Construction Worker Killed Wed. In Fall From Jumpertown Water Tank

A 21-year-old construction worker was killed Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock when he fell while working on the water tank for the Jumpertown Water System.

Tommy Chapman of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., and a fellow crew worker were painting the inside of the water tank when Mr. Chapman fell from a scaffold 20 to 30 feet to the bottom of the tank and then plunged an additional 100 feet thru the large pipe 2 feet in diameter to the base of the construction.

Mr. Clifford Smart, president of the Jumpertown Water Association, said he understood that the men had come out once because of the fumes inside the tank. He further stated that the co-worker with him said Mr. Chapman didn't make a sound . . . that he didn't know he had fallen until he heard him hit the bottom of the tank and that he believed he was overcome with fumes.

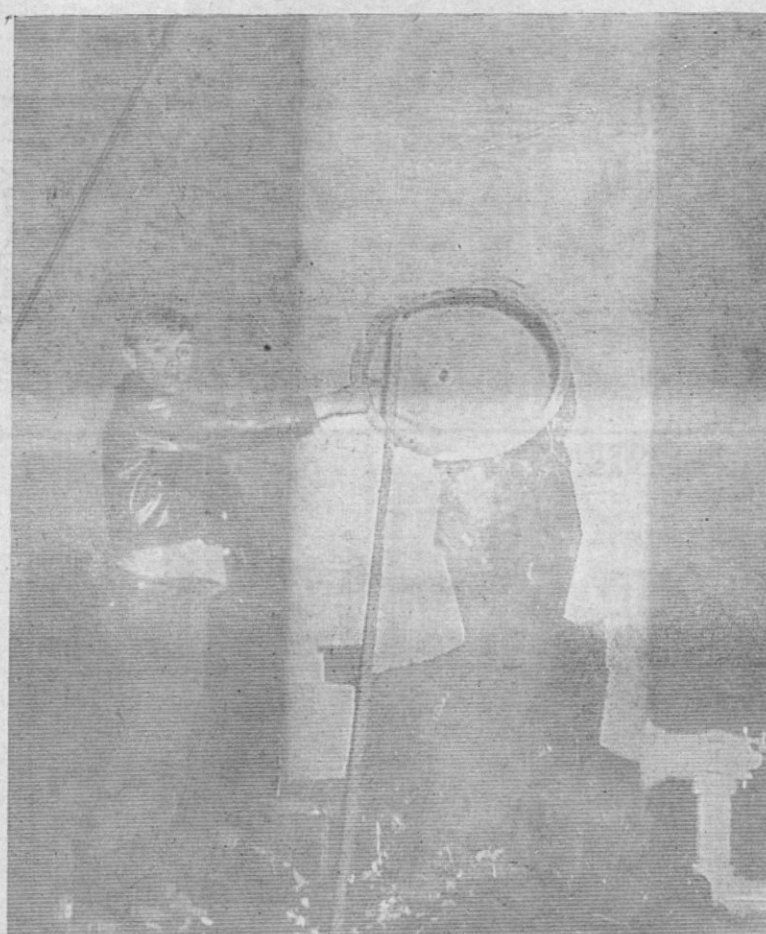

Contractor for the project was R. D. Cole Company of Georgia. There were six members in the crew and work was nearing completion, after having been started approximately 3 weeks ago.

Mr. Chapman's body caught on a piece of steel near the bottom of the pipe and co-workers pulled him out through an opening in the side. McMillan Funeral Home brought him to the Northeast Mississippi Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

North Funeral Home of Lawrenceburg, Tenn. will be in charge of services.

It was understood that Mr. Chapman was married and that they were expecting a child shortly after Christmas.

Gerald James, who lives near the site of the new Jumpertown water tank, points to the hole from which fellow workers pulled Mr. Chapman's body after he fell to his death Wednesday afternoon. The pipe, which is approximately 100 feet high, leads from the inside of the large tank which Mr. Chapman was painting.

Blackland, Marietta, Pisgah Is Order Of Placing In County RCDC Contest

The Blackland RCDC was selected winner of First Place in the County RCDC contest for 1966.

Marietta won Second and Pisgah Third. These communities were honored at the 14th Annual Recognition and Awards program at the Northeast Junior College cafeteria Monday night.

A record crowd was in attendance. Gene Triggs, Director of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board of Jackson, was the principal speaker.

John Walden, president of the Booneville Civitan Club presented the award to the Blackland Club. Mrs. Quay Michael, president of the Pilot Club, presented the award to the Marietta Club.

E. B. Gifford, Jr., Vice-President of the Lions Club, presented the award to the Pisgah Club.

In his address Mr. Triggs reminded the group of the many changes which are taking place in our nation and the world almost every day, and of the rapidly increasing population to be fed.

He said, "This presents a great challenge to the farmer and other businessmen in planning and working together to meet the future needs which are developing through these changes."

He told the group that during his tours through South America and Europe to promote the marketing of Mississippi products in these areas, some of the people in these countries were asked what part of the world could best supply the increasing needs of the world, and that most of these people told him that Mississippi has the greatest potential and development possibilities of any other place, and it is up to us to make the most of it.

Mr. Triggs closed his talk with a poem well suited for the occasion, "This is a Beginning of a New Day."

Three Members Of Family Die In Accident Friday Morning

A tragic accident early Friday morning claimed the lives of a young Prentiss County couple and their 4-year-old son when the pickup truck the father was driving turned over and burst into flames after a tire blew and two wheels came off.

Harold Walden, 30, his wife, Linda, 22, and their son, Tony, 4, died in the wreckage, but two little girls, Berry Jo, 3, and Margaret, 2, were pulled from the flaming vehicle by two Lee County Negroes, George Jordan and Otis Lee Jones.

The accident occurred about 8:30 one mile south of Shannon on Highway 45. The family was enroute from Booneville to Starkville in a pickup truck belonging to C. R. Nunley. The truck was filled with ear corn.

It was reported that Vaughn Hood witnessed the accident and said the wheels came off and the truck started sliding down the highway and burst into flames before coming to a stop on its side.

The Negroes, in a heroic effort, got the little girls out and took them a safe distance from the fire but were unable to rescue the others due to the fact that the truck cab was in flames. Traffic was blocked for more than a mile as firemen chopped the top of the cab in order to free the bodies of the victims.

Joint funeral services were held Sunday December 11th at 2 o'clock for the family at the Liberty Methodist Church with Brother Lay and Brother J. L. Gore officiating.

