The Weather... Don't Like It? Stick Around; It'll Change!

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter
"If you don't like the weather, stick around -- it will change!" That could definitely be said about the conditions in Prentiss County over the past two weeks.

During the 10-day period of Jan. 10-19 temperatures in the county ranged from a low of 3 degrees below zero to a high of 68 degrees above.

Last week the county was blanketed with snow and this week Prentiss Countians encountered hazardous driving conditions brought about by icy roads on Monday and dense fog on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. By Tuesday afternoon temperatures had soared and the sun was shining brightly over portions of the county.

BOONEVILLE'S official weather observer for the National Weather Service, William Dallison, recorded 3 inches of snow last week.

However, he said, the snowfall varied in different sections of the county. He recorded .17 inches of rainfall on Monday.

ALTHOUGH LESS than a quarter of an inch of rainfall was recorded in the county, the drizzling rain caused an unpleasant surprise for motorists Monday because a thin sheet of ice formed on roads as it fell. Many motorists were unaware the roads were icy until it was too late.

It was rumored that almost 100 traffic accidents occurred in Prentiss County Monday due to the icy roads. However, a spokesman for the New Albany District of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, Hank Waycaster, said so many accidents happened in the county that it was impossible to place a number on them.

He estimated that approximately 50-75 accidents occurred Monday on state-maintained roads in a 10-county area that includes Prentiss County. Waycaster said there were definitely more traffic accidents Monday than during last week's snowfall.

PRENTISS COUNTY Deputy Carl Sartin said the sheriff's department worked three accidents in the county Monday and that there were no fatalities in any of those accidents.

"What made driving so bad Monday was the thin layer of ice on the roads and people just weren't aware of it until they got out," Sartin said.

Sheriff John McCauley estimated that between 30-40 wrecks happened in the county on Monday due to the ice-glazed roads.

So many cars slid in ditches that reports were not made on all the "fender benders," he said.

"I told my men for the little fender benders where there were no injuries to just tell the people to fill out an accident report. Then if there was an accident that might cause another one, they could go to that accident and they might prevent something more serious from happening," McCauley said.

TWO ACCIDENTS involving Prentiss County school buses were also reported Monday.

One mishap occurred Monday morning when Louise Hall apparently lost

ICE, FOG, AND SNOW - Prentiss Countians have had some difficulty getting around during the past two weeks as first snow and then freezing rain brought a halt to most activities in the area. When temperatures finally began to rise early this week, fog moved in to further hamper traffic. Most of the county's factories shut down operations for several days. Blue Bell's parking lot was a vacant expanse of snow Thursday

Miss America 1982 Will Crown Most Beautiful

The current Miss America, Elizabeth Ward of Russellville, Ark., will be a special guest at this year's pageant to select the Most Beautiful at Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

Twenty-seven young ladies were selected during preliminaries earlier in the school year to compete for the Most Beautiful title. The pageant finals will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 26, and will be held in the Seth Pounds Auditorium at the junior college.

Miss America 1982 is a 20-year-old junior at the University of Arkansas where she is working toward her degree in accounting in preparation for a degree in law. Her future ambition is to become a full partner in a major law firm, specializing in corporate law.

The 5'9" brown-haired, brown-eyed beauty lists tennis, swimming and movies as her hobbies.

An accomplished musician, she has had nine years special training in piano, 3 years in bassoon, 2 years in flute, and 4 years in voice. Her talent during the Miss America pageant was popular singing.

In addition to crowning the winner of this year's pageant at Northeast, Miss Ward will also provide entertainment throughout the event.

City's Natural Gas Prices Increase 27 Percent

Customers of the Booneville Gas and Water Department can expect their next bills for natural gas to be quite a bit higher than they have been in the past.

Not only has the unusually cold weather during January caused customers to use more gas than normal, but the Gas and Water Department this week announced an increase of about 27 percent in the price of that gas.

According to Marvin Burcham, manager of the Gas and Water Department, Booneville natural gas customers have been paying $3.66 per 1,000 cubic feet. With the increase in effect, these same customers will be paying $4.65 per 1,000 cubic feet, he said.

Burcham said the price increase is a result of a price increase from the city's supplier, Tennessee Gas.

The new, higher prices are now in effect and will be reflected on the bill for January's gas, he said. These bills are the ones that will be received in February.

While these increases may hit some customers hard, natural gas customers may have actually saved some money during November and December.

Gov. Winter To Speak At 1982 PCDA Banquet

Gov. William Winter will be the guest speaker next Thursday night, Jan. 28, when the Prentiss County Development Association holds its sixth annual membership banquet at the Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. and will be held in the Frank Haney Union at Northeast.

Tickets are $7.50 each and are available at any of the five banks in Prentiss County, at the PCDA office or from any PCDA director.

PCDA executive director Doug Mansell said that it is important that those planning to attend make their reservations and purchase their tickets prior to Jan. 28.

Gov. Winter, who has been pushing for the state legislature to establish a state public kindergarten system, is expected to talk about education and industrial development.

Mansell said the banquet will last for no longer than 1½ hours.

Tenn-Tom Meeting Set

A public meeting will be held in Columbus Saturday, Jan. 23, concerning a draft supplemental environmental impact statement for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. and will be held in the Whitfield Auditorium at the Mississippi University for Women.

A spokesman for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers pointed out that the supplemental environmental impact statement is a draft document and is subject to change depending on comments made during the public review and other input.

He said that everyone attending the meeting will be given an opportunity to express his or her position for the record on matters relating to the statement.

control of her car at the top of a hill on Meadow Creek Road and slid head-on into a stopped Wheeler school bus, said Prentiss County Deputy Bob Glover.

A Headstart student on the bus received a busted lip and the driver of the car was treated for injuries at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville. The bus received only slight damage. No tickets were issued in the accident.

In another school bus accident, a bus had stopped to unload students on Highway 4 near Jumpertown Monday afternoon when a car that had stopped behind the bus began rolling and bumped into the bus. The bus was not damaged, but the car's grill received slight damage. There were no injuries.

THE BOONEVILLE Police Department said there were six accidents reported in the city on Monday, and that they were mostly "fender benders."

The police department said there were as many accidents on Monday as there were during the period of Jan. 12-17, when snow covered the city.

James Horn of the North Mississippi Ambulance Service said ambulance runs increased during the cold weather. "There were 21 ambulance runs during the period of Jan. 10-18, which was about double the number of runs," he said.

CLASSES AT Northeast Mississippi Junior College resumed Tuesday. Pre-registration was completed the day before. Classes at Northeast had been scheduled to resume Wednesday of last week.

"Only four days of classes were actually missed," NE Dean Joe Childers said Tuesday afternoon. "Missing the four days should not cause graduation to be moved at this point. We have to get in 2,250 minutes of class time for 3 credit hours and our remaining schedule will allow us to do this," he said.

Dean Childers said the college had experienced no major problems during the inclement weather except for water pipes freezing and breaking.

Prentiss County Schools were dismissed Tuesday of last week at 12:30 due to the snow. The schools remained dismissed for the entire week. County School Superintendent Lex Cain dismissed schools Monday at 2 p.m. because of road conditions.

Booneville City Schools were dismissed Tuesday of last week at 11:30 a.m. and remained dismissed for the entire week.

Booneville elementary school and Anderson Jr. High returned to normal schedules Monday. However, classes at Booneville High School did not resume Monday because pipes broke on a boiler causing the building to be without heat, City School Superintendent Robert Griffin said.

Both superintendents said several water lines had frozen and broken at their schools during the cold weather.

Griffin noted no accidents had occurred involving city school buses but that there had been some icy patches on roads and the drivers had excluded those places from their routes.

SEVERAL INDUSTRIES in Booneville were closed because of the snow.

Prentiss Manufacturing Company dismissed work at noon Tuesday at last week, and remained closed Wednesday and Thursday of last week although a skelton crew did report to work those two days, James Bethay, PMC president, said.

The Blue Bell factory in Booneville dismissed from work at noon Tuesday of last week. The plant reopened Monday, said Jimmy Smith, plant manager.

Other factories in the county also closed because of the weather.

Juanita Perry, administrator at Aletha Lodge Nursing Home in Booneville, said the weather caused several problems for the staff there.

"I had several nurses that live in Baldwin, Marietta, and at Mohawk that couldn't get in at all. Two spent the night here and the others lived in town. When they got in they just pulled double shifts," she said.

She said during the cold weather two heaters had frozen up and exploded. "Water got all over the rooms but no one was hurt. One of the heaters has been repaired and the other heater is being worked on now," Ms. Perry said Monday.

SEVEN EMPLOYEES at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville stayed overnight at the hospital Tuesday night of last week to insure they would be at work the next day, said hospital administrator John Tompkins.

"Those people are outstanding folks," Tompkins said. "They did this out of their dedication to the hospital."

Neither snow nor ice kept Booneville mail carriers from making their appointed rounds on Monday.

Booneville Postmaster Jack Wright said the icy road conditions caused mail carriers to take longer to make their routes Monday, but that there were very few spots where the carriers couldn't get in and out. "Time-wise, Monday was probably the worst day of all," Wright said.

The cold snap also caused extra work for the Booneville Water Department.

Marvin Burcham, manager of the Booneville Water and Gas Department, estimated that the water department had repaired from 50-75 breaks in water lines under people's houses during the cold weather.

J.W. Abernethy, manager of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association, said that power lines were operating normally and that no unusual problems had occurred.

Most of the county roads were in good condition last week after snow was graded off them. However, J.P. Davis, president of the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors, said Tuesday morning the gravel roads were beginning to get "sloppy."

"The drizzle we got Monday and Tuesday, and the ground thawing at the same time is going to cause roads to get maybe not too bad, but worse than they were. I don't know what this drizzle and thaw is going to do. We'll just have to wait and see," Davis said.

SNOW BUNNY - When snow falls, it is usually only a short time before snow sculptures begin appearing in yards all over Prentiss County. One that appeared last week in the

City's Natural

Department in September of last year, never went into effect, Burcham said.

