At PCDA Meeting

Whitten Speaks 'Long Distance'

More than 200 people attended the fourth annual banquet and membership drive meeting of the Prentiss County Development Association (PCDA) Tuesday night in the Haney Union on the Northeast Junior College campus.

PCDA Executive Director Doug Mansell served as master of ceremonies, and John Smith, PCDA president, brought the members up to date on what the association is doing and has done in the past.

One of the accomplishments during the past year, Smith said, was the hiring of Mansell as PCDA director. Saying that the organization never realized they had a person of Mansell's qualifications right here at hand, Smith praised him for doing an "outstanding" job.

"We are in good hands," Smith said.

Smith also told of some of the projects in which the association has been involved during the past year, including the assistance PCDA has given Jumbertown in obtaining funds for a city park.

He said that the PCDA has been making contacts with industrial prospects for the county and are currently pursuing two of those prospects. One of them, he said, has narrowed their choices down to two cities, one of which is Booneville.

Smith told of work the PCDA is doing to help the Tuscumbia community establish a community center, and of the plans the association is making to assist towns and communities in the county to get emergency communications equipment.

However, perhaps most important, Smith said the PCDA is helping to work on a Legislative Day for North Mississippi in March to bring as many legislators as possible from Jackson to see the area and learn of its needs, "particularly in the area of highways."

In looking to the future, Smith set the membership goal for the PCDA during the coming year at 400, saying "We will start tomorrow."

He said that the association also needs to rework the committee assignments to include more members from throughout the county.

In order to better define the role of the PCDA, Smith said that he wants to start meeting with the supervisors and others to "let them know what we plan to do and to find out what they expect from us."

Following Smith's remarks, Northeast Junior College President Harold T. White introduced the guest speaker for the night, Congressman of the First District of Mississippi, Jamie Whitten.

Whitten was not able to attend the meeting in person due to some unforeseen legislature problems that had arisen, but he addressed the audience by telephone from his office in Washington. The South Central Bell System furnished a telephone patch into the room's intercom system so that all present could hear the congressman.

Congressman Whitten apologized for not being able to attend in person. He said that a legislator from the state of Pennsylvania had raised questions concerning the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway project, asking

Attorney General's Office

Gives Opinion On Issues

Assistant Attorney General Richard M. Allen produced a few surprises last week when county and city officials received his opinion regarding questions put to the Attorney General's office in Jackson. Allen was assigned to research and reply to the questions on behalf of Attorney General A.F. Sumner (who has since left office).

Perhaps most surprising was the opinion of Allen which has been interpreted by many to mean that the Prentiss County Vocational Technical School and the bus garage will become the property of the city school district. It had been believed by many of those involved that both of these facilities would remain the property of the county school district.

In answer to a question from the Prentiss County School Board, Allen said "by operation of common law, property heretofore belonging to the Prentiss County School District but within the city limits of Booneville and therefore within the Separate School District lines becomes the property of the Booneville Separate School District, subject by statute to assumption of any debts in the ratio specified by statute."

However, Allen also said, "Whatever property there is, it is not outright owned by the particular district, but is held 'for the sole purpose of promoting education for the youth of the state' ('McInnis v. Board of Education of Madison County'). Record title to it is not controlling. It basically proportionately follows the students to be served."

This has been interpreted by some to mean that the actual property is owned by the state, but the district in which the property lies has jurisdiction over its use.

To further elaborate on this subject, Allen quoted from an earlier opinion of the Attorney General's office dated Feb. 12, 1974, which states: "In the event a municipal separate school district encompassing the area within the city limits of

For Street Repair

City To Receive Grant

Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb said this week that Booneville will receive a $41,500 grant and a $41,500 loan under the appropriations approved in House Bill 5 to repair city streets that were damaged by floods in April 1979.

Crabb said these repairs would begin as soon as weather permits.

Crabb also said the Board of Aldermen hopes to issue

$100,000 in general obligation bonds for street repairs on Feb. 5. The funds raised by this bond sale will be used to pay for a cost overrun from last year's project to pave and resurface the city's streets, he said.

The city officials had expected to pave about 15 miles of streets at a cost of about $170,000, Crabb said, but they found they needed to pave 30 miles of streets instead.

The board decided to repave all the streets, the mayor said, because the aldermen decided the increasing costs of maintenance and repair would make the resurfacing much more expensive if the work were spread over several years.

City, County Boards

To Meet Feb. 8

Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb said Wednesday that a formal meeting of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District Board, the Prentiss County School Board, and the mayor and the city Board of Aldermen has been scheduled for Feb. 8.

The mayor said that the purpose of the meeting is to try to solve some of the school system's problems and "come to some understanding and agreement on some things."

Needs Volunteers

New Program For Juveniles

Children in trouble, young people that have broken the law, young people that have personal and family problems. These are not very pleasant subjects, but very real ones that are heard more and more in Prentiss County.

To help combat these problems, Prentiss County has received a federal grant from the Criminal Justice Planning Commission to fund a Juvenile Volunteer Coordinator Program.

According to Mrs. Deanna Burress, Volunteer Coordinator for the program in Prentiss County, the purpose of the program is to assist the Prentiss County Youth Court by providing a competent adult to work with a juvenile on a one-to-one basis, to provide the youth with an adult that he or she can trust and turn to as a friend.

The projected impact of the program will be to reduce the number of repeat offenders in the county and to help troubled children before they become law violators, Mrs. Burress said.

It is the responsibility of the Volunteer Coordinator, Mrs. Burress, to recruit, screen and select volunteers to work with the youth. She will also provide training sessions for the volunteers in order to acquaint them with the Youth Court Laws and with basic counseling and communication skills.

Mrs. Burress said that a volunteer will be expected to attend training sessions, attend monthly meetings with the coordinator and spend time with his or her assigned youth each week.

"A volunteer will be a friend to a child who needs help," she said. "A volunteer is not a probation officer or a 'shrink' and is not

Eligibility Uncertain

For Student Transfers

One of the questions raised during last week's parents' meeting concerning the school situation was whether or not county students, if they are allowed to transfer to the city's new separate school district, will be eligible to participate in sports and other extracurricular activities in that school district.

Dr. Woodrow Marsh, director of the Mississippi High School Activities Association Inc., told the Banner-Independent Tuesday that the answer to that question would depend on how the transfer is accomplished.

The Activities Association is the governing body of high schools in the state for such activities as football, basketball, track, baseball and other sports, as well as band, chorus, and other activities.

The Association's handbook says that in order to be eligible to participate in these activities, "a pupil must attend school in the school district of which his parents are actual bona fide residents."

Dr. Marsh said that an "individual" transfer of a child to attend school in another district does not carry eligibility to participate in these activities with it.

"In order to transfer the eligibility," he said, "you would have to transfer a whole group of students."

However, not just any group will qualify, he said. It must be a group of students from a given area with set boundaries.

"The rule says you have to have a given area," Dr. Marsh said. "You have to describe this area and say 'We are going to transfer these students to Booneville for this year.'"

"Then everybody in that area attends Booneville schools," he continued. "If you have some students going to some of the other schools from that area, then they are not eligible at this other school. It has to be a mass production type of thing."

To elaborate, Dr. Marsh gave an example.

"This has happened before in the state," he said. "The Pearl School District was formed out of Rankin County and the county did not have enough school buildings to house all the youngsters in their system because Pearl took some of their buildings."

"The area around the Ross Barnett Reservoir is a very densely populated area," he continued, "so, Rankin County just drew a line up there and said 'Everybody in this area will still go to school at Pearl until we can build a new school.'"

"This is the third year that they have done this," he said, "but next year they will have buildings finished and the students will go back to school in Rankin County. After that time, the students will only be eligible in Rankin county, again."

