TVA Rate Hike Delay Saves $57,000 Here

By HANK WIESNER
Managing Editor

The Tennessee Valley Authority's decision last week to delay a 6.5 per cent rate hike for three months is expected to save customers of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association about $57,000 during that time, according to association manager J.W. Abernethy.

The decision to postpone the rate hike came Thursday after officials said TVA unexpectedly saved about $81 million in operating costs during January and February.

"We're happy they decided to do it. They had called us beforehand to get our reaction to the price increase, and we told them we favored postponing it for as long as possible," Abernethy said last week.

The Prentiss County association serves about 9,500 customers, and their average bill is about $30.78. Six point five per cent of the average bill would be about $2, and that comes out to a $19,000 savings for each of those three months, according to figures supplied by the association.

The association serves Prentiss County, where the bulk of its customers are located. The group also serves people in Lee, Union, Alcorn and Tippah counties, Abernethy said.

In a special meeting, TVA Chairman David Feeman and Director Richard Freeman approved delaying the scheduled April 1 increase on the advice of Hugh Parris, the government utility's manager of power.

Parris said TVA's coal-fired, nuclear and hydro generating units worked more efficiently this winter, so the agency did not have to buy as much power from other utilities as expected, nor did it rely as heavily on costly oil-fired turbines during peak demand.

Deferring the increase gives TVA customers until July 1 before home bills jump $2.04 to more than $33 per 1,000 kilowatt-hours, some 25 percent below the national average. The delay will save the utility's 2.7 million customers some $50 million in power bills.

Parris called for the delay Wednesday because power system savings since January required less than $50 million income to meet TVA's annual interest expense, instead of the $100 million that would have come with an April 1 hike.

When the increase was proposed, it was designed to cover a $59 million power system operating deficit projected for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

But TVA, in light of the winter savings, produced figures Monday showing that it would come out $22 million ahead of the margin needed to cover this year's $655 million in interest charges on debts for fuel and construction costs.

Even though implementing the rate hike July 1 will bring just $50 million in revenue, Parris said TVA needs only $38 million this year to meet rate requirements on its $3 billion power system.

Asked whether the rate hike could be delayed even further, or come away with entirely if TVA generating units operate as efficiently in spring and early summer as they did in January and February, Chairman Freeman said:

"We will look at the numbers in our quarterly rate review in May, but there's no need to speculate on that now."

Director Freeman added that "we would look at those numbers as a routine matter anyway. But we're not projecting this trend on the spring and summer because we have no basis for it."

$2,000 Reward Offered In Shooting

RIPLEY—A $2,000 reward has been offered for information leading to the conviction of persons responsible for a Feb. 24 armed robbery that resulted in the death of a Tippah County man, county officials have announced.

The Tippah County Sheriff's Department has not yet received any response to the reward offer. The department is still investigating the robbery and shooting, which caused the death of Oliver James Brady on Feb. 27.

Brady died from wounds he received during the robbery at his home on Mississippi 4 near the Tippah-Prentiss county line. He and his wife were returning home from the Baldwin store Brady operated at 11 p.m. Feb. 24 when two men attacked them.

The men, who were hiding in the Brady home, seized Mrs. Brady when she went into the house.

$32,000 Suit Filed

BALDWIN—The attorney representing 136 former employees of Sands Manufacturing Inc. said he has filed a $32,000 suit against the defunct furniture industry and its factor, Citizens and Southern Bank of Atlanta, Ga., to compensate the employees for wages they have not received.

Additionally, the suit is asking for $75,000 in punitive damages against four of Sands' directors and officers, Bob Shipper, Willard Schein, Jan C. Cooy and W.R. Martin.

Baldwin attorney George Gunter said Tuesday. "We're charging them with fraud and misrepresentation," said Gunter, who filed the suit in Prentiss County Circuit Court.

Since the Internal Revenue Service placed a levy on the company Feb. 16 for $68,000 in back taxes, former employees have been seeking ways to collect $32,000 owed them in wages, Gunter said.

"They haven't been paid in well over a month," Gunter said. At least one of the former employees will have to pay state income taxes twice because of the situation, he added.

The employees are asking for the punitive damage compensation because they had satisfied their end of their contractual agreements with the company and had not been compensated, Gunter said.

Gunter said he expects the suit to come up in the June term of Prentiss County Circuit Court. "I don't believe a Prentiss County jury would return a verdict against us," he said.

The attorney has had little success negotiating out of court with the company, he said.

Gunter has called a meeting of his 136 clients at the community center Thursday night to discuss the suit.

Lions Straw Vote Held

Jim Herring, John McCauley, Danny Childers, David Bolen and Louise Dubard were winners in the Booneville Lions Club straw vote taken among its members last Thursday.

Club members took a survey of whom they preferred among those seeking the offices of state governor, county sheriff, county tax assessor and collector, county superintendent of education and county chancery clerk.

For state governor, Jim Herring led the field with seven votes. Other choices, and their vote totals included Lt. Gov. Evelyn Gandy, 3; and Charles Sullivan, John Arthur Eaves and William Winter, one vote each.

Highway Patrolman John McCauley polled eight votes among those seeking the sheriff's office. County Coroner Mackey Gann polled two votes and Sheriff Ralph Martin and Phil Windham polled a single vote each.

Among the tax assessor and collector's office candidates, Danny Childers collected nine votes. Chancery Clerk Gene Gray polled three votes, while present tax assessor and collector Mrs. Sarah Smith Cummings trailed with one vote.

Among candidates for the post of county superintendent of education, David Bolen polled eight votes while present superintendent Lex Cain had five votes.

VSA Fest Slated

The Northeast Junior College Campus in Booneville will be the site for "A Very Special Arts Festival" to be held Friday, March 30, from 9 until 2:30. One of ten site locations in the state, Northeast will host representatives from fifteen counties in the North Mississippi Regional District.

The festivals, initiated by the National Committee, Arts for the Handicapped in 1976, have expanded from 27 to 75 sites nationally. Designed as a celebration of the skills and abilities of handicapped people, these festivals have created a greater public awareness of the need for quality arts programs for all children, including those who are disabled. The major purpose is to demonstrate the impact of arts in developing artistic responsiveness and increasing general learning achievement among handicapped students.

The festival, which is non-competitive, provides an opportunity for both elementary and secondary students to display their talents to an interested audience. Although no awards will be given, representative works in the categories of drama, music, dance, and art will be selected to be included in the State Festival to be held in Jackson,

April 28.

In addition to Northeast personnel, leaders of civic clubs, 4-H clubs, county extension agencies, churches, and other interested citizens are donating their time and efforts to this most worthwhile project.

Barbers Milk Products, Pepsi Cola Bottling Company and Coca Cola Bottling Company are providing refreshments for the occasion.

For further information contact Mrs. Hilda L. Hill, Site Coordinator on the Northeast Junior College Campus or call 728-7751, extension 309.

Students Are Honored

Two Northeast Junior College Students were recognized by the College Board this week in its fourth annual Talent Roster of Outstanding Community College Graduates.

Designed to promote minority enrollment in four-year colleges and universities, the 1979 Talent Roster was sent to admissions officers at all accredited, four year colleges. It lists the names, addresses, fields of study, and grade point averages of students who expect to complete the associate degree during the 1978-79 academic year.

Selected from Northeast were sophomores Shelia Young and Jacqueline H. Embry. A business administration major from Booneville, Shelia is the daughter of Mrs. Bessie Young.

Jacqueline, an art major from Corinth, is an active member of both the English and Art clubs and is President of the newly formed Afro-American Cultural Society. Married to Rev. Nolan Embry, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Hilliard.

Shelia and Jacqueline, who were selected on the basis of academic performance, future potential, and financial need, were chosen from nominations submitted by 308 community colleges from 35 states

Driver Found Dead Here

A Corinth truck driver was found dead near his vehicle at Northeast Mississippi Hospital Monday night, and an autopsy is planned to look into the cause of his death, County Coroner Mackey Gann said Tuesday.

Alex Dilworth, 53, of Meek Avenue, was found dead about 7:30 p.m. He had apparently backed his truck up to a loading ramp at the hospital shortly before his death, the coroner said.

A coroner's jury was convened at the scene, and the autopsy was then requested. The autopsy will establish an official cause of death.

Tim Wade Takes Top Spelling Bee Honors

Seventh grader Tim Wade of Hill's Chapel School correctly spelled a pair of difficult words Friday night to take top honors in the Prentiss County Spelling Bee.

Tim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Wade of Route 1, Burnsville. Twenty-six students took part in the contest.

He picked his way correctly through "bicentennial" -- a word which seated runnerup Rosanne Dean of Anderson Junior High School--and then correctly spelled "ebony" to win the contest.

The top four finishers in the contest were 12-year old Tim, 13-year old Rosanne, 13-year old Charla Huddleston of Thrasher School and 13-year old Ronny Ward of Marietta School.

Tim is expected to take part in the Mid-South Spelling Bee, which will be held May 4 at 6:30 p.m. at Tech High School in Memphis, Tenn.

Participants in the county spelling bee, included the following students.

Joey Hughes, Teresa Wingo, Debra Reese, Jeff McGrew, Cindy Worley, Jackie Blessingame, Duane Snyder, Kirk Cotham, Dale Wayne Michael, and Cindy Scott.

Also, Joey Merrill, Tammie Bridges, Kanda Smith, Kathie Barger, Richard Shook, Tammy McGaughy, Patilda Cartwright, Jessica Goddard, Greg Downs and Laura Horn. Also, Julie Eaton and Vicky Owens.

Unemployment Hits 7.5 Percent Here

The rate of unemployment in Prentiss County continued an upward trend to reach 7.5 percent of the civilian labor force. This represents the highest figure of unemployment since February 1978, and compares to the state jobless rate of 6.8 percent for the same time period. According to Charles Smith, Corinth Area Manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service, that along with the rise in unemployment, the number of Prentiss County residents employed rose approximately 100, causing an overall increase of 260 in the civilian labor force from the January 1979 estimate. Substantial increases were also noted in comparison to the figures for the same period one year ago.

Individuals employed in manufacturing industries in Prentiss County were estimated to be 3,080, a slight decrease from the January estimate but somewhat over the estimate of February 1978. Nonmanufacturing employment rose a minimal number from last month and the previous year.

Smith continued that the civilian labor force for the four-county area of Alcorn, Prentiss, Tippah, and Tishomingo totaled 40,900 at mid-February, up 470 from January and 880 above the estimate for February 1978. This rise was the result of increases in both employment and unemployment. Employment, estimated to be 37,350, increased some 220 from the last estimate and a substantial 710 from the previous year, while unemployment stood at 3,550, a rise from last month and last year. The rate of unemployment for the area was estimated to be 8.7 percent of the civilian labor force at mid-February.

Manufacturing employment, estimated to be 15,440, dipped slightly below last month's estimate but substantially lower than the estimate for one year ago.

Apparel and Miscellaneous Manufacturing industries contributed primarily to this loss from one year ago. Nonmanufacturing employment at 15,060 also dropped slightly from the January estimate

County School Board Accepts Several Resignations

The Prentiss County Board of Education accepted resignations from several teachers during their Wednesday, March 21 meeting, according to board minutes.

A meeting the preceeding Wednesday brought resignations from several other teachers and a decision not to offer a Jumpertown teacher a contract for the forthcoming year, according to minutes.

In the March 21 meeting, the board accepted resignations from Booneville teacher Gerald Caveness and Thrasher teacher Grandie Barron.

Resignations were also accepted from Booneville Middle School teachers, Mrs. Ann White, Gretchen McMillan and Helen McMillan.

In the March 16 meeting, resignations were accepted from Jumpertown teachers Buel Bullock, Frances Green and Berry Moore. Bus Shop mechanic Lee McCulla also resigned to take a job in Corinth, according to minutes of that meeting.

Jumpertown teacher John Skinner was not offered a contract for the coming year by the board. The teacher had not been recommended for rehiring by the Jumpertown principal.

The board also approved the employment of attorney James R. Price of Corinth in connection with the situation involving the teacher who was not rehired.

Board attorney Joe Ray Langston excused himself from representing either side in the case, saying he had previously represented the teacher's family in other legal action.

Price's fee was set at $50 per hour, with a minimum fee of $500, according to board minutes.

Other Jumpertown teachers were approved for rehiring at the meeting.

The board also approved the terms of several local school board trustees, according to the minutes.

Ralph Stutts was approved for a new five year term, while Mrs. Versie Jones was approved as a replacement for the late John Lewis Thompson. Both actions were for the local Booneville school board.

Troy Scott was appointed to a new five year term on the Hills Chapel board.

No new members were appointed for the Jumpertown board, but the county school board was informed that Billy Pannell has resigned.

James Barron was appointed to a new term on the Marietta school board, Dan Crabb was appointed to a new term on the New Site Board and Bud Holland was appointed to a new term on the Thrasher school board.

