Deadline Announced

The Banner-Independent is this week placing a deadline on certain articles which we carry in the paper.

Effective with the Thursday, December 6 edition of the Banner-Independent, wedding announcements will not be accepted if brought in the office more than 30 days after the wedding.

Also, these announcements will not be accepted if they have been published in another area newspaper . . . therefore those concerned should publish these announcements in this newspaper simultaneous with others.

The deadline for such announcements will be Friday at noon. These deadlines are necessary in order for the proper consideration and makeup to be given the articles.

Publisher Tommy Counce commented that "we are continuing in our effort to give the people of Booneville and Prentiss County the best possible coverage. And in doing this, we must impose the above regulations concerning our operation."

The normal deadline for regular news items remains Monday at 5 p.m. and will be kept rigidly.

$1/4 Million Library Proposed

A $1/4 million Memorial library construction plan was proposed here in a meeting of civic leaders Tuesday.

The new proposed library, of which the city has been given $150,000 through the will of the late George Ed Allen, was discussed at great length. The meeting was held in the conference room of the Peoples Bank and Trust Company.

Booneville Mayor Charles Steen and former Mayor Marion Smith jointly presided. Mr. Smith was a close associate of the late Mr. Allen, who died in California April 23, 1973. Mr. Allen willed the $150,000 to the city for the construction of a memorial library here. Official Allen family sources indicated in a letter to the Booneville former Mayor that the $150,000 is in fact in the will, and will probably be dispensed "sometime in November."

Represented at the local meeting were members of civic clubs, organizations, and groups . . . all interested in the proper development of the memorial library.

It was agreed among all members that an additional $100,000 be raised to "sufficiently build what this city needs to pay its tribute to the great George Ed Allen."

Committees were named to discuss and gather information on certain parts pertaining to the development of the memorial library.

Marion Smith was named to spearhead the campaign for the raising of additional funds.

No specific site was named at the meeting, having several locations brought up to the members. It was agreed to encourage the state library commission and architects to research on this matter, and then the committee will get their reports and recommendations.

A target date of January 1, 1976 . . . the country's 200th anniversary, was given for the library's completion.

The committee agreed to construct a library with ample space for both library facilities, and also memoirs from Mr. Allen's personal historical collection. The library would be owned by the City of Booneville.

Officials of the Peoples Bank here said that the bank has in its possession presently "several boxes" which were shipped to them by members of the Allen family. The contents, according to a letter from A. L. Jagoe, a nephew of the late Mr. Allen, are to be placed in the memorial library.

It was noted that the letter specifically states that some of the articles in the boxes are a "Japanese sword and gun, presented by President Eisenhower", poker chips . . . used in playing poker with President Truman.

Weird-Looking Object Shot Down

"It makes a weird-looking object in the sky."

That's about all the explanation Booneville City Police-men Dan Wilson and Jim Stephenson could give here Wednesday, October 17 concerning the unidentified flying object Stephenson shot down.

The UFO was first sighted here about 8:45 p.m. in the sky near Franks Street. Police officials reported receiving a call from a resident of Franks Street who was disturbed in seeing the object in the sky.

Officials said that statements were given that several had sighted an object unknown which had risen and moved away rapidly without any sound.

W. W. Stacy, Chief of Police, commented that "the Policemen offered consolation to the residents that we would be on immediate stand-by if further assistance was needed".

After the policemen left the Franks Street address, and moved south on North Monroe Street, they sighted an object that appeared to be approximately 500-600 feet from their position . . . which would place the object almost over city hall.

It was noted that surveillance was kept on the object, and it began to move

Bank Of Mississippi Wins Golden Coin Award

TUPELO -- Bank of Mississippi here was awarded its third consecutive Golden Coin Award this past Friday night in a presentation by Governor William Waller and Bank Marketing Association President-elect Eugene J. Callan of First National City Bank in New York.

Mr. Callan, vice president of First National City Bank of New York and president-elect of the Bank Marketing Association, presented the nation's top bank marketing award to Bank of Mississippi Director and Marketing Committee Chairman Todd Agnew and Senior Vice President and Marketing Director R. L. Qualls.

He said "Governor Waller has outlined why you deserved to win again. And I personally feel that the work you have done is exemplary of the finest ideals of banking. On behalf of the Bank Marketing Association I present you with your third consecutive Golden Coin Award. You have every right to be proud of what your bank is doing."

The bank's first two Golden den Coin Awards were won in the marketing category in competition with banks of $25 to $100 million in deposits. This year's award was won in the area of public affairs, and the bank competed in the $100 to $500 million deposit category.

Special Guests for the evening included the Governor and Mrs. Waller, Mr. and Mrs. Callan, former Governor Paul B. Johnson, members of the State Banking Board, topstate officials, state senators and representatives from Northeast Mississippi, bankers from throughout North Mississippi, and leading educators and friends of the bank.

More than 700 employees and invited guests heard Governor Waller say "You caused the attention of other bankers and financial leaders to be focused on our state in winning the first Golden Coin ever awarded in Mississippi in 1971."

"Last year you became the only bank to receive the award in consecutive years and only one of three ever to win twice. And this year you hold the distinction of the only three-time consecutive winner. It is accomplishments such as these that make our state progress, not only within, but very importantly in the eyes of the rest of this nation," the Governor added.

SUCCESS in MARRIAGE

Professor
J. Kenneth Williams

Compromising Principles

DEAR PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: I am 19, and not particularly pretty. Boys don't often ask me for dates but when they do it seems that they like to do things I'm not sure are right. Is it possible for a girl to uphold high standards of conduct as not going to certain parties and movies, not getting involved in heavy petting, drinking, drugs, and sex? If I refuse to do these things will guys continue to ask me for dates or do they date only those girls who do? -- Boston, Mass.

PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: Under no condition should you compromise your standards of conduct in order to be popular. You can rest assured that your behavior will eventually attract the type of guy you really want to date and who will ultimately make a good husband. Sure, some guys like girls who will do anything, especially when the guys are out for kicks. But, when even these start thinking about settling down, very rarely do they choose from among those girls who did everything the guys wanted. Most guys want a challenge. They really appreciate a girl who believes in certain principles and has the determination to stick to them.

You may lose a few dates, but these really wouldn't have been worthwhile anyway. The dates you do get will be meaningful and emotionally fulfilling.

WHEN TO HAVE THE FIRST CHILD

DEAR PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: My wife and I have been married two years. When is the best time to have the first child? We want one very much but are aware that there may be things involved we haven't considered. Could you give us some advice? -- S.R., Maryville, Tenn.

PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: There are a number of factors involved but let's start with an illustration. John and Mary have just married. John has a good job as a management trainee in a chain department store. Mary works as a secretary. They want a child. How long should they wait?

Ideally, both should work until they can accumulate furnishings for their home or apartment; both should pool their earnings in a savings account after expenses; they may need two cars especially if each needs his car now. They should owe no long-term payments unless it is on the home.

