Landfill, Solution

A long list of dignitaries were on hand here Friday for a Solid Waste Seminar.

The seminar was held on the Northeast Miss. Jr. College campus with the Northeast Miss. Planning and Development District of Booneville as sponsors of the program. A small audience of county and city officials in the district listened intently to the different speakers on the environment and economy.

Gatha Jumper of Booneville Director of the planning and development district, told the audience that "Northeast Miss. is facing a crisis and the purpose of this seminar is to enlighten local officials by bringing together federal state, and regional officials to discuss solid waste problems."

Thomas A. Strickland of Atlanta, representing the Environmental Protection Agency, told the seminar of the Solid Disposal Act of 1965 which provided local officials with technical services and research in the planning stages of waste disposal. Strickland also commented that "the dump here in Booneville is no different than any other. The smoke from this dump is polluting the air, and pests and rodents breed from the condition here." The official commented that Booneville, like all other communities, is faced with the problem of "just what to do about this problem."

Bobby Redding, Assistant Engineer of Mississippi State Board of Health, said the state has received a grant for studying the problem of waste disposal. "We made a statewide survey with federal forms and came up with a State Solid Waste Management Plan," said Redding. The Mississippi Health official said that the plans are now available to the local officials and "we now need implementation of the plan."

He urged county and city officials to work together and showed slides of successful landfills that were improvements over the old city and county dumps.

Redding said that burning at dumps will soon cease due to federal environmental guidelines and suggested sanitary landfills as an alternative. "A landfill is the solution by covering the solid waste daily with six inches of soil," said Redding.

Tennessee Valley Authority Bob Watson said that solid waste was the third major problem facing local governments and that it was third only to schools and roads.

Watson said that landfills once covered up by sufficient amount of soil could be used for playgrounds and parks.

W. T. Richardson, Farmer Home Administration Official from Jackson, explained the manner that local governments could go about financing sanitary landfills. "As of January 8, 1973 the FHA cannot make anymore outright grants for landfills but said that a possible solution may be the use of state and county revenue sharing money. Zack Stewart of New Albany, Director of Appalachian Regional Commission said that he would be willing to assist local officials if Congress expands the health programs to include all 20 counties in North Mississippi.

'Peace With Honor' In Vietnam

Did anyone win the Vietnam war? This is a matter which historians will debate for a long time to come. In the meantime, there seems to be little agreement.

President Nixon has proclaimed that "We have achieved our goal of peace with honor." This does not appear to be the opinion of most Communists, however.

Dr. Fred C. Schwarz, President of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, researched the various Communist periodicals and publications, and this is what he found:

The DAILY WORLD (official Communist newspaper in the USA), in their Feb. 6, 1973 issue, quotes Communist Party boss Gus Hall as saying: "A new level has now been reached in all struggles of the working class and masses of the people. Imperialism has been forced to retreat."

The GUARDIAN of Jan. 31, 1973 claims, "Cease Fire a Great Victory in Vietnam," and states: "The U.S. agreement to cease its military aggression against Vietnam is the greatest victory achieved by the Vietnamese people in their long struggle for independence. The U.S. military retreat from Vietnam is also the greatest defeat ever suffered by U.S. imperialism.... A small nation -- the Democratic Republic of Vietnam -- has defeated a huge nation."

The BLACK PANTHER, Feb. 3, 1973, crows: "The Vietnamese people are the victors... (but) the war in Vietnam has not ended. It has simply entered a new, more subtle and delicate phase. The Vietnamese people are determined to secure their victory in this new phase. America's power made industry and banking bosses are equally determined to turn defeat into victory."

The PEKING REVIEW, official publication of the Red Chinese, in their Feb. 2, 1973 issue states: "The victory of the Vietnamese people is a strong inspiration to all the oppressed nations in their struggle for liberation and has made a great and important contribution to the anti-imperialist cause of the people of the world."

Dr. Schwarz further reports that the Australian Communist, Wilfred Burchett, writing from North Vietnam for the GUARDIAN quotes the Reds there as saying: "We are very happy and enthusiastic in hailing the great victory of our people in our protracted, hard and victorious struggle. It is a victory on all fronts -- military, political and diplomatic."

Dr. Schwarz found only one discordant voice in the communist propaganda front: that of the so called "Trotskyites" in their publication, THE MILITANT. In their Feb. 9 edition, they stated: -- "These accords leave the Thieu regime in control of the major cities, keep Vietnam divided, and contain other conditions Washington has forced on the Vietnamese."

