DISTRICT AND COUNTY

Taylors Selected

Farm Family Of Year

A Prentiss County farming family has been selected the Outstanding Farm Family of the County and District.

Farmer's Home Administration officials here said the Mathel L. Taylor family won the distinction of being named County and District winner. The Taylors live on Route four Booneville, in the Marietta community. They have two daughters and one son. The Taylors are representing the six county area of Lee, Itawamba, Prentiss, Alcorn, Tishomingo, and Tippah.

The family has lived in the Marietta community since 1955. They moved to the county in 1953. FHA officials said the Taylors "have been doing business with us since 1954."

Their main crops are row crops, and the family is starting a beef cattle herd with 19 at the present.

Officials of the FHA office commented that this is the first time for Prentiss County to have a district winner since the inception of the program in 1969. The program is sponsored wholly by the Farmers Home Administration.

The Peoples Bank & Trust Co. presented the family with two savings bonds, each $25.

It was noted that last year the district winner came from Lee County, and the county winner was the James A. Dees family.

The county winner is chosen by the FHA County Committee and Talmadge Finch, Supervisor here. The district winner is selected by Herman E. Wood, District Supervisor, FHA.

Mr. Wood, along with Mr. Finch and Mayor Smith were on hand here Monday to make the presentation to the Taylor family.

According to Talmadge Finch "the Taylors are very conscientious farmers who believe in doing the best that is possible. Through our working relationship, this family has always given their best in every field."

He went further in commenting that "the Taylor family is to be commended for their excellent work." His comments were echoed by both Mr. Wood and Mayor Marion Smith.

COUNCE'S CORNER

Keep Your Promises . . .

This newspaper usually refrains from comments about issues directly involving newspapers, wishing neither to exploit the columns available to us nor to bore readers.

When those issues, however, directly threaten the very core of Americanism, freedom through self-government, we must speak out. This is such a time.

SELF-GOVERNMENT is impossible without newspapers. When the people rule themselves, they must make the decisions. They cannot make the decisions without information. They cannot get information without newspapers.

Newspapermen know this and they know the heavy burden of responsibility they bear. Most try conscientiously, many try courageously, to keep faith with readers, who have a right to expect them to fulfill their responsibility.

So it is ironic that a time when millions of Americans decry the decline in personal responsibility, when they demand action to curb crime, the government they uphold, is throwing newspapermen in prison for upholding the highest principles of their code of ethics, while murderers and bribers and liars and corruptors and violators of the spirit of our nation, liberty and justice for all, go free to carry on their evil.

ONE OF THE FIRST principles a newspaperman is taught is—never betray a confidence. While that is essential to a newspaperman, it ought to be a matter of simple integrity for every man. It is as simple as being taught never to break a promise.

A newspaperman will not reveal the source of his information when he has been given the information with the understanding that he will not reveal its source.

That is elementary. It used to be honored as "keeping his word."

IT IS THE KIND of integrity, dependability, trust, that we like to think the American people thirst for today.

Yet for precisely that kind of adherence to trust, newspapermen have been thrown in jail in New Jersey and California and are being threatened with being thrown in jail in Baltimore, Memphis, Milwaukee and Washington and have been ridiculed by governors.

We mention this here now, not to arouse sympathy for newspapermen. The good ones will keep their trust even if that means going to jail.

No, we mention it, because the people ought to be aware that when they throw trustworthy newspapermen into jail they deprive themselves of their services, they weaken their own ability to obtain essential information and with it their ability to govern themselves.

Those who love liberty, or even profess they do, must never forget that the first act of every dictator in the last 100 years has been to shut down the newspapers so the people can know only what he wanted them to know, whether or not that be truth.

Fasten Your Lap Straps...Or Else!

Fasten your lap straps or else! That is the next edict to expect.

New state laws are being proposed in four legislatures and contemplated in 17 others which would require you to wear your automobile seat belt or be fined, even jailed.

How far would you say government should go in seeking to protect us for ourselves?

It is the rightful province of government to protect us and our property from others.

There's much dispute over some of the possible poisons in our food, but the Food and Drug Administration, rightly, gives you the benefit of any doubt.

That red stuff in some lipstick, some soda pop and some pill coatings--Red Dye No. 2--may or may not be toxic to you, but some animals if fed a quantity of it deliver dead babies. So the FDA limits the amount of Red Dye No. 2 to which anybody can expose you.

And government limits or prohibits suspect insecticides, radiation, medication.

And of course government seeks to protect us from the robber, the arsonist, the rapist, the con man and the speeder; from anybody who would injure or rob us.

But to what extent should government go in protecting us from ourselves?

Example: There are an assortment of state laws regulating the composition and use of safety helmets for motorcyclists and, in some states, snowmobilers.

That industry is willing to do whatever it must, and has sought since 1967 to get some clarification, some standardization, so they'll know what design and material is acceptable to everybody.

The U.S. Department of Transportation has delegated research, but the researchers are not finished researching, so there's still no guideline. Meanwhile that industry does the best it can to try to meet the assortment of existing regulations and to anticipate new ones.

