For City Alderman

Floyd And Allen To Be In Runoff

Since none of the five candidates seeking the alderman-at-large post in the city's special election Saturday received a majority of the votes cast, a runoff election will be held this coming Saturday at City Hall.

Robert Floyd, who led the field with 188 votes, and Bluford Allen, who came in second with 144 votes, will face each other in the runoff this Saturday.

Eliminated from the race in Saturday's election were Keith Shackelford, who received 114 votes; Harold Wigginton, who received 61 votes; and Willie D. Jumper who received 58 votes.

City Clerk June Hutcheson reports that voter turnout in the special election was very low. Less than 20 percent of the city's registered voters turned out for the election.

Out of approximately 3,000 registered city voters, 566 actually voted. One of these was invalidated due to the fact that the voter marked two names on the ballot. This means 565 votes were actually counted.

The polls will open again this Saturday at 7 a.m. for the runoff and will close at 6 p.m. All residents will cast their votes at City Hall.

The candidate who receives the most votes Saturday will serve the remainder of the term of J.W. Timbes who died earlier this fall.

In 12 Areas

Teacher Certification Stricter

The State Board of Education voted Monday in Jackson to raise the minimum scores required for teacher certification in 12 subject areas, effective April 1, 1983.

The board's action will replace the present 850 score minimum needed to qualify for a teacher's license after the receipt of a bachelor's degree in a teacher education program.

The new minimum scores will be 944 for mathematics, 928 for media specialist, 921 for social studies, 918 for elementary education, 916 for physical education, 914 for biology and general science, 913 for home economics, 911 for chemistry and physics, 908 for Spanish, 907 for music education, 904 for English language and literature, and 897 for early childhood education.

The 850 requirement will continue to apply for the teaching areas of art, business, special education, French, industrial arts, speech communications and theater, audiology, German, and speech pathology until further study has been done, according to Dr. Bob McCord, assistant superintendent of education.

In areas for which no NTE tests exist, a score of 432 on the common part of the examination will be acceptable.

The changes were recommended after a study conducted by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J. The study suggested the increased minimums to upgrade both training in the colleges and universities and the caliber of teachers.

McCord said that approximately 97 percent of those who take the exam score higher than the 850 minimum.

PRE-FLIGHT CHECKUP—While at the Northeast Hospital in Booneville to visit with patients on Christmas Eve, Santa Claus stopped by the emergency room for a final checkup prior to making his rounds of delivering gifts to good little boys and girls around the world. He was

Enroute To Booneville

Texas Boy Dies From Sniper's Bullet

A 29-year-old Walthall man is being held in Choctaw County in connection with the sniper slaying Friday of a 9-year-old Texas boy who was traveling to Booneville with relatives for the holidays. Choctaw County Sheriff Hayes Mills said that Ronald G. Shaw of Webster County has been held without bond in the Choctaw County Jail in Aberdeen since his arrest about 30 minutes after the shooting Friday.

About three miles south of Mathiston near the Ballard Creek Crossing of the Natchez Trace, a bullet pierced the bottom of the rear door on the passenger's side and struck the Johnson boy and his sister, authorities said. Mrs. Johnson, Brinkley, and Brinkley's son were not injured, but Terrel bled to death before they could reach a hospital for help.

Sheriff Mills said Brinkley drove the car into Mathiston to seek help after the shooting. The car was escorted to the Webster County Hospital where the boy died from loss of blood at about 3:30 a.m. Lachelle Johnson was treated and released from the hospital with a superficial wound in the hip.

Mills said Shaw was arrested driving his pickup along the Natchez Trace about 1:45 a.m. Friday after Brinkley described a pickup he had seen on the roadside just before the bullet hit the car.

A loaded .35 caliber hunting rifle was reportedly found in Shaw's pickup when he was arrested. Charges against Shaw were not filed immediately, pending the results of ballistic tests to determine if a spent cartridge removed from Brinkley's car matched the recovered rifle. Sheriff Mills said beer cans, napkins and cigarette butts found along the parkway matched those found in the suspect's car. Shaw also reportedly failed to pass a sobriety test after his arrest.

Dental Hygiene Program Receives Accreditation

The Dental Hygiene Program at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College received notification this week that its accreditation classification has been raised to "approval."

The announcement, made by the American Dental Association's Commission on Dental Accreditation, was given following a visit of the school's facilities in early October of this year. Approval, the best of four classifications given by the association, is granted to an educational program to indicate that it has achieved or exceeded the basic requirements for accreditation. It also indicates that the program has no serious deficiencies or weaknesses.

The two-year training program at Northeast, currently under the direction of Dr. Lee C. Eads, has just completed its third year. It is one of three such programs in the state.

To date, the Northeast program has graduated eight students, all of whom passed state boards on their first attempt. Presently, there are 21 students enrolled in the program.

Water Association Gets FmHA Money

The Farmers Home Administration has approved a loan of $60,000 and a grant of $20,000 to the Prentiss-Alcorn Water Association Inc., according to Mark Hazard, state FmHA director.

The funds will be used to extend the domestic water distribution system to serve 58 additional customers, Hazard said. A total of 468 rural residents are current users of the system.

The $60,000 loan is being provided by FmHA with repayment to be made over a period of 40 years at 5 percent interest.

A total of $548,200 in FmHA loan funds were awarded to the Prentiss-Alcorn Water Association from 1972 through 1975, Hazard said.

City Tax Books Are Now Open For Payment

The city tax books are now open and ready for payment, City Clerk June Hutcheson said Monday.

City residents may pay their taxes any time during regular business hours at Mrs. Hutcheson's office in the City Hall, she said.

City Hall will be closed Thursday, Jan. 1, for the New Year's holiday, but will be open Friday.

Taxes not paid by Feb. 1, 1981, will be delinquent, she said.

Aletha Lodge Application Referred To Commission

During its monthly board of directors' meeting Thursday, Dec. 18, the Mississippi Health Systems Agency Inc. referred an application for a change of ownership at the Aletha Lodge Nursing Home in Booneville to the Mississippi Health Care Commission.

The hearing for this change of ownership was originally scheduled for last month's meeting but was postponed until this month so that further information could be obtained.

A Louisiana physician, Dr. Prentiss Smith of Baton Rouge, has expressed an interest in buying the stock of the Booneville nursing home from NuCare Inc., the present owner at an estimated cost of $447,900.

In the Dec. 18 meeting the MHSA board reconsidered the application from NuCare, but due to the fact that no formal agreement has been negotiated by the buyer and the seller, the board referred the application to the Health Care Commission.

In other action, the MHSA board recommended the approval of a three-year, $174,640 Rural Health Initiative Continuation Application from Shiloh-Pickwick Health Services, Inc. at Pickwick Dam, Tenn.

Retiring Justice Kermit Coather will administer the oath of office to Justice-elect Hawkins

A Visit From Santa!

Holiday Season At NEM Hospital

By CARL BARKER
Hospital Administrator

Santa Claus visited NEMH three times during the holiday season.

