SIGNS PROCLAMATION—Mrs. Claire Ross, Prentiss County Extension Home Economist, looks on as Mayor Marion W. Smith signs a proclamation proclaiming the week of November 14-19, 1966 as Extension Home Economics Week in Booneville.

Extension Home Economics Week To Be Observed November 14-19

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — November 14-19 will be Extension Home Economics Week in Mississippi, according to W. M. Bost, director of the Cooperative Extension Service.

This emphasis is in cooperation with a national effort to better inform people of the vast amount of services and assistance available in every county through the County Extension Home Economics Office.

"You probably like new ideas for improving such things as your home, yard, garden, meals, and use of money and time. As a consumer, you must make decisions about buying food, clothing, major appliances, furniture, home decorations and maybe even a new home," Director Bost said.

"Timely, reliable information on literally hundreds of subjects in these and other areas is available to you free by simply contacting your local Extension Service home economist. This service is for all people, urban and suburban as well as rural," he added.

Extension home economists will be on display through a number of activities in every county, said Mrs. Willie F. Felder, Extension state leader for home economics programs.

County Extension staffs will highlight the week with such things as newspaper stories, radio and television programs, posters, exhibits, talks before organizations and special meetings. A new leaflet about these services, and others about timely subjects, will be distributed.

Home economics information is one of the many services for all people from the Cooperative Extension Service staff in each county. These staffs consist of a county agent, Extension home economist and often some associates and assistants.

Besides helping people with their individual needs and interests, Extension workers conduct educational programs through the use of group instruction and mass media, as well as training leaders for 4-H and Extension Home Economics Clubs.

An Extension home economist is a professional person, having one or more college or university degrees in her chosen field, Mrs. Felder pointed out. She has had special training in putting information into a form that people can easily use. In addition, she is kept up-to-date by Extension home economics specialists at Miss. State University.

Cooperative Extension in each county is an educational program cooperatively conducted by the local county government, Mississippi State University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, through efforts of our Extension Staff many of our people, urban as well as rural, have discovered new skills and abilities that have inspired them to higher levels of family living, and

WHEREAS, incomes have been increased, homes have been made healthier and happy, and

WHEREAS, this type of progress is found in most sections where the Home Economists have given information and services to as many people as possible through newspaper, radio, workshops, personal contacts and special interest group meetings, and

WHEREAS, this information is timely and practical and varies from family planning to the rearing of children and on to the extermination of insects and the selection of pleasing color schemes, and

WHEREAS, Extension Home Economist's services and information are willingly and freely made available for rural as well as urban families, and

NOW THEREFORE, in appreciation of these services I do proclaim the week of November 14-19, 1966 as HOME ECONOMICS WEEK in Booneville and Prentiss County, Mississippi, and urge all our people to cooperate in the observation of this special week.

Signed: M. W. Smith, Mayor

Prentiss Joins Rest Of State In Large Democratic Margin

Voting in Prentiss County in the general election Tuesday was light as expected but fairly closely followed the trend of the rest of the state as voters returned their veteran lawmakers to the United States Senate and House of Representatives.

Senator James O. Eastland won his fifth straight term in a run-away race that some had figured might be close. With 1924 of 2041 precincts reported, he had 228,726 votes. Republican Representative Prentiss Walker had 93131, and Negro Independent Clifton Whitley, backed by the Freedom Democrats, had 27,863.

In Prentiss County the vote was Senator Eastland 2,249, Walker 534 and Whitley 32.

In the Second Congressional District balloting, Democratic Representative Jamie Whitten's percentage margin was even larger as with 455 of 472 precincts reporting he had 50,960 votes to 10,560 for Republican State Senator S. B. (Bushy) Wise. The Prentiss County vote was 2,294 for Whitten and 421 for Wise.

Representative Thomas G. Abernethy was re-elected in the First District as were John Bell Williams in the Third District and William M. Colmer in the Fifth District. In the Fourth District, Democratic State Senator G. V. Montgomery was elected to the post vacated by Prentiss Walker, to give the Democrats a clean sweep.

State Supreme Court Judge L. A. Smith, Jr., Chancery Court Judge Fred Wright, and Circuit Court Judge N. S. Sweat, Jr., all were re-elected without opposition.

For the Prentiss County Board of Education post from the Fifth Supervisor's District, C. A. Taylor received 317 votes and Cletis E. Floyd had 217.

Two amendments to the state constitution appeared to have passed as they showed substantial majorities with most of the votes reported.

The proposal to allow state auditors, including incumbent Hamp King, to succeed themselves showed a margin of 147,692 for and 94,627 against with 1,820 of the 2,041 precincts reported.

With 1,821 precincts reported, the amendment to allow the legislature to consolidate counties, instead of through the vote of the counties involved, was winning by a margin of 123,165 to 111,530. Neither of these proposals had received much interest.

The Prentiss County vote on the amendments was, for allowing auditor to succeed himself 1,962 for and 513 against, and for legislative consolidation of counties 906 for and 582 against.

BHS Gridders Show Promise In 32-12 Loss To South Tiptah

Although the Booneville Blue Devils lost to the highly favored South Tiptah Tigers at Ripley Friday night, they were not humiliated in the 32-12 affair and showed promise of better things to come as the sophomores and juniors played well. These are the sophomores and juniors who will form the nucleus of next year's squad and provide the leadership.

The game left Booneville with a 3-7 season record, while South Tiptah was 9-1 for the season to take second place in the Tombigbee Conference, their only setback being by conference champion Fulton.

Combating Shoplifting To Be Topic In Special Clinic Here November 17

Preventive measures for combating Mississippi's increasing shoplifting practices will be presented in Booneville on Thursday, Nov. 17, at the Prentiss County Electric Power Association Building, in a special clinic sponsored by the Northeast Mississippi Junior College, Division of Distributive Education, and the Mississippi Retail Merchants Association. One session will be held at 10 a.m. and another session at 2 p.m. Admission will be free.

The hour program will be divided into four parts: First will be the showing of a 20-minute color film on Shoplifting, produced by the National Safety Foundation. This will be followed by an interpretation of the Mississippi Shoplifting Law by Mr. James Godwin, county attorney, and an explanation of proper procedures for precautions and prevention of shoplifting by Mr. Bon Hughes McElreath, private investigator and a veteran of thirteen years with the FBI. The sessions will be concluded with a question and answer period.

