Crocheting...The Name Of The Game

You can learn crocheting, knitting, crewel embroidery, needlepoint and even bargello at special sessions conducted by experts from the Extension Stitchery groups.

The first session will begin Thursday, May 31 at 1:30 p.m. at the Community Center. Crocheting will be the name of the game according to Claire T. Ross and Nancy White of the county Extension staff.

Making things yourself whether they be of yarn, cloth, or what not can be an exciting expression of creativity. And this is what these special sessions are all about.

We plan to show you the how-to's, so you can have some summer fun doing your own thing.

You must pre-register by calling in to the Extension office 728-5631 or dropping by this office. At that time you will be given a list of materials you will need. Also this will enable us to have enough instructors on hand.

Mosquitoes Are Gonna Be TOUGH This Year

Flooded areas of Mississippi face a significant increase in mosquito populations this summer due to an abundance of new breeding grounds created by the high water, according to a Delta State College entomologist.

Dr. John D. Ouzts, acting head of the Department of Biological Sciences, said the 1973 potential for mosquito breeding is the highest in the 19 years he has researched mosquito control procedures for the U.S. Public Health Service and major chemical corporations.

"Although the mosquito population will be significantly higher," Ouzts said, "morbidity reports by the Mississippi Board of Health indicates there is little to worry about as far as health hazards are concerned. Most of the problem will center on the inconvenience and discomfort caused persons attempting to work or play outdoors during the early evening and night hours."

Any area that has water standing for an extended period of time is a potential breeding ground for mosquitos, Ouzts said. "The high waters and excessive rains have multiplied these areas by flooding bayou banks, pot holes, and low-lying areas.

"Water in these low areas evaporates at a rapid rate," Ouzts said, "but there has been so much rain and flooding this year that evaporation has not greatly affected the situation."

The water also has delayed the application of early season agricultural pesticides, removing a useful element of fringe control of mosquitos and other pests.

Ouzts expects the mosquito population this summer to equal that of the mid-1950's before widespread application of control procedures was begun.

"Analytical procedures commonly utilized show that the number of developing immature mosquitos exceeds 27 million per acre, which is about normal," Ouzts said. "However, this must be multiplied by the number of new breeding grounds created by weather conditions."

Although the mosquito population will be much higher, Ouzts believes counties and municipalities can effectively reduce the number through the utilization of proper control procedures.

"Many municipalities are increasing the use of pesticide fogging machines and beginning their application at an earlier date. These early preventive procedures are wise, even though temperatures have not been conducive to development of the immature forms," he said.

There are 47 different species of mosquitos found in Mississippi, Ouzts said. Those species which breed in stagnant and standing water are the ones which will show a sizeable increase in population.

While information on which species will increase in population is of interest to those who study such things, it means absolutely nothing to the average person, Ouzts said. "Unfortunately, 46 members of the 47 species feed on warm blooded animals.

Prentiss County Agent W. T. Smith commented that the large mosquito population this summer will be due to the amount of water standing in low lying areas. He urged residents to "put oil in these areas in water stands so as to help alleviate the larvae." Also sprays can be used very effectively against the mosquitos.

They Came ... Stood In Line ... Seeking Shelter

These photos show a few of the people who came to the police department storm shelter Wednesday night. The folks came seeking shelter from the tornado winds which had been sited near Baldwyn. They came from every walk of life .... and in many different dress outfits ... but mainly they came seeking the protection that they needed here.

They Carried It 'All The Way'

When it comes right down to the wire ... they're in there pitching for us. These, of course, are our city, county, and state law enforcement officials. For Wednesday night, May 23, several tornadoes "were dancing" around the area ... and our local officials were steadfastly looking out for the well-being of the citizens of Booneville and Prentiss County. Shortly after dark, Wednesday, the Tornado warnings were given out, and even the Prentiss County Civil Defense workers were alerted. Masses of folks crowded the basement of the City Police Department here in search of the needed shelter.

When they said "seek shelter as soon as possible" ... the local folks did just that.

The Booneville Police Department, along with the Prentiss County Sheriff's Department, the Civil Defense, and the state Highway Patrol, were all on the alert for possible tornadoes. These law enforcement agents traveled the city and county roads during the night while the most of us were in the safety of the storm shelter.

They were putting "theirs on the line", as one person told it.

Radio messages were being busily relayed among the different law enforcement officials in a greater effort to give the local citizens the best possible coverage of the tornado which had been sighted near Baldwyn moving in the direction of Booneville.

The same messages were being transmitted and received from nearby counties and towns to see what the weather outlook was in their locations.

In summing it all up ... we were given the warning to take cover, and then our dedicated law enforcement officials picked up the ball at that point and carried it over the goal line for the 'touchdown'. Without this type of cooperation from ALL the law enforcement officials here, Booneville's citizens might have gone into hysterics ... and this is what IS DEFINATELY NOT NEEDED.

We trust that our law enforcement officials will continue to score these 'safety touchdowns', because this is what will keep Booneville a good city to live in. WLI

Smoke Less...Live Longer

A report compiled by a team of medical researchers and published in the Journal of the American Medical Association warns that increased smoking on the part of American women has caused a soaring increase in fatal heart attacks. The study found that although only 8 percent of all heart attack victims were women in the 1949-59 era, they now suffer about 20 percent of all massive, death-dealing heart attacks. And the researchers blame cigarettes smoking for the sharply increased rate.