F.L. King was appointed to a new term on the Wheeler board and Ellis Ray Barnes appointed to replace Earnest Rowland on that board, according to the minutes.

At the March 21 meeting, seven people were recommended for hiring on the county staff. They included Nelson, Ryan, Garry English, Reba DePoyster, James L. Triplett, James Googe, Camille Galloway and Cathy Johnson.

Heart Talk Set

Nationally-known heart specialists Dr. Michael E. DeBaKey and Dr. Antonio M. Gotto will present a special 90-minute workshop on Tuesday, April 3, at 6:30 p.m. in Room 58 of Hines Hall on the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Campus.

The workshop, "The Living Heart," will focus on cardiovascular disease: its causes, treatment, and prevention.

Current theories and specific examples will be discussed in the first part of the program which deals with arteriosclerosis and atherosclerosis, the underlying process behind most cardiovascular disease, which in turn may cause heart attacks and strokes.

Diagnosis of arteriosclerosis and atherosclerosis and specifically of coronary artery disease will be covered.

Dr. DeBaKey and Dr. Gotto will comment on testing, risk factors and prudent steps and individual may take to correct an abnormal risk factor or to lessen his her chances of having a heart attack.

The current research being done in the treatment and prevention of arteriosclerosis and atherosclerosis, and the trends in death rates from cardiovascular disease also will be examined.

Workshop participants will be able to talk directly, via satellite, with Dr. DeBaKey and Dr. Gotto during the last program segment.

The workshop is being presented for general practitioners, registered nurses and persons concerned with the cardiovascular system.

To pre-register contact Mrs. Opal Melvin, Northeast Mississippi Junior College, 728-7751, Extension 231.

Vote

Among those seeking the office of chancery clerk, Louise Dubard outpolled other candidates with seven votes. Board of Supervisors President W.V. Horn had four votes and Phillip Cole had two votes.

About 14 of the 25-man Lions Club participated in the event, which is an annual occurrence for club members during election years.

HEART SURGERY—Dr. Michael E. DeBaKey, heart specialist and president of the Baylor College of Medicine, will discuss cardiovascular disease in a 90-minute workshop at 6:30 p.m., April 3, at Hine Hall on the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Campus. Workshop participants will be able to talk via satellite with Dr. DeBaKey and Dr. Antonio M. Gotto.

Tyus Gets Training

KIRCH GONS, Germany—Pfc. Richard L. Tyus of Baldwyn, recently participated in Level II tank gunnery training with the 3rd Armored Division in Germany.

Level II tank gunnery training, conducted at the Grafenwohr and Honenfels Training Areas, is one of the two times a year when tank battalions have to fire live ammunition. Individual tank crews develop their necessary team work to take on stationary and moving targets.

The training is designed to increase the combat ability of the tank, mechanized infantry, artillery and attack helicopter units to destroy enemy tanks and other hostile combat formations in battle.

OUTRAGE: WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE REBIRTH OF THE METERMAID?

We deny having anything to do with it.

We have been informed by several reliable sources that the membership of the Merchants Association of Booneville, Mississippi is responsible for this new birth. We want to go on record and say that we didn't vote for it, didn't have anything to do with it and don't know anybody who did.

In the first place I feel that the taxpayers and wishes of the people should prevail instead of the merchants in a situation of this kind. This is especially so, since apparently just a few of these merchants under cover of darkness, with the right connections, purports to speak for the entire Merchants Association and the people of the city of Booneville. Could this be government of the few, by the few and for the few?

Many of us are desperately searching, trying to find out who these favorites are and their connections because there are many things that need to be done in Booneville and we are trying to find out where the power is lodged. One of these is a large parking lot so that problems like this can be eliminated.

Who requested the metermaid and were they speaking for themselves only? If they were speaking for the merchants, who gave them the authority to so speak? Most important who is him her or they?

Sincerely,

Banana Boycot Threatened By Chavez

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau

Cesar Chavez, tsar of labor organizing efforts in the fields of California and other places, has threatened a boycott of bananas to further have his way in strong arm dealings with agricultural producers.

The proposed banana boycott is but the latest step in a six-week strike against a group of lettuce and vegetable farmers in California. And while bananas are not grown in the United States, the labor organizer figures that he can force concessions from a major food concern involved in both foreign and domestic food production and distribution.

All this may sound a bit far out for Mississippians, but it is not. If his threats are carried out it may mean pickets at your neighborhood supermarket carrying signs asking you not to buy "Brand X bananas" like they did a few years ago during the attempted boycott of grapes.

The grape boycott failed although some retailers knuckled under and did not stock table grapes during the turmoil. Most retailers however ignored the consumer boycott, recognizing it for what it was—a strong arm tactic.

If the citizenry puts up with such unfair actions as have sprung from Chavez's farm labor movement, it marks a major erosion and disruption of the freedom of America. Housewives, under such coercion, would lose their freedom to enter the store of their choice to buy whatever foods she chooses for her family based on her own personal economics and preferences.

But Mississippi has a far greater local interest in the banana spat. Gulfport is the major entry port for the brand of bananas in question in this country. Galveston, Texas, is second but significantly below the Mississippi port, according to an interview last week between this writer and an official of, shall we say, Brand X bananas. The major banana firm reported that they ship two shiploads of bananas weekly to retail outlets in the United States through the port of Gulfport. Each of these ships carries about 100,000 boxes of bananas which weigh 40 pounds per box.

The economic effect of the banana trade in Mississippi dominoes through the trucking, wholesale and retail channels of this state, the South and the nation. Should such a consumer boycott be effective—which it probably won't—ships could be idled, laborers put out of work, truckers emptied of payloads, and wholesale and retail outlets deprived of sales of a popular fruit product.

Meanwhile Chavez considers himself the champion of so-called poor, downtrodden migrants. Figures reveal his false premise. Lettuce workers in California are local residents who are already making from $9 to $12 an hour when you count the basic wage and bonus piece rates.

Chavez's new wage demands range from 32 to 90 percent above that. He is asking farmers to give a near 200 percent increase in wages and benefits in one year while the rest of the country has to make do with 7 percent.

If his demands were met, for one company alone payroll costs would go from $16 million in 1978 to nearly $50 million in 1979. This would bankrupt the vegetable companies and is a slap in the face to the President's anti-inflation program.

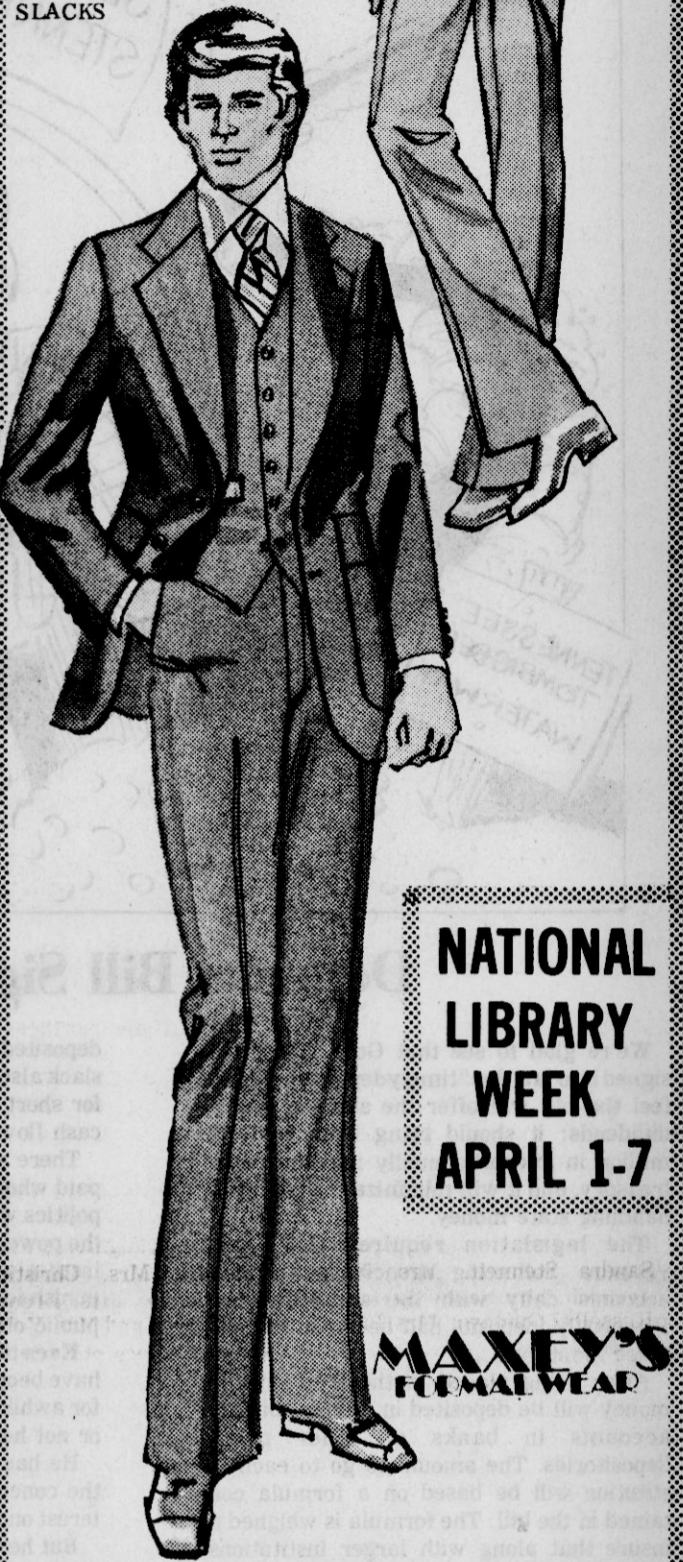

Yet the labor tsar gloats and calls the present strike a dream come true, even though the strikers have to subsist on $25 a week instead of $200-$300 they would be making if they were working.

And he predicts success for his banana boycott, saying: "I'd bet my life on it. It's a cinch. By calling one man in Japan, we can cut off their sales in that country."

So economic history is being written. Americans still can ink their lines in the latest chapter by sacking up a few bananas the next time they drop in at their neighborhood grocery.

The Northeast Mississippi Junior College was notified this week by Jamie W. Howell, Executive Director of the Governor's Office of Job Development and Training, that the Housebuilder Course offered by Northeast would once again be funded under the Comprehensive Educational Training Act Program (CETA) through the Fiscal Year 1979.

CETA had previously paid the teachers' salaries, purchased needed equipment, and subsidized the students while they attended both carpentry and masonry classes at the Manpower Training School in its Corinth location.

Early last year state officials voted to eliminate the program as the result of a serious decline in funds.

In response, supplemental information displaying the critical need of trained carpenters and brick masons in our area as well as the placement program's success in relation to local industry were submitted for consideration by Harold T. White, President of the Northeast Junior College.

With the renewed CETA funding, additional manpower for North Mississippi housing projects as well as the Tennessee Tombigbee and Yellow Creek TVA projects can and will be supplied.

Both Governor Cliff Finch and his assistant, Mr. Howell, are to be commended for their support of this essential program.

Deposits Bill Signed

We're glad to see that Gov. Cliff Finch signed into law the "timely deposits" bill. We feel the bill will offer the state a pair of dividends: it should bring from $3 to $7 million in interest annually into the public treasury, and it will minimize the politics in handling state money.

The legislation requires that state revenue collecting agencies settle their accounts daily with the state treasury. Previously, deposits had been required only twice monthly.

After being placed in the treasury, the money will be deposited in interest bearing accounts in banks or other public depositories. The amount to go to each institution will be based on a formula contained in the bill. The formula is weighed to insure that along with larger institutions, small and medium sized institutions draw their share of deposits.

The amount of interest to be paid on the funds is tied to the Federal Reserve's floating discount rate with no provision for bidding.

Up until the time this bill was passed, the state agencies held control over where and how state funds were deposited.

"As it presently stands, there is absolute discretion as to where it (the money) is placed and as to whether even one per cent interest will be earned," Senate banks chairman Ben Stone of Gulfport told his fellow legislators in urging passage of the bill.

Taxpayers lost out at least two ways under the old law. The state lost interest on the funds during the time they were not deposited in an institution. The two week slack also forced to the state to borrow funds for short terms at times to smooth out its cash flow. That also cost the state money.

There are costs of a different sort to be paid whenever there is the potential to play politics with public funds. Any time there is the power to switch funds from institution to institution to bring political favors—or punish for the lack of them—both lenders and public officials can profit.

Even though Finch signed the bill, it would have become law without his signature. And for awhile there was question about whether or not he would sign it.

He has stated in the past he agrees with the concept of allowing the state to get interest on its public funds wherever possible.

But he tried at least once to have the bill sent back to a Senate-House conference committee for revisions. He said he would have preferred a provision in the bill allowing banks to bid on state deposits after the initial allocations were made.

Finch said he had issued an executive order about a year ago asking agencies to insure that temporarily idle funds were placed in interest bearing accounts.