Friday night, Dec. 19, the Board of Trustees, employees and Medical Staff members with their guests were visited by the jolly gentleman in red while they were enjoying their Christmas party at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

Christmas Capers, the title of the event, featured dinner and entertainment by Mrs. Becky Martin of the Medical Records Department who sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem" accompanied by Miss Anita Smart playing the piano. Dr.

Phyllis Alexander, hospital radiologist, sang "O Holy Night." Dr. S.C. Galloway read the Christmas Story. Following the invocation by D.H. Prichard, those present sang Christmas carols led by Mrs. Nina Faye Holder of the Dietary Department.

On Christmas Eve, Santa visited the patients and employees in the hospital who had the misfortune of having to be there. Following his rounds, he felt the need to go and be checked out in the Emergency Room before continuing on his long journey.

Those who have been at the hospital during the season, have enjoyed the decorations in each area throughout the building. In addition to the decorations planned by the employees, the Volunteer Services made door decorations and put up a tree in the lobby.

The Volunteer Services had their Christmas party in the hospital dining room Thursday night, Dec. 18.

After enjoying a delicious meal, beautifully presented in buffet style by the Dietary Department, the volunteers and their guests heard reports from their president, Mrs. Carolyn Downs, and their treasurer, Mrs. Louise White. Carl Barker, hospital administrator, expressed his appreciation and that of the hospital group for the services of the volunteers and challenged them to continue their work in the coming year.

The report on the Christmas Bazaar held by the volunteers on Friday, Dec. 5, and Saturday, Dec. 6, following several weeks of work, was very good.

Christmas season actually began at the hospital with the planning, building, and presenting of the float in the Christmas parade in which the hospital's float placed first in its category. Jimmy McAnally, Respiratory Therapy Department Director, was chairman of the float committee.

Santa's first visit to the hospital was on Saturday morning, Dec. 6, 1980, when he and the Christmas elf, Linda Chaffin of Medical Records, met with employees' children in the dining room. Each child received a picture of them with Santa, some fruit and candy, as well as enjoying some of the treats prepared by Nell Blalock, Dietary Director, and her employees.

Dr. Teresita DyReyes, pathologist, entertained the lab employees and other guests at her home featuring a deliciously prepared meal in the style of the Philippines. Highlights of the party was a talent show by the employees.

In addition to parties held by other individual departments, the hospital employees, Medical Staff members, and Trustees with their guests dressed up in their western wear and gathered at the West Side Community Center, Friday night, Dec. 26, for their "Holiday Hoedown." Everyone was entertained by the C.P. Express Band and enjoyed threats prepared by the Dietary Department. Debbie Lauderdale, R.N., won the prize for the best western outfit.

As the holiday season draws to an end and 1981 approaches, the Board of Trustees, employees, and Medical Staff hope that everyone had a very Merry Christmas and wishes everyone a healthy and prosperous New Year.

HOSPITAL'S FLOAT—The Christmas season began at Northeast Mississippi Hospital with the planning, building and presenting of the hospital's float in the Christmas Parade. The float won first place in its category. Jimmy McAnally was chairman of the float committee.

SANTA VISITS NEMH—No one will say that it's fun to spend Christmas in the hospital, but a Christmas Eve visit from Santa and Christmas elf Linda Chaffin help make it more memorable for Darrell Odom, a patient in the Northeast Hospital in Booneville. Santa visited all the patients in the hospital Christmas eve, leaving oranges, apples and candy canes with those patients who were allowed to have the goodies.

BIBLE
BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, Could you explain the "Engrafted" word in Jas. 1:21, 22 and tell what it does?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: James said, "Receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls. But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only." To graft is to insert a cion from one tree into another. In this description the cion of the word is received, and is therefore acquired by hearing and doing the word of God. Paul said to the Corinthians: "Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved" (1 Cor. 15:1-2). They had received the same engraft of the gospel and were in the state of salvation. James exhorts people who have been saved from their sins to continue to receive the implanted word so they would remain in the state of salvation. The word is able to keep us saved if we continue to hear and obey it.

In State's Jr. Colleges

Enrollment Exceeds 50,000

For the first time in the 58-year history of Mississippi's public junior colleges, enrollments exceed 50,000, according to the State Department of Education. Official enrollment figures taken at the end of the sixth week of the fall semester reveal that 50,015 individuals were enrolled in various junior college instructional programs. This exceeds the 1979 figure by 2,087, or 4.35 percent.

The greatest increase occurred in enrollment of full-time students, which increased 10.4 percent over last year—from 23,929 to 26,424. There was an increase in full-time enrollment in all except two junior colleges.

Increases by category were: academic or university transfer, 6.4 percent; technical, 15.5 percent; and vocational, 14.5 percent. The academic curricula continued to account for over half of both full-time (52 percent) and part-time (60 percent) regular enrollments.

Enrollment of women exceeded that of men, 54 percent to 46 percent. In the technical curricula, which includes the associate degree nursing programs, women outnumbered male students 68 percent to 32 percent. However, in the vocational programs, much of which is trade and industry skill training, the ratio was reversed with enrollment of men accounting for 68 percent to 32 percent for women.

Seventy-two percent of the students enrolled are classed as freshmen or first year students. The vocational category consists of many one-year training programs and first year students accounted for 87 percent of this enrollment.

Non residents of Mississippi accounted for only three percent of the enrollment as the public junior colleges continued to serve principally those people within the junior college geographic districts.

A headcount summary by school district follows: Coahoma, 1,721; Copiah-Lincoln, 2,194; East Central, 854; East Mississippi, 1,595; Hinds, 8,659; Holmes, 1,395; Itawamba, 4,085; Jones, 2,634; Meridian, 3,675; Mississippi Delta, 2,572; Mississippi Gulf Coast, 9,535; Northeast, 2,314; Northwest, 3,861; Pearl River, 2,308; Southwest, 1,242; and Utica, 1,371.

Maintaining Your Mental Health

'How Can Just Talking Help?'

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of educational articles from Timber Hills Mental Health Services on issues of mental health and family planning.)

By Barbara Shackelford
Public Information
Specialist

Someone who is deeply enmeshed in a personal problem often asks: How can talking to a professional counselor help me? I know what I need. I need more money, or a better husband, or a long vacation. A counselor can't help me to get any or all of these things, so what's the use?

Actually a person with a problem (or with a whole series of problems, which is more usual) may not be able to judge at all what is the cause for all that unhappiness. By himself, he can look at his troubles from only one angle: his own. Often the events of his childhood and youth that have shaped his feelings and attitudes or the ones which have caused his problems in the first place. They also make it impossible for him to look at what's happenings in the present either realistically or objectively.

There's the man who has always felt that failure was an unforgivable sin. He can't allow himself to fail at anything. He may even regard as failure something that everyone else would consider a huge success. Until, with the help of a counselor he finds out that he is really expecting the impossible from himself, he won't be able to stop driving himself beyond all reasonable limits.

There's the woman who was always expected to be the best little girl on the block. Her room had to be immaculately clean, her dress perfectly pressed, and as one such young lady once put it: "When I lost a library book, I felt I wasn't going to heaven." When this "perfect" little girl grows up, she will probably find that she cannot meet her own standards, particularly with three small children, two dogs, and a husband who was not the best little boy on the block. A counselor can help her to see what she reasonably can expect of herself, to understand that by most standards she's not a slob, but a perfectly fine housekeeper and mother.

