VOLUME SIXTY-SIX

BOONEVILLE, MISSISSIPPI, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1964

NUMBER 47

Feb. 23 Is Heart Sunday; Calls For Contributions To Be Made

A volunteer army to make Heart Sunday door-to-door calls in Prentiss County on the weekend of February 23 began to form today under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Bynum Hambrick.

Her appointment as Heart Sunday Chairman was announced by Mrs. Harold Spain, who is heading the month-long Heart Fund drive which got underway here on February 1 and continues through February 29.

Efforts will be made to enroll a number of Heart volunteers in this community, she said, pointing out that they will be among the 1,750,000 in the nation who will call on their neighbors in observance of Heart Sunday.

"Heart Fund volunteers serve a two-fold purpose," Mrs. Hambrick explained. "They are educational ambassadors, leaving at each home a leaflet containing important information about heart disease. They also receive Heart Fund contributions."

"Each volunteer will call on families in his or her immediate neighborhood carrying an official identification envelope to receive contributions," she said. "Heart Fund volunteers need no experience, although many who have already signed up have served in previous Heart campaigns."

"Service as a Heart Fund volunteer is a rewarding experience and a few hours of effort represents a lasting contribution to the fight against our No. 1 health enemy, the heart diseases," she declared.

Community Heart Sunday workers are: Mrs. Lila Young, Mrs. J. W. Hollandsworth, Mrs. McEllis Nibers, Mrs. J. S. Finch, Mrs. J. A. Ratliff, Mrs. Maxine Shackelford, Mrs. C. L. Area Feeder Pig Program Makes Tremendous Impact On Economy

The Booneville Area Feeder Pig Association and Sale was organized in May, 1960. The first sale was held in July, 1960. Until this sale was organized selling feeder pigs was conducted in a haphazard way. Prices varied according to top hog prices and corn yields. When top hog prices were 18 cents or above, good pigs sold for $10.00 per head. When top hog prices dropped below 18 cents, pigs sold most of the time at whatever the buyer offered. There were no standards or grades to determine price other than those just mentioned. This left the pig producer literally at the mercy of the day's market.

This area association and sale was organized for creating better marketing conditions for feeder pigs and for farmers to use in supplementing income. Fifteen sales have been held since this program was initiated. Fourteen thousand, four hundred and seventy-four (14,474) head of pigs have been sold at an average weight of 52 pounds. The average price from all sales was $21.80 per cwt. or $11.33 per pig. What has this meant to the county and area? The average prices quoted at major stock yards over this period of 15 sales was $10.50 per cwt. This means that had the pigs going through the area sale been marketed at major stock yards would have sold for $5.46 per pig. The average price through the area sale was $21.80 per cwt. or $11.33 per pig — a difference of $5.87 more per pig in the cooperative marketing program. $5.87 times 14,474 equals $84,962.38. This is $84,962.38 more money paid to the producer. Most producers are using the feeder pig enterprise as supplemental income. We can double our production and still have a stable, steady market to handle the pigs.

The success of this marketing organization can be attributed to agricultural workers, Extension specialists, farmer directors and producers working together as a team. This program is steadily growing. The feeding operations in the county and area have doubled since this program was started and the potential for further expansion is great. We are ideally situated for making the production of feeder pigs a major source of income in this area. An acre of improved pasture will carry three sows and litters and we have some producers who are weaning pigs at a cost of $6 to $7 per head.

There are approximately 110 farmers participating in this program in Prentiss County at the present time.

W. T. Smith To Discuss Feeder Pig Program

County Agent W. Taylor Smith will discuss the opportunities of the Feeder Pig Program to county agents of North Mississippi at the Extension Swine Conference to be held at State College, February 18 and 19 and to the agents of South Mississippi at Jackson, February 20 and 21.

There are now seven organized area feeder pig sales in Mississippi. All have been patterned from the Booneville Area Sale that was organized here in 1960.

Farmers, business leaders and agricultural workers throughout the state realize the importance and value of this program for supplementing agricultural income and expanding the swine enterprise.

Tree Experts To Trim Trees For Power Association In Booneville

The Prentiss County Electric Power Association has employed Asplund Tree Expert Company to perform the necessary tree trimming along its power lines in the City of Booneville.

J. W. Abernethy, Manager of the Power Association, said that the Asplund Company has had years of experience in this type work. They have recently completed trimming along all power lines in Baldwyn and did an outstanding job of removing the necessary limbs to assure good electric service and still preserve the natural beauty of the trees.

Since the season for trimming shade trees is drawing to a close, it will not be possible to cover the entire city this winter. Work will be concentrated along the main feeder lines and the remainder completed next fall.

New Parking Ticket Boxes Are Installed

Dan Wilson, Booneville police officer in charge of parking meters, is installing 12 new parking ticket boxes to make it more convenient for persons charged with over-parking to pay tickets.

The boxes will be on yellow meter posts. This will bring the total number of such boxes to 18, and there will be one just a few steps from any meter in town.

Officer Wilson said that summons will be sent to anyone having an old ticket not paid by the end of the week. A new type summons is being used, so that persons receiving them can tear off the flap and put it in the envelope with a dollar and mail it back.

He also quoted a survey made of Booneville in 1962 by Michael and Baker, consulting engineers, which listed one of the city's major parking problems as the owners and employees of businesses taking up the parking spaces in the business district. The report said that this problem was costing these firms thousands of dollars annually in lost retail trade.

Mr. Wilson urged those who are going to be in town for an extended period to use non-metered areas, and off-street parking areas.

Two Mistrials, One Innocent Verdict In Circuit Court Trials Here This Week

Several state cases have been settled this week in the second week of the February term of Prentiss County Circuit Court before Judge N. S. Sweet, Jr.

Set for trial Thursday morning is the case of Utha Christian, Negro, of Sunflower on a charge of possession of white whiskey. Several other misdemeanor and appeal cases are on the docket for trial or settlement, Judge Sweet said.

Monday, Hite Cox, former Booneville police chief, was tried on a charge of assault and battery. This resulted in a mistrial when the jury failed to reach a verdict. Ellis Wren was found innocent Tuesday on a charge of resisting arrest. The trial Wednesday in a case styled the State of Mississippi versus Claude Peek also ended in a hung jury.

Judge Sweet also passed sentence Wednesday on four persons on pleas of guilty. J. T. Adams pled guilty on a charge of grand larceny and was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary. The prison term was upheld and he was placed on five-year probation.

On a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, Billy Ray Brown was fined $750.00 and costs, and sentenced to six months in jail. Five months of the jail sentence and $250.00 of the fine was suspended pending good behavior.

On a plea of guilty to driving while intoxicated, Lowell Kelton was fined $175 and sentenced to 10 days in jail. The jail term was suspended on good behavior. This was a first offense.

Donnie Kizer pled guilty to charges of reckless driving and failure to yield the right-of-way and was fined $10.00 and costs on each count.