Concludes Dr. Schwarz: "All are agreed that the conflict is not over but that a new phase is developing. In this phase, information and propaganda will be most important. This nation and the world must be told the truth. North Vietnam is a monopolistic, classist communist tyranny; and South Vietnam, for all its faults, contains the seeds of democracy, civil liberties, economic initiative and human liberty."

Communities Have To Keep Up

The development of Mississippi--economically, socially, and otherwise--has been moving in the past few years at a rate faster than in any other period in the state's history. But what means are there for the local communities to keep up with the great expansion?

The Mississippi Economic Council, the state's chamber of commerce, has an answer to that question: the MEC's MERIT program of community development.

Forty-five counties in Mississippi have shown they want to "grow" with the state by joining the MERIT program. Of this number, 11 have been recognized as outstanding for their accomplishments in law enforcement, county finance, libraries, public works, and recreation.

MERIT means Measuring needs...Establishing priorities...Recruiting manpower...Initiating action for...Tomorrow's county.

MERIT offers county governments the opportunity to be recognized for their accomplishments and provides incentives for effort in areas in which improvements need to be made. Counties involved in MERIT have an upper hand on those not in the program, in that participating counties have methods by which to improve conditions for their citizens and to examine themselves on a continuing basis.

No one loses in the MERIT program. Counties view MERIT as a means of demonstrating to industrial recruiters a progressive spirit blended with model services.

MERIT offers counties ten categories in which to "keep up with the state"--beautification, county finance, fire protection education health and sanitation, law enforcement, long-range planning, public libraries, public works, and recreation.

The MEC recognizes that effective county--as well as state--government is not a one-man, one-board, or organization show. MERIT is designed to lend a helping hand. "Keeping up" with the development of your state requires an effort of ALL the communities and ALL the citizens.

In MERIT, everyone reaps the rewards....the people, the community, and the state.

Dollars Takes Another Fall

The second devaluation of the dollar since 1934 and the first since 1972 took place on February 12, 1973.

The value of the ounce of gold is now officially $42.22 an ounce, a ten per cent reduction in the gold value of the dollar. In April of 1972 the value of gold was raised from $35 to $38 an ounce, which was a little over ten per cent.

The chief effects of the latest move will be to make the price of American export products cheaper and more competitive abroad, while American goods and services produced or rendered with the help of imported products, such as electronic commodities, oil, manganese, textiles, automobiles and other crude and manufactured goods, will be dearer. Also, Americans traveling abroad will receive less currency in exchange for dollars; which will be another help in reducing the drain of dollars to foreign countries.

Why Search You

Boarding any airliner now, you are required to arrive early, open your carryon baggage, including your purse, allow a search of your pockets and, if indicated, your underwear. Most passengers accept the invasion of their privacy philosophically. They say "It's better than a detour through Havana."

Some passengers, indignant, are going to demand a Supreme Court ruling on the constitutionality of such search without warrant.

You approach the airline gate and the concourse entrance is guarded. At a long table, passengers place their hand baggage for opening and inspection.

The passenger then walks through an archway where a magnetometer detects any metal on his or her person, including keys or coins.

With hand-held electronic devices, other security men comb your person for concealed weapons or explosives. Metal in your corset or a metal socket in your hip joint may require that you be segregated and stripped for a more intimate search. That doesn't happen often but airport officials have the authority to do so.

When government lowered the security screen over 531 commercial airports last December, we'd been averaging four skyjackings or attempted skyjackings per month. It's too soon to evaluate results of the costly, cumbersome, time-consuming and sometimes embarrassing screening process.

It takes an average of six airline employees to process a planeload of passengers. For a major airport this requires several hundred uniformed guards plus a dozen FBI agents.

Of course it's the passenger who pays for this private army in higher fares. And if even the crisis ends and the need for search subsidies, history predicts the added costs will remain.

But who is it who thus trespasses on your private papers, possessions and person? Government?

But, in all of this there is one significant fact; one unavoidable conclusion which demands emphasis. Devaluation is a palliative, not a cure. It is a Band-Aid, not an operation. The dollar will continue to be in trouble at home (from inflation) and abroad (from gluts) so long as the Congress refuses to put our financial house in order. Enormous domestic deficits and vast balance-of-payments deficits are the root causes of the dollar problem. Paper gold in foreign relations and spending programs in domestic affairs will not substitute for thrift or simple arithmetic. Something eventually will have to give, including foreign resistance to American exports and investments.

Some economists are predicting "an old-fashioned recession." That, surely, would be the worst curse of all. There is sufficient knowledge of economics available to enable us to live within our means and still avoid a recession.