When the medical research team probed the cause of death among women heart-attack victims, it was found that an overwhelming 62 percent of them had been heavy smokers; an additional 28 percent of the heart attack victims were light to moderate smokers, and only 19 percent, whose heart attacks could be traced to other causes, were even light smokers.

Perhaps the most startling discovery was that the heart attack victims who died young (average age of 48) were the heavy smokers. Coronaries mowed down the light to moderate smokers at an average age of 55; but the non-smokers did not suffer a heart-attack until age 67. The evidence indicates that women who smoke heavily are chopping 19 years from their life span.

Moral to the survey: if you wish to live longer, smoke less.

State's Personal Income Said On The Rise

Mississippi's personal income for the month of February increased more than 13 percent over the same month last year according to a study released by Business Week magazine.

Total personal income for February 1973 was $609 million as compared with the February 1972 figure of $537 million, an increase of 13.4 percent.

Mississippi was tied for third place with Alabama among the eight states in the South Central portion of the study. Kentucky led the states with a 16.2 percent increase followed in order by Arkansas with 14.3 percent; Mississippi and Alabama, 13.4 percent; Tennessee and Texas, 13.3 percent; Oklahoma, 10.7 percent; and Louisiana, 9.1 percent.

According to Business Week, the nation as a whole showed an increase of 12 percent. This year's totals showed $83.3 billion as compared with 1972 totals of $74.2 billion.

Business Week reported "incomes in every region are growing rapidly. The East North Central and East South Central (which includes Mississippi) racked up the biggest gains.....with incomes more than 14 percent above 1972."

The nationally-distributed magazine reported that "wages and salaries are off to the strongest start" since the studies began.

A Cowardly Device...

If you resent historians sticking pins in your heroes, so do I.

Some chap has been selling books recently with what purports to be an expose of what really happened on Paul Revere's ride. The suggestion is that he was drunk and late and most of the men he alerted were away from their own beds visiting girlfriends. It seems a cowardly device when none of those guys is around to defend himself.

But where inventions have been attributed to the wrong parents they are illegitimate and researchers may be misled. Robert Fulton did not, in fact, invent the steamboat. It was not Christopher Columbus who proved the earth to be round.

It was not Ben Franklin who discovered electricity and Henry Ford was not the first to practice mass production. A chap named John Fitch completed several passenger carrying steamboat runs on the Delaware River 19 years before Fulton.

I re-recite and correct these fictions only to justify my conclusion that "the windmill has not yet been discovered."

The ancestry of the windmill which pumped the water that nourished the Americans West can be traced backward from the Holland Dutch to millwrights of the seventh century, perhaps beyond.

Yet I insist it hasn't really been "discovered" yet. First the steam engine came along to outproduce the windmill. Then electricity, particularly rural electrification, in the 1930s.

But now that engines pollute and electricity is becoming prohibitively costly, one American company, Heller-Aller, sold 650 windmills last year.

But again, the windmill has not yet been discovered. An imaginative engineer named Peter Harper of Brighton England, recently received a grant from the United Nations for development of an alternative power source. He envisions giant versions of the old fan-bladed windmill -- huge but graceful capable of using the wind when it's blowing to charge huge storage batteries for use when it's not blowing thus to power whole industries, whole communities with no

Paul Harvey

PAUL HARVEY

Comments And Opinions

Will Peter Harper be remembered by historians as the man who "invented" the windmill?

Or will Canadians Raj Rangi and Peter South get the credit? Members of Canada's National Research Council, Rangi and South have access to wind-tunnel research facilities and they have there developed a windmill without a big fan--a high-speed turbine machine which rotates on a vertical axis. Mechanical energy thus produced may be used for irrigation or other water pumping. Or it may be converted into electrical power.

Being vertical, whichever way the wind blows this thing revolves "without turning about." And the blade tip exceeds the wind speed by six times, thus their 15-foot diameter turbine prototype can convert a 15-mile wind to 1.2 horsepower or .9 kilowatt.

Out of the world's present need for cleaner, less expensive power will come ideas for harnessing tides, for harnessing the sun and the wind.

Each is an ancient idea which awaits the somebody with the vision to discover it.

SADDLED FOR ACTION!

PAUSE FOR POWER

Absent ... Yet Present

The incarnation and the ascension form the two terminal events of the earthly life of Jesus Christ. The incarnation commenced his life upon this earth; the ascension concluded his earthly life.

The story of Christ's ascension, related in the four Gospels, is also given to us in the book of Acts: "And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven as he went up, two men stood by him in white apparel: Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? The same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven" (Acts 1:10,11).

Here is the story of the ascension of Christ. Forty days after his resurrection Jesus Christ left this earth and ascended into heaven, there to remain until his second coming. The ascension of Christ is a genuine historic fact, not a fable or a myth. As certain as Caesar crossed the Rubicon, as certain as General Eisenhower led the invasion of Europe, even so certain did Jesus Christ ascend into heaven.

But, more precisely, what actually happened when Christ ascended from earth to heaven? The Bible teaches us three supremely important facts about the ascension of Christ.

First, the ascension of Jesus Christ was an event that involved His whole person. It was the ascension of the God-man, Christ Jesus. When Jesus Christ came to this earth, He possessed but one nature, the divine nature. But when He returned to heaven, He possessed two natures, both a divine nature and a human nature. Both natures, the divine and the human, united in one person, returned to glory. This is what we mean when we say that the ascension of Christ was the ascension of the whole person. Jesus Christ did not shed his humanity when He returned to heaven. He took that humanity, glorified, of course, back to heaven. And Jesus Christ will be forever the God-man.

