Amana Still Eyeing Booneville

By HANK WIESNER
Managing Editor

The Booneville Board of Aldermen were told Tuesday night by Mayor Charles Crabb that Booneville "is still in the running" as a possible plant site by the Amana company.

In other action during the meeting, the aldermen approved a resolution that will result in vehicle weight limit signs being put up on city streets.

Mayor Crabb told the aldermen that a representative from the Miss. Agricultural and Industrial Board had contacted him recently concerning Amana's search for a plant location.

Mayor Crabb said he was told that the company has selected Dalton, Ga., as their first choice for a site for the proposed plant.

"I was told that the company is having some trouble acquiring land in Dalton. The A and I man also said that Booneville was still in the running as a second choice, and that Amana might locate here if the land problems couldn't be worked out in Georgia," the mayor said.

The decision to put up street signs with maximum allowable vehicle weights came after the mayor and Streets Commissioner Wade Lambert said they had received many telephone calls from people upset about heavy vehicles damaging city streets.

The board voted 5-0 to have city engineer Don Eubank make an examination of city streets and determine the maximum allowable weight each could stand. After that signs will be ordered and placed.

"We've worked hard and spent a lot of taxpayers' money to get our streets in shape," the mayor said, referring to a major repaving program carried out in the city last year as well as plans to continue that work this year.

"We can't just stand by and watch our streets cracked under vehicles carrying 40,000 to 80,000 lb. loads," he said. Once the signs are erected, it will become a violation of law for vehicles to carry more than the maximum allowable weight, the mayor said.

In other action during the meeting, the board: Agreed to deposit $38,659 with the Mississippi State Highway Department as the city's share of the cost of a road im-

Baldwyn Jail Funds Are Sought

BALDWIN—Baldwyn Aldermen will try to persuade Gov. Cliff Finch and Law Enforcement Assistance Administration officials in Jackson Tuesday to grant at least $75,000 for construction of jail and police offices in the city's proposed $300,000 municipal building, Mayor M.B. Rowan said Monday.

The effort rounds out city officials' attempts to acquire the grant, which Rowan feels is needed before the city can borrow another $225,000 from Farmers Home Administration to build the 7,000-square-foot structure.

"They told me when I went to Washington last year the state LEAA has money, and the governor could do just about anything he can with (the money)," Rowan said.

In its March meeting the board voted to travel to Jackson to see the governor and LEAA officials.

"We're going to tell him we need some money," Rowan said.

Last month, the mayor contacted the offices of Sen. John Stennis and Rep. Jamie Whitten. He said no developments have resulted from those contacts within the last 10 days.

Today's meeting is the first concerted effort of the entire board and mayor in seeking building funds, Rowan said. "Numbers always help. It shows you have total support of the board," he said.

The mayor has sought help from Appalachian Regional Commission and the Lee County Board of Supervisors, in addition to Stennis, Whitten, Finch, LEAA and the Farmers Home Administration.

The site for the proposed building is at the intersection of South Second and Water streets.

Residents Unhappy

Road Damages Bring Threats Of Closing

By HANK WIESNER
Managing Editor

A spokesman for a group of Meadowcreek Road residents upset about damages to the road told the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors Monday morning the group may take court action to close the road to truck traffic if the road is not improved and maintained.

Ed Stearn told the board members that heavy traffic, overweight trucks, and erosion have combined to damage sections of Meadowcreek Road and other roads leading to the Prentiss County landfill.

The district supervisor for the area said that he "is aware" of the problem, while an attorney added that there are no plans to prosecute anyone in connection with the road damage.

"There's been a 60 per cent increase in traffic on the road since the landfill started. There are some very bad patches on the Meadowcreek Road and something needs to be done," Stearn said.

"Many of the trucks on those roads are overloaded. There's just too much weight and not enough axles," he said. He added that dirt is falling from the overloaded trucks and creating lumpy areas in the road.

"The road was blacktopped out to the city limits several years ago, but the road wasn't built to take the additional traffic and heavy trucks that are running on it now."

"The weight of the traffic has not only created potholes and sinkholes in sections of the road, it has also pushed the dirt out from under the roadway which has buckled the pavement in several places alongside the road," Stearn continued.

Stearn said that he and other residents of the road feel that it has become a safety hazard, and he said the residents would take the county to court in an effort to shut the road to truck traffic if the road isn't patched up and maintained adequately. "We don't want to stop anyone from making a living," he said, referring to the independent contractors that have been hauling dirt from the area to the site of a Booneville plant expansion.

"But with spring and coming, traffic on the road will increase, and it will also increase as more industry comes to this area," Stearn said.

"We'd like to see preventive maintenance done to the road to keep it up and repairs made to keep what we've got," he said.

"If the road isn't fixed up and kept up the community will take court action to try to close it to truck traffic. That would affect both the city and county, especially if garbage can't be hauled to the landfill."

"We don't want it to come to that, but we feel that something has got to be done to repair and maintain that road," Stearn said.

Dist. One Supervisor Jessie Burcham said at the meeting that "I've been aware of the problem there for five or six weeks."

In response to a question about whether the city pays the county for use of the road, Burcham replied that the city paid $1500 monthly to the county for use of the county landfill, but received no money for use of the road.

"That money just about lets us break even in the operation of the landfill. Even if there was money left over, it's against the law to take those funds and put them toward road maintenance," he said.

He added that any law enforcement officer can inspect the trucks, and if he feels they are overweight can take them to the nearest scales for weighing. This area's nearest scales are located in Corinth, he said.

Attorney Bubba Lott, standing in for board director Joe Ray Langston, said that "the board of supervisors is looking into the damage done to the road. There have been no tickets written, and hence no prosecutions are planned because there is nothing to prosecute on," he said.

Haynes Not Running

The Banner-Independent, has learned that State Representative John Haynes of Baldwin, will not seek reelection to the Mississippi House this summer.

Representative Haynes who represents Prentiss and Tishomingo Counties was first elected to the Mississippi House of Representatives in 1975.

The present multi-county district which he represents was abolished by the U.S. Supreme Courts in 1977 and new single member house seats are expected to be ordered by a District Federal Court before the end of April.

Haynes said, "After long and serious deliberation, I have decided not to seek reelection to the Mississippi House of Representatives for the coming term."

"I am humbled that many of you have asked me to seek reelection, and I thank you. Likewise, I want to thank everyone who supported and helped me during the past four years."

Church Directory Readied

The Banner-Independent is now preparing a church page directory, but to do so we need the help of area ministers.

If your congregation is located in Prentiss County, and you would like it listed in the directory, please complete the questionnaire located on Page A-4 of this issue and return it to us. For your convenience, you may also give us the information by telephone.

This special page will also contain a non-denominational, Bible-centered thought for the week written by different local ministers.

In The Thick Silence, Life Goes On...

Nurse Burcham watches console

By HANK WIESNER
Managing Editor

Surrounded by a thick silence, nurse K.T. Burcham scans the electronic console in the center of the eight bed coronary care unit of the Northeast Mississippi Hospital.

To one accustomed to a background sound of the crash of typewriters and a plethora of voices, the quiet seems thick enough to cut with a knife, but the nurse seems not to notice it at all as she watches the course of three lives on the screens in front of her.

There are three patients in the unit today, and data from each of them appears on individual screens that make up the console.

In the center of each of the screens is a blood-red digital printout of each patient's pulse, and on the right side of the screens is a continuing electrocardiogram graph showing the patient's heart beat.

The console is positioned so that each of the rooms can be observed from it, and the front wall of each room is made of special glass to allow direct observation by medical personnel.

Rooms in the coronary care section as well as the four bed intensive care unit that adjoins it are set up for immediate, extensive care, because that can make the difference between life and death in this section of the hospital.

The width of the rooms gives silent evidence of the need to allow many people and much equipment close to a patient. In a crisis, a half dozen people may be working to save someone's life.

All 12 of the rooms have hydraulically-operated beds. They are more expensive than the regular electric kind, but prevent the possibility of electrical shock during emergency treatment, and prevent electrical sparks which could detonate the oxygen.

Equipment for supplying oxygen is built into compartments at the head of each bed, and can be easily reached. In addition, there is suction machinery built into the compartments which can be used to clear the throat and lungs in event of emergency.

machine can also be hooked up at each bedside and used for helping diagnose each patient.

A telecopier device also allows personnel to send electrocardiogram records to specialists in Jackson for consultation when necessary.

The room width, the equipment, the special training that nurses, and nurses aides receive in order to work in this area, and the specially equipped rooms are all designed to help medical personnel pull a patient through any crisis up to and including a Code 9 alarm, which is cardiac or respiratory arrest. Either is acclinal defunction of death.

A cardiac arrest is immediately detected by the monitoring equipment, and sounds a dual-tone alarm on the control console. From there, the Code 9 alert goes out through the entire hospital and doctors, respiratory therapists, and anesthetist, and nurses converge on the patient's room.

A "crash cart" containing electro shock equipment, and drawers of special medications will be wheeled into the room and the battle will be underway to save a patient's life.

In the coronary care-intensive care unit a special breed of nurse and doctor is required. For a patient on the very edge of life, much can go wrong quickly, and immediate action is needed to save a life.

Registered nurses and licensed practical nurses are picked for their intelligence and ability, and then put through a special training program that may run from six weeks to three months, according to Hospital Administrator Ralph Smith.

One RN summed up the coursework as "the hardest training I've ever had, and heavy homework every night." Courses in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, special medications, and training in the use of defibrillation equipment designed to shock a heart into regular beating must be mastered.

Nurses and aides taking the courses also learn to read and interpret the monitoring equipment, and detect the slight changes in a patient that means he needs immediate assistance.

Judy Ramey, RN is the nurse supervisor for conorary care, intensive care and the emergency room, while Dr. Joe Hurst is the medical director of the coronary care unit and Dr. Joe Madara is medical director of the intensive care unit.

Nowhere in life is a human life guaranteed beyond the next tick of a clock, but in the coronary care and intensive care units of the hospital, perhaps more people come closer to making that guarantee than anywhere else in this area.

Clean Up- Program Underway

Cyndi Michael and Patsy Willcox will co-chair this year's Booneville Beautiful Campaign in co-operation with Keep Mississippi Beautiful Week.

"We want to urge the people of Booneville to put on blue jeans and sweatshirts, and clean up their own property.

"We hope to have youth groups, civic clubs, and church organizations helping the last two Saturdays in the month of April," Michael said.

"Unless we have positive response from these organizations, we can not hope for any positive results," Willcox added.

Prize money will be awarded to the group which picks up the most garbage, according to both women.

The project will not be limited to the city limits of Booneville.

"We think the county roads are in terrible need of cleaning up.

"We want to use this chance to make the parents of the county more aware of the problem," Michael said.

If they teach their children not to litter, then the problem won't be as great in coming years. We feel that the best way to shake off the winter-time blues is to get out and work on a worth while project," Willcox said.

"That's why we're asking each individual family to clean up and fix up their own property. This will give our visitors and prospective businessmen a better opinion of our county," she added.

Teacher Hearing Scheduled

The Prentiss County Board of Education Wednesday afternoon set a date for a hearing for Jumptertown teacher John Skinner, whose contract was not renewed by the board for the coming year.

The board received a letter from Skinner's attorney, Jeremy Eskridge of Tupelo, requesting a hearing date before the board of education.

The board set April 23, at 7 p.m. at the county superintendent office in the courthouse as the hearing date. At the hearing, the attorney will set forth reasons why Skinner should be rehired for the coming year.

Board attorney James R. Price of Corinth will set forth the board's position and reasons why Skinner was not recommended for rehiring, according to Supt. of Education Lex Cain.

Price was hired by the board to represent them in connection with this case after regular board attorney Joe Ray Langston excused himself from representing either side, saying he had represented Skinner's family in previous

Three Qualify

Three men have qualified for election to county office this week, according to records on file in the Prentiss County Circuit Clerk's office.