Unworkable Demands Unpopular

Years after the demise of wood burning, coal burning and oil burning steam locomotives, the railroads of the United States are still having to hire thousands of firemen on diesel engines who, according to numerous fact finding reports, are no longer needed.

Presidential commissions and courts have all upheld the right of the railroads to eliminate this useless expense. But the railroads are still being drained of over half a billion dollars a year, which the public must pay in rates, for work not performed.

A Federal judge has just overruled a challenge by four operating union brotherhoods that the last arbitration panel went beyond its authority in authorizing the gradual elimination of unneeded firemen, under the law passed by Congress last summer to head off a nationwide strike. The decision of the panel was to be binding on the railroads and the unions for a two-year period and take effect January 25. Now an appeal to the Supreme Court is proposed which can further delay a settlement.

While the railroads and the unions are seeking to reach an agreement on other issues in the dispute, a nationwide strike is again threatened by February 24.

The unions would be well advised to not try to force unworkable demands on any industry because the patience of the public, the last arbiter, is being badly strained.

Ownership Versus Socialism

Currently, the world population is in the neighborhood of three billion souls. Of these three billion, two billion live in a state of chronic starvation. The United States is one of the few areas on earth where overeating, rather than under-eating, is a major problem.

Look about you. In all of the good material things of life, this country has an abundance. This abundance is attributable, not only to an accident of geography or climate, but more importantly, to a unique political and economic system—unique because it rests on the premise that the individual is superior to the state.

In the early days, America was primarily an agrarian nation. Each family provided pretty much for itself. Such things as clothing, food, and shelter were largely self-produced. As the nation grew so did the complexity of society. Specialization combined with population growth inevitably resulted in the development of what we now know as mass production industries—industries that turn out millions of automobiles, refrigerators, radios, television sets and a thousand other luxuries and necessities.

A nation of vast area could not have grown as we have without expanding industries. Today there are close to 190,000,000 of us dependent upon a gigantic flow of production from corporate enterprise. But corporate industry brought problems as well as blessings. One of the biggest has been the relationship between industry and government. As population increased and the demands of the people became greater, industry had to grow to supply those demands. Then the fear arose that industry would shape government to serve its own ends. The crusade of the "trustbusters" of a few decades ago and the evolution of the labor union showed that the people under a representative form of government need not fear becoming subservient to industry. In fact as time went on, the pendulum swung the other way and a political drive developed for government to dominate industry. Excessive regulation, taxation, and tax-free government competition are the devices we have seen used until the evil of socialism that has engulfed so many nations has been on our own doorstep.

Ownership of the present day large industrial concern is beyond the financial capacity of any individual. No one man could assume the cost of building a modern automobile factory, aircraft plant or other multimillion dollar facility. This means that either a group of private citizens voluntarily pool their savings to develop an industry or the taxpayers be required to do it, cluntarily through government, by taxation. The latter is socialism, and under it, history has shown that progress as we know it and individual liberty cannot survive. When government becomes the producer it becomes the master.

Shareownership of corporate enterprise is the alternative to socialism. It is the American way in which we can have voluntary public ownership of industry. Some of our larger corporations have hundreds of thousands of stockholders. Each of these stockholders is a capitalist. He owns a share in the productive system that keeps this country going. And today there are some 19 million such owners.

A share of stock is property, and people who own property are poor prospects for peddlers of communism and socialism. The more Americans there are with a direct stake in corporate enterprise through shareownership, the stronger our country will be.

100 Years Ago—

Florida Is Attacked; Bragg Gets Top Post

By LON K. SAVAGE

Federal troops marched into central Florida 100 years ago this week in hopes of bringing that state promptly back into the Union. But Southern troops greeted them with a barrage of gunfire that sent the invaders scurrying back to the coast.

Hardly had the Florida attack been repulsed when a new, and unrelated, event set tongues wagging in the South: Braxton Bragg, who had lost every Civil War campaign he had undertaken, was promoted to chief of staff of Confederate armies, and his critics within the Confederacy threw up their hands in disgust.

The Florida attack—called the Battle of Olustee and the Battle of Ocean Pond—was a "sideshow" in the war, according to one general, but it squelched Federal hopes of quickly ending secession in the state.

Florida had been spared the ravages of most Civil War fighting, and it contained few Confederate troops. Federal officials, spurred on by President Lincoln himself, believed they could occupy the north-central part of the state, cut the state's supplies to armies farther north and negotiate to bring it back to the Union.

Successful Landing
General Truman Seymour landed at Jacksonville on February 7 with out resistance and marched, during the next two weeks, inland to Ocean Pond at Olustee. A proclamation was issued calling upon Floridians to swear allegiance to the United States.

But Confederate soldiers in the area, commanded by Gen. Joseph Finegan, quickly organized to repel the invasion. Troops came down from Georgia, and by February 20 more than 5,000 Confederates were dug in along the creek and pond.

Seymour, with an equal number of troops, moved into the battle zone hat day and found it a hornet's nest. Finegan threw forward his men in an attack, and the armies collided in a pine-covered field.

The fighting was general for about three hours, but Confederate fighting and superior position told its tale. A New Hampshire unit lost 209 men, and a regiment of Negroes, fighting their first battle, lost 300 of their 550 men. The Federal line broke, fell back, re-organized, then fell back again. By evening, they were in retreat for Jacksonville, as the Southerners waited on their arms, failing to take advantage of their victory.

Bragg's New Job

It was four days later that Bragg's new promotion became effective, and it immediately caused an uproar. Bragg had lost his campaign in Kentucky in 1862; he was driven into southern Tennessee after losing at Murfreesboro; he was maneuvered out of southern Tennessee and then had lost ignominiously at Lookout Mountain in late 1863. Finally he had been removed from field command.

Now, President Jefferson Davis, who always had liked Bragg, put him in as chief of staff—General Lee's old job—one of the highest positions in the army. With bitter sarcasm, the Richmond Examiner summed up the feelings of many Southerners about the appointment: "From Lookout Mountain, a step to the highest honor and power is natural and inevitable."

Next Week: A Raid on Richmond.

Mr. Woodruff

the long run will reflect the measure of success of any business.

Of the many relationships existing between employer and employee, the basic needs of a good

Mr. Woodruff employee is probably most important. It concerns four main areas. An employee needs to be satisfied as to his physical requirements. He needs to be satisfied for his safety. He needs to be satisfied as to his social status. And, perhaps, most of all, he needs to be satisfied as to his ego.

Physical needs are in reference to an employee's food and clothing and other daily requirements which are derived from his paycheck. His safety stems from assurance that his job is permanent. His social need is satisfied by the feeling of being accepted. And his ego need is for personal self-esteem and the feeling that he is doing what is asked of him.

