City Told 'Stop Burning Garbage'

Just coming into office in July, the Booneville Mayor and Board of Aldermen have a terrific decision ahead of them.

For the city was among some 35 communities in the state told to stop burning garbage in their dumps. The communities were given until July 10 to file with the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission plans to eliminate the burning "at the earliest possible time."

Booneville's incoming Mayor Charles Steen commented that "we are looking for a solution to this problem. It is one that will have to be dealt with seriously."

Steen said the Municipal Convention will be held June 28-30 in Biloxi, and "I hope some of the aldermen will be able to attend these meetings."

Valuable information can be obtained from these meetings.

They were informed of the move in a letter from the commission executive director, Glen Wood, dated May 11.

Wood called the move the most ambitious effort ever made by the commission to eliminate garbage burning.

The communities face possible fines if they fail to file plans or to abide by the plans they file.

At least two Mississippi cities, Laurel and Brookhaven, have been fined.

"This in no way intends to imply that there's not one town (which is burning trash), right next to one of these, that we haven't notified yet," said Wood.

Although many, if not most, Mississippi municipalities are illegally burning trash in their dumps, the commission has previously dealt with them one at a time, Wood said.

Watch Out ... For The Children

In view of the summer months ahead, Booneville Chief of Police W. W. Stacy, this week reminds motorists "to take extra care when driving around the city."

"Our youngsters are all out of school and in the midst of having summertime pleasure... and we, the motorists of this city need to take care when on the roadways," the Chief said.

He also commented that radar will be on some sections of the city, so motorists should continue to obey the speed limit."

Some City Streets Get New Face Here

City officials this week released a list of those street improvements which have just recently been made through the use of Revenue Sharing monies.

According to a statement by Mayor Marion Smith, some $80,000 has been spent on the improvement program. The total cost of the construction has been $78,979.58 plus $780 to be spent for manhole repairs.

Horton Bros. was the contracting firm for these repairs.

In addition to the street improvements, some 7,752 square feet of sidewalk improvements have been contracted at 65¢ per square foot. This totals some $5,000.

A detailed description of the street improvements is as follows:

Front Street and Monroe Streets all the way to the intersection of Old and New Highway 45 have been improved, also First Street and Adams Street, parts of West Church Street and West College Street, Bridge Street, Magnolia Street Blvd., Cherry Street South Lake Street and a strip of Lafayette Street.

Altogether approximately 6000 tons of hot mix along with 124 yards of clay, Gravel have been placed on these streets under contract with Horton Bros.

Altogether these contracts will total approximately $90,000.00.

The other revenue sharing funds have been used and/or budgeted for recreation and safety, it was noted.

$1.5 Million Student Union Building Planned

A $1.5 million student union building is in the plans for the Northeast Miss. Jr. College here, it was disclosed recently.

President of the Junior College, Harold T. White, said the college would ask the upcoming legislature for funds to construct a student union on the Booneville campus.

He said that a student activity center was badly needed to meet the requirements of an enlarged student body and increased emphasis on student activities.

The request for union funds is part of a reorganization of the administration staff which created the post of dean of student affairs. White said that the building of the union would also necessitate the employment of a full-time director for the center's programs.

The request from the legislature is tentatively set at $370,000. An initial appropriation has already been approved.

At the same time, Northeast President said the institution has no immediate plans to seek increased tax funds from its supporting board of supervisors.

The statement concerning the extra funds from the counties came on the heels of an announcement recently at Rowamba Junior College in Fulton would seek more funds from Lee County.

This was done under the provisions of a 1973 act of the Miss. legislature allowing counties to increase taxes one quarter mill in order to receive an additional mill from ad valorem tax revenues.

MEC Reaches Milestone

The Mississippi Economic Council has reached a milestone in its effort to improve local government in Mississippi.

The Council's MERIT program has enrolled its 50th county -- Pearl River County -- bringing together over 60 percent of the state's counties into the challenge of a "greater Mississippi."

The program strives for a "greater Mississippi" through what has become called the "grassroots" organization.

To the MEC, the state chamber of commerce, the "grassroots" organization is the farmer, laborer, merchant, industrialist, banker . . . all the people who live, eat, and work in Mississippi.

And the "grassroots" is the people who spend the money and make the laws -- the local government.

MERIT pushes for the development of Mississippi's greatest assets -- her beauty, her economy, her "golden" future, and her people.

County governments which join and support MERIT bring to the people an effective government offering excellent services with a good, solid foundation on which to build a great county.

Fifty counties -- over 60 percent -- believe this to be true and are working toward that goal.

MERIT is a program for ALL, not a FEW. With ALL counties reaping the rewards, ALL counties will benefit. And, if ALL the counties benefit, Mississippi "grows," meeting ALL challenges and achieving ALL goals.

Keeping Cool ... And Cutting Costs

Most Americans know that there is a shortage of energy in this country and that conserving our energy supplies has become almost a patriotic duty.

In the interests of energy conservation, one manufacturer of air conditioners -- Friedrich Refrigerators Inc. of San Antonio -- recently undertook a national campaign to encourage everyone to buy the most efficient room air conditioners possible, regardless of brand. The campaign resulted from research which showed that inefficient room air conditioners and those with capacity greater than needed were using 26 billion kilowatt -- hours of electricity needlessly, costing users an additional $543,000,000 a year.

The campaign was aimed at the 5,000,000 persons who buy room air conditioners every year.

Thomas Berg, president of Friedrich, initiated the campaign as an educational program to

1. Conserve energy which is in short supply.
2. Prevent excessive electricity costs.

What the education program pointed out was this: Before you buy a room air conditioner, look at the name plate and compute the efficiency of the unit by dividing the BTU's (listed on the plate) by the number of watts (also listed on the plate). The higher the resulting number the more efficient the unit -- which means the less electricity it will use and the more money you will save.

As a result of the campaign (which is under way again this year) Thomas Berg and his company were awarded a citation by The Environment Monthly for their efforts in making environmental excellence a basic condition in the pursuit of corporate goals.

The program deserves support. So before you buy, check the name plate, complete the division, and make sure the unit is efficient. If the number you get is 7.5 or higher, the unit is among those which will conserve energy and save on electric bills.

'Sex Discrimination' ...

It is sad -- and more than a little alarming -- to read the Associated Press dispatch from Washington that "About 150 Predominantly or exclusively male and female colleges, including some of the most prestigious in the nation, must explain by early summer delays in totally eliminating 'sex discrimination' in admissions."

The dispatch went on to say that government "guidelines" (not orders?) have been mailed to the educational institutions in 33 states by the U. S. Office of Education. Failure to comply invites loss of all Federal "aid."

