From Water Tower

Painters Commended For Daring Rescue

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

Two young men from Hartsell, Ala., in Booneville to paint the Brown Shoe Company water tank, became real-life heroes Monday afternoon when they rescued a stranded Memphis woman from the Booneville water tank on the court square.

Claiming she had been mistreated by the Booneville Police Department and some local establishments, Mrs. Alice Adams, 31, of Memphis climbed about 130 feet up the tower to the catwalk on the tank shortly before 4:30 Monday afternoon.

It was more than three hours later, approximately 7:30, when she was finally lowered safely to the ground in a painters' gondola by Mike Stringfellow and Jerry Rose, employees of Roberts Blasting and Coating Company of Hartsell.

Apparently, Mrs. Adams, who works with children as a social worker in Memphis, climbed the tower after attempting to see Mayor Charles Crabb and Police Chief W.W. Stacy. Mayor Crabb was out of his office to keep a dentist appointment and Chief Stacy was tied up in city court at the time Mrs. Adams attempted to see them, they said.

The Memphis woman was already a distance up the ladder of the water tower before she was spotted by policemen. Local law enforcement officers attempted to talk her down, but, at first she refused, calling for them to "get the TV cameras and the radio out here."

Contrary to reports circulating in the crowd that gathered, at no time did she indicate that she might jump from the tower. In fact, she shouted down, "I'm not crazy. I'm not going to jump."

Chief Stacy and other law officers decided that she was just trying to get attention and decided to just leave her alone, hoping that she would come down on her own.

Stacy ordered all the officers away from the scene and back into the police department. He also had all the police cars removed from under the tower—they had blocked off the road under the tower with patrol cars when it was first discovered she was on the tower.

After a time, Mrs. Adams began to calm down. She stopped shouting down to passers-by and eventually lay down on the catwalk.

It was about this time that the two young painters arrived on the scene. They had run out of paint at their job earlier in the day and were taking a nap in their room at the Rees Court Motel at the time of the incident. When motel proprietor Mrs. Janice Strange heard of the woman on the tank, she immediately went to their room, waking them up and

TVA Power Rates Increase

Members of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association (PCEPA), as well as other users of TVA Power, will pay more for electricity beginning with meter readings taken after April 2. In the case of PCEPA members, this increased rate will be included in bills received on or about May 1 and thereafter.

According to J.W. Abernethy, manager of PCEPA, this increase in the cost of electricity is a direct result of TVA's recently announced increase of 10.8 percent in the wholesale price of electricity—the price PCEPA and other power associations pay TVA for electricity they re-sell to their members.

"Every cent of this increase in your electric bill will be passed on to TVA," Abernethy said. "None of the increase will stay with your association to pay increased costs of providing electric service."

"Although the cost of maintaining and operating your electric system has increased tremendously in recent years," he continued, "we have not increased electric rates for this purpose."

"We sell power to our members at a lower rate than any other electric power association in the TVA system," Abernethy said. "The employees and directors of your association are very proud of this fact and will continue to strive to maintain this distinction, and to carry out our primary objective of providing the best possible electric service at the lowest possible cost."

The rapidly increasing wholesale price of electricity purchased from TVA is a serious concern to every distributor of TVA power in Mississippi, the local manager said. At a recent meeting of these power distributors, a resolution was unanimously adopted requesting the Tennessee Valley Authority to meet the financial obligations of its power program by reducing expenditures and thereby avoiding additional electric rate increases.

The resolution specifically requested the

Of Crusade For Christ

1,500 Attend Opening Night

A crowd of more than 1,500 people attended the opening service of the E.J. Daniels Crusade for Christ at Bonner Arnold Coliseum Sunday night. Crusade leaders declared it to be one of the "largest crowds ever to assemble for religious purposes in the area."

Conducted by the E.J. Daniels Evangelistic Team of Orlando, Fla., crusade services will continue nightly at 7:30 through Sunday, April 27. Climactic services are planned for the remainder of the crusade. Tonight (Thursday) will feature the guest appearance of Mrs. Marolyn Ford from Memphis who was blind for 12 years. She was instantly healed as she and her husband were having their private devotions in their home.

Mrs. Ford will tell her thrilling story of how she reacted upon first seeing her husband and young daughter. Her book, "These Blind Eyes Now See," will be made available to all attending the service.

The youth of the area will be special honored guests at the crusade Saturday night. Commenting on the special service, Max Morris, who is assisting Dr. Daniels in the crusade this week, said: "This service is not just for young people, but for all ages. Parents should accompany their youth to hear the fearless and frank factors Dr. Daniels will reveal about the moral and social problems facing youth in our complex society."

The special program will begin at 6:30 with a free pizza party for all teenagers to be held at the BSU center. There will be a youth concert, featuring John Box and Mike Smith at 7. Dr. Daniels' message will be presented at 7:30.

Saturday night Dr. Daniels will present his unique message on the home, speaking on "How to be Happy 'Though' Married." From a rich background as a marriage counselor for many years, and as the author of four books on the home, he has

In Prentiss County

Republican Caucuses Saturday

The GOP precinct caucuses for Prentiss County will be held this Saturday, April 26, at 10 a.m. at the usual voting place in each precinct, according to R.J. Bonds, Prentiss County Republican chairman.

The April 26 precinct caucuses will select delegates and alternate delegates to the county GOP convention which will be held that same afternoon at the courthouse in Booneville. Prentiss County will have 26 delegates and 26 alternates at the county convention.

At the afternoon county convention, Republicans will select 2½ delegates to represent Prentiss County at the GOP state convention in Jackson on May 10.

There will be 244 delegates from across the state. This number is set by state law.

The County Executive Committee to head the local party for the next four years will also be elected by the County Convention Saturday.

"This year, as never before, the needs of our country call for the kind of leadership that reflects and promotes the ideals and principles of the Republican Party," Bonds said. "We must commit ourselves to a broader, stronger party."

"Mississippi doesn't have party registration," he added, "and we welcome everyone who wants to work with us."

The local precinct caucuses will be held at the usual voting places.

Social Security

Record Increase For Recipients

Local Social Security recipients are to receive a record 14.3 percent "cost-of-living" increase due to inflation, according to Hugh Tigrett of Tupelo, district manager for this area.

The increase which was announced Tuesday morning is "by far the biggest increase there's ever been," Tigrett told the Banner-Independent. Last year's increase was 9.9 percent, he said.

The increase is based on the Cost of Living Index (CPI) for a 12-month period, ending March 31 of the year in which it comes due, Tigrett said.

"For the 12 month period from the second quarter of 1979 through the first quarter of 1980, the CPI rose by an average of 14.3 percent, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics," he said.

Tigrett said that SSI benefits now run over $200. That means an increase of better than $28 for each of these checks.

The increase is automatic, he pointed out.

"We'll get the checks out on time and they (the recipients) don't have to do anything—they don't have to take any action to get them," Tigrett said.

The increase will be reflected in the checks to be received July 3, he said.

SERIOUS TALK—Mike Stringfellow (on ladder), of Roberts Blasting and Coating Company, Hartsell, Ala., climbs back down the Booneville water tank after talking with Alice Adams of Memphis who climbed the tank Monday afternoon and then was unable to get down by herself. Assisted by local officials, Stringfellow and a fellow worker, Jerry Rose, finally managed to lower Mrs. Adams to the ground in a painter's gondola. (Photo by Ken Christian)

Inflation Affects Newspaper, Too

Inflation eventually catches up with everyone.

Once upon a time a nickel would buy a newspaper, a soda pop, a cup of coffee or a candy bar. And while prices for all of them—along with everything else—increased over the years, the newspaper increased to only 15 cents while these other items went to a quarter or more.

Unfortunately, the 15-cent newspaper is doomed to follow the path of the others.

Beginning next week, a copy of the Banner-Independent purchased from one of our racks or bought over the counter at our office on Main Street will cost 25 cents each.

Sharp increases in the price of silver used in the manufacture of photographic supplies has caused film and photo paper prices to jump as much as 124 percent in just a few months. And since film and photo paper are basic items in offset printing, the cost of publishing a newspaper has increased correspondingly.

Beginning this weekend, necessary changes will be made in the Banner-Independent's vending machines to accommodate the new prices. Due to the length of time involved in converting the mechanisms to the new price, they cannot all be converted at one time; so, this week's papers purchased at some of the stands after Friday may require 25 cents. However, these papers will be available at our office for 15 cents until next Thursday.

By Thursday, May 1, all the machines should be adjusted to accept 25 cents—either a quarter or various combinations equaling 25 telling them about it.

When they arrived at the downtown water tower, Stringfellow, 23, climbed up the tower to try to talk to her. When he neared the catwalk, he called up to her. She leaned over the rail and shouted, "Come on Up."

Later, Stringfellow said that although he did try to talk to her and calm her down, mostly he just listened to what she had to say.

Stringfellow and Rose said that they had never had to rescue someone like this before, but they said they had seen new employees "freeze up" on high tanks before.

Mrs. Adams had said that she would not come down until some relative of hers was there. Her sister who lives in Corinth was contacted and rushed to the scene and Mrs. Adams said she would come down.

Stringfellow climbed up the tower again, this time with a safety harness for her to wear around her waist as she came down. The harness had a hook that could be fastened to each rung of the ladder in succession as she came down.

Contrary to what she had said earlier, she now refused to come down until the TV camera that had arrived from the Tupelo station was removed. After that was done, Mrs. Adams strapped on the harness and attempted to get on the ladder.

However, things just didn't work out. She shouted down to her sister, "You're not going to believe this, but my knee just went out."

She claimed to have had trouble with her knee before.

When it was discovered that she would not be able to climb down on her own power, Stringfellow came back down the tank. After discussion with local officials, it was decided that they would try to lower her in the painters' gondola, or "bucket," that was used while painting the other tank.

Rose, 26, went to the other tank to get the gondola while Stringfellow and local officials went for other equipment they would need.

The Tupelo Fire Department had also been contacted about a snorkel truck to reach up to where Mrs. Adams was stranded, but it was discovered that their snorkel could only reach about 75 feet, still some 55 feet too short.

It was beginning to get dark when all the equipment for the gondola was assembled at the bottom of the tank.

While Rose and other helpers readied the rescue vehicle on the ground, Stringfellow climbed up the tank for the third time, this time carrying a cable on which the gondola would travel to the catwalk.

After everything was

Community Fund

4-H Clubs Receive Support From Local Donations

County Agent W.H. Haden is asking for support for the Prentiss County Community Fund Drive to be held in May. Haden is one of the division co-chairmen of the fund raising campaign.

Funds raised through this once-a-year campaign go to support more than a dozen community service organizations.

The Prentiss County 4-H Program is one of those organizations that receives financial help from the Community Fund, Haden pointed out.

During 1979 there were 2,846 youngsters, ages 9-12, involved in 4-H work. These members were in 38 organized clubs and 52 special interest groups and were assisted by 49 volunteer leaders, Haden said.

Members of the 4-H Clubs participated in over 30 projects and over 24 other activities, he continued.

"Financial support makes possible the participation of 4-H members in activities that bring them monetary awards that are spent in Prentiss County," Haden said.

"Participation in activities outside the county brings back to Prentiss County more money in the form of awards than is received from the Community Fund and it is spent in Prentiss County," he continued.

"Without the help of the Community Fund, this would not happen."

The Prentiss County Community Fund has also provided awards for Prentiss County Exhibit Day where many items are placed on exhibit, such as vegetables, crafts, flowers and many other items of interest to Prentiss Countians.

In 1979 there were 406 exhibits by adults, and 208 exhibits by 4-H members. One hundred eight other people came by to see the exhibits.

Plans in 1980 are to include educational exhibits, such as energy saving ideas and other educational topics.

"The Prentiss County Extension Service workers, 4-H leaders, 4-H Advisory Council and all our young people appreciate the support of the Community Fund," Haden said.

"Developing young people is your best investment."

103 Years Old

Dr. E.D. Foster Photo by Ken Christian

A Former Resident Pays A Visit

By KEN CHRISTIAN Editor

A former resident of Booneville came back for a visit last Thursday. That, in itself, is not so unusual. What is, is that the visitor was 103 years old and has not lived in Booneville since 1910.

