BHS Football Team Shows Good Promise

Discussing the Booneville High School Football team, Coach James Drewry said Wednesday that "desire and hustling" will determine how far the Blue Devils advance in the Tombigbee Conference this year.

Coach Drewry believes the team is further ahead of what it was this time last year and states that the spirit and desire is good and "if the boys keep hustling, they should win some games."

Booneville hasn't had a winning team since 1960, but this year's squad has promise. They have more speed, but lack game experience.

Coach Drewry states that he has had good leadership out of the seniors; although there have been some injuries among the players and rain has kept them from practicing as much, he believes they'll be in shape for the September 2nd game against Selmer, Tennessee - a big team.

Line Coach Richard Brown says the line is lots further advanced than it was last year and that it is amazing how much the speed has improved.

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF PRENTISS COUNTY

The Question You Are Being Asked To Decide On Tuesday, August 30th Is Not Whether We Will Have Liquor or Not, But HOW We Will Have It—Legal or Bootleg. We Have Always Had It And We Will Continue To Have It.

HOW DO YOU WANT IT?

LEGAL

No sales to anyone under 21 years.
No sales to drunks.
No sales to alcoholics, if requested by the family.
No sales before 10 a.m. or after 10 p.m.
No sales on Sundays or election days.

Honest law enforcement officials, and the law enforced and respected.

Permit fees, taxes, and wholesale profits go to the State and Municipality, both of which certainly need new sources of revenue.

Sales outlets will be limited to towns having an adequate police force, and they will operate under close supervision.

BOOTLEG

Sales to anyone having the money to pay for it.
Sales at all hours, every day of the week.

Possibly corrupt law enforcement officials, bought by the bootleggers.

Under the new legalization law there is no provision for taxes on bootleg sales as we had with the old "black market" tax. Bootleggers' profits will be bigger than before.

No limit on the locations of bootleggers, or to their manner of operation.

We urge you to read the provisions of the Legalization Act and think it over. We've tried prohibition all these years and it has been a miserable failure. Now let's try the common-sense method. If this method proves unsuccessful, prohibition can be voted back in after a period of two years. Let's see which method of control works the best.

Lee County Record Basis For Our Decision

cover their trail so well that not only do they go un-arrested but their names are not even known to the public.

And there is always cash in the till to try to make certain that such protection for the higher-ups continues.

Shortly before passage of the liquor legalization bill, the State Tax Commission made an off-the-record study of whiskey prices in several parts of Mississippi.

The lowest price for one popular brand was found in southwest Mississippi—$4.25 a fifth.

In the Jackson area and in the Delta the price for the same brand was $4.50. But in Lee County the price for the same bottle of whiskey was seven dollars—the highest in the state.

That meant that Lee County bootleggers, in addition to the normal profit made by bootleggers elsewhere in the state, had $2.50 a bottle or around $350,000 a year in a special markup to "play with" as they pleased.

And the frequent midnight calls, office visits, and other contacts with the Journal made through the years by bootleggers whenever they felt double crossed or otherwise "imposed upon" indicate the liquor barons know all too well how to make use of their bulging profits to exercise influence wherever and however they wish—even to the point of murder, arson, and running people out of the country.

For more than two decades the Journal has supported the dry cause in Lee County in the hope that it would work—that officers would arrest, that juries would convict, and that the public would support law enforcement in this field.

But it seems to us that the situation keeps deteriorating. And by now the bootleg system has so much built-in power that we believe that the legalization of liquor is our best hope for breaking it in this county.

If the people of Lee County should legalize liquor now and then decide after a couple of years that they think they can handle the whiskey trade better by a return to the dry law, that is their right under recent legislation and it is our guess that they would not hesitate to take advantage of it.

But we believe that all of us are going to be forced to the conclusion that no set of laws will handle liquor problems; that the real decision will have to be made by each person as to how much, or how little he will drink or whether he will drink at all. And we feel this approach needs continued emphasis.

We hope, therefore, that however it goes, Lee County will take full advantage of the features of Mississippi's new liquor legislation act which encourage alcohol education in the schools and in the community.

The Journal, itself, will not carry liquor or beer advertising regardless of how next Tuesday's election goes.

And we plan to go even further as new alcohol education material is prepared under the state program and make it available without charge through our columns so that young people and adults alike will more fully understand the problems involved in alcohol use.