To what extent should government try to protect us from ourselves? Government needs a guideline. At present, it outlaws drugs which hurt only us and allows liquor which means every motorist.

Government takes our money to buy health insurance for us and contemplates more of the same. Congresswoman Martha Griffiths of Michigan says, "If you have health care for some you'll have to come to the moment when you must have total care for everyone."

And this seat-belt thing. Of all American motorists whose cars have seats belts, only 20 percent use them. Now comes this nationwide campaign to force you to buckle down or else. Expect a final federal ruling by spring.

I have seen the arguments for seat belts and I have heard the statistics.

I have heard the arguments against cigarettes and I have seen the statistics.

How long before they arrest you for that, too?

PAUSE FOR POWER

One of the supremely important distinctions in the Bible is the distinction between standing and state. This distinction is underscored in 1 Corinthians 5:7: "Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened."

Did you notice the apparent paradox in that verse? The Bible says, "Purge out therefore the old leaven. . . as ye are unleavened." When used figuratively in the Bible, leaven always represents sin. Now if a believer is absolutely without leaven, (ye are unleavened), why would God command him to purge out the old leaven? If a believer is without sin, why would God command him to purge out sin?

The answer to this apparent paradox is the Biblical distinction between standing and state. In his standing before God, the Lord God sees the believer in the perfect righteousness of Jesus Christ. He is absolutely without leaven. But, in his state, that is, in his conduct on earth, God sees the believer in his faults and failures.

This distinction between standing and state is simply the Biblical distinction between justification and sanctification. Justification is a believer's standing. This is perfect. Sanctification is a believer's state. This is imperfect.

Now, I cannot do anything to effect my standing before God. Only the atoning death of Jesus Christ can cleanse me from sin. So the Bible says, "The blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, cleanses from all sin."

But I can do something about sin in my life as a believer. The Lord God states it simply and clearly: "Purge out the old leaven."

The Bible is here warning us about the seriousness of sin in a believer's life. And in warning us about sin the Bible uses

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

SMALL GRAINS

If you plan to harvest grain from oats or wheat and have not already moved cattle off, do so as soon as possible.

You must supply plenty of nitrogen for high grain yields. Use 60 to 70 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre between March 10 and March 20. If you planted a short, stiff-strawed variety, you can go up to 100 pounds to the acre.

If the small grains are to be harvested for hay, silage or grain, weed control is important. Wild onions or garlic in a grain sample will reduce prices 10 to 15 cents a bushel. The presence of these weeds in hay or silage will reduce feed value.

Wild onions and garlic are best controlled by mixing one pint of 2,4-D and one pint of 2,4,5-T in 15 to 20 gallons of water per acre. These herbicides can be applied if air temperatures are above 60 degrees after the small grain has tillered and before it joints.

DAIRY NOTES you can make an extra 50 cents a day from each cow you milk by providing temporary summer grazing.

Make the first planting in later April or early May, a second planting in late May and a third in June.

Recommended fertilization calls for 500 pounds per acre of 13-13-13 at planting time and the addition of around 30 pounds of nitrogen each month.

Sudan-sorghum hybrids recommended include TE Hay-grazer, Grazer A1, Mor Su, Sweet Sioux, NK Sordan, Sudan SX-16 funks 83F. Sudans include Greenleaf and Tift. Millets are GAHI-1, Millex 22 and Pearllex.

Seeding rates are 30 pounds per acre broadcast or 15 pounds planted in 14-inch rows.

For most profit, control grazing. Let cows graze twice a day for two hours after morning and evening milking.

COTTON 1973

To help reduce losses from seedling diseases this year, plant as good quality seed as you can get. Wait until the soil temperature reaches 68 degrees or higher before planting. You cannot afford to take chances on losing a stand, do everything you know to do to prevent seedling diseases.

WILDLIFE

We too often think of wildlife only during the hunting season and so not realize that we must provide food, cover and water for our wild game throughout the year. For recommendations on providing food, cover and water for doves, quail, turkeys, deer squirrels, rabbits and waterfowl, come by this office.

Purge Out The Leaven

The symbolism of two Old Testament ceremonies--the passover and the feast of unleavened bread. The passover is a type, a picture, of the death of Jesus Christ. As the passover lamb was sacrificed, so Jesus Christ was sacrificed for us to bring about our deliverance from sin. So the Bible says, "For even Christ our passover lamb was sacrificed for us." As the blood of that lamb sprinkled on the doorposts secured for Israel exemption from the stroke of the destroying angel, so the blood of Jesus Christ secures exemption from the stroke of Divine justice.

But there was a second ceremony, the feast of unleavened bread. So the Bible says, "Purge out therefore the old leaven, that you may be a new lump, as you are unleavened." Here Paul draws a lesson from the second feast, the feast of unleavened bread which followed the observance of passover. For seven days after passover the Jews ate no leavened bread. Their law required that they remove all leaven from the household, and Jewish rabbinical sources furnish us with vivid descriptions of the meticulous search which was made of the house to guarantee fulfillment of this requirement.

