Leaking Tanker Truck Creates Anxious Moments

A potentially dangerous situation involving a leaking tank truck caused some concern for local officials and Booneville firemen Wednesday morning, June 11.

The tanker had overturned at the intersection of North Lake Street and the Highway 30 Bypass and was leaking its contents onto the side of the road and into the road ditch.

Since the driver of the truck, James Rochester of Florence, Ala., was injured and had to be taken to the hospital for treatment and x-rays, officials were not able to immediately determine what the tanker was transporting.

Firemen searched through the smashed cab of the vehicle in an attempt to find the bill of lading which would identify the load, but because of the condition of the cab were unable to locate that information. As a precautionary measure, the Booneville Police Department blocked off traffic on the bypass and North Lake Street.

Fortunately, it turned out the tanker was loaded with a liquid fertilizer—a mixture of liquid nitrogen and ammonia. The only real danger from this mixture of chemicals, Fire Chief Frank Fleming said, would be if it worked its way into and contaminated the city's water supply. There was little chance of that occurring, he said.

Morgan Davis, 67, of the Stevens Apartments in Booneville, died as the result of a fiery two-car accident just south of Booneville on U.S. 45 Friday afternoon, June 13.

Davis was a passenger in the back seat of a 1969 Ford LTD which was traveling north on U.S. 45 about 1:30 p.m. when it was struck from the rear by a 1969 Chevrolet Camaro, reportedly driven by Dennis Gerald Gentry, 32, of Route 4, Booneville.

The car in which Davis was riding was driven by Riley Stokes, 57, of Booneville. Stoke's wife, Bertha, was also a passenger in the vehicle.

The collision caused the Stokes' vehicle's gas tank to rupture and the leaking fuel ignited, consuming the automobile. Stokes and his wife in the front seat were able to get clear of the vehicle, but Davis was trapped in the back seat. Would-be rescuers were unable to approach the vehicle as the flames spread to the surrounding grass and brush.

Stokes and his wife were taken to the Northeast Mississippi Hospital in Booneville, where he was treated for first degree burns and admitted and she was treated for first and second degree burns and admitted.

Gentry was also taken to the local hospital, but was transferred to the North Mississippi Medical Center in Tupelo where he was reported to be listed in good

Welcome
Rain

After several weeks without rain, Prentiss County farmers and gardeners were beginning to hurt for moisture until the showers Monday afternoon and Monday night brought some relief. It was reported that many farmers had stopped soybean planting while waiting for the rain. Only scattered farms in the state have received significant rain since late May. Unfortunately, the Mid-South Farm Weather Service in Stoneville says Mississippi farmers face more dry and warm weather, with temperatures averaging above normal and most areas receiving less rain than usual through mid-July. POTENTIAL DISASTER—In an attempt to identify the leaking contents of an overturned tanker truck, Booneville Fire Chief Frank Fleming (center foreground) looks through papers from the crushed cab of the vehicle for a bill of lading while other members of the fire department continue to search the cab. The truck overturned Wednesday morning, June 11, at the intersection of North Lake Street and the Highway 30 Bypass. Driver James Rochester of Liquid Transport Inc., Louisville, Ky., was pinned in the cab for a short time, but received only relatively minor injuries. He was treated in the emergency room of the Northeast Mississippi Hospital in Booneville. (Photo by Ken Christian)

Separate School District:

Attorney General Says Formation Legal

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

State Attorney General Bill Allain's office has issued an opinion that the formation of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District was formed legally.

Eugene B. Gifford Jr., attorney for the Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen, has received the opinion from Allain's office which says the proper steps were taken to form the separate school district. Gifford requested the opinion in a letter June 3.

Gifford said a question had arisen as to whether or not the city would have to secure the approval of the County Board of Education before the separate school district could become effective.

County school board attorney Donald Franks has contended that such approval is necessary, while Gifford said he feels approval is not necessary.

The opinion from the attorney general's office, written by special Assistant Attorney General Susan L. Runnels, on behalf of the attorney general, agrees with Gifford.

In the letter to Gifford, Runnels states:

"The creation of a municipal separate school district is governed by Section 37-7-605 which requires an ordinance of the governing authorities of the municipality and approval of the State Educational Finance Commission. This statute does not require the approval of the county board of education for creation of the district."

Runnels further said that Section 37-7-5, which states that approval of the board of education is necessary, "was applicable only to the reconstitution of the school system occurring from Dec. 28, 1953, through July 1, 1957."

Last week, Franks cited

City Teachers Seek Assurance Of Employment

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

Booneville Unemployed Teachers, through their attorney, Jeremy J. Eskridge of Tupelo, have asked the Prentiss County School Board to guarantee them employment for the 1980-81 school year. While awaiting that assurance, the teachers plan to continue to seek unemployment compensation from the county school system.

The teachers in the four city schools were not offered contracts with the county school system at the same time as teachers in the county schools because of the uncertainty of who will operate the city schools next year—the Prentiss County School District or the Booneville Municipal Separate School District.

The Separate school district is scheduled to become effective July 1. However, the Prentiss County School Board refuses to recognize the legality of the formation of the separate district even after a recent opinion to that effect by the state attorney general's office.

The county school board has recently drawn up contracts for the city teachers, and school board attorney Donald Franks said Tuesday the teachers' contracts are ready for them to sign whenever they want. However, the school board has put a stipulation in the contracts that, if the courts rule the separate school district is legal and consequently turns over to them the city schools, the county would no longer be under

Local Sales Tax Collections
Drop During Month Of May

Sales tax collections for Booneville for May 1980 are down almost 22 percent, or by approximately $9,758, as compared to collections from the same period one year ago, according to figures from the Mississippi Tax Commission.

The tax commission quotes sales tax collections in Booneville during May 1980 at $34,987 and collections during May 1979 at $44,745.

Statewide, sales tax collections dipped to $52.1 million during May 1980 compared with more than $54.1 million during the same month in 1979—a decrease of about 3.7 percent.

However, tax commission officials say overall tax collections for the state's general fund are running about 13.9 percent higher than last year despite the recent slump in sales tax receipts.

Fire Report:

City Firemen Stay Busy

The Booneville Fire Department has been busy since the first of June, having answered some 10 calls through June 17.

The worst of the fires occurred about 1:30 p.m. Friday, June 13, as the result of a wreck on U.S. 45 South when a 1973 Chevrolet Camaro collided with the rear of a 1969 Ford LTD. Morgan Davis of the Stevens Apartments in Booneville, a passenger in the rear seat of the LTD, died as a result of the fire that consumed the vehicle following the wreck.

Fire department personnel spent approximately six hours at the site of an overturned tractor trailer rig Wednesday, June 11, even though there was no fire. The tanker, loaded with liquid nitrogen and ammonia, overturned shortly after 9 a.m. at the intersection of North Lake Street and the Highway 30 Bypass, leaking its contents onto the side of the road.

