Number Businesses In Prentiss County Shows 5.8% Increase

The growth and industrial development of Booneville, Mississippi, Prentiss County is reflected in statistics released by D. K. Kelley, District Manager of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., Memphis, Tennessee, which covers this area. Basing his facts on the physical count of the January, 1967 edition of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book, Kelley reports that in 1966, 203 businesses were listed in Booneville and 219 in Prentiss County. Today there are 215 listed in Booneville and 230 in Prentiss County. This represents an increase of 5.8 per cent in Booneville.

Mr. Kelley noted that this month Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., is sending requests for financial statements to almost three million businesses listed in the Reference Book. These statements are essential to the credit reports issued by the business information agency. The requests are sent to all businesses regardless of size, from the corner grocery to the million dollar manufacturer.

Because of the constant flux in the American business community, nearly 5,000 changes are now occurring daily in the Reference Book data. Thus the multi-volume book must be re-issued every two months to keep up-to-date credit facts in the hands of manufacturers and wholesalers. The credit report which stands behind each entry in the Reference Book contains such information as the firm's current payment record, history, ownership, operation, financial stability.

CLEARING THE TRACK — Railroad workers are busy getting the track open after 12 cars of a Gulf, Mobile and Ohio freight were derailed about three miles south of Booneville on Christmas Eve night. The southbound Number 29 carried a total of 204 cars. Railway investigators theorized that a drawbar between two cars loosened and dropped into the cross-ties causing the derailment. Two railroad cranes came in from Jackson, Tenn., and Meridian and one worked at each end of the wreck to get the track open Sunday night and the wreckage all cleared by Tuesday morning. Two of the derailed cars were loaded and 10 were empty, and a railroad spokesman estimated that damage to the cars and freight would not exceed $60,000. However, approximately 200 yards of track was damaged, and section crews, railroad officials and equipment operators had to give up their Christmas holidays because of the wreck.

Job Corps Has Attractive Offer

The local office of the Mississippi State Employment Service in Corinth is now accepting applications for interested young men in Job Corps training. Any interested person should contact this office as soon as possible and find out in detail how to become affiliated with this growing and useful opportunity.

Any male between the ages of 16 through 21, who find it difficult to obtain a job, or who might have difficulty in retaining one, should inquire about the training he could receive in a Job Corps center. If a person is a school dropout, he must have been out for three months or more at the time of application.

Job Corps training centers offer opportunities to learn a skill or trade so that he can become fully employable upon completion of the training period. These centers are located throughout the United States and offer excellent possibilities for those interested men who can qualify. Any interested person should contact the local Employment Office at 710 Fillmore Street in Corinth for further information.

Auto Inspection Period To Start

New Year's resolutions are not made by many people any more, but one thing still remains that motorists have to do anew each year—motor vehicle inspection. Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong expects the 1967 program to be the biggest yet. "The licensed stations have inspected almost one million automobiles and motorcycles this year," he said, "and we are planning for an increase of as many as 50,000 vehicles for 1967."

R. L. Morgan, Director of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Division of the Highway Patrol, reports that there are 1250 repair shops and garages presently licensed to conduct the annual safety checks. Under his supervision are thirteen agents throughout the state to aid the inspection points in their service to Mississippi motorists. "In 1967 we will check the same safety items as this year," Morgan said, "which includes brakes, lights, steering, tires, windshield wipers on the driver's side, horn and glass." The color scheme of the new stickers is to be black lettering on a magenta background.

The inspection fee is still $1.25, plus the cost of any needed repairs for the vehicle to pass the examination. General Birdsong is urging motorists to prepare their cars early. The items to be checked are necessary to the safety of drivers as well as passengers.

The inspection points will average checking almost 12,000 cars per day throughout the state. This figure will rise sharply if motorists continue to wait until near the end of the inspection period. "We hope that the people will take advantage of the 90 day opportunity and avoid the last minute rush. The stations are dispersed over the state so that every vehicle owner has am-

Harrison Arnold Honored During County Basketball Tournament

A special program between games at the Prentiss County High School basketball tournament Wednesday night, December 21, honored Coach Harrison Arnold, who taught school, mostly in this vicinity, for 44 years, during 37 of which he also coached basketball. Many of his former players and school associates were present in the Northeast Mississippi Junior College gym for the occasion. Coach Arnold not only had a long career in coaching, but also one of the most successful.