Dr. E.D. Foster, now living in the Traceway Manor in Tupelo, lived in Booneville and practiced dentistry here for six years—1904 to 1910. He was in town last week as the guest of Mrs. Agnes Carter who had met him through a mutual friend, Mr. E.B. Wright of Tupelo.

Although he may be over 100 years old and his hearing and his vision may not be quite as good as they once were, Dr. Foster is still alert and sharp witted.

He said that he was born and grew up about five miles from Tupelo. After graduating from dentistry school, he said, there were no openings for a dentist in Tupelo.

He opened his first practice in Guntown and remained there for a couple of years before coming to Booneville. In 1910 an opening for a dentist became available in Tupelo and he left Booneville to begin his practice there.

Before leaving Booneville, Dr. Foster grew to know many of the early citizens of the town, including relatives of Reuben Boone, for whom the city was named. He also married a Booneville girl.

There were two newspapers in town then. The Booneville Banner was owned by Thomas L. Bettersworth and the Prentiss Plain Dealer was owned by a relative of Reuben Boone. Dr. Foster says that he remembers both newspapers well and knew both owners personally.

The former Booneville dentist said that he also remembers the Allen family. George Ed, for whom the George E. Allen Library is named, was about 10 years old at that time he said.

However, Foster knew Allen's older sister better than he did George Ed. He said that he might have gone out with her a couple of times, but that they were just friends.

"There were two social groups in town at that time," he said. "We were both part of the same group."

Dr. Foster was an active horseman at that time, participating in horse shows throughout the area. Thursday, he brought with him a photograph showing him and Miss Allen sitting in a cart behind two horses.

The elaborately decorated horse cart had just won first place in a local horse show when the picture was taken, he said.

Miss Allen was a tall girl, he said. Not being that tall himself, he sat on a box placed on the seat of the cart when the picture was taken.

"My feet wouldn't even touch the floor," he said.

Dr. Foster's sense of humor has not diminished over the years.

Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb visited him while he was in town Thursday and presented him a plaque making him an honorary mayor of Booneville. After presenting the plaque, Mayor Crabb told the retired dentist that, as an honorary mayor, he has all the privileges and authority of a real mayor.

Dr. Foster turned to Crabb and asked, "All the authority?"

"Yes," Mayor Crabb confirmed. Dr. Foster then turned and pointed to Mr. Wright who had driven him to Booneville for the occasion.

"Then put him in jail!" Dr. Foster said, jokingly.

"How much do you want his bond to be?" Crabb asked.

"Forty thousand dollars!" the retired dentist said with a smile.

March Unemployment Drops

JACKSON—The state's unemployment rate dropped to 6.4 percent in March, a decrease of six-tenths percent compared to February's 7.0 percent jobless rate, according to Mississippi Employment Security Commission Executive Director Edgar C. Lloyd Jr.

The 6.4 percent for the state was lower than the national rate of 6.6 for March. MESC figures showed 64,600 unemployed and 940,500 employed out of a civilian labor force of 1,005,100. The initial Unemployed Insurance Claims totaled 13,566 for March.

The counties having the highest rate of unemployment were Jefferson with a rate of 17.4, Sharkey with a rate 13.6 and Noxubee with a rate of 12.8.

Oktibbeha, Lafayette, and Rankin had the lowest rate of unemployed. Oktibbeha had a rate of 3.4, Lafayette had a rate of 3.0 and Rankin had an unemployment rate of 2.5.

Ten counties showed an increase in the unemployment rate for March while four remained the same. Sixty-eight counties had decreases in the unemployment rate for February.

'Andersonville Trial' Set At Jacinto Courthouse

The drama of courtroom battle will once again reverberate through the old Jacinto Courthouse this weekend when "The Andersonville Trial" is staged in the historic building.

The two-act drama, set in August 1865 and written by Saul Levitt, is being jointly produced by Corinth Theatre-Arts Inc. and the Jacinto Foundation.

It is to be staged at the historic old courthouse at 7 p.m. each night April 25-26 and at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 27. The courtroom has the capacity for 140 spectators per trial performance.

The old Jacinto Courthouse is the former governmental headquarters for old Tishomingo County, which included Alcorn, Prentiss and the present Tishomingo counties. The historic building has seen its share of real-life courtroom dramas, as well as being the location for the filming of a movie version of William Faulkner's short story "Tommorrow."

The courthouse is located in southeast Alcorn County. There are signs at the Rienzi crossing on Hwy. 45 directing motorists to the courthouse.

The play is being directed by Frank Chapin, resident director, Corinth Theatre-Arts Inc. For ticket prices and reservations, call 287-2995. This is an extra performance and is not included on season ticket prices.

From The Governor's Office

Tenn-Tom Important To Economy

JACKSON—Calling development of inland water transportation the much-needed boost Mississippi's economy needs, Gov. William Winter said last week that completion of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway is an important part of Mississippi's economic development efforts.

Winter, along with other southern governors, recently urged a congressional subcommittee to give high priority to allocation of funds in the next fiscal year for completion of the waterway.

"The Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, when completed, will help Mississippi attract much-needed industrial development," Winter said in a statement read to the House and Senate Appropriations energy and water development subcommittee.

"The capital incentive type of industries with highly waged workers will help improve the personal incomes, of our citizens," he said.

The governor noted that over 2,500 people are employed in constructing the waterway in northeast Mississippi, and Winter pinpointed a Mississippi State University study which indicated that the state will derive $120 million in revenues during the construction period. The governor also noted in his statement that the waterway will have substantial national economic impact.

For Change Of Address

Forms Available At Post Office

If you're one of the estimated 36 million persons who plan to move their residence this year, you should begin notifying everyone who regularly sends you mail at least one full month before you move.

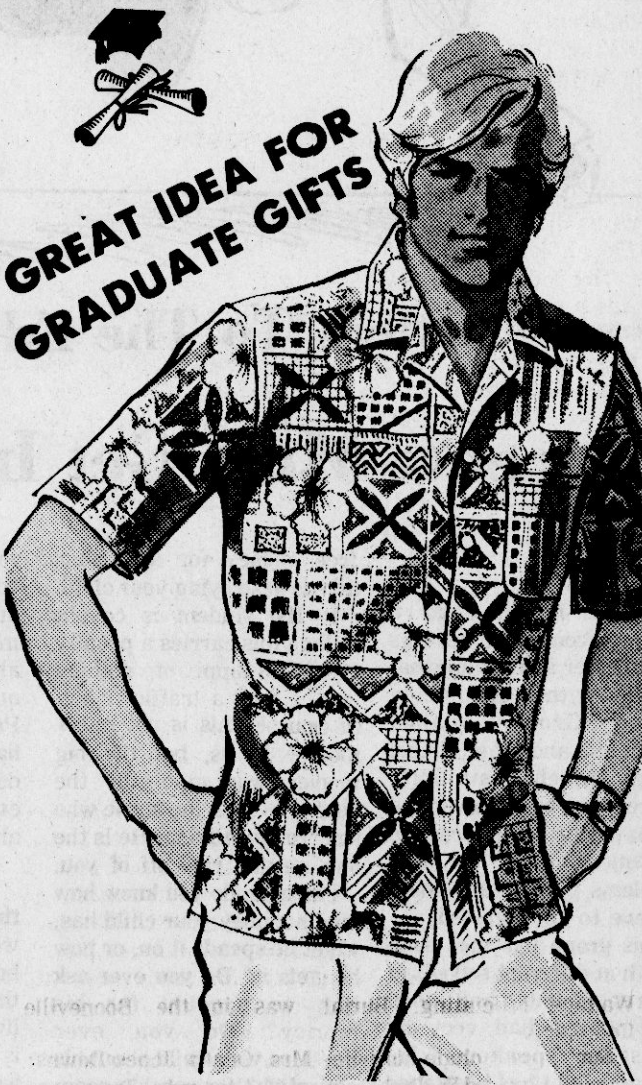

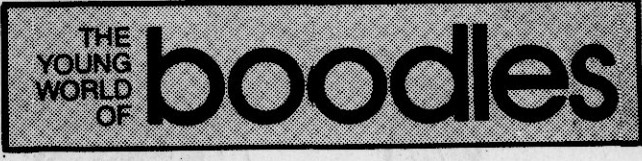

That's the advice from Booneville Postmaster Jack Wright who suggests you file change-of-address forms with your post office and send them to correspondents and publishers.

The Postal Service offers free Change-of-Address Kits to make it easier to notify everyone. Available in Post Offices and from letter carriers, the kits include convenient postcards to alert the postmaster and for mailing to department stores, friends and relatives, utility companies, banks, newspaper and magazine publishers and others who do business with the family planning a move.

"Too often people who are moving wait until the last minute to notify their correspondents," Postmaster Wright said. "The result is they add up to several days to their First-Class Mail delivery because it must be forwarded to the new address," he added.

Those who fail to give publishers at least a month advance notice must either pay additional postage for forwarding, if desired, or wait several weeks before the publisher changes the address. This means customers may miss one or more issues of their favorite magazine.

"Customers should also remember to include their account number when notifying stores and banks and to send their old address labels to publishers," Postmaster Wright advises. "And for all correspondence, remember to include your complete return address and to include your correct ZIP Code."

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

WARD HOGLAND

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, don't you feel that people should have more of heartfelt religion and less legalistic?

ANSWER: Contrary to the opinions of many I am a firm believer in heartfelt religion. However, I do not believe in bench jumping, floor rolling, hysterical type of service. What some folks call legalism is a devout respect for the authority of God's word. Scholars define the heart as the soul or mind, as it is the fountain or seat of the thoughts, desires and affections. Absalom stole the hearts (or affections) of the people (2 Sam. 15:6). Yes, I believe in heartfelt religion but let us notice what the Bible says. (1) We think with the heart (Matt. 9:4). (2) We reason with our heart (Mk. 2:8). (3) We purpose with our hearts (2 Cor. 9:7). In Acts 8:37, the one to be baptized was told, "If thou believest with all thine heart thou mayest." In Rom. 6:17, 18 Paul said, "But ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine delivered you." Thus, we can see Bible heartfelt religion is using ones mind in accepting the teachings of the Bible.

Parents Must Get Involved

Dear Parents:

Several months ago a group of concerned parents got together and set up what is called the Community Action Group Against Marijuana and other Illegal Drugs. Much community interest has been shown and we have decided in order to get any action on the drug problems parents are going to have to get involved.

This group has met each month at different schools in Warren County and each meeting has had very interesting speakers and valuable light has been shed on our drug situation locally.

It is recognized by law enforcement officials, school administrators and teachers, local judges and almost everyone that there is a tremendous drug problem. This program involves drugs (uppers, downers, cocaine, marijuana, etc.) being used by our adolescents and teenagers, and it also involves dealers who are destroying our children with these drugs.

We have learned at these meetings from our speakers that one ounce of marijuana that is sold to a teenager by a dealer for approximately $40 is then wrapped into approximately 50 or 60 cigarettes and sold for about $2 each. For this student that is a profit of approximately $50 or $60 tax-free money for a product that is destroying your child.

If the student is caught selling this carries a penalty in Mississippi of nothing larger than a traffic ticket. Of course, this is not much money to us, but the big money was made by the dealer behind the scene who sold to the student. He is the one getting rich off of you.

Parents, do you know how much money your child has, what he spends it on, or how he gets it? Do you ever ask him to account for his money? Do you ever question your child about his activities? Search his room if suspicious? Call his friends' parents and question them about your child's behavior in their presence? Call the school and check on his attendance record? Do you ever just look at your child, observe his behavior, notice any changes, wonder about his attitudes, his grades or his friends?

If you have never done these things you may be interested to know you do have the right and the responsibility. Children will try to get by with anything if they know they can. Even if you cannot believe your child would ever become involved, you owe it to yourself to check it out and make sure.

You may just be surprised at the lesson you could learn about the drug scene from your child. They are very educated about drugs and drug paraphernalia and most do not mind talking about them when questioned. Remember, Parents, as much as we may hate to admit it, our children do not always tell us everything and are not always honest with us.

