Under The Glass...

The current display under the glass dome in the main office of the Farmers & Merchants Bank is an assortment of drugs and paraphernalia for using these drugs.

Among these items are several different types of amphetamines, along with average market prices for these drugs; different types of "pot" pipes, ranging from the water and wine pipes to the straight adaptable pipe; marijuana papers and rollers; and marijuana, which is more commonly known as "grass," in several different stages, as well as several other drug-related items.

These "sample" items are displayed through the courtesy of the Lee County Sheriff's Department and were taken from drug raids in recent months. Since preventive measures are necessary in stopping the flow of these harmful drugs, it is the hope of the Lee County Sheriff's Department and the Farmers & Merchants Bank that the people of Baldwin and surrounding areas will want to see this display and familiarize themselves with these dangerous drugs.

OF TUPELO BANK

Countian Charged In Robbery

A Prentiss County man is being held in the federal jail in Oxford following a Tupelo bank robbery.

Tupelo Police Department officials said that Terry Wayne Graves, 25, of Route 2, Baldwin was apprehended about 12 minutes after he robbed the Industrial Branch of the Bank of Mississippi the past Friday. Graves got $15,000 in the robbery.

It was noted that Graves was turned over to the U. S. Marshall Friday afternoon and then carried before the Magistrate in Aberdeen. His bond has been set at $25,000.

Officials said Graves was employed with a Corinth firm.

The Industrial Branch of the bank on South Gloster

Street was hit at 10 a.m. and the suspect was in custody and a bag of money recovered at 10:12 a.m.

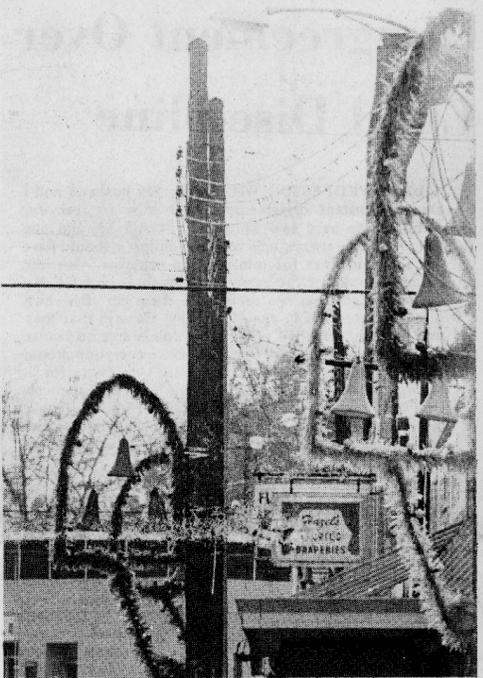

Graves was arrested on North Gloster Street above the Village Inn before he got out of the city limits.

Sheriff's Deputy Nicky Hall was in front of the suspect's black late model Grand Prix and blocked him when Chief Crider and Capt. Roy Sandefer pulled up right behind him and turned on their siren.

Crider said Graves offered no resistance, that he got out of the car and put his hands up. Officers found a brown paper bag with money in it in front of the right front seat on the floor of the car.

Officers also recovered a snub-nosed .38 caliber pistol. Linda Potet and Carolyn Dillard, tellers at the branch bank, were alone when a subject entered, held a pistol in front of him and demanded "all the money."

Ms. Dillard said she remembered his saying, "This is a holdup. Hit the floor," and "then he asked" (CONTINUED ON PAGE 3)

Thanksgiving...A Time To Be Grateful

Well, that time of the year has come around again! It's a time, not of scorning others for those things they do that disturbs us but of being thankful for the many blessings that we actually have.

In this deeply emotional time of the year, one really has to sit down and just "count his blessings". Tomorrow, millions of families in this great nation of ours will sit down to eat the traditional "Thanksgiving Dinner". But, to far too many of us, this is not a day of true Thanksgiving... but rather a day off from work, a day that we can rest.

Our forefathers suffered the consequences so that we could have the freedom we enjoy today. Sure, we have laws by which we have to abide. But, we are not, as such, TOLD to do this and that. We are free to do "just as we please" . . . and for this we should indeed be thankful.

Along with the bountiful dinner that most families will enjoy this Thanksgiving, we should say a special prayer for the most bountiful harvest that Mississippi has ever enjoyed.

Can Peace Come To The Mideast?

During a recent debate on the floor of the United States Senate, one Senator (whose name and party affiliation we will not name to avoid embarrassment to either) loudly called for "fiscal responsibility."

"I hear that time and again," he cried. "Let's have some of it." Unfortunately, the record shows that the good Senator's idea of "fiscal responsibility" is to continually cut our dwindling national security budget by millions of dollars, but then to add to our non-defense expenditures by many, many millions of dollars, substantially more than that "saved" from our defense costs.

Because a majority of our elected representatives in Washington have voted the same way, federal expenses for "welfare" zoomed from $37 billion in 1965 to more than $92 billion six years later . . . a 250% increase. And note that the amount is in billions, not just millions.

In the meantime, what has happened to our defense budget? The Columbia (South Carolina) STATE has pointed out that "in 1963, for example, defense spending accounted for almost 50% of our total national budget. This year, that ratio is expected to be in the range of only 30 percent."

The COLUMBIA STATE expresses the concern of many Americans in declaring: "(This attitude of the self-styled liberals in Congress is both dangerous and disheartening . . . it reflects either an ignorance of or an indifference to the potential threat of Russian superiority in weapons systems. Federal spending has gotten completely out of hand. But the onus for extravagance rests not upon the military, but upon the domestic sector.")

Our representatives in Washington need to be continually reminded that we indeed do want them to curtail government expenses and stop needless spending. But they need to be reminded, too, that we do not want them to curtail expenses and cut taxes by risking our national security in a dangerous world.

Fiscal Responsibility?

It is becoming evident that Israel is about to be faced with the most excruciating dilemma of its stormy, twenty-five year existence. It must decide whether to make territorial concessions to the Arab demands for the return of their lands captured in 1967, or to stand pat on its present militarily established boundaries.

Until the most recent war the issue could be avoided because the Arabs would not even meet with the Israelis unless the precondition of Israeli withdrawal was first accepted. Israel refused discussions such a basis and meantime sent her own people into the captured territories with every indication that their occupation would be made permanent. It was this progressive fait accompli under pretext of diplomatic stalemate the drove the Arabs to resort to war.

BRIDGE for EVERYONE

James Kerry

Today's lesson is a simple one and involves nothing more than a course in listening. In this case, to the bids made during the auction. Psychologists tell us one of the most difficult lessons to teach or learn is the art of being a good listener and the advantages one enjoys from this attribute. Anyone can talk but most say very little, learning nothing in the process; however, a good listener is a rarity, who learns most just keeping his mouth shut.

North-South vulnerable. West deals.

Opening lead — Jack of Spades.

During the auction West heard two bids that were meaningful to the defense, North's four spades and South's five clubs. His normal opening lead would be the jack of clubs, however South had shown club strength, so this lead may trap an honor in his partner's hand and give declarer a free finesse. On the other hand North's weakest bid was four spades which was also unsupported by South, so with this reasoning in mind he decided on the jack of spades as his opener. That's pretty good listening, don't you think?

You can readily see what happens if he leads a club giving South time to set up hearts while retaining the spade control. The heart finesse loses but a spade and club loser is parked on the top hearts and twelve tricks claimed.