In addition to the two daughters, Berry Jo and Margaret, Mr. Walden is survived by his mother, Mrs. Hattie Walden of Booneville, Route 1; three brothers, Carol, of Route 1, Roy and Troy of Booneville and one sister, Catherine Walden, at home.

Mrs. Walden, in addition to the daughters, leave her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Michael of Booneville, Route 4; three brothers, Columbus of Rienzi, Junior of Route 4, and Danny Lee, at home; five sisters, Ruby Barron of Cicero, Ill., Mary Lewellen of Chicago, Ill., Neva Trantham of Route 4, Barbara Ann Michael and Bobbie Nell Michael, at home.

Planning Commission Corner

We've been talking about planning. We have a plan, although we don't have the necessary instrument to effectuate the plan. That instrument is zoning. Zoning is the regulation of the use of all our industrial, commercial, and residential land.

How do we get a zoning ordinance? After legal notices defining the areas according to a map which accompanies the ordinance text, public hearings if any, our mayor and board of aldermen have the power to adopt the plan as an enforceable ordinance.

Our industrial district is the workshop of our community from which the major part of our wealth originates. We designate light industrial and heavy industrial in the zoning, with careful consideration of accessibility to highway and rail, power lines, room for expansion. Three or four types of residential zoning are indicated, with reasonable protection of homeowners through lot size, construction, and pleasant, wholesome living.

The central business district requires room for parking, means of eliminating congestion, limiting some operations that deter healthy business district growth.

"What, in your opinion, is the single most important project, activity, or thing, which, if carried out, would make Booneville and Prentiss County a better place in which to live and do business?"

Goodfellows Program Saturday Night To Help With Christmas For Needy

"Some child will be happy on Christmas Day because the Goodfellows will make it possible", said Chairman M. W. Smith, in urging everyone in Prentiss County to join in the program on Saturday night, December 17th beginning at 8 o'clock at the Prentiss County courthouse.

The goal is $3,000 with 50% of this already pledged by the Community Fund. However, it will take a lot of contributions, large and small, to raise the additional amount and it will take the cooperation of everyone including the schools and civic organizations.

Goodfellows plan to make Christmas happy for the needy children and the baskets will include toys, candy, fruit and nuts. There will be a screening committee which will try to see that only those deserving baskets will receive them.

Not only at Christmas, but all during the year, Goodfellows are called upon to help needy families buy groceries, medicine and clothing and to help pay expenses of transportation to hospitals and clinics where they may receive free medical care. Transients coming through Booneville ask for the price of a meal and sometime, bus fare. The Goodfellow program is a year round program, but the biggest emphasis is at Christmas.

Entertainment will be at it's best with R. J. (Piggy) Bonds in charge. Those wishing to assist may call him.

Remember, while you are making plans for you and your family, to include a gift to the Goodfellow and a visit to the Courthouse to take part in the program . . . otherwise there may be a child without anything on Christmas Day.

Prentiss ASCS County News

By CHARLES E. CALVERT, Office Manager

ASC County Committee Named

Farmers recently elected to serve as the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation (ASC) county committee for the following year include: Willie Hatfield, Chairman, Community D; Mathel L. Taylor, Vice-Chairman, Community E; Troy Scott, Regular Member, Community G; Ellis Glover, First Alternate, Community C; and Athel Smith, Second Alternate, Community B.

The election was held at a county convention December 12, 1966 at the Prentiss County Electric Power Association Building; electors were farmers chosen as convention delegates at recent ASC county committee elections throughout the county.

Chairman Hatfield points out that the ASC county and community farmer-committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the agricultural conservation program, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, the national wool program, commodity loans, and storage facility loans.

The ASC county office at Booneville is headquarters for the county committee and serves as the farmers' local contact for business connected with participation in the programs administered by the committees.

Cropland Adjustment Program Signup Now Under Way

Through December 8, 1966, three farmers in Prentiss County had filed applications under the 1967 Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP) calling for the diversion of about 34 acres of cropland. The program is directed toward diverting acreages of certain crops in plentiful supply into some long-term conservation or public use. Signup of farmers for next year's program began on Dec. 1, 1966. CAP adjustment payment rates for designated crops are related to the values of crops normally produced on the land and the productivity of the acreages put in the program. Payments will be determined by the number of acres diverted and the farm yield per acre.

The CAP adjustment rate for corn land in Prentiss County for 1967 is 56 cents per bushel, and the rate for grain sorghum is 44 cents per bushel. The rates for these two feed grains vary by counties. Other allotment-crop rates per pound are the same for all counties and include 6 cents for cotton and 4 cents for peanuts.

After placing all of the base acreage of one or more of the above crops or the entire farm base in the program (except that a small acreage may be planted to corn or grain sorghum for home use), farmers may include other row-crop and small grain acreage.

Besides the adjustment payments CAP participants are also eligible for conservation cost-sharing on land put under the program.

CAP agreements cover 5 to 10 years.

USDA Announces 1967 Greenspan; Increases Assistance Rates

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a continuation of Greenspan for 1967 with increased rates for assistance to State and local governments in acquiring cropland for non-farm uses such as public recreation and open spaces. The generally higher rates for assistance, except for the purchase of cotton land, reflect the improvement in the prices of crops grown on the land. The increased rates apply to acreages of those crops in plentiful supply or for which there is a continuing surplus potential.

Greenspan is part of the Department's Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP) authorized as Title VI of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965. CAP provides for adjustment payments and conservation cost-sharing to farmers agreeing to move land out of certain crops into conserving uses for periods of 5 to 10 years.

The Greenspan provision of CAP authorizes equivalent help to public entities—local, state, or federal—desiring to buy cropland for permanent conversion to nonfarm uses such as the preservation of open spaces and natural beauty, wildlife habitat and recreation, and the prevention of air and water pollution.

Although Greenspan did not actively get underway until late last spring, about 6 weeks before the end of the fiscal year deadline for applications, 14 agreements were signed with state and local governments in 8 states. Nine applications have been received and one approved under the 1967 program.

First to be approved for 1967 was for Lafayette County, Florida, to help buy 249 acres of cropland in a 533 acre Suwannee River Tract acquired for conservation to an outdoor recreation area. A federal grant of $29,481.77 was made toward the total purchase price of $90,000, plus conservation cost-share assistance of $5,803. Cost-sharing ranges up to 50 per cent of the cost of establishing the conservation practices needed.

Altogether, 15 Greenspan grants now provide $83,086 for land purchases and $27,408 for cost-sharing conservation measures. This assistance has gone to towns, cities, counties, state departments of conservation, county conservation boards, and school districts in Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Texas, Utah, and Wisconsin.