It is because we love them that we must do everything we can to try to stop this horrible monster (drugs) that is out to destroy their lives. They do not know what is best for them so therefore we must make the decisions for them. They were entrusted to us for guidance from the Lord and we cannot fail them. We must give them the right to live and enjoy life as we have.

As a parent, you can write your congressman and demand stricter drug laws for dealers and offenders, you can get involved with other parents and educate yourselves about this problem and you can learn about drug prevention along with drug cure. This is a very serious matter and if we band together and use our parent power, we can see changes in our drug situation in the State of Mississippi.

Needs More Than Memories

Dear Editor:

I realize that your job requires much of your time and I hope that you will grant me a few moments in reading my letter, for I feel a great desire to communicate and try to help someone avoid the misery and the pain of loneliness in losing family, friends, and, for that matter, everything one holds so dear.

My name is Phillip Chipps. I am an American Indian of the Oglala Sioux Tribe. I once served in the armed forces-the U.S. Marine Corps-with the pledge of allegiance to serve and protect the United States of America and its people. Now I find myself a prisoner and a number in the U.S. prison at Leavenworth, Kan., with the realization that there is no way to every fully express the feeling of loneliness when there is no one to turn to.

I lie awake at night and hear men crying in their sleep or hear someone suddenly wake up screaming at living a horrible dream. In this prison, a world with within a world, cries of despair resound off the walls amidst the sound of steel doors slamming shut, but are heard by only those within, seemingly never going out.

As my punishment, I accept the fact that I am in this prison to pay a debt I owe to society for something I should have corrected within myself so very long ago-arrogence, pride, call it what you will. I was young then and the way I applied those concepts all added up to my being in prison, not with a true sense of understanding that there is always a time and a place to be proud.

But, by that very same token, there too is always a time and a place where to humble ourselves. Ironical as it may seem, if I had taken half a minute to think, this very simple lesson would not have cost me half my lifetime.

My hours are spent with thoughts of the many places I've visited. I've had the pleasure of meeting many down-to-earth people. As a marine, I've had the opportunity of visiting your town as well as a few other towns within your state. One such place was Brices Crossroads, the national site of the Civil War.

Memories are not enough to sustain me and it is my sincere prayer, since I have no money with which to pay for an ad, that you will be so kind as to print my letter. To be as brief as possible, I would greatly appreciate your assistance in printing this as follows:

I am an American Indian, a man, age 27, in prison with no family or outside contacts who care. And I need to hear from anyone, male and/or female, to help ease the pain in loneliness of paying a debt I still owe. Please write to me.

Good News, Bad News For State

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—How is Mississippi, still a "have not" state economically, still significantly rural, going to fare on the rocky road of recession obviously just around the corner?

As they say, there's some good news, and then there's some bad news. But in a recessionary period, even the good news will hardly offset the bad news. And with the thin economic base from which Mississippi must operate, there is little to keep up us from hitting bottom, and its harder to bounce back, once we do.

One interesting statistic brought to our attention the other day underscores the fact some seem to forget—that Mississippi is a relatively poor state. Even before the recession really sets in, 497,023 Mississippians—about 21 percent of the population—are already on food stamps, way above the national average.

From the way the state's 5 percent sales tax has been acting, you can't really tell yet that people are spending any less money, or that the recession has arrived. At least, there is no alarm yet in this business indicator.

Yet, the signs are already there, say those who watch the state's economy closely, that trouble is on the way. For instance, economic analysts at the Mississippi Research and Development Center are already revising downward their forecast for 1981.

In January, they saw a growth rate of 3.2 per cent in the state's economy above inflation, and now they are placing that at only 1 percent. In terms of the individual, this means the personal income of the average Mississippian will only grow 1 percent, inflation taken into account.

For 40 years, Mississippi has been desperately trying to shore up a basically agrarian economy by industrialization. Manufacturing jobs back in the early 1960's surpassed the number of jobs in agriculture, and the average income of Mississippians has moved closer to the national average ever since.

But as Mississippi's economy has become more dependent on manufacturing jobs, it has been moved closer to the economy of the nation, therefore how the economy goes nationally is reflected directly, and sooner than ever before in the state's economy.

It's a worrisome thing, then, that the figures in from 1979 show Mississippi had zero growth in manufacturing employment last year.

Once it was said that since we didn't have heavy industry here, like the automobile industry, we wouldn't feel the downturn in auto output as they would in the Midwest. Now that's no longer so, because Mississippi has a number of small plants that make auto parts or wiring units for new automobiles.

Manufacture of transportation equipment, which includes such things as auto parts, and also the Ingalls Shipyards at Pascagoula, in 1978 accounted for 12.2 percent of manufacturing jobs in Mississippi, second only to apparel as the biggest single source of industrial jobs.

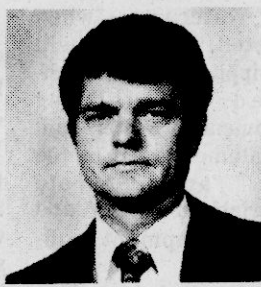

Cutbacks in jobs are already showing up significantly in the auto parts manufacturing plants, and plans for a new black-majority owned wiring harness plant in Morton have been abandoned.

Ingalls, the state's largest industry, has been in a sharp decline now for the last three years. From a peak employment of 25,000 in 1977, Ingalls has dropped to 13,000 and will be down to 8000 next year.

Wood and wood products, which have accounted for 10.8 percent of the manufacturing work force in Mississippi, is already being hurt by the sharp decline in housing starts since it is tied very closely to home construction.

The apparel industry, with the dozen of little plants making men and women's clothing that dot the landscape in Mississippi, is yet to

Legislative Report

By Billy McCoy

Representative District III
Prentiss And Alcorn Counties

This past week the Senate passed H.B. 838 which I co-sponsored and which will provide more definite guidelines for the termination of parental rights. Hopefully the House will approve the Senate amendments to this bill and it can go on to the governor for his consideration.

Only a small percentage of bills introduced each year finally become law. As a new legislator I have learned much while working for final passage of this important piece of legislation. The legislative and parliamentary lessons learned will be beneficial for years to come.

The House amended a Senate bill allowing prisoners convicted of armed robbery to be eligible for parole. Current law allows no parole for convicted armed robbers. Since even convicted murders are allowed parole and since correction officials have a problem managing large numbers of convicts who have no possibility of parole, many lawmakers have felt the law needed some change.

I voted for the House-approved amendment which provides for stiffer sentences than the Senate bill. It allows no parole for those sentenced to less than 10 years and those sentenced to longer terms would have to serve at least 10 years.

The House also approved, with amendments, the Senate Public Employees Retirement Bill which will increase benefits to retired public employees and school teachers. This bill will benefit most those employees who retired with more than 20 years service and those who have been retired for several years.

Perhaps the most important legislation of the year will be considered by the House this week. This deals with a Senate statewide property reappraisal bill. I have attended all the Ways and Means Committee meetings dealing with this subject.

I do realize the need for reappraisal of property and equalization of taxes on properties of like use and value. However, I will be looking in depth at this bill's effect on the counties and school districts in my area and at its effect on the average homeowner, farmer, and landowner in my district. I am deeply concerned that this bill may shift the burden of taxes from big business and utilities to the average homeowner and landowner.

I was pleased to support passage of Senate Bill 2567 which will create a state veterans home. This is a very worthwhile and long needed project.

Legislative Letter

By Tim Ford

Representative District 18
Lee and Prentiss Counties

I supported a bill this week which amends the Public Employee's Retirement System. This is the first time since 1973, that this legislation has been before the House for consideration.

Under the present law, a person has to pay into the retirement system for 15 years before his retirement benefits vest. The proposed law changes the vesting period to 10 years of employment and at the same time reduces the surviving spouse benefit period to 10 years from the present 20 years.

Under existing law, a state employee could have vested retirement benefits after 15 years of service, but his spouse could not receive these benefits at his death unless he had worked 20 years.

Another change made by the House bill relates to the actual benefits received. Under existing law, a person can draw retirement benefits upon retirement after 30 years service or after reaching the age of 65.

His actual payments are determined by taking 1 percent of his total years of service, times the average of his highest five years salary. A person who has worked 25 years with an average salary for his highest 5 years of $12,000 would receive $4,875 annually. (1 percent x 25 x $12,000 = $4,875).

The new formula proposes to allow 1 percent on the 1st 20 years service; 1 1/2 percent on the next 10 years; and 2 percent on all over 30 years. Using these figures in the example above, the retired employee would receive $4,950.

In addition to these benefits, this same employee will receive a 13th check which is computed as follows: 1 1/2 percent for each year of retirement prior to July 1, 1979, and 2 1/2 percent for each year of retirement after July 1, 1979. The second part of this formula is new language in this bill.

The employee above, if retired since 1969, will receive 1 1/2 percent times 10 times $4,950 or $742.50 plus 2 1/2 percent times one year times $4,950 or $123.75 for a total 13th check of $866.25.

Under the existing retirement law, those people who retired from state service in the beginning of the present retirement system did not accrue significant benefits. The present law provides a minimum payment of $3 per year of state service for those people. The proposal

Senate Report

By Bill May

Senator District 5
Itawamba, Prentiss and Tishomingo

During the week of April 14th the Senate passed 36 resolutions, 38 appropriations bills, 67 general bills and confirmed 5 appointments of the governor to the Board of Economic Development.

H.B. No. 838 which provides for the procedure for the determination of parental rights is a matter which generated a lot of concern in my district. This bill, which I supported, passed Thursday, April 17, but was held on a motion to reconsider. Even though I was supportive of this bill, I supported a move to reconsider so that an amendment could be made.

The way the bill presently is, a parent in any county could have their rights terminated in any other county of the state. I thought that this should be amended to restrict this in order to offer more protection to the family.

There apparently has been some confusion as to my position on this. This matter is one of grave importance and should require extensive study. In an effort to be competent and responsible as your Senator, I refuse to enter into decisions lightly; therefore, I wanted to give this bill its due consideration before committing myself.

I voted for the final passage of this bill in committee, allowing it to be referred to the Senate. Apparently, some of you have been misled by another person outside of the district who would better serve his constituency if he attended his own business.

There were many bills of great importance requiring lengthy floor debates. If any of you have any questions concerning any legislation that we have passed or have not passed, I hope that you will feel free to write.

Junior College System Is Something Special

Mississippi has one of the oldest-if not the oldest-junior college systems in America. That makes this month's celebration of Junior College Month even more special.

"Education is a necessity," says Dr. Edmund Gleazer, president of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges. "The right kind of education. Education that fits the changing human conditions and the realities of our environment."

Dr. Gleazer, speaking at Hinds Junior College the other day, went on to say that he thought he was in a profession with a future.

"Community colleges can lead (us) into a new educational era," he says.

We agree. Caught, as we are, in a faltering economy, with gasoline prices threatening to soar to a prohibitive level, the argument for students obtaining a stay-at-home education has become very attractive.

But junior colleges offer much more than convenience. They offer educational opportunities which otherwise would not be available to many students.

There are 16 junior colleges in Mississippi. Located at strategic points across the state, they provide not only liberal arts courses for those who later wish to pursue a degree at a university, but nearly 100 occupational skills for those who desire training in various vocational and technical specialties.

Never has the need, or the desire, among Mississippi residents for education been greater. Almost everywhere you turn people are talking about "going back to school."

Junior colleges are a good investment for the future. The 45,000 students currently enrolled in Mississippi junior colleges are living proof of that.

26-Year Record

She Never Misses Sunday School

The year 1980 has been designated "The Year of the Sunday School," in celebration of the Sunday School's 200th birthday.

During this time, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ricketts of Booneville have something of which to be proud. Their daughter, Mrs. Mary Ruth Lombard of Mobile, Ala., was recently noted by the State Youth and Christian Education Board of Alabama for the outstanding Sunday School Attendance of her and her children.

Mrs. Lombard began her perfect Sunday School record when she was 13. She hasn't missed Sunday School in 26 years.

She recalls one Sunday when Tony and Mitzi, her children, were babies and their father had to work. When their ride to Sunday School failed to show up, Mrs. Lombard walked for almost a mile carrying both babies to phone a taxi for transportation.