During his active coaching days he took a total of 16 teams to state tournaments, had two championships, three runners-up, and three third place finishers. His 1929 state champions from Wheeler went on to the National Interscholastic Basketball Tournament in Chicago and advanced to the semi-finals.

He coached at Wheeler for 27 years. He began his active career at Bluff School in Tiptah County and has also tutored budding cagers at New Site, Bynum, New Hope, Jumpertown, Baldwyn, Pontotoc, Booneville, Pine Grove, and Delta Junior College at Moorhead.

Among the hundreds of players he has coached were his brother, Bonner Arnold, former head basketball coach and present athletic director at Northeast Mississippi

Greatly Expanded Economy Still Has Much Momentum

Business And Financial Forecast

By Roger W. Babson

The close of 1966 marks the seventh consecutive month in the life span of the longest business boom of all time for the American economy. However, "trees do not grow to the sky." Already, signs of deterioration in the expansive vigor that characterized the earlier phase of the business upswing have been increasing in 1966. Hence, the outlook for business and finance in 1967 is of greater-than-usual importance.

Lest readers of this column be tempted to "push the panic button", however, let me state that it would be unwise to expect a major depression in 1967. Our greatly expanded economy still has a considerable degree of momentum. The spotlight on 1967, therefore, should focus upon those factors which are likely to cause a breathing spell in economic activity. Politicians and labor leaders have a phobia against even a hesitancy in business, and rush headlong into measures designed to treat a case of pneumonia with cold pills would be more appropriate.

1. Although business and financial problems loom large in the prospects for 1967, I must first warn readers that the greatest danger for the year ahead does not exist on the domestic front. Surely it will be developments abroad that will hold the gravest threat to our country. These could be economic as well as military or political.

2. I foresee no war between the United States and Russia in 1967. However, tensions between the two world powers may seem to reach the breaking point as the Kremlin "goes all out" to create diversions to our efforts in Vietnam. Look for Moscow to throw salt on festering wounds in the Middle East, Africa, and Germany.

3. I am also hopeful that a direct clash between Red China and the U. S. can be avoided in 1967. Internal dissensions are rampant throughout Mainland China, and a great scramble for power is in full swing. Sabre-rattling may help to unify the people; but pressing problems of low productivity, plus the demands of her nuclear program, should restrain Red China from direct attack upon the U. S.

4. The struggle for leadership of the Communist world camp will continue unabated throughout 1967. Full political attack will be mounted by the Kremlin against Peking. It will be touch and go, however, whether Russia can persuade her wavering satellites to sign a final manifesto reading Red China out of the Party.

5. Recent elections in West Germany have fanned the embers of nationalism into a tiny flame. This has surely thrown a scare into the Russian leaders. I predict that they will take a harder line against Germany in 1967 than in some time. I feel that we should particularly watch General de Gaulle, who is playing closer and closer to Moscow from month to month.

6. Heavily armed with Soviet weapons, the Arabs of the Middle East—squared off against Israel—present a grave threat to world peace. Nevertheless, I do not believe that Russia or the United States can afford a direct confrontation at this time; hence my forecast that the smoldering conflagration there will not erupt into World War III.

7. While all reasonable people are hoping for a genuine peace in Vietnam, I predict that the issue will not be resolved in 1967. Though the tide of battle is swinging in our favor, we may be forced to increase our commitment in order to retain this upper hand.

8. I predict, therefore, that military spending will be raised in 1967. This can help soften the impact of any easing in the private sector of the economy.

9. Turning now to domestic conditions, I foresee a definite deceleration in business activity in 1967. The fantastic boom in need of a rest. Instead of the strong upturn of recent years, I look for a high level of industrial production early in the year; but unless some new stimulus is introduced, I fear that a cresting-over pattern is likely to develop as 1967 progresses.

10. I forecast a continuation of the tug of war between inflation and deflation in 1967. Tight credit, and increased productive capacity resulting from the flood of business capital expenditures in recent years, are deflationary. However, I can see no substantial relief from the inflation in labor and other operating costs. In short, we can have "cost-push" inflation co-existing with deflation.

