Tag Laws To Be Enforced

The Booneville Police Department and the Prentiss County Sheriff's Department are giving local residents until Feb. 1 to install a proper tag on their vehicle, or vehicles, or suffer the consequences of the law.

The mandate on purchasing the tags, or decals for expired ones, came at the end of a meeting Monday afternoon, in which Police Chief W.W. Stacy, Sheriff John McCauley and County Attorney John Hatcher met in a joint session with officers of the police and the sheriff's departments to work out a plan of action regarding the enforcement of the state's laws concerning automobile tags.

Sheriff McCauley, who called for the meeting, said that the purpose of having the two agencies meet together was to "do something constructive concerning the tag laws" and to insure that the laws would be uniformly enforced by both departments.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided that, due to the problems some people have had in the past in obtaining a tag for their vehicles, the two departments will give the people until Feb. 1, 1980, to go to the new tax assessor-collector and purchase one. After that date, all tag laws are to be enforced to their fullest, the officers said.

After that date, anyone caught operating a vehicle with an illegal or improper tag will be ticketed, the sheriff said.

The officers also said that they are going to pay closer attention to switched tags. Sheriff McCauley encouraged the officers to check vehicle registrations on any cars they might have reason to suspect of having switched tags. By radio, the officer in the patrol car can find out the name of the person to whom a tag was issued in a few minutes.

If a vehicle is found to have a switched tag, in addition to any other penalties, officers are required to remove the tag from the vehicle and confiscate it, it was pointed out at the meeting.

According to County Attorney Hatcher, Section 27-19-31 of the Mississippi Code of Law of 1972, Annotated, states: "One license tag and up to two license decals shall be furnished for all vehicles and shall be fastened immovably 12 inches or more

Sheriff Asks Residents To List Serial Numbers

In an attempt to help cut down on the number of break-ins and to help speed up the investigations of those that do occur, Prentiss County Sheriff John McCauley Monday urged that all residents of the county, keep a list of the serial numbers of any guns or other items they own which have serial numbers on them.

The sheriff said that having the serial numbers of any stolen property will make it easier to identify the stolen items and will speed up the process of returning them to their owners.

In pointing out the importance of having the serial numbers, McCauley said "If I am called to two break-ins at the same time, I will concentrate on the one in which the owner has the serial numbers of the stolen items."

Public Meeting To Be Held By Parents Of County Students

A public meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday night, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. at the Booneville Westside Community Center by a group of concerned Prentiss County parents who are trying to bring about a solution to the current problems concerning the school situation in the city and county.

The meeting was planned by the group at a meeting Wednesday night, Jan. 9, in the offices of Booneville CPA Ernest Jobe.

The group is urging all persons—parents and others—who are "concerned about quality education and are interested in promoting harmony and cooperation between the Prentiss County School System and the Booneville Municipal Separate School System during the transition period" to attend the meeting.

Charles Walden, a local businessman, parent and former educator, served as an informal spokesman for the group at the planning meeting Wednesday night.

"We are concerned about the opportunities our children will have," he said. "We feel it would be best if the parties involved could iron out their own differences, but if they cannot, we will not just sit by," he continued.

"We are planning to organize a parents' education group," he said.

The problems the group plans to confront were brought to the forefront by a ruling on Nov. 18, 1979, by the State Educational Finance Committee (EFC) in Jackson when they approved a proposal for the Booneville Municipal Separate School District.

Due to this ruling, effective July 1, 1980, the schools within the city limits of Booneville (excluding the Prentiss County Vocational Technical Center) will be disassociated from the county schools and will be totally under the control of the new separate school system's Board of Trustees and their appointed superintendent of education, who is still to be named.

Following the ruling by the EFC establishing the separate school district, the Prentiss County School Board voted, on the recommendation of county Superintendent of Education Lex Cain, not to release any students living outside the Booneville city limits to attend the separate schools.

Dr. William Preston, president of the separate school system's Board of Trustees, has previously said that the law requires that the county school board release county students who live outside the city limits before the separate school system can accept them.

"Our purpose is not to fight," Walden said of the group of parents organizing the meeting, "but to do what's best for our children."

"We are not anti-county; we are not mad at Mr. Cain or the school board," he

Trials For County Men Scheduled For January

Two Prentiss County residents are scheduled to stand trial in the January term of the Alcorn County Circuit Court, one on a charge of capital murder and the other on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. The two men are charged in separate incidents and will stand trial separately.

Chester A. Barnes of Booneville is scheduled to stand trial on the capital murder charges on Jan. 31. He was indicted in connection with the shooting death of Harold Lane Caldwell, a 25-year-old Corinth narcotics agent.

Caldwell was shot Sept. 14, stand trial separately.

Unemployment Up

The unemployment rate for Alcorn, Prentiss, Tiptah and Tishomingo counties rose 1.2 percent in November as the area labor force dropped by 1,880 persons, according to published reports.

The estimated jobless rate climbed from 5.0 to 6.2 percent during November with Alcorn County's 7.2 percent figure leading the four-county unemployment statistics.

Tiptah County reported an estimated 7.0 percent unemployment figure while Prentiss and Tishomingo counties estimated 5.7 and 4.8 percent jobless rates, respectively.

Despite the sharp jump in unemployment, the number of area civilians employed in November was 2,640 above the estimate for one year ago.

At NE Beauty Pageant

Miss America To Appear

Cheryl Prewitt, the reigning Miss America, will be a special guest during the annual beauty pageant at Northeast Junior College in Booneville Monday, Jan. 21, according to a spokesman for the college.

A 22 year old native of Ackerman, Miss., Cheryl first claimed the title of Miss Starkville, before winning the Miss Mississippi Pageant which led to her present reign as Miss America.

A 1979 graduate of Mississippi State University, she received her degree in Music Education with emphasis in Piano Voice. Her scholastic ambition is to obtain a Master's Degree from the University of Montevallo in Alabama, and then to work for a Doctorate from The Juilliard School in New York. She hopes to eventually perform professionally and teach.

Among her many scholastic honors while in college, she was a President's List Scholar and she was listed in Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities.

In addition, Cheryl was named Miss Mississippi State University. She was soloist with the MSU Choir, soloist with the MSU

Madrigal Singers, and she won second place in Piano Competition in the Mississippi Music Teachers Association Competition.

The Miss America title will bring Cheryl a $20,000 scholarship from the Miss America Pageant to help further her education, plus a minimum of $50,000 in fees during her 12-month reign. Music, including gospel music, has been an important part of Cheryl's life since childhood. She has composed 10 gospel songs and has been both accompanist and arranger for church groups since age 12.

Cheryl has studied piano for 14 years and voice for nine years. She has been a concert pianist with the Jackson Symphony Orchestra and a vocalist with the Starkville Symphony Orchestra. She has taught piano and voice for seven years; has been a teacher at a summer music school and an accompanist for a variety of musical ensembles for four years.

Her family, as a group, has traveled throughout the South, singing contemporary gospel music. Cheryl has been singing with her family since she was five and now arranges songs, plays the piano and acts as emcee for the group.

This year, Cheryl will be traveling more than a quarter million miles, meeting people from all walks of life in this nation and abroad.

Prior to her evening performance in Seth Pounds Auditorium Monday night, Cheryl will be honored with a reception in the Black and Gold Lounge of the Frank Haney Union from 1:30 until 3 p.m.

In the case of tractors or other motor vehicles drawing or pulling trailers or semi-trailers, the law is similar, except that the tags "shall be" fastened upon the front of such vehicle."

According to Section 27-19-131 of the Code, a person who is not in compliance with any of the articles of the law pertaining to the license tags (not all of which were listed here) "shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 30 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

The law enforcement officers also pointed out that this crack-down on illegal usage of tags includes dealer tags.

Tax Assessor-Collector Danny Childers said Tuesday that his office has a separate window for the purchase of tags and the waiting-in-line period should be minimized. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through the week and until noon on Saturday, he said.

November 1978 figures reveal only 38,060 area civilians were employed in the estimated 40,770 total labor force available. The 6.7 percent unemployment rate of that period included 2,710 persons without jobs. The figures for 1979 show an increase in the civilian labor force of 2,600 persons. Employment figures list 40,700 employed persons.

Unemployed workers numbered 2,670 for the November reporting date.

Unemployment figures were up 420 persons from the October estimates.

Losses were shown in all employment groups from the previous month's comparisons. Year-to-date figures indicate gains in all areas except agriculture, however.

Medical Student Recieves Training From Local Doctor

Marcia McKee, a third-year medical student at the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson, is currently working with Dr. Webster Cleveland at the Medical Clinic in Booneville as part of her training in the field of Family Medicine.

Under the supervision of Dr. Cleveland, Ms. McKee sees patients in the clinic and in the local hospital, makes a diagnosis, and recommends a treatment. Dr. Cleveland ten confirms or denies her diagnosis and prescribes the treatment to be used with the patient.