With or without the executive order, it's good to see this bill passed. It should have been passed a long time ago. There was no excuse for letting state funds sit idle that could have been making more money for the state. It may have been legal, but it certainly wasn't smart.

Claims Top $7 Million

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Mississippi paid more than seven million claims in 1978 representing almost $439 million.

W.C. Mosley, president and chief executive officer, made the announcement at the annual board of directors meeting March 22 in Jackson at which two board members from this area were re-elected.

Included in the disbursements are claims for regular, private business subscribers.

Board members re-elected included C.H. Burns, Baldwin; R.E. Caldwell, M.D., Baldwin.

Letters:

Dear Editor,

I want to praise you and the staff of your local paper. It is a job well done. But I strongly protest the Cheerleaders of the Dallas Cowboys being put up on a pedestal!

I feel this was done in very poor taste. Why? Because our great country of America was not founded upon such principles! It was founded upon the great virtues of purity, honesty, courage, diligence, Godliness, forgiveness, integrity, loyalty, right, spirituality, temperance, wisdom, and etc..

I feel that every sensible, law-abiding citizen of Booneville, Rienzi (my hometown), New Site, and surrounding cities and towns will back me up on my statement that we do not want any of our young girls to follow the example of the Dallas

Cowboy's Cheerleaders Indecent Dress standard.

I do not know how decent the Cheerleaders are in their personal lives, but I have observed that in reality, people usually reveal on the outside what they are on the inside!

We desperately need some Cheerleaders to cheer on Purity, Decent Living, Standing for what is right, Godliness! One person said "those who move away from strong moral foundations are robbed of a future house of life."

"I believe the quotation of one of our great leaders who said 'the man (woman, boy, or girl (emphasis mine) who makes a lifetime agreement with himself to do right and avoid wrong has planted the seed of greatness in his own life.'" at this point: "If there is anything in my thoughts or style to commend, the credit is due to my parents for instilling in me an early love of the Scriptures.

"If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will go on prospering and to prosper; but if we and our posterity neglect its instructions and authority, no man can tell how sudden a catastrophe may overwhelm us and bury all our glory in profound obscurity."

May we all glory, not in what is wrong, but what is right! "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any praise, think on Eyes On Mississippi...

GOP Splitting Over Candidates

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON—An emotional split over presidential candidates similar to the one that ripped the Mississippi Republican Party in 1976 seems to be shaping up as lines are being drawn here on 1980 GOP presidential hopefuls.

Ronald Reagan, the thunderer from the Republican right, is the focal point of the division in the Mississippi GOP ranks, just as he was in 1976 when the ex-governor of California almost snatched the nomination away from President Gerald Ford.

Even at 68, Reagan is currently regarded the front-runner nationally as the 1980 GOP presidential standard-bearer because of the aggressive moves he has made in getting his campaign cranked up and running before his opposition gets on the field.

His following of conservative zealots both nationally and in Mississippi is still bitter about Reagan being turned down at Kansas City since they are convinced Jimmy Carter wouldn't be president now if their man had carried the GOP banner.

There's no question that Ronald Reagan has strong appeal in Mississippi both with oldline Republicans and with a great many Mississippians who are nominal Democrats. The Reagan backers, of course, see Jimmy Carter as being badly wounded in Mississippi and they feel Reagan could easily carry the state over the sitting Democratic president.

But the Republican party hierarchy in Mississippi is evidently not being seduced by the right-wing appeal of Reagan. They, it appears, are seeking somebody more to the center with good national appeal who would not polarize the country.

U.S. Sen. Thad Cochran, the ranking elected GOP official in Mississippi and apparently moving more and more into the role of a party leader, has decided to back former Texas Gov. John Connally to head off Reagan for the 1980 nomination.

Cochran, however, is far from alone in the Connally camp. It has been learned by this column that Republican State Chairman Mike Retzer of Greenville is also backing Connally and so is former GOP chairman, Clarke Reed, the latter a former Reaganite who pulled a last-minute switch to Ford in 1976.

Haley Barbour, the former director of the Republican state headquarters who had worked as a field man in the Ford campaign and since as a sort of "hit" man for Cochran's senatorial race, is also in the Connally camp.

Jackson oilman W.D. "Billy" Mounger, perennial bankroller of Republican campaigns in Mississippi, and the archetype of the GOP Right, is again heading up the Reagan movement as he did in 1976 when he threatened retribution on some fellow Republicans for abandoning Reagan.

Mounger's chief target over the Ford-Reagan split in 1976 was Gil Carmichael, the 1975 almost governor whom Mounger accused of disloyalty when Carmichael emerged as an early Ford spokesman. Mounger's unleashed a celebrated verbal attack on Carmichael in which he (Mounger) claimed to have raised $400,000 for Gil's gubernatorial race.

Actually, Carmichael, who took a back seat when the GOP leadership swung to Ford, received most of the flak of the Reaganites' frustration and still suffers from those bruises in his current drive for the governorship.

Carmichael is expected to downplay the Reagan-Connally contest for the GOP presidential nomination as long as he can in order to close the Republican ranks in what appears to be the best shot at putting a member of the party in the Mississippi governor's office in over a century. But as presidential politics start to warm up long about the November general election, Carmichael again may be on a hot seat if he does not support the popular favorite of Mississippi conservatives.

Meantime, the Democrats in Mississippi realize they are going to be hard-pressed to hold the state in line for Carter next year, since he won the state only by one percentage point in 1976. A recent poll showed, possibly to the surprise of many, that Carter is well liked in Mississippi as a man. But, as in the nation, he suffers here from lack of confidence in his job performance.

One bit of intelligence floating out of the office of Gov. Cliff Finch is that Finch, his new capped teeth and all, is an aspirant for a vice-presidential nomination on somebody's Democratic ticket next year. A source says that Finch has been studying the vice-presidential campaign speeches of both Huber Humphrey and Richard Nixon to get a few pointers.

Still, the big fight in Mississippi presidential politics seems to be all on the Republican side.

Talking Politics...

Open Primary Law To Be Signed

By BILL CRAWFORD
Columnist

Tuning back in on the continuing saga of the open primary law for Mississippi, we find the supposed savior of the Democratic Party in Mississippi resting on Governor Cliff Finch's desk. This past weekend the lame duck governor said he will sign the law, sending it toward the demise its ancestors have suffered from the Justice Department in Washington.

Will the Justice Department reverse itself and approve the new law? Will it indeed save the Democratic Party from the surging Republican Party and black independent candidates? Tune-in again in a few weeks, or a few months, when we again return to this portentous saga.

The word being spread by former Senator Jim Eastland's buddies (remember Eastland practically controlled the Justice Department personnel) is that the Justice Department will not approve an open primary law for Mississippi. The Mississippi Legislature has higher hopes based on the fact that same department approved a similar law for Louisiana last year.

The effect of the open primary proposal, of course, is to eliminate party primaries such as the historical Democratic primaries in August, and to replace them with a single primary in October. All candidates, Democrats, Republicans, and independents, would run in that primary. If no candidate got more than 50 percent of the vote the top two would face each other in the November general election.

The open primary law surfaced a number of years ago when the powers that be in Mississippi found their position challenged by a resurgent Republican Party and by late-filing black independents. Top Democratic officials feared their candidates would wear themselves out and spend all their money surviving the Democratic primary. The way out was to make everyone run in one big primary.

The interesting thing about the open primary today is that it may cost the Democrats the very control of state politics they were trying to preserve.

At the statewide level it would indeed require less expenditure of money and reduce the number of elections a Democrat might have to go through. But it would also cut out those second primary upsets that have brought us John Bell Williams, Bill Waller and Cliff Finch. See, these candidates would still be the second highest Democrat finishers, but in today's Mississippi the Republicans would have only one candidate and his probability of finishing in the top two every time would be very high.

If the open primary law is approved for this year's election it should practically insure a runoff between Lt. Gov. Evelyn Gandy and Republican Gil Carmichael. Gandy has a steady base of voters and Carmichael has his. Jim Herring, John Arthur Eaves, Charlie Deaton and any other Democrats would split the remaining vote. The open primary law will make it tough for an underdog Democrat to win.

At the grass roots level the law would make party affiliation meaningless and open the door for more and more candidates to shift to the Republican Party. Many local candidates readily admit they vote Republican but say they can't run under that label and win. They say they have to be in that August primary. Getting rid of the traditional Democratic primary will remove that reason.

Finally, the open primary law would pretend the demise of two-party politics in Mississippi. The two purposes of parties are to develop opposing political philosophies so voters can easily identify the candidates their philosophies blend with, and to generate candidates. Ending party primaries will prevent both parties from selecting their best candidates to take on the opposition. Elections would be decided on candidate personalities alone.

Tune-in in November and see what this open primary law ends up doing—or undoing.

One day it happens.

A father slips and falls from a ladder. A mother learns her child has a speech disorder. A grandfather has a stroke. Suddenly, without warning, whole lives change. The long road to rehabilitation can stretch on through the weeks, months, even years ahead.

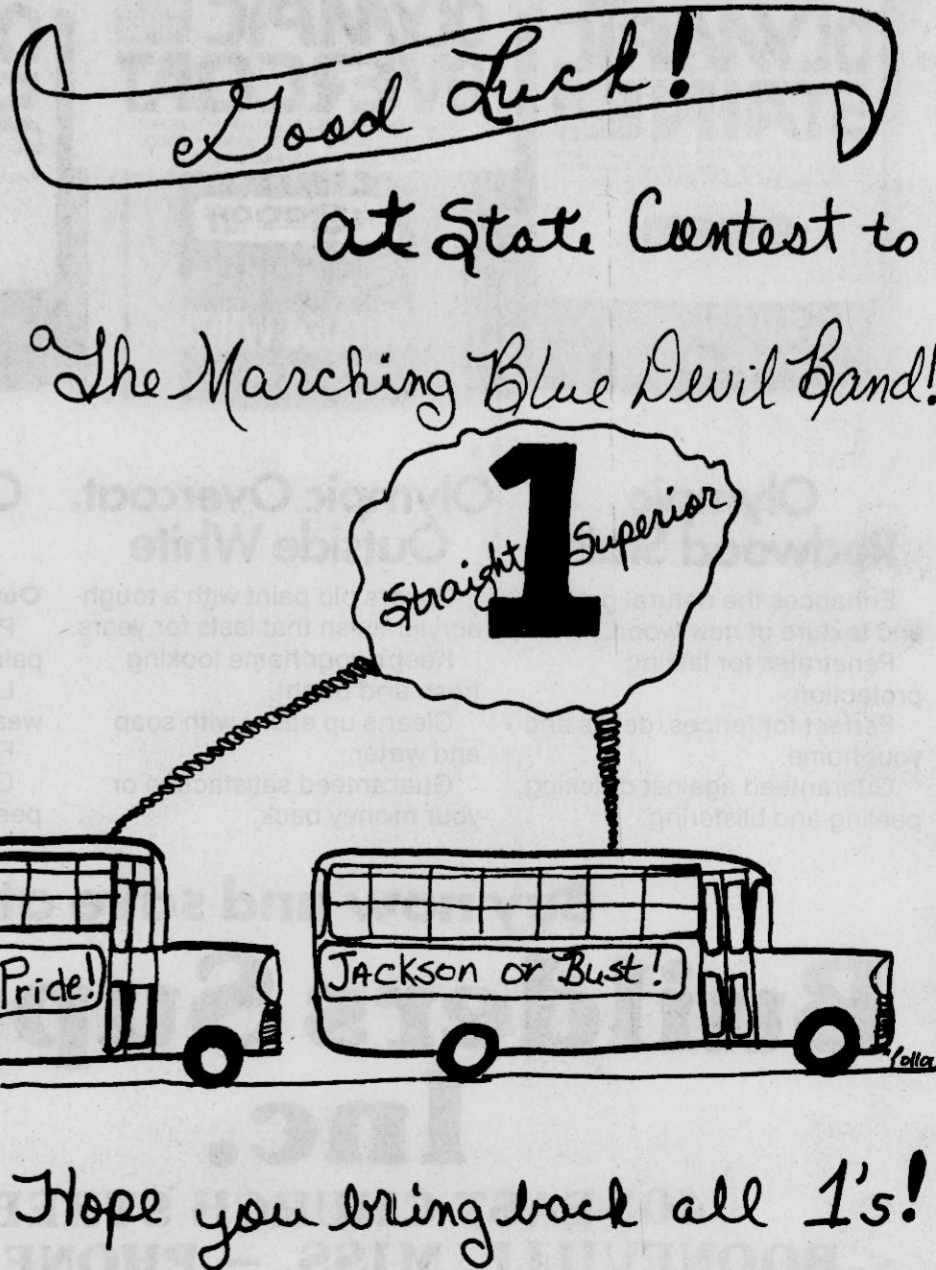

For thousands of people with handicaps resulting from accidents, illness or birth defects, the Easter Seal Society continues to provide the help that makes the difference between full, productive lives or lifetimes of misery and despair.