Proper communication between employer and employee is the key to a continuous and successful relationship. Along with a good communication system is the need for respect on the part of both the employer and employee.

The biggest problem in employer-employee relationships more often is in the attitude of a company, the employer, toward assuring the worker that he is accepted as an integral part of the firm which employs him and recognizes his worth to the organization of which he is a part.

The way an employee is treated and efforts to keep him informed and acquainted with all aspects of his job are main factors in an employee doing a proper job and maintaining the right attitude toward his work. When a worker assumes a job and the responsibility that goes along with it on a hit or miss relationship the result is rarely satisfactory to either employer or employee.

The same basic fundamentals of employer-employee relationships apply to any business, whether it employs thousands or one which employs only a half dozen.

This very important area boils down to the fact that when the relationship is in its proper perspective a firm has employees who are happy, satisfied and productive.

STAY THE EVIL HAND!

the interest of the firm at heart. If the relationship is weak, a firm will have employees who are interested in only two things—when five o'clock rolls around each day and the day they receive their pay check.

Federal Dictatorship Looms Under Guise Of So-Called Civil Rights

By Thomas G. Abernethy
Member of Congress

Brace yourself folks! Barring rebellion from America's unorganized majority, it won't be long until you will be living in a complete federal dictatorship — Peoples' Republic, as the Commies call it. We are headed toward such like a bolt of lightning.

Under the guise of so-called civil rights, your country is taking the most advanced step ever toward totalitarianism. Power never before dreamed of is to be vested in the President and administered through his underlings and political hacks. The high plumed General of the team will be the United States Attorney General, and experience is not an element of qualification. The Attorney General will be empowered to guide and direct numerous commissions, investigators, searchers, snoopers and even the military into the affairs of every citizen, high or low, black, mulatto or white, Catholic, Protestant or Jew. No one is excepted, but, of course, some are intended to be favored.

The drive is on to confer upon federal bureaucrats power not even known to many of the ancient kings. There will be power to blackmail, to bully and coerce; power to control your homes, businesses, farms, banks, schools and election machinery; power to direct whom you shall hire, fire, promote or demote; power to blacklist from federal programs, activities, subsidies and benefits; power to stack the federal courts with "favorable" judges and to circumvent trial by jury; and power to intimidate and finally power to jail. God save us!

Through the long hours and days of debate, underlings from the Department of Justice and the Office of the Attorney General sat like vultures in the galleries, looking down and awaiting their smelly prize. It was generally reported that both the Department of Justice and the White House applied vigorous pressures to force passage of the bill without amendment.

Arriving belatedly but eventually packing the galleries and hallways were representatives of various organized racial and religious groups, reinforced by representatives of the AFL-CIO, parties of mixed teen-agers, ministers, and groups of just plain fanatics and hoodlums. The organized pressure from this rainbow-like conglomeration was heavy and effective. One by one they called from the floor up-country Members who had expressed doubt about the bill. When the conferences ended all were in agreement, if you understand — and surely you do. It was sickening.

Notably absent from the galleries and hallways was the unorganized majority of the just plain Americans. Such of this segment who did come and gain gallery seats were there only to observe and be entertained.

The Whip organizations of both parties did a jam-up job of keeping their liberals on or near the House floor at all times. As voting time on each amendment arrived they were in their seats or marching through the tellers.

Some well known, powerful Southern Members, with extraordinary seniority and holders of positions of highest responsibility, and some aspirants to such status, never once went through the tellers to be counted on amendments. There was hardly a time when more than 50 per cent of the Southern forces were on the floor. The lack of fighting spirit and unwillingness to vote on the part of some Southerners was so evident that one Mem-

LEGISLATURE
REGULAR SESSION 1964

Taxation

The House, on Thursday, passed House Bill 56 to make permanent the 1% Sales and Use Tax on Manufacturing Machinery.

The bill was approved by the House Ways and Means Committee on Thursday morning and passed with only three opposing votes the same afternoon. It was held on a motion to reconsider.

Also passed by both the Ways and Means Committee and the House on Thursday was House Bill 59 which provides for the Veterans Farm and Home Board to continue transfer of $300,000 per year to the state General Fund.

Re-enactment of two other tax increases passed by the 1962 Legislature were previously approved by the House. These were the bills to increase cigaret and corporate franchise taxes.

It is estimated that the four bills will produce 12.5 million dollars in additional revenue during the next two years. They were recommended by the outgoing Budget Commission to help finance a proposed 1964-66 budget of 329.5 million dollars.

It is predicted that another 25 million dollars must be raised to balance the two-year budget and put Gov. Johnson's economic development program into effect.

House Bill 167, by Representatives Davis and McKinley of Hinds County, would repeal ad valorem tax exemptions presently granted to REA (electrical) cooperatives.

RAILROAD BILL

A bill which will be of interest to businessmen was introduced in both houses this week. House Bill 157 and Senate Bill 1610 (identical bills) would repeal the so-called "Full Crew" law which requires a crew of five men on a train operating in Mississippi, one of whom has always been a fireman.

Proponents of the bill contend that a fireman is not needed on a diesel locomotive and yet the old law requires that there be one.

Other arguments given by the proponents include that this same conclusion was reached in two recent decisions at the federal level: (1) Arbitration Board No. 282 set up pursuant to Public Law 88-408 passed in 1963 by the Congress of the United States; and, (2) an impartial Presidential Railroad Commission set up by former President Eisenhower.

A joint hearing of House and Senate Committees on this proposal is scheduled for Tuesday, February 18.

EDUCATION

Senate Bill 1587 to create a matching fund program to aid junior colleges in expansion of vocational and technical training programs passed the Senate this week.

House Bill 215, by Love and others, would "establish junior college districts as individual and separate juristic entities and bodies politic and corporate" . . . etc. Junior college representatives say the bill is needed, among other reasons, to enable junior colleges to secure the local funds necessary to develop a full and adequate industrial vocational and technical training program.

Fifteen Years
Of Champions

On February 11, the writer congratulated cotton champions at Miss. State University for having produced the highest yields of lint cotton per acre recorded in Mississippi's history. Yields were reported ranging from 750 pounds of lint to 2165 pounds of lint per acre. All fields were "Total Farm Average Lint Yield Per Acre." Dalton E. Gandy with National Cottonseed Processors Association was awarded a plaque for his outstanding contributions to the cotton contest in Mississippi during the past fifteen years. See your local county agent for details.

ber took the floor and gave his absent Dixie colleagues a good verbal shellacking. But they continued to stay away or sit in the cloakroom. Regrettably, the parliamentary situation would not permit roll calls on the amendments, otherwise they could have been "smoked out." It is just too bad that more constituents from Dixie could not have been in the galleries as watchers to see that their Representatives were standing up and being counted. The liberal and minority groups were there, yes indeed! And getting results!

