IN DAMAGES HERE

Rain Causes $1 Million

Prentiss County, along with others in the state, suffered a hard lick the past week by the torrential rains which the area experienced.

A spokesman for the Board of Supervisors commented that between $750,000 and $1 million damage was sustained to the counties roads and bridges. It was noted that several bridges in the county were either damaged or completely washed away during the heavy rains here. The county received over 11 inches of rain in a 30 hour period the latter part of last week. The heavy rainfall caused streams and creeks in the area to pour over their banks, and therefore flood the area.

NE Bill Dies

A bill to realign the board of trustees of Northeast here died in a Senate committee last week.

The bill which would have equalized the membership of the board to three members for each of the five counties, never got out of the Senate committee. The Representative bill passed the House several weeks ago, but apparently did not have the "pushing" that it needed.

Strong opposition to the bill was sounded by the Prentiss County delegation, as it would have lessened the members of the board to three. Prentiss County currently has five members on the board, while the other four counties have two each plus one floater seat.

Sen. Charles E. McCoy of Wheeler accused Rep. Horace Brewer of Corinth of using a federal court suit in an attempt to coerce the Senate to pass the bill.

McCoy also said Brewer violated a section of the state constitution by serving as an attorney for two persons who brought the suit, which McCoy said involved a matter before the Legislature.

Brewer said the only aim of the suit was to force the state to reapportion junior college board memberships according to one method such as population, student representation, presentation or land valuation.

Mrs. Sunderland Speaks In Telelecture Session

Mrs. Jacqueline Sunderland Project Coordinator for the National Council on Aging, was the guest lecturer at the latest telelecture closed circuit-broadcast originating this time from Northeast Junior College at Booneville.

Speaking to the statewide network of 12 junior colleges, Ms. Sunderland's subject was "Option - Not Obsolescence" and dealt with a wide variety of involvements which older people can turn to in later years that would be a direct benefit to society as well as personally rewarding to the individual.

She is the Project Director of The Center for Older Americans and The Arts in Washington, D.C.

Jacqueline Sunderland is author of a recent publication in which she sets forth some challenging ideas that

"perhaps only the older citizen or retired person with their deep reservoir of time and patience, as well as talents to draw from could undertake and in which they can be successful."

Ms. Sunderland paraphrased from her book: "Older American and the Arts: A Human Equation. The main precepts that: 'Older people have the potential to provide new audience, participants and volunteers in the arts... for the mutual enrichment of the arts and the lives of older people themselves... This can include the home-bound and institutionalized if proper initiatives are taken at the community level.'"

"Age," said the author, "is a completely superficial consideration in the Arts." She cited the scores of symphony directors, composers, dramatists, craftsmen and administrators who today represent an important part of our living culture--the arts.

The next Telelecture is scheduled for March 27 and will be on "Income and Social Security-Economics for the Aging." This presentation will originate in the extension division building and will feature Dr. Paul Oliver, Associate Professor of Economics and Mr. Hugh Tigrett, District Manager of the Social Security Office in Tupelo.

This marks the halfway point of this unique series with three interesting topics still to be presented. Again all interested citizens are invited to attend at the nearest participating junior college.

Attend Meeting

These five, all interested in the work of the Council on Aging here, were present at the group's last meeting. They are, left, Deirdre S. Darst, University Extension, University of Miss., Jerry C. Stone, Director of Community Services, NEMJC, Mrs. Jackie Sunderland,

Project Director, The Center for Older Americans and The Arts, Washington, D.C. Bill Butler, University Extension, University of Miss., Horace Kerr, Executive Director, Miss. State Council on Aging. (Banner-Independent Photo)

Dear Mr. Odle:
What religious groups are

What are you going to do about Matt? 28:19 tear

Well you have messed up the definition of Trinity.

You can't do anything right

Union, the uniting of 2 or

You used the word distinct,

Distinct, distinguished

Now are you telling the people who read this news

committed 3 crimes?

You know better than that.

Student Journalists In Revolt

Students in revolt? What is so remarkable about that?
What is remarkable - and newsworthy - is that the students in question were conservative students, in revolt against radical domination of most college newspapers. The student delegates, from many parts of the country, met recently at Madison, Wisconsin, where they formed a national association of conservative college newspapers. They said that they were fed up with the radical establishment papers.

The three-day conference was organized by Nick Loniello, editor of the University of Wisconsin's Badger Herald, a bi-weekly with a circulation of 8,000 founded in 1969, to compete with the "authorized" campus newspaper, the Daily Cardinal.
Since that break through at Wisconsin, more than 100 conservative student papers have sprung up on campuses over the country.

One typical delegate to the conference was Mark Tapscott, 23, a graduate student at the University of Dallas, who is editor of the new Spectator there. Said he:

"This is just the beginning, but soon we'll be able to compete evenly with the liberal-to-radical establishment press on the campuses."

One aim of the newly formed Association of Independent Alternative Student Newspapers (AIASN) is to obtain advertising revenues. Mr. Loniello explained that the experience of the new, non-radical campus publications has been that "The National Education Advertising Service, which has a monopoly on national ad placement for college newspapers, has been pretty much shutting independent conservative papers off from national ad revenues."

