Public Hearing Set For Monday On Highway Priority Needs

A public hearing scheduled for next Monday night will give Prentiss County residents a chance to tell State Highway Department officials what they think are the most pressing highway needs in this area.

Monday's hearing will be part of a four-meeting series being held this week and next at different locations in North Mississippi. They are intended to give Highway officials an idea of which construction and maintenance projects residents feel should be given top priority.

The results of these hearings could affect Highway Department policy for the next several years, according to Northern District Highway Commissioner Bobby G. Richardson.

He said the hearings are being held so that Highway officials can receive input from a wide range of individuals as to how they think highway funds should be spent.

"I need input from the public to assist us in formulating the policy by which we spend their money," Richardson said.

The local hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, July 20, in Hargett Hall at the Northeast Junior College.

"This is an opportunity for the public to present their views and opinions as to the direction our highway program will take for the next several years," Richardson said.

The 1981 session of the Mississippi Legislature authorized the Highway Commissioner to hold public hearings to gain additional information for policy decisions or for setting priorities for construction or maintenance expenditures, the Commissioner said.

Other meetings scheduled in the Northern District include one in West Point last night and one in Grenada tonight. The final meeting is set for 7 p.m. next Wednesday in the Coliseum Exhibition Hall of Northwest Junior College in Senatobia.

Two Houses Leveled By Weekend Fires

Two houses were lost to fires in Booneville over the weekend, both on Saturday night.

The first, a frame house owned by Harold Stevens and located just outside the city limits on Old Marietta Road, was reported to the Booneville Fire Department at 9:20 a.m. The house was listed as a total loss, the cause unknown.

The other fire occurred early Sunday morning when what some say was one of the oldest houses in the city burned to the ground.

Owned by Mrs. Elsie Walker Smith, the three-story frame structure on Jefferson Street was reported as being on fire by the Booneville Police

Special Election Draws Candidates

Competition in the special election to be held next month for the 5th District constable post could get hot and heavy.

Circuit Clerk Travis Cox said Wednesday morning that nine persons interested in that election have picked up petitions from his office and six have already returned them for filing.

Those who have filed petitions as candidates are Jimmy Dodds, J.R. Gray, Tommy W. Smith, H.O. Jourdan, Billy Basden and Gerald Pace.

The special election has been set for Aug. 11. The TOWERING INFERNO—This three-story house on Jefferson Street, vacant for several years, burned to the ground early Sunday morning. Local firemen battled the blaze for more than three hours but could do little more than keep it from spreading as flames had already broken through the roof when the fire was reported about 1:15 a.m. The cause of the blaze is not known. Owned by former city librarian Mrs. Elsie Walker Smith, the building was said by some to be one of the oldest houses in the city.

New Superintendent Takes Over Reins

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

Although he hasn't been here quite long enough to get firmly settled into his new position as superintendent of the Booneville City Schools, Robert Griffin is already predicting a good school year for the upcoming 1981-82 term.

Griffin, a native of Nettleton, officially assumed the duties of superintendent of the city schools on July 1, the first anniversary of the school system. He replaces Troy Henderson, who resigned after one year in that post.

Griffin comes to Booneville from the West Point school system where he had served as superintendent since 1976. He was associated with the West Point schools, both as a teacher and as an administrator, for 19 years.

ALTHOUGH HE NAMED no specific long range plans for the Booneville schools, he says he does have some ideas in mind.

In addition to the work this summer on building repairs and improvements, Griffin is spending a great deal of his time familiarizing himself with the Booneville school system.

Not being totally familiar with some things that have taken place in the past, Griffin said it currently takes him a little longer to decide what should be done in some instances.

"It has been so long since I changed jobs—especially from one school system to another—that I had forgotten what it was like," he said.

THE CITY SCHOOL SYSTEM will face some new problems in the coming

In Releasing Prisoners

Sheriff McCauley Says Courts Do Not Play Politics

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

Prentiss County Sheriff John McCauley says it is not politics or favoritism on the part of judges that results in suspended sentences for so many convicted criminals—it is the overcrowding in the state's penitentiary and in the county jails. There's just no where to put them.

"The courts are doing what they can with the prisoners," McCauley said earlier this week. "If the people want to say it's politics that these people are being turned out—they're bad wrong."

The sheriff came to the defense of the courts system following the June term of the Prentiss County Circuit Court during which nine persons received prison sentences, all of which were suspended except two.

McCauley says the overcrowding in the state penitentiary at Parchman severely handicaps the judges in sentencing prisoners. And, since there's not room for them in the county jail, many are given suspended sentences, ordered to pay restitution for their crimes, and released on probation.

"People feel like we take 'em to court and the court just turns them loose," the sheriff said. "They were turned loose, but everything was done that could be done with them because of the jail and Parchman situation."

McCAULEY SAID THAT, during the June session of court, he was worried Judge Fred Wicker might start giving jail sentences instead of prison sentences to the convicted criminals—and he had no where to put them.

"The judge started suspending their prison sentences and giving them a jail sentence," he said. "I have 12 beds in the county jail and at that time there were 14 prisoners in the jail and we had three in the city jail."

He said he talked to Judge Wicker, but was still afraid he might sentence the prisoners to terms in the county jail.

"I called the Attorney General and he told me to write the judge a letter about the situation and then, if he still put them down here, it would be by court order and would be the court's responsibility," the sheriff said.

By the time June court was over, "I got rid of two more than I got back," McCauley said. "That made my jail exactly full."

"I think the people are unjustified in criticizing the courts," McCauley said. "Now the JP courts are a different matter."

He admits that "we've got some (Justice Court Judges) that are fair and impartial to everybody," but added that, "there's too much buddy-buddy stuff in the JP courts."

THE OVERCROWDED conditions make it so difficult on the Sheriff's Department that "half the time we can't legally lock up a drunk driver," the sheriff said. In that case, they see if the city jail has room for them.

"I don't imagine the city is going to have room for them for a while," he said in reference to new police chief Bobby Lambert. "I hear they arrested seven last night (Saturday)."

Apparently criminals from other states know of the situation here in Mississippi.

school term. For one, the city will lose some programs and some teachers as a result of President Reagan's budget cuts.

"We lost some Title I funds and had to cut three teachers—this was done before I came," Griffin said. "We were offering remedial reading and remedial math. Test scores showed the greatest need in reading so we will drop remedial math and keep remedial reading."