Comments And Opinions

Paul Harvey

PAUL HARVEY

Always we assume that free people become less free because dictators dictate.

But federal police are upending your wig box not because government wants to but because a comparative handful of sickies are running around loose and menacing others.

The law has taken away your Fourth of July fireworks and threatens to take away your gun because some misuse theirs. Government can seize your private papers because of some tax cheaters. And because some sadists hide razor blades in apples whole states outlaw Halloween.

Not because there is tyranny in government but because there is anarchy in the unbuttoned brains of a few loonybirds. Because some who are free don't deserve to be you can't be.

And down that road whole nations go from regulation to regimentation to tyranny.

PAUSE FOR POWER

The End Of The Tether

H. G. Wells once perceptively observed that "modern man is at the end of his tether." The bright optimism of the nineteenth century has today given way to an appalling despair that pervades all modern literature, art and music.

Sin is one of the saddest but also one of the most common phenomena of human life. It is part of the universal experience of the human race. No culture, no civilization has ever been without sin. Perhaps the most significant sentence in all the Bible on the plight of modern man is Romans 6:23, "The wages of sin is death." Sin is death to purity, death to peace, death to power, death to strong character, and worst of all, death eternally.

The Bible underscores three basic facts about sin. First, man is a sinner by choice. Man sins because he chooses to sin. Sin is the free act of a free moral agent. When you sin, you sin as a free moral agent. It is your choice. It is your free act. It is your sin. The prodigal son took his first step toward home when he honestly confessed, "I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against Heaven, and before thee" (Luke 15:18).

The second fact about sin is this. Sin involves both guilt and pollution, but it first and primarily involves guilt. The Bible says, "Sin is the transgression of the law" (1 John 3:4). And since sin is the transgression of God's law, sin renders man guilty and places him under the judgment of God. In addition to this, however, sin is also pollution. Sin has not only rendered me guilty before God; it has also corrupted and polluted my life. It has gripped me with terrible and fearful sinful habits. It exercises a tyrannical power over my life. It has polluted every area of my being.

Third, sin brings men under divine condemnation. The Bible says, "The wages of sin is death" (Romans 6:23). Again, the Bible says, "The soul that sinneth it shall die" (Ezekiel 18:4).

And death, in the Bible, involves basically two ideas, even as it did in the case of Adam (Genesis 3). When Adam violated God's simple command and sinned, Adam died. And when Adam died, he died in two ways. First of all he died spiritually, and he died spiritually in the very hour that he sinned. He was separated from the life of God; and separated from the life of God, he died spiritually. Secondly, however, the seeds of physical death were sown in Adam's body, so that ultimately Adam would die physically. The Bible informs us that Adam, by his free act of disobedience, introduced physical death into the human race. The Bible says, "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; so death passed upon all men, for that all sinned" (Romans 5:12).

All men are now subject to death, both spiritual and physical. The sinner today is spiritually dead and he will someday die physically. And if a man refuses to receive God's remedy for sin, the Lord Jesus Christ, he will go out into eternity to suffer eternal death. The Bible describes this in Revelation Chapter twenty, "And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; . . . and they were judged every man according to their works. And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire" (Revelation 20:11-15).

And this is precisely why man needs a supernatural Savior. The very reason for which Jesus Christ came into this world was to die for sinners, and thus to deliver them from the just judgment of God. This is the whole testimony of the Bible. The Bible, for example, says that Jesus Christ "hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God" (1 Peter 3:18). And Jesus Christ Himself said, "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many" (Mark 10:45).

There was no other good enough,
To pay the price of sin;
He only could unlock the gate
Of Heaven and let us in.

ASCS

STORAGE, TRANSPORTATION CRUNCH BRINGS FARM LOAN PROGRAM CHANGE

In general, producers who have grain stored under government loans should be able to redeem the loans and move the commodities into commercial channels, because of current markets.

Tight storage and transportation situations in some areas could prevent movement of the grain off the farm before the current loan maturity date. If this is the case, deferred payment provisions may be offered. Such deferred payment provisions may be offered in some areas, but we do not yet know whether Prentiss County will be one of these areas. If deferred payment is offered, local farmers will be notified immediately.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that loans on all farm-stored and warehouse-stored 1972 crop and stored grain will not be extended beyond the current maturity dates.

Calling of loans at maturity date on most stored grain was announced early in January. The recent announcement that loans on farm-stored 1972 crop corn, barley, oats, grain sorghum and rye will not be extended beyond current maturity dates completes the announcements on calling grain under loan.

