'Look And Listen'

TUPELO, Miss.—A Mississippi National Guard officer urged Tupelo area residents "to look and listen" before firing at a UFO.

According to Lieutenant Colonel Martin Hollis, the craft may be a friendly guard helicopter on a required night training mission.

Hollis encouraged skywatchers to wait before aiming a gun at a UFO. "If a person will use sound judgment, he can easily identify a helicopter at night," he said.

"We only fly from 1,500 to 3,000 feet high and if you will just wait, you can hear the blades and the whine of the engine," he said. "They are easy to spot."

He offered some information on night markers of crafts: helicopters have a green light on the right, red on the left, white on the tail, two white lights on top and one or two red rotating beacons. All except the beacons blink.

The crafts usually fly within a 50 mile radius of Tupelo. The night missions are a required part of routine practice flying for guard pilots.

Decorations Available At Auxiliary Bazaar

The list keeps growing! More crafts and foods are being prepared every day for the Holiday Harvest Bazaar.

On November 8, from 3 to 6 p.m., Booneville Junior Auxiliary (Provisional) members will pack the Community Center with such an array of handmade articles and culinary delights that shoppers of all ages, shapes, and sizes will have a field day.

Men can choose beautiful Christmas and year-round gifts for wives, mothers, sisters, and children. Ladies will have a difficult time deciding which toys to buy for their children, which holiday decorations will best suit their homes, which gifts would most please their families and friends, and which mouth-watering morsels will best complement their holiday and everyday menus.

Grandmothers, too, will solve their holiday and everyday gift problems by selecting from a large assortment of stocking stuffers, children's toys, and playthings.

Holiday decorations have been in the making for several months. Junior Auxiliary members have put their skills to the test to turn out Christmas wall panels and Banners, tree ornaments, mail baskets, wreaths, candles, bell pulls, table runners, kissing balls, and door knob decorations.

Non-seasonal crafts are of every size and variety. Needlepoint and embroidery will adorn everything from purses to pillows to stuffed animals. An assortment of wall plaques and decorative boxes would make excellent gifts for friends. An Afghan for Baby, a child-sized coat rack for Johnny's room, a crocheted shawl for Mom, a cross-stitched pillow for Grandmother—this is just a sample of the unique, hand-crafted articles.

For the grand finale, how about some of James Stanley's peanut brittle or John Henry's fudge? Yes, the men have contributed their cooking talents to the Bazaar and Junior Auxiliary members are grateful. In addition, members themselves have been cooking all kinds of delectable treats for the table—from pies and cakes to jellies and pickles, from cookies and cheese puffs to beef stroganoff.

November 8 is a date worth remembering. From 3 until 6 p.m. are the hours. The Community Center awaits all for the Junior Auxiliary's Holiday Harvest Bazaar!

IN MAS MEETING

Assessment, Unit System Discussed

Areas of conflict were drawn here the past Monday night in one of four Mississippi Association of Supervisors' meetings.

The meeting, held on the Northeast Miss. Jr. College campus here, was designed as an open meeting, and therefore set the stage for arguments from many sides on a variety of subjects.

From tax assessment equalization to the county unit system, legislators and county governmental officials expressed their personal opinions.

The meeting was one of the four held by the MAS Monday in response to meetings held by the Mississippi Economic Council last week in which MEC's legislative program for the coming year, and especially its backing of a mandatory county unit system, were discussed.

Among the audience of more than 50 people were 20 of the 25 supervisors which represent counties which support Northeast, and six area legislators.

Use Only Nickels In New Racks...

The Banner-Independent has received several new newspaper racks.

And, for the convenience of our readers, we have placed them in convenient locations around town.

Although they are new, the four racks are different from those of the past. In our ever-endavoring try to relate to the public the necessity of using all nickels (three) in the racks... we have purchased four such racks that will only accept nickels.

Yes, it is that simple. If you place any coin except a nickel in the new racks, it will not open... and therefore you'll have to punch the "Coin Return" button to get your money back.

In using these new racks, and all our racks, please use ONLY NICKELS.

State Capitol Moves To Tupelo

FOR MEETING WITH PEOPLE

Governor Bill Waller announced today that time has been set aside for him to meet with people from each of the ten counties in Northeast Mississippi when the Capitol moves there on November 6.

The Governor, other state officials, and state agency heads will set up their offices in the Tupelo High School Gym Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

The Governor's announcement said, "Although it will be difficult to keep an exact schedule we have tried to set ased pre-announced times so we can see people from every county."

The announced schedule is: Alcorn County—2:00, Chickasaw County—2:20, Itawamba County—2:40, Lee County—3:00, Monroe County—3:20, Pontotoc County—3:40, Prentiss County—4:00, Tippah County—4:20, Tishomingo County—4:40, Union County—5:00.

The Governor's Office said the schedule would have to be flexible in order to accommodate as many people as possible. He said they expected a large turnout from the

Tupelo area and provisions were being made to allow as many people as possible to visit with the Governor in his office.

County Has 12 Governmental Bodies

How large is the governmental establishment in Prentiss County, compared with that in other communities across the country?

How many separate governmental bodies have been set up to administer the affairs of the local population?

According to a special survey conducted by the Census Bureau, there are more such agencies in operation locally than in most other areas.

The facts and figures are brought out in a 475-page report, just released by the Department of Commerce, entitled "Governmental Organization." It is the first study of the kind since 1967.

Such data is compiled every five years to determine what it takes, in number and makeup of governmental units, to provide residents of each community with school services, water supply, police and fire protection, sanitation, health and welfare needs and the many other required services.

In Prentiss County, it is shown, these functions are carried on through 12 governmental bodies, 8 of which have property-taxing power. In 1967 there were 10.

A breakdown of the total reveals that there are 2 municipal governments in the county, no township governments, 3 independent school districts, the county government itself and 6 special districts.

In terms of the population served, the number of these public agencies is greater than in most localities, the survey shows. Locally, there is one such agency for every 1,675 residents.

This compares with one for every 2,676 in the rest of the United States and with one for 2,785 in the State of Mississippi.

Nationally, there were 78, 269 local governmental units in the country at the beginning of last year, a decrease of 3,030 since 1967. The change came principally in the number of independent school districts, which dropped from 21,782 to 15,782 in the period. The reduction was due, for the most part, to reorganization and consolidation of districts.

On the other hand, the number of special districts with functions relating to bridges, toll roads, soil conservation, public housing and the like—has been on the rise. They now total 23,886, as against 21,264 in 1967.