Larry W. Barron qualified for Dist. 1 supervisor, Bob Glover qualified for the office of Dist. 3 constable and Bill Kennedy qualified for the office of Dist. 4 constable.

unrelated legal work.

Following the hearing, the school board will make a decision on whether or not to rehire Skinner. If they vote to rehire, it would be a reversal of their earlier decision.

After the hearing is held, either side can appeal the results into a court of law if they wish, according to Supt. Cain.

Notes From The County Agent

By W. H. HADEN
County Agent

If you notice your cows staggering, standing off to themselves, refusing to eat their grazing ration, or cows that seem nervous and are breathing rapidly, you need to call a veterinarian immediately. The cows are showing symptoms of grass tetany.

This disease, sometimes called wheat poisoning, grass staggers or magnesium tetany, is usually fatal unless treated promptly. It occurs most often when cows graze fast growing wheat, ryegrass or oats.

Grass tetany can be prevented by feeding daily one or two ounces of magnesium oxide per head. You can mix this with the grain ration or sprinkle it on the silage at feeding time. The cost is about one cent per head daily. Feeding one or two pounds of cottonseed meal daily will also help prevent grass tetany.

If your animals are grazing rapidly growing cereal crops, watch them closely for signs of grass tetany. Be especially alert for fresh cows and older cows. Check cows twice a day when grazing cereal crops. Do not graze questionable cows on fast growing grass following heavy rains.

Anhydrous ammonia accidents are a major cause of accidental blindness and burns on the farm. You need to take extra precautions when handling this material.

Proper maintenance of the ammonia nurse tank is necessary for your safety and to meet regulations. Painting the nurse and applicator tanks a reflective color, usually white, will protect them from heat absorption from the sun. It is required that you mark the nurse tank plainly, usually in red letters about four inches high, with the words, "Caution Ammonia" on the rear to warn other vehicles you are transporting a potentially dangerous material.

Make sure those transferring ammonia are well trained. Eight of 10 anhydrous accidents result from improper procedures of workers. Be sure to check hoses, valves and other fittings and replace when needed with proper parts approved for handling ammonia.

When transferring ammonia, wear tight-fitting, unvented goggles, splash guards and rubber gloves. Ammonia damages the skin and eyes, through a burning action. If ammonia should get on the skin, flush with water for about 15 minutes and see a doctor immediately. Nurse tanks are required to be equipped with five gallons of fresh water for emergencies. A portable container is recommended for this purpose. Check the water periodically for ammonia contamination.

For more information on safe handling of anhydrous ammonia, contact your county Extension agent.

Union Dues Suit Is Resolved

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In the first such decision under the National Labor Relations Act governing private sector employment, a Federal Court judge in Maryland has ruled that the use of compulsory union dues for any union political activities violates the Constitutional rights of employees who object.

In a suit brought against the Communications Workers of America union by National Right to Work Legal Defense Foundation attorneys for 20 telephone workers, U.S. District Court Judge C. Stanley Blair held that the collection or disbursement of mandatory union fees for any purposes other than collective bargaining services infringes the first amendment rights to free speech and association of employees who object.

Judge Blair has also required the CWA to make a full accounting of how its fees have been spent and to refund to objecting workers all fees which exceed the union's costs of collective bargaining.

The refunds will represent the proportion of union expenditures for political contributions, lobbying, ideological causes, union organizing efforts, and all other purposes unrelated to collective bargaining.

WORKERS FORCED TO PAY
The 19 Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone employees, together with one AT&T worker, brought the suit against the CWA in 1976, with the Foundation's legal assistance, after the union negotiated a contract with the telephone companies requiring that all non-union employees pay an "agency fee," equivalent to union dues, to the CWA as a condition of employment.

The 20 employees objected to a portion of the compulsory fee being spent for the CWA's contributions to political candidates, legislative lobbying expenses, union organizing efforts, and private benefits for union members. CWA is one of the most politically active unions in the private sector.

The objecting non-union employees have had to pay the "agency fee" since January 1, 1976, which is when the union contract became effective. To refuse payment of the fee would have resulted, under the CWA contract, in their discharge from employment.

COURT ORDERS REFUND, INJUNCTION

In his decision rendered on March 19, 1979, Judge Blair found that the CWA "has collected and continues to collect from the plaintiffs monies in excess of the amount actually allowable to expenses incurred in connection with collective bargaining, contract administration, and grievance adjustment in violation of plaintiffs' constitutional rights."

The Judge held that it is unconstitutional for unions to collect, as well as to spend, any compulsory dues or fees except for the three permitted collective bargaining purposes.

In denying CWA's motion to stay the lawsuit until the 20 plaintiffs had first tried to obtain refunds through the union's internal appeal procedure, Judge Blair noted that the "time necessary for the series of intra-union hearings..would better be calculated in years rather than months, and..at the end of it all, this court would be called upon to make the determination it is now prepared to make."

Also denied was the CWA's plea that Judge Blair certify the case for an immediate review by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The Court awarded a declaratory judgment for the plaintiffs that the collection of compulsory fees for non-collective bargaining purposes is improper.

The Court also will order the following remedies against the union:

-An injunction against CWA's future collection of compulsory fees exceeding its collective bargaining costs for each employee in the bargaining unit.

-A decree ordering restitution to the 20 workers of amounts improperly collected in the past.

-An order that the union provide an accounting of its expenditures of "agency fees" for both permissible and impermissible purposes, so as to determine the amount of the refund.

-An order that, if the union cannot agree with the plaintiffs on the amount of the refund, the Court will appoint a "master" to make the proper accounting. A "master" is an attorney specifically employed by the Court to make findings of fact for the Court.

Of Robbery And Criss-Crosses...

By HANK WIESNER
Managing Editor

I enjoyed the chance to get out to the first annual meeting of the District cooperators of the Prentiss County Soil and Water Conservation District last Tuesday night.

County conservation awards were also given at the banquet, which was held at the West Side Community Center.

District Conservationist Tony Thompson extended the invitation to me, and although I arrived too late for dinner, I got a lot out of the meeting.

I had a chance to meet a number of fine folks from Prentiss County, and to rub shoulders with others I didn't get a chance to talk with.

I also enjoyed the chance to listen to Jim Buck Ross, the State Commissioner of Agriculture, and Commerce who spoke to the 150-plus people at the meeting.

He's an outstanding speaker. His folksy anecdotes are carved with a sharp wit and illustrate some basic truths in this world. Although I don't know for sure, I suspect he's probably in sharp demand as a speaker before, during or after banquets or most anything else.

His remarks covered a lot of territory, but one of his points stuck in my mind. He said that about 32,000 acres of farmland will be lost to roads or urban uses during the coming year, according to farmland figures for previous years.

Considering that 640 square acres make up a square mile, that's a large loss, and one that all of us can ill afford.

Commissioner Ross also passed along to his audience one of the best anecdotes I've heard about political contributions. He was good enough to supply me a copy, and in this election year I'm sure you'll enjoy it as much as I did. Here it is.

Dear Senator:

I received your letter today requesting money for your political campaign. In reply to your request for a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes this almost impossible.

Inflation and taxes just about delete my paycheck each month. I might add that so many politicians have been passed by our lawgivers to keep me from contributing that I am amazed that after the laws are passed, I am still requested to make contributions to those who passed the laws.

Briefly, this is my economic situation. My shattered financial state is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws, corporation laws, liquor laws, mother-in-laws, sister-in-laws, brother-in-laws, and outlaws.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, phone tax, sales tax, excise tax, social security tax, dog tax, food tax, state tax, city and county tax, federal tax, property tax, and income tax.

I am required to get a business license, privilege license, auto license, fishing license, operators license, marriage license, dog license, wholesale license, and retail license.

I am requested to contribute to every society and organization imaginable to women's relief, to unemployment relief, to gold-digger's relief to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the Red Cross, Black

Cross, Purple Cross, Blue Cross, criss-cross, and the double cross.

For my own protection, I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, burglary insurance, accident insurance, ca. insurance, health insurance, house insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance, and fire insurance.

My business is so governed that it is hard for me to find out exactly who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, dejected, subjected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I supply money for every need of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can honestly tell you that except for the miracle that has just happened, I could not enclose this check. Thank the Good Lord ole Sally, my faithful dog, just had a lot of pups in my kitchen. I sold one of them and here is your money.

Eyes On Mississippi...

New A&I Board Is Coming

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON—At last Mississippi is going to get a new kind of A&I board which is not supposed to be the plaything of the governor. But whether or not this economically depressed state is going to start sprouting new jobs like spring flowers is problematical.

To the surprise of many, Gov. Cliff Finch last week signed into law the bill which in the future will take direct control of the state's official industrial development program away from the governor, and purportedly put it under a politically insulated, continuing board and a professional director.

Gone is the old title "Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board." In its place, there will now be a Mississippi Board of Economic Development. This, in itself, represents a break with the past, eliminating "agricultural" from the state's official agency name after some 40 years.

Back in the old days, you couldn't put anything through the rural-minded Mississippi Legislature unless it had agriculture tied to it. But having it in the title often confused industrial prospects who thought it was some kind of farm agency.

Actually, for some years, the A&I Board hasn't been the mainstay of the state's industrial development. Much of the real work for getting industries to locate in Mississippi has come through local and area industrial councils, and Planning and Development Districts, chambers of commerce, utility companies, as well as the Mississippi Research and Development Center.

Mississippi's biggest lures for industry in the past have been its BAWI plan, cheap labor, tax lures, good climate and what the Chamber of Commerce calls a "good attitude" toward industry. The unspoken implication of the latter selling point was that plants wouldn't have to worry about labor unions if they located in Mississippi.

In some towns, instances have been known where local business and banking leaders screened prospective employees for new plants to make certain they would not bring in a labor union.

But with all the incentives that Mississippi has had to offer, it is finding itself with tough competition from the rest of the Sunbelt states which have just as much or more built-in advantages. For the past few years, this state has been trailing behind other states in the area in the amount of capital investment for industrial purposes.

The emphasis has been for many years on labor-intensive industries which will provide the most jobs, even though they are at low wages. Little by little, some communities around Mississippi have become more selective, and gone for the capital-intensive industries which provide fewer, but better paying jobs.

When you look back at the history of industrial development approaches the state has taken, it has been comicopera, tragedy and crushed hopes all wrapped in a bundle.

In the 1950's, the industrial hopes rode on the personality of mammoth Hugh White, the two-times governor, who could call the captains of industry by their first name and invite them down to a hide away at Ocean Springs for a weekend of poker, steaks, booze and fishing.

Then in the Ross Barnett regime, Barnett believed Northern industrialists could be sold on putting plants in Mississippi by being fed country ham and red eye gravy by black waiters in white coats at the executive mansion, as though Mississippians marched right out of Faulkner's novels. Mississippi risked $130 million of its bonding power to build a shipyard at Pascagoula, after being sold on the idea the state could corner the market on building super oil tankers before Japan got into it. The shipyard was built, but the supertankers never came.

In the early 1960's, Mississippi brought in a scientist named Dr. Andrew Stuttle to head up its state Research and Development agency. His big pitch was to put Mississippi in the nuclear age by setting off atomic devices in the salt domes of South Mississippi.

Now 15 years later, people are getting worried about radioactive toad frogs which have been discovered around the salt dome where two explosions were set off.

At the beginning of the 1970's, R&D Director Ken Wagner set out with a motto of "75 by 75", designed to put Mississippi at 75 percent of the nation's per capita income by 1975. The year 1975 has come and gone, but Mississippi hasn't reached 75 percent of the national income.

Various and sundry other gimmicks and slogans have been used to sell Mississippi, some with a little success, and others without.

Perhaps now, hope A&I Board reformers, the state will finally find the right formula.