In other words, they should be financially fixed so that John can support the marriage, financially, after Mary gets pregnant. She shouldn't consider returning to work until the child is ready for kindergarten or first grade as it will need her undivided attention.

My suggestion is to put off having the first child until after the third or fourth year of marriage. This is especially true if the couple is in their late teens or early twenties. If you do this and both work, you'll find life much easier financially. Also, a young couple needs some time together the first couple of years of marriage. If they have a child right away, the couple is deprived of a togetherness they may not have until the child or children are grown and have moved away.

The wisest thing a couple can do when considering having the first child is to plan ahead before the wife gets pregnant. A child is a financial liability and will be deprived as well as the parents unless adequate planning is made. Also, if the couple is still emotionally immature, having a child too soon after marriage is only going to add problems to those they already have.

If you have a question you want answered, write Prof. J. Kenneth Williams, P.O. Box 1488, Pompano Beach, Fla. 33062, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

More Local Families Reach Upper Brackets

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 - According to a nationwide survey of income levels and income distribution, most Prentiss County families have made significant gains in the last few years. As a result, more of them than ever before are now in the middle and upper brackets. By the same token, there are fewer in the lower brackets.

The upward shift has been noted all along the line. Many local families who were in the $8,000 to $10,000 group formerly are now at the over- $10,000 level. Their former spots have been occupied, in turn, by families who had been in the $5,000 to $8,000 category.

The changes have been recorded in a special study released by Sales Management, a marketing publication. Its copyrighted report analyzes each community to determine what segments of its population fall within each income grouping. The purpose of the study was to obtain a clearer picture of family earnings and buying power in each area than was afforded through its "average income" figure by itself.

It sheds light on whether that average is enjoyed by a large part of the population or whether it represents a small proportion with big incomes offsetting a large number with small incomes.

The report shows that, in Prentiss County, some 50.2 percent of the households had disposable cash incomes of $5,000 or more last year after paying their personal taxes. By way of comparison, the proportion was only 42.9 percent three years ago, when a similar study was made.

The gain was 7.3 percent, as against a 4.4 percent gain in the United States and 6.4 percent in the East South Central States.

Since the survey is concerned solely with cash income, farm families do not appear to their best advantage, as no adjustments are made for the income-in-kind that is available on farms.

The Prentiss County breakdown shows the position of each group of local households on the income scale. It lists 21.3 percent of them with net cash incomes of $5,000 to $8,000. Another 10.7 percent are at the $8,000 to $10,000 level and 18.2 percent above $10,000. The rest are below $5,000 net.

Just how much better off people are with their higher incomes is a question. There are indications that inflation has wiped away nearly all the recent gains.

Mississippians Demand Change

The Mississippi Economic Council is in the middle of a series of statewide meetings providing information on the unit system of county administration to Council members, state and local government officials, and interested citizen groups.

The meetings were not--and are not--designed just to wave the MEC banner. The MEC has long been recognized as a leader in the movement for better, economical, efficient, and modern government at all levels.

But, the meetings are to show the people how the unit system is supposed to work, how it is working, and what it offers a county.

The purpose is to wake up some people to the fact that "something" is going to be done about the inefficiencies of the present system of managing county government.

No amount of rhetoric on either side of the issue will change the fact that the people of Mississippi want that change.

The unit system takes no authority away from the Board of Supervisors. It lets the Supervisors get together -- pooling both their resources and purchasing power, plus delegating their authority to a road superintendent, a purchasing agent, and others--and handle the administrative matters of the county, as prescribed by state law.

The unit system is not a "threat" against the county or its leaders.

Rather, the unit system is a "promise" of more efficient use of tax dollars in the areas of planning, construction, purchasing and financing. Plus, it offers the added attraction of providing a maximum of services at a minimum of cost to the county resident.

BRIDGE for EVERYONE

James Kerry

There is a bidding method used by many experienced players where, in a player, following a major suit opening at the one level, calls four no-trump, which requests his partner to name his strongest minor suit. The requester must know his business or else he can get into much trouble. For example, he must not be vulnerable and should be defending against a vulnerable opponent. He must possess two five card minor suits, or preferably a five-five each topped by an ace or a king plus one or more honors. Most important, he must be sure his partner of the moment is one who completely understands the bid.

The system was designed to act as a road block against the opener in his probe for a major game contract, and in this respect is very effective.

East deals.

East-West vulnerable.

Opening lead: King of hearts.

The hand and bidding illustrated today is exactly how it occurred, however the player in the North position failed to respond as requested and thereby saddled South with a grave responsibility, that of finding an escape from West's double. Since clubs were his strongest suit, South bid five clubs and West doubled again. By this time North had decided he was in the wrong card game, and resolved not to contribute to the impending disaster, so he passed as did East. But South was not finished yet and bid five diamonds which was passed around to East who doubled as that became the final contract.

When the dummy came down South was pleasantly surprised and what had started out as a sacrifice now presented a challenge since a play for eleven tricks was possible with favorable distribution.

West's king of hearts held the first trick and seeing no reason to continue hearts, switched to a small spade to East's king. South trumped East's second spade and must now score all the remaining tricks. Declarer proceeded as follows: Cash the ace of clubs, ruffed a small club in dummy, reentered the closed hand via a heart ruff, trumped another club in dummy as both opponents followed suit and established declarer's clubs. He now cashed the ace of trump and lead dummy's last trump through East's queen for a successful finesse, pulled the queen and claimed the balance by virtue of his remaining clubs. Five diamonds bid, doubled and made!

They won't all be that easy. In this case South found his partner with almost perfect distribution for the diamond contract. As for East-West four spades is almost assured, however it becomes impossible to bid under these circumstances. J.K.

Pause For Power

A Christian, once conversing with a Brahmin priest, asked the priest, "Could you say, I am the resurrection and the life?" "Yes," replied the priest, "I could say that." "But," responded the Christian, "could you make anyone believe it?" Jesus Christ proved His superiority at this very point. Not only did He make stupendous claims for Himself; men believed those claims. And they did so because He supported these supernatural claims by supernatural works and by a supernatural life.

Specifically, Jesus Christ made five staggering claims for Himself.

First, He claimed to be the Messiah of Israel. The Jews as a nation were ever looking forward to the coming of a great personage, the Messiah, who would fulfill all their prophecies, realize all their hopes, and accomplish all their designs for themselves and for the world. Jesus of Nazareth claimed to be that Messiah. During His ministry He referred to many passages in the Old Testament, and pointed to Himself as the explanation and fulfillment of these.

Second, Jesus Christ claimed to be the Redeemer of mankind, the Savior of sinners. In reference to Himself Jesus Christ said, "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many" (Mark 10:45). This passage is of crucial importance, for it gives to us, in the words of Jesus Himself, his own concept of his ministry and of his death. He did not come simply to lay down great moral principles, or to leave us by His death a noble example of faithfulness to duty. He certainly did all this. But His primary work -- in His own words -- was to give His life a ransom-price in the place of many. This is the doctrine of the substitutionary death of Christ -- "a ransom for many." Jesus was born to be the world's Redeemer.