Marriage Is What You Make It...

DEAR PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: My husband and I have been married for eight years. Frankly, our relationship is boring. We do the same things day after day. During the first year, everything was so exciting. I've heard that, although a couple may be in love at marriage, after a while they "fall out of love" and settle down to a very dull, uneventful existence.—A.R., Chicago

PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: Unfortunately, there are marriages like yours. However, this is not the way it should be, and there are many couples who find marriage very rewarding and fulfilling.

Marriage is what you make it. If, after marriage, you think happiness is automatic and sit back waiting for it to happen, it may never come. You and your husband have to be constantly working at the relationship. Enjoyment comes through living for each other, sacrificing, complete honesty and trust, and doing things together. Plan more activities together; attend night classes, dine out more often. You didn't mention having children, but if you do, have more outings as a family. Develop a hobby both of you can enjoy such as golf, fishing, bridge, or something similar. Get active in church and join its activities. There are so many things a couple can do to keep from getting bored.

All couples have to work at having an eventful, interesting marriage. It's up to both of you; no one else can do it for you. It can be done. If it is, you will find marriage one of the most rewarding of all relationships.

GENERATION GAP

DEAR PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: What is the generation gap everyone is talking about? Do you feel there is one, and if so, do you think it is good or bad? —J. J., Miami

PROFESSOR WILLIAMS: Yes, I do think there is a generation gap. In fact, one has always existed between parents and their children. The generation gap, basically, is a difference in thinking, attitudes, and types of behavior between young people representing their generation, and their parents, that of another.

When I was a teenager, I thought my parents were old-fashioned in certain attitudes and beliefs. Our four sons think that my wife and I are "out of it" at times. Styles change, types of recreation and dances are different, values and behavior change. Any society such as those found in highly technological areas, is subject to much social change. Rapid social change, then, sets the stage for a generation gap.

Whether the generation gap is "good" or "bad" usually involves principles of behavior which're defined as good or bad, based on whether it contributes or detracts from the well-being of the individual and his group. Ideals such as honesty, truthfulness, and integrity should not change from generation to generation. If these principles are ignored or made relative to the situation, then certain behavior becomes wrong and, thus, makes certain aspects of the generation gap questionable. A very good illustration is that many parents believe morality is absolute; many young people believe it is relative. This presents a generation gap difficult to bridge. However, as a generalization, the generation gap is neither necessarily good nor bad. It represents social change involving dress, music, philosophy, and general lifestyles from those of an older generation to that of a younger one.

Pause For Power

The Man Who Stands Alone

Faith in Jesus Christ is action based on the sufficiency of the evidence. And there is an immense body of evidence, both inside and outside the Bible, that supports the Biblical proposition, Jesus Christ is God.

There is one area of evidence that is the most powerful of all, and that evidence is the supernatural character of Jesus Christ Himself. And the supernatural character of Jesus Christ includes at least three supremely important supernatural qualities.

First, there is his supernatural life. In all the pages of human history, there has only been one perfect Man... and that Man was Jesus Christ. Now, the Bible emphatically declares that sin has infected the entire human race. The Bible says, "All have sinned... There is none righteous, no, not one... There is none that doeth good, no, not one." Both history and human experience have authenticated the truthfulness of these Biblical statements. The entire human race, with but one exception, is involved in this terrible plight of sin. Jesus Christ alone is the solitary exception to this. Jesus Christ alone is the one man in the entire history of the human race whose life was free from every taint of sin.

And, surprisingly, this is the witness of both his enemies and his friends. The enemies of Jesus followed him from place to place, watched him with kee-eyed endeavor in order to entrap him in word or deed. He challenged his enemies publicly, saying, "Which of you convicteth me of sin?" This challenge was never met, although he was surrounded by ruthless hostility throughout almost all his earthly ministry.

But there is also the witness of his friends. What was their opinion of Jesus? Not one of the disciples ever pointed to the faintest shadow upon his character. Those who knew him best unite in testifying to the absolute sinlessness of Jesus. Peter calls him, "A Lamb without blemish and without spots" (I Peter 1:19). And the Apostle John, who emphasizes in his epistles the universality of sin, says of Jesus, "... in Him is no sin" (I John 3:5). Here then is the supernatural life.

Second, there is his supernatural resurrection, and this supernatural resurrection authenticated all his claims to equality with God.

It is crystal-clear from the New Testament that Jesus Christ made staggering claims for Himself. Jesus said, "I and the Father are one" (John 10:30). In another place Jesus said, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life; no man cometh unto the Father but by Me" (John 14:6). And once again Jesus Christ said of Himself, "I am come down from heaven." And these claims of Jesus Christ to be God incarnate could be multiplied many times.

The question now arises, Were these claims true? What proof do we have that these claims are valid? As a matter of fact, they are authenticated by several lines of evidence.

The greatest proof of all, however, for the deity of Jesus Christ is his resurrection. The Bible says that Jesus Christ "... was declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead" (Romans 1:4). The resurrection did not make him the Son of God. The resurrection proved him to be the Son of God. This word, demonstrated, ("declared") in our King James Version) is in the Greek Testament a form of the Greek word, horizo. We get our English word, horizon, from this Greek word. The resurrection of Jesus Christ placed Jesus clearly on the horizon as God's eternal Son. All during his life there was unbelief on the part of his enemies, and doubts on the part of his friend, as to his Divine character. But the empty tomb and the resurrection appearances set Jesus Christ clearly out on the horizon as God's eternal Son. The resurrection of Jesus Christ, therefore, authenticated all His claims to divine dignity and to perfect equality with God the Father.

Finally, there is the supernatural influence of Jesus Christ. No man in human history has had the influence upon mankind as has had Jesus Christ. It has been the gospel of Jesus Christ that has built hospitals and founded orphanages and established schools and abolished slavery and lifted the state of women. It has been the gospel of Jesus Christ that has transformed the lives of thieves and of alcoholics and of prostitutes.

Extension 4-H Youth Agent

4-H USES MAGIC FORMULA IN NUTRITION EDUCATION

Right side up or upside down, the 4-4-3-2 formula is a magical way to well-nourished young people everywhere. And the magic formula is finding wide acceptance among the 664,000 boys and girls enrolled in the national 4-H food - nutrition program.

They find the 4-4-3-2 formula an easy way to learn and practice good eating habits. Borrowing from the nutritionists' daily food guide, the formula suggests: four servings from the fruit and vegetable group; four from the bread and cereal group; three from the milk group; and two servings from the meat group.

