Thrasher School Vandalized Over The Weekend

The latest in a series of break-ins at county schools occurred this weekend when vandals broke into buildings at Thrasher School.

These break-ins are proving costly for the school system which has to pay for the damages, but not very profitable for the vandals—if what they seek is money.

However, Prentiss County Deputy Hubert Kitchens said Sunday that he feels the break-ins are possibly the result of persons seeking revenge against a teacher or the school rather than someone looking for money or merchandise. He pointed out that typewriters, projectors and other property in rooms which were ransacked were left untouched.

"I feel that if it was the hardened criminal types, they would have taken all the valuable merchandise," he said.

Thrasher Principal Harold Padgett said the break-in at the school this weekend caused about $1,000 worth of damage to the school property, but the thieves took only a tape recorder and a weather radio, plus a small amount of cash from the library that had been collected as fines. Earlier this year, break-ins were reported at New Site High School and at Hill's Chapel Attendance Center. Very little was reported taken in either break-in, but damage to New Site School, in particular, was costly.

Deputy Kitchens said the sheriff's department is investigating the incidents and has the names of some of the persons who may be involved. He said the investigation will continue and both the schools and the suspects will be watched.

The break-in at Thrasher was discovered Sunday afternoon by the school janitor, Padgett said.

Those involved apparently broke out a window in one of the classrooms to enter the elementary school building. They caused considerable damage to the door to the office in that building, as well as heavy damage to a filing cabinet in that office. In the office and other rooms in the building papers, books and other items were scattered about the floor.

Highway Revenue Down

Highway revenue from the sale of gasoline is down close to 10 percent compared to funds collected from the sale of motor fuel in September of last year, according to John R. Tabb, Director of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

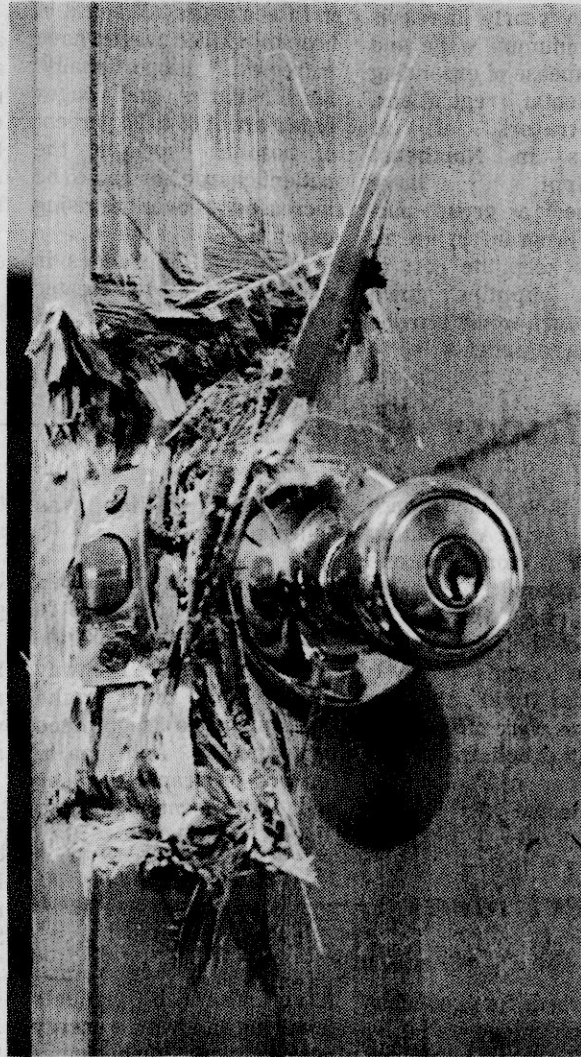

Director Tabb in a memo to the three elected Highway Commissioners advised them "under these circumstances we must look at our total yearly goals and objectives and make decisions as to which ones have the most priority."

Financial reports recently released by the Highway Departments financial control division shows Fuel Taxes collected in September 1980 were $9.9 million compared to Sep-

BREAK-IN—Sometime over the weekend, vandals broke into three buildings at Thrasher school causing several hundred dollars worth of damage. Very little was taken by those responsible, but the damage was costly. The door to the office in the elementary building was severely damaged (right photo) and papers and other items were scattered over the floor in that office (above) and in others. Deputies from the Prentiss County Sheriff's Department investigated the incident.

Running For President -- Deirdre Who?

By KEN CHRISTIAN

Editor
Deirdre Griswold for president? Never heard the name?

What about Andrew Pulley? Or Ed Clark?

Believe it or not, those are official independent candidates for President of the United States and they will be listed on the ballot Prentiss Countians will receive when they go to the polls next month to vote in the presidential election.

Of course, the better known candidates—Democrat Jimmy Carter, Republican Ronald Reagan and Independent John Anderson—will also be on the ballot.

Carter's running mate will be Walter F. Mondale and Reagan's will be George Bush. However, due to legal technicalities involved, Anderson will not have a running mate listed on the local ballot.

As for the other three candidates for president, David Koch is running as vice-president on the same ticket as Clark, Larry Holmes as Griswold's ticket and Matilde Zimmermann on the ticket with Pulley.

In another race of local interest, incumbent Democrat Jamie L. Whitten is being challenged by Republican T.K. Moffett in a hard fought battle for the First District seat of the U.S.

House of Representatives.

Also on the ballot, Democrat Armis E. Hawkins will face Independent Jack N. Tucker for the position of Supreme Court Judge of the Third (Northern) District. Thomas J. Gardner III is unopposed in the race for Circuit Court Judge of the First District.

In Prentiss County elections, two school board members will be elected—one in the First District and one in the second District.

In the First District, Larry Joe Cosby will challenge incumbent Leonard Hudleston. In the Second District, William W. (Bill) Wimberly is running unopposed.

Mrs. W.M. Murphy, who is the present county school board member from the Second District, is no longer eligible for that post. She lives in the city limits of Booneville and only those Prentiss County residents who live outside the Booneville city limits are eligible to sit on the county school board.

Likewise, city residents cannot vote in the election of county school board members. This means there will have to be two separate ballots for voters in the First District—the one for those who live in the county will have the candidates for the school board position listed and the one for city residents will not.

This does not pose a problem in the Second District since Wimberly is unopposed. His name will appear on all the second District ballots.

School board members for districts three, four and five are not up for re-election at this time. School board members serve six-year terms.

Prentiss Countians will also vote for one election commissioner in each district. Voters will cast their ballot only among the candidates running in the district in which the voter

Program For The Hearing Impaired

HEARING AID CENTER—Mrs. Angie Via (left) and Mrs. Sandra Padgett (right), teachers with the Northeast Regional Program For the Hearing Impaired, check out the hearing aid of one of their students. The Crippled Children's Service provides hearing aids for students whose parents qualify for the service. If the hearing aid is broken or damaged, the parents have to come up with the money for replacements.

For Handicapped Students

'Experience Is So Important'

At first glance, it could be any ordinary classroom. The students have arranged their desks in a semi-circle around the teacher's desk, their reading books opened in front of them.

Once the reading lesson begins, however, it becomes readily apparent that this is no ordinary classroom. Instead of reading aloud, most of the students use sign language when it is their turn to read.

The class is composed of students of the Northeast

Regional Program for the Hearing Impaired. It is housed in Wright Hall at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College and is composed of students from the five-county area served by the junior college, consisting of Alcorn, Prentiss, Tishomingo, Union and Tishomingo counties.

As with the Northeast Regional Program for the Visually Handicapped, the Northeast Mississippi Junior College provides space and transportation for the program for the hearing impaired. The school districts in the five counties involved provide funding for the program. Presently, there are eight students, grade 1-9, actively involved in the program, but there are three or four other prospects. The maximum number of students allowed by law is 10. Ages 6-18 years are eligible for the program.

Before a child can be admitted to the program, he or she must be certified as hearing impaired by the Northeast Mississippi screening team. The child must have an audiogram performed by a certified audiologist.

Contracts Let On County Roads

Contracts for improvements on two Prentiss County State Aid roads were let during the month of September by the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors, according to William P. Stevenson, State Aid Engineer of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

One contract, in the amount of $240,316.36, was let to Kimes Construction Company Inc. of Jackson, Tenn., for 1.550 miles of grading, drainage, base, and double bituminous surface treatment on the Loveless Road.

The other contract, $204,075.09, was let to Lewis Construction Company Inc. of Jackson, Miss., for 0.177 miles of bridge and approaches on the Wheeler Road.

Statewide, boards of supervisors in 24 counties let to contract during September State Aid projects providing for the improvement of 180 miles of county roads, Stevenson said.

The 32 projects on which contracts were awarded will cost approximately $9 million and will include various types of work, such as grading, drainage, bridges, double bituminous surface treatment, bituminous pavement overlay, and resealing of previously paved State Aid roads.

