Mrs. Currier.

Most Persons 65 Have Applied For Medicare Benefits

"Almost every person age 65 in this area has already applied for full benefits under the new Medicare Law," Social Security District Manager, Hugh Tigrett, announced today. Benefits are effective July 1 under both the hospital plan and the Supplemental Medical Plan.

As of March 15, approximately 15½ million Americans had enrolled in Medicare. Mr. Tigrett added. Only 5 per cent had said "No" to the voluntary medical program and many were changing to "Yes" at the last minute.

The Social Security District Office in the Federal Building in Tupelo was open all day last Saturday and has been open until 9:00 p.m. every evening this week and will remain open until 9:00 p.m. Thursday evening for the convenience of those who waited until the last minute to sign up for Medicare and who found it inconvenient to do so during normal working hours, according to Mr. Tigrett. He said that many people over 65 are still working but that these will be entitled to Medicare benefits in July regardless of their earnings. The retirement test for monthly benefits does not apply to hospital and medical benefits.

Medicare is a two-part program of free hospital insurance and low cost medical insurance. The hospital insurance pays regular hospital expenses including semi-private room accommodations, after the first $40.00.

The medical insurance pays on doctor bills, some ambulance services, diagnostic tests and other expenses outside of hospitals. Under the medical insurance the individual is responsible for the first $50.00 and 20 per cent of the remainder of covered expenses each calendar year. Medicare pays 80 per cent after the first $50.00.

Wild birds are now tracked by radar.

Turkey Season Opens Saturday

This coming Saturday, dawn will find many of Mississippi's most avid sportsmen in the woods again. They'll be there after that big Tom Turkey, the 19-pounder with the ten-inch-long beard.

Rare indeed is the man who will come out with any gobbler at all, and rarer still the one who shoots down the fabled "Old Man Tom" he envisions. But these men will be there, and they'll be back again and again in the days following. They'll use all types of calls. They'll sit still as the tree trunks they lean against. They'll endure the early-morning chill and stinging insects - and some few of them will lure a Tom into a majestic strut and drop him with a shotgun blast.

The first rule a turkey hunter should follow is. "Don't shoot at anything moving until you see it's a turkey gobbler." There is always danger of picking off a fellow hunter.

The gobbler season will extend from April 2 - April 10, and from April 16 - April 26 in Bolivar, Benton, Coahoma, Copiah, Claiborne, DeSoto, Grenada, Issaquena, Lauderdale, Leflore, Kemper, Marshall, Oktibbeha, Sharkey, Tallahatchie, Tate, Tunica, Warren, Washington, and Winston Counties.

Only bearded turkeys will be legal game on specific public hunting areas and in state forests. Bag limit is one gobbler per day, but not more than two per season. Pike County has a limit of one.

Singing At Blythe's Chapel Sunday

There will be a singing at Blythes Chapel Church Sunday afternoon, April 3 beginning at 1 p.m. Everyone has a special invitation.

New Federal Tax Withholding System

Effective May 1, 1966 employers will begin to use new withholding tables and most employees will find their pay checks smaller. This is due to the Tax Adjustment Act of 1966 which was signed into law last week by the President. Among other things, also affected are the excise taxes on automobiles and telephone bills. These will return to their December 31, 1965 level of 7% and 10% respectively.

New tax withholding tables (Publication No. 15—Rev. April 1966 —entitled "Employer's Tax Guide") and a new Employee Fact Sheet, Document No. 5642, are being rushed to Service Centers for labeling and mailing to all employers with 255 or less employees. They should receive them in the mail by the end of March. Those firms with a greater number of employees must request their supplies from their nearest Internal Revenue Service office.

BLACK MARKET TAX IS HYPOCRITICAL

The black-market tax is absurd and should be repealed. This has never been voted by the people but by the legislators. If any one has been hypocritical about this, it has been the legislators who voted it in. We advocate immediate repeal of the black-market tax.

We deplore these hypocritical tactics of the wet forces and we appeal to all citizens concerned with the welfare of our people to vote AGAINST legalization of liquor.

Northeast Mathematics Department Provides An Excellent Background

By MARY ROBINSON

(This is the eighth in a series of sixteen articles featuring the academic departments at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College.)

Mathematics is the oldest of the natural sciences known to man. Evidence of the use of numbers reaches back to the ancient nations of the world. Even prehistoric man had some acquaintance with numbers.