"This is what I am talking about in transferring an area," he said.

Dr. Marsh said that if the Prentiss County School Board decided to release all the students who are presently attending Booneville schools to return next year, this would not meet the eligibility requirements.

They have to release all the students from a given area or section of the county in order to qualify, he said.

County Water Associations

Not Meeting Standards

The Banner-Independent has been informed that two other Prentiss County water associations did not meet the standards of the federal and state Safe Drinking Water Act for recent grading periods.

It was reported last week that the Wheeler-Frankstown Water Association did not meet the standards for the periods of July-September 1978, April-June 1979, and July-September 1979.

The Banner-Independent was notified Monday that the Town of Marietta Water Association and the Thrasher Water Association were both out of compliance with the Safe Drinking Water Act for the grading period of October-December 1979.

Greg Geno, District Sanitarian with the State Board of Health, said that the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act requires all these systems to collect water samples for coliform bacteria count. The presence of the coliform bacteria in a sample is just an indication of the possibility of contamination he said, but does Booneville, Mississippi, is created, all school facilities within this area would then be under the jurisdiction of the board of trustees of the separate school district."

In response to another question from the Prentiss County School Board regarding "personal property," such as school buses, Allen said: "Neither the separate school district nor the county school district would need all the buses, only those necessary to serve its particular students. The same is true as to the other personal property."

As to whether the separate school district would be required to reimburse the county school district for any of this personal property they may receive, Allen said: "There is no express legal statement of which I am aware as to reimbursement, only to assumption of debt."

In making some general comments on the subjects discussed, Allen stated: "I think it is a matter of extremely difficult timing in coordination as well as cooperation. I would certainly think that the Vo-Tech and bus garage services particularly could be compatibly shared between the two districts."

However, he added, "Some of the mechanical aspects of the transition might not can be achieved without the aid of the courts."

In answer to a question from Dr. Frank Lovell Jr.,

Executive Secretary, State Educational Finance Commission, concerning whether or not the Commission can hear appeals if the county schoolboard refuses to transfer students, Allen quoted from the case of "Board of Education of Benton County v. State Educational Finance Commission," saying:

"It is, therefore, apparent that when two or more counties are involved, the appeal allowed is to the State Finance Commission and thence to the Chancery Court, but an appeal taken by an individual student from one district within the county to another within the same county is to the County Board of Education and thence to the Circuit Court of that County."

Dr. Lovell has interpreted this to mean that the EFC can hear appeals only if they involve the transfer of students from one county to another, but not involving the transfer of students from one district to another in the same county. The only recourse if a parent does not agree with the school board's decision in such a case is a Circuit Court suit, Dr. Lovell indicated.

Allen quoted another case, "Tally v. Scott County," which also supported this point of view concerning the hearing of appeals.

It has been pointed out these statements by Allen on behalf of the Attorney General's office are just opinions and may or may not be upheld in a court of law, if put to the test.

that a committee be set up to investigate it.

However, by showing the legislator reports on the waterway that had been prepared in the past, Whitten said that he had been able to satisfy him and "he did not even ask for a roll call."

"All he had to do was read the hearings on the waterway to see that we had satisfied the qualifications for the project," he said. "All he wanted to do was to be satisfied himself that the project was justified."

Whitten also commented on former Booneville Mayor Marion Smith who is presently in a Memphis hospital.

"I hope Marion is doing fine," he said. "For many years Booneville did not need a chamber of commerce, all they had to do was elect a mayor."

"I have never known of anyone who has had more love and worked harder for a town," the congressman added.

Whitten also spoke of his job in Congress and his role as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

"I will do what I can to carry out your desires as well as I can," he said. "We need to balance the budget, but we need to be careful how we do it."

Whitten also spoke of many projects now underway in Northeast Mississippi—the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, the Yellow Creek Port, and the Natchez Trace, which he said was originally a WPA project to provide work for the unemployed, but is now "on the road to completion."

Whitten also praised the PCDA for the "unbelievable great job" it has done and congratulated the people for working together.

"I see folks pulling together again," he said. "The key to the development of Prentiss County and Northeast Mississippi is that when the chips were down, everybody worked together."

The congressman also praised President Carter for his handling of the Iranian Crisis. "I don't know how to handle it any better," he said, "so I'm not going to be critical."

Whitten also voiced his support for the National Guard and Reserves. "The volunteer service failed in many respects," he said, "We have had to lower the requirements in order to keep the numbers up. Women are doing a good job (in the armed services), but they can't go into combat."

Whitten did not advocate re-instituting the draft system, but said that he hoped that military personnel could be trained in the Guard and Reserves and through the schools so that "dislocation is kept to a minimum."

The congressman admitted that the country has financial problems, but said that "we are a rich country."

try."

"Just look out the window and remember how it was and see how it is now," he said. "We have billions of dollars of assets above ground."

In addition to Congressman Whitten's speech, the entertainment for the evening included an all-cotton fashion show of copies of garments worn by former first ladies of the state.

This fashion show was presented by the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board. Mrs. Marjorie Tyler of the Board served as emcee for the show and members of Northeast Junior College's modeling squad presented the outfits.

Eleven of the 20 garments were made by Mrs. Fred Hawkins of Natchez, who is the mother of Mrs. Faye Drewry of Booneville.

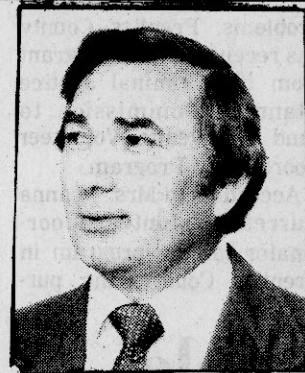

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I quote from your article, "Remember too, the Lord adds the saved (past tense) to the church." Now, if they are already saved God adding them to the church did not save them, because they are already saved. H.C.

ANSWER: You are exactly right. The Bible does not say the church is the saviour, but it composes of all the saved! This is exactly what I said in my article. However, one does not have to be astute to know that if the Lord places all "Saved" people in the church, one certainly could not be saved out of the church, which contains all the saved. Another thing, one must understand when the Lord adds the saved to the church in Acts 2:47, he was talking about those saved from past sins (See Acts 2:38). Peter said, "Repent and be baptized for the remission of sins." To be saved in heaven one must be faithful unto death (Rev. 2:10) "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life." Many people do not understand the difference in being saved from past sins and being saved in heaven. This is made clear in the Bible.

not necessarily mean that the water is not safe to drink.

"Most of these rural associations, or small associations with 1,000 or less customers, are graded every three months on a quarterly basis," Geno said. "What they do is average the coliform bacteria count of all the samples for the three-month period."

Geno said that the Safe Drinking Water Act standards require that there not be more than 1.0 coliform bacteria per milliliter of water. The coliform bacteria average for the Marietta Water system for the October-December 1979 grading system was 16.66. "If the coliform average is greater than 1.0, the association must notify the customers by putting it on the radio, in the paper and on the water bills," Geno said.

"What got Marietta out of Compliance," Geno said, "was a sample they took in November."

He said that the association took two samples on Nov. 5 as required and one of them was good, but the other was positive, showing coliform bacteria.

"They went back on Nov. 27 and took some more samples and they were okay," he said.

That one sample on Nov. 5 was the only bad sample the Marietta Association has had recently, he said.

"They had been good all that time up to this one sample," he said, "and it got them out of compliance because the coliform average for that grading period was greater than 1.0."

As for the Thrasher Water Association, Geno said that they are out of compliance not because of the presence of coliform bacteria, but because they did not take any samples in December.

"The law requires two samples be collected," he said. "We say you can't properly evaluate a system for bacteriological quality without adequate sampling."

