MONDAY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS CAFE

An early Monday morning fire at the Jack Sprat Drive-In on Highway 45 North destroyed the building and contents with loss estimated at $19,000. Looking over the charred building are, left to right, Fireman Frank Flemmings; owner, J. W. Gamble; Police Chief W. W. Stacy, and State Fire Marshal Clarence Pace. The fire was believed to have started from defective wiring. Mr. and Mrs. Gamble have operated the cafe for 3 years 3 months and owned part of the equipment. They estimated their loss at $2,000 for which they had no insurance. The building is owned by Murray Gentry and the estimated $17,000 loss was only partially insured. The fire was reported at 1:15 a.m. by Mrs. Jerry McGill, Almous Jordan and Claudia Mayo to the night policemen. There were not too many spectators at that early hour. Firemen and volunteer firemen answering the call, according to Mr. Pace, were Horace Thornton, Frank Flemmings, Roy Horton, Lee Kendrick, William Hisaw and Billy Sartin. Mr. Gamble said the following people were employed at the cafe, Carmo Bullard, Helen Spencer, Mabelle Nichols, Sylvia Allred, Johnnie Edge and Leroy Smith and Sam McGee.

Tractor Overtakes Wednes. Injuring Gerald Robinson

Gerald Robinson, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson of the Wheeler Community, was injured Wednesday afternoon when a tractor he was driving overturned on him. He is in the local hospital.

Gerald was pinned beneath the tractor until a wrecker reached the scene of the accident.

The young man was meeting a pick-up truck, driven by Norman Fulper, and pulled onto the shoulder of the road where the loose sand and gravel caused the tractor to overturn.

The accident occurred about 2:30 p.m. on the Blackland road, approximately six miles from Booneville. Gerald had been hauling hay.

Bonnie Knight, second district bailiff, assisted by City Chief of Police W. W. Stacy, investigated the accident.

Booneville Pee-Wees And Juniors Win Over Wheeler

By BARRY PARDUE

After taking an easy pair from Baldwin last Friday, Booneville baseballers continued their winning streak Tuesday by trampling Wheeler by scores of 7 to 5 (Pee Wees) and 6 to 5 (Juniors).

David Martin of Booneville's Pee Wees was the winning pitcher while Ford suffered the loss. Both pitchers contributed fine efforts with 4 hitters. Riley Presley slammed a three-run homer for Booneville. A seven-run fourth inning decided the game.

Booneville still seems to be bad news for the opposing Juniors as Fred Stennett (1-0) and D. T. Whitfield show that a pitcher can hit the ball as well as throw it. In the first inning Fred Stennett poled a powerful triple into the trees. While the crowd was still cheering Fred, D. T. calmly and nonchalantly strode to the plate to belt a home-run over the trees. This gave Booneville the lead over Wheeler which they never relinquished. With one out and the bases loaded in the bottom of the last inning, things looked bad for Booneville. The score was 6 to 5. But pitcher Fred Stennett maintained his fine pitching and ended it with these men on base. Gilley and Pippin had two hits each for the local lads.

This game was won despite the absence of Coach Nob Peek, who is now enjoying National Guard camp.

Howell And Mahaffy Win Golf Tournament

The team of W. R. Howell and John Mahaffy was the winner in the club best ball tournament held last week end at the Booneville Golf and Country Club. They posted a low-ball 36-hole total of 158 over the par 72 route to lead the 22 partnerships participating.

Taking second with a best ball score of 159 were Harmon Barron and Marion Smith, and Paul Ellzey and David Moore were third with 163.

Other top-scoring partner teams were Ray Kitchens and Dewey Martin with 164; Bob Hand and Jack Arnold, and John H. Price and Dr. Walter Simpson with 166 each.

100 Years Ago— Lincoln Renominated As Fighting Continues

By LON K. SAVAGE

"I do not allow myself to suppose that either the Convention or the League have concluded that I am either the greatest or the best man in America, but rather they have concluded it is not best to swap horses while crossing the river."

So said Abraham Lincoln — in a statement that has since become famous and somewhat misquoted — after his nomination 100 years ago this week for a second term as President of the United States.