The federal spending cuts will also affect the food service and lunch program at the city schools, the new superintendent said. "We don't know exactly how much yet, but the budget cuts will affect the free and reduced price lunch program."

GRIFFIN SAID THE city school system has taken no action yet on finding an alternate football field for Booneville High School games.

In the past, the school has rented Tiger Stadium at Northeast Junior College for its games. But during the last meeting of the college's board of trustees, steps were taken which could halt the high school's use of the field after the 1983 season.

"The city school board has been made aware of the decision by the college, but no action has been taken yet," Griffin said. "This was the first they had heard of it."

Griffin said that locating and building a football stadium would be a major undertaking for the school system and indicated that it is not foreseen in the immediate future.

"We would have to find a location that would fit in with any future building plans," he said.

THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT and his family have already moved to Booneville and are beginning to get acquainted with the people.

"The people I have met have been nice, cordial and supportive," he said. "I have met many of the teachers and they seem enthusiastic about the coming year. I'm convinced we will have a good year."

"We're going to call all to work together—students, teachers and parents," he said. "We hope to involve all these people and have a good school year."

Sheriff Says. . .

"We got a call about someone stealing hubcaps out east," McCauley said. "Carl (Chief Deputy Carl Sartin) and I answered the call and caught a boy from Tennessee in a stolen vehicle."

It turned out the boy was wanted in Tennessee. "I ain't going back up there," he told us, "so I'd better tell you something," the sheriff said.

The boy confessed to stealing two cars—"and I don't mean clunkers, but two good cars"—and taking them for a joy ride and then burning them to get rid of the fingerprints, McCauley said. He was charged with two counts of grand larceny and arson.

He pleaded guilty to the charges in the June term of court and was sentenced to 90 days in jail and ordered to make restitution to the owners of the cars.

The time he had already spent in jail counted on his sentence and, since he had already spent 114 days in jail awaiting trial, he was released. "I almost expected someone to say we would have to pay him for those extra days," McCauley said.

The sheriff also said that, since the boy has not found a job yet, he cannot pay restitution on the two cars he stole and burned.

Department about 1:15 a.m.

Booneville firemen battled the blaze for more than three hours, but, since the flames were already leaping through the roof when they arrived, there was little they could do but try to cool it down and keep it from spreading to surrounding homes, according to Fire Chief Frank Fleming.

An electrical fire was reported at 9:50 p.m. last Thursday at the Ervin Burress home at 201 Jumper Circle. Firemen pulled the main fuse to extinguish the fire. Only minor damage was reported.

A grease fire was reported at 12:40 p.m. last Friday at the Maxwell residence at 103 Foster Park when a pan of grease on the stove caught fire. It was out on arrival of the firemen.

At 5 p.m. Friday, a fire caused by lightning running in on the switch box was reported at the Billy Hester residence on Davis Street.

Although the fire was out on arrival, the oven and the answering service in the home were burned out and fuses were blown in the fuse box.

the month of June, Stevenson said. Completion of these projects will result in the improvement of 41,535 miles of State Aid roads, he said.

The total estimated cost of the improvements throughout the state is approximately $5.1 million.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, why did the gift of speaking in tongues cease?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: The purposes of these spiritual gifts (including tongues) were threefold: (1) REVELATION (Jno. 16:13), (2) CONFIRMATION (Mk. 16:19), and (3) PROTECTION OF THE LIVES OF THE APOSTLES UNTIL REVELATION WAS COMPLETED (Mk. 16:17, 18; 1 Cor. 13:10). All three of these have been accomplished. (1) Revelation is complete or perfect (Jas. 1:25; 2 Pet. 1:3). (2) It was confirmed (past tense, a completed action) (Heb. 2:4). Also the lives of the apostles were protected until their mission was completed. This being true, the gift of speaking in tongues was given to the people, so they would not have a language barrier. This along with other spiritual gifts given to the people of that day certified them as God's representatives. It cannot be denied by any Bible student that in the early days of the church people did speak in many languages. However one must remember they also could drink poison (deadly things) and handle rattle snakes without any harm (see Mk. 16:18). No one today can do these things without harm. The Bible has been signed, sealed and delivered. We do not need these spiritual gifts today to confirm the WORD because it has already been confirmed.

Court Orders Construction On Tenn-Tom Halted

A temporary injunction issued Monday by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans halted construction of "ertain segments" of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, pending issuance of a supplement environmental impact statement by the U.S. Corps of Engineers, builders of the project.

The 50-page opinion, written by Thomas Reavley, partially reversed and partially affirmed a ruling last Oct. 1 by U.S. District Judge William Keady.

Keady had dismissed the suit, originally filed in 1976 by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, the Environmental Defense Fund, the Committee for Leaving America Natural, the National Audubon Society and the Alabama Conservancy.

These groups contended that the project should be stopped because the U.S. Corps of Engineers provided inaccurate information to Congress about the waterway's cost-benefit ratio and about environmental damage Tenn-Tom construction might cause to the region.

Although the contents of the decision by the three-judge panel in New Orleans was not immediately known to lawyers for both sides, Steve Roady, a Washington attorney representing the anti-waterway factions, said he was pleased with the ruling.

Roady said the injunction would apparently be in effect until a supplemental environmental impact statement on the water-way's construction could be submitted to the U.S. District Court. It appears that the merits of the case would then be decided on the district level.

A spokesman for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority said the Corps of Engineers have been preparing a series of supplemental environmental impact statements since the project began, but she did not know whether they would be sufficient to satisfy the concerns of the court.

Upon completion, the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway would be a 232-mile corridor connecting the Tennessee River near Iuka with the Black Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway at Demopolis, which runs south 217 miles to the Port of Mobile on the Gulf of Mexico.

Backers say the completion of the project would spur coal development in Tennessee and would aid economic development in economically depressed regions of Mississippi and Alabama.

OUTSTANDING CITIZEN—J.P. Davis, president of the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors, holds a plaque which was presented to him Saturday night at a Woodman of the World fish fry. Wimp Caldwell, local WOW representative, said the honor plaque was presented to Davis because of his outstanding service to the community and his church.

Mini-Fair Set For July 29

Jams, jellies, pickles and preserves are just a small part of the exhibits that will mark the third annual Prentiss County Mini-Fair Wednesday-Friday, July 29-31 at the Booneville Community Center.

Exhibits are to be entered Wednesday, July 29, from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. All entries will be judged Thursday, July 30.