Although the 4-4-3-2 approach to well-nourished young people is not new, the magic aspects have taken on new meaning. The Cooperative Extension Service which conducts 4-H together with General Foods Corporation and the National 4-H Service Committee have come up with a series of educational manuals.

Starting with the magic approach in the unit, Tricks for treats, the young people move into All American Foods, and Meals for Today the Easy Way. A guide for volunteer leaders supports each unit.

Planning, preparing and serving meals and snacks are covered in the attractive books. 4-H members enrolled in food-nutrition also learn about buymanship, nutrition and foods and customs of America and other countries.

Adding another dimension to the national 4-H food-nutrition program is General Foods Corporation's support through incentive and recognition awards. The company provides scholarships to six national winners and an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress to a winner from each state. General Foods will host the group at the national 4-H event in Chicago.

Four medals of honor are offered in each county. Boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 are eligible to participate in 4-H including the food - nutrition program.

For more information about 4-H participation, contact the local county extension office.

There is, ultimately, only one way to account for the uniqueness of Jesus of Nazareth, and that is ----Jesus Christ is God.

Farm Agency Asks Farmers To 'Continue Conservation Progress'

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will focus increased attention on protecting and improving the quality of the environment as it urges farmers to produce for growing domestic and foreign markets. USDA agencies have been asked by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz to give "first priority" to helping farmers and ranchers with their conservation plans.

Secretary Butz, in a recent statement, said, "As the No. 1 guardians of the nation's natural resources, farmers have a responsibility to themselves and future generations to use the soil wisely. Farmers have made great progress in the last 35 years in conservation farming, and with good planning they can beat the increased demand for food in 1974 without stepping backwards."

Farmers are expected to bring several million acres of former 'set-aside' land back into crop production in 1974, as they did in 1973, to meet increased demand for agricultural commodities, and we anticipate that many producers will farm more intensively. As Secretary Butz emphasized, it is vital that we protect the land from soil erosion with proven conservation practices, such as contour plowing, strip cropping, terracing and minimum tillage.

In providing an opportunity for farmers to produce in accordance with market demand virtually all farm program restrictions have been lifted, but certain environmental factors are a part of the program. For example, commodity programs announced for 1974 provide an incentive for farmers to maintain land in conserving use for haying or grazing by qualifying vegetative cover in preserving a farm's allotment history. Also, producers who received cost-sharing assistance in establishing conservation measures must maintain the practice for the full life-span established for the practice (for 3, 5, or 10 years.) Otherwise, they must refund practice payments received on the acreage where the conservation practice is destroyed.

The following basic recommendations are offered to farmers putting more land into production in 1974:

1. Select the most promising land for more intensive farming.

2. Develop or update conservation plans for farmed acreage and apply soil and water conservation practices on a schedule.

3. Use crop production practices that will minimize erosion, such as minimum tillage.

4. Leave in grass and trees land not suited for intensive use.

Specific program information on reinstatement of the conservation cost-sharing program, REAP, for 1974, which will be for permanent-type conservation practices, and the phasing in of long-term conservation cost-sharing agreements, will be announced later this year. Producers will receive details on the program from the county ASCS office as soon as the information becomes available.

VA Questions And Answers

Q -- I am a recently discharged veteran with a service connected disability, who'd like to attend college under the Veterans Administration's vocational rehabilitation program. What benefits would I receive? (P.S. I have a wife and child.)

A -- If you attend full time, you will receive your tuition, fees, books and supplies, plus $248 monthly.

Q -- Is there a limit on how much I can pay for a home purchased with a loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration?

A -- No, but there is a limit on the amount of guaranty the agency can issue-- 60 percent, up to a maximum $12,500. Also, the loan can not exceed VA's appraised value of the property.

Q -- Do Veterans Administration hospitals and clinics take care of reservists injured reporting to, or returning from military training?

A -- Yes. VA provides medical care for injuries and illnesses which occur during travel time as specified in the reservist's military orders. Both active duty training and inactive duty training are considered active duty for this purpose.

Sheets Give Luxury Look

In Home Decorating A new idea in do-it-yourself home decorating starts with sheets. There are a fantastic number of patterns and colors to choose from, and certainly nothing could be easier to keep clean and fresh. Most important of all, they're inexpensive.

Whether sheets are turned into tablecloths, curtains or wallcoverings they still maintain the carefree ability to be machine-washed and dried with ease -- especially the no-iron varieties.

Another advantage of decorating with sheets is that the extra width means less sewing and piecing for large items such as circular tablecloths. Also, sheets are easy to sew, even for novices, and they are often more economical than comparable yard goods.

Curtains and draperies made with scallops, pleats, ruffles or gathers can give coordination and a face lift to any room in the house. Some sheets have decorative borders, so shower curtains and draperies have an instant edge that eliminates hemming.

Make dust ruffles for beds, a dressing table skirt and use leftover material to make matched closet accessories, fashion a curler caddy, outline a teenager's bulletin board or cover a wastebasket.

One or two sheets go a long way in the kitchen. Toaster cover, mixer cover, placemats, napkins, cafe curtains, and aprons can all be made to match. Make a simple hostess dress, skirt, or wide-legged pants in the same print.

Concealing problem wall areas and giving the room a warm luxury look may be accomplished by gathering or shirring sheets on a close-to-the-wall rod.

Christmas Shopping Do it now! Plan who you'll give Christmas gifts. Be sure to jot down how much money you can spend.

Check your list carefully for love gifts. Manage to share yourself. A love gift of service or talent might be the answer.

Add to or take from your gift list. Change to fit your needs. Make your money pay your way. Decide what gifts you'll make or create. List those you will buy. Make each one very personal and meaningful. Wrap and mail or send very early as a special holiday surprise.

Need help? Ask for your copy of "Shopping", Publication 732.

Dates to Remember Watch for the dates of two multi-county workshops on Landscaping and Christmas Ideas. Details are to be announced later.

Are there things you mean to do that you never seem to get around to? Oh, I don't mean simply cleaning a long neglected closet or a dress cut out and ready to sew weeks ago. I mean using our time and doing at least some of the things we know in our heart we should.

Visiting the older couple up the road, checking on a next door neighbor that's sick or calling a friend recently widowed. Or even jotting a card to an old friend.

We mean to do these little things. We really mean to - tomorrow for sure. All to often tomorrow doesn't come and its too late - then we are so sorry. We meant to visit with the old folks, we meant to write that note.