Latest estimates show that millions of dollars worth of merchandise is stolen annually in Mississippi by shoplifters, while the national figure runs into over $1 billion. This must, of necessity, be reflected in the merchant's operating cost and results ultimately in higher consumer prices.

There has been a preceptable drop in merchandise stolen in areas where similar clinics have been held in the state. These results are attributed to the many correct factors offered in the program. All retailers and their employees are urged to attend this clinic.

Before the seven o'clock ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Dwayne Massengale, organist, and Mrs. Glenn Lard, vocalist. Altar tapers, lighted by Freddie Pitts, brother of the groom, and David Gifford, cousin of the groom, glowed against a background of greenery and an ivy-entwined center arch was flanked on both sides by candelabra entwined with greenery and white mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eulas Ray Johnson, Rt. 6, Florence, Ala., and the granddaughter of Mr. Cleve C. Johnson and the late Annie Johnson of New Site, and Mrs. Emma Lou Horn and the late Willie Horn of Booneville.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Armon P. Pitts of Florence, Alabama. The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of bridal white peau de soie which she designed and fashioned. The gown, which featured a flowing chapel train surrounded with scalloped applique lace, was attached to an empire bodice and fastened at the back with tiny self-covered buttons. The gown, which was distinguished by lace appliques on the skirt, bodice and sleeves, had a rounded neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bride's veil of illusion cascaded to her elbows from a fabric rose head-dress and she carried a crescent-shaped bridal bouquet of white feathered carnations showered with tiny red rose buds and centered with a white orchid. The white satin streamers were tied in love knots with white lilies of the valley.

Two sisters of the bride, Patsy Johnson and Mrs. Jimmie Kelsie of Flintville, Tenn., were honor maid and matron and bridesmaids were Mrs. Linda Glidewell of Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Pam Barber, Mrs. Mary Alice Woodward, Mrs. Louise Evans, and bridesmaids were Misses Vonda Broadfoot, and Sheila Darby. Suzanne Graham was flower girl.

The honor attendants and the flower girl were costumed in red and white and the bridesmaids and maids in green and white. Their floor-length gowns were identically styled from velvet and brocade satin. The headresses were cabbage roses with a veil of floor-length illusion.

The groom had his father as his best man and ushers were Tony Burks, James Watkins, Mike Woodward, Danny Frederick, Johnny Evans, and Harold Cooper and Dennis May, cousins of the groom. Freddie McFall was ring bearer.

For the wedding occasion Mrs. Johnson chose a bonded knit suit of garnet and matching accessories. Mrs. Pitts was in a royal blue linen sheath with an over blouse of lace and chiffon with matching accessories. Both mothers pinned a corsage of white orchids at their shoulder.

A reception in the church parlor immediately followed the ceremony. White mums, red roses, and greenery centered the lace and velvet covered table, and the three-tiered cake was embossed in all white roses. White tapers in silver candelabra entwined with greenery, white mums, and red roses, lighted the setting.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Wallace Briggs, Mrs. A. J. Wallace, Carolyn Chandler, Sharon Stout, Debbie Barnes, Jane Wallace, Cherie McDonald, Rose Ann McCorkle kept the bride's book.

For the wedding trip the bride chose a heather green wool suit with matching accessories and the orchid from her corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Pitts will be at home at 509 N. Chestnut St., Florence, Ala.

VA Answers Vets Questions

Q.—I receive a monthly benefit check from the VA which is sent to me at General Delivery. I have been informed that if I fail to pick up my check within the 10-day time limit and it is returned two months in a row, my payments will be suspended. Is this so?

A.—Yes, Payments are suspended on the basis that the whereabouts of the payee is unknown.

Q.—I am 66 years old and have a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance 5-year level premium term policy in force. I have a disability which caused me to be unemployed for six months after I was 65. Am I eligible for waiver of premiums consideration on this policy?

A.—No. In order to be considered for waiver of premiums, your disability must have started before age 65.

Q.—I plan to take a correspondence course under the new G. I. Bill. Do I have to pay for my textbooks?

A.—The allowance paid on a correspondence course may include tuition charges and the charge for textbooks, supplies and equipment when such items are required of all students enrolled in the course.

Q.—I did not receive a monthly certification for the month of September. When will I receive it?

A.—You will not receive a card for the month of September if you are enrolled in a course leading to a standard college degree.

Q.—The new G. I. Home Loan interest rate is 6 per cent. But I understand there is some kind of insurance fee on top of that. What is it?

A.—There is a fee on a Veterans Administration guaranteed or insured loan that amounts to one-half of one per cent. That is paid on the amount of the loan. It is paid only ONCE. Not every month.

Q.—I'm in college under the G. I. Bill. I heard that I do not have to send in a certificate of attendance to get my first allowance check. What about the second, third, fourth, etc.?

A.—The certificate of enrollment returned to VA by the college is sufficient for the mailing of the first check. Subsequent checks will be sent AFTER you send in your monthly certificate of attendance.

Q.—I receive regular treatment and medicine from the Veterans Administration for my service-connected disability. I plan to travel overseas for about six months. Is there any way I can get medical care or medicines if I need them on my trip?

A.—Yes. The Veterans Administration provides such care and medicines for service-connected disabled veterans everywhere possible. Just contact the nearest U.S. State Department, Embassy, Consulate or Legation.

Q.—Last January my G. I. insurance premium was waived because of a disability. Yet the other day I received a dividend check. Should I return it?

A.—No. Keep it. It is yours. A waiver of premium on a G. I. participating policy is not a bar to dividends.

Apply For Benefits Of Social Security Three Months Early

"If you plan to retire at the end of the year, now is the time to apply for your Social Security Benefits," Tupelo Social Security District Manager, Hugh D. Tigrett announced today.

Getting retirement income started on time is one of the most important tasks to be accomplished when you are ready to retire. Social Security is a major part of retirement income for most people, and filing an application for benefits is something that must be done.

You can apply for Social Security benefits three months before you retire, and the Social Security Administration advises that you do. "Filing for Social Security ahead of time is particularly important for those who plan to retire at the end of the year," Mr. Tigrett explained, "because the first part of the year is a busy time for us and for you. Your claim can be processed more rapidly now, and you will have that much less to do at the end of the year, when you actually stop work."