To a Jew it was unthinkable to observe passover with leaven present. Now, just as passover, with the death of the passover lamb, pictures for us the atoning death of Jesus Christ and our conversion. The passover represents our salvation. The feast of unleavened bread represents our Christian life. When the passover lamb was slain, the Hebrews were required to purge out all leaven from their houses. In like manner, the death of Jesus Christ imposes a similar obligation upon us. We are obligated, as believers in Christ, to purge out of our lives the leaven of sin. As it was unthinkable for a Jew to observe the passover without at the same time observing the feast of unleavened bread, so it is unthinkable for a Christian to claim Jesus Christ as his Savior from sin and to go on living in sin.

It is a fundamental law of the Christian life that a Christian cannot grow spiritually as long as he harbors sin in his life. When a young man is converted to Jesus Christ, it is therefore imperative that he make a clean break with sin. Sins are like weeds in a garden. If there are weeds in the garden, the weeds will soon choke out the flowers; and if there are weeds of sin in my life, they will choke out the fine qualities of character that the Holy Spirit desires to reproduce in my life.

The Bible therefore says, "Avoid every appearance of evil" (1 Thessalonians 5:22). And Paul wrote to Timothy, "Flee youthful lusts" (II Timothy 2:22).

To sum up, the Bible says, "purge out the old leaven."

AWARENESS ACTION

GIRL SCOUT WEEK

SET-ASIDE ACREAGE PROVISIONS CITED BY ASCS COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

Producers signing up for set-aside acreage under the feed grain and wheat programs may elect to use their set-aside land for livestock forage or for approved alternate crops, with a reduction in program payments.

A full understanding of provisions governing set-aside land is essential. Producers should check with the county ASCS office about any details they are not sure of. Basic provision governing all set-aside acreage is that it must be land suitable for crop production with a potential equal to the average productivity of the farm. This provision on the quality of set-aside applies across the board -- whether the farmer plans to hay or graze the set-aside, plant an alternate crop on it, or keep it idle. If the set-aside acreage is found to be of lower average productivity than the average of cropland on the farm, then the program payments will be based on the potential yield of the set-aside land and not on the established yield for the farm.

Producers should also know there is a minimum size and width rule for areas designated as set-aside. Generally, a set-aside area which is less than an entire field must be at least five acres in size, with a minimum width of 132 feet. This is a general rule, and some exceptions have been stipulated. Full details are available at the county ASCS office.

A set-aside inspection and measurement service is available at cost from the county ASCS office. This service can insure a producer that his designated set-aside is acceptable and in compliance with program requirements.

Turning to the provision, new for 1973, which permits haying and grazing on set-aside acreage, the single most important item for a producer to remember is that the county ASCS office must be notified before haying or grazing is begun on set-aside acreage.

The conserving use requirement continues for set-aside land even though the land is used for grazing or haying. This means that crops ineligible for grazing or haying include soybeans, grain sorghums, corn sweet sorghums for silage, and matured small grain.

Producers may sublet grazing, haying, or silage rights on their farms' set-aside acreage, but this does not relieve them of payment reductions or responsibility for following program requirements.

Also by taking a reduction payment, producers may grow the following crops on set-aside land: castor beans, crambe, guar, mustard seed, plantago ovato, safflower, sesame, and sunflower.

Payment reduction for grazing, haying, cutting silage, or growing these alternate crops will be 30 percent of the average payment rate per acre of set-aside under the basic feed grain plan, whether the set-aside is under the feed grain or the wheat program.

In summary, the set-aside land must be average quality cropland for the farm. The county ASCS office must be notified before the set-aside is grazed, hayed, or cut for silage, and if they choose to use set-aside for these purposes or for approved alternate crops that farmers also accept a payment reduction.

FARMERS CAN CHOOSE PROGRAMS BEST SUITED TO THEIR FARMS

During the 8 days remaining in the farm program sign-up period, local farmers should look carefully at the choices offered by this year's farm program and pick alternatives that best fit their individual operations. Sign-up ends Friday, March 16.

Both the wheat and feed grain programs offer alternate plans. Each producer should get details from his county ASCS office and then do some pencil pushing to see which program will yield him the best return on his land, labor, and management resources.

Both the wheat and feed grain programs have plans allowing producers to set aside land or to participate this year without any set-aside. The cotton program has a zero set-aside for 1973, freeing acres to producer soybeans or other crops that are in short supply in the world marketplace.

The feed grain program includes two plans. Under the basic plan, a farmer may set aside 25 percent of his feed grain base and receive payments, loans, and other program benefits. The other plan allows a farmer to set aside a portion of his feed grain base and receive payments, loans, and other program benefits. The feed grain program also offers a zero set-aside plan with lower program payments and a limitation on total feed grain acreage. Under this plan the producer need maintain only his conserving base and is then free to plant soybeans or other crops (other than feed grains or quota crops) on his remaining cropland.

State Far Exceeds National Average In Infectious Syphilis And Gonorrhea

An 8.6% increase in infectious syphilis and a 25.9% increase in gonorrhea since calendar year 1971 are figures that Mississippians are presently faced with.