Today in the 20th century, the Mathematics Department at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College is playing a great role in developing masters of the age old subject.

Included in the curriculum are courses designed to meet the requirements of a senior institution to which the student expects to transfer and to prepare the student for a chosen career in mathematics. Algebra I, a review of fundamentals, includes factoring, fractions, equations, etc., and Algebra II, also a review of funda-mentals, places emphasis on more advanced topics.

Another course is Plane Trigonometry which includes basic trigonometric functions. Included also in the curriculum is the course, Mathematics for Teachers, which gives the student a basic understanding of the nature of mathematics. Calculus I, II, and III are more advanced courses designed for students majoring in mathematics.

The Mathematics Club under the sponsorship of Mrs. Jim Tigrett, is one of the newest clubs on the campus having been organized during the first semester of the current school year. The officers are Jimmy Short, Baldwin, president; Billy Huddleston, Booneville, vice-president; and Dorothy Dobbins, Corinth, secretary-treasurer. The objectives of the club are to promote an interest in mathematics and its related fields and to aid students in preparing for their transition from Northeast to a senior college. During the latter part of this semester, the club members and mathematics faculty plan to tour the Mathematics Department of Mississippi State University in order to get a first-hand idea of what the future may hold.

Northeast officials are pleased to report that students who transfer from Northeast to senior institutions have little difficulty in making the transition and that they have brought recognition to the Northeast Mathematics Department by their outstanding performance. Transferring this semester to the University of Mississippi, mathematics major Bonita Sue Lyons of New Albany states, "as a result of my excellent background at Northeast, I have encountered no real trouble."

Bernard L. Nunley Enlists In Marines

BERNARD LARRY NUNLEY
Bernard Larry Nunley, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ray Nunley of 110 Lafayette St., Booneville, has enlisted in the Marines. Bernard Larry is a senior at Booneville High School and will complete his schooling in May, after which he will report to Parris Island, South Carolina for training.

Mathematics major Bonita Sue Lyons of New Albany states, "as a result of my excellent background at Northeast, I have encountered no real trouble."

The members of the Northeast Mathematics Department are Mrs. Evelyn Tigrett, Chairman; Miss Emma Street; and Mrs. Quana Vandiver.

Most Astronauts Were Boy Scouts

With the Gemini Titan 8 space flight, Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong becomes the first Eagle Scout spacecraft pilot. James A. Lovell, copilot of the GT-7, was the first Eagle Scout in outer space.

Astronaut Armstrong was born in Wapakoneta, Ohio, where he joined Troop 14 in 1942. He progressed steadily in Scouting, achieved Eagle Scout rank in 1947, and was a member of the Order of the Arrow, Scouting's honor camping society. His interest in Scouting continued as an adult and, while living in California prior to his assignment as an astronaut he was advisor to an Air Explorer Squadron.

GT-8 copilot David R. Scott achieved the rank of Life Scout. Backup pilot Charles Conrad, Jr., was a Cub Scout and backup copilot Richard F. Gordon, Jr., was a Star Scout.

Of the 32 named and living astronauts, 28 were Scouts, 4 of them achieving the rank of Eagle.

Every astronaut that has flown in the Mercury and Gemini programs so far has been in Scouting, and the pattern continues for the GT-9 launching expected in June. GT-9 pilot Thomas P. Stafford was a Star Scout in Oklahoma, and copilot Eugene A. Cernan was a Second Class Scout.

Growth Regulator Fails To Increase Yield Of Soybeans

STATE COLLEGE, MIS.: A plant growth regulator widely publicized as increasing soybean yields 10 to 20 percent has not been effective in Mississippi, according to Dr. E. E. Hartwig who tested it at the Delta Branch Experiment Station.

The regulator triiodobenzoic acid, commonly called TIBA, is reported to increase seed yields by diverting growth from leaves to seed. A small quantity applied as a spray ter, Mrs. Ida Bullock of Shawnee, Okla., and five grandchildren.

during the flowering stage affects the hormone growth of the plant.

Soybean varieties grown in the North Central States continue to increase in height several weeks after flowering. With such a growth habit, Dr. Hartwig said, it is conceivable that stopping growth could divert energy to seed development.

Southern varieties of soybeans, however, have a determinate type of growth. Increase in height has been completed before flowering. Consequently, Dr. Hartwig did not consider it logical that the growth regulator could increase production on this type of plant. So he decided to test it.