At that time, the department announced that natural gas prices would increase 12.3 percent, from $3.66 per 1,000 cubic feet to $4.11 per 1,000 cubic feet.

However, although it was to have taken effect in November, the new price was never entered into the computer used by the Gas and Water Department to bill its customers, Burcham said.

Now Tennessee Gas has increased its price to the city once again and both of these increases are now being passed on to customers.

The draft of the supplemental statement was prepared by the Corps and filed with the Environmental Protection Agency on Nov. 27, 1981, as the result of a lawsuit originally filed in 1976 by the L&N Railroad and various environmental groups.

One of the 15 counts of that lawsuit claimed that the original environmental impact statement, filed in April 1971, should have been supplemented when the Corps made several major changes in the design and economic projections for the Tenn-Tom Waterway.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: "Mr. Hogland, I notice in Rom. 1:31, Paul uses the word 'implacable' what is the true meaning of this word?"

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: This word "implacable" comes from the Greek word ASPONDOS meaning implacable or irreconcilable. Vine and Thayer both tell us that it refers to "One who cannot be persuaded to enter a covenant." The idea is of one who is estranged or separated from another. This could be a husband and wife who are separated or any others who might be estranged. When one comes to make peace or to sign a truce the implacable person will not receive him or even talk with him. There seems to be nothing one can do to bring peace with the "implacable" person. In Rom. 1, Paul talks about the gentiles who refused to have God in their knowledge. I have know of husbands and wives who have been estranged and refuse to talk with one another. In this case a reconciliation is impossible. The main point of our text is that we as sinners are at some point separated from our God. We are advised not to be "implacable", because if we are a reconciliation to God is impossible. If we are not reconciled to God we have not made peace with him and are left in our sins. If this happens we can never be saved. We need to humble ourselves before God and obey the gospel and thus make peace with God.

Safe At Her Desk

Icy Mishap Doesn't Keep Her From Work

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

The icy roads Monday morning didn't prevent Mrs. Susie Rodgers from reaching her job. Even though her car skidded off the road and flipped over, she managed to clock into work ten minutes ahead of schedule!

Mrs. Rodgers, who works as an admission clerk at the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville, said she was unaware the roads were icy when she left her home in the Pratt community, east of Baldwyn.

She said she didn't realize Highway 45 was icy until she attempted to pass a pick-up truck in the bottom north of Frankstown. At that point her car began to slide and she lost control of her 1975 Plymouth Duster.

The car slid off the embankment on the left side of the road and then overturned.

Mrs. Rodgers said the first thing she did when she realized she wasn't hurt was to say a prayer of thanksgiving to the Lord. And, then, "I found a piece of rubber pipe in the car and tried to break the window out, but I couldn't break it because it was a safety glass," she said.

She also tried unsuccessfully to open the car door. Then, she said, "I found the window handle on the passenger's side and rolled the window down and crawled out through the window."

She estimated that she stayed in her overturned car about five minutes but that "it seemed a lot longer than that!"

She encountered a slight problem climbing up the embankment because snow was still frozen on the ground. Once she was back on the highway she began the task of flagging cars down.

"Several cars went by me going each direction. I guess people couldn't figure out what a woman was doing standing out on the side of the road that time of the morning flagging traffic. But it wasn't good daylight and I'm sure they couldn't see my car," she said.

In fact, she said, the truck she had attempted to pass never stopped either. "I'm sure he never even realized that I was about to pass him."

Finally, two men in a pick-up stopped and brought her to Booneville. "I didn't even ask the man's name, but he worked at Schweiger," she said.

The men let her out of their pick-up at the red light by the hospital and she then walked up to the hospital in time to clock in for work at 6:50 a.m. - 10 minutes ahead of schedule.

After Mrs. Rodgers related her experience to her fellow employees one of them asked her how she kept from getting dirty during the ordeal. "I told them I didn't get dirty because the ground wasn't thawed up yet. I had on a pair of white gloves and that was the only thing dirty," she said.

Mrs. Rodgers said Monday afternoon that the only injuries she received was a skinned place "about the size of a nickle" on her knee and soreness in her chest.

She said when the accident happened it really didn't scare her then. But that around 9 a.m. it finally dawned on her what a close call she had.

"I suddenly realized what had happened and that I could have been killed just as easily as not. I just thank the Lord that I wasn't hurt. Of course, I haven't been back down there to look at my car...I turned that over to my husband...but I can think now how fortunate I was," Mrs. Rodgers said.

For Local Service

AT&T Agreement Could Mean Higher Phone Bills

Prentiss Countians can expect to pay much higher rates for local telephone service if a recent agreement between American Telephone and Telegraph and the federal Justice Department is allowed to stand.

Two weeks ago the Justice Department and AT&T announced that they had reached an agreement in a 7-year-old antitrust case that will force a major restructuring of the nation's telephone network.

Basically, AT&T agreed to divest itself of the facilities in each of its 22 operating telephone companies - such as South Central Bell - that are used for local service. AT&T will continue to operate long distance service.

"We know that local telephone service rates will go up but as to how much they will go up-we don't know," said Martha J. May, assistant manager of South Central Bell in Tupelo.

"We just learned about the agreement Friday (Jan. 8) and we know basically what the agreement is. We know that AT&T has agreed to divest itself of the operating companies, which actually means that we (South Central Bell) will just be providing local telephone service to customers. We will not provide long distance services," she said.

Ms. May said there will be no drastic changes in the telephone system for almost two years.

She said the judge has not approved the decision yet and that he has 60 days in which to do so.

After it is approved then we have six months to outline a plan for the change. Then after the six months we have a year to implement it," she said.

It is estimated that approximately 30 percent of the cash flow from long distance calls currently goes to local lines; that subsidy will stop if the consent decree stands.

"Because we will not have the long distance calls to offset the local telephone service, the local telephone service will go up," Ms. May said. "But until we've actually had time to really look closer at what effect it's going to have on everybody, we don't know exactly how much the rates will increase. We don't even know how it's going to effect us as employees yet."

For Mississippians

Extended Unemployment Benefits Available

Due to the continued high rate of unemployment in the state, the Mississippi Employment Security Commission is now authorized to pay unemployment insurance extended benefits to eligible individuals, according to MESC Executive Director O.H. Simmons of Jackson.

The first week for which extended benefits may be paid is the week ending Jan. 23.

The Extended Benefits program provides for a maximum of 13 additional weeks of benefits to unemployed persons who have exhausted their regular unemployment benefits. Unemployed individuals who have recently received regular unemployment benefits.

Unemployed individuals who have recently received regular unemployment insurance benefits may qualify for extended benefits. To determine their eligibility, these individuals should contact their local claims center offices of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

In order for a state to "trigger into" the program, which is partially funded by the federal government and partially funded by the state, two conditions must be met: the insured unemployment rate in the state must be four percent or more; and that rate must be 120 percent higher than it was during the same period in the previous two years.

The most recent period during which the MESC paid unemployment insurance extended benefits ended Aug. 15, 1981.

Tourism Meeting Set

The Tennessee Valley Authority has scheduled a public meeting on Jan. 21 in Tupelo to discuss the possibility of organizing a regional tourism organization for the northeast Mississippi region.

"Tourism could become one of the major industries in the area," said Gale Trussell, who will conduct the meeting as the coordinator of TVA's Tourism Development Program.

The meeting will be held at Itawamba Junior College in the lecture room of the Technical Education Building from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Religious Statue Taken From Church

A ceramic statue was taken from the outside of the Infant Jesus of Prague Catholic Church just South of Booneville on U.S. 45 some time last week, according to the Rev. Charles Flood.

The statue was a religious symbol, made by a member of the church, and apparently had little or no resale value.

"If it was taken as a prank, please return it," the Rev. Flood asked this week. "The statue has a certain sentimental value since it was made by a church member."

CARING FOR GLASSES

Keeping your glasses clean and free from scratches will help keep your vision clear. This also pays dividends in making your glasses safer and longer-lasting.

Oil from your skin and any dust in the air find your glasses an easy mark. You can clean them with a soft cloth or one of the special lens-cleaning papers. If your lenses are made of plastic, clean them when they're wet to lessen the chance of scratching. Water, with or without soap, can be used as well as lens-cleaning fluid. Whichever method you use, it's a good idea to clean your glasses at least once a day whether you think they need cleaning or not.

When you remove your glasses put them in the case or lay them down right side up and never put them lens side down. When plastic lenses become scratched they should be replaced. Scratches on plastic or glass lenses tend to weaken them and make them easier to break.

Glasses are, in effect, an extension of your eyes. It makes sense to care for them so you can see clearly, sharply and safely as well as extending their length of usefulness.

'Talk O' The Town'

Street Opinion Poll

QUESTION: Have the weather conditions caused you any problems?

CONNIE KEENUM of Route 3, Booneville: "Yes. It really makes it dangerous to drive. I've seen several wrecks. I haven't gone into a ditch yet, but my car has slid. I hope the weather clears up soon."

BILLY BURRESS of Route 2, Booneville: "Not really. I haven't had any trouble getting to and from work. I live on a gravel road and it's in pretty good condition - better than the highway really."

GRADY GENO of Route 3, Booneville: "I have a lot of cattle and I have to check on them two or three times at night and I also have to get up and feed them in this cold weather and it's tough. I've had four calves that have been born during this sub-zero weather."

JIMMY TORRENCE of 105 Massey St., Booneville: "Our water froze one day. I've been having to stay in and I don't really like that. I haven't been getting to drive like I'd like to because of the roads. I'll be glad when this weather is over with and it's springtime."

JAMES STEVENS of Route 4, Booneville: "It hasn't caused me any problems except that I work on the waterway and we haven't been able to work."

ED WEEKS of Corinth: "I own a couple of McDonald's stores and it has been a disaster. The weather has effected business more than anything else ever has so far."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Reflections

By Ken Christian

How many times have you heard someone say, "Why can't Prentiss County get more industries?" Or maybe you've even said it yourself.