Loans were called because grain is needed to meet the strong domestic and export demand.

The principal problem in getting the grain from the farms to the places where it is needed for domestic use or for export is a developing transportation crunch in some areas. Deferred repayment provisions are being developed to meet this situation.

Producers now have three options in connection with calling of loan, the ASC chairman explained. These are:

1. Repay the loan;
2. Deliver to the Commodity Credit Corporation; or
3. Enter into a deferred repayment agreement if offered locally.

However, this third provision will be available only in counties where commercial market channels are temporarily not available to allow sale of the commodity.

INCREASED FEED NEEDS BRING 1973 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM REVISIONS

Increased feed grain use during 1972 was cited as one of the keys for the recent alteration of the 1973 Feed Grain Program.

U. S. Department of Agriculture figures now show that domestic use of feed grains for 1972 turned anticipated when the 1973

Feed Grain Program was announced early last December. It is now estimated that corn use as well as overall feed grain use will be substantially more than originally projected.

Increasing livestock numbers plus cold weather and subsequent increased feed utilization have been the main factors in the higher feed grain disappearance.

Export demand for feed grains is also expected to be strong in 1973 as bad weather continues in several major feed grain producing areas of the world. The following changes have been made in feed grain program set-aside requirements:

Under the basic plan, required set-aside has been changed from 30 to 25 percent of a producer's feed grain base. And for participants not wanting to set aside this amount of cropland--the required set-aside has been changed from 15 to 0 percent, provided they limit their feed grain acreage.

If the participant sets aside an acreage equal to 25 percent of this base, his payment rate will be 32 cents per bushel for corn, 30 cents per bushel, for grain sorghum and 26 cents per bushel for barley. These rates are paid on the established farm yield times one half the feed grain base.

Producers who elect not to set aside any acreage and do not increase their feed grain acreage above that planted for harvest in 1972 will be eligible for a lower payment rate of 15 cents per bushel for corn, 14 cents per bushel for grain sorghum and 12 cents per bushel on barley. These rates are paid on the established farm yield times one-half the feed grain base.

--Producers may elect to graze hay, or make silage from conserving crops grown on feed grain and wheat set-aside acreages at any time, including the five principal months of the normal growing season, and receive a reduced payment. They must notify the county ASCS office prior to using the set-aside acres.

MARCH 2 FINAL DATE TO TRANSFER COTTON BY LEASE OR SALE

Farmers who wish to transfer their 1973 cotton allotment by lease or sale or release the allotment to the county committee are reminded that March 2, 1973 is the final date. The county office will assist in the preparation of the necessary forms to complete the transfer. The amount received for the cotton is a matter between the person owning the allotment base and the person leasing the allotment base.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

POISON PREVENTION

The poisonous hazards of the average household have increased greatly during the past few years. Not so many years ago, kerosene, poison flypaper, lye and tincture of iodine comprised most of the domestic substances that might be fatal if swallowed. Now a horde of potentially dangerous chemicals have invaded the home. These include products designed to clean clothes, polish silver, clean the home. These include ovens, wave hair, kill insects and weeds and rats and to relieve illness.

All of these materials are useful and beneficial when used for the intended purpose, but small children cannot read labels and often wind up swallowing some of these chemical substances. In fact, 1,800 accidental poisonings occurred last year and most of these were children under five years of age.

National Poison Prevention Week, March 18-24, is a good time to check the situation in your home.

Make sure that all household chemicals and medicines are out of reach of small children.

OUTLOOK

The farm income outlook for 1973 appears as bright as in 1972 which was a record $18.75 billion for the nation as a whole.

Let's take a look at the predictions for Mississippi this year. Cotton acreage is expected to be down around four percent. Prices may not reach 1972 levels, but this depends upon the size of the crop.

Soybean acreage is expected to be up in Mississippi by around seven percent with prices averaging above the 1972 level.

Rice production is expected to increase since the allotment has been increased 10 percent. The expected larger production will likely cause a decline in price.

Mississippi beef production will likely be above 1972 and beef cow numbers will continue to increase. Prices received for beef cattle should increase some.

Pork production should also be up in 1973, but some decline in prices could occur. This will depend upon how much production nationwide is expanded and also on how beef prices change.

ACID SOILS

Acid soils are seriously limiting soybean yields on a large portion of our bean acreage. Applying the correct amount of a good liming material can correct this problem and is one of the surest means of increasing soybean yields and profits.