Mr. Tigrett also emphasized that if a person wants the protection of the doctor bill insurance under Medicare and wants this protection to start with the month he will be 65, he must complete his application during one of the three months before his 65th birthday. Otherwise, he will have to wait from one to three months after he enrolls for his doctor bill insurance for it to become effective.

Mississippi's Tax Structure

During the session of the 1966 Legislature, many demands were made upon the lawmakers for additional funds to finance various needs.

Some of those needs which gained wide attention were teachers' salaries, state colleges and universities, state employees' salaries and highway finances. There were others but these required the most money.

The demand for more money upon the legislators this session indicated, as in previous sessions, that the people of Mississippi are continuing to demand more money and more services from the state each year. It seems that we sometimes lose sight of the fact that the state spends only that which it extracts from the taxpayers. Simply put, all the expenses incurred by government will be paid for by you and me.

A recent study of the Mississippi Economic Council serves as a reminder that the state's sources of funds are not unlimited, and it is therefore incumbent upon the state to do the best it can with what it has.

The study shows the major sources of revenue in Mississippi and it compares our state's sources to the revenue sources of Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee.

Mississippi's per capita income, the study reveals, is the lowest of the five Southeastern states. Yet, the state's ratio of state and local taxes to income is the highest, 10.85 per cent.

Mississippi has the lowest per capita income in the nation, a fact that must be considered when matters of extended improved or additional services are being discussed.

The MEC, a private business organization, and the Research and Development Center, a state agency, both have suggested programs that will raise Mississippi's per capita income, therefore raising her capacity to finance more services.

Some specific items include: accelerated vocational-technical training programs, establishment of equalization of assessments programs by cities and counties, and certain government reforms.

The point is, Mississippians must be willing to give a little before they will be able to take a little.

National DECA Week, November 6-12

National DECA week is being observed this week in more than 2,500 cities where Distributive Education is taught in the public school system.

In our town, as elsewhere, the local Chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America, or DECA, is closely associated with the instructional program. This student-directed activity is an effective part of the learning and training process in developing future leaders for marketing and distribution.

Through research projects and recognition events, the activities of the local DECA Chapter bring into sharper focus the various instructional parts of the DE program taught in 24 high schools and Hinds, Meridian, Jefferson Davis, Northeast and Northwest Junior Colleges.

Many of our business leaders are involved in the activities of DECA. First, as the employer, these business firms provide laboratory environments in which the student tests, observes, and applies concepts and skills learned in the DE class at school. Second, through supervised training, the student gains experience in the occupation which frequently is the first step toward his career goal. Third, DE students learn right from the start the basics of business in our free enterprise system. This in itself is highly commendable because nowhere in our educational system is free enterprise demonstrated so adequately as in the Distributive Education curriculum.

This approach to education not only develops competent personnel for merchandising, marketing, and management, but also prepares our youth for better citizenship. We congratulate and salute both school administrators and businessmen on the observance of National DECA Week.

The 24 high schools are Natchez, Kosciusko, Cleveland, Grenada, Clarksdale, Hattiesburg, Coahoma County High, Bay St. Louis, Biloxi, Gulfport, Jackson Central, Laurel, Oxford, Meridian, Tupelo, Drew, Columbus, Canton, Aberdeen, Amory, Starkville, McComb, Greenville, and Yazoo City.

Local Business

By E. S. TALBERT
Chairman, Dept. of Journalism
University of Mississippi

The housewife is spending more at the grocery store today because she is getting a great deal more than she did ten years ago.

She is buying new things in new packages. She is not yet a spend-thrift. She is buying time and convenience. She is getting better things for her family. She is, in fact, buying the time of servants who formerly worked in her home.

The new grocery bag contains pre-cooked foods in disposable containers. Are they expensive? Not if the homemaker's time is figured at minimum wages.

On the new grocery list are improved soaps and detergents, disposable towels and napkins, wrapping materials for preserving leftovers, and a growing variety of ready-mixed foods—all time-savers or waste-stoppers.

The new shopper brings home a host of spray cans containing everything from cake frosting to floor polish. She is no longer satisfied with flour or a simple loaf of white bread. She buys frozen rolls or the exotic breads of any land. Hundreds of miles from the nearest salt water, she selects from a complete variety of seafoods.

The new grocery shopper may browse over counters of tropical fruits and vegetables while brushing snow from her collar. She buys fresh orange juice in Canada and apple cider in Florida.

Perhaps her meals do not taste like mother's. They probably taste a lot better. They are more nourishing and better balanced.

The new housewife is not a slave to advertising. She buys only one out of twenty new products advertised. The advertising is effective when it convinces her that a new product can help make a richer life for her family—and perhaps give her the leisure time which her husband enjoys already.

I will be their God, in truth and righteousness.
—(Zech. 8:8)

Let us willingly and confidently place all our affairs in God's care and keeping. Place Him in full charge of all that concerns us, and we will know that no unjust situation can then prevail against us. God's law of justice is always operative in the minds and hearts of all persons. Our reliance on His justice enables us to take the stand that our God is secure under divine law.

The finance campaign will be brought to a climax at this dinner by each of the 46 community chairmen making final reports on the respective drives.

According to Rob Leake of Tupelo, campaign chairman, "approximately $68,700 of the $81,000 budget has already been raised."

"Every worker is strongly encouraged to turn in all of his prospect cards by November 16 to his community chairman, and then if necessary, clean-up teams can follow through on any unworked cards," said Mr. Leake.

Financier Awards will be presented to all communities qualifying by Hugh Purnell.

LESSONS IN QUICKSAND

Old Bloss was a big old white and brown spotted cow whose duty and privilege it was to supply the Anderson children with milk. It was about the first of May. The grass was growing and the cows were on the rush to try to get enough to satisfy their long weeks of hunger. Some patches had been cleared along the hill sides on Little Clear Creek; some sand and dirt had been washed into the bottom close to the hill. Old Bloss, though, could hear her calf bawling for her to come on home, so she made a rather quick move to go. And unfortunately, the same fast step landed her directly into the quicksand hole. Her very good supply of grass kept her from going deeper than the length of her legs. She made three or four hard pulls, but soon saw that she was fastened by the quicksand; so she contented herself as best she could and waited and waited. No Bloss to milk that night nor the next day, but on the following morning she was found. The neighbors were alerted and with one accord they came to the rescue. Toe-sacks were tied together and with a long-handle shovel a little ditch was channeled behind her forelegs and in front of her hind ones; then when the united tug of about six strong men she was dragged out on the foot of the old levee. Her legs were too numb for her to stand. Jim Hatcher, who weighed about two-fifty, was kind and clever and a thinker, too. He pulled out his big bandana handkerchief, got on his all-fours, and waved it in her face. This made her so mad that super strength was generated and it was not too long until she was up and walking to the barn. Soon the milk supply was coming in regular order. Old Bloss was rewarded for her cow sense, her patience, and her faith in the saviors of the cow.