Second, the ascension of Jesus Christ was a local transfer of His person from one place to another place, from earth to heaven. On the eve of His crucifixion Jesus Christ said to His disciples, "I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto Myself; that where I am, there ye may be also" (John 14:2,3). Jesus Christ is gone to heaven, there to prepare for us a place. Now this surely means, if it means anything at all, that heaven is a place as well as a state. Some men tell us that heaven is a state of the mind. I would agree with that. Heaven is a state of mind. It is a place of perfect peace, of perfect joy, of perfect worship in the presence of God. Heaven indeed is a state of mind. But it is more than that. Heaven is also a place. Where heaven is, we do not know; and what heaven is like, we cannot say. But this we do know, heaven is a place as well as a state. Heaven today is the residence of the glorified human nature of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Finally, it is supremely important that we understand that the ascension of Jesus Christ removed His physical presence, but not His spiritual presence. If we keep this distinction in mind, it will help us understand two apparently contradictory facts.

On the one hand Jesus Christ is gone. He Himself said, "I go to prepare a place for you." And we are to observe the Lord's Supper "until He comes" (I Corinthians 11:26). Obviously, these statements mean that Christ is not with us.

And yet, paradoxically, Jesus Christ Himself said, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Matthew 28:20).

Now, is this a contradiction? Not at all. Jesus Christ, as the God-man, left us as far as His physical presence, but He is with us spiritually forever. The ascension of Jesus Christ was therefore the removal of His physical presence, but not His divine presence.

This a glorious truth which we can embrace with all our souls. Although Jesus Christ is gone to prepare for us a place, He is, at the same time, with us today, closer to us than any other living person. Although absent from us, as far as His human nature, He is with us always, for He Himself said, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

SUCCESS
in MARRIAGE
by Professor
J. Kenneth Williams

DEAR PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: My husband and I have mutually agreed to terminate our marriage after twelve years. We have never been really happy after the first couple of years. We have two children, ages four and seven; both are boys. How will divorce affect them now and in later years?

PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: Much depends upon the past and present nature of the relationship between you and your husband as to the effect, whether it be negative or positive, the divorce will have on the children now and later.

Before we discuss how the impending divorce will affect the children, let's discuss your relationship as husband and wife. I trust both of you have conscientiously tried to make a go of the marriage. When you said "I do" to the wedding vow, this meant assuming responsibilities and making sacrifices which really taxes one's determination and willpower. It really takes much effort to make any marriage succeed.

I am assuming both of you are quite intelligent and are aware that a divorce sometimes can have a traumatic effect on children. Parents should face the reality and responsibility that a child's welfare and happiness is very important. I use the words welfare and happiness in this context to mean emotional and physical protection including security, love, protection, and having a sense of belongingness to the family group.

The human infant is the most helpless of all organisms. He is physically and emotionally dependent on his parents for much of his early life. His personality reflects the type of early emotional interaction with the parents. For parents to terminate a relationship in which lives are involved other than their own tends to reflect a disregard for not only their wedding vows but a disregard for the moral responsibility of caring for their offspring.

Some marriages should not continue, especially where there is physical harm, neglect, immoral environment, and constant conflict. This situation could be more detrimental to the child's welfare than divorce, itself. Whether this type of marriage should end in divorce or separation depends upon the religious philosophy of the couple. In some situations of conflict where there is threat of physical and emotional harm, a child may be better off if the parents are apart. However, many parents dissolve their marriage which could have been saved with proper guidance and counseling; the children could have had a happy childhood.

Recent studies indicate that under certain conditions of abuse or conflict children are not seriously affected by divorce. But, in many cases, they do suffer. Unfortunately, it is the children, usually, who fare worse and lose more. The parents may be relieved to get out of what is to them an undesirable situation but this feeling may not be shared by the children. They love both parents and suffer, many times, when one parent is lost.

A question I often ask those contemplating divorce who have children is, "When you were a child, how would you have liked your mother and father to have gotten a divorce and separated you from one of them?"

Note: If you have a question you want answered, write Professor Williams, SUCCESS IN MARRIAGE, c/o this newspaper enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

IN MISSISSIPPI

Doctor/Population Ratio Said Poorest

While Mississippi slumps far behind the rest of the nation in the number of doctors per capita population, according to Dr. Robert E. Blount, dean of the University Medical Center School of Medicine, the "vitality of the University (Medical Center) Hospital is being starved and the institution is in financial peril."

Dr. Blount, speaking before a meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council's Education Committee in Jackson, said Mississippi lags far behind the nation with a ratio of one doctor to every 1,428 people in the state. The ideal situation, he said, is one physician to every 500 people. Mississippi's ratio is the poorest in the nation he said.

The veteran physician and medical educator told the MEC meeting, the massive research and teaching hospital center is in "financial peril" due to the loss of federal research grants totaling thousands of dollars.

"We have been told that as of January 1, an expected federal grant of $190,000 for general research support has been cut back to $90,000," he said. "But the lack of research money is not the only problem ....the cost of running and maintaining the Medical Center alone runs into the millions of dollars."

Dr. Dewey H. Lane, Pascagoula surgeon and chairman of the Council's Education Committee, introduced Dr. Blount to the session which also included discussions of educational advances in the state and the Council's successful STAR Program for high school students and teachers.