Third, Jesus Christ claimed to be the Master of Mankind. He called for obedience from men by His definite, all-embracing command, "Follow me!" These words are so familiar that we are apt to fail to realize their astounding and far-reaching character. Think also of what these words mean: "He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me." In other words, Jesus said, "I deserve man's highest allegiance." This remarkable claim to control lives, to alter destiny and to deserve man's highest allegiance is surely more than human. This is a right that belongs only to God. And Jesus claimed that right! He is the Sovereign Master of all mankind.

Fourth, the Lord Jesus Christ claimed to be the final Judge of all mankind. More than once He pictured Himself as the Judge before whom all men should be gathered to receive their reward or punishment. Listen once again to the words of Jesus, "The Father judgeth no man but hath committed all judgment unto the Son" (John 5:22). Jesus Christ claimed to be the final Judge of all mankind.

Finally, Jesus Christ claimed nothing less than the prerogatives of God Himself. For example, He claimed for Himself the right to forgive sin.

To the palsied man He said, "Thy sins be forgiven thee" (Mark 2:5). The opponents of Jesus Christ got the point of that claim; they got it far better than certain modern religious liberals who trip along so lightly over the things the Gospels contain. "Why doth this man thus speak?" his opponents said; "He blasphemeth. Who can forgive sins but one, even God?" They were right -- absolutely right! None can forgive sins but God only. Jesus was a blasphemer, and deserving of death by the Jewish law, if He were but a mere man. At that point His enemies saw clear. You may accept the lofty claims of Jesus. You may take Him as very God. Or else, you must reject Him as a miserable, deluded enthusiast. There is really no middle ground. Jesus refuses to be pressed into the mold of a mere religious teacher.

Five Staggering Claims

Here then are the claims which Jesus Christ made for Himself as the Messiah of Israel, the Redeemer of sinners, the Master of mankind, the Judge of all men, and God Himself. Every one of us must therefore inevitably face the question that Pilate raised, "What then shall I do with Jesus who is called the Christ?" No man can remain neutral.

Prentiss County ASCS News

Nominations To Close Soon For ASCS Offices

Nominations will close soon for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) community committee elections. Ballots will be mailed to farmers on November 23, 1973. The election is scheduled for December 3, 1973.

With few exceptions, anyone eligible to participate in ASCS farm action programs may be nominated for ASC community committee posts. Producers 70 years old and farmers not having farming interests within the respective community are not eligible. Most Prentiss County producers, however, including share-croppers and tenants, as well as minors who supervise an entire farm operation are eligible.

Anyone eligible for nominations cannot be declared ineligible because of race, color, creed, sex, or national origin. All ASCS programs are nondiscriminatory.

Before slates are completed, C. E. Calvert, County Executive Director, is required to review the petitions for validity. In communities where the slate is not filled by nominating petitions and Negroes account for eight percent or more of the population, the ASC community committee must nominate one Negro unless a Negro farmer is already listed on the ballot. Farmers nominated by ASC community committees must consent to serve.

Candidates will receive a letter confirming their eligibility and outlining duties of ASCS committees. Any candidate ruled ineligible will be notified and may appeal the decision to the ASC county committee, within 15 days of such notice.

Approximately 65,000 farmers serve annually as county and community committee members for ASCS. Elected by their neighbors, they make local decisions concerning ASCS programs administered in the area such as Cotton, Feed Grain, Price Support for Corn * Soybeans and Farm Storage Facility Loan Program.

Not Enough Candidates Nominated For ASC Posts

Not enough nominations have yet been received at the Prentiss County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Office for ASC community committee seats. Prentiss County has 5 communities with each community electing three community committee representatives on December 3, 1973.

If no more nominating petitions are received by October 29, 1973, each ASC community committee will have to select the rest of six nominees itself. Regulations require at least six nominees for each ASC community committee election.

According to the ASC county committee chairman, procedure for nomination is not complicated.

Candidates are nominated by petition. Each petition must include a statement that the candidate will serve if elected. Eligible farmers may sign as many petitions as they wish.

Most farmers are eligible for election to ASC committees. To qualify as a candidate, a nominee must be under 70 years of age, have farming interests in the community in which he is nominated, and be eligible to participate in ASCS programs. This includes producers, sharecroppers, and tenants.

Whether selected by the committee or petitioned by his neighbors, each nominee must agree to serve in the office to which he is elected. Mr. C. E. Calvert, ASCS County Executive Director, will review all petition nominations to determine the validity of each.

If less than six candidates are nominated by petition, the ASC community committee will complete the slate to six nominees and send the completed slate to the ASCS county office by November 13, 1973.

All eligible nominees will receive letters from the ASC county committee containing a description of a committee-man's responsibilities. Candidates declared ineligible will also receive letters indicating why their nominations were rejected. They may appeal the decisions within 15 days of such notice.

HOME ECONOMIST'S NOTES

Claire T. Ross

EXTENSION HOME ECONOMIST

Do you know what Extension Homemakers Clubs actually do? These groups study and make application of subjects related to home and family life, such as: consumer information, child development and human relations, home management, foods and nutrition, housing and equipment, home improvement and home furnishings, textiles and clothing, health and safety.

And any homemaker can participate: young or old, rural or urban -- those who work outside the home or those who are employed as a homemaker only.

New clubs are welcomed. So call this office for information and assistance in organizing.

Snacking between meals has become an established part of the food pattern of many American families, and snack type foods are taking an ever increasing proportion of the family's food dollar.

There are some good reasons for taking a close look at a family's snacking habits. Many popular snack foods contribute little or nothing to good nutrition, and they may needlessly increase food costs.

Snacking in principle is not necessarily bad. In fact, many children and some adults need snacks in their daily food pattern in order to meet their energy requirements and for other reasons. It is the choice of foods and snacks that is the problem.

Homemakers who want their families to snack wisely should have a choice of nutritious foods readily available. Rather than purchasing snacks such as potato chips, pretzels and soft drinks regularly, this type of snack can be limited to parties and other special occasions.

Planning for snacks should be a part of meal planning for a week. Foods from the basic four food guide should be included. Here are some snack ideas from each of the four food groups which are nutritious and low-cost.

Substitute milk for soft drinks -- it is more nutritious. Milk shakes or milk drinks made with the addition of fruit, cheese cubes or sticks, ice cream and puddings can also be used.

Remember, dry pudding mix prepared at home usually costs less than individual snack pack cans and instant nonfat dry milk can help to stretch the food dollar.

Raw fruits and vegetables make especially good snacks for young, old and all ages in between. Fresh apples, oranges, bananas, grapes and other fruits in season are usually well liked.

Carrot and celery sticks, green pepper rings and other fresh vegetables in season are good choices. The important thing to remember with young children, especially, is to keep the servings small so as not to spoil the appetite for the next meal.

Canned fruits such as pears, peaches or applesauce are good and don't forget raisins, pitted prunes and other dried fruits.