The next day the beautiful horse colt had a sudden thought that it was time for him to go to the barn to his stable. He rushed down the hill, onto the path, and plunged into the same quicksand hole. The fine animal struggled and lunged until he broke every leg, pulled his nose under the water and drowned. He was missed when he did not come to the barn just on time. The family had heard about Old Bloss and they made haste for the tragic spot. But it was too late.

Just think of the good lessons in these incidents for the sick, the captured, the wounded, and the troubled.

BIG FISH AND LITTLE RABBITS

We have all read about Jonah being swallowed by the big fish. A little while afterwards Jonah caused the big fish to have an attack of acute indigestion and heaved him up. Then Jonah decided he had better go on to Ninevah and get to preaching. When we were a bare-foot boy hoeing cotton where the grass and weeds were pretty luxuriant, we all but stepped on a tiny, little hill-billy cotton tail. He was so scared he made a quick move for the briar patch. The big, old hungry hound, Lep, snapped him up and gulped him down hide and hair. The little rabbit was evidently dissatisfied with his surroundings and his kicking and scratching caused old Lep to regurgitate him up and out he came. The little bunny made for the briar patch faster than Jonah did for Ninevah, and he got away from old Lep. We don't know, of course, but we imagine he repeated this miracle-like story to all the little rabbits in the briar patch and outlined for them his plan of salvation.

CITIZENS EXTENPORE

You have no doubt noted the program of the Mississippi Association of Housing and Redevelopment Association. We note with pleasure that our own L. H. "Tate" Oakley is president of the association. It is with pleasure that we offer our cordial congratulations. Tate will no doubt preside with efficiency. He is a good diplomat and has wit and humor. Mr. Oakley deserved this honor and will do himself and Booneville honor also. The conference is to be held in New Orleans in November.

This distinction just adds another Booneville man to the roster of outstanding talent. Whit Abernethy is now president of the North Mississippi Industrial Development Association; B. G. Horton serves as president of the Mississippi Hospital Association; Piggy Bonds holds the title of lieutenant governor of the Jaycees. Dr. Strange was a Lions International official, and we have other citizens who have been singled out for service. Our Mayor Marion Smith is outstanding among the mayors of the Mid-South. Almost any town would be glad to have him. It is the citizenship of the town that makes it big and strong and secure!

The passing of Mr. Bob Wren took from our midst a most remarkable individual. By profession he was a farmer and a school wagon driver. We said wagon because when he conveyed children back and forth from school he did it mainly by mule-powered wagons, not under gasoline power. We are told that there was not during this period a more careful driver nor a man more dedicated to his job. He was a successful farmer, a man of sincere integrity and honesty of the highest order. His word was his bond and his credit was as good or better than a bank of his era. Had he lived until the 26th of December, Mr. Wren would have had his 95th birthday. Following close behind is his devoted friend, Hon. J. A. Cunningham, who is about three years younger. They have many traits in common, and just recently had a happy get-together reviewing the history of the county across the years. Both have always been progressive for their county and community, both possessed strong convictions and stood like a concrete pillar when convinced they were right. We are grateful for the legacy Mr. Bob Wren left us and for the service his close friend renders as he yet lives.

WORLD AFFAIRS OR HARD WINTER?

Early on the morning of November 2nd we looked out the window on a light but beautiful white snowfall covering the green. This was nine days ahead of time for the traditional killing frost in this community. Is this undue weather a sign of confusion in world affairs or is it the signal for a long and hard winter? Anyway, we must meet the condition as it is and master it in the best and happiest way.

NEW REPRESENTATIVE

The people of this county and this section congratulate Hugh D. Tigrett, district manager for social security since 1956. He has been appointed District Assistant Regional Representative for the Atlantic Social Security Region. We are glad for this fine advancement, but deeply regret giving him up from this section. A native of Dumas, Mississippi, in Tippah County, one who loves to help people in a pleasant way. He must surely be one of the best.

TOO MANY LOSSES

In the last few days and weeks we have lost too many fine citizens who served their town, county and state so well. They will be greatly missed, but their influence will live and produce interest from the investment of income and personality. In this time we have witnessed the passing of Mrs. Will Caver, Rodney Tays, Sidney Oakley, Mrs. Franklin Walden and Mrs. Morrow, sister to Mrs. Addie Eaton, who was one of the great women of the western part of the county.

GOVERNOR VISITS

Rotary Governor Maynard Wingo of Collierville, Tennessee, visited the Booneville Club last week and brought information and inspiration. Governor Wingo is a man of large business dimensions and has vision for Rotary, also. He considers this organization one of our largest assets for world peace.

LIFE BLOOD

Last Friday marked the day to receive blood for the Blood Bank. The amount of blood received at the Methodist Church was neither the most nor the least. The blood bank service is imperative for our hospital and it is the patriotic individual who gives blood with the hope of saving the life of another. The life might turn out to be your own. We are grateful for the donors, to the supporters of the organization and to the Red Cross for its safety and carefulness in processing the product.

GLAD EVERY DAY

We are so happy that Mississippi had the wisdom to see the need of the junior college and the vision to recognize its opportunity. We congratulate our junior college in its efforts to keep to the front in all areas of endeavor. The junior college system is the tower of strength for the senior college and allows it to concentrate on more specialized areas of education.

You almost finished school?

(Congratulations! Now you can almost get a good paying job.)

The world is full of people who almost made it. You could be one of them if you start work with a too-small education.

In today's job market if you haven't got a good education . . . you haven't got what it takes to compete for the good-paying jobs.

Today, to get a good job, you need a good education. No two ways about it. A good education qualifies you for a better job to start with. A better salary, too. And a future that keeps on paying off year after year.

So if you're in school now . . . stay there! Learn all you can for as long as you can. If you're out of school, there are plenty of ways to get valuable training outside the classroom.