What's more the man who feels he's a failure or the woman who feels she's a slob may, because of a sense of guilt, provoke punishment from those around them. After all, when they were children, and they did something "bad" they were punished. The man may provoke his boss or the wife her husband, without realizing they are doing this. If they can't persuade someone to punish them, they may punish themselves. The man may get ulcers or the woman may fall down the cellar stairs, because she "forgot" to turn on the light.

Family counselors know that people often follow patterns of behavior all their lives, without even knowing that the pattern exists.

What constitutes a success in life and what constitutes a failure is never as simple as the TV ads would make one believe. And what's more a change of advertised brands will rarely cause a revolution in one's life. Counseling might.

Midnight Musings!

Dec. 25, 1980

Dear Editor,
I'm very sleepy since watching TV until 10 o'clock. I went to bed, couldn't sleep, so after midnight I got up found this old dull pencil and wrote this poorly written article.

I hope you can read it. My pencil is two inches long; I couldn't find a pen all this Christmas week. Guess they just hid from me, don't you?

I hope you can get this in next week. I really enjoy the paper and thanks so very much for printing "My Memories" I wrote on my 76th birthday. I never let my subscription run out.

Since Archie died Dec. 13, 1979, I guess I'm lonely, so I express myself by writing or reading, and piecing together quilting to give to my big family for birthdays and Christmas. Two of my granddaughters are in Northeast Junior College. Judy Jackson lives with me and Sherry Wilson who lives in sight, is Gwen and Dan Wilson's daughter.

The gifts all gave me were tremendous. I didn't need too much. They love me like I love them.

It is about 3:30 a.m. Dec. 26. Hope you won't think I'm too bold writing this note. I just like you folks a big lot. Mrs. Alma B. Jackson (This pencil is awful, ha!)

Christmas At Grandmother's House

By Mrs. Alma B. Jackson

Tis the night before Christmas, but all is not quiet. All is fun and good cheer, this night of all nights. The clan is arriving, aunts, uncles and cousins, grandchildren and greats, up in the dozens.

Extra tables are set, such a feast to behold, all the mixing and baking, roasting and such. Oh, the love we put in it is something to see. We give thanks to God for letting it be we can all be together this great once-a-year, to honor Christ's birthday. And there is no doubt everyone knows what it is all about.

Now supper is ready; thanks are given for this bounty seems sent from Heaven. Such chatter and clatter and "Oh, how did you fix it? I really must know.

I'll fix up a batch or a panful or so!"

For the New Year is feast time; it is every year. Resolutions are made, but seldom kept. We all look forward to what the New Year will bring.

Hoping for the best for all mankind, and that God is great wisdom will bless thru next year, in bringing us closer to each other in love; asking for guidance from our Father above.

But back to the Christmas tree after eating our fill, each a bit heavier, but, oh, it was good. We don't mind the extra pounds so long as we're healthy, happy and glad. To be with our loved ones is blessings galore. Yes, we've been over the road before.

The gifts are many, loads to carry. Photos were taken, each looking his best. Before next time some may marry, some pass on to be with the Lord as some have before.

The gang is leaving; we had fun. Tomorrow is Christmas day, visiting day, as well. A cluttered house is left behind, but memories much more precious will be in each ones' heart and mind.

And wonder what the future holds for each we hold most dear? Tis the season to be joyous, Tra-la-la-la-la.

And grandmother is left rocking in the old rocking chair with gifts piled high all around and enough food left to last a week. But never you mind, they'll be back to just look around and have a bite or two.

Goodnight from grandmother.

Eyes On Mississippi

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—Public education is generally accepted as Mississippi's most urgent public need. While the educational system has undergone sweeping internal changes the last two decades, it still operates under a State Board of Education structured just as it was in 1869.

The State Board of Education—one of only two state boards created by the Mississippi Constitution—is made up of three elective state officers who have fulltime administrative duties, the Attorney General, the Secretary of State and the State Superintendent of Education.

That's the way it was in the state Constitution of 1869, and the way it is in the Constitution of 1890, under which Mississippi is still operating.

For more than 20 years, civic and educational organizations, and some reform-minded governmental figures, have been trying to get the Mississippi

Legislature to do away with the archaic State Board of Education makeup and replace it with a constitutional board of appointed lay persons. The size of the proposed new lay board has generally ranged from five to nine, with the main object to make it broadly representative of the state's citizenry.

Establishment of a lay State Board of Education was expected from the start to be one of the recommendations to come out the blue-ribbon Special Education Study Committee created at the behest of Gov. William Winter. A proposal that goes part of the way is in the committee's legislative package, and it threatens to split the ranks of those who long have backed the lay Board of Education concept.

What the special education study committee has come up with is a nine-member Board of Education, whose structure obviously makes concessions to the political system, while getting broader citizenship input. The three elected state officials would be retained as members of the board, with six additional members appointed by the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House.

For some strange reason, the five appointees by the governor would have to be confirmed by the State Senate, while the two each named by the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker would not. At least the legislators on the special study committee agreed to a caveat that no lawmakers could be appointed to the Board of Education.

The idea of merely expanding the present ex-officio Board of Education is not exactly what Gov. William Winter had in mind, but he is apparently thrust into the position of having to back it along with the committee's other proposals.

However, even with the unusual provision that the Speaker of the House would be given two appointees on a constitutional board that is clearly in the executive branch, House Speaker Buddie Newman is said to be opposed to any change in the Board of Education as written in the 1890 Constitution.

The Mississippi Economic Council, which has been advocating a lay State Board of Education all the way back to the mid-1950's, is now caught on the horns of the political realities presented by the expanded board proposal, as having the best probable chance of getting through the legislature.

The MEC's board of directors will consider its position on the proposal at a special meeting in early January, but a spokesman said in all likelihood, the MEC will give its backing to the expanded board idea, even though it would prefer removing the Attorney General, the Secretary of State and the Superintendent of Education from the board.

Several other organizations, however, which have been long-time advocates of a lay board are planning to oppose the expanded board idea. Among them are the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women and the Mississippi AFL-CIO. Black groups are also expected to oppose the study committee recommendation because they realize retaining the three statewide elected officials on the Board of Education would reduce the chances of getting more blacks on the new board.

In the past, the State Board of Education has been more or less a figurehead body that was in fact run by the Superintendent of Education. Having the Superintendent of Education on a board that is supposed to set educational policy for the department that he administers is one of the inherent major flaws in the existing Board of Education structure, advocates of reform have pointed out.

The problem now is making a change that is less than satisfactory to many proponents of a new State Board of Education is that it involves amending the state constitution. Once its put in the constitution, it's hard to change.

Where Do Christmas Trees Come From?

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

Why do most Mississippi Christmas trees come from faraway places?

Because only a few Mississippi farmers know how profitable they can be.

Why are some northern Christmas tree growers interested in expanding their operations into Mississippi?

Because they do know. What area of the nation can grow Christmas trees fastest?

The deep South—unquestionably!

Christmas trees today, a renewable resource, constitute a strong extra farm crop for landowners who enjoy selling what they produce for good prices with little fluctuation in either demand or prices—and are willing to care for their crop for three to five years before they are ready for the market.

