Sheriff Green Says Mixup Of Evidence Is Impossible

Sheriff Gerald Green said Tuesday that it would have been impossible for local authorities to have mixed up evidence in the Charles Eaton case as was claimed in an article in a Memphis newspaper Saturday in statements attributed to a ballistics expert of the Mississippi Highway Patrol Bureau of Identification.

Eaton was indicted by the Prentiss County Grand Jury August 4 on a charge of murder in connection with the July 8 shooting of Louie Ferguson. Kenneth Robinson, brother-in-law of Eaton, was also indicted in the case.

The case was set for trial August 12 and a jury had been picked when conflicting ballistics reports caused District Attorney Jack Doty to move that the case not be tried. Circuit Judge N. S. Sweat, Jr., ruled that the case be nolle prossed, and later upon motion by the prosecution also nolle prossed the case against Robinson.

The district attorney said that the information contained in the report was vital to the prosecution and it would have been futile to try the case in view of the conflicting reports.

Sheriff Green explained that on July 28 he contacted the Mississippi Bureau of Identification and gave them the gun Charles Eaton had given him and which gun had three spent cartridges in the chamber, and the gun found on Louie Ferguson, which had two spent shells in the chamber.

"After that," the sheriff continued, "on August 2, the Sunday before the Grand Jury convened on Monday, these things were returned to me with a report dated July 30."

An examination of the report revealed that four of the spent bullets were fired in Eaton's gun and one spent shell was fired in the Ferguson gun.

Sheriff Green said, "After the indictment August 4, on the 7th of August the court set the case for trial August 12. On August 9 a highway patrolman came to Booneville and gave me a letter from the identification bureau requesting that these guns and ammunition be sent back. This was the last I saw or heard of these items until 1:30 p.m. August 12 when Gwin Cole, assistant director of the identification bureau, who had signed the report dated July 30, told me and the district attorney there had been a 'mixup' and he could not testify according to the July 30 report. This was the first that either I or the district attorney had heard of any mixup."

An article in the Commercial Appeal, August 15 issue, quoted Mr. Cole as follows: "One empty cartridge hull in the 'Eaton bag' was fired from the Ferguson gun. The original local investigating officers mixed up the evidence before it got to us."

In regard to this statement Sheriff Green said, "We knew that two empty shells were found in the Ferguson gun and three in the Eaton gun and did not send the articles to Jackson for an examination of our packaging of evidence. What we wanted was a ballistics examination to determine which gun fired the cartridges, and it would have been impossible for us to have mixed up the evidence. No matter how the articles were packaged a qualified ballistics examination should reveal in which gun the cartridges were fired."

The articles were sent Wednesday, August 19, to the Federal Bureau of Investigation with a request for an accurate ballistics report, and also a report of where, when and by whom the guns were purchased.

PCEPA Directors Will Be Elected On August 28th

The formality of an election and the required quorum of 100 members voting is all that is required for qualifying members to become the Board of Directors of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association.

Any member in good standing could have qualified for the Board. Those who did, and who will constitute the new board, are: Joe W. Duckworth and Percy T. White of the First District; J. M. Green and Russell B. Hill of the Second District; G. B. Grisham and Hollis R. Smith of the Third District; J. Mack Goodwin and W. A. Gray of the Fourth District; Edwin Brown and Dramon Williams of the Fifth District; Paul C. Ellzey, J. H. Gardner and L. H. (Tate) Oakley for the County At Large.

The annual meeting of the members of the Association will be held at the Headquarters Building of the Association in Booneville on Friday, August 28, 1964 at 10:00 a.m. for the purpose of electing directors and transacting such other business as might be presented.

Any person, firm, corporation or body politic who owns a membership in the cooperative and such membership is active and in good standing at the close of business hours on August 7, 1964, shall be entitled to one and only one vote regardless of the number of memberships owned. Memberships in the name of a person may be voted only by the person owning such membership. The members may vote in the office at Booneville or Baldwin, provided each member votes in the office which provides his electric service. Balloting shall be on official ballots furnished by the cooperative and each member voting must vote for 13 directors.

For the first time in the history of the association the number of members went over the 7000 mark, reaching 7020 in June. Likewise the consumption of electricity reached an all-time high.

Assets in 1964 were $2,760,754.15 as compared to $2,583,583.69 for 1963. Liabilities were $2,760,754.15 for 1964 as compared to $2,583,583.69 for 1963. Total revenue was $750,834.90 for 1964 compared to $692,396.58 for 1963; total expense was $585,335.45 in 1964 compared to $535,646.50 for 1963. Net earnings were $165,499.45 in 1964. They were $156,750.08 in 1963.