Contracts for State Aid projects are awarded by Boards of Supervisors, subject to concurrence by the State Aid Engineer.

Persons with ideas for energy conservation projects are being invited to apply for funding to develop their ideas under the second phase of TVA's Innovative Energy Conservation Research Program.

The deadline for submitting proposals is Oct. 24, 1980.

At NEM Hospital

Shared Services Reduce Expenses

By CARL BARKER
Administrator
Northeast Mississippi
Hospital

Some relief in the increase of hospital charges has been brought about by the forming of Shared Hospital Services of Mississippi Inc. Facing increasing costs caused by yearly increases in the minimum wage and by the expense of expanding governmental regulations, administrators of 21 hospitals in Northeast Mississippi have established a group purchasing program in an attempt to keep the cost of hospital supplies down which in turn would provide a savings to patients.

In 1966, two federal legislative acts began an increase in hospital cost which in turn has caused hospital charges to increase. Minimum wage for hospital employees, which was $1.10 per hour, has increased to $3.10 and will be $3.35 per hour Jan. 1, 1981. As the minimum wage has tripled in fifteen years, all levels of hospital skilled wages have increased proportionally. Since salaries and wages figure about 65 to 70 percent of hospital expenses, the patient charge has had to be increased to cover the rising expense.

Additional increases in expenses have been created by the regulations as established by the Medicare and Medicaid programs. Because these governmental regulated programs reimburse the hospitals only for the expenses related to their particular program, losses occurred serving patients not covered have to be made up by those patients who pay without Medicare or Medicaid assistance.

Looking for ways to keep additional costs down, the administrators decided that if hospitals could follow the example of the chain stores by purchasing their supplies and services in a joint effort, the savings realized in volume purchases could be passed on to the patient.

Northeast Mississippi Hospital, as a member of Shared Hospital Services of Mississippi Inc., has been able to realize savings in purchasing supplies for several departments.

Most recent contracts have been in the X-ray department and respiratory therapy department. Other areas involve pharmacy, intravenous solutions, admission kits and sutures. Agreements are being considered in laboratory supplies and paper good supplies. Future plans will involve hospital services, such as employee benefits.

Because of participation in programs such as "shared services," increases in patient charges at NEM Hospital are being kept at a minimum. And most of those increases will be due to governmental regulations.

For example, as a result of the required minimum wage increase, daily patient charges will be increased approximately five dollars per day. This was determined by calculating the estimated additional expense each day divided by the average number of patients each day.

If the hospital was not realizing some savings in the purchase of its supplies through the shared services group, the increase in daily charges to patients would be more.

Consequently, "Shared Services" means patient savings.

tember 1979 which were $11.1 million. A monthly reduction of more than one million dollars.

Comparing the three months of the States fiscal year which begins on July 1, each year total fuel tax collections were off close to four million dollars. In 1979 $36 million in Fuel Taxes was collected and in 1980 only $32.4 million was collected.

Tabb said, with this tremendous difference in revenue collected it is obvious that the State Highway Commission must make adjustments to its proposed construction and maintenance program this year and the recently adopted three year highway construction program.

During recent meetings with a Senate Highways Study Committee the three highway Commissioners and Director Tabb have revealed that highway needs were much greater than anticipated income.

Total needs, according to Tabb, outweighed anticipated income by $71.2 Million in a budget request recently submitted to the State Budget commission. The Highway Departments anticipated income for fiscal year 1981 is $357 million compared to a needs budget of $428 million.

Tabb said a part of the shortage in funding for 1981 is $42 million in sales tax diversions which will end next year if the legislature does not remove a repealer clause in the original act passed in 1978.

"Even with the sales tax diversion coming to the Highway Department," Tabb said "we are still $29 million short of funds needed to construct and maintain Highways on the state highway system."

"And without expected revenues from the gasoline tax the future of construction and maintenance of State Highways is very discouraging," Tabb said.

make awards for good ideas from each category.

A technical review of each proposal will be made by a team of outside experts selected by TVA, with an additional review by TVA staff to see if the proposal meets program requirements. Selection of projects to be funded will be based on the potential benefits and the potential for success. Maximum TVA funding is $50,000 per project.

Interested parties who have research projects involving innovative energy conservation technologies and who live in the seven-state TVA region can obtain program details and an application form by writing to TVA, 1360 Commerce Union Bank Building, Chattanooga, Tennessee 37401.

Selection of projects that will be funded under the first phase of the program is expected to be completed within a few weeks.

Since Energy Crunch Began

U.S. Learning About Oil Supply

Seven years ago this month, the United States encountered the reality of an "energy crisis." It was in October 1973 that the Yom Kippur war in the Middle East began, resulting in the Arab oil embargo of the United States. As a direct result, prices rose and shortages were seen for the first time since World War II.

It is now October 1980. Once again there is a war in the Middle East. And, once again, the fragile, oil-hungry economies of some Western nations hang in the balance. This time, the Iranians and Iraqis are fighting as the world keeps an eye on the all-important Strait of Hormuz, through which much of the free world's oil flows.

Fortunately, the United States receives no oil from Iran and little from Iraq. However, the danger is still there. The Middle East continues to be an unstable powder keg waiting to explode, severely damaging the world's economy in the process.

At this juncture, the United States need only fear potential long-term effects. But a lingering question needs to be answered: What have we learned in the past seven years?

Among the facts we have learned is that too much of our oil comes from the Middle East tinderbox. We have also learned that oil from that area has the potential for getting much more expensive on very little notice from the members of the OPEC Cartel. We have also learned that the supplies are not completely reliable, and can be disrupted by an internal conflict, such as the Iranian Revolution.

But it appears Americans have also learned other useful lessons and are applying those lessons to their use of energy. As a result, our imports of petroleum and petroleum products has dropped from 44.1 percent of our total supply in September, 1979, to 35.2 percent in September of this year. It is indeed an encouraging sign.

However, let's not fool ourselves. We still receive too much oil from overseas. That dependence must be cut, and the sooner the better.

Does USDA Represent Farmers?

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is undergoing changes in purpose that have American farmers worried. They fear, and rightly so based on recent innovations, that this cabinet level department is being eroded by political winds to the point that it no longer represents the needed alliance between the federal government and the nation's farmers.

Rather, they feel, the federal department is turning its guardianship more and more in the direction of the public at large—as consumers rather than as producers of food and fiber.

Originally USDA was created to protect the interests of agriculture and for many years it has faithfully followed that course. Historically, changes within the department have been insignificant. In 1939 Congress passed a law giving the President power to transfer some of the work of the federal government from one agency to another. And under current law the President has considerable power to reorganize the departments which are responsible to him, including USDA. However, he must submit such plans to Congress and may go ahead with his changes only if Congress fails to say "no" within 60 days.

However, to create an entirely new department or to transform an independent agency into one responsible to the President takes an act of Congress.

The erosion and change in direction of USDA has not been brought before Congress, however, and the changes have been fairly recent and gradual, if not subtle. But changes have been wrought nevertheless in numerous programs switching from farmers' interests to those of the public at large.

Indications that USDA would move farther from its original intent and purpose—to the point of becoming a Department of Consumer Affairs—were obvious to participants recently in a series of "structure of agriculture" meetings called over the country by USDA secretary Bob Bergland. He made it very clear that consumer interests would play a dominant role in formulating the administration's new farm policy.

Intentions were transformed into reality with publication of the current USDA's annual "Yearbook of Agriculture." Traditionally a technical reference work for farmers, the current issue drew scorn from farmers when it appeared as a consumer-oriented cartoon book aimed at children.

Recent years too have seen nationally prominent consumer advocate Carol Tucker Foreman appointed to a top position of influence on the USDA staff. And her loyalty obviously remains more with consumers than with farmers.

The latest indicator of the subtle switch in USDA direction came into the limelight during the recent Texas State Fair in Dallas as secretary Bergland made an award to USDA Chief Economist Howard Hjort who was cited for steering the USDA from a producer-oriented to a consumer-oriented agency.

Put on the spot by the award, Bergland said the issue was a matter of a dumb word choice by the office of personnel. He went on to acknowledge nevertheless that his agency had taken an interest in consumers in order to have an understanding between producers and consumers so that farmers produce what the market wants.

Bergland responded further that the USDA would continue its consumer-oriented policies and denied that the department was no longer serving the interests of farmers.

Meanwhile, organized U.S. farmers are on record vigorously opposing all efforts to rename USDA, consolidate it with any other department or agency of government, and recommend its retention as a full cabinet level department.

Eyes On Mississippi

Newman Rejoins Party Ranks

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—House Speaker C.B. "Buddie" Newman is like a kid with a new toy drum. He is so happy with the music he is making, he wants everybody to hear it.