Greenspan projects undertaken in this extension of protected conservation benefits to the public include: Ponds for swimming, boating, and fishing, wildlife areas, nature area and trails, children's playgrounds, camping and picnic area, an outdoor civic stage, an outdoor science laboratory, football practice fields, baseball and softball diamonds, basketball, and badminton courts, and golf courses. The 1967 rates of assistance in acquiring cropland for such recreation areas and open spaces under Greenspan will be based as in 1966 on the smaller of 50 per cent of the cost of the land diverted from crops or what a farmer would have received under a 10-year CAP agreement. For land that would otherwise be in corn the national average rate will be 50 cents per bushel of productivity, or about $37.50 per acre. The 1966 average rate for corn acreage was 40 cents per bushel, or about $28 per acre.

The 1967 national average rate for grain sorghum acreage will be at the rate of 42 cents per bushel of productivity, compared with a 1966 rate of 34 cents. For cotton acreage, the rate will average 6 cents a pound; for peanut acreage, 4 cents a pound; and for tobacco, 8 to 15 cents, depending upon the kind of tobacco. Under the 1966 program the per pound rates for cotton, peanuts, and tobacco were 6 cents, 3.5 cents, and 6 to 12 cents respectively.

Rates for other eligible cropland will average $8 per acre, compared with $5 per acre under the 1966 program. Wheat, rice, and barley acreages are included under this group rate instead of having individual rates as for 1966.

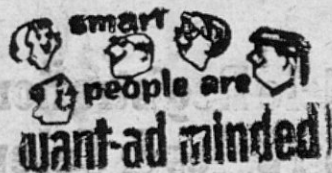

State or local officials, farmers and other persons interested in details of the 1967 Greenspan program should call, write, or visit their local county or State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

EXAMPLE AND CHALLENGE

So many people think the world is upside down and a little crossways. It might be us instead of the world. We have a fine Guide Book to go by if we should decide to use it—the Holy Bible. It has all the recipes for all good things and for all the straight roads. Judah was carried into captivity for several years and things looked mighty dark to the people, but the hard times developed some very strong men. Daniel dared to be different and dared to do right and he has been an inspiration to thousands. Nehemiah proved to be trustworthy, a great benefactor to his people and he set a wonderful example in the field of practical sense. Nehemiah was the cupbearer to the king, with the responsibility of serving him wine. To hold this position he must be trustworthy. The king did not belong to his people, but Nehemiah was as true to him as a needle to the point. Later the king trusted him to go back to Jerusalem, rebuild the walls and bring the people back together in worship. Nehemiah brought to his people reason and inspiration, and rebuilt the walls of Jerusalem in only 52 days. Ezra was the educated man with a double portion of dedication. He gathered the fragments of the Bible, and made it a logical unit so that the people could read and study the Lord's will. Here we have the faith and courage of Daniel, the trustworthy, dependable and practical application of Nehemiah, and the education and dedication of Ezra in this perilous time of Babylonian captivity. These same traits of character exemplified by just three men could give us a different world now if utilized.

LOSE ONE WELL KNOWN

The passing of Sam Loveless took from our midst one of our best known men. He was a family man and devoted to a large family group. He was not afraid of hard work, believed in paying his debts, and in doing his part in his community. A friendly man and a good citizen, he made many friends and he and his family have helped to make the community secure.

WELL-WISHES TO A GREAT MAN

All Americans and peoples of other countries, too, are glad to know that President Eisenhower withstood his gall bladder operation all right and is doing well. He demonstrated his outstanding ability as a general in World War II and made a good president of the United States. His knowledge, wisdom and advice is very valuable at this time. Eisenhower is able, reasonable, and he loves the people and his nation. We wish for him an early and a complete recovery. We are right now reading an autographed copy of WAGING PEACE, Eisenhower's most recent book. The more you know of the General, the bigger he gets to be. Booneville's beloved and native son, George Ed Allen, has been such a close friend of Mr. Eisenhower for many years. Both are very great men of this nation.

WINNERS

Cordial congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Asberry Windham on receiving the $1000.00 check from the Sunflower Food Store. This check from Sunflower will furnish a lot of sunshine to a fine couple, and we are sure it has made them very happy. They will spend it wisely and to good advantage. Their road across the years at times has been pretty rugged, but they have met the responsibility in a fine manner. For years Asberry faithfully and dependably drove a school truck, and he never failed to meet the challenge and needs of citizenship to the best of his ability. We'd like to thank Sunflower for bringing happiness to a deserving couple.

PROFIT FROM GOOD FOOD

We have always had men who could make the very finest of sorghum molasses to be found anywhere and now our county seems to be mass-producing a molasses that is uniform and mighty good. We also have some "PhD's" in the curing of country hams but have not been able to profit to a great extent commercially because it has not been possible to produce in large numbers. Some say our weather is a drawback—but we still think it can be done. The frozen food locker has been able to save multiplied thousands of pounds of meat from the perils of warm weather. This is a tremendous saving, especially with the high price of bacon. Mass production of good bacon and good hams would bring money to the entire county. If the average farmer could sell just a dozen hogs, have them processed at a very good price, this would offer great advantage economically. Let us think along these lines.

CALLING ALL CUCUMBERS

And now Taylor Smith is being paged for a cooperative cucumber farm! The goal is for one hundred acres in this county, and there would not be much limit to the number of cucumbers one acre would produce if tilled, fertilized and cultivated just right. We believe it was Dr. W. A. Watson who told us a garden story in which cucumbers played a prominent part. We suppose this garden was in the vicinity of New Site. Anyway, this is the way it goes: A highly respected old man was very sick and just before he died he whispered to the eight sons standing close by. "There's a fortune in the garden." Now the sons had always suspected their father of having some large sum of money hidden away. The funeral was held on the very same day of the old man's passing, and hardly had the service been completed before shovels, post hole diggers and all other diggers were assembled. The digging began with faith and optimism. All one day it lasted, but the valued prize was not found. After a few days rest they began a deeper digging but no fortune was unearthed. Winter weather came on and the fortune hunt came to a standstill with the frozen earth. At last the sun appeared, the birds began to sing and facing all was the decision concerning what to do with the garden. Perhaps the father was delirious, or misunderstood in those fleeting moments by the death bed. All agreed to dig the plot one more time, close and deep, and if nothing could be found, they would fertilize it well and plant as in years past. Sure enough, planting had to be done, but somehow many rows of cucumbers were sown and some extra rows of early corn. Soon garden vegetables were on their way. The corn, planted by mistake by the light of the moon, shot up so high the sun could hardly rise except by backing up over the potato patch. Cucumber vines raced across the ground so fast that its beautiful symmetry and color was marred. After another family council the eight sons concluded that there really was after all a fortune in the garden—if dug deeply enough, properly fertilized, planted and cultivated.