MOORE'S MEN'S STORE

Mr. Tom Moore Addresses Annual Meeting Of North Mississippi Industrial Association Held At Starkville

Mr. Thomas Moore, president of American Broadcasting Company Television Network, addressed the annual meeting of the North Mississippi Industrial Development Association including power distributors, members of Board of Directors, municipal officials and civic leaders. The meeting was held at Starkville.

Mr. Whit Abernethy, president of the Northeast Miss. Industrial Association, welcomed the guests. Mayor M. W. Smith introduced Mr. Moore, Bill Barrett, executive director of the association, presided over the program.

Mr. Moore, a native of Meridian who attended school at Miss. State University, pointed out many advantages Mississippi has to offer to industry and the way industry could be made aware of these advantages.

Mr. Moore was complimentary of the work being done by Governor Paul Johnson. He said Mississippi has too much to offer to drag its feet in the economic backwaters while other sections of America are leaping ahead.

S. Roland Jones, professor in the College of Business and Industry at Miss. State University, presented the highlights of his analysis of the performance of the North Mississippi Industrial Development Association in attracting new industry. The study compared the association with others served during the period of 1954-1963. This section was compared to the entire United States, to the 10 Southern states, the state of Mississippi, with Southeast Mississippi, Northwest Alabama and West Tennessee. Statistics show that the Northeast Mississippi

Industrial Association has had more growth in manufacturing employment than any other area compared.

Wood Products Need Increasing

By 1975 the world will need nearly 50% more wood and wood products than it did in 1961 according to a special Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. This increase will result from sharply increasing world demands for industrial wood.

Most of the additional wood, the committee continued, will come from the world's temperate forests, particularly those of North America where the investment capital and knowledge needed to increase output is more readily available.

The most productive area of North America, the Southeastern pine region, is expected to produce a major portion of this increase. The capital investment and knowledge necessary for the increased production are present. Many industries, along with the colleges of the South, are turning out skilled workmen and professionals through various training programs designed to fill the complex needs of modern industry.

A high percentage of the South's, and particularly Mississippi's industry, has developed as a result of the area's timber resources. Local landowners, along with others throughout the South, need to take a long, hard look at their timber holdings; for they are the backbone of our industrial development and our promise of a prosperous future.

According to figures released by the Mississippi Forestry Commission, most of the timberland in the State is privately owned and is producing timber at less than one-third of its peak capacity. If we are to meet current demands for timber products and still maintain a supply of timber for future use, this situation must be corrected immediately.

The primary causes of this low production, poor stocking and poor management can be corrected by a small investment of time and money by each landowner. Landowners are encouraged to contact the local Mississippi Forestry Commission representatives for advice and assistance in growing more quantity and better quality timber for increased returns.

Kenneth Pounds On Girl Scout Board

The Booneville Neighborhood of Girl Scouts was represented at the 20th annual meeting of the Prairie Girl Scout Council, according to Mrs. Oswald Pounds, Neighborhood Chairman.

Attending from Booneville was Mrs. W. M. Anderson.

Kenneth Pounds was elected to a two-year term on the Council Board.

Do-It-Yourself Darling from Texas Is National March of Dimes Child

Donna Dill, a 5-year-old Texan who is most at home on her pony, has been named the March of Dimes National Poster Child for 1967.

Branded by friends as a do-it-yourself darling, pert and pretty Donna likes to be active and independent despite a severe birth defect.

Donna, who was born with an open spine (spina bifida), symbolizes the 250,000 American babies born with birth defects each year. The March of Dimes has helped her as part of its continuing fight against birth defects.

There was a time when the independent little miss wanted to sleep in her braces so she could get up by herself in the morning. She helps around the house by picking up her toys, helping mother with the dishes and cookie-baking.

Donna frequently visits her grandparents' ranch near Corsicana, 40 miles from her home in Hillsboro, Tex., to ride her pet pony Popsy.

When she's on Popsy, Donna's blue eyes sparkle and her blonde pony tail bounces up and down. Riding gives her a feeling of freedom—Donna needs no crutches when she rides.

But she can't walk without crutches, and her partially paralyzed legs are supported by braces every waking hour. Donna's open spine was treated when she was 18 months old, and she has had four operations since. Her general health is good, and her doctor thinks she may be able to discard her right leg brace someday.

Popsy is not Donna's only pet. In fact she is surrounded by animals. Her 3-year-old poodle, Fluffy, is a favorite, and she keeps goldfish in a bowl in her room. Donna also finds time to play with a neighbor's kitten.

"I just like all animals,"

THE EYES OF TEXAS and the nation will focus on Donna Dill, 5-year-old miss from the Lone Star State, who is the 1967 National March of Dimes Poster Child. She symbolizes 250,000 American children born each year with birth defects.

she told her mother recently, "even snakes."

Donna now attends Sunday school and plans to begin public school next fall. This young lady will enter the first grade an accomplished and experienced traveler.

As the National Poster Child, Donna may very well meet President Johnson. During the January March of Dimes campaign tour, this 5-year-old charmer will make public appearances in about 20 cities from coast to coast. There will be guest spots with the stars of television, motion pictures, and radio.

Along with Donna on this nationwide tour will be her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Dill, both native Texans.

Donna's father is quite at home on the range. As a student in high school and college he roped calves in rodeos. He is employed today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as the Assistant County Supervisor for the Farmers' Home Administration.

The National Poster Child's mother, Jo Ford Dill, is secretary of the Hill County (Tex.) Chapter of the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

A former majorette in college, she is teaching Donna to use a baton, but Donna's ambition is elsewhere. A true Texan, she wants to be a cowgirl when she grows up. She privately confesses, however, that she would settle for being a mother or a nurse.

"The kid who butters up the teacher may end up with a cheaper grade spread."

Douglas McVey Sends Poem From Vietnam

I guess it goes with history,
A mother's love so great.
I guess that's why dad chose you,
To be his lifetime mate.
I really never thought much,
Of the nights you held me near,
And told me to be careful,
You're this GI's perfect dear.
But Mom, I want to tell you,
That your love I hold so high,
And being here in combat,
Your love they'll never buy.
The nights you stayed up waiting,
For your sons to at last return,
Was something I will cherish,
Like a light I'll always burn.
I sometimes laugh and remember,
The advice you always gave,
Whenever there was trouble,
It was always me or Bill.
But, Mom, you'll get your just reward,

If there's a reward to seek,
Your son in Vietnam,
Has this promise I will keep.
I'll always think before I say,
I'll always kneel before I pray,
I'll always tell the honest facts,
And know it's you who knows my lacks.
I'll make you proud to call me son,
I'll never quit until the battle is won,
I'll make you proud to get to say,
My son's returned, he's home to stay.