Walden Is Honored

The recent monthly meeting of the PCDA Officers and Directors was highlighted recently by the presentation by the Board to Charles Walden of a plaque honoring his contributions to the organization.

Mr. Walden was recognized for his outstanding leadership during the establishment of PCDA, which continued during the past two years he served as its President.

Incoming President John W. Smith made the surprise presentation to Mr. Walden at the close of the February board meeting. Smith presented the plaque while expressing the gratitude and admiration of the entire Board.

Cynthia Michael, PCDA office manager, said during the ceremony that "Even with Mr. Walden's hectic schedule, he has never been too busy to help with the PCDA workload."

"Without his guidance and foresight, I don't believe PCDA would have ever survived. Every one of us who supports PCDA owes Mr. Walden a tremendous thank-you."

State Hiring Laws Skirted

By BILL CRAWFORD
Columnist

By the time you read this Jimmy Means will either be in or out as State Bank Comptroller. His fate was up in the air until the closing day of the 1979 session of the Legislature. The Senate had to decide whether to let Governor Cliff Finch withdraw Means' official nomination as State Bank Comptroller or not. If the Senate allowed the withdrawal then Means could continue as acting State Bank Comptroller. If the Senate declined and did not confirm Means, then he had to resign. If all this sounds very confusing, it is. But it's just part of the usual subterfuge going on in state government year in and year out to avoid nagging state laws on hiring.

Means was Bill Waller's Comptroller and simply continued in that post under Finch. Since Finch never officially appointed Means, and the Senate never confirmed the appointment, Means has actually been acting as State Bank Comptroller for three years.

This year the Legislature enacted a law which says that if gubernatorial appointees aren't confirmed by the end of the session in which they are appointed, they must resign. Legislators also moved to give the Lieutenant Governor the power to make appointments when the Governor is tardy in doing so.

This session, the Governor finally got around to officially appointing Means. But there arose the question of whether Means' name was submitted before the new law took effect or not. When it appeared Means would not be confirmed and would lose his job, Finch tried to withdraw his nomination. If allowed, then Means could continue very merrily along as Acting Comptroller.

The Means case gained major attention because of charges Means twisted bankers' arms for donations to Finch's Senate campaign and because of reports of FBI investigation of a Means business deal.

This ridiculous case is just one of many, however, where laws and regulations are broken to allow unqualified or untrustworthy people to hold government positions. That Means could be Acting Comtroller this long completely subverts the premise that major government officials must be confirmed by the Senate.

State laws requiring certain degrees or so much experience before a person can hold such and such an office are often got around by naming the unqualified person "Acting" Director. There have been many "Acting" officials at Parchman, for instance.

The Means case merely highlighted another area of mismanagement in state government.

Libba Maxwell

Miss Libba Recalls Lovely Memories

The following article is reprinted, with our appreciation, from the Hartselle (Ala.) Enquirer.

By MARTHA ANN PHILLIPS
Social News Editor

The scent of magnolia blossoms, honeysuckle and flowering wisteria seemed to encircle the presence of Libba Maxwell of Booneville, Miss. as she sat in the living room of the Hartselle home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Sammons.

Mrs. Maxwell's gentle and soft southern accent and her infectious smile causes one to almost close their eyes and picture hoop skirts, antebellum homes with rose trellises and pink lemonade being served on the veranda.

Her large sparkling eyes seemed to dance as she talked. Her hands moved in rhythm to punctuate her every word. Every strain of her glistening silver hair was perfectly coiffured.

She was the picture of the heart and soul of a genteel Southern lady.

Mrs. Maxwell was born to the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Gish of Corinth, Miss., almost 76 years ago. She is the sister of the late Paul Gish of Athens; Charles Gish of Georgia; Miss Frances Gish and Mrs. Mary Lee (J.N.) Harvey, both of Monroe, La.; and Mrs. Mildred (Roy) Rutledge of Jackson, Miss. Lillian Gish, the well known silent screen actress, is a second cousin of Mrs. Maxwell.

Mrs. Maxwell was educated at Saint Katherine's Finishing School for Young Ladies in the state of Tennessee. At age 19, she became the bride of Thomas S. Maxwell of Booneville, Miss., who at the time was a veteran of World War I, and was later to serve as the assistant Postmaster of Booneville until his death, almost 50 years after their marriage.

Of this union were born three lovely daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth (H.T.) Sammons of Hartselle, Mrs. Mit (William Steven) Marcus of Decatur and Miss Roberta Maxwell of Booneville. All are college graduates who pursued careers in professional education.

After the daughters were school age, Mrs. Maxwell returned to college, later graduating from Mississippi State University at Starkville in the early 1940s. She taught English in the Booneville High School for 24 years, plus several years of teaching elementary classes.

The delicate and pretty teacher with her winsome way was known to never be out of humor with her students and was year-after-year elected by her high school students as 'favorite teacher.'

While she taught during the school terms, she became a student herself in the summer, furthering her own education.

Because of her love for home and family, she once turned down an offer to receive her Master's degree at Peabody College, saying, "I couldn't be away from my darling husband and my precious children for any length of time."

Testimonials to Mrs. Maxwell from former students always include the fact that 'she made learning fun and a challenge!' and 'she made the process of learning a game, with self respect as a bonus for the student.'

She proudly tells that she never once had to resort to paddling a student.

She also for many years taught Sunday School and was a Christian witness to those who were able to attend church. She also witnessed to the countless shut-ins that she visited regularly.

'Miss Libba,' (as she is known throughout Booneville) delights in lovely memories of students she has taught. They often visit her when they return to their home town of pilgrimage.

Students who have never moved away take a sincere interest in her well being even today.

She is the grandmother of six and great grandmother of five.

MARRIED—March 17, 1921. Verdrie Mae Wilson and Perry Vestes Jones were united in marriage. They were married in Prentiss County "under a big oak tree." Mrs. Jones is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Colonel Wilson. Mr. Jones is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Perry Jones. They have one son, Mr. L.C. Jones of New Site, four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Jones celebrated their 58th Wedding Anniversary Sunday, March 17th. Several friends and relatives attended the gala occasion and enjoyed a buffet luncheon.

"Lady Q." is at home. It's great to know she is improving and we hope she doesn't have too much more therapy to go through. I understand she has to have a cast put on one leg yet. Keep up the good spirit!

Several club members attended the break in Alamo, Tennessee Sunday. I believe they started home about the right time because a tornado passed over that area not long after.

"Running Bear," feeling better because he's able to talk on the radio again. "Sidekick," still remains in intensive care unit at the hospital. Hope he soon improves.

Happy birthday to "King II," "Little Bedsprings," and to "Sunshine." Hope you all have a nice day and have many, many more.

"Twitty Bird," and "Lady Buffalo," received a patch for their uniforms at the break Sunday. We want to know what they say. "Telephone Man," said if he had to wear his you should too.

Happy Anniversary to "Trader," and "Lady Trader." Hope you have a nice day and have many more wonderful years together.

"Ole Blue," made a gun cabinet which sells for $150.00 and he donated to the club. It will be given away Sunday at the break. "Ole Blue," you are gonna have to quit rattling "Quickdraws" teeth and windows.

We will be looking forward to seeing everyone Saturday night and on Sunday at the events. We love to see new faces and meet the owners of all those handles.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

County Farmers Receive Deficiency Payments

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

Prentiss County farmers who participated in the voluntary feed grain set-aside program last year will receive deficiency payments on their 1978 crops of corn and sorghum.

The checks will be issued in early April to about 102 farmers in Prentiss County.

Deficiency payments are made when the average price received by farmers during the first five months of the marketing year for a program crop falls below the government-established target price for that crop.

The per bushel payment rate is the difference between the target price and the higher of the loan rate for the crop or the average price received by farmers. The 1978 target prices were $2.10 per bushel for corn, and $2.28 per bushel for sorghum. The national average loan rates were $2. for corn, and $1.90 for sorghum.

The payment rate could range between four and six cents per bushel for corn, and to 35 cents for sorghum.

Payments for the crops are computed by multiplying the established yield for the farm by the acreage planted for harvest times the payment rate.

The payments may be adjusted downward by an allocation factor which is applied to payments on farms where producers did not reduce their 1978 corn and sorghum acreage by 5 percent from the 1977 acreage. This factor could range between 85 and 90 percent for corn and 87 to 93 percent for sorghum.

The payment will also be adjusted downward if there was a disaster payment for the crop. The law does not permit a deficiency payment on lost production for which a disaster payment is made.

Projects that feature land treatment and water quality practices can be completed under the provisions of the 1979 agricultural conservation program (ACP) as a "Special" Project. A special project area has been designated for Prentiss County in the area west of Highway 45, south of Highway 4 to the Tippah, Union and Lee county lines.

This project emphasizes the solving of unique local conservation and pollution abatement problems and offers a means of treating environmental problems that cannot be solved through individual efforts under the regular program.

The project must provide enduring conservation and environmental benefits.

Special projects are aimed at supporting the interests of both rural and non-rural people. Included in these are: agriculture, recreation and the quality of drinking water. We encourage farmers to solve these problems and offer cost-sharing assistance to help carry out solutions to these problems.

Requests may be filed at the Prentiss County ASCS Office located at 105 College Street, telephone 728-3541, Booneville, 38829.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Jay White celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary recently with their nieces as hostesses. Hazel Jean Vanderford and Mrs. Anita Wiggenton served cake, punch, cookies, nuts and mints. Guests were registered at the door by Sheila Davis, and Teresa Davis. Many friends and relatives called during the evening bringing many nice gifts, and best wishes to help them celebrate the occasion.

FIFTIETH—The children of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen Tigrett will honor their parents on their Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary on April 8, from 2-5 p.m. Relatives and friends are invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Tigrett on Piggah road. No gifts, please.

New FmHA Interest Rates Announced

WASHINGTON—Details on loan programs affected by higher interest rates announced March 21 by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland were given today by Gordon Cavanaugh, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Cavanaugh said the 9 and 9-7/8 percent interest rates on most programs will be effective beginning March 28. The interest rate for most loans was 8-1/2 percent.

Insured real estate loans will be made at 9 percent. These loans include farm ownership, emergency and economic emergency real estate loans, individual soil and water, individual recreation, grazing association, irrigation and drainage and Indian land acquisition loans.

Interest on regular insured operating loans will be 9-1/2 percent. The new interest rate will apply also to natural disaster emergency and economic emergency operating loans used to pay for livestock, equipment, feed, seed, fertilizer and to make minor improvements to buildings and real estate.

Interest on loans to "limited-resource" farmers will remain at 3 percent for initial farm ownership loans and at 5 percent for operating loans.

FmHA's natural disaster emergency loans for production losses will continue to be made at the 5 percent rate. Home mortgage interest, set at 9 percent in early February, will remain the same.

Cavanaugh said he did not expect further increase in interest rates this year.

Bergland said Wednesday, "Interest rates are an important mechanism to help control inflation. The cost of the government for money has increased substantially in the past year. Continuing present rates would result in major losses to the government."

HEADSTART PLAYS IMPORTANT ROLE IN CHILD'S LIFE

Mississippi Action for Progress Inc. (MAP) sponsors the Headstart program in Prentiss County serving 268 children and their families each year.

The administrative staff consists of an Area Director, four specialists and six Center Heads. These administrators, along with the county council and center committees, administer the program.

MAP Inc. has forty eight (48) employees staffing its six centers with approximately $400,000.00 in federal funds used annually.

Another $75,000.00 is utilized in the county through the Summer Feeding Program and Special Handicap Funds.

Our educational goals are to teach the child self-confidence, sharing, independence self-discipline, that learning can be fun, and most important that the child is ready for the first grade upon graduation from our centers.

The children are taught through individual instruction, personal experiences through field trips, and in normal classroom activities.

Upon graduation from our centers each child has had a complete physical exam, a dental check-up with dental hygiene practiced daily in the classroom, speech, hearing, and vision screening. Immunizations are given through the local Health Department. Follow-up work is done on any of the above mentioned where needed.