With the versatile cucumber Prentiss County may increase its income substantially.

Census figures show that 30 per cent of the female population of the United States is over 55 years of age.

In smaller cities the percentage is often much higher, running up to 50 per cent in some communities.

To the retailer or service firm, the import of the number of mature women in a community cannot be overstated. The significance has been examined by various market researchers. About the woman over 55, it has been found:

She has more money to spend as she pleases than any other segment of the population.

She does more buying for other people than anyone else.

She, surprisingly, is more apt to try a new product than younger people or men.

She is not attracted to advertising designed to appeal to people of other age groups.

She does approximately 80 per cent of the buying for men in her age group.

Her image of what she is, and what she would like to be, is entirely different from the romantic image of youth.

She has more faith in advertising claims than other publics, but she is more likely to hold advertisers to their claims than other consumers.

To her, guarantee means guarantee.

She has more leisure time, more need for services, more time to eat out, to travel and to participate in varied activities than any other female or male.

She is a careful pre-shopper, who habitually relies on her local newspaper for guidance and suggestions.

The moral should be obvious to the retailer who seeks a share of this immense and growing market.

made to do anything about the disease. Now, however, we use muscle relaxers and some surgery, in the early phase of the trouble. Physical therapy and good nursing are helpful and surgical possibilities should be investigated if discovered early. Younger people usually respond well to surgery if applied in the early stages of the disease.

Public Relations Notebook

By Neil Woodruff, Asst. Professor of Journalism, MSCW

In the multitude of jobs which must be filled by workers, each person is continually striving to do a good job in whatever position he holds and then move up to a better one. In our society this 'work your way up' system has proved quite satisfactory.

Education, of course, has created some short-cuts for the college graduate. But even in this area, competition is becoming keener and keener. The job that a person does settle down to will determine his relationship patterns with other persons.

Businesses are striving more and more to determine just what type of job a person is most suited for within particular companies. This is accomplished through extensive and intensive testing of many varieties. Psychological tests are administered. Personal depth interviews are conducted. Business may be overdoing the testing routine in many areas. They are only dealing with human beings.

One management consultant firm in Chicago has reached an interesting conclusion through its research into job analyses. It discovered that the bright, happy, sociable, well dressed and stable employee probably is a misfit. A realistic job analysis, they found, will likely uncover few positions filled by the All-America type.

Business often fails to analyze the jobs they have available in terms of what personality characteristics they will require. Instead, most tend to look for the garden-variety perfect employee. By doing so, they may miss really valuable prospects.

It appears that companies are trying to find round pegs for round holes when neither the pegs nor the holes are without special facets. The trick in this job-fitting game is to put the unusual man into a job made to order for his idiosyncrasies. It's just good business.

Companies that have been using tests to knock out prospects on the grounds they are not psychologically fit may be applying irrelevant standards. For example, highly creative people do not usually show up as very well adjusted through depth testing techniques.

Amiability or a happy home life may be irrelevant if a man is needed for a research project requiring long hours and the solitude of statistical analysis. Likewise, a man separated from his wife may be a good prospect for a traveling position.

Business And Professional Women's Club Has Christmas Party On December 8th

The Business and Professional Women's Club met in the dining room of the Town Motel Restaurant on December 8th for their annual Christmas Party.

The room was beautifully decorated with gala arrangements of red carnations and holly. The speaker's table and each individual table was centered with arrangements of holly encircling a lighted candle. These lovely decorations were arranged by Lillian Gaines, Dona Gaines and Mrs. Syble Moore.

Many guests were present, including several husbands of the members, since each member could invite a guest for the occasion. The guests were welcomed by the Club President, Mrs. Jerry Floyd, after being introduced by the person who invited them.

Mrs. Billy Hester presented Mrs. Jerry Floyd, Club President, a gift of appreciation for all her services during the year.

Mr. Billy Hester gave the invocation.

Those present enjoyed a delicious meal. Lewis Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Moore, was introduced by Mrs. John Skinner, as the Student of the Month.

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. Sale Martin, was introduced by Miss Christine Maxey. Both Mrs. Martin and Miss Maxey are members of the Northeast Miss. Junior College faculty. Mrs. Martin told the story "Where Love Is, There Is God, Also," a Christmas story by Tolstoy. She held the group's attention every moment as she told of the Old Shoemaker, who entertained Jesus in his shop during the Christmas season by helping those who needed help. Mrs. Martin quoted the Bible passage, "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me." She also quoted from the Bible another scripture, "For I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat; I was a stranger, and ye took Me in; Naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and

Fine Arts and Home Life Department Has Woman's Club Christmas Program

The Woman's Club met Thursday at the Town Motel to present their Christmas program from the Fine Arts and Home Life Department, with Mrs. Jack Dubard, director.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Marvin Smitherman, Mrs. W. E. Johnson, Mrs. J. W. Hollandsworth, and Mrs. S. C. Galloway, who planned the meeting with a reverent theme, which was threaded throughout the details of the lovely and significant hospitality.

The Club Collect was led by Mrs. W. R. Richerson, after which Mrs. Webster Cleveland, president, conducted a brief business session during which time a generous offering was collected for the Golden Age Fund.

The newly decorated dining room was the background for an impressive setting, observing the colors, white and gold. The gold predominant suggested the journey of the Three Wise Men to Bethlehem.

The subject of the program, which was ably directed and presented was "Christmas in Scripture and Song in Music". The selections were from Handel's Messiah, with a recording from the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. The background music repeated the words of the Scriptures, with Mrs. D. F. Crowe, the Prophecy Reader; Mrs. Robert McMillan, the Annunciation Reader; Mrs. Robert Buchberger, the Nativity Reader and Mrs. Jack Dubard, the Shepherds Reader. Telling the story articulately, each rendition was beautifully and inspiring presented contributing significantly to the charm of Christmas.

Probably no other theme in literature, history and religion or art has inspired more music than Christmas. The program appealed to something elemental in all of us, which brought a deep and lasting joy.

A classic interpretation, the centerpiece of serene beauty was as fresh as the first snow, perfectly capturing the mood of elegance and spirituality. The long table, laid with a white cloth arranged for the presiding officers and speakers, was centered with a gold stylized tree completed at each end by a crystal candelabra with cut prisms. Each held a stately white candle imbedded in a cluster of golden balls. Encircling the tree were a group of miniature angels, shedding their radiance over the setting. The edge of the table was outlined with gold tinsel roping glittering with diamond dust.

