Planning - Corner

WHAT IS PLANNING?

Guiding the growth of the community according to the best plan that can be devised.

WHAT PLANNING HAVE WE DONE?

Our City Fathers employed a group of expert planners who, with the help of the local Planning Commission, worked up studies of where our people live, where they work, which streets carry the heaviest traffic, what are our chief sources of income, how we spend our money, how good is our water supply, how adequate are our public utilities, our schools, our sewerage systems, our recreational facilities ... and a score of other important facets of our community life. Then they drew maps and studied these. Then they came up with a twenty-five-year program of improvements, divided into five-year stages. This is called the Comprehensive Plan.

WAS THIS COMPREHENSIVE PLAN ADOPTED?

Yes, parts of it, about four years ago.

HOW DOES THE PUBLIC FEEL ABOUT IT?

More people are growing more interested in a more orderly growth and development. And that's why we're beginning this little discussion corner. The Planning Commission wants everybody to know what it's doing and why. And it wants everybody helping. Meet us here next week!

"What, in your opinion, is the single most important project, activity, or thing, which, if carried out, would make Booneville and Prentiss County a better place in which to live and do business?"

I Has Something r Your Children

During the month of November series of 4-H Adult Leader training conferences is being conducted in the conference room of Extension Department. Various phases of the program are being considered to help adult inter leaders better help individual clubs, and most authorities see that the need for organizations such as 4-H is greater than before.

Adjusting to change is one of the toughest demands modern society makes on every man, woman or child in the United States. Schools, churches, business, government and civic organizations are all involved because they influence the thoughts and actions of their particular clientele. Today's children are especially vulnerable. They can be directed on the broad path of consummate understanding shunted along the narrow byways of prejudice.

For more than half a century 4-H Clubs have endeavored to lead the youth of our country through the fourfold program of developing Head, Heart, Hands and Health to better living. So far, 4-H has touched 23 million men and women. Currently there are 24 million boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 who are members of the 94,800 clubs in every county throughout the 50 states.

During the past decade 4-H has quietly adjusted to change. Families leaving the farm for towns and cities; city folks moving to the country; the mushrooming of suburbia; the unprecedented advance of technology and science; the expanding interests and needs of youth.

According to a breakdown of 4-H enrollment supplied by the Federal Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 46 per cent of the total membership come from farm homes, 32 per cent from rural non-farms; and 22 per cent from urban homes. All races and creeds, and families of all economic backgrounds are represented.

Among the broad goals of 4-H are to gain knowledge and skills. Strong emphasis is placed on leadership, citizenship and upgrading of personal standards. Projects are many and varied. Members learn to sew, cook, tend a garden, care for livestock and household pets, use safe practices at all times in the home, school, recreation, on the highway and farm.

There also are projects in photography, entomology, economics, public speaking and nutrition. The learn-by-doing method helps to give the youngsters a pretty good start toward a future career. Many go on to college as the result of project experience, and some are aided through 4-H scholarships.

The 4-H Clubs do not take the place of formal education or parental guidance and responsibility. But they do help. The fact that in 4-H there is literally "something for every boy and girl" makes 4-H unique, and commands the respect, support and cooperation of residents of the communities it serves, and business as well.

If your sons or daughters are of 4-H age, why not contact your county extension office and get them enrolled in a club. You will be glad you did.

THE VIRGINIA WHITE-TAILED DEER

The Virginia white-tailed deer is one of the most interesting animals in North America. Because of its importance as a big-game animal, the deer has been intensively studied throughout its range. This deer is the only big-game animal present in Mississippi in sufficient numbers to justify hunting. It has been able to adjust to man's encroachment upon its habitat; and as a consequence, there are today perhaps more deer in some areas of Mississippi than there were at the time of the white man's first arrival on this continent. In Mississippi, deer feed mostly during the late afternoon and night, though they may feed during daylight hours in areas not frequented by man.

Roden delighted the group in showing slides of places of interest in the program of "Israel"—she had visited in the Holy Land.

Highly Profitable Investment In Our State Jr. College System

Mississippi is fortunate in having one of the nation's best systems of junior colleges at a time when education is more important than ever before in our history. About 50 per cent of all students entering college each year enroll at one of Mississippi's junior colleges. Many go on to complete a four-year course and even do graduate work; but for others, junior colleges will be the end of their studies. State leadership has been increasingly aware of the valuable contributions our junior college system makes to overall education, especially in vocational and technical training so urgently needed in our state's expanding and diversified industrial economy. The steady growth of the junior college movement has been an outstanding trend in American education, and Mississippi can take pride in being a leader and pioneer in this field.

Motorists Urged To Use Caution During Holidays

Thousands of Mississippians will be on the highways over the coming holidays taking their families to the homes of friends or relatives to celebrate Thanksgiving.

General T. B. Birdsong, Commissioner of Public Safety, has issued a word of caution to those who plan holiday trips. He says the highway patrol expects that traffic will be unusually heavy, especially on Wednesday evening and Thursday morning.

"Motorists should be sure their cars are in good mechanical condition before leaving home and should also leave early enough to reach their destinations without having to drive faster than the law allows or than road conditions warrant," he said.

A few common sense rules added to basic defensive driving tactics can help you to protect yourself and loved ones. "Don't work all day Wednesday and then try to drive all night to get to the family gathering place," he warned. "Get enough rest before starting out so you won't risk falling asleep."

General Birdsong further urged motorists to stop every couple of hours on long trips for a brief rest period and refreshment such as coffee, tea or coke—but certainly not liquor. If several hundred miles are to be covered, a change of drivers is recommended if this is possible.

"Unfortunately, our first taste of winter weather often comes during the Thanksgiving week end. And many people have forgotten that real winter weather causes hazardous driving conditions." He reminded drivers that the major and added hazards of winter driving are inadequate traction and reduced visibility. When these are combined with the normal hazards of holiday driving, the odds start running against the average driver. By having your automobile in excellent condition, including some foul weather gear, and by knowing your route of travel and what type of weather to expect, you can greatly enhance your chances of having a safe and enjoyable journey.