Lincoln's re-nomination, made on June 7, 1863, at the Republican national convention in Baltimore, came at a time when the Civil War was raging on three fronts. In fact, he had hardly returned to Washington when word came of a Federal disaster in Mississippi inflicted by Nathan Bedford Forrest, of a radical change in the plans of General Ulysses S. Grant in Virginia and of slow but continuing success by General William Tecumseh Sherman in Georgia.

The Convention
Lincoln's re-nomination was short and unanimous, although it had appeared earlier there might be fireworks. Back in March, there had been considerable rumbling of new Republican contenders for the nomination, notably Salmon P. Chase, the Treasury secretary, and Grant, but that had died down.

On the first ballot, all the votes but the 22 from Missouri were cast for Lincoln, and before the count was announced, the Missourians switched (from Grant) to Lincoln. Then, in a change that would prove vital, the convention nominated Andrew Johnson of Tennessee for vice president, replacing Hannibal Hamlin of Maine.

On the very day that he was receiving Missouri's votes for the presidential nomination, Grant was revamping his plans in his drive for Richmond against the army of Robert E. Lee.

Staggered by the loss of more than 50,000 soldiers in a month-long campaign against Lee, Grant decided to swoop east and south of Richmond. "I will move the army," he wrote in a dispatch to Washington, "to the south side of the James River... Once on the south side... I can cut all sources of supply to the enemy except what is furnished by the canal."

Simultaneously, Grant sent his cavalry commander, Phil Sheridan, off to the west of the city to wreck the railroads leading into Richmond. Sheridan, in another one of his bloodys raids amongst the Confederates, succeeded to a large degree in doing this.

In Georgia
In Georgia, meanwhile, Sherman still was edging toward Atlanta, taking mountain by mountain, as his opponent, General Josepa E. Johnston, successively entrenched his army, fought a while, then fell back to entrench again. It was very slow progress for the Federals, but it was progress.

Sherman was concerned about that old nemesis of the Federals in the deep South, Forrest, who was operating in northeastern Mississippi, and he had ordered out a detachment to defeat Forrest. The Federals — under General Samuel D. Sturgis — therefore moved out from Memphis into Mississippi and soon found their quarry at Brice's Crossroads, 25 miles south of Ripley.

They lived to regret it. In a day-long battle on June 10, Forrest's foot cavalry ripped through Sturgis' lines and made a wreck of the Federals, killing many and driving off the rest in complete humiliation and despair.

Next Week: Heavy Fighting On All Fronts.

Natchez Trace DAR Has Program On National And International Obligations

The Natchez Trace Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held their June meeting at the Town Motel with Mrs. Jim Ward, Mrs. Eunice Price and Mrs. Milton Waters hostesses.

Observing the opening ceremony and ritual directed by Mrs. Lewis Earl Perry, regent, Mrs. Eunice Price led the Pledge of Allegiance and Miss Bess Bartlett served as Chaplain.

As the organization's year reaches its close for the summer months and will soon embark on another year, it was timely to think more seriously about our nation, the conflicts between our national interests and our international obligations, and to place emphasis on the important things the Society advocates, cherishes and embraces. From its inception, it has sought and helped effectively to bring peace to mankind, fostering a patriotism which means a love of freedom and a hatred for tyranny.

The program was based on the organization's major pattern of thought on various issues pertaining to our national and international problems. With intense application to an extensive subject, Mrs. Clarence Chase gave a perceptive and well defined condensation of the Resolutions adopted by the 73rd Continental Congress covering the structure of the organization, its pertinent provisions and its implications and as set forth in the following, by Mrs. Chase, it had both merit and instructional value.

1. Oppose Supreme Court's bar on school prayer and religious freedom in public schools.
2. Urge schools to require history of America as a part of education.
3. Urge women to become intelligent voters for moral rights.
4. Urge that we buy American goods rather than Communist labor products.

4. Oppose Genocide Convention that negates the rights of U. S. citizens.

5. Oppose registration and regulations of firearms except National and Federal Firearms Act for National Defense.

Mrs. Chase provided an affirmative answer to the often asked question as to what the organization stands for.

The analytical and interpretation survey of facts was made more understandable, especially to new members as well as others who may not be familiar or readily recall the background of significant information pertaining to the resolution.