She attributes her Sunday School enthusiasm to her mother and father. Mr. Ricketts was a Sunday School superintendent and urged regular attendance. This enthusiasm began at her home church, the First

Mary, Jeff, Tony And Mitzi Lombard

Pentecostal Church in Booneville.

The Lombard children all have perfect records of attendance from their births—Tony for 18 years, Mitzi for 16, and Jeff for 7.

Tony is a freshman at the University of South Alabama. He plans to transfer to Lee College in Cleveland, Tenn., to major in Christian Education. He was runner-up for Mr. Personality at the 1978 Alabama Youth Camp and is on the staff of the Christian Chronicle.

Mitzi is a junior at B.C. Rain High School in Mobile. She was voted by fellow teens as Teen of the Year at Parkway Church of God in 1977 and was a runner-up for Miss Personality at the 1978 Alabama Youth Camp.

Jeff is a second grade student at Adelia Williams School in Mobile. He earned the title of Kindergarten King of the Kids Crusade in 1978. One Sunday, when he had chicken pox, his Sunday School teacher came to his home to teach him and he was counted in the Sunday School attendance.

Mrs. Lombard, her husband Larry, and their children attend the Parkway Church of God in Mobile.

For Money-Saving Suggestion

Caldwell Receives Commendation

Former Booneville resident Dean Caldwell, chief of the plan formulation branch of the Mississippi River Commission, Lower Mississippi Valley Division (MRC-LMVD), recently received a Presidential letter commending him for a suggestion he made which is estimated to be saving taxpayers $30,000 a year.

Caldwell, a graduate of Booneville High School, Northeast Junior College and Mississippi State University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Caldwell of Booneville.

He is married to the former Nellie Ruth Morris, also originally of Booneville. They have three children, Cindy, 18, Timmy, 14, and Christy, 10. The Caldwells currently live in Vicksburg.

The suggestion for which Caldwell received his Presidential commendation was the first such suggestion he has made in the four years he has been with MRC-LMVD.

Caldwell said the idea occurred to him during public meetings concerning the Atchafalaya Basin.

Some of the meetings were running 14 hours a day without a break. Under the old system, a stenographic team had to record a verbatim account of the meetings, a costly and time-consuming procedure.

Under the new system suggested by Caldwell, the meetings are tape recorded, making a record available for reference. A summary report is also prepared in writing as a handy reference to the tape recording of each meeting. The summary report was also required under the old system.

Caldwell received $850 for his suggestion when it was adopted last April. He also recently received the written recognition from President Carter for his contribution.

The new system is reported to be working well, so far, and is being considered for implementation Corps-wide. If adopted, Caldwell could receive an additional cash award.

The government suggestion program in which Caldwell is participating allows employees to earn cash awards for ideas that save time, money and energy and that suggest new policies or modify old ones. The monetary award range from $25 up, and is generally less than three percent of the estimated first year savings.

COMMENDATION—Former Booneville resident Dean Caldwell (right), a Corps of Engineers employee in Vicksburg, is presented a letter of commendation from President Carter by Maj. Gen. Robert C. Marshall. The letter is in recognition of a suggestion by Caldwell last year which is saving the government an estimated $30,000 per year.

Citizenship means many things to us. Do you think of it with a vague feeling, hard to pin down? Do you think of citizenship as only specific acts, such as voting and respecting the flag, or do you think of citizenship in a passive way: "I am a citizen of the country I was born in, and that's all."

At first, the word "citizen" has a narrow meaning. It is related to our word "city" and goes back to the first Greek city-state. Civic responsibility was the "city-man's" duty to his city.

Today our idea of citizenship includes so much more. It still includes the city or community. It still includes the state. But now we think of citizenship as including a responsibility toward all people with whom we come in contact.

Citizenship Means Responsibility

To put it in a nutshell: A good citizen acts with intelligent concern for himself and others.

Another way to put it is: Citizenship means responsibility between people. It is understanding, and appreciating, and doing things that make life better for yourself, and for other people.

Citizenship responsibility is a two-way relationship. It points toward you with your right, and toward others with their responsibilities. It also works the other way around. It points toward you with your responsibilities and toward others with their rights. Citizenship is a personal and individual thing.

Every day you make choices. How do you make these choices? What helps you decide to get your homework, or to play ball? Whether to copy another's paper, or to do your own assignment?

Every day you make choices based on the things you consider valuable. Is honesty important to you? Is the right to private property important to you?

The more mature citizen lives by values which go beyond rules. We are speaking here of values to live by, not just talk about. The person who is honest when it would pay to be dishonest is really living by the value of honesty.

Not everyone holds the same values. Even one person may have a scale of values. Some are higher than others.

Values are not pat rules of conduct or set answers to questions. Values are standards of choice.

What Do You Value

Values are the basis upon which people decide what they are for or against, or where they are going and why. In other words, they give directions to life. Sometimes it is hard to know where you stand.

For more information on Citizenship, contact your 4-H office at 728-5631 or come by on East Church Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Terry were in Eupora Tuesday to attend the funeral of George Terry. He was an uncle of Kelly's.

Miss Tanya Agonath of Vernon Hill, Ill., was a recent guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Cartwright and family. Tanya is a former school mate of Kim Robinson.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Rone was the setting of a birthday dinner given in honor of Marvin (Spud) Tollison April 13. The food was delicious and the fellowship great. Those attending were Mrs. Marvin Tollison, and the Jackie Rone family all of Booneville, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Tollison Sr., of Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Tollison, Jr. and Rachel, and Tucker Godwin all of Oxford.

Mr. Eugene Johnson is a patient in our local hospital and is now in a private room and improving. We send him get well greetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hodges and Beth were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Mary Lence, of Ripley.

Mrs. Edith (Spain) Brown of Columbus, Ga., is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murry Spain of Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. Obie Koon and Mrs. Earl Downs were among the many that attended the wedding of Miss Linda Partridge and Wayne Inman of Louisville, Miss., Sunday afternoon. Wayne is the nephew of Mrs. Downs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rowland, Kevin and Deanna of Albertville, Ala., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rowland and Mr. and Mrs. William Christian of the Thrasher community.

Raymond Spencer is a patient at our local hospital. He will be going home soon and is improving. Get well wishes go to Raymond.

Kappa Kappa Iota Meets Thursday

Gamma Conclave, Kappa Kappa Iota, met Tuesday, April 8, in Frank Haney Union with ten members present. Hostesses were Ruby Wesson and Reba DePoyster. The tables were decorated with Easter baskets and spring flowers.

Reba DePoyster, president, read a news letter from State President Mary Robinson and a letter of thanks from Mary, Lunelle and Sue for the reception given in their honor.

Reba asked for an attendance count for the state convention. Seven who were present indicated that they would attend with possibly two others.

The following officers were elected for 1980-81: president, Peggy Wroten; vice-president, Retha Clifton; secretary, Ruby Wesson; treasurer, Bonnie Stowers; conductress, Jeanette Snell; sentinel, Eudora Kemp; historians, Bonnie Kemp and Kathryn Houston.

Ruby Wesson introduced her cousin, Mrs. Paul Hurt of Tupelo, who showed slides of her three tours to the Holy Land. Very impressively Mrs. Hurt carried her audience through her visits to the Holy Land in 1967, 1972, and 1979.

After the president reminded Kappas that the May meeting would be a Dutch Treat, the meeting was adjourned.

Mrs. Lunetto To Address Extension Club Leaders

How would you like to save at least 50 percent on your next outfit?

Extension Club program leaders will learn this from Mrs. Ben (Panni) Lunetto, Monday, April 28 at 2:30 p.m. at the monthly meeting to be held in the Extension Conference Room.

In her own style and with imagination, Mrs. Lunetto will be showing the club leaders of the month just how she puts it all together to have creative fashions of the season. She will be discussing and showing techniques for stitching some of the popular fabrics.

As are all Extension programs, Fashions and Fabrics is open to the public.

To beat the energy crunch and cut down on gas, the quarterly Extension Homemaker Clubs' Council will meet prior to the program meeting at 1:30 p.m. All club officers are asked to make plans to attend or send a substitute. Delegates for State and National Council meetings need to be elected. The National Council meeting will convene at Biloxi this September.

News From Oak Ridge

By BERYL COATS
Correspondent

The sunshine has been so very beautiful and people are enjoying it. We have been promised more bright days; let's hope they come.

Visiting with the congregation last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. B.B. Hill from Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. E.Q. Weeks of the Osborne Community and Donna Coats from next door.

About the sick these reports were made: Mrs. Pauline Jones was still in the Baldwin Hospital but may be able to come home soon; Mr. Clyde Gardner is a patient in the Baldwin Hospital and hasn't improved very much. Mrs. Pearl Green "Ma" is back in her apartment following eye surgery in Tupelo; Betty Coats was able to attend the worship service last Sunday; Mam-ma Coats hasn't been feeling as well as usual; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kennedy aren't improving much either.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Nonan Harris drove to Sheffield, Ala., last Thursday to visit Mrs. Thelma Henry, a patient in the Shoals Hospital. Thelma is a sister of Bryan and Nonan. They found here to be better.

They say fish is brain food. If so, some of our clan should have elevated I.Q.'s. The Lynn Coats family, the George Coats family, the Kenenth Wilson family, Philip Coats, and Cathy and Sean Polk were all here with us for a fish supper Saturday night, April 12. Perhaps I should say for "dinner" for it was definitely the heaviest meal of the day.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Geraldine Taylor in the loss of her grandfather, Mr. Henry Barron, who died Saturday, April 19. Also to the other relatives who mourn his passing.

Sympathy goes out to the kins-people of Herman Wilson, especially to his mother. Herman was buried last week.

Bro. Haskell Sparks who once preached for Oak Ridge will preach in a weekend meeting with the Jacinto Church of Christ May 1-3.

I had a check-up with Dr. Shipp, my glaucoma specialist Monday, April 14. The pressure in the left-eye had not gone down. Before this report is printed I shall have had surgery in the Magnolia Hospital. I do not dread it as I have utmost confidence in Dr. Shipp's ability. Wish me luck!

Several men met at the church building last Saturday to make improvements where needed. They put a new roof on the portico and made it slanting so as to make better drainage.

Here's a saying I would like to pass along: "Only shoes and gloves have perfect mates." This would be good for husbands and wives to consider--and business associates.

Mrs. Mary Dees and Mrs. Martha Nanney were absent last Sunday but they worshipped with the Cherokee, Ala., church and attended the funeral of Mary's uncle that afternoon.

Mrs. Zana Floyd is feeling better now. She was in Tupelo a few days last week visiting relatives.

Dianne Brumley

Miss Brumley To Wed Mr. Owens

CORINTH—Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wood of Corinth announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Dianne Brumley, to Ricky Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lealon Owens of Booneville.

Miss Brumley is the daughter of the late Learned Brumley of Adamsville, Tenn.

The wedding date has been set for Friday, April 25, at 7 p.m. at the House of Prayer on Meadow Creek Rd. The Rev. Joe Turner will officiate.

No invitations are being sent, but all friends and relatives are invited.

Library Notes

By LEEDAVIS
Librarian

The George E. Allen Library has received several new items during this week.

Among the non-fiction are Henry Kissinger's "The White House Years;" "The Collector's Illustrated Guide to Firearms," by Martin Miller; "Powered Vehicles," by Reginald Carpenter, a book giving the history of ships, planes, and cars; "Rugs and Carpets of Europe and the Western World" by Jeanne Weeks; "Reader's Digest Practical Guide to Home Landscaping;" "A Pew for One, Please: the Church and the Single Person" by William Lyon; and "The Americanization of Dixie: the Southernization of America" by John Egerton.

The variety of subject matter is continued with such fiction as "Solomon and Sheba" by William Jay; "No Second Wind," by Alfred Guthrie; and a translated Japanese novel, "Footprints in the Snow," about Meiji.

You will want to spend as much time as you can with the beautifully detailed work of the American Heritage Publisher's "The Original Water-Color Paintings by John James Audubon for "The Birds of America." This is a collection at the New York Historical Society and consists of 431 color reproductions.

