For Conviction In Break-Ins

Sheriff Offers Reward

Prentiss County John McCauley wants a solution to the number of break-ins occurring in the county lately—so much so that he is offering a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone in Prentiss County who has committed grand larceny.

"I've done every damn thing else I know to do and it hasn't helped. I thought maybe that might," Sheriff McCauley said Monday.

Thus far during the month of December there have been 16 thefts reported to the sheriff's department.

The sheriff said some interested citizens have offered to contribute money for the reward, but if he can't raise all the money he says he will pay it out of his own pocket.

Thus far not a penny of the money has not been raised, he said, and will not be until information supplied to the sheriff's department leads to the arrest and conviction of someone responsible for the break-ins.

The sheriff's department cannot afford to pay for rumors, therefore the information must lead to both the arrest and conviction, he said.

Sheriff McCauley stressed the fact that information told to the sheriff's department "will be kept completely confidential."

After 3 Years

Local Escapee Captured

A Prentiss County man who escaped from the county jail three years ago was arrested in Zion, Ill., Monday.

James Harold Butler, 23, who was convicted of burglary of a dwelling, grand larceny, and kidnapping, was apprehended by Detective Ray Nichols of the Zion Police Department. Detective Nichols is formerly of New Site, Prentiss County Sheriff's Deputy Carl Sartin said Tuesday. Sartin said the state penitentiary is making arrangements to transport Butler to Parchman where he will remain.

"The reason it took so long to capture Butler was because he was using an alias name and also trying to disguise himself and it has been hard to locate him," Sartin said.

Butler escaped twice from the county jail, Sartin said.

In his first escape in November 1977, Butler and another prisoner, James Earl Holland, forced a jail door open and escaped, later forcing their way into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie

Legislature Must Approve

Highway Priorities Established

The state Highway Commission this week approved for submission to the state Legislature a three-year highway construction and maintenance plan.

The highway reform act passed by the Legislature earlier this year requires the Highway Department to construct roads on the basis of need as established by traffic count, traffic safety and economic criteria.

In the schedule approved Tuesday, construction projects in Northeast Mississippi were at the top of the priority lists for all three years. However, no construction projects are listed for Prentiss County during the first year, 1983, and only the purchase of rights of way in Prentiss County in 1984.

Top construction priority in the schedule for 1983 is given to four-lane paving of 5.8 miles of U.S. 72 in Tishomingo County at an estimated cost of $5 million. The only U.S. 45 project listed for that year is $1 million for acquiring eight miles of right of way in Lee County from Saltillo to High-

MSU Survey Shows

Industrial Development, Education Trouble State

A recent statewide survey by the political science department at Mississippi State University indicates that Mississippians feel the major problems facing the state are industrial development factors and inadequate education.

The telephone poll of more than 600 scientifically selected, adult residents found that a majority strongly supports state spending as the best way to deal with these and other problems.

"When asked what the most important problem facing the state was, the most frequent response—19 percent—was unemployment," said survey director Stephen D. Shaffer. "The second most prominent problem mentioned by 11 percent of the respondents was the need to improve the educational system in the state, with some specifying that teacher salaries and training be upgraded."

The survey found that 7 percent felt low paying jobs were the main problem, while 6 percent mentioned inflation—a national problem which appears to be less important to residents in the low-income state of Mississippi than is unemployment.

Shaffer said industrial growth and economic development were specifically mentioned by 6 percent of the sample, though other responses, such as low salaries, were clearly aspects of this problem. A number of other problems like nuclear waste, crime, and racism were each mentioned by less than 3 percent of the population.

"Mississippians are strongly supportive of government spending to deal with these and other problems facing the state," Shaffer said. "When cautioned that all government spending requires the paying of taxes and asked whether state and local governments should be spending more, less, or about the same on 10 listed programs, clear majorities supported spending in six areas."

He said 72 percent said more should be spent on promoting industrial development, 70 percent on improving public grade schools and high schools, 61 percent on streets and highways, 60 percent on public colleges and universities, 58 percent on police forces, and 57 percent on health care and hospitals.

The least popular programs were improving prisons, 37 percent; protecting the environment, 39 percent; helping the poor, 48 percent; and encouraging tourism, 49 percent.

"Very few Mississippians felt that less should be spent on any program, with the highest percentage being 26 percent for the most unpopular program—prisons," Shaffer said.

He said support for increasing state spending "exists among people of all educational and income levels, ages, sexes, partisanships and ideological preferences, and geographic locations."

"There is some tendency for blacks, low-income people, and self-identified liberals to be especially supportive of spending increases, and for those who have lived in the state less than 10 years to be less supportive," he said. "These tendencies are most noticeable on spending for poverty, health, and environmental programs."

Government spending does depend on tax revenue, however, and Mississippians are more divided on the question of raising taxes. Those polled were asked whether each of seven listed taxes should be increased, decreased, or remain unchanged.

Looking Back

TAKEN FROM THE BOONEVILLE INDEPENDENT DECEMBER 19, 1930

A Relic

"Quite an interesting relic of by-gone times was brought to the Independent office this week by Henry Smart of Jumptown. It was a little home-made axe or tack-hammer that was made in the shop by his great-grandfather, Willis Green, nearly 100 years ago. Mr. Green was one of the first settlers of this section of the county, having located on the farm still known as The Sugar Orchard, on Dry Creek. Henry says the little axe passed on down the line."

Weather

"The extremely disagreeable weather has been hard on business generally this week. Cold, rain, snow and a general mixture. The first real snow of the season fell Tuesday and Tuesday night to an average depth of about two inches."

All-Star Queen

"Anita Gemo of Jumptown, a student at Northeast Mississippi Junior College, was selected to reign as queen of the West team during the East-West All-Star Junior College football game in Jackson last week. Dot Caver and Betty Hall, both of NEMJC, served on Anita's court and all the girls took part in the parade through Jackson in the afternoon. Jerry King of NEMJC played in the game."

Goodfellows Collect $1400

"Prentiss County's needy citizens will not go hungry this Christmas season. They'll be fed and happy because of the generosity of their fellow Prentiss County residents. "Tuesday night at the American Legion building, the Goodfellows raised approximately $1,400 for the Christmas basket fund and Wednesday afternoon contributions were still trickling in."

Census Figures Confirmed

"Mayor Charles Crabb said this week that he has received written confirmation from the Regional Census Center in Dallas that the city's population count has been revised to 6,142.

"A report from the center earlier this month indicated that the city's population had fallen from the 1970 figure of 5,895 to 5,600 in 1980. A phone call from Mayor Crabb to John Reader at the center in Dallas prompted an investigation and an error was discovered."

Makers Of Hospital Supplies

City Of Baldwyn Gets New Manufacturing Industry

BALDWYN - The old Sands Furniture building on Highway 45 North in Baldwyn has been sold to an out of state company to be used in the manufacture of hospital and nursing home supplies.

The announcement that the Bio Clinic Company had purchased the building was made last week by Baldwyn Mayor Merle Rowan and the Baldwyn board of aldermen, along with Harry Martin, executive vice-president of the Community Development Foundation.

"We are certainly proud to have Bio Clinic locate in Baldwyn and feel they will be an asset to our community," Mayor Rowan said.

The company plans to employ up to 100 people at the Baldwyn plant and has plans of beginning production in the first quarter of 1982. Equipment is already being moved into the plant and job interviews have begun.

Al Williams, president of Bio Clinic, and his staff worked with the Community Development Foundation, Mayor Rowan, the Baldwyn aldermen, and other local leaders for several weeks in working out final arrangements for the location of the plant in the 82,686 square foot Sands building.

the Northeast Mississippi family," he said.

Bio Clinic presently has manufacturing operations in California and Pennsylvania.

"Mississippians are most willing to increase the cigarette and alcoholic beverage tax," Shaffer said. "That position was taken by 57 percent."

He said more would prefer to increase rather than decrease the severance tax on oil and natural gas and the corporate income tax, with 36 percent desiring to increase the former and 26 percent to increase the latter. A plurality either feels that they should remain unchanged or they expressed no opinions.

"A majority of Mississippians feel that the sales, state income, and property taxes should remain the same, with less than 15 percent supporting increases," he said.

"The gasoline tax is clearly the most unpopular tax in the state, with 64 percent supporting a decrease—the only tax that a majority of the populace wishes to decrease," Shaffer added.

He said many of the survey's findings may appear to contradict the traditional notion that Mississippians are "very conservative and resistant to government initiatives." There is, however, another dimension to public attitudes.