Now with the jack of spades opening South is put to a guess. The way I saw it played South guessed wrong and went down one. He finessed the queen of spades losing to East's king and later finessed the heart which also lost. This was a very bad guess because South had some useful information which he failed to use. Was it not reasonable to assume the ten of spades was with West from his opening lead of the jack? On this reasoning the nine in dummy is promoted to a winner for trick twelve; that's where the club loser went.

By being a good listener, West used the information he had gleaned from the bidding and gave the declarer a chance to make a mistake on a contract that was otherwise ice cold. J.K.

Pause For Power

The Day God Broke His Silence

When the curtain dropped on the Old Testament at the Book of Malachi, there followed over 400 years of silence. But God finally broke His silence at Bethlehem and spoke to men in the Person of His Son, Jesus Christ.

The question naturally arises, however, why it necessary for God to establish his beachhead at Bethlehem? Why must the Savior of sinners become a man?

Although the Bible suggests several reasons for the incarnation of Jesus Christ, I want to underscore three supremely important ones.

First, Jesus Christ, the second member of the Trinity, must become a true man in order to perfectly reveal God to men. The Bible says, "No man hath seen God at any time" the only begotten son, who is in the bosom of the Father, He hath declared him" (John 1:18). Now, it is true that God has revealed something of himself in nature; but since nature has been marred and marred by sin, the testimony of nature is ambivalent. If the bountiful crops tell us that God is good, what do the terrible earthquakes and storms, which take thousands of lives, tell us? Furthermore, the eyes of men have been darkened by sin, so that man cannot, and will not, read the witness of nature to God.

Jesus Christ therefore had to become a man in order to perfectly reveal God to us. The Apostle Philip once said to Jesus Christ, "Lord, show us the Father and it sufficeth us." To that request Jesus replied, "Philip, have I been so long time with you and yet hast thou not known me? He that hath seen me hath seen the Father" (John 14:8, 9). Although Jesus Christ is God, it is only because He is also a man that we can meet God face-to-face in Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ became a man in order to reveal God perfectly to men. In the second place, Jesus Christ had to become a man in order to qualify as our great High Priest. The Bible says, "Seeing then that we have a great High Priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest who cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities: but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin" (Hebrews 4:14, 15). Now, there are two basic qualities that an effective priest must possess. First, he must be able to sympathize with the people; and second, he must be able to help them. You and I, frail men that we are, are able to do the first; God is able to do the second. But only one who is both God and man, and therefore possesses both qualities, can be an effective High Priest. Now, Jesus Christ is our great High Priest, because Jesus Christ possesses both qualities. Because He is a true man, He can truly sympathize with us. And because He is God, He is able to give us the help we need.

Finally, Jesus Christ had to become a man in order to redeem sinners. The Bible says, "But we behold him who hath been made a little lower than the angels, even Jesus, because of the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honor, that He by the grace of God should taste death for every man" (Hebrews 2:9). But, in order to taste death for every man, Jesus Christ of necessity must himself be a man. Once again, the Bible says, "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin" (Hebrews 9:22). But in order to shed blood and thereby to redeem sinners, Jesus Christ must possess a true human nature. He must be a real man. Only by becoming a man could He shed blood and die for sinners. And only because He was God did that death possess infinite value. The death of Jesus Christ is an atonement of infinite value simply because it was effected by an infinite person, the God-man, Christ Jesus.

Count Zinzendorf, founder of the Moravian Brethren, beautifully expressed this truth in his hymn:

"Lord, I believe were sinners more Than stands upon the ocean shore, Thou hast for all a ransom paid, For all a full atonement made."

URBAN FORESTRY NOTES

By Tom Carter
COUNTY FORESTER

TREE FERTILIZATION

Most property owners in Prentiss County rarely consider fertilizing shade trees. County Forester, Tom Carter said.

"However, most trees on residential properties will benefit from fertilizer applications properly applied in correct amounts." Due to the increased value afforded the average homeowner by the presence of shade trees, the homeowner is justified in making the small expenditure of money and time required for adequate tree feeding.

Healthy, vigorous trees not only grow better, but are more beautiful, produce better shade, and are often much better able to resist the attacks of insects, diseases, and other natural and man-made disasters.

Carter said, "Trees utilize the fertilizer components through their roots, primarily the small feeder rootlets. Consequently the nutrients supplied must be made available for easy assimilation. The hole or puncher method is one of the best for applying fertilizer of shade trees. The holes should be approximately 12 to 18 inches deep, 1 to 2 inches in diameter, 2 feet apart, and extend about 2 feet past the drip line of the tree.

Surface applications may be made when open soil is present under trees, although for satisfactory results the fertilizer must be chopped into the soil and then thoroughly watered. Surface applications would probably stimulate a shallow root system that may be more easily affected during drought conditions. In Mississippi where the soils are very sandy and rainfall is high, surface applications on the sod have given very satisfactory results.

Measure the tree four feet above the ground and apply one to two pounds per inch of diameter per year for trees six inches or less and two to four pounds per inch of diameter for trees over six inches. DO NOT APPLY FERTILIZER WITHIN ONE FOOT OF THE TRUNK OF A SMALL TREE OR WITHIN THREE FEET OF THE TRUNK OF A

LARGE TREE

Injury to the root collar and trunk base may result.

Liquid fertilizers are used more commonly now and when properly applied belowground they offer the advantages of immediate availability, more uniform distribution, and less labor. Some disadvantages are present, however, such as brevity of duration of effectiveness in heavy poorly drained soil, and incorporation of no organic matter in the soil.

The chemistry of fertilizers and their reaction with soil is very complex. Basically the chemicals supply raw materials for food manufacturing, vegetative growth, flowering, and root development. Nitrogen, Phosphorus, and potash are the primary plant foods and are required in the largest amounts. Iron, manganese, copper, boron, molybdenum, zinc, and other minor chemical elements are important secondary plant foods and are needed in small amounts. Mississippi soils vary greatly and the amounts of each fertilizer element needed should be properly determined by a soil test. A general fertilizer adequate for most trees in a 25% organic 8-3-8 with minor elements included.

"Because of the differences in temperature, growing seasons, and the wide variety of trees in Mississippi fertilizer applications vary considerably," Carter said. In north and central Mississippi trees should be fertilized in the early winter so that the plant food will be available to the roots prior to bud development. Usually one application a year or one every two years is sufficient for good tree growth. In south Mississippi the growing season is longer and very good growth results have been obtained when the yearly total amount of fertilizer is spread out over three applications (March, June, and October).

For more information on tree fertilization contact County Forester, Tom Carter, at office on East Church Street, phone 728-6835.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

W. T. Smith

FERTILIZER

Fertilizer supplies are short now and are likely to be even shorter next spring. It is estimated that farmers (based on projected acreage) will need around 30 percent more fertilizer than will be available during 1974.

Here are some suggestions that may help avoid this problem and step up yields at the same time.

Soil test to see where phosphate and potash are most needed. Apply nitrogen as near to the time the crop will actually use it as possible. Stop using nitrogen on legume crops, like soybeans and clovers, that do not need additional nitrogen.

Lime all soils that need lime. This will improve the efficiency of the fertilizer you use.

Where available, use poultry or other animal wastes. These will supplement commercial fertilizers. Animal wastes are usually more effective when disked or otherwise worked into the soil. Around four to five tons per acre is usually enough.