They have not had any bad samples recently, he said. However, he also said that there have been some odor problems on the Thrasher system recently, a hydrogen sulfide odor.

"At the time," he said, "the chlorinators were in bad repair and they did not have enough chlorine in the system to neutralize or kill the hydrogen sulfide odor."

"As far as the bacteria," he continued, "they are not out of compliance with us. The only thing is that they just failed to collect a sample in December."

Geno said that he did take two samples himself in December, that were good, but his samples do not count on the computer that monitors the samples sent in by the association.

"I have talked with some of the association members, and at the time they were having the odor problems, they were having chlorinator problems," he said, "but the association officials told me they had bought two new chlorinators—spent about $3,000 on them—and now have both of them back in working order."

expected to work miracles." The coordinator will carefully consider each child and volunteer and will make assignments to meet the needs of the child with the approval of the volunteer, Mrs. Burress said.

"This program can have a positive impact on our community and on the lives of troubled young people," she said, "but we need volunteers—men and women of all ages, races and occupations—men and women that are flexible, trusting, caring and willing to share their time and themselves with a young person."

Anyone who might be interested in becoming a volunteer, should contact Mrs. Deanna Burress, Juvenile Volunteer Coordinator, at 728-7173, for additional information.

On Past, Present And Future

City Leaders Meet With Rotary Club

"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" was the theme of the program at Tuesday's Rotary Club meeting at Northeast Mississippi Junior College. Guest speakers were Booneville's mayor and members of the board of aldermen.

In introducing the guest speakers, Program Chairman Stuart Vail said the past 25 years are a reflection of Booneville's leadership—both of its elected officials and its citizens.

Mayor Charles Crabb reviewed the industrial growth of the last 25 years, recalling a labor survey in 1955 that led to the location of Brown Shoe Company's plant here the following year. He also reviewed events that have brought many other industries during this period.

"But I feel we must go back further to put our finger on the beginning of our development," Crabb said. "Let's start with 1948 and the founding of our Northeast Mississippi Junior College, surely the finest in the south, and probably the finest anywhere."

"We must also remember," he continued, "the reorganization of our hospital that year—the very first built under the Hill-Burton Act."

"At this time we are working with the Prentiss County Development Association to locate another new industry here," Crabb said. "It will employ mostly men and will eventually have some 650 employees. We are very hopeful of getting this plant, and if we do, it will mean good jobs for many residents who now work outside Prentiss County."

Alderman Charles Steem reviewed the growth of the police department.

"We now have a staff of 24," he said. "We have two new vehicles ordered and they should be delivered within 60 days."

"Our long-range plan calls for such things as an in-toximeter and a TV camera in the jail cellblock," Steen said. "But we will have to depend on help from CETA program funds for these and other things we need."

Alderman Jack Arnold reviewed the growth of the park and recreation department to its present facilities which includes two parks, two community centers and two swimming pools.

"The most important part of our long-range plan is: probably the hiring of a full-time recreation director," Arnold said. "We are now in the early stages of a $175,000 development program that will be implemented as funds become available."

Wade Lambert, who is in charge of the Street and Sanitation Department, said probably the most important things his department had done since he took office was to bury the city's garbage in a sanitary landfill rather than burn it.

"All of you can remember," he said, "when a pall of smoke drifted over the entire city from burning garbage?"

Lambert also reviewed the extensive paving and resurfacing programs that city has completed during his tenure.

"A caller on the Banner-Independent's Hotline recently criticized the new paving and guttering on Third Street," he said. "But what this caller did not know was that the work was done with 70 per cent funding from the Federal Aid Urban System. They have certain guidelines that must be followed or we just don't get the money. This particular money had to be spent on a street connecting two major thoroughfares, one of which had to be a highway. Third Street was the only one that met all the requirements." City Attorney Gene Gifford praised the business-like approach of the mayor and aldermen.

"They do their homework on everything," he said. "They do much behind-the-scenes work and every item of business they act on has been well-researched. Nobody could be more conscientious in handling your tax dollars." Alderman J.W. Timbes was unable to attend the meeting due to illness.

County Unemployment Up In 1979

As 1979 came to a close, unemployment in Prentiss County climbed to 6.4 percent of the civilian labor force. This is the highest rate since March 1979, according to Charles Smith, Corinth Area Manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service.

This figure represents 680 individuals, and is slightly above the estimates for November and one year ago. The number of Prentiss County residents employed was estimated to be 9,860, slightly above the figure for November but some 140 below the estimate for December 1978. As both the number employed and unemployed rose, the civilian labor force also increased to 10,540.

Establishment based employment for the county, which includes both manufacturing and non-manufacturing employment, was estimated to be 6,670 at mid-December. This compared to 6,660 in November and 6,830 in December 1978.

Smith continued that in the four-county area of Alcorn, Prentiss, Tiptah and Tishomingo the civilian labor force rose to 44,150 during December. This represents a gain of 700 from November and a substantial gain of 3,260 from one year ago.

Employment, at 41,080 workers, registered an increase of 310 from the previous month and an even larger increase of 3,320 from the previous year.

Legislative Report

By Billy McCoy

Representative District III
Prentiss and Alcorn Counties

The week of January 21 saw the Legislature take part in the inauguration ceremonies of Gov. William Winter. Despite a day-long, cold, driving rain, everyone was in high spirits and hardly a soul could be found in all Jackson who was not looking with eager anticipation toward the coming four year administration of Gov. Winter.

The week also began the first meaningful legislative work by the House of Representatives. Many bills have already been filed that are of great importance to our area. Discussions on other measures of real significance are taking place daily.

I have co-sponsored a bill that will increase the retirement benefits of those who are participants in the public Employees Retirement System. Many long-time retired teachers and other state employees are in much need of these increased benefits. Inflation has long since bitten severely into the retirement they began with years ago. It is quite apparent that a supplemental appropriation to the Medicaid program must be passed or benefits will be further reduced. Much waste in the program has been eliminated. Further reductions would cut directly into basic and essential medical needs of many elderly citizens. I will work for the extra appropriation needed, but I will work to see that waste and inefficiency do not take from essential services and needs.

I have also co-sponsored legislation that will legalize and promote alcohol for production and use as a motor fuel. Alcohol produced in Mississippi has many exciting possibilities, both as an alternate fuel source and as a tremendous consumer of Mississippi agricultural products.

However, no doubt, many "fly-by-night" promoters will try to take advantage of farmers and others wishing to become involved in the production of alcohol for fuel. You should contact your county agent, agriculture teacher, or an employee of the state Department of Agriculture before beginning any venture or entering into any contract involving alcohol production.

I do not plan to support legislation that will exempt gasohol from state motor fuel taxes. Gasohol is a mixture of 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent alcohol. I believe this tax exemption would only benefit large oil companies and at the same time deprive our state of much needed road funds.

I am working daily to learn the legislative process as quickly as possible. Complete knowledge of the working rules of the House of Representatives is a must if one is to be an effective Representative for his constituency.

Eyes On Mississippi

Legislature Key To Success Of Winter's Programs

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—William Winter enters into the forest of state government in Mississippi where the traps have long ago been set by the legislature and even an experienced hand like he is going to have a hard time avoiding them.

Winter has come into the governorship determined to accelerate the pace at which the state is progressing. He has sounded a call in his inaugural that henceforth the state will deal with its long-deferred human needs and governmental priorities.

But, how well Winter does in moving the state ahead and confronting unsolved problems, is inextricably tied to how much control over the key functions of state government the legislature is willing to yield. Whether or not the people of Mississippi understand it, the legislature, not the governor in this state controls most of the working parts of the machinery of state government, the service it renders and the degree it contributes to improving the quality of life. In particular, the legislature has kept its foot on the brake of the state by maintaining virtually absolute control of the purse strings. One must understand, however that the ways things are run in Mississippi is almost unique in the nation.