In this case, the new tune that Buddie Newman is playing is that he is voting for a Democratic presidential candidate for the first time in all the 32 years he has been in public life in Mississippi as a Democratic elected official. Newman has become something of a "born again" Democrat because of a personal relationship he has developed with Jimmy Carter, starting from the time that the president made one of his famous telephone calls to the Mississippi House Speaker a couple of years back.

For someone who "Rolled with Ross" in the days of the Ross Barnett unpledged electors, and even voted for a few Republicans along the way (including Gerald Ford four years ago), this is quite a political turnabout for Newman to now be one of the most enthusiastic pro-Carter state government leaders in Mississippi.

The other night Newman gave a rip-roaring speech at a Democratic fund-raiser down on the Gulf Coast, leaving the message that the coastal residents would be "crazy not to vote for Jimmy Carter." What Newman came back boasting most about was that never before had a Governor, a Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House in Mississippi ever stood together on the same platform in support of a Democratic candidate for president.

Of course, what he didn't say, was that the Speaker of the House was the one who was always absent from that scene in years past. His mentor, the late Walter Sillers, was one of the founders of the Dixiecrat movement back in the 1940's, and Sillers kept alive his own personal war with the National Democratic Party right up until he died in 1966. What would Marse Walter say if he knew one of his proteges was backing the party ticket in 1980?

For Newman, it's a purely pragmatic decision that he is strongly supporting Jimmy Carter for reelection. "I believe he is best for Issaquena County (his small home county) and best for Mississippi because of the influence we have with him...it's as simple as that," the wily Mississippi legislative leader says.

Sure, it makes a difference to have the President of the United States call you up and talk to you at your home in Rolling Fork, Miss., and to be invited to talk with the President in the Oval Office, Newman admits.

He recalls the first time Carter phoned him. "I was at my desk in my home in Rolling Fork, and the operator came on and said 'this is Camp David, one moment for the President.' I thought one of my podners was pulling my leg, Newman relates. "I was astonished it really was the President."

Another time when Carter called, Newman's black farm helper, Richard Hall, was at the home of the Mississippi House Speaker. "I told the President that Richard Hall had been the secretary of our Valley Park Democratic precinct meeting, and the President asked to speak with him," Newman tells with a grin. "I handed the phone to Richard and he talked to the President. He hasn't stopped telling everybody about it."

Newman believes that Mississippi, and he personally, have greater access to Carter because a Mississippian named Bill Simpson, the ex-Gulfportian and brother of Newman's top legislative lieutenant, Rep. Jim Simpson of Long Beach, is a White House aide. Bill Simpson, he says, "is a man who is well respected in Washington, and he knows how to cut through bureaucratic red tape."

Another White House assistant, Jim Free, whom Newman has known since Free was the administrative assistant to the Speaker of the House in Tennessee, has come to be another strong Newman liaison with Carter.

Somewhat surprisingly, Newman comes to the defense of Carter's inability to put through some of his major programs as being the fault of the Congress, rather than the president. In Mississippi, Newman is loathe to ever lay the blame for failure of an administration's program on the legislative branch.

"You can't blame the president for everything...most of his problems were inherited," says the Mississippi lawmaker. "most of the blame should go to the Congress."

Newman's new infatuation with the president and his family evidently is genuine, to the point that the other day when "Miss Lillian" fell and broke a bone, the Mississippi House Speaker was on the phone to Americus, Ga. expressing his concern for the President's mother.

Not that he approves of everything Carter has done, but there's one thing Newman says he likes that Carter won't do. "He isn't going to shoot from the hip...and there's somebody in this presidential race, I'm afraid, would," an obvious reference to Ronald Reagan.

With the same kind of pragmatism that Buddie Newman was able to shrewdly put aside his old segregationist ties and win the Mississippi House speakership with black support, he's hoping to help put Jimmy Carter back in the White House.

Speaking Out

Who Decided?

"I would like to know who made the decision that all Prentiss Countians be assessed with postage and handling fees instead of given the option of picking up license decals at the office. And where do the handling fees go? I feel very strongly this should be a matter of freedom of choice. Thank you."

Expresses Thanks

"I would like to say thank you to Mr. Lawrence Ricketts for helping his employees in the city of Booneville. Everybody in the city should go around and thank this man because he tries to help everyone."

Enjoys Columns

"I would like to say that I really enjoy the community news columns. They're not just gossip columns, but probably the most important part of the paper because so many more people can be included in the news. But more important to those who have moved away, the columns can include all the news of their friends back home. I also enjoy the writings, poems, etc., that the writers bring to us. It adds so much more to the news. Thank you for bringing us this service."

Reminds Parents

"I would just like to say a word to remind the parents and friends of students who are away at college out of town. Give them a call or just drop them a card to let them know that you miss them and they are not forgotten."

Wants TV Cable

"I would like to know what can be done to get the TV cable extended further out into the country. I love being in the country, but it would be nice to have a few more advantages."

Thanks To Police

"Thank you, policemen, for marking off our streets. They look real nice now and I appreciate them. It makes it easier for us to drive. Keep up the good work."

Likes Music

"I would like to thank WBIP for all the music they have on the station. I think it's good whether it's gospel or rock. Thank you."

Agrees With Caller

"I agree with the caller last week about the stoplight there on Smith Street. Other than just one block difference, it should be at Independent and Church, where it is badly needed, and there is more divided in between the two stoplights. He is 100 percent right and I've seen traffic sitting in both intersections for quite some time trying to get into the heavy traffic there at Church Street."

At UDC Meeting

Mrs. Robinson Is Featured Speaker

Mrs. O.C. Robinson was the featured speaker Wednesday, Oct. 8, at a meeting of members of the D.T. Beall chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She reviewed the life and accomplishments of Major General Joseph Wheeler, C.S.A.

He was born in Georgia in 1836, educated in Connecticut, and appointed to West Point from New York. His early perceptions were constantly broadened by those constantly changing scenes.

He was not a good student, yet in later years Lee commended him as one of the two outstanding cavalymen in the War Between the States and he became a Brigadier General before the end of the war.

Wheeler was a stocky, dark man, short of stature and a little pompous to those who knew him. Because of his fighting tactics and active participation he was known as "Fightin' Joe Wheeler," and because of his youth, frequently referred to himself as the "War Child."

At the age of 25 he joined the Confederate forces and was sent to Florida as an engineer. He trained undisciplined and highly independent soldiers in the art of war and the wisdom of obedience to orders.

Although Wheeler was a stickler for following orders, he held that "though I consider it to be the duty of officers generally to obey orders to the letter, I feel it is also their duty to carry out the intentions of their commander even though a department from the direct letter of instruction being involved."

He was constantly on the move and participated in major activities.

In the closing days of the war he was captured trying to catch up with President Davis's party on their flight from Richmond. He was imprisoned. When he returned to Alabama and married a Mrs. Sherrod, they established a home here. He and his brother-in-law set up a law practice in Courtland.

He entered politics, served as district Democratic Committeeman and was elected to Congress. He reported to General MacArthur for duty at Manila. Early in 1906 he went to visit his sister in West Point. It was there he died.

He was buried in the National Cemetery in Washington, D.C., as the Confederate bugler who had served under him during the war sounded "taps lights out" over his grave.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bernard Patrick, Mrs. John Foy Milton and Mrs. W.W. Cunningham. Pie and coffee was served during the social hour.

Any disabled woman who, having surmounted her handicap, is serving successfully in an executive or professional position and who actively participates in community betterment programs is eligible.

On Sunday, Nov. 9, a special panel of judges will meet at 2 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of the George E. Allen Library to select the winner and runners-up from all the nominees.

All contestants, guests and their sponsors will be honored at the dinner on Nov. 10. Mrs. William Winter, the state's First Lady, is scheduled to be the guest speaker for the evening.

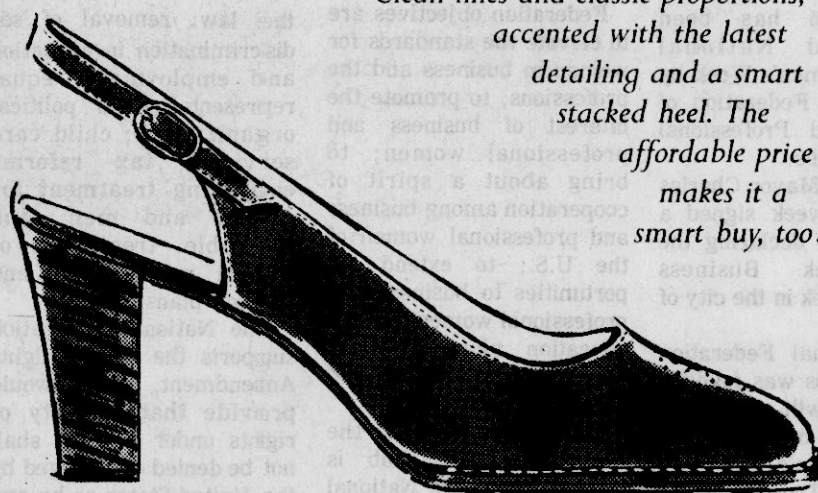

The woman selected as the winner from the local nominees will be the Booneville Pilot Club's nominee in the District III (Mississippi and Louisiana) competition. The winner of District III will enter the International "Handicapped Professional Woman of the Year" program.

