PCDA Plans Annual Banquet

Prentiss County Development Association Executive Director Doug Mansell said last week that the Association is currently finalizing plans for its fourth annual banquet and membership drive.

Congressman Jamie Whitten is to be the guest speaker at the banquet which is scheduled to be held Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 7 p.m. at the Northeast Junior College campus, Mansell said.

Also scheduled for this year's program is a fashion show sponsored by the State Travel and Tourism Department, he said.

ment, he said.

Tickets for the Banquet will cost $7 and can be obtained by contacting any of the Board of Directors or the PCDA office at 728-3505. Tickets will also be available at the local banks, Mansell said.

Two Houses Burn Saturday

Two houses were destroyed by fire in the county Saturday night, according to the Booneville Fire Department.

The fire department received a call at 7:40 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 5, of a fire at a house owned by Harold Hayden, Route 3, Jumpertown. Firemen reported that, except for only two rooms, the house was gutted by the fire. It was termed a total loss.

The dwelling consisted of a house trailer to which an extension had been added. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

The Jumpertown Volunteer Fire Department assisted the Booneville Fire Department in extinguishing the blaze.

At 11:15 the same night, the fire department received a report of a fire at the Gerald Chapman residence on Eaton Road.

The house was badly damaged with two bedrooms on the northwest end burned out, firemen reported.

Chapman reported to officers of the Prentiss County sheriff's Department that someone had thrown something through the back door of the house. It exploded and started the fire, he said.

Fire chief Frank Fleming said that later, after the fire department had extinguished the original blaze and left, the house again caught fire and burned down.

The Jumpertown Volunteer Fire Department also assisted in extinguishing the fire at the Chapman house.

The fire department also reported two automobile fires on New Year's day.

The first car, driven by Dorce Ray Barrett and owned by Edith Barrett, was a 1970 Dodge. The fire was confined to under the hood and did only minor damage, firemen reported. It was extinguished with dry chemical powder.

The other automobile, a 1974 Chevy station wagon owned by Jimmy Johnson, received heavy damage to the front seat and around the dash.

The fire in the Barrett automobile was reported at 1:40 p.m. and the Johnson car fire was reported at 7:15 p.m., both on Tuesday, Jan. 1.

In Late March

State Legislature To Visit Area

Prentiss County is one of 11 counties in Northeast Mississippi which have invited the entire 174-member Mississippi Legislature to tour the area during March to view more than $4.5 billion in investments.

John C. Stanley III, a Corinth business executive who is chairman of the "Northeast Focus 80's" steering committee, said last week that the legislators and their wives have been invited to make a tour of the area the weekend of March 28, 29 and 30.

Stanley said many of the state's legislators have never seen Northeast Mississippi and "we want to expose them to the tremendous investments and changes that have been going on for several years."

"We want to expose them to our needs," Stanley said, "but we are promising them there will be no arm twisting on particular projects during their visit."

Formal invitations were mailed to each member of the Legislature last Friday, a committee spokesman said.

Stanley said the legislative visit has already been coordinated with Lt. Gov.-elect Brad Dye, House Speaker C.B. (Buddy) Newman and Gov.-elect William Winter.

"They were very cooperative and extremely receptive to the idea," he said.

Prentiss County Development Association (PCDA) Executive Director Doug Mansell, who is on the nine-member steering committee which is organizing the visit, said Tuesday that the itinerary of the tour is still being planned, but that some areas in Prentiss County will definitely be on the agenda.

Stanley said that the lawmakers are also certain to get a look at the $2.9 billion Yellow Creek Nuclear Power Plant just north of Iuka, the $1.5 billion Mississippi portion of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway and the $154 million lock at Pickwick Dam.

Stanley told the lawmakers in their invitation letters that "The magnitude of these investments in our state ($4.6 billion) can only be appreciated when it is realized that the investments on these projects exceed the total assessed valuation of the entire state..."

He also said it "staggeres the imagination" to consider the full development and utilization of these assets by Mississippians for the betterment of our state.

The idea to sponsor the visit of the entire legislature was conceived about three months ago. However, a similar visit was given the Legislature in 1966.

One committee member noted that the 1966 tour, in which Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. and representatives from several state agencies also participated, was very successful and beneficial.

Stanley said the state's legislative leaders were willing to schedule other legislative matters around the tour so lawmakers could leave Jackson early Friday, March 28, and return Sunday morning.

The 11-county host group will provide transportation, lodging, food and entertainment for the legislators and their wives.

Mansell said that each county will be responsible for its share of the cost, based on population distribution.

Briefings by private business and public leaders are being scheduled during the tour to provide lawmakers with information about the area's development, Stanley said.

The chairman of the committee said that the amazing thing about the project is the "enthusiasm and spirit of unity. We've had no problem selling the idea," he said.

A committee member said that the tour is already generating some benefits for Northeast Mississippi as area leaders are experiencing an increased sense of unity and cooperation while working together to develop tour plans.

Stanley said that the visit by the lawmakers will have a "tremendous public relations benefit and enable legislators to see firsthand the 11 county area's assets and to evaluate the real economic impact this

Home Burglarized

Burglars broke into a house near the Pisgah community some time Tuesday morning, taking some old coins and some jewelry and ransacking the house, according to the house's owner Robert H. Baygents.

Baygents said that the burglars pried loose a kitchen window to gain entrance to the home some time between 8 a.m. and noon. He said they had apparently tried to come in through a patio door—there were some pry marks on it, he said—but were unable to open it. However, they did leave by the patio door, he added.

Baygents said that officers from the sheriff's department took a jewelry box to dust for fingerprints. A spokesman for the sheriff's department said Wednesday that a print was satisfactorily lifted from the jewelry box.

No arrests had been made as of Wednesday morning, but the break-in is still under investigation, the spokesman said.

Berryhill Still Free

A 23-year-old Prentiss County man charged with murder in connection with the shooting of another county man almost two weeks ago was still loose and being sought by local law enforcement agencies Wednesday morning.

A spokesman for the Tippah

County sheriff's department said Wednesday the David L. Berryhill of Prentiss County has not yet been captured.

The Tippah County-sheriff's department issued a warrant last week for Berryhill's arrest on charges of murder in connection with the fatal shotgun shooting of Ricky Padgett, 27, of Booneville Friday night, Dec. 28.

The shooting took place at Padgett's home on Dry Creek Road near the Tippah-Prentiss county line, according to Tippah county deputies.

The dwelling which Padgett was renting and which was the scene of the shooting burned early Monday morning, Dec. 21, after the shooting.

A radio alert has been issued to all surrounding law enforcement agencies for Berryhill, who was described as being five feet, eight inches tall, weighing 210 pounds with brown hair and blue eyes.

Guns Recovered

Several guns which were stolen from a Prentiss County resident were recovered this weekend by the Prentiss County sheriff's department.

According to Deputy Joey Cobb, a concerned citizen discovered the guns in an abandoned house north of Blackland and notified the sheriff's department. Cobb and Deputy Jeff Jackson recovered four shotguns and two rifles from the house about 4:30

Sunday afternoon.

Deputy Cobb said the guns belonged to Lynn Coats of the Oak Ridge Community. They were stolen from his house Thursday night, he said. Some other guns and a microwave oven were also taken at the same time and are still missing, the deputy said.

No arrests have been made in the incident at this time, Deputy Cobb said, and it is still under investigation.

In Mississippi

New Insurance Laws Now In Effect

The Mississippi Insurance Council urges that all Mississippi motorists contact their insurance agent or company for an explanation of two new laws that provide for expanded uninsured motorist coverage.

These new laws were to go into effect Jan. 1, 1980, and will require all insurance companies operating in the State to offer Underinsured Coverage and Uninsured Motorist Property Damage Coverage on new and renewal policies.

One of the laws, House Bill No. 88, automatically expands Uninsured Motorist Bodily Injury coverage to include coverage for an underinsured motor vehicle. The new law defines a vehicle as "under insured" when the motorist responsible for an accident has an insurance policy with lower liability limits than the policy of the injured party.

Motorists who presently carry Uninsured Motorist Bodily Injury Coverage will automatically secure the benefit of this expanded coverage without taking any further action. The new Underinsured coverage will only apply when the Uninsured Motorist Bodily Injury Liability limits of the automobile policy exceed the current minimum financial responsibility in Mississippi which is $10,000 per person, $20,000 per accident and $5,000 property damage.

The other new law, House

Bill No. 415, requires the insurance companies to offer Uninsured Motorist Property Damage to all motorists who presently carry Uninsured Motorist Bodily Injury Coverage. This new coverage will protect a motorist on damage to his property resulting from an accident with an uninsured driver who is responsible for the accident. Uninsured Motorist Property Damage Coverage cannot be purchased unless the policy also provides Uninsured Motorist Bodily Injury Coverage.

In the event an automobile owner sustains damage to his car and coverage is provided both under the Uninsured Motorist Property Damage Provision and under the Collision coverage the law provides that the collision coverage must apply.

Charles Fitts, Mississippi Insurance Council Chairman, said, "These two new laws provide a workable alternative to compulsory auto liability insurance." He continued saying, "Compulsory laws in other states have produced questionable results, high costs, and have generally been unenforceable. These new laws provide the most economical system of providing protection against the uninsured motorist," Fitts said.

By law, all insurance companies must offer motorists the opportunity to buy these new coverages; however, a motorist may refuse to purchase the coverages by giving a written rejection as required by the insurance company.

J.W. Shouse Wins Goodyear Spirit Award

SUN PRAIRIE, Wis.—J.W. Shouse, son of Mrs. Ruby Shouse and the late Homer G. Shouse of Marietta, Miss., has been selected as a divisional winner of the Goodyear Spirit Award. Shouse, a shift foreman, is the first Sun Prairie employee to ever receive this honor.

Shouse's selection was announced by Stan Patzel, plant manager. He presented Shouse with a wall thermometer-barometer and a check for $500.

At the presentation, Patzel said that two qualities that helped Shouse win the award were his energy and his enthusiasm.

"He has an infectious kind of enthusiasm that rubs off on everyone he works with," Patzel said. "That, coupled with his total belief that Goodyear is the best company in the world, is why J.W. won his award."

Prior to his winning of the Divisional Spirit Award, Shouse won the regional Spirit Award and the Sun Prairie plant Spirit Award. He received a bronze medallion and a check for $150 for the plant award and a check for $100 for the regional award.

Housing Loans Resume

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The U.S. Department of Agriculture will resume making housing loans and grants, Alex Mercure, assistant secretary of agriculture for rural development, said today.