Whereas in other states, the major concern of the legislative branch is to develop more independence and equality with the executive branch, here the situation is quite the reverse.

Speaking Out

728-6215

"Speaking Out" is a telephone line for you to speak out on issues that are important to you. You may call "Speaking Out" by dialing 728-6215 each evening after 6 p.m. You do not have to give your name when you call. Your calls should be kept as brief as possible. Our recorder will shut off after approximately 30 seconds. We do reserve the right to edit comments, if necessary. We also reserve the right to reject comments we deem inappropriate. We will print as many comments as possible.

Phone Bills...

"I wonder why the telephone company had to move their office out of Booneville when plenty of the old people in this town cannot get up there to pay their phone bills...and they're not allowed to have any money in the banks to write checks for. I think it's a shame and disgrace when we have the telephone office there and we cannot go there to pay our bill and have our service. Booneville is going to rot, it looks to me like."

More Industry...

"I would like to know why Booneville is not getting more industries, when other nearby towns--Tupelo, Corinth--are getting more all the time. Thank you."

Drug Problems...

"Why would you want your children to go to a city school where they have had all kinds of drug problems?"

Lost Funds...

"I think it should be quite clear why Booneville went with the separate school district. After the federal government cut off our funds because our county superintendent of education and board members refused to consolidate, what alternative did we have? I wonder why some of the county people are jumping down our throats for taking steps to improve education. We are not trying to eliminate their schools. This is not an issue where city versus county."

More Business...

"I wonder why the aldermen, the mayor, the supervisors and whoever might be in charge, can't do something to get us more business in Booneville. People have to go to Booneville to the doctors and all, and older people, especially, like to shop when they are in town, because a lot of them have no way to go. So when they get a chance to go, for a need, there is no place to buy anything. They've either got to go up the highway and look up something, or out Church Street. This is a shame. Please somebody, try to bring some business to Booneville."

Fixed Bridges...

"Hooray for our Fourth District supervisor. Even though he didn't even have a shovel to start out with, all the bridges were down and he's getting them fixed. Thanks a lot."

Thanks To Bank...

"People in Booneville should be real proud of 'Speaking Out.' Another thing that the Independent people should be commended for is to leave a paper on each patient's table in the hospital every Thursday morning. I've been in the hospital and I thank them for mine. Thank you."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The papers presented to patients at the Northeast Mississippi Hospital are provided for that purpose by the Peoples Bank and Trust Company.

Embarrassed...

"I am so embarrassed. Last summer when we had the election for sheriff, I told all my friends and anyone who would listen: 'We have got to vote for John McCauley. He will stop this stealing, bootlegging, murdering and so on, because he said he would.' Now all my friends want to know: 'Did he take office?'"

Water, Water...

"If the people think the standards are not being met at the Wheeler-Franktown Water Association, they should check into the Thrasher Water Association, because standards are not, definitely not, being met there. The water is terrible. The chlorinators have been messed up for a while and nobody has been warned. They should tell people when they are going to flush out the lines, and they should flush them out more often. The standards are definitely not being met at Thrasher."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Please see related story on page 1.

It's A Waste...

"It seems a shame to me that the out-going district Supervisors of the county cannot refrain from destroying the majority of their equipment so as to hinder their successor in office. Do they not realize that county tax money must go to repair this damage? It seems a shameful waste of equipment."

School Money...

"Your money-for-schools item in last week's paper is a good example of the misinformation that is being spread by this type of reporting. The fact is that not one dollar of city tax money is now spent on schools. County tax dollars are the only local source of revenue for schools. It would help all of us if this spread of false information could be stopped. I would like to see the Banner-Independent print the facts to clarify this item."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Banner-Independent would like to remind our readers that the opinions expressed in Speaking Out are just that--the personal opinions of the person making the call. They may or may not be based on fact. That is why they appear on the editorial page of the newspaper and why they are put inside quotation marks. We urge our readers not to make a final judgment on any topic solely on the basis of a statement that appears in Speaking Out.

As for the source of revenue for schools, please see the editor's note following another call on that subject on this page.

Insulted...

"As a county resident, I was insulted by the caller who said last week that city tax money was keeping up county schools. This is not true. The county tax which all Prentiss County people pay is used for this purpose. I would like to tell that person that county people value education as much as that person does and that they pay as much as that person does for it. We are tired of this type of prejudicial statements from Booneville residents. Thank you."

EDITOR'S NOTE: According to City Clerk June Hutchenson, all residents of Prentiss County, whether they live inside or outside of the city limits of Booneville, pay county taxes. A certain portion of this tax goes to the schools--both city and county, at the present time. In addition to the county taxes, those who live inside the city limits also must pay an additional city tax to cover facilities that are available to city residents but are not provided for county residents.

Taxes Up...

"I just paid my city taxes and I got to figuring they were up 38 percent from last year. I want to ask the Board of Aldermen to tell the city residents just how much more that they intend to raise my taxes to support this separate school district that they have created with so little forethought. Thank you."

Can't Read It...

"I would like to complain about the paper. On page 18 about the proceedings of the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors, you couldn't read that with a magnifying glass. It needs to be made more plain. People can't read it. Thank you."

Senate Report

By Bill May

Senator District 5

Itawamba, Prentiss and Tishomingo

In an attempt to keep you informed on the matters of state, I shall be writing a series of articles concerning the happenings of the Mississippi Senate. I would like to preface this series with a sincere and humble thank you for the privilege of being able to serve my district and state.

The first two weeks have moved rather slowly which has enabled freshman Senators such as myself to attend orientation sessions. These sessions have been very informative on the operational procedures of the Senate as well as the operation of state government as a whole.

The Senate has passed two bills of interest. One bill increased the salaries of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to an annual salary of $34,000. According to our Constitution, these two positions are to receive the same compensation.

We have heard many people say that they would like to see government operated in a businesslike manner. In order to achieve this we must make government competitive with private business. We must pay our officials and employees a competitive salary in order to attract the most competent and qualified people.

The Senate also passed a comprehensive Personnel Bill. This bill allows a more orderly function of government as well as incentive for government employees to function in a more professional manner.

I received my committee assignments on Jan. 21. They are as follows: conservation, highways and transportation, judiciary, ports and industries (vice-chairman), public utilities, universities and colleges, and state library.

I am excited about my assignments and am really looking forward to the tasks at hand.

If I can be of any assistance to you, or if you have a matter of particular interest, I certainly do hope that you will get in touch with me. I have a sincere desire to do a good job, but I need your help in keeping me informed on your needs.

My mailing address at the Senate is: Senator Bill May, Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, Ms. 39205. My telephone number at the Senate is 948-7321 (day) and 924-6415 (night).

Here's a poem I wrote many years ago:

A Winter Evening

The day's work is done,
The farmer sighs with content
His wife gazes tenderly upon
His form so lately bent

They both feel a peace within
A gratitude to their Creator
Whose mercy in blessing them
Proved Him a loving Saviour.

The simple meal is

The meal over, dishes are done
Then comes time for wholesome fun
In jokes, games and stories told
By merry lips and hearts truly bold.

The father from his Bible reads
Verses of comfort and commands
Stories of miracles and examples to encourage them
To so live as to reach the heavenly land.

This done, each one contentedly to bed retires,
Trusting all to a mightier power
Whose loving arm encircles them
Through every dark and gloomy hour.

Report on Ladies vs. Men Basketball Game

The final score ended with the score—Men 34, Ladies 29. The ladies really feel they won the game and after you read the following, I think you will agree.