Although she must take specialized training in many fields, this "field training" under Dr. Cleveland is the only such she will have prior to graduation, she said. Dr. Cleveland is a preceptor with the University Medical School.

Ms. McKee, a Jackson, Miss., native, said that she is not yet committed as to where she will practice medicine after she graduates, but she is interested in starting a family practice. She also said that she does not want to leave the state of Mississippi to do so.

She said that she has about one and one-half years remaining until she graduates.

1979, while helping an Alcorn County deputy investigate a disturbance call at a Corinth service station.

The indictment returned by the October term of the Alcorn County Grand Jury also charges Barnes with aggravated assault on Alcorn County Chief Deputy Terry Doles, the deputy who was with Caldwell at the time of the shooting.

Jan. 31 is also the date set for the trial of Jimmy Robinson, 18, of Jumpertown. The October term of the Alcorn County Grand Jury returned a charge of involuntary manslaughter against Robinson in connection with a traffic accident on June 22, 1979, that resulted in the death of 27-year-old Glenda Henderson.

Mrs. Henderson died after a car being chased by Booneville police officers went out of control while traveling at a high speed on U.S. 45 in Alcorn County and crashed into the rear of her automobile.

The police started the chase about 10 p.m. the night of June 22 when they spotted a car running a stop sign in Booneville. The police reported that when the car refused to stop for the officers, they pursued the car north on U.S. 45 into Alcorn County at speeds topping 100 miles per hour.

Excise Tax Drops On Telephone Service

South Central Bell Manager, Bob Bartley of Corinth, announced last week that the Federal Excise Tax on telephone service dropped from its three percent rate to two percent on Jan. 1, 1980.

Bartley said that this is a further step in the gradual phase-out of the tax—which is being reduced one percentage point per year and will cease to apply after 1981.

Congress first imposed the excise tax on a limited basis during World War I.

Although repealed briefly after the war, it was reinstated during the depression and has continued since then on a more extensive basis.

During the 1940s and 1950s the rate was as high as 15 percent on local telephone service and 25 percent on long distance service.

From the mid-1950s until 1972 it was 10 percent on most local and long distance services.

In 1973, and each subsequent year, the rate has been reduced by one percentage point.

Public Meeting

continued, "we just want what's best for our children."

Walden said that many of the parents would not mind sending their children to an adequate school outside of the city limits, "but one is not there."

He said that he was sure that in a few years the county system can be just as good as the city system—"or even better"—but, "I want my son to be able to take courses and activities next year that can only be offered at Booneville High School."

"There have been students going into college who had to change their careers," he said, "because they were not prepared (by the school system)."

There were parents from each of the five county districts present at the Wednesday night meeting, many of whom were graduates of county schools, who want their children to go to Booneville High School.

In the meeting, the parents decided to recommend a three-step course of action to the people who attend the public meeting Tuesday night.

"First priority," Walden said, "is to ask the two groups to negotiate for what's best for the children. We want the county to release the students, but apparently that's not likely."

"The second step," he continued, "is to formally ask the separate school board to accept the students."

The city school board has previously indicated that they will accept the students if the county releases them, he said.

"After we have been assured that the city school system will accept students that have been attending the city schools," he said, "the only step left is to get them released."

Walden said that if the county school board refuses to release the students, the plan is to appeal the decision to the EFC in Jackson.

D. Frank Lovell, Executive Director of the EFC, told the Banner-Independent a few weeks ago that the state Attorney General has been asked to rule as to whether or not the EFC has the authority to hear appeals concerning the transfer of students. A ruling is expected before the new state officials take office next week.

"If the EFC cannot, or will not, overturn the decision of the county school board not to release the students, the next step is a Chancery Court suit," Walden said. "We feel that we can win a court case if we can show it is for the best benefit of the children," he added, "but that should be a last resort because the court would set up boundary lines."

"We will fight to the finish," Walden said. "Our only intent is to see to the welfare of our children. However, we will exhaust every other possible area before going to court."

He also indicated that if the Chancery Court suit failed, there are still other options available, as a last resort.

Walden and others at the meeting last week emphasized the importance of the meeting this Tuesday night.

"We can't wait until July to organize," Walden said. "It will be too late then."

Walden said that five official representatives, hopefully one from each district, will be elected at the public meeting Tuesday night. These are the representatives who will carry the petitions before the two school boards.

"We need a unified body to go before the school boards," Walden said. "A spokesperson should be selected by the people interested and affected by the actions."

Also, if all other options fail and a Chancery Court law suit is necessary, it should be a joint suit, not an individual suit filed, he said.

Many of the parents at Wednesday's meeting have been involved in the circulating of petitions requesting the county school board to release the students. Approximately 196 signatures were on hand at the meeting and it was reported that a large number of other signatures were on petitions that were not present but were still being circulated.

Petitions will be on hand for parents to sign at the Tuesday night meeting if they wish, Walden said.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, in the Banner Independent, you said one must be a member of the church in order to be saved, this needs to be cleared up, which church do you mean? H.C. Booneville, MS.

ANSWER: Thanks, H.C., for your question and also the nine page letter. I will answer the other questions as I have opportunity. Jesus said, "Every plant which my heavenly father hath not planted shall be rooted up" (Matt. 15:13). Obviously, one cannot be saved in a man made church. To the contrary he would be condemned. I am talking about the church one reads about in the Bible. The one Jesus said he would build (Mt. 16:18). This means it must be scriptural doctrine, faith, name, organization, and practice. How does one find it? The same way he would find anything—and by its identification marks as revealed in the Bible! If a man whom you have never met should meet you in a large airport and describe himself as a man six feet tall, with a blue suit, white shirt, black shoes, carrying brown case and having a one inch scar on the left side of his face, how would you find him? That is right, by identification marks. One must find a group who meet the Bible description and he has found the body of Christ in that area. If not, why not? Oh yes, another thing, many men at the airport might have a blue suit and be six feet tall, but not many would have the scar and be carrying the right case. So don't look for a "few" of these marks in a church, you could come up with the wrong one!

Hill's Chapel School

For Benefit Of All

Working Together

NEW CLASSROOMS—Construction is underway on two new classrooms at Hill's Chapel School. The rooms are being built with cash, time and labor being donated by friends and patrons of the school. Shown working on the project are (l to r): J.W. Jacobs, Donald Starling, Dennis Johnson, Kenneth Nicholson, Donald McKinney, Bobby Cole, Jerry Starling, Doyle George.

When a school does not have the appropriated tax dollars to buy the things it needs, it must find another way to pay for them or do without. Hill's Chapel School on Route 5, Booneville, has found another way.

The current project is the building of two new classrooms to relieve the crowded conditions, and the work is well underway. This project will be financed the same way many other improvements have been—through school fund-raising projects and donations of time and money by friends and patrons of the school.

The school's 370 students, including head start and grades one through eight, are currently housed in fourteen rooms which have been carpeted and air conditioned through school projects.

Hill's Chapel raised $4,000 at its Halloween carnival, all of which went into the building fund. Cash donations amounting to more than $2,000 have also been received and additional pledges have been made for more.

Other fund-raising projects include a horse show to be held in March.

The fund goal is $17,500 which will be the cost of constructing and equipping the two rooms. Should the goal fall short, $15,000 would pay for the construction and other means would have to be found to pay for the equipment.

"If this sounds like a lot for so little money," Principal Cayce DePoyster said, "let me point out that many donations come in the form of time and labor. Many people from all around the area give their time and do much of the work. No tax money will be used in this project."

Doing things for itself is not new to the Hill's Chapel School. The students, faculty and all residents of the area served by the school are very active in their support.

Past projects have included: —two classrooms added in 1976

—curbs and gutters for the driveway and parking area —covered walkway to the gymnasium —carpets and air conditioning for all classrooms —wrought iron gates for the driveways

The names of all contributors to the present project will be placed in a permanent bound record and preserved in the school library.

Anyone wishing to make a tax-deductible contribution to the fund may deposit donations at the First Mississippi Bank of Commerce, the Bank of Mississippi, or the Peoples Bank and Trust Co., in Booneville, or Hill's Chapel School, Route 5, Booneville.

New Laws Adopted For Real Estate Ads

Persons buying and selling real estate in Mississippi will be afforded greater disclosure about whom they are dealing with as a result of a new advertising rule adopted by the Mississippi Real Estate Commission, according to J. Daniel Schroeder, administrator for the commission.

The new rule will require that in all advertising the name of the Mississippi Real Estate broker must be as large as the name of any franchise organization to which the broker may belong when both names appear in any advertising.

The new rule reads as follows:

"From and after May 19, 1980, any Mississippi broker who operates under a franchise name shall: (a) Include his own name in the franchise name and logotype; However, the broker's name may not be less than 50 percent of the surface area of the entire combined area of both the broker's name and the franchise name or logotype; and (b) conspicuously on or in all his advertising, and on his letterhead, deposit receipt forms, listing agreements and other printed material generally available to the public, a statement to the effect that his real estate brokerage office is independently owned and operated.