But on the question of whether whiskey can best be handled in our county by upward of a hundred bootleggers or a smaller number of legally licensed and controlled establishments, we feel that the latter approach will work better than undercover sales with their accompanying bribery, corruption, election-buying efforts and open violence.

(Editorial in Tupelo Daily Journal, Friday, August 12, 1966)

Some people have a long list of reasons which they feel justify their position favoring or opposing the legalization of liquor.

Basically, the Journal has only one.

That is its thirty years of close observation of what goes on in Lee County of-fices, what goes on at election time, what goes on between elections, what goes on in court rooms and what goes on in criminal events which never reach the courts.

As a result of this observation, some continuously by the same individuals, some representing the compiled insight of a number of employees filling the same role over a period of years, it is the feeling of the Journal that the proposed legalization of liquor is preferable to what we have had in this county and what we seem likely to have in the near future.

We would not undertake to argue what course might be best in some other county with which we are not thoroughly familiar.

But given the kind of votes we of Lee County will cast on election day, our reaction to the responsibility of jury service and our performance once we are called to such duty, we believe the controls contained in the liquor legalization law are preferable to the even more wide-spread bootleg outlets we have had for years.

Occasionally in Lee County someone is killed in a bootleg war or the home of someone either in or on the fringe of the liquor trade is burned.

And when such things happen, the public is momentarily shocked into concern over what is happening in our county.

But through the decades most of the evil connected with Lee County bootlegging has gone on beneath the surface, often directed by sophisticated individuals who

MRS. ED JOHNSON

It thrills me to hear complimentary remarks about one whom I already admire. Such was the case this week when my mail brought a letter from Mrs. Ruth Michael of Laurel, Miss. concerning Ronnie Stephens and his excellent performance of his first marriage ceremony of Mrs. Michael's nephew, the Rev. Jimmy Ormon. Rev. Ormon and his bride are both preparing for the ministry of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Michael taught Ronnie at Blackland and she said she was happy to claim him, in fact "that's the extra pay day we teachers get that can't be valued in money."

Ronnie is the son of Mrs. Tom (Myrtle) Stephens of Booneville.

Last week on the Huntley-Brinkley report, pictures of Freshland Brand eggs were shown being unloaded in New York City and going into the grocery stores. The eggs on the television show were Booneville eggs and W. L. Caver was notified in advance to be watching for them. I'm sure the housewives purchasing them enjoyed them just as much as all of us do . . . and with modern refrigeration, they were probably almost as fresh.

A tip of the hat to our local college as it prepares to begin another year. It seems almost every week that beneficial additional courses, enlarging of departments, progressive techniques and a general advancement is made by this fine and growing institution. The capable president, Harold White, and efficient dean, Harmon Boggs, are aided with a dedicated and versatile faculty. Our college also deserves our untiring support.

Especially do we commend Mrs. O. C. Robinson who supplies us with the news articles about the college, and who is one of their most ardent boosters.

Till next week

Local Option Liquor Laws

These facts concerning the Local Option Alcoholic Beverage Control Law of the State of Mississippi were prepared by the Mississippi State Bar Association in an effort by this professional lawyers' organization to better acquaint the voters with the basic provisions of the law.

Elections may be held no more frequently than every two years, and an election can put a county which has previously voted wet back under the prohibition laws. The election question is decided by the majority vote.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Division of the State Tax Commission administers the law. The Commission, through the Division, purchases liquor and sells it at wholesale; issues the permits which are necessary to authorize package stores and bars; collects privilege and other liquor taxes; issues regulations governing facets of the liquor business not specifically covered by the law; and has investigatory and enforcement duties.

The Commission is the only wholesaler of liquor in the state, and the only legal liquor sold in the state is that sold by the commission to permit holders and then to retail customers.

An on-premises retailer's permit authorizes the sale of liquor for consumption on the licensed premises, but not to be carried away. This allows by-the-drink liquor sales in restaurants, hotel dining rooms, clubs, and "such establishments as it (Commission) deems proper."

A package retailers permit allows the operation of a store to sell liquor in its original container. No

Help Us Kids To Understand . .