If you do not know the lime status of your soil, send samples for analysis to the MSU Soils Testing Laboratory and find out. It can help you make more money from soybeans this year.

HOME SETS STAGE FOR DRUG ABUSE

The stage for drug abuse is set at home. What can adults do? Take an honest look at the problem. Start at home. What kind of example do you set?

- Do you take too many medicines?
- Are you dependent on any drug, including alcohol?
- Do you have a lot to say about how much better you feel after taking medicine?
- Do your children see you run for the bottle of aspirin, tranquilizers or alcohol when you get angry or upset?

If so, you are setting this kind of example. You should try to change your attitudes and approaches in these matters.

When you discuss drug abuse with your own or other young people:

- be well-informed; they are.
- be honest; they can tell.
- be open; accept their opinion even if it doesn't agree with your own.

FINISH MAKES WORK CLOTHES CLEANING EASIER

Men's permanent press work clothes can be bought with a dual-action finish that resists stains and releases soil when they are laundered. But you may have to ask your clothing stores to stock them. Manufacturers are still hesitant about putting these extra finishes on work garments.

The homemaker knows, however, how hard it is to get out some of the greasy, oily stains without the aid of these finishes.

Some permanent press garments do have the soil release finish. They do not resist stains, but the oil and grease stains will come out when washed. Garments with both the stain resistant and soil release finishes are usually the easiest to keep clean.

The safest bet is to pretreat oil or grease stains with a full strength liquid detergent before laundering.

When shopping for work pants and shirts, read labels carefully. Look for labels that say a soil release finish has been used. Preferably, both a soil release and stain repellent finish should be added to permanent press work clothes.

Political Parties Now Legal...For Taxes

JACKSON, Miss -- A change in the law now allows taxpayers to designate part of their tax liability to the political party of their choice in the next Presidential election, Richard J. Stakem, Jr., District Director for Mississippi said today.

A tabulation of the first are availing themselves of this privilege. This change is effective for 1972 returns being filed now by taxpayers. If a taxpayer chooses, he may designate that one dollar (two dollars on a joint return) be paid over to the candidates of a specific political party, or to a non-partisan account. Amounts designated to the non-partisan account will be divided among all eligible candidates. Also, participation will not change the amount of refund or tax liability due. Taxpayers wishing to participate should complete Form 4875 and attach it to their 1972 Federal income tax return. The forms are contained in the Tax Return Package that IRS mailed to taxpayers. Taxpayers filing Form 1040 or Form 1040 may participate.

Rural Citizens Get Benefits

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Rural citizens seeking to improve their community's water and waste disposal facilities can now benefit from the experience of the Commission on Rural Water. A new book, Guide for the Development of Local Water Projects, has just been published by the Commission and is available for ordering. Written by Stanley Zimmerman and Edwin Cobb, of Conset, Inc., the book draws upon the experience of Demonstration Water Project, Inc., in setting up model development projects in various parts of the country. It is the only publication available that covers the subject in a comprehensive manner.

AAA Calls On Auto Makers

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Auto manufacturers should be required to repair or replace all defective parts and equipment on new cars without charge to the owner within a prescribed time period, the American Automobile Association said today.

AAA's suggestion came in a letter to Senator Warren Magnuson, chairman of the manufacturers to assume only the cost of repairing safety defects. AAA said the bill "does not fully address itself to the problem involved regarding defective manufactured motor vehicles" since it is limited only to safety-related items. AAA policy calls on Congress "to establish minimum warranty standards which clearly impose upon the automobile manufacturer the responsibility to repair or replace defective parts within a prescribed time limit, with no cost to the purchaser."

AAA said the current Senate proposal did not prescribe a time limit, except for tires, during which repairs would have to be made and paid for by the manufacturer. AAA did not ask for a specific time limit but suggested that five years or 50,000 miles might be a reasonable limit.

Written in easy to understand language, the guide takes the form of advice -- "do's and don't's" -- to the potential project developer. Problems faced in actual DWP project areas are used to illustrate many of the points made. In addition, appendixes at the end of each section include samples of the various forms and procedures required by the many agencies involved in the funding and approval process.

The cost of the guide is $5.00, which covers the expense of duplication. Postage will be prepaid if payment accompanies order. To order a copy -- and to request information on other Commission publications including technical manuals on rural water-sewer system development write to the Commission on Rural Water, Box DM, 221 N. La Salle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Helping Children To Learn Skills

Helping children to learn new and different skills and excel in their own capacities is the desire of the women of the Junior Auxiliary (Provisional) who are working with the Special Education classes at Booneville Elementary School, the Middle School and Wick Anderson Junior High.