Joining Dr. Blount in the Medical Center presentation was Andrew Grimes, Medical Center director, who told the committee that Medical Center operating expenses totaled $20 million last year.

"This year," Grimes said, "we received an appropriation of $6 million from the Legislature, which covers 30 percent of our costs. Care for indigent patients alone last year exceeded $7 million. "The budget this year stands at nearly $19 million, but even that won't close the gap between what we spend and receive," Grimes said.

Dr. Blount said the Medical Center is actively searching for both women and men applicants in medicine. He said the Center had graduated over 1,000 doctors since it opened and reported over 65 percent of the graduates are practicing in Mississippi.

"We are hoping for a groundswell of enthusiasm both within the Center and the public for our programs, including research, medical care, and teaching," Dr. Blount said.

Dr. Lane said the Education Committee has as one of its projects to study the educational and health services offered at the Medical Center. Other projects are to publicize educational advances in Mississippi, continue support for a lay State Board of Education, and administer the STAR Program.

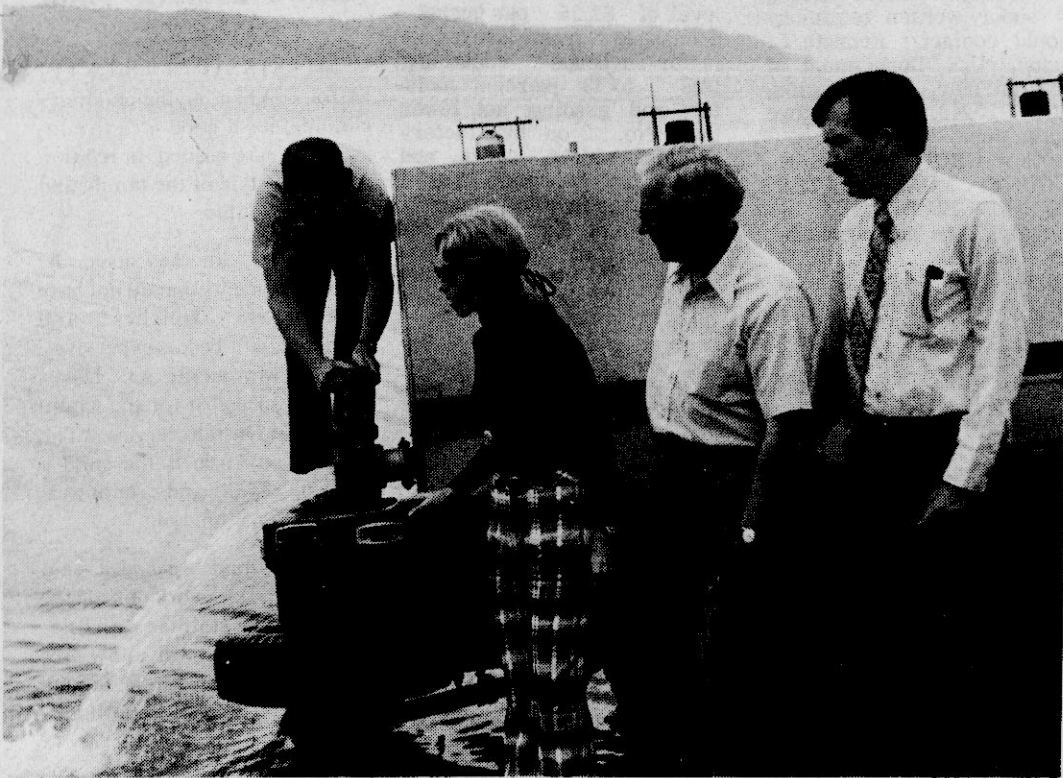

Lane said the committee will be divided into three special committees. The committees and their chairmen are: Education Legislation, Benton Cain of Jackson; STAR, David Rozier of Jackson; and the University Medical Center, Milton Case of Canton.

"Money can be saved by buying garments that do not have ease-of-care finishes and therefore, will be less expensive," advises Marguerite O. Davis, clothing specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service. "This is especially true if the child is growing rapidly and cannot wear the same size for long."

The clothing specialist said that if the adults work outside the home, buying clothing with ease-of-care qualities will allow free time to be spent with the family, rather than caring for clothing.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.
--The "World's Most Famous Beach" really comes alive during the Fourth of July holidays. There is something for everyone.
There is automobile racing, dog racing, golf.

tennis, swimming, skiing, fishing, Jai Alai and camping. The camping facilities at Daytona Beach are among the most scenic in the country.

One of the most scenic camping facilities is at Daytona International Speedway, site of the annual July 4th Congressional Medal of Honor Firecracker 400 Winston Cup Grand National-FIA championship stock car race. The speedway has provided a special camping area for fans who like to bring a little touch of home with them to the races.

Daytona Beach is the only beach in the nation you can drive on. It attracts thousands of sun 'n fun seekers annually for fun spins.

The Firecracker 400 traditionally holds the title as the "fastest and most competitive" of all stock car races. Again it will be the 40 fastest stock cars in the world engaging in a high-speed bumper-to-bumper chase around the 2.5-mile speedway. The Firecracker battle earned the label as the world's fastest stock car event in 1968 when Cale Yarborough streaked to victory at a sizzling 167.247 miles per hour. It is the fastest race speed ever recorded on a NASCAR super speedway.

The green flag for the rich 400-mile grind falls at 10 a.m., giving fans plenty of time to get in an afternoon of fun on the more than 30 miles of snow white beaches.