11. A key factor in the business and financial outlook for 1967 is taxes. With defense outlays climbing, I look for a rise in corporate and personal taxes in 1967. Moreover, I forecast that various levies at the state and local levels will continue to increase.

12. The tightening tax squeeze on all fronts will worsen as the year advances. And there will be rising complaints from both businessmen and employees that social security taxes are becoming unbearable.

13. Results of the recent elections indicate that the headlong run of the Great Society Program must take a breather along with the economy. Gains scored by the Republicans have alerted the balance of power sufficiently to force a more sober look in public spending.

14. One of the primary reasons for expecting a deceleration in the economy is the likelihood that business capital expenditures may ease. Tight credit, suspension of accelerated depreciation guidelines, and suspension of the tax credit on business capital outlays will be tough obstacles to surmount.

15. Except in defense industries, I look for an abrupt switch during 1967 from a business policy of inventory accumulation to one of inventory liquidation.

16. I forecast that scarcity of credit will continue to be a problem with which business must contend in the early part of 1967. The money managers should keep enough credit available for legitimate business needs, but I expect no early radical easing of credit.

17. However, I do foresee enough of an easing in credit to permit more orderly monetary conditions. If the economic situation falters badly, money rates will, of course, move downward sharply.

18. I predict that commercial and industrial building will trend lower in 1967, reflecting the tapering off in capital outlays.

19. Mortgage money should remain scarce in 1967. Hence, residential building should see another disappointing year.

20. 1967 opens with the building of single homes in a state of crisis. Starts are down over 40% from year-earlier levels. As a result, I forecast that the Administration will leave no stone unturned to stimulate construction of houses as soon as possible. At best, however, it may be mid-year or after before this important part of our economy can contribute much strength to over-all business.

21. Although new housing starts may remain in the doldrums for most of 1967, I confidently forecast that the year will see the beginning of a great boom in the construction of new, modern nursing homes.

22. Despite President Johnson's request for cutbacks, public construction should enjoy a fairly good year; the emphasis will be on bridges, dams, and water and sewer systems.

23. The expected declines in residential building and in commercial and industrial building notwithstanding, I forecast that waterfront property will remain a good inflation hedge.

24. Labor stands at the crossroads as the new year opens. Things never looked better for nailing down record wage and fringe gains; however, neither the public nor the Congress is in any mood to tolerate long, costly, and inconvenient shutdowns. I freely predict that there is more likelihood in 1967 of restrictive labor legislation than at any time since Taft-Hartley was put on the books. Union chiefs are aware of this, and they may act with more strike restraint than most people now expect.

25. 1967 promises to be a year in which many managements will be fighting a "rearguard" action to control climbing labor costs. The defense buildup will maintain hiring pressure in some industries; but even more activities will be wielding the paring knife. I forecast that the net result will be a rise in unemployment next year.

26. I do not look for price and wage controls in 1967, unless our defense expenditures rise far above what is now contemplated.

27. An encouraging aspect of the 1967 outlook is the affluence of consumers. I forecast a further upward trend in personal incomes, due to higher wage rates. However, if taxes are raised, take-home pay may not show a rise commensurate with the gain in gross pay.

28. Retail trade held up well in 1966, but there was a note of lethargy throughout the year. The pattern is not expected to show much change in 1967... with gains in dollar volume largely reflecting price inflation. Though consumers will have more money to spend, tight credit, high borrowing costs, and higher price levels could cause some tightening of purse strings.

29. Spending for food, apparel, and general merchandise should be greater in 1967. Also, consumers will devote a goodly portion of their spending budget for leisure activities, vacation, and travel.

30. Durable goods may not fare so well. Demand for home appliances, color TV sets, and furniture may be hampered by tight credit and high borrowing costs, plus the lethargy in new home building.

31. I forecast a decline in new auto sales. However, with the increase in the population of driving age, and with the record rate of personal income, new car sales could hold within 10 per cent of 1966's.

32. Soaring living costs will hit the headlines more often in 1967. I will be directed most strongly at runaway service expenses—especially medical—and at advancing red meat prices.