The truck was owned by Liquid Transports of Louisville, Ky., and was being driven by James

an opinion from the attorney general's office, dated Feb. 12, 1974, which, according to Franks, said in order to establish a municipal separate school district the city would first have to pass an ordinance to that effect and then obtain permission from the county school board before going to the Education Finance Commission for approval. Franks said Tuesday the latest opinion from the attorney general "has had absolutely no effect on the position of the county school board--and shouldn't, because it is just a ruling of the attorney general and it's contradictory to former rulings. I would say it kind of neutralizes the position of the attorney general." "It is still my opinion and the board's opinion that the Booneville Municipal Separate School District must have the approval off the county board before it can be a legal district," he continued. That opinion has not changed because of the attorney general's opinion. We will operate the schools until and unless the courts direct otherwise." Franks said the county school board plans to operate all the county schools next year, including the city schools. When July 1 comes and the separate school district trustees ask for the keys to the facilities and other property, "they will be refused," he said. Franks also indicated that it would most likely be up to the separate school district trustees to file any lawsuits contesting the matter, not the county school board. "At this point," he said, "I see no reason for the county school board to start any litigation."

obligation to the city teachers. The city teachers have said they will not sign contracts with that stipulation because they believe it is not only unfair, but illegal. Eskridge, the teachers' legal representative, met last Friday afternoon for about two hours with Franks, representing the county school board, and attorney William Smith, representing the city school board, to discuss the teachers' contracts. In that meeting Eskridge told the city and county representatives that the teachers are not taking sides with either of the two boards.

teachers a county contract which contains the condition that if the city district comes into being and is judicially declared to be a legitimate district during the 1980-81 school year, and if the city district consequently offers an equivalent contract to the teacher within 10 days, the county contract will be terminated. If the city district comes into being but the city does not offer the teacher a contract, the county will continue to employ the teacher for the balance of the year. If a teacher offered an equivalent city contract but declines to accept it, the county contract would nevertheless be terminated. (2) Each teacher who signed such a firm commitment by the county would necessarily have "reasonable assurance" of employment for the 1980-81 school year and his or her unemployment compensation claim for amounts due after signing the contract would therefore be denied and dismissed. (3) If the two opposing school districts reach voluntary agreement instead of having to go to court, comparable results would follow.

employ four or five teachers whom it lacked ADA to justify minimum program funds." He added, "Local funds could meet this burden much easier than they could meet the burden of paying unemployment compensation," especially if the compensation is extended beyond the summer months. Referring to the meeting with Eskridge, the county school board's attorney said the teachers "wanted an unconditional contract from the county school board and I don't think the county school board is in a position to give them an unconditional contract." "I think the contract will have to have the provision that in the event the courts did award the schools to the city, that the county would be under no further obligation to the teachers," Franks said. "That's just a matter of insurance in case that happens. No body can predict with absolute certainty the outcome of litigation."

"The teachers want the best interests of the community and of the pupils to be protected and, at the same time, they want the assurance that their rights to employment will be protected," he said. In a letter which he presented to Franks at that meeting, Eskridge said it is his belief that the county school board did not comply with the Mississippi School Employment Procedures Law when the board decided not to offer contracts to the city teachers. He said he feels the letter written by Superintendent Lex Cain in December to the teachers "does not serve the purpose mandated by the statute and the decisions of the supreme court."

"Thus," Eskridge said, "if any of the teachers should elect to do so, they would have the right to demand the immediate issuance of a written contract which did not contain any conditions that were not contained in their 1979-80 contracts." In his letter to the county school board attorney, Eskridge also said that if the county system hires all the teachers and the courts do declare the separate school district legal, turning over to it the city facilities, the city system will be able to hire all but "four, five or six teachers who would be caught in the bind" from the county system. The teachers' attorney contended that it would be much less expensive to the county school system to pay the salaries of these four or five extra teachers than to pay the unemployment claims for all the city teachers. He estimated that the probable cost of unemployment compensation to the county district "may range from $100,000 to $125,000, just for the summer 1980 period."

Franks said no resolution of the problem came from the Friday meeting. He said he knows of no other planned meetings between the lawyers concerning the teachers' contracts. "The teachers' contracts are ready for them," he said. "When they want to sign them, they will have the opportunity to sign them with that condition."

President White expressed his gratitude to the generous people for their donations.

Local Sales

(Continued from Page 1) through May 31 totaled $786.5 million after monthly disbursements to local governments. The figure was $693 million at the same time last year. The state sales tax has generated more than $557.8 million since the fiscal year began last July, an increase of 11 percent over the same period a year ago. State budget officials last week voiced concern about the recent decline in sales tax receipts, a major barometer of Mississippi's economy. Sales tax collections reported in May from selected municipalities are listed below, with May 1979 figures in parenthesis: Aberdeen, $39,503 ($41,777); Amory, $48,430 ($53,510); Baldwin, $17,764 ($21,789); Columbus $194,742 ($206,926); Corinth $104,947 ($103,993); Fulton $22,843 ($26,862); Iuka $23,614 ($21,602); Jackson $1,551,812 ($1,581,683); New Albany $54,782 ($52,446); Oxford $78,408 ($75,946); Ripley $31,171 ($33,329); Starkville $85,134 ($86,798); Tupelo $264,453 ($286,233); and West Point $51,869 ($49,557).

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, In Acts the eight chapter I read where the apostles came down and gave the Holy Ghost to some people, just what does this mean?

ANSWER: Perhaps the most misunderstood subject in the Bible is the function of the Holy Spirit. I appreciate your question. First, one must understand the Holy Spirit was given in Measures (see Jno. 3:34). These people in Samaria had already been baptized in water for the remission of sins. Phillip the evangelist had accomplished this. However, Phillip did not have the power to impart this measure of the Holy Spirit. Only the apostles had this power. This is why Peter and John had to come down to Samaria. They were able to lay hands on the early Christians and impart the gifts of the Holy Spirit as recorded in 1 Cor. 12. The reason the early church needed these gifts is that the New Testament had not been written at this time and they needed to be instructed in the way of the Lord. One can read about these gifts and their function in 1 Cor. 12, 13, and 14. These gifts were to be used until the perfect law of liberty, the New Testament had been completed. After this these miracles would end (See 1 Cor. 13:10).

Letters To The Editor

Doesn't Like 'Speaking Out'

Editor,

I would like to comment on your Speaking Out section.

I believe it should be the paper's responsibility to build harmony, goodwill and to help make Prentiss County a better place in which to live.

I believe a person should be able to speak out on his convictions, but be required to sign his name.

Your paper is more interested in selling papers than you are this community.

Until this policy is changed, I will not advertise or buy your paper.

I hope you will publish this in your paper.

Alexander Dairy Products Inc.
Booneville, Mississippi

Editor's Note: The Banner-Independent began the Speaking Out column as a service to our readers. There are many people in our community who would like to express their opinions on some issue, but will not do so publicly because of fear of reprisals against their business or because of their position in the community.

Also, if a name were required, callers could fabricate one or give someone else's name, and it would be difficult, if not impossible, to verify. If we ran one of these comments using the name of a person who did not actually make the call, not only would it be unfair to that person, it would leave the Banner-Independent open to a lawsuit from that person—and rightfully so.