"We're going to do something about that," Loniello said.
Business leaders within reading distance of this editorial column may take note of the fact that their advertising dollars spent to reach college students need no longer go to radical elements. And that, for our money, is good news.

Feeding America

Carping critics of our country enjoy hurling the charge that the United States--richest country in the world-- is "ill-fed."

In a strange way they are partially right, but very inaccurate.
Fact is, we do have millions of people who are well-fed, but who are malnourished.

A White House Conference in 1969 and government studies showed that many people did not get all the nutrients they need even though they ate plenty of food and could afford a balanced diet. There are several reasons. Americans are people on the go who eat hurriedly and at various times. They don't pay much attention to the nutrient content of foods. Fad eating and snacking have grown.

So it's good news that one major food industry is doing something about providing additional, health-boosting amounts of needed nutrients. It has been announced that today more than 85 percent of all ready-to-eat breakfast cereals have been fortified to provide increased amounts of the B vitamins (thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, B6 and B12) and frequently vitamins A, C and D. More than one-half of these vitamin fortified cereals are also fortified with iron.

This is the most recent step in a process that began more than 30 years ago, in 1941, when ready-to-eat breakfast cereals were among the first foods to have nutrients restored that were reduced in processing. The nutritional enhancement of cereals had been progressing every since, with a big stepup coming in the last several years with the introduction of new brands of vitamin-fortified cereals and an increase in nutrients in familiar older brands.

Our biggest nutritional problem is not poverty, but getting people to eat the foods they need. As the noted Dr. Morris Fishbein has pointed out, people eat what they like -- not
"what's good for them." Having an assortment of cereals, which are well-liked by many people, fortified with nutrients people need is a bright spot in the national nutrition picture.

From Gov. To Federal Judge...

Who told on Kerner?
He remained a governor for two terms and then was appointed a federal judge through an assortment of administrations in Washington.

Meanwhile, Democrats who used to be able to cover for one another remained in absolute control of party machinery in Chicago.

If Kerner, popular, respected, esteemed, had all that clout and all those friends--then who told on him?

Kerner's undoing began when a snoop newspaper reporter from the Chicago American discovered that car dealers were cheating the state on sales taxes. The state revenue director-- the man who let it happen--was a close friend, personal counsel and campaign manager for Kerner.

But, because of Kerner's impeccable reputation, he was able to shift the blame from his friend by promising to find and prosecute the guilty--which he never did.

But the window was open a crack.
It was a Chicago newspaper, Chicago today, which identified the number two man in the Illinois State Revenue Department as a syndicate payroller.

It was a Chicago newspaper which exposed a dummy company prospering on state business and run by Kerner's closest friend.

It was Chicago newspapers which backtracked on that friend, Ted Isaacs, to discover he had a hand in or control of state boards which regulated banking, insurance, savings and loans, liquor sales--and racing.

By July of 1971, handsome, personable Otto Kerner was before a federal grand jury investigating race track stock deals and admitting to the ownership of substantial race track stock himself.

Yet it remained for Chicago newspapers to throw open the window. Kerner had bought that stock at a bargain basement price, sold it for what it was worth and had reported the income as a "capital gain."

But, because he had ruled so consistently in favor of the race track people who had been so generous with him, the news media, the public and the federal authorities were alerted.

Comments And Opinions

PAUL HARVEY

It's interesting--bribe money which he'd claimed as a capital gain apparently should always be identified by politicians as "regular income."

Anyway, the U.S. Department of Justice was able to readily weave the rest of the web.

But what I'm saying is that lawmen were alerted two years ago by newsmen who sniffed the first of this stink eight years ago when they persistently pursued leads from clandestine sources because they were free to. May they ever be.

And who also dared to question the propriety of a political crown prince.
May they ever dare.

don't read in the newspaper."

All I know is what I read in the newspaper."

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

W. T. Smith

PASTURE WEED CONTROL

Recently sprigged coastal bermudagrass can be sprayed with two pounds of 2,4-D per acre for control of most annual
and many seedling perennial plants. The treatment should be made before the weeds emerge.

For weed control in established coastal or midland bermudagrass, use simazine at one to four pounds per acre. This should be applied before the weeds germinate but not within seven days after clipping.

Pasture weeds result in lower forage yields, slower livestock gains, sometimes poisoning of livestock and poorer quality of livestock products.

One of the more serious
weeds is bitterweed, especially on pastures for dairy cattle. The bitter-weeds can be easily controlled with 2,4-D either as a preemergence or postemergence treatment.

Applications of one to two pounds of 2,4-D per acre before the weeds
emerge give both control and safety as the herbicide is applied before most susceptible crops are planted.

For postemergence control use one pound per acre of amine 2,4-D before the weeds are one inch tall.

fertilizer place-MENT

Fertilizer should be placed so that it is available to the plants during early growth, but far enough away to prevent injury
to seedlings and possible loss of stands. Anhydrous ammonia can be a real problem if it is placed too close to the seed or to the roots
after the crop is up.