If this latest floor bill finally becomes law there is one hope left. That hope is vested in the large and powerful majority of the people of this country at whom the legislation is directed. They are unorganized, yes UNORGANIZED! But they cannot be pushed, prodded and penalized forever.

Those who now press for this legislation might better stop, look and listen. For them the situation and the future are aptly illustrated in this little limerick:

There was a young lady from Niger,
Who smiled as she rode on the tiger,
But at the end of the ride the lady
Was inside
And the smile was on the face of
The tiger.

TPCA To Have New Identification Emblem

The Tupelo Production Credit Association will adopt a new corporate identification emblem on Mar. 1, according to an announcement by Pat Dougherty, manager.

On the same day, other organizations of the Farm Credit System — Federal Land banks and Federal Land Bank associations and banks for cooperatives — also will put the corporate identification program into effect. Farmers and their cooperatives borrow $5.6 billion a year through the system.

The new Production Credit Association emblem is a brilliant red oval . . . one of a family of brightly colored ovals that will identify each of the three organizations. The Federal Land Bank association's emblem is a deep blue oval, and the banks for cooperatives will be identified by a metallic gold oval.

The overall emblem of the entire Farm Credit System also will be identified by an oval. The pillars of its illustration represent the three banking groups, the roof signifies the uniting service objective, and the solid foundation symbolizes the strong financial base of the system. The oval of this emblem is enclosed by the words, "Farm Credit Service."

Behind the new Production Credit Association is a remarkable credit institution, deeply rooted in the history of American agriculture. In 1923, the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks were established to provide farmers a source of short and intermediate term operating capital. The Federal intermediate credit banks supply loan funds and act as credit wholesalers for local farmer-owned production credit associations which in turn lend the money to farmers.

Funds loaned are obtained by the Federal Intermediate credit banks by selling debentures on the public market. There are no appropriated federal funds loaned by the system, nor does the government guarantee the debentures, either as to principal or interest rate. The Tupelo PCA is a farmer-owned and locally managed organization and is subject to all taxes paid by any other similar private business.

The meeting adjourned until next month.

Accident Proves Seat Belt Value

A two-car collision in North Mississippi proves once again the great value of seat belts in reducing traffic fatalities.

The circumstances involved two vehicles in a head-on collision on a weekend at 2:05 p.m. The driver was the only occupant of car No. 1. Car No. 2 had the driver and a single passenger. The weather, road and light conditions were excellent. The accident occurred on a straight, level road during daylight hours. However, for some unknown reason, the driver of car No. 1 was in the left lane of traffic. Car No. 2 pulled to the left to avoid the car and when he did so the driver of No. 1 straightened up and hit him head-on. The driver of car No. 1 was killed and the passenger in Car No. 2 was killed also. The driver of No. 2 received only bruises and was not hospitalized. Driver of car No. 2 was the only person involved that was wearing a seat belt. Authorities feel that the belt prevented death or serious injury in this accident.

Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong said, "This accident is just one more occasion where the value of seat belts is seen. The use of automotive seat belts could help reduce the death toll in accidents. We cannot stress too much the value we put on the installation and use of these life-savers. Make safety your first concern. Install and use seat belts regularly."

The mother of the bride wore for her daughter's wedding, a dress of ivory and yellow cotton knit with black accessories. The groom's mother wore a suit of burnt orange with bone accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

The couple will make their home in Memphis, where he is employed at the Dover Lift Corporation.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Clatworth and Donna Lynn of Memphis, Tenn.

As a result of medical research, rheumatic fever, a childhood menace and a forerunner of rheumatic heart disease, can now be prevented, the Mississippi Heart Association points out.

HOME AGENT NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS

STORING PECANS

You may want to store some of this year's bumper pecan crop for future use. The way you pack and treat your pecans affect the time they will keep their high quality.

As a rule, the lower the temperature, the longer the nuts will keep. Tight, vapor-proof containers protect nuts from odors, flavors and moisture. At ordinary room temperatures, they will keep 2 months. Store pecans in a cool place.

Shelled nuts keep well in a tight container for as long as 9 months in a refrigerator and as long as 2 years in a freezer. Under these same storage conditions, if you have space for them, unshelled pecans will remain fresh for two to four times longer than shelled ones.

GARMENT CONSTRUCTION FOR EASIER CARE

Some of the garment design and construction features that contribute to easier care are:

*Simple design — less seaming — fewer seam lines.

*Bias cut seams tend to look and stay smoother.

*No top stitching—or at least a limited amount. Avoid "double-needle" or parallel line stitching.

*Smooth stitching — no puckering. If stitching is puckered when the garment is new, it will likely look more puckered after laundering.

*Well finished buttonholes.

*Generous seam allowances, finished if necessary to prevent fraying.

*Plaids that are pressed along the grain of the fabric rather than on the bias.

*A minimum of trim and frills.

*Interfacing attached to the facing edges to prevent curling or wrinkling.

*Hems with evenly distributed fullness.

*A minimum of linings and interfacings.

FOOD HINTS

Keep in mind that vegetables are already cooked. To serve them with the most flavor and food value, drain off the liquid and boil down to one-third of its original volume, then merely heat the vegetable in the concentrated liquid.

Q and A YOUR SAVINGS BOND QUIZ

Question: What do I have to do to be sure my old E Bonds continue to draw interest?

Answer: Not a thing. It's automatic. All E and H Bonds are continuing to draw interest.

Question: Is it true that I am limited on the amount of Savings Bonds I can buy?

Answer: There is an annual limit on holdings issued to one owner in any one calendar year of $10,000 in E Bonds and $20,000 in H Bonds. However, two persons as co-owners can hold together double each of those amounts.

Question: I bought some E Bonds back during the war. Are they still drawing interest?

Answer: They certainly are! All E Bonds issued between May 1941 and May 1949 have been granted a second 10-year extension. That now makes them 30-year bonds.

Question: I know that chain letter schemes are generally illegal, but somebody had one the other day using Savings Bonds. Said it was all right because it helped the Government sell more bonds. Can you tell me about this?

Answer: The Treasury does NOT condone such schemes, even to sell more bonds. In fact, issuing agents have been told to refuse to sell bonds where they know or suspect they are to be used for such purpose. This applies whether or not the letters or bonds are sent through the mails.

were out of school. Within a decade this proportion had been reduced to one-fifth.

"But the fact that as many as one in five persons 16-17 years of age are not in school leads to serious implications," Mr. Rogers said. "Technological change and automation are steadily doing away with many jobs which traditionally required little education but which provided employment for school drop-outs.

"The amount of schooling a person has bears a direct relation to his income, both present and future. A recent survey by the U. S. Department of Labor found that the typical high school graduate receives $49,000 more during his earning years than a person who has completed the eighth grade.