A gold tree glowed in a corner dotted with shining blue ornaments. The individual tables were centered with lovely Christmas fantasies.

The tea table design was made of gold pine cones interspersed with tiny elves. A gold candelabrum centered the arrangement on a white Madeira cloth from which hot spiced tea was served with cut-out canapes deliciously representing the Christmas images and a variety of Christmas cookies.

A special tree made from the stark, bare branches of a tree drifted with snow was strung with iridescent ornaments, handmade by members as a contribution to the Library tree. This was among the worthy projects which were completed at this meeting.

Wheeler Homemakers Club Has Xmas Party

Mrs. Bill Mathis was hostess to the Wheeler Homemaker's Club for the annual Christmas party on Thursday night.

Featured under the dining arch was a white overlaid table on which was an open Bible, two lighted candles and the words, "Christmas Means More" in silver letters. Mrs. Mathis used this setting for a most impressive devotional. A delicious buffet dinner of chicken and dressing, peas, creamed potatoes, candied yams, baked apples, salad, pie and coffee was served.

Patrol Must Enforce State's Financial Responsibility Law

Some Mississippians learn the hard way that the Highway Patrol is required to rigidly enforce the state's financial responsibility laws. To date over 15,000 persons have had their driving privileges suspended for failure to comply. Al Richburg, Director of the Financial Responsibility Bureau of the Patrol, reports that the action stems from the fact that many people fail to have a valid liability insurance policy in force at the time of an accident.

Mississippi has what is termed a five year future proof law, requiring motorists to show proof of liability insurance coverage for five years after an accident if they had no coverage at the time. The official charged with enforcing this section of the law has to suspend the driver licenses and tags of persons who fail to comply in the manner provided for in the statute. The penalty, as required by state law, for failing to send in tags and driver license when ordered to do so, can be up to a $500.00 fine or 60 days imprisonment or both.

The law further provides that anyone caught operating a motor vehicle while under a current suspension can be held liable for up to a $500.00 fine or six months imprisonment or both. General T. B. Birdsong, Commissioner of Public Safety, says records show that the vast majority of Mississippi drivers comply with this section of the law as they do with others. "It is necessary to enforce this statute for the protection of our motorists who voluntarily comply," he said.

Computers at Patrol Headquarters are currently compiling an alphabetical listing of all persons under suspension for violations of this statute. This listing will be maintained at each Highway Patrol district sub-station and will be available to all law enforcement agencies.

Yule Spirit Abounds During Coffee At Cleveland Home Friday Morning

Merry-hearted guests with the joyful spirit of the Christmas gathered in the handsome contemporary home of Dr. and Mrs. Webster Cleveland, Jr., on Wildwood Drive for coffee on Friday morning. The group shared with Mrs. Cleveland, a charming holiday hostess, the concepts of her Yule theme, brimming with imaginative ideas and the modern version of cherished traditions, throughout every area of the spacious home, with impressive overtones in entertaining enriched by the magic of Christmas.

An exquisite wreath with a soft sheen hanging merrily on the front door was a symbol of welcome friendly and festive, with the hostess' own creative ideas there was a warm greeting in every velvet bow and under every sprig of holly.

Candles, fruit, and flowers, arranged beautifully kept in mind highly skilled in the arts and crafts. A conversation piece, the rug which was started on Valentine Day of this year, covered the floor like a fresh bouquet giving a distinct note of beauty and artistry for special occasion elegance. The square pattern "Summertime" brought the promise of the season with its center flowers, twisted chain and wreath of flowers. The large scroll border is interspersed with flowers with a perfect blend and balance. There is much variety in the arrangement and color harmonies and the shading, that every design is breath-taking in its beauty. The making of a rug is a fascinating study and it is an education in color and design. It serves a three-fold purpose, that of entertainment, instruction, and production. No other recreation offers such a concrete and useful object to show for the hours spent. Mrs. Cleveland's achievement in the making assisted by Dr. Cleveland, who helped and encouraged, is really an artistic triumph with its deep and exquisite coloring. She has adopted the best in scrolls and flower arrangement, giving each design the rhythm and grace which distinguished the pattern. In the roses there are six American Beauty shades and in the scrolls, six shades of green.

The dining table, with a snowy cutwork cloth as a background, was grouped in the center with pointsettias, a foil for the silver ensemble. Mrs. Stewart Vail filled cups from the silver service and served trays of ham biscuits, pecan tarts and an assortment of cookies with the holiday flavor.

A large bell was placed on the window made of gold mesh and a swag of Christmas flowers tied with fluffy bows of red and green. In the den the large fireplace of Georgian Marble was the center of hospitality. From the mantel board, strung with greeting cards, three red felt stockings applied with their children's names, Craig, Candy and Kerry and ornaments were hung for the lovely children who are looking for Santa.

The mantel shelves are a veritable treasure trove of family keepsakes in art objects and books. This interesting couple have a love of home and its sweet associations, that is idyllic.

A round table near the center of the fireplace held the children's tree in white, trimmed with small red stockings and cardinals, with gifts piled high under the tree.

On the wall was an original work of art designed by Dr. and Mrs. Cleveland of twelve plaques in green, red and white felt featuring the items mentioned in the popular song "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

An old fashioned organ, with intricate carving, which was a possession of Mrs. Cleveland's mother from childhood, suggested the family, earloping. On either side of the mirror were handmade Christmas ornaments, incased in glass, stemware and a decorated candle in a wreath of white flowers. Before the planter divider the harvest table was centered with an exquisite pink candelabrum with nine oval upright globes, cast a rosy glow from a base of dainty pink flowers and foliage.

The long expanse of the glass window wall affords a picturesque view, a winter wonderland scene, with the pines and the groves of the living Christmas trees on the distant hillsides.

Throughout the hours guests exchanged cordial greetings and expressions of good will for a merry Christmas.

Rites Held Tue. For Carlie W. Brackeen

Funeral services for Carlie Wilburn Brackeen of Iuka were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Little Flock Church with Rev. R. J. Townsend officiating. Burial was in the Tishomingo Memorial Gardens with McMillan Funeral Directors in charge.