"This is a family occasion, set aside for giving thanks for our blessings and the bounties of nature. I am issuing a personal plea to all drivers to keep this in mind and protect the safety of their passengers and themselves by observing all traffic laws and by showing courtesy to others. This is the time for each of us to do all in our power to avoid turning a time of thanksgiving into a time of tragedy," concluded General Birdsong.

COTTON IS BEST ALL-AROUND FIBER

As the nation's second biggest cotton producing state, Mississippi has special interest in the keen competition King Cotton faces to an ever increasing extent from man-made fibers. Cotton is the best all-around fiber known to man. It beats all substitutes in comfort, wear-ability, launder-ability, and many other qualities.

Lovers of Southern history are always fascinated with the Old Court House Museum in Vicksburg. The court house itself was built with slave labor in 1858. It now contains prized collections of Civil War Americana, including the fuse wire which sank the Union ironclad Cairo. The latter, recently raised from the Yazoo River, resulted in more artifacts for display. The Museum is open year-round. — Released by Mississippi Economic Council.

Dedicated To YOU

This is Extension Home Economics Week in Mississippi. On this occasion to commend the home economists who are the working partners of our fine county agents of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. There is such a staff in every county of our state.

Due in large measure to their efforts, many of our people—urban as well as rural—have discovered new aspirations and abilities. Our people have increased their income; and with this they have learned to buy more wisely, strengthened family security, and generally become healthier and happier. We find this kind of progress along our most remote rural roads, as well as in most sections of our towns and cities.

Our dedicated home economists use many methods, including this newspaper, to get timely information to as many people as possible. This information is timely, scientifically-proven and thoroughly practical. It varies from how to kill insects to understanding one's children. There's help with budgeting and other decisions of managing the business of a home and family.

If you haven't inquired of your Extension home economist, you may be surprised at all the useful information available. Much of it is in attractive, easy-to-read leaflets that are free to anyone who asks for them.

This service is for folks who live in town just as much as for farm families. All you have to do is request it.

If you haven't met your local home economist and others of the Cooperative Extension Service, go by their office this week. They're good folks to know.

Wrong Targets

The way it looks from here, shoppers' strikes against supermarkets are another case of righteous indignation — but mostly against the wrong targets. We don't presume to judge from afar whether, as some have charged, those stores actually priced their goods higher than necessary for a reasonable margin of profit. But we do know that in many instances the main reason for rising prices generally is to be found outside the grocery store.

And we don't mean it's the fault of food producers or processors, either. That's another couple of targets against which righteously indignant shoppers are sometimes prone to vent their wrath, but wrongfully so. Only a few weeks ago, we recall, farmers were getting the brunt of the blame for the rising costs of food. Now researchers in the field of agri-business have dug up some hard facts which show how far off target those complaints were. The current edition of the quarterly publication Ford Farming reveals that in the past 30 years, although food costs have indeed gone up a great deal, they have not increased nearly so much as have the costs for housing, or medical care, or such personal services as laundering and barbering.

OPPORTUNITY WAITING

It will soon be time to dedicate our great hospital. It is time to think about our prayer room, our retiring room. Let us not fail to make this place of meditation and counsel one of the nicest in the state. We are sure we have contributions just waiting to be utilized for this purpose.

MAKING PROGRESS

About two years ago, it looked like nearly every state in the union was against Mississippi, saying hard things about it. But since the election last week, it seems almost all in one accord have something nice to say about the good example our state set, everything considered. Mississippi is determined to come out and go forward in the best way it knows. Of course, when we think we are right we are sometimes wrong. But it is the basic aim of this state to do right and to do its best to be worthy of example from other states. The spirit and ability of the people, our climate, soil and many resources can make us great. People from other regions are coming in to help us, bringing their means, their trained talents, their business sagacity. Let us all catch the vision of greatness and do our best to build and to glorify a great state!

MEASLES NEXT

Marvelous things have been done in the march of medicine across the last half century. The old enemies, smallpox, typhoid, diphtheria, polio have been met and all but conquered. Now we come to one that has caused numerous deaths directly and more by complications. Many mothers have spent restless nights because of measles. It was hard to know what might happen, what might be the outcome, when her child developed measles. Many parents thought the disease would not hurt so much at an early age, but this was not always the path of least danger. When the child is young complications may even be worse. Measles is now on its way out. Vaccination will control this disease and do it NOW if the doctor, nurse and public health service will do their part and the people will give full cooperation.

Indications are that German Measles may be soon controlled, also. This will be a glorious day for the expectant mother.

HERE ALL ALONG

The science that is giving us life now and giving it more abundantly has been here all the time. We just did not discover it sooner in order to utilize its assets.

HAVE A PLAN!

Booneville is a good town and is growing rapidly, but we need a plan to follow for the future. We have waited too long already. How important it is to have a well-planned house in which to live. It is much more pleasant, and more economical, too. A well-planned town is even more valuable. The land is worth more, the streets are more convenient, the community can be made more beautiful. Our town is looking to the future now. We need to make NEW plans for the forward look. People still find fault with the streets of Boston which were laid out by cow paths. The cow laid out the street that was most negotiable to her and the easiest for her to climb. But this is not a problem with the modern town now. We think ahead and look for beauty and economy.

BEST KNOWN TO MAN

It would be hard to estimate the value added to the country home that has deep well water pumped right into the kitchen and the bathroom, with plenty of pure, safe water to drink and to use in every utilitarian way. Drinking plenty of pure, cool water cuts down the consumption of other fluids that might be more detrimental to health. Good water is not only good for health, but is more economical. It is the best drink known to man.