The Booneville Pilot Club has mailed letters to local civic clubs and organizations asking for nominations for the local "Handicapped Professional Woman of the Year." Any group, club or organization that has not received a letter, but is interested in having a participant in the program should phone 728-3511 by Friday, Oct. 17.

BPW WEEK—Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb (seated) signs a proclamation declaring Oct. 19-25 as National Business Women's Week in Booneville. Witnessing the signing are (from left) Helen Jones; Barbara Shackelford, president; Lanette Wold, BPW Week chairman; and Janey Jones, all members of the Booneville Business and Professional Women's Club.

Oct. 19-25 Proclaimed Business Women's Week

Oct. 19-25 has been proclaimed National Business Women's Week by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb last week signed a proclamation declaring the same week Business Women's Week in the city of Booneville.

The National Federation of BPW Clubs was founded as an outgrowth of the War Work Council meeting of the young Women's Christian Association. The goal is the same now as then, a high standard of achievement for professional women in business and in the community.

A non-profit, self-governing, membership-supported organization, the National Federation has approximately 165,000 members in over 3,700 clubs chartered in 53 state Federations in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

BPW, the oldest and largest organization of working women in this country, has membership open to women employed in business and the professions who support the objectives of the Federation, thus spanning a broad spectrum of occupations.

Federation objectives are to elevate the standards for women in business and the professions; to promote the interest of business and professional women; to bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women of the U.S.; to extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

Chartered in 1952 the Booneville BPW Club is affiliated with the National Federation and governs itself by laws similar to those of the state and national organization. Miss Mable Cunningham, who served the club as its first president, is still a member of the club.

Through the years the Booneville Club has sponsored various projects—Heart Fund, Kidney Foundation, nursing scholarships and other activities beneficial to the community. Easter Seal program has been a special project for a number of years.

BPW is a multifaceted organization that serves the various needs of all its members. It has always been BPW's goal to achieve specific gains for women; equal pay for women under the law; removal of sex discrimination in education and employment; equal representation in political organizations; child care services; tax reforms equalizing treatment for women and men; and equitable treatment of women in insurance and pension plans.

The National Federation supports the Equal Rights Amendment, which would provide that equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state, United States Territory or possession on account of sex.

National Business Women's Week was established at the 1927 National Convention of BPW. Its purpose is to dramatize the contributions of women to the business and professional life of the country. In 1928, when the week was first celebrated, each BPW club was asked to participate in a uniform schedule of events.

From this beginning, the week has grown to be a nationwide salute to all career women. The Booneville Club has a number of special events planned to commemorate National Business Women's Week.

I have a beautiful little story for you today about "The Briar and the Rose."

This is especially for those who love and grow roses. Once there was a briar growing in a ditch, and there came along a gardener with this spade. As he dug around it and lifted it out, the briar said to itself, "What is he doing that for? Doesn't he know I am only an old worthless briar!"

But the gardener took it into the garden and planted it amid his flowers while the briar said, "What a mistake he has made! Planting an old briar like myself among such rose trees as these!"

But the gardener came once more and with his keen edged knife made a slit in the briar, and budded it with a rose; and by and by when summer came, lovely roses were blooming on that old briar.

Then the gardener said, "Our beauty is not due to that which, came out of you, but to that which I put into you." Copied.

When all of God's children get together, what a time! That describes the services held at Spring Hill M.B. Church on Sunday morning more accurately than any other words that come to mind.

Immediately following the public offering, attention was focused on the senior citizens of the community who in turn gave personal testimonials of praise and thanksgiving to God for his goodness in their lives.

Those speaking were Mrs. Annie B. Shinault, Mrs. Luzene Triplett, Mrs. Gertrude Humphreys, Willie D. Jumper and Miss Allie Gellispe, who expressed her appreciation to the church for their support during her illness. The call for Altar prayer was one of the most reverent and soul provoking invocations ever rendered by the pastor as individuals knelt before the altar in a visible manner of deep humility and contrition.

The message which followed, entitled "I've finally got myself together. Now I know who I am," was especially delivered to the young people, but was effectively received by the entire congregation.

Church and community members gathered together to make for the largest assembly for worship in many years. The spiritual atmosphere was so intense it left no room for doubting the fact that each individual present came to worship.

The close of the service left me with a stronger faith in our community leaders secure in the knowledge that they are governed by a supreme and righteous power and a closer kinship with fellow community members, for if we are never together again as a group, at this time we were all as one and on one accord. For this I am truly thankful.

In the program on Sunday evening, Miss Cassandra Gardner appeared as the guest speaker and spoke from the theme, "Stand up and speak out for Jesus." Representatives from the Oak Hill M.B. Church and the Rev. Agnew and choir members of the Mt. Zion M.B. Church of Baldwin were participants in this event.

Miss Sallie Gardner was the sponsor of the program and thanks the public for their response.

A fall drive is in progress this week at the New Tabernacle M.B. Church. The pastor, the Rev. James Eckford, invites the public to attend.

On Thursday night (tonight), Oct. 16, the Rev. Lewis Ragins will bring the message. On Friday night, the Rev. Otis Shumpart, pastor of Spring Hill will speak. If possible, plan to attend.

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 19, at Beckley Chapel

C.M.E. Church a tea will be held, sponsored by members of the Missionary Society. The public is invited.

Our prayers continue this week for Mrs. Georgia Nunn, Walter L. Gardner and the small son of Mrs. Catherine Ann Burress who are patients of the local hospital. And for Mrs. Alice Maise, Mr. Cassie Roland and Mrs. Charlene Church who are patients in the Tupelo hospital.

Mrs. Church is still in intensive care but her condition is reported to be somewhat improved. As a cashier of one of the local supermarkets here, her friendly nature and pleasant personality has endeared her to many of the shoppers from all areas. We sincerely hope that her recovery is complete and she is home soon with family members.

And Pray

As I entered the church on Sunday morning I was immediately struck by the profound stillness and atmosphere of quietness generating from a very unusual and large congregation. I knew immediately that my prayers had been answered and out of a feeling of great awe and joy, totally unable to preform, I could only bow in my very own prayer of thankfulness.

I am convinced, from your amen's that we all agree with the closing remarks of the Rev. Ragins (Lewis), "I will serve the Lord."

The commitment has been made and the resolve sure, but we cannot do it alone for we wrestle not against flesh and blood but against principalities, against powers, the rulers of the darkness of this world and against spiritual wickedness in high places. To survive it is necessary that we put on the whole armour of God—and pray that we may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil and be able to hold out when the day comes.

Stand always ready with the belt of truth at your waist, righteousness for your breastplate, peace for your shoes, faith for your shield, salvation for your helmet, and for your sword, the spirit which is the word of God that will direct your every action—and pray.

Till now I have been guilty of neglecting our Wednesday night prayer service. But no more, and I sincerely urge you to attend. Why pray? Because we are only human and full of fear.

Prayer gives us courage and we are strengthened by the knowledge that the power of God is always with us. Prayer shows us our capacity, arouses our love for one another, changes the person who prays and equip us to build a more just and mature society. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much if for one man, how much more so for an assembled group.

Will you meet me each Wednesday night?

Thought for today: I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread. (Psalms 37:25).

Till next week...

Pumpkins Provide Decorations Or Tasty Dishes

By CLAIRES T. ROSS
Extension Home Economist

With Fall here and the landscape changing from the fresh green of summer to the rich golden browns, oranges and reds, pumpkins are beginning to peer from around shocks of corn. It's good time, and we in Mississippi are lucky to be able to experience the changing of the seasons.

Some areas of our country are not so lucky. Pumpkins have been a tradition of the season and can be traced back to early settlers. They are used in decorating and best of all are the delightful dishes that pumpkins provide. Spicy pumpkin pie, breads or muffins; various puddings and custards; stuffing with meats and vegetables in the smaller ones may be some of the many taste-tempting ways you'll find to use pumpkin. For buying guidelines, your choice depends on your intended use. Size and shape have little to do with a pumpkin's flavor. However, the smaller ones seem to have less waste and are usually more tender fleshed. They're the best ones for most cooking purposes. The larger ones, often termed

Jack-O-Lantern pumpkins are used for that purpose. The flesh also makes good pies, breads, etc. For nutrition's sake, pumpkin is an excellent source of Vitamin A. One hundred grams of edible portion of canned pumpkin contains only 33 calories, so it is a must for the calorie conscious. Top quality pumpkins will keep for about a month if you store them in a cool dry place. The best pumpkins are well-matured and not broken or cracked and heavy for the size. They should have a rich orange color and should be clear. Avoid those with soft spots, disease spots or other visible signs of damage or decay. After the decorative purpose is over, plan to use the flesh of the pumpkin for tasty dishes. That way you don't waste a bit.