Well, to my knowledge there is only one organization that spends practically all of its time promoting Prentiss County and attempting to entice additional industry into this area.

And that organization is the Prentiss County Development Association - an organization that serves as a chamber of commerce for the entire county, not just Booneville.

Unfortunately, this organization sometimes doesn't get the support from the community that it needs in order to do its job most effectively.

For one thing, PCDA needs members. The money that PCDA takes in from membership dues helps pay the expenses of promoting Prentiss County. And a large membership in such an organization also shows prospective industrial clients that the community is solidly behind the efforts of PCDA.

Doug Mansell, executive director of PCDA, says he is not happy with the response thus far to the organization's 1982 membership drive.

"I'm always pessimistic until the last minute,"

Mansell said this week, "but ticket sales (to the 1982 membership banquet) and memberships are not what they should be at this point."

He said that many people don't seem to be taking the effort to join the organization.

A personal (or individual) membership in PCDA can be obtained for only $15. Dues for a regular business membership is $25. For the regular industrial membership, dues are $50. For those who wish to donate more money to the organization, there are memberships at higher prices which include some extras not available at the regular membership price.

It is through the efforts of the Prentiss County Development Association that Prentiss County hopes to soon become designated as a "Key Community" with the state Department of Economic Development.

If PCDA is responsible (or even partially responsible) for obtaining one new industry for Prentiss County during 1982 - one that could provide jobs for a number of Prentiss Countians - don't you think it would be worth the $15 membership fee?

Eyes On Mississippi

Do They Pay Fair Share Of Taxes?

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. -- A subtle move is underway in the legislature to give House Speaker C.B. Buddie Newman an appointment on the State Oil and Gas Board, the agency charged with policing Mississippi's $3 billion a year, oil and gas industry.

Newman has been a longtime retainer of Southern Natural Gas Company and still is, according to his financial disclosure statement filed with the State Ethics Commission. Giving him power to name a person who is supposed to regulate his benefactor could very well be regarded as akin to assigning a fox to guard the henhouse.

Actually, the proposal to let Newman have one of the five appointments on the Oil and Gas Board is the first indication of a vendetta with Atty. Gen. Bill Allain over his move to have 36 legislators removed from boards and commissions he contends are in the executive branch of state government. Ever since the Oil and Gas Board was created in 1948, the Attorney General has had one appointee to the board.

This year, the Oil and Gas Board law is up for reenactment under the state Sunset Law and this is where friends of Newman in the House propose to give him the appointment, instead of Allain. Author of the bill, incidentally, is Rep. Terrell Stubbs of Mendenhall, who figures to be a key person in deciding the fate of Gov. William Winter's oil and gas severance tax increase plan.

There has been concern in some quarters for a long while over the inadequacy of the staffing of the Oil and Gas Board and the ability of the agency to deal with the heavyweights of the oil and gas industry. The feeling of many close observers of the board over the years is that it has been kept a horse and buggy operation because that is the way the major companies wanted it.

The board's staff today is no larger than it was 30 years ago when oil and gas production in the state was just a smidgen of what it is today.

It's laughable that the State Oil and Gas Board today has only one geologist and one engineer to sift through and validate the mass of data submitted by the industry people for drilling operations. Alabama, whose oil and gas production is only about one-fourth of Mississippi's, has three or four times more technical personnel in offices at both Tuscaloosa and Mobile.

The Oil and Gas Board has to accept the production figures of the producers on face value since it has no effective, method of checking against their accuracy in the field. Six field inspectors are employed by the board, but observers say there is no way for them to really check on production from the 3,600 producing wells in the state.

Recently, the Legislative PEER Committee expressed its concern about the inability of the Oil and Gas Board to keep current or accurate audit figures on production reports furnished by the oil and gas producers. The immediate answer to that is the board's present staff has only two workers in the production department and it is impossible to audit production reports.

What seems to be evident is that governors, and the legislature, in the past have paid little attention to the state regulatory body for the oil and gas industry. And now, when it has suddenly become a cause celebre as the richest source of income in the state, little is really known about whether the industry has been paying its fair share of taxes in the past and if it can pay a higher share in the future.

One startling fact is that there is virtually no coordination between the production reports compiled by the Oil and Gas Board and the State Tax Commission, which collects the severances taxes on oil and gas produced in the state.

Those close to the scene say that two separate reports are filed by the producers of oil and gas, one form going to the Oil and Gas Board and the other to

Creationism Versus Evolutionism

Dear Editor,

U.S. Judge William R. Overton's ruling as he struck down the Arkansas creationist law said the law's purpose was to advance religion in public schools. He also said creation-science lacks scientific merit or educational value as science and the major effect of the law would be to unconstitutionally entangle the state with religion.

I agree with Judge Overton in opposing the advancements of religionists who would surely turn our schools into religious bedlam. Judge Overton also said "evolution is the cornerstone of modern biology."

So, are we surprised at Judge Overton's ruling in Little Rock?

The judge is saying biology supplied the cell, evolutionism supplied about three billion years. The result is evolutionist teaching in the text books of our land.

What a shame so many of us have sat with our heads in the sand and have allowed this godless theory of evolutionism to completely dominate the thinking of our children.

It is very evident that the espousers of such teaching are exercising every effort to combat any teaching contrary to their views. The only thing that will counter such teaching is not creation-science as we see the term used, but God's creations that we see in the first chapter of Genesis.

There is NO scientific or evolutionist element present in God's miraculous creations.

Nine times in the first chapter of Genesis, in dealing with God's six days of creations, do we find this phrase used: "And God said..."

God took nothing, "said," and there appeared a mighty creation.

Solomon said in Ecclesiastes 3:14: "I know that, what so ever God doeth, it shall be forever; nothing can be put to it nor anything taken from it. And God doeth it, that men should fear before him."

A dictionary definition of religion states, "recognition on the part of man of a controlling super-human power, entitled to obedience, reverence and worship."

There is no semblance of religion or worship found in the first chapter of Genesis. And it could be read and studied in every classroom of our nation and would answer a lot of questions and solve a lot of problems.

Over and over in the first chapter of Genesis, relating to the miraculous six days of creations, do we find these words: "Whose seed is in itself, producing after its kind."

God instilled instincts into his created creations that they have never violated. He decreed that the plants would produce after their kind, and without such a principle, this world would be in utter chaos.

In Genesis, chapter three, we see Adam and Eve, God's crowning act of creation, being driven from the beautiful Garden of Eden because of transgression. Because of this sin, spiritual and physical death was pronounced upon all mankind.

God said to Adam (Genesis 3:19): "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken, for dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return."

In this cycle of life of dust as he was and dust shall he be, we find man, created by God, full grown, not evolved, one who needed companionship. He was created in God's image, given an eternal soul, given power to reproduce after his kind, endowed with mental ability to understand and obey the commandments of his maker, possessed with a conscience to plague him when he errs, and the awareness of heaven's plan held out to him for a better life in the hereafter.

Genesis 3:15 is a prophecy of that. What a contrast of this to the teaching of fictitious evolutionism.

Evolutionism assumes that somewhere, somehow, billions of years ago there appeared some form of life here upon the earth. After millions and millions of years have passed, that "assumed" form of life has now developed into creatures that climb trees, hang and swing by their tails and vines and limbs. Many more millions of years pass; he loses his tail; comes down to the earth; stands on his feet and walks upright like a man.

Lo, and behold, that's what he's now become - a man. Ridiculous, ridiculous.

In our day of such teaching, that's held out to our children, for they have no other choice. And then there's the constant atheistic effort to ban and suppress all teaching and knowledge of our God and creator from our nation. What then is going to be our inevitable end?

I will not give you my opinion. I will tell you what the Bible says.

"The wicked shall be turned into hell and all nations that forget God." - Psalms 9:17.

Well, the fourth chapter of Genesis has begun. Adam is now a man and he has a wife, Eve, and along comes a little boy named Cain. He grows up to be a man, too.

It's now been several thousand years since Cain. So when, how and why did the evolutionary process stop? I'll tell you when, how and why - it never did begin.

Why Vote For A Bill With No Chance?

Dear Editor,

The passing of a bill by the Mississippi Senate to require the teaching of scientific creationism is like trying to board an already sinking ship.

The very same bill was voted into law in Arkansas and has been declared unconstitutional by a federal district court. The law was found unconstitutional on the grounds that it violated Article I of the Constitution of the United States of America.

Article I states the Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.

Creationism is a religious belief and because it is a religious belief, it cannot be required by the government to be taught in the public schools regardless if it is right or wrong.

The required teaching is a violation of the separation between church and state. This is the very principle that America was founded on.

The voting of a bill by the Mississippi Senate that has already been found unconstitutional is a waste of time and taxpayers' money. They should spend the time trying to find a way to finance the state kindergarten and upgrade the educational system in Mississippi.

The Legislature has left this bill in committee to allow "more time for discussion." To take time to discuss a bill that will determine the standard of education for years to come is admirable, but then to vote for a bill that has no chance at this time of becoming a law is irresponsible.

Both of these actions were very political and I understand exactly why they were done.

The state supported kindergarten is very unpopular in some parts of the state as bills changing anything in education usually are. But being in the Bible Belt, the creationism bill is popular all over the state.

To win votes, one must pass what is popular and not what might catch static. This is the first rule of election politics.

An English parliamentarian once said to the effect that when a man is elected to public office he not only owes the people his alliance, but also his good judgement. In the case of the creationism bill, the Mississippi Senate showed us their alliance, but not much of their good judgement.

Mandy Eaton from Landstuhl, Germany, spent a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Eaton, recently.

We regret the accident of Mrs. Myrtle Harris. Mrs. Harris is suffering from a broken hip when she fell last week at her home. She is a patient in North Mississippi Medical Center, Tupelo. We wish her an early recovery and send assurance of our prayers.