Broadcasting mixed fertilizers will dilute the total concentration so that injury to plants should not be a problem.

Banded fertilizers should be placed at least six inches to the side of the seed drill and below the seeding depth.

INCORPORATION OF HERBICIDES

With cotton seedling vigor questionable this year, it is important that Treflan or Planavin be incorporated very shallow. The best procedure is to form a four to five inch bed and incorporate the herbicide
with ground driven equipment.
The cotton root should not be made to grow through more than one-half inch to one inch of treated soil.

Do not use a disk to incorporate Treflan or Planavin on light to medium textured soils.

HAVE A CHEMICAL AND DRUG CLEAN OUT WEEK

It's a good week for cleaning out! What? Any household chemicals, including drugs, which you no longer use -- or which are out of date.

During National Poison
Prevention Week, check
your home and your habits.
Help make your home and family poison proof. Be sure you can give a positive answer to each of these questions:

Are all leftover medicines
discarded when the person
taking it no longer needs it?
Are all medicines stored
where children can't reach it?

Are all medicines and other chemicals stored in labeled containers?

Are chemicals, including
cleaning solutions, stored, separately from foods?

Do I always refer to medicine as medicine -- not candy.

Do I avoid taking medicine
in front of children?

Do I read the direction
on the label and follow exactly?

BUT DON'T RELAX

Cars Being Made Difficult To Steal

Detroit is making cars more difficult to steal, but Where Is My Refund?

JACKSON, Miss -- "Where is my refund?" is a question asked by thousands of Mississippi taxpayers every year, a spokesman from the Internal Revenue Service said today. For many, the answer is that the refund is held up because the post office cannot deliver the check. People move without leaving a forwarding address. Another reason is that the taxpayer's name or address is illegible on the return. You can avoid this problem by using the pre-addressed label on your tax forms package. Peel the label off the outside of the tax forms package and place it on the return filed. You can make corrections on the label itself.

don't think you can relax-- not yet. According to the U. S. Department of Justice, nearly one million cars were stolen in 1971--one every 33 seconds--and one out of every five cars were never recovered. To stem the mounting auto crime wave, car makers have sharply accelerated their efforts to thwart thieves by improving door locks and greatly increasing the number of key combinations in use. They've redesigned interior door handles and lock buttons and they've eliminated the car thief's friend -- the easy-to-break vent window. An armored ignition switch on the steering column now locks the steering and transmission, and a warning buzzer now reminds the forgetful driver to take his key when he leaves the car. Special alarms, which blow the car horn or activate a siren, also have been developed. All these features have helped to slow the continuing increase in auto crime, but only you hold the key to bringing these crimes to a halt. The majority of car thefts occur with the unconscious assistance of the owners. The National Automobile Theft Bureau reports that the owner had not locked the car in eight out of ten thefts and half of the unlocked cars also had the key in the ignition switch. Either is an open invitation to a thief. Whether or not your car is equipped with the new anti-theft features, there are several important steps you can take to discourage a thief's interest in your car. Whenever you leave your family chariot unattended, make sure that you-- 1. Roll up and secure all windows. 2. Remove the key from the ignition. 3. Lock all doors. In addition, never leave packages, clothing or luggage in the passenger compartment. Police departments also recommend that you should not transfer belongings into the trunk at the same place you park the car. A thief may be watching. No anti-theft device is tamper-proof, but every obstacle you place in the thief's way increases the odds against losing your car. So lock it up and keep thieves unhappy.

'Pretty' Things Can Be Fatal

Did you know that a number of plants found in Mississippi are toxic and can be fatal if eaten? Many ordinary flowering plants, for example, have poisonous parts -- leaves, stems or petals-- and in some cases, the entire plant is toxic. With Poison Prevention Week here March 18-24 the State Board of Health reminds parents that "young children will put anything into their mouths." This not only includes household products and medicines, but toxic plants as well. "Children often want to sample things that are pretty," said Dr. W. E. Noblin, Jr., Director of Maternal and Child Health

MSBH, "and certainly there are many common plants which may be attractive to the young child." Among those potentially dangerous house and yard plants which can be fatal are the bulbs of Hyacinths; the berries, roots, leaves and flowers of the Jassamine; young Larkspur seeds; Poinsettia leaves; Potato foliage and vines; Rhubarb leaf blades; Tomato foliage and vines; Tulip bulbs; and the berries and foliage of the Yew. The Rhododendron, Jimson Weed (thorn apple), Lantana Camara (red Sage), Elephant Ear, Dieffenbachia (dumb cane) and Azaleas are completely poisonous plants say health officials. "Because the toxicity of these and other plans will vary with the quantity eaten and the size and health of the person, it is necessary that a physician determine the treatment for each case," says State Health Officer,

Dr. Hugh B. Cottrell. For further information on other poisonous plants, write the State Board of Health, Health Education Unit, P. O. Box 1700, Jackson, Mississippi 39205.