The Seal and Insignia was a feature of the program impressively described authentically by Mrs. Perry. She said that the seal is a beautiful living "ideal." It was adopted in 1890 and consists of a woman at a spinning wheel (representing the home) forming the arch above, 13 stars (representing the colonists) symbolizes country, and beneath is the motto "Home and Country" and the dates 1776-1890. 1776 stands for the year of the founding of our country and 1890, the year of the founding of the DAR. The emblem of the DAR is an open tribute to the spirit that conceived this society, to its purposes, aims and accomplishment and to the spirit that has kept it ever since a flame, a torch, and a beacon light.

After the program the regent held a memorial service for a beloved departed member, Mrs. Louise Boone Woodruff. Lilies placed on the speaker's table in her memory were symbolic of her beauty and her long, sacrificial and dedicated ministrations to humanity. A veritable Florence Nightingale, she is devotedly remembered by the people of Booneville, Prentiss County and adjoining areas.

Always gracious and charming, Mrs. Perry ably expressed sincere good wishes to the group for a happy and pleasant vacation period. In conclusion as a gesture of her love and good will, a refreshing salad plate with iced tea was served at the social hour to a large attendance.

Hippocrates, the father of medicine, first called milk the most nearly perfect food.

PROTECT SQUARING COTTON NOW

The cotton plant usually squares at the seventh to the ninth limb. Poison now to keep thrips, flea hoppers, and plant bugs from destroying tiny pin-point squares before you can see them. Use Bidrin, Sevin, Toxaphene, Guthion, or Big 3 to insure an early crop of squares. These first squares make bolls of which only 86 will make a pound of seed cotton. Spray or dust your cotton before it is too late. Read the label on the container.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

Not all leaders are born

The rather handsome car above is what you might call a two-time winner. Dodge led the nation in percentage sales increase last year and continues to set and smash these lofty sales marks in 1964. It's also called a 1964 Dodge. Or the low-priced car that doesn't look like one or feel like one. People who have bought one, and who, incidentally, are trading in all kinds of other cars in record numbers, say they like: 1. The looks. 2. The roomy and rather posh interiors. 3. The extra savings of its famous Slant Six.

4. The lively V8 that goes on regular gas. 5. The self-adjusting brakes and 32,000-mile interval between major grease jobs. 6. The solid way it's put together—with a fully utilized, rust-protected body. 7. The price (right with Ford and Chevy).

If these seem like pretty good reasons for buying a car, join the swinging trend-setters who are changing the look and feel of the low-price field. You'll find them at your Dependable Dodge Dealer's.

The church was lighted by pink candles on two tapered candelabra. Outlining the bride and bridegroom was a white arch, entwined with ivy. Places for the family were marked by bows of white ribbon, accented by pink carnations and fern.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length dress and train of white bridal satin, with a bodice of Chantilly lace. Her shoulder-length veil was topped by a crown of seed pearls. The bride's bouquet was a white orchid, surrounded by stephanotis and white ribbon, placed on a Bible.

The maid of honor, Miss Nancy Bullard, the bride's cousin, wore a dress of pink crepe. Her headpiece was a circular crown of pink crepe, with matching veil. She wore a corsage of pink carnations and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The bride's other attendants, Mrs. Joseph Cochran and Mrs. Rhett Eaton, wore dresses and headpieces of blue crepe and their corsages were of pink carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his best man, Joseph Cochran of Booneville and by the ushers, Charles Ray Miller of Tupelo and Stan Morris of Booneville.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue silk linen and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of embroidered blue cotton. They wore matching accessories and corsages of white carnations. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. Oscar Ricks, wore dresses of blue cotton, with white carnation corsages.

Traditional nuptial music was played on the organ by Dr. E. Otha Wingo of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and continued softly throughout the ceremony.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Wheeler High School and Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

D. T. Beall Chapter Observes Jefferson Davis Day With Confederate Memorial Service

In the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Keeton the D. T. Beall Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy held their June meeting on Wednesday evening. Hostesses were Mrs. Keeton and Mrs. Mary C. Oakley, who made the members welcome as only true daughters of the South can do. Assisting in serving a delightful dessert course were Mrs. Toy Smith, Mrs. Sammie Smith, and Mrs. Mary Davis.