What has happened in our land to freedom of choice? Exclusively boys, and exclusively girls schools have played a major and distinguished role in the building of our country. And now we are told that what we have been doing these past 200 years is all wrong? If it was wrong for parents to decide that their sons and daughters could achieve the most by study in an exclusively boys or girls school, why did it take so long to find it out?

This latest move by the Office of Education is a prime example that the power to tax is the power to destroy freedom of choice. Earnings and income which might have been used to pay for tuition is extracted by the government in the form of taxes. That money is then sent to the schools (in the form of "aid") by the government. But now the funds carry the taint of government control over what is to be taught, who is to teach, who can be taught, and who is to be allowed to sit in the same classroom. How much longer will it be before all income is controlled and no freedom of choice will remain?

Wanted: Someone To Talk For The Animals

If man has not succeeded in creating a heaven on earth for himself, certainly he has created a hell on earth for many animals.

Wanted: Someone to talk "for" the animals.

You'd never guess where state officials have found "cruelty" to animals in the city of Chicago: In the clinic and quarters of the Anti-Cruelty Society.

Veterinarians from the Illinois State Agriculture Department, alerted by news media, examined the premises of the Anti-Cruelty Society and found unclean conditions, sanitary and building code violations, no quarantine facilities for sick animals and 90% of the animals left for adoption are being killed without even being offered for adoption.

And they are being killed in a decompression chamber designed after the one which was used to kill Jews at Dachau and often improperly operated by untrained attendants. Some young animals must be put back in the chamber three times before they die.

In a room crowded with garbage cans filled with dead cats and kittens, sometimes from somewhere down in that pile you'll hear the mewling of a creature not yet dead. If this is the fate of animals in state-chartered facilities intended to prevent or intercept practices of cruelty, the likely fate of dumb animals in facilities not under public scrutiny is too hideous for conjecture.

Our nation's animals need a spokesperson. Irene Castile is dead and Cleveland Amory is not enough.

It better be somebody with a purse fat enough to court-fight some cases and a hide tough enough to shed the slurs. Our nation's airlines have been accused by Consumer Reports of misleading pet owners with promises that their luggage compartment environments are "as comfortable as the passenger cabin" when, in fact, the luggage compartment temperatures may range from below zero to 130 degrees Fahrenheit.

The fact is that no airline has air-conditioned baggage compartments and America needs a single, respected, influential somebody who can give full time to ventilating such misrepresentation.

Commercial dog breeders and pet kennels need scrutiny. Since 1968, a dog breeder has been operating a "puppy mill" in a certain suburb and, though licensed, the establishment keeps animals which are not on display in an unventilated shed which is belly-deep in filth.

And this facility is typical of eight I know about within a 100-mile radius.

There is nobody to blow the whistle on the frequent abuse of show horses and rodeo animals and the increasing practice of breeding, stealing and buying dogs to be slaughtered for their fur.

Where is the right-now rational, responsible, selfless St. Francis who has the stature and the will to raise his or her voice loud enough to command a respectful response before we all learn to live with callousness and cruelty and then learn to like it?

PAUSE FOR POWER

Faith Is Appropriation

Faith is appropriation. The food on the table, for example, may be nourishing, but the starving man must eat if the food is to help him. A newly discovered medicine may offer a sure and perfect cure, but the medicine must get inside a man if it is to save him. Likewise, the death of Jesus Christ is God's remedy for sin...but this remedy must be appropriated if it is to help me.

And saving faith in Christ is simply that act by which a man appropriates Jesus Christ and His salvation.

When we study this word, faith, carefully in the Bible, we find that the act of saving faith involves three indispensable elements -- knowledge, conviction, and commitment. First, there is knowledge. We must know the historic facts about the person and work of Jesus Christ. Second, there is conviction. We must be convinced that these historic facts are true. But third, there must also be commitment. We commit ourselves to the Savior, Jesus Christ, in order to be saved. Steps one and two are necessary, but they are not sufficient. It is a whole-hearted commitment to Jesus Christ as Savior that saves a man.

In our American churches today we have three kinds of people. We have, first, those who know the facts of the gospel well, but do not really believe these facts to be true. We have, secondly, those who know the facts of the gospel and are convinced that they are true, but they have never committed themselves to the Lord Jesus Christ as Savior. Third, we have those people who know the facts, who are convinced that these facts are true, but who also in an act of saving faith have committed themselves to Jesus Christ as Savior. And it is this personal commitment that saves a man, for saving faith includes not only knowledge of the facts and conviction of the truth, but also commitment to a person. In saving faith I commit myself to Jesus Christ as the Savior of sinners.

Let me express one caution, however. I do not mean to say by all this that when a man is saved, he sits down and analyzes his faith and takes three separate steps. Saving faith is one simple act. Saving faith is simply committing oneself to the Savior, Jesus Christ, as He is presented to us in the Bible. For example, here I am, a lost sinner. I come one night into a gospel meeting where the gospel of God's saving grace is being preached, I hear the good news that Jesus Christ, God's Son, came to this earth to die for sinners. I hear that He Himself bore God's judgment for my sin, and that He died to save me. I hear that He arose and ascended to Heaven and that He is willing to save me when I trust Him.

I hear all this, and this is good news to me. I understand this good news; and even while I am listening to this gospel story, the Holy Spirit at the same time works in my heart and witnesses to the truth of this good news. The Holy Spirit witnesses in my heart to the truth of the Word of God. "This is not only wonderful news," I say to myself, "it is also true. I want this. I want to be saved. I want to go to heaven. I want a new life." And while I am thinking about this, I hear the Bible quoted, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." And so in simple faith I believe on Jesus Christ. I trust Him as my Savior. I commit myself to Him for time and eternity as My Redeemer. I have believed on Christ.

Now this was all one act. It was a very simple one; and yet this simple act involved three things - knowledge of the facts, belief of the truth, and confidence in a person. On the fact that I was converted all three of these took place, though I was not aware of these as three separate stages. I heard the gospel; I believed its truth; and I embraced the Lord Jesus as my Savior. And God in wonderful grace saved me.

This, as best I can explain it, is saving faith in Jesus Christ. The Bible Therefore says, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31).

SUCCESS IN MARRIAGE

by Professor J. Kenneth Williams

Dear Professor Williams: I have given my husband all my love. We have two wonderful children and I'm a good housekeeper. Lately, however, he seems distant and a very short time ago, I found out he was seeing someone else. What would make a man want to do this when he has everything at home? Professor Williams: If your husband has been seeing someone else, it is entirely possible that you may not have been providing him with everything at home. It's true, some husbands need very little provocation to be unfaithful but the chances are that somewhere along the line you may have been a little less than perfect.