According to Eric Henderson, Supervisor of the Epidemiology Unit, State Board of Health, Mississippi far exceeds the national average in both infectious syphilis cases and cases of gonorrhea. These figures are based at a rate per 100,000 population. Nationally, an 11.7 case rate has been cited as opposed to an 20.4 syphilis rate per 100,000 in Mississippi. The national figures on gonorrhea for fiscal year 1972, came to 349.5 and Mississippi had a 455.2 case rate per 100,000.

What is being done to lower these astounding statistics? Officials at the Board of Health, and on the county levels, seem to feel that in spite of these "facts," there is still a note of optimism.

Dave Parish, state coordinator of the Gonorrhea Screening Program, says that the primary reason for optimism is the fact that "more people are now seeking and getting treatment for both syphilis and gonorrhea."

The Gonorrhea Screening Program is one of the major instruments now being utilized to better control the V.D. situation. Started in mid-June, 1972, this project was funded by a federal grant in cooperation with existing state V.D. programs. "Naturally," said Parish, "our long term goal is to significantly reduce the gonorrhea rate, but we do have some immediate goals. These include screening a large number of asymptomatic females, (10% of child-bearing age and 20% of high risk females) and bringing to treatment those screened positive. "To date, 3226 patients have been screened positive; 2753 have received treatment; 408 are under investigation; and 65 have moved or are unlocatable.

This program is obviously active throughout the state with 28 V.D. investigators "working in the field to locate, confer with, advise and bring to treatment those who are in need of help," Parish added.

"One particularly significant aspect in the area of V.D. control today," notes Glenn Collins, state supervisor of the Gonorrhea Screening Program, "is the awareness that patients may seek and obtain treatment from health departments or private physicians in a completely confidential manner. This is especially important to teenagers."

Health officials seem most concerned over the large number of misconceptions about the venereal disease problem. Probably the most widely spread misinformation pertains to the belief that one may contract the diseases from toilet seats. "No," says Dr. Durward Blakey of the Board of Health's Preventable Disease Control Division. "This is completely unfounded, yet a large segment of the population adheres to this belief." Educating people by giving them proper medical information is a big part of the co-operative work being done between the State Board of Health and various civic organizations.

For instance, Jaycee chapters across the state have taken on "V.D. Education" as one of their special annual projects. They are going into schools showing films, presenting talks and holding discussions in a combined effort with each county health department. Also, PTA groups and the Mississippi Pharmaceutical Association have been behind health officials concerning this statewide problem.

County health centers throughout the state have access to personnel and other capabilities needed to aid the V.D. patient. Although every one of them may not have a regular specialized staff, resources may be reached through that health department.

Dr. Eric McVey, Health Officer for Hinds and Rankin counties, sees the largest volume of V.D. patients with Hinds County leading the state in venereal disease occurrence. "This is to be expected," said Dr. McVey. "In the larger, more concentrated areas, the V.D. incidence rate is always higher." In 1972 Hinds County reported 236 cases of early syphilis and 2,855 cases of gonorrhea. Receiving treatment in Hinds County alone in 1972 were 38.2% of all early syphilis patients. Says Dr. McVey, "These rates would be higher if we had more treatment capacity available."

How complicated is V.D. to treat? "Actually," said health officials, "it's very simple in most cases. One visit to the health department or private physician should be sufficient, although checkups are certainly advisable."

Mississippi's Gonorrhea Screening Program has already established a name for itself in that it was first in the nation to get the program "off and running smoothly," and it has the figures to back this up.

"In 1971," said Collins, "3.5 males per female were being treated" in 1972, 2 males for every female were treated; and since this program has been underway, 1.4 males per female have been treated. This is what we're trying to do—located and bring to treatment more asymptomatic females." Collins noted that in the past females have been desperately overlooked, "and until both men and women are given proper care, we can't expect a brighter overall picture."

Summing up the State Board of Health's role in the area of V.D. control could probably be best said in words like prevention, education and treatment.

"As with all health problems," reiterated State Health Officer, Dr. Hugh B. Cottrell, "we emphasize prevention. Hopefully, as the state becomes more educated to the V.D. problem, prevention, rather than massive treatment, will become more significant."

MISS SHACKELFORD

Linda Shackelford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shackelford and a senior at Baldwin High School, has been named district winner of the Ability Counts Contest. This contest is sponsored by the Mississippi Governor's Committee on the Employment of the Handicapped. A special assembly program honoring Linda was held on Tuesday, February 13. George Oakley, counselor for Prentiss and Tishomingo counties, Vocational Rehabilitation Division, was in charge of the program. He said that the purpose of the Ability Counts Contest is "to give a better understanding to schools, industries, and the general public of services available through vocational rehabilitation for the handicapped." John L. Farley, personnel manager of Tyrone Hydraulics, Inc. presented a $50 savings bond to Linda as district winner. Also present were Mr. Woody Pierce, counselor for Vocational Rehabilitation Division, and Mrs. Jeanette Shackelford, Linda's mother. Sometime ago Linda submitted an essay entitled "The Handicapped at Work: 'Tomorrow's Challenge'" in district competition. Mr. Perry L. Hodges of Corinth is the district chairman.