"Unemployment rates for those who drop out of school are considerably higher than for high school graduates. For 1959-60, 22 of every 100 drop-outs in the U. S. were unemployed, while only 13 out of 100

And the average amount of schooling is less in Mississippi than in many sections of the country, despite recent advances in the state. The median years of school completed

Stennis Pledges Fight Of Federal Grab For Power

WASHINGTON—The vicious civil rights bill has now passed the United States House of Representatives and will come before the U. S. Senate in the next few days, Sen. John Stennis said today.

"In spite of the valiant efforts of our Mississippi Congressional delegation and other conservative members of the House, the civil rights bill was adopted in the House by an overwhelming vote of 290 to 130,000 the Senator said.

"This bill, as it is now written, would give the Federal Government unprecedented raw power over the every-day lives of all citizens throughout the country.

Stennis, a former circuit judge, went on to say: No business, however large or small, would be safe from the long arm of an all-powerful Federal Government reaching all the way from Washington to every village and community in this great country.

If this bill is passed and becomes law then the power of the Federal Government over all business would be virtually complete. Under the public accommodations section of this bill, the Federal Government would be granted the power and authority to require every such business and commercial establishment — hotel, motel, restaurant, theater, barber shop, and many others — to open its doors to all, regardless of any other consideration.

It is a crying shame that the American people, by and large, have not fully awakened to the full impact of what this bill would do to this country if it should ever become law.

Our Southern group in the Senate will meet this bill with every parliamentary maneuver and weapon available. The entire nation must be alerted to the real danger to constitutional government which this bill represents. It must be exposed for what it really is—a political grab for power solely to satisfy selfish pressure and minority groups.

"More will live the more you give" is the slogan of the 1964 Heart Fund drive being conducted throughout February in Booneville.

Beef Import Agreement Reached With Australia And New Zealand

February 18th telegrams received in the office of the Mississippi Cattlemen's Association, Macon, Miss., carried the most encouraging news American cattlemen have received in months. The wires: one from Mississippi Congressman Tom Abernethy, and the other from the office of the American National Cattlemen's Association, state that the United States has signed a meat imports agreement with Australia and New Zealand based on 1962 and 1963 imports from these two countries. Sixty-seven per cent of the

Many Needy Children Wilfully Neglected

Welfare Commissioner Fred A. Ross reported today that, out of the total number of applications made for Aid to Dependent Children grants in the state, 141 of the applications were made for aid because information gathered at the time of application revealed that the children possibly were either deserted by one or more parents or that the parents wilfully neglected or refused to provide for the support and maintenance of their children.

"Since the children were in destitute or necessitous circumstances, aid was granted to the 401 needy children involved," he said.

Of the 141 applicants, 16 were white and 125 were Negro. Involved are 37 needy white children, 364 needy Negro children.

Commissioner Ross stated that "special investigations would be made of these cases and all the available evidence obtained. In those cases where the facts indicate a violation of the criminal law of the state, which prohibits desertion or refusal to support children, the additional evidence obtained will be given to the district attorney, county attorney, if any, to the sheriff and to the next grand jury for such criminal prosecution as they may see fit to initiate," Mr. Ross said.

"The Welfare Department is doing all in its power to see to it that the natural parents support their children but all the Welfare Department can do is refer the evidence to the appropriate court officials. Whether or not prosecutions result is wholly and solely the responsibility of court officials, not the Welfare Department," Commissioner Ross said.

Hoyle Eaton Has Very Successful Year At Field Trials; Assisted By Jack Presley

Hoyle Eaton of Booneville has had a most successful field trial season this year. He has captured many laurels for which he is very proud. Some of these wins are as follows:

Crab Orchard, Ill., 3rd. Saxon, owned by M. L. Hall of Miami, Fla.; Arkansas Association Trials, Booneville, Ark., 1st. Red Water Rex, owned by E. B. Alexander, Jr., and W. T. Pruitt of Jackson, Miss.; Wildlife Ass'n. Trial, Rossville, Tenn., 1st. Tishomingo, owned by V. B. MacNaughton of Oxford; Tennessee Open, Rossville, Tenn., 1st. Red Water Rex, owned by E. B. Alexander, Jr., and W. T. Pruitt of Jackson; 2nd. Postmaster, owned by Gus Primos, Jackson; 3rd. Frisco, owned by J. G. Lockwood, Lexington, Ky.; Hobart Ames Memorial Field Trial, Somerville, Tenn., 1st. Saxon, owned by M. L. Hall, Miami, Fla. (All-Age Stake); 2nd. Frisco, owned by J. G. Lockwood, Lexington, Ky. (Derby Stake); 3rd. Red Water Rex, owned by E. B. Alexander, Jr., and W. T. Pruitt of Jackson (Derby Stake); Pelican State Trials, Amite, La., 1st. Red Water Rex, owned by E. B. Alexander, Jr., and W. T. Pruitt of Jackson; United States Field Trials, Como, Miss., 2nd. Frisco, owned by J. G. Lockwood of Lexington, Ky.; National Derby Championship, Canton, Miss., 2nd. Red Water Rex, owned by E. B. Alexander, Jr., and W. T. Pruitt of Jackson, Miss.

Plans were made to do some landscaping in the near future at the County Home. The Club had previously undertaken this project with the proceeds made from their hat party. Since the hat sale was a success it is the plan of the club to continue it as one of their main projects.

"Roses" was the subject Mrs. Lynn Beavers of New Albany spoke on to the members. Mrs. Beavers pointed out many rules on pruning and planting roses properly. She told of New Albany's extensive planting of the rose, "Spartan" as a beautification project.

The Oriental arrangements brought by members were very interesting subjects. The rules of arranging an Oriental arrangement properly were defined by Mrs. W. V. Kemp, club president. Next month's flower arrangements will be the side triangle.

Mrs. Irene Parker received proper recognition for her yard having been chosen Yard of the Month by the club.

Plans are already being made for a garden tour in April and a flower show to be held at a date to be set later.

Johnson Grass A Problem?
Johnson grass growing from rhizomes gives trouble to both cotton and soybean growers. What can you do about it? Why not have your mechanic mount a broadcast sprayer on a small tractor? Tell your local dealer that you want 5 to 7 pounds of Dowpon for each acre of broadcast Johnson grass to be treated. Do this now. Then both of you will be ready by the time the Johnson grass starts growing in early spring. Under good conditions you will get about 75 to 85 per cent of old Johnson grass rhizomes.

There is nothing more beautiful than to watch a brace of top dogs work across a field. They are swift, they are graceful and when they come on point frozen, then it sends shivers up and down your spine if they do it right.

You can never say a bad word about another man's dog — you'd better not! The owners and handlers become really attached to the dogs; it is a great challenge for them to compete against yours.

Every successful trainer has to have a most competent scout. The handler and scout have to work as a team. They have to almost read each other's mind and Hoyle is most happy and fortunate to have Jack Presley of Baldwin, Miss., as his right hand man.