"The annual Easter Seal appeal—March 1 to April 15—is an opportunity for all of us to help make that difference a reality," says Marjorie Franks, Prentiss County Chairman.

"Your contribution supporting essential services to handicapped people in our community in the past and is needed now."

"We hope you'll join with us in supporting one of America's most important voluntary organizations. You'll be helping children and adults to overcome their handicaps so they, too, can contribute as independent members

Scouts Entertain Fathers

"You light up my life, Dad," sang Junior Girl Scout Troop 21 to their fathers at the annual Father-Daughter Banquet Saturday evening, March 24, at the Community Center.

From the happy chatter as girls directed their fathers to the decorated tables, it was evident that Dads were indeed lighting up lives that evening by being guests of their daughters.

Each troop decorated its tables and arranged its own meal. Cadette Troop 171 presented the colors with the opening flag ceremony. All Girl Scouts joined in singing a Girl Scout grace. Senior Troop 172 was in charge of the direction of the evening's program.

Mrs. Opal Anderson, Neighborhood Chairman, introduced all leaders and other Prairie Council workers. Mrs. Helen White, Troop Consultant, in the absence of Cookie Chairman Mrs. Janice Downs, gave the Cookie Report and recognized each girl who had sold 50 or more boxes of cookies this year.

Brownie Troop 55 sang "Teach the World to Sing," "Small World," and "Put a Little Love in Your Heart." Brownie Troop 140 sang "I'm Glad That I'm a Brownie" with variations of imagined careers.

Brownie Troop III sang "Girl Scouts Together," "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," and "You Are My Daddy."

Mrs. Linda Finch, troop leader recognized Ralph Lauderdale for his outstanding service as a Brownie father. Brownie Troop 60, assisted by Senior Scout Carla Bonds, sang "Let's Go Day," "If You Can't Say Something Nice," and "Joy to the World."

Junior Troop 118, accompanied by Junior father, Rev. Perk Perry, sang "Make New Friends" and "Jesus Loves the Little Children of the World." Junior Troop 21, accompanied by Tracy McCoy, sang "You Light Up My Life, Dad." Junior Troop 235, in costume, presented nursery rhymes.

Cadette Troop 25 presented "The Rights of A Child" in keeping with the theme "The International Year of the Child." Junior Troop 82 presented a puppet show defining "The Rights of a Child."

Suzanne Crenshaw Weds David Stokes

In a setting of classic beauty and serenity, the wedding of Miss Suzanne Crenshaw and David Stokes was solemnized on Saturday, March 3, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening at the First United Methodist Church in Booneville. The Reverend Charles Potts officiated in the impressive double ring ceremony.

Miss Crenshaw is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richard of Las Vegas, Nevada and Mr. W.G. Crenshaw of Shreveport, Louisiana. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Marion W. Smith of Booneville. Mr. Stokes is the son of Reverend and Mrs. Denzel Stokes of North Little Rock, Arkansas.

The wedding guests were registered by Miss Susan Kremer of Gulfport and Miss Karen Cook of Booneville, cousins of the bride.

The nuptial prelude was presented by Miss Cherri Windham, organist, of Baldwin, and Doug Holland, vocalist, of Booneville, who sang "If" and "The Wedding Song." At the conclusion of the ceremony he sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on the priedieu.

Bill Crenshaw and Curtis Crenshaw of Shreveport, Louisiana, served as acolytes.

Vows were pledged before an altar centered with a brass Renaissance Cathedral candelabra festooned with emerald ferns holding candlelight tapers and a spreading arrangement of white gladioli. On either side were arched and triangular candelabra and graduated fern trees. Placed in front were the trinity candles on a brass base which became the unity candle symbolizing the two personalities when they were used in the ceremony. The church pews were marked with lighted candles in hurricane lamps caught with candlelight satin bows.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Marion W. Smith, was radiantly beautiful in a formal gown of candlelight silk-faced satin. The fitted bodice was enhanced with a hand-cut applique French alencon lace, lavishly embroidered with seed pearls and clusters of crystal beads. The long tight sleeves were formed entirely of alencon lace and cut lace appliques outlined the deep-neckline. Her a-line skirt swept to a circular shaped train and was adorned with a pyramid of beaded lace medallions. She wore a chapel veil of silk illusion edged and applied with lace to match her dress and extending in deep rolled scallops of illusion over the bridal train. Her jewelry consisted of a single sting of pats and matching small earrings.

She carried a free-style cascading bouquet of butterfly orchids, gardenias, and stephanotis.

Attending the bride as maid of honor and matron of honor were Miss Nancy White of Los Angeles, CA, and Mrs. Tony Hughes of Memphis, Tennessee. The bridesmaids were Miss Laura Ederer of New Orleans, Louisiana, Miss Pam Louis of The University of Mississippi, Miss Julie Davis of The University of Mississippi, and Miss Rebecca Kremer, cousin of the bride, from Gulfport, Mississippi. The attendants wore identical sleeveless gowns of quiana nylon featuring v-necks with uneven hemlines in dusty honey. They carried bouquets of tiny white chrysanthemums, stephanotis, and gypsophila tied with ribbon to match their dresses.

Little Miss Amanda Herren of Yazoo City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Herren, was flower girl. She wore a candlelight organza formal length dress with matching layers of imported lace and ribbons. She carried a matching straw basket of white mums and stephanotis tied with dusty honey satin ribbon.

Reverend Stokes, the father of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsman were Bill Crenshaw and Curtis Crenshaw, brothers of the bride, Mike Norman of North Little Rock, Arkansas, Rodney Curry of West Memphis, Arkansas, and John Richardson of Charleston, Arkansas. Serving as ushers were Allen King of West Memphis, Arkansas, and Jack Brown of Jonesboro, Arkansas. The ringbearer was Seth Herren of Yazoo City, cousin of the bride and son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Herren.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Richard wore a formal gown of lavender quiana nylon featuring a deep v-neckline, long sleeves with a skirt of three tiered layers of rippling. She wore a purple orchid corsage.

Mrs. Stokes, mother of the bridegroom, wore a formal dress of soft blue quiana. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. Smith, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a formal gown of ivory crepe with a taupe chiffon capelet. She wore a white gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Louise Peeler directed the wedding and the reception. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, grandparents of the bride, entertained with a reception in the social hall of the church. Registering the guests from a round table covered with a floor-length silk organza cloth holding a single lighted white taper in a silver bowl surrounded by an arrangement of talisman roses, gypsophila, and stephanotis, were Miss Susan Kremer and Miss Karen Cook.

The bride's table was covered with white satin cloth overlaid with white lace and centered with the beautifully sculptured all-white Lady Windemere cake topped with an arrangement of talisman roses and gypsophila. On either side were large crystal orbs holding large white tapers. Mrs. Allen Lowe of Davenport, Florida, and Mrs. Barbara Yarbrough served the cake.

The bridegroom's table, covered with a tate burlap cloth edged with brown, held the square-based two-tiered chocolate cake cascaded with frosted grapes. The tiers were divided by Grecian capricious. A teakwood compote held a small crystal orb centered with a lighted candle surrounded by talisman roses. Compotes holding nuts and mints completed this setting. The cake was served by Mrs. Tom Perry of Moore Haven, Florida, and Miss Earline Woods.

Mrs. Debbie Nesbitt, sister of the groom, and Mrs. J.W. Abernathy served punch from a silver punch bowl placed on a circular table covered with an embroidered silk organza cloth. Serving coffee from a silver service placed on a matching table were Mrs. J. Robert Floyd and Mrs. Stan Pounds.

The hors d'oeuvres table was covered with a white silk organza cloth and centered with a silver epergne holding an arrangement of talisman roses, gypsophila, stephanotis, and glowing candles. Presiding here were Mrs. Henry Kremer of Gulfport and Mrs. Nona Ray of Fort Worth, Texas.

Distributing long-stemmed rose bud rice bags from natural straw baskets tied with white satin ribbons were Melissa Price, Molly Price, Susan Yarbrough, Candy Nesbitt, and Stacy Nesbitt.

Receiving at the reception were Mrs. Eva Eskridge, aunt of the bride, Mrs. John Henry Price, Mrs. W.H. Anderson, Mrs. Stan Herren of Yazoo City, Mrs. William L. Gullett, Jr., Mrs. Roy Morris, and Mrs. Dewey Martin.

Throughout the reception appropriate wedding music was played by Mrs. Mary Gault Nabors.

For travel the bride wore a stylish off-white quiana two-piece dress trimmed with matching lace. She wore an orchid from her wedding corsage. After a Caribbean cruise, the couple is at home at Hickory Hills Apartments, Memphis, Tennessee. They are employed by Burroughs Corporation in Memphis.

Reverend and Mrs. Denzel Stokes honored their son and his fiance with a buffet rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn in Corinth on the eve of the wedding.

Reverend Stokes welcomed the guests and gave the invocation. The T-shaped buffet table was covered with a white damask cloth and decorated with arrangements of white daisies, pink carnations, and gypsophila. Appropriate toasts were given to the honored couple by various guests.

The bride wore a mauve wrap-around quiana formal length dress complemented with a cymbidium corsage.

Mrs. Allen Lowe and Mrs. Tom Perry, aunt and cousin of the bride, entertained with a bridesmaids' luncheon Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Holiday Inn in Corinth. Miss Crenshaw and her attendants were honored guests.

The guests were seated at a T-shaped table decorated with various arrangements of pink and white daisies. The highlight of this occasion was the unraveling of a gift wedding ball containing tiny wedding symbols. The hostesses presented the bride with linen place mats.

Mis Crenshaw wore a trousseau dress of white sheer accented with a pink crocheted belt. Her corsage was of white carnations. She presented her attendant with engraved silver hostess plates.

Mr. William Crenshaw and his two sons, Curtis and Bill, father and brothers of the bride, honored the bridegroom and his attendants with a 10 o'clock breakfast Saturday morning at the Holiday Inn in Corinth. On this occasion Mr. Stokes presented his attendants with gifts.

Other prenuptial parties included a miscellaneous shower given in the home of Mrs. Roy Morris with her daughters.

NANCY RUTH VIA

Nancy Via To Wed

Mrs. George W. Via of Booneville announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Nancy Ruth Via of Memphis Tennessee to Donald Thomas Eddins, also of Memphis. Miss Via is also the daughter of the late George Willard Via. Mr. Eddins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph David Eddins of Memphis.

The couple will be married May 5 at 4:30 p.m. The Rev. E. Wesley McKinnie will conduct the double ring ceremony which will be held at the Mullins United Methodist Church in Memphis with a reception immediately following at the church.

Miss Via is a graduate of White Station High School in Memphis, attended Northeast Mississippi Junior College and Memphis State University. While at Memphis State, Miss

Via was a member and treasurer of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

FOOTSTEPS

True or False:

A fat baby is a healthy baby. Young children need vitamin pills to make sure they get all the proper nutrients.

Snacking is bad for children.

How much do you know about nutrition for your childhood? If you answered false to the above questions, you are on the way to learning about good nutrition for children.

This quiz and the following information are from FOOTSTEPS, a new series of television programs on parenting seen each Sunday afternoon on Mississippi Educational Television. Each of the 20 programs focuses on different problems and concerns faced by parents of young children. Although the nutrition program has already been shown, other interesting programs remain.

Children outgrow many things. As they grow, they discard old toys and clothes. They give up baby talk and baby food. But, some things go with them into adulthood. These include eating habits and attitudes toward food.

Children develop tastes for certain foods at an early age. They learn to like what you give them to eat. If you offer them many fruits and vegetables, they will enjoy these foods when they are older. If they get used to soft drinks and candy, they probably won't be able to resist the lure of sweet foods later.

The eating habits and attitudes children get from parents may last a lifetime. It is important for parents to know basic nutrition concepts. Because there is much nutrition nonsense around, separating fact from fiction is a necessary step toward awareness.

One way to good nutrition is to help your children learn to eat a wide variety of foods. Because there are so many different nutritious foods, don't worry if your child won't eat certain things. It is easy to find other foods with the needed nutrients. Forcing children to eat foods they don't like is never a good idea.

Urging children to eat when they are not hungry is not wise, either. Different children need different amounts of food. Even the same child may need different amounts of food at different times. Poor eating habits are begun rather than ended when parents become anxious about children's appetites.

Using food as a reward or punishment is another bad idea. Giving dessert as a reward may teach a child dessert is the most important part of the meal. Such tactics encourage children to see eating as an emotional issue rather than as an enjoyable way to stay healthy and strong.

Let your children help prepare meals. More than one child has learned to like a vegetable when he helped prepare it.

Make mealtime a pleasant experience. Mealtime can provide opportunities to discuss the day's events, plan outings and get to know one another better. If mealtimes are relaxed and happy, your children will begin to associate the nutritious foods you serve with good feelings.