I'm all mixed up; can you help me? My daddy says its all right for the state to sell whiskey and beer to raise money for our schools but he doesn't want me to drink it and help support the schools like he does. I don't know why because I am the one who has to go to school to get the education. Why can't I help to support the school? My teacher says it is not good to have legal whiskey to drink for it leads to crime and it's bad for our mind and body. If it's good for our state to sell whiskey to educate us, why don't they fire our teacher for talking against something that is good for our education? If having whiskey is good for our education, why does mama say our preacher is a good man? He doesn't drink. Why does my daddy say that the old man that passes our house drunk is no good because he drinks a lot? Daddy has already said it was good for the state to sell it because the tax money went to help the schools. If nobody buys any whiskey, the state doesn't get any school money. This old man helps our school more than anybody I know, because he spends all his money for whiskey.

Let us un-mix our mixed up youth by VOTING AGAINST coming out from the dry law.

liquor may be consumed in or around the store, and the store can sell nothing except packaged liquor. Package stores must be in a town or resort area. A permit has a term of one year, unless revoked for violation, and while it is not a vested right, it can be renewed if the applicant still meets the initial qualifying standards. After a public hearing, the Commission can revoke or suspend a permit for violation of the law or regulations. The Commission's decision can be appealed to the chancery court of the permit holder's county.

SCHOOL'S OPEN: LIVES DEPEND ON WHETHER YOU DRIVE

SAFETY

It isn't that children mean to be careless . . . it's just that in their zest and vitality they sometime forget to stop, look and listen before crossing the street. It isn't that we mean to be careless either, yet the very car we drive may be considered a lethal weapon and the consequences of our negligence could be fatal. It is our moral obligation to be extra alert these days when school children crowd the crosswalks.

CHECK YOURSELF ON THESE SAFE DRIVING TIPS...

- BE ESPECIALLY CAREFUL NEAR SCHOOLS . . . THINK ONE STEP AHEAD OF EVERY PEDESTRIAN.
- KNOW ALL TRAFFIC RULES . . . OBSERVE THEM AS LIFE OR DEATH REGULATIONS.
- REGARD ALL TRAFFIC SIGNALS, SIGNS AND MARKERS AS LIFESAVERS . . . THEY ARE.
- HAVE YOUR CAR SAFETY CHECKED OFTEN. FAULTY EQUIPMENT CAN COST LIVES.
- WATCH FOR CHILDREN ON MOTOR SCOOTERS AND BIKES.

Editorial Comments

By DR. W. H. ANDERSON

The people of Booneville deeply regret the passing of Mr. Odell South. He came here with the Brown Shoe Company. He was really a cornerstone in this organization. He made friends by the day. He was a dedicated man, dedicated to his duty at the Brown Shoe Company. He and Mrs. South were builders of good citizenship in the town. Mrs. South has made such a beautiful and attractive place out of the Old McCullar place, both the house and the yard are now so nice and attractive. Mr. South was a man of the very highest principles and he was a man of conviction and courage. He was very kind hearted and considerate of everyone. We regret his passing, but are so glad he came our way first.

Mr. Ben Weeks dropped by to see us a few days ago. We had not seen him for some time. He is a good student and a versatile man. He served this county for four years in the legislature. He did fine work for us in helping to secure the Junior College and get it on its feet. He was strong for the Four Year Medical School also. He knows timber and knows where it is in this section. His knowledge of timber helped us to secure the American Seating Company. He believes in land and trees. He is dealing quite a bit in real estate and has a lot of faith in this country. He has vision and looks to the future. We asked him what he was doing most recently and he replied that right now he is "sowing walnuts." He expects to have many hundreds growing in the future. He is doing this for his child and for the good of other people. He is doing his part to help leave something for others.

Legalized or bootlegged whiskey, when consumed as a beverage is an expensive item for human society. Not all men see this problem alike.

Education is a fine thing to have in the family where they don't have a milk cow.

Nothing in the world is so powerful as an idea whose time has come. —Victor Hugo

Ten years ago, 15 per cent of the cotton was picked by machine, now it is 75 per cent. It seems that there should be a premium for hand-picked cotton, but everything considered there does not seem to be so much difference. Anyway, hand-picked cotton is about over, it seems. There was a time when the lint was picked off the seed, but the cotton gin put an end to this. And so, progress moves on.

There was a time when we thought we had to hoe corn and thin it, but this day has gone or will be real soon. The tendency now is not to hoe cotton or corn, not even plow it.

It is estimated now that 17 million people between the ages of 18 and 79 have high blood pressure.

HILL-BURTON ANNIVERSARY

August 13 marked the 20th anniversary of the signing of the Hill-Burton Act, which was enacted following World War II to stimulate state planning and construction of hospital facilities with federal assistance.