Granted, there will be and have been times when there will be an attempt to use this column for revenge on another person or for personal gain or satisfaction. However, we do our best to screen out this type of call, most probably not 100 percent effectively. But, for the most part, the comments that have been published in this column reflect the comments we have heard on the streets and in the establishments of our community.

One other complaint that we have received concerning the Speaking Out Column is that it gives only negative comments. This is not true. Of the approximately 180 comments printed since the column began, about 30 percent of them, or more than 50 comments, have been of a positive nature—praising someone, thanking someone or agreeing with an action taken.

True, this is not a staggering ratio, but considering that people with complaints are much more likely to call than those with compliments, this is a pretty good percentage.

Nevertheless, we do feel the column serves a purpose—even if that purpose is just to get people talking about an issue. We do not feel that ignoring an issue, or just hoping it will go away, will solve any problem—our problems must be brought out into the open for any kind of meaningful solution to result.

We do not intend to discontinue the Speaking Out column at this time. However, we do urge readers of the column to remember that what they are reading are the opinions of the people who make the calls—and opinions are sometimes based on misinformation which can lead to the wrong conclusion.

me, no words could ever thank you enough. I am sure someone out there needs a friend as much as I do.

Guest Editorial:

The Year Of Balanced Budgets?

Editor's Note: The following is an excerpt from an editorial that appeared May 27, 1980, in "The Washington Post" concerning Congressman Jamie Whitten and the House Appropriations Committee.

This may be the year of reduced federal spending and balanced budgets, but you could never tell it from looking at the old pork barrel.

Take, for example, a small part of the supplemental appropriations bill pending before the House of Representatives. The administration had asked for $39.6 million more in water projects for the Corps of Engineers. The House Appropriations Committee, that staunch guardian of the public purse, promptly raised the ante to $210 million. The committee also wrote specific instructions about three projects.

Project One is the "design and construction of grade stabilization structures along Twenty Mile Creek in Lee, Itawamba and Prentiss Counties, Mississippi." Who represents those counties in Congress? Jamie L. Whitten, chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Project Two is the "design and construction of a retaining wall" at Site 3 of the Hollywood-Ardmore beach area in Chicago. Sidney Yates of Chicago is chairman of an appropriations subcommittee.

Project three is the "construction and/or implementation of a plan selected by the Corps of Engineers for providing protection to the community of Coffeeville, Miss., from high stages, to a level of 236 feet plus three feet of freeboard, on Grenada Lake." Who represents Coffeeville? It's Jamie L. Whitten again.

The committee put other instructions to the corps into its report accompanying the bill. Six of the nine projects mentioned by name appear to be pets of members of the committee.

All this comes from a committee that hailed its own internal review operations—in this same report—as "the congressional mechanism which has repeatedly demonstrated the greatest utility in achieving spending control."

Eyes On Mississippi

Henry Challenge Serious Threat To Democrats

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—Mississippi Democrats, whom everybody thought had squared away ideological and racial differences which for years separated the state party from the mainstream of the National Democratic Party, once again could be perilously close to disaster.

Those who understand the dynamics of party politics, especially those who helped bring about the transition which in 1976 ended three decades of intra-party Democratic warfare in this Deep South state, see in the challenge filed by ousted State Democratic Co-Chairman Aaron Henry with the Democratic National Committee a serious threat both to new-found unity as well as the future of the party in Mississippi.

Essentially they regard the Henry challenge as a highly personal, off the wall attempt to wreck everything because he has lost one of many hats in Mississippi.

But Henry in 12 years of trooping back and forth to the DNC as the leading black Democratic spokesman from Mississippi has friends in the hierarchy of the Democratic Party. How much clout he still has is probably going to be the key to how his long-shot challenge comes out.

Should he be able to persuade the National Committee that the whites are back to their same old tricks in Mississippi, and wipe out both the slate of National Convention delegates as well as the state party committee and officers, the results would be calamitous for the Mississippi Democratic Party.

Keen observers of Mississippi politics agree this would be the final blow that would drive whites out of the Democratic Party in the hands of an all-black caretaker group.

For years, some white Democratic Loyalists such as state AFL-CIO president Claude Ramsay, have seen this threat of triggering an exodus of whites to the Republican Party. "There'll be no more Democratic Party if we are kicked out again," Ramsay says.

Ramsay is one of those who tried to save the black-white co-chairman idea in the State Democratic Convention in April, contending that it was needed for the time being to solidify black support and assure a maximum effort to keep Republican Ronald Reagan from carrying the state in November.

Significantly, Ramsay is of the opinion that black Democratic leaders failed to press their opportunity when the co-chairman question hit the floor on the night of the April 17 convention, and Henry was presiding at the time.

Henry's entire challenge before the National Committee will rest on remarks made by Gov. William Winter to the May 10 meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee when he advocated that the party name a "white male" chairman.

Both the words "white and male" have been given great emphasis by some blacks who are supporting Henry's challenge. But, ironically, one hangup of black party leaders who were pushing for the co-chairman idea was that they were not willing to put a black female in as vice-chairman, as would be required by the newly ratified state party constitution if the chairman is a male.

In the political speculation that has resulted from Winter's straight-forward statement in favor of a "white, male chairman of the party, the agreement is that while it was naive and impolitic, it was another manifestation of the complete honesty with which Winter approaches problems. Some, including those blacks on the executive committee, apparently were shocked because they were unaccustomed to a politician being so candid.

Henry will be missing one key ally in this challenge, namely Mayor Charles Evers of Fayette. It was Evers who opened the doors at Chicago in 1968 which led to the unseating of the Mississippi Regular delegation and the seating of the predominantly black Loyalist delegation.

In a memorable appearance before the credentials committee of the National Democratic Convention, Evers was so persuasive that the committee rose and cheered when he had finished, removing any doubt as to the outcome of the challenge.

Now Henry and Evers are far apart on the present issue, with Evers backing Governor Winter on the move to replace Henry with white Chairman Danny Cupit. The degree of hostility between the two former colleagues in the civil rights movement was evident in a letter which Henry circulated last week accusing Evers of peddling his political support for pay and secretly aiding the Republican Party.

Perhaps the most incomprehensible aspect of the Henry challenge from the viewpoint of Mississippians is the charge that William Winter is a "racist." For one whose political career was jeopardized for many years because he was thought too soft on blacks, that is some kind of bitter irony.

Feed Store Burns

"After weathering the storms and fire ravages for more than sixty years, the old frame building owned by Payne Brown and operated as a feed store was destroyed by fire at an early hour Friday night.

"This building was not only the oldest, but the last wooden building in the business section of the town. It was erected by Mr. Dick Smith, father of R. B. Smith, supervisor of the second district.

"It is reported that this building was built from material from a storehouse torn down and moved here from old Jacinto. Later this building was used by the Murphys and then went into the hands of Capt. Jas. F. Gresham, one of the older citizens of this section.

"Nearly forty years ago, L. L. Brown Sr. opened up a produce business there and it has since been in the hands of the Brown family. It passed from the father to the late L. L. Brown Jr. and, after his passing away, was being conducted by his son E. Payne Brown at the time of the fire.