Why do we put off doing things? I'm certain I would head the list of possible "do-gooders" therefore I have to say we. Why do we put off things? Busy with our own families, our own little circle of friends and we think we don't have time. We don't have time - is that an excuse or a reason? Are we so entwined with our own families that we have no time left for anyone else? Someday, perhaps when we are old, sick, alone and our children off and gone we will know where the time has gone.

Assessment

Overby opened the meeting by suggesting the group discuss proposals for re-evaluation of all property in the state for the equalization of ad valorem taxes.

Speaking of the legislators who push the idea, Overby said, "These gentlemen think this is the thing we should do to be fair to everyone."

Overby said he felt he had to agree the people in his district that told him they didn't mind paying their taxes "if it's fair."

He pointed out, however, that some experts had estimated it would cost the state approximately $25 million to re-evaluate the land across the state.

Sen. Smith took the floor and told the group, "The state constitution calls for all land to be assessed at its actual value. If the legislature doesn't do something about it (equalization of taxes), any person could file suit to force equalization of taxes in the state."

State Senator Charlie McCoy of Wheeler, said the entire controversy about equalization of taxes came out of a U. S. Supreme Court ruling that said the state "has to sponsor schools on a basis other than ad valorem taxes unless the assessment system is uniform statewide."

The real confrontation didn't come, however, until the group began to discuss by a county engineer or road manager, as opposed to the beat system for road construction and maintenance now used by most counties.

Overby struck out against mandatory legislation which would force each county to the unit system of county government.

"I think personally, that they're trying to make all counties wear the same shoe."

He did point out, however, that a voluntary system might be acceptable.

"We're about 60-70 percent on the county unit system now in my county on paving, bridge building, and other major projects," he said.

The argument was made that the last MEC-supported bill which changed county government, the sheriff succession bill, had cost the counties a lot of money.

Overby asked each group for their comments on the unit system.

Sen. McCoy said, "I do not believe it is the prerogative of the legislature to force this system of government on the duly elected officials on the local level."

"I have not yet been shown that a single dime would be saved by the county unit system. Until I'm shown the county unit system is an economical one, I'll stand by the system we have now."

Overby asked Sen. Smith for his comments. Sen. Smith complied with a vicious attack on the present system of county government.

"We're still operating the way we did in the early twentieth century," he said. "Our counties are going bankrupt."

He said he didn't feel anyone, no matter how smart, could operate a district road system economically, noting that supervisors had too many other responsibilities.

"The supervisors need to let a man do that work so they can devote time to the other functions calling them," Smith commented.

A number of the supervisors present argued with Sen. Smith that, under the county unit system, three of the supervisors could gang up against the other two and keep their districts from getting any county money or road construction.

Sen. Smith replied, "I don't think that three supervisors will pick on two supervisors' districts. I just don't believe three supervisors are going to kick out two supervisors and take all the money."

One supervisor pointed out that allegations had been made in Coahoma County, which presently uses the county unit system, that discrimination did exist in the application of county funds. "I presume there are no discriminations now, in that case," Smith retorted. "I think there's discrimination as long as we're human beings."

Martha Carole White, Prentiss County's state representative, called for a statewide referendum on the question in a year or two.

"I feel like when the people go to the polls in the next election, it's a referendum on this very issue," she said.

Alcorn Board President T. A. Little said he didn't "know what's best on the county unit system."

"If that's what the people need, and the people want, and the people ought to have, I'm all for it," he said.

Ross Pharr, Prentiss County Supervisor, commented that he didn't believe you can compare counties, not even districts. "He went on to say that the citizens of Prentiss County 'must be satisfied, because they haven't complained to me. There's no one pushing for the Unit System here, but when they want something, they'll come to us.'"

"I don't envy their job," commented Thomas Keenum, attorney for the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors. He further related that "the supervisors have a tremendous job to do..."

Blue Devils Drop To Fulton

The pre-season favorite Booneville Blue Devils dropped their third loss of the season to the conference champion Fulton Indians Friday night.

In a hard-fought ballgame, the Blue Devils went down 28-13.

Both teams battled for the goal line during the first half, but seemingly neither could cross it... until the closing minutes of the first half. It marked the 19th consecutive win for the Indians and eliminated the pre-season favorite Blue Devils as a contender for the 1973 title.

Fulton moved within one victory of at least a share of the title, retaining its full-game lead over once-beaten Houston which stepped outside the conference for skirmishing.

Quick-stepping Willie McKinney scored twice for the Indians, as fullback Dale Stone and tailback Phil Ewing made one each. Mike Hill kicked all four extra points.

Running back Bill Spain and wingback Dwight Hastings got the Booneville six-pointers. Bill Ward made the lone conversion.

Fulton led 14-0 at halftime, after the teams had played on equal terms in the course of the opening period.

Stone set up the leadoff touchdown with a pass interception at his own 18-yard line. An 82-yard march followed as Fulton drew first blood.

Spain had produced the game's first scoring opportunity with a 61-yard run, but the pass interception wiped it out and the Indians got things after that.

Stone and McKinney took turns moving the football on the touchdown drive, quarterback Hal Miller helping too with a 16-yard pass to Ewing. McKinney scored from 20 yards away and Hill converted.

A short kickoff and a fumbled snap on fourth down gave the Indians filed position to widen the gap when they took possession at the Booneville 39-yard line.

McKinney broke to the Blue Devil four on the first play. Stone added two yards and Stone scored from one yard away. Hill made it 14-0 at halftime.

A pass interception, halfback John Williams doing the score for Booneville, set up a touchdown drive, the Blue Devils starting at the Tribe's 26-yard line.

Spain charged to the 10 on the first play and then scored from the one after fullback Charles Grizzard had made short yardage. Ward converted.

Fulton led 14-7 as the period ended.

The Indians went on the warpath for 70 yards to get the next touchdown as Stone, and McKinney delivered the yardage without interruption.

McKinney covered the last 23 yards and the Tribe was out of trouble. Hill converted.

Fulton's Wayne Haynes set the stage for the final Fulton tally when he latched onto an onside kick and the Tribe worked from the Booneville 36 yard line.