"Many conservatives are not opposed to government spending for domestic programs per se, but feel that these programs should be funded and operated by state and local governments," Shaffer said.

"Mississippians seem to conform to this pattern since, by a 2-to-1 margin, they favor decreasing federal spending on health, education and welfare—but a majority of 57 percent supported increases in state and local spending in these general terms. Only 9 percent favored decreases."

Mississippians also supported two specific programs that many argue would improve education in the state. Sixty-one percent support the creation of public kindergartens financed by the state, with only 26 percent opposed. Strong support exists among all demographic groups, with the highest support provided by blacks, those under 30 years of age, poor people, females, and Democrat.

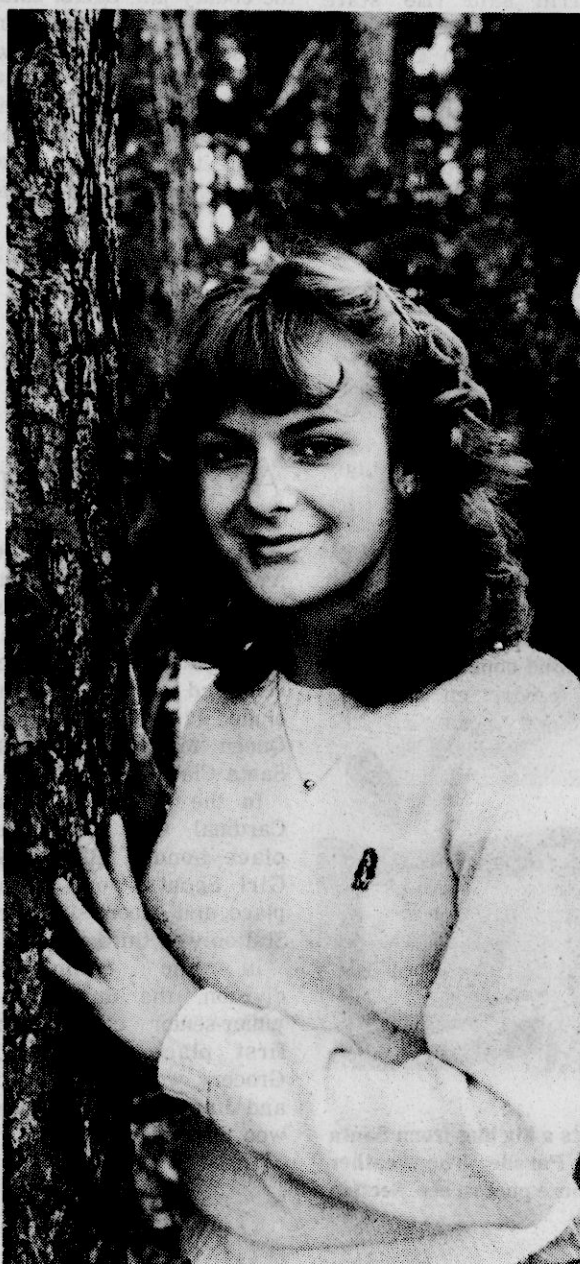

The survey found 91 percent of the populace supports a compulsory school attendance law, with all groups equally supportive of such a requirement.

A final question in the survey asked whether the Legislature should raise taxes or cut services if the state faces a financial crisis in 1982.

"Mississippians divided very evenly across the spectrum, with 22 percent strongly supporting increased taxes, 20 percent somewhat supporting more taxes, 19 percent supporting a little of both or having no opinion, 15 percent somewhat supportive of cutting services, and 24 percent strongly calling for cuts in services," he said.

The survey included interviews with 616 Mississippi residents between Oct. 19 and Nov. 19.

Addressing over 60 area leaders at the December CDF Board of Directors meeting, Bio Clinic's president lavished praise on the Tupelo and Baldwyn leaders who were instrumental in helping the plant locate in Baldwyn.

"In the many places we searched for a plant site, we received a lot of help, but none was as thorough and as receptive as this area," Williams said. "Not only do you have a new member of the industrial community, but you also have a true believer in this area's tremendous economic potential."

Sheriff

One of the big problems faced by the sheriff's department is in not knowing where the stolen merchandise is going, he said.

"They have to have a place to sell this stuff—if they didn't they wouldn't steal it. A man can't shoot 100 guns. In other words, if people weren't buying stolen merchandise there wouldn't be so many break-ins," Sheriff McCauley said.

The sheriff said he does not know if people will furnish the sheriff's department information concerning break-ins or not. "I'm just hoping something will work. They say 'money talks,' so I'm going to see if it does," he said.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. JIM DAVIS

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK

The public's traditional perception of the doctor of chiropractic as one occupied solely with adjustments to the spine has changed as the profession has moved into the front lines of more complete health care.

To be sure, we still rely on spinal manipulation to restore nerve supply throughout the body and to eliminate the cause of many diseases. It is a rational, effective approach to healing. Hippocrates recognized this in 400 B.C., when he advised medical students to "look well to the spine for the cause of disease," and described manipulative techniques to alleviate them.

In today's practice, chiropractic doctors may employ such approaches as heat therapy, meditation, biofeedback, nutritional counseling and other lifestyle matters.

The chiropractor often becomes a family health practitioner involved in primary care, referring patients to specialists when required.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, do you believe in the providence of God?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: I most certainly do believe in the providence of God. However, there is wide spread misunderstanding of this subject. One must remember that providence is not revelation. Revelation has already been completed, because we have the will of God (2 Tim. 3:16,17). By providence one must understand that this is not revelation, or that God is not speaking to a person. Providence is not miraculous. Miracles demand the suspension of natural laws but providence does not. Actually, providence uses natural laws. Miracles were used to confirm the word and that word has already been confirmed (Mk. 16:20; Heb. 2:3,4). Another thing, one must understand that providence is not predestination. God does not cancel the free agency of man in working out his will. Man is confronted with many choices and these choices determine his salvation, "And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely." (Rev. 22:17). One cannot always understand how the providence of God works. For example, Paul said in Philemon 15, "For perhaps he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldst receive him forever." Thus Paul, did not claim to know all about the providence of God with reference to a run-a-way slave, Onesimus. Christians believe in the providence of God but only God knows HOW that providence works. We must be careful not to speculate.

Local Girls Learn To Become 'Hobbits'

What is a hobbit? A hobbit is a small, fictitious, furry creature that is not overly disposed to partaking in "adventures." These creatures were created by the literary mind of the late J.R.R. Tolkien in a trilogy of books called "The Lord of the Rings."

Furry-toed hobbits, as well as elves, goblins, dwarfs, trolls, giant spiders, a dragon, and a wizard, will come to life this weekend during Corinth Theatre Arts' production of the stage version of Tolkien's "The Hobbit."

Two Booneville girls, Angela Burcham and Stacey Pollard, both 11-years-old, will be among the 55-member "hobbit" cast of the children's theatre production.

Angela, the daughter of Benny L. and Beverly Burcham, will play the part of a "hobbit" auctioneer.

Stacey, daughter of Dwayne and Betty Pollard, will play the "hobbit" character of Mrs. Sackville-Baggins, mother-in-law of Bilbo Baggins. Bilbo, the lead character in the play, is a hobbit who breaks the tradition and sets off on an "adventure."

HOBBITS ARE CREATURES a bit smaller than dwarfs, the two Booneville girls said. They described their costumes as "hairy" since the hobbits are furry creatures.

Both girls will sing during the musical. Songs included in the musical will be "Dwarfs Marching Song," "Mirkwood," "Fare Thee Well," "Close Your Eyes," and "Spinning And Weaving."

"Hobbit" cast members range in age from 4-17 years-old. Stacey and Angela are the only cast members from Prentiss County.

"The kids have been wonderful to work with," said Ramond Burgin, CTA director. "They've really chipped in and given it everything they've got. Discipline has been beautiful and the whole cast has behaved very professionally."

"I'm particularly happy with both Stacey and Angela," Burgin said. "They are both talented girls and they are doing very nice work."

The play opens Friday, Dec. 18, at 7 p.m. Other performances will be Saturday, Dec. 19, at 7 p.m., with 2 p.m. matinees both Saturday and Sunday.

Tickets will be $4 for adults and $3 for children and students.

Burgin suggested that those planning to attend call the Corinth Theatre Arts' box office at 287-2995 to make reservations. The box office will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. every day this week.