Farmers Home Administration, the credit arm USDA, had suspended certain new housing loans and grants because legislative authority had expired Dec. 1. New authorization became effective after Congress passed the Housing and Community Development Act and President Carter signed it into law Dec. 21. Programs affected were the section 502 low to moderate income home ownership, section 515 rural rental housing and the section 523 technical assistance grants and self help site loans. These programs represent most of FmHA's rural housing lending authority.

Previously, Congress had appropriated $4.9 billion for all FmHA housing programs for fiscal year 1980. That represents a slight increase over the FY 1979 budget. FmHA invested nearly $14.7 billion in rural areas programs in FY 1979.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, How did some of the great preachers like John Wesley and John Calvin feel about music in the church?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: What these men thought about the music in the church has little to do with what is right. However, I do have some quotes from some of the men. For example, John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church said as recorded in Clark's commentary Page 686, "I have no objection to instruments of music in our chapels, provided they are neither heard or seen." John Calvin said, "Musical instruments in celebrating the praises of God would be no more suitable than the burning of incense, the lighting up of lamps, the restoration of the other shadows of the law." (John Calvin's commentary). Martin Luther called the organ an "Ensign of Baal." I have told you what some of these men say but the most important thing is what the New Testament says (see Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16; Heb. 2:12; Jas. 5:13).

The Grace Baptist Church, Frankstown, will begin an eight day series of meetings Sunday, Jan. 13. Evangelist Lonnie Temples of Chattanooga, Tenn., will be the guest speaker for the revival services.

A native of Waco, Texas, Bro. Temples conducts revival meetings and Bible conferences year round in many states and a number of foreign countries.

A spokesman for the church said, "While being an excellent Bible scholar, Bro. Temples also has an unusual ability to dramatically portray the scene or portion of scripture from which he is speaking. His meetings have greatly helped in the building of old-fashioned Bible-preaching, soul-winning churches."

A spokesman for the Agency said that when applicants come to the Neighborhood Service Center in the Prentiss County courthouse to apply, they will be asked to put their name on a list. Those who cannot be served immediately will be asked to come back to the Center at another time to apply, according to the position of their names on the list. By use of the sign-in system, the Center hopes to avoid long lines and the several hours of waiting which some applicants have experienced in the past, the spokesman said.

Community Action Agency workers will also take applications Monday, Jan. 21, at the East Circle Senior Citizens Center on Mimosa Drive from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Those who would like to apply for assistance at a time they may avoid a waiting period by going to the Mimosa Drive Center.

Due to the shortage of available funds, the spokesman said, no second applications will be accepted from those persons who have received assistance in the past until all eligible applicants have received assistance at least once.

For Prentiss County

Heart Association Goal $4,000

Volunteers for the Heart Association will be calling on Prentiss County residents in February to ask for contributions for the 1980 Heart campaign. This year's County campaign goal has been set at $4,000.

"The money raised during our campaign goes to support research, professional and public education, and community service programs in Prentiss County," Eddie Wood, chairman of this year's Heart Association campaign, said. "With costs rising everywhere and because of the tremendous toll in lives and money due to heart disease and stroke each year, it is absolutely essential that we reach our goal."

"Heart disease, stroke and high blood pressure afflict more than 40 million Americans and are responsible for half of all deaths in this country," he said. "Of the nearly one million deaths each year from heart disease and stroke, more than 200,000 occur before retirement age. We need volunteers and contributions to help in the fight for your life and ask that you 'put your money where your Heart is' when a volunteer calls on you."

Veterans Receive Increase

Checks reflecting a 9.9 percent increase in Veterans Administration compensation payments were mailed at the end of December to more than two-and-a-quarter million veterans, 235,000 surviving spouses and more than 85,000 children of deceased veterans, J.L. Warnock, Jackson VA

Center Director, said this week.

The increased payments were authorized by Congress and were signed into law by President Carter Nov. 28, he said. They are retroactive to Oct. 1. A separate adjustment check covering the increased amount due in November and December was mailed during the latter part of December.

The new rates mean that a veteran with a service connected disability rated at 10 percent will receive $48 a month, up from $44. The rate for a 50 percent disability goes from $232 monthly to $255, and a veteran with a 100 percent disability will receive $889 monthly, an increase of $80.

Additional amounts providing up to a maximum payment of $2,536 a month (up from $2,308) are paid for specific severe disabilities.

The new legislation also increases by 9.9 percent the added amounts paid for dependents to veterans rated 30 percent or more disabled.

The clothing allowance paid disabled veterans whose use of a prosthetic or orthopedic device wears out or damages clothing was increased from $218 to $240 yearly.

Also increased were the rates of Dependency and Indemnity Compensation paid survivors of veterans whose deaths were due to service connected causes or veterans totally disabled from service connected causes whose deaths were not the result of such disabilities.

Certain children of these deceased veterans also receive increased compensation under the new legislation. They include unmarried children under 18 as well as certain older helpless children and those between 18 and 23 who are attending VA-approved schools.

YOUNGEST DEPUTY—Five-year-old Joey McKinney, complete with deputy's outfit including gun, badge and handcuffs, and a number of other honorary deputies were on hand Monday morning to witness the swearing-in ceremony for Prentiss County's new sheriff, John McCauley, and other county officials. Sheriff McCauley said that Joey, the son of James and Donna McKinney of Route 3, Booneville, was one of his strongest supporters during the recent elections.

'Weight-Off-Wisely' Program Planned

It is estimated that half the men and women in Prentiss County over 30 are overweight. This means they are 10 to 19 percent above ideal poundage for their height, body build and age.

Even more alarming, one-third of the county's adult males are 20 percent or more overweight and thus obese. And 40 percent of our women are obese by the time they are 40.

Well, some Prentiss Countians have decided it doesn't have to be this way, and they are doing something about it. They are enrolling in WOW.

WOW, in this case, stands for "Weight-Off-Wisely" and Claire T. Ross, Extension Home Economist who will conduct the program here, says that's the only way to do it.

"Too many people are turning to fad diets, pills and gadgets in an effort to take off some pounds," Mrs. Ross declares. "These often lead to poor nutrition, economic loss and bad health."

"It takes a steady balanced diet and regular exercise to take weight off and keep it off," she adds.

That's what WOW is all about. WOW combines nutrition and activity in a 12-week program of weight reduction and then weight control.

Mrs. Ross is currently enrolling adults, 18 years and over, who are at least ten pounds overweight and who will agree to have a physical examination before dieting and exercising. Not everyone needs to participate in exercise. This is optional.

The Home Economist says interested and qualified "overweights" will be enrolled on a first come, first served basis until 25 have signed up. She expects many of the participants to be women, but hopes to have some men, too. The registration deadline is January 15.

First of the one and one-half to two-hour weekly sessions will be held Thursday, Jan. 17, at the Booneville Extension Conference Room at 1:30 p.m., with a second class at 5 p.m. Thursday.

According to Mrs. Ross, the first objective of WOW participants will be to obtain their desirable weight through balanced food plans, group interacting and exercising. "In addition, they will learn the principles of good nutrition and, it is hoped, will change their eating habits to comply with these principles," she explains. "Once desirable weight has been achieved, it can be maintained. This will lead naturally then to an interest in improving appearance."

Additional information about WOW may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ross at her office in the Extension Office in Booneville, telephone, 728-5631.

Happy New Year to you and your family! Let's resolve to make 1980 the best year in 4-H ever. The Prentiss County 4-H staff is committed to do all we can to help you in your 4-H work.

Prentiss County 4-H offers many opportunities and learning experiences in the coming weeks.

On Saturday, Jan. 12, livestock and dairy judging training will be held at Mississippi State University. All who would like to go are invited (junior and senior), as well as parents. Transportation will be furnished, but you will need to carry lunch money (will eat at a sandwich place).

We will leave the 4-H office at 7:30 a.m. and will return about 2:30 p.m. If you would like to go, please call 728-5631 for reservations. Judging ages are junior, 9-13, and senior, 14-18.

Some training sessions in the county are also planned.

On Jan. 24 and 25, county livestock shows are scheduled. Friday, Jan. 25, will be the countywide judging contest at the county shows. This contest is open to all. There will be dairy, cattle, swine and beef cattle.

Individuals will compete in the county judging, not teams. The winners from the county can judge in District for junior and State for senior, as teams.

By Jan. 10, today, we need information on animals that you plan to show. For breeding cattle, we need their registration papers. For meat animals, we need a description of the animal. Please supply this information immediately.

All animals are due in the county barn by noon of Thursday, Jan. 24. At 1 p.m. all breeding cattle will be checked by the livestock inspector.

The schedule for Friday, Jan. 25, includes at 9:30 a.m., judging contests; at 12:30 p.m., dairy show; at 2 p.m., beef show; and at 3 p.m., swine show.

Other contests coming up are the District Show and Judging contests on January 28-30 and the Round-Up Show and Judging contests February 4-6.

Lost Documents Do Not Stop Veterans' Benefits

Don't let lost documents prevent you from seeking veterans benefits, J.L. Warnock, Jackson VA Center Director, reminds veterans and their dependents.

Warnock said, "We have found that some veterans who cannot locate birth or marriage certificates don't apply for benefits because they believe these documents are essential."

VA will accept a certified statement instead of an original birth or marriage certificate when needed to establish eligibility, provided—in the case of a marriage—that it is the first for each partner and VA has no contradictory information on file.

In years past, VA required formal documentation to support claims for compensation and education benefits for veterans, widows and orphaned children.

Now, however, VA will accept a certified statement regarding the birth of a veteran's child or as proof of age and relationship in disability cases, Warnock said.

Warnock urged veterans and their dependents with eligibility questions to contact the nearest VA regional office or a representative of one of the national veterans service organizations.

IRS Final Installments Due By Tuesday, Jan. 15

JACKSON, Miss.—Taxpayers who did not have enough federal tax withheld or whose amended income estimates for 1979 changed substantially during the last quarter, are required to pay the final installment by Tuesday, Jan. 15, 1980, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The only exception to this rule, the IRS said, is that taxpayers who file their returns and pay all taxes due by Jan. 31, 1980, are not required to make this final 1979 installment. The procedure applies whether the declaration is original or amended.

Generally, taxpayers must file estimated tax if their tax is expected to be $100 or more and if they have more than $500 in income not covered by withholding.

For additional information, the IRS provides Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," available free from most IRS offices.

Speaking Out

728-6215

"Speaking Out" is a telephone line for you to speak out on issues that are important to you. You may call "Speaking Out" by dialing 728-6215 each evening after 6 p.m. You do not have to give your name when you call. Your calls should be kept as brief as possible. Our recorder will shut off after approximately 30 seconds. We do reserve the right to edit comments, if necessary. We also reserve the right to reject comments we deem inappropriate. We will print as many comments as possible.

Ask Yourself...