"It is not known just how the fire originated. It was making much headway when the alarm was turned in. The building was well filled with feedstuffs and groceries and, while there was some insurance, the loss greatly exceeds the insurance.

"For the present Mr. Brown is conducting his business from a building in the Mahaffy block near the old Livery Stable.

"Splendid work by the fire department saved other buildings from the flames."

Pray For Them

Let Them Work

"I think it's a wonderful thing that we can speak out and let other people know how we feel about our law enforcement. They're good in a way, and sometimes we seem to think they could do more than they have been. But if we had their responsibility, we might not do as well as what they're doing. One thing I want to say: I think they should put the prisoners out at work and keep their families off of welfare in place of the taxpayers having to pay for the ones sitting up there."

"Speaking of the prisoners going to church, I think it's a wonderful thing. And I know if they would go to my church, they would each one be welcome. They would be treated like anyone else. And let us all pray for the ones that are in jail, and that God will touch their hearts and they will live a Christian life when they get out, or before they get out because they may not live to get out. Our time is coming and each one of us is going to have to answer for our own sins. No one else can do it. So, let's all pray for them and that God will touch their hearts."

Senate Report

By Bill May

Senator District 5

Itawamba, Prentiss and Tishomingo

S. B. No. 2586: This bill revises the Youth Court Law which became effective on July 1, 1979. While this measure changed a number of minor provisions in the recently enacted Youth Court Law, several significant changes and additions were made.

One of the significant areas of change is the jurisdiction of the youth court. This bill provides that the youth court jurisdiction over a child is forever terminated when the youth court transfers a child to the circuit court and he is convicted. Further, hunting and fishing law violations are removed from the jurisdiction of the youth court.

A number of changes were made in the disclosure of various youth court records involving children. Fingerprints can be forwarded to a bureau of criminal identification or a regional depository for criminal identification purposes; however, they cannot be maintained there. A report can be made directly to the Commissioner of Public Safety when a child's driver's license is suspended for refusing to take a test under the Implied Consent Law.

The county attorney, the district attorney, the youth court defender, and any attorney representing a child will have the right to inspect any law enforcement record involving a child. (Circuit and county judges will have the right to inspect any youth court records of a defendant which were made after his sixteenth birthday. Also, the victim of an offense committed by a child will have the right to be informed of the child's disposition by the youth court.

The act makes it clear that law enforcement agencies may disclose information to the public about the commission of a delinquent act without the necessity of a court order, but information released cannot identify the child or his address. The youth court may disclose information to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission for the purpose of a child's enrollment in the federal Job Corps Training Program.

The act will also permit any person to make a citizen's arrest of a child.

The present law concerning the detainment of children in jails was clarified. Under this bill a child cannot be placed in a jail unless he is segregated from adult offenders and the physical arrangement of the jail prevents a child from having substantial contact with or substantial view of adult offenders; a child cannot be placed anywhere in the same cell with persons not subject to the Youth Court Law.

A new provision in the law will authorize the board of supervisors to levy a tax of not more than two mills for the support of the youth court.

Another new provision will require the youth court to inspect physical facilities prior to assigning the custody of a child to any private institution in order to determine if reasonable standards of health and safety are met.

Mrs. Stutts Is Speaker At UDC Luncheon

Mrs. Lon Stutts was the speaker at the June meeting of the D.T. Beall Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, held June 11 in the home of Mrs. O.C. Robinson on Miller Circle.

A dish luncheon was served and the 13 members and two guests enjoyed a variety of food followed by a time of fellowship.

Mrs. Stutts was thorough in her knowledge of the role of General Albert Sidney Johnson. Johnson was outstanding in his leadership of the South during the war between the states.

He was born Feb. 2, 1803, in Washington, Ky. His forebears were respectable New Englanders and his grandfather was a captain in the American Revolution. His grandfather was also a physician and a leader in the community.

Young Johnson received a well rounded education and wound up at West Point. There he gained a will and courage that would list his name among the illustrious graduates of West Point, Mrs. Stutts said.

His active participation in the War Between the States usually showed cool and wise judgment and he proved himself equal to crisis on the battlefield several times during his period of active leadership and participation in battles involved in the conflict.

As Johnson would ride along the line at Pittsburg Landing, he would speak to his men in calm and confident words, Mrs. Stutts said. Suddenly he called out, "I will lead you."

The Confederates swept forward behind their general. A Federal battery opened fire and Johnson reeled in the saddle. A minnie ball had struck him in the leg just below the knee, rupturing an artery. He died from loss of blood within a short time.

The battle at Shiloh, fought in April 1862 only a year after Fort Sumters, was the greatest fought on the American continent up to that time, Mrs. Stutts said. It and Johnson have held a place of special significance to this area.

He was considered one of the most brilliant and aggressive Confederate leaders, she added. His leadership endeared him to his men, and with his words of greeting and encouragement, Johnson stirred the enthusiasm of his men, imparting to them determination and confidence.

UPTOWN BOONEVILLE

News From Oak Ridge

By BERYL COATS Correspondent

The mild days and cool nights gave us a reprieve from the hot weather, which was good in helping to save energy. On the other hand, harmful insects multiplied much faster and the entomologist said that problem could be controlled. Rain is badly needed and has been forecast.

About the sick—Mrs. Pearl (Ma) Green spent a few days in the home of her daughter, Irene Estis, after her release from the Northeast hospital. She is now at home in her apartment on Bryant Street in Booneville. Let's hope that she will be very careful so as not to fall.

Mrs. Ola Glover went home last week from the Baldwin hospital. She will be going to a Jackson, Miss., hospital in a few weeks for further tests. The heart specialists there thought it best for her to have further treatment by Dr. Chase before coming to them. Our prayers are that all will go well.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kennedy were not showing much improvement as of Sunday, June 15. Let's hope this will change.

Mam-Ma Coats seems to be a little better at times, but there's basically no marked improvement.

Mr. Clyde Gardner remains in the Baldwin hospital, room 46. His condition is unchanged—is serious.

Mrs. May Eldridge is a patient in the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis.

Get-well wishes to those people just mentioned, to others who may be ill, especially Aunt Myrtie Harris, and to Brenda Dawson.

On Wednesday night, June 11, there were two small visitors in our midst. Niki Livingston from Muscle Shoals, Ala., was present, as was Pam Boyd from New Albany. Pam has been visiting her great-aunt, Mrs. Zana Floyd, and the Cecil Koon, Jr. family.

Last Sunday, June 15, there were more visitors: Reggie Davis from Wheeler, Mike Devaughn from Frankstown, and the Jerry Barnes family from West Memphis, Ark.

June 15 was Father's Day and I hope all fathers, young and old, were shown the love and respect they deserved.

Bro. Barber's sermon was based on the attributes of a worthy father. Fathers, and mothers too, should live so as to gain the love, respect and confidence of their children.

My father died when I was 12 years old, but I well remember that he practiced discipline in the home and encouraged us in our studies, both secular and religious. We were taught to work and to be respectful to older people.