"For the purposes of this rule, the term 'broker's name' is that part of a broker's licensed name exclusive of the franchise name."

MEET WITH WHITTEN—Congressman Jamie Whitten was in Booneville last week to have doughnuts and coffee with local residents at the Northeast Junior College and to meet with many of the recently installed public officials, including the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors. Disaster Relief Workshop To Be Held

How would Prentiss Countians react if a major disaster struck any part of our area? Who would coordinate relief activities? What could our community organizations contribute to aid disaster victims?

The Booneville Junior Auxiliary is attempting to find the answers to these questions and others by sponsoring, under the auspices of the Prentiss County Chapter of the American Red Cross, a Disaster Relief Workshop.

The purpose of the week-long workshop, scheduled to begin Thursday, Jan. 31, is to prepare the community to act quickly and effectively in the aftermath of a disaster, a spokesman for the Junior Auxiliary said. "These are questions that need answers now, not during a time of crisis," the spokesman said.

Each of the community's civic clubs are being asked to send at least two members to the orientation program, which will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of the Peoples Bank and Trust Company Monday, Jan. 21. Anyone else interested in attending the workshop should also be present at this meeting, the club spokesman said. Gary Bedwell, Area Representative for the American Red Cross, will conduct the workshop. The program will include the setting up of committees to meet immediate needs, such as shelter, mass feeding and case work with individual families. Bedwell said, "Red Cross has spent approximately $25 million in the past 12 years in Mississippi for disaster relief to Mississippians. The Easter flood of 1979 in Jackson alone cost Red Cross $2.2 million."

"Mr. John Smith III, chapter chairman, and Robert Hunnicutt, disaster chairman, advise that the Booneville chapter of the American Red Cross is preparing well before a disaster occurs to train local residents of Prentiss County," Bedwell said, "and to coordinate training with other agencies active in disaster."

For further information regarding the workshop contact Mrs. Tracy Armstrong at 728-5671 or Mrs. John Ferrell at 728-9851.

Big V Loan OK'ed

A $230,000 federal loan has been approved for updating the Big V Water Association, Congressman Jamie Whitten said Wednesday. Farmers Home Administration funds will be used to install an additional well, increase line size to supply the existing customers and to provide treatment facilities to serve the area adjacent to and east of Booneville, a spokesman said.

Gordon Walden is the president of the Big V Water Association.

Standards Not Met

During the July-September 1978, April-June 1979, and July-September 1979 grading periods, the Wheeler-Franktown Water Association did not meet the bacteriological standards of the Federal and State Safe Drinking Water Act, according to association president Winfred R. Caldwell.

Caldwell said that during these periods the chloroform bacteria in the water averaged higher than the set standards.

He pointed out that although the association was technically in violation of the Safe Drinking Water Act, the water is still perfectly safe to drink.

Speaking Out

728-6215

"Speaking Out" is a telephone line for you to speak out on issues that are important to you. You may call "Speaking Out" by dialing 728-6215 each evening after 6 p.m. You do not have to give your name when you call. Your calls should be kept as brief as possible. Our recorder will shut off after approximately 30 seconds. We do reserve the right to edit comments, if necessary. We also reserve the right to reject comments we deem inappropriate. We will print as many comments as possible.

On Stop Signs ... About Money ... Likes Sheriff ... Tear Down Signs ... Wants Raise ...

"I would like to compliment someone on the comment on the stop sign at Washington and Third. It should be removed. It costs too much gasoline for my car to warm up. Trying to take off under that hill in a cold-shouldered four cylinder while in a hurry for work, gets rough. Flat-land Third Street is no problem. P.S.-I think the new stop sign at Third and Adams is plain silly. I thank you."

"If Booneville plans to become a separate school district, I would like to know how they are going to get enough money to pay for the land and buildings they will use. The people in the county helped pay for the ones now there. They shouldn't be just handed over free of charge. Thank you."

"I want to solicit the support of all Prentiss County tax payers for our sheriff, John McCauley, and his deputies. They are fine, dedicated and professional officers, who, I believe, will do a good job for all of us. It is impossible for them to be everywhere at one time, so as Prentiss County citizens, we should all unite and assist them if we see anything that looks suspicious. They are only a phone call away."

"Hooray for the complaint on the stop sign at Washington and Third. You can drive a long way on the gas it takes to stop and start on that hill, not accounting for the spinning and sliding in bad weather. It should be torn down."

"Employees at Northeast Mississippi Hospital have been notified that they are not getting a minimum wage raise, nor a cost of living raise. Does this mean that they get a discount at gas pumps and food stores? All hospitals prices and room rates were increased Oct. 1, 1979. Where is this money going?"

Free TV ...

"I just spent one week in the hospital here in Booneville and was very unhappy to have to spend $18.55 to watch television. Why can't our hospital furnish TV for its patients? All the surrounding hospitals do it and this hospital is certainly not cheaper on its rates than the other hospitals; so they should furnish TV if the other hospitals do. Thank you. Please print this. A lot of people feel the same way I do."

Review Salaries ...

"I hope our new board of supervisors will review the salaries of our new officials and their appointed deputies. In view of inflation, some of these salaries are pitiful, considering the long hours that are required."

Praises Police ...

"I just want to say something good about our policemen. They are real fine people and they keep us safe, day and night. This is Mrs. Eva M. Fowler, and I'll be 87 years old in 12 days."

Board Members ...

"How can Don Eubank, who resides not in the Booneville city limits, serve as a member of the separate school board when there is not a single woman on the board? Thank you."

Good Constable ...

"As a citizen of the Fifth District, I would like to say that I am proud of our dedicated, hard-working constable, Bobby Lambert."

Stop Speeding ...

"As a resident of the Lake City Road, I just wondered if we count as part of the city since we don't seem to have any law enforcement over here. We must be in a separate law enforcement district. The speeders seem to drive at any speed they want to. They don't need a radar over here. Most are going far over the speed limit anyway. A citizen of Booneville."

EDITOR'S NOTE: A spokesman for the Northeast Mississippi Hospital told the Banner-Independent Tuesday that "all hospital employees have and will continue to receive their merit increases as they come due. However, there will be a temporary delay in the across-the-board increase."

What Did It Cost ...

"How much did it cost us taxpayers to re-do Third Street?—is my number one question. Number two is, When are they going to do my street?"

Who Is Spokesperson ...

"I would like to know who the spokesperson for the superintendent of education is."

Old Guard Shows New Lawmakers 'Fast Shuffle'

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—The 1980 freshman class in the Mississippi Legislature got a quick lesson its first week of "school" in how the legislative Old Guard works the fast shuffle.

In fact, the Old Guard did a virtuoso performance in ramming past the greenhorn legislators a 120 percent increase in the base pay for the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House as a New Year's present to the presiding officers of the Senate and House.

Apparently nobody but a little handful of insiders knew anything about the proposal to raise the base pay of the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker from $15,000 to $34,000 a year until it was sprung on the unsuspecting lawmakers Thursday morning.

Then, almost with the speed of light, it swept through the Senate and the House with only three votes against it as the newcomers watched in awe.

The huge increase in pay for the two legislative presiding offices, it was learned by the column, came as a "shock" to incoming Gov. William Winter, who had not been extended the courtesy of being told it was about to come off.

One word around halls of the capitol was that the measure would be vetoed by Winter, but he won't get the chance. The whole matter will be a fait accompli before he ever takes office, since it will have to be acted upon by outgoing Gov. Cliff Finch. If Finch doesn't veto it by Jan. 16, it will become law without his signature, and should he veto it, his veto would be quickly overridden, making it law.

The amount—$34,000—was heralded by chief sponsors of the pay increase for the legislative presiding officers as merely putting the salary on a par with most elected state officials. But if all of the guaranteed fringe benefits of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker are added together, they will actually be assured of drawing as much, or more, state money than the $53,000 the new governor will receive, and neither will be fulltime job holders.

Additionally, the Speaker and Lieutenant Governor are entitled to the $30 per diem allowed to legislators (which apparently is about to be boosted to $50 per day) during sessions of the legislature. The Speaker, as a member of the House, also gets the $210 per month allowance when the legislature is not in session.

The Lieutenant Governor is entitled to be paid at the same salary as the governor for each day serving as acting governor. Lt. Gov. Evelyn Gandy, because of the perambulating Gov. Cliff Finch, has been picking up around $5000 a year as acting governor.

With all this, the Speaker of the House, C.D. Buddie Newman, will probably be drawing around $54,000 a year, and Lt. Gov. Brad Dye in the vicinity of $60,000 a year. For reference, figures in the State Auditor's office show that for the year ending April 30, 1979, Newman was paid $25,265, while Evelyn Gandy received $22,904, not counting what she drew as acting governor.