In recent weeks Christmas joy oriented families across this nation have bought approximately 35 million trees. Michigan and Ohio are among the top Christmas tree producing states in the nation that have supplied the largest share of those trees.

By far most of the estimated 750,000 Christmas trees utilized in Mississippi homes this year came from the north on huge transport trucks.

Many of the trees were harvested as early as August. Virtually all were painted green and embalmed, so to speak, so they would hold up during cutting, grading, bundling, warehousing, trucking, delivery to distributors, wholesalers, retailers and finally you. So if the trees were a bit shopworn and couldn't quite hang onto all their needles, don't blame them. They tried—hard.

The La.-Miss. Christmas Tree Growers Association today comprises some 400 mostly new Christmas tree growers in these two states who are dedicated to turning the tide in Christmas tree production by first filling the needs of the local market and then start shipping southern grown trees into the northlands within a few years.

Many of the new growers in the South are learning as they go—but annually they are planting Virginia pines, spruce pines, eastern red cedars, deodar cedars, sand pines, Arizona Cypress, white pines and other species as rapidly as they can get the seedlings, and unfortunately few seedlings are obtainable from the Mississippi Forestry Commission. This writer called that agency recently asking about Christmas seedlings and was told there were none available.

Christmas trees may be grown on virtually any sunny, well drained soil in the state. And in most cases it can and should be a no-till crop—protecting and beautifying the land that nurtures them. They require that the land be mowed or burned prior to planting with such obstructions as stumps removed. Seedlings then are planted in rows checker-board fashion with spacing of six to eight feet between trees. Many growers flag their trees the first year or so to prevent them from being lost in first year grass or weeds. Grass and weed control is essential to keep the seedlings from being shaded out or deprived of nutrients and moisture.

Spring and summer culture includes grass and weed control, limited fertilization at the rate of about 300 pounds of mixed fertilizer per acre, insect control, and shearing to desired shape as the trees grow. They require considerable hand labor and oftentimes when the weather is hot or fish are biting—another reason Mississippi is a deficit Christmas tree growing states.

Investment is not heavy, so the lack of annual production loan capital usually is no big problem. And too it probably is good judgement for most growers to start with a relatively small acreage so that species chosen may be proven on the site and the operators' inclination to care for them properly becomes matter-of-fact—before heavy investments are made.

Growers near population centers usually have a choose-and-cut operation and retail their trees from the widespread breed of people who enjoy the experience of selecting and cutting their own trees on a memorable family outing during the Christmas season.

And the nicest of all, this is one of a few farm enterprises where farmers may set their own prices!

From The MEC:

A Major Contribution

Small businesses make major contributions to Mississippi's economy, with 95 percent of the state's business firms employing fewer than 50 people.

National research indicates that, between 1953 and 1973, small firms produced 4 times as many innovations per research dollar as medium sized firms and 24 times as many as the largest firms. Firms with 20 or fewer employees generate about two thirds of all new jobs in the United States, and firms less than four years old generate 80 percent of all replacement jobs.

Small business is the backbone of the American economy, and the Mississippi Economic Council has adopted several recommendations designed to enhance the development and expansion of this vital element in the state's business climate. Recommendations are:

--The Governor, the Legislature, and all state and local officials must cooperate in efforts to maintain a state and local business climate conducive to the development and growth of small business.

--Governments at state and local levels should support and encourage the development of small, locally owned businesses; (Continued on Page 15)

Appreciates The Support

Dear Editor,

At the end of my first year of practice I would like to extend my appreciation to those who have supported me. Thanks to the physicians in Booneville and the entire hospital staff who have made me feel welcome and have been supportive and hospitable.

A special thanks go to my friends and relatives who have supported me this past year.

Resolved: To Stop Smoking!

Make a New Year's Resolution to stop smoking, suggests the Mississippi Lung Association. Life and health are our two most valuable possessions. No amount of money can buy them, but many of us are dangerously and recklessly jeopardizing our health and shortening our lives by smoking.

New Year is a time of new beginnings. Why wait until you become stricken with a disabling or fatal disease? Make a new beginning for yourself by resolving to make a better life for yourself and those you love by stopping smoking.

According to a Gallup poll, half of the people who still smoke, want to quit. Parting company with cigarettes must be a positive action based on a desire to want to quit, an insight into the health threat, a recognition of values and a recognition of the cost of smoking cigarettes.

No major medical or health agency questions the fact that smoking is harmful to health. Smoking is a major cause of emphysema, chronic bronchitis, lung cancer and heart disease. Serious thought should be given to exchanging cigarette for a healthier future. We all want to be around to watch our children grow up and quitting smoking could make a difference.

More than 30 million Americans have quit smoking. This New Year be your own best friend. do something nice for you and your family. set a goal and join the ranks of non-smokers. Save a life...your own!

CONSUMER REPORT

Office of Bill Allain, Attorney General

Credit Card Billing Errors

Attorney General Bill Allain informs consumers that according to the federal law, "The Fair Credit Billing Act," your credit card billing complaints must be answered. If you think you have been billed the wrong amount, have been charged for products you didn't buy or were never delivered, didn't get credited for a payment you sent, or think that any other billing error has occurred Allain suggest that you remember the following points:

--Once you have notified the credit card company in writing of your complaint within 60 days of getting the bill, the company must within 30 days acknowledge that it has received the complaint. Within 90 days, it must either correct the mistake or send a written explanation as to why the original bill was correct.

--During this 90 day period, you do not have to pay any of the amount that is in dispute or any finance charge on this amount. (You still, of course, have to make payments on other charge purchases you make.)

--The company cannot close your account or give a bad report on you to a credit bureau during this period.

--If a company doesn't follow these regulations, it forfeits the amount disputed up to $50, whether a billing error has been made or not.

--If the merchandise you charge is defective or shoddy and you can't get satisfaction from the seller, you can refuse to pay the credit card company.

You do, though, have to be prepared if the issuer sues you for the amount, to demonstrate that you made an authentic effort to resolve your problems with the business where you bought the produce or service. You also, of course, have to have evidence that the product or service was unsatisfactory.

The purchase has to involve an amount more than $50 and must involve a business within the same state as you ro within 100 miles of your home. If, however, the credit card issuer is the business itself or if the purchase was made through a mail order solicitation, there are no limitations on the amount of money or the mileage.

Consumers need to be alert and informed about consumer issues and problems in the marketplace. For additional information, contact Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, Mississippi 39205, (601) 961-4244.

We didn't get a white Christmas, but surely everybody enjoyed the togetherness, the food and gifts displayed around the brilliantly lighted tree.

All of our eight children with their companions and our 13 grandchildren were here. We had a bountiful meal at 6 p.m. consisting of ham, turkey, chicken n' dressing, cranberry sauce, vegetables, salads, stuffed eggs, pies, cakes, tea, coffee and Pepsi.

Then came the gathering around the tree. Everyone seemed happy with their gifts. Jerry had gag gifts for us all, causing a lot of laughter.

Saturday night the family enjoyed a supper of fried quail, rabbit and ribs.