A word of praise for Mrs. Calvin Barber from the congregation is due. She is carrying a bus-load of young people to spend a week at Maywood Christian Camp near Hamilton, Ala. Those going are Mike Coats, Lee Jones, Robbie Copeland, David Coats, Ricky Kennedy, Nora and Eunice Barber.

Mrs. Barber will serve as a helper. This is a good work as these young people will share in many activities and the association with other youth. Emphasis will be placed on spiritual things with devotionals being conducted every morning and evening.

The Vacation Bible School will be in progress at Oak Ridge June 23-27 with nightly sessions from 7 to 8:30. This will be the first one to be held here so let's all pitch in and do what we can to make it a success.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

A city fashioned by a thousand years of history can be destroyed in a day;

A mansion, built by the dreams and toil of generations can be brought to ground in an hour;

A statue, sculptured out of a lifetime's experience can be shattered in a minute. And, once broken, such things can rarely be pieced back together again as they were before.

So, too, beware a moment of sudden violent emotion, the searing clash of angry tempers and iron wills, which could tear asunder the bonds of affection and love and destroy the fabric of human friendship.

For such works of art, woven by the shared joys and sorrows of years, even of a lifetime, once shattered, can rarely ever be restored.

Home Economist's Report

By CLAIRE T. ROSS
Extension Home Economist

Ice cream is a favorite in Mississippi—especially when the summer temperature goes up—but we can't take credit for originating it in this country.

Ice cream is not something new but it has come a long way since the days when frozen desserts were a delicacy for the elite. Today, it can be an everyday dessert—better than ever before and good anytime of the year.

Frozen desserts trace their ancestry to the time of Charles I of England over 300 years ago. The king's French chef came up with "frozen milk" that so pleased the king that he pensioned his chef with 500 pounds a year and swore him to secrecy about the recipe.

Have you noticed that one brand of ice cream may cost more than another. One processor may have more than one ice cream on the market.

The more expensive ice cream will probably have a higher milkfat content which will make it extra rich and smooth. It also may have a lower "overrun." Overrun is the amount of air whipped into ice cream during its manufacture.

Ice milk is made from milk, stabilizers and sweeteners. The soft serve frozen dessert you can buy at the roadside stand is specially processed so that it can be served soft.

Fruit Sherbet is made from milk, fruit or fruit juice, stabilizers and sweeteners. Sherbet is characterized by a high level of sugar—about twice as much as ice cream. You may find other related frozen dessert products on your grocer's shelf.

Whatever your frozen dessert preference, make sure your choice keeps its good quality. Keep frozen desserts in a tightly closed carton. Store at zero degrees, or lower if possible. If you store ice cream in your refrigerator frozen food compartment, use it within a week—if it lasts that long!

Frozen desserts are easier to scoop or slice if you will transfer them from the freezer to the refrigerator a short time before serving—about ten minutes for a pint and 20 minutes for a half gallon.

Try this recipe for a delightful, cool refreshment on a hot summer day!

OLD-FASHIONED PEPPERMINT ICE CREAM

6 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups sugar
2 quarts milk, divided
2 cups crushed peppermint candy (approx. 16 oz.)
½ pint whipping cream
1 teaspoon peppermint extract ice
rock salt

Mix eggs, sugar and 1 quart milk together until well blended. Cook in heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and just coats a metal spoon. Cool immediately. Cover with protective wrap; chill thoroughly.

When ready to freeze, combine remaining ingredients with chilled custard; pour into 1 gallon ice cream freezer can. Freeze according to manufacturer's directions using 6 parts ice to 1 part rock salt. Yield: 1 gallon.

With Father's Day this Sunday, June 18, his family selected a late halfway between and honored him by a combination birthday-Father's Day celebration in the form of a cook-out Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Moore. Grilled hamburgers and all the excellent picnic dishes for which the family cooks are famous was enjoyed by Bro. and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Moore, Dana and Brandon Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moore, Kellie, Shellie and Dustin Moore.

Mrs. E.M. Furtick along with Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Furtick of Tupelo and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Joe Rickman, Todd and Mitzi Rickman of Selmer, Tenn., are vacationing in Florida this week.

Friends were invited to the lovely new home of Jerry and Cathy Moore Sunday afternoon from 2-4 o'clock to open house. Guests were shown through the attractive rooms, sharing with Jerry, Cathy, Dana and Brandon the happiness of the occasion. Much visiting, fellowship, and conversation was mingled with the serving of dainty squares of home baked cakes, toasted nuts, and lime sherbet punch. Many good wishes were extended to this happy family on such a special day.

Members of the 1960 graduating class of the Rienzi High School held their 20 year reunion last weekend with a family gathering Friday night at the Rienzi Elementary School and the couples dined out Saturday night at the Holiday Inn in Corinth.

A delightful group of young people consisting of Buddy and Robin Johnsey of Rienzi, Mark Garrett of New Albany and Sheila Roten of Corinth were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Smith. Serving as co-hostess with the Smiths was Miss Viola Presley.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bullard and family enjoyed spending the weekend out of town with relatives.

Friends of Mrs. Jolene Perry regret to learn that her mother, Mrs. Key of Booneville, is confined to a hospital. Best wishes go to Mrs. Key for an immediate recovery.

News From Sunflower

By BETTYE BRANDON
Correspondent

Our sincere thanks and appreciation goes out to Miss Sallie Gardner for the writing of last week's article. The article was very interesting and informative. I thoroughly enjoyed reading it as did most of you from your comments to me in regards to it. Thank you, Sallie.

Our lives are almost back to normal as Cecil is home now and much improved. Our thanks to all of you seems so inadequate as you were so very generous in your concern, offers of help, visits, calls, gifts, flowers and prayers during his illness.

My thanks to you is extended with feelings of deep humility and gratitude for I could not have maintained my sanity without your support, strength and help. God bless you.

Funeral services were conducted for Mr. Utha Christians on Friday, June 13, at Beckley Chapel C.M.E. Church. He is survived by one son, William E. Christian; his wife and seven children, all of Atlanta, Ga.; one brother of Nashville, Tenn.; seven nephews and five nieces. William (Joe) Christian and his family are still in the city until later this week. Those of you who wish to make a belated condolence call or to just visit are welcome and urged to do so. The family has our deepest sympathy during this time of bereavement.

I stated once that there is something special about a child of God that is immediately noticed upon acquaintance. This is very strongly emphasized in the person of Miss Ruby Mae People who is an employee of the medical clinic.

In a casual conversation with her there last Wednesday I was deeply impressed and filled with special joy at the change in her manner and talk. I asked her what had happened to her and she calmly said, "I just realized that I am getting older and need God in my life, so I went back to my church and became an active member and spend most of my time now trying to live for Christ and helping my brothers to realize what it is all about."

She is a member of the Wolf Creek M.B. Church, and a resident of this community. She has a very pleasing and pleasant personality that has been made so much more acceptable and beautiful by the wonderful change that has taken place in her life. God bless you, Ruby.