The president of the chapter, Mrs. Clarence Chase opened the meeting with a pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States and a salute to the Confederate flag. After a brief business meeting, Mrs. Chase gave a short historical sketch of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She told of its founders as well as its early work. Mrs. Chase carefully pointed out the objective and aims which are social, educational, historical, as well as patriotic. She stressed the nobleness of the purposes. At the conclusion of the discussion, the group moved to the cemetery to honor Jefferson Davis and pay tribute to the fallen heroes of the Confederacy who are resting in the hallowed confines of the grounds which are made dear to the members because of their sacrifices for the principles dear to the hearts of all true Southerners.

As the shadows fell over the small Confederate flags placed lovingly on the graves of more than one hundred Confederate soldiers, the members assembled and recited their ritual which in essence is a troth of faith and an eulogy beautifully expressing their loyalty to the principles of the Confederacy and a prayer of thanksgiving for the nobleness of Confederate history.

Mississippi, where he is completing the B. S. degree in Business Administration at Mississippi State University.

After the ritual the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Fred J. Fugitt, Jr., a great granddaughter of Archibald Pickens, a Southern patriot who gave his life for the cause and the great granddaughter of Rufus L. George and Isaac Newton McHaffey, honored Confederate soldiers who fought for the cause which though lost, tendered the South a heritage that is second to none in nobility.

Mrs. Fugitt in beautiful words paid tribute to Jefferson Davis, whose birthday the occasion honored, by saying that he showed the South the way to nobly meet its problems more than 100 years ago.

She pointed out the urgent need for that spirit he exemplified to be kept alive today. Mrs. Fugitt pointed out that the need for courage, cool headedness, initiative, resourcefulness and dynamic action rather than placid complacency was needed if we are to meet the ever-increasing problems facing our nation today.

In conclusion Mrs. Fugitt said

Preparation Through Prayer For Area Revival, July 5-19

"Nothing is so important in revival preparation as earnest, fervent prayer." So declares Rev. Robert Walker, pastor of Springdale Baptist Church, Ripley, and Chairman of the Prayer Committee in the Second Northeast Mississippi Crusade for Christ, July 5-19, at the Ripley Fairgrounds. In view of this fact, the Prayer Committee is urging individuals, neighborhoods and churches to pray for this crusade and cooperate in organizing for prayer and utilizing special opportunities.

As in the first crusade in Northeast Mississippi, plans are being made to have five prayer radio broadcasts for the five Friday afternoons preceding the beginning of the crusade. Station WCPC, Fort Houston, Miss., a station that will adequately cover Northeast Mississippi, will carry these 15-minute prayer broadcasts at 3:00 p.m. Listen to the broadcasts, then, immediately following, engage in a season of prayer for revival and other special objects. Individuals who are unable to meet with prayer groups are urged to take this time to pause for prayer and spiritual power.

In addition to participating in these prayer broadcasts, churches and communities of Northeast Mississippi are urged to plan Around-the-Clock, All-Night prayer services for Saturday night, July 4, the eve of the beginning of the crusade. Participation in this prayer program will greatly prepare the people of Northeast Mississippi for revival and be a source of spiritual blessing to the Southern Baptist Evangelist, Clyde Kendall, who comes to conduct this revival of the crusade. Miss Linda Ray Geno And Ellis Huddleston Are United In Candlelight Ceremony

In an impressive candlelight ceremony at the Crossroads Methodist Church on Saturday, June 6 at 7:00 p.m., Miss Linda Ray Geno and Ellis Huddleston were united in holy matrimony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Geno of Jumbertown, and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huddleston of Wheeler.

The Reverend Huey Wood performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by white wrought-iron candelabra holding lighted white tapers, tall white baskets holding white gladioli emphasized by large white satin bows, and a profusion of greenery.