Remember, too, that canned or frozen fruit juice gives more nutrition for the money than soft drinks.

Dates to Remember: Oct. 30, Tuesday at 3:00 Program meeting for November on "Carpet Capers". This meeting will be held at Land of Carpet on Hwy. 45 S. and is open to the public.

Inter-Club Council To Meet November 5

The Inter Civic - Club Council had its organizational meeting Monday night, October 15.

Representatives from the Dinner Civitan Club; Booneville's Woman Club; The Junior Auxiliary; Town and Country Garden Club; The Jaycettes; the Business and Professional Women's Club; Booneville Pilot Club; and the Booneville Jaycees were present.

The group discussed the qualities of a council that would serve such major purposes as: (1) to avoid conflicts of projects and project dates through a coordinated calendar; (2) to initiate or promote projects that would normally not be undertaken by a single civic organization alone, or that would require a cooperative effort and (3) to cooperatively back and make more effective existing citywide and countywide projects now in operation.

The council, composed of two voting representatives from each of the 10 civic clubs in Booneville, will meet again on Monday evening, November 5, at 7:00 p.m. in The Hospitality Room of The Peoples Bank & Trust Company for the purpose of electing a slate of officers and discuss setting priorities on projects facing the area.

The council will seek to work closely with local officials to promote progress and desired growth in Booneville. The Booneville Jaycees initiated the promotion of the ICCC and have designated Charles Walden and Sidney N. Nicholson as Co-chairmen of the project.

Is It 'Off Season' At Daytona?

Think it's the "off season" at Daytona International Speedway? Nope. Not a chance.

Over $40,000 in prize money and two national driving titles will be up for grabs at the famed Florida racing facility when the International Motor Sports Association (IMSA) holds its final events of the season Thanksgiving weekend.

The IMSA point championships in both the Camel GT Challenge Series and the B.F. Goodrich Radial Challenge Series will be decided when the action hits Daytona's demanding 3.81-mile international road/track circuit, Saturday and Sunday, November 24th and 25th. IMSA's weekend will end Daytona's 1973 season. The 200-mile Goodrich scramble is set for a 7:00 p.m. starting time Saturday and the 250-mile Camel race will get the starter's flag at one o'clock the following afternoon. Peter Gregg, winner of the 24 Hours of Daytona and Sebring 12-Hour race this year in a Porsche Carrera, moved to within 1.5 points of leader Mike Keyser for the Camel championship. Gregg, a Jacksonville, Fla., auto dealer who has won two of the three events he's entered at Daytona this season and finished third in the other, is a slight favorite. Keyser, the Towson, Md., competitor who also drives a Porsche Carrera, will be after the 20 points that goes to the winner of the 250-mile Camel race.

The B. F. Goodrich point chase is even tighter! BMW driver Nick Craw and Amos Johnson, who drives a Grem-lin, are tied for the lead going into the Daytona finals.

Baldwyn Bearcats Capture Homecoming Game Friday

BALDWIN -- The Homecoming game was made glorious here Friday night as the hometown Baldwin Bearcats captured their first win of the season.

The Bearcats defeated the Kossuth Aggies 17-7 before a capacity crowd.

Baldwyn's drive for their first score, which came in the first period of play, was capped by a 35-yard run by HB Al Phillips. Gary Riley kicked the extra point to make the score 7-0.

Kossuth drove deep into Bearcat territory in the first quarter, but was stopped short of the end zone by Bearcat defense.

The second period turned into a defensive battle, and neither team was able to put any points on the board. The score at the halftime whistle was still 7-0.

In the third period, Baldwin drove again into Aggie territory, scoring on a one-yard sneak by Bearcat QB Tony Harrelson. Riley again converted to make the score 14-0.

The Aggies once again put an impressive drive in the third quarter, only to be stopped deep in Baldwin's end of the field.

In the fourth quarter, Riley came on to kick a 36-yard field goal to put the Bearcats ahead by the score of 17-0.

The Aggies finally got on the scoreboard late in the fourth period on a ten-yard play by FB Tony Meyers. The kicked extra point made the final score 17-7.

The win for Baldwin puts their season record at 1-4-1, keeping them at the bottom of the Tombigbee standings along with the Aggies, who sport a 1-6 record for the season.

MC Homecoming Could Be Largest

CLINTON, Miss. -- The 1973 Homecoming celebration at Mississippi College, set for Saturday, Oct. 27, could be the largest ever if reservations from Booneville and other areas of the state continue to come in at the present rate.

Dr. F. D. Hewitt, director of alumni affairs at the college and coordinator of the day's activities, said that reservations have been received from alumni from all sections of the state and they continue to come in.

"With the football team recording two straight wins, reservations have picked up considerably this week," said Dr. Hewitt. "Although we still have some tickets left, it looks as though we are going to have another sell-out for our annual Alumni Banquet."

Dr. Hewitt urged all alumni and friends who have not yet purchased their tickets to the banquet, set for 5:30 p.m. in the Women's Gymnasium, to send in their request immediately or call him at the college.

Dinner tickets are $4 each for the buffet meal. Entertainment will be provided by students from the Division of Fine Arts under the direction of Dr. Jack Lyall.

The highlight of the banquet will be the announcement of the "Alumnus of the Year" for 1973 and the presentation of the "Order of the Golden Arrow" Award which was instituted last year.

In addition to the banquet, other features of the Homecoming Day celebration include alumni meetings, class socials, coffee and coke socials by various organizations, a parade through downtown Clinton, a variety show on the patio of the B. C. Rogers Student Center, the football game and the traditional crowning of the Homecoming Queen and presentation of her royal court during halftime ceremonies.

Tigers Shot Down; Lose Game To EMJC

COLUMBUS, Miss. -- A Northeast Tiger win was shot down here Saturday night with just 43 seconds left on the clock.

For at this time the East Mississippi Lion footballers scored the winning touchdown, leaving the game at 19-17.

Northeast had jumped out to a 10-0 lead on a 32-yard field goal by Steve Carter and a short run for a TD by Bill Neeley before the Lions made their comeback.

The winning touchdown was set up when Northeast was called for a pass interference infraction.

East Mississippi closed the gap to 10-6 shortly after halftime and then Neeley scored again to put the Tigers out front 17-6. Midway through the fourth quarter, the Lions made it 17-12 and the won as the game neared an end.

Bill Ward, Northeast coach, said his team "played probably the best game any of my teams have ever played. They fought hard and never quit. But a couple of mistakes killed us."

Northeast fell to 3-5 on the season. The Tigers will celebrate homecoming in Booneville on Thursday, Nov. 1 when they host nationally-ranked Pearl River.

The Tiger Homecoming date has been changed to Thursday night, November 8 in Tiger stadium. Pre-game ceremonies will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Pay Raise, Promotion Lift Army's Spirits

A pay raise and a new accelerated promotion program have added two new Army recruiter's game plan.