For a trainer to be successful he has to have grounds and birds for which to train his dogs. Hoyle is working very hard trying to develop a set of training grounds near his home. Last summer he raised and released 1500 birds on his grounds and hopes that this will be a starting for a successful bird program.

Hoyle is grateful for the cooperation shown by the landowners and the hunters.

Use 2-4-D To Kill Unwanted Weeds

February is the month for use of 2-4-D to remove Dock and Vetch from oats and wheat fields. 2-4-D will knock down wild onions and garlic in grazing areas, wheat, and rye grass to prevent milk odor. 2-4-D will kill cypress weed and thistle in pastures. Act now—do not delay. See your county agent.

SHERMAN'S BOONEVILLE

Just Scribbling

by
MRS. ED JOHNSON

Clovis Cunningham brought an article to the paper this week for this column. It reads, in part:

"Well, they had just about run out of names for wars when they started the cold war, or so I thought, till I dug around a bit in the papers and discovered that it is a smoke screen for some of the most flabbergasted and unreasonable excuses for war yet . . .

We are having a chicken war at the present time in Europe and this war is deeply rooted right here in the South, so the papers say. There is no doubt in my mind that the rumor started in Russia, because they blame us with everything that is bad, but if it had been a fried chicken war, they would have grabbed the honor of starting it. I do not know much about this war, but it sounds good, doesn't it? I was always fond of fried chicken anyway. I do not think that the chickens even fight in this war, so if it is not humanitarian, it is at least chickentarian.

Now last, but not least, we have a war going on—and I'm almost ashamed to tell you—about a hair, and I don't mean a rabbit. Many bald-headed men are not sensitive, but others might be. Imagine a man who was bald-headed but for one hair and someone should jerk it out . . . in a desperate hair brained fit of despair, he might clobber the living daylight out of the snitcher.

So you see we are sinking fast into a morbid state of imbecility and if something is not done pretty soon we will all be cutting out paper dolls and riding kiddy carts.

We hear such threats as, "We will bury you," "More wheat for less money, and on credit, too," "Go home Yankee," "Get out of Asia," "Turn over the Panama Canal," and at the same time are being bearded by Castro right here on our own door steps. It makes us shed our dander all over the place.

Let's stop, re-group, think, carry a big stick and keep our voices down below a roar.

I would advise the Israel Putmans not to go back to their plows—let them stand where they are. We have a lot of wars to win in order to get our good standing back up to a sitting duck position.

We should go back to the old days and remember some of the advice of our bewhiskered forefathers who feared nothing but the temper of their wives. We should remember such slogans as "Up and attem, men," "Up, up and defend your homes," "Pass the ammunition and keep the powder dry," "Get there fustest with the mostest," "Don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes," "Don't just stand there, do something" . . . and if you can't do this, don't run — FLY!"

I've heard of Christmas in June. Now we have a Christmas in February. Major James Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Hall, was in Korea at Christmas and spent the holidays with an orphanage there. People from Kingston, Tenn.—the home of his wife—had sent clothes and toys and Mr. Hall made pictures so the Kingsport people could see them. He returned home and showed them at church services Sunday.

But I'm getting ahead of the story. He came home to Booneville with his family, and Mr. and Mrs. Hall had Christmas on February 10th—complete with lighted Christmas tree, Christmas dinner and gifts. Some folks say Christmas is just another day—I prefer to think that Christmas can be any day—if the love is there.

Recently we received a request from the Literary Gazette of Moscow, USSR, asking for a copy of the Banner-Independent. The envelope was addressed in English and in Russian. We don't know why they wanted it, but hope they received enough papers from this grass-roots section of the country to get a true picture—and won't distort it!

They tell me Middle Age is when the boss starts rewarding you with a pat on the back—instead of a pay raise—figuring you no longer have the courage to look for a better job.

Golfer: I'm anxious to make this shot. That's my mother-in-law up there on the clubhouse porch.

Friend: Don't be silly. You can't hit her from here; it's over two hundred yards.

I'll close for this week. Just hope all of you are well and happy and looking forward to the days ahead.

Till next week,
Helen

Local Business

By S. S. TALBOT
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

Nearly everyone loves a special sale at which goods are dumped at lower than cost prices.

But the store forced to hold a "loss" sale is not happy about the occasion. Newspapers may be less happy about selling sale advertising to an unfortunate retailer.

It is not the function of advertising to unload goods at a loss to the retailer. In fact, advertising is most useful to everyone concerned—retailer, consumer, and newspaper—when it does just the opposite.

Advertising serves best when it brings fair profits to the retailer by providing timely information about goods which are in demand, or by creating demand for new goods.

The retailer who learns about the effectiveness of advertising only through unprofitable sales, too often takes his final lesson in a "going-out-of-business" sale.

Every retailer has good cause to use sale advertising to dispose of normal seasonal surpluses, or to attract traffic to his store.

But it is day-by-day advertising of the latest goods at fair prices which keeps the whole economic community strong and progressive.

Land Bank Assoc. Has New Emblems

The Federal Land Bank Association of Corinth will put a new corporate identification emblem into use on March 1, according to an announcement by Max E. Benoist, Manager.

On the same day, other organizations of the Farm Credit System—production credit associations and banks for cooperatives also will put the corporate identification program into effect. Farmers and their cooperatives borrow $5.6 billion a year through the system.

The new Federal Land Bank Association emblem is a deep blue oval, one of a family of bright colored ovals that will identify each of the three farmer-owned organizations of the System. The production credit association emblem is a bright red oval.

In addition, there is an overall emblem for the Farm Credit System. This emblem suggests a basic structure with pillars representing the three individual banking groups of the system, with a roof signifying the uniting service objective and a solid foundation symbolizing the strong financial base of the system. This structure is enclosed in a basic oval, encased with the words, "Farm Credit Service."

"Up to the present," said Mr. Benoist, "banks and associations of the system have used a variety of emblems. As a result, there was little indication that our three institutions are related . . . and have closely correlated purposes, objectives, and goals. In actuality, this close relationship is the source of much of our strength in providing for farmers and stockmen."

Behind the new Federal Land Bank Association emblem is a 47 year old credit institution, deeply rooted in American agriculture. It is the pioneer of the Farm Credit System. Established during World War I, the land banks were the first to make general use throughout the country of the long-term, amortized loan, a feature that revolutionized farm real estate lending.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Corinth serves Alcorn, Benton, Tippah, Prentiss and Tishomingo Counties, and has approximately 400 members and with $2,537,500.00 in loans outstanding. Money for these loans comes from the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, which obtains funds by selling bonds in the nation's private investment market. There are no appropriated Federal funds in the land banks, nor does the government guarantee the bonds, either as to principal or interest rate.

"Our new FLBA corporate identification program will become a nationally known farmer-owned trade mark," Mr. Benoist pointed out. "It reflects our modernization on farm credit methods to keep pace with the needs of modern farming in this community."