Our health goals are to find any and all existing health defects, remedy any existing defects, provide preventive services, and to call attention to family health needs.

Our centers provide the children with two balanced meals and a snack each day. New foods are introduced to the children regularly and they are encouraged to eat them.

The meals are served in a family type setting with the children learning to set tables, serve foods, and to practice good manners.

MAP Inc. is a parent oriented program. We encourage not only parents but also community persons to take an active part in the daily operation of our centers.

The Social Service Staff is responsible for keeping an up-to-date and confidential record on each child. They make home visits to each home and act as referral agent when the need arises. They are knowledgeable of other organizations and the services they offer.

Registration is now in progress for children to be enrolled when the centers re-open in September.

Parents wishing to register their 4 and 5 year old children (6 year old if their birthday fall after October 1) should go to the center nearest to your home before April 13. The centers will be open until 6:30 p.m. on April 11 and April 12.

Parents wishing to register their children should take the following with them to the center;

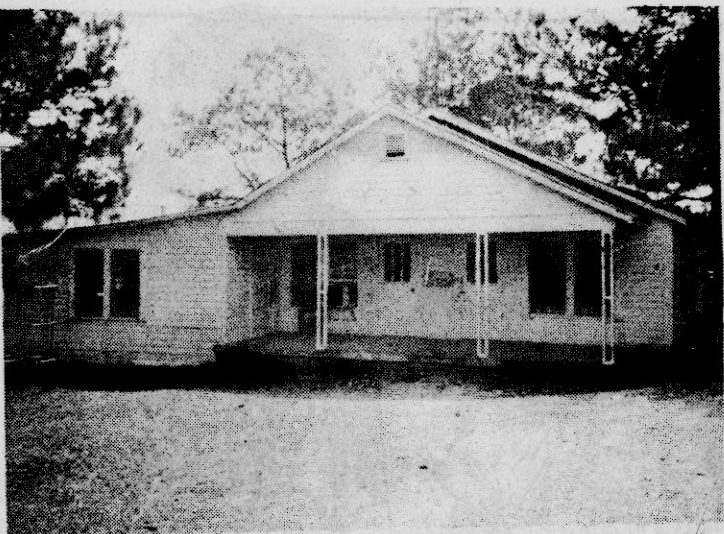

- A certified copy of the child's birth certificate.
- Medicaid number, if eligible for this service.
- Immunization record.
- Proof of annual family income.

Superseed: Helps With Trees

By JOHN STUART
County Forester

For nearly a decade, the Mississippi Forestry Commission has been systematically developing a forest genetics program that will eventually supply "super seed" for planting in its tree nurseries at Waynesboro, Mt. Olive, and Winona.

This tree improvement program was started on the Kurtz State Forest in Greene County with commission foresters and technicians applying to trees the same concepts of genetic improvement on those used in developing superior strains of animals and vegetables around the world.

The Kurtz Seed Orchard, where the first grafting was done in 1971 on a 10 acre plot of ground, has grown to 100 acres in size. Fifty-nine acres are devoted to grafted slash pine and the rest to loblolly. Some of the grafting material for the orchards came from superior parent trees in neighboring states; however, most of it was collected from defined geographic regions of traits.

Origins of the grafts are carefully recorded. Each tree is adorned with a metal identification tag and meticulously plotted on a scaled plot of the orchard. Through a complex program of parent tree selection, grafting and controlled pollinations and progeny testing, the project will produce seed to grow tree seedlings with outstanding inborn characteristics of growth, insect and disease resistance and other desirable

There are three orchard technicians at Kurtz that have recently received praise from several sources for their outstanding job in all phases of the development of this orchard. The crew's extraordinarily high percentage of successful grafts helped earn them praise from the Western Gulf Forest Tree improvement program.

The three orchard technicians are looking forward with anticipation to a few years from now when all their hard work and "tender loving care" is expected to bear fruit. It is in 1980 that the Kurtz Orchard is expected to produce enough seed to grow the first 100 to 200 thousand genetically improved, "super seedlings" at the Mississippi State Nurseries. Seed production at the orchards will increase rapidly after 1980. By 1985 enough seed should be collected to grow several million improved seedlings for distribution to private landowners.

The sum total of these efforts will be improved strains of tree seedlings that will eventually supply more of the state's and the nation's expanding wood needs on what seems destined to be steadily shrinking forest acreage. Research over the past several decades by forest industry that productivity gains of 10 to 20 percent more are possible from stands of genetically improved trees.

Producing tree seedlings that grow faster, taller, straighter, and more pest resistant through genetics is a challenge.

John Stroud Joins Stewart's Campaign Trail

NEW ALBANY—John Stroud, an All-Southeastern Conference basketball star for Ole Miss, announced today that he will be working for Zack Stewart's campaign for Northern District Highway Commissioner this summer.

Stroud and Stewart are both from New Albany and the former West Union standout is expected to work toward organizing young people throughout the 31-county district.

Stewart said, "I'm delighted, of course, to have someone of John's caliber who wanted to get involved in the campaign and look forward to working with him as the summer progresses. I know he'll do a good job."

Stroud, in addition to All-Southeastern Conference honors, received honorable mention All-American and led the SEC in scoring with a 26.3 average last year.

DISPLAYS—Peggy Bearden of Northeast Junior College proudly displays the award she received during competition at the Phi Beta Lambda leadership conference held recently at the University of Mississippi. Congratulating Peggy upon her achievement is Dean Joe Childers. A sophomore Business Administration major from Booneville, Peggy placed third in the extemporaneous speaking division.

General Davis: Has Flashy Life Style

General Reuben Davis was the most flamboyant of Aberdeen lawyers. It has been said that he always took two shirts to court because he would cry so during his delivery that it would become necessary to change. The prolific crying was helped along by pepper secreted on his person, being rubbed in his eyes.

Davis lived extravagantly. Until after the Civil War he resided in a beautiful mansion, Suristan, overlooking the Tombigbee River in Aberdeen. Later he moved into the magnificent Greek Revival Mansion, Sunset Hill, which was built in 1847, and is now associated with him.

He was, however, reluctant to pay his debts; therefore, his second wife let it be known that the second residence was paid for with her money. When she died and lay in state in that residence, she was "stretched out on top of the grand piano surrounded by roses as she had requested."

Suristan and Mrs. Davis' piano are both gone now, but Sunset Hill, in all its splendor, remains to greet the visitors to the Aberdeen Pilgrimage, April 6-7-8. Sunset Hill and six other historic homes will be open daily during the pilgrimage. Three historic churches and two public buildings will be open at special times.

Sunset Hill is now the home of Mrs. Emerson Jones. The interior of the majestically eight-columned mansion is typical of Southern antebellum architecture with a large central hall and two square rooms on each side. It contains beautiful Waterford chandeliers, massive period furniture and family portraits. The winding stairs lead to a central hall and four bedrooms on the second floor. This impressive mansion symbolizes the antebellum splendor for which Aberdeen is famous.

Lenoir Plantation, 1847, is situated on 2500 acres of land which was bought by William Thomas Lenoir from the Chickasaw Indians, whose camp was located where the smaller house on the plantation now stands. It is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Whitman H. Lenoir. Six generations of Lenoirs have lived there.

During the Civil War, both Union and Confederate soldiers occupied the home, using it as a hospital. Skirmishes were fought there down the Bois-de-Arc road which leads to the plantation home. Many items of Civil War days are displayed, including a portrait which was cut by a bayonette during the Union occupation.

Gregg-Hamilton, which was built in 1850, is one of Aberdeen's most interesting homes. It was the home of General and Mrs. John Gregg during the Civil War and is now owned by Dr. and Mrs. Charles G. Hamilton. It is a Mississippi plantation-type cottage with ornate facade and houses a valuable historical library and several very interesting collections. It faces the old stagecoach road to Columbus.

The Gothic entrance hall with Dadoes and pointed arches has the only Greek Revival newell in Aberdeen. It has been registered for the National Register of Historic Places.

Parson Gunn, 1840, is one of Aberdeen's oldest homes. It was built by Rev. Robert Bolling Gunn, a primitive Baptist minister. He was born in Brunswick County, Virginia, and was a descendent of the Gunn Clan of Scotland. He was one of Aberdeen's first civic leaders and a very successful merchant and plantation owner. Parson Gunn is being restored by its owner, Walter Boland, who has moved to Aberdeen from Maine.

Lenoir Cottage, 1890, was built by Major James Peck as one of four cottages to be occupied by family members and was known as "Peck's Row." This beautiful cottage is still in the same family, now owned by Mrs. Emma Mangum Lenoir and Mrs. Mary Mangum Walker.

Later in the day, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., city residents will participate in a candlelight walking tour, featuring spotlighted tableaux on porches, depicting early Aberdeen scenes. Costumed residents belonging to the city's civic clubs and organizations will provide entertainment and old-fashioned refreshment stands. Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor a barbeque at noon on April 22, on the Monroe County Courthouse lawn. The Courthouse, which was built in 1848, will be open during the afternoon with a display of historic records. Arts and crafts displays and musical entertainment will be provided.

Senior Day Activities Held

The Prentiss County Senior Day activities, sponsored by the Prentiss County Guidance Department, was held on March 24.

The activities involved all seniors from all schools in the county and was held at the Booneville High School. Representatives from colleges, business and industry, and the military were invited to meet with interested students to give information and discuss future plans and career selection.

Senior Day provides something for everyone. Seniors who plan to enter the work force immediately following high school have an opportunity to meet industry and business representatives and learn about job application and interview procedures.

Students who plan to attend academic, trade or technical schools after high school representatives, to learn about financial aid provisions, and to make applications.

Those seniors interested in a military career can discuss enlistment and training selection with recruiters from all branches of the military. Student participation in the program was very good. Mr. Lex Cain, County Superintendent of Education, gave the welcome to the student assembly.

Mr. Charles Walden was the keynote speaker and discussed how an individual's future is limited only to his belief in himself. An outstanding entertainment program was presented by a group of Booneville High School juniors, and the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Ensemble under the direction of George Martin.

Career selection and planning is one of the most important decision processes in the life of an individual. The Guidance Department recognizes this fact and provides this event as part of the career information service provided in the schools of Prentiss County.

Remedial Reading Serves 56 Students

Title I Remedial Reading at Wheeler serves 56 students in grades one through six. In order to provide individualization and to improve reading skills, no more than 12 students are served per reading period.

Students receive remedial reading in addition to their regular classroom reading. Forty to 60 minutes of instruction are given each of the six reading groups daily. Skills taught in the regular classroom are reinforced in the Title I program.

A wide variety of materials are utilized. Clues to Reading Progress, Merrill Reading Skilltest Series, Troll Read Along, and the SRA Schoolhouse Comprehension Patterns are some of the students' favorite materials. Recently one group enjoyed making candles as a follow-up activity to a story read in the Merrill Series. In addition, handmade materials are used.

Avocabulary tree, word-picture match-ups, and story booklets constructed from discarded readers are used frequently. Students enjoy finding their vocabulary words in magazines and newspapers; they then clip the words and paste them in individual notebooks. Occasionally films and filmstrips provide variety and often reinforce reading and listening skills.

Mrs. Dot Fitzgerald is the reading teacher, and Mrs. Barbara Kelly is the reading aide.

80 Students Honored

Eighty Mississippi State University students—including one from this area—were recently inducted into Phi Kappa Phi national honor society.

The society, which includes both students and faculty, recognizes and encourages superior scholarship in all fields of learning.

Together, we can do great things for Mississippi.

FELLOW CITIZENS OF MISSISSIPPI:

I am a candidate for the office of Governor of Mississippi. My decision stands to affect the wrongs that need to be corrected, the good things about Mississippi that can be better, and the necessary positive changes we can all make by working together.