At that time, the American Medical Association Board of Trustees endorsed the legislation, and the House of Delegates supported "this action of the Board of Trustees as being within the program of constructive action toward improving the health of the American people."

In the following 20 years, the program has done much to stimulate the construction of hospital facilities, which in 1946 was at a relative standstill as a result of the depression of the 1930s and of the military priorities of World War II.

As of March, 1966, the U. S. Public Health Service reports, a total of 8,139 projects providing 346,199 beds had been approved under the Hill-Burton program. The projects were built at a total cost of $7.9 billion, of which the federal government's share was $2.5 billion.

Since its inception, the program has been broadened to include grants for nursing homes, chronic disease hospitals, diagnostic and treatment centers, rehabilitation facilities, and modernization and replacement of obsolete hospitals and other health facilities. Additionally, a 1964 amendment established a new category of grants for area-wide planning of health facilities, and authorized additional funds for long-term care facilities—including nursing homes—to meet current shortages and in anticipation of an increasing demand for such accommodations.

The Hill-Burton program has been unique in many respects. It is the first major federal program in which states were given both financial and technical assistance in meeting health needs. While federal in scope and in certain aspects of operation, much of the program's success has been due to cooperative efforts.

It has been a prime example of coordinated effort among agencies of federal, state, and local governments, working with medical and other professional organizations, voluntary health agencies, and hospitals.

The above from the AMA News is very interesting and very informative. This paper is doing a lot of good. It is a fine medium for health education. Prentiss County has a right to feel pretty chesty since it has the first Hill-Burton Hospital in the nation and since it now has two and a half million dollars all told, in its hospital. Our hospital has fine nurses, dedicated nurses, and efficient workers. The medical staff is progressive and the administrator is well informed and honest. It has complied well with the rules of the higher ups, although it has not seen the necessity and the virtue in some of them. The general public should think just how it can help the hospital, help the patients, and not hinder in its efforts to serve the people.

Mrs. J. W. Isbell is in the Hospital for a few days. She is doing right well. On Thursday of last week, July 18th, she had her 86th birthday. Mrs. Isbell is a fine person. She and her family have been good and useful citizens in Booneville. Mr. Isbell passed on a number of years ago. Mr. J. W. Isbell did own and live on what is now the Eck Windham place. His father, the cordial and likeable Frank Windham, who was sheriff two terms, owned it. The fine pecan trees that Eck now enjoys were planted by Mr. Isbell. He did without a new suit of clothes so as to buy the little trees. Would that we had more people who would plant trees that would be a benefit to others later on. Mrs. Isbell is full of optimism and good cheer and is always an inspiration to others. She is kind-hearted and very loyal to the highest principles in life. We wish her many more good birthdays.

"A" Wing over at our hospital has been diked up, modernized, and painted. It has always been a right popular wing. One half of the rooms overlook Highway 45. The patient can look out the window and watch the world pass by while his wounds heal and his illness improves. Our hospital now is outstanding and growing more popular.

Jimmy Cox put on a fine program at Rotary on Tuesday of this week. We are all proud of Jimmy. He is moving right on up in his education. He has vision, talent and ambition. He will make his mark. The Robert Cox family has been a big asset to Booneville. His work has been good for the Kraft Cheese Plant also. Bob Cox is a builder for Booneville in every good way.

Nursing homes are growing in demand. Private rooms now are being sought more and more. The need has not yet been reached by any manner or means. The need for nursing homes is just in the beginning.

Mrs. Ruth Tuttle lives out at the August Circle Housing Project. It is mighty nice out there. This project is just behind the MasterSon factory. Mrs. Tuttle has a beautiful yard, not large, but mighty pretty. If every one in that circle would have a yard as pretty it would be mighty fine. Mrs. E. M. Moore up at the College View Project can match her all right. It is a pity that every person in town would not take the pride in their homes and yards that these two women do at the projects. It would set our town apart if this was done. If every home would just beautify their own yard and house it would be a glorious town!

The MasterSon Factory has been improving and beautifying their front yard in a fine way. It looks mighty nice and they are to be congratulated and appreciated.

Dramatic changes are taking place in the American family conditions which affect every type of business.

American families are becoming younger, wealthier and smaller. In the next ten years the number of families under 35 years of age will increase 40 percent. The new families will have fewer children to support.

Within ten years, economists predict, the number of families in the United States earning more than $10,000 per year will double. The newly affluent families will control more than two-thirds of the buying power in the country.