Miss Betty Jo Michael, vocalist, accompanied by Miss Patsy Smith, pianist, sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." Preceding the ceremony, Miss Smith played a medley of songs and the traditional wedding march as the bridal party entered the church. Reverend Wood sang, "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the ceremony.

fashioned by her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Michael. The white satin skirt ending in a chapel train was topped by a lace bodice which featured a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves which tapered to a point over the wrists. The bride's elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a diadem circlet of pearls. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by white carnations from which fell satin streamers tied in love knots. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

The maid of honor, Miss Betty Geno, cousin of the bride, wore blue taffeta designed with a scoop neckline and brief sleeves. Her headpiece was a circular crown of matching taffeta and veil of blue net. She carried a nosegay of white mums with cascading streamers of white satin ribbon tied in love knots. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Ann Geno, sister of the bride, and Miss Lanelle Sims, wore gowns and headpieces fashioned identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried a single long-stem red rose.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown

Blackland RCDC Has Regular Meeting

The Blackland RCDC held its regular monthly meeting Monday night at the community center with Dalton Garner presiding. An inspiring devotional was given by Mrs. O. E. Tucker.

Junior Smith, Assistant Vice-President of the Prentiss County Home Bank, was the principal speaker. Mr. Smith's subject was, "The Concept Behind Banking and its Role Played in the Local Economy." He compared a bank with a farm. You must put something into each before any benefits can be derived. He pointed out that, and quote, "A farm must be invested with care, fertilizer, seed, and work. A bank must have checking accounts, savings accounts, investments, and loans in order that it may best serve its community. A bank develops its community, makes jobs, and provides capital to others."

"A farm idealistically could be self-sufficient; a bank cannot. A bank must have the support and confidence of the people to succeed in fulfilling its obligations to them."

"When the youth in a farming area leaves the farm for jobs outside our county and state the effect on the home farm eventually results in deterioration. A farm needs new blood. When the accumulated money of the local citizens are on deposit elsewhere than in your local bank, the bank is limited in the funds available for use in your own community."

On concluding his talk, Mr. Smith summed up his talk by saying, "Progress is our motto, and growth is our aim."

After the program the ladies of the club served refreshments for those attending.

CARD OF THANKS

At a time like this, mere words are inadequate to express our gratitude and heartfelt thanks to our many friends who administered to our many needs during the sickness and death of our beloved husband and father. Of course, we had much rather take each of you by the hand and tell you how much all of your kindness has meant, but this would be impossible because of the multitude of things that were done.
To those of you who brought food, gave a love offering, came to see us at the hospital and at home with your words of comfort and cheer, stood by us with your prayers and thoughtfulness, you can never know how much these things meant. To the doctors, nurses, and all the hospital personnel at all the hospitals for their untiring efforts toward Leroy and the whole family were appreciated more than you can know. The words of Bro. Wallis and Bro. Curbow and the beautiful songs that the singers sang were so comforting to us. For every deed, whatever it may have been, has been received with hearts of love and gratitude.
Our prayers are that each of you may receive the same deeds of mercy when your time of sorrowing may come, and may the God of Mercy and Love comfort and keep each of you now and forever.

MRS. DAVID TURNER, III

Elegant Service At Alexandria, Louisiana On Sunday Solemnizes Marriage Of Miss Bettie Broach And Mr. David Turner, III

A Sunday afternoon service of marriage on June seventh united Miss Bettie Daniel Broach and David Turner, III. The Reverend Roland Friedrich read the nuptial service in the First Methodist Church of Alexandria, Louisiana.

Mr. William Ferrell Broach of Alexandria and the late Mrs. Broach and Mr. and Mrs. David Emmons Turner, Jr. of Booneville are the parents of the couple.

Miss Broach, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of bouquet taffeta fashioned with an empire bow, a scoop neckline and tiny cap sleeves. Alencon lace reembodyered on net, was used to accent the shoulders and bodice and formed a complete panel to the hemline. The full skirt fell into a chapel train.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Betty J. Carter of Vinita, Oklahoma. Misses Mary Jane Turner, sister of the groom, Vicki Carr of Dallas, Texas, and Patricia Donald of Birmingham, Alabama were the bridesmaids. Each attendant wore a dress of pale yellow chiffon featuring an empire waistline, A-line skirt, scoop neckline and cap sleeves. Hats of velvet and illusion and colonial bouquets of asters completed their costumes.

Roger A. Kessing, Kingston, Tennessee, served Mr. Turner as best man. Groomsmen were Mike Davis, Dallas, Texas, George Brinkley Houston, Booneville, and John David Price, also of Booneville. Ronny Stephens, Booneville, Dan Brasfield, Tupelo, William Broach, Jr., Alexandria and Bob Broach, Montgomery, Alabama were ushers.