The Mini-Fair will be opened to the public from noon to 6 p.m. on July 31.

This year the Fair will have a spot for men as well as women and 4-H youth to display their wares. Crafts, garden vegetables and fruits, plants, flowers and flower arrangements will be on display.

In adult exhibits, first, second and third place winners will receive ribbons. A silver tray will be awarded to the high scorer in the overall division.

In 4-H Youth exhibits, first, second and third place winners will receive ribbons. If a white ribbon is not earned, it will not be given. Sweepstakes will be awarded at the 4-H youth with the top score.

Schedules of divisions and entrees can be secured at the Extension office or by calling 728-5631.

Jumper Appointed To YCWA

The Prentiss County Board of Supervisors have appointed a Booneville businessman to a four-year term on the board of directors of the Yellow Creek Watershed Authority.

Bill Jumper, owner of the Lion Oil Company in Booneville, was selected by the supervisors to the board to replace A.C. Wright, who recently resigned.

At its June meeting, the rural development agency elected officers for the coming year. Milton Grisham was elected chairman of the board, R.H. Kay, vice-chairman, and Milton Kent, secretary-treasurer.

Appropriations Hearing Tuesday

U.S. Cong. Jamie Whitten, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, called on his colleagues Tuesday for support of the Tennessee-Tombigbee navigation project.

In a personal letter to his colleagues, Whitten said that, in his years of service in Congress, "I have always supported projects for the development of our own country without regard to section or state. Now I need your help."

"If you stopped the project now, annual benefits available would only be $12 million--when the total project is completed, annual benefits will be $125 million," Whitten said.

"If the project is halted now, we will have a partly finished canal, some locks and dams in various stages of completion," he said. "If the waterway is completed, we will have an important navigation system."

"The cost to stop the project and to restore the project area to an environmentally acceptable condition would certainly exceed the cost to complete the project many times over, for all 232 miles are in some phase of construction," he continued.

"The entire project is close to completion, and according to my best information, the project will benefit 26 states directly and help the economy of the entire nation," he said.

The full Appropriations Committee is scheduled to take up the funding for the Tenn-Tom Tuesday. It is not known what effect a ruling earlier this week by the U.S. District Court of Appeals will have on the hearing.

That ruling ordered a halt to construction on the waterway pending the filing of supplementary Environmental Impact Statements by the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

At South Central Bell

Former Resident Promoted

A former Booneville resident has recently been promoted to the position of assistant vice-president with the South Central Bell Telephone Company.

According to Tom Bailey of South Central Bell's Tupelo office, B.B. Loveless, a Booneville native, has been promoted to the position of assistant vice-president of residence and public services at the firm's headquarters in Birmingham, Ala.

Loveless was formerly division manager for residence services in the New Orleans area. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Loveless of Booneville.

In his new position, he is responsible for headquarters staff support for South Central Bell employees throughout the company's territory who work in the areas of installation and maintenance of residence services, residence service center activity and the FCC's registration program, Bailey said.

South Central Bell provides telecommunications services in Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee. Loveless began his telephone company career in 1955 as a lineman in Biloxi, Miss. He later held a number of positions with the company in network and residence operations along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

He later served as district plant manager for South Central Bell in Monroe, La., and as division plant manager in Shreveport.

Loveless received a Bell System suggestion award in 1964 for his design of an end cap used on telephone cables.

He is married to the former Ann Marie Sassone of Osyka, and they have one son, Michael, and a daughter, Leianne.

Industrial Growth Depends On Four-Laning Highway 45

Last week Gov. William Winter announced a $4.9 million road-building program that he says could create thousands of new jobs in Mississippi. These funds are to be used for the construction of six new industrial access roads in Northeast Mississippi.

While it may be true that these six new roads may eventually create many new jobs in those six specific areas, there is something else that could be done to create possibly more jobs-and in more than just a handful of communities. And that is to four-lane U.S. 45 all the way from the Mississippi-Tennessee state line in the north to at least Meridian in the central part of the state.

In the past, several industries considering the possibility of locating factories in Northeast Mississippi have cited the lack of a four-lane access into the area as one of the negative factors here. While the lack of a four-lane highway by itself may or may not have actually cost the area an industry, it has most definitely had an influence. And in this time of economic hardship we need everything possible going in our favor.

Fortunately, Northeast Mississippi does have good railroad service in the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad and there appears to be no danger of losing that service in the future. And, when it is completed, the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway will provide shipping lanes directly to ports on the Gulf of Mexico or points in between.

But these two modes of transportation are just not enough. If we ever expect to attract additional major industries into Northeast Mississippi, we must have an acceptable highway system connecting this area with larger metropolitan areas.

We don't begrudge the six communities who are getting help in constructing their industrial access roads-we received help from the state in building our just-completed industrial access road. And we are most grateful. But we would like for the State to look at what the advantages would be to this area-and to the entire state-if U.S. 45 were to be widened into a four-lane highway.

Improving State Education Of Prime Importance

Mississippi continues to occupy the unenviable position of last place in per capita income in the United States and, by all measurements, is slipping further behind the 49th state, Arkansas.

Mississippi, a pioneer in industrial development efforts, has failed to pioneer in one of the most important aspects of luring industrial concerns to the state-a quality education system.

According to reports from the Governor's office, the nation's industrial leadership is well aware of the positive aspects of locating in the state-favorable tax rates, a right-to-work law, and incentives to industry-but one of the first questions they ask concerns the state's public education system.

They want to know the capacity of the state to provide skilled, trained people and the state's capacity to provide schools adequate for the children of their employees.

In 1979, Mississippi ranked 22nd in the nation in local and state revenues for public schools as a percentage of personal income and ranked 48th in the nation in expenditures per pupil. And, some 17,000 students are dropping out of public elementary and secondary schools each year.

The Mississippi Economic Council, long an advocate of an effective, quality public education program, has come up with five steps of paramount importance which must be taken to upgrade the state's education system. They are:

- Replace the current ex officio State Board of Education with an expanded lay board to establish an effective, policy-making body for the state's education program.
- Enact a public kindergarten program and include the program in the state's Minimum Education Program.
- Strengthen the state's compulsory school attendance law.
- Provide fiscal independence for all school districts.
- Appoint local school superintendents, removing professional school superintendents from the election process and assuring strong professional leadership within the local districts.

Thanks For Parade's Success

Dear Editor:

We would like to thank everyone for their part in making the annual 4th of July parade such a success this year.