Jan. 26, the East Marietta Baptist Church will host a Brotherhood - RA Weiner Roast. The time is 7 p.m. Members are urged to attend. The host will be Keith Clayton.

We are glad to report that Asberry Windham and daughter Elizabeth are now out of the hospital and improving.

We had a very nice letter from our friend, Mrs. Tom Moore of the New Site Community, recently. I have known Grace for many years and find her a true friend. Grace loves and collects poems. She now has two albums and is half way on the third. She is 84 years old and has arthritis very badly, but that doesn't keep Grace down. You will find one of her favorite poems in my "Thought For the Week." Thanks Grace, for the nice letter and your interest in our column. Keep reading!

Congratulations are being extending to Sue McDonald and Ricky Eaton who were married Dec. 19 in Portland, Tenn. They spent several days during the holiday season with Ricky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Eaton.

Mrs. Anne Harris is a patient in our local hospital. We wish her a complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kingsley of Tupelo spent a few days last week with Joe and Liz Kingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holly proudly announce the arrival of a baby boy, Thomas Bradley, who was born Jan. 1 and weighs 4 lbs. and 13 ozs. Thomas Bradley was born at the North Mississippi Medical Center, Tupelo. The grandparents are, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Holley and Mr. and Mrs. T.D. Rummage. The great grandparents are Mrs. Ruby Cartwright, Mrs. Ben Holly and Mrs. Ruth Knight.

I wish to correct a mistake made in this column last week. Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Bishop, James and Eloise Webb was Mrs. Bess Swinney, instead of Mrs. Bell Swinney of Kerrville, Texas. Sorry about this.

Visitors of Mrs. Marie Saylor on the weekend were Mrs. Hazel White and daughters Melissa and LaDawn. They live in Fayette, Ala.

The Senior Citizens'

Fellowship of Prentiss County Baptist will meet with the Mt. Olive Baptist Church Jan. 21 at 10:30 a.m. Bro. J.C. McIntire is the pastor.

Mrs. Leola (Robinson) Winsett passed away at the North Mississippi Medical Center, Tupelo, at 7:30 Monday morning. Leola has been ill for several weeks. We extend our sincere sympathy to this family.

Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Eaton spent the Christmas holidays in Minden, La., with their son Dr. and Mrs. Jimmy Eaton and Mandy, in the home of Mrs. J.C. Rodgers.

Mrs. Nina Pounds is a patient in North Mississippi Medical Center, Tupelo. We wish for Mrs. Pounds an early recovery.

Traveling a few hundred miles didn't mean a thing to Mrs. Lowell Roper when thinking of her new and first grandchild, Matthew Paul of Forth Worth, Texas. Mrs. Roper, with daughter Delane, son Lowell Wayne and Charlotte Jones, hit the road for Texas and spent the weekend with Matthew and his parents, Ronny and Sharon McCully.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kinglesley and Chris of Tupelo spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kingsley.

Mrs. R.C. Crabb is on our sick list this week.

Thought for the Week:

"Prayer for a Day's Walk"

God let me find the lonely ones

Among the throng to-day.

And let me say the word to take,

The loneliness away.

So many walk with aching hearts

Along the old highway.

So many walk with breaking hearts,

And no one understands;

They find the roadway

rough and steep

Across the barren lands.

God help me lighten weary eyes,

And strengthen nervous

hands.

God help me brighten

dreary eyes

And let my own grief be

A sure reminder of the grief

Of those who walk with me,

When words fail - hands

fail let me go

In silent sympathy.

If you make a lot of long distance calls within Mississippi, our Tel-A-Thrift service may be a real bargain for you.

Tel-A-Thrift service gives you 60 minutes of in-state long distance calling each month for only $8.40. If you use more than 60 minutes of calling in a month, you pay 84 cents for each additional six minutes.

Here's how it works:

- The service is available only to residence customers.
- Calls must be dialed direct, without operator assistance.
- Only calls made between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m. weeknights, all day Saturdays, and Sundays until 5 p.m. are included in Tel-A-Thrift. Calls made at other times are billed at the normal long distance rate.

• There is a one-minute minimum for each call. Other than that, you can divide the 60 minutes any way you choose - from one long call to 60 short ones.

If you'd like to have Tel-A-Thrift service, call your South Central Bell service representative. The number is printed on your phone bill.

There is a small charge for establishing the service.

Here are some tips to help keep your telephone bill down:

- Use Directory Assistance (DA) calls wisely. As part of your local service, you can make up to ten DA calls each billing month at no extra charge. Each DA call over the ten-call allowance costs you 20 cents. Look up numbers in the phone book and jot them down where they'll be handy the next time you need them.
- Be sure to dial your own local calls. If you ask an operator to dial a local call that you could have dialed yourself, you'll be charged a 25-cent surcharge.

Someone's waiting.
Reach out with long distance.

We express our deepest sympathy to George Gaither and family for the loss of his beloved wife. We just pray that the Lord will ever be with him and console him during his hour of bereavement.

I also express my deepest apology to all my weekly readers. But due to transportation purposes I was unable to get my report in.

We also send our prayers to everyone in the hospital - Mrs. Sara Miller, and Curtis Miller. Mrs. Linnette Miller was also a patient but we're glad to know that she's at home and doing well. We also pray that Sis Geraldine will have recovered totally and be back at home and doing fine.

This slippery snow has kept everyone in but the children have really enjoyed the snow - making snow balls, snow cream and snowmen. Many of them went sliding on sleds.

Many of the local businesses were closed down but I know a lot of people can't hardly wait to get back to work. It will be a big bent in next week's pay-roll.

The snow was so beautiful. You woke up in the morning and the sun shining on it made it beautiful. A lot woke up to find their automobiles wouldn't start because of the cold weather. Many water pipes burst. But that's all part of freezing weather. We learn to praise God in our tribulations and times of victory.

Happy Birthday wishes to Mrs. Mauvaline Spencer. Charld Allen was honored with a surprise birthday party by his wife on Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Allen was honored with a baby shower on Saturday evening given by Mrs. Olivia Guzzard and Mrs. Gennette McGee.

We express our deepest sympathy to President White and also we pray a special prayer for his family.

The snow to some families was a terrible thing but we have to look to the hills from whence our help comes from the Lord. I believe the Psalmist David said he has never seen the righteous forsaken now his seed beg for bread. Just an encouraging remark to pass along because these are times when we have to care for one another, look after our elderly and help take care of the widower, motherless, fatherless and who-so-ever needs help.

We read in the newspaper and see over TV where people are freezing to death in their home. So let's be concerned about each other and be a good neighbor. A neighbor is not just who you live next to but a neighbor is who-so-ever we come in contact with. A good neighbor is one who aides the other whenever he can.

We were sorry to hear about Mrs. Louella Shum-pert's incident about the fire, although she had to spend several days in the hospital, she's out and doing fine now.

Till Next Week....

It's snowing! It's really snowing! The excitement started as the flakes began to fall. It was hardly noticeable at first, but soon the air became heavy with white as the snowclouds moved in.

Excitement mounted as the snow piled upon the ground. The winter wonderland that we had all wished so hard for during the holiday season was a little late in arriving, but none of it's beauty was lost in the delay.

No one was more thrilled than I about the forecasted 2 to 4 inches accumulation. But when the snow actually began to fall, I thought that I better stock up on a few extra food items. After all, with a little luck we may be snowbound for a couple of days.

Having done my shopping and returning home, I found that the snow had lost a little of it's appeal when my car began sliding on the road. The hazards of the situation took it's grip on me and as I slowly made my way toward home, the two miles seemed to stretch into 20.

Once safely under my own carport, I decided that this was where I was gonna stay for a while. Driving in these hazardous conditions not for me.

The fascination soon returned as the snow covered the earth in a fluffy white, but cold blanket.

After standing with our noses against the window panes, I gave in to let the children go out for a while to investigate, although I did hate to see the smooth surface all tracked up. Most children have games of snowball fights and snowmen, but not my 4-year-old. I looked out to find him rustling about on his hands and knees making a road with his road grader.

Nearby is his dumptruck loaded with snow, put on no doubt with the help of his end loader and back hoe. His trusty Ford tractor and bull dozer were close at hand ready for any emergencies that might arise.

He seemed to ignore the cold and played as carefree as if he was in the middle of his sandpile on a summer day. I hated to interrupt his work, but I decided to cut him off at the bend as his cheeks became redder and redder. He gave in reluctantly after promises of "later" and deposited all the construction equipment in the bathtub.

Now it's back to the window to enjoy the scenery, namely the splendor of the snow as it slowly and quietly covers Brock's "road." The old tumbled down barn across the road has taken on a new beauty. Frosted trees and shrubs add a glistening touch to the enchanting decor. It is a beauty that will soon be spoiled as traffic begins and more people stir about. Tomorrow it will be a wonderfully different playground for children of all ages, but now it is a sight to behold.

Our local girl scouts are now taking orders for girl scout cookies. The girls sell these cookies to raise money for troop projects, to earn awards and to provide the funds necessary for the continuation of programs that directly benefit the girls. So when you are called upon please help all you can.

Due to the weather conditions, the girls may not be able to call on as many of you as they would like. So if you have not been called on and would like to purchase some Girl Scout cookies please call 728-9563 nights and we will take your order. Your support is needed!

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Johnson enjoyed having some friends over for an afternoon's frolic in the snow. They enjoyed sledding, riding three-wheelers, snowball fights and just being together.

The group included Mr. and Mrs. Ronny Sappington, Christy and Brandy, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Moore and Jan, Donna Johnson, Danny Flurry, Clara Owens, Charles Thompson, Greg and Phillip Bullock. Most of the group stayed and enjoyed a meal with the Johnsons. It sounds like they all had a good time.

Rita Davis and Cindy Underwood visited with Jennifer and Brock Dunaway on Thursday. They enjoyed building a snowman and playing in the snow.

Lizzie Underwood has been reported as being seriously ill and hospitalized in the Tupelo hospital. We wish the best for her.

