Defeats 20-Year Veteran

Lambert Elected To Chief Of Police Post

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

In a second Democratic primary that drew 103 more voters to the polls than last week's first primary, incumbent Chief of Police Windell W. Stacy was defeated Tuesday by challenger John O. "Bobby" Lambert.

Lambert, who is currently serving his second term as Prentiss County's Fifth District constable, received a total of 892 votes in Tuesday's election, giving him a margin of more than 200 votes over Chief Stacy's 673 votes.

Stacy is currently serving his fourth term as Booneville's police chief, a total of 20 years. Prior to being elected to that position, he served for a time as the city's fire chief.

Lambert also led the ticket of five candidates in the first primary last week, receiving 697 votes to Stacy's 652 votes, which gave him second place.

Johnny L. Nichols, R.C. Calton and Franklin N. Oswald were eliminated from the running in the first primary.

In the only other race in this Tuesday's election, R.G. Houston defeated Jimmy Jones for the alderman-at-large post currently held by Jack Arnold. Arnold, along with five other aldermen candidates were defeated in last week's election.

Houston received 811 votes Tuesday, to 723 votes for Jones.

This means the city's aldermen for the next four years will be Houston, Bluford Allen, Norman Young, Charles Steen and F.

Wade Lambert.

Arnold was the only incumbent Booneville alderman not to be re-elected. Other candidates for aldermen who were eliminated last week are G.T. Pharr, Perry Henderson, James C. "Jack" Kendrick, Jerry L. Christian and Willie D. "Dicie" Jumper.

Incumbent Mayor Charles Crabb was unopposed in his bid for re-election to a second term.

Since no Republican or Independent candidates have qualified in Booneville's election this term, Crabb, Lambert and the five aldermen will be unopposed in the city's general election on June 2.

The deadline is past for qualifying as either a Republican or an Independent in that election.

According to City Clerk June Hutcheson, last week's election drew 1,477 voters to the polls. The large amount of interest in the two races in the runoff election this week is evidenced by the fact that more than 100 additional voters, a total of 1,580, turned out this week to vote. The count in Tuesday's second primary was certified by the city's election commissioners within about an hour of the 6 p.m. closing of the polls.

All of the city's newly elected officials will take office July 6, according to Mrs. Hutcheson.

To Tupelo Firm

Local Bank Announces Sale

The Booneville branch of the First Mississippi Bank of Commerce is being sold to the First Citizens National Bank of Tupelo, it was announced last week.

In a joint statement, Freddie Childers, president of the First Mississippi Bank of Commerce, and Guy Mitchell Jr., chairman of the board of the First Citizens National Bank, said the Walnut-based First Mississippi Bank of Commerce is selling the principal assets of its Booneville branch to the Tupelo bank.

First Citizens National Bank will assume all responsibility for deposits at the Booneville branch and will acquire the interest in land, buildings and equipment.

"We are delighted with the opportunity to serve the fine people of Booneville and Prentiss County," Mitchell said. "And, we are looking forward to becoming a part of this progressive community."

This transaction is subject to the approval of several regulatory agencies and the shareholders of the First Mississippi Bank of Commerce.

The transaction will be completed as soon as such approval can be obtained, Childers and Mitchell said.

During April

Sales Tax Collections Fall

Sales tax collections for the city of Booneville slipped again last month, dropping below the amount of local taxes collected during the same period one year ago.

For April 1981, Booneville reported sales tax collections of $34,107, as compared with $36,304 during April 1980.

During February and March of this year, the city's state sales tax collections climbed above what they were during those same months in 1980. However, for several months prior to that, the city's collections fell behind.

Statewide, sales tax collections have generated $533.6 million since last July 1, up 5.5 percent over the same 10-month period last year. The fiscal year ends June 30.

The city of Jackson, as usual, continued to lead other municipalities during April in state sales tax collections, with receipts amounting to $1,187,346 last month. This was down slightly from April 1980 when collections totaled $1,244,003.

The following are state sales tax collections for April from selected Mississippi cities, with April 1980 figures in parenthesis. Aberdeen $38,549 ($38,439); Amory $47,416 ($45,235); Baldwyn $18,163 ($19,614); Columbus $190,878 ($188,443); Corinth $98,487 ($96,273); Fulton $18,628 ($23,870); Grenada $79,502 ($63,330); Holly Springs $35,293 ($31,812); Iuka $25,968 ($22,976); Kosciusko $41,938 ($44,179); New Albany $42,997 ($44,073); Oxford $69,093 ($73,307); Pontotoc $32,459 ($30,253); Ripley $33,273 ($31,175); Senatobia $38,932 ($39,291); Starkville $76,688 ($76,226); Tupelo $259,530 ($243,778); and West Point $40,122 ($42,457).

AN EMOTIONAL TIME - Graduation is a happy time, but it is also a sad time. It marks a major change in the lives of those involved, both the students and the parents. Never again will things be quite the same. It is a time filled with mixed emotions: happiness at achieving a goal, sadness at seeing it come to an end, and possibly even relief at having it over with.

But regardless of the feelings of those involved, it is a day that will never be forgotten. Scenes similar to this one of Beverly Goodard Sunday afternoon at Booneville High School's graduation have been enacted with regularity during the past two weeks as Prentiss County's seniors concluded their high school careers. ## In Prentiss County

Unemployment Rate Drops Three Points

Prentiss County's unemployment rate took a drastic drop during April, falling more than three percentage points from the previous month.

The county's unemployment rate for April was 9.0 percent, according to Charles Smith, head of the Corinth office of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission (MESC). The county's rate for March was 13.1 percent.

April is the first month Prentiss County's jobless rate has fallen below the 10 percent level since January, when it stood at 8.6 percent.

Smith indicated that although employment across the county increased, the total labor force and the total number of unemployed fell.

According to Smith, the number of persons working in Prentiss County rose from 9,320 in March to 9,380 in April. The total labor force declined from 10,720 to 10,310 and the number of unemployed dropped from 1,400 to 930 during the month.

Manufacturing in Prentiss County held stable during April while non-manufacturing jobs increased. Smith said manufacturing jobs remained at 2,570 while non-manufacturing trades grew from 3,780 to 3,810 during April.

Decreases in the jobless rate throughout Northeast Mississippi are similar to that of Prentiss County.

The combined unemployment rate for Alcorn, Prentiss, Tiptah and Tishomingo Counties, the area served by the Corinth office of MESC, fell from 12.6 percent in March to 9.7 percent in April.

Smith cites seasonal factors, including construction work, as being responsible for the decrease in joblessness.

Alcorn County saw the smallest decline in unemployment, with the jobless rate falling from 14.8 percent to 14.3 percent during April.

Tiptah County's unemployment rate decreased from 10.4 percent in March to 6.9 percent in April. Tishomingo County's jobless rate fell from 11.3 percent to 6.9 percent.

Statewide, the unemployment rate also dropped to its lowest point this year, standing at 7.6 percent. The rate in March was 8.6 percent.

Last April's unemployment rate for the state was 6.6 percent.

The 7.6 percent unemployment rate for the state was higher than the 7.0 percent national rate for April. MESC figures show 76,900 unemployed and 940,700 employed out of a civilian labor force of 1,017,600.

Seventy-two of the state's 82 counties showed a decrease in their unemployment rates for April, while only 10 reported increases.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 26, in Patterson Hall at Northeast Junior College, according to Doug Mansell, executive director of PCDA.

Dorm Bids To Be Let

Construction on two new dormitories at Northeast Mississippi Junior College in Booneville is a step closer to reality.

The school's board of trustees voted approval of advertising for bids on the $2.5 million project Tuesday of last week.

The project, which calls for both a new men's dorm and a new women's dorm, will be funded through a Farmers Home Administration loan which was approved in late February.

When completed, the women's dorm, at five stories, is expected to be the tallest such structure in Prentiss County. Housing space for 119 female students will be available in the new dorm.

The men's dorm will feature motel-type construction with outdoor corridors. At three stories, it will house 116 male students.

Northeast officials are awaiting final approval by the federal agency before advertising the project.

"Right now, the bids and specifications (of the project) have been directed to FmHA in Jackson for their review," Northeast President Harold T. White said last week. "Following their review and comment, they will be brought back to the college (trustees) for their review and inspection."

"The architect will finalize the plans and then we will put it on the market for bids," White said.

In other action during last week's meeting, the college trustees approved advertising for bids on a football stadium renovation project.

This project includes the replacing of all seating facilities at the football field, plus the possibility of constructing a track around the playing field.

White indicated that 5,200 new metal seats will be installed to replace the existing 3,000 bleacher-type seats. The cost of the project is estimated at $450,000 to $475,000.

Last week the board of trustees also approved an overall 10 percent pay hike for the faculty. Administration, staff and maintenance employees will receive a seven percent salary increase.

Faculty members will receive the same overall seven percent pay hike as the other employees, plus a three percent raise authorized by state legislation, White said.

The raises will be granted on base salaries. The total pay hike package is expected to add about $300,000 to the college's $3.5 million annual payroll.