It was agreed by both coaches, Maxine Johnson-ladies; Butch Caldwell-men, before the game that the game would be played by the ladies' official basketball rules, since the men were overweigh and out of shape and could not run the full court.

The Chairman of Deacons (Bro. Charles) tried to shoot from the center court with one foot over the wrong side of the court, also he was thrown out of the game with two (2) technical fouls on him. The pastor (Bro. Roy) interfered much of the game with his camera and Tony Arnold, our fine referee, had to call him off the wrong end of the court several times. The Men's coach had a technical foul called on him and also another devout man (Larry Dillard) had a technical foul called on him because of "Bad-mouthing" from the coaches bench. Under these trying circumstances don't you think the ladies won?

The advice they gave the men was—if they were ever interesting in getting in a basketball league, please get in a ladies league, because if they could beat a bunch of ladies only 5 points, they wouldn't be any competition for men...what really boosted our morale was our fine coach and our three peppy cheerleaders.

"Men we love you and are praying for you in spite of your faults!!!!"

The community is deeply saddened by the death of a beloved member, Mrs. Pinkie Loftis, who passed away Sunday night, Jan. 27, at the local hospital. Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to her daughter, Mrs. Ruby Jumper, and family members during their time of sorrow.

Mrs. Zera Maude Hastings is now home from the hospital, but we are sorry to report that her recovery is a very slow process. We pray that she is soon better and able to return to her regular activities for she is greatly missed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Christian and Stacy are now in residence at 701 N. Smith St. We are very happy to welcome them back to the neighborhood.

The pastor of Beckley Chapel Church, the Rev. Willie L. Powell, has returned to the city from his recent trip to the West Indies. We hope that his trip was successful and an enjoyable one.

The pastor of the Mt. Olive M.B. Church, the Rev. Rogers, his wife and family and several students from Northeast Junior College worshipped with us in our morning services on Sunday, Jan. 27. The students returned for the special service on Sunday evening. They were all extended a hearty welcome by the pastor and membership with an open invitation to return often.

Members of the planning committee of the S.S. Worship met on Monday night, Jan. 28, to outline plans and material for the seminar to be held March 8 at Spring Hill M.B. Church. The committee will also sponsor a singing at the Wolf Creek M.B. Church Sunday evening, Feb. 10, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

THE REV. LEWIS RAGIN

On Sunday evening, Jan. 27, the pastor of Spring Hill M.B. Church, the Rev. Otis Shumpart, introduced to a vast congregation, Bro. Lewis Ragin, who, in answer to a divine call to the ministry, brought forth his first sermon.

His message, entitled "Preparation," was highly spiritual, inspirational, educational and assuring. He skillfully outlined and emphasized the need for spiritual preparation, how one is prepared through study, worship, and participation, and the positive results obtained when one is prepared.

His message was beautifully concluded with the assurance of God's ever-present power to guide, protect and comfort his followers through the Holy Spirit and of His promise to always be there even until the end of time.

The message was followed by a solo from the pastor's wife, Mrs. Otis Shumpart, after which, the Rev. Willie Shinault came forward and presented to Bro. Ragin the official minister's licenses.

He was strongly supported by a large number of ministers from this area and from neighboring towns. Among those present were, the Rev. Prentiss Harris and the Rev. Eddie L. Jumber both former schoolmates and fairly new to the ministry, but both of them are dynamic speakers.

Musical selections were also rendered by the Rev. Pounds, pastor of the Pleasant Grove M.B. Church of Rienzi and by the Rev. Shumpart.

Members of the congregation demonstrated their love, acceptance, and support by the right hand of fellowship and through giving. In his final statements, Bro. Ragin, with humility and thankfulness pledged his continued loyalty and support to the church and to the community and further proved his sincerity, dedication, and love in an unselfish act of donating to the church the total offering raised during the service, to be used to purchase material and equipment needed to conduct a series of teaching seminars. The seminars are a product of the Sunday School workshop of which he is the director.

The entire community and especially members of Spring Hill are extremely proud to acknowledge and accept Bro. Ragin as one of God's anointed and we are praying for God's continued blessings upon his entire family and that He grant unto Bro. Ragin the ability, courage, and strength to accomplish all that he feels inspired and compelled to do.

John Smith Speaks To Pilot Club

The Booneville Pilot Club held their January meeting Thursday, Jan. 17, at the Town Motel.

John W. Smith, Executive Vice President of the People's Bank and Trust Company, was the guest speaker.

Choosing "leadership" as his subject, Smith spoke of the past and present leaders, not only national, but international, state and local leaders as well. He told of the great challenges of the past and of the present.

Smith said that he thinks good leaders should listen with understanding and be willing to discuss problems with advisors and associates, be open to ideas, and give time to listen and evaluate. He also said a good leader should support and help those who back him up, stay with him, and remember his problems.

He said that a good leader would not want to dictate nor rule by the book, but would delegate authority, trust his associates, rely on their judgement and have faith in their ability and creativity.

Further, Smith said that open and honest communication, concern, trust and faith are necessary qualities for leadership.

He said that George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Winston Churchill and our own Marion Smith would not have been effective in their accomplishments, nor remembered with great affection without the qualities for good leadership.

Also during the meeting, Mrs. Louise Peeler, governor of District III, Pilot International, introduced Miss Kim Beard, who was presented the Good Citizenship Award for the month of January. Kim is a senior at Booneville High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Beard of Booneville.

Mrs. Nancy Cozart, president of the local club, introduced the other guests, including Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Lloyd Beard, Miss Mary Reynolds, Mrs. Avenell Cunningham, Mrs. Ruth Carroll and Mrs. Martha Ann Fisher. Miss Reynolds, who is from Columbus, Ga., is a past governor of her district and is the aunt of Pilot member Ann Prichard.

The program was coordinated by the Leadership Area, under the direction of Mrs. Vickie Walendzick as Area Leader.

February Is Proclaimed Heart Month By Mayor

Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb has issued a proclamation designating February as American Heart Month and urged Prentiss County residents to support the 1980 campaign which will be conducted nationwide.

In the proclamation, Mayor Crabb asked for support of the Booneville campaign in the fight against the nation's number one killer-heart disease and stroke.

It has been reported that these diseases accounted for nearly one million of the nation's deaths last year, more than one-half of the deaths from all causes.

More than 100 volunteers in the Booneville area are expected to join the effort to distribute Heart Association information and collect contributions to support research, education and community service projects. These programs are aimed at reducing early death and disability from heart disease and stroke.

Eddie Wood, local campaign chairman, said that this year's campaign goal for Prentiss County is $4,000.

"Each year, heart disease and stroke kill nearly one million Americans—more deaths than from all other causes combined," Wood said.

"The American Heart

Association is fighting to reduce death and disability from heart disease and stroke," he said.

Home Economist's Report

By CLAIRE T. ROSS
Home Economist

WOW!

After one week in Weight-Off-Wisely, many adults have lost weight and are enthusiastic about it.

Scales show weight but do not distinguish between fat and water weight. Women especially tend to retain water during early stages of reducing. But this should not be discouraging since fat can still be lost.

Many middle-aged and older men and women learned they lost height over the years. The shrinkage in height may be caused by bone degeneration, weakened muscles or not maintaining erect posture.

Research shows that fat children and adults have been fat since childhood have a much greater number of fat cells than normal children and adults. Apparently the number of fat cells increase up to and during adolescence. After this time (adulthood) cells do not increase in number; they increase in size. Size of cells depend on food (calorie) intake.

Parents should guard against overfeeding babies and children as a way to help prevent their becoming overweight and obese when adults.

Ways To Economize

When the cost of goods and services keeps going up, you begin to look for ways to economize. Regardless of what you purchase, you want to get your money's worth. To get the most of your money when choosing foods, compare the different possibilities in terms of both nutrients and dollars and cents.