THOUSANDS OF QUAIL

William Thomas Dallison has nearly ten thousand quail, young, tender and fat, ready for Thanksgiving and Christmas. This is indicative of his ingenuity and application. A few men like William Thomas would soon double the income of our people. This would bring us

You almost finished school?

(Congratulations! Now you can almost get a good paying job.)

The world is full of people who almost made it. You could be one of them if you start work with a too-small education.

In today's job market, if you haven't got a good education... you haven't got what it takes to compete for the good-paying jobs.

Today, to get a good job, you need a good education. No two ways about it. A good education qualifies you for a better job to start with. A better salary, too. And a future that keeps on paying off year after year.

So if you're in school now... stay there! Learn all you can for as long as you can. If you're out of school, there are plenty of ways to get valuable training outside the classroom.

For details, get in touch with the Youth Counselor at your State Employment Service. Or visit a Youth Opportunity Center.

Mississippi continues to make strides as a cattle producing state. The number of cattle and calves on state farms at the beginning of 1965 was estimated to be 2,192,000, an increase of two percent over the year before. The number of cattle nearly parallels the state's population, latest population estimate showing the state to have over 2,300,000 people. — Released by Mississippi Economic Council.

teen-agers of the dangers of alcoholic beverages.

Teen-agers must face the facts that alcohol blocks realism and is a means of escaping into unreality.

Schools should be concerned about the use of alcohol with the teacher's role playing a most important part. Teachers should plan programs to show outcome of drunkenness and alcoholism; facts must be truthful and given in a straightforward manner. Students need to be informed, not threatened. It was brought out that some schools study alcohol and narcotics but that these two should not be combined since alcohol is legal and narcotics are not legal.

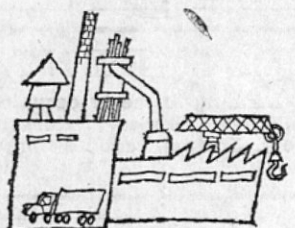

Everyone should be concerned about the problem of teen-age drinking. Parents, teachers and the community should take an active part in educating the youth of the dangers of alcohol and its effects on the human body.

Pitfalls Of Joint Ownership

(One of a series of articles prepared by the Mississippi Bar Association)

Recently "joint ownership" has become popular as a method of owning property. It is generally assumed that joint ownership is advantageous because it passes title to the survivor or survivors upon death of a joint owner. However, joint ownership may cause problems in certain situations.

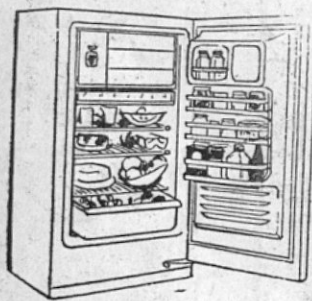

Joint ownership usually occurs in a purchase by husband and wife, and, in some instances, it is the best way for them to own property. However, serious consideration should be given to the type of ownership of such property because in many instances the placing of property in joint ownership causes legal problems to arise which overcome the benefits originally contemplated.

Usually, joint ownership between husband and wife provides for "rights of survivorship," which means that if one joint owner dies, the other fully owns the property by operation of law. This may be a satisfactory arrangement, and may, in fact, save money on some small estates. However, the joint owner should remember that later in life he cannot, by means of his will provide for a different disposition of his jointly owned property. He cannot leave it to his wife and children upon his death if it is in joint ownership with his wife at the time of his death. In addition, the husband may believe that jointly owned property in his estate will be wholly or partially exempt from estate taxes, since his wife is a joint owner, when in fact, the property may more than likely be fully taxed to the husband's estate, thereby causing the widow considerable expense.

Although joint ownership removes the problems of passage of title when one of the joint owners dies without a will, it may be more desirable to have a simple will, and to hold all property in sole ownership. Depending upon the individual situation, it may be preferable to place ownership of a portion of the property in the sole name of the wife. Careful consideration of these questions could result in substantial savings in estate taxes.

DRUGS FROM PINES—Dr. Robert L. Setline (center), assistant professor of Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Chemistry, checks progress being made in University of Mississippi Research to convert loblolly pine sap into steroid drugs. Working on the project are Mrs. Robert L. Setline, instrument technician, and Dr. Norman J. Doorenbos, professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry at Ole Miss, who is a nationally known authority in steroid research. Ole Miss research has proved loblolly pine sap is 90 per cent resin acids and researchers believe they can convert these into steroid drugs such as testosterone.

Musical Prodigy from Milwaukee Is National March of Dimes Child

Music hath charm for five-year-old Milwaukee miss, Lori Ann Wagner, National March of Dimes girl for 1966.

In fact, music charmed little Lori onto her feet when nothing else could. Her first steps were taken not toward her doting parents or a favorite cuddly toy. This youngster headed straight for the family piano. She was 2½ then and she's been tickling the ivory ever since.

Granted, Lori's first steps were taken later than most children's—and at greater cost, because she was born with a crippling spinal defect that paralyzed her legs.

There's nothing, though, that handicaps Lori in the music department. This little lady has a great ear and can often pick out a tune after hearing it just once. She also knows all the words to numerous songs including "Hello, Dolly" and "Supercalifragilistic-expialidocious." Despite her leg braces, she can take to the dance floor for an uninhibited frug, monkey or swim.

Music and show business are in Lori's blood. Her father, Henry (Skip) Wagner, is a bandleader. He plays the trumpet and 10 other instruments. The basement of the Wagner home resembles a musical instrument shop. Anytime she wants to, Lori can tootle a trumpet, trombone, tuba or tenor saxophone; she can strum a guitar, mandolin, bass fiddle or banjo; she can beat out a rhythm on the drums, squeeze notes out of an accordion or warm up that grand piano which was her first love.

To complete Lori's theatrical genealogy, Skip's father was a vaudeville performer with a roller skating act. And two of Lori's aunts had a sister act as dancers. They still work together—operating a theatrical costume house, and both are active in March of Dimes special events.