Guests entering the church were invited to sign the bride's registry by Misses Mary Helen Young of Campti, Louisiana and Kay Fincher of El Dorado, Arkansas. Compositions by J. S. Bach, Purcell, Stanley and Langlais were presented in organ recital by Mrs. Ronald Lay-Cour. During the service she played selections by Brahms, Peters and Bruckner and, for the recessional, the traditional Mendelssohn. Elegantly simple decorations were used in the church. A single nuptial candle, the base of which

A Delightful Coffee Is Held In Lovely J. H. Price Home On Thursday Morning

The home of Mrs. John Henry Price on Main Street, with its beautiful new decor, was the setting for a delightfully planned coffee at 9:30 Thursday morning by a trio of charming hostesses, Mrs. Price, Mrs. John Mahaffy, and Mrs. Ben Smith. Greeting guests informally in the spacious living room, they wore smart summer pastel cottons styled in the new silhouette.

Adorning the piano in the living room, a contemporary design was created with delicate cream carnations and a filigree of tiny white chrysanthemums edged with trailing foliage.

The dining table, overlaid with a handsome cut work cloth, was centered with a lush bouquet of summer flowers in a subtle blending of colors, placed in a silver bowl in the Williamsburg manner. Gracing the sides were two silver candelabra with pink candles casting a gleam over the stately composition.

Mrs. John David Price presided at the silver coffee service. The delectable choice of pastries and hors d'oeuvres on silver trays with festive garnishes, were a colorful feature of the table appointment.

Senior Girl Scouts Honored By Mrs. Schultz

On the afternoon of June 2, Mrs. Arthur Schultz opened her lovely home in hospitality to the Senior Girl Scouts of Troop 161, their mothers, leaders, their leaders, Mrs. Bill White and Mrs. Roy Lowrey and their neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Oswald Pounds.

The occasion was a tea at which two high school graduates, Caraly Moorhead and Ann Prather were graduated from Scouting, and at the same time Sadie Lou Price was invested as a new member of the Troop.

The combination investiture and graduation ceremony was carried out on the spacious, shady lawn with the mothers seated as an audience.

Mrs. Oswald Pounds welcomed the guests and turned the meeting over to the troop.

The program was opened with a flag ceremony. Sandra Pounds, Beverly Lowrey, and Judy White presented the colors, bringing the flag down the center of a horse-shoe formation of Scouts. The group pledged allegiance to the flag and sang, "You're A Grand Old Flag." Mrs. White and Mrs. Lowrey then invested Sadie Lou, using three tall candles to represent the three parts of the Girl Scout Promise. They presented "mock" diplomas and a little gift from the troop to the graduates.

Mrs. Oswald Pounds spoke some inspiring words to Caraly and Ann, and expressed hope that they were not really leaving Scouting but would continue in an adult capacity, thereby helping Scouting to grow in Booneville.

After the ceremony, the group went inside to a dining room that was a picture of loveliness. The table was overlaid with a white cut-work cloth, and on it was an arrangement of pink and white lilies and roses and green filler with twin silver candelabra holding lighted pink tapers.

Punch was served from a lovely crystal punch bowl along with tiny sandwiches, nuts, and individual

Are Enough People Waking Up?

The 1964 political scene in the United States is one of the most diverse that has come along for many a year, though it still doesn't hold forth much promise for the South. The Administration has skillfully maneuvered action on many issues long deadlocked. We have a tax cut as an accomplished fact, and passage of "civil rights" legislation in some form will undoubtedly be forced across. The nation averted a railway strike, at just what cost to the processes of collective bargaining no one is quite sure.

Commitments have been made to implement some increased economies in government, and the President has had a measure of success as peace-maker between government and industry. At one and the same time we see an incumbent administration seeking re-election on a record of prosperity and a promise to make "war on poverty"—a seemingly unbeatable combination. And yet all across the land there is a notable tone of protest and this shows unmistakably in primary voting.