The trustees also extended the "longevity" pay. The college previously limited the $200 per year to 13 years. Faculty will now be paid the $200 per year through 14 years.

HEATED CAMPAIGN!—The bid for votes in Tuesday's runoff election became heated indeed, as evidenced by the temperature reading on the downtown clock of the Peoples Bank and Trust Company! Actually, due to a malfunction, the clock was showing 100 degrees more than the actual temperature, which was about 71 degrees.

Atty. Gen. Allain Warns

Beware Door-To-Door Salesmen

Attorney General Bill Allain warns consumers to be careful when investing money with unfamiliar door-to-door magazine salesmen. Sometimes these sales people say they are working their way through college, trying to win a scholarship, or competing for a trip to Europe, he says.

"You shouldn't be taken in by any such sales pitch, for such pitches may not have any basis in truth," Allain warns.

Before saying "yes" to signing a contract for magazines, Allain says consumers should make certain they have protected themselves against making an agreement they might later regret.

Allain suggests the following:

-When a sales person appears at your home, before letting him in, be sure you find out what he is selling.

-If you are not interested in buying a magazine, do not let him in.

-Do not be taken in by such introductions as, "I am taking a neighborhood survey," "This magazine subscription is free," or, "All you have to pay for is the postage and handling."

-If you are interested in buying a subscription, first ask for the person's credentials. Write down his name, the name of the company, his home address, and the company's address.

State and federal laws require door-to-door contracts to contain a "Buyers Right to Cancel," which gives the buyer three business days to cancel the contract.

For additional information, contact the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, MS 39205.

Communicative Disorders Nation's No. 1 Disability

Approximately 1,200 people in Prentiss County have speech and language problems, according to statistics from the Northeast Mississippi Speech and Hearing Association.

Communicative disorders constitute the nation's number one handicapping disability, the Association reports.

The Association cites studies which indicate that more people suffer from hearing, speech, and language problems than from heart disease, epilepsy, paralysis, cerebral palsy, tuberculosis and multiple sclerosis combined.

In Booneville alone, an estimated 700 persons are affected by speech and hearing problems.

One out of every 15 persons suffers from an uncorrected hearing handicap. The causes of almost one-third of the hearing impairments in children can be traced to something which happened before or during birth.

Some of these causes include German measles during the first weeks of pregnancy, influenza, shingles, other virus diseases, and certain drugs.

Mumps is the most common cause of unilateral deafness in the United States. Permanent hearing losses can also result from loud noises such as rock music, lawn mowers, power tools, cap guns, factory machinery, jet planes and some kitchen appliances.

About one-fourth of those with speech and language problems are between the ages of 5 and 21.

Difficulties with the way sounds are formed constitute the most numerous of speech disorders. Examples are: sound substitution ("wabbit" for "rabbit"); sound omission ("han" for "hand"); and sound distortion ("shlip" for "sip").

Most people with communicative disorders could be helped either medically, surgically, through hearing aids, or with hearing rehabilitation.

May has been declared Better Speech and Hearing Month. The Northeast Mississippi Speech and Hearing Association provided the statistics for this article in the hope that it "will enlighten the people of our city and county of the effect communicative disorders have on our public."

Cochran Praises State's Junior College System

Mississippi's junior college system was among the pioneers in the field in the United States and has contributed significantly to educational progress in the state, according to U.S. Senator Thad Cochran.

"Thousands of young Mississippians would never have had an opportunity for a college education without our junior colleges," Sen. Cochran said Sunday at commencement exercises at Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville.

"They have proven to be the gateway to higher education for many throughout the state," he said. "They are becoming increasingly important today as inflation and high costs strain the resources of most families seeking college educations for their children."

Sen. Cochran noted that Mississippi, along with California and Texas, pioneered just after World War I what is now popularly called the "community college" system.

Mississippi's junior colleges evolved from the agricultural high schools established early this century.

"They have proven to be one of the wisest investments in our state's history," he said. "Coupled with the vocational and technical training schools, they are doing an excellent job of providing educational and career opportunities in every area of our state."

Cochran's comments came at the 71st commencement of Pearl River, which began as an agricultural high school and was the first to offer college credits in the state, in 1921.

McWhorter Wins Clerk's Post At Baldwin

Baldwin's incumbent city clerk, James P. McWhorter, fought off a challenge by Lynda Conlee in Tuesday's runoff, defeating his challenger by only five votes.

McWhorter received a total of 262 votes Tuesday to Ms. Conlee's 257 votes in the runoff. Ms. Conlee had led McWhorter 336 votes to 334 votes in a three-candidate primary on May 12.

The city clerk's race was the only one in the Baldwin election to require a runoff this week. McWhorter does not have an opponent in the June 2 general election.

Incumbent Mayor M.B. Rowan, incumbent Police Chief John Conlee and five aldermanic candidates—Clyde Tapp, Billy Joe DeVaughn, Jackie B. Cole, James Harold Dodds and Milton H. Nanney—won nominations May 12 and also do not have opposition in the June 2 election.

A Challenge To The Winner

The people have spoken. They want a change in the city's law enforcement.

Unfortunately for incumbent Police Chief W.W. Stacy, he may have been, at least partially, a victim of circumstances. These circumstances are reflected in statistics which show an increasing amount of crime moving into rural areas nationwide.

Unfortunately for us, no one man in office is going to be able to totally eliminate this problem. This was dramatically brought home in the county election last year when John McCauley was elected sheriff of Prentiss County.

McCauley had high standards of what he intended to do after taking office. However, a damper was put on his plans when he took office and discovered that, to a certain extent, his hands were, if not tied, then at least entangled by a lack of funding to properly run his office.

The only way we, the citizens of Booneville and Prentiss County, are going to significantly decrease crime in our areas is to force all of our elected officials, both locally and statewide, to cooperate in bringing about a change in the way our law enforcement agencies are set up.

The establishment by the Mississippi Legislature this year of minimum standards for law officers was a step in the right direction, but it was not enough. We need more.

To you, Bobby Lambert: As Booneville's newly elected head of law enforcement, we challenge you to prove us wrong. Show us one man can make a difference.

Senate Report:

Personnel Law Discussed

By SEN. BILL MAY
Fifth District
Itawamba, Prentiss
and Tishomingo Counties

S.B. No. 2576: (Conference Report adopted)

This bill contains comprehensive amendments to the state's new personnel law, which became effective Feb. 1, of this year.

The versions of this bill adopted by both houses contained provisions giving pay raises to the state's elected and appointed top officials and the judiciary.

The disagreement between the two chambers stemmed from differing philosophies. The prevailing feeling in the House was that the State Personnel Board should set salaries of the top appointed officials, while the Senate desired to retain the statutory salaries in the "omnibus pay" statute. The conference committee failed to reach an agreement on this issue, so the salary provisions in the bill were deleted.

The substantive provisions left in the conference report provide that state employees shall receive compensatory leave for work after normal working hours and administrative leave for specified extraordinary circumstances, such as jury duty, military duty or a death in the family.

The bill provides that part-time state employees shall accrue sick leave and annual leave on a pro rata basis.

The bill authorizes the State Personnel Board to develop organization and staffing plans at state agencies, and provides for compliance with said plans.

It authorizes the State Personnel Board to set those salaries of appointed state officials whose salaries are not otherwise set by statute.

Finally, the bill authorizes the State Personnel Board to exempt certain state employee positions from the provision that no employee may be compensated in excess of the salary of the executive head of the agency in which he is employed when the acquisition of professional services is precluded because of the prevailing wage in the private labor market.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

The Battle Of The Federal Budget

The battle over the federal budget has intensified in Congress following the President's nationwide address to a joint session and visits by most Congressmen and Senators to their home states during the Easter recess.

I found in various stops in Mississippi that the President's economic recovery program has strong support among our citizens.

Many people realize that although everyone may have to sacrifice some, the overall welfare of the nation, and the great need to reduce inflation, must take priority.

Naturally, some interest groups and individuals whose favorite programs will be affected are voicing concern, but the public as a whole feels the President's economic recovery program should be given a chance to work.

There is particularly deep sentiment to curb some of the federal programs which appear to have been ineffective, or that have gone far beyond the intent of Congress when they are originally created.

Waste, fraud, corruption and mismanagement in some federal agency programs are a prime target of the White House budget cutters and those of us in Congress who realize that reductions in spending must be made.

With the new administration leading the way and the new Congress exhibiting genuine interest in supporting the President, the chances for enactment of an effective economic recovery program are greatly enhanced.

Observers in Washington have been predicting a much tougher time in the House of Representatives for the President's program, but his personal campaign with various members and his nationwide address to Congress appear to have generated additional support for his cause.

In recent years, inflation has soared to double-digit figures, interest rates have climbed to record levels, pockets of unemployment have crippled key segments of our industrial sector, and our farmers have been faced with a huge debt load and declining income.

Major industries such as homebuilding, automotive, transportation and others have been particularly hard hit. Many families have found it increasingly difficult to make ends meet and sustain the basic necessities at today's high prices and inflationary rates.