Apart from the family tradition, Lori is something of a pro in her own right. As the Milwaukee County Poster Child for the March of Dimes last year, she was the star of the local campaign and made 12 television appearances. As the National March of Dimes Child for 1966, she might well call on the President of the White House, meet United States Senators and Congressmen, stage and screen personalities, and make public appearances all over the nation. None of it is likely to faze trouper Lori.

MUSICAL MISS fingers the keyboard with great ease, but walking is a more difficult matter for five-year-old Lori Wagner of Milwaukee, the 1966 National March of Dimes Child. She is a victim of the crippling birth defect of open spine (spina bifida).

Her parents, who will accompany her on a March of Dimes tour during January, are bracing themselves for all eventualities. Last year, when their strawberry-blond bombshell was introduced to the mayor of a large city, she was asked if she knew who he was. "Sure. He's the big shot," responded Lori as her parents smiled weakly at the mayor.

Another time after meeting a British woman, Lori noted that "She had an English accent."

When she was nine days old, Lori had corrective surgery for her birth defect. This could not prevent paralysis but it did protect her against infection. She was fitted with leg braces when she was 18 months old, but it was another year before she could walk. It was then she headed for the piano. Doctors are hopeful that, in time, Lori may walk without the crutches and braces she now uses.

She has physical therapy exercises every day. Her mother, Mary Ellen, is trained by professionals to help out at home in every step of this important part of Lori's rehabilitation.

For the past two years, the Milwaukee County Chapter of the March of Dimes has helped finance Lori's medical care. One of their most zealous volunteers is Lori's mother, who heads the Mothers' March in her section of the city.

The Wagners have two younger children, both boys, who are healthy and very active.

the community will provide the impetus for development of a local and state structure for administering these services."

Individual conferences will feature panels composed of Ole Miss staff members discussing health of the aging, family relations, personality of the aged, community services and organization, and economic aspects of the aging.

When we awake in the morning, let us turn our thoughts to pleasant things. Let us ask God to cleanse our heart of irritation and quicken within us the desire to be loving toward everyone. When we put forth the effort to be cheerful and pleasant, and develop pleasant outlook toward life, we can develop a good disposition and help make life worth living for those around us.

SUBJECT:
1968—ETV for Mississippi

(NOTE: The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily those of this publication.) One of the most exciting things Mississippians have to look forward to is colorful educational television.

In 1968, according to the new Mississippi Authority for Educational Television, viewers will have the opportunity to take advantage of this informational and creative service Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. and Sunday from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The Mississippi ETV system will be unique: It will be the first color ETV network in the world and Mississippi will be the only state in the union where an ETV authority rests in a research-oriented enterprise (The Mississippi Research and Development Center-University Center) closely associated with academic work (the College Board).

The Jackson facility of the educational TV network will occupy sections of two floors at the R & D Center and will include at least two studios, an auditorium, a viewing room for visitors, offices, and an engineering area, with sections for master control, color control, video control and video tape.

"There will be something for everyone," says William R. Smith

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church, Booneville, held its regular monthly meeting, Nov. 7.

The president, Mrs. Mize, opened the meeting with prayer. Circle No. 4 had charge of the program which was entitled, "The Church Jr., director of MAET. "Pre-school children will learn how to tell time, why kites fly, and what makes frogs jump so well. Elementary and secondary students will be exposed to various levels of Spanish, Russian, French, new mathematics, geometry, art and many other subjects.

"High school graduates who wish to enter college but are weak in certain remedial areas may find pre-college math and English helpful. ETV will offer imaginative courses for middle management concerned with success in supervision, aid engineers and draftsmen in advance blueprint preparation and reading, keep pharmacists informed on new drugs and professional documents, and offer complete financial courses for bankers, and serve the small businessman."

The Mississippi Economic Council endorses full support of educational television by business, civic and governmental leaders in the state as another means of stimulating Mississippi's further economic development.

and People with Special Needs." Mrs. Milton Grisham was in charge and was assisted by Mrs. Hershel Thomason, Mrs. Pascal Box, Mrs. Nancy Haggart, and Mrs. Marvin Smitherman.

Mrs. Mize closed the meeting with prayer.

Urge Housewives To Write White House To Curb Spending

The President of the National Association of Manufacturers today called on housewives protesting inflationary prices with market-boycotts throughout the country to focus their protest of the real source of the trouble — high levels of government spending.

W. P. Gullander, speaking before the National Management Association convention in Pittsburgh, said of the housewives, "They have chosen the wrong target in singling out the supermarkets, but they are dead right to be stirred up about the shrinking purchasing power of their dollars."

The NAM President said businessmen should join the housewives in letting Washington feel their anger just as the grocery managers are feeling it now. He suggested that a flood of mail to the White House and the new Congress, urging a cut-back in federal spending, would have far-reaching results in their common battle against inflation.

"If the government continues to spend more and more money for civilian programs at the same time that it spends more in Viet Nam, the housewives — and all the rest of us — are sure to be faced with a worse situation next year," he said. Unless federal spending is curbed, the NAM head said, prices will keep going up and a tax increase "will leave us all with less money with which to pay them."

The NAM president observed that he felt these views reflected the grass-roots opinion of most of the country, citing recent national opinion surveys which show that a great majority want to curb inflation by cutting government spending instead of raising taxes.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

How I had dreaded cleaning the attic! But it was all worth it after I found the picture of Nip and Tuck when they were puppies. I sat down there and then in the cold, dusty room and recalled the day when Bob brought them home to Carol. How she laughed and loved them and flung her arms around both our necks in excited gratitude. How much fun we three had, watching the cunning antics of the canine infants.

Nip is gone now, duly mourned and buried under our apple tree, and Tuck, gray and crotchety, limps if he moves too fast. Carol lives in Cincinnati in a happy home of her own, and I carry roses to the cemetery on the hill.