3 County Students Enter Olympics

Prentiss County Vocational-Technical School is among the 70 schools throughout the state to enter a team in the First Academic Olympics. This is one of the new service programs sponsored by the Mississippi Business Education Association whose president, Dr. R. Frank Harwood, University of Mississippi, has introduced to encourage the growth and development of talent in business programs.

Olympic Entrants

These three county students will enter the First Academic Olympics. They are Eddie Wood, Vicki Jones, and Linda Williams. The Prentiss County Vo-Tech School is among some 70 schools entering a team.

Olympic Committee chairman, Dr. Alton V. Finch, also of Ole Miss, stated that almost 3,000 tests are to be taken by approximately 1,500 students from Biloxi to Horn Lake and from Columbus to Vicksburg.

Mrs. Willie Frances Guy is the sponsor of the local team entering these first Olympics. Students who have entered are Eddie Wood, and Vicki Jones, seniors at Booneville High School, and Linda Williams, junior at Thrasher High School. Eddie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wood, 320 McCarley Avenue; Vicki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Jones, Route 6; and Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams of Thrasher.

Welfare Programs...

Dr. Paul McCracken, formerly Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors and now at the University of Michigan, recently said:

"Instead of being a conduit to the mainstream of social and economic life, our welfare programs have impoverished and broken up families and generally created an alien sub-culture of its 'beneficiaries.'"

Blue Cross, Blue Shield Will Change; Redesigned Trademark

If you're one of the more than 525,000 people in Mississippi who have Blue Cross health care coverage, check your membership card -- for something on it is about to change.

The famous Blue Cross trademark itself, perhaps the best-known emblem in America, has been redesigned.

Starting today, after 34 years, the seal in the center of the cross -- containing various medical emblems -- will be replaced by a stylized human figure in a circle.

George W. Butler, president of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Mississippi explaining the significance of the new symbol said:

"For many years the Blue Cross symbol has represented integrity and security in health care. This traditional concept is now given a new dimension by introducing the human figure in a circle.

"The outstretched arms and legs of the figure are indicative of a vigorous and healthy mankind. In essence, the total symbol -- figure and cross -- captures the spirit of the traditional Blue Cross Service concept -- helping people achieve health care."

Butler said the change was made to illustrate the fact that the Blue Cross System -- 74 Blue Cross Plans in the United States, plus four in Canada and one each in Jamaica and Puerto Rico -- is more interested in people than anything else. The system serves nearly 100 million in the U.S. alone, through private programs of health care coverage and as administrator of federal programs such as Medicare and Medicaid.

Fun At Anderson

Book reports can be fun for the eighth grade students at Anderson Junior High School. Posters, three dimensional projects, and character impersonations provided a variety of outlets for Mrs. Billy

Community Program

These five students were among many who participated in a program at the Booneville Middle School recently. They are, left, Bob Maddox, Tony Robinson, Lisa Howell

Beverly Goddard, and DeAnna Whisenant. They were 1st place project winners in Mrs. Stennett's Social Studies class. (Banner-Independent Photo)

Industry Action Outlined

MEMPHIS — Industry action to meet current challenges was outlined here Monday to cotton ginners attending the Southern Cotton Ginners Association's annual meeting.

William E. Reid, chairman of the board of directors of Riegel Textile Corp., and a vice president of the National Cotton Council, said the cotton industry must accelerate efforts to meet challenges across a broad front. He singled out increasing government regulations in the areas of pollution, agricultural chemicals, safety and health, and others. "I think it's fair to say that this country has an inflation of regulation," he said.

Mr. Reid emphasized to the ginners that the cotton industry is making progress in many areas and said organizations like the Cotton Council provide a framework for the vital cooperation and unity needed in meeting challenges that may confront cotton.

As a textile manufacturer, Mr. Reid told the group that finding the cause and eliminating a respiratory problem called byssinosis deserves top priority in research.

While not affecting most workers, Mr. Reid said byssinosis "is a lung disease associated with dust of plant debris. While it is called cotton dust, it is not caused by cotton lint, and while we don't know the guilty as yet, obviously it comes from some part of the cotton plant, just as it comes from hemp, flax, and other plants."

But Mr. Reid told the group at the Mid-South Fairgrounds here that agriculture has the resources and is working to meet these challenges.

"Agriculture is three times bigger than the auto industry. The joint capital assets of U.S. agriculture are two-thirds as big as all U.S. corporations combined. Agriculture is setting the pace we all must follow in other segments of American industry," he said.

He contrasted the continued climb of efficiency in agriculture with a slow drop of productivity in other industries and said lagging efficiency of American industry is this nation's "number one problem."

Don't Overlook Med. Part

JACKSON, Miss. -- Some Mississippi taxpayers last year failed to deduct medical insurance premiums and, as a result, overpaid their income taxes, a spokesman from the Internal Revenue Service said today.