Basic slag with potash (0-6-6) will supply liming materials as well as phosphate and potash.

Use the nitrogen materials that are in best supply. Anhydrous ammonia is infamously short and ammonium nitrate is extremely short. Buy and store your winter and spring needs now as prices are likely to be higher next spring. IMPROVE PIG LITTER SIZE

Here are some tips to help you do a better job of pork production. Use crossbred gilts. Due to hybrid vigor you get an increase in litter size and weaning weights. Cull old, off-type poor producing sows.

Do not breed gilts too young. Wait until they are near eight months old. Buy boars six to eight weeks before you are ready to use them. Feed the boar well during the breeding season and handle him gently. Where possible, bring the sows to the boar for breeding. Breed sows twice, 12 to 24 hours apart, preferably the second day of heat.

For all breeding animals, provide top grazing. Vaccinate sows twice a year for leptospirosis and erysipelas. Keep a good salt mineral mix before bred gilts and sows. Don't let the sows or gilts get too fat at breeding time or during gestation. Feed the bred gilts about five to six pounds of a 15 percent complete ration and sows four pounds daily. Just keep them in good-going condition. Do not mix bred gilts with larger, older sows. Have a dry, draft-free, quiet area for sows to farrow.

PLANTING FRUIT TREES It is time to order the fruit trees that you want to plant this season. When ordering, specify a delivery date and try to get the trees planted the same day you receive them. If this is not possible, heel in the trees and do not let the roots dry out.

4-H'ERS CREATE OWN SPACE IN HOME ENVIRONMENT PROGRAM

What's in a name? Plenty, think leaders working with 4-H members in the area of home furnishings, equipment and housing.

The 4-H home improvement program was renamed 4-H home environment in 1972. Sponsored by the S & H Foundation, Inc., new dimensions and activities have been added through the efforts of personnel of the Cooperative Extension Service and National 4-H Service Committee.

The contemporary 4-H home environment program provides numerous opportunities for creative expression. 4-H'ers in the program are encouraged to plan their home surroundings much as they would the total environment -- for beauty, comfort, health, safety and adequate space. Using the principles of basic design -- form, scale, patterns and texture, color and light -- the 178,000 young people in the 4-H home environment program create living spaces that are functional, comfortable and aesthetically pleasing.

Boys Can Take Part, Too The revised program is also designed to get boys interested and involved in improving their homes. 4-H'ers from low income, minority and migrant families are also encouraged to participate and help create pleasing home environments.

Besides the satisfaction of helping to make one's home a more enjoyable and pleasing place to live, 4-H'ers in the home environment program can gain recognition in other ways.

where the money was. I told him the drawer where the money was," she explained, "though at first I thought it was a joke."

Both women said they had immediately gotten down on the floor at his command. They saw him leave the bank and then heard the car motor start.

"At this point, I yelled to Linda to lock the door," Ms. Dillard declared, "while I got on the telephone."

Chief Crider credited the women with doing a good job in giving an excellent physical description of the witness and of his car, "even to noting that he had a mustache. This was what enabled us to pick him up so quickly."

The chief explained that the five police units (cars) and four motorcycle units, upon receiving the radio message quickly went to their pre-assigned posts to block exits from the city. They were then backed up by sheriff's deputies and Highway Patrolmen who were ready to start putting up roadblocks.

Officers Hoyt Richey and Micky Loden took the description of the suspect and car from the tellers, put it on radio to the dispatcher, who quickly alerted all units.

One authority noted that "this is where a good dispatcher can be invaluable. Often they are the unsung heroes. The detailed information gotten out to all units certainly was an enabling factor in the quick apprehension."

Chief Crider praised dispatcher Jimmy 'Cotton' McCoy, who in turn said he had a lot of assistance from Officer Jeff Wright helping with the phone while he was alerting all city units and then the sheriff's office and Highway Patrol.

The women tellers said the suspect had been in the bank a short time earlier Friday morning asking for quarter wrappers and they had gotten a good look both at him and his car.

Ms. Dillard said they also called the Fire Station (on the adjacent lot) and "Mr. Hutcherson from the grocery store across the street, but neither of them had seen which way the suspect left as he fled the scene."

They gave a complete description of the black Grand Prix with a vinyl top, white sidewalls, etc. Federal authorities were at the station to aid in questioning Graves before noon.

Chief Crider praised the cooperative effort of all departments concerned... and said he wanted to express his appreciation to the federal, state, and sheriff's officers as "well as the men in my own department." He particularly noted that Nicky Hall was right there with us at the right time. It is this kind of cooperative effort between all units that gets the job done.

Perry Will Speak To Church Confab

L. Tom Perry, an Assistant to the Council of Twelve of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will speak at the Memphis Stake (a church area with several thousand members) Conference Saturday and Sunday, November 24-25, in Memphis.

Elder Perry has served in many church positions including stake president. Before his full-time Church appointment, he was vice president of finance for Lechmere Sales, an appliance and hardware store of Boston. He later became treasurer of R. H. Stearns Co., also in the Boston area.

The visiting Church authority will present a new film entitled "Meet the Mormons" which shows church members in twofold activities worldwide. The spokesman is expected to enlarge on the theme of what church teachings mean to those who accept and practice them, and use reasons for the unusual worldwide growth of the church.

A New York Times article of April 15, 1973, has cited the "Mormon" church as one of the few major churches which continues to show substantial gain. Its 2.9% increase in the United States to 2,133,172 members in 1970, makes it the fastest growing church among those with over a million members. Worldwide membership of the Church now stands at 3,218,908. With a growth rate outside the U. S. since 1960 of 250% compared to the 50% growth rate in the U.S., the Church has more than 11,000 missionaries serving in 107 missions and 626 stakes worldwide. Church membership is expected to reach 7,700,000 by 1985.

The Conference session will be held Sunday at

Dangerous Aliens Being Nabbed 'Round the Clock

While you were sleeping last night, 40 dangerous aliens were intercepted at the nation's borders.

It's a fact not realized by most Americans, but one such alien is nabbed every 12 minutes around the clock.

The aliens are foreign plant and animal pests that stow away in cargo, carriers, and baggage. Undetected, they could set off an outbreak that would destroy some of the nation's important food and fiber crops.

10:00 a.m. in the Stake Center, 4520 Winchester, Memphis. Stake President Mervin J. Rasmussen, 130 Greenbrier, welcomes all visitors.

Yesterday's Advice Won't Cut It Today

If today's farmer heeded the advice given his grandfather, he wouldn't be in business long.

That advice—which appeared in a farm magazine back in 1838—was to avoid any dealings with bankers. In fact, the magazine declared, "A farmer should shun the doors of a bank as he would the approach of the plague or cholera."

Far from shunning bank doors, today's farmers are among a bank's best loan customers.