"I read a book once that said 'What would Jesus do?' People got together and decide they wouldn't do any important thing until they asked themselves 'What would Jesus do in this matter?' No matter what it cost them to sacrifice, they always did the thing they felt Jesus would after careful thinking. Why don't the city officials and county officials do this concerning the schools?

Jesus would do whatever he thought was best for all the children, and do it with love. I hope this situation can be worked out with kindness and love. Thank you."

evening, Washington has more traffic than Third does in three days. In winter, you have to detour to south streets to miss these hills. The stop sign on Washington Street at Third Street should be removed."

Labor Union...

"The big labor unions have priced their people out of jobs, bankrupted our cities and destroyed the economy and stability of the greatest nation on earth. And, frankly, we don't have enough sense to give a darn."

Automobile Tags...

"I would like to know why it is that only about two-thirds of the people in Prentiss County buy automobile tags while the other one-third think that they don't have to buy them. I think everybody ought to have to buy an automobile tag if we are all going to have to pay taxes. Thank you."

Bad Intersection...

"When you are going west on Washington Street, the hill at Third Street is a disaster. Wet weather is bad; after a snow, it is impossible—don't try it. Third Street does not have this problem. Morning and Support Teachers...

"I wonder if the teachers in all the Booneville schools have stopped to think that the dissatisfaction some have expressed for the schools in Booneville is a reflection on all of them? Teachers need to be appreciated and helped, instead of constantly criticized. As a parent I intend to support my child's teacher and principal, because I know they are there to help them. I do not envy teachers the job they have in these times. They earn every penny they get. Our public schools need parent support, not parent's criticism, if they are to survive."

It's Degrading...

"It is down right degrading to the city of Booneville the way a lot of rental property owners are letting their property run down. They rent to people who tear up their houses and then throw garbage all over the yards and streets. Can't there be a city ordinance to force the owners to correct this ugly situation? Thank you."

Up To Them...

"About our school system: It all goes back to one thing—that person who stands in front of the room. A weak principal or a dirty bathroom may not be good, but what really counts in the school is whether that person who stands in front of the classroom is really teaching. Teacher, are you really teaching?"

Well In Hand...

"It seems our city school board and city officials have things well in hand. Two are doctors; one to deliver you, the other to cure you. And there's a druggist for your medicine. But if you don't make it, the funeral director will fix you up and let you down. There's a gas man for the gas to take you to the grave, while the surveyor has marked off, and a monument man to fix you up with a marker with the insurance that the WOW man has given to your family that you have left behind. Thank you."

No Denying...

"Some of the parents who live outside the city limits have tried not to make an issue out of whether county students should be admitted into the separate school system. But I feel that the people of the county should make Dr. Lovell understand that the county students should also have the right to have top educational opportunities. It seems strange that we have been denied this right."

Why Wait...

"I was just reading about the articles with all the people praising Mr. Cain about the things that he has done. What has he been doing for all those times that he has been in there? He had all the years to fix the schools up and to try to consolidate the schools, but whenever the city got ready to do something, he took a wild notion that he wanted to do something then. Why did he wait so long about it?"

Only Good Show...

"The old folks and Christians would like to hear gospel and spiritual singing. We don't enjoy sports and 'The Newly Weds' or unclean shows. We don't have any good shows on TV now, except Buddy and Kay Bain. Thank you."

Seems Silly...

"I am against having only one high school in Prentiss County. Booneville wanted their separate school district, so let us county people work out our problems our way. I don't think the county students should be released to go to Booneville. It seems silly to ask to be released. Why call it separate if the county students are allowed to go?"

Investigate...

"As a tax paying citizen of the First District of Prentiss County, I would like to see Mr. Allain, the new Attorney General, investigate the books and the job performance of our last supervisor of the First District. Thank you."

Needs Work...

"The Sunflower Community needs work. In recent years, blacks have not interested themselves in city affairs as far as how revenue sharing funds are spent, and other funds that make the city work. Work is desperately needed in the Sunflower Community. Streets need to be fixed; sidewalks are needed; and we need proper drainage systems. As a Fifth District resident, as a taxpayer, and as a consumer, I am requesting that elected and said appointed officials become involved..."

Eyes On Mississippi

The 1970s -- A Decade Of Political, Social Transition

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—For Mississippi, the 1970s must be looked upon as a decade of remarkable political and social transition, a time of dramatic rise and fall of political fortunes...and a significant shift of a once-isolated state toward mainstream America.

Against the backdrop of change, names like Bill Waller, Cliff Finch, William Winter, Gil Carmichael, Charles Evers, Aaron Henry, Jim Eastland, Thad Cochran, Charles Sullivan, Buddie Newman, John Stennis, the Richard Nixon and Jimmy Carter produced their own impact on Mississippi. And terms like populism, reapportionment, reappraisal, "sunshine law," "Sunset law," ethics, corruption, CETA, single-member districts, all shaped events and people.

After the great emotionalism and racial tensions triggered by the Civil Rights years of the 1960s, the decade just ended showed Mississippians could make some amazing adjustments to new relationships and practicalities of a society without traditional racial barriers.

The severest test of the '70s for the state was in the area of public education. As the decade began, survival of the public school system was in grave doubt because of the brand-new mandate from the U.S. Supreme Court that Mississippi must immediately implement a racially unitary educational program.

As the decade dawned, dozens of all-white "academies" started to appear overnight, and there were predictions of massive white school boycotts and wholesale flight of white students to the new private segregated schools.

By 1971, some 40,000 whites did flee the public schools, and the statewide racial balance in the public schools tipped to a black majority. But in the fall of 1973, as whites began to return and greater confidence in the integrated experience emerged, the ratio shifted back to a white majority statewide and that trend held up the rest of the decade.

One of the biggest political upsets in state history came in 1971 when a former Jackson district attorney with a country twang named Bill Waller was elected governor, with the votes of both "redneck" rural whites and newly enfranchised blacks. Waller brought back to the political scene the old spirit of populism, raising the spectre that big business, the "Capital Street gang" of financiers had been running the state too long.

Improving on the "redneck-blackneck" coalition which had tentatively come together behind Waller, a North Mississippi exdistrict attorney named Cliff Finch increased the dosage of populism in the campaign of 1975 and rode to victory over the strong pre-election favorite, Lt. Gov. William Winter.

Finch's antics as governor, his disastrous bid to break state tradition by seeking the United States Senate while a sitting chief executive, led to a shattering of the coalition of rural whites and poor blacks. And as suddenly as populism had arisen as a magic political formula at the beginning of the decade, it virtually disappeared from political rhetoric in the gubernatorial elections of 1979.

Mississippians suddenly switched from voting with their emotions and falling for political gimmickry to seeking stable leadership with governmental expertise to run the state.

The 1970s saw the hostility of Mississippi Democrats against the national party which started with the Dixiecrat rebellion of 1948 finally come to an end and the racial split in the Democratic ranks between Loyalists and Regulars mended. For the first time since it voted for Franklin Roosevelt in 1944, Mississippi in 1976 gave its electoral votes to a winning Democratic presidential candidate, an ex-Governor of Georgia named Jimmy Carter.

But in the same decade, Mississippi had bolted to Republican Richard Nixon, and the state GOP had made their greatest gains since Reconstruction, winning a U.S. Senate seat and grabbing two of the five Congressional district seats from the Democrats.

But it was a decade which cast a dark shadow that legislative halls and in state government, something which corruption existed both in the shocked a lot of Mississippians.

Talking Pictures For Booneville

"Booneville and Prentiss County citizens will be pleased to learn that the Princess Theatre will start talking pictures next Monday night. Mr. McCuiston, the proprietor, who has always believed that the best is none too good for his patrons, recently purchased one of the best talking picture equipments on the market and will be prepared to give the people of this section the latest productions at his usual prices."

Chicken Thieves Active Here

"From reports, it seems that Booneville and vicinity is overrun with a bunch of chicken thieves. Every night there are new victims and at the rate this stealing is going on, there soon will not be enough chickens left in and around Booneville to amount to anything."

Kiwanians To Sponsor Hillbilly Show

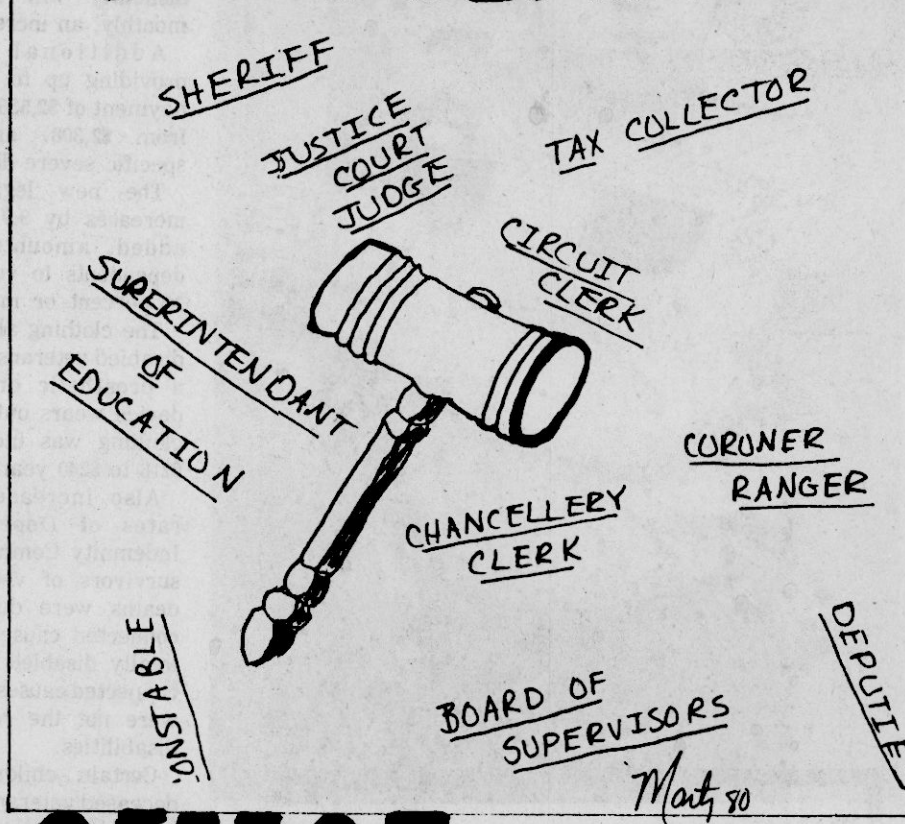

"When the rhythmic beat of 'That's All Right Mama,' 'Blue Moon of Kentucky,' and other Elvis Presley favorites fill the air at the Junior College Auditorium on Monday, Jan. 17, at 8 p.m., the fastest-rising country music star in the nation will be performing in his own top-notch manner. And it's a good bet that folks will leave the show as full-fledged fans for Elvis Presley. 'Presley, a recent graduate of Humes High in Memphis, made his first record only about six months ago. But since that time, he's captured the hearts of the young and old with his unusual style of singing. With his sidekicks, Scotty Moore and Bill Black, Elvis has made a number of capacity-crowd appearances in the South. He is one of the favorites of the Louisiana Hayride, where the audience often just won't let him leave the stage. A good-looking single lad, Presley has made three 'Sun' records.