To prepare pumpkin, halve or quarter it. Remove seeds and stringy pieces, cube and peel. Place in saucepan over medium heat in one inch of boiling salted water. Heat pumpkin to boiling; cover and cook 25 to 30 minutes. Season with salt, pepper and butter or margarine and serve as a vegetable.

You can serve pumpkin in many other ways too. Spice it up with favorite herbs and butter after the initial cooking add it to hashed meats. Combine it with rice and green peppers in a cheese sauce. Use it in pies combined with apples, pears or rhubarb.

There are many ways to enjoy pumpkins and the season is short so plant or take advantage of the supply as soon as they appear.

Pumpkin Raisin Bread

- 1 pkg. active dry yeast
- 1-1/2 cups warm water
- 2/3 cups granulated sugar
- 1-1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2/3 cup shortening
- 2 eggs
- 1 can pumpkin
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 7 to 7-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup raisins
- Soft butter or margarine
- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 6 to 7 teaspoons water
- 1/2 teaspoon ground

pumpkin pie spice

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Stir in granulated sugar, salt, shortening, eggs, pumpkin, cinnamon, ginger, cloves and 3 cups of flour. Beat until smooth. Mix in raisins and enough remaining flour to make dough easy to handle.

Turn dough onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn greased side up. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 1-1/2 hours. (Dough is ready if dent remains when finger is lightly pressed into it.)

Punch down dough; divide in half. Roll each half into rectangle, 18 x 9 inches. Roll up, beginning at short side. With side of hand, press each end to seal. Fold ends under loaf. Place each loaf seam side down in greased loaf pan, 9 x 5 x 3 inches.

Brush loaves lightly with butter. Let rise until double, about one hour. Heat oven to 375 degrees F. Place loaves on low rack so that tops of pans are in center of oven. Bake until deep golden brown and loaves sound hollow when tapped, 49 to 45 minutes. Remove from pans; cool on wire rack. Mix powdered sugar, water and pumpkin pie spice. Drizzle over loaves.

TOUR SOYBEAN HARVEST—First Grade students of Mrs. Helen Long and fifth grade students of Mrs. Eddie Spencer at Marietta Attendance Center took a class field trip to the Billy Joe Barnes Farm Friday, Oct. 10. The two classes got a first hand look at the operation of the harvesting equipment as part of a class project.

Thursday, Oct. 9, was a special day for the student body of Hill's Chapel Attendance Center, when the second grade hosted an event from the "old days."

Everything was different then as we all found out. During these busy hours, many ways of doing things in the past were brought back to life.

Each class was invited to come in, view the displays and take a trip back in history. They all came, from headstart to the eight grade to enjoy the event. It was a pleasant break from their daily routine. Things like these make learning fun.

Mrs. Mauveline Wilemon, Mrs. Ann Bridges and Mrs. Linda Denson, adorned in long dresses and bonnets took turns working at the churn. After what seemed like lots of hard work, creamy, yellow butter floated on top of the milk.

The ladies from the lunchroom, who were familiar with the churning process, stopped in from time to time to offer their help. The milk was donated by Randy Bearden and Mrs. Travis Riddle.

Shawn Weaver made butter by shaking a jar of milk to which a wooden clothes had been added to act as an agitator. A process which he had learned from his grandfather.

Mary Ann Bennett presided over a table of articles that had been brought by the students. Cotton bolls were arranged as a centerpiece as Molly Smith carded cotton which was brought by Rhonda McKinney.

Shane Martin was at the old rubboard with lye soap which was made at home in the old black kettle and used to wash clothes with.

Kristy Armstrong and Jacqueline Ackers were cute as a button demonstrating the use of an old iron that had to be heated in the fireplace.

Jennifer Dunaway rolled and cut biscuits using an old dough board and rolling pin that has been in her family for over 100 years.

a hearty blow on the fox horn much to the satisfaction of everyone. And believe me, this is not an easy horn to blow.

"Be thankful for push-buttons" says Mrs. Josie Smith. I think after a look backwards in time, we are all inclined to agree."

It was a very interesting and educational day for everyone.

Celebrating birthdays in the week of Oct. 12-18 are R.E. Bain, JoLeta Morgan, Christy Morgan, Estelle Taylor, Mary Lee Young, Timmy Taylor, Jennifer Lambert and Lonnie Morgan. Many happy thoughts and wishes on your birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McKinney are the proud new parents of a daughter, Marsha Lee. She was born Oct. 1, weighing 8 lb. 5 oz.

She has an older sister, Tamra, and a brother, Jonathan. Mr. and Mrs. Houston McKinney are her grandparents.

Several members of Bernice Chases family joined her for dinner on Saturday. These included Mrs. Sharon McLaughlin, Tatia and Lora with friends Karen Clark and Julie Morring all of Huntsville, Ala.; Dr. and Mrs. Vernon Chase, Lisa, Scotty and Timmy of Baldwin; and Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Johnson, Mrs. Janith Lambert, Shane and Bradley, Mrs. Sharlet Henderson and Ryan, all of Booneville.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunaway, Lisa and Shana Saltillo, joined The Mike Dunaway family for a cookout on Saturday night. Miss Lori Nicholson was an overnight guest of Miss Cindy Underwood on Saturday night.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nicholson was the setting on Saturday afternoon for the wedding ceremony of L.B. McKinney and Modenia Green. Vows were exchanged before a few close friends and relatives with a reception following the ceremony. Best wishes are extended to the McKinnies.

Marie Burns stayed overnight with her mother, Myrtle Cole, on Saturday night. They visited in the home of Bernice Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nicholson, Lori and Brad were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. L.B. McKinney on Sunday night.

A Bill passed by the Mississippi legislature upheld by the insurance commissioner of the state of Mississippi, now makes the inclusion of Chiropractic care in all of Mississippi Issued Insurance policies mandatory.

No policy issued in the State of Mississippi can any longer draw distinction between a Medical Doctor and a Doctor of Chiropractic in the payment of claims.

The bill, House Bill 393, went into effect April 24, 1980. It is a historic and significant achievement, an acknowledgement of the rights of each individual to seek out the doctor and method of health care which he has found to be, in his own experience, most effective.

It is possible, however, that not all insurance companies or their agents are yet aware of the full implications of this bill. Your doctor will make every effort to expedite any claims you may have.

For Handicapped

Fewer Services For Students Probable

State Superintendent of Education Dr. Charles Holladay said recently he anticipates the State Department of Education will provide services to fewer handicapped persons next year.

"Because of reduced federal appropriations, rising costs and staff reductions, we expect a significant decrease in the number of handicapped Mississippians we'll be able to serve over the next 12 months," Holladay said.

"Last year we provided rehabilitation services to over 25,000 persons, more than 6,000 of whom were successfully rehabilitated," said John Webb, assistant state superintendent of education. Webb, who is director of the SDE's Division of vocational Rehabilitation, said his division is predicting those figures will drop by one-third.

"As things stand now, we don't see how we'll be able to help anymore than 17,000 handicapped persons, with about 4,000 of those being considered rehabilitated," Webb said.

Vocational Rehabilitation is a state-federal program responsible for serving working-aged handicapped persons. Webb said VR considers a person rehabilitated only after that person is successfully employed.

Webb said Congress has failed to appropriate the full amount of money VR agencies are entitled to under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. "This means we can't serve all handicapped persons who qualify for our services. When this happens, we are forced by the Rehab Act to institute an 'Order of Selection' when accepting clients."

This "Order of Selection" was put into effect Oct. 1. Under it, the law specifies that severely handicapped individuals must have first priority for services.

"We welcome working with the severely handicapped because they need us most," Webb said. "But their rehabilitation takes longer and costs more. That's why we anticipate the lower figures on the number of people served and rehabilitated."

Two Receive Nursing Degrees

Mary Ruth Botts of Marietta and Hal Edwin White of Booneville have received Masters of Science in Nursing degrees from the University of Alabama's School of Nursing in Birmingham.

Graduates of the M.S.N. degree program receive schooling in one of eight areas of nursing--adult health, cardiovascular, community health, developmental disabilities, maternal-infant, pediatric, psychiatric and rehabilitation nursing.

The program is designed to produce a nursing specialist who is able to gather data about the individual's health status, analyze it, order appropriate care and evaluate its effectiveness; use research knowledge to identify, define, investigate and report a clinical nursing problem; and, plan an approach for health care.

Ponds Provide Sport, Food, Watershed Control

By DON JONES

Ponds are an asset to the community and have many uses. For example, Prentiss County has hundreds of small farm fish ponds containing hundreds of acres of surface water.