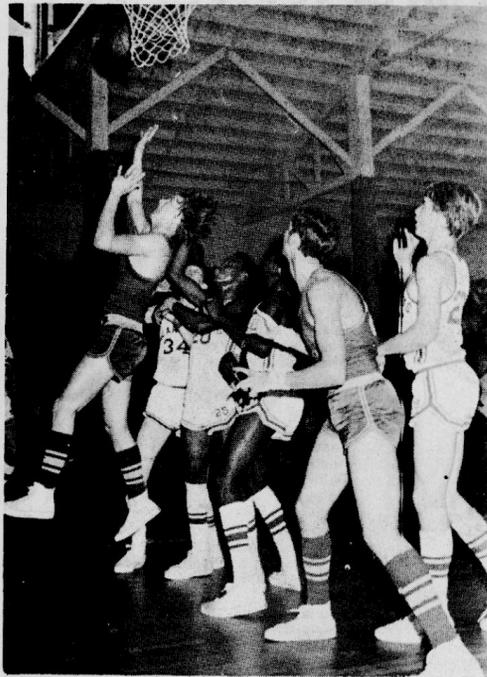

Increasing costs of land, equipment, fertilizer, chemicals, seed, and other materials have made it necessary for farmers to borrow more capital than ever in order to produce the nation's growing food and fiber needs.

On Jan. 1 of this year, outstanding farm debt—not including price support loans—totaled $70.1 billion. That's equivalent to about 19% of total farm assets, and reflects a $5.5 billion increase over a year ago.

houn Tech, and the Tigerettes December 15 against East Mississippi.

Both the boys and the girls saw action. The girls against Meridian Junior College and the boys against Jackson Community College. The Tigerettes got their second win of the season in as many games as they knocked off Meridian Junior College by a score of 53 to 44. Shirley Hall was the scoring leader as she bagged 12 points followed by Becky Tate with 10. The Tigerettes looked extremely sharp in their second win as they led the entire game and its looks as though their return to the basketball courts is going to be a good one. . . . The Northeast boys lost their first game of the season as they were defeated by Jackson Community College by a score of 82 to 73. The contest was a game marked by mistakes as the Tigers in the first half out shot Jackson. The game was never out of hand although Jackson led most of the way and had 40 to 32 halftime lead. Ronnie Cole led Jackson in scoring with 27 points followed by Isiah Wade with 17. Freddie Copeland was the Tiger leader with 22 points followed by Ronnie Cunningham with 12. J'Town Cages Tigers

Friday night Jumpertown's Cardinals along with their Coach Jerry Harrelson, journeyed to Ripley for what they hoped would be a victory. Sure enough it was 60-56. A close and exciting game it was with neither team defeated until the last moments of the game when the Cardinals proved to be more than the tigers could handle. Flavious Bishop of Baldwin boosted in 12, while Keith Norton led Smithville with 8 in the opener. Baldwin had a 16-12 margin lead at halftime. Baldwin's Gregg Hood clawed up 20, while Willie Coleman followed with 14 along with Doug Richardson's 13. Wayne Roebuck bagged 20, while teammate Gary Morgan trailed with 10. Booneville Wins First

Saturday night; a fine night for a basketball game it was. Booneville High School's basketballers opened up their 1973-74 season against Iuka at home. UM Will Spend Over $1 Million On Campus

UNIVERSITY, Miss., -- Over a million dollars in physical improvements on the University of Mississippi's Oxford campus have been approved by the State Building Commission, according to Ole Miss Chancellor Porter L. Fortune Jr.

An additional $653,500 has been approved for renovation and repairs at the Medical Center campus in Jackson.

Chancellor Fortune said funds made available by the Mississippi Legislature through the State Building Commission have been allocated for 65 separate renovation projects on both campuses, ranging from $200,000 in improvements in the water system at Ole Miss to renovation of nursing stations at the Medical Center, costing an estimated $70,000.

Also included in amounts requested and funded on the Oxford campus are $23,115 for painting in academic buildings; $30,000 for maintenance and repairs in the Chemistry Building; and $170,000 for renovation of one of Ole Miss' oldest men's dormitories, Barr Hall, for academic purposes.

"This 30-room building near the center of the campus is currently vacant, and is not expected to be required for use as a dormitory," Chancellor Fortune said.

"An urgent need for additional office space has been produced by increases in faculty, administrative staff and research projects on the campus, and the additional space provided by this renovation will be used in a general pattern of office redistribution for various departments."

In addition to these major improvements, a strong emphasis is being made on improving the general physical appearance of the entire campus and Oxford-University area. The Chancellor added.

Smaller items receiving attention include relocation of litter containers, planting of additional shrubs, and addition of several new driveways.

A program for improvement of all student housing is being developed and is expected to provide more comfortable living quarters for student residents.

Additional tennis courts are also now ready for play, and four handball courts are under construction. Student housing officials have already installed some recreational equipment indoors in the dorms, and additional areas are being planned.

"We hope these activities will serve as an impetus to Oxford citizens," Oxford Mayor John O. Leslie said. "We are looking for places where Oxford and the University can work as one, as it should be."

Drug Program

Robert Herring, Lee County Sheriff, recently presented an inspiring program on drug abuse at the Wheeler High School. Sheriff Herring gave a brief lecture and showed several samples of drugs found among abusers in this area. Leaders Attend Confab

Seventy seven Troop Leaders from 12 Troops of the Yocona Area Council attended the first Troop Leaders' Development Conference at Camp Yocona November 3.

The purpose of the Conference was to train the Leadership Corp of each Troop how to properly run their Troop with special emphasis on the new improved Scouting program. The Conference was conducted by four Scouts that attended the Statewide Troop Leader Development Conference last August for one week. Instructors were Mark Anthony, Roy Martin, Keith Stokes, and Steve Carmichael. Serving as Counselors for the faculty of the Conference were Jim Montague of Tupelo, and Angelo Coppola of Oxford. No adults were used as instructors.

The following Troops attended: Troops 12, 85, 3 of Tupelo, Troop 2 of Shannon, Troop 125 of Corinth, Troop 37 of Booneville, Troop 68 of Holly Springs, Troop 33 of Baldwin, Troop 21 of Coffeeville, Troop 202 of Toccoola, Troop 87 of Evergreen, and Troop 222 of New Albany.

Next Summer the Yocona Area Council will conduct a Troop Leaders' Development Conference at Camp Yocona that will last for one week. This should be a big step toward getting the 145 Troops in the Council run properly by boy leadership. The purpose is to let adult leadership serve more in a counselor type capacity.

Senior citizens can play tennis on Miami Beach's city courts at reduced rates. The Council cut the annual fee from $45 to $35 for older citizens.

Burdette In Exercise

U.S. FORCES, GERMANY - Army Staff Sergeant Russell R. Burdette, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Moore, Route 4, Booneville, participated with other American and allied troops in exercise Reforger V in Germany, Oct. 10-16.

The military airlift command flew approximately 11,000 U. S. -Based soldiers and more than 1,000 tons of equipment to three different airfields in Germany in preparation for the event.

Immediately after arriving overseas, the redeployed units drew combat gear and vehicles from prepositioned storage sites in Germany and moved to the exercise area to begin the seven-day field maneuver.

Pitted against the airlifted forces were Europe-based elements of Nato Forces of the U. S., Germany and Canada.