Mr. Abernethy concluded: "As the control of our nation passes from the great statesmen of this and past generations to the power-grabbing present day politician, it will require an energetic program and a never-ending vigil to preserve these benefits for future generations."

J. W. Abernethy, manager, said, "City Living on the Farm." A dream that is now a reality. The availability of low cost electricity to our farms must be given lots of credit for making this age-old dream come true."

"Life is easier and better on the farm with electricity. Our rural members enjoy most of the advantages of urban living, without many of the disadvantages which often accompany life in the city. And electricity helps you produce more, in fewer hours of work."

"Urban living is better, too. And again an abundant supply of low-cost electricity deserves a lot of credit. Our members in the towns use electricity to create better business and greater industrialization."

Mr. Abernethy continued, "A better way of life for all our members—both urban and rural is one of the main objectives of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association. Yet today there are those who would take away this low-cost electricity to promote their own personal gain. These same groups and individuals who oppose us so vigorously today, had the same opportunity to provide this important service to our rural people just a little over 20 years ago, but they said, 'It couldn't be done.'"

"Even though the generation that first brought rural electrification to North Mississippi will soon be passing, much work will remain to be done. We must prepare the youngsters who will take our place, to defend and preserve this great asset which we leave in their trust. They don't remember the 1930's. They don't remember unelectrified North Mississippi with its wood-burning ranges, its kerosene lamps, its ice boxes, and unlighted barns. They must be reminded that low cost electric energy did not just happen and that it is not necessarily here to stay. They must be shown that the economic health of our area depends upon an abundant low cost source of electric energy."

Mr. Abernethy concluded: "As the control of our nation passes from the great statesmen of this and past generations to the power-grabbing present day politician, it will require an energetic program and a never-ending vigil to preserve these benefits for future generations."

Greater Than The Atom

A short time ago nerves from the leg of a donor were transplanted to the hand of a Los Angeles man who had been injured in an accident. His sense of touch was thus restored. And this, it is said, marks a major breakthrough in surgical techniques.

This achievement also points up a fact that has been noted by science writers but seems to have been largely overlooked by many others. This is that the greatest scientific advances of the past few years have not been in the development of space travel and exploration, not in the new knowledge and understanding of the structure of the atom, and not in the area of electronics. Rather, they have been in the field of medicine, and in knowledge and understanding of the human body and its functioning.

This is to say, in effect, that the discovery of penicillin and other antibiotics outranks television, that the virtual elimination of a scourge such as polio is a greater feat than the orbiting of a satellite and that the successful repair of a broken-down human heart is more of an accomplishment than the explosion of an atomic bomb.

Of course, absolute comparisons in the fields of scientific and technological achievement are impossible, but it is certainly true that the almost incredible progress made in medicine, in drugs, and in all the related arts has brought infinitely more benefits to infinitely more people than have the other breakthroughs and efforts, important as they are. And these benefits will be passed on in ever-expanding scope to the generations yet to come.

100 Years Ago— Sheridan Burns Crops In Shenandoah Valley

By LON K. SAVAGE

Ulysses S. Grant, ever since he had launched his final campaign against Robert E. Lee, had figured he must do something to stop the flow of grain and other food from the beautiful Shenandoah Valley of Virginia to Lee's army around Richmond. One hundred years ago this week, that "something" began.

Grant had planned the effort weeks earlier. In a letter to Washington, he had said an army must push up through the valley burning and destroying everything that could be eaten by man or beast—"so that crows flying over it for the balance of the season will have to carry their own provender with them."

Then, when Confederate General Jubal Early made his raid up the valley and invaded Maryland and the District of Columbia in late July, Grant knew it was time to act. He named 33-year-old Phil Sheridan, a major general, to command 36,000 men, formed into a new Army of the Shenandoah, and gave him orders to carry out the unhappy task.

Sheridan Sets Out

On August 10, Sheridan's long wagon trains, infantry and cavalry set out from Harpers Ferry, heading southwestward through the lovely, rolling farms that stretched from one blue ridge to another alongside the looping Shenandoah River.

He hardly had set out when he ran up against Early's army, that had remained in the valley following its raid northward. Fighting broke out, but it was not heavy. Early expected re-inforcements, and he fell back slowly while waiting for his new men. Sheridan pushed on to Winchester, then almost to Strasburg. It was all very cautious. At Strasburg, Early got his reinforcements, Sheridan heard about them and not wishing to battle until he knew his army better, began retreating back down the valley. And the pillage began.