The Men's Day Program Sunday afternoon at Spring Hill Baptist Church was a very spiritual event with Bro. Jessie Humphreys opening the services with a deeply moving speech and prayer. The Rev. Lewis Ragin brought the message entitled "Open Our Eyes," that included many home truths and inspiring thoughts.

Later at 6 p.m., the Men's Day Program at Beckley Chapel followed the same trend, as Bro. Willie D. Jumper led the congregation in song and prayer.

The Rev. U.L. McKinzie brought the message entitled, "A Love That Will Not Quit." Both programs were thoroughly enjoyed by all attending.

Our prayers continue for the sick and the shut-in of the community and in the hospital. A special prayer and hope for complete recovery is extended for Mrs. Agnes Shannon who, as of Saturday night, was a patient in the C.C. Unit of the local hospital. We hope that her condition is improved.

Most of you know by this time that Lawrence Pierce and Virtus Gardner are both home from the Memphis hospital and that their conditions are reported good. We had not mentioned them by name for sometime and want the family to know that we still care and pray for complete recovery.

Mrs. Annie P. Wicks has returned home from her

Detroit visit. Mr. D.W. Holliday, whom she visited in Detroit, is reported to be in critical condition. Mr. Holliday is a former resident of this community, very well known and highly respected by community members.

The Rev. Prentiss Harris will conduct the revival services at Spring Hill M.B. Church this week, June 16-20. Services begin at 7:30 each evening. The Rev. Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Harris of the Rienz Community, although he is presently living in the city of Verona, Miss.

He is the product of a very strict religious family and the third from that family to enter the ministry. He has been in the ministry for two and one-half years and is pastor of the New Temple Baptist Church of Fulton, Miss. He is married to the former Brenda Bennett; they have one child.

You can be assured of receiving soul stirring gospel preaching this week as you attend the revival, for he is a dynamic speaker. He is also one of our very own, as he was educated here in the Booneville schools and junior college. Plan to attend this week and lend your support.

Revival

Churches all over the district are now making plans for summer revivals. At least the pastors are.

At Spring Hill (my church), the pastor announced to the congregation his choice of a speaker for the week, gave the date and time conveniently set for his being present and that was the extent of his revival plans. Conscientious members then diligently began searching among themselves for homes willing to accept and feed the preachers for that week. Choir members met and selected songs for the final night of revival and that was the extent of our revival plans.

Now, what of the revival itself? A revival is a meeting of spiritual preaching aimed at reviving or being revived; a bringing in or coming back into use; a restoration to vigor or activity; a stirring up of religious faith.

All of this is so desperately needed at Spring Hill. We are suffering badly from the lack of leadership and slowly perishing from the lack of a true knowledge of God.

We are constantly forming new organizations and rituals within the church that are not according to the righteousness of God, acceptable to us only because everybody else is doing it. Where does God fit in?

By the time this article is read only two days of revival services will remain. What has been accomplished during the previous days? (Only God knows.)

We are all agreed that something is wrong and that something needs to be done. Now is the time.

Let us take these last two remaining days to correct and rectify the many wrong things that are happening within our lives that affects the spiritual workings of the church. For instance; let us rid our minds of the pressures of material and carnal concerns and allow this revival to begin within us through a sincere invocation to God to open our eyes that we may truly see how to follow His example and His will; to create within us clean hearts and minds and renew within us a right spirit; by re-dedicating our lives to the true worship of God and all that it entails; to make a stronger firmer commitment and exercise your faith; assume your responsibilities as leaders of the church and do your duty.

Deacons and Stewards, you have been selected by man as directed by God to a particular task. Are you really filling it? Parents, how much are we willing to sacrifice for the sakes of keeping the children off the street? The East Side community park and center is a place for recreation. The discipline, correction, love and spiritual training of a child must come from the home. A visit to the park will emphasize what I mean.

Elders and mothers of the church, you know what is wrong; you know what is needed. God has not told you that your work is finished, that you can sit back and rest. In spite of your ills and inhibitions you must continue to fill your places in the church that the old way, God's way will not be completely abandoned to rituals and programs. Help us to come back to the old ways of true worship where God comes first.

I urge you as experienced soldiers of God to continue through precept and example the teachings of true worship. Don't you feel your responsibility? How can you rest and in all good conscience feel justified in saying, "I am tired; I've had my day; I can't cope with the problems and further; I don't belong to that church."

Regardless of where your church membership lies, you are a member of this community and greatly affected by whatever happens within it. The responsibility of spiritual training and worship belongs to all of us. To those who know the way from experience and previous training, the greater responsibility is yours.

From God's unlimited source of blessings He has brought us a very long way from the cotton fields, washboard, and horse and buggy days and has allowed us to prosper far beyond measure. Come on and let's give Him the praise and glory He deserves by turning back to Him with the whole heart placing Him first in our lives daily through visible works and less lip service.

If we ask Him for what we need, He will grant it. This He has already proven. He has also said: "If my people that are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked way, then I will hear from heaven and will forgive their sins and heal their land."

Pray that God will grant us a true revival wherever meetings are being held and especially pray that they begin within me and you.

Till next week

4-H Club News

By WANDA L. ROBINSON
4-H Program Assistant

Freshly harvested fruits and vegetables can be home canned for delicious gift giving year-round.

Jams, jellies, pickles and relishes make especially welcomed gifts and are fun to can, say young people in the 4-H food preservation program supported by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corp.

Whether 4-H'ers preserve foods for the enjoyment of friends and family, for judging at the county fair, or to stretch the family food dollar, they follow basic safety guidelines:

—Don't take shortcuts or experiment when canning. Use only tested, currently approved methods.

—Use only jars, cans and lids made especially for home canning. Never use ordinary jars such as mayonnaise or coffee jars.

—Don't reuse sealing lids. The rubber ring deteriorates easily and prevents a tight seal.

—Don't use overripe food. Select only good quality, fresh produce with no bruises or soft spots. Thoroughly wash or peel any fruits or vegetables that might have been sprayed with pesticides.

—Don't overpack foods. Trying to get too much food into one jar may result in underprocessing and spoilage.

—Follow exactly the time and temperature specifications for foods and container sizes in instructions. Adjust processing time according to altitude.

4-H food preservation projects and activities, supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, teach the principles and skills necessary for successful home canning and freezing.

Girls and boys 9 to 19 learn-by-doing how preserving foods for later use can be an economical way to supplement the home food supply, especially if they use local or homegrown produce. And, increasing their intake of fruits and vegetables results in better nutrition.

More information on the program is available from the county Extension 4-H youth agents.

Library Notes

By LEED DAVIS
Librarian

The George E. Allen Library appreciates the thoughtfulness of those who have lately brought magazines to us. These help complete our collection of materials which people use for research, locating the particular subject matter they need through use of the "Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature."

Many that were lacking have now been replaced. One magazine that would benefit many users and is still needed is "Time." Should you have copies you are ready to discard, the library would like to receive them.

Two more sessions of our summer activities for young people will bring our program called "Adventures in Space" to a close and we want all girls and boys to know how welcome they are. Although Miss Mary Ann Rodman and Mrs. Ann Caver will not be leading these groups for a while, we will be looking forward to more from these two in the future, and say "Thanks," for the good things they are bringing our way.