Comparing meats may be the easiest. The lean meats of beef, lamb, pork and poultry are similar in food value. All are good sources of high quality protein, iron and B vitamins. Pork is also a superior source of thiamin.

When you buy the less expensive cuts of meat, you can spend less money and get essentially the same food value. Variety meats, such as liver, kidney and heart, are all exceptionally high in many nutrients and are usually good buys.

Fish and eggs are good sources of high quality protein, iron and B vitamins. Compare food items with meat on a cost per serving basis.

Milk is your best source of calcium, while also providing protein and riboflavin. Whole milk, evaporated milk, buttermilk, skim milk and dry milk provide about the same amount of nutrients. The difference between these products is the milk fat content and calorie value.

Other sources of calcium are cheddar and Swiss cheeses. Cottage cheese provide protein and riboflavin.

Fruits and vegetables furnish a large portion of the vitamin A and most of the vitamin C in our daily diets. You'll get one day's supply of vitamin A from dark green or deep yellow vegetables such as carrots, kale, spinach, sweet potatoes and winter squash.

No matter what food product you consider buying, compare the various forms and sizes available against cost per unit. If possible, consider whole cuts of meats of whole birds. A good sharp knife can save you many dollars in a year's time.

For fruits and vegetables, look at fresh, frozen and canned prices for the best buy.

Planning meals to include the most nutritive value and selecting lower priced foods within each food group can help you to get the most for your food dollars.

Mayor Charles Crabb has proclaimed January 27-31 Jaycee Week in Booneville. The local chapter began the observance with a prayer-breakfast at the First Methodist Church. Charles Crabb, Mayor of Booneville, and a life time Jaycee, shared a brief inspirational message with the membership. The week will be concluded Thursday night with a Wife's Appreciation Banquet.

The Booneville Jaycees have had a very successful year according to local president Lanier Thompson. Since the beginning of this physical year the organization has completed several community development projects including: The Prentiss County Basketball Tournament, The Booneville Carnival, The Prentiss County Jr. Miss Pageant, Punt, Pass, and Kick and sponsorship of the Misses Prentiss County Pageant. One of the individual development programs was a very successful CPR course completed by a majority of the members.

Librarian

One hundred fifteen boys and girls enjoyed making and using puppets at Super Saturday at the Allen Library last Saturday.

"Super Songs," will be the theme of Super Saturday on Feb. 2. Mrs. Reba Burress has planned an hour of activities around music of so many kinds, with such exciting things to see and hear and do that you will surely want to be a part of it.

So save the hour from two until three o'clock this Saturday, and be in the Marion W. Smith room. "Super Songs," is the fourth of seven Saturday afternoon programs for young boys and girls being presented at the library by the Junior Auxiliary. Members have planned the presentations and activities with such ingenuity that each of the hours has been a treat which is over all too soon.

Two new books frequently requested by Allen Library patrons are now available.

Number one this week among non-fiction best sellers, "The Brethren," by Bob Woodward and Scott Armstrong, treats the United States Supreme Court in the analytical style for which Woodward and Bernstein became famous in "All the President's Men." "The Top of the Hill," by Irwin Shaw, is eighth on this week's best seller list of fiction.

Did you know that library personnel will hold a book and call you when your choice happens to be checked out when you ask for it?

A few very popular books sometimes have several people waiting their turn, but it is another way your library tries to provide the service you need.

The Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Booneville, Mississippi, took up for consideration the matter of issuing general obligation bonds of said municipality in the maximum principal amount of $100,000 to raise money for the purpose of constructing, improving and paving streets, sidewalks, driveways, and walkways within and for the City of Booneville, Mississippi. After a discussion of the subject, Alderman Lambert offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF BOONEVILLE, MISSISSIPPI, TO ISSUE GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS OF SAID MUNICIPALITY IN THE MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($100,000) TO RAISE MONEY FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONSTRUCTING, IMPROVING AND PAVING STREETS, SIDEWALKS, DRIVEWAYS, AND WALKWAYS WITHIN AND FOR THE CITY OF BOONEVILLE, MISSISSIPPI, AND DIRECTING PUBLICATION OF NOTICE OF SUCH INTENTION.

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Booneville, in the State of Mississippi (hereinafter referred to as the "Governing Body"), acting for and on behalf of the said City of Booneville, Mississippi (hereinafter referred to as the "Municipality"), does hereby find, determine, adjudicate, and declare as follows, to-wit:

1. That it is necessary and in the public interest to issue general obligation bonds of the Municipality in the maximum principal amount of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000) to raise money for the purpose of constructing, improving and paving streets, sidewalks, driveways, and walkways within and for the City of Booneville, Mississippi;

2. That the assessed value of all taxable property within the Municipality, according to the last completed assessment for taxation, is Thirteen million nine hundred thirty-one thousand two hundred twenty-nine and no 100—Dollars ($13,931,229.00); that the Municipality has outstanding bonded indebtedness subject to the ten percent (10 percent) debt limit prescribed by Section 21-33-203, Mississippi Code of 1972, in the amount of Six hundred eighty-four thousand and no 100—Dollars ($684,000.00); and outstanding bonded and floating indebtedness subject to the fifteen percent (15 percent) debt limit prescribed by Section 21-33-203, Mississippi Code of 1972 (which amount includes the sum set forth above subject to the 10 percent debt limit), in the amount of Six hundred eighty-four thousand and no 100—Dollars ($684,000.00); that the issuance of the bonds hereinafter proposed to be issued, when added to the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the Municipality, will not result in bonded indebtedness, exclusive of indebtedness not subject to the aforesaid ten percent (10 percent) debt limit, of more than ten percent (10 percent) of the assessed value of taxable property within the Municipality, and will not result in indebtedness, both bonded and floating, exclusive of indebtedness not subject to the aforesaid fifteen percent (15 percent) debt limit, in excess of fifteen percent (15 percent) of the assessed value of taxable property within the Municipality and will not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation upon indebtedness which may be incurred by the Municipality;

3. That the Municipality is authorized by Sections 21-33-201 through 21-33-209, Mississippi Code of 1972, to issue the bonds hereinafter proposed to be issued for the purposes hereinafter set forth, for which purposes there are no other available funds on hand.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF BOONEVILLE, MISSISSIPPI, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That the Governing Body does hereby declare its intention to issue general obligation bonds of the Municipality in the maximum principal amount of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000) to raise money for the purpose of constructing, improving and paving streets, sidewalks, driveways, and walkways within and for the City of Booneville, Mississippi.

SECTION 2. That the Governing Body proposes to direct the issuance of said bonds in the amount and for the purpose aforesaid at a meeting of the Governing Body to be held at its regular meeting place in the City Hall of the Municipality at 7:00 o'clock P.M. on February 5, 1980, or at some meeting held subsequent thereto. If ten percent (10 percent) of the qualified electors of the Municipality, or fifteen hundred (1500), whichever is the lesser, shall file a written protest with the Clerk of the Municipality against the issuance of such bonds on or before the aforesaid date and hour, then such bonds shall not be issued unless authorized at an election on the question of the issuance of such bonds to be called and held as provided by law. If no protest be filed, then such bonds may be issued without an election on the question of the issuance thereof, at any time within a period of two (2) years after the date above specified.

SECTION 3. That this resolution shall be published once a week for at least three (3) consecutive weeks: The Banner-Independent, a newspaper published in and having a general circulation in the Municipality and qualified under the provisions of Section 13-3-31, Mississippi Code of 1972. The first publication of this resolution shall be made not less than twenty-one (21) days prior to the date fixed herein for the issuance of said bonds, and the last publication shall be made not more than seven (7) days prior to such date.