A good time was had by all, from the oldest to the very young.

This year's parade included a unicycle rider, Big Bird, clowns, a decorated tractor and wagon, go-carts, a '56 Chevy, bicycles and tricycles, a jeep, mini-bikes, a drummer, a tuba player and many hardy souls who just walked or danced along the streets.

They all agreed it was the best parade so far.

A special thanks to the editor for his coverage of the event each year and we extend a special invitation to make plans to join in this delightful event next year.

$6.5 Million To Be Spent On Postal Training 'Resort'

Dear Editor:

I am writing to apprise you of an egregious waste of citizen funds in one of the most affluent areas in the country.

The U.S. Postal Service, which recently increased stamp prices from 15 cents to 18 cents and plans to go to 20 cents, is about to start building what amounts to a resort training site in my State Legislative District in Potomac, Md.

There, the Postal Service spent $6½ million for 80 acres of land in a residential area next to homes selling for $300,000 to $700,000.

It is a premier example of government waste.

While the "cash-on-the-barrelhead" price for construction is $28.3 million, the Service will finance it over a period of years, bringing construction costs to well over $50 million, including interest. Our recent stamp increases will pay the bill.

The land for this purchase, which puts "Tara" to shame, was purchased by the Department on Oct. 2, 1980, just before the election without any public hearings.

To me, this project is the epitome of government extravagance-and it is within 10 miles of the White House!

I was one of a handful of Maryland elected Republicans who supported President Reagan in last year's primaries. I still strongly support him. Nevertheless, this postal training resort violates his pledge to cut government waste.

Thank you.

Robin Flicker, member

Reflections

By Ken Christian

Well, it's happening again. Northeast Mississippi is getting the short end of the deal.

Now the highways in the southern part of the state are in good shape-at least, much better shape than the ones in our region-what happens? The 1981 Mississippi Legislature changes the priorities of the State Highway Department from construction to maintenance, and does away with the Corridor program which was begun in 1972.

Thanks to this legislation, a meeting with State Highway Department officials last Tuesday left members of the Prentiss County Development Association's transportation committee disheartened over the prospects of obtaining the four-laning of U.S. 45 anytime in the near future.

"We got some straight answers, but they were not what we wanted to hear," Stewart Vail, chairman of that PCDA committee, said after the meeting.

THE REARRANGEMENT OF the State Highway Department's priorities were included in the highway finance plan signed into law this year.

A large portion of the funds used to finance highway construction and maintenance come from taxes on gasoline. Since construction costs are increasing and gasoline consumption is decreasing, something had to be done about financing the state's highway program.

The fact that the legislature had already passed (earlier in the 1981 session) a bill to increase the truck weight limits on state highways to 80,000 pounds also meant that highway maintenance costs would rise even more.

In fact, there were threats of a gubernatorial veto of the increased highway weight limit bill if the legislature did not come up with a new highway financing plan.

Gov. William Winter had asked the legislature to establish a variable gasoline tax of 9 percent instead of the fixed figure of 9 cents per gallon, but neither the House nor the Senate would go along with that.

Even without the variable tax, Mississippi has one of the highest gasoline tax structures of any state in the nation-9 cents per gallon excise tax plus 5 cents per gallon sales tax, for a total of 16 cents per gallon.

WHAT THE LEGISLATURE did do in the highway financing bill was to move the emphasis from construction of new roads and place it on maintenance of existing ones.

In order to increase the funds available for maintenance, the two legislative bodies agreed to drop all projects in the 1972 Corridor Road Program, except for those on which contracts had already been let.

The highway financing bill, passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. Winter, also halted the policy of dividing road monies equally among the three districts in the state. Under the new policy, the funds will be "spent on the basis of state needs as a whole." And since the southern part of the state has more highways, they will probably get a bigger share of the funds.

The new law also gives more power to the director of the Highway Department-at the expense of the three commissioners-and establishes the Highway Commission as a policy-making body with no involvement in the daily activities of the Department.

While the commissioners are elected by the people, the director is appointed by the Commission and can only be dismissed "for cause."

SO, WHAT CAN be done to improve our chances of getting U.S. 45 four-laned? Probably very little. But the Highway Department is holding a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday in Hargett Hall at Northeast and if enough people come out to express their wishes, it might help us get what little funds are available.

"Come to the meeting," Northern District Highway Commissioner Bobby Richardson told Rotary members last Tuesday. "Tell us why a highway should get a number one priority."

Eyes On Mississippi

2-Party System Here To Stay?

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.-It's wise in Mississippi politics to assume that one swallow doesn't mean spring has arrived, but the Wayne Dowdy victory in the Fourth Congressional District race is cumulative evidence that this state now has a real two-party system, with the two parties amazingly evenly matched.

Last November's presidential election now can be used as a reference point for what the Fourth District outcome seems to have confirmed. That time, the Republicans with the most attractive conservative since Barry Goldwater at the head of their ticket, were able to beat the Democrats, but by less than one percentage point.

This time, the Democrats, with a remarkably hard-campaigning newcomer who appealed to both rural whites and blacks, beat the Republicans in what was thought by many as a "safe" GOP congressional district. Again, the margin was less than one percentage point.

Party lines, thanks largely to the positions espoused by both Dowdy and Republican Liles Williams, were clearly drawn in the Fourth District faceoff, and the voters made their choices knowing that it was a confrontation of party philosophies, one popularly perceived as conservative, the other more liberal.

After more than 30 years wandering around in a political no-man's land where they refused to recognize their representatives must owe loyalty to either the Democratic or the Republican party as a national institution, Mississippians have shown now they have one of the healthiest competitions between the two major parties in the nation.

A strange mix of political concepts on the part of Mississippians has made that possible. While most white Mississippians still revere political conservatism (some obviously racial conservatives), there is evidently a substantial body of whites in this state whose tap roots go back to the Democratic Party of Franklin Roosevelt to combine with predominantly Democratic blacks in a partisan way.

However, Dowdy did the best job of any recent Democrat in Mississippi to bring together a solid coalition of mostly rural whites with latent Democratic sympathies and the largely undisciplined black voting force.

It's evident that Dowdy did more for the Democratic Party than the party did for him.

All of the help that came down from the National Democratic Party before the June 23 elimination election was channelled to Britt Singletary, who evidently was given some sort of anointing by State Democratic Chairman Danny Cupit and some other state Democratic leaders as the party's strongest hope against the Republicans.