We're glad to know that Estelle White has improved enough to be home from the hospital and doing fine. Mary Lou Honeycutt has been staying with her.

Also, Mrs. Cora King is doing well after recent eye surgery. May she continue to improve.

We would like to remember some of the people who have been shut-in for various ailments. Among them are Winnie Harris, Gladys McGaughy, Ila Caldwell and Almeda George.

Jennifer Dunaway was an overnight visitor of Cindy Underwood on Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shepard and son were Saturday visitors of Mrs. Jesse Henson and Blanche.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Smith are the new parents of a daughter who was born Jan. 13, weighing in at 6 lbs. and 5 ozs.

Rickey Norris was shot in the leg when a gun he was carrying accidentally went off. He has been hospitalized in Tupelo for several days. We hope he is home now and feeling better.

Funeral services were held on Thursday for Leonard Morgan with burial at Liberty Hill Cemetery. Our sympathy is extended to his family and loved ones.

Mrs. Alma Dunahoo is reported as doing well following her recent heart attack. She is at home. I'm sorry that I did not know about it sooner. I would like to send best wishes for a speedy recovery to her.

Mrs. Katie Hitchcock has returned to her home in Wellsville, Utah, after visiting with friends and relatives here for a couple of weeks. We only wish that the recent death of her brother, Demp Jones, had not been the sad occasion that brought her here. Our sympathy is extended to the family and loved ones of Mr. Jones.

Wishes for a happy birthday this week go for Julie Bearden, Elvia Moorman and Rachel Floyd.

Belated wishes for theones that I missed the past couple of weeks, Benita Leon, Dean Holder, Clara Owens, Rhonda Burcham, Johnny Carpenter, Helen Harris, Daniel Ward, Luther Moorman and Raymond Burcham. Sorry that I missed wishing you a happy birthday, but better late than never. I hope that it was a happy one.

Mrs. Katie Henson has been in the local hospital for several days. She was hoping to be released earlier in the week. We hope that she is home now and feeling better.

Sunday church services were great. There was not a big crowd, but there was a bunch of happy people, glad to be able to be in God's house again.

Little Jamie Gray entered the hospital at Amory Sunday afternoon for surgery. Our love and prayers are with him.

Visitors last week of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Glover and Teresa were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Henery, Melissa and Eric of Jugfork, and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Henery and family of Baldwin.

Sherry Lynn Underwood of Guntown stayed Friday and Friday night with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris.

Rae Chriswell of Hopewell community visited Sharon Cagle last week.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Essie Merryman is out of the hospital and doing great. She's at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Jean Underwood, in the Pratt community.

Mrs. Martha Cagle, Mrs. Jettie Pruitt and Mrs. Waldean Harkey had 24-hour viruses last week. We are glad to say they are fine now.

Mr. and Mrs. Pressley Gamble and son of Verona spent the weekend with Mrs. Chessie Prentice.

Those visiting Mrs. Verda Mae Stubblefield last week were Mrs. Cathrine Shook and granddaughter, Shea Holland, of Booneville.

Miss Carla Hendrix and Beverly spent Friday night with their grandmother, Mrs. Frankie Hendrix of Wheeler.

Howard Williams of Pleasant Ridge (Union County) and Mrs. Joyce Chism spent Saturday in Dennis, Miss.

At our church on Monday night, Jan. 11, we had a bridal shower for Miss Cindy Hatfield, bride-elect of our very own Ray Harky. She received many lovely and useful gifts. We wish them much happiness in their coming marriage.

Mark Cagle visited John Chriswell of the Hopewell Community last week.

Scholarship Recipients Announced By Northeast

Ronnie M. Sweeney, chairman of the Northeast Mississippi Junior College's scholarship committee, this week announced the awarding of scholarships to two students from Booneville for 1981-82.

Karen McGregor, a Northeast Junior College sophomore from Booneville, has been awarded the BESCO scholarship for 1981-82. Sterling Akers, also a sophomore from Booneville, has been awarded the Booneville Breakfast Civitan scholarship for 1981-82, Sweeney said.

This year, 44 individuals and businesses contributed to the scholarship program at Northeast, providing financial assistance to some 65 students.

The Booneville Breakfast Civitan Club provides a $200 scholarship on an annual basis to a Prentiss County resident. BESCO provides a one-semester, full tuition scholarship.

Sterling, an engineering major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Akers of Booneville.

Miss McGregor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McGregor of Booneville, is a pre-nursing major.

I guess all the kids enjoyed the snow this week. Double G said it wasn't any fun when he hit the ice by the high school football field and slid off in the ditch. He wasn't hurt, but damaged his pickup.

Upholstery Man and Termite both had frozen water lines all week. We're glad no one had any really serious injuries.

Blue Lady's brother, Dewell Ramey, is in intensive care in Memphis. Flury III's father, Rube Ricks, is in the Baldwin hospital with pneumonia and a possible stroke. My mother, Mrs. Aleene Sharp, is at home trying out her crutches. Sunshine and Texas Ruby both have had the flu, and Mrs. Songster has a cold.

We hope everyone is feeling better and will soon be back to their old selves.

Congratulations to Capricorn Lady on the arrival of a new granddaughter, Janna Kristen, weighing 8 lbs.

Due to the bad weather, we were unable to have the officers' meeting Thursday. We hope the weather keeps getting better and we can have our business meeting Tuesday night, the 19th.

Little Pisgah Cowboy celebrated his second birthday Sunday, Jan. 17, with a few friends and family. We hope he had a nice day and enjoys many more.

Lady Q's appointment was moved up to Feb. 2, with surgery scheduled for the 3rd. We sure wish her the best of luck.

Lady Sidekick, what was so exciting that, after you had already gotten into the truck, the grocery man comes and wants to know if you want the groceries you paid for? It happens to all of us sometimes, I guess.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

From Disaster To Leading Crop

Will Forestry Trend Reverse Again?

By JOHN STUART County Forester

The way most Mississippians saw it, the future of the state's forest industry was about as promising as a snowball in mid-July.

Their reasons were gloomy, indeed.

The magnificent virgin forests of towering pines were now mile after mile of rotting stumps, mangled tree tops and logging litter.

One by one, the large sawmills were being dismantled and the flourishing little towns which had sprung up around them were becoming ghost towns overnight.

The shrill scream of logging engines lugging their loads up hills and along ridges no longer could be heard along the many miles of "dummyline" rails that linked the forests with the giant saws of the mills.

And the searing flames of wildfires were sweeping freely as a winter wind across more than 10 million acres of timbered and cutover lands each year, sterilizing the rich humus soil and destroying seedlings for tomorrow's forest.

Gone were the jobs. Gone was the boom economy. And gone were the prospects of a promising future.

It was a grim scene. But that was in 1926.

Today, the old environmental scars have been erased by young stands of stately pines which now grow on once denuded areas. And the same industry whose death knell had been sounded, now accounts for 15 percent or more of the state's total economy.

For example, Mississippi's forest industry today employs in excess of 74,000 people, has an annual payroll of more than $470 million and generates nearly $3 billion in total spending.

Last year, timber was the leading agricultural crop in the state when forest products delivered at the first processing point were valued at $535 million.

The state's forestry accomplishments since the "cut-out and get out" lumbering era of half a century ago have certainly been impressive. But the big question looming now is whether the second boom will last, or will it fizzle out like the first one?

According to the Mississippi Forestry Commission, the state right now is cutting about as much timber each year as it is growing. At the same time, forestry experts are predicting that timber demands will more than double by the year 2030.

This means that timber growth on our forestlands must be greatly accelerated if we are to keep pace with spiraling demands. In fact, timber growth must be more than doubled over the next 30 to 40 years.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission admits that's a giant order, but its foresters contend that it can be done.

As in other Southern states, approximately 75 percent of the commercial forestland is owned by non-industrial private landowners - mostly in small tracts averaging 80-90 acres. And it is estimated that these acreages are currently producing wood volumes at only about half their capacity.

For example, over eight million acres of Mississippi's forestland is in need of stand regeneration; stand improvement practices such as brush and cull hardwood removal; regeneration after harvest, and conversion from low quality hardwoods to pine.

The Forestry Commission points to a backlog of at least four million acres in need of regeneration, noting that only about 45,000 acres a year are being planted.

If brought into maximum production, the Forestry

Commission points out, these small woodlots could supply the timber volumes needed to meet predicted demands, and provide the base on which the state's forest industry can continue to expand.

Herein, of course, lies one of the state's greatest challenges of the immediate future - a challenge no less awesome perhaps than the one it faced back in 1926.

As the countdown on the new century ticks away, the Forestry Commission is making strides toward meeting that challenge, by working directly with non-industrial landowners in an effort to tap the timber growing potential of their small woodlots.

Yearly, commission personnel service more than 30,000 landowner requests for advice and assistance in selling timber, planting trees, managing and improving timber stands.

But the commission is quick to admit that Mississippi is a long way off from realizing its full forestry potential.

Airman Kettler Completes Basic

Airman Terry R. Kettler, son of Marcy and Norman Lademan of Tishomingo, graduated from basic training on Dec. 14 at the Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

He is currently undergoing six weeks of extensive training at Lackland to become a security specialist. After he completes training, he will be stationed at a missile base in South Dakota.

Help Prentiss County Grow . . .

To Replace Disaster Program

Disaster Insurance Available

When Congress decided to minimize crop disaster programs, it came up with what many people say is a better idea: A nationwide program of All-Risk crop insurance in which the government pays a substantial part of the premium for an insurance policy individual crop producers can tailor to their own needs.

The new insurance program, sponsored by USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), begins with this year's crops and is available through local private insurance agents.

According to Ralph Gillespie, FCIC Field Supervisor, farmers in Prentiss County can now obtain insurance coverage for cotton, corn, grain sorghum, and soybeans. The deadline to apply is April 15 (except for corn).