DIVINE HEALING

A FACT

Everyone knows that Jesus went about doing good and one of his most notable works performed was the healing of those he came in contact with. He healed those of all sorts of disease including the blind, lame, deaf and even some who had already died, and in one case been dead for 4 days. This outstanding feat was not nailed to the cross and became finished but it is carried on throughout the years and is an important fact in the church today. There is no man who has the power to heal but Christ is the same today as he always was because it is he that heals.

because it is the diatribe. The Apostles saw many healings during their ministry and there are recorded facts in the Bible of many being healed. In Acts 3 the lame man who sat daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful was healed when Peter told him "In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk."

You may wonder why you became sick and had to be bedfast for some time. Some may try to tell you it is because of some sin you committed, or someone in your family has done something wrong. Did you ever stop to think that God may just want to talk to you and this is his way of getting you to look up, isn't that the way you have to look from the bed. It could be because he wants to show you his power by healing you. The Bible says "Is any sick among you? Let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him—" Then notice the promise in the next verse "And the prayer of faith shall save the sick and the Lord shall raise him up;" James 5:14-15 There is a God who hears and answers prayer and will heal you regardless of your sickness he is able to heal it, it is our part to believe his word and act upon it and then let him do what he said he would do. It is not your part to know how he will do it, it is just your part to believe he will. This is not a condemnation of doctors or hospitals, they know the wonder working power of God, but let this be to you an assurance that God does still heal today. He healed me of the shingles and took them away immediately. Others have been healed and you can be also.

Lasso® herbicide. When you've got no time to incorporate.

Foul weather last Fall and again this Spring has put soybean farmers way behind schedule. Some have even had to harvest last year's crop this year.

And this year there's very little time to get your beans planted and apply your herbicide... least of all to incorporate a herbicide.

Meet Lasso, the soybean farmer's foul-weather friend. Lasso is the preemergence herbicide from Monsanto. And it doesn't have to be incorporated. Just put it on at planting. One trip through the fields and you're finished. So you've saved some of that precious time.

Lasso used at the full recommended rate on the label will control or suppress Pigweed, Teaweed and Seedling Johnsongrass as well as many other broadleaves and grasses. These are the troublemakers that can compete for the early moisture and vital soil nutrients your soybeans need for healthy, abundant growth. (And if, like so many farmers, you've had to settle for a lower percent germinating soybean seed, this year, you know how important soybean safety is.)

Lasso is proved safe for soybeans. Won't attack young roots, or stunt young plants. Safe to soybeans... good control of many annual grasses. All this without having to incorporate. (Farmers with heavy buckshot soil take special note!!)

Maybe you can't do anything about the weather. But you can work around the dry days you do get for planting.

Lasso. Works effectively in most any kind of soil and with a little or a lot of moisture.

But especially, Lasso works without incorporation.

This year, make it Lasso.

When you haven't got time to incorporate.

MR. AND MRS. KEETON

Stephenson, Keeton Wed In April Ceremony

The residents of Mr. and Mrs. James L. West was the setting on Friday evening, April 6, 1973, for a wedding of beauty and widespread interest, when Miss Rebecca Jo Stephenson became the bride of James Edward Keeton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Arnold Stephenson of Booneville, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Keeton, Jr., of Booneville. The Reverend Tom Rayburn, Pastor of the First Baptist Church in Booneville, performed the double ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged in the living room of the home, in front of an assortment of candles and flowers, in gleaming rainbow colors, in wrought iron. Large wrought iron work held an assortment of mixed colored spring flowers with rainbow ribbons interchanging between each flower. The entire home was decorated with arrangements of spring flowers.

As the organist played the Wedding March, the bride came walking down the stairway of the home. The stairway was decorated with ivy, swirling down in the arms of the stairway, with bridal pink roses and Lily of the Valley entwined with greenery.

Mrs. Lonora Rienbold, organist, and the Missionaries of the Latter Day Saints Church, of Tupelo, Mississippi, soloists, sang "Where the thickest will go". The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a full length gown of sheer nylon organza. Delicate re-embroidered lace of rayon-nylon and acetate accented the bodice, high empire style waist, with collar, sleeves, cuffs, a A-line skirt with deeply flounced wide-flare hemline. All wore large hats that matched the color of their dresses. Around the crown they wore ribbons and tied behind in a large bow with streamers. Each carried a mum colored of their dress with satin ribbon tied around the stems of the mums.

The flower girl was little Miss Suzanne West of Huntsville, Alabama, niece of the groom. She wore a floor length light mint green dress in similar of the brides. She wore a ribbon with streamers and little daisies at the end of each streamer. She carried a white basket with little spring flowers.

Mr. James L. Keeton, Jr., served his son as best man. Tommy Murphey and Kenny Saylor were ushers and lighted the candles.

Max Stephenson, the brother of the bride, was the ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow edged with lace.

Guests were registered by Miss Sara Nagle of Huntsville, Alabama, cousin of the groom. The bride's mother selected a peach bonded knit dress with lace over jacket, having short sleeves, and wore matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a two piece pastel pink double knit dress with matching knit embroidery on the sleeves and around the waist. She wore matching accessories.

The reception was held in the Dining Room of the home. The bride's table was draped with a lace table cloth. Mrs. Helen Riddle, Aunt of the Bride, served the wedding cake. This sculpture work of art was decorated in lovely pastel colors to match each of the bride's maid gowns. The cake was three-tiered, with separation with Swan and Love Doves, in-centered on top a delicate old-fashioned fence encircled a wedding bell, held with a bride and groom.