These ponds are capable of providing sport fishing recreation, food for the table, watershed control and water reservoirs for livestock.

Planning and management are necessary to gain optimum use from these ponds, especially where fishing is concerned.

There are basic principles which must be considered by the owner if optimum fishing enjoyment and production are to be realized. These management principles include the selection of the site and building of the pond, fertilization, stocking, and proper harvest of fish.

A good pond must also have an adequate water supply to replace water lost by evaporation and seepage. This supply usually is dependent upon size of the watershed.

Soil Conservation Service personnel will, without charge, assist in selecting the pond site, determine the best type of spillway and drainage structure and give advice on other facets of final construction. They can also assist in stocking your pond at recommended rate of catfish, Bream and Brass.

If you have any questions about the location or stocking of your pond, come by the Soil Conservation Service Office located at 107 North College Street.

Farmers Urged To Nominate Candidates For Community Committee

Farmers in Prentiss County are advised that the county ASCS office is now receiving nominations for candidates for ASC community committee. Farmers are encouraged to use this opportunity to nominate eligible farmers as candidates in the ASCS committee election.

Any three eligible voters in a community may petition that the name of an eligible farmer be placed on the election ballot for the community. Each such petition must contain the name of only one nominee, must contain a certification that the nominee will serve if elected, and must be signed by at least three eligible voters. Petitions must be post-marked or brought to the county office not later than Oct. 27.

Most all persons engaged in farming are eligible to vote in the ASC committee elections and are eligible to hold office. However, anyone needing further information concerning eligibility to vote or hold office should contact the county ASCS office.

Public Input Will Help Shape 1981 Commodity Programs

Ideas and recommendations from farmers and other interested persons can help determine the direction of the 1981 feed grain and soybean programs.

ASCS invites comments on whether a feed grain set-aside program should be offered or whether farmers should be eligible for program benefits without setting aside acreage; how 1981 target prices should be adjusted from 1980 levels; and whether producers should be required to comply with normal crop acreage requirements to be eligible for full program benefits.

The 1980 feed grain program contained no set-aside or diversion requirements and all farmers were eligible for target price protection and price support loans. However, to qualify for full target price protection and deficiency payments, they could not plant more corn, sorghum or barley this year than the previous year.

Other 1981 program decisions are whether barley and oats should be included in the program, appropriate loan and purchase prices for corn, sorghum, barley, oats and rye; whether there should be a land diversion program, and if so, the extent of such diversion.

Because of the relationship between soybeans and feed grains, ASCS is also seeking public comments on appropriate loan and purchase levels for 1981 crop soybeans.

Feed grain and soybean program comments must be received in the Washington ASCS office by Oct. 27. The mailing address is director, production adjustment division, ASCS, USDA, room 3630-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

The first Tiger score came in the opening frame when quarterback Mike Steenson, who was injured in the game and is a questionable starter for Saturday's battle with IJC, capped off a 45 yard when he plunged over from the one for the opening score

Then Old reliable took over and gave the Tigers their second score, Randy Cochran, who will indeed be a sinch to repete as All-State performer, concluded a 37 yard drive when he burst off right tackle on a 17 yard scamper for the second score of thenight. Mathis' kick went wide and the Tigers held a 13-0 lead.

The Northeast troop wasn't through by any means. (21 isn't enough for them) The Tigers added seven more when Cochran again got into the scoring act with a six yard run capping off a 15 yard drive following a fumble recovery. Mathis' kick upped the count to 28-0 with some 10 minutes left in the game.

The Tigers will host Itawamba Saturday night in the Annual Rivalry clash at Tiger Stadium. Gametime is 7:30 be there.

Ward Says Tigers Ready

Northeast Mississippi Junior College head football coach Bill Ward said here Tuesday that although the Tigers have some injuries on the squad that they should be in pretty good shape injury wise for Saturday's game with IJC.

Quarterback Mike Steenson suffered a hand injury during last week's game with Scooba but according to Ward will play this week.

Runningback Anthony Norman has a hip injury but Ward said he would play also.

"Joey being out will hurt us," Ward said, "But Steenson's and Norman's injuries won't help matters any but they will play."

These are injuries that a team has during the course of the season," he added. "We don't let anyone play when they're not capable of playing though."

The Northeast mentor said the Tigers would indeed be in for a fight Saturday against IJC. Ward said in his opinion the Indians were just

Fieldgoal Fred's Fearless Forecasts

By FIELD GOAL FRED

I will trust you and the computer one more time, Mr. Gentry. You tell me the electrical problems are solved. You've told me that before and they were not. You tell me you won't leave out my predictions just because you think they are "right on." I hope you mean it.

There are some real tough games this week, and just a slight fluctuation in the current to the computers could cause a malfunction serious enough to create real havoc.

For instance...the Alabama-Tennessee game this week is a real barn-burner. Alabama has a fine team. But little did you realize at the beginning of the season when I told you that Rutgers would beat the Tide and win the national championship how close to right that would be. Rutgers almost pulled it off, and would have except for a lucky interception in the fourth quarter.

They barely lost to Alabama (which spoiled their undefeated record), but it set up a whale of a game between the Tide and the Vols this week. It won't be too much of an upset if the mountaineers from West Tennessee do trounce the elephants, but the computer says go with Alabama in a close defense battle.

And here's what else the computer says:

Northeast 28, IJC 13. Coach Ward and his Tigers know the thrill of winning and plan to keep it up. They'll do it, too.

Nettleton 19, Booneville 8. The Devils have experienced winning, and like it, too. But in spite of a gut-feeling of an upset here, I've gotta go with the computer.

Kossuth 20, Baldwin 14. Contrary to what the "experts" say, but you can't always believe the experts.

Florida 28, Ole Miss 14. Key injuries have kept the Rebels from putting it all together so far and Gainesville just ain't the place it's apt to start.

Miami 24, Miss. State 14. Miami is for real. With a break or two they could have taken Notre Dame last week, and they should be able to handle the 'Dog's potent offense.

USM 27, Ark. State 7. Here's another team that enjoys winning and has the determination to keep it up.

Alabama 27, Tennessee 19. Could be closer and could go the other way. (See above)

Stanford 14, Washington 7. Stanford smells roses.

Baylor 17, Texas A&M 7. Neither team is the power of the SWC, but Baylor comes closest.

Missouri 31, Colorado 0. Oh, how Chuck Fairbanks wishes he were back in the pros.

North Texas State 14, Memphis State 0. Memphis State has had its problems and they don't seem to be solved yet.

North Carolina 17, North Carolina State 3. A family feud, but you're gotta go with the rankings.

Northeast: State's Top Team...

The Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tigers held on to their top billing with another win on their schedule and remains the top team in the state by the United Press International Poll.

The Bill Ward squad kept their top billing with a very impressive 35-14 win over East Mississippi.

In other games of importance Northwest beat

Coahoma 22-0; Hinds nipped Co-Lin 13-11; Jones defeated Southwest 36-7; Holmes defeated Delta 12-7; and Gulf Coast tripped Pearl River 28-10.

At presstime the Nationally ranked Tigers are tied with Northwest for the North lead 3-0 marks while both Jones and Hinds are tied with identical 3-0 records in the south.

Local football picker John Ferrell of Booneville had a perfect week last week on the grid picker's chart with a perfect 12-12 week.

It was the first perfect week in quite sometime. The only other one to even come close within the past few weeks was when Fearless Fieldgoal Fred forgot to turn in his column. He didn't miss a single one that week.

In last week's chart, Ferrell led the pack with his 12-12 performance while Manfred Saylor and Fieldgoal Fred followed with 10-12 while Ralph Stuts had 9-12 and the sports desk took the cellar with 7-12.

'Devils Have Field-Day: Romp Over Golden Bears

By Lee Gentry Sports Editor

Booneville High School's Blue Devils picked up their first win of the season here Friday night and scored touchdowns in every fashion possible and waltzed to a 46-6 Tombigbee Conference victory over winless Alcorn Central's Golden Bears.

The homecoming contest, played at Northeast's Tiger Stadium, was not in doubt from the opening kickoff til the final buzzer. The Devils, who had played about as well as a team could possibly play without registering a win, turned the golden Bears every way but loose and scored in every way possible.

The men with the horns punted only once, that in the third period, and scored at will against the Alcorn County winless Bears.

The Devils started as early as 9:42 in the opening quarter. Blue Devil back and All-Conference hopeful Brad Miller put the first points on the board when he capped off a 45 yard drive with a run to paydirt from five yards out. BHS quarterback Greg Oakley then ran in a two point conversion to give the Devils an 8-0 lead.

Booneville came right back when Tony Brooks, who had been hospitalized with the flu, scored the first of his two touchdowns when he finished a 40 yard drive with a nine yard run. Oakley again added the two point conversion for a 16-0 count.