For the junior patron there's "The Art of Walt Disney" by Christopher Finch; "The Indian Mummy Mystery" by

Mrs. Cleveland Addresses Natchez Trace DAR Chapter

The Natchez Trace Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held their April meeting in the Hospitality Room of the Frank Haney Union on the Northeast Junior College campus. Hostesses were Mrs. J.W. Abernethy, Mrs. Irb Benjamin, Mrs. Joseph Curlee, Mrs. Bobby E. Hodges, and Mrs. Edward McCoy.

Mrs. Webster Cleveland who gave a report on the annual State Convention presided over the meeting, challenging DAR's and all citizens to foster patriotism.

Several resolutions adopted at the convention included the proposal to find a permanent home for the Olympics in a neutral country. The convention also expressed appreciation to good neighbor Canada in assisting in the rescue of six hostages.

The subject for the timely program by Mrs. John David Price was "Instruments of Our Suicide." Quoting Marge Bardnell, Mrs. Price named four suicide instruments--namely, lack of morality, crime (27 billion); alcohol (9 billion alcoholics and 19 billion on the verge) and apathy.

The meeting was adjourned with the reciting of the American's Creed.

The News From Sunflower

Where were you Monday night, April 14, when a very small group assembled at the East Side Community Center for the inspirational program of "Save The Children Week?"

Professor William James Chambers, acting as host and M.C. for this event, began a series of activities for the entire week consisting of much needed straight talk, information, constructive criticism, and recommendations for improvement that was acceptable and would have been beneficial to all concerned parents had they been present. On this particular night, messages interspersed with spiritual songs from the community choir were given by Mayor Charles Crabb, the Rev. James L. Triplett, the Rev. Willie Powell and the Rev. Louis Ragin.

The program, "Save The Children," was constructed and produced by Mrs. Gwynnell Thompson. As driver for the Head Start Center and director of the East Side Community Center, she saw the need, NOW, for a greater concern and action from the parents in the lives of our young people. To bring to the attention of all parents this fact and to insure your participation and cooperation, a week of entertainment and information was spiritually conducted by her and others to bring this about.

Tuesday night, the drug abuse seminar was conducted by, Robert Vaughn and Ms. Barbara Shackelford. Fun night, Wednesday, was directed by, Miss Genise Rowland and Tangie Thompson. Thursday night, career night, was directed by Jerry Christian and Bobby Cox.

Friday night, musical night, directed by Mrs. Marsha Ragins, consisted of selections from area church choirs, special selections from out of town guests, and a combination of old spiritual hymns from Mrs. Shinault, Chester Young, and the glee club from the old Wick Anderson High School days.

All of these activities were beautifully constructed. Those chosen to direct each event were fully aware of and acquainted with the problem. Those attending were enlightened and benefited from the information given.

You, too, are aware of the problems. Are you concerned? Do you love your children? If so, then sacrifice some time and show that you are by attending meetings and participate to help solve the problems.

We continue in prayer for the sick of the community and in the hospital this week. Those in the hospital are Mrs. Myrtle Gaither, Mrs. Mary Crockett, Mrs. Mary Hastings, John Spencer, and Joseph Holland, son of Mrs. Stella Holland. We sincerely hope they are well soon and back home with family members.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon at the Wolf Creek M.B. Church for Mrs. Eula Robinson. Our sincere and deep feelings of sympathy is extended to her husband, Cecil Robinson and all family members during this time of bereavement. His sister Mrs. Lucille Burress, and William Martin returned home from Memphis, Tenn., for the funeral. Others attending from out of town were Bert Martin from Memphis, Wadell Younce from Corinth, Vera Luster from St. Louis, and Mildred Shinault from Texas.

Expressions of sympathy are also extended to Mrs. Jobie Welch during this time of sorrow at the loss of her brother, Mr. Charlie Warren. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Wolf Creek M.B. Church. Family members from out of town attending the funeral were Mrs. Ruby Smith, Mrs. Juanita Hamlington, Ann and Fugeli, all of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Annie Strickland and daughter, Stella, from Minnesota, and Mrs. Charylene McGaha and her son and grandson of Chicago, Ill.

The annual choir day held at Wolf Creek M.B. Church Sunday was, as usual, a grand and unique event. The Rienza Community Choir appeared as guest choir. They truly deserved the honor. All participating choirs did a superb job. The event was enjoyed by all.

The Rev. Lewis Ragins was speaker for the morning worship services at Beckley Chapel C.M.E. Church Sunday morning. His message was, as usual, very inspiring and enjoyable. Visible evidence of spiritual growth is apparent in his manner and conduct. We pray that he will continue to grow in courage, faith and knowledge.

Pastor's Anniversary and Appreciation Day will be observed at the Mt. Olive M.B. Church, for the Rev. Markete Rogers Sunday, May 4, at 2:30 p.m. The speaker will be the Rev. Samuel Agnew. The public is invited.

Revival services are in progress this week at the Sand Hill M.B. Church of Baldwin. The Rev. D.S. Rainey is the pastor. The Rev. Caldwell will be the speaker for the week. If possible, plan to attend.

Happy birthday wishes are extended to all those celebrating birthdays in this month. Especially to Cecil, who will celebrate his on April 25. We hope for you many years of peace and happiness, but on this day, just peace will suffice. Happy Birthday C.

On Sunday, May 18, the Crowns of Harmony will appear in song at the Sand Hill M.B. Church of Baldwin. The public is invited. The time will be given at a later date.

"God chose the young man because he is strong, and the old man, because he knows the way." These words came to my mind some weeks ago when I was told by an individual who is young and eager that the old people need to get out of the way and let the young people take over.

To rid my mind of the worry, fear and concern that this statement invoked, in last week's article, I used Mr. Jumper's attitude and actions toward the youth to express the need for continued leadership for our elder citizens. Apparently, for my own peace of mind, I failed to do so because the thought, fears and concern are still constantly with me.

Why the concern? Why the fear? It is this: Many of our elder citizens are moving more and more into the background to allow our young people the opportunity to advance because of their educational training and knowledge in certain areas. This is very good for most of the young people that are given the opportunity to leadership are eager and ready to accept the responsibility. The elders, therefore, willingly give place for this to be so because of their great pride, confidence, and assurance in the ability of the young people to cope.

In so doing, many are given free reign, support and encouragement to accomplish a desired purpose or goal. Many new ideas are successfully put into action, and, in many areas, great progress and improvement is made. By these attempts to allow for advancement and progress, the older people are slowly, but surely, fading out of the action and taking with them the very life of the thing that is in existence.

Not all, but many of our young leaders in their eagerness to succeed, become too possessive of positions, resentful of guidance and advice (which they term interference), and will not cooperate with experienced leadership to make a good thing better.

I am not being critical of our young people for I am extremely proud of the accomplishments and contributions that they have made in all areas. But where they have the ability, the knowledge and energy, in many instances experience and understanding is lacking and the push for change can be disastrous. Patience and dedication is also essential.

In this changing world and our permissive society there are some things that must not change. For the elders of our community, especially those in leadership positions, their very lives are built upon principles, values and the righteousness of God that has kept them and brought them this far. These same principles, values and respect for God's laws have been used as guidelines in raising our young people of today. Educational degrees played no great part in this.

Wisdom and knowledge gained through education is a necessity today, but understanding, patience and the ability to rightly apply this knowledge comes from experience. This is found in our elders. Whatever road you choose to travel has already been trod by some elder. Whatever task you undertake, has already been accomplished by some elder.

When they speak today, it is only to guide, direct and help you overcome or to avoid the pitfalls and obstacles they know are there.

To our elder citizens, on the job, in the home, church or school, wherever you may be, I urge you to continue as long as God wills it to be so.

To our young people: "A wise man will hear and will increase learning and a man of understanding shall attain unto wise counsel."

Till next week.

Tim Horton Leads FBLA Meeting

Tim Horton, president of the Prentiss County FBLA morning group, led the program at the April meeting of the club.

He involved the group in the discussion, and brought out the necessity for respect and the ability to get along.

A surprise birthday party was given to Tim on his 17th birthday. A birthday cake with candles awaited Tim on his arrival for VOT at the Prentiss County Vo-Tech School.

Thrasher Extension Club Meets

The April meeting of the Thrasher Extension Homemakers Club, scheduled to be held in the home of Mrs. Leland E. Deaton, was held instead in the home of Mrs. E.H. Parker. Mrs. Deaton was injured in an accident and was unable to serve as hostess.

All members expressed their wishes for complete recovery to Mrs. Deaton.

The devotional scripture for April, Luke 6:27-37, was read by Mrs. Parker. It was followed by prayer.

In keeping with the spring season, a film entitled "Landscaping on a Budget" was shown. Mrs. J.W. Maness also gave instructive comments and distributed literature.

The rest of the program was devoted to a discussion on macrame design and tatted edging.

Following the program, those present—five members and one guest—were served refreshments.

Mrs. Parker will also be the hostess for the May meeting.

Tuesday night was our regular business meeting. We did really good on our break and we want to thank everyone again who helped all of us make it possible.

"King," "Queen," "Duke," "Little Princess," Baby Princess" and "Little Queen," all attended the dance and coffeebreak at Kosciusko, Miss., Sunday. They brought home two trophies—an appreciation trophy and trophy for the farthest traveled club in state. We appreciate you all doing this for the club.

Happy birthday to "Charly," "Round Lady," and "Pinetree." Hope each of you have a nice day and enjoy many more wonderful years.

Anyone wanting advance tickets to the Ace Cannon show in Tupelo, May 2. Contact any club member or call 728-6333 or 728-6441.

Our regular social will be a week later than planned Saturday, May 10. We will be entertaining The Singing Echoes at this time.

The Jamboree sponsored by the Mainstream C.B. Club of Greenville, Miss., will be May 3-4 at the Mainstream Center, "Raceway Road." Camper hookups will be available. Several cash prizes and merchandise will be given away during the event.

On Saturday afternoon, happy hours will be from 3 to 6 p.m. A dance will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Several trophies and awards are to be presented.

Several club members are planning to attend. Contact "Upholstery Man" for tickets or more information.

News is short this week because "Little Blue Wave" has had pneumonia this week and I've been sick also. I missed the meeting and haven't had my radio hooked up on that account. We are both better and hope everyone else is making it okay after our long weekend.

Until next week, stay well and attend the church of your choice.

Correction On Owens-Cox Wedding Date

The wedding date for the marriage of Tammy Gean Owens of Marietta to Timothy James Cox of Jumpertown was incorrectly stated in last week's paper.

The correct date for the double ring ceremony is May 24. It will be held at 7 p.m. at the Liberty United Methodist Church of Booneville.

The Banner-Independent regrets the error.

Home Economist's Notes

By CLAIRE T. ROSS
Extension Home Economist

The second series of Weight Off Wisely has gotten off to a fast running start: 21 in the 1:30 p.m., Thursday class, and 25 in the 5 p.m. Thursday class, with the exercise class not having organized at the time of this release.

Now a word about the exercise class. The real objective is for participants: to maintain physical fitness and body tone; to learn their desired weight and calorie intake to keep at this level, and to understand the place of good balance food intake.

Beware the Salad Bar

Salad bars are not always good for the waistline. Don't count on the restaurant salad bar to avoid calories. You may be fooling yourself.

A simple bowl of greenery sprinkled with vinegar or lemon juice contains only 25 calories. But a plate heaped with lettuce, cottage cheese, potato salad, olives, bacon bits and croutons, drenched in dressing and accompanied by a slice of buttered bread, can hold 700 calories or more.

Teach Nutrition This Summer

Take time this summer, when children are out of school and at home, to teach them the principles of good nutrition.

Your family should have the correct number of servings from each of the four major food groups—milk, vegetables and fruits, meat and bread and cereals. Serve additional food to meet energy needs, but not in excess of needs. Serving a variety of foods is also one of the best ways to provide a well-balanced diet.

Call the family together and decide on a regular schedule for meals. Suggest some ground rules, such as—no meals will be skipped, including breakfast. Provide quick and easy things for children to prepare for breakfast. Fruit, cereal, milk and toast will provide a nutritious meal. The important thing is to help your children form the habit of eating breakfast every day.