"There'll be other favorites from the Hayride show, as well as Bob Neal of WMPS in Memphis, along with Presley, and the Browns, on the great Country Music Jamboree.

"The show will be sponsored by the Booneville Kiwanis Club. Proceeds from the event will be used by the club to promote its countrywide projects."

Junior Auxiliary Offers Scholarships

The Booneville Junior Auxiliary is encouraging local students to apply early for National Association of Junior Auxiliaries scholarships.

Local scholarship chairman, Veda Southward, said that forms are available now. Deadline for scholarship applications is Feb. 1, she said.

Scholarship grants up to $3,000 are awarded for graduate study in fields related to the training of children with special needs. These include mental health, mental retardation, speech therapy, exceptional children, remedial reading, and other related fields at the scholarship committee's discretion.

Scholarships are not awarded for graduate work in general education.

Recipients may attend the college or university of their choice. If more than one calendar year is required to complete studies, a recipient may reapply, provided all previous agreements have been fulfilled satisfactorily.

The primary purpose of the scholarships is not to honor recipients, but to present a gift to children who will benefit. Grants are awarded to applicants the committee feels will accomplish most with children of special needs.

The scholarship committee considers the applicant's purpose in life, dedication, intellectual attainment and scholastic record. The reasons the applicant has chosen his profession must coincide with the Junior Auxiliary's purpose of helping children.

A recipient of a National Association of Junior Auxiliaries scholarship must agree to certain obligations.

He must inform himself of the basic purposes of Junior Auxiliary, particularly the purpose of helping children. He must maintain a high level of scholarship and behavior. He must send a transcript of all grades received during the period of the grant to the scholarship committee. He must submit periodic progress reports.

After completing his studies, a scholarship recipient is required to accept employment in a Junior Auxiliary state-Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee or Texas—for at least one year following completion of studies. This obligation must be fulfilled the first year possible within three years.

The recipient must repay the full amount of the grant within three years if this obligation is not fulfilled.

For further information, call Mrs. Southward at 728-3424.

The News From Altitude

By BLINDA DUNAWAY

It's hard to believe that we are already beginning a new year and even a new decade. We hope that the 80's will bring prosperity and peace the world over.

As we look back at the past year, we find that in many ways, it was a very hard year. Most everyone nowadays is suffering from a new ailment created by the past year—cost apobia, or the fear of rising prices.

But we find the real test in life as in golf, is not keeping out of the rough, but in getting out after we are in. Everybody who got where he is had to start from where he was.

As we count our many blessings, we find that we have more to be thankful for and have received much more than we probably deserved. Our greatest possessions are not material, but things we sometimes forget are blessings.

Among the priceless gifts that God has given me is one that I treasure in my heart. It's the gift of memory. It's all I need to walk along the corridor of time with dreams of happy days and love. In my memory I can see old friends as they pass in view.

And from the mist of yesterday a whisper says, "I do." It is my magic carpet that rolls back the years. As days pass into months and months slip into years, I'm thankful for the priceless gift with all its smiles and tears.

School resumed again on Wednesday after a holiday rest. The children were somewhat reluctant to go back after several days of sleeping late and lazy days. But as usual all vacations must end.

We are very proud of our local school. We have always considered Hill's Chapel one of the finest schools around. Although the students don't know it now, someday they will learn to appreciate it as I have.

But as the population grows so much the building facilities. In keeping up with this need, Hill's Chapel is now building two new classrooms and the financial help of every community member is needed.

Any donations can be made at the school or the local banks. Anything you can give will be greatly appreciated and will benefit the education of our children for years to come. So, open your hearts and contribute to America's Leaders of tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunaway, Jennifer and Brock, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted visited in Tupelo on Tuesday night with Nelodene Wroten and Chris. The Wroten's have just returned from Florida where they spent the holidays with Jeff, Cindy and Ashley Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burns, owners of our local grocery store are glad to have some of the merchandise that was stolen from the store some days ago, returned to them. And we're all glad to hear that the Culprits were caught.

It's about time for some of this stealing to stop. We're very appreciative of our local constable. Mr. Bobby Lambert, for being on top of this case and expect more of the same in the future.

"Brass Monkey," I don't believe you are telling all. We heard you got a nice present for Christmas that you didn't tell us about.

Our sympathy goes out to "Sparrowhawk," in the death of his cousin, Mr. J.C. Wren, who died in Illinois.

Saturday night was our regular social. We had plenty to eat and we were entertained by the Singing Echoes Quartet. "Lame Duck," acted as a stand-in part of the time and helped them sing.

Three people were present who had or will have birthdays soon and they sang happy birthday to them. A good time was enjoyed by all. We appreciate the quartet singing for us and hope they come again.

We have several families who have had the virus or flu that has been going around. "Little Bear," has been really sick and now "Running Bear," and "White Dove," are taking it. "Ole Blue," and "Lady Blue," have also had it. "Texas Ruby," hasn't been feeling well. We hope everyone soon recuperates from all these illnesses and are able to be out again.

Friday night there will be a quilting party at the upholstery shop. Everyone bring your needle and thimble. The men are gonna race against the women.

Happy birthday to "Moma Clutch," "Lady Blue Surf," and "Telephone Girl." Hope each of you have a nice day and have many more to look forward too.

"Angel," said she and "Pinetree," were like most of us, trying to recuperate from all the food we ate during the holidays. "Little Angel," is getting back in school.

We hope everyone has started the New Year right. We enjoyed working with everyone last year and hope 1980 is even better.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

Thought for the week:

Nine Lessons in Living!
Learn to laugh-a laugh is better than medicine.

Learn to attend to your own business-few men can handle their own well.

Learn to tell a story-a well told story is like a sunbeam in a sickroom.

Learn to say kind things-nobody ever resents them.

Learn to avoid nasty remarks-they give neither the bearer nor the speaker any lasting satisfaction.

Learn to stop grumbling-If you can't see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself.

Learn to hide aches with a smile-nobody is interested.

Learn to keep troubles to yourself-Nobody wants to take them from you.

Above all, Learn to smile. It pays.

We Help You Stay Ahead

News From Oak Ridge

By BERYL COATS
Correspondent

We are living in a changing world-customs change; the weather changes often and so do people. Our bodies change, and not always for the better. We need to examine our attitudes and our health habits in view of altering them if it be needful.

It was good to see Mrs. Pauline Jones at services Sunday morning after a week's absence due to illness. Mrs. Lois Hutcheson was sick Jan. 6.

Little William Thomas Coats was in the Baldwin Hospital last week but is home now and improving.

Also, James Hollis Glover is home from the Tupelo Hospital. I did not learn how much improved he is.

Marsha Pace has been home from the Baldwin Hospital for several days but isn't feeling well at all.

Mrs. Mae Arnold of the Berea Congregation is a patient in the Tishomingo County Hospital in Iuka. Get-well wishes go to all those just mentioned and to Aunt Myrtie Harris, who feels fairly well, and to our shut-ins who show little improvement; in fact, Mr. Earl Kennedy has felt worse the last few days.

Sympathy is extended to Bro. Winston Wilemon and other relatives of Frank Wilemon whose funeral was conducted Sunday, Jan. 6, by Bro. Lee Cole.

Some visitors recently at Oak Ridge were Amy Donovan, Mitzi DeVaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Johnson and children.

There is much concern for Mrs. Rue Robinson who is in the Coronary Care Unit of the Booneville Hospital.

I kept my appointment with Dr. Shipp on Wednesday, Jan. 2. The pressure was up in both eyes due probably to irregular use of drops and tablets during the Christmas holidays.

Congratulations to Ronnie Johnson who has won another trip as contractor for the Wickes Lumber Co. He and his wife will be leaving Nashville Jan. 12 by plane to the islands of the Carribean. Bon Voyage, Ronnie and Becky!

RESOLUTIONS FOR 1980

New Year's resolutions are easy to make but hard to keep. If your resolutions for 1980 included a "resolve" to be a better food shopper, it will be well worth the effort to keep the resolution. And here are some tips that may help you.

Keep alert to what your market is featuring. Watch and study food ads and plan your menus to include as many "specials" as possible.

Try to remember the "regular" prices so you'll know if the special is really a special. Buy featured foods in quantity if you can use them and if storage space allows.

When planning menus for the family, keep their nutritional needs as well as likes in mind.

Look, listen and read information on food buys, food marketing and food usage. Check the newspapers, radio, television and magazines for food buying information.

Besides alerting you to foods in best supply, you often get the "reasons why" of particular food situations, such as weather conditions, etc. Your shopping can be more satisfying to you when you know the reasons behind the situation.

Plan ahead for what you need and want. Keep the menu plan flexible enough so you can include special sales and special supplies of certain foods. Make a shopping list and remember to take it with you. A shopping list helps to cut down on impulse buying, too.

Take the time to shop around every week in your favorite store. Every week there are new and different food items from which to choose.

Take some "just window shopping time" to look for them. They may be just what you've been looking for—and they may be cheaper than some of the do-it-yourself foods. Read the labels for information before you buy them.

Consider cost and time when selecting convenience foods. Many foods with convenience built-in cost the same or slightly more than foods without the convenience. Some convenience foods cost less. Orange juice (frozen concentrate) and cake mixes are good examples. If time is important, built-in maid service may be worth the additional cost.

With just a little extra time and effort on your part, your New Year's resolution to become a better, more satisfied shopper will certainly come true. If you follow these tips for even a few weeks, you'll soon do them automatically.

Response to "Fine-free Week" at the George E. Allen Library has been good and it is a pleasure to see the happy surprise on the faces of people returning overdue books who did not know that no fines will be collected through Saturday, Jan. 12. If, until now, you were one of the this number, be sure to bring in any overdue materials before the deadline.

The Booneville Junior Auxiliary is beginning a project for children in the first three grades, or those younger who are able to participate. It sounds very exciting!

Called "Super Saturdays," it will be held each Saturday afternoon from 2 to 3 p.m. for seven Saturdays, Jan. 12 through Feb. 23, in the Marion W. Smith Room at the Allen Library.

The programs include activities for boys and girls; activities from which they can learn and can also have great fun.