Historically, the Lieutenant Governor's office in Mississippi has been only a parttime job, even though Miss Gandy when running for the job said she planned to work fulltime. In practice, however, there's not enough for the Lieutenant Governor to do after legislative sessions to stay around the office everyday. Gandy made a practice of dropping in for about 15 minutes most every morning and then she was gone.

Even though some lawmakers got the idea that with the $34,000 price tag, the job would become fulltime, there's no requirement in the law that it will.

Nobody ever expected the job of House Speaker in a relatively poor and still quite rural state like Mississippi justified the pay of a fulltime statewide elected official, but obviously that's the bill of goods which the Newman leaders were able to sell to the House.

The tenor of the brand-new legislature seems clear already that the Old Guard is firmly in control, despite the heaviest influx of freshmen in two decades, including many newcomers who showed signs of rebelliousness before taking office.

But once the freshmen find out the big pay raise for the legislative presiding officers may well become a hot public issue, as well as the battle cry for state employees, teachers and college folks to get larger pay hikes than proposed by State Budget Commission, some observers believe it will trigger an uprising.

Meantime, the business-as-usual attitude of the older legislative leaders indicates that incoming Gov. Winter, whose career has been identified with governmental reform, will have his hands full trying to deal with the seemingly impervious Old Guard.

That's probably the real reason Winter appointed former State Rep. Charles Deaton of Greenwood, once an Old Guard map himself, on his staff, even at the risk of ruffling state employees who remember Deaton as their old adversary over better pay.

New Mexico

"This is a story of a 25-cent balloon which made for itself a record which we doubt will ever be broken. Our readers have doubtless followed the accounts of balloon marathons, endurance flights, non-stop flights, et cetera, but for the amount invested—25 cents—compared to the thousands of dollars necessary to put on the big events that have held the spotlight for months past, we declare W.L. Nunley and party the undisputed winners of all contests in this line.

"On Saturday night, Dec. 28th, they sent up a balloon to which was attached a note which read: 'Dec. 28, 1929, 9 p.m. Sent up by W.L. Nunley, Booneville, Miss.'

"On January 9th, Mr. Nunley received a letter postmarked Melrose, N. Mex., Jan. 7th, which read: 'Dear Sir: I found a balloon near the highway last Sunday morning. It was almost covered with sand. This slip of paper was in the balloon. Found January 5th, 1930, near Melrose, N. Mex. Yours truly, W.C. Pratt, Melrose, N. Mex.'

"Other balloons have been sent up from time to time, but so far this is the only one that has been reported."

At Sweetheart Banquet

"At a joint meeting of the board of directors and the committee on arrangement for Rotary's 'Ladies' Night' banquet, set for Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, February 10, Governor Wick Anderson was unanimously chosen principal speaker for the occasion.

"Since his election to the position as governor over Rotary district 204 last year, Wick Anderson has been active as a speaker for the clubs of his district, and, according to S.S. Sargent, president of the Booneville club, was thought by the committees to be a logical and suitable speaker for the occasion."

Booneville Young Man Of The Year

"Dr. Walter C. Simpson, Booneville optometrist, has been selected by the Booneville Rotary Club as the city's outstanding young man for 1954. He was selected on the basis of an outstanding record of professional and civic activities. These include: director of civil defense, treasurer of the Lions Club and member of the official board of the First Methodist Church.

Legislative Report

By Billy McCoy

Representative District III
Prentiss And Alcorn Counties

EDITOR'S NOTE: State Representative Billy McCoy, District III, Alcorn and Prentiss Counties, has agreed to write a column for the Banner-Independent for the purpose of keeping the people of his district informed as to what is being done by him and other legislators in Jackson. This is the first of those articles. Representative McCoy said that he plans to submit the column approximately every other week while the legislature is in session, or more often as necessary.

One of my foremost promises to you, the citizens of Legislative District III in Prentiss and Alcorn Counties, was the pledge to keep you informed while the Legislature is in session. This I intend to do through regular articles in area newspapers and through any other needed media.

I appreciate so very much the cooperation of this newspaper and will never abuse the privilege they have afforded me in speaking to you, the voters, on the vital issues that affect you as individuals and the area and the state as a whole.

The purpose of these articles is not for my personal political gain, but to let the citizens of Prentiss and Alcorn Counties know of passed or pending legislation that will affect them. I will seek to inform you of how you will be affected and my voting record or voting intentions as to a particular bill.

Your representatives and senators were sworn in as duly elected officials on Tuesday, Jan. 8, 1980. Most of the work that day and the rest of the week dealt with routine organizational chores. The Speaker of the House and other House Officials were elected.

Committee assignments have not been made by the Speaker. He has started his plans to name all Committee Assignments during the week of January 14.

Should you wish to contact me concerning any matter, write to my home address: William J. McCoy, Route 3, Box 346, Rienzi, MS 38865, or to my Jackson address, Representative William J. McCoy, House of Representatives, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39205.

I earnestly solicit your thoughts—your support—and your prayers as I begin four years of solid, hard work on your behalf as State Representative in Jackson.

News From Sunflower

By BETTYE BRANDON
Correspondent

Mr. Lewis Ragin will begin his ministry on Sunday, Feb. 10, at the Spring Hill M.B. Church, at 5 p.m. where he will bring his first message. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Zera Maude Hastings is a patient in the local hospital as of Tuesday, Jan. 8. We are happy that she is improving and hope that she will soon be completely recovered and back home with the family.

Mrs. Chyrl Lynn Christian and Mr. McDuffy Agnew are still patients in the local hospital, but are reported to be improving in their condition.

Again, I wish to express my sincere gratitude and thanks to all of you for the many compliments in regards to this column and especially for the interest shown in the short stories of the people of the community.

The lives of the citizens of the Sunflower Community are very closely related, either by kinship or circumstances, and what affects one person, whether success, failure, sickness or death, we are all affected. Thus, the short stories are more than just eulogies of an individual accomplishment, but they represent the fulfillment of hopes, dreams and the prayers of all the people.

Our activities are limited to church affairs, which is the greatest influence in all our lives, and club functions are geared mostly to the aid of physical needs rather than from a social aspect although much enjoyment is gained from the actual participation within these groups.

News this week is limited as recently formed plans are just beginning to prove effective. The resulting outcome will be reported as events occur.

Lewis Ragin

During the course of our regular worship services on Sunday morning, Jan. 13, hearts were filled to overflowing with joy when Mr. Lewis Ragin announced to the congregation at large that he has received, through divine revelation and inspiration, a calling to the ministry of God, and to this calling he was submitted and accepted.

He is 27-years-old son of our former pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Bill Ragin. He is married to the former Miss. Marsha Elaine Thompson. They have two children.

Lewis completed high school in the year of 1971 and attended the Northeast Junior College where he obtained an A.A. Degree in Data Processing. After college he moved away to Joliet, Ill., where he was employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. there for one year.

He returned home in the year of 1974 and shortly thereafter was married to Marsha. He is presently employed at F.M.C. of Tupelo, Miss., in the position of scheduling production control.

Lewis is a very intelligent, mild mannered, and highly spiritual young man, truly dedicated to family, church, and assisting in the aid of needs of the people of the community. He is very effective in the position of Superintendent of the Sunday School, director of the S.S. Worship, and Secretary of the State Convention for Brotherhood. He is also the church clerk and a member of the deacon bd. and Masonic Lodge.

His wife, Marsha, is intelligent, modest, spiritual, and has a pleasing and pleasant personality. She is active in all church activities, a talented singer and is very effective as a member of the senior choir.

As president of the Missionary Society, she is a strong and capable leader. She strongly supports her husband in his recent decision.

She states that his decision as is the result of many long and prayerful months of study and indecision and she is extremely happy with the outcome and hopes to be of help to him in future endeavors.

Lewis plans to attend the Tupelo Baptist Seminary for study and training in ministerial work and hopes to attend the Moore House College of Atlanta, Ga., in the near future.

He will bring his first message to the public on Sunday evening, Feb. 10, at 5 p.m. at Spring Hill M.B. Church. The public is invited to attend.

The citizens of this community are both proud and happy to learn of and accept the decision that Lewis has made, for many were aware of the possibility and of the struggle under which he was labouring.

Prayer and support is extended to him and to his family from all of us through what ever circumstances entail and for his success in all future endeavors.

Till next week...

News From Oak Ridge

By BERYL COATS
Correspondent

To begin here's a saying which was sent to Password-Plus: "Time and gasoline can't be recycled so use them both very wisely."

Mrs. Atkin Childers had surgery in the North Mississippi Medical Center in Tupelo on Thursday of last week. Her room no. is 584.

Mrs. Gladys Kennedy is a patient in the Northeast Hospital, room 126-A. Hopefully she and Mrs. Childers will be able to go home before this report is printed.

Get-well wishes are extended to them and all our shut-ins. Also to Mrs. Rue Robinson who had improved enough to be transferred from Coronary Care to a private room on Wing A.

It was good to see Louise Pannell and Lois Hutcheson at services on Jan. 13. They had both been ill. Louise Koon and Martha Nanney were well enough to meet with the rest at services on Wednesday night of last week and Sunday, Jan. 13.