If Dowdy had not committed a substantial amount of his own funds to his early media splash, he probably would have been discouraged from making the race.

Significantly, Dowdy utilized in the runoff none of the professional campaign help which Singletary had imported from Washington for the June 23 race, which had included Bob Squier, the political TV specialist, whose fee was believed guaranteed by the National Democratic Committee.

The unexpected regaining of the Fourth District seat by the Democrats after 10 years by way of a special election which in effect had the same format as the long-debated Open Primary should cause the high ranking Democrats in the state to take another serious look at installing the Open Primary system as a matter of the party's survival.

Blacks, who have opposed the Open Primary law each time it has been sent up to the Department of Justice for review, hold the key to whether or not the Democratic Party in Mississippi can win elections in the future.

The question is whether or not blacks will, after the experience of the Dowdy election, now be willing to accept party discipline and work within the framework of the Democratic party or continue to splinter the black vote with independent candidates.

Obviously the Mississippi Republican Party, after seeing Dowdy pull his upset, can now be expected to do everything it can, including providing some funding, to encourage black independents to make a three-way split of the vote in every regular election.

While the hopes for maintaining a strong two-party system in Mississippi are rather high at the moment, the danger still exists that partisan politics may become divided along racial lines. Some oldline Republican leaders still visualize the Republican Party becoming the "white man's party" in Mississippi, and the Democratic Party nothing more than a caretaker black party.

Should that ever happen, Mississippi would again become a one-party state, with the Republican Party the only viable party.

ADDENDUM: A recent column regarding distribution of $55 million to customers of Mississippi Power Company recovered from overcharges by a coal supplier implied no other utility company has made a similar effort to get back funds for its customers.

Mississippi Power and Light Co. for several years has been waging a legal battle to recover over $500 million for breach of its gas supply contract by United Gas Pipe Line Company and Pennzoil.

It is still pending in federal court and before the Federal Power Commission.-WFM

City Officials To Meet

Municipal clerks, municipal court clerks, justice court judges and mayors from Alcorn, Itawamba, Lee, Pontotoc, Prentiss, Tiptah, and Tishomingo counties will attend a two hour seminar on fee collection on July 21 at Northeast Junior College in Booneville.

Appropriate to the month of July is a document now on display at the Allen Library. The Prentiss County Development Association—Doug Mansell, executive director—has given us the rededication to the principles of the Declaration of Independence that many of you signed during the bicentennial celebration.

Another very interesting and beautiful display is a group of finely detailed ceramic roosters made by Andrea, Ardico and Lefton.

Colorful additions to the children's library include Basil the Cat and Rover the Dog's reverse interpretation of how a bicycle can be fun in "Safety First; Bicycles."

Then there's a Little League's plea in "Go Away, Warts," and a TV and movie tie-in with "Muppet Magic." Two others for the baseball fans are "How to Pitch," with step-by-step instructions by some present-day star pitchers, and a biography of Steve Garvey.

A biographical novel is Dorothy Wilson's "Lincoln's Mothers."

Two new guides on two different interests are "Gifted Children; How to Identify and Teach Them" by Owenita Sanderlin, and "Cystitis: the complete Self-Help Guide," by Angela Kilmartin.

"A Prayer For Ldove"

"God, give me love; I do not only pray
That perfect love may be bestowed on me;
But let me feel the lovability
Of every soul I meet along the way.
Though it be hidden from the light of day
And every eye but love's—
Oh! I would see
My brother in the monarch and the bee—

In every spirit clothed in mortal clay!
Give me the gift of loving!
I will claim
No other blessing from the Lord of Birth,
For he who loves needs no high-sounding;

Nor power nor treasure to proclaim his worth;
His soul has lit at Life's immortal flame
A lamp that may illumine all the truth."

No One Escapes Presbyopia

The word "presbyopia" is Greek in origin and means "Old man's eyes." Presbyopia comes to all of us if we live long enough. It's part of the process of aging.

Presbyopia is a condition that exists when vision at reading distances becomes difficult and blurry due to a gradual decrease in the focusing ability of the lens of the eye. Presbyopia usually occurs between 40 and 45 years of age and often appears to come on suddenly. It is characterized by a need to hold reading matter farther away ("If my arm was only longer"), better close vision with brighter light, and symptoms of eyestrain and headaches.

Presbyopia is a normal aging process and, as of today, cannot be prevented. However, properly prescribed reading glasses or bifocals will correct for the progressive loss in near-focusing power and make reading at normal distances clear, sharp and comfortable.

If you are having difficulty reading printed matter, don't put off an eye examination. It's a simple procedure and can make reading and close vision work a pleasure again instead of a strain.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office 728-3446

ORIENTATION COUNSELORS—Prentiss County students who were selected to serve as counselors during orientation and pre-registration at Northeast Junior College July 23-24 and July 30-31, are (front, l-r) Sterling Akers, Tommy Keenum, (back, l-r) Jo Ann Dennis, Merry Cleveland and Deborah Brooks. Working as student counselors, they will assist incoming students with registration, lead small group discussions, give tours of the campus, and plan entertainment for the campus visitors.

Northeast Plans Orientation

Some 1,500 students from Mississippi and 12 surrounding states are expected to attend the college orientation and pre-registration sessions planned by Northeast Mississippi Junior College. School officials announced this week.

J. Connie Drown, director of counseling and coordinator for the two-day events, said they will be July 23-24 and July 30-31. Registration fee, which includes overnight accommodations, admission to entertainment and four meals, is $25 per person. These meetings are structured for the entering freshman and transfer student, Drown said, and their purpose is to give the incoming student a preview of college life.

Upon arrival, participants will be assigned an academic adviser, who will assist them in preparing class schedules for the fall semester.

"This initial personal contact has proven to be one of the key factors in the student's successful adjustment from high school to college," Drown said.

In addition to completing class schedules, participants will receive tours of the campus, meet in small groups for question and answer sessions with student counselors, will receive information about the many clubs and organizations on campus and will have free time available for swimming, tennis movies and other planned entertainment.

Students interested in attending one of the orientation and pre-registration sessions should contact the Counseling Center on the Northeast campus by calling 728-7751, or toll free 1-728-7759, ext. 235.

4-H Club News

By Edward L. McWhirter
Extension 4-H
Youth Agent
The International Year
Of Disabled Persons
We have about six more months in 1981. Did you have a goal to start programs involving more handicapped youth in your 4-H program?