Absent from services on Sunday were Irene Estis and the Dees twins. Linda Dees was absent having stayed home to care for Misty and Cristie who may be coming down with measles.

"Ma" Green is back in the Northeast Hospital-room N o . 1 2 6 .

Mrs. Ola Glover is much better and able to be working in the Baldwin Nursing Home.

Aunt Myrtie Harris remains in room 203 in the local hospital and about the same.

Clyde Garner is still very sick at home.

Get-well wishes go to these and our shut-ins.

I was able to visit Winnie Harris in the Burton Community on Saturday, Dec. 27, and found her to be doing fairly well.

Visitors here recently were Jerry Coats from Celina, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. James John from Kenosha, Wis.

Offers Scholarships

Seniors in all Mississippi high schools are eligible for a total of $4,000 in scholarships to be awarded in an essay contest, sponsored by the Mississippi Insurance Council.

All members of the graduating class of 1981 are eligible to enter this contest, with the first place winner earning a $2,500 scholarship, $1,000 for second place, and $500 for third.

Complete rules and regulations in the contest have been sent to all school districts in the state, a spokesman for the insurance council said.

The theme of the essay will be, "What can I do to reduce my present and future auto insurance cost?" and will consist of a maximum of 10 double-spaced typed pages, or 20 handwritten pages. The winning essays will be determined by a panel of judges, who will make their evaluations on the basis of clarity, originality, and content.

The deadline for registration is Jan. 15, 1981.

To register, the student must put his name, address, phone, age, school, and school principal's name on a 3x5 index card, and mail it to M.I.C. Scholarship Contest, P.O. Box 1441, Jackson, MS 39205.

All essays are due by March first. All entries must be submitted with the student's name, social security number, date of birth, address, phone, and school on an enclosed 3x 5 card only, not on the paper itself.

The winners will be announced April 1, 1981. M.I.C. Chairman Walter J. Duncan, C.P.C.U., said, "The Mississippi Insurance Council is a non-profit organization of property and casualty insurance companies and agents in Mississippi, dedicated to informing the public about the insurance industry. Since a young person's first encounter with insurance is often for an automobile, we are sponsoring this contest to help our state's young people become more knowledgeable insurance consumers."

On Nursing Home Patients

Medicaid Sets Limits

On July 1, 1980, the Mississippi Medicaid Commission imposed a limitation on the number of Medicaid patients that any nursing home could have. No facility could have more than 89 percent of their total bed capacity occupied by Medicaid patients.

Bob Knott, president of the Mississippi Health Care Association which represents the nursing home profession, indicated from the association office in Jackson that the limitation has penalized many Mississippians who have worked, paid taxes, and now are dependent upon Medicaid for their health care.

Knott said, "Information recently obtained by the Association indicates that patients are being denied admission to Mississippi nursing homes and having to leave the State for nursing home care. A nursing home in Kentwood, La., reports that as many as eight Mississippians have been admitted due to the limitation since July 1, 1980. It is also interesting to note that the state of Mississippi paid this nursing home for the patients' care until they established Louisiana residency or returned to Mississippi when a vacancy occurred."

At the Medicaid Commission meeting on Dec. 19, 1980, the association called on the commission to repeal this bed limitation and said the limitation is in direct violation of the following Federal Guidelines:

- (1) Discriminates against patients whose conditions require a covered level of care.
- (2) Interferes with the patients' rights to free choice of provider.
- (3) Violates the requirements of Statewide, including the concept of reasonable access on a geographical basis.
- (4) Prevents, by virtue of fee structures participation of a sufficient number of providers of covered services in the program so that eligible persons can receive the care included in the plan at least to the extent it is available to the general public.

(5) Conflicts with the established Certificate of Need process which has already established a need for nursing home beds.

Nursing homes have already been told that they can anticipate further reduction in the bed limitation to 86 percent effective Jan. 1, 1981, Knott said.

SUNBOX—The TVA Sunbox, a solar water heater, was designed for do-it-yourselfers who want to build an inexpensive solar water heating system. The sun, shining through the tempered glass cover, heats water inside the black-painted tank. The heated water is then drawn into the regular tank inside the house.

New Solar Water Heater

TVA To Hold Seminars On Sunbox Construction

TVA has designed a do-it-yourself solar water heater—the TVA Sunbox—and will hold a series of workshops in January for consumers who wish to learn how to build them and save energy.

The Sunbox was developed at the TVA Solar Test Facility in Chattanooga. According to John Sanders, acting chief of TVA's Solar Applications branch, the simple water heater can be built with new materials at a cost of about $450 and for considerably less if secondhand materials are used.

"The Sunbox is simply a box that holds a bare metal tank filled with water that is heated when the sun shines through a glass cover," Sanders explained.

"The tank supplies hot water through a connecting pipe to the conventional water heater inside the house. It needs no pumps, separate heater-transfer fluids, controls, or moving parts. The Sunbox must simply be placed on the south side of the house to receive enough exposure to the sun.

TVA is seeking 70 residential sites to demonstrate the effectiveness of the Sunbox. During the workshops, do-it-yourselfers will have a chance to help build a unit and to apply as a demonstrator for the units they build. The 70 that are selected will receive $50 for providing TVA with monitoring information.

A booklet showing how the Sunbox may be built will be used during the workshops and by the 70 persons selected to build demonstration units. The booklet, which will be available to the public after the demonstrations, is the first of a series of publications that the agency plans to issue on do-it-yourself energy conservation measures for homeowners.

Sixteen Sunbox workshops have now been scheduled. The only one scheduled for Mississippi thus far is to be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Jan. 24 at the Houston Vocational Technical School on Starkville Road in Houston.

For more information about Sunbox workshops, call the TVA toll-free TVA Citizen Action Line at 1-800-251-9242.

HEALTH TIPS THINK!

By Dr. Michael J. Ream.

Think for yourself and reason the proposition in your own mind. What is the logical result when the nerve supply is reduced to any particular organ of the body, or when these vital forces of health are unable to follow their normal channels due to interference?

Chiropractic adjustments not only restore health; they also build health. The old adage: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," may be considered trite, but it is sound truth.

The Chiropractic principle briefly stated, is this: The cause of disease is in the person afflicted. Adjustments correct conditions that produce illness.

The junction of every organ in the body is controlled through the brain, by mental impulses, which are transmitted over nerves. Any impingement of or pinching of the delicate nerve fibers, interfering with the free flow of vital nerve forces causes impaired or abnormal function. This is disease. This nerve interference is produced by a vertebral subluxation.

The chiropractor—expert in his knowledge of the spine—locates the point of nerve pressure, and by adjusting the subluxated vertebra, releases the pressure. Normal condition—Health—is the result.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. Michael J. Ream whose office is located at 208 First Street, Booneville.)

Scientist, Artist
Intrigued by 4-H
Photography Project

Not many projects can appeal to both the scientist and the artist, but photography can. It can fascinate anyone intrigued by the principles of light sensitivity as well as the beginning photographer with an instamatic.

The scientific end of the project offers challenges to budding inventors and experimenters trying to understand how film, light, lenses and time all work together to make a photograph. Film developing can become a valuable hobby or career as you see how chemicals and developing equipment help you control exactly what you want to show in your photograph.