On the first of October a 6.14% pay raise went into effect for all Army personnel. This raise means that the basic recruit will now earn $326.10 base pay. As a result of the pay increase, recruits will be able to enjoy an approximate $20 raise effective in their first Army paycheck.

In addition to the pay increase, the Army will also offer a new enlistment program which will give skilled workers an opportunity to enlist and be promoted to Specialist 4 or 5 rank immediately after 16 weeks of training and job performance. This feature gives vocationally and technically skilled workers an opportunity to fill Army needs and advance to a supervisor level almost immediately as his or her skill entitles them to do so. This new program will begin on December 1, 1973.

The pay increase and the accelerated promotion program are indicative, in the words of Major General John Q. Henion, Commander of the Army Recruiting Command, of "the national commitment of the Administration and the Congress of trying to make the Volunteer Army a peace-time success."

The Army recruiter can now add these two additional benefits to a recruiting package which offers an outstanding combination of training, skills, and benefits to prospective recruits.

Local Army recruiters' addresses and phone numbers are in the Yellow Pages.

Educational Progress Made

Educationally disadvantaged veterans and servicemen using the G.I. Bill made substantial educational progress in fiscal year 1973.

Fields Looking White

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Cotton fields are white and picking on the upswing in North Mississippi, reports M. P. Talbot, Jr., Officer in Charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Memphis, Tennessee.

Sample receipts picked up as the harvest built momentum. Showers and some locally heavy rains moved across the territory over the week-end keeping farmers out of their fields for a day or so. If weather conditions cooperate, full scale picking is but a few days away.

The Memphis Classing Office classed 3,886 samples for North Mississippi farmers through October 5 this season. This compares with over 24,000 samples classed to a comparable date last year.

For the week ended October 5, the following quality breakdown is indicated: Forty-five percent graded 41, nine percent graded grade 31 and higher and eleven percent graded 51. Twenty-seven percent fell into the light spotted grades. Twenty-one percent of the grades were reduced because of grass.

Staple appears good at this stage. Fifteen percent stapled 35, seventy-three percent stapled 34 and eleven percent was assigned a staple of 33.

Micronaire readings were mostly in the base range. Sixty-six percent fell into the 3.5 to 4.9 range. Twenty-seven percent occurred in the 5.0 to 5.2 distribution range. Crop prospects remain good according to most reports. Defoliants were widely used and fields are mature and ready for the picker. Demand is strong and recently ginned cotton moves readily into trade channels. Prices received for uncommitted cotton range from 75 to 85 per pound for grades 51 and higher in medium staples. Farmers received from $90 to $100 per ton for cottonseed at the gin.

Merlyn J. Cook, Assistant Director for Regional Office at the Jackson VA Center, reported that 130,000 trained and used free entitlement during the year, or before. A total of 196,000, including 126,000 veterans and 70,000 servicemen, have received free entitlement since it became available to veterans in 1967, and servicemen in 1970.

Cook also noted that 428,000 educationally disadvantaged trainees (including 64,000 servicemen) have taken some form of G.I. Bill "catch-up" training since 1966.

"We make a special effort to encourage these veterans to take advantage of the G.I.

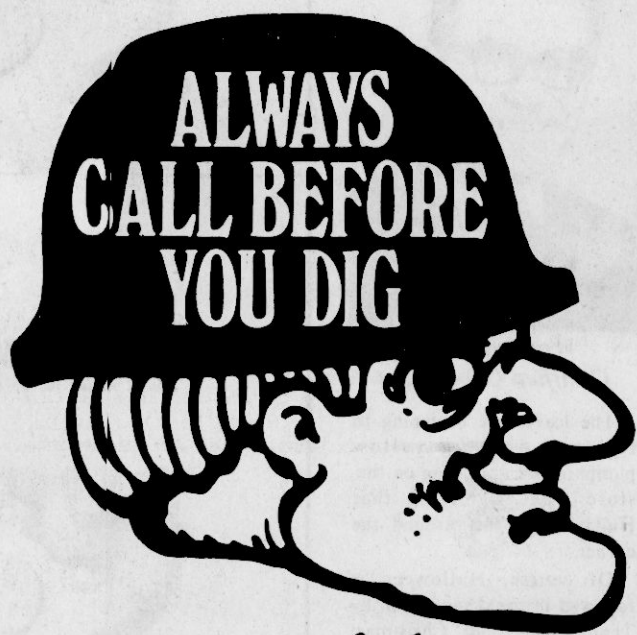

Bill because of the profound effect it can have on their lives," he pointed out.

A veteran or serviceman is considered educationally disadvantaged if he was a high school dropout, or completed high school but needs refresher, deficiency or other courses to qualify for advanced training.

Cook explained that under the free entitlement program, VA pays regular monthly training allowances but time spent training is not charged against the total G.I. Bill time the trainee is entitled to.

The pay is $220 a month for single veterans training full time -- more for trainees with dependents.

Flake Eaton's Celebrate 50th

Of much interest to Booneville and Prentiss County is the celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. Flake Eaton. Open house was held in their home in the Blackland community on October 7th, between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 p.m.

As the many friends and relatives arrived they were received in the living room by the couples eleven children: Hollis Eaton of Greensboro, N.C., John K. Eaton of Memphis, TN., Mrs. Elizabeth Gann of Booneville, Dexter Hoyle Eaton of Booneville., Mrs. Nita Craft of Hattiesburg, MS, Bonnard Eaton of Biggersville, MS, Howard Eaton of Laurel, MS, Rhett Eaton of Booneville, Mrs. Myrtle Smith of Booneville, Mrs. Sarah Hampton of Memphis, TN, and Dan Eaton of Booneville.

Each guest took time to congratulate the honored couple and to reminisce about old times. The 50 year old bride wore a long sleeve pink eyelet polyester dress with a gold mum corsage.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Myrtle Smith. The register book was open on a small round table and flanked by the lighted anniversary candle.

The guests were ushered down into the dining room where the daughters-in-law served. The dining table draped in a hand embroidered linen cloth was centered with a candleabra and gold tapers with gold mums and fern entwined. The beautiful five-tiered wedding cake had bright golden flowers clustered around the columns and was topped with a small flower arrangement in a gold bowl engraved "50th Anniversary". Punch was ladeled from a crystal punch bowl.

Diane Gann, Pam Craft and Sheila Craft, granddaughters, displayed the lovely gifts.

Flake and Lois Padgett Eaton were united in marriage September 6, 1923 in the home of Andy Geno of the Jumpertown community by

Business Official Predicts Swing Back to Competition

The pendulum of political-economic thinking, frustrated by four decades of "too much government," is swinging once again and corrective action is now at work in our nation, Donald A. Gaudion, chairman, Sybron Corp., Rochester, N.Y., said recently.

Mr. Gaudion, who is vice chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers, cited increasing support for the philosophy that the public interest can be served better by the free play of competitive forces than by the imposition of rigid government regulation.