The same families will control virtually all of the optional buying power—that is, the ability to buy as they choose after the necessities of living have been met.

The new consumer will have more leisure time than his father. He will have a better education. He will have different values. He will be looking for more service, better quality, and new forms of recreation. He will be buying products which do not exist today.

The new market will be an advertiser's market. A vast new public with unformed tastes, with surplus money, must look to advertising for guidance.

Aggressive new service industries and retail outlets will inevitably arise. As they have in the past, alert established firms will meet the challenge only with increased and vigorous advertising.

The old firm will be under constant pressure to inform a new public that it has adjusted to meet the demands of a new era.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

An artist takes a strip of glass with flaws and imperfections (something you and I would carelessly discard), and transforms it into stained glass of unbelievable beauty.

And God makes possible another transformation... although our souls are scarred, He can help us develop into creatures of inward beauty and usefulness.

Through Him we can learn to overcome weakness with new-found strength. We can learn to have faith because we know the anguish of despair. We can learn to love—both God and man—because we know the emptiness of living without love.

Through regular church attendance and prayer, we too, can transform our flaws and weaknesses into beauty of character and fitness of purpose.

Threat Of Inflation Is So Great Wage And Price Controls Possible

By Senator John Stennis

Along with problems of the war and civil strife, I think we are faced with a very serious situation in the high cost of living. The threat of inflation is becoming so great that there is a possibility of an increase in taxes and also the possibility of having to impose wage and price controls. We can avoid these things only by a tightening of the belt.

Last year, I handled on the Senate floor the $57 billion Appropriations Bill for the Defense Department, including the war. Realizing that that war would expand and cost more, I strongly advised in 1965 and again this year that we give the war first priority and defer the "Great Society" Programs, including the Poverty Programs which are costing billions of dollars and adding to inflation.

President Johnson and his advisors took the other course and tried to have all these things at once, and we now find ourselves in the midst of mounting inflation.

Food prices, for instance, have gone up for the American housewife more than 6% during the first 6 months of this year, and many other items have gone up almost as much. The farmer is getting virtually none of this increase. In fact, in the years soon after World War II, the farmer was getting almost 50% of the food dollar. Now he is getting only 33.8%. Percentage-wise, that is even less than he was getting in the Depression days of 1939.

The high cost of living and in fact will continue just as certainly as night follows day unless we reduce unnecessary expenditures. Just last week I led the fight whereby we were able to take a section out of a bill that was then on the floor that would have cost a billion dollars total at least, and $300 million of that, at least, would have been lost to the federal government. Also, we reduced the foreign aid program substantially this year. We reduced the rapid transit bill expenditures considerably. Unless we are unusually successful in holding down spending, we are going to have continued rise in prices, high cost of living, inflation on all fronts, and we should get ready now the best we can.

Unless we are successful in cutting expenditures - and we must support the war - we can expect an added tax bill, and perhaps wage and price controls. I will continue firmly and persistently and with all the vigor I have to avoid these conditions and reduce these unnecessary lush expenditures.

1967 ACP BROAD AIMS ANNOUNCED

The 1967 Agricultural Conservation Program will continue to help solve major soil, water, and wildlife conservation problems of the Nation's agricultural lands. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman recently announced.

"Particular attention," he said, "will be given to lands of low income farmers, to special projects with multi-benefits, and to beautification conservation." Willie Hatfield, Chairman of the Prentiss Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, points out that ACP is the Federal program which provides cost-sharing assistance to farmers in carrying out needed conservation practices, farms and communities. For in-

Low income farmers are helped in establishing such practices on their farms through the use of higher rates of cost-share aid. The aim is to reach more of these farmers during the coming year as a way of further intensifying the attack on an urgent conservation problem that was too long neglected.

Beautification-conservation practices and special ACP projects emphasize not only solutions to conservation problems, but also improvement in the appearance of farm and ranch land, as well as in the economic conditions of the farmer and the community. Under special ACP projects, extra funds are allocated to participating farm-stance, a special project to control erosion on farms near a town or city helps to prevent siltation in the stream or reservoir supplying the town, thereby improving the water supply. Wildlife conservation practices under the 1967 program will include establishment of food or habitat for wildlife through plantings, development or restoration of shallow water areas, and construction of permanent ponds or dams. These and other conservation activities contribute to increased recreational facilities.