Some 4-H'ers are so caught up in the development end of the process that they have set up a darkrooms in their homes, worked with local newspapers as darkroom technicians, and carried on their own experiments to add valuable information to the art of developing and enlarging. Some have found a career.

For the artistic or creative 4-H'ers, photography can help express thoughts and interpretations of the world. Unlike other artists, you don't need to be able to draw or sculpt or write to be an artist. Photography has become accepted in the most famous art galleries as a true art form.

You can experiment with lines, contrast, depth of field and many other ingredients that go into a good photograph. Most importantly, you can put your own personality into your photographs, defining your own personality through your choice of subjects and how you portray them.

If you're a scientist or an artist or both, look into the 4-H photography project. Through your project work, demonstrations and entry into photography contests including the National 4-H Photography Exhibit, you'll discover a new way to interpret your world.

Still Buzzing About Wheeler-Tupelo Game

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

1981 will start my fifth year covering area sports for this newspaper and I've seen a lot come and go in those five years. But I can honestly say that I've never seen anything quite like the Wheeler-Tupelo game held a couple of weeks ago at Northeast's Bonner Arnold Coliseum.

The locals are still talking about that game and the overflow crowd that showed up for the contest.

None really knows just how big the crowd was but according to all estimates it appears that some 4500 folks jammed in to see the Eagles-Wave battle.

Sometimes in a game that is predicted to be close turns out to be quite the opposite when a large crowd shows up. But not in this case. You couldn't have drawn it up better on a chart if you'd tried.

The two teams were evenly matched to a tee and the game had all the heroics of a state tournament final. Complete with coaches spending more time off the bench than they did on, fans yelling loud enough to raise the roof, fans overflowing on the court, etc., etc., the game had to be one of the most exciting games in North Mississippi basketball history.

Good Job By NE Staff

I think something should be said too about what an outstanding job the Northeast athletic department did during the game.

Athletic director Bill Ward and head basketball coach Noel Akins were constantly parading back and forth through the capacity crowd and tried their best to keep the crowd down to at least a roar. Now this was no easy task folks.

Have you ever tried to walk through a herd of buffalos during mating season. It was even harder than that because buffalos didn't pay the price of admission to get into the game.

Lady Please Don't Kick Me Again

Yep you guessed it. When you know the gym is going to be packed to the rafters and you wait till the last minute to get there then you ought to expect some rough treatment somewhere.

Well I certainly got some of that. When I walked into the gym (at 7:30, game starts at 8) I know I would have one more time just getting to the court to take pictures.

Well one more time wasn't the half of it. I though I was going to have to call out the National Guard. Some 1000 or more fans were standing on the court jammed up against the court and wouldn't have moved even if you'd had a cattle prod.

Well being the dedicated sports editor I am I decided to give it my all. During the long journey down to court side I got cursed, drenched with coke, (or possibly another popular drink), elbowed, and yes even kicked by little ole lady from Tupelo who was mad about paying the admission price and not being able to see what the heck was going on.

Was it worth all that? Oh yea I suppose so. It was definitely one of the most exciting games that I've seen in a long time. Maybe just a bit uncomfortable but indeed action packed from start to finish.

Bowl Games Coming Up

Some of the college bowl games have already been completed but a whole host of games will be held this week including the series on New Years day.

Normally I've had a pretty good record in predicting bowl games and this year it appeared that it might tend to be a little harder as the matchups are somewhat closer together than in previous years.

SUGAR BOWL—This one will definitely be the big daddy and will (in all probability) decide the national championship). If Georgia wins the game then without a doubt the Bulldogs will be given the National title but should Notre Dame win then it's probably up for grabs again. Picking time...I don't think you can stop Vince Dooley and Hershel Walker now if you had a tank. The Bullies will win. Georgia by 10.

ORANGE BOWL—Depending on the outcome of the Sugar Bowl, this will be the next biggest. Should be a close matchup but in my honest picking opinion I think Oklahoma will beat 'em even though they're playing in the Sunshine State. Oklahoma by 12.

ROSE BOWL—To me this game just don't have the interest this year as in previous so I'll make this brief. I think if Washington and Michigan played 10 times on the year, The Wolverines would win at least eight of them and maybe more. Michigan by 16.

COTTON BOWL—I think Bear had rather play in another bowl but you can better bet whatever bowl his team plays in they'll give it 100 percent. Baylor is good but I don't think they're good enough to beat Bama. Alabama by 14.

Better Late Than Ever

I also think Arkansas will beat Tulane in the Hall Of Fame Bowl; Penn State will beat Ohio State in the Fiesta Bowl; Nebraska will beat Miss State in the Sun Bowl; and Purdue will beat Missouri in the Liberty Bowl.

Till next time, Happy New Year.

County Action Now Back To Business

The local basketball campaign swings into full form beginning the latter part of this week and starting in full swing next week.

The Booneville Tournament starts things off tomorrow night for both Booneville and Baldwin while others start a night later Jan. 3.

Thrasher's Rebels and Rebelettes will be at home Jan. 3rd hosting Loyd Star while Wheeler, on the same night, will host Mooreville and New Site will be thost also against West Lincoln.

Then on Jan. 3, New Site will host Loyd Star while Thrasher will host West Lincoln. Jumpertown's Cardinals and Cardinalettes will kickoff the after Christmas action Jan. 6th hosting Pine Grove.

Junior College Tigers and Tigerettes will kickoff their second half of the schedule Thursday night Jan. 8 when they travel to Clarksdale to face Cohoma.

Most all tournament action has been completed for our area teams with the exception of the Booneville event going on this week as well as the Tombigbee Tournament later.

Ward To Start Recruiting Next Week

The Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tiger coaching staff will hit the recruiting trail next week and plan to sign some 30 players to scholarships for next season.

Northeast head coach and athletic director Bill Ward said he planned to nab some 20 players from the five county area as well as some nine out-of-staters for next year.

The Northeast Tiger mentor said he had his eye on quite a few players from the area but won't know til next week or maybe the next just who he'll sign.

Ward said his biggest performer he hopes to sign is Ripley's Phillip McDonald. The fleetfooted Tiger star is one of the top performers in the state and earned top honors in this year's Tombigbee Conference race.

Ward said he plans to talk with two others from Ripley, one from Alcorn Central, two or three from Booneville, two from Baldwin, three from Biggersville, three from Corinth, three from Walnut, four from New Albany, one from Iuka, one from Tishomingo, and two from Burnsville.

Coach Ward said he had several spots to fill after some 30 sophomores will leave the roster next season due to graduation.

"We have a lot of talent in this area and I'm really looking forward to getting started on the recruiting trail," Ward said.

The Tigers will again play a 10 game rotation schedule next year starting with a road battle against Co-Lin and playing Cohoma, Jones, Holmes, Hinds, East Mississippi, IJC, Delta, Northwest, and Pearl River. All the home games will be played on Thursday night with the exception of the homecoming game.