LET'S CLEAN UP STATE GOVERNMENT

We must stop sweeping corruption and mismanagement under the rug, and begin sweeping them out of the state. These things are the result of political cronyism. Our overall goal is to clean up state government with a positive approach to solving our problems. As a state legislator, I fought as early as 1972 for strong and meaningful ethics legislation... before it was popular to do so. And as your governor, I will continue with all my strength to bring morality to our state government.

YOU DESERVE A GOVERNOR YOU CAN TRUST.

You need a governor who is willing to work hard to give you a dollar's worth of service for every tax dollar you spend. With my business educational background and experience, I believe I am qualified to be responsible for operating your government on a sound business basis.

I'LL TAKE A STRONG STAND AGAINST CRIME

Crime and lawlessness must not be tolerated in our state. The essential key to fighting crime is the support of our law enforcement officers. With state government and all the people behind them in every way, we can have the strong protection we need.

TAXES MUST BE FAIR

Mississippians must have further tax relief. We must end the double taxation permitted under the present state income tax law. Federal taxes must be deducted before the state income tax is applied to taxable income. Remember that when government operates at a large profit, the people are being overtaxed.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT IS MISSISSIPPI'S FUTURE

We must have a definite and practical program for the economic development of Mississippi. This is a major issue of my campaign. With dedicated efforts to seek new industries, while expanding our home-grown industries, we can bring new money to the state and stability to the economic community as it presently exists. Our vast natural resources must be promoted to the fullest extent to attract new industry.

QUALITY EDUCATION IS ESSENTIAL

I will continue to do all I can to bring Mississippi teachers' salaries in line with those paid in other southeastern states. We need a complete revamping of the minimum foundation program. Our state needs to be more fair to all those entrusted with educating our children.

REVIVE HIGHWAY PROGRAM

I will ask for an immediate revitalization of the four-lane corridor highway system in Mississippi. This will not only provide for better transportation but will attract more tourist dollars to Mississippi. If it is not begun now, costs will be so high we may never get the highways we so desperately need.

VETERANS NEED HELP

I will do all I can to upgrade the living standard of our many veterans... by providing better jobs with better pay, and by seeking more veteran benefits. I will fight to keep the veterans hospitals for veterans.

FARM AND FUTURE

The future of Mississippi is tied in a large extent to agriculture. Farmers must have more money and many more markets for their products. I will support and promote Mississippi agriculture through every avenue available to the governor's office.

A CLEAN SWEEP FOR HONEST GOVERNMENT

I believe people are looking for new attitudes, new approaches and new initiatives. I pledge to provide moral leadership, with government on-top-of-the-table where everyone can see what's going on. This is why I need your help, your support and your vote.

Together, we can do great things for Mississippi!

Sincerely,

John Arthur Eaves.

'Carryover Rule' Will Increase Estate Taxes

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau

The American tradition of handing down property from generation to generation is in jeopardy during this session of the Congress unless more rank and file citizens go to the trouble of learning what a little-known provision of the estate taxation law holds in store for them--and cause Congress to repeal a potentially fatal thorn in an heir's flesh.

Known as the "carryover basis rule" of estate taxation, this provision was scheduled to take effect in 1977--but an alarm was sounded by farm, business and legal organizations which caused a temporary postponement to be ordered by Congress.

And now, if Congress doesn't act this year, 1979, to repeal the rule, it will become law effective January 1, 1980.

Essentially, the provision creates retroactive estate taxation so the federal government collects on inflated and appreciated values going back to the point in time when the property was acquired by the deceased. As a result, an heir pays capital gains rates on increases in value from the original date of acquisition to the time the property is sold by the heir.

Thus this "carryover basis rule" replaces the "stepped up basis rule" which takes the fair market value of property at the date of death as the basic value of inherited property.

Not only does this mean paying more taxes on inherited property, in addition to state and federal estate taxes, but it requires heirs to establish the original cost, capital improvements, and other adjustments on every piece of inherited property subject to capital gains taxes. This may include land, homes, stamp collections, etc. and has drawn harsh criticism from attorneys and accountants who appropriately have referred to it as a nightmare.

Landowners and business people not only see the provision as a threat to passing property from generation to generation, but also as a significant disincentive for sound property management. The federal government would reap additional tax revenues at heirs' expense. It would create a financial handicap for heirs, forcing many needing to raise money to pay estate taxes or to buy farm or expensive farm equipment to have to sell off a greater portion of their inherited or traditional property in order to keep afloat financially.

Despite threats of a presidential veto, two bills have been introduced in Congress already this year to repeal the carryover basis rule and return the tax law to its previous status--H.R. 13 by Rep. Barber Conable (R-N.Y.) and S. 112 by Sen. Robert Dole (R-Kan.).

The time is at hand for Americans to do their homework in regard to this obligatory bequest from the pockets of millions of small landowners directly into the federal till.

Communications are needed desperately from the crossroads of America before another big erosion of personal liberty goes down the drain.

PRESENTED—Officers of the Iota Zeta Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa at Northeast Junior College presented Mrs. Louise Dubard (center) with a plaque of appreciation during the club's spring initiation ceremonies held recently in the Mississippi Room of Frank Haney Union. Mrs. Dubard, chairwoman of the Department of English, has served as faculty sponsor to the organization for 15 years. Pictured above are (left-to-right) Donna Richardson, Vice-President, Tishomingo County; Lisa Sparks, Treasurer, Tishomingo County; Mrs. Dubard; Revonda Bullard, Reporter, Prentiss County; Shelia Hopper, Secretary, Tippah County; Babs Childers, Historian, Prentiss County; and Lane Telgen, President, Alcorn County. Not pictured is James Davis, Historian, Alcorn County.

Some GI Benefits Expire Soon

Approximately 6,000 Vietnam Era veterans in Mississippi will lose their entitlement to GI Bill benefits during the next year.

Jackson Veterans Administration Center Director J.L. Warnock said the figure represents the total number of veterans who will have reached the tenth anniversary of their separation from military duty. The law provides veterans with a ten-year time limit to use educational and training benefits.

Warnock said that while some 61 percent of Mississippi veterans have used some or all of their GI Bill rights, there are thousands who can still make at least partial use of their remaining time.

VA estimates that on a nationwide basis more than half the number of veterans who have GI Bill eligibility today will lose it by 1984. "What we're emphasizing here," Warnock said, "is the time factor. To make maximum use of GI Bill rights a veterans must be aware of the ten-year limit and get started well before time runs out."

A typical Vietnam Era veteran, for example, might have left the service in 1973 having earned maximum training or education entitlement. If that same veteran were to embark on a full-time, four-year college program, it should be started this year so that it could be completed by 1983 when the veteran's eligibility expires. In any event, benefits would be payable only until the veteran reached the time limit no matter how far along the program was.

"There are so many ways the GI Bill can be adapted to individual needs and circumstances," Warnock said, "I hate to see anyone lose their rights to this program simply because they let time slip by."

MSU Holds Camp For Talented Students

A summer camp for gifted and talented students will be held June 16-30 at Mississippi State University.

Academic, recreational, social and non-denominational religious activities will be offered, with a number of campus departments providing instruction and leadership. The deadline for receiving applications is May 13.

The camp is being sponsored by the Departments of Special and Counselor Education.

New Program Solves Taxpayer's Problems

When you own your own business, it often seems as if life is governed by other peoples' schedules. For instance, there's the customer and the salesman, the wholesaler and the delivery person, the printer and the bank manager. And, of course, there's taxes and the IRS.

The IRS can't do anything about the customer and the delivery person, but they can provide tax assistance.

The PRP is not intended as a substitute for first-time taxpayer contact. It is a special contact within the IRS to remedy taxpayer problems which are not satisfactorily resolved through normal dealings with the Service.

Taxpayers who have made at least one contact through normal channels and have not had their problem resolved should contact Mrs. Jean Patrick, Problem Resolution Officer at 301 North Lamar Street Building, or by telephone at 699-2900.

There are times when things don't work as they should. There can be many reasons why a tax problem isn't solved or why a misunderstanding arises between the IRS and a taxpayer. That is why the IRS has developed a Problem Resolution Program (PRP) to help taxpayers who feel their tax problems are not promptly or fully resolved.

New Bill Aids Elderly

Governor Cliff Finch has signed into law a bill to authorize any city or county government to expend necessary funds to match federal funds for assistance programs for aged persons. Under the bill, sums expended may be used to support any project, or program, approved or sponsored by the Mississippi Council on Aging.

At Yellow Creek Nuclear Plant—Tons Of Concrete Being Used

IUKA—There are many different factors that contribute to the construction of a nuclear power plant.

For example, tons of earth and rock must be removed, numerous shop buildings created, and many linear feet of reinforcing steel and pipes must be installed. However, probably the most important single factor in a plant's makeup is concrete.

The Tennessee Valley Authority's Yellow Creek Nuclear Plant, located north of here, will place more concrete in the next few years than most persons can conceive. An estimated 482,000 cubic yards of concrete will be utilized upon the plant's completion. To date, approximately 28,000 cubic yards of concrete have been placed for the permanent facilities and another 15,000 cubic yards for temporary or construction plant facilities.

To cope with the huge amounts of concrete deposited throughout the plant site, TVA has its own central concrete mixing plant, portable concrete batch plant, and concrete laboratory located at the project entrance. The concrete lab is manned by Quality Control engineers who insure that the concrete meets TVA and ASTM (American Standard Testing Materials) standards.

Engineers conduct tests for air content, temperature, and slump and make test cylinders for compression tests. All test equipment is stringently calibrated for proper readings.

According to QC engineer Mike Freeman, who resides in Corinth, Mississippi, paperwork must be kept every day on tests and gradations.

"The NRC (Nuclear Regulatory Commission) comes in periodically to check our paperwork and observes actual concrete placement on the job," said Freeman, who worked at TVA's Bellefonte Nuclear Plant before coming to Yellow Creek. There are currently 27 persons involved in the Materials and Civil division that conduct tests on concrete, perform reinforcing steel inspection, and other miscellaneous duties that lead to proper conditions being met for quality standards. Inspectors must be familiar with all phases of the QC operations.

The concrete lab contains office space, a concrete room, soil room, shaker room, ovens, a dry room, a fogging room, and a compression break machine.

"Concrete isn't just poured and forgotten," remarked Freeman. "It must be kept under controlled conditions. The more water you have in it, the weaker it is. To get a good bond it must be cleaned off." He added that by "green cutting," or washing off the grout on the top one-eighth inch, concrete holds better. The best temperature for concrete strength is 70 to 75 degrees.

Concrete generates heat, and ice must be applied in the summer and hot water in the winter. It is also heated during the winter months to maintain the proper temperature. All concrete is classified according to quality levels. To illustrate, category I concrete is concrete placed in the nuclear islands which include the reactor, and control buildings.

Most permanent concrete is placed on the second shift each day with pours continuing, in some instances, around the clock, depending on the area. Every structure in the permanent plant has a pour number with cubic yardage estimated far in advance.

Ed W. Jenkins Is Named Local Law Day Chairman

Attorney Ed W. Jenkins of Booneville has been appointed Prentiss County Chairman for Law Day 1979 by the Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association.

Law Day is set aside each year on May 1 by joint resolution of Congress and Presidential proclamation. The day is proclaimed "a special day of celebration by the American people in appreciation of their liberties" and as an occasion for "rededication to the ideals of equality and justice under the law." First observed in 1958 under President Dwight Eisenhower, the event has grown to include an estimated 50,000 separate nationwide Law Day programs annually with more than 5,000,000 persons in attendance.

Each year Law Day has a different nationwide theme. The theme for 1979 is "Our Changing Rights." The primary purpose of the observance to emphasize the values of living under a system of laws and independent courts that protect individual freedom and make possible a free society.

The Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association participates along with the American Bar Association and State and local associations in the preparation and presentation of Law Day Observances. Last year, the MTLA Committee assisted in organizing and presenting Statewide observances including two television programs, 10 radio programs, and 14 school observances on Law Day.

This year's MTLA Statewide Chairman is Richard T. Phillips who is a member of the MTLA Board of Governors on which he represents the Seventeenth Judicial District including DeSoto, Tate, Pinola, Yalobusha, and Tallahatchie Counties. Mr. Phillips is serving his second consecutive year as Statewide Chairman.

No Gains Tax On Sale Of Home

Taxpayers age 55 or over have a once in a lifetime chance to exclude from taxes up to $100,000 of the gain from the sale of their home if they sold it after July 26, 1978, according to Joe Stubblefield, Chief, Taxpayer Service Division.

Under a new tax law, called the Revenue Act of 1978, taxpayers can exclude all or part of the gain on the sale of their homes if it was the principal residence for at least three of the five years prior to the sale. Those age 65 or over have the additional option of using a principal residence test of five years out of the eight years before the sale. This option is available only on sales prior to July 26, 1981.

The new exclusion takes the place of the $35,000 exclusion previously available to taxpayers 65 or over. However, taxpayers who took this $35,000 exclusion on homes sold before July 27 can still qualify for the $100,000 if they sell their current home after July 26, 1978.

The new law also modifies the rule that taxpayers must keep a new principal residence for 18 months if they deferred gain from the sale of their old house. If the taxpayer must sell the new residence before 18 months because of a new job, transfer or any other employment related cause, he or she is exempted from the requirement.

Tales From Insurance Files—

Some People File The Strangest Claims

HARTFORD, Conn.—It almost hurts to talk about it.

Consider the story about the California field worker who got bit by a black widow spider while making a noon stopover at a portable toilet.

What about the jailed drunk who tripped on his shoe tongues and knocked out a gold tooth on a toilet seat.

Or the story about the sun worshiper who burned his chest on the hot exhaust system of a garbage truck which had just run over him at the beach.

And how can we forget about the poor old seamstress who felt the presence of a darned needle she sat on years earlier.

Makes you want to rub the backside to make sure everything is okay.

You can imagine what the claim representatives for Aetna Life & Casualty must have gone through when they reviewed these cases. Aetna processes millions of claims annually, and while many are routine, some are just too precious to pass over. Here are some of 1978's best.

Like the New England constables who thought they caught a band of thieves red-handed loading the contents of a home into a van.

One of the thieves convinced the police officers he actually was the homeowner and was, unhappily, claiming what was his after a bitter divorce. The embarrassed lawmen made their exit, but not before offering to assist the burglars. The homeowner's dog was also reported missing.

Then there was the lovesick male pooch who smashed through the front door of a home which contained a female of the species. The two canines never rendezvoused. The homeowner stopped the excited intruder in front of the door to the garage, where the female was chained, before it was destroyed too.

A New Jersey policyholder filed a claim after an appropriately-named throw rug slipped out from underneath a house guest. The claimant said the guest "spilled" blood all over her nice wallpaper. How's that for a different twist?

In the early days of the automobile, it was always being challenged by the horse. Well, last year, a New York nag won the contest. A car traveling along a bridge path startled the horse and its rider. The horse reared; its master tumbled onto the manure-covered path. As the angry rider started making obscene remarks, the horse reared again, this time leaving his calling card, in the form of hoofprints, on the side of the car.

The "I Thought It Was a Brilliant Idea" award should go to a Jerseyite who tried to defy winter by placing an electric blanket over his VW engine. On rising one morning, he found the car engulfed in flames, probably from a short circuit.

Consider, if you will, the man, who while on his constitutional, walked into a tree and filed for damages. He said dust and noise erupting from a minor demolition project down the block startled him and sent him into the collision course.

Talking about startled people, you must feel some sympathy for the woman who was mugged by a cat right in the front seat of her car. The feline made tracks on the woman's neck after being rudely awakened from a sleep in the backseat. The sudden rush by the cat resulted in the driver being propelled forward. Some of her front dental work was rearranged after hitting the steering wheel.

The inebriated fellow mentioned in the beginning was jailed for his own safekeeping, and his shoelaces were routinely removed. You see, the police didn't want him to hurt himself. The gold tooth, by the way, was lost down the commode.

Before the aforementioned garbage truck's exhaust

Tollison Wins Engineering Award

UNIVERSITY—Mississippi's only university-employed environmental engineer has received the Young Engineer of the Year Award from the Mississippi Engineering Society. Gordon Tollison, environmental engineer with The University of Mississippi's Physical Plant Department, was recognized for his work at Ole Miss. He is responsible for operation, planning and cost forecasting for the University's water and wastewater utilities.

City Officials Hold Annual Conference

UNIVERSITY—Federal guidelines on personnel administration will be the focus of the Ninth Annual Conference for City Clerks, Assessors and Tax Collectors, April 12-13, at the Jackson Coliseum Ramada Inn. The Conference is designed to give the city officials current practical information for use in their jobs. The session is sponsored by the City Clerks, Assessors and Tax Collectors Association of Mississippi and is coordinated by The University of Mississippi Division of Continuing Education.

system burned the chest of the beach goer, the poor guy was straddled by the large vehicle while he slept. Talk about rude awakenings.

And for the sore seamstress. She claimed that a doctor left part of a surgical needle in her rump, and filed a malpractice suit. Testimony revealed, however, she sat on a needle years ago.

And for the finale, there is the dog who ate figerglass bumpers. According to a policyholder, a pooch took after the claimant's customized van and after forcing it to stop, ripped apart the special flared bumper. A dog isn't necessarily a van's best friend. Adios until next year.

"I like what fast-acting nitrate nitrogen and calcium does for my cotton"

Neely H. Robley
Denmark, Tennessee

The results expressed by this testimonial reflect the grower's analysis of the effectiveness of Calcium Nitrate. Similar use by others may produce different results.

"We farm 1800 acres of cotton and used Calcium Nitrate for the first time in the Spring of 1977. Calcium Nitrate was applied as a sidedress at 150 lbs./Ac. We needed a fast-acting nitrogen and also liked the calcium CN provides. We noticed that there was reduced fruit shedding on cotton that had CN, and it helped the bolls to size better. I also like the way CN helps me control the crop's nitrogen level."

Accepts Administrative Position

Lindsey Resigns As NE Coach

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

Northeast Mississippi Junior College head basketball coach Kenneth Lindsey has resigned his position to accept an administrative assistant post at Northwest Junior College at Senatobia.

Lindsey turned in his resignation to Northeast President Harold T. White last Thursday and will assume his duties at Northwest for the 1979-80 fiscal year.

The Booneville native has coached at Northeast since 1969 and has compiled a 178-112 overall record at Northeast and a 21 year overall coaching record of 423-206.

Lindsey is a graduate of Booneville High School, Northeast Junior College and the University of Mississippi. He was noted as one of the top players in the high school ranks (at Booneville High School) and received the highest honors during his playing years at Northeast.

During his Booneville High

School coaching tenure he compiled an overall record of 153-62 and his 1962-63 team posted one of the best overall records in the state with a 42-0 mark and captured laurels in the Grand Slam Championship.

During his years at Northeast, his teams have had winning records in seven of his eight years at the helm. His highest coaching achievement at Northeast came one year ago in 1977-78 when he carried the Tigers to the finals of the Region Seven Basketball Tournament at Columbia, Tennessee and fell just one game short of advancing to the National Tournament.

During his coaching reign, Northeast has won three North Mississippi titles and several of his players has received top honors in state competition and a few of them have been ranked on the National Honor List.

Northeast Mississippi Junior College athletic director Bill Ward said, "This is a shock to me. I've worked with coach Lindsey dating back through high school and it's really shocking to see him go."

"We're looking for a replacement at this time, Ward added. But at present, we haven't anyone in mind."

State, Florida Lead SEC Standings

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Florida, 8-1 in the East, and Mississippi State, 9-1 in the West, top the current Southeastern Conference baseball standings. Base-hitting, run-scoring State slashed Ole Miss thrice during the weekend, 4-1, 10-0 and 12-4, while the powerized Gators gobbled up Tennessee 6-0, 13-1 and 2-1. The Bulldogs are 24-3 overall and the Gators 23-6.

Collegiate Baseball ranks Miss. State No. 7 in the nation, and LSU, runnerup in the SEC West, No. 10. The Tigers are 8-2 in the league and 27-6 overall.

Georgia outslugged Kentucky two of three in Athens (9-1, 0-8, 20-9) to tie for second in the East, the Dogs 5-5 and the Cats 6-6. Auburn swept three from Alabama at Auburn (10-1, 3-2, 9-4) to jump over the Tide into fourth at 3-6. Ole Miss is third on 3-5.

SEC teams continued their steady winning way with outside schools last week, winning 14 while losing 5, to make the record so far this season 98-32 for 75.4 percent. Auburn leads this assault with a perfect 8-0 mark. Ole Miss is 11-1, State 15-2 and LSU 19-4.

This week's conference play has Florida hosting Vanderbilt Friday and Saturday, with Tennessee at Kentucky Saturday and Sunday, in the East. In the West, Miss. State hosts LSU, with whom they split two games earlier in Baton Rouge, while Auburn visits Ole Miss, on Saturday and Sunday. In each series they are scheduled for two games the first day and one the second.

Senior Dom Fucci, Auburn firstbaseman, leads the SEC hitters on a potent .442 average, with Kentucky freshman Mike Botkin nipping Miss. State senior Bob Kocol for runnerup, .432 to .430. Tony Stevens, Florida junior, tops the league in RBI's, with 49, in doubles, 11, and ties for first in home runs, 7, with Kocol, Georgia's Buck Belue and Vanderbilt's Scotti Madison. LSU righthander Mike Alvarez rides a 6-0 pitching record with a 1.56 ERA. Miss. State lefty Ken Kurtz, 4-0, has an ERA of 0.91, and another LSU rightie, Kevin Karcher, though pitching less, is 4-0 and 0.83. Kurtz has 46 strikeouts at a rate of 10.5 per game.

Blue Devils Rout Aggies 9-1

Booneville's Buddy Hall, who fired a one hitter, and John Floyd who hit a two run homer, aided Booneville's Blue Devils in a 9-1 victory over Kossuth's Aggies in local baseball action held here last Thursday.

The Devils scored two runs in the first, three in the second and four in the fifth to pick up the one-sided victory.

Floyd picked up three runs batted in for his afternoon's work while Bill Rinehart went two for four at the plate.

Bradley had the lone safety for Kossuth.

'Devils Fall To Bearcats

BALDWIN—Baldwyn's Bearcats scored three runs in the sixth inning here last Friday to take a 6-3 victory over Booneville's Blue Devils in local baseball action held here at Latimer Park in Baldwin.

Coach Hubert Tucker's Chargers scored two runs in the first inning, one in the fifth and three in the sixth to post the three run win.

Dennis Anderson, who hurled a four hitter against the Blue Devil squad, picked up the win while Bill Rinehart was charged with the loss.

Booneville led only once in the game scoring one run in the top of the first. From there it all went downhill for the 'Devil nine.

Baldwyn scored two runs in the bottom of the first and led 2-0 and never looked back from there. The Bearcats added a run in the fifth to lead 3-1 and then followed with three more in the sixth to make it 6-1 and then Booneville's rally fell short in the seventh scoring only two runs.

Jackie Thomas pounded out two hits to pace the Bearcat hitting attack.

Baldwyn Drops Thrasher Thursday

BALDWIN—Terry Nelson fired a no-hitter here last Thursday to aid Baldwin's Bearcats in a 5-0 no-hit shutout over Thrasher's Rebels in local baseball action held at Latimer Park.

Nelson struckout nine Rebels and walked only one on his way to the victory.

Baldwyn scored their five runs in the fourth and sixth innings scoring on three and two run rallies.

John Ragin paced the Bearcat hitting attack with two hits including a two run double.