A leading culprit in this inflationary spiral has been the federal government, with excessive budget deficits, unwise spending programs, and an over-eager regulatory bureaucracy that has imposed rules which have burdened the private sector with unreasonable costs.

Even with the President's proposed budget cuts, federal spending will increase about six percent next year. But that is a much better goal than the 14 percent it has increased in the past several years, matched by an equally high rate of inflation.

So the bottom line is, that Congress is on record now with its intent to control the growth of federal spending, to bring the deficits down, and hopefully achieve a balanced budget in the very near future. Not next year, unfortunately, but perhaps by the 1984 budget if we can sustain the present effort to cut spending and stimulate economic productivity.

Making these decisions is not easy. There are many considerations to take into account as we review the various bills included in the President's economic recovery program.

I am optimistic, however, that a conscientious effort to help restore our economy to good health is underway.

Reflections

Reflections

By Ken Christian

I'm sure it can't be any fun to be locked up.

So you'd think a prisoner who is allowed a little freedom would be appreciative and show that appreciation by trying to cooperate.

Unfortunately, that's not the way of human nature. Usually, the more you do for someone, the more they want and expect.

Case in point: Up until a few months ago, prisoners in the Prentiss County Jail were kept locked in old, often smelly cells in the back of the jail, located on the courthouse square.

Then some work was done on the jail. The conditions of the cells were improved, the office itself was remodeled, and a new section was added to the front of the jail, a section completely enclosed with a hurricane-type fence.

At first, this fenced-in area was just used to store stolen merchandise recovered by the Sheriff's Department. Recently, however, Sheriff John McCauley has allowed at least some of the prisoners to spend part of the day in this fenced-in area.

For this, you would think the prisoners would be thankful. It has to be a big improvement to be able to spend some time out in the fresh air instead of locked in one of the musty cells in the back.

I can't fault Sheriff McCauley for taking this action. I think it is good that he is trying to make conditions better for his prisoners. After all, some of these prisoners are just suspects and may be totally innocent of any crime. Guilty or innocent, they should be treated humanely.

However, how have the prisoners shown their appreciation for their special privileges? By shouting and whistling at practically every woman who walks within range.

The jail is located just across and down from the Booneville Post Office. Many secretaries and businesswomen walk past the jail everyday on the way to the post office or downtown.

It is very humiliating for them to have to put up with this rudeness from the county's prisoners. After all, the prisoners are the ones who have, or at least are suspected of, breaking the law, not these women. So why should they suffer humiliation?

Several women have complained to The Banner-Independent about the whistles and catcalls from the prisoners.

We call upon Sheriff McCauley to put a stop to this action by his prisoners. If the prisoners are going to abuse their privileges, then those privileges should be taken away from them.

One reason there is so much crime today is that we tend to pamper criminals (or suspected criminals) and ignore the rights and privileges of the victims and innocent bystanders.

Eyes On Mississippi

State Revenue Figures Not So Rosy

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—Things are not going well in state revenues, and state fiscal leaders, as well as Gov. William Winter, are beginning to wonder how bad things are going to get before they get any better.

What is of immediate concern is that the state could be headed for a fiscal deficit at the end of the current fiscal year, ending June 30, if the "shortfall" in tax collections shown by recent trends continues.

Since a deficit is not allowed under Mississippi's constitution, the prospect is naturally somewhat upsetting to those running state government.

A little over a week ago, Winter sent a letter around to all state agencies describing the situation as "a period of very great fiscal uncertainty" and calling for belt-tightening all around.

All of this was triggered by what appeared to be a dangerous dip in April in the state's bread-and-butter taxes—the sales tax and the individual income tax.

Not only was April bad, but 10 months into the 1981 fiscal year, the picture is grim: revenues are $14.7 million behind what the state expected to collect, plus another $6 million more in tax refunds that had been set aside.

There's a lot of finger-pointing going on now since a mini-panic took place a week or so ago in the first major session of the State Budget Commission just four weeks after the 1981 Legislature had gone home. The time for correcting the danger of red ink was when the lawmakers were still around, getting paid to see that the state doesn't run any deficits.

When they were here, however, the lawmakers were in no frame of mind to raise any taxes or do anything except paper over the state's extremely shaky fiscal situation, both this fiscal year and the upcoming 1982 fiscal year as well.

The accepted version around Capitol circles is that the Research and Development Center's econometric model of forecasting revenues is to blame for getting the legislature and the Winter administration out on a limb with too-optimistic predictions back in January.

This was when the Budget Commission suddenly "found" $25 million in extra tax revenues and upped its anticipated revenues for the current fiscal year. It was also about this time that Governor Winter had warned the lawmakers they may have to raise taxes.

What the Budget Commission is saying now is that the R&D econometric model, which uses a more progressive economic analysis than the Tax Commission in estimating revenues, led everybody down a primrose path as to what the economy would be doing the first six months of 1981.

Ironically, that isn't exactly the case. The Tax Commission, which uses the law of averages in estimating revenues, is usually more conservative in its revenue estimates than the R&D before the Budget Commission adopts the original budget in the fall. And, traditionally, the Budget Commission opts for the Tax Commission's figures in making up the budget.

But after the legislature arrives to start working on the budget, the Budget Commission usually "finds" some more money by making an upward revision in estimated revenues. By this time, the Tax Commission's estimates are very much like the R&D's.

That's apparently the way it happened last January, when the R&D, which was some $15 million or more above the Tax Commission in its estimate in the fall, came in with a revised estimate that actually was slightly less than the Tax Commission's new estimate.

Only on projected income tax collections were the R&D and the Tax Commission pretty far apart.

The Tax Commission projected $175 million from individual income taxes, and the R&D, $186 million. The biggest scare in April was a $3 million nosedive in income taxes, together with the fact that Mississippi's unemployment rate continues to run higher than the national average.

Even then, the total income tax take for the ten months of FY 81 is still $526,000 above the Budget Commission estimate.

The present nervousness over state finances could be just penny-ante stuff compared to what Winter and the legislature will have to deal with trying to keep the 1982 budget balanced and trying to keep programs now funded with federal money going after the Reagan budget cuts come through.

Nobody around Capitol Hill now believes there is going to be enough money coming into the state treasury to fund the $1.3 billion general fund budget the lawmakers approved before they went home in April.

So the story for the average taxpayer in Mississippi now seems quite clear: some state taxes are inevitably going to be raised either in a special session of the legislature later this year or early in the 1982 session.

The only matter of doubt is what taxes will be raised, and how much. The "how much" will depend on the extent to which the state chooses to pick up some of the services that would be dropped because of the Reagan cuts.

In a way, the taxpayer in Mississippi is on a merry-go-round. The state reduced taxes over a three-year period in 1979, and now the Mississippi Legislature is hardly able to make ends meet as a consequence.

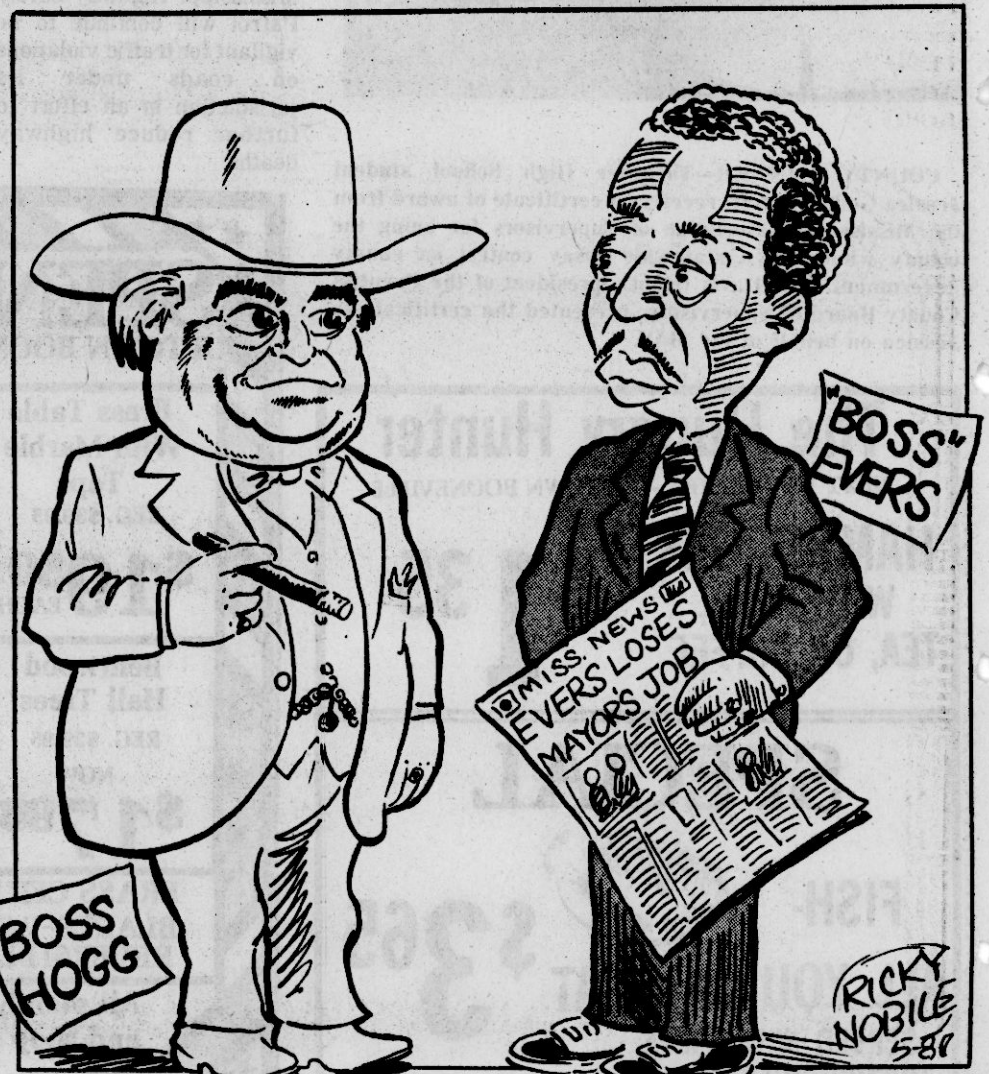

Now, the much heralded Reagan tax cut is on the way, but when it gets here, state taxes are going to have to be raised.