Talk about it with your friends and be there this Saturday afternoon.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

'We Can Please God'

By C. D. Edge

The writer of Psalm 71:8 says—LET MY MOUTH BE FILLED WITH THY PRAISE AND THY HONOUR ALL THE DAY. Certainly this is one way to please God, and to please God should be our goal every day of our lives. We can please Him and the Bible teaches us the way.

First of all we can please God by loving Him. In Matthew 22:37, Jesus gave the great commandment, that we love God with all of our heart, soul and mind. We must put Him first in our lives.

We can please God by having faith in His word. Hebrews 11:6 tells us that without faith it is impossible to please Him. When our Lord speaks to us through His Word we are to believe what He says. To take Him at His Word without doubting is an honor we can give Him.

We can please God by showing ourselves as His friends before others. Jesus said, "if we confess Him before men, He will confess us before His heavenly Father, but if we deny Him before men, He will deny us before God," Matthew 10:32 & 33. We are not to "show off" our christianity, but it does please God for us to be willing and glad to be known as His servants. The Bible says, "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so," Psalm 107:2.

Everything we do for our Lord pleases Him. Today we hear people say—OH what I'm doing is nothing—who told you that what you are doing is nothing? My friend if you are witnessing for God, I don't care how small your work may be. If you are praying and supporting and earnestly caring for others, then YOU LET GOD BE THE JUDGE. If you are doing what God wants you to do, then your work is vital and important to God's plan. The important thing is to do what our God wants you to do. Your work, large or small, will eventuate in the Lord Jesus coming and establishing His Kingdom and you cannot improve on that. It's a part of God's program and it pleases Him.

What a wonderful thing it is that we can please Him in this world. We need not wait until we reach heaven to do things that will please our Lord. Accepting Jesus as Saviour and living for Him is pleasing unto God and the proof is in the fact that He is displeased with all who reject Jesus.

Will you please God today? Why don't you look up to Him and ask Him to give you faith and to show you how to walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing. Colossians 1:10.

We can please God. Proverbs 16:7 tells us—When a man's ways please the Lord, He maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him.

Crime Prevention

By Larry Finger

Stop Burglary!

Is your home a likely target for some criminal?

You probably have heard the old saying "A chain is as strong as its weakest link." In viewing your home, try to visualize each door, window, covering, vent or attic opening as links in a chain of security: bound your home or even business.

If you will analyze each of these links separately you will probably be unsatisfied with the strength of many or perhaps even all of them. Remember a burglar only needs entrance at one of these links.

Ask yourself the following questions:

Do you have a lock on your gate or grille at the entrance? Do you use it?

When you move into a new home or apartment, do you have a locksmith rekey all the locks? (This does not mean new locks, but simply rekeying the cylinders to a new key.)

Do you have an entrance lock capable of withstanding great force?

If your apartment windows open on a fire escape or balcony (rooms on ground floor), do you lock all windows when you go to bed?

Do you lock garage doors?

Do you lock all windows and doors when you leave your home for any period of time?

Do your entrance doors have a night latch or preferably a peep-hole?

Do you have a double-cylinder lock for all doors in your home or apartment?

Have you provided secure locks for all doors in your home or apartment?

Do you lock cabinets, closets, and drawers where valuables are stored?

Have you hidden a spare key where it cannot be easily found?

Do you have keys ready immediately when you arrive home late at night? If not do you feel secure standing outside searching for them?

Do you conceal your single status on your door and mailbox nameplate?

Do you have a wooden door or secondary lock for sliding glass doors?

Do you lock your car when it is parked?

Do you leave any attendant or serviceman ignition keys only when necessary or when he parks your car? (While this is not a problem in our area, it may be extremely important when you travel.)

Should the answer to any of these questions be "No," you should consider yourself a "pushover" as a victim of a crime—if the criminal wants to victimize you.

A burglar enters somebody's home every 28 seconds. Nationwide burglars steal, take and carry away over 325 million dollars in valuables each year and only approximately five percent is recovered by the owner. Police recover more than that but because they simply do not know who they should return it to, it remains lost to the owner.

One of the answers to the problem lies in the fact that people are hesitant to mark their property in a way that defies the thief in his efforts to disguise it as his own. As an example, say that you have a valuable book that you do not wish me to steal from you and you mark as a deterrent, 10 pages in this book containing 200 pages with your name and address and in such a way that I will not be able to erase your mark without destroying the page.

The result is that I may be willing to steal the book and tear out ten pages and use or sell the remaining 190. If however you mark 100 or even 200 pages the chances of the book being stolen are reduced because there is no profit motive remaining other than reading the book themselves and most thieves do not like to read books anyway!

Should your home be attacked, you should expect the point of attack to be upon the weakest link in your chain of defense. This may be a door with a $100 lock installed on it and left unlocked or one with the screws to the hinge plate on the outside.

The most desirable item to steal is one that (1) can be reached easily, with minimum effort and can be removed easily (mobility), (2) affords a minimum of probability of detection by police (safety) and (3) can be converted to something of value which is not illegal to possess. (Money-the profit motive.)

In summary, there is no foolproof measure available. The best and most costly system available can delay the best burglar only five minutes—if he wants your property bad enough. Property owners must keep in mind that they would be ill-advised to buy a $50 lock to protect $2 worth of property.

A better answer is to take appropriate security measures and, in addition, mark your property properly. When you have accomplished this, a potential victim may have escaped, a potential crime may have been deterred or one of those "suckers born every minute" may have just turned the tables on a would-be thief.

Bill Would Exempt Food From Tax

Citizens for Repeal of Sales Tax on Food has entered its third year in a continuing campaign to obtain passage of a bill in the Mississippi Legislature to repeal the 5 percent sales tax on food purchased in grocery stores for human consumption.

According to Census Bureau data, Mississippi has the highest ratio of persons living below the poverty level and the lowest per capita income of any state in the Union. The state also has one of the highest sales taxes on food.

While removal of the food tax would benefit those in middle and upper income brackets, those of lower incomes—including many elderly people—would feel the benefit most because they must spend a greater proportion of their incomes on food, said Clarice

Campbell of Citizens for Repeal.

"Many members of the 1979 Legislature voted to reduce income taxes, believing that would help families in the $10,000-$20,000 income bracket," Campbell said. Actually, according to the State Tax Commissioner's office, families in the $10,000-$20,000 group benefited only to about the same extent as repeal of the sales tax on food would have benefited them.

The difference in the two approaches was significant, according to Citizens for Repeal. Those above the $20,000 benefited considerably while those in lower brackets received no tax relief whatever.

"The sales tax is a regressive tax, meaning it hurts most those who can least afford to pay," says Robert Walker, legislative advocate for Citizens for Repeal of Sales Tax on Food. According to a survey by the U.S. Trust Co., Mississippi has 4,557 millionaires, ranking the state 25th in the United States in percentage of millionaires. Yet persons whose incomes are so meager that they must rely on federal food stamps to maintain a nutritious diet have to pay the same 5 percent tax on food as these millionaires.

Food stamps themselves deserve some scrutiny, according to the December 1979 "Monitor," a Jackson publication. Based on State Department of Public Welfare figures, about $170 million a year is provided those in need because of adverse conditions such as inflation, unemployment, age, and other handicaps. However, the full $170 million does not purchase that amount of food because 5 percent, roughly $8.5 million, is siphoned off for state sales taxes.

"This loss of over $8 million to those who need improved nutrition," says Citizens for Repeal, "is, in effect, double taxation. Our federal taxes are used to issue food stamps; then the state taxes the stamps when they are spent."

The most common objection to repeal of the sales tax on food is that the state cannot afford to lose the revenue. However, thirty states manage to meet their fiscal responsibilities without taxing the food which people need for sustenance of life itself. Some of the thirty never had such a tax; others have repealed theirs and found numerous ways to make up the loss, one being a more effective enforcement of the tax laws already on the books, Walker said.

Bills are being introduced in both Houses of the 1980 Legislature to eliminate the sales tax on food. Their passage will depend on how effectively the legislators' constituents convey to their senators and representatives their desire to have this unfair sales tax on food repealed, say spokespersons for Citizens for Repeal of Sales Tax on Food.

Poor Road Signs Endanger Lives

By ED BLAKE

Unmarked County Roads

The lives of many thousands of rural Mississippians are unwittingly jeopardized by a failure of county and community leaders to arrive at a workable system of better marking county roads and maintaining road marker signs which too often are the targets of repeated acts of vandalism.

Recently an ambulance on the way to pick up an emergency case in a rural community was unable to find the residence because of the lack of signposts, and the rural resident died because of the delay. This type of thing may well happen again and again until rural areas see fit to effectively identify their access roads so that drivers into an unfamiliar area may quickly find the way to their destinations.

Some communities have taken cooperative action to solve this problem not only for emergency vehicles and many other types of service vehicles, but also for the growing volume of visitors who may get lost while in search of a certain rural home or farm.

While it is true that most emergency and commercial agencies servicing rural areas make it a matter of good business to acquaint their drivers with the lay of the land, this leaves others whose missions may be equally important without a means of navigating through the countryside.

Some county boards of supervisors already have tackled the problem by naming virtually all roads in the county and putting up official road marker signs at all or most intersections. Others have not yet gotten around to this project for various reasons. And the most pathetic situation of all exists where vandals destroy the signs that have been provided by either county officials or groups of citizens.

Some Mississippi rural communities have provided their own rural directories to outlying areas by posting a large sign at a rural intersection which lists the names of the families who live along the intersecting road. Adequately identified mailboxes are of great assistance in guiding a newcomer through a countryside of unfamiliar homes to a certain farmstead.

And while some few rural residents may, for reasons of their own, resent any aids to outsiders finding their way into the remotest areas, this attitude eventually will be replaced by better acceptance and encouragement as economic and cultural advantages of a better marked countryside prevail.

Already many rural residents are developing recreational services in remote areas which thrive on increased traffic from town. As labor costs continually climb so does the opportunity for vegetable and fruit farmer to benefit by offering "you pick" privileges to cost conscious consumers who welcome the outing as well as the savings they earn by their own willingness to work in the fields for less than the minimum wage. Some states provide printed directories to specialty farms which are valid only if county roads are marked.

Just as isolationism and protectionism have been replaced in the world by freer trade and market practices, the same principles may be applied out on the back forty.

Population pressures have pushed to the limits of the countryside. It is time we recognized this and better prepare ourselves for the modern age even in the most inaccessible areas of our land.

It is consequently unfair for an up and coming rural Mississippi to be shackled by this neglect in modern times. Even less abideable are the acts of vandalism perpetrated against society as a whole by a few demented or immature individuals who derive a warped sense of pleasure from destruction of signboards.

The sooner Mississippi asserts its hospitality with helpful road markers and declares a position of off limits for vandalism by higher idealism and better law enforcement, the sooner this state will rise to new and better things!