Mississippi, in 1895, became the first state in the nation to abolish the practice of leasing convicts to private contractors.

Mid-South Politicians Already Feel Heat Of Memphis Press Club Show

Politicians and civic leaders of the Mid-South aren't sure which way to turn. They can already feel the heat from the Memphis Press Club's fifth annual Gridiron Show.

The politicians and civic wheels themselves are heating more fuel on the fire every day. Although some confess their hides are tender,

Soybean Variety Tests Show Lee Produces Well

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — Lee continues to be the top producing soybean in Experiment Station variety tests in Mississippi Delta and ranks near the top in tests in the hill sections of the state.

Dr. E. E. Hartwig, USDA research agronomist, has recently reported results of his 1963 and long range tests at the Delta Branch Experiment Station at Stoneville. Of five varieties tested, Lee had the highest yield last year on sandy loam soil and was only one-tenth of a bushel below Jackson, the high producer on clay soil. It led in five-year and ten-year average yields on both soil types.

Planting an adapted variety is essential for successful soybean production, Dr. Hartwig says, but management is also very important. Lee has averaged 40 bushels per acre at Stoneville for the past 10 years, while the state average yield is only half that much although the same variety is generally planted. Dr. Hartwig believes failure to control weeds is perhaps the most important factor limiting soybean yields in the state.

In the hill section of Mississippi, nine soybean varieties were compared at State College Branch Experiment Station at Brooksville, Raymond, Pontotoc and Holly Springs. When yields from all these locations were averaged Hood and Hale 3 were very slightly above Lee. G. D. Green, Experiment Station agronomist who supervised the tests, says Lee is, and should be, the main variety grown at present because of its seed holding ability. Plant breeders developed this variety especially for its high yielding and non-shattering traits.

Complete results of soybean variety tests in both Delta and hill areas are available on request from the Experiment Station at State College.

V A Answers Vets Questions

Q—I have read that the terminal data for the GI loan program is July 25, 1967. Does this apply to all veterans?

A.—No, only veterans of World War II. Korean Conflict veterans should add ten years to the date of their first discharge from active wartime service and then add one year for each three months of such service. The date reached by this formula is their personal deadline date for GI loans. However, it cannot be later than January 31, 1957, which is the final date for all Korean Conflict eligibility. World War II veterans have a similar formula but their terminal date is the earlier July 25, 1967.

Q.—My term insurance is getting too expensive and will be worse as time goes on. At this time I cannot afford to convert all of it to a permanent insurance plan. Can I convert part now and the rest later?

A.—Yes. You may convert as little as $1,000 or more in multiples of $500 after the first thousand.

Q.—Is any Korean veteran with a service-connected disability eligible for vocational rehabilitation training?

A.—No. The veteran must be found in need of vocational training to overcome the handicap of his disability in order to receive the training.

Q.—I understand my daughter although 18 may continue to receive her nonservice-connected pension up to age 21 if she is attending a VA-approved school. How can we tell what schools are VA-approved?

A.—Most well-known and recognized schools and colleges are on the VA-approved list. However, if you are in doubt about a school contact the Department of Education in the state in which you live or the nearest VA office.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

HOG PRODUCTION

Mississippi farmers could certainly use an extra $17 million! But this is approximately the amount that Mississippi meat packers spend for market hogs bought out of the state.

Of the around 815,000 hogs slaughtered within Mississippi each year, roughly 60 per cent are purchased out of state. With stepped up production of market hogs and a corresponding increase in production of feed grains, Mississippi producers stand to increase their income by around $17 million.

The packing plants are expanding. Because of industrial progress in the state, consumption of red meat is expected to increase. Pork should share in the increase.

Mr. Smith

Basically, pork production is based on home grown grain. Farmers cannot expect to expand pork production and at the same time, follow the present trend of reducing corn acreage.

Any farmer who can produce 60 bushels of corn to the acre can figure on cows and hogs as a reliable source of additional farm income.

KEEP FIRE OUT OF PASTURES

It is mighty important at this time of year, especially, to keep fires out of all pastures. Young clovers and other legumes are getting started and fire will destroy them.

Folks once thought that a broomsedge area would give better grazing if it were burned off. They found that this is not true! Usually down in the broomsedge, where you can't see them, are lots of young clovers, other legumes and grasses. Fire will also destroy these.

The best method of getting rid

4-H Council Has Meeting

The Prentiss County 4-H Junior Council held its regular meeting in the basement of the PCEPA building February 1. Patsy Smith, president, called the meeting to order and introduced Rev. Wood who gave the devotional.

Secretary Sarah Farrar read the minutes and called the roll. It was announced the Junior Public Speaking Contest would be held at next month's meeting. All junior club members are urged to enter.

Mary Ann Geno and Edith Wimberly led the group in songs; 4-H Pep and Texas. A report on car wash preparations was given by Bobby Hodge. It was decided each member would wash one or more cars at his home.

The president read the council a letter from Calhoun Country Club reporting on their trip to Rock Eagle, Ga.

Courtesy and Kindness was the theme Thrasher High School students Mary Hatley, Carolyn Shackelford, Paulette Morgan, Larry Furtick and Doug Holland chose for the demonstration they presented to the council.

Mr. Jim Archer showed a film on the necessity of going to college. Peggy Moore adjourned the group by leading the 4-H Club pledge. Refreshments were served.

Kathy Scott, Reporter

of the broomsedge is to top dress some fertilizer so that these young plants down in the broomsedge can get started growing. The broomsedge also gives the young tender plants some protection from the late winter cold spells.

HOME GARDENING

The time is here to get that spring garden underway. In some areas, lots of planting has already been done.

You can still plant all of the January plants, like lettuce, turnips, English peas, Irish potatoes, radishes and the rest of the hardy vegetables. Now add broccoli, cauliflower, beets and parsley to the list.

FERTILIZER PLACEMENT

Among the several factors that influence fertilizer efficiency, the method of application or placement of the fertilizer is one of the most important.

Fertilizer placement is influenced by three factors: 1) Positional availability (fertilizer must be close enough for plant roots to reach); 2) Chemical availability (fertilizers react in the soil and may become chemically fixed and unavailable to the plants); 3) Possible injury to seed (chemical burning of roots by fertilizer salts). Proper placement of fertilizers can sometimes double or even triple their effectiveness.

On all row crops fertilizer should be placed a minimum of two inches below and three inches to side of seed.

Established sod crops have many roots near the surface and the surface and the surface is shaded by foliage of plants. This permits good use of fertilizers applied as a top-dress.

General placement recommendations for row crops and drill seeded crop: place fertilizer in soil, place fertilizer in band—place fertilizer to side and below seed.

SOD CROPS

Fertilizer should be topdressed on sod crops that are established. For establishing, place fertilizer in the soil. Urea should not be used as a topdressing especially on sod crops.