Marriage is a type of relationship where both have to be working constantly to make the union happy and harmonious. Sometimes, one or both may let up in this effort and the first thing you know, problems begin developing.

Let's give an example of a typical situation. Bill and Mary have been married three years. They have one child. For the first two years, both were very considerate of each other. Arguments were at a minimum. Bill remembered their wedding anniversary, her birthday, and he sent Mary flowers and gifts on various occasions. Mary did likewise for Bill; also, she cooked his favorite foods. They went out quite often together. However, when the baby was born, Mary complained of being too tired to do many of the things she and Bill used to do. Bill did not stop to consider the additional responsibilities the child brought on. As a result, they began to drift apart. The marriage was still secure but there wasn't the closeness that once prevailed. As time went on, the drift became wider and the marriage was seriously threatened. Fortunately, both agreed to talk with a marriage counselor.

In your case take inventory of what you're doing. Be objective as much as possible. See if you can determine what possibly, you're doing which may be setting the stage for your husband's unfaithfulness. Ask yourself some questions. Is he happy with the sex relationship? Are you both compatible in attitude toward finances, in-laws, religion, and other areas which could cause trouble? Do you dress and fix yourself up attractively for your husband? Do you nag and constantly criticize?

No one is perfect; but, if you conscientiously strive toward a good relationship you will eliminate many reasons for his unfaithfulness. I do feel that you should go easy with him until you're sure as possible that the reason for his unfaithfulness is not you. If, and when you reach this conclusion, then a serious talk with him is in order. Some kind of understanding will have to be reached.

No marriage is without some problems. However, a couple cannot continue indefinitely in a situation where there is constant unfaithfulness on the part of one or both. Each has to be constantly working to make the marriage happy. Treat your spouse with the same consideration as that used when dating. You will be surprised at the changes which will be seen.

Note: If you have a question you want answered, write Professor Williams, SUCCESS IN MARRIAGE, c/o this newspaper enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMIST

CARROTS ARE A LOW COST VEGETABLE

Trying to cut food cost but not the nutrition? Then consider carrots as a low cost vegetable. The cost is remarkable when you consider what you get.

Carrots supply large amounts of carotene, which our bodies change into Vitamin A. One-half cup serving of either raw or cooked carrots supplies well over the amount of vitamin A recommended for the daily diet. They also furnish small amounts of calcium, iron, and vitamin C.

The orange color is a measure of the carotene or vitamin A content of carrots. Bright orange carrots probably furnish more vitamin A than less bright carrots. Several things affect this color, such as age of carrots, location of growing area and storage.

Larger, more mature carrots will likely be a brighter orange than small ones but they will not be as tender. These larger carrots are a good choice for stews and pot roasts.

Avoid oversized carrots. They are hard with a pithy core. Deep green "shoulders" indicate a bitter flavor. Forked or rough carrots will be wasteful during preparation. Wilted and soft carrots have a poor flavor and appearance.

Carrots are inexpensive. One reason is that they are very hardy and not as costly to produce as many other crops. New shipping methods also cut the cost. Because carrots are on the markets in fairly even supply the year around, the retail price generally varies only slightly. This helps to keep the carrot a consistently economical vegetable.

If you like to experiment with vegetable cooking, try diced carrots with peas, or long strips of carrots with celery, with green beans or with whole onions. If you like a sweet vegetable, glaze the carrots in honey or brown sugar and serve with barbecued chicken.

BEING A FATHER

Children want leadership not competition from their fathers. If a father appears to be his younger's equal, he likely may become a rival.

There may be an occasion however, when father's showmanship may save the day. Think of the innumerable birthday parties where fathers have taken over to prevent pandemonium. Could this not be in the nature of leadership not competition?

WEED CONTROL

Timeliness of application is the most critical factor in the success of the post-emergence weed control in cotton and soybeans.

How often should you treat? Often enough to gain and maintain control for the first half of the growing season. For most weeds this means at least a second application of the same material 10 to 14 days later.

Be ready to change direction with nozzles if you aren't getting adequate control.

Again timeliness is the key to a successful control program. Don't let demands of other crop enterprises interfere with the post emergence program on the day it should be done.

INOCULATION OF SOYBEANS

If there is any doubt about the need for inoculation of soybean planting seed, go ahead and inoculate. The cost is small compared to the benefits.

Land shifted from cotton to soybeans that has not been planted to beans within three years will need inoculant. Soybeans planted on new land will also need inoculation.

Prolonged flooding may have an adverse effect on soybean rhizobia already present in soils planted previously to soybeans.

Some inoculant formulations contain chemicals like molybdenum and fungicides. Molybdate salts and some fungicides can injure the inoculant. The safest approach is to buy the inoculant separately and not risk the possibility of poor modulation. If molybdenum or fungicides are needed, they can be added separately in the hopper box.

PASTURES

There are several reasons for applying lime to increase pasture profits. Pasture soils are becoming more acidic. Farmers use twice as much nitrogen fertilizer now as they did five years ago. It takes two pounds of lime to neutralize the acid formed by one pound of nitrogen fertilizer.

Another reason for using lime to neutralize acid soils is that legumes are needed for top quality pastures. Legumes require a higher pH than plain grass pastures. Many clover varieties require a pH of 6.0 or above, but most soils have a pH of less than 5.5.

Any time spreading equipment can get over fields is a good time to apply lime, but summer is ideal. Generally at this time plenty of spreader trucks are available and lime is plentiful.

Get lime spread now, so it can go to work. If you want to improve the quality of pastures and increase profits, don't put off liming this summer. Make plans now, cotton insect notes.

Check your fields closely for cutworm damage. If the stand is being destroyed, apply toxaphene at 2.5 pounds per acre.

Watch for thrips damage. Even if you used seed treatment or granular in-furrow treatments for thrips control, you could possibly need to apply a foliar systemic spray. Be prepared to do this on a 24 hour notice.

Heard Will Get State Agricultural Award

William L. Heard, state conservationist Soil Conservation Service, Jackson, will be one of twelve SCS employees in the United States to receive the United States Department of Agriculture Superior Service Award. Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz will present the award Tuesday, May 22, during the Department's 27th Annual Awards Ceremony in Washington, D.C. This is the Department's second highest honor.