Allocation of funds to States for ACP practices for 1967, as in the past, will be based on conservation needs. Within the national program authority, State and County ACP Development Groups formulate local programs of practices which best meet the conservation problems of the particular area.

indicated at 10,820,000 bales, according to the latest crop report based on conditions as of August 1. Of the total crop, 10,730,000 bales is upland and 90,000 bales is American-Egyptian. The total estimated crop is 28 percent below the 14,956,000 bales produced last year, 27 percent below the 1960-64 average, and the smallest since 1950.

At an average of 530 pounds of lint per harvested acre, yield prospects are the highest of record. Last year's yield was 526 pounds, the previous high, and the 5-year average is 475 pounds. Among individual States, all-time high yields are expected in Texas and California.

Heavy participation by growers in the 35-percent diversion option of the 1966 upland cotton program reduced plantings to about 10,567,000 acres, the smallest in nearly a century. Abandonment of acreage planted this year is estimated at 7.3 percent. This leaves about 9,793,000 acres for harvest or 28 percent less than the 13,617,000 harvested in 1965. In Southeastern and Delta States, persistently cold, wet weather in the early season delayed planting and limited germination and growth. Unusually heavy abandonment resulted in many areas, and considerable acreage was diverted to soybeans.

Cotton producers signed up to divert 4,557,112 acres of upland cotton out of production under the 1966 cotton program. By participating in the program, growers qualified for loans on their cotton crop and also for price support and diversion payments. The price support payment is 9.42 cents a pound on the projected yield of the acres planted within the farms domestic allotment (65 percent of the effective allotment). The diversion payment is 10.5 cents a pound on the projected yield of the acreage diverted at the level signed up. The forecast of 10,820,000 bales in terms of 500 pounds gross weight indicates ginnings for the 1966 season of 10,796,000 running bales and cottonseed production of 4,454,000 tons based on average bale weight and seed-lint ratios.

We FAVOR A Legal Control!

The Advocates of Legalized Liquor are appealing for what they call "LEGAL CONTROL"; Suggesting that the DRY FORCES want either NO Control or ILLEGAL Control. We are FOR Legal Control!

Recent Legislation Passed by -the Mississippi Legislature, and Signed by the Governor, has ALREADY GIVEN US A NEW LEGAL CONTROL LAW. This law became effective on July 1, 1966. (HB 112).

- ★ The Sale of alcoholic beverages was made ILLEGAL IN ALL 82 COUNTIES of the State.
- ★ The BLACK-MARKET TAX Law (Which was created by the Wets, not the Drys) was repealed, making Convictions of Liquor law violations easier.
- ★ A new ALCOHOL TAX COMMISSION was set up to Control Conditions of Sale in any Counties voting wet, or in any Counties remaining dry.
- ★ The Governor and the Tax Commission have ALL THE AUTHORITY NECESSARY to control the illegal sale of Liquor.
- ★ Fines for liquor law violations have been increased.
- ★ State and Local law enforcement officials have Promised to STRICTLY ENFORCE the dry Law.
- ★ Since July 1, 1966, we have THE MOST EFFECTIVE AND COMPLETE LEGAL CONTROL LAW the State has ever had.
- ★ This is the Law which closed THE LIQUOR BARS on the Gulf Coast recently and led to the arrest of violators. IT WORKED, THERE, and COULD work all over the State.

IF Our People SINCERELY want LEGAL CONTROL, Let's keep the Law which became effective on July 1, 1966!

DON'T BE MISLED!

The BEST Way To have TOTAL LEGAL CONTROL is to Vote AGAINST coming out from under the Dry Law!

Vote DRY on August 30!

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

PESTICIDE SAFETY

What do you do with your empty containers of insecticide? Some folks have accidentally killed livestock by re-using the containers as watering cans or for mixing live-stock sprays. It is mighty hard to get rid of all the residue in a so-called "empty" insecticide drum!

Best thing to do with the "empty" drums is to flatten them out and bury them!

Don't just stack them up or throw them out where drainage from them may run into streams or farm ponds.

Mr. Smith

Crush and bury metal containers. Burn paper or cardboard containers. Also, be sure to read and follow the label instructions before using any farm chemical.

COTTON INSECT CONTROL

Sharp increases in boll weevil numbers have been reported from many areas of the state. Showery weather could result in a further increase.

Bollworms are also on the increase and eggs are present in many fields.

Weekly applications of recommended insecticides will not control these heavy infestations of these two pests. Close the interval between poisonings to 4 or 5 days and make two or more applications.