Alcoholism Film At Timber Hills

"Guidelines" and "Alcoholism and the Family," two Father Martin films will be shown at the Timber Hills Haven House for the general public on Thursday and Friday, March 29 and 30, according to Hal Davidson, Health Services Representative for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The films, made available by TVA for this showing, have universal appeal and are suitable for all persons involved in the helping professions.

Father Martin, a Catholic priest from Baltimore, Maryland, is a pioneer in the field of alcoholism. He assisted in establishing the Alcohol Rehabilitation Program for the Department of the Navy. Presently working full-time in the field of alcoholism, Father Martin is donating the profits from his films to assist in establishing a halfway house and alcohol rehabilitation center in Asheville, North Carolina.

"Guidelines" has become one of the most successful films in the field of alcoholism," said Mr. Davidson. "The wit and wisdom of Father Martin brings to life eight general principles that have proven helpful in dealing with alcoholism."

"Alcoholism and the Family" is a plea by Father Martin for the treatment of significant others affected by this family disease. Father Martin points out the effects of alcoholism on the family before and after sobriety, and emphasizes that sobriety is just the beginning in solving the family ills.

Bob James, Coordinator of the Alcohol and Drug Program for the Tennessee Valley Authority, along with Mr. Davidson and several other TVA personnel, will be available at the viewing to discuss the films and to answer questions.

"Guidelines" will be shown promptly at 7:00 p.m. each evening, March 29 and 30. "Alcoholism and the Family" will be shown at approximately 8:00 p.m. each night.

The public is cordially invited to attend the showing of these films at the Haven House located at 1402 Fourth Street in Corinth.

For additional information phone Mike Rogers, Haven House Director, at 286-6908.

For Charity Ball—

Ticket Deadline April 2

Ooh-la-la—don't be careless and forget to respond to your invitation to the Junior Auxiliary Charity Ball by the April 2 deadline. Activity among Auxiliary members is tremendous as each committee is working frantically to complete all intricate details of an authentic "April in Paris" soiree to be staged Friday, April 13.

By responding "oui" to your invitation, you will be looking forward to a full evening of enjoyment—songs by the Krossroads Kollection; can-can dancers, petite et charmante; beautiful livings ads 'a la Booneville; and music by Pyra of Atlanta.

As if that isn't enough, you will learn who has been chosen as Prentiss County's outstanding citizen for 1979. And there's more—the food committee has conspired with Sarah Hunt Martin to provide an array of hors d'oeuvres, sandwiches, et bons bons to please the most fastidious palates. Tres bien!

Teresa Hendrix

Miss Hendrix Is Engaged

Mrs. Frankie Hendrix of Wheeler announces the engagement and forthcoming wedding of her daughter, Teresa Ann, to Arlis Michael Reece, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlis Reece of Booneville.

Singleton Joins Timber Hills

Mrs. Joy Singleton, Ripley, has been employed by the Timber Hills Mental Health Services as a social worker in the agency's Title XX Adult Day Care Program and Wanda (Mrs. Ronnie) Sweeney of Booneville is the new secretary receptionist for the program, according to Day Care Coordinator William Crossett, Booneville.

A native of Bainbridge, Ga., Mrs. Singleton received a bachelor's degree from Georgia Southwestern College in Americus, Ga.

Mrs. Singleton has worked as both an Eligibility and Social Worker with the Tippah County Department of Public Welfare.

Prior to moving to Ripley in 1977, Mrs. Singleton was a social worker with the Decatur-Seminole Training Center in Bainbridge for developmentally disabled children and adults.

"I am delighted to be working in the field of mental retardation again," Mrs. Singleton said.

Mrs. Sweeney, a native of Prentiss County, worked for a number of years as secretary at the Bank of Mississippi in Booneville and at the Town and Country Insurance Agency.

Timber Hills operates an adult day care center in each of the counties in Mental Health Region IV-Alcorn, Prentiss, Tippah, and Tishomingo.

The program for moderately and severely mentally retarded persons is designed to help them become more self-sufficient and to provide an alternative to institutional placement.

Clients are taught the basics of socialization, hygiene, and a variety of self-help skills.

Sixty-two clients are now being served by the four centers.

The Timber Hills program is funded in part by Title XX of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Governing authority for the day care program is a four-member commission appointed by the County Boards of Supervisors. Representing Alcorn County is Brenda (Mrs. Buddy) Moses; Prentiss County, E.O. Roden; Tippah County, Troy Holliday; and Tishomingo County, J.O. Southward.

The Prentiss County Center is located in a new facility on the Hwy. 30 By-Pass in Booneville next to the Prentiss County Child Development Center. Pearlle (Mrs. L.J.) McGaha is Supervising Teacher. Ruth (Mrs. Bob) Grisham is a teacher and Elizabeth (Mrs. Gene) Gann is the aid. The phone number is 728-3174. Mrs. Singleton is in Prentiss County on Wednesdays. Mrs. Sweeney is in Prentiss County full-time.

Local B&PW Members Receive Club Honors

The Booneville B&PW Club honored Patsy Keenum, Woman of Achievement, Liz Barnett, Young Career Woman and Barbara Shackelford, Young Career Woman with an afternoon tea at the George E. Allen Public Library on March 25.

As guests entered the Marion

W. Smith Room they were greeted by the honorees and Alloyce Pickett, B&PW president.

Lana Harrelson and Cathy Pippin registered the guests in three separate registers of which one was to be presented to each of the honorees.

A variety of delicious refreshments, made by B&PW members, were served to the many friends and families of the honorees who attended the gala event.

The B&PW members wished the two honorees good luck in their forth-coming state-wide competition.

Each honoree was presented a gift from the club in honor of their achievement.

Teachers Contest Announced

Mississippi teachers who have done an outstanding job of conservation education have an opportunity to compete for cash prizes ranging from $200 to $1,000.

Eugene Gifford, Booneville, chairman of the Prentiss County Soil and Water Conservation District said the contest for "Conservation Teacher-of-the-Year" is being sponsored by the National Association of Conservation Districts and Allis-Chalmers Corporation.

"Our district will nominate a teacher selected from the entries we receive," Gifford said. "This teacher and others nominated by local district boards throughout the state will compete for other higher awards."

"Teachers who want to enter the contest can get information and entry forms from the Soil Conservation Service office located in the North Mississippi Savings and Loan Building," Gifford said, adding "we must have completed entries by April 10."

Teachers who have initiated and continued effective environmental education programs in any grades from kindergarten through 12 are eligible for nomination by the local districts.

The southeastern regional winner will receive a $200 award. The national 2nd place winner will receive a $500 cash award. The national conservation teacher-of-the-year will receive $1,000 in cash and an expense-paid trip to Houston, Texas for the 1980 annual convention of the National Association of Conservation Districts.

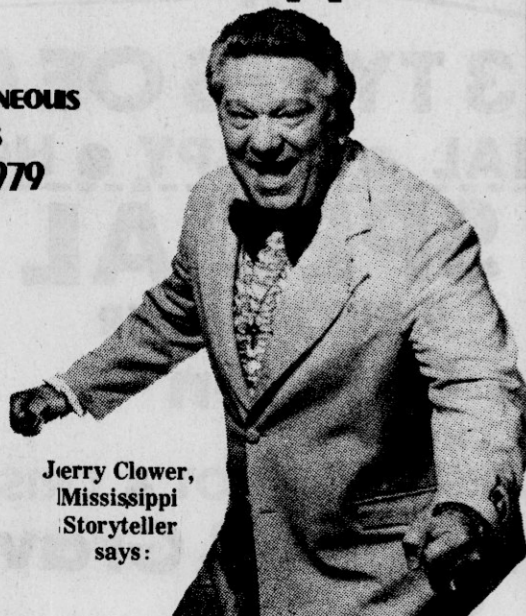

A Mississippi teacher, Mrs. Della McCaughn, Biloxi, won national 2nd place in 1976.

GOOD NEWS

SIMULTANEOUS
REVIVALS
April 1979

Jerry Clower,
Mississippi
Storyteller
says:

"Us folks in Mississippi are gonna see something that has never happened before. In April the white Southern Baptist churches and the black National Baptist churches are gonna have simultaneous revivals to tell everybody in Mississippi about Jesus Christ. So if you go to a white Baptist church, or a black Baptist church, you get all that Good News at one time, and if you ain't going to any Baptist church, you go in April and find out what's good. Take it from old Jerry and learn how great it is to be a Christian."

Good News Mississippi is a joint campaign of black and white Baptist churches to present the gospel message of Jesus Christ to the people of Mississippi.

Pilot, B&PW Clubs Hold Joint Meeting

The joint meeting of the Pilot-B&PW Club was held March 24, in the Alumni Room of the Frank Haney Union on the campus of Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

The meeting was called to order by Sara Pounds, President of the Pilot Club. Mrs. Robbie McDaniel gave the invocation and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Mrs. Cathy Johnson.

Mrs. Mary Gault Nabors provided the delightful dinner music while the guests were being served.

Mrs. Sara Pounds gave the Welcome and Mrs. Alloyce Pickett, President of the Booneville Business and Professional Women's Club gave the response. There was then introduction of guests by Mrs. Sara Pounds.

Mrs. Mildred Sartain presided the Pilot Club's Good Citizenship Girl of the month, Candy Cleveland, daughter of Dr. Webster and Leola Cleveland. Candy is an outstanding senior at BHS.

Mrs. Rose Cobb presented a vocal solo, "Climb Every Mountain," accompanied by Mrs. Mary Gault Nabors at the piano.

Mrs. Louise Peeler, Governor-Elect of District III,

Pilot International, then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Kaye H. Towery.

Mrs. Towery is president of Oxford Realty, Inc., and her subject was "Leave Some Tracks." Highlights of Mrs. Towery's speech included: Regardless of feelings of being little or of disappointments with self or in life, overcome these with positive steps.

An example to follow, as a starter, is to greet self by looking in a mirror and telling that image how great you are. Continue this until your value to self has gone upward and then strive to improve the concept.

Mrs. Towery gave her history of feeling inadequate in many respects and of recently overcoming these feelings to become successful in the business world of real estate. She cautioned women not to be afraid to set goals and not to be afraid of failure at times, but to grow while striving to achieve. She said to try to leave some tracks where you've been.

Announcements followed. There were then presentations of door prizes by the Outreach Division of Pilot Club.

The meeting adjourned with the Pilot motto, "True Course Ever."

Saturday night April 7 from 7-12 at the community center City Park will be our jamboree dance featuring "The Freedom's Choice," Band. There will be some prizes given away also.

Happy Anniversary to "Dozer Boy," and "Little Moma." Hope you have a nice day and have many more wonderful years together.

Sunday, April 8, from 10 until 3:30 p.m. at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Gymn-church services will be held. Grand prizes-1st -5 drawings-$100.00 each; 2nd-4 drawings-$50.00 each; 3rd-4 drawings-$25.00 each Children's Grand Prize-12" black and white t.v.

Do not have to be present for grand prizes.

Door prizes will be given away throughout the day which you do have to be present. Trophies will be given. No alcoholic beverages. For more information contact any club member or call 728-6441 or 728-6333. Everyone welcome!

"Curly Top," save me a bowl of those hominy grits your Moma and Daddy cooked. That be some real good eating. Food folks used to make like that some kinda good.

There is a coffeebreak in Alamo, Tenn., this weekend. Their grand prize is a new Pinto. Several club members are planning to attend.

"Buffalo," you better quit watching those ladies in white pants. You'll have more than a sprained ankle.

The Northeast Mississippi C.B. Club would like to welcome everyone that would like to attend our dance and our coffeebreak. Anyone may attend and your money is well spent toward charities and we have open book if anyone would like to know where it is spent. Club members Saturday night wear name tags if you have one. Everyone in uniform Sunday.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

Farm Prices Higher For 1978

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

The results of our 1978 programs are in and they are good. Farm prices closed the year nearly 23 percent higher than in 1977, despite record world and domestic supplies. Net farm income rose nearly 40 percent to more than $28.1 billion. The book value of farmers' assets increased $82 billion in 1978 to $790 billion. However, the farm debt also increased a record $17 billion, leaving farmers with a net equity of $660 billion, up $86 billion from last year.

The programs are designed to build stability into agriculture so that farmers can plan and profit. The target prices were raised to provide income and price protection based on actual cost of production. Price supports for major crops at levels that would ensure their competitiveness on world markets were established. And, we have a handle on surpluses.

Designed to give farmers the freedom to make their own economic decisions, farm programs have strengthened prices and assured consumers of adequate food supplies.

The 1979 voluntary programs are about the same as they were last year. They will help sustain farm production, maintain stable prices and keep inflation down.

Farmers who use the ASCS pre-measurement service prior to planting their spring crops will be guaranteed that the field sizes are known.