Financing government these days may be like a merry-go-round, but it's darn near impossible to find the brass ring.

First Graduation Held For New School System

The first graduation exercises of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District were held at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Bonner Arnold Coliseum at Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

Although originally planned for Tiger Stadium, rainy weather forced the ceremony indoors.

The Booneville High School Band, under the direction of Miss Sherry Sandidge, provided music for the ceremony.

The invocation was given by Denise Horn, class secretary. Brodie Miller, class vice-president, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and Tim Tucker, senior class president, gave the welcome.

Robert Young, 1981 salutatorian, addressed the audience on "The Foundation of a Successful Living." Deanna White, 1981 valedictorian, spoke on "Using Experience to Build a Future."

After first briefly addressing the seniors, city schools' superintendent Troy Henderson recognized the board of trustees: Dr. William H. Preston, Mrs. Betty Anderson, Richard Coggins, Bill Morgan and R.B. Prichard.

Henderson also gave special recognition to Booneville attorney Bill Smith, who he said had provided many hours of legal advice to the school system without charge. Smith was presented a plaque which read, "To Honor Your Service to Education."

Henderson also presented a special plaque to Mrs. Verlon Honeycutt, a Booneville teacher who is retiring this year. The plaque read, "To Honor Your Career in Teaching." As the audience gave her a standing ovation, one of her students, Jerry Henderson, presented her with a hug and a bouquet of roses.

Following Henderson's presentation, Dr. Preston, chairman of the city schools' board of trustees, congratulated the graduating seniors.

He also gave special recognition to Supt. Henderson and his wife, Delores, for their "dedication and service to the Booneville Municipal Separate School System."

Preston presented Henderson a plaque which held a brick from one of the school buildings. The plaque bore the inscription, "In appreciation for your contribution in the formation of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District as its first superintendent."

Henderson has resigned after serving for one year as superintendent. Robert Griffin of West Point will serve as superintendent for the city schools next year.

assistant Principal Wyatt Weatherford and were awarded their diplomas by Principal John Mac Curlee III.

The ceremonies were concluded with the benediction by graduate Nelson Cole.

The month of May is Senior Citizens month. On Thursday, May 14, the patron of East Circle Center celebrated by wearing old fashion clothes on that day. There were bonnets, long dresses, shawls, pocket book purses and long strings of beads to make up the old timey attire. Some of the men wore straw hats and some wore derbys. There was a time for reminiscing.

Several spoke about their experiences of long ago. Among those speaking were Mrs. Tuggle Jones, Mrs. Vertur Mann, Mrs. Bernice Wheeler, Paul Strange, Claude Deaton and Alice Tidwell. A photo was also made of the group.

Another activity was the singing of old hymns. Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Jones were welcomed to help sing these songs. Plans are being made for other such occasions.

The thought for the week:

A Code to Live By
I will not complain
For my troubles are my own
I will show appreciation
For less is a poor thank you.

I will do my best
For no one can do more.
I will be a good listener
For untold knowledge could be lost.
I will control my tongue
For it can be as deadly as a snake.
I will help others
For I may need help myself.
I will think
For my brain needs use to survive.
I will trust in God
For He is with me always.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian

Summer Reading Fun—or Summer Reading Program? They have the same meaning for an hour each Wednesday in June!

From 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. June 3, 10, 17, 24 and July 1, the George E. Allen Library has activities planned for groups 3-6 years old and for groups 7-14. In addition, a record of participant's home reading will be kept for them.

There are Miss Piggy bookmarks, certificates of reading completed, light refreshments—and, oh, yes—FUN.

"Bright Wings of Summer; Watching Butterflies," is a beautiful book illustrated with watercolor drawings and color photographs. The author, David G. Measures, infuses his own enthusiasm and abundant factual material into a small volume.

For the teenage reader, "All Together Now," by Sue Ellen Bridges, should interest both girls and boys.

Frank Roderus' Double D Western, "Cowboy," is a 1981 copyright in his category.

A book on a more serious topics is "Is Surgery Necessary," by Dr. Siegfried J. Kra and Dr. Robert S. Boltax. While possibly not "a second opinion," it does give a balanced approach to many medical problems from two Yale School of Medicine professors, one practicing internal medicine and cardiology, the other vascular and general surgery.

A "Woman's Day/Random House" book is "Our Own Years," by Alice Lake. This one touches on the many interest and some of the fears of women over 35.

"Atlas of Weapons and War," by John Williams, has only 125 pages but contains maps, pictures, military history and mirrors changes and events over a vast expanse of time and place.

Annual Conservation Awards Presented

The Prentiss County Conservation District held its Third Annual Meeting of District Cooperators and Conservation Awards Banquet recently at the Booneville West Side Community Center.

A crowd of 161 people, the largest number ever to attend the annual event, was on hand to hear two outstanding speakers and help district officials honor those individuals who had done outstanding work in various areas of soil and water conservation or made other significant contributions to the district's program.

Keynote Address
French Early, a cattleman, conservation district cooperator, and former state legislator from Monroe County, brought the keynote address.

Early inspired his listeners as he related his personal success in life to knowledge and practice of soil and water conservation. He told of how as a young boy on the farm his father introduced him to conservation by having him set bermudagrass sprigs in raw gullies.

As he grew up he developed a love for the land and later bought his own farm. He acquired one piece of property that he was told "wouldn't sprout peas."

Being one of the first in his county to recognize the value of lime, he hauled and spread lime over the fields, applied fertilizer, filled in the washes, and "grew two bales of cotton per acre."

Early left his listeners with a challenge to "be good stewards of the land and it will be good to you."

Conservation Awards
The highlight of the evening was the presentation of awards to those individuals in the county who are doing an outstanding job of practicing soil and water conservation.

Ronnie Crawford of Route 2, Baldwyn, Miss., was named to receive the district's top award of "Outstanding Cooperator for 1980."

Also honored for doing outstanding work in their respective fields during 1980 were: Ronnie Breedlove, Cropland Conservationist; Millard Lothenore, Grassland Conservationist; Maurice Hill, Woodland Conservationist; and Duane Rinehart, Wildlife Conservationist.

Special "Certificates of Appreciation" were presented to the manager and staff of Radio Station WBIP and publisher and staff of the Banner-Independent for their role in helping the district achieve an effective information program. R.J. Bonds and Paul Miller accepted the respective awards.

A "Certificate of Appreciation" was also presented to Mr. & Mrs. T.E. Main of Tupelo for serving as official judges of the 1981 County Conservation Poster Contest.

Youth awards were presented to winners of the County Conservation Poster Contest and County Land Judging Contest.

Poster contest winners included: First place- Shelia Turner, a fourth grader at Wheeler School; second place- Julie Thompson, a fifth grader at Booneville Middle School; and third place- Tracy Owens, a fourth grader at Jumbertown School.

Land judging winners in the junior division included: Paula Lee, first place; Danny Moore, second place; and Angie Green, third place. All three winners attend Hills Chapel School.

winners included: Anthony Miller, Booneville, first place; Dwight Chaffin, New Site, second place; and Greg Stutts, Thrasher, third place.

Special Guests

The district was honored to have Billy C. Griffin, newly appointed State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, to visit in Prentiss County and appear on the program. He was accompanied by his wife, Jo Ann, and E.L. Edwards, Area Conservationist, Tupelo, and Mrs. Edwards.

Other special guests included Jerry and Nancy Crumpton of Starkville. Jerry serves as Area IV Vice-President of the Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts and his wife, Nancy, is head of the Area IV Ladies' Auxiliary.

The state conservationist was complimentary of the large turnout for the annual meeting and noted that it was evidence of the outstanding soil and water conservation program being generated by the local conservation district commissioners.