"HOBBIT" CAST MEMBERS - Angela Burcham (left) and Stacey Pollard, both students at Booneville Middle School, look over the script of "The Hobbit." Both girls have parts in the play which opens tomorrow night in Corinth.

Drug Conference Planned

Practically everyone talks about the growing drug problem in Mississippi, but few actually do anything about it. A newly formed, Jackson-based organization hopes to change that.

The organization, called DREAM (Drug Research and Education Association in Mississippi), is planning a statewide conference on juvenile drug abuse Jan. 14-16 in Jackson.

The three-day conference, labeled DREAM ONE by the organizers, is said to be the first of its kind in the state. Its purpose is "to inform the public concerning all facets of the drug culture and drug abuse," according to June M. Milam, public relations director for DREAM.

The conference will be held in the Jackson Municipal Auditorium and will be co-sponsored by DREAM, the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, the Junior League of Jackson, Sunburst Productions, the Mississippi Criminal Justice Planning Commission and the Mississippi Department of Mental Health, Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

The conference will feature leading experts in the fields of drug abuse and enforcement, celebrity speakers and young people who have actually been involved in the drug scene.

A spokesman for DREAM, said the organization hopes that at least one or two persons from each county in the state can attend and return to their home counties to spread the information they have learned.

"We will be focusing on every angle of the drug problem among our young people," Milam said. "Our energies are directed toward motivating key leaders in Mississippi and surrounding states to return to their communities and form private sector groups to man Mississippi's war on drugs."

Tickets for the conference are $25, which includes the two-day conference and the workshops, but does not include room and board for the three days. Tickets for the Saturday workshops only are $5.

For information and reservations to DREAM ONE, contact the Drug Research and Education Association in Mississippi Inc., Suite B, 1991 Lakeland Drive, Jackson, MS 39216, or phone 362-9329.

A brick home belonging to Vester Hargett of Route 1, Booneville, had already burned to the ground by the time Booneville firemen and the Thrasher Fire Department arrived on Dec. 9. Cause of the fire was unknown, firemen said.

Firemen responded to a grass fire at the residence of Quay Micheal on Ninth Street Dec. 9.

'Talk O' The Town'

Street Opinion Poll

QUESTION: Due to current economic conditions, do you plan to spend as much money for Christmas shopping this year?

RHONDA McCREARY off Route 6, Booneville: "Probably so. I'm in the habit of buying gifts at Christmas time and it's hard to break that habit."

DONNA McCOY of Route 2, Booneville: "No, I don't. I'm not going to spend as much money due to the economy. All my gifts this year will be useful. I'm not going to spend any unnecessary money. My charity begins at home this year."

POLLY STRANGE of Route 4, Booneville: "No, I don't. I think things are just higher and it doesn't seem like money goes far enough."

CURTIS RICKETTS of 108 Broad St., Booneville: "No. Definitely not, because of personal economic problems and if I was able to, I'd still take the economic conditions under consideration."

JIM SPENCER of Route 1, New Site: "No. I plan to be very conservative. Apparently it's going to be good for the rest of the country and Prentiss County if we become a little more tight with our money."

MARION ROBERTSON of Route 2, Booneville: "No. As high as things are? You can't. The President is taking all the money."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Reflections

By Ken Christian

Recent developments in our neighboring town to the north are disheartening - especially in this time of economic uncertainty.

On Wednesday morning of last week, approximately 150 picketers blocked the entrances of the Kimberly-Clark plant in Corinth, keeping from their jobs construction workers on a $55 million expansion project at the plant.

The picketers, mostly unemployed construction workers, calling themselves "concerned citizens," said they were trying to bring attention to the fact that JESCO Inc. of Fulton, the contractor for the expansion project, "is hiring out of town people to work when the people of Corinth are crying for jobs."

The picketers also complained that local politicians are responsible for lower wages paid employees at the Corinth Kimberly-Clark plant when compared with Kimberly-Clark plants in other sections of the country.

ONE OF THE picketers said Wednesday of last week that the group planned to stay at the plant entrances "as long as it takes to get our point across." And, sure enough, they spent the entire night, only to be greeted by some 13 Mississippi Highway Patrol units Thursday morning.

Alcorn County sheriff Edwin Coleman, anticipating possible violence, had requested the assistance of the patrolmen. Luckily, however, they were not needed.

The group of picketers voluntarily moved from the gravel drive of the construction entrance to an adjacent field when Sheriff Coleman promised them representatives from JESCO and Kimberly-Clark would meet with them. Coleman also warned the group of unemployed construction workers that possible arrests could come from the illegal picketing if the group continued to block construction entrances.

But the picketers were not to be intimidated. "Those construction workers are going to have a lot harder time coming out this afternoon than they had going in this morning if someone breaks their promise," one was quoted as saying Thursday.

BUT APPARENTLY THE promise was kept and an attorney for the picketers met with representatives and lawyers for JESCO Thursday afternoon at the Alcorn County courthouse. However, J.E. Staub, founder of JESCO Inc., had died that day and the meeting was brief. JESCO representatives agreed to meet again with the picketers this week.

In the meantime, at the request of JESCO Inc., Tupelo Chancellor George Adams had issued a temporary restraining order Thursday afternoon to halt any further blockades at Kimberly-Clark. The order was to remain in effect until Dec. 17.

WHILE AT THIS writing the outcome of the situation in Corinth is still in question, one thing seems certain: The actions taken by the unemployed construction workers in Corinth could have some long lasting consequences when future industries consider locating factories here.

Last week's picketers should ask themselves: Which would be better for the community as a whole, a plant built with out of town labor or no plant at all?

Remember, it was only last summer when the Gates Rubber Company decided to locate in Red Bay, Ala., a plant they had considered putting in Booneville. Could the actions that took place in Corinth last week be some of the "negative neighboring influences" Gates cited as the reason for not locating here?

Eyes On Mississippi

Country Lawyer Becoming Nationally Recognized

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - For a smalltown country lawyer from Yazoo City, Miss., Haley Barbour has some very influential friends in the White House who think he has the kind of political savvy that can help the Republican Party nationally.

Or, possibly, it should be said that Barbour has one special friend very high in the White House who believes the dirt road political know-how of the round Mississippi is what the GOP needs in the big picture. Barbour's friend happens to be James Baker III, the chief of staff for President Reagan, and one of the "Big Three" some national journalists say run the country.

Barbour, not yet turned 35, has been a behind-the-scenes political organizer and campaign entrepreneur for GOP politicians in Mississippi and around the South for the last 10 years or so. That's how he caught the attention and won the respect of Baker as an able practitioner of Political management.

Recently Barbour has either nearly gotten, or turned down, two of the top jobs in the national political spectrum after being boosted for them by Baker.

Back in October when Lynn Nofziger, the president's longtime political ally from California said he was going to step out as the White House adviser for political affairs in January, the name of Haley Barbour was floated in a national political column as a possible successor. That came as news to Barbour, who had heard nothing of it from any White House source. But, sure enough, a few days later, the telephone rang in Barbour's Yazoo City law office and it was Baker, wanting him to run up to Washington.

Baker wanted Barbour for the job, but in the end, the California "mafia" around the White House won out, and let Nofziger pick his own successor, another Californian, Ed Rollins.

But Baker had another major job in mind for Barbour right afterwards, the No. 2 spot in the Republican National Committee, the Deputy National Chairman job, which is considered the White House's man on the RNC. In that job, Barbour would have run the 1982 Congressional campaigns and would be the man who signed the checks around the RNC.

Barbour turned it down, even though it would have been a very prestigious spot for a Mississippi Republican, because he now is seriously considering trying his own political wings as a candidate for the first time. Barbour is thinking in terms of Sen. John Stennis' seat next year, an opportunity he apparently sees as a once in a lifetime chance for somebody like himself in view of Stennis' age and physical condition that is subject to change because of this near-fatal wounds eight years ago.

In 1978, Barbour had managed Charles Pickering's ill-fated Senatorial campaign against Thad Cochran, but after Pickering was eliminated, he was picked up quickly by the Cochran campaign and had a key role in routing the Democrats' standard-bearer, Maurice Dantin. Evidently Barbour showed some of his bare-knuckle style of political maneuvering that won him a reputation with the Democrats as the Mississippi GOP's resident dirty tricks specialist.