Perhaps Mr. Heard's latest contribution was as a member of a National Task Force which has developed goals for the service for the 1970's. Mr. Heard, a veteran of more than 40 years as a professional conservationist, was appointed state conservationist in 1961. He administers a staff of more than 400 employees, a large percentage of whom are top flight professionals qualified in a broad range of disciplines from civil engineering to soil science. The Soil Conservation Service provides technical assistance through local soil and water and drainage districts. During the past thirty years this program has helped more than 85,000 farmer-cooperators plan and apply conservation measures on some 16 million acres. Some 400,000 acres of gullied land have been healed. In their place fine pastures and timberland contribute to the state's economy. Mr. Heard was one of the early promoters of the principle of flood prevention projects whereby local leadership can get federal assistance to protect the community from damages of water and sediment. Locally sponsored projects have been established which benefit over 8 million acres and about 40,000 landowners in Mississippi. Techniques developed

'Listener's License' Program At USM

HATTIESBURG, Miss.-- University of Southern Mississippi officials today announced a "Listener's License" program, designed to provide education in a more accessible form to a larger segment of the public. The new program, according to Dr. Gomer J. Pound, dean of the Division of Extension and Public Service, will make many of the resources of the University available to more people. "We have designed the program for individuals who are at retirement age or approaching retirement, those who need to acquire and maintain skills to meet changes in business and professional fields, young people who want to consider several career opportunities, and all who seek educational enrichment as a means of increasing their enjoyment of life," Dr. Pound said.

The new program will be administered through the Department of Community Services and Programs, part of the Division of Extension and Public Service at USM. The program is open to persons at least 16 years of age. There are no admission requirements of application procedures.

Registrations will be accepted in the offices of Extension and Public Service, room 103, Southern Hall, beginning June 6 for classes meeting during summer Quarter. Participants may register for their Listener's License any time after June 6, according to Dr. Pound, "but we urge you to register early to get the most out of the course."

Persons in the program will attend regular classes as inactive participants. No academic requirements will be placed on the participant. He will not be required to attend classes, will not be tested, and no transcript or other record will be issued.

Individuals interested in attending a class on these conditions may obtain Listener's License card for classes on a space available basis. A fee of $10 per course will be charged, with a limitation of three courses will be charged, with a limitation of three courses per participant per quarter. "We are pleased to offer this program," Dr. Pound said. "Not only is it unique to Mississippi, but it provides another way for the University to open its resources to the entire community."

She's Two

Lisa Dawn Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hopkins, became two years old on March 18, 1973. She was honored with a "Winnie-the Pooh" Birthday Party. Those attending the party were Jimbo Goddard, Jeff Williams, Darrell Williams, Tim Williams, and Candy Hopkins. Lisa is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Riddle and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hopkins. Her great-grandmother is Mrs. Lela Breedlove.

Sound Advice For Retirees

People who put off seeking sound legal advice usually discover that the delay has multiplied both their problems and the price they will have to pay an attorney to solve them, according to a free Legal Guide prepared for people in the 50-plus age group by Action for Independent Maturity (AIM). The Guide, designed to provide middle-agers with a basic knowledge of their legal rights and responsibilities, emphasizes the fact that sound legal guidance in handling property, financial resources and family affairs can determine independence, security and peace of mind now and in the future. While most people delay talking to a lawyer except as a last resort--because of a general distrust of lawyers or a fear of high fees, the Guide points out that initial 30-minute consultations with attorneys can be arranged through local Bar associations for as little as $3 to $15, depending on the locality.

"For you to try to deal with the vast complexities in law would be foolish," the booklet warns.

The Guide provides basic information on selecting a lawyer, preparing a will, starting a business venture, buying or selling a home, and protecting credit standing. It points out, for instance, that consulting an attorney should be considered a "must" in connection with any agreement to live in a special housing development, condominium, or cooperative.

In addition, the Guide explains the difference between civil and criminal law and outlines the rights of both the accused and the victim in any violation of criminal law.

Fever, Depression, Loss of Appetite...

Blackleg and malignant edema are two of the gas-edema diseases that are diagnosed state-wide in Mississippi every year.

The organisms or germs that cause these diseases may be spread by the excretions or droppings of sick animals, carcasses of animals that succumb to the disease, bones, hides, carrion-feeding birds and predatory animals. Once there is an active case on a farm, that farm may be considered to be permanently contaminated. Most organisms causing these diseases enter the animal's body by the grass, water, etc. that is eaten by the animal, although some may enter through wounds or breaks in the skin.

These gas-edema diseases are usually characterized by high fever, depression, loss of appetite, gaseous swellings and lameness. The cattle may be down or found dead unless they are under close surveillance. These diseases are frequently fatal in one to four days, unless treatment is begun, and this is not always possible or economically feasible.

THIS I BELIEVE

By Pastor Dannie Odle
First United Pentecostal Church

Another Gospel?

Paul in writing to the church at Gallatia mentions the fact they were to listen only to the gospel that he had preached unto them. There had come those among them that were declaring unto them something that was not truth. Notice in Gal. 1:8-9 "But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed." Then in verse 9 "If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed." He further stated that the gospel that he preached was not of man but came by the revelation of Jesus Christ, verse 11, 12. Now, what did Paul preach? Paul preached a definite message as Luke recorded in Acts 19. He preached baptism in the name of the Lord Jesus, verse 5 and also the receiving of the Holy Ghost with the evidence of speaking in tongues. Notice please he even rebaptized some believers of John as they were not baptized correctly for the New Testament salvation.

You may have your own idea about how to baptize or whether a person speaks in tongues when he receives the Holy Ghost but Paul said if any angel or man preach any other gospel than the one he preached to let them be accursed. What is your gospel like? Does it measure up to what Paul preached? If it doesn't you need to take a good look at it and see if it is based upon tradition or is it taken entirely from the Bible. Baptism in the titles Father, Son and Holy is strictly tradition and was never carried out in the Holy Scriptures.

Look at the Catholic Encyclopedia, Volume 2, page 263, Catholics acknowledged baptism was changed by the Catholic Church. History will tell you the early church baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus and the method was changed many years later by the Catholic Church. If you baptize in the titles you are practicing a ritual started by the Catholic Church. Think about this! They acknowledge that they started it themselves. The scripture gives us plainly the plan, that being in the name of Jesus Christ. It does matter how you were baptized, it must be done according to the Bible way and any other message Paul says "let him be accursed."

IN ANSWER TO THE ARTICLE WRITTEN IN THE BANNER, MAY 3, BY MR. JAMES WROTEN:

In the andulusion days we find that all people spoke one tongue or one language until they began to build the tower of Babel then God confounded their tongue or language. Then they spoke many different languages.

I would like for Mr. Wroten to explain what tongue or language has ceased that he referred to in his article.

In studying the Old and New Testaments we find there were many tongues or languages- Rev. 13-7 - Rev. 14-6 Acts 2-6-8.