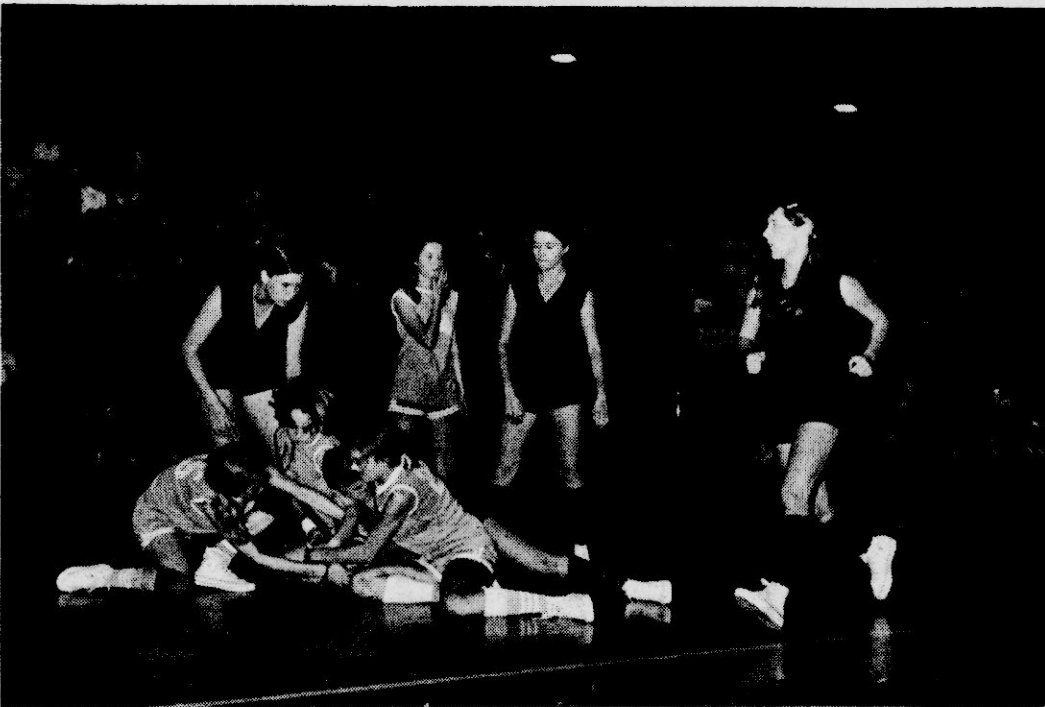

A clipping penalty stalled Fulton momentarily, but McKinney and Stone went back to work. Booneville drew a personal foul flag, but Ewing stuck the ball into the end zone from nine yards away.

Spain's 44-yard run helped set up the final Booneville tally, as he reached the Fulton six shortly after the kickoff. Halfback Jim Christian added yardage and Hastings scored from one yard out and the try for two failed.

Booneville defenders couldn't handle Fulton speed as the Indians stayed almost exclusively on the ground.

Spain provided a constant threat for the Blue Devils but the pass interception and a fumble cut off at least two scoring opportunities.

Wheeler Tops Thrasher

Ricky Gillentine The Eagles of Wheeler High School visited Thrasher's Rebels Friday night to capture two close victories.

Wheeler Bees took a 54-48 victory and in the night-cap Wheeler snatched a 77-73 decision from the Rebels. In the B-game half-time was all tied up, but the young eagles showed victorious progress and won the finish.

Barrett had 13 points and Roberts had 10 and Berryman was the only man with double figures, he had 10 points.

In the "A" team action, it was tied up 68-68 at the end of regulation time, but overtime put the eagles on top. Leon Earnest sacked 31; Willie Warren 15; and Lonnie Hoard had 14 points.

Wheeler's L. C. McGaha hit 18; R. McGaha 16, B. Woodruff 15 and Holland 14 points.

CITRINE? CERTAINLY

Citrine shares November with topaz; both are appropriate for this month's birthstone. Both are very popular, but topaz is much less plentiful. Both, however, are beautiful gemstones.

Citrine is an attractive variety of quartz. Its name comes from the French word for lemon, citron. It naturally occurs in yellow to red-orange. Orange-brown varieties are also correctly known as citrine.

Quartz, in its many varieties, is the most common single mineral on earth. So, of course, it is the most widely used as a gemstone. The ancient Greeks believed that the mineral was permanent, solidified ice. The Chinese believed that rock crystal quenched thirst when held in the mouth. This clear variety of quartz was almost universally held to have magic powers. It was often formed into gazing globes for foretelling the future. The Indians of North America and many tribes in South America held the same notion: A spirit dwelled within the crystal who spoke to the medicine men and prophets of the fate of the seeker.

Pure quartz is basically colorless and is, in this state, correctly called rock crystal. Rock crystal with air- or liquid-filled fractures that produce iridescence is called iris or rainbow quartz. Amethyst is perhaps the best known, violet to re-purple, variety of quartz. Smoky quartz is a beautiful Cairngorm quartz for the section of Scotland where it is found. And there is rose quartz, aventurine quartz, milky quartz, quartz cat's-eye and even—rarely—a star quartz.

Because large stones, often used as pendants, are popular once again, citrine is in vogue. The colored stone department at Way-Fil Jewelry should be on your itinerary when shopping for your late fall and winter wardrobe.

DEVILS RAMBLINGS

By
Becky Budlowe

The Devils played tough last Friday night but still were unable to beat the Fulton Indians. The final score was 28-13.

The B.H.S. Band got an excellent rating last Saturday at the Tupelo Marching Contest. Drum Majorette Cindy Caveness, the Flag Corps (Patty Garvin, Captain), and the Rifle Corps (Nola Scott, Captain) were rated Superior. Good job, Band!

This Saturday the Band will travel to Birmingham, Alabama, to participate in the Tarrant City Marching Festival. We wish the band "luck," as they go to show how good our Booneville High School Band is.

The Junior Class would like to thank everyone who bought a chance on the Raggedy Ann doll or a ticket to the Spaghetti Supper. This money will help the Juniors this year in their activities.

The Devils will travel again this time to play the Iuka Chieftains. I hope you will all come out and help support the Devils as our football season soon will be ending.

For Jumpertown Anthony Michaels bagged 20; Jeff T-reece 10; Ron Bauden 10; and Willie Anderson 12 points. Jerry Graham got 11; William Vance 16 and Jackie Stokes 21 for Blue Mountain. Jumpertown led at the half 37-27.

Jumpertown Gets Nod For Best Basketballers

By Ricky Gillentine
Once again it's time for basketball, the sport which has drawn the attention of Prentiss County people for years in the past.

As things usually get older the interest sometimes wears down and is given little consideration, but in this sport the interest has increased due to the tough county competition in the years past.

This year in order to stir the great interest of Prentiss County fans, each coach was asked to vote on five teams in the county according to his knowledge. There are six teams here in Prentiss County and each shall have a rating according to the number of votes it received.