Legislature Key To

The legislature, aided by the state's 90-year-old constitution, plus the acquiescence of governors over the years, has moved into, and taken over, key areas normally reserved in other states to the governor.

Perhaps the major area is the budget-making authority, where in Mississippi, alone among the 50 states in nation, the control is vested in a legislatively dominated agency, the State Budget and Accounting Commission.

According to the Book of States published by the Council of State Governments, the governor is the budget-making authority in all states except Mississippi, Texas and South Carolina. But in Texas, the governor shares only part of the power with a legislative budget board, and he is the dominant figure. In South Carolina, there is a State Budget and Control Board on which the governor serves as chairman, with the State Treasurer and the state Comptroller General, and two fiscal leaders from the legislature.

In Mississippi, the governor and the lieutenant governor are outnumbered by nine members of the legislature on the State Budget and Accounting Commission.

Ironically, the Mississippi governor is charged with the responsibility of presenting an executive budget to the Legislature, but he is not given an independent agency to prepare his own budget. Consequently, for the last 25 years, since lawmakers took over the State Budget Commission, the governor has been forced to sign the budget prepared by a legislatively-dominated body.

When Winter made his visit to several other Southern governors after his election, he was particularly impressed with the functioning of Gov. George Busby of Georgia.

Busby told Winter that three-fourths of the effectiveness of a governor was tied to management and control of the state budgetary process. Winter came back with a determination to revamp the budget-making system in Mississippi so he can get more of a handle on budget control. Obviously, that will take some divesting of the present power which the legislature holds over the budget through the Budget Commission.

Oldline legislative leaders here are proud that they have "held the line" on spending in Mississippi to keep the state solvent when some other states have run big deficits. What they fail to realize is that a much bigger proportion of what is spent through state government here comes from the federal government and that in many areas no services would be provided if the U.S. wasn't footing the bill.

The way the budget process is handled by the legislature in Mississippi is like living year to year, with no long range planning of programs or orderly solution to changing needs. Basically, the Mississippi Legislature funds the same old programs until the money runs out, and then nothing is left. When that happens year after year, there is little fundamental change in the kind of services the state provides.

The antiquated method of passing 250 separate appropriations bills to fund the state budget lends itself to favoring certain pet programs, and responding to the "squeaking wheel" syndrome.

William Winter may want to change things in Mississippi, but he first apparently will have to get around some of the legislative traps.

Conservation Report

Adequate Planning First Step In Conservation

By TONY THOMPSON
District Conservationist

Do you have a problem with soil erosion or poor drainage on your cropland? Do you need help deciding which type of forage plant is best suited to your farm?

What about your forestland—is it producing to its fullest potential? Or, maybe you are a sportsman who is interested in developing wildlife habitat—do you need information on how to get the job done?

If any of these or similar problems fit your situation, then you need to know that help is available through the Prentiss County Soil and Water Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service.

In Prentiss County there are an estimated 1,905 operating units or farms that cover 263,918 acres. Out of this total number of operating units only 1,073 operators who own or rent 121,528 acres have signed up, as district cooperators and are taking advantage of services available in resource conservation and development.

This means that there are still over 800 operators who own or rent slightly over one-half of the land in Prentiss County who are not utilizing these free services.

Conservation planning is the first step in treating conservation problems. The Soil Conservation Service has assisted district cooperators to develop conservation plans on 114,186 acres. These plans are the first step in solving critical conservation problems, developing land resources to their fullest potential and adding to the economic growth of Prentiss

County landowners and operators.

If you have a need and are ready to take this first step, then all you need to do is come by the Soil Conservation Service office in Booneville and put in your application. Or, even easier, call the office at 728-3544, and let someone come out to your place and explain the conservation planning program. Two full time conservationists are available to assist you develop a plan that is tailored to fit your needs.

Forestry Challenge

Produce More On Marginal Land

By JOHN STUART
County Forester

Any legitimate discussion related to growing more timber on less forestland would consider items such as more utilization of timber for higher grade products, better site preparation and plantation care, better genetic stock, fertilization as needed, and other practices related to improved forest management.

In a short discussion, however, one could not even hope to touch the surface for such a broad subject. This article therefore, will stress one single aspect of increasing production, a consideration of key importance to both forest farmer and the industrial landowner. How can sub-marginal lands be made productive?

There is currently a strong and irreversible trend for use of the best forest land to produce food whenever feasible and in demand. The results is a strong displacement of forestry from the best and most productive lands, with the only alternative being use of less desirable lands.

The major challenge to producing more timber in the South relates to growing productive forests on lands currently considered to be submarginal for economic operations. One fact is clear: Presently the South has many millions of acres of nonproductive sub-marginal lands that are capable of growing useful forest products. The largest part of such lands is owned by forest farmers and non-industrial private landowners.

Various forest management methods are helpful in making an area productive but this difficult and often expensive operation is never successful by itself. A major factor in making sub-marginal lands productive, often ignored in the past, is use of the correct species or strain within a species that is best adapted to the problem area.

The sandhill area has many millions of acres of deep "roller bearing" sands that are extremely droughty. These are a more severe problem than the finer sands which have a water-bearing layer within reach of the tree roots.

Plantation failures are most common in dry sand areas. They have easy access, are easy to plant and site prepare, thus they have been planted extensively. There is an urgent need to make them productive.

It is essential to use suitable species. For example, sand pine (Choctawatchee Source) will grow very well on deep sands in comparison to Loblolly or Slash Pine which have been used extensively in the past. This species has primary value for short-rotation pulpwood production.

If the landowners desires quality timber and is willing to wait more years before harvest, longleaf pine is a fine species for droughty sites.

Another most successful tree type on droughty sites is the specially developed drought-hardy Loblolly Pine, first developed by the Texas Forest Service in 1951. A major advantage of these drought-hardy Loblolly Pines is that they are quite resistant to fusiform rust which so decimates slash pine and normal loblolly pine on dry sand sites.

These thoughts were taken from an article in the August issue of Forest Farmer. If you have any questions call me at 728-6835 or come by my office located in the First Mississippi Bank of Commerce Building.

Winter Forage

With recent rains, growth of winter grazing crops has been generally good. However, rapid temperature changes from warm to cold can quickly slow this growth, and may require adjustments in stocking rates.

If a large number of animals are left on a small grazing area during freezing weather, the grass may be permanently injured. Producers should have hay or silage available during severely cold weather. Cattle also require more feed during these periods to maintain growth.

If it is available, begin using fescue that has accumulated growth. The sugar content of fescue grown in the fall may more than double, research shows.

Cattle will readily graze this growth, and it makes good feed after summer-perennial grasses are gone. The fescue should be grazed down by February 30 nitrogen and other needed fertilizer can be added for early spring growth.

Fit Crops to Soil

Using Mississippi's 301 million acres of land properly is important to everyone. Fitting the right crop to the right soil will provide the best land use.

Select fields now for cotton, soybeans and grain crops for 1980. Test the soil now for lime and fertilizer recommendations. Follow test results to get the most from your crop investment.

Forest landowners should improve their land in winter. Thinning, timber harvesting and stand improvement can be done now.

It's also time to locate and remove trees damaged by fire, insects and storms. Give healthy trees more room to grow and keep dead and dying trees from harboring tree diseases and harmful insects.

State SSI Payments

Reach $154,000,000

During the calendar year, 1979, citizens of the state of Mississippi received over 154 million dollars in supplemental security income payments.

In making this statement recently, Hugh Tigrett, district manager of the Tupelo Social Security District, said that, while the number of people in this area that are receiving these supplemental security income benefits is substantial, he feels there are others who, upon filing an application, could qualify for these payments.