In 1965, plots of Lee soybeans were treated with TIBA. Plantings made on May 24 were sprayed on July 16 with a solution containing 60 parts per million of TIBA and a surfactant. This was approximately 1 week before plants were in full bloom. All leaves were covered with the solution.

In the test with the normal determinate type of Lee beans, the untreated plots averaged 38 bushels per acre compared to 27 bushels in the treated plots, a reduction of 29 percent.

"Results obtained from treating Lee soybeans with TIBA offer no encouragement for use of this material to increase the seed yield of adapted varieties in Mississippi," Dr. Hartwig concluded.

VA Answers Vets Questions

Q.—I received monthly compensation payments from VA for a service-connected injury. A portion of my payment is for my son who becomes 18 years of age next month. If he remains in school after 18, will I continue to draw this extra income for him?

A.—As long as your child remains unmarried and in school, except for normal summer vacation periods, you will continue to receive an extra allowance for him until he is 23 years old. Payment of this extra allowance would cease, however, in the event your son completes his education, drops out of school, or marries before reaching the age of 23.

Q.—Do veterans need to attain age 65 before they are eligible for pension from the Veterans Administration?

A.—A veteran of wartime service may be eligible for pension at any age if he can prove permanent disability and unemployment, subject to income limitations.

Q.—My husband is a veteran of World War II and he has a service-connected disability of 100%. What benefits does he have when one of his family needs hospitalization?

A.—The Veterans Administration does not provide hospitalization for the dependents of veterans.

Q.—How may I get information about getting my GI Insurance back in force? I am a veteran of World War II and served in the Navy. I let my insurance drop upon my discharge in 1946.

A.—To be eligible for the new GI Insurance being sold by the Veterans Administration until May 2, 1966, a veteran must have been eligible to have purchased National Service Life Insurance, have a service-connected disability or have a nonservice disability so severe that he cannot purchase private insurance. You should contact the nearest VA office.

Q.—I am a veteran of World War I. I am 65 and am retiring in April of this year. Could you please tell me if I am entitled to nonservice-connected benefits and how I go about filing for such benefits.

A.—There is no benefit based on age alone. Veterans of World War I, WW II or the Korean Conflict, discharged under other than dishonorable conditions after 90 or more days' service, or because of a service-connected disability, who are permanently and totally disabled from reasons not traceable to service and are unable to perform a gainful occupation may be entitled to a nonservice-connected pension if their income without dependents is under $1800 or (with dependents) under $3000. See your nearest VA office.

Q.—My husband tried to enlist in the Navy and was turned down because of his health. He then enlisted in the Merchant Marine. He died in 1939 and I would like to know why I am not entitled to a pension from the Veterans Administration?

A.—Members of the Merchant Marine are not veterans. They are not eligible to the various benefits in the Veterans Administration program.

District Meeting Of Woman's Society Held March 21-22

Delegates, members and visitors of the New Albany District were among the 40 or more attending the Annual Meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service for the North Mississippi Conference held March 21-22, 1966, at Wood Junior College, Mathiston, Mississippi.

These representatives of the district shared in the inspiration, information and fellowship of the two-day meeting under the leadership of Mrs. H. E. Jones of Saltillo, president of the Methodist organization for North Mississippi Conference.

The call of the new age was woven throughout the program and the challenging message of Bishop Edward J. Pendergrass of Jackson and Mrs. H. M. Russell of Morris-town, Tenn., president of the South Eastern Jurisdiction Woman's Society of Christian Service, offered rich inspiration for the group. The large background space ship that went into orbit Monday was used to launch the work of the Woman's Society in the new age.

Rev. G. H. Holman, superintendent of the district, assisted with the Service of Communion, and Rev. G. R. Williams, a former superintendent, spoke on missions for this age. Miss Olive Hicks, church and community worker for Tippah County, spoke on the call of her work, and a number of others in the district shared in the program for the meeting.

The list of new conference officers elected and installed included two from this area: Mrs. H. D. Robinson of Dumas, Secretary of Missionary Personnel, and Mrs. W. C. Smallwood, New Albany, secretary of Campus Ministry and member of Committee on Nominations. Miss Almada George of Booneville was given special recognition for her sacrificial work.

Visitors were honored at a tea in the President's Home, and a fellowship dinner Monday evening honored district officers and local presidents. New Albany District executive committee members presented Monday afternoon with Mrs. J. G. Houston, president, in charge to make plans for the District Annual Meeting to be held April 19, 1966, at Iuka Methodist Church.