Mr. Brackeen died suddenly Monday at his home. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church and a merchant. He was 63. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Carlie Brackeen, two sons, Billie E. Brackeen of Muscle Shoals, Ala., and Travis W. Brackeen of San Jose, Calif., a daughter, Mrs. Ned Yelverton of Huntsville, Ala.; two brothers, Pryor Brackeen of Rienzi and Price Brackeen of Booneville; three half-brothers, William Scott Brackeen of Memphis, Smith Brackeen of the U. S. Army and Eugene Brackeen of Midlothian, Ill.; three sisters, Mrs. Lula Chooch of Harrisburg, Pa., Mrs. Tommie Timmons of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Ethel Gargus of Booneville; a half-sister, Mrs. Irene Kennedy of Tharasher and seven grandchildren.

MR. AND MRS. B. F. WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. White Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary December 10

The home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. White was opened to a host of friends, neighbors, and relatives on Saturday afternoon, December 10, in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

At the door guests were greeted by Phyllis Crum, great niece of Mrs. White, who registered names along with gifts brought in the Golden Anniversary Book.

To greet guests as they arrived, Mr. and Mrs. White were seated behind a coffee table decorated with a golden arrangement of globe candles and artificial grapes.

When visits with the honored couple were complete the visitors were ushered into the dining room where the table was overlaid with beige lace. At one end stood a tall, white tiered cake with gold roses and topped by the traditional bride and groom arched with a gold 50. The centerpiece was a multi-colored floral arrangement with gold medallions as the leader. At the other end of the table stood a huge crystal punch bowl filled with golden punch. Mints, nuts, cookies, and coffee were also served along with the punch and cake.

Much gaiety followed the serving. Christmas carols rang out as all those present joined in singing. Festivities ended by the group singing the favorite hymns of the honored couple.

Calvary Baptist W.M.S. Meets

"Medical Missions in Jordan, Gaza, and Yemen" was the title of the program presented Monday night by the ladies of the Elizabeth Merritt Circle of the Calvary Baptist W.M.S. in the home of Mrs. Charles Rowan. Mrs. Charles Crabb was in charge of the program. Members of the Zelma Foster Circle also attended.

Mrs. Theoda Barnett gave the Call to Prayer. Mrs. Trent Grubbs led in prayer for the missionaries mentioned.

A short business meeting was held prior to the program. Mrs. Richard Harber gave plans for the December Community Mission. Mrs. R. C. Crabb, Stewardship Chairman, told interesting facts on the cooperative program.

Mrs. Charles Crabb read the scriptures taken from Matthew 10: 5-8. Others on the program were Miss Jessie Presley, who spoke on Jordan; Mrs. Grubbs on Gaza and Mrs. Harber on Yemen. Each lady told of the Baptist Medical Mission work being done in these countries. The program was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Crabb.

Mrs. Charles Rowan, president of the W.M.U. was presented with a Christmas gift by the members of the W.M.S. Mrs. Rowan served a delicious salad plate to the seventeen ladies present.

First Baptist W.M.U. Has Meeting Monday

The Mary Anderson Circle (formerly the Pearl Caldwell Circle) of the First Baptist W.M.U. met in the home of Mrs. A. V. Dixon on College Street Monday afternoon with twelve members present.

Following a business session of reports and plans, Mrs. O. L. Clark, prayer chairman, read scripture from 1 John 3:1-10 and prayed for missionaries having birthdays on the calendar of prayer.

Legion Observes Veteran's Day

Veteran's Day, November 11, 1966, was observed by the local American Legion Post 123 Legionnaires in old army style. First there was the meeting and greeting of "ole army buddies" and the renewing of old friendships and acquaintances. Then the swapping of tales and yarns from WWI to the present conflict in Viet Nam, some humorous, others sobering, and sometimes, sad.

At the eleven o'clock hour all assembled in the Home Auditorium where each listened most attentively as our comrade, Hon. Thomas H. Comer delivered a most impressive Veterans Day message. Comrade Comer likened the true Legionnaire and Veteran to the true Christian, in that, the true Christian never tires of learning more about Christianity, so is the true and working veteran eager to learn more and better ways in which to serve God and Country and the widows and orphans of his buddies. A great message, and our appreciation to Mr. Comer is extended. Our appreciation too, to the thoughtful and concerned business and individuals of the downtown area for placing Old Glory in its proper place for all to see on this memorable day. We consider your efforts as that of unquestionable loyalty and patriotism. Just a few will be listed here, as we may have missed some, and these are: Feldman's Dept. Store; Dickerson Furn. Store; J. E. Deaton's Grocery; Wright's Ladies Apparel; Ophelia's Beauty Shop; McGee's Gro. and Market; Gamble's Cafe; Gray's Dept. Store; The Ben Franklin Store; The Peoples Bank and Trust Company; The Bank of Miss.; Drs. Price and Simpson; Optometrists; The Villager; C. L. Billingsley; Tittle and Michael Barber Shop; Malcolm Carter, Ins.; Mrs. John Mahaffy; Mahaffy Furn. Co.; Vassar Ins. Agency; John H. Price Appl.; Ralph Stutts Ins.; Reinhold Lithographing and Printing Co.; Kuhn's Variety Store;

Duckworth's Rexall Drugs; Price's Jewelers; Booneville Hardware Co.; The Banner-Independent; Vera's Beauty Shop; Fred's Dollar Store; Vail and Baddour; Brown Seed & Implement Co.; Smith Drug Co.; and King's Dry Goods. To these we are grateful. Our thanks, also, to Comrade Homer C. Justice, King of the Mulligan Stew Makers, who did a great job.

For the Commander:

MINERALS CLIMB IN VALUE

Anyone pricing land these days knows that the old saying of "being dirt cheap" doesn't hold true any more — especially if the soil contains sand, gravel, ore, clays and a number of other common minerals being looked upon with favor in the state. Sand and gravel mining in Mississippi is at an all-time high. Last year's output increased eight per cent in volume and two per cent in value. Production was reported from 22 of the state's 82 counties. A new record in clay production was set during 1965, the increase being 13 per cent over 1964. Gains were reported in quantities of miscellaneous clay, fuller's earth, and bentonite, both used in manufacture within the state or sold outside the state.

4-H NEWS

By SANDRA S. HUSSEY

The many awards offered Mississippi 4-H boys and girls are based on the record book. Awards include medals, bonds, cash, scholarships, and trips.

Your 4-H record book is a summary of your progress and accomplishments in all your 4-H work. It should be accurate, clear and concise. Organize your book so it highlights the strong features that relate directly to the award program in which you are participating.

There's a difference between a record book and a 4-H memory book. You probably want to keep a memory book for such things as banquet programs, menus, ribbons, stories of each project for different years and souvenirs. But this kind of material is too bulky to include in a permanent record book.