If you work, plan with your children what they would like for lunch. Post written plans on a cabinet door or bulletin board. Keep the foods simple and let the children decide who will fix each food. You may need to do a little advance preparation to help them. Limit snacks. Discuss how too many snacks cause dental cavities. Stock a snack shelf with nutritious snacks such as fruit, nuts, whole grain breads, crackers, cheese, milk and fruit juice. Reserve refrigerator space for perishable snacks. Children will eat the snacks provided for them.

Eating together benefits the family. Decide on the evening meals the family will eat together. Make them so special that no one will miss them. Vary meals by planning cookouts and picnics.

Use this time together to teach good table manners. Teach the children to set a table correctly. Serve some meals buffet; have Daddy serve the plates or an older child serve the table. This can be an important learning experience.

Summer is a good time to introduce a new food, especially fresh vegetables. Prepare them in a familiar way and serve them with old favorites. Let younger children examine the new food as you prepare it. Encourage children to taste new foods. If it's a new vegetable or fruit, let them taste it raw.

Wal-Mart Employees Honored

The Wal-Mart store in Booneville recently celebrated its fifth anniversary with a party honoring the eleven employees who have been with the store since it opened in April 1975.

Jim Harris, manager of the Booneville store, presented the eleven employees with five-year service pins and told them that they, along with Wal-Mart's 21,000 other employees, are responsible for the unprecedented growth of the retail chain.

"We are fortunate to have such dedicated associates," Harris told them. "Through your efforts Wal-Mart has grown from one store in 1945 to its present 300 stores in eleven states. You have helped us become the first retail company in history to reach one billion dollars in annual sales in less than sixteen years."

"You and our other associates," Harris continued, "are responsible for the recent citation from Forbes magazine ranking Wal-Mart the number one retail company in five basic areas of comparison. You helped us do it and we are proud of you."

Wal-Mart has devoted itself almost exclusively to smaller communities. With few exceptions Wal-Mart stores are the largest non-food retail stores in their respective markets.

Company executives feel that the chain's small community concept helps preserve and expand the shop at home principle in the markets where its stores are located.

The eleven employees receiving five-year pins were Lorene Burns, Terri Bates, Liz Floyd, Allie Ashcraft, Sue Livingston, Sandra Stringer, Marlene Sartin, Shirley Hindman, Elaine Stevens, Lucille Parrish and Glenda Thrasher.

At the Annual Meeting of Stockholders held at the Holiday Inn in Oxford recently, Malcolm Reese, president of North Mississippi Savings & Loan Association reported to the stockholders that profit for the calendar year of 1979 was $711,187, up 25 percent from 1978 when profit was $572,867.

The stockholders were told that this was the most profitable year North Mississippi Savings had ever had. Assets of the association reached $111,018,157.

In his report, President Reese told the stockholders that during calendar year 1979 the association had paid in excess of $6,250,000 in interest on savings and had financed over 250 homes in north Mississippi, amounting to over $10,000,000. He called attention to the current economic problems facing all businesses, but assured the stockholders that North Mississippi was prepared to accept the challenge of the 80's.

The stockholders, by secret ballot, voted to elect 20 directors to guide the association for the following year. These included Roland Adams, Oxford; Samuel D. Austin, M.D., Cleveland; Richard E. Davis, Hernando; George P. Delivorias, Starkville; L.E. Elliott, Ripley; James M. Faulkner, Oxford; Eugene B. Gifford Jr., Booneville; Arthur Gordon, Grenada; M. Lee Graves, Jr., Clarksdale; Warren W. Gray, New Albany; Will A. Hickman, Oxford; Joe M. Hudspeth, Oxford; W.T. Lamar, New Albany; Neil H. McKenzie, Cleveland; Herbert Rogers, Jr., New Albany; Robert H. Scott, Houston; Mary R. Sullivan, Clarksdale; Nat G. Troutt, Senatobia; William L. Watson, Ripley; and Henry A. Wigley, Clarksdale.

Immediately following the annual meeting, the board met to elect officers.

Officers to serve the institution for the ensuing year include J. Roland Adams, chairman of the board; J. Malcolm Reese, president & chief executive officer; W. Terry Maxey, vice president and secretary; and Danny L. Williams, vice President-Treasurer.

Successful Attempt

County Agent's Report

By W.H. HADEN

Vegetables Need Sunlight

Will your spring garden receive enough sunlight to produce as much as it should?

Many gardeners don't take into account that trees around gardens grow larger each year and shade more of the garden area. As a result, the garden doesn't receive the light it needs to produce at its full potential.

Evaluate your garden spot now and remove any unnecessary growth that can reduce yields.

Stop Wild Onion And Garlic

Small grain seed crops won't pass certification inspection if wild onions or garlic are present. Both weeds can be controlled with 2, 4-D or mixtures of dicamba and 2, 4-D.

Apply in sunny weather when the temperature is 60 degrees F or higher after tillering has begun and before stems being to joint. The herbicide probably won't kill the onions or garlic; but there will be enough "knockdown" so the combine won't pick up the bulbs if the grain is cut high.

For rates and other application information, call or visit the county Extension office.

To produce a profit, permanent pastures must be managed with the same intensity as other field crops.

As the cost of fertilizer increases, a farmer cannot afford a scattergun approach to pasture fertilization. The surest way to profit from each dollar spent on fertilizer is to soil test. Apply fertilizer according to specific soil and forage needs.

Pasture Management

Weeds must be controlled by spraying and-or clipping. Research shows most pasture weeds contain twice the nitrogen and phosphorus and three times the potassium as desirable forages. Weeds may also produce nitrate poisoning, other toxicity problems and off-flavors in meat and milk.

Premeasurement And Early Measurement Services Available Through ASCS

Farmers can assure that they comply with provisions of the 1980 programs by taking advantage of premeasurement and-or early measurement services.

We will measure, reference and mark out fields with stakes prior to planting. To be certain of full compliance, farmers must plant within the stakes that are placed when the land is measured. This is a premeasurement service which is available prior to planting.

Producers who take advantage of premeasurement are then guaranteed that the fields are a certain size.

Early measurement service is available for the measurement of crops which have already been planted. Since staking and referencing is not required for this type service, the cost to producers is considerably less.

Costs of the premeasurement service and the early measurement service are based on the estimated cost of performing these services. These charges will be furnished by the county ASCS office to interested producers upon request.

ASCS Offers Farmers Two Program Options

All farmers are eligible to participate in the 1980 wheat and feed grain program and may choose between two price support options.

The program contains higher target prices for feed grains and wheat for all farmers who file an accurate acreage report and plant within their normal crop acreage (NCA). Farmers who plant in excess of their NCA and accurately report their acreages will also be eligible for program benefits based on lower target prices for these crops.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1980, recently signed by President Carter, establishes the two-level target rate for corn, grain sorghum, barley and wheat.

The new act also extends disaster protection for corn, barley, sorghum, wheat, cotton and rice through the 1980 crop year. Combined payments made on these crops are limited to $100,000 per person.

Report Fall-Seeded Acres At Signup

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) is currently accepting acreage reports for 1980 feed grain, wheat and upland cotton. There is no set-aside requirements and all farmers who file an accurate acreage report will be eligible for program benefits.

Farmers have until May 15 to report the sizes and intended use of their wheat, barley, oats and rye crops. The report should be as accurate as possible. The more accurate the report, the less trouble the farmer has to qualify for program benefits.

ASCS will randomly check farms to verify that acreage reports are accurate and also make aerial photographs available for farmers to identify their fields.

The entire farm must be certified correctly before a program participant can receive the benefits of price support, disaster and deficiency payments. This year it is important for all farmers to report their crops. With no set-aside provisions, everyone who reports will be eligible for any payments made, regardless of planted acres and normal crop acreage.

Farmers who have not certified their fall-seeded crops are urged to do so as soon as possible. The Prentiss County ASCS office is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Interest Rate Increase On Farm Storage Facility And Commodity Loans

Loan applications filed after close of business April 15, 1980, will bear an interest rate of 13 percent per annum for the life of the loan.

The interest rate is based upon the rate of interest charged Commodity Credit Corporation by the U.S. Treasury.

For Qualified Employees

Employers Offered Tax Credits

Employers, how would you like to add to your work force and get a tax break at the same time?

The Federal Government is offering you just that kind of proposition. By having qualified workers, you can get a major tax break.

Charles Smith, Corinth Area Manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service, stated that the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit (TJTC), which is an elective tax credit, applies to wage costs incurred by firms between Jan. 1, 1979, and Dec. 31, 1980, for certified employees hired after Sept. 26, 1978. The credit is equal to 50 percent of the first year's wages up to $6,000 and 25 percent of the second year's wages up to $6,000 for certain groups.

Smith said these groups include the following: (1) Recipients of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments; (2) Handicapped individuals referred from Vocational Rehabilitation; (3) Youth, 18 through 24 in economically disadvantaged families with income the preceding 6 months less than 70 percent of the Bureau of Labor Statistics lower living standard; (4) Vietnam-era Veterans under 35 who are economic disadvantaged; (5) recipients of general assistance (state of locally financed welfare) for 30 or more days; (6) Youth, 16 through 18, participating in an approved cooperative education program; and (7) Ex-convicts (convicted of a felony) who are economically disadvantaged and hired with 5 years of release from prison or date of conviction.

The first step in claiming the tax credit is for the prospective employer or employee to contact a local Job Service Office, who may assist in eligibility determination and who can provide more information and will initiate a "Targeted Jobs Tax Credit Voucher" on which it is declared that the applicant is a member of a "target" group and, therefore, his or her wages can be the basis for a tax credit and the applicant declares that the information given is true.

The employer then completes the voucher, confirming that the applicant has been or will be hired, and sends it to the Job Service Office, which returns a TJTC Certificate within 72 hours.

The certificate, which the employer keeps in his files, serves as the basis for completing the special IRS tax credit form that is attached to the employer's tax return.

Smith urges anyone interested in further information about this program to contact the Mississippi State Job Service office in their area.

BAR ASSOCIATION CONTRIBUTES TO LIBRARY FUND—Thomas H. Comer Jr. (right), president of the Prentiss County Bar Association, made a recent contribution to the Eula Dees Memorial Library Fund. Model Offices Opened At VoTech School

The Business and Office Department at the Prentiss County Vo-Tech School last week opened a branch of the Midwest Packaging Company.

There are three departments of the company which is a manufacturing firm which custom builds packaging machines for overwrapping consumer goods. Their products are the packaging machines and spare parts for packaging machines, which may either be custom build or standard.

In these model offices set up in the Business and Office Department, there are two receptionists, Cindy Pharr and Cheryl Alexander. The three office managers, Heida Tollison, Monica McDowell, and Teresa Roberts.

Bookkeepers are Cindy Hill, Beverly Ivey, and Donna Roberts. Secretaries are Becky Jones, Becky Maness, and Patricia Edge. Clerks are Jay Ann Knight, Debbie Gann, Betty Tucker, Jan Entekin, Michelle Beck, and Lynette McGee.

Winter Pleased With Progress Of Program

JACKSON—As the 1980 legislative session enters its final three weeks, Gov. William Winter said that he is highly pleased with the progress of his legislative program. The governor said the legislature has been "genuinely responsive to the programs I have initiated to meet the needs of Mississippians."

In discussing the first three months of his administration, Winter said, "I am especially pleased with the excellent working relationship I have established with the members of the legislature. As a former legislator myself, I understand the operation of state government from the legislators' point of view, and I think this is reflected in the significant and meaningful programs which the legislature is in the process of adopting."

Stressing the need for fiscal responsibility and increased government efficiency, Winter said, "My legislative program is designed to streamline state government and provide the best possible services to the state's taxpayers at the least possible cost."

his state of the state message, reorganizing the state Banking Department. Another bill initiated by Winter, which has received favorable legislative action, would abolish the Motor Vehicle Comptroller's Office and incorporate its duties into the State Tax Commission.

In the crucial area of energy and transportation policy, both the House and Senate have passed versions of a bill proposed by Winter to create a Department of Energy and Transportation. This department will enable the state to develop a coordinated energy and transportation policy.