Visitors on Wednesday night were Mrs. Clyde Gardner from Franktown, Crystal Barnett from Wheeler and the Calvin Barber Family from Saltillo.

I.J. Chapman from Baldwin is in regular attendance on Wednesday nights. He is very interested in a special Bible Class taught by Larry Kennedy.

Bro. Calvin Barber continues to speak to the Oak Ridge Congregation. He had been basing his lessons on Old Testament characters, but last Sunday he talked of three things hard for people to do religiously--to repent, to accept baptism, and to deny oneself.

Bro. Barber and his family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barnes.

Sincere sympathy goes to Mr. and Mrs. E.O. Roden and other relatives of Gaye Roden Carr. Mrs. Roden and I were in High School together at Fulton.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Bob and Freda Pace whose daughter, Marsha, died Saturday in the William F. Bowld Hospital in Memphis. Marsha was a sweet kind christian girl. Her life, though short and filled with great suffering, was an example of patience, love and kindness to all she met and will serve as an example to all who mourn her passing.

Here's a correction: The funeral service for Frank Wilemon was conducted by Bro. Bill Huggins and not by Bro. Lee Cole. I misunderstood the information and want to apologize.

The second Saturday morning of each month has been set aside for a business meeting for the men. It is usually conducted at the church building, but was different last Saturday. The meeting, held in the home of Myron and Betty Coats, was preceded by a fellowship breakfast prepared and served by Betty. Eight men were there.

I came across these verses I wrote in 1963.

If We Have These

We can be like the prophets of old
Be Christian soldiers
brave and bold,
Never anxious about shelter, raiment, food or gold,

If we have Faith:
Much lighter will be the bearing of our cross

Brighter our plans, more joys and less loss

We will be able to separate truth from dross.
If we have Hope:
With no malice in our hearts, but kind to all about us

Singing God's praises and telling the story of Jesus

We can do all this gladly and with great trust.
If we have Love.

MSU Alumni Offering Two Medical Scholarships

The medical alumni of Mississippi State University are offering two $1,000 scholarships for high school students from Mississippi with ACT scores of 27 or above who plan to enter a dental or medical school.

Deadline for application is March 8, 1980.

"The scholarships will be awarded on the basis of academic performance in a written competition at the Mississippi State University campus on March 15, 1980, along with input from ACT scores, the student's high school grade point average, and a personal interview," Morrow continued.

Students interested in competing for the scholarships should send the following items to Dr. John T. Miss Elder, Mr. Jones Engaged Mrs. Roy Elder of Booneville announces the engagement of her daughter, Marsha, to Larry G. Jones of Booneville, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Jones of Shelbyville, Tenn.

Miss Elder is the daughter of the late Sheriff Roy Elder and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H.P. Elder of Wheeler and the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oakley of the Blackland community.

The bride-elect graduated from Booneville High School, Northeast Mississippi Junior College and Mississippi State University. She was employed by the West Memphis School System in West Memphis, Ark.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Central High School and is employed by radio station WTUP in Tupelo.

The wedding will be solemnized at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 19, at the Wheeler United Methodist Church with the Rev. Jimmy Grissom officiating. A reception will follow at the church.

Invitations are not being sent locally, but all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Mrs. Buchanan Hosts UDC Meet

Fourteen members of the D.T. Beall chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy met in the home of Mrs. J.R. Buchanan at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 9.

Warm hospitality was extended by the hostesses Mrs. J.R. Buchanan, Mrs. Minnie McBride and Mrs. A.L. Tidwell.

Mrs. Clarence Chase presided at the meeting. She opened the meeting with the UDC ritual which was followed by the patriotic exercises.

The chapter is happy to welcome Mrs. Troy Moore as a new member.

Mrs. Lon Stutts ably gave the program in which she related the highlights of the activities of Henry Kyd Douglas, the youngest member of Stonewall Jackson's staff.

Henry Kyd Douglas' memories of the War Between the States, written while he was in the Confederate army and preserved for future reference, carry a sense of the youthful response he made to military situations as they arose. None of his youthful enthusiasm is lost. There is sometimes a sense of honor, sometimes a remembrance of hurt pride but these ride on a continual stream of developing growth within himself and the man with whom he rode.

He entered the army as a private and quickly rose to work on Jackson's staff. He remained there until shortly before Jackson's death when he became captain of his initial company at the men's request.

From his men he commanded more than dutiful respect, for Jackson's men loved, honored and were awed by this reliable strategist they called "Old Jack." He confused his staff, disciplined his men, and won his battles. He was fair, he was just and he out-thought opposition.

There was a sense of continuity in the growth of this young man. He understood the grief, the losses and the increasing grimness of war times.

The chapter thoroughly enjoyed this well prepared article to which we, as a section of a great country, are indebted for his leadership and his sacrifices in his outstanding career.

During the social hour the hostesses served French Coconut pie and coffee.

Control Your Money
In 1980

It's up to you to control your money. Controlling money is a continuous opportunity. Try it for a year. Adapt and adjust to provide the degree of control you need. A spending plan (budget) is simply the tool you use in controlling your money. It is the record of your financial situation. It shows your behavior in using money.

The wisdom of your decisions and your skills and accuracy in using the budget determine your success in getting the most satisfaction from your money. For success with a budget, the family, as a unit, must discuss freely any feelings, problems and ideas about money and its use. They need to distinguish between needs and wants; Then, they must decide what is important and rank goals in order to be reached. And, be willing to take turns in getting individual wants or giving up the wants.

A family should seek information for help with money problems before a crisis develops.

If you need help, please contact your Extension home economist.

Plan purchases—Before you shop, remove unnecessary items. Decide when and how much you can pay. Then shop by your plan. Seek best buys—Buy only what is planned for, needed and worthwhile. Beware of misleading advertisements or sales pitches. Weigh value of product in terms of cost and satisfactory service it will give you.

Keep credit purchases to a minimum—Consider what credit will cost and how else you might use that money. Remember, credit charges add to the cost.

Return faulty goods to seller and request an adjustment—Buy from reliable dealers. Make wise selections to meet your needs. Use and care for the product according to the manufacturer's instructions; keep all purchase records. If problems develop with a product, make a consumer complaint to dealer and persist until satisfaction is reached.

Keep informed—Check prices of products and services you need. Make a list. Seek reliable information about products and dealers before you buy. Read product labels and guarantees. (Your Home Economist subscribes to Consumer Reports. You are always welcome to borrow any copy you need.)

Get full value from tax dollars—Keep accurate records and pay only taxes due. Use public goods and services to advantage. (Your tax dollars support libraries, Extension Service, schools and parks.) Report incidences of abuse of public goods to the law officials.

Keep accurate records of how money is used—Use these to evaluate family spending habits.

Wasn't it fun to meet Wonder Woman last Saturday!

"Super Space," will be the theme of "Super Saturday" on January 19. The visitors will be R2D2 and a robot friend. Mrs. Patsy Willcox will be your leader.

She has plans for an hour of fun featuring space programs—both real and imaginary ones. Be in the Marion W. Smith Room at the library at 2 p.m. Saturday. You can dress as your favorite character from books and shows about space, bring a favorite picture or toy, or just come to enjoy the program.

Young people and adults as well are enjoying the exhibit of beautifully dressed dolls now in the display cases. The collection, made by the Flagg company, shows through these fine miniatures the native costumes of many foreign countries and also the way early Americans who settled in many localities dressed for everyday and special occasions.

George and Martha Washington, Abraham and Mary Todd Lincoln are there, along with story-book people such as the little ballet dancer.

Again the library staff says, "Thank you," for the magazines, for helping to complete the collection used so frequently for research papers and for your gifts that improve service.

New Light Being Shed On Aging

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Aging should be viewed not only as a continuing life cycle, but as an adaptation to new situations and new problems, says Dr. Gail Cotton, program coordinator — gerontology, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

In adapting to the biological and sociological changes, an aging person draws upon what he has been as well as what he is. He is also strongly influenced by the stereotyped thinking of appropriate and inappropriate behavior for the aged person.

"Even though the process of aging has more to do with the cellular composition of our bodies than with outward physical changes, people think of aging as the shrinking, wrinkling and graying of our bodies," says Dr. Cotton.

"When we think of aging in these terms, we are limited to the time when these physical changes occur rather than viewing aging as a continual series of changes which begins in the earliest moment of life," she adds.

"We further confuse the understanding of the aging process when we collectively think of aging as something to be put off, a signal one is not in full possession of physical and mental capabilities, or a point at which a person undergoes serious personality changes. These societal attitudes are based on myths perpetuated by all age groups, including the aged themselves," she adds.

Gerontologists study the human changes and the logic of aging. They are shedding new light on this most common of human experiences. But, look at the roles in which older people are cast in the media or ask someone older than 40 to reveal his age and you'll see there is still enormous ground to cover.