The votes have been counted and ratings were CLOSE.

At the top of the list the New Site Royals were picked best, with Booneville's Blue Devils being a close follow-up. In third position are the Baldwin Bearcats. In fourth position are the Jumpertown Cardinals, while Wheeler's Eagles filled the fifth position and Thrasher's Rebels sixth.

Who is going to be best? This is a question no one person in the county can answer. The only way to get an answer to that is to wait until the tournaments start and teams begin to fall out. Booneville has been the winner of the Prentiss County tournament for the past two years; no county team has ever won this tournament three years in a row.

Booneville is presently the team with the best (past) county record with only one defeat, which was by New Site. There is a big question in many people's minds concerning our teams. Whoreally will be Number 1? This

Cotton Picking In High Gear

MEMPHIS, Cotton picking in North Mississippi moved into high gear, reports Marcus P. Talbot, Jr., Officer in Charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service, Cotton Division Classing Office, Memphis, Tennessee.

The flow of cotton to the gin is expected to increase sharply until the harvest peak is reached, possibly this week if weather conditions permit. Gin operation was steady and trailers accumulated causing trailer shortages at some points. Sample receipts jumped over last week and averaged about 4800 per day at the Memphis Classing Office. The largest proportion of recent classings was in grades 41 and higher. Grass reductions and light spotted grades were also fairly numerous.

Staple length on recent ginnings in the Memphis territory was predominantly staple 34. Mike ratings were concentrated in the 3.5 to 4.9 grouping.

Cottonseed prices were steady to slightly lower. Farmers received from $90 to $100 per ton at the gin. Grades on many early loads averaged below basis grade (100).

Demand eased slightly on both country and central markets and prices dropped sharply. In staples of 34 the following prices were reported early in the week: Grade 31 78c; Grade 41, 74-76c; Grade 51, 70 to 72 cents. Buyers were more cautious as a heavier volume and wider range of qualities reached the market. Most of the cotton currently being ginned moved directly to the buyer who contracted it prior to the harvest.

DRUG EDUCATION IN THE SCHOOLS

BY TED LEDBETTER
DRUG EDUCATION COORDINATOR
PRENTISS CO. DEPT. OF ED.

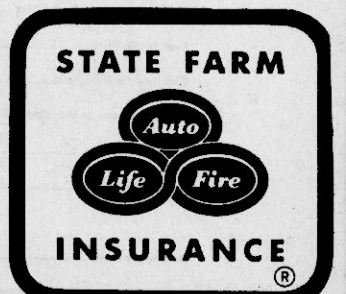

Alcohol is the most abused drug that we presently have in Prentiss County. Probably this abusiveness lies in conflicting philosophies and choices on the individual basis.

Too many educators have failed to present the risks and total effects because of biased opinions. The classroom teacher, minister, parent or educator should endeavor to assume an unbiased and objective attitude. It is important that young person be permitted to make his own decisions and choices, and a wise one will be made if the peer group supplies dependable information through thorough study. The scientific facts, about an established practice among approximately two-thirds of the adult population, should be given as well as the present day problems which are stemming from it. Forced opinions upon a group of young people will not work but all should strive to lead our young people in a direction where their choices will be wise ones.

Alcohol is a social problem which affects a majority of the people--both the abuser and the non user. However, some users do not see this and therefore, only one out of three drinks alcohol compared to 90% in certain urban areas. This is attributed to our high protestant membership which look at alcohol as a moral problem. Approximately 60%, however, of the protestant members drink compared to a higher percentage of Jews and Roman Catholic. These percentages are gained from preferences and not necessarily the regular attendants or members. Various reasons are given for drinking. Many love the beverage taste, but others are seeking answers to problems, satisfaction, excitement or escape. Whatever the reason, Alcohol is listed as one of the major drugs and the most abused drug in our country. Education cannot prevent alcoholism, but it can aide

Captain Scott Enters Rifle, Pistol Contest

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. -- Specialist Glenn H. Hoffer, Hummelstown, Pa., captured the Individual Rifle Championship at the Wilson Matches with an aggregate score of 1004-25, and Sergeant First Class Kenneth Buster, Billings, Mo., nailed down the pistol title for the second straight year with a score of 4363-126.

Captain Derryl A. Scott of Booneville was one of the more than 600 Army and Air Guardsmen competing in the tournament which determined the individual and team champions of the National Guardsmen competing in the tournament which determined the individual and team champions of the National Guard for 1973.

Shooters were broken down into five different classifications based on their skill levels established in recent competition. The classes were unclassified, marksman, sharpshooter, expert, and master.

Scott, firing in the expert class of the rifle, placed 54th in his class with a score of 922-16. His highest placing was in the Individual 600yd Slow Fire event where he shot a score of 177-4 to place 26th.

'Around-The-Clock Staffing' A Success

Northeast Mississippi Hospital has completed three (3) years of around-the-clock staffing of its Emergency Room on week-ends by physicians and hospital administrator, Ralph R. Smith, says the concept has been "a success in every way".

Private physicians continue to be available to Emergency Room patients, on call. But the Emergency Room Physicians are hospital employees, and are in the Emergency Room at all times during the week-end, situations, such as automobile accidents.

The Emergency Room Physicians have no private practice other than this work for the hospital and are responsible for the care of all patients coming to the Emergency Room on week-ends, unless the patient specifies his private physician; he is also responsible for admission of patients to the hospital to the service of their private physician.

The Emergency Room Physician reports to the hospital at 12:00 noon on Saturday and remains on the hospital premises until 6:00 a.m. on Monday. This plan has enabled the private physician to get week-end relief and the patient, of course, has a choice, because he can either see the Emergency Room Physician or summon his own physician to meet him in the Emergency Room.

Since American people are transient these days--so mobile--many have not been in any one location long enough to have a family physician, so it is a convenience to them to find an Emergency Room Physician on duty in a hospital Emergency Room.

While many people erroneously assume that all hospitals have physicians on Emergency Room duty, such is not the case. Very few hospitals do. The Northeast Mississippi Hospital was one of the first hospitals in Mississippi to initiate this new approach.

The Emergency Room at Northeast Mississippi Hospital is staffed for week-end coverage on rotation by Dr. W. H. (Pepper) Sutherland, Dr. James L. Boswell, Dr. Dale Russwurm, Dr. John Milam, Dr. Martin Pinstein, Dr. Fred Cole. Dr. W. H. (Pepper) Sutherland is in charge of the six-man team.