Lime frappe was served from a crystal punch bowl by Mrs. Jack West of Huntsville Ala., Aunt of the groom.

The Groom's table was also draped with an imported lace and linen table cloth. Mrs. Billy Brown, of Memphis, Tennessee, and Mrs. Harless Hill, of Booneville, cousins of the groom's, served the groom's cake. This cake was a triple-tiered chocolate cake with scalloped of chocolate icing, and huge clusters of sugar coated grapes, which draped down on the tiers of the cake. Miss Sara Nagle, cousin of the groom, labeled the Pink Fruit Cocktail Punch. Silver compotes held nuts and assorted colored mints, on both the Bride's and Groom's tables.

Floating hostesses during the reception were Mrs. W. V. Horn and Mrs. Brownlee Glover, of Booneville, Mrs. Willis Barton of Memphis, cousin of the groom and Mrs. Jack West and Mrs. Carl Nagle, both of Huntsville, Aunts of the Groom. The rice girls were little Miss Ester Floyd, cousin of the bride, and twins Denise and Dennis Horn, dear friends of the groom and bride; all of Booneville. They carried baskets of rainbow colored Rice bags.

For travel, the bride chose a blue double knit pants suit, with rhinestone and pearl buttons around the collar, and pearl color buttons down the sides of the legs of the pants.

After a wedding trip to the Smokies, the couple is now residing on King Street in Booneville, where they are both employed this Summer and will continue their education at Northeast Mississippi Junior College this Fall.

Registration Begins June 1 For Reading Program

Booneville Public Library will again hold a Summer Reading Program for boys and girls, from pre-school age onward.

Enrollment is now being taken for children who will participate in the summer reading program which will be from June 1 through July 12, according to librarian Mrs. Zera Duggar.

"The theme of this year's Summer Reading Program is SHOWBOAT SUMMER," said Mrs. Webster Cleveland, Jr., chairman of the program for the Booneville Woman's Club.

Children will receive reading certificates upon completion of the summer reading program.

"Educators tell us that children drop in their reading skills during the summer months. Practice is essential if the child is to return to school in the fall with the same reading level he had attained when school closed. The summer reading program at the public library not only helps him develop his reading skills, it encourages him to enjoy books and to discover the pleasure of reading for

Kitchen Shower Honors Miss Laura Fulper

The lovely Cherokee Park home of the Robert Buchbergers was the setting for the Kitchen Shower honoring Miss Laura Fulper, bride-elect of Steven Hutchins, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fulper of Booneville.

Hostesses for the occasion included Mrs. Robert Buchberger, Mrs. John Muszka, Mrs. Virginia Oakley, Mrs. Dollye Hodges and Mrs. Don Vollrath.

From the hours of 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 19th, the lovely bride-to-be was greeted by many guests, who brought gifts, appropriate to the kitchen theme.

The attractive buffet table was enhanced by a yellow and white cloth, centered with a yellow and white floral arrangement and daisy centered white satin wedding bells.

Miss Fulper will exchange vows with Mr. Hutchins on Sat., May 26th at the Infant Jesus of Prague Catholic Church.

Special Fund Drives Underway

Red Cross chapters in Alabama and Northeast Mississippi are conducting special fund drives to help meet the mounting costs of almost 10 weeks of major disaster operations throughout the area.

The goal announced by the Prentiss Chapter is $265.

Red Cross has expended more than $330,000 in meeting the needs created by record flooding and severe tornadoes, which continued when another twister struck two Blount County communities at mid-week.

"The current tornado cleanup in Jackson, DeKalb and Madison Counties could easily require additional expenditures of $20,000," said Harry Hudson, Alabama Division chairman of members and funds.

And this was before the extent of the Blount losses was known.

Hudson said Red Cross had provided immediate assistance including food, clothing, medical supplies and basic home furnishings for 1,693 families in the Alabama-Northeast Mississippi area.

Mass care such as shelter and food was provided for 5,009 persons.

The largest Red Cross efforts during the period of flooding were in the Huntsville and Columbus, Miss., areas.

At Huntsville 515 families were provided immediate assistance and 1,200 persons mass care at an expenditure of $165,433.

In the Columbus area, 826 families received immediate assistance and 2,250 persons food and shelter at an expenditure of $118,368.

Flooding extended along the Tennessee and Tombigbee Rivers. Severe storms have caused often-heavy losses, death and injuries in Madison, DeKalb, Jackson and Sumter Counties.

Big Soybean Year Seen By Experts...

Marketing signs are pointing toward a big soybean year -- probably the biggest ever.

With the high prices expected to carry through most of the year, marketing specialists predict that soybean acreage will be up at least 15 percent. This 15 percent increase will bring the national total to about 50 million acres -- an all-time soybean high.

The big reason for the added acreage is the export market, which now accounts for about 25 percent of our total soybean market.

The export market used to be thought of as a last resort market, not to be used when a grower could sell his beans at home, but that attitude is quickly changing.

Southern growers this season will be going all out to bring in high yielding, weed-free beans in hopes of cashing in on the big year. But with increased plantings, there will be a lot of problems.

One problem is that there's a stress on soybean seed supply due to the wet harvest last season and the increased acreage predicted this season.

We're faced with lower germinating seed this season, so you might want to plant your own seed, but you should take a few precautions.