Others from Booneville attending included Mrs. Emmons Turner, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Downs and Mrs. Lloyd Downs.

MORE JOB OPPORTUNITIES

This year finds Mississippi faced with the challenge of seeking more income, greater employment opportunities, and accelerated development. We must continue to work for new industrial plants, farm markets, and economic well-being of our people. Mississippi leaders and citizens generally recognize that there are only two major sources of jobs: the private sector and the government sector. It is important to remember that private enterprise provides the great majority of jobs.

MORE TELEPHONES

At the end of the year, there were approximately 609,959 telephones in the state. This was approximately an increase of 43,000

Northeast BSU Council Challenged To Communicate With The Pagan

Dr. Allen Cabaniss, Ole Miss history professor and ordained minister, challenged the NEMJC 1966-67 BSU Executive Council to use St. Paul's approach of Acts 17 in communicating to the intellectual pagan. The doctrine St. Paul emphasized in such evangelism were three-fold, Creation, Judgment, and the Resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth. BSU'ers were told this old message is as relevant to today's Humanism as it was to the Epicureans and Stoics of Athens.

Other members elected to the BSU Executive Council of NEMJC were: Enlistment Chairmen, Martha Childers, Ripley and Anita White, Burnsville; Missions, Gerald Thornton, Blue Springs and Linda

Jumpertown Home Makers Club Meets With Mrs. Moore

The Jumpertown Extension Home Makers Club met in the home of Mrs. James Moore Tuesday, March 15 at 6:30 p.m. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. James Moore.

The members repeated the pledge to the flag, followed by the devotion by Miss Peggy Moore from the 53rd Psalms. Prayer was led by Miss Peggy Moore.

The group sang "Into My Heart." An interesting demonstration was given by Mrs. Carroll Windham on "How Does Your Garden Grow?" The 4-H Club was in charge of recreation. The members of the club gave the Club Collect.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, consisting of nuts, potato chips, cookies, sandwiches and cold drinks.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. G. A. English. All members are urged to be present.

First Baptist Church To Hold Easter Revival April 8-10

The First Baptist Church will hold Easter Revival services April 8-10. The pastor, Billy E. Roby, will be doing the preaching each evening on Friday and Saturday nights, at 7:30 and on Sunday. Mr. Jerry Harvey, Minister of Music and Education, will be leading the singing for this revival.

The Sunday School will be responsible for promoting attendance on Friday night, April 8, during the revival. On Saturday night, April 9, the Young People, Intermediates and Juniors will be responsible for promoting attendance.

This revival will be led by non-folks, but the members certainly encourage you to come and visit with them and worship with them during this revival. This revival is in connection with the simultaneous Baptist revivals being held in north Mississippi during this period of the year.

The First Baptist Church membership cordially invites you to attend any or all of these services.

HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

By CLAUDE T. ROSS, Extension Home Economist

SPICES AND HERBS

Used with a knowing hand, spices and herbs can turn the simplest dish into a delight. But for best results, use both spices and herbs sparingly.

Whenever possible, add herbs toward the end of cooking, for if they cook too long they may give food a bitter taste.

Herbs are leaves of plants grown in the temperate zone, while spices are parts of plants that usually grow in the tropics. Spices may be made from bark, dried leaves, seeds, stamens, shells or any other aromatic part suitable for seasoning or preserving.

Peppers — cayenne, red pepper, whole chili peppers and paprika, all of which are prepared from the dried pepper pods of different varieties of peppers may be grown in almost every country of the world. These peppers have no connection with the white or black pepper.

Some herbs fall in the FINE herbs group. These are the herbs of delicate flavor such as basil, chervil, rosemary and thyme. Others, stronger in flavor such as mint, savory, dill and sage, are in the group of ROBUST herbs.

TERRY CLOTH APRONS

You can easily and quickly make an apron that's a real cover up for cooking and one that is absorbent enough to keep splashes from soaking through soft, sudsy terry cloth. Here's how:

Take about 1½ yards of a pretty patterned terry and trim off the selvages to prevent puckered edges after washing. Make ¾ inch hems on each side and a one-inch tube hem at the top for a strawstring cord. Have the apron any length you choose, allowing for a ¾ inch bottom hem. Before laundering, remove the tie cord and wash the apron like a bath towel.

These aprons can do double duty as shampoo or make-up capes.