Chaplain's Report

The Rev. Frederick Denison, chaplain of a Rhode Island cavalry regiment, recalled the event in later years: "The 17th of August," he wrote, "will be remembered as sending up to the skies the first great columns of smoke and flame from doomed secessionist barns, stacks, cribs and mills, and the driving into loyal lines of flocks and herds."

As the valley people watched, the Federals spread out from ridge to ridge and swept down the valley, burning food, barns, flour mills, hay and wheat, herding cattle, sheep and hogs northward, beyond the reach of Lee's army.

The destruction was visited on all alike; on ardent secessionists, on Mennonites who inhabited the valley and refused to take part in the war for religious reasons, even on Union sympathizers. The war had entered its final phase—a phase of total destruction and unyielding bitterness.

The News From Frankstown Mission

So many have asked us what our plans are for the 120 additional acres, so we give you a synopsis of what the Frankstown Mission plans to do with the 120 acre farm. Have good pastures, raise some cattle and hogs, have good gardens and truck patches, in connection with our promotional work and transients; have beautiful lakes and all necessary outing equipment to project and promote the Kingdom's work. Farfetched, but you should know the primary purpose is to have a 40-acre park, unique and unexcelled anywhere. We want a black-top road or concrete entering at a certain point from Highway 30 going south to a point where we will have a pavilion or luncheon area that someone should attend at all times with all necessary accommodations expected anywhere. And this road as you enter and go along will have signs permanently arranged on bronze (everlasting) that will carry verses from the scripture such as, "Come unto me all ye"—"Seek and ye shall find"—"Knock and it shall be opened unto you," etc.

Then as he approaches a magnificent picture of the Cross he will automatically hang around, plenty of Christian reading material, primarily Bibles. Then we will assume as he goes out a straight road that will come out at a different point on Highway 30 you will notice that we have assumed that he has accepted the plan of salvation then he will read from time to time on this outward driveway the promises of the Book, such as "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God—Let your light so shine—etc. "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee," and many others to be selected.

But another high point before he takes this narrow beautiful driveway out he will have seen a short Broadway that leads to destruction that we hope attracts none. And the story of the separation of God from the soul of man will not entice him.

Local Business

By S. S. TALBOT
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

A furniture store in Ambler, Pa., frequently runs advertising which is designed to promote all local retail firms—even competitors.

Such advertising is done on the belief that general activity in a trade center is good for all retailers as well as the community as a whole.

It has been proven that the large store which advertises heavily automatically helps to support nearby specialty shops and services. Thus, the best location for a small gift shop may be in the shadow of a large department store.

Studies made of retail trade decline in cities where strikes closed newspapers indicate that specialty shops which did little or no advertising suffered almost as much as the nearby big advertisers.

It was evident that the downtown traffic created by regular newspaper advertisers helped to keep the entire trade center alive.

The most dangerous competition for the local merchant is not his next door neighbor. The biggest threat is the competitor in a distant trade center.

Or, in many cases, when advertising is not used, trade for all local retailers is lost because customers are not stimulated to buy anywhere.

HOME AGENT NOTES

KITCHEN COUNTERS

Popular materials for kitchen counters and back splashes are linoleum, vinyl, laminated plastic, ceramic tile and stainless steel. The materials are listed in the order of cost, going from linoleum, the lowest priced, to stainless steel, the most costly.

Each has certain desirable and undesirable qualities. You can get more details on these qualities from this office. Some general information you will be interested in includes:

All counter tops will show damage except ceramic tile when you slice bread or meat. A chopping block overcomes this disadvantage. A hot skillet will damage all but stainless steel and tile. Vinyl melts, linoleum scorches and discolors, and some laminated plastics blister.

Rough utensils, scraping over counter tops will scratch laminated plastics, but damages linoleums and vinyls more. Light scratches on stainless steel may be scoured away with steel wool.

Sunlight affects linoleum.

A poor seal is usually the cause of cracks around the sink. Linoleum absorbs more water than other materials.

The forecasters of the future tell us that homemakers will most likely increase their purchases of highly processed or "convenience" foods as more and more come onto the market. If you think it's difficult to shop now, you can expect more and different products to tempt you at the local market in the months and years to come. You can expect such new packaging developments as:

*Squeeze food tubes — for baby feeding. The tubes will be fitted with a hollow plastic spoon which can be attached to the neck of the tube. It can also be used for feeding bedridden patients.

*Easy-open cans for soups, beverages and other foods.