Once a week several members of the Auxiliary spend a couple hours at one of the Special Education classes tutoring the children in their class work, reading stories, and working with them in crafts and other activities.

One Special Education class has worked mostly in the area of crafts and made dried flower plaques in the fall, Jack O'Lanterns at Halloween, and candied apples and Christmas ornaments during the holiday season.

Birthday and Christmas parties have been planned and provided for the children and now, some of the children are learning and participating in new and familiar games.

ANNOUNCING THE '73 DODGE COLT

'Til now, little Japanese imports have had to depend on their own dealerships in the U.S. for parts and service. Now comes Dodge Colt, imported from Japan, but sold, serviced, and backed by Dodge, coast to coast.

Many imports that come to America come with one very real problem: how to provide parts and service on a nationwide basis.

Put another way, once the car gets here, who's going to take care of it?

'Til now, Japanese imports have pretty much had to rely on the dealerships they themselves set up in the U.S.

But now comes an import with a different way of doing things. An import that comes from Japan...to America...

c/o Dodge.

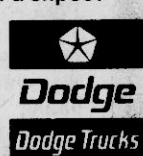

The Colt is sold and serviced and backed to the hilt by a network of Dodge Colt Dealers that stretches from one side of the U.S. to the other.

Which means that though the Colt may be built over 5,000 miles away, it'll be cared for by a man who's right around the corner.

And speaking of being built...wait'll you see what Colt comes with as standard equipment...

- Front disc brakes
- Reclining bucket seats (except on coupe)
- Overhead cam hemi engine
- Four-speed transmission (we think it's the best in the industry)
- Hidden radio antenna
- Easy-to-care-for vinyl upholstery
- Plus a lot of other things you'd expect on a little car.

Colt...from Japan to America...c/o Dodge.

O. D.'s Get Licensing Authority From Waller

JACKSON--When Gov. William Waller signed HB-489 into law earlier this month, Mississippi became the 50th state to license osteopathic physicians for the full practice of medicine. The legislation, sponsored by the Mississippi State Medical Association, amended the medical practice act to provide medical licensure to both Doctors of Medicine, MD, and Doctors of Osteopathy, D.O., who pass the same examination.

Previously, D.O.'s were restricted to the practice of manipulative therapy. As a result of this restriction, there are currently no osteopathic physicians living or practicing in the state. But several young men, all graduates of the University of Mississippi, are now enrolled in colleges of osteopathic medicine.

"The officers of the Mississippi State Medical Association are to be commended for taking the initiative in changing a law that was keeping well qualified osteopathic physicians from locating in Mississippi," said Robert A. Klobnak of Chicago, director of public relations for the American Osteopathic Association. "This was a positive action on the part of the legislature and the medical society and reflects a genuine concern for Mississippi's health care problem," Klobnak added. With a new law governing the practice of osteopathic medicine in Mississippi, perhaps a closer look at the osteopathic profession is in order.

Today's 14,000 osteopathic physicians daily diagnose illness, deliver babies, prescribe drugs, perform surgery, and engage in the myriad activities of medical care. These men and women comprise only five percent of the nation's physicians, yet treat an estimated ten percent of the population--about 20 million persons. This is largely owing to the fact that about 75 percent of all osteopathic physicians are in general practice.

Each year about 500 Doctors of Osteopathy (D.O.'s) graduate from seven colleges of osteopathic medicine in the U.S. They have received three to four years of professional college training, and four years of strenuous medical education covering the gamut of scientific and clinical instruction.

Several Mississippians graduates of the University of Mississippi, are currently enrolled in colleges of osteopathic medicine. They have indicated a desire to return to their home state to practice medicine if the previously restrictive Medical Practice Act was changed. Now they will be able to do so.

This education is similar to that received at other medical colleges, but with notable distinctions. Osteopathic students devote additional hours to the study of the musculoskeletal system, and are trained in the use of manipulative therapy as a diagnostic and therapeutic aid to be utilized either alone or with other recognized forms of treatment. Students also gain a philosophy of viewing the body as a whole. Osteopathic physicians are now licensed for the full practice of medicine in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. They take examinations according to the dictates of the individual state, encompassing the basic sciences and clinical work. Agencies of both state and federal governments similarly make no distinction between Doctors of Medicine and Doctors of Osteopathy.

Although most D.O.'s engage in private practice, a number have served as officers in the medical corps of the Armed Forces, in the Food and Drug Administration, Public Health Service, and as school and team physicians, educators and researchers.