I agree that the Bible is the inspired word of God and that the law of the Lord is perfect. Speaking of that which was perfect to come Mr. Wroten referred to the Bible or the written word as that which was perfect to come- 1 Cor - 13-10. Paul was speaking of the time when the church of the living God put on a glorified body like the Lord's - Phil-3-21 - 1 Cor. 15-51-55-2nd Cor. 5-1-4. Then we shall see him as he is and we will know even as we are known.

When we are changed from mortal to immortality then tongues will cease and there will be one tongue or language for we will be with the Lord and us the Angels of God.

"This verse was sent to me by Mrs. A. J. Smart of Upland, Calif. and do appreciate it and think it most timely."
I don't worry about today
I don't have time.
I don't worry about yesterday
It's gone.
I don't worry about tomorrow
That would be gambling
But one thing certain I can do
Be careful what I think do or say.

VA Questions And Answers

Q -- A relative, a veteran of World War I, needs domiciliary care. Is this care available at VA facilities?

A -- Yes, BA has 16 of these facilities. Suggest you advise your relative of this. Any VA office will help him file an application for this benefit.

Q -- I received a VA pension check made out to my husband who died last month. Shall I return it and if I do, will VA re-issue the check to me?

A -- Yes, you must return the check. If you are eligible for a widow's pension, your first check from VA will be issued at your husband's rate of payment, if his rate was greater than yours. Thereafter you will receive checks at a widow's pension rates.

Q -- With diminishing space in national cemeteries have been wondering whether I might be buried in VA cemetery. Can the money VA pays for burial be used this way?

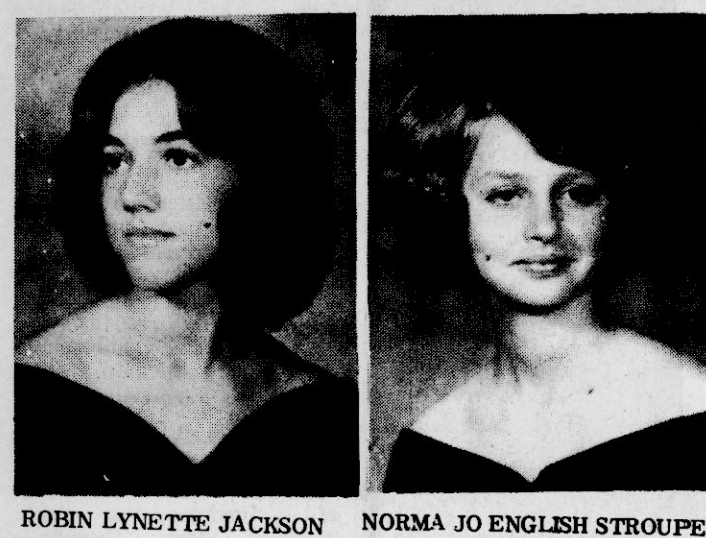

A -- VA does not have a cemetery system of its own. It has a few small plots near VA hospitals and domiciliary care where veterans who have died in these facilities have been buried, but most of this space is now full. Chances are you could not be buried anywhere near your home if you chose one of the few available plots. The VA burial expense payment can be made regardless of the burial place.

Q -- I keep reading and hearing that World War II veterans receive full tuition and $75 a month. This true?

A -- World War veterans received up to $500 for tuition, books and supplies for a full school year. All above that they had to pay themselves. The single full time veteran student did receive $75 per month but he was restricted to a maximum wage earnings of $210 a month, including the $75 G. I. Bill entitlement.

Q -- Is it true that VA is planning to close some of its hospitals?

A -- VA has no plans to close any of its hospitals. In fact, several new ones were opened last year and more are under construction this year.

Marie Buchberger Given Bridal Shower Saturday

Saturday, May 19th, was the perfect day for a bridal shower.

This too was the thought of the attractive hostesses Mrs. Joe Duckworth, Sr. and Mrs. Tomas Comer, Sr. as they gave Marie Buchberger a lovely kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Comer. Guest were greeted at the front door which was charmingly decorated with Peggy's original touch, a cluster of kitchen utensils tied with a mint green ribbon and lily of the valley.

Upon entering the home one immediately saw a large stack of gifts which were placed on and around an ironing board that turned out to be one of the gifts. The house was soon filled with many laughing and happy guests.

Marie opened her gifts then refreshments were served. The table was covered with a dainty lace cloth in the bride's chosen colors. A beautiful centerpiece of hurricane lamps with candles and fresh spring flowers caught one's breath. An assortment of finger sandwiches, iced tea cakes, and nuts were served. Radiant Lori Comer served a frothy lime punch which tasted, um-m-m, just as it sounds.

'...But Basically It's The Same'

BALDWIN, - "A lot of changes have taken place in the Guard over the years, but, basically, it's the same. You have a job to do and you do it the best you can," said SFC Carl "Jack" Scott, senior non-commissioned officer of Det. 1, 530th AG Co., Mississippi National Guard, at Baldwin.

"The military is about the same as it always was," Scott added as he signed his re-enlistment papers for a four-year period which will bring his total years of military service to 31 years.

Scott, a salesman with the Booneville Lumber and Supply Co., entered the service first in September 1932, and served in the 7th Air Force in the Pacific Theater during World War II.

After the end of hostilities he returned to Booneville, and in June 1949, enlisted in Co. B, 198th Heavy Tank Battalion at Booneville.

Scott was called to active duty with the Booneville unit during the Korean War and served for 21 months. During this time, he assisted in the training of National Guard troops throughout the United States until his release.

He was transferred to Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 108th Armored Cavalry in Baldwin in 1966.

The Baldwin unit became the 530th Administration Co. in 1968, and Scott became the unit's acting first sergeant. Later, the company became the 530th AG Co., 1st Brigade, 30th Armored Division.

Scott, whose hobbies include hunting and fishing raises beagle hunting dogs. He and his wife, Louise, and son, Jackie 24, live on Fire Tower Road between Booneville and Marietta.

Scott has been at his present rank since February 1954. In addition to his duties with the 530th he serves as first sergeant for the 30th Finance Co. which is also stationed at Baldwin.

During his military career he has been awarded the following commendations and medals; World War II Victory Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal, Mississippi National Guard Longevity Medal with six Magnolias for over 24 years service, National Defense Medal, the Efficiency Medal and the Army National Guard Recruiter Badge.

Scott and SP 5 Walter Gentry of Baldwin and Gulfport were both congratulated at the May drill of their units by CW3 Carl Martin, detachment commander. Gentry had completed seven years in the Mississippi National Guard and also re-enlisted.