Griffin stated his grave concern, however, over the continuing heavy losses of topsoil from Mississippi's cropland fields due to unchecked soil erosion.

He referred to a recent study that showed the state with an average loss of 10.9

tons of soil per acre annually on its cropland fields- the third highest rate in the nation.

"Because of the dependence of future generations upon our soil resources, we cannot afford to lose our vital soil at this rate," he emphasized.

Griffin cited the need for concerted effort on the part of landowners and operators, conservation districts, and agricultural agencies toward correcting critical erosion problems that threaten the welfare of our country. He pledged the support of the Soil Conservation Service to local conservation districts and their cooperators in meeting these conservation needs.

Certificates of Appreciation were presented at the District's 1981 Annual Meeting to (left to right) Paul Miller, publisher of the Banner-Independent newspaper and to R.J. Bonds, manager of Radio Station WBIP for their respective contributions to the district's information program; and to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Main of Tupelo, who served as official judges for the Conservation poster contest.

Deryl Saylor, left, and his father, Archie Saylor, check on progress of their winter wheat crop as it nears maturity. The Saylor's plan to use a specially designed no-till planter to drill soybeans directly into the wheat stubble following harvest.

No-Till Farming Comes Of Age

Several Prentiss County farmers are beginning to look at no-till farming as an economical way to double crop soybeans and wheat. It is estimated that there will be over 500 acres of soybeans planted no-till behind wheat in Prentiss County this year.

There are several reasons for farmers showing interest in no-till farming. First, no-till farming will greatly reduce soil erosion, and aid in conserving soil moisture by providing good ground cover. Second, no-till farming reduces fuel cost.

For example, a no-till crop of soybeans following wheat will require about one gallon of diesel fuel per acre, while the conventional method of producing soybeans will require about five gallons of diesel fuel per acre. Third, no-till farming allows better land utilization.

The big problem with double cropping wheat and soybeans is what to do with the wheat straw after harvest, and how to prepare a seedbed for soybeans without losing too much soil moisture. By planting no-till, farmers are able to eliminate these problems. However, no-till farming is new and there are some new things to learn. No-till farming probably will not work if there is little or no planning involved.

Fields planted no-till need to have a pH of at least 6.0 and a high level of phosphate and potassium. No-till fields also need to be relatively free of hard to kill perennial weeds such as johnsongrass, bermudagrass and nutgrass.

If your fields have a low fertility level or weed problems, devote the first year or two to correcting these problems before trying no-till. It's a fact, no-till farming will work if proper planning has been done.

For more information on no-till farming, contact the Soil Conservation Service at 107 College Street, Booneville, or phone 728-3544.

County Poster Winners Named

Fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students throughout Prentiss County responded to the 1981 Conservation Poster Contest with 295 entries.

Ed Honeycutt, chairman of the district's conservation poster committee, said that the large number of entries almost double that of 1980 and their excellent quality made the 1981 contest the "best ever."

Shelia Turner, a fourth grade student at Wheeler School, was named overall county winner and received the top prize of $25. Julie Thompson, a fifth grader at Booneville Middle School, placed second overall and received a $15 prize. The third place overall award of $10 went to Tracy Owens, a fourth grade student at Jumbertown School.

The two top winners in each school were also presented cash prizes of $10 for first place and $5 for second place.

The winning entries from each school are as follows: Booneville Middle School- Julie Thompson, first place, and Lamar Williams, second place; Baldwyn Elementary School- Tracy Rowan, first place, and Amy Roberts second; Hill's Chapel School- Deanna Fugitt, first place, and Natache Cagle, second; Jumbertown School- Tracy Owens, first place, and Becky Michaels, second; Marietta School- Sam Devaughn, first place, and Connie Harris, second; Thrasher School- Cale Dunahoo, first place, and Cathy Cummings, second; and Wheeler School- Shelia Turner, first place, and Melanie Green, second.

All other entries received either a blue, red, or white ribbon.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Prentiss County Soil & Water Conservation District commissioners. The purpose of the contest is to help county youth develop a better understanding of man's dependence upon soil and water resources and the need to practice good soil and water conservation.

Posters can relate to any area of soil and water conservation and must represent individual effort.

Pictured above are new district employees Donna Huddleston, right, and L.C. Taylor. Donna has been employed by the Prentiss County Conservation District as district clerk since December, 1980. L.C. began work as an intermittent district technician in May, 1981. The district commissioners are proud to have both employees as a part of the "conservation team" in Prentiss County.

Highway Patrol To Watch Carefully

The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol will have a careful watch on all highways under its jurisdiction during this three-day holiday weekend, Patrol Chief Donald Butler said last week.

Last year during observance of Memorial Day four persons were killed on highways patrolled by the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol—three people died on county roads and one on city streets.

He said large percentages of the two million vehicles registered in Mississippi will be on the highways during the three-day holiday.

Butler said that, in addition to enforcement of the national speed limit law, patrol officers will be observant for any other traffic law violations.

The first four months in 1981, Butler said, 179 people have died on city streets, county roads and the state highways system.

What Is Stress

Going to the dentist. Winning a basketball game. Getting married. Being sick. Paying bills. Getting a promotion. Playing tennis. Hitting a parked car. Being disappointed. Jogging. Any time you experience any of these situations, you are probably experiencing stress.

What is stress, anyway? And if it stems from so many happy and normal experiences, why do we think it is all bad? Why do we take pills, vacations, and classes to get rid of it?

There are varying forms of stress. Being sick or playing tennis are examples of physical stress. Hitting a parked car or being disappointed about a new job can create mental stress. Yet the reactions are much the same. Physically, all of our bodily systems go on alert ready to react to a perceived threat. Mentally, we can't think about much else.

There is healthy stress and unhealthy stress. The stress of getting a promotion may be useful stress, producing happiness, self-confidence and pride. But there may also be stress brought about by the fear of handling the new job. Both reactions are very common. But if either is so great they keep you from doing the job, they are not healthy.

Stress is as old as life itself. Cavemen had it and possibly survived because of it. Stress is caused by a perceived (real or imagined) threat to our lives. The body adapts to protect itself in a time of crisis.

When the cave man met a saber-toothed tiger on his walk to find food, he had to decide immediately whether to run away or stay and fight. Did he have a weapon in his hand? How far away is his cave? How dangerous is this tiger? His body became poised for physical action, adrenaline flowing and his mind raced, as life usually depended on his decision. The physical activity of either fighting or running provided an outlet for the accumulation of energy.

Today, the sources of stress are usually not so visible nor so dramatic. We are still faced with life and death decisions, but today's stress is usually subtle, and over time, perhaps just as dangerous. Our body reacts essentially the same as the caveman's did when he met the tiger.

Major life events can cause stress—when someone we love is sick, when we lose a job, get divorced. We worry about the future, we get angry or sad. Again, these are normal reactions. But if too many major stress-producing events occur at the same time the combined reactions can be too much to handle.

In a similar way, the hassles and uncertainties of day to day living may produce continual stress with similar reactions. Running away (flight) or staying around to fight are frequently not viable alternatives to modern stress producing situations.

Stress which remains unresolved can create more stress. If it is not dissipated or if it is combined with stress from other sources, both mental and physical health is in danger. Blood pressure may be constantly high and muscles are always tight.

There is some evidence that organs or other parts of the body that have been weakened by illness or injury are the most likely to be affected by continuing stress. Our bodies may be just like a chain with a weak link when the chain is pulled tight.

Likewise, if we are overcome with worry or fear or sadness, we are unable to think about much else. Unable to focus on alternatives to the situation, or ways to relieve the stress, we become immobilized. If we are unable to withstand the pressure we may just escape from reality into a fantasy world, which may be the modern form of "flight."

Intense stress may trigger a chemical reaction that brings on depression in some people, schizophrenia or variations of emotional imbalance in others.

There is a great deal that is unknown about how excess stress makes us sick, but it is certain that it does. The need to respond to a stressful situation by taking positive steps to reduce or alleviate it may be as great as the caveman's need to escape the tiger.

'Child Find' Program Underway

The Booneville Separate School District is participating in a statewide "Child Find" program for handicapped children.

This program seeks to identify every handicapped child under the age of 21 in order to offer a free appropriate education to those who are presently of school age and to plan future programs for those handicapped children under school age.

Handicapped children include children with developmental delays, hearing impairments, language or speech impairments, emotional handicaps, mental retardation, physical handicaps, or specific learning disabilities.

In order to locate handicapped children, each school district has a "Child Finder." That person is responsible for making the public aware of the kinds of handicapped children and of the handicapped child's right to a free appropriate education.

The "Child Finder" takes handicapped child referrals and sees that a follow-up is made to determine the child's educational needs. Following evaluation, the child will be placed in an appropriate special program if deemed necessary.

The Booneville Separate School District's "Child Finder" is Imogene Eaker.

Any person or agency with knowledge of a handicapped child living in the city of Booneville who is not receiving educational services should contact her at the Booneville Separate School District central office, P.O. Box 387, Booneville, MS 38829, or telephone 728-6863.