More than 200 osteopathic hospitals have a total of over 23,000 beds. The number of beds has been increasing steadily by about 1,000 each year. Osteopathic hospitals currently admit approximately 900,000 patients annually in 30 states, with the figure rising by tens of thousands each year.

Osteopathic colleges and hospitals are approved and accredited by the American Osteopathic Association which is the recognized agency for these functions by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and by the National Commission on Accreditation. Most osteopathic hospitals are enrolled in Medicare and many take part in Medicaid programs. All AOA accredited institutions are automatically enrolled in Medicare. And most belong to several medical insurance programs including Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Upon graduation, D.O.'s intern for one year at a hospital approved by the American Osteopathic Association (AOA). Then they may either enter general practice--as three out of four do--or pursue a specialty by taking two to five years of residency training in one of the surgical or medical specialties.

HAPPENINGS Around Booneville By Mrs. Lila Fulghum Phone 728-5983

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Waters of McLean, Va. are the guest of Mrs. W. T. Waters.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith to our city. They have moved here from Savannah, Tenn. and are with The Brown Shoe Company. They are residing at 214 Jefferson St.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Armstrong were happy to have their granddaughter, Miss Susan Stoop and Mr. Marshall Cummings of Memphis down to spend the day Sunday.

Mrs. Ned Gotthelf has been the delightful guest of her mother, Mrs. J.S. Finch and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Finch.

We are sorry that Mr. R. B. Loveless is back in the North Miss. Medical Center in Tupelo. Hope he will be able to come home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Stutts and sons, Gary and John of Louisville, Ky. will be here for a weekend visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Stutts.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Presley of Aberdeen were here for a visit with Mrs. W. T. Waters over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carroll and children, Camille and Clent of Fulton, Ky. were visitors of Mrs. Bernice Carroll and Miss Cartwright, also her mother, Mrs. Vivian Holder of Altitude Community over the weekend.

Miss Jessie Presley and Butch Caldwell were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilson in New Albany over the weekend. On Saturday they went to Coffeeville for a visit with Rev. and Mrs. G. B. Basden.

We are glad to report that Mrs. John Hutcherson after six weeks in the hospital is home. We hope she will continue to improve. Her son, Mr. Carl Hutcherson of Martinville, Ind. and her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Wood of Atlanta, are here with her.

Last Sunday was home coming and Old Times Sunday at the Lewis Memorial Methodist Church in my former home town of Calhoun City, Miss. Mrs. J. W. Hollandsworth who was a member of that Church for 10 years, myself and Mr. Hugh Hollandsworth who was kind enough to drive us down, attended.

Mr. Hollandsworth also visited a former college friend, Mr. Edmondson. The Church was organized there in 1906 with Rev. R. P. Goar as pastor. My father and Mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Beasley were charter members. There were twenty-five charter members. Three of the members are still living and were present. In 1935 to 1939 the Pastor was Rev. T. W. Lewis, for whom the Church is now named. After the morning service, with a former Pastor Rev. Milton J. Peden preaching, the ladies and girls, dressed in the fashion of the early twenties, served an old fashion spread dinner. I tell you there was enough delicious food there to feed Cox's Army and about enough people there to eat it. I met and talked to people passed the House on Wednesday. The bill increases the rate of contribution of public employees and government employees to the system, but provides a major boost in benefits paid to retirees.

Persons who retired under the system prior to July 1, 1966 would get a 30 per cent increase in benefits, and those after 1966 would get an 8 1/2 per cent increase. This difference is necessary in order to correct some of the objectionable percentages of the past, and to base the calculations on a uniform formula.

The bill was not changed essentially from the one I reported on a few weeks ago, except for the adoption of an amendment which would absorb an additional one-half percent contribution of teachers and pick up the 1 1/2 percent contribution which local school districts are now paying.

The Universities and Colleges Committee won favorable approval of bills to create a school of dentistry at the University Medical Center in Jackson and a School of Veterinary that Hinds County and the city of Jackson contribute 2.5 million dollars. We all got a laugh out of seeing a picture of this committee taken on the afternoon that it gave final approval to these bills. Because of the many meetings that were in progress in every nook of the building, and the critical shortage of meeting rooms, this group was forced to conduct this far-reaching business in a narrow passage leading to the fourth floor balcony!

Coming to us soon from the Senate are bills, authored by our own Senators, to keep alive the Manpower Development Training Program (MDTA) in Corinth. Northeast Junior College has been the sponsor of this center which now faces a cut off of federal support. Under the direction of W. O. "Pat" Nelson, Edwin Gray, Counselor, and a staff of skilled professionals, this center has graduated 594 local people with employment skills which are vital to our current and future industrial growth.