Winter also said he is closely following the progress of a bill which would establish regional railroad authorities to handle federal Railroad Revitalization funds, and another which would create a state Housing Authority to issue bonds to finance private housing.

Winter said he believes that these bills, designed to boost the state's economy and assure more effective operation of state government, will be enacted by the current session of the Legislature.

County Coaches, Seniors To Play In Benefit Game

A special Coaches-Seniors Basketball Game has been rescheduled for Thursday night May 1 to be held at the Booneville High School Gym.

Bill White, a spokesman for the game, said the date was changed due to conflicting activities going on during the original scheduled date.

The May 1st game, which will benefit the American Cancer Society, will feature the best high school seniors in Prentiss County against the Prentiss County coaches.

Mr. White said he had contacted the coaches and all agreed on the new date.

Jumpertown coaches Bill Ward and Guyton Wilkerson will be on hand along with senior Cardinals Kent Geno, Donald Simmons and Bud Lindsey.

Wheeler Coach Sam Richey along with Coach Mike Anderson and Coach Billy Shelton will entwine in action against two members of the 1980 State B Champions ballclub Wheeler's Mitchell Garner and Tim McCoy.

Coach Mackie Don Smith of New Site, standing at 6'8" will play against his senior Royals, Eddie Robertson and Dennis Johnson.

Thrasher coaches Jacky Rowsey and Lonnie Murphy will both be on hand and play along with senior Rebels

Keith Bullard and Dickie Goddard.

Booneville High School mentor Rickey Ford will battle against Devil seniors Bill Groves and Bo Burress.

Other BHS coaches Mac Curlee, Riley Presley and David Wilkerson along with Anderson mentors Lee Stewart, Kenneth Shackelford, Leroy Brooks and Marietta Coach Rickey Howell are expected to be on hand for the benefit game.

Wrestling Returns To Bonner Arnold Coliseum

An All-Star wrestling card has been set for Thursday night May 1 at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College's Bonner Arnold Coliseum.

Some of the top wrestling stars in the mid-south will be on hand for the top wrestling show.

An 18 man two ring battle royal will highlight the giant wrestling card which includes such stars as Rick and Robert Gibson, Wayne Farris and Larry Latham, Sargeant Davis, Alakazan, Jimmy Hart, Jerry Jarrett, Bill Dundee, Jimmy Valiant, Rick Morton, David Shultz, Dennis Condry, Ken Lucas, Billy Robertson, Paul Ellering, and Sonny King. This is the main event. As if that was not enough, this is just part of the action. Also on the card will be a six man back alley brawl and two more grudge matches that from all indications could be two of the toughest fights anywhere in the Mid-South.

In one of the main events, wrestling superstar Jimmy Valiant will battle in a Southern Heavyweight Title Match against Paul Ellering with manager Jimmy Hart and in yet another title match David Shultz and Dennis Condry will battle against Ken Lucas and Billy Robertson.

A number of preliminary matches will also accompany the main events which puts May 1 on the map as one more exciting night for Prentiss County wrestling fans.

Don't forget . . . Set Thursday night May 1 on your calendar for one of the biggest wrestling cards in the history of Jarrett-Welch wrestling. An 18 man two ring triple chance battle Royal . . . Six man back alley brawl . . . Two southern heavyweight matches, plus much more . . . Be there . . .

Bulldog Netters Nip BHS Squad 3-2 Monday

Booneville High School's tennis team dropped a 3-2 decision to New Albany here Monday afternoon in action held at both the Booneville West Side Park and the Country club Courts.

The Devil netters defeated the New Albany squad in both girls doubles and mixed doubles.

Booneville's Kathy and Tracy Arnold easily defeated the New Albany team in the girls doubles blanking the Bulldog netters

6-0, 6-0 while Bo Burress and Donna Rinehart won the mixed doubles competition. Burress and Rinehart dropped the first set 5-7 but came on strong to take the remaining two sets to get the win.

In other matches, Booneville's boys doubles team of Chris Shackelford and Ronald Burns dropped two straight sets 6-1, 6-0 while in Boys singles, Booneville's Mark Chaffin lost to New Albany's Tim Henderson 6-3, 6-0 and in girls singles Booneville's Suzanne Simms lost to her New Albany opponent 6-2, 6-0.

OFF BALANCE—Booneville's Donna Rinehart appears to be a bit off balance here as she attempts to return her opponent's serve. Mixed doubles partner Bo Burress looks on. The duo won their match against New Albany Monday.

'Devil Baseballers Drop Two Games

BALDWIN—Booneville's Blue Devils dropped two baseball outings at Baldwin here Monday afternoon in local diamond action.

The Devils dropped a 10-3 decision to Iuka's Chieftans and then lost a 6-4 squeaker to Baldwin's Bearcats.

In the Iuka contest, the Chieftans exploded for 10 hits including three round trippers to breeze to the seven run victory.

Booneville's Greg Oakley held the only highlight for the Devils on the afternoon with a solo homerun while Tim Hill chipped in with a double.

DEVILS FALL TO BEARCATS

In the Baldwin contest, Jackie Thomas had the lead hit for the Bearcats with a two run double while Greg Oakley led the Blue Devil hitting brigade with two hits on the day.

Roscoe Taylor earned winning pitcher honors on the day while Rusty White took the Blue Devil loss.

The Devils had Wednesday afternoon contest scheduled at Baldwin against New Albany however results of that game was not available at press time.

Resolution Honors Wheeler's Eagles

A Joint Resolution has been signed by both the House of Representatives and the Senate honoring Coach Sam Richey and the Wheeler Eagles for winning the State B Championship. A special ceremony was held at the Eagle Gym Monday with representatives Tim Ford and Billy McCoy and Senator Bill May on hand to present Coach Richey a plaque in honor of the Eagle squad. NE Blanks Northwest

The Northeast Mississippi Junior College tennis squad blanked Northwest of Senatobia 6-0 here last week in local action held Saturday at the Northeast courts.

In men's singles, Jim Kwasinski dropped Northwest's Tim Hale 6-1, 6-4 while Anthony Clark tagged Bob Young 6-1, 6-0.

In men's doubles, Roland Humphreys and Dennis Colton dropped Garland Luther and Steve Arnold 6-2, 6-1.

In other men's doubles action, Jeff Crabb and Mark Buskirk stopped Dean Boutwell and Terry Treadgill 6-1, 7-5.

June Samon took charge in women's singles with a 4-6, 6-2, 6-0 victory over Angie Gilbreath while Sharmon Coley stopped Northwest Mary Yeager 6-3, 6-4.

GRADUATE AWARD—Greg Hurd (center), student in the Associate Degree nursing program at Northeast Junior College, recently received a graduate award in the form of a check from the Mississippi Nurses Association, District 26. The annual award is given to defer expenses for taking the state licensing board examination. It is presented to a student who lives in the district, on the basis of instructors' recommendation. Margie Hurt, (left), district president, presented the award during a luncheon for the sophomore A.D. nursing students at Northeast. Mike Barnes (right), of Tupelo, member of the MNA state membership committee, was guest speaker at the luncheon.

be hurt since these are non-durable goods, among the last to feel the brunt of buyer resistance.

This is a source of more than 40,000 jobs in Mississippi, and once it is affected by the national economy, the impact will be considerable on a lot of smaller towns in the state.

Once it was said that a laid-off worker in Mississippi could always go back to the land to provide food for his family. Even that is no longer a certainty for thousands of Mississippians, many of them black, who have permitted the old homestead to be bought up by developers or absorbed into big farming operations.

How will all this economic uncertainty affect the ability to finance state government? Says Wiley Humphreys, the State Tax Commission's top fiscal authority: "I'm keeping my fingers crossed and sweating."

More Rain Expected

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Mississippi will have more rain than usual and below normal temperatures for the next 30 days, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Heavy rain has already hampered field preparation in mid-April, and frequent planting interruptions will occur until mid-May. Farmers will need to budget time wisely and use dry days effectively. Rainfall from mid-April until mid-May usually varies from 4 to 4.5 inches.

Soil temperatures have risen slowly this spring. Farmers may be able to avoid expensive replanting by checking soil temperature trends and forecasts before planting, say agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville. This information is broadcast daily at noon on NOAA weather radio and many commercial stations.

Some Farm Loan Rates Increase

Interest rates on some loans made by the Farmer's Home Administration have been higher since April 14, according to Mark Hazard, state director for Mississippi FmHA.

Interest rates for farm operating loans went from 11 to 12.5 percent; for economic and disaster emergency loans from 13 to 14 percent; for long term real estate loans from 11 to 12 percent; and from 11 to 13 percent for unsubsidized loans for home ownership, rural rental housing and rural housing site development, Hazard said.

He said that interest rates have been forced up, reflecting increased costs of borrowing for the funding of FmHA programs.

Farmers Home interest rates increased to 14 percent for economic and disaster emergency loans for farmers.

"Interest rates for the agency's program of low interest loans for 'limited resource' farmers will not be increased at this time," Hazard said. Loans under this program made for farm production will continue at 7 percent and for farm real estate at 5 percent.

The "interest credit" feature of the home ownership program will not be affected by the interest rate changes. Families with adjusted incomes of less than $11,200 still may obtain "interest credits" which, in effect, lower the amount of interest they pay on home loans.

For loans guaranteed by Farmers Home Administration, interest rates will continue to be negotiated between borrower and lender, Hazzard said. These include loans for business and industrial development, for housing for persons with above moderate incomes, and for some farm loans.

A First For State

Local Bull Test Station Is Successful

A privately-owned bull test station for Mississippi passed a second successful hurdle when its first performance-tested bull sale was held in Booneville in early April.

Dalton Garner, operator of the Northeast Mississippi Beef Evaluation Station, sold the 35 top Angus and Polled Hereford bulls he had been testing since last November.

The station is a "first" for Mississippi and represents a cooperative venture between Garner, the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES), two breed associations and beef producers.

Garner has provided a self-help system to supplement on-farm performance testing of Mississippi cattle. The 35 bulls offered in the sale were among 54 placed on a test completed March 20.

"Considering the tight financing situation now, we were pleased with the results of the Garner farm sale," said Dr. Bill Swoope, an MCES beef cattle specialist. "The bulls sold averaged $1,146, with several bulls bringing $3,000, $2,850 and $1,650."

The bull that brought the top price was a Polled Hereford selling as Lot No. 18 to an Alabama breeder for $3,000. Dr. Swoope said that bull had an adjusted yearling weight of 1,039 pounds and gained 3.29 per day on test.

The high selling Angus Bull (Lot No. 14) sold for $2,850. Dr. Swoope said this yearling stood 50.25 inches at the hip and weighed 1,075 pounds at one year of age, gaining 3.25 pounds per day on test.

Dr. Swoope said bull performance testing in the South traditionally has been performed at university agricultural research and extension facilities, but a great need exists to expand into the beef cattle industry. He said the station at the Garner farm is the first such effort in this direction in Mississippi.

"We think this is a worthy concept, and we are eager to promote the idea so someday privately-owned regional centers around the state will provide this kind of service for beef cattle producers," Dr. Swoope said.

He said privately-owned testing centers such as Garner's, working in cooperation with beef producers and university personnel, have been successful in Minnesota, Iowa and Oklahoma.

The Garner sale included Angus and Polled Hereford breeds, but Dr. Swoope said he would like to see a testing system developed which might include all breeds of cattle eventually.

Those yearling bulls reaching the sale ring April 5 were "grown out" for 140 days with records kept on their performances. During the test, the bulls were weighed on five separate 28-day intervals, and their progress evaluated.

This information was made available to the cooperating farmers both during and at the end of the test. Armed with test results, farmers then had a management decision to make on whether to include a bull in the sale or to keep the animal as breeding stock.

Diets for the animals were controlled tightly. Garner fed them identical rations of corn, silage and concentrate. Precise records were kept on each animal to learn exactly how much weight each gained. The average gain per day for all bulls was 3.06 pounds per day.

Cost for the testing service consisted of a management fee ($100 per bull) plus costs of feed, health care and other related expenses. This fee included labor, provision of the test facility, weighing, recordkeeping and day-to-day management. Feed and health care were provided at actual costs.