Several times Barbour has ridden off on the wrong political horse, only to wind up on the winning side, as in the Pickering-Cochran contest in 1978. After being for Ronald Reagan prior to the 1976 presidential nomination, Barbour wound up as Gerald Ford's campaign coordinator in seven Southeastern states, the spot where he met Baker when the Texan took over Ford's campaign after the shakeup that dumped Rogers Morton.

Baker wanted Barbour to come aboard with him in 1980 in the presidential campaign of George Bush, but instead, Barbour rode off in the sunset with John Connally as Connally's top man in the South. He managed to get back into the Reagan campaign in the fall, but the Reagan hard-liners like Billy Mounser, still smarting over Barbour's role in preserving Mike Retzer and Clarke Reed in their positions of leadership in the state party, kept him out of forefront of the campaign.

Even now, as Barbour starts to warmup as a possible GOP Senate candidate next year, he evidently won't get much encouragement from the anti-Retzer, anti-Reed faction in the party.

Even though he has been around practically every campaign put on the GOP the past 10 years, Barbour is not well-known, and he would even have trouble beating State Highway Commissioner Bobby Richardson, who jumped to the Republican Party a couple of months ago, in a statewide GOP Senatorial primary.

However, Barbour has already developed that confidence which comes with first making up your mind to be a candidate, and projecting yourself as the ultimate winner. To prove it, Barbour has been out jogging and has already lost 25 pounds.

Looks A Lot Like Christmas

Christmas time is definitely here because car loads of people are driving through Foster Park to watch Santa Claus go down a chimney on top of R.B. Prichard's house. It takes Mr. Prichard 3-4 days to get his Santa Claus (going down the chimney) hooked up and quite a bit of work to keep it going, he said.

And since it is such a job to keep the Santa running, he said he only puts it up every other year.

He began putting his Santa on top of his home about 35 years ago.

"I just started off making Santa Claus go down a chimney. Then I added the sled for him to get out of and then a few years later I added four running reindeer. Every year or two I'd just add something new," Mr. Prichard said.

He built this himself-without a pattern.

"I have to work on him quite a bit because I made him out of cotton planter parts, washing machine parts, lawnmower parts, and bicycle parts. You might say it's just made out of a bunch of junk," he said.

The expense of running the scene is not too bad, he said. "Of course, all the lights and everything mounts up to a little bit and it is a big job. But it's worth it because the people seem to enjoy it," Mr. Prichard said.

Thanks to Mr. Prichard and his hard work on his Santa Claus-this Christmas is already a merry one for the people who drive by his house.

Enough Lights

After seeing so many Christmas trees covered in lights this weekend, I decided my Christmas tree could use one more strand of lights...even though it meant I would have to remove some of the decorations to get the lights on the tree.

A smart shopper would have waited to purchase lights during the after Christmas sale, but I didn't want to wait until next year to have my tree covered in lights.

So I purchased a 25-bulb light set. After arriving home, I discovered all the bulbs had to be placed in the sockets.

It only took me half an hour to place the bulbs in the sockets. Most of that time was spent untangling the wires...and I only crushed one bulb!

After I removed about half the decorations from the tree I ever so carefully placed the new set of lights on the tree. Then I plugged in the lights. Then all the new lights shot.

Then I read the directions and I discovered if the lights shot it meant there was a "severe electrical overload." Meaning I'm stuck with 25 lights that have to have a new fuse before they will work.

Luckily there are people who can figure out how to arrange all their Christmas lights without having such problems.

This weekend I saw some more homes beautifully decorated for Christmas.

For those who enjoy looking at Christmas lights, I suggest driving down Meadow Creek Road, East Hatchie Street, Fifth Street, Westwood Drive, and of course through Foster Park.

And more decorations will probably be put up this weekend. (But not on my tree!)

Thought for the week: "What More Can you Ask" God's love endureth forever —

What a wonderful thing to know

When the tides of life run against you

And your spirit is down-cast and low...

God's kindness is ever around you,

Always ready to freely impart

Strength to your faltering spirit,

Cheer to your lonely heart...

God's presence is ever beside you,

As near as the reach of your hand,

You have but to tell him your troubles,

There is nothing He won't understand...

And knowing God's love is unfailing,

And His mercy unending and great,

You have but to trust in His promise—

"God comes not too soon or too late"...

So wait with a heart that is patient

For the goodness of God to prevail—

For never do prayers go unanswered,

And His mercy and love never fail—

Mrs. Cartwright Hosts Woman's Club Meeting

Twenty-eight members of the Booneville Woman's Club journeyed to the Chris-Cliff Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill T. Cartwright on Osborne Creek Road, for their annual Christmas program at 3 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 10. Mrs. J. Curlee Ross, president, presided.

Serving as hostesses with Mrs. Cartwright were Mrs. Johnny W. Brown, Mrs. Carroll W. Yarber and Mrs. La Beaume Peeler.

A large Della Robbia wreath hung at the entrance where Mrs. Cartwright greeted the guests and pinned a cotton ball corsage tied with green satin ribbon on each of the club's officers and the director of the program, Mrs. Richard Coggin.

A nativity scene, myriad glowing candles and poinsettias created a warm welcome in the reception area.

Refreshments featuring a red and green salad and miniature Christmas wreath mints were served by Mrs. Yarber and Mrs. Brown from a round table covered with a floor length gold satin cloth overlaid with gold net ornated with sequins. Mrs.

Peeler poured coffee and spiced tea at this table.

The program was held in the den where the members enjoyed a wood fire and the large family Christmas tree which had been obtained from the Chris-Cliff farm and was decorated with hand made ornaments.

Mrs. Coggin introduced Doug Holland, director of Christian Education at the First United Methodist Church, who presented a Christmas musical program. He sang a medley of songs including "Winter Wonderland," "Rudolph the Red-nose Reindeer," "Santa Claus is Coming to Town," "Tomorrow," and "O Holy Night." He concluded the program by leading the members in sing-a-long of Christmas carols.

As a service project for the month, the members made a monetary contribution to be sent to the Club's Golden Age Friend in a senior citizen's home in Jackson.

At PTO Meeting

Playground Safety
Named No. 1 Priority

The Parent-Teacher Organization of the Booneville Elementary School met Tuesday, Dec. 8, in the school auditorium.

After the meeting was called to order by the president, Bill Murphy, and the invocation was given by Fred Shearon, 38 third grade students sang a selection of Christmas songs.

After the entertainment, the business meeting was called to order.

Murphy reported that the total proceeds prior to expenses for the Halloween insurance and carnival was $4,097.31. The balance in the PTO account as of Dec. 18 was reported at $3,900.

In appreciation of their continued dedication and service, John Morrow, vice-president of the PTO, presented poinsettias to the teachers and gifts to principal Lee Stewart and the janitor.

Murphy also reported on some of the projects to be undertaken by the PTO. A water fountain is to be purchased and playground equipment is to be reworked. Safety swing seats have been ordered to replace wooden and plastic seats which have proven dangerous.

Asked to give priorities regarding projects for the PTO, Stewart said he considered the number one priority to be to make the playground safe. In keeping with this plan, he was asked to serve as chairman of a Playground Committee with other members of the committee to be named by him.

Dr. Robert Griffin, superintendent of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District, was present and addressed the group. He expressed his appreciation for the support and cooperation of the parents and teachers and thanked everyone for the warm welcome given him and his family upon their move to Booneville.

Griffin reported on the efforts of the faculty with the AIM program and indicated that he felt this program would strengthen the curriculum and help the total educational program.

Some of the goals Griffin cited for the separate school district include: a reading enrichment program, in-service in career education, metric education and a district testing program.

The Booneville Elementary School PTO will meet twice more this school year -- on March 9 and on May 11. The first and second grades will present programs at these meetings.

All parents are urged to become active in the PTO, a spokesman for the organization said. Dues are $1 annually and can be paid to Junior Roper at the First Bank in Booneville.

TWELVE WAYS TO SPEED DINNER
PREPARATION

Be a weekend cook. Cook dishes to reheat in the microwave or conventional oven or a saucepan during the week. Make a molded fruit salad to have handy in the refrigerator. Bake a batch of cookies for a speedy dessert with fresh fruit or ice cream. Cook a frozen 2 pound turkey with gravy in the pan and store it in the refrigerator for sandwiches, meaty salads, skillet and casserole dishes.

Prepare double recipes. Serve one and freeze the rest for reheating. Peperoni spaghetti sauce, franks in baked beans or macaroni and cheese are examples.

When shredding and dicing cheese and onion, prepare a quantity. Store in covered containers in the refrigerator or freezer for future use. Saves time and dishwashing.