He pointed out that for the last forty years businessmen, labor leaders, ecologists, re-

Booneville Man Cited, Space Work

MARSHALL SPACE FLIGHT CENTER, Ala. -- A Booneville man has been cited for the role he played in the Skylab space station program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

He is Charles Davis, 1110 9th Street, Decatur, Ala. Davis is a supervisory engineering technician at the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center, the organization responsible for the development of Skylab.

Davis received the "Director's Commendation" from the Marshall Center's Director, Dr. Rocco A. Petrone, expressing appreciation for his "dedicated service" to the Center and the Skylab program.

The Skylab, which weighs 100 tons, is America's first space station. It was launched May 14 and is being occupied in Earth orbit by successive three-man crews for a total of five months.

Davis who has worked at the Marshall Center since June 1959, was graduated from Burton High School in 1939 and attended Sunflower Jr. College.

Davis and his wife Mae have two children, John 26 and Lynda 22.

Skylab, about the size of a small three-bedroom house, orbits the Earth at 270 miles altitude. Some 90 different experiments are being conducted by the first U. S. manned orbital research facility; the emphasis is on the practical benefits that space research can bring to man.

The Saturn family of launch vehicles, which launched the space station and later the separate three man crews, was developed under direction of the Marshall Center, where several other major space projects are under way, including the reusable Space Shuttle scheduled to be in use before the end of the decade.

NASA, of which the Marshall Center is a part, observed its 15th anniversary October 1, 1973. The theme for this anniversary year is "Service to Mankind". NASA was created by Congress October 1, 1958.

It pays to make daily checks for proper tire inflation when towing a trailer, says the Tire Industry Safety Council. Shifting weight in the towing vehicle and the trailer can affect tire air pressure requirements.

Agricultural-ly Speaking

By Kenneth Geno

Each year during the cotton harvesting season thousands of bales of cotton are grown and left behind in the field by improperly adjusted cotton pickers, according to Kenneth Geno, teacher of agriculture at Prentiss County Vo-Tech School.

He further indicates that this is a tremendous loss to the economy of the State and Prentiss County. In some cases it can make the difference in whether the farmer makes a profit.

Mechanical cotton pickers are designed to harvest 97 percent of the cotton on a stalk under good field conditions and when properly adjusted. Many of the adjustments are relatively easy for the operator to make. For example, stalk lifters must be set properly. Stalk lifters pick up low lying limbs and guide them into the picking unit. When not adjusted properly, cotton is lost.

Other adjustments that cotton pickers may need include spindle moisture regulation

Octane Ratings Must Be Posted

A spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service today issued background information on octane ratings required to be posted, along with ceiling prices, on retail gasoline pumps across the nation.

At the present time, nationwide octane posting is required under Economic Stabilization Program (ESP) regulations. The posting requirement is designed to alert motorists to the relationship between the antiknock quality of gasoline and the price. A decrease in octane would equal a price increase without a commensurate decrease in price.

The spokesman also noted: --Octane rating numbers are a measure of the ability of gasoline to resist engine knock characteristics. The octane which should be used depends on the engine. The efficient and economical operation of a car does not necessarily mean that the highest possible octane be used.

--The public is asked to monitor octane ratings and prices and to report any lowering in octane without corresponding changes in price to their local IRS office.

--The posted octane rating is arrived at by adding a research octane rating number and a motor octane number and dividing the total by 2. Octane ratings of the gasoline must be certified to the gasoline dealer by his supplier. In general, the octane number posted under ESP's regulations will be 3 or 4 numbers below the research octane number, frequently used to identify gasoline octanes.

Highway Financing Now Under Study

A Mississippi Economic Council special committee is examining Mississippi's methods of highway finance.

The Highway Finance Committee, chaired by W. M. Beasley of Tupelo, has been involved in three areas of work -- a study of sales tax on gasoline, study of the collection of excise tax on gasoline, and the study of the utilization of highway taxes in Mississippi.

Recommendations approved by the committee in a meeting this week will be presented to the Council's General Committee on Highways when it meets November 7. The general committee is chaired by W. L. Norton of Jackson.

Participating in discussions of sales and excise taxes on gasoline were Doxey Fisher of Jackson, State Motor Vehicle Comptroller; Robert Smith of Jackson, State Motor Vehicle Comptroller's office; and Virgil Wheelless of Jackson, State Tax Commission.

Member of the MEC's Special Committee on Highway Finance is C. M. Whitaker Jr. of Booneville.

Rienzi Municipal Building Dedicated With Open House

Formal opening of the Rienzi Municipal Building, consisting of the Mayor's office, Conference room, Fire station and water department was a tremendous success, Sunday, October 14, at 2:30 o'clock.

A large group, estimated at over 200 gathered for a short program before the ribbon cutting and official opening of the building.

The invocation was given by Rev. Joe Holcomb, pastor of the Rienzi Baptist Church. The Mayor, Charles L. Dick, who is serving his third term as mayor of the town of Rienzi gave the welcome address and recognized the guest and also the people that had contributed to the building.

Venereal Disease Cases On Rise

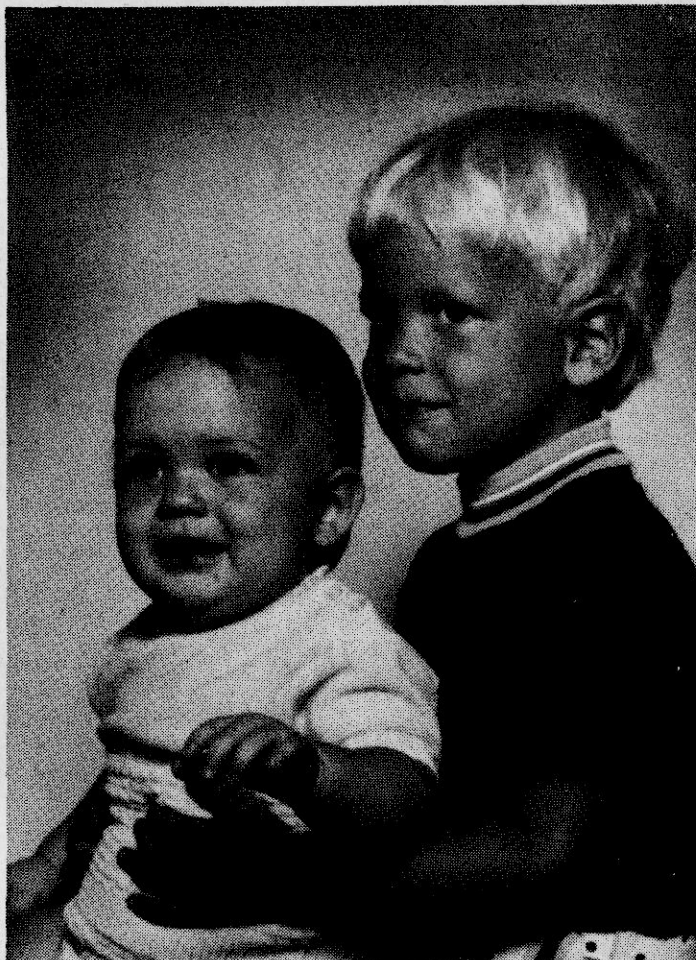

"Reported venereal disease cases continued to rise in Mississippi during fiscal year 1973," states Dr. Durward Blakey, Director of Preventable Disease Control, Mississippi State Board of Health.