Other bills of interest: The establishment of a $1.6 million county volunteer fire department fund an authorization for he vacant Sanatorium near Magee to be used as a nursing home for the mentally ill and retarded

If you have bills in which you are interested and would like to have a copy for your own use, write to me at the State Capitol Building or call me at 948-7321.

Senior Girl Scout Outing Big Success

Senior Girl Scouts of the Prairie Council found fun and fellowship in Booneville, with girls of Senior Scout Troop 172 as hostesses, the weekend of February 17-18.

Registration began at 2 p.m. on Saturday at the Community Center, where girls and leaders arrived complete with sleeping bags, as the "overnight" was staged in the Community Center.

Following registration the girls were given a tour of the NEMJC campus. They were taken throughout the girls' dormitory by Mrs. Ivy, dormitory hostess. Upon returning to the Community Center, the girls were given an official welcome by Senior Troop 172. The first development in the weekend theme of "Self Defense" appeared at 4:00 p.m. when Harold Williams, Black Belt Instructor, gave a Karate demonstration. He was assisted by three of his students, Franklin Goff, Larry Donahue, and John Duckworth.

Highlight of the evening's activities was a banquet in the NEMJC Cafeteria. Mrs. Ann Reed, co-adviser of Troop 172, was master of ceremonies. The opening flag ceremony was performed by girls from Cadette Troop 25. Mr. James Rhodes, administrative assistant at NEMJC, gave the welcome on behalf of the college. Mr. Jim Reed, graduate assistant in the Department of English, University of Mississippi, was the after-dinner speaker. He further developed the theme of "Self Defense" by telling how each person can develop defenses within himself. He intermingled his remarks with quotations and then recited apropos works from some of the great poets.

After the banquet the girls and leaders returned to the Community Center where the remainder of the evening was spent in games, songs, drawing for door prizes snacks, etc.

After breakfast on Sunday morning the girls gathered quietly for the Scouts' Own conducted by Camille Cunningham, Annise Pounds, and Mary Vollrath. A Scouts' Own is a serious moment or few moments always incorporated into a Girl Scout gathering. The program is always initiated by the girls themselves. The rest of the morning was devoted to visiting among the girls and leaders. After box lunches at 12:00 noon, the weekend was officially adjourned.

About 70 girls participated in the weekend overnight. Mrs. Marian Collins of Tupelo is in charge of Senior Scouting activities in Prairie Council. Miss Wanda Bullard and Mrs. Ann Reed are advisors to Senior Troop 172.

'Operation Understanding'

On Sunday afternoon, March 4, Methodist Women of the New Albany District will meet at Booneville First United Methodist Church for "Operation Understanding."

This is the first District meeting of the year. Dr. Warren Jenkins of the Division of Interpretation, Evanston, Ill., will be the speaker and will point up what United Methodists are doing in the world to carry out the mission of the church. Dr. Jenkins is a staff member of United Methodist Church.

This is a real opportunity to become acquainted with a staff member and find answers to questions. Dr. Jenkins will also be interested in hearing how local church members feel about the programs of the church.

Registration will begin at 2 o'clock; the program will begin at 2:30 and will be followed by a fellowship hour at 4 o'clock in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. All members of Women's Societies and Wesleyan Service Guilds, United Methodist Women, ministers and any interested persons are invited to attend.

ON JACINTO ROAD AREA

South Central Bell

To Spend $42,000

South Central Bell said today it will invest $42,000 in the Booneville exchange to provide more telephone service for customers in the eastern and north-eastern service areas of the exchange.

Work on the project will begin during March and be completed in June.

According to D. W. Snyder Chairman of the Mississippi Public Service Commission, Booneville - and the number of telephones it takes to serve its communications needs - is steadily increasing. "In 1956, when the exchange was converted to dial telephone service, there were 1,792 phones. Direct distance dialing was provided in 1971 and, at that time, there were 5,090. Today, there are over 6,000 telephones."

W. G. Hardin, local South Central Bell manager, said: "The area we'll be working in is located along the Jacinto Road and Highway 30 East. There has been a lot of residential construction in this section during the past year, and more and more people are moving into the area. Work crews will place over 11,000 feet of buried cables to complete this project which will provide us the facilities needed to meet growth forecast through the seventies."

This expansion of service is part of the record-breaking 91 million dollar construction program planned by Bell in Mississippi during 1973.