Your record book must include a standard report form. This form is used by all states that submit records for national competition. It contains tables that help you to show accomplishments and progress.

Don't miss out on the awards. Start your record book now.

4-H and 1.5 by '75

Members and leaders of 4-H are playing a big part in Mississippi's "1.5 by '75" program of agricultural development. The state goal is farm production valued at $1.5 billion by 1975, an increase of 62 percent in a decade.

There are "1.5 by '75" goals for each major farm enterprise. Every county is developing local goals geared to its greatest agricultural opportunities.

Every 4-H member, whether he or she lives on a farm or in town, can help by becoming informed about "1.5 by '75" and telling others about it. This makes a good subject for a talk or demonstration, a newspaper story or a radio program. Local Extension Service agents have plenty of information about the program.

As 4-H'ers have done for more than a half a century, many members are demonstrating the latest improved methods of farming on their communities. Their families and others are learning to produce better products, more economically for greater income and higher standards of living.

Scientific principles, or "why" as well as "how", are stressed more than ever in 4-H Experiences in 4-H likewise develop self-confidence, leadership and good character.

The 4-H program helps young people to understand the importance of acquiring the best education possible. It helps them to see how income and living standards are closely related to educational levels. Many 4-H members make career decisions and begin proper preparation while they are young.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

WINTER GRAZING CARE

Good care will pay off in fescue and winter grazing areas. Don't neglect them! Two things ruin many areas of winter grazing. These are over-grazing and bogging. When the growth is grazed off, take the cows off. If there is growth still on the area, but the land is wet keep the cows off until the land dries out.

KEYS TO HIGHER DAIRY PROFITS

Higher production per cow is the first consideration in building higher dairy profits.

To get this higher production it is going to take better breeding, better feeding, better records and an adjustment in herd size to fit feed and labor available.

First, breed every cow that is worth milking to a bull of the same breed and raise all normal heifer calves. Good replacements are hard to find and when available, are high priced.

Second, feed every cow to her highest efficient production. Begin with home grown forage. Records show that dairymen feeding silage made more money than those relying on hay as the only stored roughage.

For better records, enroll the herd on DHIA and use the records for better management.

For greatest efficiency, the herd size must be balanced with labor and feed available. A small, well-managed herd is economically competitive today. The small or large herd poorly managed is not now competitive and never will be.

HOG LICE AND MANGE

Hog lice pierce the animals' skin and suck blood, causing the skin to become thick, cracked, tender and sore. Injury is most severe during the winter.

Common mange of hogs is caused by a tiny mite that burrows under the skin making thread-like tunnels up to one inch long. Mange caused the hogs to rub and scratch. The skin around eyes, ears and along the top of the neck and back becomes scurfy, inflamed, scabby, raw and cracked.

Mange is highly contagious and may spread rapidly through a herd. Both lice and mange can be easily controlled with lindane. Treatment is inexpensive and highly satisfactory. For detailed measures, come by this office.

Miss Evelyn Gandy, Commissioner of Public Welfare, said 118,949 payments in the amount of $4,775,068 were made to recipients of the public assistance programs in November 1966.

This was an increase of $112,162 from October. In Memoriam
Dr. Bernard Patrick

Veiled in the velvet softness of twilight
A muted violin sobs the last refrain;

A hummingbird sips nectar with delight
And wary winds are stirring in the rain.
There's a hush and stillness that lie in the flower beds,

The radiant dawn appears again at last
Flooding trees that stand with somber heads
Holding memories of raptures in the past.

Undisputed the form still dormant lies
Under star strewn skies and waning moon.

Death is an awakening . . . Brimming with boundless mirth

He holds aloft a scroll in the vaulted skies.
Rising above the sunlit seas and lagoons
His winged soul has drifted from the earth.