AVOID COTTON ALLOTMENT REDUCTION — PLANT OR RELEASE

Orville E. Bostick, Chairman of the Mississippi Agricultural Agri-vation State Committee, has released information regarding legisla-tion covering the 1964 cotton crop. "There has been some con-fusion and misunderstanding about rumors that there would be an ac-reage diversion program for cotton in 1964," Bostick said, "and I am pleased that this has been cleared up by Under Secretary of Agricul-ture Charles S. Murphy." Secretary Murphy testified before the Senate Committee on Agricul-ture and Forestry on February 11, and recommended that the Senate pass the cotton bill already passed by the House but amended as pro-posed by a recently organized pro-ducer's committee. The amendment would provide a domestic allot-ment-choice program and would ap-ply to the 1964 cotton crop. The Secretary said the proposed program would:

1. Eliminate the inequity of the two-price system.
2. Enable cotton to compete more effectively with other fibers by re-ducing the price of cotton to do-mestic mills.
3. Reduce government expendi-tures in fiscal year 1964 by $160 million as compared with present law.
4. Reduce surplus cotton stocks by 2.4 million bales in 1964-65 and 1.5 million bales in each of the next two years.
5. Maintain producer income — "Not as well as we would like but as well as possible under any plan which is workable and support-able," Secretary Murphy said. "Al-ternative uses of cotton acreage would more than make up for the reduction in gross income from cot-ton that would result from the do-mestic allotment choice."

The producer's committee has proposed for the crops of 1964 through 1967 a voluntary domestic acreage allotment within the present national acreage allotment. The domestic allotment would re-reflect estimated domestic consump-tion and would be about two-thirds of the effective farm allotments es-tablished under current legislation and under the House bill that has passed. Producers who choose to plant within the domestic allot-ment would receive a higher rate of price support not in excess of 15 per cent above the basic support rate on normal production of the acreage planted to cotton. The higher supports would be affected through the use of accumulated CCC stocks.

Producers who plant on the ba-sis of a domestic allotment would maintain their farm acreage his-tory as under present law. To pro-tect the income of small producers, the domestic allotment for small cotton farms would be established as the smaller of 10 acres or the basic allotment. Small producers would receive the higher support without a reduction in acres.

Mr. Bostick, speaking for the Mississippi ASC State Committee, said, "With the prospect of this type legislation, Mississippi farm-ers who do not plan to plant their full allotment should consider re-leasing the acreage not to be plant-ed. Mississippi cotton farmers fail-ed to plant about 82,000 acres of cotton allotments available for planting in the State in 1963 and it has been estimated that this cost Mississippi at least $19 million."

1964 Feed Grain Program Offers Advance Payment

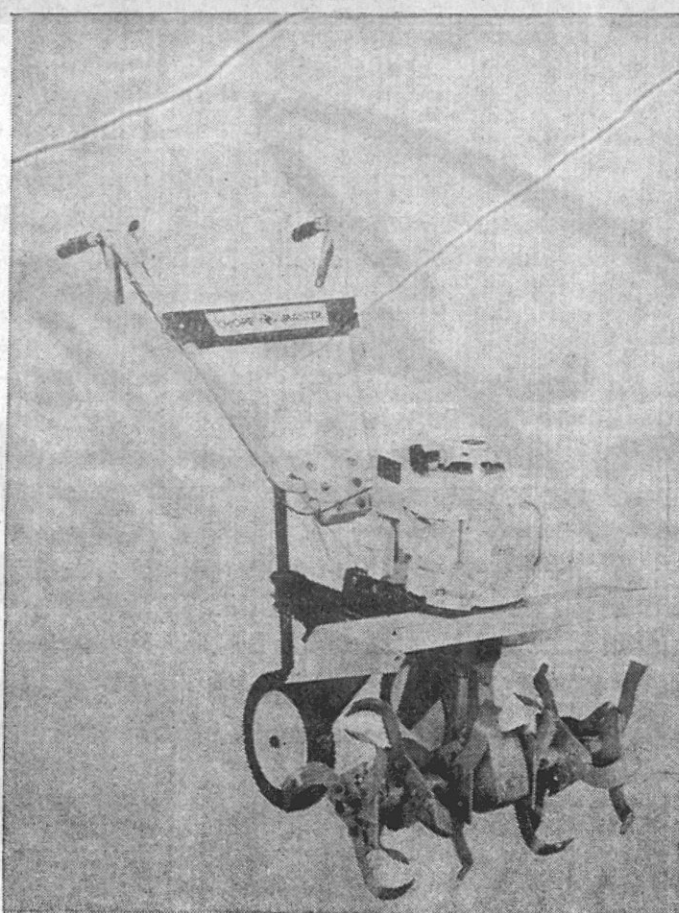

Growers who take part in the '64 feed grain program may receive a part of the diversion payment in advance. As last year, the program will be available for corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

Up to one-half of the estimated total diversion payment may be made in advance, at the partici-pant's request, at the time of sign-ing up or as soon as possible after that time. The rest of the diversion payment and all of the price sup-port payment offered by the pro-gram will be made next fall.

The advance payment provision should be of substantial benefit to growers who can use some extra ready cash during the spring plant-ing season.

As in 1963, the 1964 feed grain program offers participants a pay-ment for diversion of eligible crop-land to approved conserving uses, and a price support payment on the normal production of the 1964 feed grain acreage. Participating growers will also qualify for price support loans or purchase agree-ments on their entire production from the feed grain acreage.

The acreage of corn, grain sor-gum, and barley has been com-bined into one total feed grain base for each farm, and a produ-cer may divert one or more of the feed grains in the total base. His diversion payment will be made at the per-acre rate applying to the grain diverted. The minimum di-ersion under the program will be 20 per cent of the farm's feed

Perry Hardware Company, Booneville, is featuring the Chore-master tiller in the spring garden department. With the growing ac-ceptance of power tools for the garden, tillers are becoming a neces-sity with more and more gardeners. Breaking ground, preparing seed beds, cultivating, power weeding, turning ground under and fertiliz-ing for winter are among the capabilities of these tillers. Gardening is now as easy as mowing the lawn. The Choremaster "tempo 500" (pictured) has exclusive reversible tines, quick adjusting swing-up transport wheels which give it perfect balance at any digging depth. Forward, reverse and throttle controls are on the handles at the fin-gertips. Fold-over handles provide compact storage and adjustment to comfortable tilling position; the swinging stake allows easy maneu-ering and control for any tilling depth. As tillers are being depend-ed upon for mechanized digging, the gardener is allowed time and energy to spend more "fun" time with gardening or other hobbies. The tiller industry has grown 533% in the last 10 years. Guess we can expect to see more of these handy tools around town.

While participation in the 1964 feed grain program is voluntary, the price support payments and loans—as well as the diversion pay-ments — will be available only to growers who carry out the pro-gram's provisions.