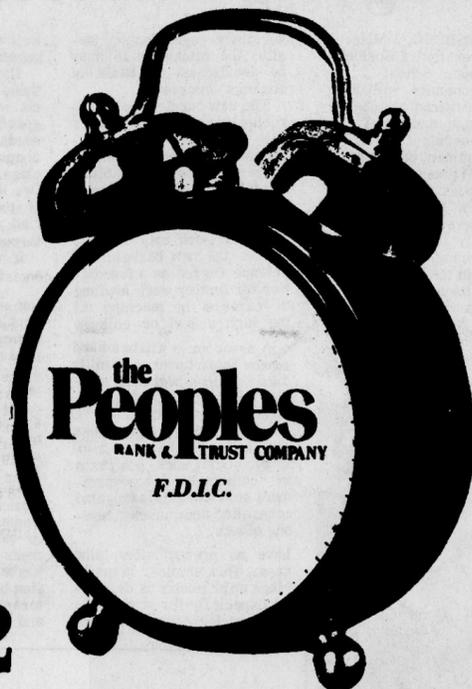

The exercise, conducted by the joint chiefs of staff and NATO, focused on the procedures and techniques for receiving, equipping, assembling and employing units after they arrive, rather than on rapid deployment of troops from the U. S.

Sgt. Burdette is regularly assigned as a platoon sergeant with Company C, 1st Battalion of the 3rd Infantry Division's 15th Infantry at Kitzingen, Germany. His wife, Elizabeth, is with him in Germany.

Marriage And Family Living Degree Offered

HATTIESBURG, Miss.--The University of Southern Mississippi School of Home Economics will offer a new undergraduate degree in marriage and family living, according to Dr. Altra H. Hamman, chairman of the Department of Family Life Services.

The new bachelor of science degree in marriage and family living, approved in the spring of 1973, will be listed in the 1974-75 USM undergraduate catalog.

Students will be allowed to select 30 hours of electives, says Hamman. Fifteen hours of electives will be from the areas of home economics, sociology, psychology or health; the remaining 15 may be decided on the basis of students' interests.

The new curriculum is structured so that graduates will have a well-rounded background which prepares them to function intelligently and effectively as a marriage partner and a parent. Students pursuing graduate work may be able to use the new bachelor of science degree as a foundation for further work leading to careers in teaching at the high school or college

A new course will be added to the Department of Family Life Services beginning winter quarter, adds Dr. Hamman. Designated as MFL 451, the Tuesday night class taught by Dr. Hamman will level, social work, positions in community and government service, child care, and counseling and guidance, among others.

have no prerequisites, she says. This seminar in marriage adjustments is designed especially for majors in the new degree program as well as for married and engaged couples.

The seminar, for which three semester hours of credit will be given, will aim specifically at meeting the needs and interests of those couples registering for the class. The course itself, says Dr. Hamman, has grown out of questions asked by married and engaged couples through the years.

It will cover such topics as family finances, coping with children, consumer problems and any additional topics in which students express interest, she says. A selected bibliography will be used rather than a single text.

During the 1974 spring quarter, another new course will be offered on parenthood. Prerequisite for this undergraduate course is MFL 351, marriage and family living. Content will include planning to be parents, roles of parents as well as roles as husbands and wives, interaction between children and interaction between children and parents.

MC High School Day Dec. 1

CLINTON, Miss. -- Students in the Booneville area interested in pre-nursing will have the opportunity of seeing first hand the School of Nursing at Mississippi College when the college holds its annual High School Day on Saturday, Dec. 1.

Mrs. Marion Bassett, dean of the School of Nursing, said a special program and tours will be held during the day for those visitors who are primarily interested in the nursing profession.

"This is the first time we have combined Pre-Nursing Day with High School Day," said Dean Bassett, "but we feel the day's activities have been planned in such a way that the prospective student can see the general college and the nursing school all in one trip."

The pre-nursing students will register from 8 to 9 a.m. with all the other high school students and attend a general orientation session from 9 to 10 a.m. in Nelson Auditorium.

Dean Bassett said those interested in the nursing school will meet at 10 a.m. for a tour of the campus and the nursing facilities at the college and from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. will be taken on a tour of Mississippi Baptist Hospital in Jackson.

"By letting them tour our campus facilities and the Baptist Hospital, they will get an overall view of our entire nursing program," said Mrs. Bassett. The tours will be conducted by students currently enrolled in the nursing program at the college.

13 States Remain On List

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Maine has now outlawed bald tires, leaving only 13 states without a ban, the Tire Industry Safety Council reported today.

"We hope the remaining 13 states, without such safeguards, will soon take this important step against bald or dangerously worn tires," said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr.

The 13 states with no minimum safe tread depth requirement are: Alabama, Arkansas, Alaska, Arizona, Idaho, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon and Tennessee.

A new Maine law, effective Oct. 3, 1973, requires that tires have a minimum tread depth of 1/16 inch in order for the vehicle to pass inspection.

Thirty-five other states and the District of Columbia also have a minimum tread depth law.

California has a 1/32 inch requirement.

"We hope the District of Columbia and the 37 states with minimum safe tread depth laws will actively enforce this ban on bald tires as an integral part of their highway safety campaigns," said Mr. Lovell.

Timber Set Record

Timber sale receipts from Sixteenth Section School land set a record pace in the first three months of the 1973-74 fiscal year, according to State Forester Bill Gaddis.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission prepares and conducts such timber sales with the approval of County Boards of Supervisors. Net revenue from the sales goes into county school system coffers wherein the timber is sold. Fifteen percent of sale income is set aside for forestry improvement work on school sections and to pay costs involved in preparing sales.

Gaddis reported that thirteen counties conducted timber sales during the July-September period. Gross revenue from the sales of sawtimber, pulpwood and chemical wood totaled more

Cotton Industry Gearing Up To Eradicate The Boll Weevil

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- The cotton industry is gearing up to eradicate the boll weevil, in cooperation with government and private interests, and has pledged its support in carrying out provisions of the 1973 farm law authorizing the pest eradication effort, a Congressional panel was told here Tuesday (Nov. 6).

Robert R. Coker, a cotton producer of Hartsville, S. C., and chairman of the National Cotton Council's committee on boll weevil eradication, testified before the Cotton Subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture, Rep. B. F. Sisk (D. Calif.) is chairman of the subcommittee.

J. Ritchie Smith of Memphis, the Council's technical research director, testified on technical factors and organization of the industry's drive against the boll weevil.

Mr. Coker said the weevil has had "devastating" effects on the U.S. economy and that "crop losses and control costs alone now range from 200 million to 300 million dollars a year."

A large-scale pilot eradication experiment embracing portions of Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana for the past three years has demonstrated it is feasible and practical to eradicate the pest, the panel was told. The experiment was funded by USDA, Cotton Incorporated, and the State of Mississippi.

"More insecticides are applied for boll weevil control than for any other insect," Mr. Coker said, pointing out the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that one-third of the insecticides used on all U.S. crops are required because of the weevil problem.

He said also that weevil control efforts create other insect problems by eliminating beneficial insects, which in turn allows other harmful pests to multiply unchecked. Buildups of bollworms, for example, force farmers to apply additional chemicals.

He recounted the mushrooming cost of the pest since it migrated into the United States from Mexico just before 1900.

"It reached the Atlantic Seaboard by 1922 and wiped out the Sea Island cotton industry. The weevil is now prevalent in all Cotton Belt states from Texas east, and is a constant threat to the irrigated West.

"By 1958, direct costs of the weevil to the cotton industry had surpassed 12 billion dollars and the problem was getting worse. What is not generally known, however, is that over the span of years from 1896 to 1958, federal research expenditures on the insect totaled less than five million dollars," Mr. Coker said.

In 1958, the cotton industry and government launched an intensive research program to find a solution. Since then, over 21 million dollars has been spent on eradication research by government, producers, and other segments of the cotton industry.