All bulls considered for testing on the Garner station met strict entry requirements. They were registered with weaning records, ranged between seven and nine months of age and met minimum daily gain requirements.

All were structurally sound and in good health. Producers were limited to three bulls each in the test; the total number of animals was limited to 60.

"We think testing is a step in the right direction for Mississippi cattlemen," Dr. Swoope said. "These tests give farmers who are in the market for bulls the kind of information they need to make a decision on whether or not a bull is good enough to improve their herd."

Rust Is Serious Disease For State Pines

By JOHN STUART

Fusiform rust is the most serious disease of pines in Mississippi. Seedlings and saplings are more readily killed when infected. Larger trees are more commonly disfigured and weakened, frequently resulting in storm breakage and economic losses by preventing development of high value forest products.

Slash and Loblolly Pines are particularly susceptible to this disease. Longleaf and shortleaf pines are quite resistant and the other species of pines are susceptible in varying degrees. Weather conditions along with available hosts determine the amount of infection which will vary in intensity each year.

This rust is heteroecious, requiring two host plants to complete its life cycle. The pycnia and aecia are formed on the stems and branches of the various species of pine. The aeciospores have coarsely warted walls and are ellipsoid in shape. Uredia and telia are produced singularly on pedicels or stalks, are ellipsoid in shape, and have spiney walls. The teliospores are one-celled.

Usually the bright orange spores produced on the galls of a dying tree are the first signs of this disease noticed. Galls of varying sizes can be readily observed if a thorough search is made of branches and stems.

Close examination of the underside of oak leaves in the late spring may reveal many hair-like projections or yellowish spores. In nurseries stem swellings of the seedlings can be observed, particularly in late summer or early fall. Tiny purple spots on the needles and stems are the first symptoms of the disease, but are difficult to detect.

In the spring, usually March and April, millions of powdery yellow or orange spores are produced by the fusiform-shaped galls on the pine trees. These spores can be carried by the wind for long distances. If they contact developing oak leaves and the temperature and humidity are favorable, they germinate and develop rapidly.

Spores are later produced in the oak leaves, and are carried by the wind to young succulent needles or growing shoots of pines. If temperature and humidity conditions are favorable these spores germinate and develop, producing visible swellings on the stems or branches within a few months. They continue to grow and by the following year may be able to produce spores to start the disease cycle again.

The galls persist for many years and usually produces spores each spring. Spores produced on the pines cannot infect other pines, but must go through the oak leaf cycle. Temperatures between 60-80 degrees F with the humidity over 95 percent for several hours are necessary for successful spore germination, thus limiting the periods of infection.

No chemical controls are recommended for this disease under forest conditions. Several cultural practices, however, will help reduce damage and losses to natural or planted pines.

For any further advice, please call me at 728-6835, or come by the Forestry Office located in the back left-hand side of the First Mississippi Bank of Commerce Building.

Rail Abandonment Is Bitter Pill

By ED BLAKE

Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

Business and farm leaders last week tasted firstfruits of impending railroad abandonments in the state as they sampled recommendations of a railroad feasibility study which agrees with proposed abandonment and subsequent dismemberment of certain Illinois Central Gulf branch lines with best wishes for whoever has the cash and inclination to pick up the pieces.

The uncoated rail pill is a bitter one for north Mississippi counties to swallow—but swallow it nonetheless was the tone of a report by Roger Creighton Associates, Inc. who conducted a federally financed study of recent operations of the railroad.

On April 8 similar meetings were held in Oxford and Pontotoc to give a feasibility reading on two lines which operate as a part of the ICG system between Bemis, Tennessee, and Ackerman or Coffeeville. Both lines flunked the feasibility study, according to Fred Memmot who said his firm took a conservative approach so as not to raise false hopes.

A question and answer period at each session suggested that the feasibility investigation was based on current revenues under adverse conditions, and not on what may well have been the situation if more rail cars had been available, if certain services were not denied to the lines due to unsafe trackage, or if overhead expenses were lower than those accruing under ICG operation.

Further, doubts were raised as to assumptions made by the report dealing with the economic impact to some dozen north Mississippi counties if abandonment does result. The report contended that adjustments would have to be made by business and agricultural interests, but the economic importance of these was downplayed. Potential losses included those from wages, taxes, relocations of business operations, etc. Yet, one shipper representing a Chicago based company stated that if his plant was denied rail service at its present location on the Bemis to Ackerman line, the company would shut down the Mississippi plant and relocate in another state.

The study recommended that the two north Mississippi branch lines be sold to other rail lines such as the locally operated Columbus and Greenville line, Southern, or Frisco. Or failing in obtaining a buyer from one of these nearby existing lines, the branch lines should be dismantled and sold in parts if certain segments can be made financially attractive to a buyer.

Other recommended courses of action were to seek extensions from the mentioned neighboring lines or the Mississippi and Scuna Valley line which hauls wood products nearby. Less used segments could be converted to side tracks or bought outright by shipping interests.

ICG could switch from a loss situation to a gain of about $15 million over the next 20 years, Memmott said, by discontinuing service and selling the rail properties.

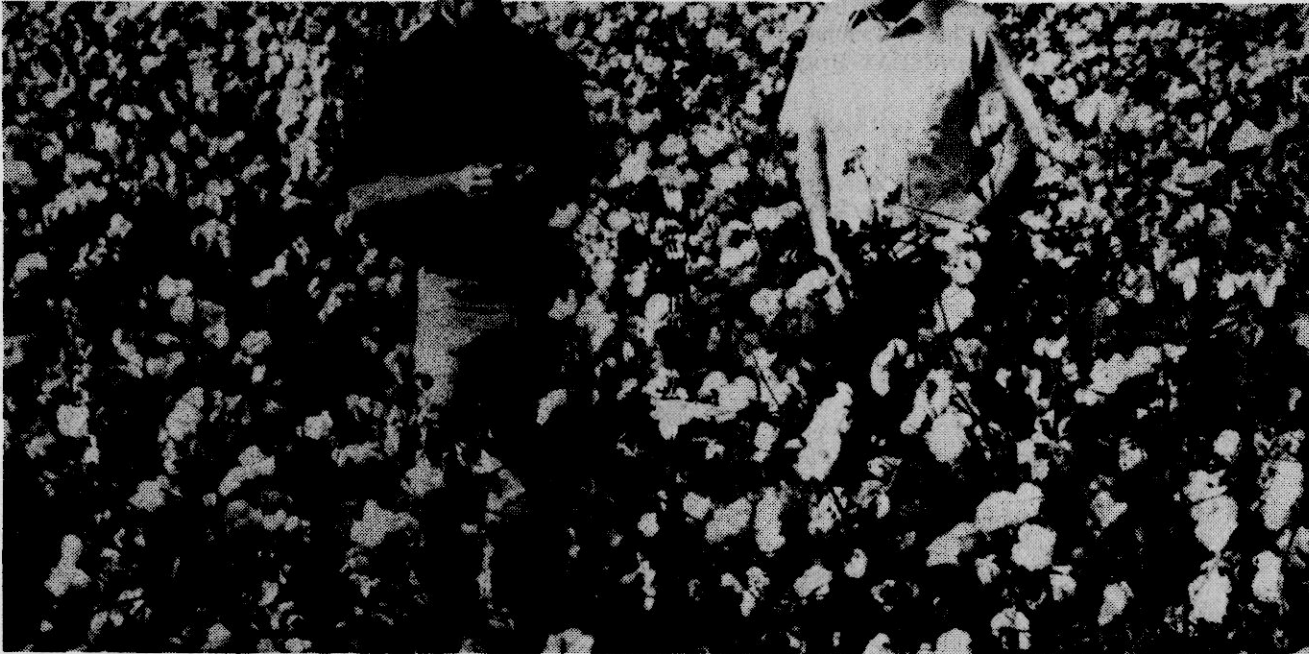

The spokesman added that the line to Coffeeville primarily is a wood products line that generates less revenue than other types of freight. He suggested that the wood industry in that area needs to modernize by converting pulpwood to chips for greater transportation efficiency. A representative of one major forest industry in the audience pointed out that currently his company is unable to get hopper cars for chips due to the poor condition of the line and fines for safety infractions.

The point appeared well made that ICG is on the way out of the branch line business in Mississippi. And there seems to be a "sooner the better" attitude crystallizing in order that new management may be achieved with a greater desire and capability for operating these leaner lines for the benefit of state commerce.

COTTON GROWERS TALK ABOUT VIKING SHIP CALCIUM NITRATE

"After last year's trial, we'll be using Calcium Nitrate on all of our cotton."

James Hegidio (Right)
Vienna, Georgia

Mr. Hegidio farms 400 acres; 250 acres are in cotton, 50 acres in peanuts, and 100 acres in soybeans. In 1978, Mr. Hegidio made a trial application of Calcium Nitrate on his cotton, and comments, "We used a ground application at 300 lbs. per acre and we're very pleased with the results. Calcium Nitrate did its job quickly and got out of the way for early defoliation. We had early maturity, and our harvest ranged from 800 to 1200 lbs. of lint per acre. Calcium Nitrate will be used on our total cotton acreage in 1979!"

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Jesus Is The Judge

Shall Not The Judge Of All The Earth Do Right? Genesis 18:25

By C. D. Edge

We live in a day of decisions. The opinion of the grandstand doesn't count. The convictions of the different contestants involved do not count. The decision of the official is final.

The last decision for you and I will be made by the Lord Jesus. Jesus is the Judge and we need to be reminded that the Bible says, "the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: that all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him." John 5:22-23.

Judgment has not been given to committees, preachers, synagogues, cathedrals, fellowships, unions, assemblies or groups. IT WILL DEPEND UPON WHAT HE CALLS YOU. There is no appeal. We will either be OUT or SAFE, no inbetween no halfway.

He called a very wealthy and selfish man, OUT. The rich man also died, and was buried; and in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment-Luke 16:22-23.

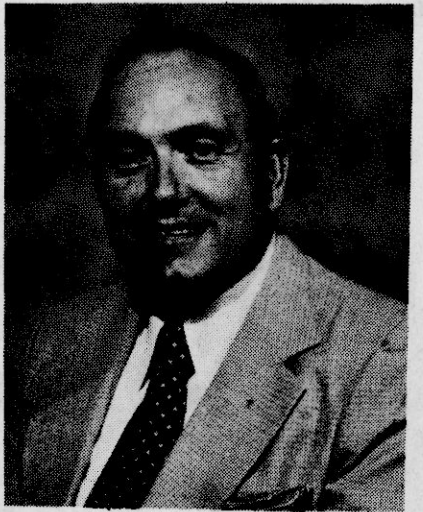

He called an unforgiving man, OUT. Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellowservant, even as I had pity on thee? And his Lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors--Matt. 18:33-34.

He called an embezzler, Zacchaeus, SAFE. This day is salvation come to this house-- Luke 19:9.

He called a prostitute, a woman taken in adultery, SAFE. Neither do I condemn thee-- John 8:11.

He called a habitual criminal, a thief, SAFE. Today shalt thou be with me in paradise.-- Luke 23:43.

You need to know who is officiating. It's not what you think you are. It is what He says you are. Your future will depend upon what He calls you. He will make the right decision. Psalm 119:75 says, "I know, O Lord, that thy judgments are right-- JESUS IS THE JUDGE.

We're more than the bank around the corner.. we're the people next door.

The Peoples Bank is more than a handy place to cash a check, or tend to your other banking business. Inside every office, you'll find people who really take an interest in helping you.

But Peoples people don't stop helping when they go home for the day. They're involved in making their community a better place to live and raise a family, not only through providing financial services for you, but through active participation in the life of their community. You'll find our staff and officers working in civic projects, helping with church and school activities, and helping out wherever they can. Because in addition to being expert, professional bankers, they're good neighbors as well. And that helps them be better bankers, because to really help people, you have to understand their needs and the needs of the community.

So the next time you visit your favorite office of The Peoples Bank, remember that the people you see there—and the people who work "behind the scenes"—are not only helping you with your banking business, they're helping to make our city a better place to live. Because good neighbors make good bankers.