Carter Says Equipment Available For Work

County Forester Tom Carter of Prentiss County announces that the Mississippi Forestry Commission equipment and personnel are available for contract firelane construction work. No limitation is set on the number of miles of firelanes that can be plowed for any landowner, but it is the policy to plow firelanes for as many timber owners as possible. In cases where requests for this service exceeds the capacity of personnel and equipment, the smaller jobs will receive priority. This will permit the service to continue to be available to the greatest number of landowners. A written contract between County Forester Tom Carter and the landowner must be signed before any work is performed. A joint agreement will be made in advance that the firelane construction work will be on an actual cost basis. This cost will be $8.50 per hour. The landowner will be held responsible for furnishing boundary line information to Commission employees. The Commission equipment will continue to be available for firelane plowing as long as it does not interfere with the primary function of suppressing wild woods fires. Prentiss County landowners interested in this fire protection service should contact County Forester Tom Carter for details. Tom Carter pointed out that this service for which cost compensation is received is not one of the benefits included in the basic fire protection system for which landowners pay two cents per acre tax on all timbered and uncultivable land.

Officials of the county reported Wednesday morning that the county "has no money for repairs. We will have to repair the bridges, etc. as we can get to them."

It was also noted that the Supervisors are endeavoring to make as many county roads passable as possible. "We can only temporarily fix the roads and bridges right now, as we do not have any funds for the permanent type work," an official said.

Appeals have been made to Washington for emergency funds to help rebuild this rain-washed property.

The Mississippi Legislature unanimously agreed to consider a series of proposals providing emergency aid to the flood-stricken areas of the state. The amount was $10.5 million.

Young And Old, Rich And Poor

Young and old, rich and poor, men and women and children - an estimated 600 more individuals in Mississippi will be blind before another year is out.

And the worst part of it is that HALF OF ALL BLINDNESS, due to disease, accident, neglect or ignorance, is PREVENTABLE!

The Mississippi Society for the Prevention of Blindness was established in 1961. The Society's programs focus on glaucoma and cataract, which blind more adults than any other cause; on vision screening of children, especially during the preschool years, the critical time for successful treatment of amblyopia and other vision problems; and on eye safety in schools and industry, where accidents resulting in eye injuries are more acute. 9,000 Mississippians are already blind, Mississippi ranks 3rd highest in the nation in the number of blind persons per 1,000 population and 2nd highest in the rate of new cases each year per 100,000 population.

An estimated 152,600 of our school children are in need of eye care. One in every 20 preschool children is affected by amblyopia (lazy eye blindness) and other vision problems, which can usually be corrected if detected and treated in time.

These are facts taken from a publication by the Mississippi Society for the Prevention of Blindness entitled "HALF OF ALL BLINDNESS IS PREVENTABLE!" Booneville Junior Auxiliary (Provisional) members are concerned. Because of their desire to help some of these children affected by amblyopia, Auxiliary members, working under the auspices of the Mississippi Society for the Prevention of Blindness, trained to screen preschool children for visual acuity. After a two day training course, Auxiliary members tested 50 children at a local kindergarten. Of the fifty tested, one child was referred for further examination. An ophthalmologist tested this child and recommended that glasses be worn at all times. Finding one child with an visual problem and getting that problem taken care of before the child entered first grade was all the reward that the volunteers needed.

Booneville Junior Auxiliary (Provisional) members working with this project were Mrs. Eddie Caveness, Mrs. John David Price, Mrs. Charles Vail, and Mrs. Neil Walden.

Initiation fees for unions vary considerably with a general range of $5 to $25, although a few unions charge more than $100. Dues seldom exceed $10-a-month and often are several dollars less.

Eye Checker

Volunteer worker, Mrs. John David Price, checks the eyes of a preschooler for amblyopia at a local kindergarten. Fortunately, this child showed no signs of visual problems.

The International Monetary Fund says the amount of consumer inflation in the period 1967-71 was: United Kingdom 30 per cent, Japan 29.2 per cent, France 25.8 per cent, U.S. 25.8 per cent, Italy 18.2 per cent and Germany 15.4 per cent.

Cost of living increased 163 per cent in Chile last year.

Notes from the state Capitol

By Martha Carole White
State Representative
District 2

Self imposed deadlines for passing bills kept us busy long and late last week. Some bills died because of lack of time to take them up in either the House or the Senate. Among those was the bill which altered the make-up of the Board of Trustees at Northeast Junior College.

The House took favorable action on a Senate bill which provides for the establishment and maintenance of drug education programs for each school district in the state. The bill provides for the training of a drug education specialist to coordinate the program in each school district.

Approval was given last week to bills which will keep the Manpower Development Training programs going statewide. The center which serves us operates in Corinth, and provides training in skilled occupations for the unemployed and the underemployed.

The House voted 104-12 to restore the death penalty for certain crimes, such as conviction of aircraft piracy and first degree murder. If this bill becomes law, Mississippi will be the first state to provide that the seizure or control by force or violence of aircraft over the airspace of Mississippi be punishable, upon conviction, by death.