Completes 27 Years

SFC Carl "Jack" Scott of Booneville, left, is congratulated by CW 3 Carl Martin for completing 27 years military service. Scott, who serves as first sergeant for the 530th AG Co. and the 30th Finance Co. at Baldwin, enlisted in the service in September 1942 and served in the Pacific Theater during World War II. Scott re-enlisted for four years and upon completion of this enlistment will have 31 years of service. Martin serves as detachment commander for the two units.

Multiple Sclerosis Award

Multiple Sclerosis Board Member and Most Outstanding State Volunteer attends the Annual Awards Luncheon of the Mississippi MS Chapter held recently at the Country Club of Jackson. Mrs. T. C. Gardner, Jr. was presented the MS Key Award by Charles H. Griffin State Chairman. The Key Award is the highest award given to a volunteer by the Mississippi MS Chapter...there are only three such awards presented each year; one to a volunteer in North Mississippi, Central Mississippi and South Mississippi. Mrs. Gardner received the award as outstanding volunteer in North Mississippi. However, Mrs. Gardner is the most outstanding volunteer in the State because she was working to raise funds for the crippling disease of young adults years before a State MS Chapter was organized. The award is long overdue.

No Bounce Checking: One of the extras you get only with Free Checking/Plus.

Having checks returned for insufficient funds is one of the most embarrassing, and one of the most costly things that can happen to you. Not only will you be charged for the check by us, the recipient of your bounced check will think twice before ever accepting one of your checks again. But if you have a Master Charge card or a regular savings account with us, you can apply for "No Bounce" checking. With No Bounce, should your checking account ever become overdrawn for any reason, we'll transfer $100 or more, (in increments of $100) from your savings account, or charge that amount to your Master Charge account to cover the overdrawn check. We're the only bank in this area that can offer you this service. It's the end of embarrassment and the end of the rubber check. Don't put up with inferior checking accounts that don't have No Bounce, get Free Checking/Plus — only from the Lively Ones.