What a wonderful gift is memory. My days are rich with remembrances of the good life Bob and I had. How glad I am that we shared, not only a home, but also a love for God and His Church so that though now I am lonely, yet I am not alone.

First Baptist WMU Meets

The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Oswald Pounds on Monday night, November 14 at seven o'clock. Thirty-one members were present for this meeting.

Mrs. Pounds, president, presided at the business meeting. Plans were made for different circles to visit the County Home and the hospital. Reports were made by the chairman of each circle and the other officers of the Union. A plea was made for the members to give one book of S. & H. Green Stamps or one book of Top Value or Grand Prize Stamps to the Baptist Student Union of Mississippi College to secure a small Ford Econoline Bus to be used on mission trips each week.

Another plea was made for clothing to be sent to the Cuban Refugees in Miami. If anyone has clothing or stamps to give they should carry them to the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church by November 18.

Mrs. W. C. Gann led the program on Baptist in Japan. Mrs. Janis Blythe read the call to prayer for the missionaries, and Mrs. Jerry Harvey led the prayer. Mrs. Omar Jones led the devotional thoughts taken from Matthew 13:33. Mrs. W. H. Anderson told of the origin of religion in Japan and the difficult attempt for missionaries to witness to these people whose religions, evidenced by countless shrines and temples, are centuries older than Christianity.

Mrs. Bill Roby reported on the Soka Gakkai religion which is sweeping the country of Japan. Mrs. W. C. Gann related how the spiritual need and hunger reflected in the growth of new religious movements like Soka Gakkai, show the tremendous challenge of Japan to Christian Missions today and the opportunity the Baptist of Japan are facing. Mrs. Tony Blythe told how Christ makes the difference and how the Japanese Christians were witnessing. Miss Sue Kimbrell and Mrs. E. O. Roden led the group in closing meditations. The Ruby Hardy Circle served home baked pies and coffee.

Prentiss ASCS County News

By CHARLES E. CALVERT, Office Manager

Changes In ASC County Committee Elections Explained

Several important changes in election details, initiated last year at the county convention held to elect ASC county committeemen, are designed to give more continuity and stability to operating policies in ASCS county offices and to improve administration of farm programs by local committees, according to Willie Hatfield, Chairman of the Prentiss Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. The convention will be held December 12, 1966 at 9 a.m. in the Prentiss County Electric Power Association Building.

The chairman explained that the changes are part of a continuing process to make more effective use of farmer-committees in local administration of progress, to increase their importance and status and to attract outstanding farm leaders to serve in these positions.

One change in the convention elections is that all regular members of the various community committees within the county (instead of the chairman only) elect the county committeemen. Other changes are that the county committeemen are elected for 3-year staggered terms (instead of for 1 year), and the service of each county committeeman will be limited to three consecutive terms, previously there has been no limitation).

In the 1965 county convention, one county committee member was elected for a 1-year term, one member for a 2-year term, and the third member for a 3-year term. Therefore, in 1966 and succeeding years, the annual county convention normally will elect only one member of each county committee, for a term of 3 years. (This, of course, could vary according to the number of actual vacancies on the committee.) Each year, the convention also elects a first and a second alternate committeeman, each for a 1-year term.

After the committee members are elected, the delegates vote again to determine which of the regular members are to serve as the chairman and the vice-chairman. The conventions redetermine these positions annually.

A qualified candidate for service on the ASC county committee is one who is a resident eligible to vote in one of the community elections in the county, and who meets other eligibility requirements. Eligibility to hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of race, color, creed, or national origin. The chairman stressed the desirability of electing members who are actively engaged in the operation of a farm and who are representative of the type and kind of farming in the county. Other details as to qualifications of candidates are available in the ASCS county office.

Any question on eligibility to hold office as an ASC county committeeman will be dedicated by the incumbent county committee subject to appeal to the State committee; the convention would proceed, however, on the basis of the county committee decision.

Programs administered by ASC committees are directed toward encouraging conservation and increasing farm returns by means of price supports and market supply-management, as well as by payments.

Cotton Producers To Vote On

Proposed Cotton Reserve And Promotion Order

Producers of upland cotton will vote Dec. 5-9 to determine whether a research and promotion order would be issued for upland cotton, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

Officials of USDA's Consumer & Marketing Service said the referendum will be conducted by mail ballot through county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices in conjunction with the upland cotton marketing quota referendum, but in a separate ballot.

Approval by two-thirds of the producers voting, or by a majority of producers voting if that majority accounts for two-thirds of the cotton represented in the referendum, is necessary for the order to become effective.

Today's announcement followed USDA's final decision on the provisions to be included in the proposed order and on the regulations to be used for the referendum.

The proposed cotton research and promotion program would be administered by a Cotton Board composed of members nominated by cotton producing organizations and selected by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The program would be financed through assessments of $1 per bale from upland cotton producers, to be collected by cotton handlers designated by the Cotton Board. Collections from any producer who did not wish to contribute would be refunded upon written application. Assessment would start at the beginning of the ginning season for the 1967 crop.

C&MS officials said producers are eligible to vote in the referendum if they were "engaged in the production" is defined to include planting an upland cotton crop even though the crop is not harvested if the failure to harvest is not caused by the neglect of the farmer.

Those sharing in an upland cotton crop or proceeds from it, on a farm as an owner, cash tenant, sharecropper, share tenant, or landlord of a share tenant (except for a landlord of a standing rent, cash rent, or fixed rent tenant), shall also be considered engaged in the production of that crop.

In addition, owners or operators of a farm for which an acreage allotment for an upland cotton crop was established according to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 as amended, but on which that crop was not produced, shall generally be considered to be engaged in the production of that crop in the year in which that crop, if produced, would have been harvested.

This definition of "engaged in production" is also used in the marketing quota referendum regulations.