Pre-measuring is encouraged because it assures the farmer that is complying with wheat and feed grain set-aside programs of his acreage. The service is offered at cost by the ASCS county office and includes measuring, referencing and marking out fields with stakes prior to planting. We strongly encourage pre-measurement because of what happened last year when some producers lost program benefits due to failure to fully comply with set-aside provisions.

Pre-measurement is especially useful prior to planting marketing quota crops such as flue-cured tobacco and peanuts. Even in counties using aerial observation, flue-cured tobacco producers will not have the opportunity to adjust their crop acreage to gain program compliance. Peanut producers are under the same guidelines, unless they report excess peanuts.

After planting all program participants need to certify, or report their crop, set-aside and other program acres to their county ASCS office. Pre-measurement helps assure accurate reporting. Farmers may request this service at their local ASCS office.

A recent change was made in the wheat program to allow haying or grazing of a maximum of 50 acres or 40 percent of the total acreage of wheat, corn, grain sorghum or cotton planted on a farm. It is felt that this program was needed to allow cattle farmers to carry livestock on wheat beyond the date normally that farmers would remove cattle in order to harvest wheat as grain.

This change should be an advantage to cattle farmers as well as reducing the acreage of wheat for grain.

There will be no advance payment and no guaranteed rate of payment. The payment rate will be equal to the 1979 wheat deficiency rate which could be zero if wheat market prices during June through October equal the target price.

The sign up for participation in the wheat or feed grain programs ends April 30.

Any farmer planting wheat for harvest as grain or wheat for grazing or hay should visit the county ASCS office to report the acres planted and enroll in the wheat program. Participation in any of the programs is voluntary.

APPOINTED—Harold T. White, President of the Northeast Junior College announces the appointment of Mrs. Donna Vaughn to the position of Instructor of Fashion Merchandising, a new course to be offered through the Vocational Technical Division at Northeast in the fall of 1979. She feels the two-year program, concentrated with both business and fashion courses, will allow the graduate to enter the fashion merchandising field with an extensive placement in the business area.

Herbicides Can Save Farmers Much Work

By W.H. HADEN
County Agent

Herbicides can take much of the hard work and drudgery out of weed control in garden and fruit crops.

A three-gallon hand sprayer equipped with a regular fan-type nozzle (8003) is an excellent tool for applying herbicides to vegetables, fruit crops and around the home. Put a gallon of water in the tank, pump it up to a normal pressure, and spray at a regular walking speed until the water is sprayed out. Then figure the number of square feet covered to determine the amount of herbicide to use.

Dacthal is a good preemergence herbicide for many vegetables. For weeds already up, use diesel fuel. On many fruit crops, you can use simazine, dalapon and paraquat. Simazine is cleared for established apples, peaches, pears and plums. Paraquat can also be used as a directed spray on these and many other fruit trees and ornamentals. Avoid contact with green stems and leaves.

Fertilizer is one of the best friends your garden has but improper use can do more harm than good. Granular fertilizer placed next to seeds or newly set transplants can prevent germination or injure or kill the young plants. When applying granular fertilizer, be sure to apply the correct amounts and keep it away from seeds and the roots of newly set transplants.

On Monday night, April 2, "Farmweek" will take a look at 4-H land judging and the herbicide pictures for 1979. Reporter Tyson Gair will discuss the 4-H land judging contest held recently in Collins. Reporter Mike Windham and Extension Agronomist Dr. Wayne Houston will discuss changes in herbicide labeling for 1979.

Each week, Farmweek features the best in agricultural features, farm news, and weather and market reports. Tune in each Monday night at 7:30 p.m. or Tuesday mornings at 7:30 a.m. on your local Mississippi Educational Television network station.

Looking around we see the eternal newness of Spring. The following poem seems to express the highlights of the season.

Spring Is My Favorite Time Of
The Year

Spring itself is resurrection.

Bough and bud combine to prove

That death is a temporal imperfection

Through which all of life must move.

From the husk new green arises,

From the kernel roots appear,

And though our hopes wear dark disguises,

Faith can find its white robes here.

Ralph W. Seager

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pardue were recent visitors of Mrs. Pardue's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Miller of Louisville, Kentucky.

Happy Birthday

HE'S TWO!

Malcolm Dean Taylor son of Mr. and Mrs. Rickey Taylor of Route 1, Booneville, celebrated his second birthday on March 25. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor of Route 6, Booneville, and Herbert Smith of Booneville. His great grandfather is Earlie Smith of Corinth.

GLENN JACKSON

Glenn Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Jackson of Route 7, Booneville, celebrated his second birthday on March 28. Glenn's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Y.L. Livingston and Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Jackson, all of Booneville.

ANNIE MAE AUSTIN

Mrs. Annie Mae Austin celebrates her 62 birthday on March 23. Her husband is M.T. Austin of Booneville. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T.O. Wallace. She has five children, all of whom wish her a happy birthday. They include Wellie Lee Austin of Baldwin; Shirley Green of Ripley; Christine Thompson of Booneville; Nella Vie Hoard and Lester Austin, both of Booneville. The following poem was composed in Mrs. Austin's honor.

God bless our mother, each and every day,
She loves to sit and watch the children play.
She loves the people of the world.
She loves the bees and the squirrels.
She loves the flowers in the spring
And she dearly loves to hear me sing.

Why did the Lord take away her pride?
Sometimes it makes me want to cry.
To see her have to sit all day.
But she can watch the children play.
She is still with us all today.
And that is why we should thank God always.

Jerry Smith Promoted To S. Sergeant

U.S. FORCES, Germany—Jerry W. Smith, of Baldwin, recently was promoted to Army staff sergeant while serving as a small weapons repair supervisor with the 1st Signal Battalion in Germany. Smith entered the Army in July 1970. He completed high school through the General Educational Development program.

I guess enough has been said about the weather and nothing we say will change it.

There continues to be much sickness in the congregation. Gary Coats has the 'flu, but hopefully will be well before these news items are printed.

Mr. Earl Kennedy is home after being a patient in the Northeast Hospital for a few days. He feels fairly well some days and not so good at times.

"Ma" Green was suffering with severe headaches and was carried back to Dr. Rogers last Monday, March 19. He said her eye was all right but a lot of pressure had built up. She is now with her daughter, Mrs. Irene Estis.

Get well wishes go to Etta Richey, Jennifer Miller, and to the brother of Milton Floyd.

Mam-ma Coats hasn't been feeling as well as formerly; she coughs a lot especially at night. She had visitors last Saturday-Mr. and Mrs. Tom Scott of Corinth.

Nathan Sean Polk had a check-up in Tupelo on Thursday, March 22. He had been sneezing and coughing quite a bit. Dr. Wilburn said his blood count is still too low and prescribed de-congestants. We hope this will help him.

The last word from Aunt 'Bama was that she was in Tupelo in the home of her daughter Edith. Edith had a virus and wasn't able to carry Aunt 'Bama to the doctor. Maybe she will get her there today.

Mrs. Ola Glover is still a patient in the BaldwynHospital. She had tests and x-rays in Tupelo yesterday but the results will not be known for a few days. We're glad she is feeling better and hope the doctor can successfully treat whatever her trouble is.

The Freed-Hardeman Associates of Blackland met in the home of Ms. Betty Coats on Saturday March 17th. They had a good meeting and are being successful in selling all kinds of spices, cookbooks, hand cream and visitation booklets. The profits go to Freed-Hardeman College.

Mrs. Pauline Jones is still sick at home-hasn't been able to attend worship services. Her good friend Ruthie Inman of Jumpertown is with her when she isn't helping someone else.

Visitors last Sunday, March 18 were Tracy Kennedy from Wheeler and Callie Collier from Tupelo.

Mrs. Zana Floyd entered North Mississippi Medical Center in Tupelo Thursday March 22, for a Cat Scan and other tests. We won't know about the tests for a few days.

Everyone is wishing that Zana can be helped.

We're very proud of our Frances Long who has decided to take training to become an R.N. She worked some in a hospital a few years ago and now has two lovely daughters Karen and Jamie ages 10 and 2. Her husband Larry is supportive of her decision. Little Tanya Coats also saw Dr. Wilborn yesterday. She has asthma.

3 County Coaching Positions Up For Grabs

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

The search goes on. Yes the search goes on for three new Prentiss County basketball coaches to fill vacated spots at Booneville, Thrasher and Jumpertown High Schools.

The three positions have become vacant over the past couple of weeks when Booneville Coach Gerald Caveness, Thrasher coach Grandle Barron, and Jumpertown Coach Barry Moore resigned their positions.

Caveness has accepted the head position at Alcorn Central High School while Barron is expected to accept another coaching position at another school and no word has been given on Moore's future plans.

Booneville High School principal Donald Johnson said he had received several applications concerning Caveness' replacement while Harold Padgett, principal at Thrasher, said he hadn't had a chance to meet with the board but added that he expected to get operations underway soon.

Johnson said a successor to Caveness could possibly be named within the next week.

"We've had some favorable coaches to apply for the head coaching position," Johnson said. "I feel like the coach that is chosen will be a great asset to our basketball and athletic programs."

All positions will require outstanding coaching ability to equal the performances these Prentiss County Coaches have accomplished.

The three schools would appear to want a coach who is familiar with not only North Mississippi basketball but the entire state as well.

FAMOUS NAMES MENTIONED

Some notable names mentioned by outside sources for the jobs include, John Wooden, former head coach at UCLA; Red Auerbach, former coach for the Boston Celtics and now NBA broadcaster; Woody Hayes, former Ohio State football coach; and Wilt Chamberlain, former pro player and professional coach.

The schools would however have to think twice about hiring Chamberlain since an expansion of all the doorways would be called for.

This marks the first time in several years that three coaches have resigned in one year in North Mississippi.

Both Caveness and Barron have had lengthy tenures at their respected schools while Moore has served two years at Jumpertown.

As of presstime Wednesday, no further word on the three vacated positions had been given but an announcement is expected soon.

LOT OF WORK TO DO

All three newly elected coaches will have quite a bit of work to do to establish any kind of championship team in the three schools. Thrasher would tend to have the best shot at it since they have several returnees back with state tournament experience and who have worked together for a lengthy time as a team.

Booneville on the other hand will lose three top performers from this years squad while Jumpertown, who has been on the rebuilding trail, will have a bit more experience to work with next season.

Blue Devil Nine Falls To Ripley

RIPLEY—Vince McEmore hurled a two-hitter here Monday afternoon as Ripley's Tigers checked Booneville's

Blue Devils 8-2 in a District One Class A North baseball game.

Ripley erupted for three runs in each of the third and sixth innings as Booneville got two in the third. Ripley has a 2-2 overall mark and 1-0 in district.

McEmore fanned nine and loser Bill Rhinehart struckout 10.

Little League Summer Camp Set

If your son likes baseball, we offer him an exciting and happy experience. Little League Baseball announces its twelfth annual Summer Camp in St. Petersburg, Florida. At its Southern Regional Headquarters and Training Center are six baseball diamonds, outdoor recreation pavilion, batting cages and tunnels, pitching guides and other modern approved facilities to improve their baseball skills. At the same time, they can enjoy a happy and rewarding camp experience. All of the dormitories, dining hall and conference room are air-conditioned.

Located on fourteen acres in the Heart of the Major League Spring Training, and where more than forty College and other baseball teams take their Spring Training, every method and technique proven acceptable for this age group is used by an outstanding staff of instructors and counselors.

Every day personal instruction is given to train young boys, ages 9 through 15 years, who like to play baseball. Arnold White, Little League's Southern Regional Director, reports that test scores show campers during the past eleven years have increased their individual skills from 15 to as much as 50 percent.

Parents and young boys are invited to visit these outstanding facilities at 658-58th Street South in St. Petersburg.

A complete resume of the daily schedule at the camp is available.

Only three sessions are offered in 1979. The first session begins on June 17, the second on July 1 and the final session on July 15. Applications are being accepted for all three sessions. Full details can be obtained from your local Little League president or by contacting Little League Baseball. The mailing address is: P.O. Box 13366 St. Petersburg, Florida 33733.

Public Hearing Set

A public hearing by the Mississippi Game and Fishing Commission will be held Tuesday April 3 for District 1 at the Tupelo Lee County Courthouse.

The purpose of the hearing will be to hear any recommendations or complaints about the 1979-80 hunting and fishing season.

Local Conservation Officer

Duane Rinehart asks everyone from Prentiss County who is interested in the hunting and fishing program to attend this meeting.

Tennis Tourney Set

The Spring Club Tennis Tournament at the Booneville Golf and Country Club has been scheduled for this weekend March 30-April 1 at the local club's newly lighted tennis courts.

Tournament chairman Richard Coggin said he looked for a good turnout and added that he hoped the weather would cooperate throughout the three day event. "The interest seems higher this year," Coggin said. "The addition of the lighted courts makes the tournament even more exciting."

This tournament is the first of it's kind for the local Country Club. The Booneville Club started the first in a series of tournaments last year with their first annual summer tournament but this is the first spring event.