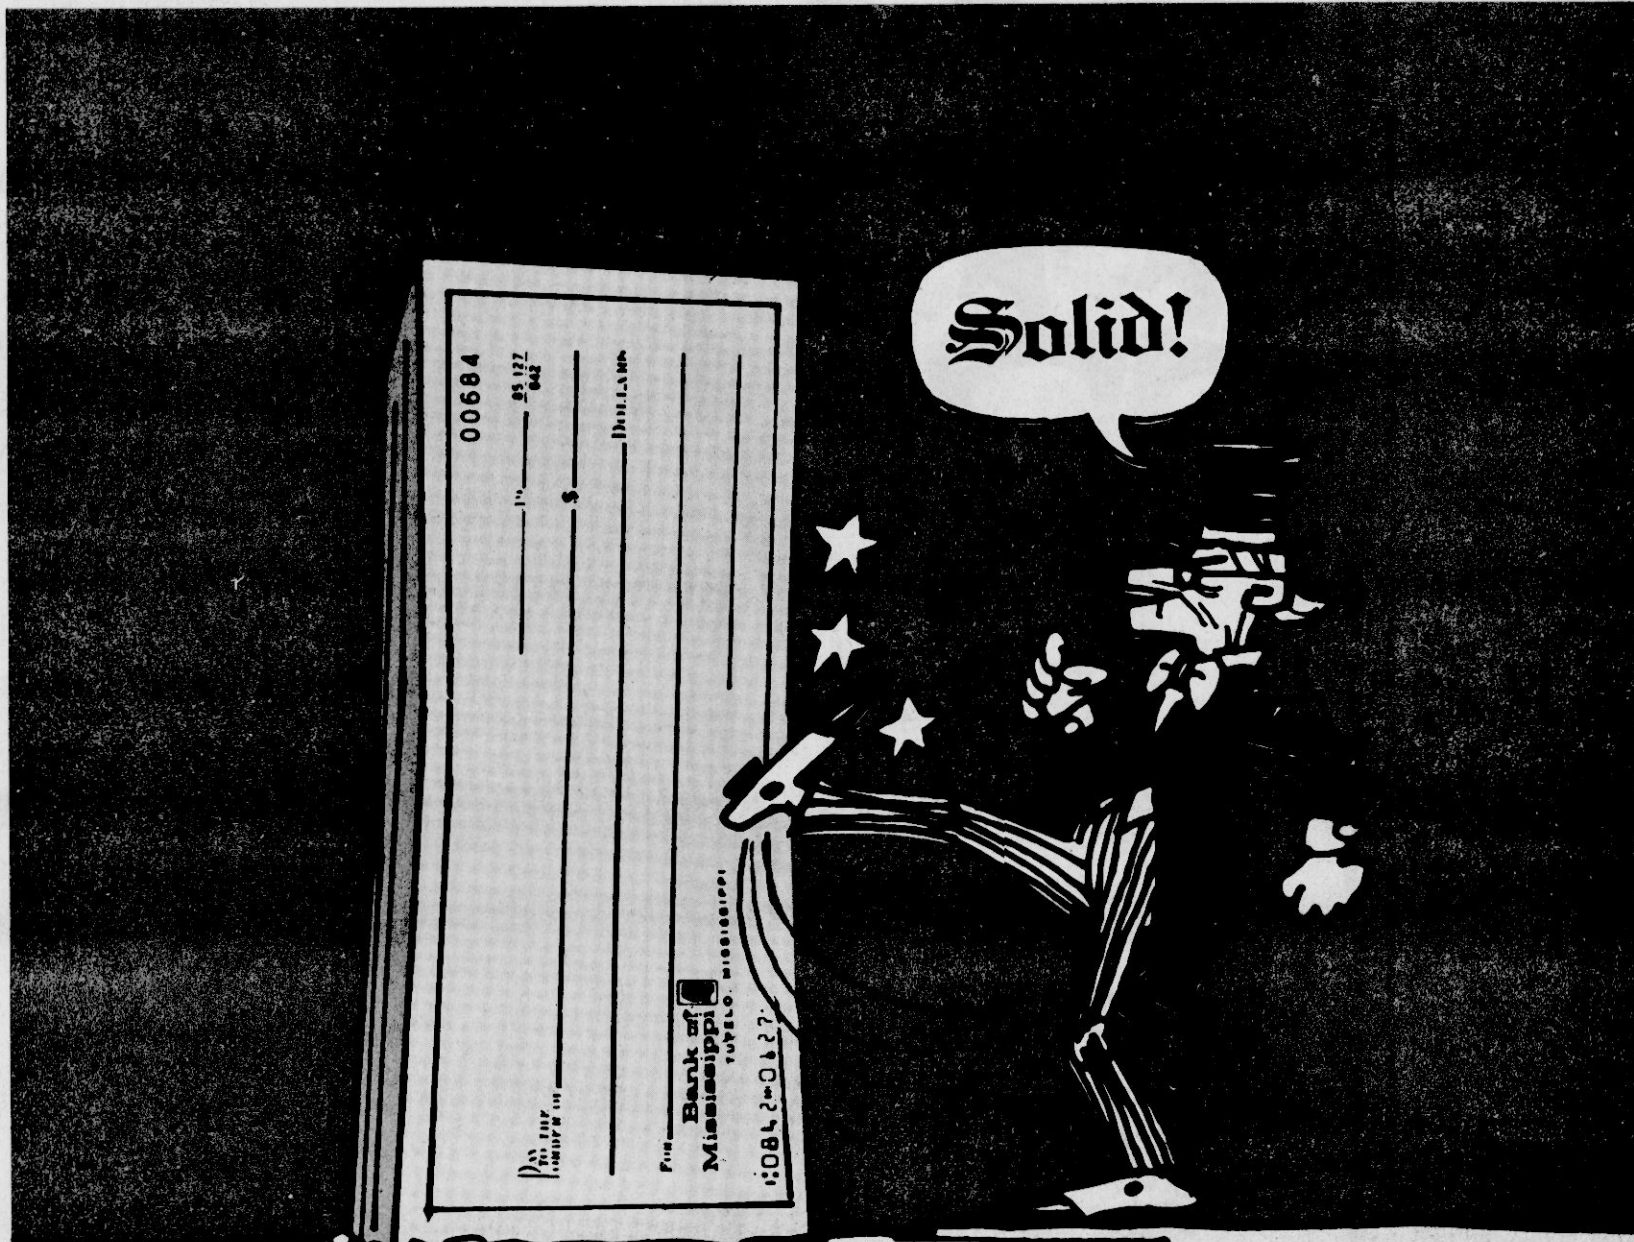

AND THERE'S MORE TO FREE CHECKING / PLUS: Open a new checking account and pay only 61¢ per month for the first six months (or pay nothing if account balance is $200 or more).

Special Service For Children

ATLANTA, Ga.—The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced amendments to regulations for the Special Summer Food Service Program for Children.

Officials of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), which administers the program nationally, said the changes are to help sponsors of summer feeding programs better plan and carry out the feeding of needy youngsters during the summer months when school cafeterias are closed.

A proposal to revise the regulations was announced by the Food and Nutrition Service Feb. 20, and 30 days were provided for public comment.

FNS officials said comments on the proposed amendments were received from 76 individuals and organizations, including two members of Congress. In response to suggestions, USDA has changed the final regulation amendments to:

--Clarify the sponsor's overall financial and administrative responsibility for programs which they undertake; and

--Delete the proposal to approve some program sites for limited food service only, and instead require that delivery, handling, storage and service of meals at all sites be in line with standards set by local health authorities; and

--Permit the service of two meals and a supplement, in programs of eight or more hours duration which provide an organized, supervised activity for children; and

--Increase the proposed standard and maximum reimbursement rates for the summer meal—an alternative to a regular full meal—from 20 to 25 cents and 40 to 48 cents, respectively; and

--Extend the date by which applications must be received to get priority consideration for approval from April 1 to May 11; and

Tires Not Main Factor In Auto Accidents

WASHINGTON, D. C. --- A new federal government study has found that passenger car tires are "not significant factors in traffic accidents," the Tire Industry Safety Council reported today.

The new findings were contained in a report to Congress by U. S. Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats on the entire federal auto safety testing program. The Comptroller General heads the General Accounting Office, Congress' watchdog over federal spending.

"We welcome this additional evidence that today's tires are not among the mafor highway safety problems," said Ross R. Ormsby, Chairman of the Council.

The GAO report concluded that the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration should reevaluate its testing priorities, spend less money testing tires, and more testing brakes, headlights and other safety-related equipment.

"If the Safety Administration's emphasis on testing tires was brought more in line with the small significance of tires as a factor in traffic accidents, proportionately greater attention could be focused on safety problem indicators and on standard areas having a higher potential for reducing traffic accidents, injuries and deaths," the report declared.

In fiscal years 1970-72, NHTSA spent a total of $4.8 million on compliance testing, the report noted. More than half of this, $2.5 million, went for tire testing, compared to $1.4 million for vehicle testing, and $913,943 for other equipment.

"Available accident data and information from tire studies indicates that disabled passenger vehicle tires are not significant factors in traffic accidents, and that the Safety Administration's relative degree of emphasis on tire testing, in terms of its total enforcement program, is more than warranted," the report declared.

The GAO report cited accident data provided by the National Bureau of Standards; the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University, and the Highway Safety Research Institute at the University of Michigan, to back up its statements on tire safety.

The National Bureau of Standards in 1970 estimated that tire disablements contributed to only 0.6 to 1.6 percent of highway accidents, the GAO report said.

The Traffic Institute figured less than one tenth of one percent of tire disablements resulted in accidents.

The Highway Safety Research Institute found tires involved in only 30 of 2,500 accident investigations filed in its computer as of September, 1972. Additional information shows that at least 19 of those 30 cases involved worn or under inflated tires.

The GAO report also cited part of an opinion on tire safety handed down by a U. S. Court of Appeals in Chicago last December invalidating part of a proposed safety standard 117 for retreaded tires.

The Court said, in part: "It appears to be a fair statement from the record that, except for excessive wear (bald or thin tires), tires in general, retreaded tires included, pose no significant safety problem."

The report noted that funds for testing new tires cover only two safety standards, while the remaining funds cover 32 standards, including seven which NHTSA has classified as "critical."

Take A Look At Jobs. . .In Today's Army

Take a look at the 300 good jobs and job training available to high school graduates in Today's Army, and you might be pleasantly surprised to learn that the Army has changed a great deal to meet its modern needs.

That's what Sharon McLarty, Miss National Teenager, will tell young men and women in Mississippi. The pretty lass from Amory knows how difficult it can be to get a good job fresh high school grads simply can't or don't want to attend college for a few years.

For those people, the Army could be just the solution. A young private can make a good living, for one thing. Starting pay is now $307.20 a month, plus free housing, food, clothing and medical care. And when a young man enlists in one of the combat arms—infantry, armor or artillery—or in one of a number of critical skill areas, he automatically gets a $2,500 bonus after completing his pre-employment training.

But getting a good job is only a part of the benefits of Army enlistment. Assuming a young grad does not want to make the Army a carrier — and only about 20-percent are expected to stay in — he or she has immediately gained two distinct advantages: one, he has a few years' experience in a job that can lead to a successful civilian career; two, if he wishes to continue his education, he has all the GI Bill benefits to help him financially. Add in maturity, and personal and business contacts made in the stint, and it comes out to a pretty good deal.