Plan ahead and shop for food just once a week. Make a shopping list and stick to it unless you find a bargain. Saves shopping time, food budget and fuel.

Keep a canned ham in the refrigerator for emergency occasions such as when unexpected guests drop by at mealtime.

Keep packages of brown 'n serve sausage, bacon, and franks in the freezer for quick meals. For maximum quality, use these convenience meats with 2 months. Move them from freezer to refrigerator the night before you plan to use them.

A puffy omelet filled with ham and cheese or brown 'n serve sausage makes a quick, tasty meal that's nutritious, too.

Fruit and cheese make a quick, satisfying dessert. On occasion, a special piece of candy serves as the surprise ending to a meal.

Miniature pizzas made with toasted English muf-

Rep. McCoy Is Honored

Camp 60 of the Woodmen of the World Insurance Company honored state representative Billy McCoy at the annual WOW Christmas Party Saturday, Dec. 5, at the Booneville West Side Community Center.

The Conservation Award is given on an annual basis by WOW to an individual the organization feels is deserving of recognition for dedication to the overall soil, water and wildlife conservation of Prentiss

County. "Billy was given the award because he has been instrumental in the development and on-going construction of a waterfowl refuge on the John Bell Williams Game Management Area, located partially in southeast Prentiss County," said Charles Calvert, an officer of WOW Lodge 60.

McCoy is a member of the Prentiss County Soil and Water Conservation District, Ducks Unlimited, and is active in other conservation efforts throughout the area and state.

We welcome Larry Miller back to town for a short stay to pick his family and move to Dallas, Texas. We just pray God's blessing on them as they travel the dangerous highways.

Funeral services were Sunday for Alfred Pierce at the Beckley Chapel C.M.E. Church. We extend our sympathy to his family. A sudden death tends to be worse than when someone dies who has been sick - we find it hard to accept. We ask his friends and loved ones to continue to pray for the family.

We would like to wish Ryan Hasting, Diane Hastings, Rogenia Williams, and Katina Edmonds happy birthdays and pray God's blessings upon them.

We also extend our prayers to the family of Freddie Sullivan. We just want to let them know we are praying for the. Remember, the Lord will carry you through.

Mrs. Mildred Rogers and Dolittle Shumpert are patients at the Northeast Mississippi Hospital. We pray that the Lord will touch and heal their bodies and raise them up.

Friday night the home of Cleveland Warren was destroyed by fire. Mr. Warren died in that fire. We may ask the Lord why, but there is nothing that the Lord doesn't know and everything that happens, he allows.

So, to Mr. Warren's daughter, Mrs. Shirley McGaha: I believe behind every dark cloud there is a silver lining. You may feel alone, hurt and heartbroken, but you will find strength and consolation in the word of God. The Lord does love you and he cares for you.

So, to the friends of the deceased's family, pray for them, show love and be concerned. In times passed I have seen people come and be with the family until after the funeral is over - but that's the time we really need consolation and love - during those lonely hours.

We had the opportunity to hear Bro. Jerry L. Christian's first sermon Sunday at Beckley Chapel. I just want to say to him, "Obey God." His subject was "If I Can Hold Out, My Chance Shall Come." It was taken from the 14th chapter of Job.

Before the speaker presented his message, the choir, led by Mrs. Danny Grove, sang "God is Not Finished With Me Yet."

Bro Christian delivered a beautiful message. If you were not there, you really missed something.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bell was also destroyed by fire. We ask the people of the community to get together and see what we can do to help them through this crisis.

As the Christmas season rapidly approaches, I have often heard my mother in Lord say every year He is going to carry out His number. Who knows whose number is next, so let's be ready.

Though for the week: Heaven or Hell is only a heartbeat away, so let us be ready.

'Til next week.

Maintaining Your Mental Health

Coping With Holiday Stress

FROM
MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

Christmas, like all major holidays, is often marked by a variety of individual and community problems. The number of traffic fatalities increases, as does the suicide rate. More personal and family conflicts come to the attention of mental health and law enforcement personnel. Amid the celebration, holidays include stress which can cause difficulty for all of us.

"Stress" is an often heard word, and just as often misunderstood. Each of us experiences stress everyday. It occurs when we are locked in a boring or dissatisfactory job. It occurs when we are angry at someone. Stress also happens, though, when we are happy or successful. In fact, stress is the body's reaction to any demand or change.

These demands are called stressors. They include environmental factors such as noise, heat, crowding, or disease to which the body must react. Another important class of stressors are social situations like a person's job, marriage, divorce, or death of someone close. Finally, strong emotions are a source of stress.

When a stressor is present, the body reacts in three stages. During stage one, or the alarm stage, the body recognizes the stressor - heartbeat and breathing increases, blood sugar level is elevated, pupils dilate, digestion slows, and the mind becomes alert and ready for action.

In the resistance stage, stage two, the body repairs the damage of this stress reaction after the stressor is gone. However, if stress continues, the damage accumulates, and one of the "diseases of stress" can occur. These include migraine headaches, hypertension, ulcers, accidents, and depression. They are characteristic of the exhaustion stage of the body's reaction.

While stress is a normal part of life, it can sometimes become constant and result in exhaustion. Doctor Hans Selye, a noted stress researcher, has called this distress. Stressors abound during the holiday season. The jostling, noise, and frustration of one trip to a shopping mall is an excellent example. Juggling financial burdens and the desire to make everyone happy is a source of psychological strain. Excessive consumption of alcoholic beverages can make distress more likely.

We even overload ourselves by trying to enjoy as much as possible. But, holiday stress is brief, and you can prepare yourself for it. The staff of Timber Hills Community Mental Health Center suggest these steps to get ready:

Take a moment to make a "stress inventory" to see if you have current problems. Consider whether you are tense, anxious, or worried frequently. Is it hard to concentrate or turn off your thoughts? Do you have insomnia, pain of the neck or shoulders, headaches, or indigestion often? Are smoking, drinking, or use of medication the only ways you can relax?

If these things occur, talk out the problems with someone. You might even consider counseling by a physician, clergyman, or mental health professional.

Plan your gift buying. Decide how much you can afford to spend and gear your selections to that budget. Shop early so you can avoid impulse buying. Consider making some gifts, or replace some with cards. In the economic climate of this year, we may all learn that the joy is in the giving, not the object.

Avoid overindulgence in alcoholic beverages. Whether one drinks too much to celebrate, or as self-medication to control stress, the results are negative.

Remember to enjoy the holiday. Don't try to attend every party or event. Arrange your time to include friends, family, and yourself. And, don't forget time for rest, sleep, exercise, and proper meals - the ingredients for recovery from stress.

The Christmas season is a wonderful and joyous time of year. If you are aware of the stress that accompanies it, you can ensure your enjoyment of it.

For more information about holiday stress, phone the Timber Hills Mental Health Center at 728-3174. Afterhours and on weekends phone 1-286-9209 for emergency telephone counseling services.

By LADY BLUE SURF

Dec. 12 will be remembered for a long time by all those who attended our Christmas supper and dance.

Timber Hill's Mental Health Center youth and faculty and families were honored guests, as were Mr. and Mrs. Red Raspberry of Tupelo, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Pharr of Marietta, and Mr. and Mrs. Travis McCharen of Booneville.

The Eye Doctor, Mississippi Shorty, Ole Blue, Lady Skunk, Dozer Boy and Lady Termite stepped mightily to the music of Gene Gann and The Country Sounds, featuring Charles Collins on the piano.

It's good to know that our young folk are our entertainers of tomorrow. Little Blue Jay and Telephone Kid accompanied Bicycle Boy, who sang "Elvira."

Lame Duck and Lady Q

both had to make trips back to the doctor in Big M this week. Buffalo is having back problems. Round Lady, Telephone Girl and Little Blue Wave are sick also.

Little Wrecker got pinned under a car and had to be off from work for a few days. We hope everyone will soon be well again.

Happy birthday to Little White Girl and to Lady Walking Cane on the 15th. We hope each of you have a nice day and enjoy many more.

Twitty Bird, you should have had that camera handy so you could have captured Blue Surf's face on paper. Lady Red Ryder had the misfortune to fall at the skating rink Monday night and break her wrist. We hope it heals well and will not be too painful.

Until next week, stay well, be happy, and remember why we are celebrating Christmas. Attend the church of your choice.