If taxpayers itemize deductions, they may deduct in full as a medical expense one-half the premium paid for medical insurance, up to a maximum of $150 without regard to the three percent limitation.

Taxpayers should add the remainder of the premium cost for medical insurance to other medical costs and reduce that total by three percent of adjusted gross income. Life insurance and accident and health insurance covering the loss of earnings are not medical expenses and the premiums paid are not deductible.

The Form 1040 instructions explain the handling of medical expenses. IRS Publication 502, "Deduction for Medical and Dental Expenses," also contains further information. It is available free by writing the IRS district office.

Notes from the state Capitol

By Martha Carole White
State Representative

District 2

Last week's Legislative business, for the most part, concluded with the second-in-a-row defeat of a bill affecting interest charges on loans up to $5,000 as made by finance and loan companies.

Rules and points of order seldom seen were used by both backers and opponents of the bill to maneuver this legislation amid heated debate. The week ended with the bill sure to be called up again, probably with significant compromises and changes, by the time this column is printed.

The reason that this bill and many other important bills are voted on more than once is because after the passage or failure of any bill, it can be "held on a motion to reconsider." This is done by some in order to keep a bill "alive." Others use the "motion to reconsider" as a means of making additions or deletions which they think will improve the bill.

The House has amended and released a Senate bill which extends the Medicaid Act to intermediate care nursing homes and revises the method of determining reimbursements to skilled nursing homes. Intermediate nursing homes are being moved from under the welfare department into the Medicaid program in order that we might receive a better ratio of federal matching funds.

Of special interest to many families in the area was a recent bill passing the House which provides for a March 1, 1974 extension of licenses for child care facilities, some of which face a shut down because they cannot or do not find it practical to conform to very stiff and in some cases unnecessary requirements of the State Board of Health.

It is planned that more reasonable regulations for child care facilities can be legislated before March 1, 1974 that will be in line with the intent of the legislature when it passed on the child facility licensing act last year.

We will be concluding this 1973 session on or before April 1, and some of the most vital issues still lie ahead. If you need to contact your representatives, call 948-7321. Your call will be returned at no expense just as soon as possible.

Join The 'Land Of Oz' At Northeast March 9

Sponsored by the Booneville Pilot Club, a musical adventure into the Land of Oz awaits the youngsters when the world-famous Nicolò Marionettes appear on Friday, March 9th at Northeast Miss. Jr. College at the Pounds Auditorium. The Pilot Club, in cooperation with Lex Cain, County Superintendent of Education, is happy they can bring such a cultural benefit to the school children of Prentiss County.

Technically, this is one of Nicolò's most ambitious efforts in many years of producing for Children's Theatre. Educationally, this is a production never before available to the children in this county.

The heroine, Dorothy, and her dog Toto travel through the Land of Oz to meet a lion who can roll his eyes, a Strawman who takes off his head along with his hat, and the Wizard who has a scientific control panel capable of producing thunder and lightning at the twist of a dial, and many others.

The audience will enjoy the sight of a huge mask floating in space, 24 feet of moving scenery, and a full-scale, thunderous tornado in turbulent action. Performance time will be 9:30 a.m. 10:45 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. A schedule has been arranged whereby the Goodwin Kindergarten and the elementary school children of Prentiss County will have an opportunity for viewing the show. Student tickets will be 50¢. Tickets may be obtained at the door for others wishing to come.

Waller Calls Attention To State's Loss By Fires

Calling the public's attention to a multi-million dollar loss suffered annually in Mississippi due to destructive wildfires, Governor Bill Waller has proclaimed March as

"Forest Fire Prevention Month in Mississippi."

The proclamation reads as follows: "WHEREAS, Mississippi is blessed with abundant forest resources which contribute to a better way of life by providing jobs and income, tax revenues, wood products, recreational benefits, and which produce food and habitat for wildlife, control soil erosion and collect and hold the rain for future use; and

"WHEREAS, it is the God-given responsibility of every one to protect this valuable resource so that our citizens of today and those of future generations will also receive the multiple benefits of these forests; and

"WHEREAS, Mississippi suffers losses from wildfire at an average rate of more than three million dollars annually due to human carelessness or maliciousness in the use of fire in the outdoors; and

"WHEREAS, the month of March is historically one of the most destructive months for wildfires in Mississippi;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, BILL WALLER, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI, do hereby proclaim the Month of March, 1973, as FOREST FIRE PREVENTION MONTH in Mississippi; and, further, I do hereby urge that all Mississippians and visitors to our State join me in a grand effort to greatly reduce the needless waste of this, our most valuable renewable natural resource - NOT ONLY FOR THE MONTH OF MARCH, BUT FOREVERMORE."

The Governor's action drew special praise from many sections of the State's forestry community, summed up in the remarks of State Forester Bill Gaddis of the Mississippi Forestry Commission:

"We look upon the Governor's words in this proclamation as a clarion call to all Mississippians for more sensible use of fire in the outdoors in order to halt, or greatly reduce, the shocking and needless annual depredation of our priceless forest heritage," said the State Forester.