He and Mr. Smith outlined the cotton industry's work on a systematic weevil eradication program and said its recommendations would be submitted to USDA.

"Out of all this, we would hope that the USDA could announce early next year a final plan to carry out the provision in the new law," Mr. Smith told subcommittee members.

He said also that a successful eradication campaign against the boll weevil would contribute valuable knowledge and practical methods that could be adapted for use against other crop pests, such as the pink bollworm, which inflicts heavy damage to cotton in Arizona and southern California.

Governor's Office

Weekly News

Summary

The Federal Power Commission (FPC) last week postponed the November 15 effective date of the 5-priority curtailment of natural gas to industrial users in Mississippi.

Governor Bill Waller expressed pleasure with the action which he said was essential to the economic well-being of Mississippi at this time. "Postponement of the order was the minimum relief being sought from the FPC," the Governor said. "It is helpful, but it by no means solves the natural gas curtailment problems."

The Governor said, "I recognize and appreciate the prompt response to my request for telegrams from the 5-priority industrial natural gas users in Mississippi." Waller said that these telegrams, which emphasized the serious and irreparable injury that would have been imposed upon Mississippi's economy by the order, substantiated Mississippi's position in seeking a revocation of the FPC order.

"We will continue to exert every effort in seeking and maintaining an equitable portion of this nation's energy resources," Governor Waller said.

Dan L. Tucker, Coordinator of Agri-Business, Mississippi A & I Board, reported last Friday that Mississippi is losing some $5 billion a year but not processing our raw materials in the State.

Tucker said, "In 1972 the value of the products produce in Mississippi land was $1.5 billion. However, the consumer value, or the value after processing and marketing costs have been added, amounted to over $6.5 billion ... a loss to Mississippi of some $5 billion that is now going to our-of-state firms."

Tucker said that the cause of this loss can be directly attributed to the fact that Mississippi has not in the past pursued the further processing and marketing of its own raw products.

The Agri-Business Department was created within the A & I Board to correct this problem. The Department is currently involved in research and implementation of data concerning development of new markets and the stimulation of existing markets for the state's agriculture-related manufactured products.

The State Capitol moves to two more areas next week. On Tuesday, November 27, state officials will move their operations to Northwest Mississippi in a program to be held at Northwest Jr. College in Senatobia. The Capitol will move to Southwest Mississippi at the McComb High School Auditorium Thursday, November 29.

Glen Wood, Jr., Executive Director of the Mississippi Air & Water Pollution Control Commission, said that the recent completion of a $6 million wastewater treatment plant in Vicksburg has ended the discharge of raw sewage to the Mississippi River and given the City of Vicksburg one of the most advanced municipal sewage treatment facilities in the State.

Prior to the completion of the 7.5 million-gallons-a-day trickling filter plant, Vicksburg's sewage and wastewater was discharged into the Mississippi River without treatment.

The plant was constructed using 50 percent Federal funds, 25 percent municipal funds, and 25 percent funds from the State Water Pollution Abatement Grant Program administered by the Mississippi Air & Water Pollution Control Commission.

Wood complimented the city on the completion of the facility. "This is a significant step in improving the water quality in Mississippi," he said. "We commend everyone involved in this project for a job well done."

The State of Mississippi honored a pioneer in the furniture industry - Morris Futorian of Chicago - November 19 with a day-long obser-vanche to spotlight the furniture industry in the State. "Furniture Day in Mississippi" was proclaimed by Governor Bill Waller and special ceremonies were held in Tupelo.

Morris Futorian came to Mississippi twenty-five years ago to manufacture furniture. Since that day the Futorian name has become one of the best known brands in the nation, and the rapidly expanding industry now ranks fifth in the State in number of industrial and manufacturing employees.

The invitation list for the observance was a virtual Who's-Who for the furniture industry in the U.S. The participants were given afternoon presentations on the many advantages that Mississippi offers the furniture industry.

The evening banquet at the Natchez Trace Inn Hall of Fame in Tupelo featured a special presentation to Mr. Futorian by the Governor.

The Governor said in his proclamation proclaiming Furniture Day in Mississippi, "Mississippi is fortunate in having Morris Futorian locate his first plant in Mississippi. To the furniture industry, the name Futorian means quality and our people working in this and the many other plants which this reputation helped attract, are striving to keep up the good work."

Hunting season approached its annual peak Saturday when the first gun season or deer opened.

A record number of hunters are expected to be taking to the forests of Mississippi this year, and the total harvest could exceed the 1972-73 gun kill of almost 38,000 according to the State Game and Fish Commission.

Hunters are required to observe a new safety regulation during gun season. Everyone hunting must wear either a fluorescent orange hat, cap or vest. Violation of the regulation could result in a $25 fine.

The 1973 meeting of the Southeastern Association of State Park Directors was held at J. P. Coleman State Park last week. Representatives from thirteen states attended the meeting to discuss a wide variety of park matters.

Dr. John M. King, Executive Director of the Mississippi Park Commission and newly-elected Secretary - Treasurer for the 13-state Park Directors Association stated, "Each year, the Southeastern Association of State Park Directors holds its annual meeting in one of the member states. We feel extremely fortunate to have had the opportunity to be host to this important meeting. The last time the group met in Mississippi was in 1956 at Hugh White State Park."

MEC Issues Plea To State Lawmakers

The Mississippi Economic Council today issued a plea to state lawmakers to "respond to the demands of the people of Mississippi" and modernize county government to "eliminate inefficiencies and to keep government up with technical progress."

The Council, appearing before the House County Affairs

Committee in hearings on county government, told the legislators that the Constitution clearly places the responsibility for determination of county road administration on the shoulders of the Legislature.

Speaking on behalf of the Council, MEC Vice President Joe F. Tatum of Hattiesburg said, in noting that the Council has long supported county unit proposals, "that although change is difficult . . . although the beat system is ingrained in county administration . . . we should recognize that we have advanced over the past 80 years."

"Despite 40 years of legislative and professional studies of county government in Mississippi supporting the unit system, the Boards of Supervisors have failed to exercise their option and return to the more efficient unit system," Tatum said.

The Hattiesburg businessman said the Council "opposes an optional provision for county unit and also opposes any provision for a referendum."

"The Constitution provides that the Legislature is to prescribe the method of administering the road systems in the counties. To refer this issue to a vote of the people would abdicate your responsibility as elected representatives and would be an admission of your unwillingness to make a decision."

The MEC vice president said the Council supports a mandatory county unit system with the Board of Supervisors' acting in the manner of a board of directors of a corporation.

The Supervisors would then set policy for the county as a unit with all administrative functions being handled by a manager employed by and responsible to the Board.

"The system would include countywide planning, budgeting, employment, construction, maintenance, central purchasing, and uniform record keeping," Tatum said.

The Council appeared before the House County Affairs Committee on invitation from Committee Chairman John Pearson of Rose-dale.

The MEC presentation to the committee included information from various studies on Mississippi county government conducted over the past 20 years.

"The most notable of these reports," said Tatum, "is the 1972 General Legislative Investigating Committee's report that shows Mississippi ranking first among all states in county road expenditures on a per capita basis, and eighth among all states in total road expenditures."

"The Council stands firm in the belief that the beat-by-beat system of road administration does not produce the maximum return from our tax dollars."