If you prefer smooth-finish aprons, make the same type of cover-up from brightly printed dish-

DAILY VITAMIN C

Since Vitamin C is not stored in the body for future use, be sure you include some Vitamin C-rich foods in your daily menus for your family. Some such foods are oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, tomatoes, strawberries, and bell peppers.

Foods that contain lesser amounts of Vitamin C are lemons, cabbage, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

The Sanctuary Choir and Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church, Booneville, will be presenting its Easter Cantata Sunday, April 10th at 7:30 p.m. This year's presentation will be "Hallelujah, What A Savior" by John W. Peterson.

The pastor extends a cordial welcome to those who wish to attend.

WEED CONTROL

The cutting of production costs with good weed control has been advised by the agronomist of the Cooperative Extension Service. Weed-free fields will cut production costs; and with weed-free programs, yields of cotton, soybeans, corn, silage and more cows per pasture can be boosted. Broom-sedge pastures are among the most important areas in which to begin weed control. The first step is to apply lime and fertilizer.

THE INSURANCE BUSINESS

1.5 BY 75 CROP PROFITS

Are you ready to lower your costs and raise your profits this crop season by the kind of production spelled out in our "1.5 by 75" program?

While helping you, the program is designed to increase the value of our state's farm production by 62 per cent, to $1.5 billion by 1975.

In this, we are talking about per acre yields of two bales of cotton, 30 or more bushels of soybeans, 75 bushels of corn and 12 to 20 tons of silage.

How can you do it? Start by selecting the right land for each crop. Prepare the seedbed well for mechanized precision farming. Apply fertilizer and lime according to the results of soil testing. Use improved and adapted varieties. Control weeds and insects by using modern methods. Plan to adjust your harvesting machinery to get all you make and of the highest grade.

BROOMSEDGE

Broomsedge has started to grow. Topdress it with a complete fertilizer and clip with a high speed clipper to mulch the old growth. If you will do this, cows will graze much better. Old growth keeps much of the new growth from being grazed until it gets too tough to do any good.

Fertilizing and heavy springing will help start broomsedge on its way out. You can't make much money from broomsedge grazing.

SEED

Do you know the variety of seed that you need for your farm? If not, check recommendations of the agricultural experiment station.

Plant the variety best for your farm. The price of seed is the smallest cost you have in crop production.

Know the germination on all the seed that you plant. To find out the per cent germination, send a sample to the state seed testing laboratory.

POULTRY SCHOOL

A poultry management school especially for the servicemen of the poultry industry and other key personnel has been scheduled for April 12-13 at Miss. State University.

Leading poultry authorities from throughout the nation will appear on the training program.

The school is sponsored by the Mississippi Poultry Improvement Association, the Cooperative Extension Service, the MSU poultry science department, the Livestock Sanitary Board, and the South Central Poultry Research Laboratory.

the new PATIO GAS GRILL

MAKES COOKOUTS ALL FUN

...NO WORK!

Bring your patio up-to-date with the newest idea for fun-loving, hospitable families — the Patio Gas Grill. Now you're ready for a cookout at the drop of a hint — or the drop-in of a guest!

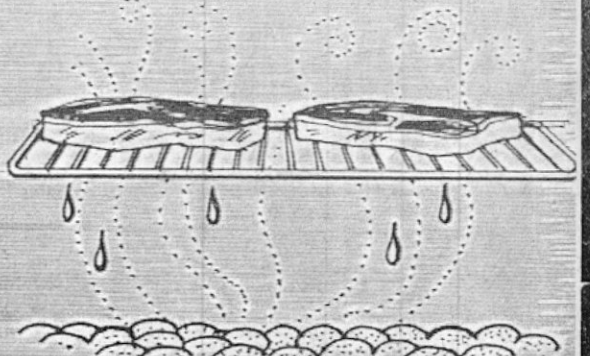

No old ashes to clean up, no charcoal to haul, no fire-starters needed, no waiting for coals to burn down to the right cooking temperature. The Patio Gas Grill lights instantly, adjusts instantly to the heat you want, uses clean ceramic briquets that eliminate all the "dirty work" of charcoal cooking.

And with this new grill you get all the true "charcoal flavor" that makes outdoor cooking so delicious. Surprised? Charcoal flavor without charcoal? Read on.

HOW DO YOU GET "CHARCOAL FLAVOR" WITHOUT CHARCOAL?