Gillespie said that farmers can "customize" their insurance in a variety of ways. For one thing, starting this year, a farmer with documented yield history for at least three years can obtain a production guarantee based on past yields.

Each farmer has a choice of carrying a policy that guarantees either 50 percent, 65 percent, or 75 percent of average yield. Each also can choose from three selections, the price to be paid for each bushel or pound that actual production on the farm falls below the guarantee.

Another choice involves hail insurance. By electing to delete hail and fire coverage from the All-Risk policy and carrying private hail and fire coverage instead, a farmer's premium for All-Risk insurance will be reduced accordingly.

Or, if the maximum hail and fire protection is wanted, a farmer can purchase private insurance to supplement the coverage provided by the All-Risk policy.

To make All-Risk insurance as affordable as possible, Gillespie points out that the federal government pays up to 30 percent of the premium. The balance, which is paid by the farmer, is a tax-deductible business expense.

This further reduces the net cost of carrying insurance protection. In addition, discounts - ranging from 5 percent of the premium after one year, to as high as 50 percent of the premium - are given to policyholders with few or no insured losses.

Prentiss County farmers desiring information about the insurance options available to them and what various levels of protection would cost should contact any authorized local agent.

Following Rehabilitation Aid

Disabled Increase Income

After receiving services from the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation of the State Department of Education, over 4,500 Mississippians have more than tripled their previous incomes, according to Dr. Charles Holladay, state superintendent of education.

Holladay said salaries of the 4,589 persons grew from $8.3 million a year before rehabilitation to $31 million a year afterwards.

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation is a state-federal service provided by law to help disabled men and women earn a living. It eliminates or reduces disabilities, where possible, and prepares working-aged handicapped persons for earning a living. It also helps them find work and adjust to it.

The department considers a person rehabilitated when he or she is placed on a job and has successfully adjusted to it. During fiscal year 1981, 138 persons from Prentiss County were served by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and 47 were considered to have been rehabilitated.

The program is open to persons with physical, mental or emotional disabilities which are substantial hindrances to their earning a living. There must also be the likelihood that, as a result of the services, these persons will have their ability to work improved.

"A total of 24,872 persons received our services last year," said John Webb, VR director. "These services included counseling, evaluation of needs, medical help, physical aids, job training, placement and follow-up after placement."

"Both this figure and the number of rehabilitants are lower than in recent years," Webb said. "We attribute this to several factors, including inflation and less funding. One of the primary reasons, however, is the increase in the number of severely disabled persons we're working with."

Of the 4,589 rehabilitated, 2,861 or 62.3 percent were severely disabled; and, 14,209 or 57.1 percent of all those served by the agency were severely disabled, Webb explained. He said these numbers are up considerably compared to those from the last few years.

"In addition," Webb said,

"it's three times as expensive to serve the severely disabled. Combined, these three factors have lowered the total of rehabilitants and persons served, but we welcome the opportunity to serve the severely disabled since they need our help so much more than some others."

The largest number of disabilities of the 4,589 were mental and emotional disorders. Almost 1,100 persons with mental or emotional illness or mental retardation went to work. Orthopedic disabilities (amputations and impairments) were second with 1,061 rehabilitants. Alcoholism, some 382, comprised the third largest type of disability.

These figures were included in rehab's annual report, released recently. The report noted VR administers a statewide system of "sheltered" workshop facilities, which hire and train the handicapped. These facilities earned over $2.8 million in subcontract work for industries statewide last year. More than $1.7 million was paid in trainee wages.

Among other services, VR also administers a Disability

Determination Services unit. The unit, under contract with the Social Security Administration, helps determine who is eligible for disability benefits.

Last year, the unit processed over 56,000 claims, approving about one in four.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. JIM DAVIS

OH, MY ACHING BACK

If you're like a lot of people, you may have occasional or persistent back pain and wonder what caused it. You try to think of some incident in which you may have strained your back, and come up with nothing. But there must be some reason why you have back pains. The truth is that even the simplest of incidents may be the cause, such as reaching high on a shelf to get something. Or stooping suddenly to pick up something that has fallen. Or maybe you need some tips on good posture.

Whatever the cause, the problem may be that your spinal column is out of alignment. No pain-killing drug can cure the cause. It can dull the pain for awhile and give you temporary relief. But if your back is out of alignment, the pain will probably not go away unless you get the treatment you need. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

Junior Perrigo Serving Externship At Tigrett's

Alfred Ray (Junior) Perrigo of Booneville, a fifth year student in the University of Mississippi's School of Pharmacy, will begin serving an externship at the Tigrett Drug Center in Booneville this month, according to a University spokesman.

Perrigo, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Perrigo Sr. of Booneville, will work under James Tigrett in the externship.

Tigrett is a clinical instructor for the UM School of Pharmacy. As such, he is providing a valuable service as a health team member by serving as a preceptor for training pharmacy students at Ole Miss, the spokesman said.

Students working in the clinical program gain valuable on the job training by having the opportunity to practice pharmacy under the direct supervision of a certified clinical instructor, the UM spokesman said.

Incentive Sign-Ups Begin

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

FIP SIGNUP UNDERWAY
The sign-up period for the Forestry Incentives Program (FIP) practices began Jan. 15 at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office. Applications will be accepted thru Jan. 29.

We ask farmers to sign up as soon as possible because their practices must be approved by the county committee before the work can begin. Farmers who start forestry practices before approval are ineligible for cost shares.

Program funds are available for tree planting, site preparation, and site improvement. The forestry incentives program is designed to increase the nation's supply of timber products and to enhance other forest resources.

The demand for saw timber, plywood logs, and quality hardwood logs in this county is expected to exceed the supply within 25 years unless many more trees are planted each year and much more forest land is placed under good forest management.

The forestry incentives program is available only to privately owned land. Many private non-industrial landowners do not have the funds to make long term investments to improve forest land; therefore, the program is designed to assist those landowners.

Seventy-four counties in Mississippi are designated for FIP and are eligible to participate in the program. Mississippi has benefited by receiving funds totaling $7,000,000 to improve the productive capacity of our private forest lands since the origin of the forestry incentives program in 1974.

Buy Clothing
With Care

By EDWARD L.
MCWHIRTER
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

WHEN BUYING
CLOTHES, CONSIDER
INVESTMENT DRESSING

When buying clothing, consider more than just the cost of the garment. Upkeep and wearlife are just as important in investment dressing, according to clothing and textiles specialists.

The cost per wearing is really what investment dressing is all about. You take the price of the item and divide it by the number of expected wearings to get the cost per wearing.

For example, a $35 jacket with an expected two years of wearlife will cost 37 cents per wearing if the garment is worn three times a week for four months.

Likewise, a pair of $39 shoes expected to be worn for one year would cost about 25 cents per wear if worn three times a week.

Follow these investment dressing hints:

- Build on the good clothes you own now.
- Invest clothing dollars in clothes worn more frequently. The more you wear a garment, the better the construction and fabric should be.

- Buy separates to allow more clothing combinations.
- Buy items with multipurpose use.

- Consider upkeep. The time and money needed to clean, press and care for clothing can be reduced through wise purchase. Dry cleaning or special care costs can be more expensive over the life of the garment than the purchase price.

- Select seasonless clothes.
- Remember, fads have limited use.

- Avoid garments that require special undergarments or accessories. Boys and girls in the consumer education program are encouraged to use management and economic principles such as these when making consumer decisions. They learn by doing and practice consumer-making skills in activities geared to their age levels.

Members also are encouraged to share consumer information with others in projects ranging from consumer fraud awareness to surveys of teen buying habits.

Brown Shoe Co. Announces Promotions

Three major appointments within the manufacturing division of Brown Shoe Company were announced last week in St. Louis, Mo., by R.W. Shomaker, president of the company.

One of those appointments goes to a former employee of the Brown Shoe Company in Booneville, Charles E. Stanfill.

Stanfill, who was assistant superintendent of the Booneville factory from 1961 to 1969, has been named vice-president of Shoe Manufacturing. He joined Brown Shoe Company's Savannah, Tenn., factory in 1947. In 1952 he became a supervisory trainee and was named foreman of the Savannah fitting department in 1953.

He came to Booneville from Savannah in 1961, and became superintendent of the Bernie, Mo., plant in 1969. In 1972 he was named assistant general superintendent. Men's and Children's Factories and currently serves as general superintendent, Men's and Children's Factories. A successor for that position will be named shortly, a spokesman said.

In other appointments, Curtis R. Johnson, currently senior vice-president, Manufacturing and Components, has been named executive vice-president, Production and Purchasing. He succeeds C. Jack Johnson, who will retire in May for health reasons.

Edward L. Meiser, currently vice-president, Components Manufacturing, has been named senior vice-president, Purchasing and Components.

USM To Hold Special
Nursing Courses

The University of Southern Mississippi will present a special continuing education course for area nurses on "Legal Aspects of Hospital Documentation."

Registered nurses at acute health care facilities who were surveyed by the USM School of Nursing expressed a need for study on the legal aspects relating to nurses notes, care plans, common systems of charting and documentation omission and commission, a university spokesman said. This course was designed to meet those demands.

The course is scheduled for Jan. 27 at the Ramada Inn in Tupelo and will be repeated Jan. 28 at the Holiday Inn in Oxford.

To register for the course, call or write the USM School of Nursing, Continuing Education, USM Box 5104, Hattisburg, MS 39401, phone 266-4211.

Tigers, Tigerettes Notch Monday Night Victories

Maurice Stafford pumped in a game high 40 points here Monday night to aid the Richard Mathis driven Northeast Mississippi Junior College Tigers to a 107-69 romp over Meridian Junior College at the Bonner Arnold Coliseum.

The win was part of a two victory performance where, in the first game, Northeast's Tigerettes, under head coach Rickey Ford, dropped the Meridian Ladies 95-79 to complete a two game sweep for the night.

Stafford's 40 points led all scores while teammate Anthony Anderson followed with 20 points on the night while Stanley Carter netted 12 and Ralph Griffin was next with 11.