To qualify, a person must be either blind, completely disabled with a disabling condition that has lasted, or is expected to last, for 12 months, or they must be 65 years of age. In addition, they must have a limited amount of income and resources.

Tigrett suggested that anyone who feels they may be entitled to these benefits should get in touch with the nearest Social Security office.

Big Ten Group To Hire Ag Specialists

Mitch Stennett of the Big Ten Development Association said last week that the association will be accepting applications until Feb. 15 for agricultural specialists to help implement a Small Farm Enterprise Program in the 10-county area and the Appalachian region in Mississippi.

Two persons will be hired, Stennett said. One will be a swine production and marketing specialist and the other a general agricultural specialist. Both will work with farmers, vocational-agriculture teachers and other agri-agencies to help raise the agricultural economy of this area, he said.

The swine specialist should have experience and education in marketing and production and must be willing to actively work with and encourage farmers to use the highest technical skills possible in producing and marketing hogs, Stennett said. The general agricultural specialist should be able to help farmers in any agricultural endeavor and must be able to assist the swine specialist, when needed.

Salaries for both positions are to be commensurate to experience, education and qualifications, Stennett said. Employment will begin on or near March 1.

For further information, contact Mitch Stennett at 842-4521.

PIONEERS IN ENERGY

Half a century ago some 40 companies were consolidated under the name of United Gas Corporation. Thereafter, they went on to write an illustrious history of harnessing nature for human advancement.

The back-breaking days of swamp and bayou pipeline crossings are now legend. From the basic technology of early pipeline construction, the company has progressed to the point where it plans, engineers and conducts some of the world's most sophisticated onshore and offshore pipeline operations.

The product of these pioneering years is one of the largest transmission systems in the nation, supplying Gulf South homes, businesses and industries with natural gas, the premium fuel.

United Gas Pipe Line Company was the principal gas transmission unit under United Gas Corporation from the 1930's to the mid-60's. Following a merger, it had the same function under Pennzoil Company until 1974 when United Gas Pipe Line Company emerged as the independent, publicly-owned successor to the trail-blazing pipeline of yore.

In 1976, United Energy Resources, Inc. was formed as the parent company of United Gas Pipe Line Company and its subsidiaries. Today, some 20 United Energy Companies are working in most all phases of the energy business, helping to build a better energy future for us all.

United Gas Pipe Line Company, meanwhile, maintains an aggressive search for new natural gas for its pipelines, seeking supplies in Alaska, Mexico and Canada in addition to most major productive regions of the United States.

It's a long way from 1930, but as United Gas Pipe Line Company and the other United Energy Resources, Inc. companies celebrate our Golden Anniversary in 1980 we will be seeking new energy with the same vigorous spirit of our illustrious heritage.

First Hours Of Attack Critical

What happens within the first two hours of a heart attack can mean the difference between life and death, according to Helen Jones, president of the Prentiss County Heart Association.

"It's during those first two hours after the symptoms begin that more than half of all heart attacks deaths occur," she said.

The American Heart Association is fighting this early death and disability by urging Prentiss County residents to recognize the early warning signals of heart attack and get emergency care quickly.

In addition, the Heart Association pioneered, developed and sets standards for the emergency lifesaving technique of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) used by rescue workers who are called to the scene of a heart attack. The Heart Association also sets standards for emergency cardiac equipment, drugs and emergency room procedures.

In emergency cardiac care, the role of the American Heart Association is very clear—saving lives in the critical few hours after the onset of a heart attack.

For information on how you can "put your money where your heart is," contact your Heart Association chairman at the Peoples Bank or call 728-9411.

Employment Service Helps Workers

The public employment service is an organized community facility to all workers and employers whenever, in the public interest, a needed and productive placement service can be provided, according to Charles Smith, Corinth Area Manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service.

Public employment offices offer to all workers and employers the advantages of a central point in the community at which job seekers and employers can have ready access to the largest and most centralized job demand and labor supply listings in the community.

The job placement services provide for appraising and classifying workers' job requirements for matching qualified workers with suitable job opportunities, and for assisting in the effective administration of an unemployment insurance program. Other general services offered by the employment service include outreach, testing, counseling and referral to training and other services.

Smith also emphasized that there are specialized services for various groups such as veterans, youth, older worker, handicapped, disadvantaged, and employers, and urges applicants or employers in need of any of these services to contact their nearest office of the Mississippi State Employment Service.

EFT Offers Choice In Banking

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Electronic fund transfer (EFT) is a fairly new choice for consumers.

Automatic teller machines, pay by telephone services and automatic payroll deposits are examples of the type of service made available through EFT technology, says Bonita Bridges, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service area consumer management specialist.

Automatic teller machines and cash dispensers are already in operation in many Mississippi communities. The consumer who has the proper card can get cash, make deposits and transfer funds from checking to savings or savings to checking. The automatic teller machines are usually available 24 hours a day.

Paying by telephone allows a consumer to authorize payment for obligations by simply dialing a computer or computer operator. The consumer gives accurate identification, the amount to be paid and states to whom the payment is made.

"The amount is electronically debited from the consumer's account and transferred to the account of the business receiving payment," she explains.

Automatic transfer is made for pre-authorized payment of regular bills at specific times each month.

EFT has raised concerns for consumers. Some concerns are: What kind of records will the consumer get? Will records serve as legal proof of payment? Who pays for EFT services? How much will the services cost the individual consumer? Who is liable if the consumer authorizes payment and the electronic system fails to transfer the funds?

To make a good decision about using EFT, the consumer should consider advantages and disadvantages.

Some advantages of EFT are: The services reduce the theft or loss of checks; travel to financial institutions to make deposits can be eliminated (paying by telephone method);

deposits and payments are made quickly; time, energy and money involved in making payments can be saved; EFT could help budgeting if proper records are kept; and consumers can transact business at their convenience.

Some possible disadvantages are: possibility of computer theft; consumers must carry some kind of transaction card; consumers must remember their identification number; some consumers are reluctant to give up satisfaction of physically handling checks and cash;

some consumers don't trust technology; and many consumers find keeping track of deposits and payments may be more difficult if there is no equivalent to the check register.

"Anything performed automatically is easier to forget," she cautions.

"Consumers using EFT must assume the responsibility of keeping accurate records to assure financial stability."

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

I Will Build My Church

By Luther Gibson

Jesus said to Peter, "Upon this rock I will build my church." The theme of the Scripture, Matthew 16:18 is, "I will build my church." Jesus established the church and gave it the task of representing Him on earth. Jesus was very specific in what He wanted a church to do in this world. During the forty days from His resurrection to His ascension, it seemed that the burden of His heart was to get His followers to understand their mission in the world. In Matthew 28:19-20, He states definitely that they were to go into all the world and make disciples for Him. The Great Commission teaches that every Christian should go his limit of his ability and make disciples for Jesus. This is the method that Jesus used and is for each generation of Christians until He comes again.

To build Christ church involves a great deal more than sitting down and writing a letter and inviting people to come to all her services. I wish this was all it took to build a church in a community. It requires personal work to reach people for Church services today. The natural inclination of people is to stay away from churches. People are not seeking churches, churches must seek people. In the fifteenth chapter of Luke, Jesus pictures the Shepherd going after lost sheep. This is the method necessary for present conditions.

I feel sure that all who are interested in the total work of our Lord in carrying out the Great Commission here in this area and the whole world will do all we can to fulfill God's aim in building a strong church in this community for the Glory of God. We should count it a joy to have a part in the greatest work in all the world. It is not an easy task doing what Christ has ask us to do, but its the most rewarding one in all of life.

If all God's people in all God's churches would do all they know to do, it would be amazing what we would see happening in our community through our churches. Together we could build a greater church and could see the church set afire for the glory of the Lord.