33. Despite new highs in the cost of living, I predict that there will be many signs of deflation in the midst of inflation. Chief among these will be sliding profits, rising bankruptcies and foreclosures.

34. Industrial commodity prices should be firm to slightly higher. Selective price markups will be necessary to offset wage hikes.

35. Profits begin to wobble in the final half of 1966. I am convinced that hesitancy will give way to decline during the year ahead. Big squeeze on margins will come from soaring costs, especially labor.

36. But profits results will also vary widely from one company and one industry to another, as sales volumes sag, hold, or advance.

Stores To Remain Open Wednesdays

The following merchants have announced that they will remain open every Wednesday all day throughout the year for the convenience of their customers: Khun's, Morgan Shoe Store, Vail and Baddour, Fred's Dollar Store, Way-Fil Jewelry, Ben Franklin, Gray's, Patrick's, Moore's Men's Store, Prentiss Hardware, White Auto Store, Feldman's, Inc., Hi-Lo Store.

The board of directors of the Downtown Booneville Association recommends that other merchants likewise remain open.

The board of directors also announced that most businesses will be closed Monday, January 2, for the New Year Holiday.

THE LOCAL 4-H CLUB

The local 4-H Club is the most important organization in 4-H. This is where all 4-H'ers have opportunities to participate, to study and to "learn to do by doing."

These 4-H Clubs are guided by volunteer adult leaders. The leaders enroll boys and girls in 4-H, help them select projects, plan programs and attend meetings to see that things go as they should.

A 4-H Club is a very democratic and flexible organization. Members and leaders plan programs and activities that meet local needs and interests. So programs vary from club to club. Much time is devoted to study and work, but fun and fellowship are also provided. Club programs are usually planned several months in advance.

The clubs usually meet each month. Members may meet as often as they see fit, however, and the meeting can be as long or as short as the members wish. Clubs meet in homes, community centers, churches and other such buildings in the communities.

All 4-H Clubs in Mississippi now function independent of schools. For many years the clubs held their meetings in connection with the schools. School officials and teachers have always been very interested in 4-H and have helped in many ways to make the 4-H program effective.

Many teachers have served as leaders and sponsors, and many continue to serve 4-H in this way. Teachers can have a great influence on 4-H by encouraging boys and girls to enroll.

The difficulties of limited time and space are not so great for clubs meeting independent of schools. Opportunities are unlimited for developing outstanding 4-H Clubs where boys and girls of a community can come together and plan programs of training, recreation and fellowship that serve in a very material way the needs of the community.

The success of the local club depends on leaders who are willing to help boys and girls. The active support of parents is also important.

Agents of the Cooperative Extension Service in each county are responsible for providing general direction for the 4-H Club program. They inform and train the leaders. They are the source of 4-H literature and other materials. Prentiss County's agents are Miss Sandra Hussey, Assistant Extension Home Economist, and Mr. J. V. Archer, Associate County Agent.

If you want to organize a 4-H Club in your community, contact your local Extension Service agents. We will help you to secure leaders and enroll members.

HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS, Extension Home Economist

With 1967 just a few days away, you will be interested to know that economists are optimistic about 1967. But they warn that we must cut down on our family spending to be prepared for another price rise in family living for 1967.

What Is The Food Picture? What is the food picture is probably one of your first questions. The answer is that even though per capita supplies are expected to be somewhat larger in 1967, retail food prices are expected to average higher in 1967 than in 1966. Prices aren't expected to increase as much as in 1966, however. As your food budget reflects, retail food prices in the first three quarters of 1966 averaged 5 per cent above a year earlier.

Increased supplies of pork, poultry and eggs in 1967 are expected to mean lower prices for these items. The large increase in citrus fruits expected this winter also is expected to result in lower prices through much of 1967.

Ways To Cut Costs

With warnings to cut family spending, you ask, "But how can I? I'm cutting every corner I can think of now."

Our home management specialists outline seven principles to cut cost. Maybe you can find another way in this list to fit your situation:

1. Decrease purchases.
2. Increase family production. For example, do more things yourself, produce food in a garden, do more sewing at home.
3. Use free public services, such as educational, recreational, etc.
4. Use lower priced substitutes.
5. Make greater effort to buy at lower cost.