All records are confidential and will be maintained at the administrative office of the school involved. If the child is not in school, his records will be kept confidential in the district's central office.

Parents and guardians have the right to inspect all data collected on their handicapped child and if they so desire, to appeal its accuracy.

CAR, BUS COLLIDE—This late model Oldsmobile, driven by Martha P. Green, 27, of Route 2, Booneville, was struck in the left front last Thursday by a Continental Trailways bus, driven by Clarence Harper, 48, of Columbus. The accident occurred about 10 a.m. at the intersection of Stanley Street and U.S. 45. Investigating officers listed the cause as the failure of Ms. Green to yield the right of way to the bus. Ms. Green told officers her brakes were not operating properly and that flashing signs had obstructed her view of the highway. She was taken to the local hospital for treatment, but apparently escaped serious injury in the incident. The bus was only slightly damaged.

USDA Reports On Farmland Owned By Foreigners

Foreign investors reported owning about 7.8 million acres or 0.6 percent of U.S. agricultural land at the end of 1980. Secretary of Agriculture John Block said the 2.2-million-acre increase includes about 1.8 million acres reported after last year's cutoff date.

"The total acreage of foreign-owned U.S. agricultural land is too small to measure the impact on agriculture at the national level," Secretary Block said. The actual increase during 1980 was about 414,000 acres out of a total U.S. agricultural area of about 1.25 billion acres.

Crop, pasture and other agriculture accounted for 57 percent of all holdings and acquisitions, forest for 37 percent, and nonagricultural and unreported use for 6 percent.

Here in Mississippi, land holdings by foreign investors totaled 89,566, land acquisitions 47,818 acres, and land dispositions 5,322 acres.

Among the States, Maine reported the largest number of acres—11 percent—owned by foreign persons. Foreign holdings and acquisitions were concentrated in the South and West except for Maine.

Of the total holdings and acquisitions reported, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas reported 32 percent and Arizona, California, Colorado, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, and Utah reported 29 percent.

Rhode Island is the only State with no reported foreign-owned agricultural land.

The Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act of 1978 requires all foreign owners of U.S. agricultural land to report their holdings, acquisitions, dispositions, leases (over 10 years) and land-use changes to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Foreign owners who fail to report or who are late in reporting face possible fines. USDA has assessed 1,950 penalties for late filings, amounting to about $350,000.

1980 Farm Exports
Valued At $41.3 Billion

Farm exports totaled a record $41.3 billion during calendar year 1980, according to a recent report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The total compares with $40.5 billion reported for fiscal 1980 and $34.7 billion reported a year earlier.

Feed grains, wheat, soybeans and cotton accounted for 60 percent of the value and nearly 80 percent of the 163-million-metric tons of commodities.

This record trend is expected to remain unbroken in 1981, as fiscal year exports are now projected at $47 billion. The favorable balance in U.S. agricultural trade also continues to widen, as exports consistently outpace imports.

Agricultural imports in calendar 1980 rose only 4 percent above the previous year to $17.4 billion.

Agriculture officials say the increased farm export activity is good for the economy and for farm income. Farm exports generated about $83 billion worth of business in 1980.

About $34 billion of this economic activity took place in the farming community; the remaining $49 billion was in nonagricultural industries.

Approximately $1 in every $3.50 of total farm income came from farm exports, according to the USDA report. In short, farm exports put well over $40 billion into the agricultural economy in calendar 1980, much more than the $32 billion in 1979.

Last year, 116 million acres of cropland were used for agricultural exports. Crops exported during this period were produced by about 490,000 farmers and farm workers.

Forestry has a major economic impact on our state. Figures published by the Mississippi Forestry Association based on 1976 data show that almost $200,000,000 worth of timber was harvested in Mississippi, with much of this value being paid to private landowners. In 1979 that figure increased to over $500,000,000. In fact, the value of forestry to our state is now greater than that of any other crop except soybeans.

Trace Authorities Strive For Accident-Free Summer

Superintendent James L. Bainbridge announced this week that the Natchez Trace Parkway is emphasizing an accident-free summer, beginning May 23.

Bainbridge said the Memorial Day weekend is the traditional start of long summer vacation trips and that many people include the Natchez Trace Parkway in their holiday and vacation trip plans.

He said a major cause of fatal accidents on the Natchez Trace Parkway is inattention by drivers, often caused by driver fatigue.

Driver fatigue is a constant problem when people are traveling long distances or at night in order to reach their vacation destinations," said.

"Drivers should be rested before they start, and stop every hour whether they feel tired or not," he said, adding, "drivers should always get out of the car for at least a minute or two and, if possible, drink coffee, tea, or a soft drink."

He also cautioned that the danger of hypnotism is much greater on the parkway than on more congested roads. He suggests that, to keep the road from becoming monotonous, look from right and left and don't keep your eyes focused on a point straight ahead.

Bainbridge said the Natchez Trace Parkway offers a variety of scenery and points of interest and, if drivers will take time to see these sights, their vacation trip on the parkway will be safe, happy, and accident-free.

For MSU Students

Loan Applications Being Processed

Financial aid officials at Mississippi State University are working "full steam ahead" to process applications for 1981-82 student loans, now that the Reagan Administration's budget cuts will probably be implemented Oct. 1 instead of July 1.

In addition, Larry Blankenship, MSU financial aid director, said he expects the proposed $3.4 million cutbacks for Mississippi State will be reduced to $1.5 million.

"The wheels were already in motion for 1981-82 in financial aid offices and in Congress itself," Blankenship said.

The Administration's timing, and the compromises it will take to implement the cutbacks as quickly as possible, are also reasons for optimism, according to Blankenship.

"Everyone, including Mississippi State, is trying to process as many applications as possible before Oct. 1, because everything processed prior to that date would be under current regulations," he said.

"We don't expect to see much loss. In fact, we expect to see an increase in the number of federally insured loans and the total dollar amount we will process for '81-82," he said.

Blankenship believes more MSU students will apply for loans this year because of the cuts expected in all federal student aid programs, coupled with increases in tuition and housing fees.

"It's going to create that much more financial need and will compound the loss already incurred. I daresay we'll handle between 2,500-3,000 federally insured loans for '81-82," he said.

However, Blankenship said he believes most of the federal dollars saved in '81-82 will be lost in '82-83 after the Reagan Administration "has time to sit back and reflect on what happened and take a different approach."

Blankenship said his office is advising students to make loan applications as soon as possible. "I think the longer we delay, the more skittish lenders will be that the government's not going to back them up the closer we get to September or October."

He pointed out that when cutbacks were first projected, some lenders stopped making student loans. He added, however, "Right now, most of them are processing as usual."

Blankenship said if students have difficulty finding a lender who will participate, the financial aid office can refer them to other lenders in the state.

"And we have lenders in New York who will take any student we send them."

According to Blankenship, two types of students will be affected most when more severe budget cuts are implemented for '82-83--higher income students who have been receiving nominal amounts of basic grants and students who procrastinate in making their applications.

"Students from the low income to middle income groups who have been diligent in getting their application in will see very little effect on their financial aid," he said.

The federal programs for student aid include the Pell Opportunity Grant (formerly the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant), the National Direct Student Loan, the Supplemental Education Opportunity Grant, and the College Work Study Program.

Rudy Wise of Florence claimed his second area running title within a two week period here Saturday when he took top honors in the Jumpertown Jaycee Jog with another blazing time of 34.44 for the six mile course. Wise recently took top honors in the three mile Boone Hill Run and then easily took his honor finishing some two and one half minutes better than his nearest competitor.

Tournament co-director Frankie Lauderdale said this year's event was the best ever and added that a large field turned out for this year's run.

Wise took the top mark of the day in the six mile event while Shelia Taylor claimed first place in the women's six mile event 46:26 finish.

In the two mile events, Charlie Durham took the top honors with an 11.39 clocking while in the women's two mile event Connie Tally and Ann Gaddis shared honors on the day with a 14:43 time.

A host of divisions were held in the Saturday event including ages of 0-13, 14-21, 22-29, 30-39, and 40 and over. Some age groups didn't have any qualifying and were dropped.

The Jumpertown event is steadily increasing year after year in popularity.

New Building To Highlight Sports Camps

"With the addition of the new building, this should be one of our greatest camp seasons ever," Northeast athletic director Bill Ward said in a recent planning session for the basketball camps slated to begin May 25 with the junior high boy's division.

The building to which he referred is the newly renovated student activities center which opened earlier this year complete with weight room, sauna bath, steam room and a playing court striped for basketball, indoor tennis, volleyball and badminton.

"This year's camps are designed to teach basketball skills and the newest methods in offensive and defensive play," Ward said. "The added playing court will certainly boost the amount of time spent in individualized practice as well as team competition."

Other camp activities include film sessions of the best in high school, college and pro games. Bailey Howell, former NBA All-Star with the Boston Celtics and All-American at Mississippi State University is scheduled for a visit at the boy's camps, while the girls can look forward to an exhibition by Peggy Gillum of the Dallas Diamonds and former All-American at the University of Mississippi.