Involving the handicapped in your 4-H program gives handicapped people opportunities to exercise their ability to perform and adapt. It also allows 4-H members to exercise their ability to accept and understand.

Individual members, teen leaders, 4-H clubs and county 4-H officers can help increase the acceptance and understanding of disabled persons in a community.
Listed here are a few of the things that can be done.

This list should serve as a starting point for your own creative thought on how to become involved. The activities, presented in no special order, range from simple to complex in their level of involvement for 4-H'ers. Read these ideas and check the ways you would like to be involved.

--Research various agencies and advocate groups that provide services for persons with disabilities.
Learn what the services are.
Members could share with the club what they have learned.

--Ask citizens with disabilities to appear on local speakout programs.

--At a club meeting, view a film, filmstrip, or slide set that focuses on problems that handicapped people face.

--Teach awareness activities to school groups, community groups and other 4-H clubs. This will help them form positive attitudes toward people with disabilities.

--Do volunteer work at an agency that serves disabled persons.

--Develop a babysitting course that prepares teen to babysit for a child with a disability. Cooperate with another agency to do the training. 4-H'ers could then offer their services as babysitters to parents of children with disabilities.

--With the help of your 4-H agent, begin an idea swap shop with leaders and teens in other clubs and other stages. Discuss project ideas and other ways to involve disabled persons in 4-H.

--Give a disability quiz to other clubs and groups.

Then lead a myth-slating discussion.

--Interview disabled people at work in the community.

--Sponsor a dance or other recreational activity with the cooperation of an agency such as Easter Seal Society, Association of Retarded Citizens, etc.

--Speak about 4-H activities and opportunities to parents' groups of handicapped children.

--Learn the 4-H Pledge in sign language.

--Ask a handicapped person to serve as a county resource person for your programming with handicapped youth.

--Invite youth who have disabilities to join your 4-H club. Also, ask adults who have disabilities to serve as 4-H leaders.

--Review the rules and regulations of various 4-H activities, contests and events to see how they affect the participation of disabled persons.

--Organize a Handicapped Awareness Day in your community. Use speakers, printed materials, films and displays to tell your message.

--Volunteer your services at a local facility that serves handicapped people.

--Talk with handicapped persons to learn more about what it is like to have a disability.

--Visit facilities for handicapped persons and learn why you rarely see these people at other places in the community.

--Discuss with handicapped spokespersons or advocates the problems that architectural and attitudinal barriers create.

--Contact local organizations already working with disabled citizens for ideas on how to help.

dicapped Youth")

Soil Conservation Notes

By DON JONES
Soil Conservation
Technician

(4) Natural draws should be sodded to grassed waterways for this is where gullies first occur.

(5) Terraces system will also reduce soil erosion compared to the straight row.

Other practices on which assistance is available from your Soil Conservation Service are pond location and design, diversion layout for removal of excess hill water, disposal lagoon for dairy and hog operations, drainage ditch location, and recommendation of grasses and legumes for spring and fall pasture planting.

All of this information and technical assistance are available through the Soil Conservation Service personnel without charge.

For more information on obtaining a conservation plan or any of the other practices listed contact your Soil Conservation Service located in the North Mississippi Savings and Loan Building.

The Soil Conservation Service can help you develop a conservation plan on your farm that will help keep erosion from melting away the productivity of your soil.

In most cases you need a combination of conservation practices and the conservation plan would tailor these practices to your farm.

Some of the practices that should be considered in preventing the washing away of your soil are:

(1) Select the most productive land for crop production, the steeper and least productive soil are the most erosive.

(2) Minimum tillage should be considered in reducing erosion.

(3) contour rows reduce erosion by about 50 percent as compared to the straight up and down hill rows.

OM Tickets On Sale

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—The Ole Miss ticket office reported today that season ticket sales for football games this fall are better than last year at this time.

However, Virginia Hall, Rebel Ticket Office Manager, stressed the fact that there are still plenty of tickets available to all Ole Miss games, except the Oct. 3 Alabama contest in Tuscaloosa, which was sold out last month.

"We have been pleased with the progress that has been made with our season ticket sales, and we are anticipating our individual orders to pick up," Mrs. Hall said. "Tickets have been going very briskly for the Sept. 26 Arkansas game, which is our home game in Jackson, and for the Mississippi State game, which is State's game. With last year's capacity at Mississippi Memorial, the Arkansas and LSU games would have already been sold out. But they're added around 20,000 seats to the stadium, so we have more tickets to sell this season."

Mrs. Hall reported that tickets have been going fast for away games with Tulane and Memphis State, and that only a "limited number" of tickets remain for the Arkansas and Mississippi State games.

Individual orders (requests for tickets to single games) are being processed now, and there is no limit on how many of these tickets may be purchased.

To place season or individual ticket orders, write the Ole Miss Ticket Office, P.O. Box 247, University, MS 38677, or call (601) 232-7167. Season tickets are $55 each, while individual tickets are $11 each.

E. Booneville Downs Tupelo

East Booneville's 15-16 year old baseballers took a 6-1 victory over Tupelo last Sunday in local action.

Booneville's Jeff Howell took the win with relief help from Scott McKinney who pitched no hit ball through the last four innings.

Craig Brooks, Dwight Wright, Jackie Burress, and Carlos Hastings had two hits to pace the hitting department.

In Sunday's slugfest Booneville pounded out 12 hits and scored a 1-0 lead in the first inning and never looked back from there.

Local Student In Research Project

An Ole Miss student from Booneville is one of 10 undergraduates from across the United States and Puerto Rico who are participating in major research projects being conducted this summer at The University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy.

Donna Denson of Booneville, a senior at Ole Miss, is one of the students participating in the National Science Foundation

Undergraduate Research Program.

The Ole Miss School of Pharmacy is one of only five schools that received grants from the National Science Foundation to support the research program.

Students in the program work under the direct supervision of faculty members and are given the opportunity to develop individualized research experience which will help them in deciding whether to attend graduate school.

"The program is designed to offer participants the opportunity to experience research comparable to that experienced at the graduate level," said Dr. Ronald F. Borne, director of the program and chairman of the Department of Medicinal Chemistry. "During the 10-week program, the students will use as many techniques and instruments as possible in order to foster individual competence."

As part of the program, faculty members present seminars to teach research techniques used frequently in the biological and pharmaceutical sciences. Each student will present a formal seminar on the results of his or her summer research project at the conclusion of the program.