Boys and girls are finding new and interesting adventures in their reading-interests that they will continue to develop, friends in stories that will stay with them for a lifetime, and ideas sparked by great minds and talents recorded in books.

These are library programs that are always going on. But if you are between ages three and 14, come to the library at 10:30 today and next Thursday for "Adventures in Space" transfer the load. The transport company also informed officials that the chemicals in the truck presented absolutely no fire or explosive hazard, but were an irritant and could kill fish and other waterlife if they managed to get into a stream or lake

Booneville Policeman Alan Hill, the investigating officer for the accident, said the driver of the tanker claimed he lost control of the vehicle while trying to avoid colliding with a car that pulled out in front of him and then attempted to turn left onto Lake Street. The occupants of the car claimed they were not at fault and that the truck tried to pass them improperly.

The accident is still under investigation and Patrolman Hill said the police department is looking for a white male driving a black 1978, 79, or 80 Pontiac who may have witnessed the accident. He asked that this person contact the police department to tell what he saw.

Hill commended Larry Green, the driver of an S & J Ready Mix cement truck, who was across the street when the accident occurred. Green did not witness the accident, Officer Hill said, but when he turned around and saw smoke coming from the wrecked vehicle, he drove across the street and hosed down the vehicle with water from his truck, thus preventing a potential fire.

Rochester, the driver of the truck, was pinned inside the cab of the vehicle for a time and rescuers had to pull up part of the cab to free him. He was treated at the local hospital for lacerations to his right ear and the bridge of his nose and for a sprained right arm, Hill said.

The accident occurred between 9 and 9:30 a.m. Wednesday morning and caused approximately $18,000 damage to the used tractor-trailer rig, Hill said.

All of the approximately 6,000 gallons of liquid fertilizer had leaked from the tanker by the time the empty tanker arrived for the transfer of the load, Fire Chief Fleming said. However, an inspector from the Environmental Protection Agency has surveyed the scene, he said, and determined that there were no problems resulting from the spill.

More Services
For More Money

JACKSON—Gov. William Winter has predicted that a management study authorized last week by the State Budget Commission will give the people of Mississippi more services for their money.

Winter, chairman of the Budget Commission, noted that the study could result in a savings of millions of dollars to state taxpayers.

"It is important that we achieve improved delivery of services to the people of our state," Winter said. "Improved efficiency and cost effective programs in state government are what the voters of this state expect and what this administration is determined to deliver."

Winter attended several meetings of state commissions last week, saying he intends to participate fully in the day-to-day operation of state government. He attended meetings of the Forestry Commission and the Building Commission in addition to attending several Budget Commission meetings.

"I want to get a first hand view of how the agencies of state government are operating and conducting the business of our state's taxpayers," Winter said. "I want to see to it personally that these agencies are properly managing the affairs of our citizens."

Winter also announced the appointment of Eupora attorney Hugh Gibson to the Mississippi State Employment Security Commission. In making the appointment, Winter said he wants to see that the agency is operated free from political interference.

To State's Economy

Dairy Industry Is Important

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH
By W. H. HADEN
County Agent

The dairy industry is a very vital and important segment of the agricultural economy of Mississippi.

Actually the dairy industry is relatively new when compared to other agricultural enterprises in our state. The commercial dairy industry as we know it today began in the 1900's when the boll weevil infestation caused many cotton farmers to seek alternative enterprises as a source of farm income. From that beginning the dairy industry has grown to a significant contributor of our state's economy. In terms of value of farm production dairying ranks sixth as a source of farm income. Last year Mississippi dairy farmers marketed over 814 million pounds of milk for a total value of over $102 million. The total economic activity off dairy industry in Mississippi is estimated at about $306 million.

Last year there were 74 firms engaged in the assembly, processing, and distribution of milk and milk products. These firms paid an annual payroll of $21 million to almost 2,000 employees.

So the economic impact generated by the dairy industry does indeed play a major role in our agricultural economy.

The Total Industry

The dairy industry consists of two major marketing segments—(1) the fluid or grade-A milk market, and (2) manufacturing milk market. The fluid milk industry deals only with that milk produced under health requirements as set forth by federal and state regulations. The manufacturing milk is produced under less stringent health requirements.

Although the total milk production in the state has declined in recent years, an analysis of the two segments reveals some interesting trends. Last year

Mississippi dairy farmers produced 814 million pounds of milk from an average 100,000 milk cows for an average of 8,140 pounds of milk per cow.

The Grade-A Industry

The grade-A market has been a mainstay in our Mississippi economy for several years. There are about 994 grade-A dairy farmers that produce over 95 percent of the total milk produced in this state. The downward trend in herd numbers and milk marketing do show some signs of stability.

As with dairy producers the number of fluid milk processing plants has changed marketing in recent years. Plant numbers have declined to the present number of fifteen. Those remained have increased in volume of milk process.

The Manufacturing Milk Industry

The manufacturing milk production peaked in this state somewhere around the 1950's and has declined steadily since that time. The present number of about 200 producers produce about 5 percent of the state's total production.

Likewise manufacturing milk plants have declined to the present number of six. As a result many of these manufacturing plants must rely on surplus grade-A milk as a source of supply.

New Site Honors James Sparks

The student body and school personnel of New Site High School held a program Thursday morning, May 15, in the school auditorium honoring Mr. and Mrs. James K. Sparks, principal and secretary of the school.

A plaque of appreciation and a scrapbook containing letters from the students were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Sparks by students during the program.

Dale Michael presented the scrapbook and Shirley Burn presented the plaque. It read: "With deep appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Sparks for all the memories you have given us. Thanks for the love, patience, and understanding. 1980 NSHS Student Body."

In addition to the presentations, Mark Cole, Lisa Bailey and Sandy Sparks spoke, and Kathleen Taylor read one of her poems.

Speaking for the student body, Mark Cole said:

"As the leader of our flock, Mr. Sparks will always be remembered as the one who led so many of us back to the fold. Time after time, he has been seen diligently seeking the 'highways and hedges' for some 'lost lamb' that has gone astray. With a tender hand and an occasional application of the 'iron rod' he has managed to maneuver the lost back to the fold so that once again we could become one."

"Not only has he always been there to keep us in line, but he has managed to be around with open arms and listening ears to anyone who has had a problem."

"Many a time has a student sought his guidance to a problem when it seemed the world would end. After listening to Mr. Sparks' suggestions, the student would come out of the office laughing with not a care in the world."

"Like any good principal should, Mr. Sparks believes in the necessity of a good education. Unlike most others though, Mr. Sparks understands the importance of an afternoon off on those hot summer days. He understands how difficult it is to concentrate when summer begins."

Repeating the old phrase, "Behind every good man there's a good woman," Cole also spoke of Mrs. Sparks.

"There's no way we can praise Mr. Sparks and his work without also praising the one who helps keep him pushing. Too often we complain or give credit to others and overlook the tremendous responsibility

Mrs. Sparks has shared with her husband.