Each producer is entitled to only one "yes" or "no" vote in the referendum. C&MS officials explained, however, that if it is necessary to calculate the volume of production by voters to determine the outcome of the referendum, county ASCS offices will make this calculation on the basis of their records of 1966 planted acreage and projected lint yield per acre for each farm.

A farmer with additional production in a county or State other than the county in which he is eligible to vote must establish that interest with his county ASCS office prior to the beginning of the referendum in order for that production to be considered.

This order was proposed by the National Cotton Council. The legislation authorizing it was designed to enable cotton producers to engage in a comprehensive self-help program to strengthen cotton's competitive position and to maintain and expand domestic and foreign markets and uses for U. S. cotton.

USDA's final decision in favor of the order was based on evidence developed at a 2-week public hearing in August and includes consideration of comments filed on the recommended decision published in the Oct. 5 Federal Register.

A summary of the proposed cotton research and promotion order to be voted upon will be sent to each eligible voter along with his ballot. Complete copies of the order will be available at county ASCS offices.

VA Answers Vets Questions

B.—I served in the regular Army from 1930 to 1935. Am I entitled to all this stuff under the new G. I. Bill?

A.—No. The new G. I. Bill provides G. I. loans, education and other benefits for veterans who served after the close of the Korean Conflict to the present time. That is, after January 31, 1955.

Q.—I am a war veteran with no service-connected disability. I have no group hospitalization plan and I work off and on as a laborer and cannot afford a hernia operation. My doctor says I need or I'll have to quit work. Can I get the Veterans Administration to help me?

A.—Yes. A veteran may receive hospital treatment and care in this order of precedence:

1. A veteran with a service-connected disability.
2. A veteran without a service-connected disability when he cannot pay for hospitalization. He must sign an oath that he cannot pay and he will be admitted on a bed available basis.

Q.—I am in college working for a degree in law. I heard we do not have to send VA certificates of attendance for our monthly checks. Is that true? Also, when can we expect the checks?

A.—In order to avoid possible hardship cases, the Veterans Administration arranged to send out the first month allowance checks ONLY to veteran students when the college sent VA a certificate of enrollment. That applies only to the first check. All others will be sent to veterans attending college only after he sends in a certificate of attendance. Checks are mailed the 20th of the month following the month of completed attendance.

HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

By CLAIRE T. ROSS, Extension Home Economist

Some of you are having your first experience with teflon-coated cookware have asked if you can safely put the pans and pots in your automatic dishwasher?

Yes, you can wash the utensils in your automatic dishwasher without fear of affecting the teflon in any way.

You may find that certain materials on the outside of some pans may become dull or discolored when exposed to the hot water or some detergents in automatic washers.

This is just one of many questions that homemakers ask their Extension home economists.

You as a homemaker know how many times you need advice or information to deal with a question or problem concerning your home or family. Your Extension home economist is a person who can provide this needed information. Call on her. She is interested in you and your family.

I have been writing about your home economist in a general way and in third person. Now, let me change over to first person and say, if you do not know me, CLAIRE T. ROSS, your Extension home economist, I invite you to visit me at my office in the POST OFFICE.

Or call me at 728-5631. MISS SANDRA HUSSEY is the assistant home economist. She is interested in you, also.

This is a special week—Extension Home Economics Week — during which I want to let each homemaker know I am available to help with problems and decisions. This is a week to focus your attention on the helps available to you all year-round.

DO YOU GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH?

It's not how much money you have, but what you do with what you have. Good management is the key to successful handling of family finances.

After reading that statement, don't give up. Skill in management can be learned and improved.

You will find the time and effort worthwhile, too, when you realize the experts in management say you can get 30 per cent more by better buymanship. In buying groceries, the average consumer can save 10 per cent on food cost by planning meals around food specials, by shopping carefully and by using a list.

Managing the family income is a family affair. To balance income with outgo, you must plan ahead. A written plan will help your family stop leaks in spending and impulse buying. Keep an account of your spending. Control expenses. Evaluate. And make adjustments to meet your family needs.

In making your plan, list long and short time family goals. Figure the cost of family living and saving. List by months the fixed payments.

4-H NEWS

By SANDRA S. HUSSEY

Prentiss County had four girls who were 4-H Jr. record winners in the county. These records were submitted for state competition in their main projects. Congratulations to Gloria Archer, Jimmie Archer, Linda Williams, and Sandra Scott on being records winners.

Conduct community health and safety surveys to help eliminate health and safety hazards. Have horse shows, pet shows, gun safety and archery programs. Other possibilities are automotive care and safety programs, career exploration meetings, wildlife conservation meetings, and outdoor cookery including barbecuing.

If you are an adult interested in helping 4-H boys and girls with any of these activities, contact a friend who is a volunteer 4-H adult leader or call the local Cooperative Extension Service office. Your help will be most welcome.

Join 4-H Any Time

If you are boy or girl who has not joined 4-H but who would like to take part in summer 4-H fun, you may do so. Boys and girls may join 4-H any time during the year. The 4-H year begins on October 1 and ends on September 30. But there is nothing to prevent you from enrolling any time you wish. New clubs may also be organized at any time.

4-H Junior Leaders

If you are an older 4-H member with a fair amount of experience, serving as a 4-H junior leader can be one of the most rewarding experiences that you'll ever have. It is real training for success in later life.

A junior leader is 12 to 19 years of age, currently enrolled in the 4-J junior leadership project and assuming leadership roles. You may be serving as an officer, committee member, or just an active member of your local 4-H club.

Junior leaders can perform valuable service by helping younger members with 4-H record keeping. This was the first year that members between the ages of 9 and 13 had an opportunity to participate in a 4-H record awards program.

Learn Homemaking

What girl doesn't dream of being an efficient homemaker? To help make such dreams a reality are exciting learning experiences available through 4-H club work. These also have "here and now" application.