In addition to Miss Denson, students selected for participation in the program include Rebecca L. Breedlove of Pine Bluff,

More than 100 students have conducted research at Ole Miss since 1964, when the pharmacy school first received support from the National Science Foundation. NSF grants were presented every year from 1967-1971 and again in 1973, 1979 and 1980. The School of Pharmacy used local funds to support programs in 1966 and 1972.

Transportation And Education Are Keys

Saying that the right bait is required to lure industries to Mississippi, Gov. William Winter this week called education and transportation "key components of our efforts to expand job opportunities for our people."

"There is a lot of competition for industries today and if we are going to get our share, we must improve our educational system and provide an adequate transportation system," Winter said. "For this reason I have hammered away at these issues before the Legislature."

Winter noted that Mississippi is now viewed by most industrialists as an attractive place to locate and to expand industries. "But we still have areas where improvement is desperately needed," the governor said.

"Without exception, industrialists ask me about our educational system and our capacity to provide the skilled and trained people that industry needs as well as our ability to provide high caliber schools for the children of industry employees," the governor said. "There is a perception that we still do not have as good a system of education as we are capable of having," Winter said. "I am attempting to assure them that we are putting additional efforts into this process and that we are working to make Mississippi's educational system competitive with every other state."

"We have lost a number of industries because of concerns about our system of education. We must work boldly and rapidly to improve our system of education so that we do not labor under a handicap as we seek to bring high-paying jobs into Mississippi," he said.

How Alcohol Works In The Body

First in a series of articles on alcohol and alcohol abuse

FROM TIMBER HILLS
MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

As far back as historical records go, beverages containing alcohol have been made and used by people. Such beverages are part of the cultures of peoples throughout the world.

In fact, two-thirds (nearly 95 million) of the adult population in the United States do drink at least occasionally, while one-third do not drink at all.

What is alcohol? Alcohol, the major active ingredient in wine, beer, and distilled liquor, is a natural substance formed by the reaction of fermenting sugar with yeast spores. There are many alcohols, but the kind in alcoholic beverages is ethyl alcohol—a colorless, inflammable liquid with an intoxicating effect.

Ethyl alcohol is a drug which can produce feelings of well-being, sedation, intoxication, or unconsciousness—depending on the amount and the manner in which it is drunk. Technically, it can also be classified as a food, since it contains calories; however, it has no nutritional value.

Each fluid ounce of 100 percent alcohol contains about 200 calories. About the same alcoholic content, one-half ounce of pure alcohol, is found in: a 12-ounce can of beer, a 5-ounce glass of dinner wine, and a cocktail containing 11 ounces of 86-proof liquor ("proof" is double the percent of alcohol).

Unlike other "food," alcohol does not have to be digested. When you drink an alcoholic beverage, 20 percent of the alcohol in it is normally absorbed immediately into the blood stream through the stomach walls. The other 80 percent of the alcohol enters the blood stream almost as fast after being quickly processed through the gastrointestinal tract. After it is consumed, alcohol eventually can be found in all tissues, organs, and secretions of the body. The alcohol immediately acts on the brain's central control areas to slow down or depress brain activity.

A low level of alcohol in the blood, such as would result from sipping one drink—for example, a 12-ounce can of beer—has a mild tranquilizing effect on most people. Although basically a sedative, alcohol seems to act temporarily as a stimulant for many after they first start drinking. This is due to the fact that alcohol's initial effects are on those parts of the brain affecting learned behavior patterns such as self-control. After a drink or two, this learned behavior may be altered, making you lose your inhibitions, talk more freely, or feel like the "life of the party." On the other hand, you may feel aggressive or depressed.

Higher blood alcohol levels depress brain activity to the point that memory, as well as muscle coordination and balance, may be temporarily impaired. Still larger alcohol intake within a relatively short period of time depresses deeper parts of the brain, severely affecting judgment and dulling the senses.

If steady heavy drinking continues, the alcohol anesthetizes the deepest levels of the brain and can cause coma or death by depressing heart functions and breathing.

Donna Vaughn is looking for hand-me-downs.

No, she is not destitute. She is not even just trying to save money during an economically depressed time.

She is looking for classic examples of clothing from different decades to go into a permanent display of fashion history being developed in the Fashion Merchandising Department at Northeast Junior College.

Mrs. Vaughn, a teacher in the Fashion Merchandising Department, says she got the idea for the historical costume collection from a trip last year to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

She teaches fashion history in one of her classes and says she thought the display would be helpful to her students.

"It's good to be able to show a slide and tell the students about a garment," she said, "but it's even better to be able to let them see it first hand."

The display will also be a year-round public demonstration on the effect and influence fashion has had on the nation's socio-economic history.

The department has received a $2,000 grant to be used in building glass and wood display cases to house the donated garments. The display will be located in the Fashion and Merchandising Department on the first floor of the William L. Waller building at Northeast.

Mrs. Vaughn already has about 25 pieces for the display—including a late 19th century sidesaddle riding skirt, a pair of 1885 shoes, a 1923 wedding purse, a 1923 wedding gown, and a 1904 silk baby's bonnet—but she is seeking donations of other items for the collection.

"I know many people would not like to give up something like this that has been in their family, so, if they like, they can just loan it to us," she said.

Mrs. Vaughn's students will be responsible for cataloging and researching each piece of wearing apparel donated to the collection. The clothes will be cataloged by date, who wore it, a description, the garment's history, and who owns it or who donated it.

The Northeast teacher hopes to gather at least 150 articles for the collection, and, since the collection will be permanent, hopes to add to it as years go by.

Anyone interested in donating something to the collection, should contact Mrs. Vaughn at 728-7751, ext. 220, or write NEMJC, P.O. Box 1784, Booneville.

Mrs. Vaughn said she will be glad to come pick up any donations, or they may be brought to the campus.

COSTUME COLLECTION—Mrs. Donna Vaughn displays some of the old clothes she plans to include in a historical costume collection in the Fashion and Merchandising Department at Northeast Junior College. The "morning coat" (left), a forerunner of today's housecoat, is circa 1920. The shoes at right front date to 1885.

Pratt Named Cable Head

Heritage Communications Inc., owners of the Booneville Video Company, has announced the appointment of William E. (Skip) Pratt as the new general manager for the company's Mississippi cable television systems.