The camps, under the direction of Coach Richard Mathis, men's basketball coach, and Coach Rickey Ford, women's basketball coach, will be staffed by some of the area's finest men's and women's coaches.

Registration fee for the day camper only is $70.00, while the overnight camper's fee is $90.00, which includes meals, room, instruction, insurance, camp T-shirts and awards.

Each week some 25 awards will be given to the deserving players in each age group for the following divisions: free throw, one on one, defensive, most improved, most valuable and Mr. or Miss Basketball.

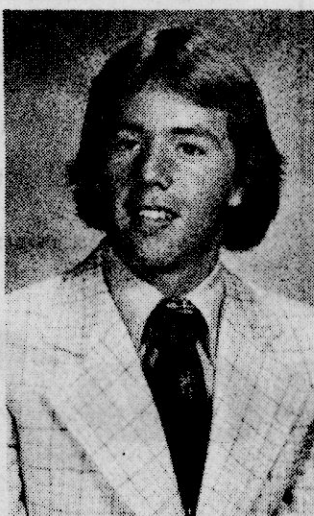

The junior and senior high girl's camp will begin June 1 and will be followed by the senior high boy's camp which runs June 8-12.

For additional information or to pre-register for one of the camps, interested persons should contact the Athletic Department on the Northeast campus by calling 728-7752 or toll free (within a 55 mile radius of Booneville) 1-728-7759, ext. 240.

NE's Tiger Stadium To Get New Look

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

Not only will Northeast Junior (College) have one of the finest sports programs in the state but come October, if all systems are go, the college will have one of the finest football stadiums anywhere around.

The Northeast board of trustees has recently approved an expansion of Tiger Stadium scheduled to begin in August with a completion date set in early October.

President Harold T. White said Tuesday that bids will be taken for the project and said the way the current plans are now to expand the seating capacity from the current 3000 to over 5000.

This calls for new seats entirely. The seats will be aluminum similar to those used in some senior colleges, plus other added facilities.

One example of the increase in size is that the old home stands were nine rows high and the expansion will increase them to 26 rows high.

The plans had originally called for an official track for track meets to be added to the expansion, however after surveying the current space of Tiger Stadium, it was determined that the space was not available for an official quarter mile track.

Talks were continuing on this however at presstime and plans were incomplete. Another plan called for a 400 yard track which isn't an official track field.

It was said earlier that bids will be taken on the old stands to be disassembled at the starting time of the new construction and open bids will be taken.

The current plan calls for completion near the second game of the 1981 football season. Northeast may play their first home or two at Baldwin if the stadium isn't completed.

The entire expansion may take sometime. The current work will include, new stands, a 72 foot long pressbox which will set atop the home side, added lights plus other needed facilities. Plans call for future additional work such as moving the field house underneath the new home bleachers plus added work in the future.

So folks when you see a game next year at Tiger Stadium you'll be sitting in style.

Summertime Sports

Summertime sports is just around the corner and again it looks as though this summer plans to be exciting for the local fans.

All types of Little League boys and girls action will get underway shortly at both the East and West Side Parks as well as the Booneville Softball Association men's and women's leagues which are also underway.

As if that isn't enough their's always exciting times on the tennis circuits. The Candy Classic of Corinth starts the tennis season off while Northeast's big annual open tournament will be held later this summer along with a host of tournaments in the Tupelo area.

NBA Playoffs Finally Over

Anyone who like's basketball certainly got their money's worth recently watching the long drawn out process of selecting an NBA champion.

Every series went down to the wire some to the seven game limit and when the thing was finally over you're like myself and was worn out. I was really interested in who the champions would be but by the time all the playoffs were completed I could have cared less.

I think they should shorten the playoffs just a bit... don't you?

Till next time..

Little League Summer Baseball Program To Start Here Next Week

The tentative start of the 1981 Summer Little League Seasons is only a week away.

Registration for all age groups was held Saturday and several teams will be selected for their respected sponsors.

The official season has a tentative starting date of next Thursday night May 28th with a host of games to be played throughout the summer months ahead in several age groups.

The Dizzy Dean Little League Squads (ages 10-12) will again field five teams to make up the Booneville League.

Competing in the 10-12 boys age groups are, Schweiger, Peoples Bank, Brown Shoe, Sonic and Kellwood while in the girls Little League teams are, Marathon Cheese, Rotary, and Prentiss MFG.

Due to the limited numbers of girl players only three teams were compiled in the Little League Schedule. There were four last year.

Also at presstime only one team has been scheduled in the 13-14 year old age group. Prentiss MFG is the Booneville team which will compete with out of town opponents in this age group.

A T-Ball League was again established this week and four teams will make up this league with sponsors to be named at a later date.

The local park program has been searching for a park director to take over the summer programs. Larry Cole, of Ripley is serving in a temporary position till a new park director can be named.

Little League action will be held nightly throughout the week in both boys baseball action and girls softball competition.

The Banner-Independent will publish a Little League schedule as soon as one becomes available.

and the girls have also won the Club Tournament for the past three years.

Teams competing in this year's men's league are Johnny Johnson's Furniture, Woodmen of The World, Schweiger, Sporting Goods, Davidson Chevrolet, Booneville Civitans, Baldwin, and Rolison. Battling for the women's championship are, Johnny Johnson's Furniture, Sell-Rite Furniture, The Northeast Mississippi Hospital,

The Sporting Goods Store, Eaton's Furniture, Woodmen of the World, and Brown Shoe Company.

Candy Classic Set At Corinth

CORINTH—A host of North Mississippi's top tennis performers will square off here Friday when the Annual Candy Classic gets underway at the Corinth City Park.

The Tourney, which is the largest fund raiser for the American Cancer Society in Alcorn County, raised over $3000 last year for this very worthy cause.

Tournament chairman Kathryn Kay of Corinth said she expected some 250 to 300 applicants in this years event which is the largest non-sanctioned tournament in North Mississippi.

A host of last year's defending champions will return this year to defend their titles.

Jimmy Harbin of Jackson, Tennessee is the defending men's singles champions and is expected back while Corinth's own Antrice Kay will be back to defend her women's singles title.

A New Albany team took last year's men's doubles title while Tupelo's tandem took the womens doubles and in mixed doubles last year Corinth's Lisa McFall and Riley Sweat took the coveted first place honors and will again be back to defend their crowns.

A host of local tennis players all agree that this tournament is one of the top net events in the area and look forward each year to this one.

Additional information for the Candy Classic, scheduled May 22-24, may be obtained by calling tourney co-director Kathryn Kay at 286-8510.

Local Softball Season Set To Open

The 1981 Summer softball season gets underway here next week for the summer months ahead.

The Booneville Softball League, composed of eight mens teams and seven womens teams, was originally scheduled to start last Monday night but had to be cancelled due to inclement weather.

Action again this year will be played on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights and will run through an 18 night schedule through the regular season games.

Additional games will be held through tournament competition including the Annual Club Tournament to be held for both men's and womens leagues at the conclusion of the regular season.

Eight teams make up this year's men's league and from all scouting reports it appears that the season title will be up for grabs with a battle for the top position.

In the ladies bracket, again a close race here but the team to beat appears to be two time defending champions Sell-Rite Furniture. These local girls have dominated the local league for the past two seasons winning the league championship both years

Only Firm Ripe
Tomatoes Should Be Canned

There have been numerous questions this food preservation season on recommendations for canning "low acid" tomatoes. Scientists with the USDA Agricultural Research Service (ARS) believe seed companies have contributed to misinformation about tomato acidity.

Some varieties of tomatoes, such as cherry, patio and light-colored (yellow) tomatoes, are described as "nonacid" or "acid free." These descriptions are based on taste, the balance between sugar and acid, not the scientific measurement of pH or acid content.

The ARS scientists found that these varieties (cherry, patio and light-colored tomatoes) are relatively high in acid compared to others tomatoes. New varieties cannot be blamed for any low acidity problems, according to the ARS scientists. There has been little or no change in the mean pH of tomato varieties introduced in the last two decades.

What does influence the acidity (or pH) of tomatoes is the degree of ripeness. Only firm, ripe tomatoes should be canned. Never can overripe tomatoes because they lose acidity as they ripen. Overripe tomatoes for canning may allow growth of the deadly toxin-producing bacteria Clostridium botulinum.

Tomatoes with soft spots or decayed areas should not be canned.

Why Waterbath Jams And Preserves

Processing of jams, preserves, conserves and marmalades is recommended in warm or humid climates to prevent mold growth and to make a firm seal. These products have a slightly higher moisture content than jelly, so mold may grow in them more easily if they are not sealed properly.

To process, prepare jam, preserves, marmalade or conserves and pour immediately into standard home canning jars. Fill to 1/8 inch of the top, wipe the rim of the jar with a damp cloth, place hot metal lid on the jar with the sealing compound next to the glass, screw metal band down firmly.