Members of Carter's Chapel Church of Christ met at the community center Friday night for a holiday celebration. After everyone enjoyed a bountiful meal, the young people presented a program of verse, song and story. Then, much to the delight of everyone, Santa made a surprise visit to help in passing out gifts. Everyone had a very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Myrtie Cole had her children and their spouses together in her home for a Christmas celebration Saturday night. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge Young and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cole.

Mary Moreland was a welcomed visitor at Carter's Chapel for the morning services.

LeeAnn Hodges spent Sunday afternoon with Jennifer and Brock Dunaway.

The young people of Carter's Chapel met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunaway Thursday night. We enjoyed rehearsing for the Christmas program and then had refreshments. The group included Melissa Newcomb, Mary Hollaway, Denise Horn, Neil King, Martha and Jamie Hutchens, Leeann Hodges, Jimmy and Lisa Young, Jeff and Jared Penna, Jennifer and Brock Dunaway and Pat, Stephen and Bryan Burns.

Mrs. Bernice Chase spent Saturday with her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Johnson, and family.

Wishes for a happy birthday go out to those who will be celebrating within the next few days. These include Jimmie Carpenter on the 18th, Lena Thompson, Paul Carpenter and Shirley Moreland on the 20th, Reba Ivey on the 21st, Brock Dunaway and Tamara McKinney on the 22nd, and Janice Holder and Jonathan McKinney on the 23rd. I'm sending this birthday wish your way. Have a wonderful time on your special day.

Wishes for a very happy wedding anniversary go out to Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Newcomb on Dec. 22.

At the time of this writing, on Monday, Bobby Newcomb's father, Walter Newcomb, is in the hospital. The doctors are not expecting him to be with his family for much longer. Our thoughts and prayers are with the Newcombs during this time.

The weather is so cold, but there's plenty of sunshine. If we could get some snow, we would have a "Winter Wonderland."

The sick reported last night, Dec. 9, were Mrs. Gladys Kennedy, Joan English's baby, a Pannell child, and Mrs. Jannae Owens, and a relative of Mike Wilson. Also, the children of George and Senita Coats are having allergic problems.

We rejoice that Mrs. Mickey Scott is attending services regularly.

A visitor here Sunday, Dec. 6, was Lois Ann Collins who lives near Lake Piomingo. Other visitors were Mrs. Becky Johnson and children, Chris, Brad and Rebecca Ann, from Zion's Rest.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Katherine Koon whose mother, Mrs. Frances Hughes, died last Sunday night. Her funeral was conducted on Tuesday, Dec. 8, at McMillan's Funeral Home.

Also, sympathy goes to Doug Miller and family in the loss of his mother.

During the short gospel meeting here Dec. 6-8 Bro. Murphy, his wife and Mr.

and Mrs. Calvin Barber enjoyed meals in the homes of the Myron Coats', Mrs. Delma Frame, and Mrs. Gay Weeks.

News came that Aunt Myrtie Harris is in a serious condition. Let's all be praying for her and others who are sick; and for those who are sorrowing.

Here's a poem sent to me by Mrs. June Coats:

I Remember
I remember --- I remember

Back when I was very small Spending Christmas Day at Grandma's -
What a pleasure to recall.

I can almost see the lighted tree,
The presents wrapped and tied

And the stockings Grandma made for us
With goodies tucked inside.

I can feel the warm affection still
The family all would share,

I can smell the rich aromas, too
That sweetly filled the air.

I remember Christmas dinner
Nothing tasted quite as good

As those fruit cakes, pies and cookies
Made as only Grandma could.

What a feeling of contentment

To think back on Christmas then
And to live those hours of happiness once again.

For "Grandma's house" is my house now
My children all are grown

And their families come at Christmas
Making memories of their own

Now I share with them the joys I knew
Each long-ago December

And I know that, just as I have

They'll remember -- they'll remember.

USING ANOTHER'S GLASSES

People who use glasses for reading can borrow someone else's reading glasses with no harmful effects to the eyes. But the "borrowed" glasses will not work as well. And if they're worn for a long period of time they might cause headaches.

Everyone's vision problems are different. Your degree of near-sightedness or far-sightedness or other vision problem will very seldom be exactly the same as someone else's. That's why glasses have to be prescribed for your eyes to give them the exact correction needed.

When you have an eye examination the doctor determines your prescription for glasses. That prescription represents an exact measurement of your vision problems. The lenses will be ground in a specific way according to the needs of your eyes. And that means both eyes because no two eyes are exactly the same.

In a pinch a pair of borrowed glasses may help. But only glasses prescribed for YOUR specific needs will give you maximum visual efficiency.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Keep Christ In Christmas

By John Wilson

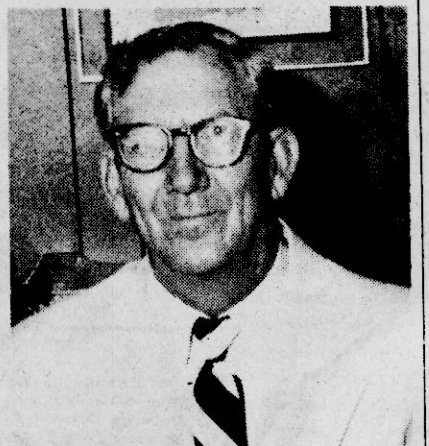

As we near the Christmas season once again, let us remember what Christmas is all about. It is the birthday of Jesus Christ and should be remembered as such. To many, Christmas is a time to eat, drink and be merry. To others a time to make as much noise as possible with fireworks or any other way they can make a loud noise. For many this is the only time of year they can be with their loved ones and how many families regret that Christmas time has come because of the drinking and carrying on that some members do. Many people, each year, are killed at Christmas time because of drunk driving and reckless driving. It's a wonderful thing for families to spend Christmas together, but not if it's going to cause heartaches and pain for years to come. I can think of nothing that God would be more pleased with than a family gathered around the Christmas dinner table giving Him thanks for the gift He gave to man almost two thousand years ago; the gift of His Son Jesus.

As we think about giving, do we do it as God gave His Son, because He loved us? I'm afraid too many times we give hoping to receive as much or more in return. How many times have we heard someone say, "I'm not going to give to him or her anything this year because they never give me anything. "This is not the spirit in which God would have us remember the birth of His Son. Many people spend much more than they can afford for Christmas presents just to impress someone. Our gifts should be given to those we love just because we do love them and we can show our love for our heavenly Father by showing our love for our fellowman.

Many, today, leave Christ completely out of Christmas. I can think of nothing more repulsive, to a Christian, than a sign in a store or shop that says "Merry Xmas." I do not think we should buy from these places at all if they leave Christ out of Christmas. Let's keep Christ in Christmas this year.

Christmas Day would be a wonderful day for Jesus to come back for His children. If He should come what would He find you doing? Would He find you in church thanking God for His blessings or would you be found in some tavern? Maybe He would find you gathered around the dinner table enjoying the fellowship of family and friends or would He find you indulging in the things of the world. I believe we should be closer to God at this time of year than any other. I'm going to keep Christ in my Christmas. How about you?

Butler remained at large until Dec. 1, 1977 when he called Sheriff Ralph Martin and turned himself in.

In July 1978, Butler made his second escape from the county jail after climbing through an air-conditioning duct in his cell that led to a basement room with a door that unlocked from the inside.

At the time, Butler was awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary to serve a 10-year term following conviction on charges stemming from his first escape in November of 1977 while being held for the U.S. Army for being absent without leave.

In fiscal year 1985, top priority for construction on the primary highway system is given to acquiring the right of way for replacing a bridge on Highway 4 in Tippah County.

No construction projects are listed for Prentiss County in 1983. In 1984, $30,000 is allotted for the purchase of right of way for bridge replacement on Highway 4 in Prentiss County, and $500,000 for the purchase of 5 miles of right of way on U.S. 45 in Prentiss County. Devilettes Finish Strong To Win Baldwyn Tourney

BALDWYN--Booneville's hot shooting Devilettes took top honors here last Saturday night in the finals of the Baldwyn Tournament of Champions held at the Baldwyn High School Gym.

The Lady Devils, who are tabbed as one of the top girls teams in this part of the state, had little trouble with their arch rivals Baldwyn's Lady Bearcats and took a commanding 70-36 win before a packed house.

By virtue of the win, the Devilettes gained revenge from an earlier defeat (their only one of the year) at the hands of the Baldwyn girls and took this game with ease.

For the past two seasons, the two Prentiss County squads have been bitter rivals and have matched wits time and time again both at Booneville and Baldwyn.