6. Get cheaper articles for a purpose.

7. Make things last longer and avoid waste.

Household Appliance Outlook

The demand for household appliances, such as clothes dryers, washing machines, dishwashers, radios, TV's and air conditioners, is expected to continue high during 1967. The demand for these products is brought about by higher incomes, high rate of employment and new families formed. Young people will be some of the best customers for these appliances.

Expected price increases are not likely to be so great as to discourage buyers. But if desired rise more than expected, income taxes are increased and credit restricted demands will likely decrease.

The 1967 appliances will be more colorful, better designed and will include more conveniences and luxury features. The industry is catering to the "new customer" who is educated, fashion-conscious and quality conscious.

DOGS SUPERB

One of the most interesting programs the Rotary Club has witnessed in a long while was a movie of the National Bird Dog Field Trial. It was marvelous to watch the highly trained bird dogs in action. To note the perfect functioning of these animals inspired and pricked our wonder. The ability of the trainer and the intelligence of the animal should inspire the mind and warm the heart of anyone. In addition to the basic talent of the dog, his intuition and his instinct should elicit the interest of any student of nature, and the comradeship of the dog and his master—the devotion one to the other—should enliven the brain cells and warm the heart throbs of any normal mind. It should lead him away from base things, acts and thought and turn him to nobler purposes and nobler thoughts. The expert work of some of the dog trainers certainly places him in the class with a PhD in his field, and after viewing the Field Trial you cannot doubt the capabilities of the dog. We are told that Dick Brown and Hoyle Eaton are superb experts in knowing and in training dogs, and we are proud to have these men in our town. The club expressed gratitude to W. L. Gullett, program chairman, and to Mrs. Hoyle Eaton and the Purina Company for this special treat.

PAGING FOR THE PICKLE

County Agent, Taylor Smith, is still paging us for pickles and cucumbers. It would be hard to run this country without pickles. The cucumber is a creeping plant, distant cousin to the melon and pumpkin and chief of all garden products for pickling. From the long, green vegetable many varieties can be made. The production of cucumbers can mean a lot to our financial income and Taylor Smith will tell you just how to proceed, how to plant, how to fertilize and gather. He will help you select the soil or have someone to help you do it. The promoters of this project will soon be ready for you to sign up. Most people were more than pleased with the sorghum molasses project and we think will be just as pleased with the cucumber production.

The family that has small children should be especially pleased for even the little ones can join in helping with this crop. Turn your attention now to the cucumber and the pickle for a season. We need more income and this can well be a fine way to it.

SYMPATHY

The people of Booneville and Prentiss County deeply regret the passing of Herman Rugg. He was a good citizen, well-liked and highly respected. The Rugg family have been builders for this town and county, have stood at the very top in good and useful citizenship. Our deepest sympathy is offered to the ones who will miss him most.

OF UNUSUAL CHARACTER

The death of Mrs. Anna Walker in the Eastern part of the county took from our midst a most unusual character. She lived long and she lived well. Although confined to her bed for almost three years for most of the time, her friends and neighbors did not lose interest in her and her illness, and she was loved, respected and revered by her family and friends. So noticeable was this interest that we made a little inquiry for the reason. The reply: "You would have had to know her devotion and her attention to her family, her relatives and her friends across many years to realize the reason."

BEAUTY RE-CLAIMED

We are proud to have some of our fine old homes reclaimed and beautified. The Dr. W. H. Sutherland home is one and now, nearby, we have another, the former Mrs. Sallie Hoyle's old home. The interior decorating by its new occupants, the David Grays, is attractive, imaginative and beautiful. We recall the beautiful spirits

Others who have lived there were her nephew, Victor Stephenson, and her son, Herschel and his wife and fine daughter. We are pleased and warmed by the spirit of the family who comes to our community from a state far away to beautify and re-build this old home. To build a beautiful home is to bring to it living character. This adds to our town not only beauty but strength and security.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress of candlelight peau de soie was fashioned with a bell shaped skirt and fitted bodice with a scooped neckline. It was enhanced with a jacket of imported candlelight chantilly lace with bateau neckline and long sleeves ending in a scallop design. Her veil of misty illusion was attached to a headpiece of rose petal design fashioned of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid entwined with ivy and lilies of the valley.