Buddy Walden Accepts Delta Coaching Challenge

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

INDIANOLA—Buddy Walden, former basketball coach at Indianola Academy and former basketball performer at Booneville High School has accepted the position of head girl's basketball coach at Mississippi Delta Junior College at Moorehead.

Walden, 34 years of age, is a Prentiss County native and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walden of Booneville.

He was a former Booneville High School basketball star and played for the school in 1960-63 where he was tabbed as one of the top players in state competition.

Walden played under two head coaches in Harrison Arnold and played his senior year under former Northeast coach Ken Lindsey. During his senior year, the Booneville Blue Devil quintet posted an outstanding 42-0 record, a record which still stands as one of the top marks ever in state competition, and won the overall Grand Slam State Championship.

Walden then received an athletic scholarship with Mississippi State University where he started on the freshman squad and then advanced to the Bulldog varsity starting lineup where he played three years and averaged some 14 points per game during his stint in the Southeastern Conference.

Walden is well remembered around here as bouncing Buddy, a name given to him by former WBIP Sportscaster Irv Feldman. Feldman said Walden was one of the best high school players he had ever seen in his broadcasting career. "He really put on a show for the Booneville fans," he said.

The 1963 team at Booneville was almost unstoppable during their championship year. Walden started at the guard position with teammates Fred Stennett, Mackie Don Smith, David Bolen, and H.L. Richie to round out the starting five. And the bench, well they could have just about beaten any team in the state themselves. With players like Steve Franks, Jerry Hisaw, Larry Morgan, Billy Brazel, D.T. Whitfield, David Pippin, and Benny Stennett, the sub squad in 1963 gave the powerful Blue Devils the depth they needed to win the State laurels. Several of the subs were young performers and later went on to have outstanding careers themselves.

After graduating from State in 1968 with a B.S. Degree, Walden took the position of head basketball at Okolona High School. After a two year tenure there, he returned to Mississippi State where he received his Masters of Education degree in 1970.

Walden then went to Indianola Academy where he has built a basketball dynasty. He coached the boys team the first three years and then took over both the boys and girls programs in 1974-75.

His accomplishments include: 1974 boys North AAA and State AAA Championships; 1975 boys North AAA crown; North AAA State AAA, State Overall and Bi-State boys champions in 1976.

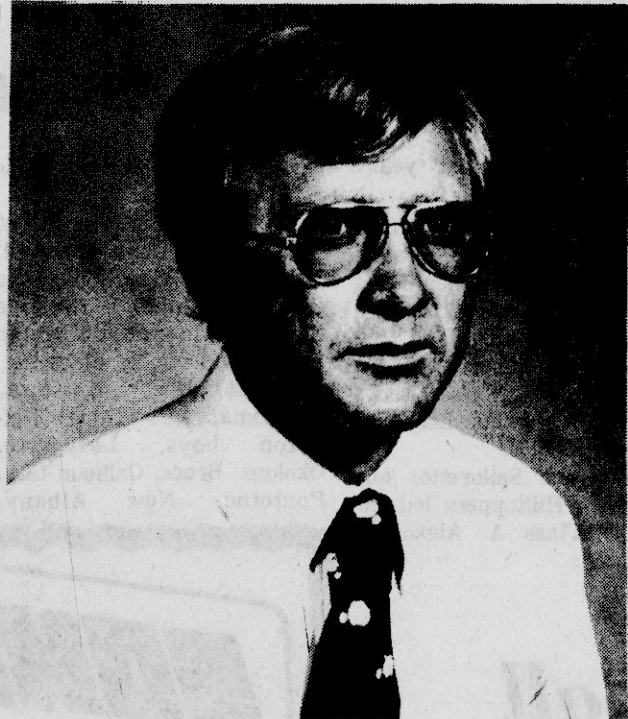

In the five years he headed the girls programs, Walden's teams has posted a 118-28 overall record. He led the 1-A junior high girls to the North AAA title in 1975, the varsity girls to the North AAA and State AAA in '76 and '77. In 1978 his girl's squad won all three divisions including the State Overall Championship.

Walden was named Academy "Coach of The Year" in 1974 and 1975 where he coached the boys All-Star team the first year and the girls All-Stars the latter.

Buddy is married to the former Carol Bolender of Grafton Virginia. They have 2 children, Leigh, 9, and Laura, 3.

Walden will have his hands full at Delta since they had been the only junior college in the state who hadn't started a girl's program. This year marks the first year for a girl's program there.

Walden's Delta squad will compete against Northeast Junior College this winter.

County Coaches: They're Dropping Like Flies

Sports At A Glance

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

Prentiss County basketball coaches are becoming a thing of the past in these here hills.

To use a cliché commonly referred to by bug exterminators "They're dropping like flies."

As of presstime Wednesday, only two Prentiss County coaches remain at their respected posts while Northeast Junior College will have a complete turnaround. Mackie Don Smith still holds his rank at New Site and Coach Sam Richie is holding on at Wheeler and the rest, well, they're up for grabs.

In old news, coaches Gerald Caveness, Berry Moore and Grandale Barron all resigned their posts a couple of weeks ago and on this week's list of the retirees are Baldwin coach Bryan Hoda and Northeast Mississippi Junior College coach Ken Lindsey.

Hoda will remain with the Baldwin school system but will not serve as coach while Lindsey resigned his post to accept an administration position with Northwest Junior College.

I'm sure that anyone with coaching ability would be qualified for the jobs, but where in the world are there that many coaches that would be interested in the positions?

I just hope these positions can be filled in a way that will not hurt the county's respectability on the basketball circuits. Prentiss County has been noted for several years as the basketball capital of North Mississippi and let's hope the coaching changes will not dampen this situation.

Regardless of who gets these county positions, the local fans will have to stand behind them 100 per cent to have any kind of winning program.

Who will it be this week? It looks as though I'm going to have to get out my coaching gear and apply for some of these jobs myself. Personally, I'd rather coach the cheerleaders...

Till next time...

THE BUYER'S GUIDE TO SELECTING THE RIGHT CHAIN SAW FOR THE FARM!

1. Select a saw in the 3.5 to 4.0 cubic inch range so it's not short on power. 2. Always compare saws with the same chain and guide bar length because they affect cutting speed. 3. Look the saw over closely to make sure it's built to last - a flimsy saw won't hold up. 4. Hold the saw in your hands and feel the balance in all positions. 5. Look for an exterior with no sharp corners or exposed metal parts that will catch on clothing or brush. 6. Make sure the saw has automatic chain oiling (adjustable if possible) to keep your mind on cutting not oiling. 7. Compare starting ease. 8. Make sure all controls are within easy reach of your operating hand. 9. Select a saw that is designed to last rather than one that's less expensive. 10. Finally, test each saw. Feel it running and listen for a smooth, even sound.

Boating Tips That Can Save Your Life

It is time for boaters to start preparing for the 1979 boating season, Rear Admiral Bernie Thompson, Chief of the U.S. Coast Guard's Boating Safety Office suggests.

Thompson, a 31-year veteran of the Coast Guard and a recreational boater since his youth, gave this advice recently when he was asked, "How can boaters enjoy a safe boating season?"

"Make preparations for the boating season now," Thompson said. "Examine your craft, your boating equipment and yourself. Start getting them all in shape."

Expanding on his answer, the admiral offered these additional safety hints to boaters.

Make needed repairs on your boat now before they become major problems during the boating season. Inspect your boat's fuel and electrical systems and ventilation ducts.

Examine your equipment. Be sure your boat has all of the safety equipment required by the Coast Guard. This includes personal flotation devices, fire extinguishers and flame arrestors on your boat's engine.

Examine yourself. Are you totally familiar with all aspects of small boat seamanship? Do you know what to do in an emergency? Thompson suggests that it might be a good idea to take one of the boating courses offered by the Coast Guard Auxiliary, U.S. Power

Formal Gardens

Dates Back

By OLA MAE WORD

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La.—The 17th century landscape style gardens of Europe inspired a 19th century cotton planter of St. Francisville, LA to create a formal garden at his wilderness home. Descendants of his azaleas and camellia plantings will be in peak bloom in late March and early April.

Visitors pass through a Gothic gatehouse and a wrought-iron gate to enter Afton Villa Gardens. The roadway to the gardens is lined with brilliant-hued azaleas, and is the longest live oak avenue in existence.

The story of Afton Villa, like that of Rosedown Plantation and Gardens nearby, begins with the Barrows, one of the first families to settle the Feliciana. Four of the plantation homes in this family were considered to be among the outstanding country houses of America-Rosedown, Afton Villa, Ellerslie and Greenwood.

Afton's formal gardens, designed by a French landscape architect, were laid out on a series of seven terraces descending to a ravine. On the first level an intricate boxwood maze and camellia shrubs surrounded a summerhouse. Flights of stone steps led down to other terraces planted with perennial flowers, roses, fruit trees, azaleas and cape jessamine. Pathways wound through the blossoms and greenery, and brightly colored peacocks strutted about the grounds. Beneath it all, a system of brick drains, still in use, prevented erosion of the terraced slopes.

Civil War was relatively kind to Afton Villa. Union soldiers in 1863 paused at the entrance, then guarded by three massive Gothic archways. Unable to see the mansion through the winding oak avenue, they concluded that they were at the entrance of a cemetery and looked elsewhere for booty. When Union soldiers finally did arrive at Afton, Mrs. Barrow met them at the door with a basket of keys to the house. Impressed with this brave gesture, the Union commander spared the house, taking only the horses and mules found on the place.

After the owner's death, his widow returned to Kentucky, and in time Afton Villa's 40-room mansion became a girl's boarding school. In 1915, Dr. Robert E. Lewis of Illinois bought it, and with his wife, made the outstanding contribution of resurrecting the gardens. In 1945, it became the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Percy who completely restored the house to its original grandeur.

Squadrons, American Red Cross or a state boating authority.

Once the boating season begins, Thompson says it's a good idea to keep the following tips in mind:

1. Know and obey the rules of the road.
2. Carry a compass, particularly when boating on a large body of water.
3. Be courteous to other boaters.

4. Keep a good lookout for other boaters, swimmers, divers and approaching bad weather.
5. Fuel vapors are explosive

When fueling, extinguish all galley fires, pilot lights and smokes. Keep the filling nozzle in contact with the tank to prevent sparks. Fill portable tanks out of the boat. Do not use gasoline stoves or heaters on board.

6. Keep passengers in the cockpit area of your boat. Riding on the bow or gunwale leads to falls overboard.

7. Make sure that children and non-swimmers always wear personal flotation devices.

8. If you capsize and your boat continues to float, stay with it. It will support you while you are waiting for rescue, and it will be an easier target for rescuers to spot.

9. Before departing on a boat trip, leave a float plan with

Cards Of Thanks

When death comes as it does to us all, God is so Great and we are so small, but it is a source of consolation to know that in the death of our husband and father (Charles Maddox) that we have many friends and relatives who understand and cares.

For each word of kindness, each sympathetic prayer, for each message of condolence we would like to express our thanks from the bottom of our heart.

We just can't know what lies ahead, what changes God is planning in His wise and loving way. We just can't know why our sorrow has to be, why we lose the ones we need, but we can trust and have faith that a loving God knows best.

May this message serve as an expression of gratitude and love to each of you. May God's eternal kindness and his never failing presence be with you always.

Mrs. Eloise Maddox Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Teeter

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends, neighbors and relatives who so graciously expressed their love and friendship in their offerings of heartfelt prayers, condolences, food and flowers in loving memory of Sarah Marie Keele.

Jimmy and Helen Keele

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Maudie Moreland would like to thank each of our friends and relatives for the kindness shown to us during the illness and death of our loved one. To everyone who brought flowers and food, who sent cards, and those who came to us with comforting words in our time of sorrow.

A special thanks to all the nurses, and to Dr. Hurst and Dr. Cleveland for the care and time they gave.