Gaddis noted that forest fire damage affects everyone in the State regardless of whether they are directly or indirectly involved in forestry. He pointed out that the over-all state economy is heavily reliant upon the growing and utilization of tree crops.

"Words alone will not change the pattern of wildfire destruction," said Gaddis. "The subsequent actions of people will determine whether we will continue to send millions of dollars in future income and thousands of acres of natural beauty and wildlife habitat up in smoke

Correction on Davis Engagement

The Banner-Independent regrets the error made in a story two weeks ago concerning the Davis-Pedersen engagement.

The staff erroneously left out a relative of Miss Davis. The article should have included that Miss Davis is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Huddleston of Booneville.

We hope this error has not caused any misfortune.

There will be door prizes, too. So come, see, and taste. MANAGING HOUSING DOLLARS

Whatever type of housing you choose, you will spend a sizable amount of money during your lifetime for the roof over your head. The cost of housing your family not only includes rent or mortgage payments, but also may include related expenses such as utilities, insurance, decorating, repairs and remodeling. Moving from one home to another also adds to housing costs. In addition, homeowners pay property tax and mortgage interest plus the initial costs of buying or building. There also may be special assessments for community services such as trash pickup, police and fire protection, and new schools.

While costs vary in different locations and for different families, housing is a major expense in every family spending plan.

To Make the Most of Your Housing Dollars:

. determine your housing needs.

. decide where you want to live.

. know how much you can spend on housing and related expenses.

. decide whether to rent, buy or build.

. know when and where to seek professional advice.

. learn to judge and compare different types of housing.

. buy insurance to protect your home and possessions.

. preplan your moves to save time, energy and money.

High School Day At MC

CLINTON, Miss.--When parents and chaperones from the Booneville area accompany students to the annual High School Day activities at Mississippi College on Saturday, March 17, they will find a segment of the activities geared just for them.

Rory Lee, admissions counselor and coordinator of the special day, said the parents and chaperones will have the opportunity of attending two thirty-minute panel sessions designed to familiarize them with the academic program of the college and give them a better idea of what a high school student can expect when he enters college.

"These discussion sessions were made a part of our High School Day program two years ago," said Mr. Lee, "and the response they received was so overwhelming that we are making them a regular feature of our activities each year."

"In addition to being informative and interesting, the sessions also give the parents and chaperones an opportunity of meeting on a more personal basis several members of the faculty and administrative staff," stated Mr. Lee.

One session will deal with curriculum offerings, means of financing an education, the grading system and similar topics of interest to those with children entering college. Participating on the panel will be Dr. Charles E. Martin, vice-president for academic affairs; Dr. Charles Scott, dean of students and chairman of the Financial Aids Committee; and Van D. Quick, assistant to the president and director of admissions.

The second panel session will feature Dr. Louise Griffith, dean of women and professor of education; Ed Hewlett, dean of men and instructor in English; and Miss Jan Hederman, director of student activities. They will discuss "The Next Four Years--What to Expect."

Registration for students, parents and chaperones from the Booneville area will begin at 9 a.m. in Nelson Hall. A day-long program is planned.

Should I Be Baptized Over?

Let me answer this question with this statement, it depends on how you were baptized the first time. If you were baptized in the titles of Father, Son and Holy Ghost, then you certainly need to be baptized over again. Paul calls special attention to the fact of how a person was baptized in 1 Cor. 1:13 "or were ye baptized in the name of Paul?" No, they were baptized in the name of Jesus. Notice please, in Acts 19 the same apostle, Paul, asked these men how they were baptized and they said "Unto John's baptism." He did not allow these honest men to go any further having been baptized as they were he then explained the correct way to be baptized and in verse 5 notice he rebaptized them "in the name of the Lord Jesus." They had to be rebaptized according to the right way which was in the name of Jesus. For further reference please look at the Encyclopedia Britannica the 11th edition Volume 3 page 365-366 and you will not that the baptismal formula was changed from the name of Jesus Christ to the words Father, Son and Holy Ghost by the Catholic Church in the second century. The Canney Encyclopedia of Religion states -- the early church always baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus until development of Trinity doctrine in the 2nd Century. Jesus said "search the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life." Don't take what I say or anyone else, search the word and let it lead you. Baptism in the name of Jesus is the only Bible way. It is contrary to a lot of tradition but it is backed up by the word of God. Yes you need to be baptized over again if you have never been baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Some will say that it doesn't matter how you are baptized, to which I would say that if it doesn't matter how then it doesn't matter if you are baptized. It does make a difference and the Bible is the sole authority of how we should be baptized. You will be glad and thrilled you have heard the truth of baptism after you have been rebaptized in that wonderful name of Jesus. "Never give up on religion until you try Pentecost." Always remember "Pentecost if not a denomination, but an experience." (Paid Advertisement)

Reasonable Rules Advocated for Air Quality Standards

If the Federal Environmental Protection Agency continues its "current, unrealistic approach to air quality standards, there is no way the domestic copper industry could maintain any semblance of its capacity," Robert N. Pratt, president of Kennecott Sales Corp., said at a New York City forum.