Both House and Senate have approved a bill to convert the vacant Sanatorium at McGee into a nursing home for the mentally ill and retarded. Patients will be transferred from state facilities at Meridian and Whitfield.

Much important legislation is still pending, due to the fact that differences in Senate passed bills and House passed bills are worked out in six members conference committees. Then the conference report is brought back to each House for final passage.

Among those items in conference as of this writing are (1) regulation of the practice of Chiropractors, and (2) the education and teacher pay raise bill.

In the two remaining weeks I should have a report for you on these issues and a final report on the Public Employees retirement System, Fish and Game regulations, and possible methods of tax reductions.

Reading Workshop

Dr. Van Allen, third from left, from Tucson Arizona was on hand here recently for a reading workshop at the Northeast Miss. Jr. College. Others involved in the workshop were, left, George Hill, representing the Encyclopedia Britannica, James Wilson, principal, Booneville Elementary, Dr. Allen, Lex Cain, Prentiss County Superintendent of Education, Glenda Moore, reading supervisor, and Nelson Ryanm Title I Coordinator. Dr. Allen from the University of Arizona, conducted a reading workshop at the Northeast Jr. College February 22 and 23. He stressed that through the Language Experience approach and classroom, teachers offer children many opportunities to expand their language skills through listening, speaking, writing, and reading experiences. All Prentiss County Elementary Teachers were on hand to hear and observe Dr. Allen's approach to Reading. Materials were displayed by all the Prentiss County Schools which added a considerable interest to the workshop. The two day event was highlighted by a tour of the Booneville Grammar School which has this type program in Progress on an experimental basis in select classrooms.

Installment Credit More Than $3.2 Billion

TUPELO, Miss. -- Commercial bank installment credit outstanding in the St. Louis Federal Reserve District, which includes the north Mississippi area, amounted to more than $3.2 billion at the close of 1972 -- a jump of $548 million over last year's closing figure, an area banker reports.

Bernie L. Smith III, Vice President, Bank of Mississippi, said consumer credit outstanding for all U.S. commercial banks rose more than $8.5 billion from year-end 1971 figures.

With nearly $60 billion in credit outstanding on Jan. 1, 1973, commercial banks continue the role they attained as the nation's installment lending leaders following the expansion of consumer credit at the end of World War II, he added.

Smith, who is also a member of the Advisory Board of the American Bankers Association Lending Division, said that at year-end total consumer credit by all other lenders such as finance companies and credit unions, amounted to less than $68 billion. Direct and indirect automobile loans accounted for the biggest chunk of bank credit outstanding on Jan. 1, totaling more than $27 billion. This is an increase of nearly $4 billion from the same reporting date last year, Smith said. Indirect loans are those made by the Bank through the car dealer, primarily for the consumer's convenience. Personal loans, including check - credit, were in second place, surpassing

$1.2 billion, a gain of $1.4 billion over 1971 year-end figures. he reported. check-credit lets the consumer borrow simply by writing a check against a pe-arranged "line of credit" set up with his commercial bank.

Home repair and modernization loans increased $308 million to surpass $3.5 billion according to Smith.

Miscellaneous credit-- loans for everything from camping equipment to sailboats -- registered an increase of nearly $3 billion to total more than $16 billion, he added.

"The most significant gain in this area," Smith stated, "was bank card outstanding which stood at more than $5 billion on Jan. 1, 1973, an increase of $869 million from the same date last year." Mobile home loan figures for the same reporting date were $5.8 billion -- an increase of $1.4 billion, he added.

Smith pointed out that consumer installment credit figures exclude real estate mortgage and insurance policy loans.

HAPPENINGS

Around Booneville

By Mrs. Lila Fulghum

Phone 728-5983

Miss Joan Massey is spending the Spring Holidays in Wichita Kansas visiting her grandmother, Mrs. J.O. Lindsey. Joan is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Massey of Marietta.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Walden of La Place, La. were here for the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Walden.

We are happy to report Mrs. J. E. Scott is home from the hospital she has really been missed and not just by Mr. Scott. He says he is a good housekeeper but not such a good cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Soots visited Mrs. Kathleen Stone Wednesday and Wednesday night in Tupelo. Miss Martha Jean Tigrett and several of her college girl friends left Saturday for Panama City, Fla. to spend the spring holidays.

I received such a nice note from Mrs. Aileen Grisham (Ralph) Witmer. She says she really enjoys our paper and the "Happening around Booneville". She has been away from Booneville for thirty five years and still enjoys getting our papers. Thank you very much, Aileen and we will be looking forward to your yearly visit here. The Witmers reside in Selingsgrove, Pa.