Lack of understanding of the aging process has resulted in considerable age prejudice. Like many prejudices, age prejudice becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy. If older people accept societal attitudes based on myths about aging, they may become what they think they are. If they believe themselves to be helpless and dependent, they will play out these roles. This behavior only reinforces the stereotypes of the aged, explains Dr. Cotton.

The later years are indeed accompanied by physical and psychological changes. In some older people, there may be much change; in others, considerably less. In spite of the changes, old age need not be dreaded.

Scientists are examining the cellular composition of the body, the genetic makeup and the body's immunological system. They are attempting to find out why and how we age, and how to delay the aging process. While these scientific endeavors may help to ease the physical processes of aging, only an increased awareness of the aging process and the attitudinal changes toward aging will ease the social problems associated with aging.

"People can be productive, effective and contributing members of society into advanced years. We need a wholesale revamping of our attitudes toward aging and the aging process so older people will have the opportunities to show they are still productive, effective and important contributing members of our society," says Dr. Cotton.

CB Club News

By LADY BLUE SURF
Correspondent

I failed to mention last week that we enjoyed having the "Bald Eagle," and "Lady Eagle," visiting with us at our social Saturday night.

We are still having a good many of our members on the sick list. "Little Red," "Queen," "Butterbean Lady," "Grannie," "Blue Wave," "White Girl," "Hauler," "Cotton" and "Mr. Songster" been in the hospital, also "White Dove," "Tree Climber," and "Running Bear." We sure hope everyone is feeling better.

"Little Moma" surely gets a little relief now. "Dozer Boy," is wheeling an 18 across country. He even forgets sometimes that he's supposed to have a trailer also.

Friday night there was a quilting party at the upholstery shop. "Bed-springs," made some of his famous stew for everyone to enjoy while working. Two quilts were quilted.

By the time this writeup is printed, the guys can put away those orange suits and deer guns because the season will be closed until next year. "Blue Surf," finally got a nice spike.

Happy birthday to "Lady R." and "Little Rascal." Hope each of you have a nice day and have many more to enjoy.

We do have the Northeast Gymn rented for April 12 and 13 for our annual coffeebreak jamboree. Plans are now in the making, so get your name on the list for what you would like to do or if you have something you would like to donate just contact any club member or call "Upholstery Man," at 8-6333 or 8-6441.

"Twitty Bird," we hope you had something left to eat after that "Jesse James," visited with you Sunday. He really had those eagles squawking too.

News is short this week, so we hope everyone has a good week. Stay well, be happy, and attend the church of your choice.

Presidency To Be Examined On PBS

One of the most powerful, most demanding and most sought-after jobs on this planet—the U.S. presidency — will undergo a unique television examination when WHYY-Philadelphia/Wilmington launches on January 23 its long awaited, three-part series EVERY FOUR YEARS on the Public Broadcasting Service.

Hosted by Howard K. Smith and being aired nationally over most of the 288 PBS stations, EVERY FOUR YEARS will provide a lively exploration of the presidency, the drama behind its expanding power and the expectations of American citizens who choose the occupant of that office. The results of a Gallup survey, especially commissioned for the series by WHYY, to explore public attitudes toward the office and its occupant, will be examined. Following the January 23 opening, the other two parts of the series will be shown on consecutive Wednesdays, January 30 and February 6, 9 pm EST (check local PBS listings).

Creator of the series is Jim Karayn, President and General Manager of WHYY, Inc. in Philadelphia, and he believes the shows will help most Americans better understand the complexities of the presidency and the motivations of those who aspire to it.

"For a long time the presidency has been surrounded by an air of awe and fascination," Karayn said. "What we've done with this series is to go behind some of that mystery and examine the responsibilities and the limitations of the office. We hope this series will provide to the American electorate some historical perspective from which they can gain insights as they prepare for the forthcoming presidential elections."

The producer of the series is two-time Emmy winner Don Fouser. "It's an exciting concept," said Fouser. "What triggers the series is the first show where we reveal the somewhat surprising results of a special Gallup survey on citizen expectations in regard to the U.S. presidency."

To generate those discussions WHYY took its cameras throughout the United States to interview President Jimmy Carter, former Presidents Gerald Ford and Richard Nixon, presidential aides Clark Clifford, Bryce Harlow, Richard Cheney, Joseph Califano and John Erlichman.

Anchoring these programs will be veteran newsman Smith, making his first major television appearance since leaving ABC News. Smith, who has covered eight presidents in his career, will add his own insights about the workings of the White House.

Fouser explained the three distinct segments of the series.

"The first part will deal with the public attitudes and what they expect from the presidency, and those expectations go beyond the qualities of leadership and statesmanship, all the way to listing public expectations about behavior in matters of sex, alcohol, religion, dress and general lifestyle."

"In the second show we take a good look at the escalation of the power of the office. Most people recognize that the presidency has become much more powerful, and much more involved in our everyday lives than was originally intended. This show unveils some of the circumstances and personalities that prompted this kind of growth."

"Our final segment looks at the office from the inside. Here we talk at length to the men who have been advisors to our presidents during the middle years of this century. They bring some fresh and often controversial views on what the job is and what it ought to be."

Produced by WHYY, the series will be aired at 9 pm EST on each of the three succeeding Wednesdays and is being made possible through grants from Sun Company and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. Executive Producer is Read Jackson, WHYY Vice President for Programming.

Expected to be of special appeal to students, the series has been endorsed by the National Education Association and recommended for classroom use by the National Council for the Social Studies.

LIBRARY FUN—Saturday was 'Super Heroes and Heroines' day at the George E. Allen Library and dozens of youngsters turned out for the fun. Special guest of the day was Wonder Woman, shown in the right photo with one of her local fans. The event was the first of seven 'Super Saturdays' sponsored by the library and the Booneville Junior Smith room of the library for children in grades one through three, or those younger who are able to participate.

February Named Heart Month

Almost half of the 22,500 deaths in Mississippi this year will be due to heart disease or stroke, according to Helen Jones, president of the Prentiss County Heart Association.

They will be among the nearly one million American deaths from heart disease and stroke this year. One of every five of those deaths will occur before the victim reaches retirement age.

Volunteers for Heart Month, February, will be distributing Heart Association information and collecting contributions. The Heart Association is the only voluntary health agency whose sole mission is to reduce early death and disability from heart disease and stroke.

"When a volunteer calls, please 'Put' your money where your Heart is," Mrs. Jones said. "With your support and contributions, the American Heart Association can continue its programs to reduce early deaths and disability from heart disease and stroke."

HUNTSVILLE, Ala.—Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander has taken over the reins as the new chairman of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority Board of Directors for 1980. He succeeds Mississippi Gov. Cliff Finch as chairman, according to an announcement by Glover Wilkins, administrator of the Authority.

vancancies.

The $1.8 billion Tennessee-

Tombigbee Waterway parallels the states of Alabama and Mississippi, connecting the Tennessee River near Pickwick with the Gulf of Mexico at Mobile, Ala. by way of the Warrior-Tombigbee system. When completed in the mid-1980's, the waterway will connect 16,000 miles of inland waterways to shorten the distance for shippers by as much as 800 miles.

At Yellow Creek

NEMJC Aids In Training Program

IUKA, Miss.—A 9,100-square-foot training facility located adjacent to the Tennessee Valley Authority's Yellow Creek Nuclear Plant should be completed by late spring, according to George Pierce, acting chief of the TVA Craft Training staff.

The building, now under construction by TVA forces, will serve TVA employees and other persons interested in extending their education.

TVA, through agreement with the Northeast Mississippi Junior College, will provide cooperative craft training programs, journeyman upgrading programs, refresher or welder training, clerical training of all types, training of handicapped individuals, and college-level courses.

TVA employees will normally be trained on a voluntary basis after work hours. Both credit and noncredit courses are to be offered.

"No limits have been placed on potential uses of the training facility," remarked Pierce. "We have already had inquiries concerning courses to be offered."

Through an agreement with TVA, Northeast will provide administrative help, help select nonemployee candidates, maintain record systems, and furnish materials and supplies.

Ronnie Walker with Northeast's vocational division will be their representative at the center. It is the first training center of this type built by TVA.

Included in the building will be four classrooms, office space, and a 4,200-square-foot shop which will include 30 welding booths, lab equipment for craft training and retraining, woodworking equipment, and machine latches.

Pierce said that extra space may be added if necessary. The total facility, as designed, can handle approximately 175 persons functionally.

In October, the TVA Board granted $1 million in mitigation funds to be used for construction and eight year's operation of the facility.

"TVA is committed by the TVA Act of 1933 to improve natural resources of the Valley," noted Pierce. He also stated that people are considered a resource. Particular emphasis will be placed on training local people to meet entrance level requirements of jobs expected to be available.

For further information, contact Ronnie Walker at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College in Booneville, 728-7751.

James A. "Buddy" Skinner Jr. of Nashville, Tenn., will serve as vice chairman to Governor Alexander. He succeeds David Shelton of Columbus, Miss.