"We believe that Mississippi can ill afford to continue to sanction cumbersome organization, diffusion of responsibility, and wasteful spending habits just because these conditions have become tradition," Tatum said.

'Behind Every Great Man Is A Woman'..

Do you remember the adage "Behind every great man is a woman"?

If you've been up to the Prentiss County Vo-Tech School on Monday nights lately, you'll see that times are changing. Women are coming our front -- in front of automobiles, that is!

They're changing their own tires, finding out what makes their cars run -- or not run, and getting into the insides of a car. These first female graduates of an Automobile Mechanics class at the Prentiss County Vo-Tech School feel confident in working with their own cars. Ray Vuncannon, Automobile Mechanics instructor has promoted that confidence in helping them to understand what an underhood inspection is all about. They know how to check the water hose, belts, wire connections, oil, batteries, and brake fluid. They know what to do about leaks. They even know how to conserve gasoline.

And besides being able to know what's happening to their cars, they are one other thing over the male mechanic. They're prettier!

Employers, Order W-2

Employers have been urged by IRS District Director William Daniel to order Wage and Tax Statements, Forms W-2, and U. S. Information Returns, Form 1099, now.

Form W-2 is used by employers to give employees a statement of wages paid and taxes withheld during the year. It must be furnished to employees by January 31, 1974.

Form 1099 is used to report payment of dividends, interest, rents and royalties, commissions and fees. It must also be furnished to payees by January 31, 1974. Mr. Daniel said employers have been mailed a package which has a sample of these forms. Also included in the package is an order blank for these and other related forms.

Employers would make any changes in the name, address and identification number in the mailing label which is on the back of the order blank. The order blank should then be mailed to IRS District Director, 301 N. Lamar Street, Jackson, Mississippi 39202.

Mr. Daniel encouraged all employers to mail their orders now to insure the early receipt of an adequate supply of these forms.

Fall Preparation For Next Garden

Many Mississippians have decided to grow their own vegetables next year.

Some are not waiting until then to start; they're growing a fall garden. The increased cost of food has caused people to remember how much the vegetable garden contributed to the food supply according to J. T. Garrett, leader in horticulture for the Cooperative Extension Service.

To be successful, the gardener cannot wait until next planting season to get started with his project. He must start now. Garden sites must be selected by the first-time gardener. Experienced gardeners need to clean up their old spot and arrange for expansion.

Another important step in fall preparation is planning the garden. Which crops will be grown next year? How many seeds or plants will be needed? These considerations are important. Suppliers of vegetable seeds, like many other industries, are experiencing shortages. Make a list and place your order well in advance of the planting season. Since more people than ever before will be gardening next year, act early and avoid the rush, Garrett advised.

To the oldtimers, sanitation will be important to having more in '74. Clean up compost, prepare the rows for your early vegetables next year.

Fall preparation will permit earlier planting in '74. Those who do not prepare ahead find that planting dates come early while the soil is still too wet from winter rains to permit breaking. Bedding up rows in the fall permits earlier planting because rows dry faster and warm up sooner.

First-time gardeners have some very important steps to take for next year. A garden site with a good fertile soil with good drainage not too close to trees should be selected. Stay at least 100 feet from large trees to prevent competition between trees and vegetables for moisture and fertilizer -- trees always win.

The garden soil should be sampled now and analyses made to determine the nutrient status. Most soils will require liming to raise the pH to 6.0 or more (the range where most garden crops do best). Fall is an especially good time to soil test. Liming materials require time to affect the pH. It usually takes three months to get major changes.

ENERGY TALKS

By Warren B. Davis
Director, Energy Economics
Gulf Oil Corporation

"Would higher gasoline and automobile taxes help alleviate the shortages?"

"They probably would help, but they would only be half a solution. You can discourage the use of gasoline by higher taxes, but you cannot create more supply with taxes. The best way to balance supply with demand is to let prices seek their natural level."

Mr. Davis was principal author of the National Petroleum Council's "U.S. Energy Outlook" prepared for the U.S. Interior Department.

Construction Begins On Corinth Building

Construction has begun on a new $250,000 home for Fidelity Federal Savings & Loan Association of Corinth, Miss. Occupancy is expected by summer of 1974. The building was designed by the Memphis firm of Walk Jones and Francis Mah, Architecture, Engineering, Planning, Interior Design. It is being constructed by CIG Contractors, Corinth.

The lending agency's new quarters will be on a 30,000 square-foot plot on the southeast corner at the intersection of Cruise and Cass streets in Corinth. This property was purchased from the Corinth Urban Renewal Agency in May 1972.

The one-story red brick building will contain about 5,500 square feet of floor space. Glass will be used extensively and the board room will offer a view of a fountain at the front of the building which will face Cruise Street.

A metal canopy will cover the drive-in window on the south side and will be large enough to protect a pneumatic teller station that is planned for the future. The drive-in teller station will be set in a wall of insulated gray glass.

Above entrance foyers on two sides of the building will be 10 x 15-foot skylights. Vaulted ceilings above the entrance foyers will slope at a 60-degree angle to the skylights. Brick paving at the entrances will be the same color as the building and the 25-space parking lot will be paved with concrete.

Facilities will include board and conference rooms, each about 15 x 15 feet, and executive offices. Plans provide for an employee's lounge, vending facilities and an eating area, women's lounge, separate accounting area, five teller stations, a 9 x 14 foot vault, and carpet throughout. Roof parapets will enclose heating and air conditioning equipment.

Noting the steady progress of Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan under leadership of its president, Hall Anderson on the board of directors said the institution has outgrown its present offices at 514 Child Street.

Fidelity Federal's gross assets total nearly $13 million and these are expected to increase to nearly $25 million by 1985.

Fidelity Federal also operates a mobile branch that makes periodic trips to nearby communities to expand its service area.

Ways Being Sought To Up Beef Supply

One way scientists are working to insure an adequate food supply for tomorrow's growing markets is through animal breeding programs.

A recent study by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service shows that young bulls will generally produce 25 to 40% more lean meat than steers on the same diet.

A related study also indicates Holstein dairy steers may become an even more important source of beef. Tests revealed that Holstein steers produced acceptable carcasses and performed as well if not better in the feedlot than Hereford breeds.

DKG Holds Meeting

On October 20, Upsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary teaching society, held its first meeting of the 1973-1974 year.

The members met in Wright Hall on the campus of The Northeast Mississippi Junior College with those from Booneville serving as hostesses.

Following the initiation of the eleven new members, those present from Alcorn, Prentiss, Tippah, Tishomingo, and Union counties enjoyed a delicious luncheon of French dishes prepared by the Hotel-Motel-Restaurant Management Club of Northeast. After Mrs. Lena Harmon, President, had adjourned the business meeting, the group viewed slides illustrating the study-topic of the society, "Culture in Changing Times," by Mrs. Louise Du-

Soft Fields Slowed Harvest

MEMPHIS - Soft fields early in the week slowed the harvest, but picking was again on the move at mid-week.

Cotton picking moved into advanced stages in some early counties according to Marcus P. Talbot, Jr., Officer in Charge of the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service, Cotton Division, Classing Office, Memphis, Tennessee. Ginners cleaned up their backlogs during the recent weather delay and farmers used their time to market some cotton. Offerings were restricted by the heavy percentage sold ahead on contract.