Before you decide to use your own seed for planting, you should have it tested for germination potential. Testing will give you the germination rate and a certain degree of assurance against diseased seed.

After you find the germination potential of your seed, you need to figure your planting rate. If you divide the number of plants per foot you need by the germination percentage, you will have your planting rate. For example, if you want 10 healthy plants per foot and you're using a 60 percent seed, you need to plant 16.6 or 17 seeds per foot.

Another big problem is controlling yield reduction caused by the weeds. National loss last year was around 430 million dollars. And the weed problem will probably be worse this season with the added acreage.

The biggest profit stealing weed villain in the South is the cocklebur. If the pesky cocklebur isn't treated, the the varmint will destroy any hopes of a clean cutting.

Best bet is to hit the cocklebur early with a directed spray of a good post-emergent for knocking the cocklebur down in the South is Butyrac 175.

But if you can't get in early, because of fieldwork or wet weather, you can still treat with Butyrac 175 after the cocklebur has outgrown the beans and formed a canopy "over the top".

Keeping the bean fields

this season should bring more dollars than ever, and eliminating the cocklebur with the Butyrac is a step in the right direction for a clean cutting at harvest.

So, if you can find a high germinating seed, plant a few more acres, and keep the lid on weed populations, you should have a big year -- maybe your biggest ever.

Covey Movement

Charted By Radio

MISSISSIPPI STATE, MISS. - Recent studies at the University of Tennessee have revealed some interesting information on quail movement, according to Lewis R. Shelton, wildlife specialist for the Cooperative Extension Service.

"Using radio telemetry equipment, the researchers found that daily movements of coveys averaged 427 yards," the specialist reported. "They found that movement during the first two hours after dawn was longer than movements during any other two hour period of the day."

The research revealed that coveys were least active from mid-morning until early afternoon. After the mid-day rest, covey movement increased until just before sunset. Shelton noted that the only weather condition that seemed to influence covey movement to any extent was temperature—it seems that coveys move farther on warm days than on cool days.

"Probably the most interesting point of the study is that the flushing of the coveys had more affect on movement than any other factor that was examined," he added. "Flushed coveys restricted movements for the rest of the day."

NORTH RIENZI CHURCH OF CHRIST

Answer to the article written in the Banner, May 24, 1973, by Mrs. Annie Marshall: Route 6, Booneville, Mississippi.

It seems clear to me that you must not have read the article written by Bro. Bill Huggins in the Banner, May 17, 1973, or paid no attention to it one. If you have not then please do so! And anyone that would like to do so. Bro. Huggins clearly answer your questions as I would have. How much clearer would anyone want it? Now there are six questions unanswered in that article, and we would like to know why. Can it be that they are afraid they will be trapped? Or just cannot answer them? Now we suggest that these questions be not given the run-around as they was on Baptism, and still are unanswered. Observation proves that "tongue speaking" of today is not even closely related to that miraculous gift of the first century. (1 Cor. 14:1-33; Acts 19:1-3; Acts 10:44-48.

Please search God's word and note that it was completely given to man in the first century. Modern day use of the miraculous gifts must be rejected as false. TONGUES HAVE SERVED THEIR PURPOSE IN CONFIRMING THE WORD WE NEED NOTHING OTHER THAN THAT CONFIRMED TODAY.

Would to God that those teaching error, the false doctrine of present-day miraculous workings of the Holy Spirit would repent of their error and be saved! Until such time as they do, they stand under the censure of the Holy Spirit. "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them that are causing the divisions and occasions of stumbling, contrary to the doctrine which ye learned: and turn away from them." (Rom. 16:17)

We invite you to come and be with us this coming Lord's day, at the North Rienzi Church of Christ.

Open a new checking account and pay just 61¢ a month for six months.

(Maintain a $200 balance, and you'll pay nothing!)

Open a new checking account with the Lively Ones and the most you'll have to pay in service charges is just 61¢ per month for the first six months. And you might not have to pay a penny.

That's our way of dramatizing the fact that our average checking account pays just 61¢ a month in service charges.

And many pay absolutely nothing.

Only the Lively Ones can offer Free Checking/Plus. "Free Checking" means you pay no service charges at all when you maintain a minimum monthly balance of $200 in your checking account. And "Plus" means that you can also get "No Bounce" Checking and Longer Banking Hours.

All of these are reasons enough to open a checking account with the Lively Ones right away. And the 61¢ introductory offer just sweetens the deal.

Free Checking/Plus makes all other checking accounts seem inferior. Open your account soon at any office of the Bank of Mississippi.

FREE CHECKING. Keep your balance over $200 and you pay no service charges whatsoever. But even when your balance does dip below $200, you pay a very minimal service charge. The average Bank of Mississippi checking customer paid just 61¢ in service charges last month.

NO BOUNCE CHECKING. You can't possibly have a check returned for insufficient funds when you have either a Master Charge account or a regular savings account in connection with your Just Plain Checking account. Once you apply for "No Bounce" checking privileges, we'll automatically transfer funds to cover your checks should your account be overdrawn for any reason. No other bank in this area can offer you this service.

LONGER HOURS. We're open every week day from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at each one of our 19 offices. We keep people hours, not banker's hours.

Effective leadership Helping groups of people achieve goals or get items they want by doing things for themselves -- that's what effective leadership basically is all about. Doing that, though, is no simple task, and it requires a myriad of personality traits and abilities from anyone who tries. Here are a few ideas about "motivation" that will help adult and teen 4-H leaders work better with youngsters, helping them to do things for themselves.