The Blue Devils compiled some 264 yards rushing on the night combined with 30 yards passing for 294 total yards, six touchdowns and five two point conversions.

The Devils will travel to Nettleton Friday night to face the Tigers for a 7:30 kickoff. Booneville is now 1-5 on the year while Central is 0-6.

BROOKS ON THE MOVE—Booneville's Tony Brooks turns it on here in last Friday's action against Alcorn Central. Brooks scored two touchdowns to pace the Blue Devil 46-6 win.

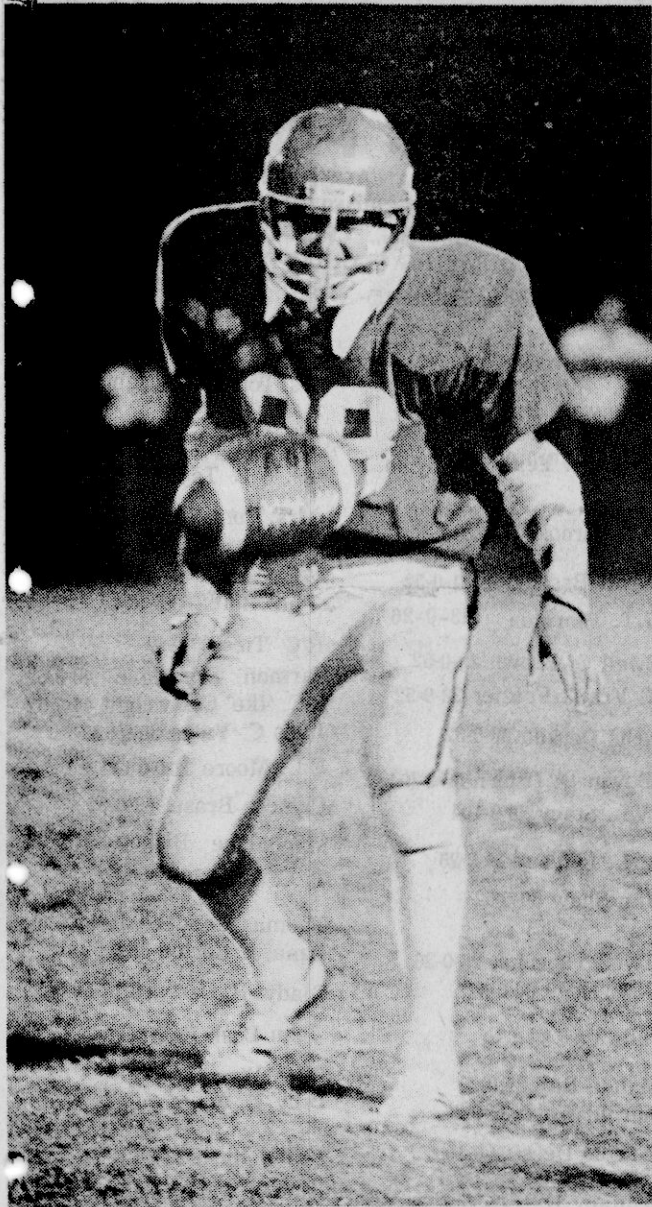

SEC Briefs

Alabama No. 2
Nationally in Rushing;
Miss. State Leads
SEC Rush Defense

BIRMINGHAM, AL (Sp)—Alabama made only 230 yards rushing at Rutgers and dropped back of Nebraska nationally, but still leads the SEC with a 5-game average of 363.8 yards per game. Mississippi State tops the SEC on defense against rushing by limiting opponents to 116.5 ypg. Bama gains 6.2 yards per rush and has scored 19 touchdowns on the ground, while holding others to just one. Georgia holds opponents to 2.7 yards per rush.

Ole Miss Tops
SEC Passing;
LSU Paces the Pass Defense

Ole Miss gains 208.8 yards per game passing to top the SEC teams. The Rebels have already completed 99 passes for 8 TDs. Tennessee hits the best percentage, 61.2 percent, and Alabama has thrown only one interception. LSU held Auburn to 86 yards passing, cutting their average yield to 107 and their opponents completion percentage to 43.3 percent. Georgia has made the most interceptions, 11, while Tennessee has allowed only 1 TD.

'Bigbee Recap

A host of action was held again this week in the Tombigbee Conference football race.

One of the two top teams played this week while the other had the week off.

Saltillo's Tigers remained in their winning ways with an impressive 27-12 victory over Kossuth's Aggies.

The Tigers' Arlandos McKinney scored a pair of tallies to pace the Saltillo win.

Keith Wilson and Rufus Patton added the six pointers for the Aggies.

In other action of the week Booneville's Blue Devils won their first outing of the 1980 campaign with a 46-6 victory over still winless Alcorn Central. The Devils scored six pointers on the night and led 30-0 at the half.

Mark Anderson got the Bearcats started in the opening quarter with a two yard run while in the second frame quarterback Mark McCreary threw a 31 yards TF pass to Pat Young.

McCreary went to the air again in the third quarter when he fired 61 yard bomb to Greg Carpenter and in the fourth quarter Pat Young reached paydirt again with a nine yard run.

The Bearcats are 4-2 on the year while Okolona is 1-5.

The "Side Kick" is back in the Northeast Hospital, he is better today. Hope and pray for his continued improvement.

Happy birthday to "Apple Dumpling," "Fuss-butt," and "Little Skunk."

"Fuss Butt," I hope you got what you wanted for your birthday.

Did you hear that Charlie blowing smoke up our way the other night. Boy she had four or five talking at the same time. Good to hear you, Charlie.

"Pine Tree," you sure do look good now. If you would just key that mike and start talking. I don't know how "Angel" can keep up with you now.

I hear "Little Red" is going back to Memphis this week. Hope you are feeling better by now.

"Running Bear," you had better put that chair of "White Dove's" back from the table. Someone is gaining weight.

"Roof Topper," I thought you knew how to ride without a saddle. Sorry you fell of the horse at the Lorretta Lynn Ranch. Hope you were not hurt too bad.

"Chipmonk," hope you have a good time in the Smokies with grandparents and Granny Cain who will be 90 years young this month. Hope all of you have a nice trip.

"Buffalo No. 2," it sure is bad to come down with an asthma attack this time of the year. Can't even hunt now for a while. Hope you feel better soon.

"Buffalo I," got to kiss the queen Friday night at homecoming. Booneville won their game. Congratulations.

Hope everybody is feeling better this week. See and hear you this week. Go to the church of your choice, but go.

The Bell System has a tradition of helping the handicapped communicate. That tradition began with Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. Bell also was a teacher of the deaf.

Ever since Mr. Bell's time, the Bell System has wanted to make it possible for everyone to communicate with telephone service.

South Central Bell has equipment to make using the telephone possible for hearing impaired, blind, speech impaired or paralyzed people.

Someone who's unable to hold a conventional receiver can use a Speakerphone set or a headset. For the hearing impaired, there are special bells, chimes, horns and lights to indicate the phone is ringing. Phones with adjustable volume controls aid people with speech or hearing problems.

The "Portable Communications Terminal" is a new device for the deaf or speech impaired. The terminal allows users to conduct written "conversations" with other telephone customers who have compatible instruments. The South Central Bell device is compatible with most teletypewriters (TTYs) and with other telecommunications devices for the deaf (TDDs).

An artificial larynx, developed by Western Electric Company, lets those who have lost the use of their larynx speak. It substitutes electronic vibrations for natural voice vibrations.

The list of special services for the handicapped is long and varied. If you are disabled or if you know someone who has a physical problem in using the telephone, special equipment may be the solution.

Contact the Telecommunications Center for Disabled Customers for more information on special services for the handicapped. Speaking customers should call collect, 948-3742, and hearing and speech impaired (TDD/TTY) should dial 1 + 948-3671 (toll-free).

Before calling long distance to a business in another town, check your local telephone directory to see if they have a toll-free "800" number listed in the white or yellow pages.

DEER NABBED—J.T. Henderson killed this five point buck Saturday Oct. 4th on the first day of bow season. The deer, his second killed with a bow and arrow in his lifetime, was nabbed at Van Fleet.

Farm Exports Still Increasing

Farm exports are at an all time record, both in terms of volume and dollars. Since 1976, total agricultural exports have increased from 107 million metric tons totaling $22.8 billion to this year's total of over 160 million metric tons worth more than $40 billion.

Exports for wheat, feed grains, rice and soybeans in fiscal 1981 are projected at more than 13.4 million metric tons totaling almost $23 billion. Agricultural exports will contribute $20 billion toward offsetting our balance of payments deficit.

The export market plays a significant role in the total demand for U.S. Grains, accounting for almost 65 percent of wheat use, about 50 percent of soybean disappearance, and more than 30 percent of corn use.

Cotton exports are expected to reach $3.2 billion for the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, 1980. This is a 68 percent increase from 1979. Mississippi ranks third in the nation in cotton production behind Texas and California.