"Even if the state plans, which both the states and the copper producers feel are effective in protecting air quality, survive the EPA administrator's judgments and remain in effect, we can expect a significant reduction in domestic productive capacity," Mr. Pratt said.

Questions And Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q - What is this "tele care" I hear about at VA hospitals?

A - Specially trained volunteers keep in contact by telephone with old or disabled veterans living at home, alone. The calls provide companionship and check on whether the veteran has fallen and broken a bone or whether his condition has worsened.

Q - I hear VA medics are getting ready to grow new arms and legs on amputees and regenerate hearts of people who have had heart attacks. Does this bring regeneration of the spinal cord any closer for paralyzed veterans?

A - There is nothing anywhere near as far along as growing new arms or legs on humans, or regenerating of limbs and hearts of animals, which lends hope for future progress in this field.

Q - How many former drug addicts and former alcoholics can VA hire by special appointments to help rehabilitate patients of this kind?

A - VA has been authorized to hire 200 former drug addicts and former alcoholics under these special appointments. The agency also hires veterans who are ex-addicts for other jobs.

Seminar Shows Farming's Sophistication

in TUPELO, Ms. -- A cotton and soybean forward contracting and hedging seminar held here recently by the Cooperative Extension Service is proof that farming has become just as sophisticated as any other industry in the United States.

The seminar was one of two held in the state this past week to help farmers evaluate the market alternatives that are available to them. The morning session of the one-day seminar was devoted to soybeans and the afternoon session to cotton. Representatives of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., E. F. Hutton Co., Staple Cotton Cooperative Association and the Delta Council conducted the seminars.

During a discussion of the cotton situation, B. F. Smith, executive vice president of the Delta Council at Stoneville, said that in the last few years Mississippi has seen a good many changes in agriculture. He pointed out that North Mississippi is now producing most of the cotton in the state, because most of the cotton production has been moved into the northern section of the state on better land.

"In 1971 the income for cotton and cottonseed was $378 million. The impact of these cotton dollars is important to more than just the farmer, the whole state feels this impact," he stated.

Smith said that when Mississippi farmers begin to market their cotton they must look at the cotton situation on a world-wide level. He pointed out that the stocks of cotton in the U.S. for 1972-73 were at their lowest level since the period of the Korean War.

"U. S. cotton is fairly competitive in the world markets, but higher prices may cause man-made fibers to become more competitive. An adequate supply of cotton is needed to have a good market in the U.S.," he explained. "The USDA Intensions to Plant report indicate that Mississippi will plant 96 percent of its 1972 crop."

The representatives of Merrill Lynch and E. F. Hutton Company explained the methods of hedging and forward contracting on the futures market. It was pointed out that using the futures market for hedging offers the soybean or cotton producer more flexibility in marketing their produce. Kirk Carter, commodity specialist, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc. of Memphis, said that farmers' main interest as producers is getting the best profit possible for their production in the market.

Truett S. Bufkin, marketing specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service in Jackson, said that the Extension Service would sponsor other seminars in marketing their production in the future to aid farmers.

Under the bull lease program, the bank will purchase approximately 10 superior bulls of various popular breeds, and these bulls will be leased to farmers throughout this area for six months time at a cost of $100 to $150, about 10 percent of the purchase price.

Mr. Whitehead explained "The bank has entered into this program to help more farmers enter into cattle production. By having the bull

The selection committee with the assistance of local cattlemen will select bulls most desirable for breeding and will buy quality bulls, and in this way our program can serve more people. The cattle industry is very important to North Mississippi, and can be even more important. That's why the bank has entered into this bull leasing program."

ON JADE

President Nixon's historical trip to China last year has brought to the fore renewed interest in all things Chinese. So, of course, the popularity of precious jade is growing. A jeweler in Hong Kong bought three pieces of imperial jade five years ago for a total of $1,344. They are now on sale for $17,920 each. Like so many things purchased from fine jewelry stores, jade can almost be regarded as an investment. It will certainly be more valuable in a few years than it is today.

The term jade is actually a collective term that describes two different minerals: nephrite and jadeite. Both are properly called jade. Nephrite boasts the longer history while jadeite offers the most precious and popular pure, intense green jades.

Hong Kong is still the world's best known market place for finished jade pieces. Top-grade jadeite is still only mined in Burma. Nephrite supplies of varying importance have been discovered in Wyoming, Alaska, New Zealand, and Germany. A good grade of nephrite is mined in Siberia.

Remember when buying jade that it has many substitutes and imitations. Most commonly used are green glass, plastic, grossularite garnet, serpentine and assembled stones called doublets. These are thin pieces of jade, glued to other materials and mounted in such a way that the seams will not show.

Therefore, it is important to select a jeweler who will guide your jade purchase. He should have a thorough knowledge of gemology, the proper instruments to identify gem material and the know-how to give each its correct value. Above all, he should have the integrity to pass this sound judgement on to you. We, here at Way-Fil Jewelry apply principles through our association with the American Gem Society. Jewelers you can trust.