Savings On Leaded Gas Can Be Expensive

"unleaded fuel only" vehicle.

Tests by a major refiner on a fleet of vehicles in 1972 showed that maintenance costs, averaged over a car's lifetime, were about 4.5 cents per gallon higher for leaded fuel. This would be about seven cents per gallon in today's economy.

The EPA is concerned about fuel switching for the same reason the agency controls lead in gasoline-health effects and effects on auto emission control systems. Most American-made cars that were built since 1975 have been designed by auto manufacturers to use unleaded gasoline, but only as a way to keep emission control systems working efficiently to minimize automobile pollution.

The majority of cars requiring unleaded gas use a catalytic converter in the exhaust system to reduce most of a vehicle's emissions. The converter, therefore, is the heart of the auto emission control system—a system which is part of the controls which were designed to reduce pollution and thus protect public health.

Fuel switching, by increasing these emissions, causes adverse health effects in human beings. Airborne lead can lead to neurological damage, as well as damage to the kidney, reproductive and gastrointestinal systems. High levels of exposure can cause brain disease, anemia, palsy and can be fatal. Children are particularly susceptible to lead poisoning. Ninety percent of airborne lead comes from auto exhausts.

Carbon monoxide combines with red blood cells and prevents them from absorbing oxygen. Mental dullness and poorer vision can result from exposure to low levels of the gas. Exposure to higher levels can put a strain on the heart. Smokers and persons with heart disease are particularly susceptible. Heavy concentrations of carbon monoxide can be fatal. More than 71 percent of carbon monoxide emissions comes from auto exhausts.

Hydrocarbons combine with nitrogen oxides in the presence of sunlight to form smog, which causes eye and lung irritations which may lead to headaches, eye discomfort, visual problems, coughing, chest discomfort and fatigue.

Persons with asthma and other lung diseases are particularly susceptible to smog. Studies conducted during periods of high ozone concentrations show a definite increase in asthmatic attacks as well as aggravation of emphysema and chronic bronchitis. Fifty to sixty percent of total hydrocarbon emissions come from auto exhausts with the remainder from various industrial sources such as bulk gasoline storage tanks. Without the control of both mobile and stationary sources, many major urban areas will not be able to attain and maintain clean air standards.

In addition to the adverse health and environmental effects of fuel switching, the practice is against the law. EPA regulations prohibit service station attendants from putting leaded fuel into a car designed for unleaded under threat of a $10,000 fine.

Federal law prohibits fleet owners, commercial repair facilities, dealers and automobile manufacturers from altering the inlets or removing leaded gasoline labels from cars, but it does not prohibit such acts by an individual to his own car. A majority of the states, however, have laws which prohibit individuals from removing or disabling emission control parts and/or operating cars with emission control parts removed.

Because the air in many areas of the country is not as clean as it should be, many major metropolitan areas have already begun or will soon be starting auto Inspection and Maintenance (I&M) programs. The programs will usually include an exhaust emissions test. If the vehicle fails, it will have to be repaired and retested before new license plates or safety inspection stickers can be obtained.

If fuel switching was the reason why the vehicle failed the inspection, the catalytic converter may have to be replaced. This may cost more than one hundred dollars. Some people also switch fuels to improve their car performance, or to get more miles per gallon. Many believe that by switching to a leaded fuel they will reduce knocking, the sound heard if the fuel pre-ignites in the engine's cylinders.

Knocking, however, may have nothing to do with whether a fuel is unleaded, and can be reduced only by switching to a higher octane fuel. Lead is only one of several additives available to manufacturers.

What should you do in case of a bomb threat?

Most often threats are communicated by telephone, usually to public buildings, stores, factories and schools. Persons likely to intercept such calls, such as secretaries, public officials, store owners, principals, should be trained in advance on how to handle these calls in a calm, rational manner.

The more information that can be obtained, the easier it will be to determine the validity of the threat. The time the call was placed and terminated, should be noted. The exact words used by the caller can be very valuable in deciding the urgency and precise nature of the threat.

If possible ask: "When will the bomb explode?" "What type of bomb is it?" "Where is the bomb now and what does it look like?" "Why did you place the bomb?" "Who is calling?"

The receiver of the call, should be able to tell the sex, relative age, and tone of voice used by the caller, any accent or peculiar speech, words or phrases used, and the mental attitude, or stability of the caller. Be prepared to describe for the police any background noises noted and possible suspects if the voice sounds familiar. It is helpful to have "Threatening Phone Call" forms on hand to aid in remembering critical information.

Immediately after the call is received, the information should be given to a predetermined responsible party and to the local police. It must be decided in advance, WHO has the authority to order an evacuation, or permit re-entry. Also HOW will the occupants be told to leave the premises, and to WHAT area? Five hundred feet from the threatened area is desirable, and 250 feet should be considered the least acceptable distance.

Decide if you need an evacuation team, and if the occupants are to be responsible for turning off machines, opening doors and windows (to minimize the effect of a bomb blast, or aid firefighters) or if they should remove to safety, critical records, cash or other valuables.

Factors to be considered before evacuating include the possibility that occupants may be placed in greater danger. Moving large numbers of people in an emergency is very hazardous unless complete control can be maintained.

Will an evacuation excuse students or employees from work or cause expensive delays? Are such calls received frequently? Did the caller sound serious? Is the call likely to be a prank? Could this be a diversion to conceal another crime?

In any event if a suspicious article is discovered, no attempt should be made to move, open or inspect the item. Clear the area, and wait for the police.

Farm Production Sets Record

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Value of farm production in Mississippi reached a record, $2,926 billion in 1979, according to preliminary estimates released by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES).

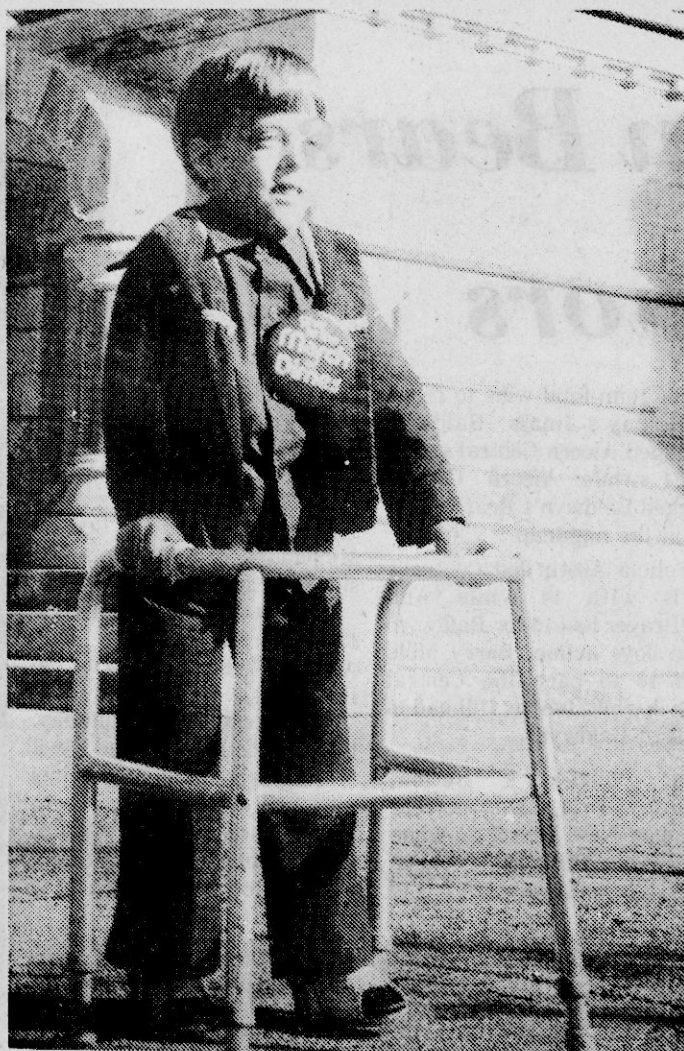

"This is the fourth consecutive year farmers have reached a record level in the value of farm products grown," said Dr. W.M. Bost, director, MCES, in addressing more than 1,000 farmers and agribusiness leaders attending the annual III by '83 Progress and Outlook Conference here Dec. 11.

III by '83 is a long-range agricultural development program started by MCES in 1974.

"We commend Mississippi's 53,000 farmers who have worked hard in streamlining farming procedures so they can support their families with profitable operations," the Extension director added. "We have some of the best farmers in the nation. If change is the by-word, Mississippi farmers will move to meet these changes head-on."

A record soybean acreage plus record statewide yields, a strong demand in the forest products area and continued favorable beef cattle prices were largely responsible for the record value of production this year.

Natchez Youth Is March Of Dimes Poster Child For 1980

Mississippi's March of Dimes Poster Child for 1980 is six-year-old Jay Cavin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Walter Cavin Sr. of Natchez. Jay, who has blue eyes and brown hair, represents the over 3,500 Mississippi children born each year with some type of birth defect.

Through its fund raising efforts, the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation works to reduce the incidence of birth defects—the only national volunteer health agency committed to this goal to prevent the nation's most serious child health problem. Born with an open spine, known medically as spina bifida, Jay underwent two surgical procedures within the first three weeks of his life. Since that time, Jay has had five additional surgeries.

Until recently, Jay was fairly restricted to his wheelchair, but then received new plastic leg braces. The first day Jay went to his special education class at school was most exciting, according to Jay's mother, Brenda. That day, a fellow student showed Jay how to use his walker and new braces.

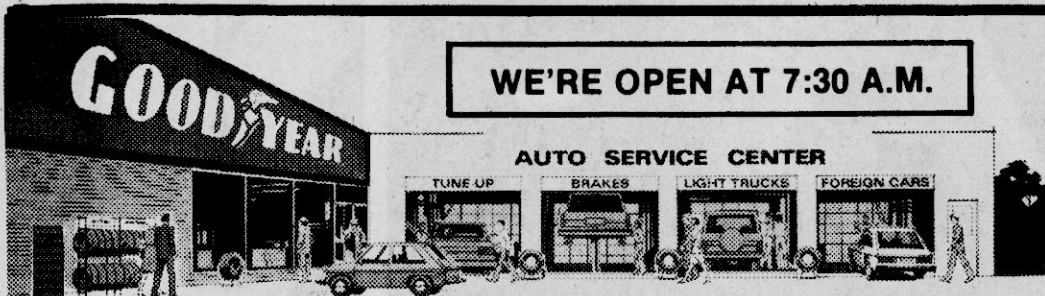

teaching him how to walk by himself for the first time.