"It is Mrs. Sparks that's part of the power behind the leader. It is she who reminds him of appointments, deadlines, phone calls, and when to take medicine. Where would any boss or school be without a good secretary to keep everything straight? Sometimes we don't realize what our school would be without Mrs. Sparks and her efficiency."

In conclusion, Cole said, "Although these two may be replaced physically no one will ever replace the spot they hold in our hearts."

"Our best wishes go with Mr. and Mrs. James Sparks

Farm Facility Loan
Limit Set at $100,000

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) increased the amount a farmer may borrow under the farm facility loan program from $50,000 to $100,000 to cover higher construction costs.

The program provides loans to farmers to help them buy, build or remodel on-farm storage facilities and to obtain needed drying and handling equipment.

The maximum loan is 85 percent of the cost of the structures and equipment. Under the new maximum loan limit, the combined outstanding loan balance maximum was also increased to $100,000. A minimum down payment of 15 percent of the cost must be paid in cash by the farmer before the loan is disbursed.

Farm facility loans may be repaid in seven equal annual installments over a period of eight years. Prepayment may be made at any time without penalty.

Wheat Loan Rate Increased

The price support loan rate for Prentiss County's 1980 wheat crop grading no. 1 or better is $2.44 per bushel, one cent more than the 1979 rate. The rate is based on the national average loan rate for wheat, which is $2.50 per bushel. The loan provides operating cash to producers while they look for better markets, and also give them an opportunity to plan their management strategy and sell when the price is right. Farmers who have questions concerning the rates should contact the local ASCS office.

Finals Slated Sunday

NE Tennis Tourney Underway

Action got underway here Tuesday in the Fourth Annual Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tennis Tournament at the club courts.

A host of action was scheduled during the opening two days (Tuesday and Wednesday) however due to our early press schedule, results of those matches were not available at press time.

The tournament, expected to draw from several towns in the state, got underway Tuesday and will continue through the finals slated for Sunday June 22. Competition is being held in the women's 12, 14 and 18 singles; men's and women's open singles; men's 30 singles; men's and women's 14 and 18 open doubles and mixed doubles. Fulton ace Henry Hankins will be shooting for his third consecutive men's singles crown while Corinth's girls performer Antrice Kay will defend her title in women's singles. Hankins won his second tourney in succession last year with a victory over Corinth's Robert Hand while Antrice took the coveted girls crown with a victory over Booneville's Kathleen Arnold.

Tournament director Ray Cozort said he again looked for yet another outstanding tournament and added that a large field had turned out for this year's event adding that some old faces were back along with some new ones this time around.

The tournament is now noted as one of the top senior circuits in the state and some of the better tennis performers are showing more and more interest each year in the event.

Hatfield, Walsh Win Member-Guest Golf Tourney Honors

Mark Hatfield of Booneville and his partner Ronald Walsh of Forrest, Mississippi, blistered the Booneville Country Club Course shooting a 13 under par 131 here last weekend to capture first place laurels in the First Annual Booneville Member Guest Golf Tourney. The duo shot a 66 Saturday in the qualifying round and then followed with a 65 on Saturday for the 131 total. Thurston Davis of Booneville and Darrell Smith of Tupelo finished just one stroke back in the championship flight to finish second with a two day total 132, 12 under par. Hatfield and Walsh went the entire round without a single bogie and picked up 13 birdies and 26 pars along the way.

The turning point of the final round came on the 13th hole (a 230 yard par three) when Davis and Smith, who led after the first round, slipped for a bogie four while Hatfield and Walsh parred the difficult hole and went on to win from there.

Both winners stated that they were pleased with their performance although they also said some of their shots could have been better while on some holes they were also lucky which is true in just about any tournament.

Billy Kelton of Booneville and his partner Jim Holley of Ripley finished at the top position in the first flight with a 138 total while second flight honors went to Bill Prather Sr. of Booneville and his partner Dwight Buggs of luka who fired a five under par 139.

The third and final flight went to Larry Carroll of Booneville and George Butler of Ripley who shot a two day total 149.

The tournament was termed successful and another tournament of this type the Annual Booneville Two Man Scramble will be held at the end of July.

Large Turnout Expected For Hill Country Run

A large turnout is expected here August 9th when the Second Annual Hill Country Run gets underway.

Paul Miller, Banner-Independent publisher and Keith Shackelford of Shackelford's Shoes, co-sponsors of the event, urge everyone to come out and support this run with proceeds going to the American Cancer Society.

Runners from all across North Mississippi are expected for the August 9th showing including several top notch runners from the local area.

Anyone can enter this year's run and by doing so can help a very worthy cause—The Cancer Society. Also anyone who isn't running in the event can help by buying a Hill Country Run t-shirt which will be sold shortly. Persons who do enter the race will receive a t-shirt with a race emblem imprinted on it.

The Annual run, scheduled as a 5,000 meter event (3.1 miles) will this year be a part of the First Annual Boone Hill Festival scheduled for downtown Booneville August 7-9.

Both Miller and Shackelford have stated that they're looking for yet another outstanding run this year and added that a larger turnout is expected to help with this worthy cause.

A number of divisions will be offered to the runners this year with a chance to nab top notch trophies for their top finishes. Divisions for both men and women include ages 15 and under, 16-23, 24-30, 31-39, and 40 and over.

Dr. Ray Cozort, instructor at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College and noted runner of this type event, will serve as race director this year and is in the process of gathering some top talent from this area.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

‘Concentrate On Christ’

... They Saw No Man, Except Jesus Only. Matthew 17:8

Adapted From Our Daily Bread Bread, By Henry G. Bosch

After the disciples had witnessed the glory of the transfiguration, they saw "Jesus only." In like manner, Christians today should fix their attention primarily on the heartwarming reality of a living Savior. They must not "worship" the preacher nor settle for mere cold, abstract "religion." Some people view Jesus only as a vague "beautiful idea"; but He's a real Man living in Heaven, and He desires our love and devotion.

J.C. Ryle said, "Many talk more about...justification than about Jesus; more about Christ's work than about Christ's person. This is a great fault. Cease to regard the gospel as a mere collection of dry doctrines; look at it as the revelation of a mighty, living, personal Friend in whose sight you are daily to live."

It is said that Cyrus, the founder of the Persian Empire, once had captured a prince and his family. When they came before him, the monarch asked the prisoner, "What will you give me if I release you?" "The half of my wealth," was his reply. "And if I release your children?" "Everything I possess." "And if I release your wife?" "Your Majesty, I will give myself." Cyrus was so moved by his devotion that he freed them all. As they returned home, the prince said to his wife, "Wasn't Cyrus a handsome man!" With a look of deep love for her husband, she said to him, "I didn't notice. I could only keep my eyes on you—the one who was willing to give himself for me."

Believer, never allow anything to divert your attention from the reality of the Savior who lovingly gave Himself for you. See Jesus only!

-H.G.B.

Turn your eyes upon Jesus,
Look full in His wonderful face,
And the things of earth will grow strangely dim
In the light of His glory and grace.