Gonorrhea, which is presently of epidemic proportions throughout the nation, increased in the state by more than 3700 cases over last fiscal year with a total of 14,060 cases reported. Syphilis, which usually occurs in outbreaks, decreased slightly with 634 early cases reported; 7 fewer than last year.

Gonorrhea and syphilis are spread almost exclusively by sexual exposure. Persons having genital sores or discharges, or even people who suspect possible exposure to such lesions are urged to seek attention from a doctor or local health department.

The party will last from 6:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. on Halloween night. The gathering point for the participating witches, warlocks and other assorted monsters will be the B.T.A. Building on Sunflower Street.

As the Community mourns the passing of Mr. Tom Burress, I wish to extend heartfelt condolences on behalf of the Community to the family of the late Mr. Burress. Mr. Burress died this past week and the funeral was held last Sunday.

Spotlight this week on two Black men. Mr. Jerry Christian and Mr. Joseph Fields. Both of Sunflower, these two young Blacks represent the embodiment of high ideals and lofty aspirations in and for the Black community of Booneville.

The first of our spotlight duo is Jerry Christian. The son of Mr. Ernest Christian of Youngstown, Ohio and Mrs. Ada Christian of Sunflower, Jerry is currently a senior at the University of Mississippi in Oxford. He was graduated from the Wick Anderson High School with honors in 1969. He is now fulfilling pre-medical school requirements at Ole Miss and plans to be a doctor. Upon completion of his goal, Mr. Christian plans to bring his practice home. The fact that he is now a senior at Ole Miss and the achievements that he has already made, set him apart from the average. He stands out as a drum major for young aspiring Blacks, and as an example of significant achievement. Congratulations are in order, best wishes and good luck.

The second member of the Spotlight duo is Mr. Joseph Fields. He is the eldest son of Miss Joyce Fields of Sunflower. Joseph, having completed a two year pre-medicine curriculum at Northeast Mississippi Jr. College, is currently working at the Northeast Mississippi Hospital as he awaits acceptance by Mississippi State University. ## Forestry Related Products Generate $1.6 Billion Tearly

Each year forestry and related products generate approximately 1.6 billion dollars in total spending in Mississippi. . . . total spending that goes into income paid to Mississippians for growing, marketing, harvesting, manufacturing and the final use of wood products.

Totally, forestry accounts for approximately one-third of our states total economy. That's correct; there's a lot riding on Mississippi's forest, and we all have a stake in it. . . . Let's keep our forest lands producing valuable timber crops by keeping them well-stocked with vigorously growing trees. Now is the time for Prentiss County landowners to begin stocking their wooded acres, cutover lands, and idle acres with future timber crops.

The Mississippi forestry commission's annual tree seedling sale is currently underway in the county. Seedling orders may be placed either at county forester Tom Carter's office or at the local lookout tower.

If a landowner has any questions concerning what species of tree to plant on a particular are, or how many seedlings would be needed to plant an area, contact your Mississippi Forestry Commission county forester. He can answer your questions with professional answers and he'll be glad to be of assistance.

CAPITAL BRIEFS

COOL THE ECONOMY— Discussing the rise in prime interest rates, Rep. H. H. Gross (R-Iowa) said, "This nation is facing a financial crisis. Inflation is still shredding the economy, and how much higher is it proposed to increase interest rates in an effort to stop it? There are at least a few in Congress, including this member, who are absolutely convinced that higher and still higher interest rates will never put out the flames of inflation.

from the Mayor's Desk

There is a natural gas shortage in Booneville.

We are allotted so much gas per day and each time we go over this allotment, it costs the City in the form of a penalty. Last year we went over this allotment four days and it cost the City $35,000.00. There seems to be no relief for at least the next four years. For this reason, there will be no new gas customers hooked up at this time. It's not that we don't want your business, but we just don't have the gas available.

Just two weeks ago, we had a large plant that wanted to move into our new Industrial Park and employ around six hundred people, but it had to move on because we could not furnish them with gas. The butane-propane situation is the same as the natural gas. We urge all builders and people planning to build new homes to please check on this situation first. The only means of heat available at this time is electricity. Please don't make it hard on me and the aldermen by asking for favors because it just cannot be done.

We do have our new 200-acre Industrial Park which we have having preliminary studies made as to the best way to lay this out as far as roads and the utilities are concerned.

Our garbage situation is no better. We are trying to lease this service to a private concern. (They will have to provide the sanitary land fill, furnish the machinery to cover the garbage and also furnish the labor to do this job.) The board is still taking this issue under advisement.

We finally have a dog ordinance passed. This will be put into effect as soon as the necessary papers can be printed. It takes a lot of red tape to pick up dogs and dispose of same according to the law. Bear with us a little longer.

We are in the process of cleaning up vacant lots and hauling cars off of same. Most of you people have been very cooperative in this matter, but there are always some who have to learn the hard way. We have had to clean off several lots ourselves. So, at the end of the year when you pay your taxes, you will find this added amount for you to pay.

We are planning on paving two more streets before the money runs out and the bad weather catches us. These two streets will be Old Highway 45 past the high school and George Edd Allen Drive from Highway 45 to Highway 4 West.

Cotton To Remain 'King'

Cotton is expected to remain "King" of Mississippi row crops this year with projected gross income of $428 million.

However, soybeans have mounted a surprising challenge to cotton's supremacy with a $306 million estimated gross income for the 1973 crop year. This figure represents an increase of 55 percent over 1972 soybean income, and gives a two-crop total of $3 1/4 billion.

The projected income for cotton is based on a normal growing season and an estimated yield equal to the previous five-year average in the state.

The Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service (MCLRS) indicates that farmers have planted 1,420,000 acres of cotton. About 1,372,000 of these acres should be harvested this fall.

With an average yield of 613 pounds of lint, farmers should gross about $243 per acre, excluding government payments. This is based on a price of 34 cents per pound for lint and 3.5 cents per pound for seed. Sales of lint and seed for 1973 should total $333 million.

Government payments earned by producers will be lower this year because of the 13 percent reduction in the base acreage allotment. However, government payments should reach the $95 million mark, which will increase the value of the state's cotton crop to the projected $428 million.

This represents a slight increase over the $426 million income for the 1972 crop and is enough to keep cotton in the "Number One" spot. The value of this year's soybean crop is expected to be more than $100 million higher than last year's $197 million crop.

According to the MCLRS report, farmers have planted 2,750,000 acres of soybeans. Of this amount, 2,662,000 should be harvested this fall.

Using the 1968-1972 average yield of 23 bushels per acre and a price of $5 per bushel, farmers should gross $115 per acre. This per acre average income combined with the expected harvested acreage yields $306 million.