Put the filled jars into a water bath canner filled with hot water. Add hot water if needed to bring the water an inch or two over the tops of the jars. Bring to a rolling boil, and boil gently for five minutes. Remove the jars from the canner after processing. Cool jars upright and away from drafts before storing. When cool, check all jars for a seal. Label and store in a cool, dry place. The shorter the storage time, the better the eating quality of the product.

Gardening

May and June are among the best gardening months. This is when the garden really starts to pay off as spring-planted vegetables are ready to harvest.

Cabbage, turnips, mustard, English peas, beets, broccoli and Irish potatoes are ready to harvest. You will be picking your first tomatoes, sweet corn and snap beans, too.

Here are some suggestions you may want to consider for top quality at harvest.

Dig Irish potatoes when the vines have died. If the vines easily rubs off the potatoes, give them several days to mature before digging. Keep newly harvested potatoes out of the sun. Store them in a cool, dark place.

Don't try to hasten maturity of bulb onions by breaking over the tops. As the tops begin yellow and fall over, hasten maturity by gently lifting the bulbs with a fork to break some of the roots.

Sweet corn takes about 21 days from first silking to maturity. The ears should feel full when mature. When silks first appear, start checking regularly for earworm eggs on the silks so you can spray if needed.

Harvest tomatoes before they are fully red-ripe to avoid bird damage and water bursting.

After you have harvested early vegetables, prepare the garden site for sweet potatoes, peas and beans, pumpkins, squash or fall tomatoes.

Fruit and Nut Care

Spray peaches, plums, bunch grapes, pears and apples according to recommended schedule to insure quality fruits. We have spray schedules at the county Extension office.

Thin peaches, plums, apples and pears if trees are overloaded. Thin when fruits are three-fourths of an inch in size and before seeds begin to harden. Thin peaches four to six inches apart, apples and pears six to eight inches apart.

Prune and train young trees by removing suckers on the trunk and by thinning branches during the growing season.

Be sure to water recently transplanted trees frequently in dry weather.

Plant On Time

Soybean growers should try to plant most of their crops at the most favorable time.

This means planting from May 1-30 in the area north of U.S. Highway 84 and May 15 to June 10 south of Highway 84.

Planting in these periods gives beans the best chance to reach maximum plant size before they begin to bloom. This means better chances of highest yields.

Planting earlier than these dates may reduce yields, but probably not as much as planting later than the best periods.

Terracing Plow Demonstrated

Farmers and conservationist, about 45 in number, gathered recently at the Hughes Brothers' farm west of Booneville to watch a new piece of farm equipment at work.

A newly designed "terracing plow," manufactured by a Mississippi farm equipment company, appears to have tremendous potential for preventing the loss of valuable topsoil from sloping cropland and at an economical savings to farmers.

According to Tony Thompson, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Booneville, Prentiss County has a large acreage of sloping cropland that is experiencing severe soil erosion annually.

"About 39 percent of our total cropland acreage, or 29,222 acres, is sloping land," Thompson said. "Of this acreage, almost three-fourths, or 20,185 acres, needs the application of proper conservation practices to check the severe soil erosion that is occurring."

Thompson quoted recent conservation studies as showing Mississippi with an average soil loss on all cropland of 10.9 tons per acre annually.

"Here in Prentiss County we have checked many sloping fields that are losing over 30 tons of soil per acre annually while the maximum loss tolerance for these soils is only 3 tons per acre annually," he said.

The district conservationist warned that soil losses above tolerable limits will result in fields no longer capable of producing profitable crop yields due mainly to the loss of the soils' water holding capacity, organic matter, and inherent soil fertility.

"With the application of conservation practices such as terraces, we can reduce these soil losses to acceptable levels and save what remaining topsoil we might have left," Thompson said.

Standard terraces were a common sight in the county some 30 to 40 years ago, but most have been plowed down to accommodate modern farming and its multi-row equipment.

However, recent improvements in terrace system designs, that include wider terrace spacings, underground pipe outlets, and terraces that are constructed parallel to each other, have once again made terracing an acceptable, but expensive, soil conserving practice.

Hopefully, the new terracing plow now on the market will make terrace construction less expensive for area farmers. The plow is designed to build up to 1000 linear feet of terraces per hour and according to its manufacturers, can be used for other purposes, such as terrace and drainage ditch maintenance.

The recent demonstration was sponsored by the Prentiss County Soil and Water Conservation District in cooperation with Murphy's International Inc., AMCO, and Hershel, Robert, and Homer Hughes.

On First-Come Basis

CCC Corn May Be Purchased

Farmers and other interested persons will be eligible to purchase corn from the Commodity Credit Corporation starting May 21, according to C.E. Calvert of the Prentiss County ASCS office.

Jerry Floyd, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the CCC will offer corn for unrestricted use sale at market prices, but not less than the formula price which is 145 percent of the county loan rate for corn where stored times 105 percent.

"The minimum quantity that will be considered for acceptance is 1,000 bushels," Floyd said.

In Mississippi the corn is stored at the Bunge Corporation located in Greenville. According to Floyd, offers will be received and sales will be made on a first come, first served basis.

The CCC will offer for sale a total of 4.5 million bushels of corn stored in Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Interested persons should contact the county ASCS office as soon as possible for further details, Calvert said. The office is located at 105

College Street, Booneville, telephone number 728-3541.

At May Meeting

Wildlife Commission To Set Hunting Season Dates

Comments and suggestions made by hunters and fishermen, along with recommendations from the biological staff, will be presented to Commission on Wildlife Conservation when it meets in Biloxi in late May to set final season dates and bag limits.

"Each year hundreds of hunters attend the hearings and ask the agency to set certain season dates and bag limits for their areas of the state," executive director Richard Yancey said.

"While the Commission has the authority to set some seasons, many of the migratory bird hunting regulations are established by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service and the vast majority of the seasons on resident game are set by the Legislature.

Yancey indicated that squirrel season opening dates have been set by statute in three separate zones, while closing dates will be established by Commission action. At the hearings, charts will be on display as to the actual authority having jurisdiction over each regulation covering the various species of wildlife.

He said that the deer seasons are largely determined by the Legislature.

However, the Commission will determine the closing date for the second archery season, in addition to setting season dates and open areas for antlerless hunting.

Yancey said that the opening and closing dates for the trapping and hunting seasons on raccoon, fox and opossum will be set by the Commission within a framework of dates set by the Legislature.

Beginning and ending dates and bag limits for ducks, geese, doves, snipe, woodcock and other migratory birds will be set later in the summer by the Commission within a framework of dates handed down by the Department of the Interior's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. This year the duck season opening date, set by legislative action during the 1981 session, will begin the first Saturday in December and extend for at least 15 days during that month.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: By Charles L. Potts

The Survival Of Family

Col. 3:17-23

"and whatsoever you do in word or deed, do all in the Name of the Lord Jesus... wives, submit... husbands love... children obey... Fathers, provoke not..."

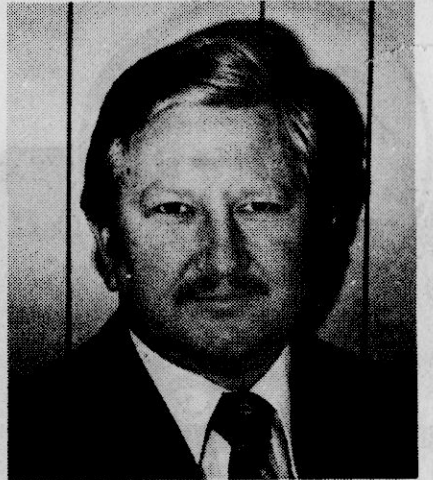

Family life in America is breaking down. Almost half of all marriages now end in divorce. Let us spare the gory details for we all know our present plight. Dr. Urie Bronfenbrenner, acclaimed social psychologist, Cornell University warns: "We are facing a trouble so deep and pervasive as to threaten the future of our nation."

May is Christian Home emphasis so it behooves us to ask, why this collapse? One reason is that men are failing in their leadership roles. Scripture teaches husbands should be the head of the family (Col. 3:18). This does not mean men should lord over their wives like tyrants. But it does mean...men are responsible for the physical and spiritual welfare of their families. Only as men assume this God-given responsibility...only then, will family stability return.

Another reason for the collapse...is lack of parental guidance. When the Supreme Court banned prayers from the public schools some people became so concerned that the "teachers can't pray with our children anymore." Naturally, we are all concerned with these matters...but how many of our parents pray with their children? We cannot expect the schools and or churches to give our children a spiritual foundation if we fail at home. There simply is no substitute for this most effective school in the world...the home. This is where we transmit values to our children...and the lack of parental guidance leaves an emotional, moral and spiritual vacuum in our precious children.

The last comment on the why...families are crumbling because parents are placing self above all else...including their own families. Marriage vows are often regarded lightly. When tough times come...there is no anchor of vital commitment. Remember, in the long run...it is not love that sustains marriage; marriage sustains love. Christians accept a different standard of marriage based on the idea of permanence as taught by Jesus. This means there will be sacrifice...voluntarily accepted...in the spirit of love for a higher goal...the stability of marriage as an institution of God. Can the family survive? How do you answer?