Pratt, a native Mississippian, holds a bachelor of science degree in industrial management from Mississippi State University. He will begin his management responsibilities with Heritage on July 20 and will work out of the Booneville office.

Prior to joining Heritage, Pratt was manager of several Teleprompter Corporation Cable TV systems in the suburbs of St. Louis. He also served as franchise coordinator for Teleprompter Corporation in the St. Louis suburbs and later managed the first active 54 channel 400 MHz system in the St. Louis area.

Before joining Teleprompter, Pratt was area director of corporate development for Siammons Communications where he was responsible for the complete development of cable television franchising throughout 91 municipalities of the St. Louis County area.

Pratt retired from the U.S. Army in 1979 with the rank of Major. In the military, he served as a Senior Electronics Communications Officer and a Training Development Staff Officer. His military command included the operation of large military telecommunications centers both in the United States and foreign countries. He was also responsible for the development and publication of a variety of military communication electronics training manuals.

Heritage Communications Inc. is the 20th largest cable television multiple system operator in the United States. The company has over 200,000 cable TV subscribers, with 16,000 customers located in 19 Mississippi communities.

State Farm To Start New Rates

State Farm Mutual will start using a new rating plan Aug. 1 that may cut insurance premiums for some Mississippi customers.

The plan provides a discount for accident-free policies and should reduce State Farm's premiums in Mississippi by 3.2 percent, or $1.8 million a year, according to Manfred Saylor, local agent.

To qualify for the new discount, a policy must be in force for three continuous years without a chargeable accident.

Policies with three to six accident-free years will get a 5 percent reduction on liability, medical payments, and collision premiums. Those with six or more accident-free years will get a 10 percent reduction.

Policy holders who already qualify for the discount will get it on their next renewal, Saylor said.

"The discount is a reward for responsible driving," he said.

Wal-Mart To Acquire Kuhn's

Wal-Mart Stores Inc. and Kuhn's Big-K Stores Corp. jointly announced recently that a definitive agreement has been reached for Wal-Mart to acquire all of the 2,581,595 shares of Kuhn's common stock for Wal-Mart preferred stock.

The transaction is subject to various contingencies, including approval of Kuhn's shareholders, SEC registration of Wal-Mart's stock, filing with the Federal Trade Commission and receipt of tax and other opinions.

Sam M. Walton, chairman and founder of the Wal-Mart company, said the acquisition afforded Wal-Mart an unusual opportunity to expand into marketing areas adjoining their present stores and in communities very similar to those now served.

"Their store locations are good and they have many capable people...Combining these ingredients with our program...will be exciting and productive," Walton said.

Wal-Mart operates 350 discount department stores in the Southwest and its stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Kuhn's operates 104 variety and discount stores in the Southeast and its stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

IRS Agents Must Show Proper Identification

There have been recent incidents reported of persons being contacted by individuals impersonating Internal Revenue Service officials, according to IRS officials in Jackson.

"Whenever someone approaches you saying he or she is an employee of the Internal Revenue Service, it is not only your right, but also very much in your best interest to ask to see IRS credentials," an IRS spokesman said. All IRS employees who contact he public carry distinctive identification. As a matter of routine, these persons are required to identify themselves when conducting official business.

"If you have doubts about the authority of the individual even after seeing some form of identification, contact the nearest IRS office," the spokesman said.

Yarbrough Selected To Who's Who

Geraldine Yarbrough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Yarbrough of Booneville, has been selected to appear in the 1981 edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

She graduated from Wheeler High School this year and plans to attend Northeast Junior College, majoring in nursing.

herbicide treatments. For over-the-top sprays, use herbicides with the least potential for crop injury.

Be particularly careful to see that young soybeans aren't slowed by herbicide injury, or any other reason for that matter. Don't apply 2,4-DB over the top except in special, salvage situations where older soybeans are covered with cocklebur.

Where soybeans are more than eight inches tall and weeds in the row can be covered with herbicide spray, directed sprays of 2,4-DB, Lorox, Sencor, Lexone or Paraquat are highly effective as mid to late season treatments. But again, don't apply these materials over the top.

Be sure to observe labels for uses, rates and precautions for all herbicides you use. For more information on controlling weeds in soybeans, contact the county Extension office.

Stop Cotton Insects

Insects probably are cotton producers biggest production problem in July. In terms of insect control, there is no room for error.

The correct procedure is to know the insects, their levels, and stage of crop development for each field. Apply recommended control measures when needed.

Soybean Leaf Loss

Depending on stage of growth, soybeans can tolerate varying amounts of leaf loss from insect damage without yield reductions. Through blooming, soybeans can withstand 35 percent defoliation; pod-set and pod-filling, 20 percent; and after pod-fill, 35 percent.

Four or more foliage feeding worms one-half inch long or longer per foot of row are enough to cause 20 percent defoliation. For 35 percent defoliation, eight worms are needed.

Apply insecticides when worm populations are at or above the number required to cause leaf loss at the described levels for each stage of plant growth. Also treat if these defoliation levels already have occurred and larvae are present.

Soybeans plants do not add new leaves once fruiting begins. So if plants are near the fruiting stage, don't allow more foliage to be removed than will bring total defoliation on down to 20 percent during pod-set and pod-filling.

Field Days

Field days to observe experimental work will be held at Holly Springs on July 22 starting at 10 a.m. and at the Verona Station on Sept. 3. Verona station will be on soybean production alone.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

By Tom F. Rayburn

'Suicide'

It is tragic that suicide is on the rise; especially among young people and teenagers. It is said that an average of 70 people a day kill themselves in the United States. Throughout the world the number of known suicides is 1000 per day. The number of attempted suicides is 10 times greater than the number of those who succeed.

A preacher tells the following story.
A woman staying in a downtown Atlanta hotel had met one misfortune after another in her life.

She was so depressed that she thought seriously of suicide. Suddenly something impelled her to go to church as a last effort to find a ray of light through her despair.

When she reached the church, the door was closed. A notice stated that the usual evening service has been discontinued. She shot herself there in front of the church. The bullet remains embedded in the front door.

A tragic lesson. Today, Sunday evening services at that church bring inspiration to hundreds. And no one hungry for light from God's Word finds the doors closed.
"I was glad when they said to me, Let us go to the house of the Lord." Psalm 122:1 NAS "Come, let us go up..to the house of God..that He may teach us concerning His ways, and that we may walk in His paths." Isaiah 2:3 NAS