Cotton reaching the market was mostly grades 51 and higher stapling 34 or 35. Prices paid for current offerings were up substantially from last week. For staples 34 the following prices were reported: Grade 31, 72 cents; Grade 41, 70 cents and Grade 51, 68 cents. Buyers whose purchase prices are based on the futures market were able to offer 4 to 6 cents per pound more this week.

On central markets contract cotton arrived in volume. Trading, however, was only moderately active since the volume of "free" cotton offered was rather light. Much of the cotton coming into the market is already committed and merchants are covering short positions before offering for resale. Domestic mill buying maintained the modest rate of week earlier. Sales for export were largely to Far Eastern mills.

Sample receipts at the Memphis Classing Office dropped off slightly last week, but were again on the rise.

Total classing for the season totaled 479,982 samples through November 9. This is down sharply from a year earlier when the figure was 617,553 samples.

Quality of current classings was primarily Grade 41 and better in staples of 33 to 35. Micronaire readings were largely in the base range.

Observe Regs On Parkway

Citizens are urged to observe hunting regulations on the Natchez Trace Parkway.

The directives, as published in the Code of Federal Regulations, prohibit the use of any implement designed to discharge missiles that are capable of destroying animal life. The possession of such object or arm is prohibited unless it is unloaded and cased or otherwise packed in such a way as to prevent its use while in park areas. In addition, motor vehicles are prohibited from parking on lands of the parkway for the purpose of hunting on lands adjacent to the parkway right-of-way.

The Natchez Trace Parkway, as one of our national parks, is a sanctuary for wildlife. Management programs are directed toward the maintenance and enhancement of habitat for game animals and other wildlife whose presence in the area is of esthetic and recreational value.

Everyone Can Help... Energy Conservation;

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Energy conservation is the one way every American can help ease the nation's energy shortages this winter, a spokesman for the natural gas industry said today.

George H. Lawrence, Senior Vice President of the American Gas Association, said, "The discovery, development and delivery of virtually all new sources of natural gas and other energy resources will take at least several years. But, it only takes hours or days to find extra energy by not wasting it in the home, factories, and plants, office buildings, or in any facet of our lifestyles."

"Our country no longer has 'energy to burn,'" said Lawrence during an energy briefing for newsmen. "Even when we do get new sources of natural gas and other fuels, we will be wise to continue a conservation ethic in every walk of life."

Lawrence pointed out, "We have the domestic energy resources to keep our country going and growing far into the future, but we have to break the chain of impediments that prevent natural gas producers from exploring, discovering, and supplying this cleanest of fossil fuels for American consumers."

The National Bureau of Standards says that homeowners can conserve energy and save up to 40% on heating costs this winter.

A.G.A. recommends such energy saving steps as: - keeping appliances in good working order; - Closing fireplace dampers; - caulking cracks; - setting thermostats lower at night; - adding insulation, storm doors and windows; and - installing weather stripping.

Lawrence also said that development of such supplemental sources as coal gasification, imported liquefied natural gas, and gasification of liquid hydrocarbons could provide substantial amounts of much needed cleaner burning energy, as could continued research to unlock vast supplies in extremely tight geological formations.

Lawrence pointed out that "the true significance of natural gas to our nation's economy is rarely understood."

"It is a well known fact," he said, "that gas provides one-third of our nation's total primary energy needs. But when the transportation portion -- autos, trucks, planes -- is removed, and we consider the stationary energy needs of our residential, commercial and industrial consumers, natural gas provides 43% of America's energy needs."

"Should the consumer's number one objective be the lowest possible price for his gasoline and fuel oil?"

"What the consumer's first objective ought to be is to have enough gasoline and fuel oil to satisfy his needs. Once he is assured of that, then his second objective should be to obtain them at the lowest possible price. Prices so low that they result in inadequate supply are not in the best interests of consumers."

Mr. Davis was principal author of the National Petroleum Council's "U.S. Energy Outlook" prepared for the U.S. Interior Department.

Alecia Lewis, George K. Jones Wed

Miss Alicia Lewis became the bride of George Kenneth Jones on October 27 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the United Methodist Church in Sweet Water.

The Rev. J. C. Jones officiated. Music was provided by Mrs. Nelle Rose Beverly, organist, and Miss Rosemary Beverly, soloist. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thomas Lewis of Sweet Water. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Denny Jones of Birmingham, and the grandson of Rollin Tennison.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin faced organza. The dress featured an Empire waist and a full chapel train. The yoke, sleeves and wide ruffled hemline were of Nottingham lace. The gown was accented with Venice lace motifs and simulated pearls. Her Camelot headpiece of lace and flowers held the veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds and baby's breath attached to a white Bible.

Sisters of the bride served as her attendants. Miss Zan Lewis was maid of honor and Miss Joan Lewis was the bridesmaid. They wore gowns of velvet and chiffon that featured square necklines, fitted bodices and shepherdess sleeves. Schiffler embroidered trim adorned the bodices. They carried cascade bouquets of painted daisies in autumn colors.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length crepe dress of India turquoise with matching accessories. She wore a yellow rose corsage.

The mother of the groom wore a dress of teal blue knit, trimmed with tincy covered buttons. She wore matching accessories and a pink corsage. The grandmother of the groom wore a pale orchid dress with black accessories and a purple corsage.

The church was decorated with a large basket of autumn flowers, yellow chrysanthemums, wheat, white gladioli and autumn leaves. Two candelabra were also used. Serving as best man was Mr. George Denny Jones, the father of the groom. Groomsman-ushers were Alex Lewis, cousin of the bride; Keith Jones, brother of the groom; and Michael Stewart.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Lewis, uncle and aunt of the bride. A color scheme of green, yellow and white was used throughout the room and arrangements of autumn flowers were used. A crystal punch bowl and silver candelabra holding white tapers decorated the punch table. The bride's table, which held a four-tiered cake, was covered with an imported cut-work tablecloth over yellow. The groom's table was covered with a linen cut-out embroidered cloth and held the groom's chocolate cake.

For the honeymoon trip to the mountains, the bride chose a maroon knit pant suit with matching accessories. She wore a yellow rose corsage.

The couple will live in Birmingham.

TRACEWAY...a 3,000 acre family recreation resort complex to be situated on the Natchez Trace and the 30,000 acre Ross Barnett Reservoir. Traceway's location is approximately 30 miles west of the geographical center of Mississippi. During 1972, according to the National Park Service, approximately 13.3 million visitors traveled the Natchez Trace Parkway. The Traceway Resort Complex is well served by U. S. Interstate Highways. Interstate 20 gives the area direct east-west highway service from South Carolina to California, while Interstate 55 runs in a north-south direction from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes. Traceway's exceptional recreation resort facilities with its family travel attractions will include a visitors center, an interpretive complex of five villages, each portraying a theme or specific period of Mississippi culture and history, playground, a nature preserve and picnic areas, a park inn and restaurant, indoor/outdoor swimming and wave pool, beaches, boating facilities, outdoor amphitheater, golf courses, tennis center, camping area, horse arena, riding trails and stables. Projected development cost of Traceway is $48.8 million. Economics Research Associates, who helped plan Disney World, Opryland, Six Flags Over Texas, and Six Flags Over Georgia, states that the economic impact of Traceway on the state is very significant. Over a 10 year period it is predicted that visitors coming to Traceway will spend $300 million per year throughout Mississippi.