According to early prediction charts, the Devilettes appear to be the superior team this season and are expected to field strong competition this year.

The Lady Devils jumped out to an early lead and never looked back. The Devilettes led at the half 34-19 and really put the icing on the cake in the final two frames.

(One of the top shooters in the area, Kushing Sorrell led the Booneville scoring attack with 20 points on the night followed by Dianne Harris with 17, Cynthia Sorrell with 13 and Vanessa Groves with 10 points on the night.

In boys action in Saturday's finals, Hickory Flatt dropped Sallito's Tigers 66-44 to take the coveted Tournament of Champions Trophy.

Clyde Tables netted 33 points to pace the Hickory Flatt attack with teammate Terry Weatherall next in line with 14 points to lead the Tiger attack followed by Allen McKinney with 12.

DEVILETTES WIN FRIDAY NIGHT

Booneville's girls reached Saturday's finals with a semi-final 38-29 victory over Hickory Flatt's Rebelettes.

Kushing Sorrell led the Booneville attack here with 14 points while Shirley Taylor and Paula Stewart netted nine each for Hickory Flatt.

Both the Devilettes, under head coach Stephen Jobe, and Hickory Flatt's Rebels are newtime champs taking over from last year's defending champions Wheeler's Eagles and Baldwyn's Lady Bearcats.

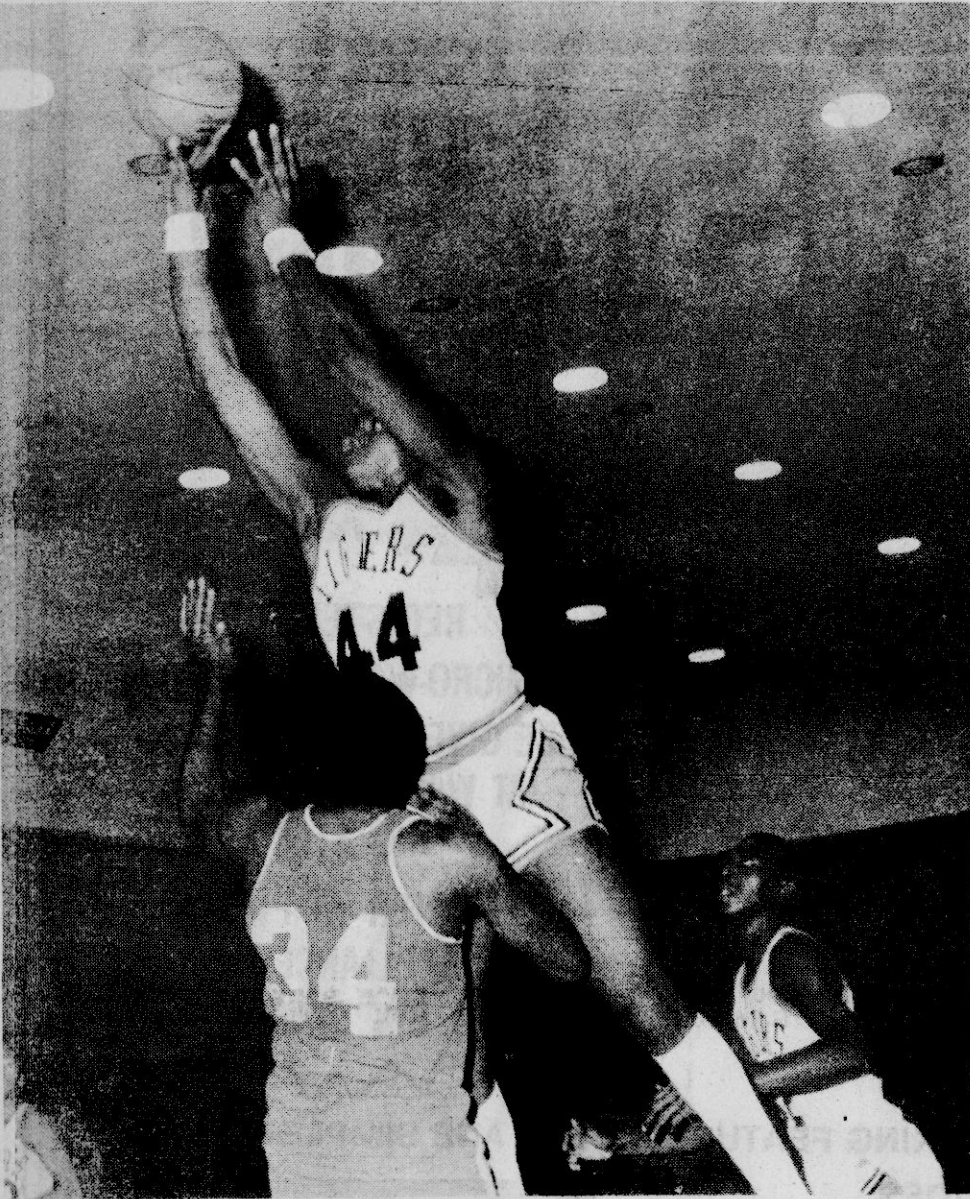

The tournament, noted as one of the top events of the area, drew a hug following from the record field of 18 teams that participated.

Baldwyn school superintendent Steve Clark said the tournament was very successful. "We really enjoyed hosting the tournament," Clark said. "We had two real fine champions and both very deserving of the honor," Clark said.

Tigers Trounce Mary Holmes College Sat. Night

The Tigers, under the direction of head mentor Richard Mathis, took command of the game early and never looked back from there.

Northeast burned the nets for a 53 percent average connecting on 39 of 73 field goals while at the line the Northeast pawmen hit on 20 of 32 attempts for a 63 percent average for the night.

Ralph Griffin led the Northeast scoring attack with 22 points on the night while pulling down 10 rebounds to lead in that department as well.

Next in line came Maurice Stafford with 19 points followed by Rafael King with 15, Anthony Anderson with 14 and Stanley Carter with 10 points on the night.

In rebounding the Tigers grabbed 16 offensive and 28 defensive with Griffin's 10 leading the way. Stafford had nine and Carter nabbed eight rebounds on the night.

The win here was their 11th of the year against only two losses. The two setbacks were to Shelby State and East Mississippi.

Beginning This Week The Banner-Independent Sports Dept. Will Run All Tourney Winners From Now Throughout The Remainder Of The Season. This Will be The Winning Team Only With Their Trophy.....

Royals Win Over Smithville

New Site's Royals and Royalties shared a prep twin-bill with Smithville here last Monday night in local action. The Royals dropped the Smithville boys 50-49 while the Lady Seminoles tripped the Royalties 62-36 in the girls contest.

Jeff Martin led the New Site attack with 19 points on the night followed by Bobby Whitley with 17.

In girls action on the night, Patsy Sims led the Royalties with 10 points on the night while Stephanie Hathcock netted 24 for Smithville.

Tigers Bomb Jackson State

JACKSON, TENN.--The Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tigers rolled over Jackson State here last Monday night in road action.

The Tiger five waltzed to an easy 125-87 win over the JT squad picking up their 12th victory of the 1981 season against just two losses.

The Tigerettes didn't fare as well however falling 86-50 in the opening game of the night.

Maurice Stafford led the Tiger scoring brigade with 23 points on the night followed by Wheeler's Tim Kesler with 21, Ralph Griffin and Gary Hill with 16 each and Mike Wray with 14.

The Tigers had an easy time of it throughout the contest jumping out to a 57-36 lead at the mid-way mark.

Eagles Set For Tangerine Bowl

ORLANDO, Fla.--Southern Mississippi and Missouri will have the intercollegiate football scene pretty much to themselves in the Tangerine Bowl game here Saturday night. No other games of any significance are scheduled. Set to have a 7 p.m. (CST) kickoff, the Golden Eagle-Tiger clash will be televised

10,000 followers of the Golden Eagles. Coach Bobby Collins' Eagles finished the year with a 9-1-1 record and in the year's first visit to Florida they shocked the intercollegiate scene by scalping the Florida State Seminoles 58-14. Missouri had a 7-4 finish in the regular season after jumping off to a 5-0 start. Their meeting in the Tangerine Bowl will be the first-ever for the two teams. The Eagles will again lean heavily on the talents of All-

America quarterback Reggie Collier and senior tailback Sammy Winder on offense and sophomore nose guard and the rest of the stingy Nasty Bunch on defense. USM's Pride of Mississippi Marching Band and the Dixie Darlings will perform at the classic. The football team's headquarters are at the Marriott Inn on Sand Lake Road and the band is being housed at the Holiday Inn on International Drive.