The Administrator further stated that the Northeast Mississippi Hospital Medical Staff is responsible for the care of emergency cases who come to the Emergency Room during the week-days and nights. A member of the Medical Staff is designated for each month. However, again, the patient has a choice, because he can either see the Emergency Room Physician who is on call for the month or summon his own private physician.

Diseases Pose Real Problem

"Polio, measles, rubella (German Measles), whooping cough and tetanus are not diseases of the past—they pose a very real threat to the population due to the decreasing immunization levels throughout the country," states Mississippi's State Health Officer, Dr. Alton B. Cobb.

His remarks were in regard to the recent emphasis placed on getting Mississippi's immunization levels up during "Immunization Action Month."

"Alerting parents to the fact that their children, as well as themselves, need to become properly vaccinated is the first goal we've tried to reach during this month's all-out effort," state Paul Turner, Supervisor of the State Board of Health's Immunization Program.

"Approximately 30 percent of Mississippi's preschool youngsters alone have not been completely immunized against the diseases previously mentioned, and nationally the trend is even more alarming," he added.

During this month, private physicians and county health departments have been asked to audit their records in an effort to "seek out those patients who haven't kept up with their shots." In many cases, these patients have been contacted and have come in for the shots they lacked.

"The third goal we've tried to achieve," remarked Turner, "is the basis of the entire immunization program. We must continue to get support locally, statewide and nationally for funds to keep the program going. It takes money to eliminate the susceptibility rates."

Dr. Cobb reiterated his support for the program, "not only during the October emphasis, but in its future endeavors as well."

...Into Understanding Arms

'I Couldn't Be More Impressed'

Tender was the welcome here of little Miss Tandra Todd as she clutches television star Steve Allen.

Miss Todd is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Todd, Jr. of Chattanooga, Tenn. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harris of Bob Street in Booneville.

Little Miss Todd attends the Siskin School for the Handicapped, where Allen often visits.

Many of the youngsters recognized Allen from television shows. Others didn't know who he was, but all knew he was someone important and the demand for autographs, particularly at Orange Grove, was tremendous.

With patience and pats on the heads or backs of the youngsters, the man who spawned the Tonight Show answered each request.

Keith Revels, bound to a mechanical machine because of a birth defect but not mentally retarded, maneuvered his go-go machine up to Allen's feet and chirped "what's your name?"

Doing his familiar double-take, Allen went to his shirt pocket, quipping "I have it written down here some place." Keith and adult onlookers broke up with laughter.

The writer of songs, author of books, plays and movie scripts, Allen will host a national telethon for the mentally retarded. Film shot during his visits will be shown during the telethon.

And it is likely that Allen will be talking about Chattanooga and its services for the handicapped wherever he goes.

Allen, who sadly admits "there's so much of this planet I'm not going to get to see," said he is "arranging more and more of my time for things like this (work for the retarded)."

"Chattanooga," he said, "should be proud of what it's doing. It's a marvelous job, but there are so many other parts of the country where there are great waiting lists for youngsters such as these."

He acted anything but the celebrity he is. He sought out information at each department at the two centers and said more than once each of the centers is "the best of its kind anywhere."

Allen became interested in the retarded, not out of any personal reason, but because the retarded have been "too long neglected."

"Too often they have been relegated to state hospitals," he said. "Thankfully, we're just about out of the snake pit phase, but we're still doing too little for the retarded."

Allen seemed especially surprised and equally impressed by the fact that little blind children are being taught by blind adults and deaf children are being taught by deaf adults.

He also was fascinated by the personalities and sense of humor of the children.

One tot at Orange Grove, inspecting Allen's signature, asked "is that your autograph?"

"It's the best I can do," he laughed. "I haven't received any special training like you guys."

Later a group of the Orange Grove children sang a special song for Allen.

Allen started the day early, walking from the Choo Choo Hilton to Channel 9 television station for an interview before visiting Operation Crossroads at the Siskin Foundation. He posed for pictures and accepted a VIP certificate from the Visitors and Conventions Bureau.

He downed a cup of coffee and chased it with a Coke before joining the children in the playground at Siskin.

While dining at the Choo Choo, Allen requested an order of watermelon. The request threw the waitress at first. But she soon returned with the melon and informed Allen it would be 75 cents extra.

"You'll have to pay it now," she said, "and I want your autograph."

Allen scribbled out his signature and joked "that'll be 85 cents."

Summing up his impressions of the two centers at the end of the day, Allen said, "I couldn't be more impressed. It's just incredible."

Allen has just had a children's book published. It's called "Princess Snip-Snip and The Puppykittens." He promised Bill Murphy at Operation Crossroads several copies for the center.

Air Bags Will Prevent Injuries...

Northbrook, Ill. -- Air Bags will prevent injuries, protect lives and save money, said the Allstate Insurance Company today, when it announced a 30 per cent discount on auto medical insurance and no-fault personal injury protection coverages for any private 1974 model passenger automobile equipped with a certified air bag system meeting federal safety requirements.

Some 1974 model cars can be purchased with air bags as factory installed optional equipment.

"We are prepared to place into effect in states where approval is not needed, or file for approval in any state where approval is required, a 30 per cent discount on medical payments coverage in non-no-fault states, or on personal injury protection (PIP) coverages in no-fault states, for any automobile the manufacturer equips with front seat air bags in accordance with the standards now specified in federal motor vehicle safety standard 208," Chairman Archie R. Boe said.

"Recent field testing and extensive development efforts by some automobile manufacturers have resulted in a reliable air bag system now ready for highway use on several 1974 model cars which will be available for purchase about the first of next year," Boe said.

GM has been testing a fleet of 1,000 1973 air-bag-equipped Chevrolet Impalas, and Ford has had a test fleet of 831 air-bag-equipped 1972 Mercury Monteiros on the Road for more than 18 months. The combined mileage of these cars exceeds 36 million miles. A number of persons have already been involed in crashes where the air bags saved their lives.

Allstate is participating in the field testing of both these fleets, with a total of 233 air bag cars being driven by its employees. "Our experience has been 100 per cent successful," Boe said.

General Motors has announced it will offer air bags as options on up to 50,000 vehicles in selected 1974 models of Oldsmobile, Buick, and Cadillac cars.

Boe urged people who will be purchasing 1974 model cars in these price ranges to consider the air-bag-equipped models. "Of most importance to the Motorist," Boe said, "is not the insurance savings that can be realized with a discount, but that those who purchase air bags are going to immeasurably improve their chances of avoiding serious injury and of survival--and those of their front seat passengers--if they experience a serious frontal collision."