It's not easy to get the deal, of course. In addition to that high school diploma, the graduate must pass the Army's won battery of mental and physical examinations. But the end result is well worth the effort.

Contact the local Army recruiter for more information. His number and address are in the Yellow Pages. What can you lose? At the very least, he's a nice guy to know.

Lasso® herbicide. When you've got no time to incorporate.

Foul weather last Fall and again this Spring has put soybean farmers way behind schedule. Some have even had to harvest last year's crop this year.

And this year there's very little time to get your beans planted and apply your herbicide . . . least of all to incorporate a herbicide.

Meet Lasso, the soybean farmer's foul-weather friend. Lasso is the preemergence herbicide from Monsanto. And it doesn't have to be incorporated. Just put it on at planting. One trip through the fields and you're finished. So you've saved some of that precious time.

Lasso used at the full recommended rate on the label will control or suppress Pigweed, Teaweed and Seedling Johnsongrass as well as many other broadleaves and grasses. These are the troublemakers that can compete for the early moisture and vital soil nutrients your soybeans need for healthy, abundant growth. (And if, like so many farmers, you've had to settle for a lower percent germinating soybean seed, this year, you know how important soybean safety is.)

Lasso is proved safe for soybeans. Won't attack young roots, or stunt young plants. Safe to soybeans . . . good control of many annual grasses. All this without having to incorporate. (Farmers with heavy buckshot soil take special note!!)

Maybe you can't do anything about the weather. But you can work around the dry days you do get for planting.

Lasso. Works effectively in most any kind of soil and with a little or a lot of moisture.

But especially, Lasso works without incorporation.

This year, make it Lasso.

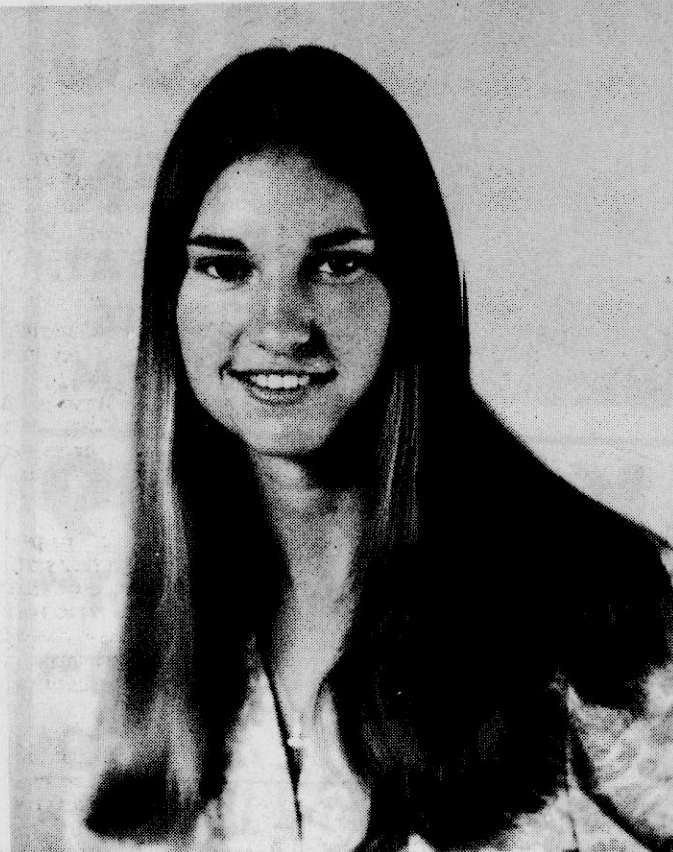

When you haven't got time to incorporate.

week set aside to acknowledge before God our gratitude for His gifts of soil and all the bountiful resources associated with it. The week

IN REVENUE SHARING FUNDS

Over $11 Million Set For Counties

Over $11,000,000 in manpower program revenue sharing funds will be allocated to 80 Mississippi counties for Fiscal Year 1974, according to Dr. Milton Baxter, Executive Director of the Governor's Office of Education and Training.

Dr. Baxter made the announcement in his capacity as chairman of the Mississippi Manpower Planning Council, which makes recommendations to Governor Waller and to the Manpower Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor regarding use of these funds for all counties except Hinds and Rankin, which have a program of their own.

The Council, said Dr. Baxter, has made its recommendations, based upon proposals beginning at the local level and coming through four regional manpower advisory councils for the four major geographic divisions of the state -- northeast, northwest, southeast and southwest.

Dr. Baxter said the money was allocated on the basis of major factors involved in manpower planning needs, primarily factors related to poverty unemployment and size of labor force in the four regions.

A breakdown shows $3,369,472 to Area I (northeast Mississippi); $3,221,200 to Area II (Northwestern Mississippi); $1,916,410 to Area III (Southwestern Mississippi); and $2,613,286 to Area IV (Southeastern Mississippi).

The money will be spent during fiscal year 1974. Dr. Baxter said all agencies involved in the program, especially the Mississippi Employment Service, already are at work in preparation for implementation.

The four main programs chosen by the regional councils, said Dr. Baxter, include the Neighborhood Youth Corps ($5,465,300), the Institutional Program under the Manpower Development Training Act ($3,087,918), the program for on-the-job training ($1,196,800) and "Operation Mainstream," primarily for older people ($959,850).

Another $350,500 will go into the Concentrated Employment Program, while a New Careers Program for the Choctaw Indians will receive $60,000.

In addition to these programs beginning July 1, said Dr. Baxter, a Summer Youth Program coordinated by the Governor's Office of Education and Training involves another $1,784,700 for all counties except Hinds County, which has its own program.

"These programs," said Dr. Baxter, "cover a wide range of job and career opportunities for people who otherwise might not have had any chance as good as this to develop job skills."

The minimum weekly benefit under unemployment compensation in Virginia was increased from $18 to $20 a week in 1972.

Got Something to say on the events of the day?

The most sensible way is to set your thoughts down in the form of a letter for our editorial page columns.

That way, it's there for everybody to read and consider.

Ford Galaxie 500—
Road Test Magazine's
Car of the Year,
your Ford Dealer's buy of the year.

Ford Wagons—America's Number One wagon choice, year after year,
family after family.

Ford Torino—taking Ford's tradition of a quiet, smooth ride to the top of the mid-size field.

This one is free.

Norman Rockwell's famous portrait of Ford's classic Model T. This 20" x 20" print, on antique stock, is suitable for framing and yours for the asking when you visit your Ford Dealer. Long out of print, this limited special edition is available only to licensed drivers, only at your Ford Dealer, while they last.

Listen to your roads and talk to your Ford Dealer.