The game started here at a low pace with Northeast jumping out to 53-39 halftime and then turned on the steam in the final half to post their 14th victory of the year against only three losses.

In girl's action Northeast's Lady Tigers were tied with the Meridians at the intermission and then outscored the South Mississippi squad 52 points to 36 points in the final frames.

Ann McBrayer from Baldwin led all scorers with a 30 point performance followed by Brenda Mayes from Biggersville with 21 points with Thrasher's Monte Hare next with 14.

Lane Garrett had 15 points for the Meridian squad.

Both the Tigers and Tigerettes will face two of their toughest roads trips of the year this week.

Beginning tonight Northeast's troops will travel down to Wampus Country to face Itawamba in an arch-rival contest and then on Monday they will travel to Senatobia to meet yet another arch-rival in the Northeastwest Rangers.

Northeast will return home next Thursday night against East Mississippi.

Correction Cardinalettes Names Omitted

Due to an error in last week's paper the two Jumpertown girls' names were omitted from the County's All-Stars list during last week's County Tournament.

Both Lynette Miller and Marti Moore of Jumpertown were named to the 1982 County Girls All-Star Squad.

The Banner-Independent regrets this error.....

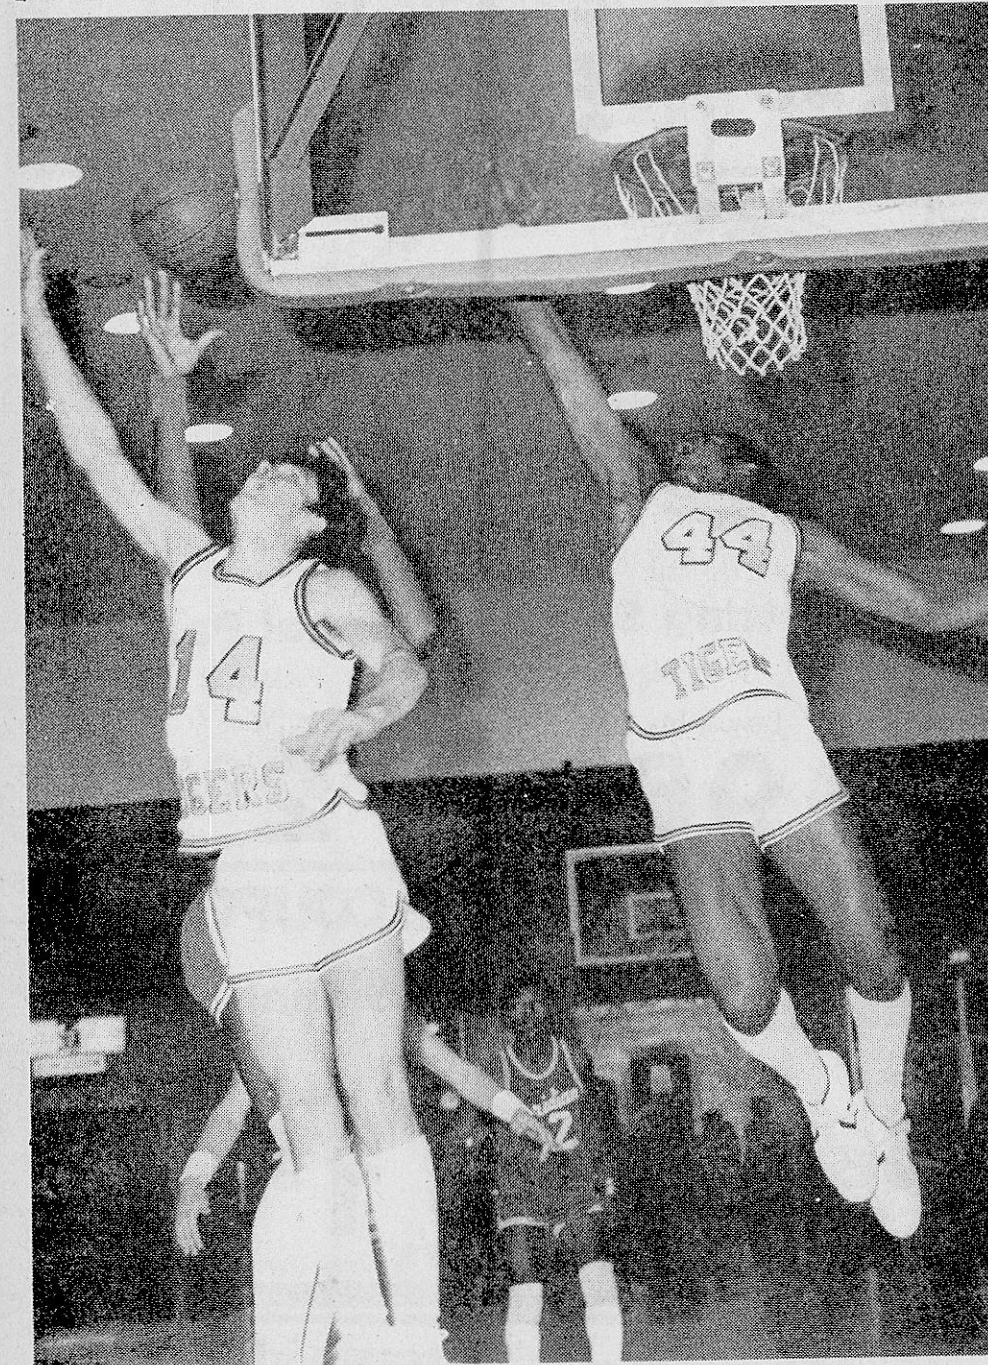

PULLS DOWN THE REBOUND— Northeast's Stanley Carter (24) grabs this rebound here against Meridian in Monday night action at Northeast's Bonner Arnold Coliseum. Teammates Maurice Stafford (44) and Glenn Mauney (14) look on. Carter aided the Tigers in a 107-69 victory.

ON THE FINGERTIPS — Northeast's Glenn Mauney (14) and Maurice Stafford (44) battle here for the ball against Meridian in Monday's battle at Northeast. The Tigers won their 14th game of the year.

SEC Briefs

Birmingham, AL (Sp) - Alabama, top scoring team of the Southeastern Conference, and Ole Miss, best at field goal shooting, both rate the NCAA statistical top ten. Bama's game average of 83.6 points is number 9 nationally and the 55 percent accuracy of Ole Miss is fourth. But the strongest statistic is Alabama's rebounding margin, 14.4 per game, number 1 in the NCAA.

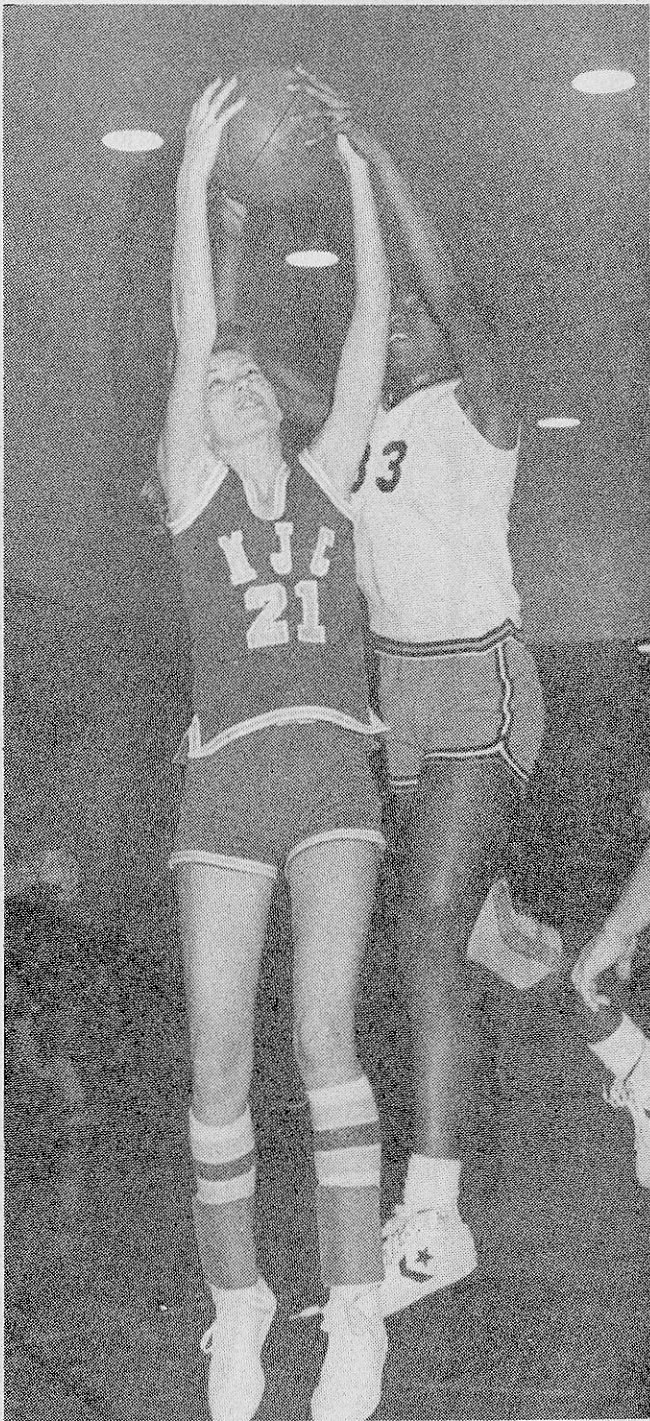

Kentucky and Florida rate in free throw accuracy, the Wildcats 75.9 percent placing seventh in the NCAA and Florida's 75.5 percent ninth. Kentucky also leads SEC defense against the field goal, holding opponents to 46.3 percent, edging Georgia's 46.5. Ole Miss limits others to the fewest rebounds, 23.9 per game, and LSU opponents are the poorest free throw shooters, 63.9 percent.