Jay's favorite interests are hunting and fishing with his Dad. His dream is to go deer hunting with his father. Besides his outdoor sports interests, Jay has a fascination for fish aquariums and his new puppy dog, Casey.

Jay's father is employed as a mud sales engineer for Baroid of New Iberia, La., while Mrs. Cavin works as an independent contractor for Home Interiors and Gifts of Dallas, Texas. Jay's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Posey of Natchez. His paternal grandparents are Mrs. Leo Dunnaway of Jayess and the late Mr. Earl Cavin.

As with most children afflicted with birth defects, Jay has a good positive mental attitude about his life. He is very active and alert, getting along very well with everyone he meets. Jay does not seem to be aware that he is different from other children.

POSTER CHILD—Six-year-old Jay Cavin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Walter Cavin Sr. of Natchez, is the 1980 Mississippi March of Dimes Poster Child. Born with spina bifida, Jay represents the 3500 children born each year in Mississippi and the over 250,000 born each year nationwide with birth defects. Jay's handicap won't be slowing him down this year, as he will be traveling throughout the state in an effort to encourage Mississippians to continue to support the March of Dimes in its fight to prevent birth defects.

Hunting Violations Reported

With the opening of the first duck season came those unwanted occurrences—hunting violations, according to Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation. During the December 8 and 9 hunting period the following enforcement cases were made: Over the bag limit—20; No state duck stamp—33; No federal duck stamp—21; No state license—11; No non-resident license—2; Shooting after hours—23; Unplugged gun—22, for a total of 132.

The second duck season opened Dec. 15, 1979, and runs through January 31, 1980. The overall outlook for the season is very good. Department of Wildlife Conservation urges all hunters to abide strictly by the regulations. These are designed to allow the taking of surplus waterfowl while at the same time assuring the return of adequate breeding stocks to the nesting rounds during the spring of 1980. This is necessary for the production of a good return flight during the fall of 1980.

New Size Limit Now In Effect

Local anglers are reminded that a new size limit is in effect on some Mississippi lakes as of January 1. Fishermen may keep bass under 11 inches and over 15 inches on Lake Lamar Bruce in Lee County, Lake Claude Bennett in Jasper County and Lake Mike Conner in Covington County. All bass between these sizes must be returned to the water immediately. Lake Mary Crawford in Lawrence County also now requires that all bass under 12 inches be thrown back.

This "slot limit" is designed to maintain a supply of breeding sized, healthy fish. It is felt by some wildlife personnel that too many 12 to 15 inch fish are being caught and kept at the present time, especially with the heavy pressure generated by the bass club movement. The move is experimental in nature and requires the cooperation of all fishermen to gauge its worth.

Sports At A Glance

By LEE GENTRY Sports Editor

Competition makes the game of basketball what it is today. Without competitive teams, the game wouldn't be interesting to anyone and would be about as boring as a night with Howard Cosell.

When I say competition, I don't mean competing on an equal basis, although that's just fine and dandy. What makes the game interesting though is when a weaker team plays a stronger team. This is what competition is all about.

A team naturally plays better against a stronger team than they do against a weaker one. This is true in just about any sport.

The game of basketball is just one example of this. Monday night, Booneville's Blue Devils were faced against Ingomar's Falcons who are known throughout the state as a winning school. Now the Devil coaching staff, players, cheerleaders and fans knew they were in for a battle against the Falcons even though they were weaker this year than a year ago.

One could tell a few days prior to the game that the men with the horns were ready for the cross state rivals. The Devils hadn't beaten Ingomar since 1978 when they handed the Falcons their only loss that year. Ingomar went on to claim the state's top basketball award when they won the coveted Grand Slam

Competition Adds To Team Spirit

Basketball Championship.

This gave the Devils some special meaning, and the local troop, who are improving with every game, took it from there.

The Devils completely dominated the game and pulled out some tricks that I'm sure the Ingomar folks never knew "They had it in em."

The Devils won the game easily. How did they win? For one thing, they played a better game than Ingomar did. But the reason they did was simply because they knew they had to play a super ballgame to win. And they did just that.

Both Booneville's boys and girls are improving with every game. Both the Devils and Devilettes have respective records going into the latter half of the season. The Devils post a 13-6 overall mark while the Lady Devils list a 13-3 mark.

THRASHER SHOWS SOME CLASS

Thrasher head basketball coach Jacky Rowsey is doing an outstanding job with the Rebel program.

Going back to what I was talking about earlier, competition plays a big part in the overall phase of basketball.

Thrasher has dominated action around these parts for the past few months and they remained unbeaten until recently when they dropped two games to Southern teams. The Rebels dropped a 83-67 decision to West Lincoln and then fell 68-61 to Lloyd Star for their only two losses on the year.

Now no one twisted their arms to schedule those games but a team has to branch out because sooner or later, they are going to have to play them anyway.

Former Booneville coach, now head coach at Alcorn Central, Gerald Caveness used to use this strategy alot. He would always schedule some games with some tough competition. Caveness always said, "If you play, play the best early."

ALL THE TEAMS IMPROVING

Yes, all the Prentiss County teams are improving with each week. Jumpertown, Thrasher, Booneville, New Site and Wheeler. Both boys and girls, they're all getting better...

HOUSTON FANS ARE TOPS

What can a person say about support of a team. I'm sure by now everyone has heard that Pittsburg's Steelers, without a doubt, the best team in football, defeated the Houston Oilers last Sunday to advance to the Super Bowl.

Well that wasn't so surprising. What was surprising was that after Sunday's game at Pittsburg, some 60,000 fans filled the Houston Astrodome to give thanks to the Oilers for their efforts this season.

Houston coach Bum Phillips thrilled the crowd in attendance when he said, "They said before the season started that the road to the Super Bowl went through Pittsburg. Well I can tell you one thing, the road to the the Super Bowl next season will go through Houston."

WHO IS THE FAVORITE?

There is no doubt in anyone's mind, (maybe just a few) as to who the Super Bowl champions will be? There isn't in mine anyway

This is one prediction I don't mind making..Pittsburg...Pittsburg...Pittsburg...Need I say more?

Anything can happen in professional sports. But if Los Angeles beats the Steelers, they'll have pulled the biggest upset of the century..

JOKE OF THE WEEK

Just before the current Pope Paul was named, a rival of his was up for the job and had thrown his hat into the ring. He was a Cardinal in Italy and his name was James SeCola. But the rulers didn't think that would work out so well since they would have to call him Pope SeCola.

NE Schedules Five Game Home Stand

The Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tigers and Tigerettes are currently on a five game home stand to be held in the Bonner Arnold Coliseum within the next week.

NE played the first game Tuesday night against Holmes and follows with four more straight home encounters. Results of the Tuesday game was not available.

Both the Tigers and Tigerettes will host Mississippi Delta tonight beginning at 6 p.m. and will serve again as host Saturday night against Jackson State.

Next Thursday night Northeast will host Itawamba in a rivalry game and will then complete the five game home stand next Saturday night Jan. 19 against Meridian.

Northeast head boys basketball coach Noal Akins said he hoped everyone would come out and see the Tigers and Tigerettes in action. "We want everyone to see our brand of basketball in both the boys and girls games," he said.

The Tigers, at the midway mark, post a 6-7 overall record going onto the five game home stand while the Tigerettes have an even 6-6 mark.

Northeast's men have connected on 435 field goals out of 920 attempts for a 47.25 average and 67.9 free throw average hitting on 201 of 296 attempts.

Booneville's Jackie Leach leads the individual stat list with 61 percent average (55-90) from the floor while Dale Groves, also of Booneville follows with a 56.5 average (48-85).

Troy McWilliams leads from the free throw stripe with a 87 percent average while Mike Cartwright, Booneville, follows with a 78.2 percent mark.

The Tigers are averaging 82.35 points per game while allowing opponents 80.93 points per outing.

On ladies side, the Tigerettes are averaging 78 points per game while allowing opponents just 69 points.

The Lady Tigers are averaging some 40 rebounds per game with Martha Ashmore pacing the charts with a six per game rebounding average.

Charmon Coley leads the Tigerette pointmakers, average wise, with a 60 percent average from the floor while Sabrina Williams leads in assists averaging some six per game.

Both coach Noal Akins and girls coach Millard Lothore said they have been pleased with the results of the first half of the season but added that several phases of their game plans will have to be improved upon.

For the best in Junior College basketball, attend Northeast's five game home stand starting tonight.

nament it was announced Friday by the Mississippi High School Activities Association.

Last years Class A event was one of the top events in post season competition and this years event is expected to be even more appealing since an addition of teams will be listed.

Some 12 teams will enter the Class A event this time around at dates scheduled for Mid-February. (Official dates to be announced later.)

Northeast Mississippi Junior College athletic director Bill Ward said Monday that he was again pleased for Northeast to be hosting this year's tournament.

"We will try to do our dead level best to promote this event to the best of our ability," Ward said. "We feel like this is one of the better District events and we're looking for some top notch basketball action."

Teams to be included in the tournament are, Booneville, Alcorn Central, Kossuth, Ripley, New Albany, Iuka, Salltillo, Nettleton, Amory, Houston, Okolona and Pontotoc.

Booneville's Blue Devils and Pontotoc's Warriorettes are the defending champions of the District A event and both will be back to defend their titles of a year ago.

Tupelo High School will host the Class AA event while Burnsville will hold the host seat for the Class BB event and Baldwin will host the B tourney.

Baldwyn will be the only County school in the BB event while Thrasher, New Site, Wheeler and Jumpertown will go to the B Tournament at Baldwin.

In other news of the MHSAA, Corinth was tabbed as the site for the tennis and golf tournaments while Tupelo will again host several track events.

Tigerettes Fall To FH

HENDERSON, TENN—Freed Hardeman dropped Northeast's Tigerettes 79-71 here last Friday night. The Tennessee school is a senior college and the game was originally scheduled for a exhibition game but was later turned in as an official contest.

The Tigerettes, who could have easily won the game against the senior college squad, shot at a 34 percent clip from the floor connecting on 27-80 while Freed Hardeman hit 39 percent hitting 30-76 from the field.

At the free throw line, Northeast hit 17-28 for a 61 percent mark while the opposition connected on 19-36 for a 53 percent clip.

The Tigerettes pulled down 52 rebounds on the night while Freed Hardeman had 39 from the boards.

Martha Ashmore and Shelia Edgeston led the Lady Tiger rebounding corps with 12 each.

The loss evened the Lady Tigerette record to 6-6 on the season. Record through Monday. The Tigerettes were scheduled to play Tuesday night at home but results were not available.

Alabama Wins Fifth National Crown

Alabama's Crimson Tide, the wonder team of college football, has won their second consecutive National Championship with a commanding 24-9 victory over Arkansas's Razorbacks in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day.