You are now making your cotton crop. Don't let insects get ahead of you. We will be glad to give you detailed recommendations.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Don't wait too long to apply for medicare. If you are already 65 years old or will become 65 within three months, get in touch with your social security office.

Even if you are still employed and do not plan an early retirement, you still need to enroll to become eligible for medicare.

Apply now, and when you do, bring with you the oldest record of birth that you have. If you have no proof of your age, call anyway at the social security office 3 months before your 65th birthday.

WEED CONTROL

Don't let weeds come in and take over your row crops — especially cotton and soybeans. Late summer weeds can cost 20 to 25 per cent of the production and a big loss in quality and harvesting.

Chemicals are available to control these late weeds. Use them and harvest clean crops.

Wool is shipped from Del Rio, Texas.

VA AnswersVets Questions

Q.—As a widow and parent who is partially dependent on her son's compensation check I would like to know if the veteran should die would that monthly check be stopped?

A.—If your son dies from the disease or injury which has been rated as service-connected by the VA you would be entitled to dependency and indemnity compensation from the VA as a dependent parent if your income is under the maximum set by law.

Q.—I am service-connected for a disability, but am being treated in a VA Hospital for a nonservice-connected ailment. Will my compensation be increased to 100 per cent during hospitalization?

A.—Compensation is increased only if treatment is given for service-connected disabilities.

Q.—It is necessary to know definitely what school I will attend before applying under the new GI Bill?

A.—Yes, because it must be one on the list of approved training institutions. Furthermore, you should obtain assurance of acceptance to the school of your choice or you will face the delay of submitting another application. Schools are crowded, so you should contact the school of your choice immediately to assure attendance in the fall semester.

EXPANSION OF LAWN MOWER PLANT AT BROOKHAVEN

A 50,000 square foot expansion of a lawn mower plant will be the second expansion since the company located in Brookhaven in 1958. The expansion will provide additional manufacturing floor space to not only provide more working space for the manufacture of the present products but will provide space for any increase in product expansion.

HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS, Extension Home Economist

FAMILY FUN WITH ICE CREAM

Whether you turn the crank of an old-fashioned ice cream freezer or buy the finished product at your favorite store, ice cream is always a treat. Take your cue from the current interest in the Gay 90's period—Tiffany lamps, Victorian bric-a-brac, ice cream parlor chairs—and plan a bang-up old-fashioned ice cream social right in your own backyard.

When you stir up your own home made ice cream, you get all the goodness of real milk and cream, plus whatever fruits, nuts and flavorings you prefer. Nothing else is quite so delicious as ice cream! For that "down on the dairy farm" feeling, make a freezer full of the most popular flavor of all, vanilla.

Ice cream, so delicious by itself, is all the more delectable when served with easy-to-prepare homemade sauces and toppings.

Praline Sauce is the perfect choice for a summer evening. Both youngsters and grownups love its candy taste. In a 1-quart saucepan melt 1/4 cup (1/2 stick butter) but; add 3/4 cup broken pecans and saute until lightly toasted. Add 1/3 cup firmly packed light brown sugar and 2 tablespoons light corn syrup. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until the mixture boils and sugar is melted. Gradually add 1/2 cup evaporated milk. Remove from heat; blend in 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

For a summer treat, get out great-grandmother's pressed glass berry bowl with its matching smaller bowls. Heap the big bowl with vanilla ice cream, either home-made or "store bought", and let everyone serve himself. Set out a side dish of Raspberry Sauce to ladle over the ice cream. It's a modern sauce, quick and easy to prepare. In a saucepan combine 1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch and a small amount of liquid from the frozen raspberries; blend well. Add 1 package (1 lb.) frozen raspberries, thawed, plus remaining juice and 1/3 cup currant jelly. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and loses starchy taste. Add 1 teaspoon lemon juice; chill. Serve over vanilla ice cream.

For a cool dessert on a scorching day, serve ice cream with Mallow-Mint Sauce. It can be made ahead and stored in your refrigerator. This one's simple to make. Just stir 2 tablespoons cream into 1 cup marshmallow cream until smooth. Reserve 1 tablespoon of 1/4 cup (four 4-inch sticks) crushed peppermint stick candy. Stir remaining into marshmallow. Serve over chocolate or vanilla ice cream; sprinkle with reserved crushed candy.