Some of the many 4-H home economics projects or subjects are clothing, health, safety, electric, food preservation, foods and nutrition, home improvement and personal development.

These subjects are taught in a way that makes them interesting as well as informative. A girl can begin by enrolling in the projects that interest her the most. These projects are planned to meet the needs of different levels of age and of understanding. They encourage initiative and achievement beyond

MISSISSIPPI

Northwest Mississippi is fast becoming known as the "great lakes region" of the state. This is because four major artificial lakes created by giant dams are located in the area. The four lakes are: Grenada Lake, Arkabutla Lake, Sardis Lake, and Enid Lake. All have earth-fill dams, with an average base ranging from 410 feet to 1,217 feet. They are near the Holly Springs National Forest with its 90,000 acres, and several state parks, some of the latter located at the lakes. — Released by Mississippi Economic Council.

Vocational-Technical Enrollment At Northeast Jr. College Is 128

Mr. Harold T. White, president of Northeast Mississippi Junior College, has reported a vocational and technical education enrollment of 128 which boosts the beginning of the year vo-tech enrollment of the Mississippi junior colleges to 1,228.

State Vocational-Technical Director A. P. Fatherree announced the total enrollment this week after reviewing reports submitted to the State Department of Education by all of the state's junior colleges and their extension centers.

Northeast vo-tech education includes eight courses with enrollments as follows: auto mechanics, 17; industrial electricity, 17; welding, 14; metal fabrication, 13; heating, air-conditioning, and refrigeration, 18; practical nursing, 11; drafting and design technology, 15; and data processing, 19.

P. Hale Aust, Northeast vocational education coordinator, gave the enrollment by courses and said that at all available space is being utilized but several additional courses are needed beyond their present vo-tech offerings.

The 11 other junior colleges gave reports of their programs including the number of courses and total vo-tech enrollment. They are

Coahoma, 10 courses and 266 students; Co-Lin, 10 day and 4 night courses with 205 students; East Central, 7 courses—146 students; Hinds, 21 courses—612 students; Holmes, 8 courses—134 students; Itawamba, 12 night and 3 day courses with 283 students; Jones, 8 courses—376 students; Perkinston, 2 courses—39 students; Jackson County, 4 courses—112 students; Jeff Davis, 6 courses—137 students; Northwest, 11 courses—303 students; Pearl River, 4 courses—73 students; and Utica, 7 courses with 214 students.

Fatherree pointed out that additional evening classes will be started at various times throughout the year as the need and interest is recognized by the junior college staff. More vo-tech day classes will also begin the second semester as some buildings are nearing completion and equipment for these new courses are arriving daily.

Business, industrial, and civic leaders are encouraged to present their needs to the vocational-technical coordinator in the junior college nearest them.

Highway Projects To Be Speeded By Legislation

The highway legislation enacted at the last session of the Legislature will provide additional funds for much needed construction and reconstruction according to Highway Commissioner Roy C. Adams.

In discussing the new highway construction program made possible through this legislation, Mr. Adams said we will be able to begin correcting many of our highway deficiencies in a short period of time but he pointed out that due to the priority provisions established by the Legislature in House Bill 40, Regular Session 1966, the first construction and reconstruction will be on sections of highways that carry the most traffic.

He further stated, this legislation will not permit the early reconstruction for the entire length of any of our main arterial highways. When the high traffic volume sections have been completed, the sections with the next highest traffic count will be programmed for improvement.

Since this legislation continues the "Pay as You Go" plan, these improvements must be made on a year to year basis as funds become available. The only additional funds provided by the recent legislation that do not come under the "Pay as You Go" plan are those to be obtained from a 25 million dollar State-wide bond issue which must be spent over a three year period for reconstruction of high traffic count sections of the Primary System. The expenditure of funds from the 25 million dollar bond issue is also governed by the other priorities established in House Bill 40.

The Highway Commission must complete work on those sections of primary highways on which contractual agreements have been entered into between the Highway Commission and a municipality, county or the Bureau of Public Roads and on which some survey or construction work has been started.

He added that as soon as preparation of the construction program based on the recent legislation has been completed, an announcement would be made as to the improvements which are scheduled for the next two years in North Mississippi.

In conclusion, Mr. Adams said he is grateful to Gov. Johnson and the Legislature for helping us provide this program on highway improvements. He feels that our highway outlook is much brighter, especially with the possibility of part of North Mississippi being included in the Appalachia Program which includes a large amount of funds for highway construction.

YOUR SAVINGS BOND QUIZ

Question: Has there been some change lately in the limitation of purchases of Series E and H Savings Bonds?

Answer: Yes, you may now purchase up to $20,000 (maturity value) of Series E Bonds, in any calendar year, and up to $30,000 (face value) of Series H Bonds. Also the one calendar month's advance notice before redeeming Series H Bonds has been eliminated, except for bonds presented for payment during the month preceding and interest payment date, in which event the bonds would be paid in the following month.

Question: Back during World War Two, we bought Savings Bonds at rallies to support our troops overseas. Is this appropriate, today, with Vietnam?

Answer: President Johnson has said that the purchase of Savings Bonds not only strengthens the economy of the country but backs the attack of our fighting men in Southeast Asia.

Question: I keep reading and hearing about the tax advantages of buying Savings Bonds. Just what is this advantage?

Answer: Interest which accrues on Series E Bonds every six months does not have to be reported for Federal income tax purposes until the bonds are cashed or reach final maturity, which could be a period of 17 years. E Bonds can be exchanged for Series H Bonds with the accrued interest not becoming taxable until the H Bonds are cashed or reach final maturity. At no time is the interest subject to State or local income taxes.

Question: Since I have no relatives, how do I go about naming my church as the beneficiary or co-owner of the Savings Bonds I own?

Answer: Unfortunately, you can't. Regulations provide that bonds issued in either case must name natural persons only. But you could write a will leaving the bonds to your church. Bonds may, of course, be purchased by you in the name of the church as sole owner.