Insofar as soybeans are concerned, only six states plant a larger acreage than does Mississippi. These states are Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, Arkansas, and Indiana.

In 1979 Mississippi planted 4,100,000 acres of soybeans and produced approximately 118,900,000 bushels valued at more than $891,750,000. With approximately one-half of the soybeans in this country exported, it is obvious that Mississippi has an important stake in continued high exports.

Special Education Budgets Rising

Mississippi's schools and the State Department of Education look forward this year to continued gains in the education of handicapped children.

"Services as well as the number of children enrolled are increasing," according to Dr. Charles Holladay, state superintendent of education. He added that he estimates an increase of 4,000 to 4,500 students above last year's enrollment of 41,093. This is up from 31,121 children served in the 1977-78 school term.

"Many schools are employing additional types of specialized personnel as they continue to diversify services," said Dr. Walter Moore, assistant director in charge of the Division of Instruction's Special Education Section. "This is a year to continue to work hard to consolidate our forces as we move forward."

Budgets for special education are expanding in many school districts, Moore said. Financial support is provided primarily through the state under the Minimum Foundation Program; through federal support under Public Law 94-142; and through local tax support.

In cases of children who once were in institutions but are now being educated in special education programs in local schools, P.L. 94-142 funds amounting to $487.88 per child may be used instead of P.L. 94-142 money to augment state and local support. Federal support through P.L. 94-142 still has not reached the amount per child promised by Congress when they passed the law.

Moore said the state will receive approximately $228 per handicapped child for the 1980-81 school term although the promise had been for almost twice that much.

"In a large majority of the cases, the taxpayers get tangible returns on their investments as these children grow up, get jobs, pay taxes, and contribute to community services," Moore said. "This is true because most handicapped children are not so severely handicapped that they can't be successful wage earners."

NEW STIMULATOR Cattle Block

Helps you with the "Big Ifs" of cattle nutrition!

No. 1...IF you can stimulate your cattle's appetite you start the chain reaction that leads to improved nutrition and lower feed costs. New Stimulator cattle block improves appetite because it contains high levels of molasses in a unique form and a sound balance of protein, vitamins and minerals.

No. 2...IF appetite is stimulated, your cattle will eat more roughage. Stimulator's unique form and balance of nutrition enhance consumption of lower quality roughages — day after day.

No. 3...IF rumen digestion is stimulated your cattle will utilize more of what they consume. Stimulator's formula of balanced nutrition helps increase rumen activity and speeds the breakdown of roughage. Result: Better nutrition.

No. 4...IF you achieve better nutrition through better utilization of your home-grown roughages, you save out-of-pocket feed costs, improve herd health, increase conception rates and promote heavier calves at weaning.

Consumers Warned Of Mail Fraud

With winter and the holidays approaching, many consumers will be purchasing items through the mail, and unfortunately, some will be victimized by mail-order schemes and mail-order fraud.

Consumers lose their money easily and in a variety of ways, and more often than not, consumers find that it takes considerable time and effort to recover their money or obtain the merchandise they ordered.

Some mail-order schemes are simple. A company may advertise a product with the intent of taking the money but not completing the order, and other schemes can be more complex by soliciting investors for worthless or illegal business opportunities. Some schemes appeal to the consumer's desire to improve themselves and many appeal to our desire for good health.

With so many different kinds of fraud, individual caution is important and consumers should follow some general rules when spending their money through the mail.

(1) Never order expensive goods or services through the mail unless you know from reliable sources that the company is reputable.

(2) Never make any purchase or contribution before consulting with someone who has some experience in the area of the particular service, product, or solicitation. For example:

--Don't make a large business investment without having an attorney examine the commitment you are making.

--Don't sign up for a correspondence course without first talking with a guidance counselor.

--Don't make a contribution to a questionable charity until you have checked with the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office or another reputable service.

(3) Never be taken in by the appearance of getting something for nothing—free prizes, extraordinarily low prices, very high salaries. It is a fact of life that no one gets anything for nothing.

(4.) Always report any instance of mail fraud you encounter. Keep in mind that mail order fraud involves any transaction where the mail is used at any point to misrepresent or to defraud. Even if you end up dealing personally with particular individuals, mail fraud is involved if initial contact is made through the mail.

A Federal Trade Commission rule requires that mail order companies ship all orders within the time stated in a seller's advertisement or, if no time is given, within 30 days. If this cannot be done, the purchaser must be notified of the delay. If there will be a delay in shipping, the purchaser must be given the option to cancel the order.

If the company receives no reply from the consumer regarding a cancellation, the company can assume the consumer has consented to the delay. This applies for an additional 30 days. For delays beyond this point, the consumer must give consent in writing.

The FTC rule also requires that the company provide the customer with a cost-free means to notify the company of a cancellation, such as a postage paid card, and must refund the customer's advance payment within seven business days if such is requested.

Consumers should be aware that this rule is limited to merchandise only and does not apply to magazines and other serial deliveries, seeds and growing plants, or orders made on a COD basis.

According to federal law, if a consumer receives merchandise in the mail that was not ordered, the person receiving that item may consider it a gift and may keep it. It is illegal for the person or firm sending the item to pressure the recipient to return or pay for merchandise that was never ordered.

Mail fraud is a federal offense and is handled by the U.S. postal inspectors.

When you feel that mail fraud exists, hold all letters, including envelopes, and other evidence related to the questionable scheme. See if your neighbors or business associates have received similar material. Bring such information to the attention of a postal inspector in your area by contacting him directly or through your postmaster.

'Old Fashion Day' Held At Hill's Chapel School

Jennifer And Brock Dunnaway

Second Graders Watch Shawn Weaver Make Butter

Last Thursday the second grade classes of Hill's Chapel Attendance Center held an "Old Fashion Day," with students and teachers outfitted in the dress of yesteryear and demonstrating the way of life of years gone by.

While teachers - Mrs. Mauveline Wilemon and Mrs. Linda Denson - took turns churning milk to make butter, young Shawn Weaver demonstrated another method - shaking the milk in a jar, as shown to him by his grandfather.

When the butter was ready, another teacher - Mrs. Ann Bridges - was ready with a buttermold.

Mary Bennett and Molly Smith, dressed in long dresses, sat at a display of articles brought by students. Molly also demonstrated the process of "carding" cotton.

With a cake of real homemade lye soap, Shane Martin demonstrated the use of an old rubboard for cleaning clothes.

Kristy Armstrong and Jacqueline Ackers took turns demonstrating the use of an old fashioned iron - the type that has to be placed in front of a fireplace or on a stove to heat it.

Using an old rolling pin and a dough board that had belonged to her great-great-great-grandmother, Jennifer Dunaway demonstrated the art of making biscuits, while her little brother Brock watched.

The "Old Fashion Day" held by the second graders was a part of their Social Studies and Health classes and was shared with students in the other grades at the school. The other classes took turns visiting during the day to take a look at the way their ancestors lived.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

'The Impossible Also'

By Rev. Larry E. Hill

"And when Esau heard the words of his father, he cried with a great and exceeding bitter cry, bless me, even me also, O my father." Gen. 27:34.

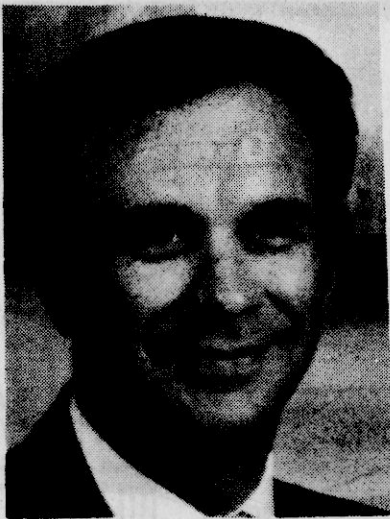

A blessing in the Old Testament is the solemnly pronounced wish, on the part of its giver, that God would bestow some good thing on the man he blesses. It might be uttered by anyone, but it was usually bestowed by those who had certain authority to do so. Thus it was usual for priests to pronounce a benediction on their people. Or a father, especially on his death-bed, might bless his sons. It was their last testament, written not on paper, but on the tables of the minds of those who heard it.

It is from the story of Isaac's blessing that our thought is taken. When he drew near his end, he called Esau, his eldest and favorite son and told him to hunt for venison, "such as he loved," and by that dish he might express his wishes. He had full intention of blessing Esau.

But there was one standing by who heard the conversation with vexation. Rebekah did not wish the blessing to go to her eldest born. Jacob was her favorite and she was determined he should be the heir. Through trickery, Isaac was made to bless Jacob instead of Esau. Thus, Esau cried with a bitter cry, "Bless me O my father."

The same spirit of satan is tricking men, women, boys and girls today, out of the blessings of our heavenly father. Don't wait until it is too late to receive your blessing.