We regret the passing of Mrs. L. A. Wright one of Booneville's beloved Matrons. She will be greatly missed by her many friends and her church of which she was a loyal member. She leaves her two daughters, Mrs. Verna Wright and Mrs. Mary Nell Marshall. One grandson, Doug Marshall and two great grandsons, William Douglas and David Wright Marshall of Meridian. One sister, Mrs. T. B. Dunahoo of Starkville. Out of town relatives were, Mrs. J. P. Overcash of Starkville, Miss. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hughes and children of Tupelo and Mr. Knox Glover of Union City, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tigrett have returned from a very enjoyable trip to Perry, Fla. where they visited relatives. Those who did not attend the catfish cookery at Wright Hall at our Jr. College Tuesday night March 13 really missed a treat. Nellie Horton of Tishomingo Co. Jeanine Martin of Alcorn Co. Mr. Charles E. Oravetz of Little Rock Ark. and our own Claire Ross prepared for us some delicious catfish jumbo, broiled fish, catfish jumbo, cajun catfish, and smoked catfish. A large crowd attended. I think you might find recipes for these dishes at the Home Economist office.

We regret the passing of Mrs. F. W. Duckworth she had many friends who will miss her very much. She was a kind and gentle lady and faithful to her church. She was like a fire that throws its warm bright glow on those around her. I never knew her to say an unkind word of any one. I am sure God had a special place prepared for Mrs. Duckworth. We extend our sympathy to the family.

Out of town relatives attending the funeral were her sister, Mrs. Charles Hawkins, her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Campbell of Jackson, Mrs. Anthony Yarber and Mrs. Jack Yarber of Belmont. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Duckworth of Grenada and Mr. and Mrs. M. Ahmado of Dallas, Texas.

UPWARD
Glad that I live am I;
That the sky is blue;
Glad for the country lanes;
And the fall of dew.
After the sun the rain,
After the rain the sun.
This is the way of life
Till the work is done
All that we need to do,
Be we low or high
Is to see that we grow
Nearer the sky.

Waller Names March 30 As Miss. POW Honor Day

Governor Bill Waller today proclaimed March 30 as POW Honor Day in Mississippi and announced plans for a State-Wide

Ceremony at the State Capitol to honor Mississippi's returning POW's. The Governor said the special ceremonies would honor the returning men and their families and the men would be presented one of Mississippi's highest military decorations in recognition of their valor.

Governor Ronald Reagan of California will represent the President at the ceremonies and will address a joint assembly of the Mississippi Legislature.

The Governor said, "We are inviting all Mississippians to dedicate this day to paying tribute to these men and their families. He urged all Mississippi school children in the state to write letters to the returning POW's, letting them know "how proud we all are at the patriotism and pride in America these men have shown." The letters should be addressed to the men in care of the State Capitol in Jackson.

The Governor said, "This is the day that every Mississippian should make a special effort to fly the American flag." Plans for the Honor Day are being handled by a special projects team of the Mississippi National Guard assisted by a special committee composed of the POW-MIA Committee representing the POW families, The Mississippi Department of the American Legion, The Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans and representatives of many other organizations.

Special dignitaries invited will include Mississippi's Congressional delegation and military leaders.

won a red ribbon for his painting submitted in the Senior Citizen Art.

The Public Affairs Committee presented a timely program under the directorship of Mrs. Joe Wilkinson. She opened the program with a quote by Steele. She introduced Mrs. Dubard who ably gave a review on Dee Brown's Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee. This book which tells of the plight of the American Indian was selected last year with no idea that wounded Knee, S.D. would be front page news on this date.

JACKSON- To better determine the interest in, need for and location of training for wastewater treatment plant operators the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission invites those involved in the operation of domestic and municipal wastewater systems to an operator training program planning meeting Tuesday, March 27, 1973, in Jackson.

Beginning at 9 a.m. the meeting will be held in the Educational Television Auditorium at the Mississippi Research and Development Center.

Mayors and other city officials involved in treatment systems are especially welcome.

The purpose of the meeting is to determine the best possible training program for wastewater treatment personnel based on the public's need. One part of the meeting will deal with the present program and how it relates to the Clean Water Amendments of 1972.

The operator training program is conducted by trained members of the Commission staff.

State Senator George Cecil McLeod, chairman of the Senate Water Resources Committee, and State Representative W. A. Bill Wilkerson, chairman of the House Conservation and Water Resources Committee, will be present during the morning session to deliver their comments.

Participants will be encouraged to comment on the proposed program. They will also be given the opportunity to complete information sheets if they so desire.

Wastewater treatment personnel are involved in the operation of domestic and municipal sewage facilities.

There are over 1500 jobs directly related to wastewater treatment throughout Mississippi. It is the goal of the Commission to bring the best and latest methods of operation to the persons in these jobs through the operator training program.

Governor Asks Tax Relief

Governor Bill Waller this week urged the legislature to provide tax relief for the working people of Mississippi by reducing taxes on the family car.

The Governor said, "I believe this will benefit more working people than any other tax reduction this legislature can consider."

The Governor said, "The proposal would provide a $20 credit or exemption on one vehicle per family thereby reducing the cost of the tag by $20." He said at a press conference announcing the plan, "On the basis of an exemption on one vehicle per family we estimate that approximately 100,000 family units would receive a car tag 'free'. Another 400,000 families would have their auto tags reduced by $20."

The Governor said, "I believe this means of tax reduction is a better method to provide some tax relief to those working men and women who need it the most."