This poem was received by Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McVey recently in a letter from their son, Douglas, who is now stationed in Vietnam. Douglas clipped the poem from a newspaper which is distributed in that area.

2 1/4 MILLION 4-H'ers SCORE WITH 8 MILLION PROJECTS

MORE than 2 1/4 million 4-H boys and girls are expected to complete 8 million individual projects this year, an average of about four projects per member.

The statistics, supplied by the Cooperative Extension Service, represent a lot of ingenuity and initiative. All 4-H projects, meetings and events must be worked in among school, church, home chores and part-time jobs.

There are a possible 100 different projects or activities available to youngsters between 9 and 19 years old from coast to coast, depending on where they live, their needs, resources and interests. Most center around specific projects in foods, home improvement, safety, health, livestock, clothing, home and farm management, leadership and community service. Certain standards and goals have to be reached.

To group overall accomplishments into one recognition program, the Extension Service developed the national 4-H Achievement program. In this program, one boy and girl from each state is selected annually for having the most outstanding 4-H record. Fifty win trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago the first week of December. Twelve will receive national $500 scholarships, and nearly 10,000 are expected to earn county achievement medals.

Sponsor of the achievement awards for the last 15 years is the Ford Motor Company Fund. During the 4-H Congress, Ford will host a luncheon and entertainment for the entire delegation of 2,300 delegates and guests.

Highlights of two 1965 winners' accomplishments are examples of what can be expected from the top 1966 records.

An 18-year-old Alabama girl excelled in more than a dozen projects including food preservation, sewing, cooking, home improvement, dairy animals, demonstrations and exhibits.

She is now a sophomore at the University of Alabama. Her future goal is a medical career.

A Colorado college student joined 4-H when he was 9. His first project was rabbits. By 1965 he had 15 steers in the feed lot, won top state honors in the field crops program and reserve champion beef showmanship award at the Intermountain Stock show.

Working with livestock influenced his desire to become a veterinarian.

You have questions. Reliable answers to these questions are available free from your local home economist of the Cooperative Extension Service.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

An alley off Grover Street... headquarters for a "big operation." This is Herb's hangout. And Herb is "the boss!" Here the kids report for their assignments. Here the loot is divided. Here strategy is mapped out for the next foray against a rival gang.

An alley off Grover Street... and while a proud community hardly lifts an eyebrow tomorrow's underworld is growing, flourishing.

Two blocks away is old Trinity Church with its Sunday School, its Youth Fellowship, its dedication to God. What a difference old Trinity could have made in Herb's life; what character might have been molded among the boys who are now "Herb's gang!"

But Herb's folks and the parents of the other boys are among the millions of Americans who are unchurched.

1967 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

The 1967 feed grain program—except for a few basic changes—will be the same as in previous years. Basic changes will be a higher loan rate, higher total price support, and the elimination of voluntary diversion for payments except on small farms for which diversion payments earned may be higher than in 1966.

The program will encourage farmers to divert from 15 to 18 million acres in 1967, compared with 30 million acres of corn and grain sorghum land diverted in 1966. (As announced previously, barley is not included in the 1967 feed grain program.)

Loan rates for the two grains are increased for 1967 — 5 cents for corn and 6 cents for sorghum—and the price support payment rates stay the same as for 1966. For corn, this means a price support of $1.05 per bushel, national average, and payment of 30 cents a bushel. For grain sorghum, the loan will be $1.61 per hundredweight, national average, and a payment of 53 cents. Loans will be available on all corn and grain sorghum produced on participating farms. The price support payments will be computed on the projected yield of acres planted, up to 50 per cent of the base acreage.

All farmers will divert 20 per cent of the farm's corn-grain sorghum base in order to qualify for price support payments and loans. Except on small farms, there will be no diversion payments. The payment for additional diversion was dropped from the program in view of the need for increased production and the possibility of encouraging the diversion of too much acreage—as well as to simplify the program.

For small farms, the diversion program provisions for 1967 are the same as for 1966, but payments will be higher. Farms with feed grain bases of 25 acres or less will again be eligible for diversion payments equivalent to 20 per cent of the support (loan plus price support payment) for the qualifying diversion (20 per cent of the base acreage) and 50 per cent of the support or any additional acres diverted, up to the total base. Producers with bases of more than 25 acres who divert 25 acres and plant no feed grains will be eligible for diversion payments equivalent to 20 per cent of the support on 5 acres and 50 per cent of the support on 20 acres.

Conserving—base and acreage substitution features of the 1967 program will continue as in 1966. Soybeans will again be eligible for planting on permitted acreage without loss of corn-sorghum price support payments.

The program sign-up period will begin early next year, with wheat and cotton program signups being held at the same time.

ASC COMMITTEE ELECTIONS TO BE HELD SOON

Farmers today got a last-minute reminder about important upcoming elections of ASC farmer-committeemen who will serve for the next year as local administrators of national farm-action programs.

According to Willie Hatfield, Chairman of the Prentiss Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, eligible voters of Prentiss County will cast ballots for community committeemen by mail. Envelopes containing voted ballots must be mailed or returned to the ASCS county office on or before Nov. 14, 1966.

Qualified voters in the elections are all farmers who are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committee administer. The community committee the farmers elect from among their own number consists of a chairman, vice chairman, a third regular member, as well as two alternates.

The regular members of the committee also serve as delegates to a county convention, where farmers will be elected to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee.

The chairman stressed the importance of electing representative farmers as committeemen in view of their broad program responsibilities. Programs administered by the committeemen include the Agricultural Conservation Program, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, the upland cotton diversion program, the National Wool Program, and farm storage facility loans. Other duties are assigned to the committees by the Secretary of Agriculture as the need arises.

Chairman Hatfield urged all qualified voters to be sure to cast their ballots. Eligibility to vote or hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of race, color, creed, or national origin.