The expected gross income will be an all-time high for the soybean enterprise in Mississippi. Since 1963, income from soybean production in the state has increased from $65 million to this year's expected high. This makes soybeans the "miracle" crop of the state during the past decade.

Questions about the

Food Stamp

Program

This column is prepared by the Food Assistance Division in cooperation with the Informational Services Unit of the Mississippi State Department of Public Welfare, Max M. Cole, Commissioner.

Q. Why do I Have to Pay for Food Stamps?

A. Actually, you are really putting money aside and receiving extra money for doing so. It's like paying an insurance premium each month, e. g., you are paying an amount to insure that you have a larger amount to spend on food.

Q. Food Stamps Cost Too Much.

A. You are really swapping your food money for a different kind of money, and more of it. Since you must spend money for food anyway, doesn't it make sense to swap some of this food money for more food money?

Q. Why Can't I Buy Soap, Paper Products and Cigarettes with Food Stamps? I Always Put Them on my Grocery Bill.

A. Food stamps are meant to provide you with more money to buy better food. This means better health for you. If you buy food stamps, you will have extra money to buy these other items.

Q. I Don't Spend as Much on Food as the Food Stamps Cost.

A. If you were to keep up each week with the amount of money you spend on food items, it would be much more than the price of your food stamps. You should keep up with the number of times you go the grocery store and the number of times you send someone else to pick up a loaf of bread or a gallon of milk. This all adds up. Most of the time you THINK you spend a lot less than you actually do.

Q. I Can't Buy All that Food at One Time.

A. The Food stamp coupons are just like money. They can be spent at any time and you can spend as many as you want of the ones issued to you. However, the wise shopper will spread the food stamps out to last until it is time to buy food stamps again.

Remember, we are trying to answer these questions in a general way and that when a person applies for food stamps his individual situation is considered. If you think you may be eligible to receive food stamps, please contact your local Welfare Department. They will be happy to talk with you.

'58 Booneville Class Meets

The 1958 Senior Class of Booneville High School met Booneville Community Center recently at 5 p.m. for 2 hours of fellowship.

Twenty-nine classmates plus companions and children gathered to review the happenings since May 1958.

At 7 p.m. most of the group went to the Wagon Wheel

Cafeteria for dinner. Following dinner Harold Galloway, Class President, served as master of ceremonies for the brief business and for the program.

The class prophecy was read, and each classmate gave a brief history of his past 15 years. The following

Showers Slow Cotton Picking Down In State

MEMPHIS -- Cotton picking built momentum this week in North Mississippi.

Recent showers kept the harvest from moving into full swing, reports Marcus P. Talbot, Jr., Officer in Charge of the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service, Cotton Division Classing Office, Memphis, Tennessee. Fields are still green and those that have been defoliated earlier now have some second growth. A period of sunny weather is now needed to get the crop in.

Farmer offerings increased somewhat as the harvest progressed. Trading was concentrated in the grades of 51 through 31 in staples of 34 or 35. Prices for these qualities varied from 78 to 85 cents per pound on both country and central markets. Prices were firm and demand exceeded supplies. Much of the cotton now reaching the market is being delivered against contract agreements made earlier. Gin yard prices for cotton seed were around $100.00 per ton over the territory.

The Memphis Classing Office worked six days last week to speed class cards back to the farmer. For the week ended October 12, around 17,500 samples were classed for North Mississippi farmers. This is down rather sharply from the 28,600 samples classed during a comparable period last year.

Quality of recent classings held up well. Sixty percent graded 41 and higher and 17 percent classed grade 51. Staple length averaged 34.1 for the season. Micronaire readings occurred most frequently in the 3.5 to 4.9 grouping. Breaking strength averaged 83 thousand pounds per square inch.

2 County Schools In STAR Program

The Mississippi Economic Council, the State Chamber of Commerce, has announced that Prentiss County is represented in MEC's 1973-74 Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition (Star) Program.

The announcement was made by D. E. Rozier of Jackson, chairman of the program, which is a project of the Council's Committee on Education.

High schools participating in the Star Program from Prentiss County are: Booneville High at Booneville, Wheeler High at Wheeler.

Two hundred fifty-two schools participated in 1972-73.

The Star Program emphasizes the importance of scholastic achievement and encourages greater efforts in this direction by Mississippi students. The program also honors the teaching profession.

To qualify for participation in the Star Program, students must be regularly enrolled seniors in an accredited public or private Mississippi high school. They must have taken the American College Test (ACT) in their junior or senior year.

In each high school, the two students who receive the highest grades on the test are eligible. From these two students, the one having the higher scholastic average during his or her first semester senior year is named the school's Star Student and will receive the Star award.

Each Star Student is asked to designate the qualified Mississippi teacher, regardless of grade taught, who in the Star Student's opinion, made the greatest contribution to his or her scholastic achievement. To qualify, a Star Teacher must be an active classroom teacher in either a public or private school or a retired teacher.

Star Student and Teacher awards will be presented before a student assembly in the spring.

"NUCLEAR" FOOTBALL—Scientists at the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge National Laboratory have found that the nucleus of the uranium atom, once thought to be shaped like a golf ball, actually resembles a misshapen football. Shown above is a model of the nucleus.

A Nuclear World

Until man ventured into outer space, most people believed that the Earth somewhat resembled the shape of an orange. Now, that's changed. Once the astronauts looked at the Earth they found that not only is it not flat, as we have accurately suspected, but also, that it is not shaped like an orange either. Instead, it is somewhat pear-shaped.

In a similar fashion, the scientific exploration of inner space—the atomic world—has changed our thinking about the shape of that once unseen world. For many years the nucleus, or core, of the uranium atom—the source of nuclear energy—was visualized on classroom blackboards as spherical, somewhat resembling a golf ball. "Not so," says a team of scientists at the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge National Laboratory (ORNL) in Tennessee. The nuclei of uranium atoms actually resemble misshapen footballs. Their work enabled them to construct a model of the uranium nucleus—the central part of the atom which constitutes almost all the atom's mass and weight.

The ORNL experiments showed that when an alpha particle heads straight for a nucleus, a strong repulsion (due to electrical forces) develops between the two. In order to get as far from the alpha particle as possible, the nucleus turns itself around. This adds energy to the nucleus and starts it tumbling.

Artificial Controls Distort Economy Says Tire Executive

Government price controls turn the public's eye from the real causes of inflation—huge government spending, over-issue of currency and economically unjustified wage practices, according to Richard A. Riley, president of The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company.

A supporter of free market controls, Riley labeled government controls as "artificial," and questioned their distorting effects on American industry's production and distribution.

"Beyond the lack of understanding," Riley said, "business is being blamed for inflation and our government has tried various forms of price control as a remedy."

Riley pointed out his concern for the lack of belief in America's economic system and in business and industry in general.

"The free enterprise system is the most efficient production system ever devised," and is needed more than ever "in a world where poverty and food shortages abound," he emphasized.

The free enterprise market is the best means for organizing and coordinating the skills and abilities of man, the Firestone executive said.