While the chairman and vice-chairman are elected by the board at their last quarterly meeting of the year, the new officers assume their duties the first of January.

The Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority is a five-state compact composed of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida, which is responsible for promoting development of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. Historically, this 22-year old waterway development group is led by governors of the five states.

The new chairman of the board became the 45th governor of the State of Tennessee on Jan. 17, 1979. A native of Blount County, Tenn., Governor Alexander was first elected "governor" of the state at age 17 by his "constituents" at Boys State.

After graduation from Vanderbilt and New York University Law School, he went into law practice in his native state. However, he took an active role in the successful U.S. Senate race of Howard Baker, later going to Washington as a member of the Senator's staff and then secured a job on the White House Staff.

He also managed the successful campaign of Tennessee Governor Winfield Dunn and then served on his staff. In 1974, he conducted his first campaign for governor that led him later to launch his second and successful race with a 1,022 mile campaign walk across the state.

As the newly installed vice-chairman of the Authority, Mr. Skinner is no stranger to water resource development. He presently serves as vice president of

If you're like most folks, you're using your telephone a lot these days—to run errands and make appointments, to do your shopping, and to keep in touch with friends and members of the family both in and out of town.

When you stop to think of the countless steps, time, and money your telephone saves (the price is low, too)—and then remember that it's always ready to bring help in emergencies—you'll agree that in terms of service, cost, and value, the telephone is one of the real bargains in your budget.

When it comes to dealing with your friends, don't play hard to get. When you write to them, include your telephone number with your return address. That way, if they want, your friends can answer your letters with phone calls.

Since the telephone is usually the quickest way someone can contact you, it's a good idea to place your area code and telephone number on all correspondence.

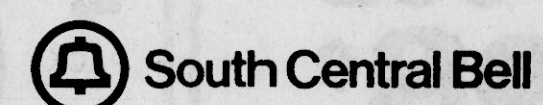

The best idea yet? Why don't you call?

Half the fun of good news is sharing it. Whether it's a promotion, a new home, or a new baby, let folks know what's happening at your house.

A visit by long distance is the thoughtful way to reach out and keep in touch with friends or loved ones. Call often and share special moments.

News From The ASCS

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director
1980 Cotton Program

A preliminary 1980 crop upland cotton national program acreage of 11,602,285 acres has been announced by the Secretary of Agriculture.

In order for cotton producers to be assured of target prices protection on their entire planted acreage, they must also reduce their acreage in 1980 by 10 percent from their 1979 plantings. No acreage set-aside will be required for 1980.

Producers who reduce their 1980 upland cotton acreage from that planted and considered planted in 1979 by at least 10 percent will be assured of deficiency payments on their total planted acreage if the market price falls below the target price.

The target price provides income protection to cotton farmers. If the national average price received by farmers for upland cotton during calendar year 1980 falls below the target price, cotton producers will receive a deficiency payment at a rate equal to the difference between the higher of either the average market price of or the loan price of 48 cents per pound for 1980.

Complete details of the 1980 Cotton Program will be available at the Prentiss County ASCS Office.

Conservation Program Funds Received
Mississippi has received an allocation of $4,498,000 as the state's share of the $190 million appropriated by Congress for the agricultural conservation program. The Agricultural Conservation Program is the oldest and most widely used program administered by ASCS.

The program is designed to help farmers solve soil and water conservation problems and at the same time join in the effort for clean water. It offers cost-share assistance to farmers to perform needed conservation practices on their farm. Everyone benefits from conservation farming.

During 1979, 1772 acres of Prentiss County farmland were treated and served by one or more of the conservation practices available under ACP. To help farmers solve soil and water conservation problems in Prentiss County, ASCS provided cost-share funds totaling $101,176. These funds were used by 122 farmers to carry out needed conservation practices. SL1- Permanent Vegetative Cover Establishment, SL4-Terrace System, SL5-Diversions, SL11, Permanent Vegetative Covers on Critical Areas, WC1-Water Impoundment Reservoir and FR1- Forest Tree Plantation. Several practices are still outstanding. Those farmers are urged to complete these practices at the earliest possible date and report this to the county ASCS office.

If the practice is not going to be performed, this fact should also be reported to the county office so that the funds can be released and assigned to another farmer to do needed conservation work on his farm.

The 1980 Agricultural Conservation Program will be getting underway soon. Each farmer in Prentiss County will be notified of the time for sign-up.

Security Advice

By Robert L. Bigsby

Security Specialist

What is a 'Shunt Lock'? A shunt lock is a key operated switch, normally located on the outside of a building. It is used to disable the magnetic switch or detector on a door, and to allow entry and exit through the door without causing an alarm. In some cases, they are used to turn an entire alarm system on or off.

Personally, I am against locating any alarm switch on the outside if it can be helped. Exterior switches, allow tampering and are vulnerable to vandalism. Too many key switches, used in automobile alarm systems, can be easily picked or circumvented, and do little for the car's appearance.

Better alarm systems, whether for home, business or automobile, use key operated switches, located inside, and rely on entrance and exit delays to prevent false alarms. For autos, the switch is usually the vehicle's own ignition switch.

After an intruder has entered the protected premises, there is not enough time left to defeat the key switch before an alarm is sounded. Because they are located inside, they are not exposed to weather and are much more tamper and vandal proof.

What is Backset?

Replacing old, worn locks is certainly a wise security precaution. In purchasing a new lock, consumers will come across several strange sounding words.

Backset refers to the distance from the center of a lock to the edge of the door. A 2-3/4 inch backset is standard for home doors and locks. Metal and commercial doors usually use a 2 3/4 inch backset.

Other dimensions you will need to know in buying a replacement lockset are door thickness, crossbore and edgebore.

Door thicknesses of 1 3/8-inch for inside doors and 1 3/4-inch for outside doors are more or less standard. Thinner or thicker doors may require modification.

Crossbore is the diameter of the hole drilled into the face of the door. For key-in-the-knob locksets, and tubular deadbolt locks, the hole diameter can range from 1 5/8 inch to 2 1/8 inch.

Edgebore is the diameter of the hole drilled into the edge of the door to accommodate the latch or bolt for tubular locksets. Diameters of 7/8 inch and 1-inch are standard.

Remember, you can make small holes large, but not the reverse.

What does an alarm system consist of?

Three basic parts--detectors, a control unit and a signaling device--used together in one unit or combined from separate pieces.

Detectors include magnetic switches, switch mats, vibration detectors, window sensors, ultrasonic, infrared, or microwave systems and any other electronic, electrical or mechanical device that detects the motion, presence or actions of an intruder.

Control units contain the relays or electronics needed to turn a signalling device on when an intrusion is indicated by the detectors.

Additionally, many control panels have a key switch for on, reset and off conditions, an AC power supply with battery back-up in case of power failure, and have visual indicators to provide information on the readiness or state of the system.

Worsham To Serve Externship

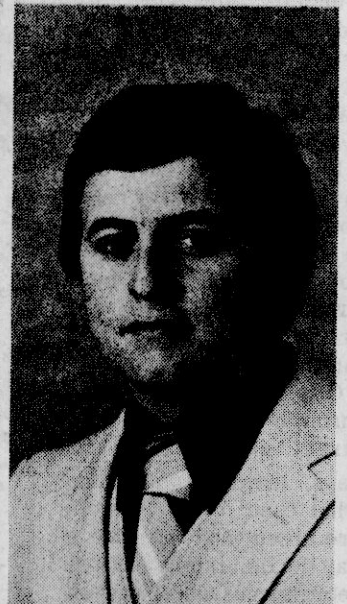

Gene Worsham of Iuka, a fifth year student in the University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy, will begin serving an externship at Tigrett Drug Center in Booneville this month, according to a spokesman for the school.

Worsham, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Worsham of Iuka, will work under James Tigrett, owner of the drug store, in the externship. Tigrett is a Clinical Instructor for the University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy.

"As a Clinical Instructor," the school spokesman said, "Mr. Tigrett is providing a valuable service as a health team member by serving as a preceptor for training pharmacy students at Ole Miss."

Students in the clinical program gain valuable on-the-job training by having the opportunity to practice pharmacy under the direct supervision of a Certified Clinical Instructor, the spokesman said.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Zealous Blunder

John 18:10 "Then Simon Peter having a sword drew it, and smote the high-priests' servant, and cut off his right ear. The Servant's name was Malchus.

Was the Apostle Peter a good swordsman or a poor one: It takes an adept handler of the saber to whiff off an ear in the way that he did. On the other hand, what was he intending to do? Could it be that he was a poor swordsman in that he intended to kill the man and managed only to hit his ear?

The last miracle preformed by Jesus Christ was in the Garden of Gethsemane and was necessitated by the unrestrained action of Peter. It was the only time Jesus miraculously remedied the result of a violent act. All four of the gospel writers tell of this clumsy attempt of Peter to defend his Lord, but only Luke records the miracle involved. With only eight words he writes! "and he touched his ear, and healed him."