How do you motivate 4-H members? You might start by thinking for a minute just what motivation is. It's not something you do to someone else. Yet many of us in leadership positions persist in looking for some simple way to "get our members rolling".

Nobody can truly motivate anyone else. Actually, the only thing we as leaders can do to achieve better results from 4-H'ers is to establish a climate that encourages them to want to achieve their club's goal, while at the same time achieving their personal goals.

So how do you create this climate?

By using the individualistic approach the leader is aware of individual member's needs. This is the most effective motivational approach. However, it requires considerable rapport between leader and members so meaningful communication takes place. A key to this approach is the leader discovering members' real needs. Asking them is the best way to find out. Although this sounds obvious, few leaders ever do it. But once you ask members how do you know they tell what they really want, or that they even know what they want? It's here that you start creating meaningful relationships with members trusting them to report accurately what their needs are, and also watching for their responses to a variety of incentives -- opportunities to be creative, to become more expert in their projects, to be trusted to do their jobs and solve their problems in their own ways, to be given more responsibility, to tackle bigger jobs.

All people have their secret desires and hopes and needs. Even if very few ever achieve the pinnacles of self-actualization or realize their personal goals, they nevertheless work toward satisfying needs, consciously or unconsciously. And it's a leader's job to help them along that road.

VA Questions And Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q-- What cutoff date has been set for Veterans' benefits for the Vietnam war?

A -- No such date has been set. The Vietnam Era is still continuing for purposes of eligibility for veterans benefits.

Q-- I hear rumors about a device that will give sight to the totally blind. Is this VA prosthetics? Is there such device?

A-- You have heard of a concept still in the early research stage and nowhere near ready for prosthetics development. In March 1973, medical newspapers reported that a neurologist from Albert Einstein College of Medicine believes such a device eventually may be possible if the concept of electrocortical stimulation proves feasible.

Q-- How much time do I have to get my schooling under the G. I. Bill?

A-- Education or training under the current G. I. Bill must be completed within eight years of separation from military service or by May 31, 1974, whichever is later.

(Speak Gently)
Speak gently; it is better far
To rule by love than fear;
Speak gently; Let no harsh words mar
The good we might do here.
Speak gently to the little child

It's love be sure to gain.
Teach it in accents soft and mild
It may not long remain.
Speak gently to the aged one,
Grieve not the care-worn heart;
The sands of life are nearly run,
Let such in place depart.
Speak gently, kindly to the poor;
Let no harsh tone be heard
They have enough they must endure
Without an unkind word.
Speak gently to the erring;
know
They must have toiled in vain;
Perchance unkindness made them so,
Oh, win them back again.

Students Get Degrees

Students are now being selected and placed for participation in the Cooperative Education Program in Prentiss County. This program enables selected students to attend school half a day and to work parttime in business and industry in this area. The students are high school juniors and seniors, age 16 or older, who want and can benefit from actual work experience. They get extra credit for the work experience. These students will be able to work fulltime during the summer and parttime during the school year. Most of them can arrange their school schedule to be at work by 1:00 each day and can work until closing time if needed.

For more information, call Mrs. Dorothy Cole Gambill, Coordinator, at the Prentiss County Vocational-Technical School, 728-9259.

Sensible Dieting

Be sure to eat regular meals at regular times if you're on a diet. Nutrition specialists for the Cooperative Extension Service of Mississippi State say that three meals a day of properly selected foods is the best plan to follow. Breakfast is an especially important meal because it helps cut down overeating at other meals. A breakfast should provide at least one-fourth of the daily calorie allowance.

JOHNSONGRASS CONTROL Those farmers who plant soybeans on land that stayed flooded for several weeks may not have any trouble with rhizome johnsongrass this year. Research shows that four weeks of flooding in cool months like March and April are needed to kill rhizomes. In warmer weather, it will require two to four weeks of flooding to kill them. When water recedes slowly and days are sunny, rapid decay of rhizomes will occur.

Although flooding may reduce rhizomes johnsongrass, there will be plenty of other seedling weed problems. Even if land was free from johnsongrass infestation before the flood, you can expect problems with seedling johnsongrass this year. Actually you can expect seedling johnsongrass problems anywhere flooding took place, since water has scattered the seed. Make plans now to prevent this from becoming a serious problem this year. COTTON INSECT CONTROL

If boll weevils are an annual problem in cotton, make a single application of insecticide for overwintering boll weevils. The application should be made just before the squares get large enough for larval development.

This recommendation is contrary to some philosophies of cotton pest management, but a single application at this critical time could save four to six applications later in the season. This one application should only be used where boll weevils are an annual problem. The recommendation is .25 pounds of methyl parathion or .25 pounds of guthion per acre.

Do not make any unnecessary applications of phosphate insecticides as these materials can delay cotton maturity and increase resistance in bollworms. The most common causes of unnecessary applications are spraying for plant bugs after the damage is done and the pests are gone; spraying to keep a bollworm free crop; and spraying to cleanup white flies.

FORESTS AND THE ENVIRONMENT Mississippi's forests are a big factor in the state's economy. They supply forest products valued at more than $150 million annually and provide employment for more than 40,000 people.

Forests are important to our welfare in many other ways. They have value as wildlife habitat, for recreation, water and soil conservation and erosion control. Trees filter out dust from air, lower noise levels, produce oxygen and temper the climate.

Protect forest lands. They are a big asset to the entire state.