Hall Of Fame Bowl Tickets Still Available

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. -- This year's College Football Hall of Fame Bowl will be played on New Year's Eve afternoon at 1:00 CST. The Mississippi State Bulldogs, representing the Southeastern Conference, will take on the University of Kansas Jayhawks, representing the Big 8 Conference. Both teams have completed their regular seasons and have finished in third place in their respective conferences, setting the stage for an exciting show-down for this year's game. The Mississippi State Bulldogs most recent bowl appearances have been the 1980 Sun Bowl and the 1974 Sun Bowl. The Bulldogs trip to this year's College Football Hall of Fame Bowl represents a first in Bulldog history. "The first time that Mississippi State has put back-to-back bowl years together," stated Athletic Director Carl Maddox. The University of Kansas Jayhawks most recent bowl appearances have been in the 1975 Sun Bowl, the 1973 Liberty Bowl, and the 1969 Orange Bowl.

Tickets for this year's game may be purchased at the College Football Hall of Fame Bowl office at the Hyatt Birmingham Jefferson Civic Center or by mail. All mail orders must be received no later than December 10, 1981. Tickets are $15.00 and all seats are reserved. For further information, please contact the College Football Hall of Fame Bowl office.

You may be suffering from some old-fashioned ideas about second mortgages.

Years ago it was considered risky to mortgage your home. People just didn't do it unless they were one step away from bankruptcy. This, however, has changed. If you need a large amount of cash fast, a First Bank second mortgage loan may be the most sensible way to get it. With very little risk.

You can put the cash in your home to work for you.

In recent years, property values have soared. So if you've owned your home for any length of time, it's probably worth a lot more than you paid for it. Which means you could be sitting on a large amount of potential cash that could be put to work to solve problems. Or to enable you to take advantage of sound business or investment opportunities.

Today many people use second mortgages to finance major home improvements, because expanding or renovating is often cheaper than moving. Or for education, un-we call the total "loan value" of the house.

Now let's talk about the balance you owe on your first mortgage. Remember that while the house has been increasing in value, this balance has decreased with every payment. If you paid 10% down in 1975, the mortgage balance now, six years later, is about $42,750. Or, in other words, today you owe about $42,750 on the house.

Subtract this $42,750 from the loan value and you get $18,850. This is the amount of cash that could be available to you with a First Bank second mortgage.

When considering a second mortgage, it's also important to analyze how much you can afford to spend each month to repay this loan. As a general rule, your monthly house notes—both first and second mortgages—should not exceed 25% of your total gross income.

Second mortgage is not a dirty word.

If you've owned your home for several years, you probably have a fixed rate mortgage. Your note stays the same every month year after year, while your family income probably goes up to keep pace with inflation. Today you may be spending less of your gross income for your house note, so you may easily afford to borrow for expenditures and investments that are important to you, your family and your future.

At First Bank if we didn't think a second mortgage is often a sensible way to borrow when you need lots of cash fast, we would not make these loans. That's why we're better bankers.

If you'd like more information about borrowing with a second mortgage, please phone or visit us at any First Bank location.

expected medical bills, once-in-a-lifetime vacations or for purchasing vacation or retirement homes.

A second mortgage can help buy your first home.

Suppose your dream house has an existing, low-interest, assumable first mortgage loan. It may be possible to take advantage of this loan by borrowing part of the down payment with a second mortgage.

Of course, you'll have two monthly notes—your second mortgage note and the note for the low-interest first mortgage. But these two notes combined might be cheaper than financing the whole amount at today's interest rate.

For more information about buying with a second mortgage, consult your realtor. Or talk to any First Bank loan officer.

How much can you borrow?

This, of course, depends on the present market value of your house and how much you owe on it. But, for discussion's sake, let's assume you bought a house in 1975 for $50,000.

The value of this house has probably increased at least 7½% a year since then. Maybe even more, especially if you've made major improvements. This house could be worth $77,000 or more today. If you take 80% of this $77,000 market value (multiply by .8), you get $61,000, which is what

Low Water Table Affects Forests

By JOHN STUART
County Forester

From time to time we hear about managing forests for timber production, controlling wildfires, insects and diseases, managing for forest recreation and wildlife habitat, trees for urban shade and esthetics, etc. But how often do we consider the relationship between our absolutely essential underground water supply and our timber land?

There is a growing concern in parts of Mississippi because of a lowering water table. This shrinking water supply carries with it some very serious implications such as less water for industry, less water for city and community water systems, etc.

Many people don't realize how much our underground water supply is affected by the presence or absence of trees. A good stand of trees slows down rainfall run-off and allows a much greater amount of water to filter into the soil, thus adding to the underground supply.

With forest land decreasing in Mississippi by nearly 400 thousand acres in the last 10 years, will we someday experience the plight of the Chinese?

The Chinese government has ordered a gigantic tree planting program - three billion a year - in a major nationwide effort to stave off ecological disaster.

The government blames several disastrous floods this year for the destruction of water - holding forest. Also, the unabated denuding of China's hillsides and mountains gives way to dust storms and less rainfall in previously wet provinces.

"Afforestation is an urgent task," said vice-premier Wan Li in the English language China Daily Newspaper. "In many regions water sources are drying up and soil erosion has become a serious problem."

Mississippi's private, non-industrial landowners have a golden opportunity to improve our ecology, help increase underground water supplies, thus helping industry, towns, etc., and at the same time increase their own personal wealth - all this and more, through better management and utilization of their timberlands.

For further information on how you can get help to better manage your privately-owned timberlands, contact the Mississippi Forestry Commission here in Prentiss County at 728-6835.

County Agent's Report

South Is Rising Timber Grower

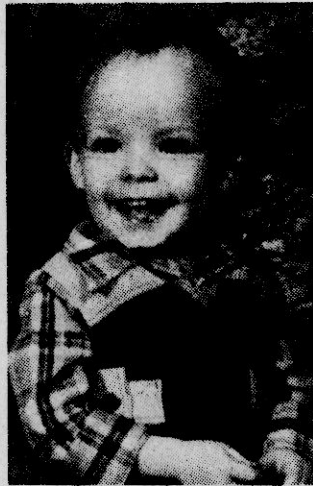

By W.H. HADEN
County Agent

WOOD BOOM

The South is emerging as the country's most important timber-growing and timber-producing region. Southern states now account for 42 percent of the nation's wood-fiber production, compared to 42 percent for the West and 16 percent for the rest of the nation. And, projections indicate that the South will need to supply an even greater share of the nations' fiber by the year 2000.

There are several reasons for the growing demand on southern forests. The population shift to the South, the lower cost of southern wood, lower labor costs in the South, and a climate mild enough for year-round lumbering give the South advantages.

More good news for timber growers: Wood-fiber use is expected to expand because of anticipated growth in new-home construction, home repair, remodeling, and insulation for energy conservation.

KYLE BARRON

Jimmy Kyle Barron, the son of Jimmy and Shirley Barron, was 2 years old on Dec. 2.

He is the grandson of Kratis and Bessie Barron and Mrs. Fairy Young of Booneville.

Researchers are finding new used for wood fiber, and interest in wood as a source of energy is growing.

FOOD MARKETING

It may seem strange, but it costs almost as much to process and distribute food products as it does to grow the crops. Of every dollar you spend at the supermarket, 31 cents does for processing and distribution. That compares to cents the farmer gets. Processing and distribution cost will make up two-thirds of the expected increase in food expenses this year. Packaging, transportation, food-firm profits, energy, advertising, depreciation, bad debts and interest account for the other 34 percent.

WOOD STOVE DANGER

Almost everyone knows about the dangers of a fireplace, but did you know that a wood stove insert can create a fire hazard?

Creosote can build up between the insert and masonry walls. If collected creosote ignites, the result may be a damaging chimney fire.

Most wood stove manufacturers recommend pulling inserts out and cleaning them once a year. Chimneys should be cleaned annually, too.

It's important to save energy by burning wood, but it's also important to do it safely. Here are other safety tips for wood-burning fireplaces and stoves:

- Keep areas around wood-burning units free of clutter. Store fuel at least five feet away from a fire.

- Don't use a petroleum product to start a fire in wood-burning stove or fireplace.

- Never burn trash in a fireplace or stove.

- Remove ashes into a closed metal container and take them outside immediately.