*You will see an improved tin can, as well as improved aluminum containers. Competition is still keen between these and glass containers and between plastic and paper packaging materials.

*Soon on the market will be food products with edible coatings.

AUGUST PLENTIFULS

Headliners among food plentifuls during August are beef and chicken. They are followed by plentiful supplies of turkeys, summer vegetables and salad oils and dressings.

Beef supplies won't be quite as high as for the past few weeks, but are expected to continue high during August. Try beef for a barbecue, a beef roast for a cold buffet, or tender beef cubes for your favorite beef kabobs.

You may add turkey to your menu in the form of salad sandwich or casserole.

Ye shall keep my statutes. Thou shalt not let thy cattle gender with a diverse kind: Thou shalt not sow thy field with mingled seed.

Leviticus 19-19

This is a portion of scripture quoted many times during the confinement of typhoid fever, by a fine boy who died at the age of 17 years, (65 years ago). "The Lord is my light and my salvation; Whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?"

Psalms 27-1

Two Rabid Bats Found In State

Two rabid bats have been found in Mississippi within the last week, the State Board of Health announ-ced today.

Dr. A. L. Gray, State Health Of-ficer, said that while it has been known for years that bats have rabies and can transmit the dis-ease to humans and animals by scratches and bites that these are the first known cases of infection in Mississippi.

One of the bats was picked up in a back yard in Pearl by two little girls. Following a laboratory analysis on the bat head which proved positive, the girls were placed on anti-rabies treatment and are under hospital observation.

The other bat was also found in Rankin County in a public build-ing. As far as is known it had not scratched or bitten a human.

"We strongly advise that no in-dividual handle a bat without ade-quate protection to prevent a scratch or a bite," said the health officer.

"When someone has been bitten by a bat, it is imperative to capture it dead or alive in order that lab-oratory analysis can be made to determine whether it is rabid," said Dr. Gray.

Children, he said, should be taught to leave bats alone.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

COTTON INSECTS

Spider mites are showing up in cotton fields throughout the county. If not controlled they will defoliate cotton completely. Control measures should be used especially on late cotton.

Materials to use are Bidrin, Ethion, Trithion, Demeton and Kelthane. Follow directions on label.

Worms are increasing and can still be a problem in young succulent cotton.

Mr. Smith

SILAGE QUALITY

Excessive moisture cuts the quality of silage. Use covers!

In a year of average rainfall, it is estimated that 3,600 gallons of water will fall into an uncovered 16-ft. upright silo. As much as 28,000 gallons will fall into a 16 x 100 ft. horizontal silo.

It makes no difference how the water gets into the silage, it will lower the feed value and reduce consumption.

You can cover horizontal silos with 6 mil. black polyethylene plastic covered with four inches of sawdust or weighted down with old auto tires.

For upright silos, metal roofs will do the job. To keep surface spoilage to a minimum in upright, conventional silos, polyethylene material can be placed on top of the silage as a seal and weighted down with several inches of green chopped material.

For more information on harvesting and storing quality silage, come by this office.

QUALITY COTTON

Two of the more serious threats to cotton quality are trash and moisture.

Trash reduces the grade of cotton. A lot can be removed at the gin but at the same time it is necessary to remove lots of good cotton fiber to get rid of the trash.

Moisture can cause seed cotton to deteriorate while being stored in the trailer and can cause poor ginning. Over-drying of wet cotton at the gin also lowers the quality of the lint.

To prevent too much moisture in the cotton, delay picking in mornings until dew dries. Stop picking in the evenings before dew begins to form. Give cotton time to dry out following rain or showers.

Clean cotton fields and clean, wide turnrows also help in preserving cotton quality. It is too late now to do much about clean fields, but the turnrows can be cleaned.

For more information check with this office.

LIME

Most pasture land in Mississippi needs lime and from one to two tons of it per acre. A soils test will let you know for sure how much is needed on your land for the different crops.

On permanent pastures the lime can be top-dressed. If land is to be renovated or fallowed, the lime should be applied before plowing so that it can be mixed with the soil and go to work faster.

THE HOUSE THAT GREW OUT OF A BOOK!

The book, of course, was a savings bankbook! On its pages was written the "success story" of a family that wanted a home of their own. Each deposit was a chapter that carried the story a bit further along toward its happy ending . . . the down payment on the home of their dreams. Adding INTEREST, all through the book, was this bank! And this, of course, made the family's savings grow much faster to the total they required. Our interest rate on savings is a liberal 3½% and 4% on Time Certificates.