D. T. Beall Chapter Has Confederate History Program

The D. T. Beall Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy met Wednesday evening, November 2nd in the Blue Room of Northeast Mississippi Junior College. Hostesses were Mrs. Lewis E. Perry and Dr. Mary Summers. The room was very attractive with arrangements of late Autumn chrysanthemums.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. L. L. Downs, Mrs. Clarence Chase directed the program which consisted of a salute to the United States flag and a pledge of allegiance to the Confederate flag. The ritual was given by the members.

A very informative study of Confederate history was given by Mrs. L. H. Stutts, who presented a thorough and learned study of the military records of Colonel John S. Mosby, a Confederate Soldier who was affectionately known to Southerners as "Ranger Mosby."

Mrs. Stutts gave a vivid picture of the less familiar branch of the Confederate army in presenting the activities of the soldiers which the Union termed "Bush Whackers" or independent Scouts.

There men, according to the speaker, fought not in the regular lines of battle but in scouting troops behind and to the sides of the regular armies.

The speaker told of the havoc they wreaked amid the Northern armies, who in almost all cases greatly outnumbered the Southern troops.

Mrs. Stutts said that the daring fetes of these brave soldiers were not sanctioned by General Lee or President Jefferson Davis but recruiting for their ranks was very successful and the part they played in the War Between the States was important. Colonel Mosby and his men, who were active in raids played no little part in prolonging the war. They furnished protection to the families of the weary Confederate Soldiers who were fighting in the more formal lines of battle.

The members, after Mrs. Stutts' study, expressed deep appreciation for the work done by this group of Confederate soldiery. They may have violated the formal rules of warfare but their deeds were inspired by a loyalty to the South and the principles she held sacred.

The hostesses served a delicious dessert course with coffee during the social hour. The members of the D. T. Beall Chapter are happy for the interest being shown in the more than 50 year organization. Many great granddaughters are expressing interest in the work of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

DAIRY NOTES

Some rules for better breeding of dairy cattle include: Wait at least 60 days after calving before attempting to re-breed the cow. This time should be increased if the cow had calving trouble. Waiting the 60 days is about the easiest thing to do and helps conception as much as anything you can do.

Breed the cow to best bulls available. This is usually through the artificial breeding program.

Do not breed a dairy cow to a beef bull. You will need good replacements and there will be a great demand for young dairy animals from other dairymen.

Breed the cow during the last part of the heat period. A cow stays in heat 12 to 18 hours. If you first notice the cow in heat in the morning at milking, breed her that afternoon. If you first notice her at evening milking, breed her the next morning.

Watch the cow closely for 17 to 24 days after breeding. If the cow did not conceive, she will be back in heat in this time. If after three services the cow does not conceive check with a veterinarian.

Keep in mind that some cows you are milking three years from now will reflect the type of breeding program you follow today.

CATTLE LICE

For lice control on beef cattle, there are several routes than you can take. You can keep your back rubbers or dusting sacks fully charged and do a pretty good job of holding down infestation.

You can use co-ral as a pour-on and reduce numbers (ruelens is not recommended after Nov. 1).

For an effective one-shot control, ronnel or malathion as a spray should give complete control.

When using any of these chemicals, or any other farm chemical always read the label and follow all directions.

WASP CONTROL

Wasps of many species attempt to enter homes seeking hibernation sites at this time of the year. They are very difficult to control. Wasp stings are painful and sometimes dangerous. Ventilators in attics should be screened to prevent them from entering this area. Household knockdown sprays containing pyrethrins plus methoxychlor, DDT, malathion or Vapona can be used. These materials should be purchased in aerosol containers. Apply the material in the air as directed on label and then close the room for approximately 30 minutes to kill all flying wasps. On the outside of the home insecticides such as chlordane, dieldrin, DDT, diazinon, Vapona or heptachlor can be used.

Mrs. Mattie May Morrow Dies Monday

Confusion On New Tax Law Cleared

State motor vehicle comptroller, Walter M. Hester, said here today that much of the confusion concerning controversial House Bill 60 has been cleared up.

Hester stated that a majority of the gasoline and oil distributors in the State have qualified to sell kerosene, tax exempt, for lamps, stoves, heaters or other domestic purposes. Being qualified for this purpose, a distributor may sell tax exempt kerosene to mobile homes without the individual owner having to qualify. The distributor may exempt 9c per gallon at the time of the sale when sold for these purposes; and may sell kerosene direct to anyone for use in lamps, stoves, heaters or for domestic purposes in any quantity.

Discussing the procedure by which a distributor may qualify to sell kerosene, the Comptroller said that all gasoline and oil distributors within the State of Mississippi have been mailed applications and instructions as to how diesel fuel and kerosene is to be handled. Moreover, in areas where distributors have failed to qualify, additional applications have been mailed.

Hester further stated that gasoline and oil distributors presently qualified to do business in this State are already bonded, and that, in most cases, this bond will be sufficient to cover diesel fuel and kerosene sales. All trucks, tanks and bulk storage tanks used for tax exempt kerosene purposes by distributors should be lettered with each letter not being less than 4 inches in height — "Tax Exempt Kerosene."

A mirror rubbed with soap and then washed will not fog up.

Sugar Beet Test Not Successful In Mississippi

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — Researchers, seeking new opportunities for Mississippi agriculture, see little chance of success with sugar beets for the present at least.

When some foreign sources of sugar were cut off several years ago, interest turned to the possibility of sugar beet production in this area. A cooperative research project was set up by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station.

Tests were planted at the U. S. Sugar Crops Field Station near Meridian, at State College, and at Branch Experiment Stations at Holly Springs and Stoneville. The tests, extending over 1964, 1965 and 1966, involved many varieties at these four locations.

Diseases proved to be a major problem, forcing abandonment of the tests at several locations. Most of the varieties had shown disease resistance in the northern areas of the United States, but all were severely infected in these tests. Sugar content was low.

Dempsey M. Broadhead, USDA research agronomist at the Meridian station, summarized the work with this statement:

"Results obtained from experiments with 46 varieties of beets during a three-year period indicate that commercial production of sugar beets would not be feasible with any of the varieties tested."

A complete report of this sugar beet research is available. It is published in the November issue of Mississippi Farm Research which may be obtained on request from the Agricultural Experiment Station at State College, Miss.