Her headpiece was of peau de soie and holly green net. She carried a white orchid with white ribbon streamers. Attending Mr. Carter as best man was his father, Mr. Robert Carter, Sr. Jerry Pratt of Corinth served as usher.

Vows were exchanged before a cathedral arch candelabra with cathedral candles. It was entwined with greenery and placed pinnsettias. The railing behind the white kneeling bench was entwined with greenery.

The bride's mother wore a dress of lavender wool knit with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a dress of pink wool with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink orchids. Mrs. W. L. Parr, Sr., grandmother of the bride, wore a dress of plum silk jersey with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The diamond is universally regarded as the most desirable of the material possessions of life. Its possession gives a feeling of satisfaction of affluence - and pride. To its owner the diamond is today, as it has been for centuries, lasting assurance of position - appreciation - honor - and love.

"The adamas (diamond) is the most valuable not only of precious stones, but of all things in this world", is the way Pliny, the early Roman historian describes it in the first century of the Christian era. In the same century Manilius emphasizes two of the diamond's most striking characteristics - small size and great value. Today, after 2000 years, both Manilius and Pliny can be judged remarkably correct in their valuation of the diamond.

The amazing facts today are that in the face of a declining stock market and an apparent leveling off of the economy as a whole, the diamond market is making its greatest advances since the discovery of the diamond.

Next week I would like to discuss some of the reasons why diamond is a good investment, even in a declining economy.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Man of the Years

For his earnest devotion to a duty that is everyone's...
 For his faithfulness in exercising the most precious freedom of all...
 For his resolute courage in the face of dangers real and imagined...
 For his honest appraisal of his human strength, and his humble trust in God...
 For his deep insight into the needs of mankind, evident in his support of unselfish causes...
 For his friendliness as a neighbor, his loyalty as an employee, his integrity as a community leader...
 For his family's response to his own Christian example, and their participation with him in the life of the Church...
 For his readiness to share with you and me the faith that lives in his heart...

WE DEDICATE THIS TRIBUTE TO
The Man in the Pew

On Christmas Day Mr. Isbell, along with his mother, grandmother, and Mrs. M. A. Pinkstaff went to Baldwin for Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hopkins and Emily.

Though lately in the shade, I predict that gold will again be in the spotlight before 1967 is out.

45. I forecast that the dollar will not be devalued in 1967, but the pound will continue shaky.

46. Certainly, Congress will become more and more critical of the looting going on under cover of the Administration's War on Poverty. The whole program will be subjected to tighter supervision.

47. As 1967 wears along, the high hopes for more constructive conservative action by the 90th Congress will give way to increased doubts as a legislative stalemate develops. Republicans will have enough strength to stop the most liberal Administration bills, but not enough to launch a program of their own.

48. There will be a lot of talk in 1967 about the economy's "still growing." But I warn readers to examine carefully the advance in Gross National Product which I am forecasting here. Biggest part of the increase will come from higher prices and wages.

49. I foresee that a breathing spell in the economy can prove helpful. The prolonged prosperity has bred waste, laxness, and inefficiency. These can be corrected only by a return to fundamentals. Just as the human body requires adequate rest in order to enjoy proper health, so too the economy, and the stock market as well, must undergo periodic resting phases.

50. As the economy cools off in 1967, readers should beware of reassurances that our problems are only temporary and will soon be followed by a decade of boom conditions. The promised land may be only across the river, but it is always wise to test the depth of the water before wading in. That is behind my forecast that 1967 will be a good year for businessmen and investors to have strong confidence for the future, but to proceed with caution and restraint until the uncertainties just ahead have been resolved.

51. 1967's stock market promises to be one of vicious selectivity. I am expecting the old aristocracy of the blue chips based on past performance to be replaced by a new aristocracy of superable management based upon hopes of good future performance.

52. I forecast, however, that 1967 will still hold many dangers for the speculator. I urge readers not to borrow money to buy stocks, and I urge investors to buy for growth and basic investment values.