The Club will sponsor the summer event with dates to be announced later but this spring Classic is to get everyone started with the new tennis season.

Tournament winners will be announced in next week's Banner-Independent.

Tracy and Kathy Arnold won in girls' doubles, winning 6-2, 6-0 over Ripley's Mitzi Holley and Emily Shelton while Bo Burrell and John Carter took boys doubles honors winning over Ed Holliday and Kurt Roberts and Carey McClain and Donna Rinehart dropped Ripley's Tommy McMillian and Judy Nance 6-1, 6-1 to earn mixed doubles honors.

Ripley wins came in boy's singles where Anthony Clark tagged Stan Howell 6-0, 6-1 and in girls singles where Lisa Holladay won over Suzanne Sims 3-6, 7-6, 6-3.

Booneville Coach Ricky Ford has scheduled a number of tennis events for the local netters including tournament play at the conclusion of the regular season.

Turkey Season Draws
35,000 Hunters

Over 35,000 resident hunters spend in excess of 212,000 days afield each year hunting turkeys, one recent survey showed. According to the Game and Fish Commission, nearly 10,000 birds were taken in 1978, with 853 harvested on wildlife management areas. The top five and their kills included Wolf River (180), Red Creek (142), Bucatunna (125), Chickasawhay (104), and Homochitto (51).

It is no secret that some parts of the state faced near drought conditions from about July through early winter. Asked if this has affected the turkey hatch or the overall population, Cliburn said no.

"Turkeys are smart and resourceful birds. They will find water in stagnant pools, creeks, streams and rivers. Being very hardy and wary birds, this has helped them survive and one reason we should have a very good hunting season."

The state's first turkey season gets underway March 24 through April 4, reopening April 6 and extending through April 29, 1979. The bag limit is one gobbler per day, two per season, but not more than three per license year.

This year there will be managed hunts on many wildlife management areas. For open areas and additional regulations on where to hunt in the state, write for the free brochure "Hunting In Mississippi" from the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission, I&E Department, P.O. Box 451, Jackson, MS 39205.

Non-residents may purchase a combination hunting-fishing license for $65, a 7-day all game hunting for $25 and a 3-day all game hunting license for $20 from sporting goods stores, conservation officers or the Game and Fish Commission office in Jackson.

Hunters will want to try these spots during the upcoming season.

Leaf River WMA in Perry County. Basically an upland pine site with roosting birds in mature pine timber and in the bay heads. Birds readily fly down into small wildlife clearings. These should be used in early morning to work wary toms. They can be used for still-hunting during the day.

Chickasawhay WMA in Jones, Wayne and Greene counties. Basically the same timber type as Leaf River area. Management here is more intensive for quail which in turn yields some good nesting and brood habitat types for hens and gobblers. This is a large area, so check in, get a map of the area, and ask the area manager for likely spots to try.

Bucatunna WMA in Clarke County. Majority of the lands here are leased from International Paper Company and not blocked out in large landholdings.

Kevin Cossitt, a sophomore from New Albany, Ms., fired a no-hitter here last Tuesday to lead the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tigers to a 7-0 shutout over Cohoma. Cossitt also chipped in with a two run homer in the bottom of the first inning where the Tigers scored four runs. Luka's Steve Lyles also belted a round tripper and paced the hitting attack with a two for three afternoon. Jimmy Huggins shared Lyles' honors with two for three also. Lamar Gandy gave up 10 hits in the setback and took the loss while Cossitt's sparkling no-hit performance earned him the win.

A second game was scheduled but was cancelled due to inclement weather.

Berry Moore Resigns
As Jumpertown Coach

Berry Moore has resigned his position as head basketball coach at Jumpertown High School.

The announcement was made last week and was confirmed to the Banner-Independent Monday by both Prentiss County Superintendent of Education Lex Cain and Jumpertown principal Billy Stroupe.

Moore, who has served the past two seasons as the Cardinal mentor, is a former graduate of Jumpertown High School.

He came to Jumpertown after serving on the faculty at Thrasher High School.

The search for Moore's replacement is now underway and a new coach is expected soon.

Moore becomes the third Prentiss County coach to resign his position in the past three weeks.

Baldwyn Drops Fulton
In Local Baseball Action

FULTON—Baldwyn's Bearcats pushed across three runs in the final two innings for a 6-3 win over the Fulton Indians in prep action here Friday.

Dennis Anderson picked up the win for the Bearcats, allowing five hits and striking out four in the five innings he pitched.

Allen Cooley, who gave up five hits and struck out seven for Fulton, was hung with the loss.

Ray Scott paced the Bearcats' offense, scoring three times. Brian Martin had a pair of singles to lead Fulton.

Slo-Jo Wins

Trace Trials

GUNTOWN—A Booneville entry, Chambers Slo-Jo took the coveted first place trophy here last Saturday in the 13 inch class of the Southern Association Derby Trials held at the Natchez Trace Beagle Club East of Guntown.

In the 15-inch competition, Main Stream Mindy, owned by Maurie Thomas of Collierville, Tn. led the field.

Sandyline Mary Lou, owned by Thomas, was second with Chambers Sugar Babe, owned by Chambers, third. Fourth went to Wolf River Golden Girl, owned by Ben Dandridge of Collierville.

Chickasaw Wink, owned by Ralph Mitchell of Pontotoc, was the next best qualifier.

Sandyline Johnny, owned by Jimmy Sandlin of Guntown, was second in the 15 inch class with Ruby Hills Dot, owned by K.E. Holifield of Memphis, third. Fourth went to Chambers Hariete, owned by Chambers.

Homochitta Shiloh, owned by Mitchell, was the next best qualifier.

Harold Nunnelee of Belden and Buddy Glover of Booneville were judges.

A runoff trial is planned for Club Lake Beagle Club at Byhalia next month.

Calhoun
Drops
Northeast

DECATUR, Ala.—A pair of Calhoun pitchers held Northeast to eight hits, seven of them singles, in two games here Monday en route to a doubleheader sweep over the Tigers.

The Tigers managed only three hits in a 12-2 loss in the opening game and they got just five more in a 6-1 setback in the nightcap.

Steve Lyles was tagged with the first game loss while Norman Adams whiffed nine Tigers in notching the victory. Calhoun had 12 safeties in the game with Mark Fleming getting three while Donnie Ferguson and Tim Holt had two apiece. Bonnie Coleman smacked a triple for Northeast.

Northeast's Randy Bell was touched for seven hits in the night game while the Tigers collected five off winning pitcher Donnie Graham, who had 10 strikeouts.

County Arts Festival Held

A black and white photograph of a family of four sitting on wooden bleachers. From left to right: a young boy in a light suit and tie, a young girl in a light dress, a woman in a floral dress, and a young boy in a dark suit and tie. The word "CHURCH" is visible in large letters on the wall behind them.

A black and white photograph of two women standing in front of a wood-paneled wall. The woman on the left is older, with short dark hair and glasses, wearing a plaid jacket over a dark top. She is handing a certificate or diploma to the woman on the right. The woman on the right is younger, with long dark hair, wearing a light-colored, possibly white, dress. Both women are smiling. The background consists of vertical wooden planks.

The News From Altitude

By BLINDA DUNAWAY
Correspondent

Now that Spring is officially here, we are all looking forward to having some warmer temperatures and lots of bright sunshine. We know that the rain must fall, but it seems to dampen our spirits when it rains in cooler temperatures like we had over the weekend. Maybe that will be the last for a while.

Everyone seems anxious to get an early start on their home gardening projects with high hopes of having the best crops yet.

We have some more new residents around our area in the form of new babies.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Tennison welcomed a 9 lb. 9 oz. son on March 14. He will be known as Nicky Adam. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R.K. Tennison and Mrs. Sally Gray.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Max Whitehead are the new parents of Christopher Max born February 18 weighing 7 lb. 10 ozs. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Stricklen and Mr. and Mrs. Elzy Whitehead. Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pat Stricklen.

Eric Benjamin made his debut on February 13th weighing 6 lb. 11 oz. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Boren. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Boren.

Several of our area enjoying the singing of the Heisman Quartet on Friday night at the Hill's Chapel School gymnasium. I'm sure the Headstart Center is very appreciative of all who helped to make this effort a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Newborn and Michael and Ms. Shirley Few, Sherry and Ricky of Jasper, Ala., were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ides Rutherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Foster and Myrtle Cole enjoyed a meal on Saturday night with the Lucion Pucketts in Iuka.

Recent overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Foster have been Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Grant of Baldwin and Mr. and Mrs. David McCalmon and Alicia.

Recent guests off Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Foster and Myrtle Cole were Sandra Puckett and Jason of Iuka and Lana George and Desiree of Baldwin.

Friends will be glad to hear that Leroy's mother, Katie Mercier is doing well in Greensburg, La. Her family is looking forward to having her up for a visit soon.

Pat Cooper and boys of Burnsville were weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge Young while Harold was away on a trip to New Orleans.

Happy Anniversary to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mathis who celebrated on the 28th and Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Beard whose anniversary is coming up on April 1.

Dianne Bearden, Angie Moorman, Darlene Wilson, Benny Taylor, Gary Johnson, Theron Johnson, Shane Starling and Lena Smith have birthdays in the next few days. Best wishes to all of these.

Jennifer Dunaway celebrated her 6th birthday on March 16th with a supper in her home. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burns, Melissa Newcomb, Margie Burns, Tracy, Pat and Steve and Bryan of Booneville, and from Saltillo were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dunaway, Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Dunaway, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Dunaway, Lisa and Shana and Ronnie Dunaway and Jason. Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Dunaway, Tracy and Tina visited on Sunday. Tina had been sick and had to miss the party, but we're glad that she was better.

Pat Burns celebrated his 7th birthday on March 15th with a party for his friends.

Neloden Wroten and Chris of Verona and Tracy and Pat Burns were weekend overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burns. They were joined for supper on Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Grant of Baldwin. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunaway, Jennifer and Brock and Lisa Kitchens, who was spending the weekend with Jennifer.

Friends and family are glad to have Wilodene Horn home and doing so well after her surgery last week in Jackson.

Did the see the mounted deer head that was hanging at Altitude Grocery a short while back? It was a beautiful specimen given to Ted Burns by Mr. J.C. Lambert, who is quite proud of his hunting efforts this past season. J.C. had the good fortune (or was it purely skill?) to drag, not one but three deer from the woods this time around. A deer hunter's dream come true, I'm sure.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Holder were their son and family the Thomas Holders from Baldwin.

Polly Cole has been released from the Tupelo Hospital. We hope that she will have a speedy recovery.

Also Mr. Charlie Chase has been in the local hospital. Hope he is home by presstime.

Miss Cathy Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Whitley was honored with a bridal shower Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cleston Beard. Cathy is the bride-elect of Mr. Mike Chase. Best wishes for the happy couple.

Sympathy is extended to the family and friends of Mr. Mark Johnson who recently passed away. I know that he will be greatly missed. He is the father of Ceborn Johnson of our community.

Visiting family and friends in our community last week from Utah were Katie Hitchcock and her daughter, Beverly and children.

Miss Melissa Newcomb entertained her friends with a party on Sunday evening to celebrate her birthday.

Academically talented high school juniors may attend the University of Southern Mississippi during the coming Summer Quarter and receive full credit if they meet special requirements.

This is a program in which outstanding juniors can attend Southern to earn credit which will be held in abeyance until they enter college.

The curriculum will not involve special courses or a special summer term.

Applications must be received by May 1, 1979.

Controlled Burning Is Forestry Aid

By JOHN STUART
County Forester

The use of fire in the forests of the United States has come full cycle. Early settlers found Indians using fire in the virgin pine stands and adopted the practice themselves to keep down brush for better access and hunting and to get rid of the brush and timber so they could farm. This custom of setting fires plus careless wildfires left millions of acres of forests in the South non-productive.

The increasing wildfire problem caused many foresters to advocate the exclusion of all fire from the woods. By the turn of the 20th century, however, some pointed out that fire might have a place in the management of longleaf pine. As early as 1907, people began to use fire to reduce fuels on the forest floor. Research and experimental burning were begun in the 1930's and the use of prescribed fire increased.

Today, prescribed burning is an established resource management tool in southern pine forests. Prescribed burning is a desirable and economically sound practice on most pine sites with more than two million acres of forest land prescribed burned each year in the Southern States. In some cases, prescribed burning is the only practical solution to reducing hazardous fuel accumulation and preventing disastrous fires. No alternative treatment has yet been developed that can compete with fire from the standpoint of practicality and cost. Other treatments such as disk, chopping, or chipping may cost from $25 to $50 per acre. The use of prescribed fire, on the other hand, averages about $1 per acre in the South.

A good definition of prescribed burning is: Fire applied in a skillful manner to fuels of the forest, in a definite place, for a specific purpose, under exacting weather conditions, to achieve management objectives."