"We will be adding at least 300 1974 Oldsmobiles with air bags to our company fleet to protect our employees who drove these cars," Boe said.

The approximately 50,000 GM cars with air bags will not have the front seat belt-ignition-interlock system required in all other cars for 1974. Although Allstate consistently has been in favor of better seat belt usage, crash experience indicates that air bags are superior to seat belts in higher speed frontal crashes.

The insurance premium savings will be greatest in no-fault states, such as Michigan where savings will average about $15 but could be as great as $50 a year for some individuals depending on classification, use of car and driving experience.

Eastland Appeals For Fuels

WASHINGTON -- Senator James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) Thursday appealed federal officials "in the strongest and most urgent terms" to lift quotas on farm fuels.

Eastland told John Love, the Administration's Director of Energy Policy, that farmers are facing "a potentially disastrous situation" at the peak of harvest season.

"The harvest will grind to a halt unless immediate steps are taken to provide farmers with essential fuels to operate," he said. "I appeal to you to move without delay to assign the highest priority to fuels for agricultural purposes and allow the harvest to proceed unimpeded."

Eastland pointed out that present allocations for gasoline and diesel fuel are based on the total amount utilized during November, 1972. "As the current needs are projected, this allocation will prove to be totally inadequate and would severely cripple our ability to complete the harvest," he said.

He said farm fuel consumption last November was at a near all-time low because heavy rains kept farmers out of the fields. "Allocations based on this period are totally unrealistic for the 1973 harvest."

The Senator cited the example of one Mississippi fuel supplier who sold only 5,000 gallons of diesel fuel in November, 1972. "Already this year, he has orders from farm customers of 100,000 gallons of diesel fuel in November -- more than 20 times their entitlement under present regulations."

Eastland said the situation in all agricultural states "is extremely critical" as farmers approach the height of the harvest. "I appeal to you in the strongest and most urgent terms," he said, "and I firmly believe this to be in the best interest of the entire nation."

NEWS FROM SUNFLOWER
By Cecil Brandon, Jr.

Congratulations to Gary and Jackie, and welcome to the world to little Miss Crystal Denise Grizzard. Gary and Jackie rushed to the Hospital Sunday before last in the Gran Torino and needless to say, Jackie was in labor. The fruit of that labor was a five pound baby girl, promptly dubbed Crystal Denise, Bynow, the proud parents have settled down to warming bottles, and changing diapers and otherwise being very happy. Congratulations again and good luck to Gary, Jackie and Crystal.

A warm and hearty welcome, on behalf of the Black Community, to Mrs. Alveta Fitzgerald and her daughter Deborah Ann. Mrs. Fitzgerald and Deborah have journeyed here from Kingston, New York to make this community their home. Deborah is a high school sophomore and is attending Booneville High; and, I hear from reliable sources, that she is a phenomenal basketball player.

By the time this article is read, the Halloween party will be over...let us hope that it went well and that everyone enjoyed themselves. By the way, this was a Sunflower first.

Spotlight this week on a trio of young Blacks: Mr. Jackie Field, Miss Janice Triplett and Mrs. Martha Bennett.

The first of the trio is Jackie Field, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Lee Field of Sunflower. Jackie represents a first for the Black community in that he is the first Black male to pursue and finish an accredited course in nursing at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College. In spite of the obvious pressures that a Black male would feel pursuing a course of endeavor that was being primarily a female occupation, Jackie prevailed. He is currently working at the Northeast Mississippi Hospital as a Graduate Practical Nurse. As he awaits the upcoming state Examination to be certified as a Licensed Practical Nurse in the State of Mississippi, Jackie stands out as a leader. Jackie was graduated from Booneville High in May, 1972, and plans to remain in Booneville to pursue his chosen field. He can be proudly added to the growing list of young, gifted and determined Blacks who have refused to remain on the well beaten paths of endeavor. More than that, Jackie stands out in what it means to be a MAN. Good luck in the State Exam, Jackie, Right On!

The second member of this weeks trio is Miss Janice Triplett. Janice is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James L. Triplett of Sunflower. She is currently a Junior at Booneville High School where she is currently a Junior at Booneville High School where she is pursuing courses pre-requisite to a career in Social Work. Janice represents a first for the Black Community and the entire Booneville area in that she is the first and only Black to be elected vice president of the Booneville High School Student Government. The Booneville Community is fortunate to have this kind of individual in its midst. Displaying above average ambition and determination, Janice is also vice president of the Booneville High F.H.A., an office assistant and secretary of the Junior Class. If there is such a thing as "women's Liberation", it would have to be the kind of Liberation that radiates from a young woman such as Janice Triplett. A truly outstanding Black Woman; on behalf of the Booneville Community, I wish to extend expressions of Pride, Peace and Encouragement. Good luck, Janice, in all that you do...the world has been waiting for someone like you.

The final member of the trio is Mrs. Martha Bennett. Mrs. Bennett is the wife of Mr. James N. Bennett of Sunflower. The former Miss Martha Christian, she is the daughter of Mrs. Ada Christian of Sunflower, and the sister of Mr. Jerry Christian who was mentioned last week. Mrs. Bennett was graduated from the former Wick Anderson High School in 1967. She attended the Youngstown State University in Youngstown, Ohio prior to her entrance into the Northeast Mississippi

Junior College Nursing Program. Mrs. Bennett is currently working at the Northeast Mississippi Hospital as a Graduate Practical. She and Mr. Field are graduate colleagues and she, like Jackie, is awaiting the state examination to be certified a Licensed Practical Nurse for Mississippi. Mrs. Bennett stands out a married Black who has taken advantage of available opportunity and succeeded. An example of the kind of strength and endurance that can draw from the married family unit, Mrs. Bennett blazes a trail for young, Black women to see and emulate. On behalf of the community, I salute the determination and courage of Mrs. Bennett and extend congratulations to Mr. Bennett.

The list of successful and aspiring Booneville Blacks is growing by leaps and bounds. On the average, these are young Blacks taking advantage of social, occupational and societal changes. However, rarely are the parents, husbands and/or wives of the outstanding individuals mentioned. Let me take this opportunity to salute and extend grateful best wishes to those Black parents, husbands and wives who make the weekly spotlight on Black Achievement possible. RIGHT ON! Marsha got a letter last week and Cheryl got a job. And finally, this article almost missed the press. Bye, until next week.