Notes From The SEC

The Miss. State Bulldogs are the top rebounding team in the SEC thanks to the board work of Kalpatrick Wells and Ron White. The duo rates one-two in the Southeastern Conference rebounding war. Wells, a powerful 6-9 center, has hauled down 71 missed shots for a seven-game average of 10.1 and White, a 6-7 forward, is close behind with 70, 10.0 per game. Florida's Ronnie Williams has a five-game total of 49, 9.8 per outing and LSU's Durand Macklin has pulled down 67 in seven games, 9.6 rpg. Alabama's 6-7 junior forward, Eddie Phillips, has cleaned the glass for a conference-leading 73 rebounds in eight games, 9.1 per outing.

Three Tied For SEC Field Goal Percentage Lead

Three SEC players are ripping the nets at a 66.7 percent rate to tie for the conference lead in field goal shooting. Georgia's Terry Fair and Vanderbilt's Charles Davis and Willie Jones lead a list of eight players hitting better than 60.0 percent. Fair has connected on 38 of 57 shots while Davis has made good on 30 of 45 and Jones 18 of 27. Ron White of Miss. State has hit 65.3 percent of his floor shots with Auburn's Darrell Lockhart hitting 62.1 percent, Tennessee's Dale Ellis, 61.1, Auburn's Earl Banks, 60.9 and LSU's Willie Sims, 60.5. Georgia's Dominique Wilkins has scored the most FGs, 68.

(Sp)—Auburn has joined Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 basketball team, in leading the uncommonly effective assault of the Southeastern Conference on other teams throughout the nation. The War Eagles and the Wildcats are both 6-0 in the SEC's outstanding accumulative record of 54-8 in competition with schools outside the league, a winning mark of 87.1 percent.

Right now the SEC holds an edge over 13 of the 17 conferences is even with another and down by one to three, plus a 5-2 mark with major independents. By conferences the record is: 5-0 with the OVC, 5-1 with Metro, 4-0 with the Big Ten, the ECAC and the Sun Belt, 3-0 with the Big-8, 2-0 with the Southern and the East Coast Conf., and 1-0 with the Big East, the MVC, the WAC, the Southland and Trans-AM. They are 1-1 with the SWC, 1-2 with the ACC and 0-1 with the MAC and the PCAA. In nine tournaments, the SEC has reached the finals of eight, winning four. MAC and the PCAA. In nine tournaments, the SEC has reached the finals of eight, winning four.

Auburn defeated Tennessee in an early SEC contest to make its overall record 7-0 and to share the top of the conference with Mississippi State, who beat Florida early. The ten SEC teams play 19 more outside during the next nine days, plus two conference contests, then begin the full-fledged SEC race Saturday, Jan. 3, in earnest.

SEC teams have played 42 games with schools in 17 different Division I conferences and seven major independents, mingled with

Longer Halftimes

All Thursday Games For Tiger Gridsters Next Season

Northeast Mississippi Junior College head football Coach and athletic director Bill Ward Monday announced that the Tigers will play all Thursday night home games next year.

The Northeast Tiger coach said all home games would be played on Thursday night next season with the exemption of the Annual Homecoming game and added that it would probably be played on Saturday night with a tentative date to be set.

This announcement was made last week during a meeting between the officials of the Mississippi Junior College coaches.

Also announced at the meeting will be the addition of extra players to be taken on road trips for the colleges.

Beginning next year Northeast, and other Junior colleges in the state will be allowed to take 46 players on the road bus next year instead of the current 43 which is allowed.

Also halftime will be extended in all junior college games to 26 minutes replacing the current 20 minute span which was previously in affect.

The committee also voted to begin JUCO practice August 14-16 which will limit to shorts and head gear for the first few practices.

Wheeler Plays East Union

Top High School Matchups At NE Saturday Night

Basketball fans from this area are in for a treat here

Saturday night with some top notch high school basketball action held at Northeast's Bonner Arnold Coliseum.

The undefeated Wheeler's Eagles, now 25-0 on the year, will play East Union in the finale a double header to be held.

The Eagles, under head coach Sam Richey, will put their undefeated mark to the test against the Urchins who post a 15-6 record coming into the game.

In the opening game of the night, again the fans should indeed get their money's worth. Pine Grove's Pantherettes, one of the top girls teams in the state with a perfect 24-0 record will battle against Duck Hill, last year's State defending B Champions who are also undefeated this year at 15-0.

Northeast head basketball coach Noel Akins said he felt like there should be some top notch basketball action in the Saturday night twin-bill and added that he hoped all the fans would come out and see these teams perform. "There should be two good ballgames for the fans," Akins said. "This is some of the best talent in the state."

No interest payment shall be evidenced by more than one (1) coupon and neither cancelled nor supplemental coupons shall be permitted; the lowest interest rate specified shall not be less than seventy percent (70 percent) of the highest interest rate specified; each interest rate specified must be an even multiple of one-eighth of one percent (1/8 of 1 percent) or one-tenth of one percent (1/10 of 1 percent), and a zero rate cannot be named.

If the successful bidder fails to purchase the Bonds pursuant to his bid and contract, then the amount of such good faith check shall be retained by the District as liquidated damages for such failure. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit.

The Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any and all bids submitted.

The Bonds are offered subject to the unqualified approval of the legally thereof by the law firm of Watkins Pyle Ludlum Winter & Stennis of Jackson, Mississippi. The District will pay for all legal fees and will pay for the printing and validation of the Bonds and will also furnish the usual closing papers, including a certificate evidencing the fact that no litigation is pending in any way affecting the legality of the Bonds or the taxes to be levied for the payment of the principal of and interest thereon. and governments should offer programs of assistance to small business as deemed necessary and appropriate in consultation and cooperation with small business owners and operators.

State and local governments should make available to small, locally owned businesses the same incentives as those offered to firms moving into Mississippi.

State and local governments should eliminate unnecessary or inappropriate statutes, ordinances, rules, and regulations which discourage the development or expansion of small business.

Continuing efforts should be made to evaluate and to consolidate those agencies and activities of state government which are designed to encourage small business development.

The small business loan program of state government should be evaluated to determine effectiveness relative to cost.

Important changes made in the income tax law that became effective in 1980 will affect many taxpayers.

Probably more changes were made in the state income tax law than in the federal tax law, but these changes are important, says Dr. Johnnie Sartor, leader, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Agricultural Economics Department.

Probably more changes were made in the state income tax law than in the federal tax law, but these changes are important, says Dr. Johnnie Sartor, leader, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Agricultural Economics Department.

The installment sale rules have been simplified. If you sell property and receive at least one payment after the end of the year in which the property is sold, the sale qualifies as an installment sale. The 30 percent clause that did apply in 1979 and earlier no longer applies.

A person may receive any amount of the sale the year of the sale; as long as he receives another payment in another year, it is an installment sale. The 30 percent clause still applies, however, on the state tax return Dr Sartor says.

The standard mileage rate has increased from 18.5 to 20 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use of your car during 1980. The rate has increased from 10 cents to 11 cents for business use over 15,000 miles or when your car is fully depreciated.

If you use the standard mileage rate, your car is fully depreciated after five years. Also the standard mileage rate increased from 8 cents to 9 cents per mile for travel for medical purposes and charitable travel such as Red Cross and 4-H club work.