STATE'S FOREST PRODUCTS BOOSTING ECONOMY

A basic asset to Mississippi's economy is our rapidly expanding forestry and wood products industry which contributes some $500 million to the progress and prosperity of our people. Several hundred companies, paper mills and other wood-working enterprises now operate in Mississippi. Mississippi has come a long way in this phase of the economy; and with continued sound management and conservation practices, experts agree there's not much limit to future prospects for state and regional industries. Mississippi continues to enjoy national leadership as the nation's Number One Tree Farm State, and this has special significance because tree farming in recent years has been the most profitable single crop in the South. Scientific research is developing new uses for wood which will make tree farming even more profitable for landowners in the future. The increasing number of industries using wood here in Mississippi underscores the tremendous importance of quality timber and efficient tree farming.

Scotland is expanding ski centers.

WANT TO LOSE WEIGHT? EXERCISE AND EAT LESS

By SANDRA S. HUSSEY
Assistant Home Economist

If you need to lose weight? If you're not alone—one out of five Americans is totting pounds than he should. find out if you're in this minority (but very large) group try "pinch test." Grasp the flesh above your waist between your thumb and your forefinger. If you're pinching more than one inch of flesh, it's time to: Look at your scale; Look in your mirror; Look at your toes (unobstructed view?).

If you don't like what you see, look out. When you widen your girth, you may shorten your life.

Years ago, overweight was considered a sign of success and prosperity. A man who was fortunate enough to provide himself and his family with plenty of food let rotundity speak for his comfortable position in life. At the same time, plumpness was thought to enhance a woman's charm. Not so today. We know that current knowledge of what contributes to good health and long life make it clear that excess poundage puts an undue strain on our bodies. Statistics show that people who are very much overweight seem to be more susceptible to certain diseases, may have less resistance to infection—even tend to have more accidents than slim people.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD

After 35, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations often occur and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent passages both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYS-TEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by soothing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYS-TEX at drugists. Feel better fast.

food and repeating many times a day, the word "no." Melt the pounds away with common sense and good nutrition.

So, if you're going to diet, do it! Concentrate on broiled meats, poultry and fish, crispy green salads and vegetables. You'll never know how filling (and satisfying) a big bowl of lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers can be until you try one. It not only hits the spot but stuffs it up nicely, eliminating the pangs of hunger.

Select the low calorie fruit and cheese for dessert.

Prepare for those moments of weak will power you'll feel an urgent need for something to nibble on by keeping a tray full of snacks in the refrigerator—crunchy carrot sticks, cottage cheese, stuffed celery stalks, icy cold cherry tomatoes, raw cauliflower, dusted with paprika, cucumber fingers and lettuce wedges.

Don't dash out of the house without breakfast or you'll find yourself stashing away calories in the form of a mid morning with coffee.

Don't substitute a shopping trip for lunch, then eat double for dinner. You need three meals a day.

Dieting isn't easy—who ever said it was? It takes courage. The first two weeks are the hardest. After that you will be able to resist temptations to "fudge" a bit and be well on your way to that "slim, trim you"!

Mrs. W. L. Caver, Sr. Services Held

Mrs. Minnie Belle Breedlove Caver passed away at her home at 9 p.m. Thursday after a brief illness. She was the widow of the late William L. Caver, Sr., who passed away in 1952.

Mrs. Caver was the last surviving member of a family of 12 children of the late William (Billie) and Rebecca Gentry Breedlove, who were early settlers in the east ern part of the county. She was 76 years of age and a member of Candler's Chapel Baptist Church. Mrs. Minnie Belle was a very devoted wife and mother. She was known and loved by a wide circle of people who came her way. Her home was always open where hospitality and friendliness awaited.

In her lifetime of rearing her own children she always had room to "adopt" others and care for them with a wealth of love that was never exhausted, never changed, nor ever tired.

She was known for her unbound energy and love of working at her home chores, garden, or doing something for the community which she did to the end and was her fervent prayer to do.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at Blythe Chapel with her pastor, Rev. Alton E. Byrd and Rev. Billy Roby officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery with McMillan Funeral Home in charge.

She leaves five sons, Horace of Baldwin, Hershel of Richmond, Va., Ralph, W. L., Jr., and Harmon of Booneville; a daughter, Mrs. Maurice L. (Zana) Hill of Booneville and 13 grandchildren.

HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS, Extension Home Economist

PLENTIFUL FOODS

With about 11 million more turkeys coming to market than we had last year, every homemaker should find her preferred kind and size of turkey for holiday meals.

She will find turkeys topping the plentiful foods list during November, followed by raisins, grapes, pears, dry beans and pork.

An interesting item concerning turkeys is that more than a fourth of all turkey meat going into processed food products is now being used for turkey roasts or rolls.

This figure reflects the popularity of the boneless turkey prepared in ready-to-cook form.

FOUNDATION PLANTINGS

The term "foundation plantings" was coined to describe the plantings we used to use to cover the high, unsightly foundations of houses built years ago. Although most of our houses today don't need this cover, the use of continuous planting around our newer houses unfortunately is still a common practice.

If you are landscaping a new house, or changing or redoing your landscaping, during the winter, consider a few plants to serve as a setting for the house and to direct attention to the entrance. These may be all that are necessary, particularly if your front yard is left open and not enclosed for additional privacy.

If yours is a low ranch-type house you may find irregular plants or vines effective in front of blank wall areas with low ground cover type plants between the higher plants.

Under windows, never use tall plants that will soon grow up to cover the window area. Plant deciduous shrubs and evergreens at least far enough away from the building to permit air movement and to prevent damage to paint. If you have a wide overhang that interferes with rainfall and sunlight, you may need to plant further out and cover the area under the overhang with a mulch such as gravel or colored stone.

When you are selecting plants, consider year-around effects of size, color, texture and degree of maintenance required. Use combinations.

USDA Grade A shield here are some of the requirements which must be met:

1. It must be prepared from young turkey of USDA Grade A quality.

2. It must be made in such a way that each slice will hold together when it is sliced.

3. Only turkey which has been inspected for wholesomeness by USDA inspectors may be used in U.S. graded roasts.

In the consumer market, turkey roasts or rolls may be purchased raw, fully cooked, or smoked. They are made of all white or dark meat or a combination of dark or light meat. The boneless meat is found in cylindrical or rectangular shapes. They are packaged in foil, in plastic, or in aluminum pans.

Turkey roasts are ideal for roasting and rotisserie cooking. Those who want to save time may wish to buy the fully cooked roasts. Slicing these boneless roasts is simple, whether it's carving at the table or in the kitchen as for sandwiches.