Question: Several months ago, someone wrote to inquire about the then current value of a $1,000 Series E Bond bought in June, 1942. I don't have a $1,000 bond, but I do own several $100 bonds bought that same month. What are they worth?

Answer: Each of your $100 bonds bought in June, 1942, will be worth $161.64 in December, 1966. As you will realize, that is quite a bit more than the $75 you paid for each of them.

Question: Back in the early 1940s my aunt bought a number of Series E Bonds in various War Bond drives. We came across them the other day while helping her clean out some papers. Are they any good?

Answer: Just as good as the day she bought them; even more so, because interest has been accruing on them since that day and is continuing to accrue. No E Bond ever sold has stopped earning interest.

Kathy Bonds Observes Ninth Birthday

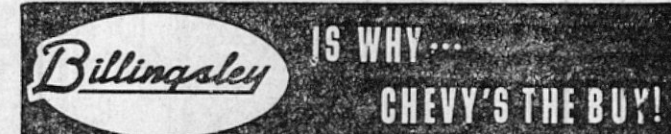

On Saturday evening, Kathy Bonds celebrated her ninth birthday with a party in her home given by her mother, Mrs. L. H. (Billy) Bonds. Kathy's birthday was on the 15th.

Those present for the occasion were Diane and Mike Beasley, Vicki and Marsha Thornton, Mike Kelly, Carly Tigrett, Judy Beasley.

Candy Chittom, Debbie Davis, Joyce Grisham and David Green. The little guests enjoyed delicious refreshments consisting of birthday cake, cup cakes, ice-cream, potato chips and kool-aid.

Mrs. Bonds was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Donald Kelly, Mrs. Garfield Wheeler, aunts of the honoree, Mrs. H. C. Fugitt, grandmother of the honoree, and Mrs. Earle Greene.

Kathy received many nice gifts.

PHI THETA KAPPA members at The Northeast Mississippi Junior College are putting new pledges to work on the recently adopted club project of planting crocus bulbs at the entrance of the college. Phi Theta Kappa Chapter At Northeast Adopts Crocus Bulb Planting Project

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever," written long ago by John Keats, expresses the feeling of Phi Theta Kappa members at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College. Accordingly, they have adopted as a project the planting of crocus bulbs on the campus.

Phi Theta Kappa is an honorary scholastic society on the junior college level. Members are tapped at the beginning of each semester. To be eligible for tapping, a pledge must have a 2.1 scholastic average and must be approved by a faculty committee. These pledges must possess such characteristics as good citizenship and good moral character. The present membership of Phi Theta Kappa at Northeast is thirteen, with ten pledges who will become members after an official test has been administered.

Officers of the society are: Bunni McNeely, Iuka, president; John Kurych, New Albany, vice-president; Clara Sue Harris, Corinth, secretary; and Delores Barnes, Iuka, treasurer. Mrs. Jack Dubard is sponsor.

Union soldiers during the Civil War tasted peanuts being grown in the South, liked them, and when the war was over carried them home to northern states.

WOMEN PAST 21 WITH BLADDER IRRITATION

After 21, common kidney or bladder irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backaches and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYS-TEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by soothing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYS-TEX at drugstore. Feel better fast.

season high school game at 8:00 p.m., November 18, 1966 at Bulldog Stadium in Grenada, Miss.

The Fulton team, coached by Ben Jones and Curtis Monroe, is the leading team in the Tombigbee Conference, and Leflore County is the leading team in the Delta Valley Conference. This is expected to cause a large turnout of both Fulton and Leflore County fans as well as delight the Grenada area fans.

At the end of the game the Exchange Club of Grenada will present a beautiful trophy to the winning team, best lineman, most valuable player, best back, and to the winning coach. All players will receive souvenir pens. The trophies will be on display before the game. The awarding of trophies will be attended in part by Jake Gibbs, football and baseball great from Grenada. A professional photographer will take pictures of the presentation and plans are for this to adorn the club's Community Birthday Calendar which will run from October, 1967, through September, 1968.

The Leflore County team is expected to take the West side of the Stadium and the Fulton team the East side. Parking will be supervised and policed. The Concession stands in both stadiums will be open. A public address system will be in operation. Pre-game and half time activities will be held. Admission at the gate will be $1 and $2 and net proceeds will go to the Exchange Club of Grenada for use in their many youth and community betterment projects.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By W. TAYLOR SMITH, County Agent

FOREST FIRE PREVENTION

The market picture for pulpwood and timber has never been brighter. Pulpwood demand is expected to triple within the next five years.

To supply the demand, forest fire prevention and control is an absolute necessity. Fires are not accidents—at least 99 per cent are set for a purpose. When adequate precautions are not taken, they can get out of control and do a lot of damage.

Here are some precautions to take: Never burn trash, brush piles, fence rows or ditch banks on dry windy days.

Never start a fire without contacting your local fire control crew first. They will help you in making preparation; they will keep close watch to help if needed; caution you of high-hazard days and they will construct fire breaks to help control fire.

SUBSOILING

Subsoiling where needed will pay big dividends. It shatters plow pans thus allowing plant roots to penetrate deeper in the soil and also allow moisture to percolate down into the soil rather than running off.

Plow pans are often caused by compaction from heavy equipment over the past several years. This is especially true on much of the silt loam or medium textured soils.

Now is an excellent time to do subsoiling and deep renovation to break up these pans. It does little good to try to shatter pans when soil is wet. Pick a dry time of year. Usually fall is the best time to do it.

PROTECT FROSTED GRASS

Plow fire lanes to protect your pastures from burning off. Make sure that you put lanes between pastures and public roads; between pastures and woods and around farm buildings.

Some folks try burning to get rid of broomsedge. This just does not do the job. Fire does not damage broomsedge, all it does is burn off