The Comforts of Home

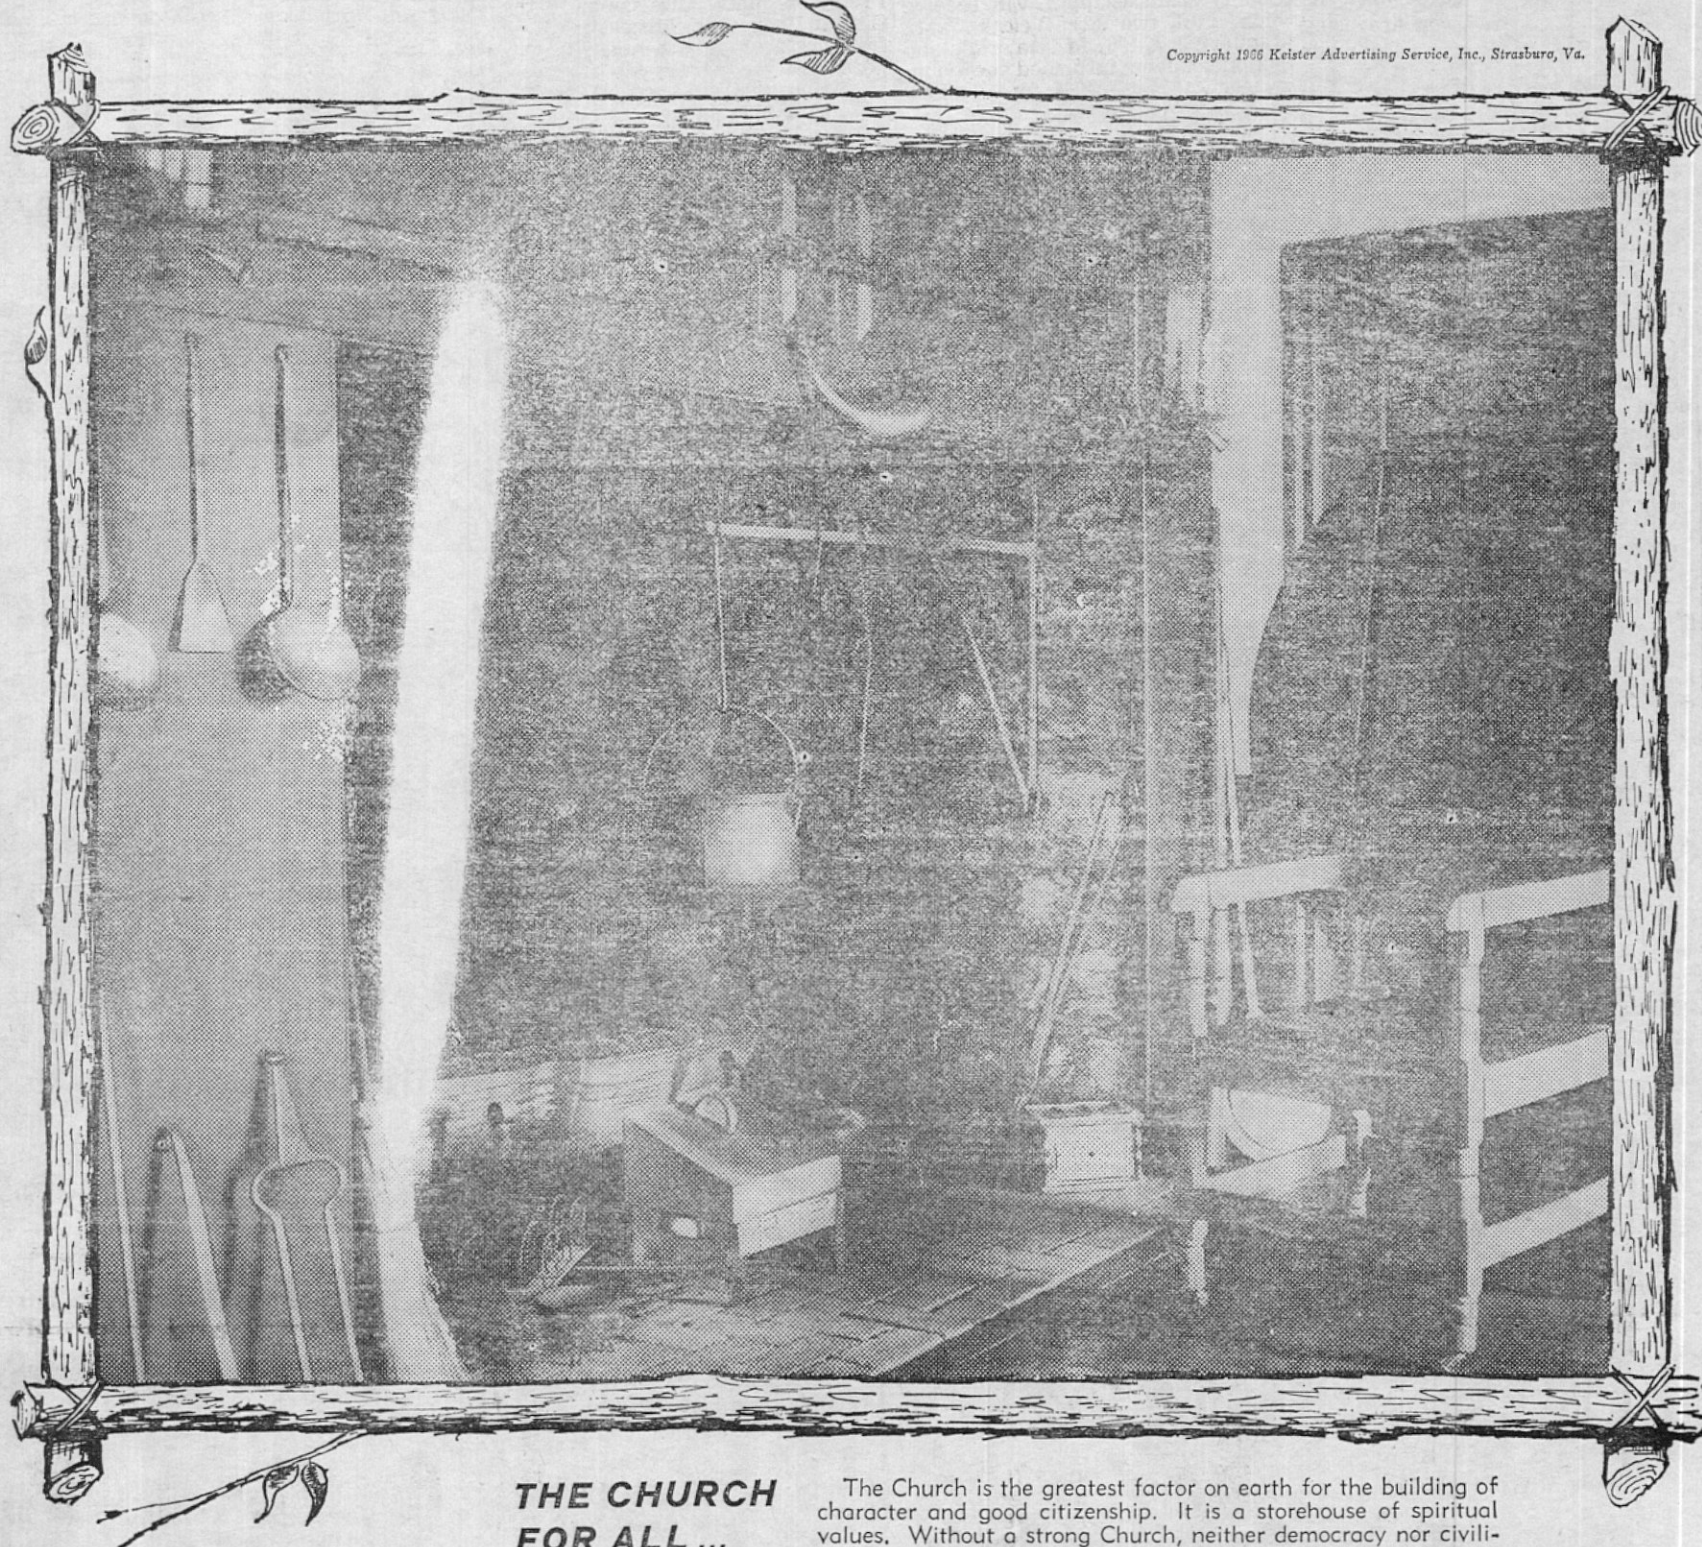

To our forefathers, this was living at its best
 ... but the hard chair, the iron pot and the open grate would not be our idea of comfort!

Today kitchens sparkle with bright, easy-to-clean metals, and cupboards are filled with helpful appliances. We relax in foam-padded chairs and sleep on spring-filled mattresses. Almost every aspect of modern life is slanted toward speed and convenience.

Man, with his marvelous God-created brain, has overcome many obstacles, and there seems to be no limit to his inventiveness. God has given us a world full of possibilities, and minds that constantly seek to improve our environment.

But to make the most of our opportunities, we must ever develop and renew the resolute "faith of our fathers." Come to church and with others receive that heritage of inspiration and light.

THE CHURCH
 FOR ALL ...

... ALL FOR
 THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church.
 They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake.
 (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support.
 Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