53. The safest kind of long-term bonds are available now at prices affording very close to the highest income returns of the century. It is a good bet that there will not be so many top-grade issues on the bargain counter at the end of 1967. Should the 90th Congress boost income taxes, tax-exempt bonds will put on the best performance.

54. World opinion on the future price of gold has blown hot and cold many times in recent years.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

MANAGE WINTER GRAZING

Watch closely all winter grazing areas and give them top management from now until spring. If you do not, production next spring will suffer.

When you see an area being overgrazed, move the cows. When you see cows bogging an area, move them.

Winter grazing crops cannot be grazed all winter as cold weather stops growth and rains make fields too boggy to graze.

GOOD LITTER MANAGEMENT

Wet litter can be a costly problem, especially in poultry laying stopped to visit old friends last week.

Airman and Mrs. Bobby Hodge of Selma, Ala., were home over the holidays.

Airman Jessie McCoy was also home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cletis McCoy.

Airman Ernie Foy, Jr., and his sister, Miss Patsy Allen of Dumas and Mrs. Bell McCalmon spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McCalmon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McCalmon spent Christmas Day with her sister, Mrs. Roy Boggs and Mr. Boggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zinger and son, Donnie, of Taylor, Michigan, were guests of her uncle Monday, Mr. Dewey Pounds. Mrs. Zinger was the former Joy Harrison.

Miss Wilma Pounds of Memphis spent the week end at home.

Miss Sammie Gaines of Memphis was at home over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Northcutt of Detroit, Mich., are home for a few days with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Moore and Renee of Jackson, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Searcy of Tupelo, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Paden of Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Searcy, Mr. and Mrs. James Sartin of Belmont and Mrs. Nellie Rue Searcy of Jackson, Miss., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Malone.

Mr. Dalton Williams of Los Angeles, Calif., passed through and teaching in Ava, Mo. and Miss Janis Nicholson of State College are spending the Christmas holidays at home with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Nicholson and Kenneth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Reynolds and daughter of Memphis were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cletis McCoy and girls.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. Hubert Weathers and little son, David, of Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D. C., visited Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hare and Phyllis one day during the holidays.

Mr. Dalton Williams of Los Angeles, Calif., passed through and houses. Wet or damp litter increases the dirty egg problem and also increases chances of diseases.

Here are some suggestions for good litter management: For good drainage, the floor or the house should be higher than the surrounding land.

If a concrete floor is used, a vapor barrier should be placed between the ground and the concrete. Insulate the poultry house — warm air holds more moisture than cold air. Avoid water spillage, give adequate ventilation to remove moisture-laden air. Stir litter frequently.

Some poultrymen use hydrate of lime to help keep litter dry. Recommended application rate is one pound of lime per four square feet of floor space. Work lime well into the litter.

WINTER SOIL PREPARATION

Many of you have heavy clay soils that can be plowed in early winter much more easily than in the spring. Plowing these soils while they are still relatively dry will save you a lot of time and permit you to get the crop planted earlier next spring.

It will also give the soil a chance to freeze, thaw and become mellow during the winter.

You can apply lime, phosphate and potash to these soils when they are plowed without any loss in efficiency in next year's crop.

Collecting Recipes Is Delightful Hobby Of A Group Of Northeast JC Students

Home Economics majors at The Northeast Mississippi Junior College are not the only ones who enjoy collecting recipes as a hobby. Students enrolled in other fields of study derive great satisfaction from collecting and trying out new recipes.

Mrs. Thelma Stephens, an elementary education major from Iuka, has cooked since she was nine years old, and received great satisfaction in knowing that her husband is pleased with her recipe innovations. Betty Potts, Myrtle business education major, and Linda Crum, social science major from Corinth, are enthusiastic about all types of new and different main dishes. Joyce Hatcher, elementary education major from Ripley, has a sweet tooth, which accounts for her special liking for desserts. Carolyn Davis, a New Albany Home Economics major, gains experience as well as enjoyment from experimenting with new recipes in her spare time. Phyllis Hare, Booneville, and DeRita Mitchell, Belmont, prefer Christmas foods. DeRita's favorites are various types of Christmas candies, and Phyllis' speciality is fruit cakes.