As of Oct. 1, 1980, you may be able to claim a tax credit for alcohol used in the production of gasohol or for alcohol used as fuel in your trade or business or sold at retail and placed in a fuel tank," he says. "The credit is 40 cents a gallon for each gallon of alcohol at least 190 proof, and 30 cents a gallon for each gallon of alcohol at least 150 proof but less than 190 proof."

For 1980, the regular investment credit is limited to the income tax shown on the return or to $25,000 plus 70 percent of the tax that is more than $25,000—whichever is less. Remember, tax credits reduce your tax liability dollar for dollar.

Starting in tax year 1980, Mississippi now allows for individual itemized non-business deductions the same as on the federal tax return. If you are eligible to itemize deductions on your federal income tax return, the same amount on your federal return may be claimed on your Mississippi return. You may complete Mississippi Schedule A or you may attach a copy of your federal Schedule A.

"This means several items are now deductible for your state tax return that were not deductible in the past," he says. "For example, many individuals can deduct some medical expenses that could not be deducted earlier because of the high exclusion. Beginning in 1980, state and local income taxes will be deducted on the state tax return. Schedule A of the state tax return is now the same as Schedule A of the federal tax return."

Another important change from the standpoint of the state tax return is that the standard deduction, similar to the one recognized by the federal tax return, is used. Starting in 1980, married individuals filing a joint return who do not elect to itemize may claim a standard deduction of $3,400. This compares with 15 percent of adjusted gross income for previous years with a maximum of $1,500 if only one spouse had an income.

Also starting in 1980, the once-in-a-lifetime exclusion on the sale of a personal residence was increased from $35,000 to $100,000 on Mississippi tax returns.

"Individuals who do not stay abreast of the tax changes should use care in selecting individuals to prepare their tax returns," Dr. Sartor said.

Publication No. 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," and Publication No. 334, "Tax Guide for Small Businesses," are good sources of information and may be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service. Also Publication No. 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," is available free from your county agent or the Internal Revenue Service.

Billing Error Rules Explained

Credit Card Billing Errors

Attorney General Bill Allain informs consumers that according to the federal law, "The Fair Credit Billing Act," your credit card billing complaints must be answered. If you think you have been billed the wrong amount, have been charged for products you didn't buy or were never delivered, didn't get credited for a payment you sent, or think that any other billing error has occurred Allain suggest that you remember the following points:

-Once you have notified the credit card company in writing of your complaint within 60 days of getting the bill, the company must within 30 days acknowledge that it has received the complaint. Within 90 days, it must either correct the mistake or send a written explanation as to why the

--During this 90 day period, you do not have to pay any of the amount that is in dispute or any finance charge on this amount. (You still, of course, have to make payments on other charge purchases you make.)

--The company cannot close your account or give a bad report on you to a credit bureau during this period.

-If a company doesn't follow these regulations, it forfeits the amount disputed up to $50, whether a billing error has been made or not.

--If the merchandise you charge is defective or shoddy and you can't get satisfaction from the seller, you can refuse to pay the credit card company.

You do, though, have to be prepared if the issuer sues you for the amount, to demonstrate that you made an authentic effort to resolve your problems with the business where you bought the produce or service. You also, of course, have to have evidence that the product or service was unsatisfactory.

The purchase has to involve an amount more than $50 and must involve a business within the same state as you or within 100 miles of your home. If, however, the credit card issuer is the business itself or if the purchase was made through a mail order solicitation, there are no limitations on the amount of money or the mileage.

Consumers need to be alert and informed about consumer issues and problems in the marketplace. For additional information, contact Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, Mississippi 39205, (601) 961-4944.

High School Activities Can Aid Career

A high school student who is a student council representative, annual staff worker or prom chairman can turn the skills he learns from high school extracurricular activities into a career in management if he gets the right educational preparation as well, says Dr. Thomas Miller, chairman of the Management Department at Memphis State University.

"Extracurricular activities give you experience working with groups," Miller said. "A person who had the responsibility for putting out a high school yearbook indicates an ability to take on and discharge responsibility. Someone who is prom chairman learns organizational skills."

A career in management offers numerous challenges and opportunities. Managers coordinate the work of other individuals to achieve a group's goals. The field is a broad one with many supervisory, administrative and executive positions available to those with managerial knowledge and skills.

Extracurricular involvement alone is not enough for a career in management, Miller said. Because an effective manager needs to work with various political, economic, social and technological factors in his organization, a well-rounded educational preparation is advised.

Miller said students should have the "solid fundamentals" of maths and English before entering a college management program. Oral and written skills are necessary for an effective manager. "Many times as a manager you are judged by your correspondence, so you need to know how to communicate effectively," he said.

The need for a solid mathematics background is echoed by Dr. James Todd, chief undergraduate advisor in the MSU Management Department. Todd also feels a high school bookkeeping course can help prepare a student for college management coursework.

What makes someone an effective manager whether he is a supervisor or Chairman of the Board? Responsibility and an ability to work with others are two personal characteristics important for success in this field.

"Being there when you are supposed to be there is showing that you are a responsible person," said Todd. "The way to start working on being responsible is to be willing to attend classes and stick to schedules while in college."

"You can't be a loner," adds Miller. "You also need to have an interest in achievement, and you need to be able to derive satisfaction from seeing a job completed or a goal reached."

Each organization has an objective whether it is business, military, state government or a church group. Miller said the management skills a student learns in MSU's management program are focused on business but are transferable to other types of organizations.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

What Is My Part?

By Larry E. Hill

What must I do in order to prove my faith in God? What must I do to make sure of attaining my needs? What must I do? We become perplexed, additionally disturbed, and sometimes grievously tormented with just how to proceed with this business of obtaining help and answers through prayer. We have been told to learn how to rely on God, to look to Him only. But surely there is something that I must personally do, as I recognize His willingness to help me and His transcendent power. What shall I be doing meanwhile? What is my part as I wait?

These questions often baffle our minds even when we are most earnestly seeking, when we want and long to know God, when we seem to have come to an end of our own resources, when we are sick, discouraged, out of work, unhappily situated, or cast down with grief. Oh, the many problems and burdens and fears and sorrows and woes! We have found that they are too much for us, we cannot possibly deal with them ourselves. What feelings of relief and security, when we turn to the promises of God. He will take care of everything.

Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine. To the child of God, you can sing this song amidst all your problems. But what shall I do myself?

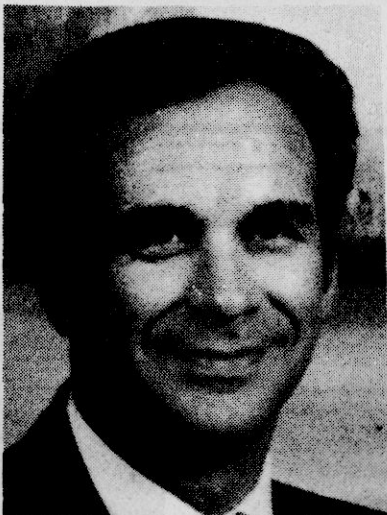

First of all: Put God above all else!

Second: We must be true and loyal always!

Third: In everything give thanks to God!

Last: Give God your burdens--Just hand them over to Him!

Then you can say, "I am at peace--in God is my trust!"