The action of Peter was ill-directed and crude. Hasty action gets us into trouble as it did this disciple. There are some puzzling aspects in this incident. Is a sword the weapon to a Christian? How did Peter happen to have the sword handy when his resentment was at a fever pitch? What were his intentions? Did he purpose to kill the man or just frighten him?

Just as quick as the actions of Peter, was the action of the Lord, picking the ear up from the grass and putting it back in place. Then he said to Peter, "put up again thy sword into his place; for all that take the sword shall perish with the sword" Matt. 26:52 What would have happened had not the Lord preformed that miracle? It could have been this way. Curious Peoples determined to ask questions could have said, "What happened to your ear? Malchus could have said, "A hot-headed Christian, cut it off!" But the healing of the ear changed everything.

Through this healing the Lord taught several lessons to those involved then and these lessons should be remembered today.

1. The end does not justify the means: If Peter had one time thought, he would have seen the folly of his act, when will people learn that the end does not justify the means?

2. Spiritual goals do not sanctify carnal tools. Carnal weapons are for carnal warfare. How strange to think such implements are needed to advance to a spiritual cause.

3. Unchristian acts are no defense of christianity. The person who behaves like an unbeliever finds it difficult to convince others he is a believer. He who reverts to weapons of this world will not advance heavens warfare.

4. The Sword is not an implement of Gods kingdom. Righteousness does not come through skillful handling of the powers of men. It is, "not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." Zech. 4:6.

We have all perhaps at some time felt the urge to get even or stoop low and use carnal means. There are times sharp words with the tongue are as deadly as the Sword, and just as Carnal. God shows compassion when we think we are helping and are actually hindering by our zealous blunders.

Let us all come to realize, if you know God the battle is not yours anyhow. Jesus has all power and is able to take care of all situations, for he has never lost a battle. Stay strong by casting all your cares upon him for he careth for you!

Special Olympics Meet Set

Approximately 250 area students will participate in the Area 13 Special Olympics Basketball Meet at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College gym on Thursday, January 17, according to Barbara Shackelford, Prentiss County Chairman.

Students from Alcorn, Benton, Prentiss, Tippah and Tishomingo Counties will be competing in the events which include free throw shooting, dribbling, wall bounce, and team competition. Division winners will be eligible to compete in the State Basketball Meet on the Gulf Coast February 8, 9, and 10. Mississippi Special Olympics is a statewide program of sports training and athletic competition for mentally retarded children and adults. It is unique in that it provides for competitors at all levels of ability based on both age and actual performance.

No special person is too handicapped to take part. No time is too slow, no distance too small to earn a ribbon, a hug, a cheer, or a sincere "well done." The Special Olympics oath, recited by Special Olympians before each game, goes—"Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

Mississippi Special Olympics began in 1969 with a state meet at the University of Southern Mississippi for 150 children.

Today over 15,000 Mississippians are Special Olympians and participate in local, area and state games annually.

Mississippi Special Olympics is sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation, the Mississippi Department of Mental Health-Division of Mental Retardation and the University of Southern Mississippi School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Ball handling activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Northeast gym. The public is cordially invited to attend these events.

Strict 'Lee' Speaking

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

A guy can learn a lot about sports sitting around a restaurant. Some things that he needs to know and a few things that he probably doesn't need to know.

I was relaxing in a restaurant recently in Memphis with some friends of mine and the table next to me was entwined in a potpourri of sports talk.

My friends and I were busy harassing the waitress when my ears caught the conversation next to me. The men were talking about the changes they would like to see in some of the sports rules. They talked about a recent interview that appeared on the national TV program "60 Minutes." The program concerned aggressiveness in football.

I saw the show also and that's why my ear caught their conversation.

The CBS crew did an in-depth interview with several professional football players concerning the way they play the game.

They were criticizing the defensive play of the monsterners of football for their killer type attitude they were taught by their coaches.

They said the players of today are so fire d up before a game that they don't actually think about how bad they can hurt an opposing player.

The men across the table from us were both agreeing and disagreeing with the CBS views on the matter. Some said a more strict penalty should be placed on the players for showing that type of attitude and others said that if you take that away from the game, then it loses something.

I tend to agree with the latter. In some cases a player may make a little harder tackle that is required to get the job done but as for actually trying to physically harm some one, I don't think so.

Anyway it's an interesting topic to talk about.

Kids from junior high school on up are taught to play an aggressive sport but this doesn't mean they are taught to go out and harm the opposing players. At least that's my opinion. What's yours?

NEW SITE PLAYS WELL—

Our area basketball teams are playing really well right now in all phases of our county program. This was the case last week when New Site's Royals played one heck of a game against Booneville's Blue Devils.

From all indications, the Royals, who lost by just a single point, were out to win the game against the favored Blue Devils.

It just goes to show that when you talk about Prentiss County Basketball, you talk about some top matchups.

Both the Blue Devils and the Royals are well coached in Ricky Ford at BHS and Mackie Don Smith at New Site and both have put together an aggressive bunch of boys this time around.

The Booneville-New Site contest is just one example of this. Both our boys and girls squads throughout the county are playing an exciting brand of basketball and, come tourney time, I think they'll do well.

TOURNAMENT ACTION COMING UP

The basketball season is now in it's final stages and before long the District and Northhalf playoffs will begin. A few of our local teams will be the top seeded teams in the respected divisions and we all hope they live up to their top billing. Keep this in mind and give them your support throughout the remainder of the season.

SUPER BOWL PREDICTION

Well, I do this every year and again this time I'll stick my neck out and make my prediction in the Big Daddy of football...The Super Bowl...

I don't think there is any question about which team is the better one. Pittsburgh should indeed win the crown but give LA that home field advantage and it just might be closer than most people think. I personally don't think so though.

I'll go with the Steelers in a somewhat rout. Lee's Pick: Pittsburgh 31 LA 17

JOKE OF THE WEEK

A man who had never flown in a plane before was a little nervous but went ahead and boarded a plane in Atlanta, Ga. He sat down in his seat and strapped himself in and awaited the flight. Just as he was about to get all comfy, the loud speaker came on and said "This plane will leave Atlanta, Ga. at 9:30 p.m. and arrive in Jackson, Miss., at 9:30 p.m. The man, not even thinking about the time change, quickly jumped out of his seat and ran off the plane. When he reached the ground a man asked him, "What's wrong, are you not going to ride the plane?" "No," said the man, "but I sure want to watch it take off."

Coggin, Wood Sign Grants With Millsaps College

Rick Coggin, Booneville, and Alan Wood, Alcorn Central, two former football performers for the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tigers have signed scholarships with Millsaps College in Jackson, Mississippi.

The two NE performers aided the Tigers this season in a 6-4 overall record this past season and a second place finish in the North Mississippi Junior College Standings.

Northeast head football coach Bill Ward said he felt like both athletes contributed greatly to the overall football program at Northeast and would indeed do so at Millsaps.

Coggin, who was recruited as a kicker and wide receiver, was named All-Tombigbee Conference for two years during his high school career and set the Tombigbee record of 11 field goals for a career.

Wood, who will go to Millsaps as a defensive back, played football at Alcorn Central High School and was named both All Conference and All Alcorn County.

Both players were considered top junior college performers during their two year tenures at Northeast.

Booneville's Sixth Grade Falls To Baldwyn

Booneville's Sixth Grade basketball team dropped a 37-32 decision to Baldwyn last week in local hoop action.

Both teams were deadlocked at 19 all at the half but Baldwyn's Little Bearcats came on in the final two frames to post the win.

Clay Johnson burned the nets for 23 points to lead the Booneville attack followed by Chris Hughes with five and Yam Williams with 4. The local sixth grade squad returns to competition today with a battle against Marietta and then again

Monday in action against Dorsey.

CONSERVATION CAN SAVE ENOUGH GAS FOR A CITY

Every cubic foot of natural gas wasted is energy gone forever — energy that American homes and industry cannot afford to lose. Not only because it is a limited resource, but also because the increase in natural gas prices has given this fuel a value it never had before.

Right now the short term supply outlook appears reasonably good. No one really knows how much gas remains to be discovered by a revitalized national exploration effort, but it is expected to extend natural gas reserves into the next century.

As a nation, however, we're still using up more gas than we're adding to our national reserves. We've been doing this for more than a decade. Under such circumstances, conservation assumes an unprece-dent importance.

Diligent conservation, shared by a conscientious citizenry and industry, can save enough gas to run a plant or a city. While United Gas is using every means available to attach new gas supplies to its system, consumers can help. Frugality in the use of our natural resources can be highly beneficial.

Many years ago the nation in general paid little attention to the conservation of a resource that was so cheap. But the price of natural gas has risen — and is still rising — toward its true value. It isn't cheap anymore. And as this cost continues to rise, the cost of waste rises with it.

Waste doesn't have to happen.