PROFESSIONAL CHEFS KNOW THE SECRET

They know that charcoal itself has neither odor nor flavor. (If you don't mind a little dirt, make the "sniff-test" and see for yourself.)

What we call "charcoal flavor" is really the result of meat fat and juices dripping on hot coals or briquets. As they are converted into smoke, the smoke rises with the heat and penetrates the meat or whatever else is cooking on the grill. This is the way the char-broiled steaks of famous restaurants are cooked. Now you can cook the same way with the same luscious results right on your own patio.

CORN GROWERS CAUTIONED AGAINST OVER-OPTIMISM

Feed grain producers who have a mistaken notion that the Food for Freedom program could call for increased corn production and exports this year would do well to examine the facts and then file an application to take part in the 1966 feed grain program, according to Orville E. Bostick, Chairman of Mississippi's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee.

To put the record straight, the chairman emphasized that the Department of Agriculture continues to urge full participation in the 1966 feed grain program. India, where the food situation is desperate in some sections, received 4,600,000 bushels of U. S. corn during the year 1964. This is equal to about one bushel for each thousand bushels produced in the U. S. last year. The people of India, together with those in most of the other food-deficit areas, are not corn eaters. They eat rice when they can get it and fall back on wheat and in some cases grain sorghum if rice is not available.

So suggested changes in U. S. crop production, indicated in President Johnson's Food for Freedom message to Congress and his directives to Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, call for increases only for rice (a 10 per cent boost in the acreage allotment) and action to encourage the production of soybeans on acreage scheduled to be planted to feed grains under the feed grain program.

U. S. production of corn last year was a record 4,171,000,000 bushels. And feed grain stocks are more than sufficient. For 1965-66, the U. S. corn supply is set at 5,342,000,000 bushels, 4 per cent larger than in 1964. The total supply of corn would have been much higher if farmers had not diverted from production last year some 25,000,000 acres of corn under the feed grain program.

Despite an increase in feed grain exports, the total supply is entirely adequate to supply domestic needs and exports, and leave a substantial carryover at the time the 1966 crop is harvested. The exports of corn are used principally for livestock feed and not as food for people.

The Secretary previously had suspended the option for voluntary diversion of additional spring wheat program.

Chairman Bostick urged growers to consider all the facts carefully. The sign-up will end April 1, 1966.

COTTON GROWERS REMINDED OF 1966 SIGN-UP DEADLINE

Cotton farm operators were reminded of the fast-approaching deadline for signing up to take part in the 1966 upland cotton program. The last day for filing a program application is Friday, April 1.

Emphasis is placed on the importance of signing up before the deadline. Program benefits include diversion payments and price support payments in addition to the regular cotton price support loan. But all program benefits, including the cotton loan, will be available only to farmers who sign up and then carry out the intentions indicated in the application.

APRIL 1, 1966 FINAL DATE TO RELEASE COTTON

April 1, 1966 is the final date to release cotton acreage. Just as in past years, if a farmer does not plant or release his cotton acreage or participate in the domestic cotton program, he will lose part of his history acreage.

G.A.'s Have Mission Study On Panama

Member of the 11 and 12 year old Girls' Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church met in the E. O. Roden home Thursday afternoon for a mission study on Panama. Pictures, Panamanian fruits and maps decorated the living room and den and gave a Panamanian atmosphere. Recordings of music from Panama and sounds of the jungle plus interviews with natives also helped to create the Panamanian atmosphere.

Joyce Dickerson gave a "Call to Prayer" and Barbara Moore led in the opening prayer. Mrs. Roden, Girl's Auxiliary counselor, taught the mission study book "Guaymi Boy".

The group enjoyed sandwiches, potato chips, cookies and cokes.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

My dear wife died a year ago. Now there's just myself and my little daughter Janice. Don't feel sorry for us, though, because we're managing pretty well.

Last year when the blow came, I admit I went to pieces. We'd only lived in the neighborhood for a few weeks, and it's hard to say what would have happened if it hadn't been for our church. Suddenly I was surrounded by friends. The minister came at once with convincing words of comfort that helped me to face life again. His wife alerted other members and they brought meals, laundered clothing, took care of Janice, and ultimately found the wonderful elderly housekeeper we have now.

I had never given much thought to the meaning of Christian fellowship. Today I know that miracles of kindness can result when people unite in following the "perfect pattern" of self-sacrifice and unquestioning love.