Governor Wallace's success in northern states, in some measure, indicates simply annoyance with the excesses of some Negro groups, but it also indicates more than this. As a recent Wall Street Journal editorial observes: "Though most Americans sympathize with the Negro demands for better treatment, they are troubled by the seemingly interminable turmoil, by the spectacle of demonstrations getting out of hand, by the danger of majority rights being overridden by minority rights."

It is a warning that should not be lost on the civil rights leadership, the Senators in Washington or the Democratic Party."

And what sort of protest does the surprising support for Mr. Lodge suggest? In New England his qualifications might be considered in the light of his representing a much honored aristocratic and wealthy family of long established political stature. In some cases Lodge support has come from voters who chose him as an alternative to other available Republican choices. But a deeper and more fundamental protest may lie in Mr. Lodge's identification with international problems. There is ample reason for deep concern that this country must have more knowledgeable and effective leadership in foreign affairs.

And, of course, in the Goldwater strength lies what could be the most far-reaching protest of all—a turning away from the concept of an inevitable trend toward ever more powerful central state authority, resulting from the movement of control to the federal level at the expense of state and local governments and individual responsibilities.

All this adds up to a scene of a political system which has strength and vitality and could still be capable of preserving freedom, while at the same time improving the quality and capacity of our society—if enough people throughout the land wake up in time and make it known in no uncertain terms that we want the government returned to the people.

Local Business

By S. S. TALBOT

Chairman, Dept. of Journalism University of Mississippi

The policies of President Johnson may be expected to have a significant effect on retail trade during the months ahead.

Two programs, the tax reduction bill and President Johnson's anti-poverty drive are especially involved. The results will be slow to reach the local retailer.

However, economists feel certain that the effect will be widespread and dramatic. Although the programs are designed specifically to help the lowest income groups, it is likely that the retailer will find the greatest increase in consumer buying coming from middle income groups.

This phenomenon could be observed while the United States was emerging from the depression of the 1930's. The greatest stimulant to trade was not the basic increase of buying power by the lowest income groups but a great increase in the purchase of new products by a more prosperous middle class whose income increased as a result of new money in the channels of trade.

Products which are most likely to bring about a boom in retail sales are such things as air-conditioners and other electrical appliances, better clothing, color television, second and third cars for a family, and services such as restaurants and laundries.

National manufacturers are already aware of the probable trend and their advertising reflects their convictions.

The local retailer who follows national manufacturers in anticipating a new consumer buying spree by using more aggressive advertising is likely to be the one that gets the largest share of the new dollar.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

GRAIN SORGHUM FOR SILAGE

Grain sorghum ranks next to corn in feeding value. Any of the grain sorghum varieties can be planted now and fertilized with a recommended rate of fertilizer and produce a high yield. Apply 500 pounds of high analysis fertilizer at time of planting, side-dress with 60 lbs. of nitrogen at the knee high stage. HAY HARVESTING Cutting hay at the right stage is one of the most important steps in getting quality hay. Cut all hay crops in the first bloom stage. Use hay conditioner if possible.

JUNE — DAIRY MONTH
The entire dairy industry — producers, distributors, and agricultural workers are promoting the increased consumption of milk and milk products this month.

Milk quality in Mississippi is second to none! Mississippi produced dairy foods are plentiful, pure, wholesome and tasty.

From a sanitation standpoint, they grade excellent and are not surpassed by any state in the nation.

Dairying is big business within the state. Dairy dollars are earned and spent in each county. The retail value of dairy foods in Mississippi last year amounted to approximately $110 million.

WEED CONTROL IN CORN AND SOYBEANS

Want to control broadleaf weeds in corn that is around the lay-by stage? You can do a good job with 2,4-D on such weeds as cocklebur, morning glory, coffee-weed and ragweed. Before corn is 12 inches tall, spray broadcast using one-third pound of 2,4-D in 10 to 20 gallons of water per acre. After the corn is taller than 12 inches use drop nozzles and spray over the tops of the weeds, keeping as much of the material off the corn as possible. Raise the rate of application to one-half pound of 2,4-D to the acre. Do not use 2,4-D on corn that is silking and tasseling.

Corn can also be flamed for weed control. Frequent flaming is important if you expect to get good control because weeds must be flamed before they are 3 to 4 inches tall. You can use flame on corn until it is two inches tall and after it is 10 to 12 inches tall.