The Tide, now owners of five National Crowns, captured UPI's list this year totaling 28 of 38 first place votes and earned a total of 559 points, 20 more than Southern California. It was the second consecutive year that Alabama and USC were rated at the top. Last year, irate Alabama supporters flooded the UPI office in New York with telephone calls, letters and telegrams protesting USC's national championship after

'Bama had won the Sugar Bowl by up-setting top-ranked Penn State.

Sugar Babe Wins

RIPLEY—"Sugar Babe," owned by H.W. Chambers of Booneville led the field again last Saturday and earned first place honors in the Natchez Trace Beagle Club's AKC Beagle Trials.

The win gave Sugar Babe three championships for this season.

This year's running was moved to the Dixieland course here because of a shortage of rabbits at Guntown.

'Soybean Day' Set At Mississippi State

MISSISSIPPI STATE—The 16th annual Soybean Day will be held at Mississippi State University on Jan. 23.

The day-long meeting will begin at 8:30 a.m., and will be held in the Extension Service Conference Center. About 700 soybean farmers and others interested in the soybean industry are expected to attend.

Program emphasis will be on the outlook for soybeans in 1980, plus production ideas on new cultural and chemical practices, according to Dr. Wayne Jordan, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCE) soybean specialist.

Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Buck Ross will be the keynote speaker. He will give the outlook for Mississippi agriculture and explain where soybeans fit into the picture," says Dr. Jordan.

Tom Madden, vice president, E.F. Hutton, Chicago, Ill., will give the market outlook. Mike Phillips, European Division manager, American Soybean Association, will discuss efforts to increase sales of soybeans overseas.

An in-depth look will be taken at new planting equipment available for planting soybeans in very narrow rows with row planters and grain drills. R.I. Throckmorton, supervisor for Product Research, International Harvester Company, Chicago, Ill., will present new developments from the major equipment companies.

Because of the growing interest in various row spacings and planting dates, the most recent Mississippi research on these topics will be discussed by Dr. Harry Hodges, agronomist, Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station, and Dr. Larry Heatherly, agronomist, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Stoneville. Dr. W.L. Barrentine, Delta Branch Experiment Station, will review the weed control programs for close-row soybeans and his work with sicklepod.

There will be a short annual business meeting of the Mississippi Soybean Association (MSA) and a report of the 1 cent per bushel checkoff program, adds Dr. Jordan.

All persons interested in soybeans are invited to attend the meeting, which is jointly sponsored by MCE and MSA.

Wood Heater Safety

The number of wood heater fires has gone up recently, but that's primarily caused by improper installation or use, not by the design of the stoves and heaters.

Three common installation mistakes increase the risks associated with wood stoves of any kind. The first is installing faulty flues through walls and ceilings. The second is placing the stove pipe or the heater too close to walls, floor or other combustible materials. The third is venting heaters into faulty chimneys. Avoiding these mistakes will assure a safer wood heating system.

The main mistake wood stove owners make in operating equipment is neglecting it once it's installed. A dirty flue or a chimney filled or restricted with inflammable soot and creosote deposits can shut down on fire efficiency, cause smoke to back up into the house, or worse yet, catch fire and burn out at the top. A burn-out is a fire hazard both to the home's interior and its roof.

The Cooperative Extension Service has a publication you can use "Wood Heater Safety." Order number MEEC-12. It includes diagrams on proper installation procedure and a list of safety check points.

ENERGY

A properly insulated home can cost about one third less to heat and cool than an uninsulated one. A $150 cooling or heating bill could be reduced to $100.

Recommended insulation levels in Mississippi are R-19 in the walls and up to R-38 in ceiling. (The "R Value" of insulation measures its resistance to the passage of heat. The higher the "R" number, the more resistant the material is to heat transfer.) Additional savings common to a well-insulated house include lower initial costs for mechanical heating and cooling equipment. Smaller, less expensive systems will perform necessary heating and cooling tasks in a home where less heat is lost in winter and less is gained in summer. Operational costs for the smaller system will also be lower.

As a bonus, a well-insulated house is more comfortable. Even temperatures can be maintained everywhere, and cold floors and chilly drafts can be eliminated.

Pomona Products Company from Griffin, Georgia will have a representative in the county agent's office on January 16 to sign contracts for pimiento pepper in 1980. Pepper will sell for $250 a ton. The price of plants will remain at $6.50 a thousand.

All persons interested should try to come by from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to discuss the 1980 crop with the company representative on that day.

1979 Was Good Year For State Agriculture

"Mississippi Agriculture had a bountiful year in 1979," said Jim Buck Ross, Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce. According to Commissioner Ross, one of the many things farmers had to be thankful for was the successful movement of the state's soybean crop.

The soybean crop for 1979, as of Dec. 1, was 107,250,000 bushels. This was a record 26 bushels average per acre which was up about 5 bushels above the 1977 and 1978 crop. Cotton yield was also increased in 1979 over the preceding years, even though the crop was extremely late.

Despite the high cost of fuel, the low maximum weight limit over our highways and the problems faced by our railroad system, the soybean crop was harvested, stored and shipped without causing serious economic loss to any segment of the industry. Ross said

Nutrition Needs Different

By WANDA L. ROBINSON
4-H Program Assistant

NUTRITION

Everybody's talking about nutrition and for good reason. It is closely associated with good health, how you look and feel, how well you perform mentally and physically.

Nutrition is what you eat and how your body uses it. It is your total daily food intake transformed into physical appearance, energy, growth, and countless other body functions.

Each of us has different nutritional needs, and these needs are constantly changing. Children's needs are dictated in part by their growth patterns. Adult needs change with age. One set of rules simply cannot apply to everyone. And, yet, there is a practical guide to good nutrition: The four food groups. It translates the technical knowledge of nutrition into a simple plan for everyday eating, providing sound advice on the kind and quantity of food necessary to meet your body's needs.

The four basic food groups are milk, meat, vegetables, fruit, bread or cereal.

You need four servings of the milk group. This will provide you with the necessary calcium your body needs.

Eat four servings of the vegetable group. Food for this group will supply you with vitamins, iron and other minerals.

In the meat group, you will need two or more servings to supply you with protein, iron, thiamine, riboflavin, plus other nutrients.

Food from the bread group will give you vitamins in the B group, iron, carbohydrate. You should eat four servings or more of the bread group.

For more information on nutrition, contact the 4-H office at 728-5631.

especially true for heifers with first calves.

Pastures will grow slowly in the cold period, but good hay supplies are adequate. Extension specialists recommend the use of high energy feed for cattle. Cattle should mix the feed intake with salt. However, salt toxicity may develop unless cattle have access to water. Extra effort must be made to keep ponds and tanks free of ice.

Poultry producers will pay higher heating bills for broiler houses. Producers will need to keep close watch on weather conditions and make curtain and heating adjustments to lessen chill stress on flocks and to save fuel.

Colder Weather For January

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Mississippi should experience below normal temperatures in January, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The outlook also predicts drier than usual conditions for north Mississippi while wet weather is expected to prevail in the south, say agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville who prepare the report.

Winter calving begins in many areas of Mississippi in January. Cattle should pay special attention to heavy springer and newborn calves to minimize losses. This is

Depreciation Is Important Tax Management Tool

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Depreciation, an important tax management tool, is often overlooked for management purposes and many times is overlooked when filing tax returns.

In farming, depreciation should be considered whenever new or used equipment is purchased and when new farm buildings are constructed, says Dr. Johnnie Sartor, agricultural economist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Depreciation is a means of recovering investment in property used in a trade or business or held for producing income. It is a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear and obsolescence of depreciable property.

"Depreciation must be taken in the year in which it is eligible," says Dr. Sartor. "You cannot deduct in one year allowable depreciation you failed to take earlier. It is important to keep good records. Without a record of your depreciable assets, you may overlook one of them when you file your tax return."

There are two types of depreciation, regular depreciation and additional first-year depreciation. There are three methods of computing regular depreciation: straight-line method, the declining-balance method and the sum-of-the-years digits.

Under the straight-line method, depreciation is the same for each year and is determined by dividing the adjusted basis of the property by the years of useful life. In the declining-balance method, the rate may be as much as twice the straight-line rate. In using the sum-of-the-years digits method, you apply a different fraction each year to the cost basis of the property. The straight-line method is the simplest.

The declining-balance and the sum-of-the-years digits methods allow larger amounts for depreciation in the early years of use than does the straight-line method. This is a big advantage to people paying for the equipment during this time, Dr. Sartor points out.

Any taxpayer except a trust may elect to deduct on his return an additional first-year depreciation allowance on new or used tangible personal depreciable property, including livestock, if it has a useful life of six or more years.

The maximum additional first-year depreciation allowance is 20 percent of the cost of the qualifying property on a maximum of $20,000 purchases on a joint return. This cost limitation is restricted to one piece of property, but refers to the entire cost of all qualifying property purchased during the tax year.

Even though the property may not be owned for the full year, the maximum allowance for the additional first-year depreciation may be taken. This is not true for regular depreciation. For example, a tractor purchased July 1, 1979, qualifies for the full additional first-year depreciation but qualifies for only six months' regular depreciation.

Taxpayers with questions on any phase of income taxes should call a local Internal Revenue Service office or the toll-free number in Atlanta, GA, 1-800-241-3868.

CONSERVATION WINNER—John Harris, right, accepts the first place award of $100 as winner of the Prentiss County Cropland Conservation Award contest from Dalton Garner, Vice-Chairman of the Prentiss County Conservation District Board of Commissioners.

John Harris Wins County Conservation Award

John S. Harris of the Marietta Community has been named winner of the Prentiss County Cropland Conservation Award contest. John received the first place award of $100 at the December meeting of the Prentiss County Soil and Water Conservation District Commissioners who sponsored the contest.

Harris signed up as a District Cooperator on April 14, 1978, and requested that a conservation farm plan be developed on his 95 acres farm just east of Marietta.

The farm plan was completed June 26, 1978, and included conservation measures needed to adequately treat the cropland, pasture, and hayland on Harris' farm.

In the fall of 1978, Harris signed up for cost-share help to install a parallel terrace system with pipe outlets that had been planned for a 20 acre cropland field. In the spring of 1979, he completed the system that included 3,100 feet of parallel terraces and 860 feet of underground plastic pipe outlets.

He also applied crop residue management on 41 acres, contour farming on 27 acres, and applied a complete conservation cropping system to 35 acres. He also constructed 2,200 feet of drainage main channels to drain a 12 acre pasture and provide an outlet for the terrace system.

The Conservation District Commissioners extended their congratulations to Harris for his willingness and desire to practice conservation. They also encourage all county farmers to apply the necessary conservation practices to their cropland that will prevent soil erosion increase productivity.