The major use of prescribed fire are reduction of hazardous fuel accumulations, wildfire habitat improvements, and preparation of sites for planting or seeding. A prescribed burn can be used for more than one purpose. A prescribed burn always reduces the fuel accumulation, and with a few modifications, a burn for hazard reduction can improve wildlife habitat. Almost any prescribed burn improves access and visibility.

Prescribed fires can be harmful as well as beneficial.

They can contribute to changes in air quality, although to much less a degree than wildfires. Proper planning and execution are necessary to reduce any detrimental effects to air quality. The impact on all resources should be considered carefully—especially the impact on wildlife, aesthetics, and stream siltation.

Public opinion is another factor to consider since the general deterioration of our environment. Some from prescribed fires, as well as wildfires, is highly visible.

Prescribed burning is a complex tool and should be used only by those trained and experienced in its use. Proper diagnosis and detailed planning are needed for each and every area.

Art Festival Is April 21

CLEVELAND—Good weather has been ordered and the wheels are in motion for the biggest and best Crosstie Arts Festival ever.

Festival director, Bill Lester, reports that the tenth annual festival will be held from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on April 21 on the courthouse lawn in Cleveland.

Mrs. Julia Moore, festival secretary, said more than 150 exhibitors will display their works. "Applications are coming in all the time," she said. "And that doesn't count the children's area. We are excited about the children's area this year which has been expanded."

The zoo will be located on the West side of the grounds and will have such things as the petting zoo sponsored by the Humane Society.

those desiring an invitation must submit slides or photos of their work to Bill Lester, chairman, Crosstie Arts Festival, Box 1064, Cleveland, Miss., 38732, phone 601-843-2151 or 601-846-7112. An entry fee of $10 will be charged.

Ted Solomon, entertainment chairman, said bands, singing groups, guitar players and sissily strolling minstrels will be on hand for the festival.

Bad Luck Follows Ole Miss Student

UNIVERSITY—Don't tell Dixie Stevens to "break a leg" before his next play. Chances are, he would.

After all, one of The University of Mississippi drama student's latest performances was a traumatic experience. Stevens went into shock after smashing two fingers on his right hand with a 17-pound metal bar he was using as a sword.

Carrying the adage "the show must go on" to an extreme, he stuck his bleeding fingers inside his cloak costume and somehow finished the play. As the curtain closed, he was rushed to a hospital emergency room and treated for shock.

"Something happens to me every time I'm in a play. But so far I've been able to cover the mistakes," said the Ole Miss junior from Gulfport. He is the son of Mrs. Margie Stevens of Gulfport.

A speech and theater major, Stevens' most recent appearances were in the University Theater production of "Taming of the Shrew" and an Ole Miss Studio Theater production of "Wait Until Dark." His first acting performance was with the Gulfport Little Theater during his junior year at Gulfport East High School.

In 1976, he won the South Mississippi State Drama Festival Best Actor Award for his portrayal of Daniel Webster in "The Devil and Daniel Webster." At Ole Miss he has performed in numerous plays and has served as assistant director of three graduate productions.

Although he says he is "basically a comedian," Stevens' dream is to be in "a serious western with Clint Eastwood and James Coburn." And for the past two summers, he has been both a comedian and a cowboy. Stevens' summer job: the town undertaker in the western show at Eight Flags, an amusement park in Gulfport.

In 1974 he was cast in his first play as an ice cream boy, but took over a principal part three nights before the opening when another actor became ill. "Acting has been getting a little easier ever since," he said.

But acting isn't the only thing he knows how to do.

University courses examine all aspects of the theatrical profession, he said. Courses in theater direction, voice and diction, stage design and lighting, even makeup, have helped him learn the basics of preparing a production.

Stevens is paying for his education through the College Work Study Program, grants and summer employment. But his part-time job at the University's Central Ticket Office in the busy Ole Miss Union has more than monetary value.

"Standing in the window of the ticket office, I see a few thousand people every day," he said. "I make a lot of contacts. In fact, that's how I've gotten several jobs. I'm also learning the business aspects of producing a show."

After graduation he and roommate Steve Kelly of Oxford, an Ole Miss graduate student in speech and theater, plan to test their business and theater know-how in Atlanta. They want to open a film and theater company to produce original plays.

"Art is growing in Atlanta," he said. "It is quickly becoming the New York of the South. I plan to pursue an acting career, but right now I don't have the professional experience and contacts needed to go to Los Angeles or New York," Stevens said.

But he's working on it.

MISSIONARIES—Eight Northeast Junior College students served as missionaries during the annual mission trip to Daytona Beach, Florida, March 12-16. Sponsored by the Baptist Student Union, Reverend Joe Cobb, director of the organization, said the students were chosen on the basis of their personal contributions to BSU and or their potential leadership ability. Pictured above are (kneeling, left-to-right) Lissa Gamble, Baldwin; Debbie Davis, Booneville; Pam Turner, Sallito; Darlene Chandler, Mantee; (seated, left-to-right) Ken Daniels, Tupelo; Greg Davis, Dumas; and Don Caldwell, Sallito. Elderly Need Health Care

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Is "old" just a term one hears all too often? Can it be truly defined? Webster tells us it means "dating from the remote past"; "having existed for a specified period of time"; "advanced in years or age." Synonyms for "old" also tell us something—words like antiquated, ancient, archaic, obsolete.

When you have an antique you pay a great deal of money to get it, you care for it with extra gentleness. Why? Because it is priceless; it is old and it is beautiful!

Then why do "old" people get tossed from place to place, made fun of, not listened to (because of supposed senility) and mainly, not cared for with regard to health and personal needs.

In an editorial in the February issue of the Annals of Internal Medicine, Paul B. Beeson, MD, Veterans Administration Hospital, Seattle, Wash., discusses the medical problems of the aging in relation to the training the doctors receive.

Dr. Beeson was appointed to a committee (at the request of the director of the National Institute of Aging) to investigate how well the medical doctors worked in the "training for care of the aging" in their curricula.

According to Dr. Beeson's statistics, "by the year 2000, when our present medical students and residents are at their peak professional activity, there will about 55 million American citizens over age 65." But too little attention is being paid to their health care, he adds. House officers and students find it most difficult to spend time in this area, because they change from one in-patient service to another every few weeks—too soon to become aware of the need to take into consideration the psychological and social plights of our aged people.

Old people were once young. Then came retirement, maybe loss of a spouse, and arthritis, crippling diseases causing a once ambulatory person to become dependent on a wheelchair or other device. Doctors should not only be reminded of, but need the first hand knowledge they can only get when they are treating elderly patients, Dr. Beeson believes. Nursing homes, in which medical students and residents can observe geriatric patients are scarce. In any case, most old people are reluctant to enter a nursing home.

"The preferable medical objective is to work out ways, through political and welfare agencies to enable elderly people to live as long as they can in their own homes" Dr. Beeson states. He goes on to say there is no master plan that can solve the health care of the aging problem, but makes a number of suggestions. One would be establishing an introductory medical training course in geriatrics, featuring home nursing demonstrations by paramedical professionals with emphasis on ambulatory care and rehabilitation; arrangements to have trainees observe patients in long-stay institutions; find a way to identify expert teachers of geriatrics, and, lastly have positions on every medical school faculty for young men and women who want to work in the area of geriatric medicine. There are, according to Dr. Beeson, several schools that are taking an active interest in this area, but much remains to be done.

The Annals of Internal Medicine is a monthly scientific publication of the American College of Physicians, which is the national professional organization of over 40,000 specialists in internal medicine or related areas.

UM Cheerleaders Rank Nationally

UNIVERSITY—The Ole Miss cheerleaders have won third-place honors in the nation's best college squad competition. They and the other top five teams will appear on Brad Mark's Second Annual National Collegiate Cheerleading Championship, a 90-minute CBS television special Monday night, April 16. In the competition among the top five squads, Ole Miss finished ahead of the University of Tulsa and the University of Southern California and behind Michigan State University and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Prepare Now For Tornadoes

To have your home struck by a tornado can be devastating; but if your insurance does not fully cover your loss, your misfortune can be doubled.

Last year 11 tornadoes touched down in Mississippi, killing five persons and injuring many others. In the last six years 199 tornadoes have struck in Mississippi, and the national property damage toll from the storms during that time is estimated at $3 billion.

Spring marks the zenith of the tornado season, and the wise home owner will prepare now for the possibility of a "duster," says the Insurance Information Institute. Two of the most important preparations will be to check your insurance and to inventory your household possessions.

Many people neglect to make an inventory because they think they can easily recall all their possessions in the event of a loss. Although large, obvious items might be easy to list, the many small and sometimes very valuable possessions stashed in nooks, closets and drawers are easy to overlook.

By not having a complete inventory beforehand, you can easily shortchange yourself hundreds of dollars on your insurance claim.

It's best to make the inventory as detailed as possible. The list should include a short description of the item, the date it was purchased, its costs new and what it would cost to replace it today, if you know. If you have receipts or canceled checks for some of your possessions, attach them to the inventory.

For valuables for which you don't have a receipt and which are hard to describe, take a picture of them. This can help to establish their value should they be lost.

For items that are particularly valuable, such as jewelry, paintings, coin collections, antiques and silver, you should have them appraised by a competent individual to determine their exact value. You may also need to insure them separately from your other possessions, as will be explained below.

Once your inventory is finished, store it, along with receipts, pictures and other documents, in a safe place away from home. Don't let your inventory be destroyed along with your house.

Besides making (or updating) your inventory, you should also check the amount of insurance coverage on your home and possessions.

Construction costs have been increasing about 10 per cent a year. If you have not been increasing the insurance on your house proportionately, you may be underinsured.

A homeowners policy requires you to keep your house insured to at least 80 per cent of the dollar amount that it would take to rebuild it. If the amount of your insurance drops below the 80 per cent requirement, you have to pay a percentage of any loss—large or small.

A homeowners policy also automatically extends coverage to your personal possessions, usually 50 per cent of the amount of insurance on your house. For example, if you have $40,000 insurance on your home, you automatically have $20,000 coverage on your possessions.

If your inventory shows that your possessions are worth more than the insurance coverage you now have, you may wish to increase the amount of that coverage. Your insurance agent can do this for you.

You may also wish to increase the amount of coverage for selected items, such as jewelry and gems, stamp and coin collections and boats and trailers. The homeowners policy automatically restricts coverage on these and other items to as little as $100 in some cases and $500 in others. For a small additional charge, a "rider" can be attached to your policy, insuring such items for their full value.

For more information about insurance for your home, contact your agent or send for a free copy of "A Family Guide to Auto and Home Insurance." Send your requests to the Insurance Information Institute, 1001 Howard Avenue, New Orleans, La. 70113.

VA Tests Made To Detect 'Agent Orange'

A surgical method for checking whether some Vietnam veterans carry after effects of "Agent Orange" in their body fat will be tested by the Veterans Administration, Max Cleland, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, said today. The test is part of a VA search for a simple way to find out whether any Vietnam veterans might have after effects from exposure to herbicides in Vietnam.

Since April 1978, VA has been involved in a broad-scale search for conclusive scientific evidence on the question. A key point in the widely debated controversy is whether dioxin, a contaminant that occurs in trace amounts in one of the herbicides, can be stored for long periods in human body fat.

Dr. James C. Crutcher, VA Chief Medical Director, said the answer to this question will involve studying fat samples obtained during surgery from carefully matched veteran volunteers. Tissues from veterans with documented exposure to herbicides will be compared to those from veterans with no service in Vietnam and no medical symptoms. "If the results of this comparison are conclusive," Crutcher said, "A biopsy procedure for determining the presence of Dioxin in individuals may be feasible."

No link has yet been found between medical conditions observed in veterans examined by VA and herbicides, VA's top medical authority said.

"But our minds are open on the subject, and we will continue to investigate it as long as there is any possibility of adverse effects on the health of veterans."

VA chief Max Cleland, who served in Vietnam while herbicides were used, said the agency had received about 500 applications for compensation from veterans who felt they might have after effects from exposure to herbicides. Except for one applicant who was found to have a skin condition, chloracne, no medical conditions were found in the group that could be traced to herbicides. In the one case, compensation was awarded because of "residual effects of exposure to a toxic substance," but the nature of the toxic substance could not be established.

Cholesterol-Heart Disease Link Studied

"Can heart attacks be prevented by lowering cholesterol?" is the question facing a team of University of Arkansas researchers conducting a study of the relationship between heart disease and cholesterol.

Most heart trouble results from atherosclerosis or hardening of the arteries. A clue to the cause of atherosclerosis may be that cholesterol, a fatty substance, is found in the diseased arteries. However, it is still uncertain whether cholesterol lowering can actually prevent heart attacks.

The University is seeking persons who have had only one heart attack in the past five (5) years and who are between the ages of 25 through 59. Anyone interested in more information may call the University of Arkansas Hyperlipidemia Study collect at (501) 661-5291.