To Brother G.T. Pharr, for all the comforting words spoken, thank you. Also thanks to the Pall-Bearers and the singers.

To Salts Funeral Home, thank you for your kindness in our time of need.

We thank God for people like you, who helped us through our time of sorrow. May God bless you.

WE HAVE A LOT TO OFFER — LISTED BELOW ARE OUR SAVINGS PLANS.
THERE IS ONE JUST RIGHT FOR YOU

PAY YOURSELF FIRST.

Saving money isn't selfish. It's good business. You're smart if you have money saved when you want it or need it.

Some folks save for what they want to happen: college, vacation, a new home. Others save for things they hope will not happen: illness, taxes, car repairs.

In any event, if you're smart, you'll save something. Just how much depends on what you save for—or against.

WHAT A HABIT.

Promising yourself you'll save a little every payday is a great idea, but most of us just can't keep it up. It's your money, and backsliding on your savings doesn't hurt anyone—or does it?

Bank of Mississippi Sav-O-Matic automatically withdraws funds from your checking account and deposits them into your savings account. Once you set it up, you don't have to remember anymore. Sav-O-Matic remembers to save for you.

QUITE A CHOICE.

Only you can decide what savings account is best for you. But as a rule of thumb, the more you save and the longer you save it, the more interest you will make. Take a look at these plans.

For Instant Access To Your Savings, And Daily Interest Too.

A Silver Savings Account pays you five percent interest from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, while allowing you to withdraw any amount you need, anytime you need it. You must keep a $500 minimum deposit to earn interest in a Silver Savings Account.

A Smart Way To Protect Yourself.

Your savings can earn daily interest in a Silver Savings Account, while protecting your checking account from accidental overdrafts. We call this Silver Sentry.

For Higher Interest Rates And Passbook Access To Your Savings.

Golden Savings Accounts pay you 5½ percent interest, compounded quarterly. Your money is available for withdrawal at the end of each calendar quarter without penalty.

Here Are Even Higher Interest Rates— Certificates Of Deposit.

- 7½% Certificate, $1,000 minimum deposit
8 years maturity
- 7½% Certificate, $1,000 minimum deposit
6 years maturity
- 7¼% Certificate, $1,000 minimum deposit
4 years maturity
- 6% Certificate, $500 minimum deposit
13-29 months maturity
- 6½% Certificate, $500 minimum deposit
30-47 months maturity

You should note that while Certificates of Deposit and Golden Savings plans pay higher interest, they are time deposits, and Federal regulations require us to charge a penalty for early withdrawal.

Regular Savings—A Great Place To Tuck It Away.

A Regular Savings Account pays 4½% interest, compounded semi-annually. This is a good way to begin saving, because there's no minimum deposit and no time limit. Then, as your savings increase, or you leave it on deposit for a period of time, you might find that one of our other plans would pay you more interest.

Money Market Certificate

A minimum of $10,000 on deposit for 26 weeks (6 months) will earn a rate of interest equal to the average effective rate of the Federal Reserve System's most recent weekly six month Treasury Bill auction.

Simple interest is paid at maturity of the certificate. Present RA Rate 9.437%

DON'T BE CONFUSED!!

There are so many ways to save that it's easy to become confused. Talk with any Down to Earth Banker at the Bank of Mississippi. We'll help you with your savings decision, and show you why it's smart to pay yourself first.

In Soybean Production—

Farmers Need Less Federal Control

CRUGER—What happens in the nation's Capitol these days can be almost as important as the weather when it comes to soybean profits, says J. Tol Thomas III, a soybean producer from Cruger and president of the Mississippi Soybean Association.

Thomas was one of 24 state soybean association leaders in Washington, D.C. this week to participate in the annual spring meeting of the American Soybean Association (ASA) Board of Directors. In addition to their business meeting, the ASA directors made visits to congressional representatives to present the position of soybean growers on issues affecting their industry. "Generally, our position is that the less government involvement in soybeans, the better," says Thomas. "Soybean prices have held up quite well under minimal government involvement and we would like to keep it that way. But, as producers of the nation's number one cash crop and the leading export crop, we realize that there are some areas where government must be involved. We just want to be sure that soybean growers have a voice in setting legislation and policy that affects their crop."

The main issues concerning soybean producers this year, according to Thomas, are implementation of favorable tariff concessions in the current Multilateral Trade Negotiations, (MTN) granting of Most Favorable Nation (MFN) status to nonmarket countries and adequate market development and research funding.

"These issues are extremely important to soybean farmers," says Thomas. "The trade issues are vitally important because over 50 percent of the soybean crop is exported. Last year, soybean exports contributed $6.9 billion to the U.S. balance of payments. The new General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) and the MTN in Geneva can provide market concessions from importing nations that will enable continued expansion of soybean markets."

Also on the agenda for soybean producers in Washington was the issue of market development funding. "We are concerned that the administration budget for FY80 is virtually the same as in FY79," says Thomas. "That means a reduction in real funding since inflation and devaluation of the dollar have greatly reduced the funds for market development expressed in foreign currency. We are urging congress to expand total ag cooperators market development funding by $5 million over the current proposal of $21,896 million.

"We also want to make it easier for non-market economy nations to obtain financing," says Thomas. "Several nonmarket economy nations—such as those in Eastern Europe—should be extended MFN status or CCC loans in order to increase their purchases of soybeans and soybean products."

Research has been instrumental in making soybeans profitable, says Thomas.

"Without increased investment in research, it may not be possible to fill all the future demand for soybeans. We need to put more money and emphasis on soybean research right now. We've gone about as far as we can in putting new acres into soybeans, but we haven't seen any real yield breakthroughs yet. We feel that the Administration is looking in the wrong place—actually borrowing from the future—when it cuts agricultural research."

Other issues of concern to soybean farmers include funding for Locks and Dam 26, USDA reorganization, and improved grain transportation. ASA members will also urge Congress not to fund World Bank projects that might result in future competition from palm oil for U.S. soy oil.

Reinlistment Bonus For Army Reserves Expanded

The Department of the Army announced today expansion of the Selective Reserve Enlistment Incentive Program to all US Army Reserve units during the period 15 March to 15 June 1979. A cash bonus of $1,500, or up to $2,000 in educational assistance, will be offered to non-prior service volunteers who enlist for six years in the Army Reserve.

A reenlistment bonus of $1,800 for six years or $900 for three years is also available under the new Reserve Selected Incentive Program.

Volunteers must choose either the cash bonus or the educational aid at the time of enlistment, officials said.

The enlistment incentives are offered in certain "selected units" to assist recruiting efforts directed toward overcoming severe shortages of Reserve Component personnel. The program is designed to increase the strength of those units "most critical to the Army's wartime mission," officials said. Manpower shortages in the Reserves have been chronic since the end of the draft more than six years ago.

Seven hundred fifty dollars of the cash bonus will be paid upon completion of basic training and AIT. At the end of the second and third year a $200 payment will be made. The balance of $350 will be paid at the end of the fourth year.

Soldiers with less than six years of service at ETS must reenlist for six years to obtain the $1,800 bonus. Soldiers with at least six but not more than eight years of service may reenlist for either three years ($900) bonus or six years

($1,800) bonus.

Soldiers with more than eight but not more than nine years service must reenlist for either three or six years but will only receive a bonus of $900 even if the length of reenlistment is over three years.

Half the reenlistment bonus will be paid on the effective date of reenlistment. The remainder will be paid in increments of $150 at the end of each year of the term.

Educational assistance pays a portion of education expenses incurred for instruction at an accredited institution during the period of enlistment. There is a limit of $500 per year or 50 percent of the reservist's expenses, whichever is less, and a total of $2,000 for the term of the enlistment.

The assistance will be provided until the reservist earns a bachelors degree or the equivalent from an accredited institution.

This is the first time cash bonuses have been offered to Reserve volunteers. Reenlistment bonuses were offered last year on a test basis and results were promising, officials concluded.

Individuals who want to enlist under this program should contact their nearest Army Reserve recruiter.

State SBA Loan Maximums Are Increased

The Mississippi Legislature and Governor Cliff Finch have approved a measure raising the limit on the maximum amount of loans available through the state's small business assistance program.

E.F. Mitcham, manager of the state Small Business Assistance Department, said the legislation increases the maximum amount from $50,000 to $100,000. The Small Business Assistance Department, a division of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, works through local banks in making loans to new or existing small businesses, offering a 75 percent guaranty that enables banks to make loans that would otherwise not be possible.

The $100,000 maximum is available for a period of up to ten years. Interest is computed at the banks current rate plus a guaranty fee of one percent on the guaranteed portion.

"Since the program's inception in 1972, 597 loans have been approved in the amount of $16,138,000, creating approximately 1800 new jobs for Mississippians," Mitcham said.

For information concerning the program, contact the Small Business Assistance Department, P.O. Box 849, Jackson, 39205.

Crop Insurance Improvement Is Urged

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The National Cotton Council recently spoke out in favor of all-risk federal crop insurance program for cotton, wheat, feed grains, and rice.

Herman Propst, chairman of the Council's Producer Steering Committee, urged a Senate Agriculture subcommittee to enact a crop insurance program that is "economically feasible, affordable, and workable."

"Until such a program can be enacted, the Council supports the continuation of the federally funded disaster program," he said.

Among features desirable in a crop insurance program, Propst advocated: (1) insurance based on individual farm yields and area production costs, (2) funding by the Commodity Credit Corporation, (3) selling and servicing by both ASCS offices and private agents, and (4) reinsurance of private all-risk insurance by government, so that private companies can offer the same coverage at the same price as government.

The Anson, Tex., producer commended the committee and the Department of Agriculture for their efforts to establish adequate protection for farmers against the uncontrollable risks they face.

"We believe you are moving in the right direction," he said.

IOTA ZETA—The Iota Zeta Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, a national honorary society, at Northeast Junior College held its annual spring initiation recently in the Mississippi Room of Frank Haney Union. The club, whose membership is limited to those regularly enrolled students who have completed at least one semester of college work with a 3.5 GPA, works to promote scholarship, to develop character, and to cultivate fellowship among junior college students. Initiates from Prentiss County

MISSISSIPPI STATE — You don't have to be defenseless against inflation, recession, taxation and the economic foes of today's world. Counterattack with a well-documented income tax return, advises Dr. Julia H. Barnes, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service home management specialist.

The tax laws place the burden of proof on the individual to prove returns are correct. Cancelled checks to churches, schools and other charitable organizations may not be automatic proof of your charitable deductions. In an audit, you may have to back up your deduction by furnishing a statement from the charitable organization showing the date, purpose and amount of contribution.

Contributions by individuals are deductible only if actually paid in the taxable year. A pledge to contribute without actual payment is not deductible, she says.

If you use a credit card to make a charitable contribution, you are considered to have paid the charity in the year the charge is made.

Check for changes. For example, energy credits are available if you bought insulation or installed a solar energy system after April 19, 1977. You take this credit on your 1978 return, even if you made the expenditures in 1977, says Dr. Barnes.

Home sale gains get a big break. In general, a homeowner 55 or older gets a one-time election to exclude from income up to $100,000 of gain on sale of his residence. No part of any home sale gain will reduce income which qualifies for the 50 percent maximum tax, or be subject to the 15 percent minimum tax. If you must make a second sale because your work requires you to move, you can use the deferral provisions again. All these changes apply to sales after July 26, 1977, she explains.

Keep a copy of your income tax return and all supporting information in case of an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) inquiry. Generally, additional tax can be assessed only up to three years after the tax return date of each year. Returns and supporting documents must be kept at least that long.

However, if a taxpayer has a fraudulent return or one was not filed, the IRS can assess and collect tax at any time, even years later. Too, supporting records and information are important if you are interested in averaging tax returns, she adds.

Remember, it's up to you, the taxpayer, to manage your tax return.