The Governor said the reduction in income tax now under consideration by the legislature does not provide benefits for the lower income working people of our State. He said the fact is that 65% of all Mississippians (the lower and moderate incomes) pay no State income tax now. Only 35% of the people pay income taxes now and would benefit from reduction in income taxes.

The Governor added, "This means only the rich and higher income families would benefit."

The Governor said the cost of the reduction in taxes on car tags would cost the State approximately $10 million annually as compared with an estimated $22 million for the income tax reduction.

The Governor said, "I am asking the legislature and the people to get behind this proposal to reduce the cost of car tags to Mississippi's families."

The Governor said, "In early days of our State the horse and buggy was exempt from taxation because it was a necessity. Today the automobile is certainly a necessity and I believe the annual cost of putting a license tag on it is a burden to every family in our State. I believe every family should have this tax relief on one vehicle that is so necessary to their work and well being."

The Governor pointed out that many families that work in Mississippi live in neighboring states simply to avoid the high cost of car tags in Mississippi. He said many of these families might be attracted to move nearer their work if this relief is granted.

The proposal would not affect local, county and city taxes because the exemption would be returned to the local governments by the State.

Offer Still Stands

The offer that was made through this article has been challenged for the reward of $1000.00 which was to be given for scriptural proof where anyone ever administered baptism or was baptized in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. "Proof" was supposed to have been given in the article entitled "This Bible Teaches" by Bill Huggins in the newspaper on page 14 last week. His proof was only one scripture that being Matt. 28:19 where Jesus said: "baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the son, and of the Holy Ghost." Now I ask, who was baptized here or even who did the baptizing? The answer is no one because no one was baptized in Matt. 28:19. For another account of the same discussion turn to Luke 24:47 where he recorded "And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name." Now if you will notice both accounts give us the same thing, that being that it should be in HIS NAME "Baptizing them in the NAME of the Father--" and "Preached in his name--"

The question was asked as to whether the disciples did what Jesus said for them to do and we answer they certainly did the same as we do today. I ask him, do you obey his command and use the name of the Father, and the name of the Son, and the name of the Holy Ghost? Father is not a name and neither is the word Son. Jesus told them to use the NAME. Now if Peter did not do what the Lord told them to do don't you think that certainly Matthew would have stopped him on the day of Pentecost and corrected. Matthew was there and he stood up with the 11 as Peter preached. The disciples obeyed the Lord but if you do not baptize in the name of Jesus you have failed to do what the Lord told you to do. If a person is to be baptized using the formula Father, Son and Holy Ghost then why didn't the disciples baptize that way or at least why isn't there a recorded instance where at least one person was baptized that way? The answer is simple that is not the correct formula and his proof is rejected. I am a Father, also a son and a husband but that is not my name. Now I make this offer to Mr. Huggins I will give you my personal check for $100.00 and you give me your personal check for $100.00 with the only difference being I will sign mine Father, Son and Husband which is the way you want it but you sign yours with your name. If the name is not important will you do this with me?

Men's Shirt Collars Change

NEW YORK--When a new shirt fashion appears on the scene it seems that every manufacturer gets wind of it at about the same time. They all have stylists who produce something completely different, but the whole emphasis shifts almost en masse.

How does a trend get started? Dick Golub, vice president in charge of sales for Career Club Shirts, cites one major reason--you can sell a customer only so much of a certain color or pattern and he wants something else.

"The biggest single excitement on the horizon for Fall 1973 is collar styles," he said. "We are reintroducing the collar as an important part, rather than color or pattern, because colors and pattern are becoming more understated and sophisticated. We look to the collar for both variety and sales."

Golub says: The main fashion item is the dime round collar--a collar with 4 1/4 inch points but with the tip rounded off in about the same curve as a dime. It will be a little shorter for fall. "The other style coming in is the button down, a little shorter point, a higher band, with a little more roll. For young consumers it is an entirely new style. "A third is a new version of the snap tab collar, a collar whose sides are held vertically in place by tabs on each side which snap together. The original eight or 10 years ago had very short tabs because ties were narrow then; the new one will be larger to accommodate bigger ties.

"A fourth collar fashion to be introduced is the new fashion spread collar--widespread with shorter points. It is very British. Why the Dime Golub said, "we have a feeling about rounded collars and, in experimenting with all, hit on the dime round because it is closer to the pointed collar."

"In getting people to accept new things I find radical change is hard to sell," he said. "We kicked the idea around and tried a half dollar round, a 37 1/2 cents round and finally a dime. The dime looks best."

"The man in Waverly, Tex., will wear the same thing as the man in Bemidji, Minn.," Golub said. "One reason is the tremendous communication networks. In the past, Middle America was always behind a year or so with what they were wearing in New York. Now they are not."

Al Ivler, Career Club's stylist for dress and sport shirts, and also a vice president, listed some of the ideas for spring. There are some rounded points but the basic and most acceptable collar is the regular four inch long point, semispread. Right behind that and very strong is a rounded point somewhat smaller than the dime round.