Ice cream and fresh fruit make a delightful combination at any season of the year. One of the easiest ice cream-fruit desserts in August is Cantaloupe A la Mode, as popular in the space age as it was in the Gay 90's. Just scoop vanilla ice cream into half a chilled cantaloupe and serve. It's cool and refreshing, and so easy to do!

When buying ice cream, remember to read the label. To be called ice cream, it must contain at least 10 per cent milk fat. Don't settle for a substitute. When vegetable fats are used, the product cannot be labeled "ice cream." Real ice cream is a delicious frozen dessert made from a liquid mix of concentrated milk and cream, plus sweetening agents, added flavorings and stabilizers. Fruits and nuts may be added. In spite of the many new, appetizing flavors now available, the best seller is vanilla.

Local Business

By S. S. TALBERT
Chairman, Dept. of Local Business
University of Mississippi

Assurance of quality is one of the major contributions of advertising to the consumer.

The retailer, the service firm, the manufacturer who spends thousands — or millions — of dollars to build a reputation cannot afford to jeopardize his reputation by failure to deliver the quality offered in advertisements.

The local newspaper survives on the trust of people who pay for subscriptions. It cannot afford to jeopardize its survival by printing unreliable news or unreliable advertising.

In no other medium, the advertiser in the local newspaper can be called to account for misleading advertising. The consumer has the record in hand. By picking up his telephone he can confirm the integrity of any advertising claim.

The local publisher is the neighbor of the consumer. The local retailer is the neighbor of the consumer. In such a situation, advertising is necessarily a medium of information. It is subject to the same checks on accuracy which are applied to news stories.

The local housewife finds it impractical or impossible to censure a national magazine, a broadcast network, or the distributor of mail and throw away circulars. Her response to advertising of dubious origin is always a gamble.

A can of beans of unknown brand may cost a few cents less than a well advertised brand. However, if it is half filled with water or inferior beans it is expensive. Most consumers are quick to learn this simple truth about individual products.

Over a longer period of time they learn the same about the performance of an entire store. They know that good local newspaper advertising removes the gamble from retail shopping in the local community.

My Neighbors

"Okay, I've ushered all the kids to bed—now help me take this down before our dinner guests arrive."

Ye are the light of the world... let your light shine.

—(Matt. 5:14-16)

As the "light of the world" we accept the role we play in dispersing darkness. We realize where there is light the people are fearless, nothing remains hidden and the people express warmth. This is a world of faith where the truth's path is plain, and where God's good is revealed, where men glorify their Heavenly Father.

Protect Children From Diseases

As school time approaches, we face the danger of disease outbreaks in our schools and an additional threat of disease germs being carried home to pre-school and adult family members, the State Health Officer warned today in a special appeal to Mississippi parents.

Dr. A. L. Gray said this danger could be averted if all parents will review and up-date family immunizations.

The diseases of diphtheria, whooping cough, polio, and measles may easily spread from child to child in the classroom; and tetanus, or lockjaw, may be caused by any injury which breaks the skin. The school playground is often the scene of scratches and cuts which may result in tetanus infection.

Dr. Gray pointed out that, fortunately, vaccines are available to prevent all of these diseases.

"There is little chance that a child will contract one of these diseases," the health officer said, "if he has received a full series of each of the preventive vaccines and has had needed booster shots."

If basic immunizations were given when the child was an infant, booster doses of vaccines will be needed at the age of five or six. Also, before entering school the child may need a second smallpox vaccination, and he should have received the measles vaccine.

"If each child is given this important protection before entering school," Dr. Gray said, "we should not have a single case of these diseases in our schools."

However, he warned that while immunization against these diseases will prevent the school child from contracting the illness, the child may still carry the germ home and expose other members of the family. In some cases, it is possible to spread the germ without being ill with the disease.

Dr. Gray stressed that the only assured protection is proper immunization for everyone from infants to adults.

"This is not an attempt to frighten Mississippi parents," the state health officer explained. "If parents are given the facts about these diseases, we are confident that everyone will visit his doctor or one of the local health departments and request the needed family protection."

Mississippi immunization services are currently among the top health services in the nation. The state's Intensive Immunization Project, operating through the local health departments, has recently been ranked number one among thirty-five similar state projects.

"If our state is to eventually be free from the threat of an epidemic of these diseases," Dr. Gray concluded, "it will not only be necessary for every adult and older child to be immunized, but also for every infant to begin his immunizations early — at least by the second month of life."

Oldest national forest is the Quachita in Arkansas and Okla.