For soybeans, one application of herbicidal oil is an effective weed control practice. A single directional application of herbicidal oil at 5 gallons an acre when soybeans are 12 to 15 days old is recommended. Shoulder nozzles will aid the weed control under most conditions.

Only one application of oil is recommended in Mississippi and only the naptha type oil approved for use on cotton should be used.

For best results, seedbeds should be low, flat, on top and free from clods. It is important to keep the oil on the lowest part of the soybean stem to prevent injury to the young plants. Do not use rotary hoe on fields you are planning to oil.

INSECTS

It is shaping up like a real buggy year. Thrips, fleahoppers, boll worms and a few weevils are being found in cotton. Bugs are out in large numbers in home gardens. For control of all of these pests, we will give you information on materials to use and how and when to apply them.

MRS. ED JOHNSON

Each week I read the area newspapers including the ones published weekly. I note with interest that Fulton has extended its city limits, giving a truer picture of the population of that city. Comments have come our way from those just outside the city limits stating that even though taxes might be a little higher, fire insurance would be lower and perhaps the cost would level off. One person even stated, "We have everything the people in the city limits have ... sewer system, water and gas service, etc., except garbage collection, and I know we should be in the limits."

Another young man, in his twenties, told me he thought additional parking at the court house would be fine. When I told him to talk to the City Fathers and Board of Supervisors, he laughed and said, "Wouldn't I be something ... they wouldn't pay any attention to ME." I hastened to tell him he was wrong ... that our Board and Supervisors wanted to know what the people wanted ... including the young ones.

I also read that Pontotoc will have an airport ... something that's been discussed in Booneville for years. Last week the County Board of Supervisors gave final approval of a lighted airport with paved runway and other modern facilities. "Motivated primarily as a move for industrial development, the Supervisors in a vote at the June session adopted a resolution declaring intention to issue an amount necessary up to $80,000 in bonds for the construction of an airport. The local bond issue will supplement a $63,970 appropriation from the Federal Aviation Agency and a $5,000 grant from the Mississippi State Aeronautics Commission for the proposed airport facilities."

Booneville leads the state in many ways ... let's get busy and lead in EVERY way.

I work at the newspaper the first of the week and at Aletha Lodge the rest of the time. In addition to helping with the writing, I usually try to see several advertisers. This week I saw only one—the Peoples Bank — and that call shared equally to get a story of the board meeting from the mayor.

However, a great many of the local advertisers brought their ads to the office, as they do each week. We sincerely appreciate this extra cooperation on their part and urge you readers to patronize these businesses. You'll get extra value for your money.

We have some lovely guests at the Lodge; the latest one is Mrs. Johnnie Young who is the youngest and one of the nicest persons making the Lodge their home. Since I last listed the "family" we have been joined by Mrs. Susie Knight, who is such a gentle person; Mrs. Pearl Morgan, who smiles despite a broken hip; and Mr. Jack Vanstory, who has a joke or riddle for everyone, all from Booneville, and Mrs. Lelia Ellis of Corinth, who makes real pretty doll clothes for her grandchildren as well as for Mitzie Windham, daughter of Mrs. Ione Windham, one of our nurses. Come to see us.

In our office Wednesday morning was Mr. Harold Prichard—and so I caught up with the travels of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Prichard. They have been in Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and are now spending five days in Jerusalem. Sunday, they will go to Athens, Greece. They have made some interesting trips through the years, but this seems to be the best yet!

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Carter and sons were discussing the pending arrival of a new member of the family ... boy or girl, both, or maybe triplets when the younger son, Barry, said, "Oh, I hope it's doublets."

It's the time of year when one shouldn't have to buy clothes for boys—school is out and they don't need to look as nice. That's what I think, but the truth is much different. Now there are more torn places, more grease spots, more grass stains, more dirt in general. Monday night, I sewed, by hand, rips in the seats, torn buttonholes, pulled seams, etc. Tuesday morning I bought some new clothes. Next week this time there will be rips in the seats, torn buttonholes, pulled seams, etc., but they might just have to wear them.

Uncle Buckle: Which go faster, horses or buses?
Luke: Buses, of course.
Uncle B.: Then why don't you bet on buses?

Till next week.