There are a lot of knits for the summer months and lots of soft pastel grounds and prints or colored yard decorations. He showed some white grounds with polka dot stripes, a tan ground with a printed floral stripe, checks plus plaids and Madras.

In sports shirts the important look is a casual and more flamboyant look as opposed to the older sports shirts made more like dress shirts. Fabrics include pastel knits, matte jersey prints and Arnel triacetate. There were big prints, racing scenes, big paisleys, jungle prints. In wovens there were large florals bold sheer voiles in big strawberry and other fruit patterns.

Ivler said he got a lot of his ideas from travels around the country and watching what people will buy. Mills also came up with new fabric ideas and they toss those ideas back and forth.

Stanley Spiegel, the stylist in charge of knit goods and sweaters, told how one style got started--Wallace Berry shirts. Kids watched Berry on the late show liked his sloppy old union suit with the four button plaques and bought all they could find at army and navy stores, cutting them off to get the shirt. Manufacturers jumped on this and the craze was on.

Ivler says they make mistakes sometimes.

She'll Fulfill Her Campaign Promises

Rep. Martha Carole White of Baldwin is determined to keep her campaign promises...no matter how involved it gets.

For during the campaigning for her seat in Jackson, the Baldwin woman promised to put goats on Goat Island.

Rep. White, represents Prentiss and Tishomingo Counties.

Goat Island is a peninsula extending into the Yellow Creek arm of Pickwick Lake. Nearly seven years ago, Yellow Creek Watershed Executive Director W. C. Hamilton of Iuka led a move to develop Goat Island as a picnic area, camp ground and marina for vacationers.

"Navigational charts and maps refer to Goat Island," Mrs. White said last week, "but the goats are no longer there. During the campaign, I promised to put goats on Goat Island."

The diminutive Mrs. White even went so far as to buy two live goats and then her problems began. First, she could discover no easy way to load a pair of goats into any conveyance for transportation to Goat Island.

"It soon became apparent that outfitting live goats on Goat Island was out of the question," Mrs. White related. "Also W. C. Hamilton said you can't put live goats there to be getting into people's picnics."

However, Mrs. White said she was determined to keep that campaign promise, "so I began to think of something more permanent."

She hit upon the idea of installing sculptures of a pair of goats, and Marty McLendon, art instructor at Northeast Mississippi Junior College, recommended George Alexander for the job.

Mr. Alexander is art instructor at Hinds Junior College and he plans welded metal sculptures of a pair of island goats once native to the Tishomingo County area.

"The sculptures will look like goats," Mrs. White states, "I made sure of that before we ever started this project, which I've been working on for about a year now."

Last week, Mr. Alexander showed Mrs. White miniature clay models of the planned sculptures, and she has already named one of them Prent and the other Tish.

The metal sculptures will have a weather-proof finish and will be mounted on native Tishomingo stone on the point at Goat Island, hopefully next May when the summer season begins.

"The metal used in the sculptures is symbolic of the growth and expansion that we know are going to happen around that area, and it is symbolic of the work that is going to be going on," Mrs. White said. "She is financing the project out of her own pocket."

And in Iuka, W. C. Hamilton said, "It will be satisfactory with me to put them anywhere she wants to, put them. We will take care of them to the best of our ability."

It will cost more to pay the interest on the national debt in 1974 than it cost to run the government in all the years from 1789 to 1913—$24.6 billion interest in 1974 against $24 billion spent through the first 123 years of our government.

This week the Club will elect new officers for 1973 and all members are urged to be present.

Archer Speaks To Civitans

Jim Archer, Associate County Agent of Prentiss County, spoke to the Booneville Civitan Breakfast Club at its weekly meeting on March 15.

Mr. Archer is active with 4-H clubs in Prentiss County. These clubs now are on a community supported basis in that they no longer are associated with the school systems.

The program was well presented and supported by slides of local 4-H'ers in various activities. The emphasis, according to Mr. Archer, is no longer on cows and cooking but the development of well rounded citizens.

This includes public speaking, home grounds improvements, photography and many more.

Prentiss County now has seventeen clubs with a total membership of 750 members. These clubs

WE ARE PROUD OF OUR LABEL

We at Piggly Wiggly are very conscious of the high cost of living. We are faced with it daily in our business, as well as in our private lives. We feel it is our duty as good merchants and as friends to our customers to offer suggestions on how to cut food costs.

We believe that one of the best ways to cut such costs is through our private label merchandise. Posted in our stores you will find this message: "If for any reason you are not satisfied with any Piggly Wiggly brand item, please return it to us, and we will gladly refund your money."

This is not an idle statement, we mean it and stand behind it. Our private label merchandise items have the same quality as major national brands. They are packed by the same companies for us, and we control the quality. We buy direct from the packers in large volume, thus eliminating brokers' fees, national advertising costs and in some cases, transportation costs, because our own trucks haul the merchandise from the factory to our warehouse. This saving is passed on to you, our customer. If you have any questions regarding any of our items, we will be glad to answer them, and would also welcome any comments.

We are proud of our private label products and we think you'll be proud of them when you try them. We know you'll be proud of the money you'll save by shopping for them.