Prentiss ASCS County News

By CHARLES E. CALVERT, Office Manager

Signup Period Announced For 1967 Commodity, CAP Programs
The signup for the 1967 programs for cotton, feed grain, and wheat will start on February 6, 1967. The final date for filing an intention to take part in the 1967 programs is March 3. The signup period for the commodity programs thus extends over a period of four weeks.

The signup for the 1967 Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP) got under way on December 1, 1966, and will conclude on March 3, 1967.

A flexible schedule of signup starting dates has been adopted throughout the country, with each ASC State Committee determining the most appropriate period for the activity. The signup closing date, however, is the same for all counties and all States.

In general, the commodity programs (except wheat) and the CAP call for a certain amount of acreage to be diverted from production into an approved conserving use. By meeting the various provisions of the programs, farmers become eligible for various benefits in the form of payments, and also for loans under the commodity programs.

Participation in the various programs is not automatic—filing an application which shows the operator's program intentions is the first necessary step in qualifying for program benefits.

All of the program signups will be conducted at the ASCS county office.

Cotton Research And Promotion Orders Approved

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today, on the basis of preliminary returns, that upland cotton producers had approved proposed assessments of $1 per bale to finance research and promotion for cotton.

In a mail referendum which ended December 9, 67.9 per cent of the producers favored the proposed research and promotion program to strengthen cotton's competitive position and expand its uses.

The cotton research and promotion act requires approval of the order by two-thirds of the producers voting, or by a majority accounting for two-thirds of the cotton represented in the referendum. The preliminary results show 183,124 producers voting for the order and 86,373 producers voting against it.

The order will not become effective until after the final official results are tabulated and announced. This is expected to take approximately two weeks, officials said.

The proposed program would be administered by a cotton board composed of members nominated by cotton producing organizations and selected by the Secretary of Agriculture.

1966 ACP

Farmers who have not reported practices completed to the ASCS office for which assistance is expected to be earned in the ACP are reminded that performance reports must be filed at the county office on or before Dec. 31, 1966.

Practices that are not reported by Dec. 31, 1966 will be canceled.

Bank Of Mississippi Way Is The Safest Way To Save

All depositors' funds are insured by The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $15,000.00.

1. What is F.D.I.C.?

It is an independent agency of the United States Government created by Congress in 1933 to give depositors in insured banks a basic and limited protection against loss arising from the failure of any insured bank regardless of the cause of the failure.
2. Are all financial institutions insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation?

No. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insures only approved banks of deposit. For example, savings and loan associations and credit unions are not banks and therefore such institutions are not eligible for insurance by this Corporation. You can tell if your bank is insured by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by looking for the sign on the teller's window or station.
3. May depositors maintaining deposits in an insured bank in the following rights and capacities be separately insured to the maximum of $15,000.00 on each of the accounts shown below?

John Doe, $15,000.00; Mary Doe, $15,000.00; John Doe and Mary Doe, joint account with right of survivorship, $15,000.00; John Doe, Mary Doe, and Richard Doe, joint account with right of survivorship, $15,000.00; John Doe and Mary Doe, community funds (in community property estate), $15,000.00; John Doe, Executor of estate of (name) deceased, $15,000.00; John Doe, Trustee of (name) Estate, $15,000.00; John Doe and James Smith partnership, $15,000.00.
- Yes, the deposits in each account are maintained in a different right or capacity.
4. What deposits are insured?

Deposits of money or its equivalent received by a bank in its usual course of business are insured. The following types of deposits are insured: savings, checking, commercial, certificates of deposit, time or thrift, Christmas savings, certified checks, and uninvested trust funds; also cashiers' checks, officers' checks, money orders and drafts, when issued by an insured bank for any purpose; letters of credit and traveler's checks on which an insured bank is primarily liable, when issued in exchange for money or its equivalent, including a charge against a deposit account.
5. How much has the Corporation disbursed for the protection of depositors in insured banks?

During the first 30 1/2 years of Federal deposit insurance, the Corporation disbursed $382,500,000.00 to protect about 1,500,000 depositors in 449 banks.
6. When does the Corporation start paying the depositors of an insured bank that is placed in receivership?

The Corporation usually begins payments to the depositors within ten days after the date of final closing.