Eddie Phillips Back
Atop the Rebounding
Grabbing 15 loose balls against LSU, Alabama's Eddie Phillips jumped his way into the conference's rebounding lead. The trusty senior increased his mark to 9.9. Charles Barkley, an Auburn freshman and last week's leader, is in second place at 9.6. Third place also belongs to a frosh, Florida's Eugene McDowell, who averages 9.2 rebounds per game.

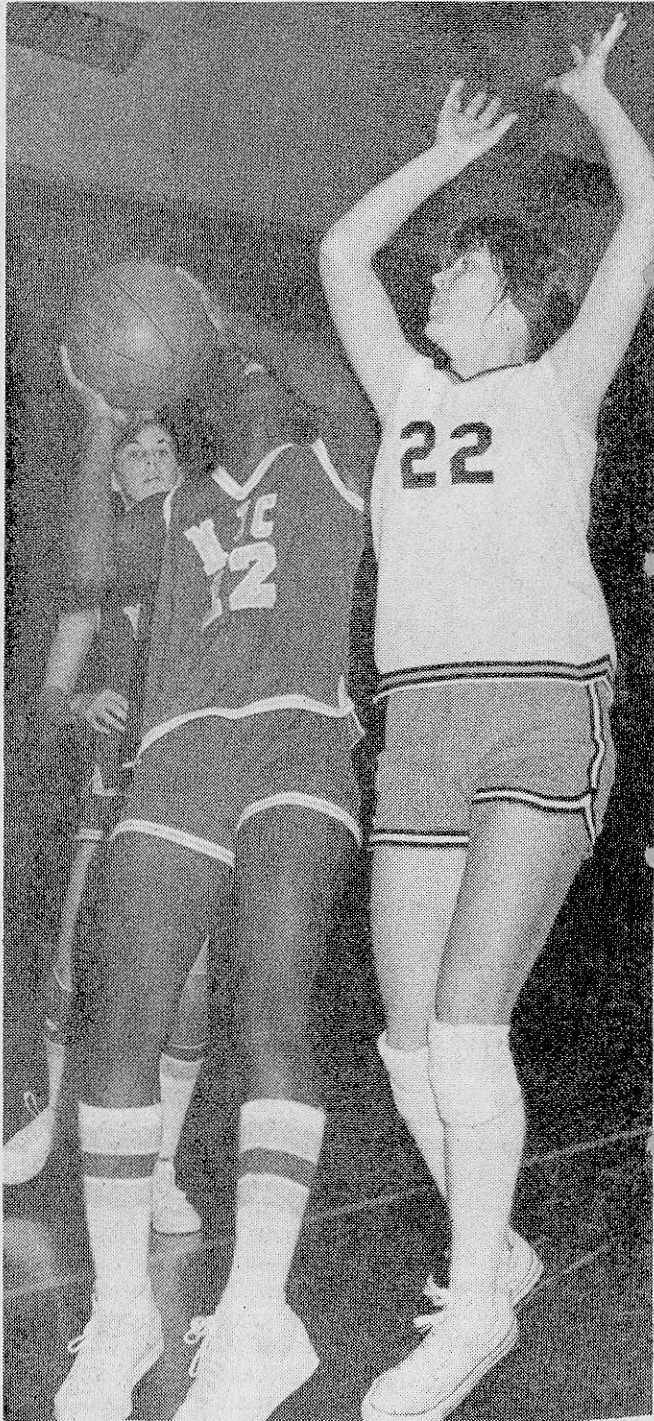

Sean Tuohy To Set SEC Assists Career Record
Sean Tuohy, the Mississippi senior, has topped the SEC's assists list since his freshman year and this week is no exception. He is in the lead with 6.9 per game. Watch for Tuohy to break the conference career record for assists in the Rebs' Wednesday night game against Vanderbilt. He is only four shy of Kenny Higgs' 431 he dished off while playing for LSU from 1975 through '78.

Auburn's Paul Daniels, at 6.4 assists per game, is next. Alabama freshman Ennis Whately averages 6.3.

Rebels Stieg and Clark Pace Field Goal Firing
Roger Stieg and Carlos Clark, both Ole Miss men, pace the firing of field goals in the SEC, Stieg hitting 68.1 percent and Clark 65.2. Alabama freshman Bobby Lee Hurt connects on 64.7 percent and junior Dale Ellis of Tennessee on 64.4 percent. One other sixty percent is freshman Charles Barkley of Auburn on 60.2 percent. Ellis has made the most field goals, 121.

BATTLE FOR THE BALL — Brenda Mayes (33) of Northeast and Teresa Daily of Meridian battle for the ball here in Monday's action. The game here was tied at halftime but the Tigerettes went on to win easily.

GOOD DEFENSE — Northeast's Monte Hare (22) gets set to attempt to block the shot of Meridian's Lane Garrett (12) here in Monday night JUCO action at Northeast. Coach Rickey Ford's Tigerettes dropped the Meridian ladies 95-79.

McKay To Compete In Hot-Shot Event

Jason McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry McKay of Baldwin, is one of seven area youngsters to qualify for the Atlanta Area Playoffs of the Pepsi Cola - NBA Hotshot competition to be held on Jan. 23rd at Atlanta, Georgia.

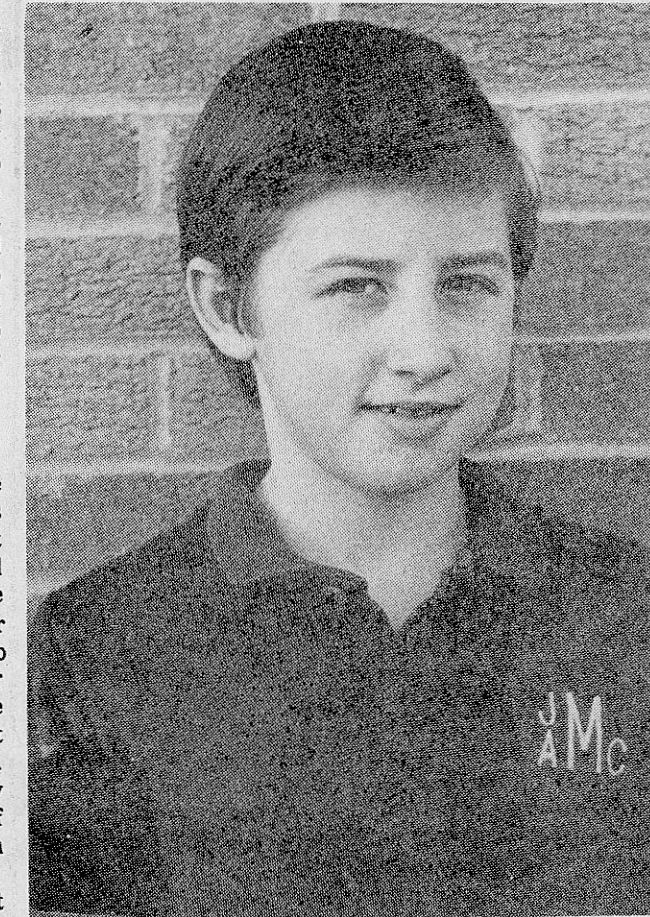

These local kids will represent Tupelo Pepsi Cola and the State of Mississippi in playoff competition that could lead to the Pepsi Cola National Championship.

In Pepsi Hotshot competition, participants are given one minute to sink as many baskets as they can from predetermined "hotsots" around the key. Points are awarded for each basket, and subtracted for violations such as walking, palming, or double dribbling.

The Pepsi Cola Hotshot is run in cooperation with the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Tupelo.

Others competing from the Tupelo area are Sherri Davidson, Houlika; Deseree Drummond, Tupelo; Richard Stevens, Shannon; Kristie Bost, Oxford; Alan Smith, Dumas; and Steve Venson, Tupelo.

Jason McKay Duck Stamp Entries Are Now Accepted

JACKSON - Mississippi artists can begin sending in their entries for this year's waterfowl stamp art competition, according to the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Now in its fifth year, the contest is held to select the best piece of art to appear on the state's waterfowl stamp, which will be issued by the agency in early 1982.

The waterfowl art contest deadline is March 19, 1982.

Complete rules and regulations are available by writing State Waterfowl Stamp Art Contest, P.O. Box 451, Jackson, MS 39205.

Tupelo, Wheeler Game Rescheduled

The Tupelo Golden Wave-Wheeler Eagle matchup originally scheduled for last Friday night but cancelled due to inclement weather, has been changed to Feb. 6th according to Wheeler principal William Fraiser. This year's game marks a rematch of last year's outing which drew the largest crowd ever to attend a sporting event at Northeast's Bonner Arnold Coliseum. Some 4,000 spectators turned out for the exciting matchup last year and another large following is expected this time around. The Prentiss County driven Wheeler Eagles, under head coach Sam Richey, will be a slight favorite this time around, but Tupelo is only a notch behind and is expected to put up quite a struggle.

Mathis Pleased With Tiger Performance Defense Needs Added Work

"We're playing well at times but we have to improve on our defense."

Remarks for Northeast Mississippi Junior College head boys coach Richard Mathis in an interview after Northeast's Monday night win over Meridian.

"I'm pleased with some aspects of our game," Mathis said. "We run our breaks well and one thing that particular pleases me is our strength on the bench, this has helped us out a lot."

The Tigers, who currently post a 14-3 overall record, have been extremely impressive in several games this year but according to the Tiger head mentor they indeed have some improving to do."

Mathis said, when asked if the Tigers had reached their peak this year, "Well in the Jackson State game a few weeks back I honestly felt like we played as well as we could. I do however think we can improve in several phases of the game," he added. The Northeast head coach said that the one thing he would like for the Tigers to improve on most is their play against zone defenses.

"Holmes ran a zone against us the other night," Mathis said. "And we just didn't handle them like we should."

Mathis said his offensive strategy this year was indeed the run and gun offense, if possible. "We like the fast break type offense," he said. "Our goal is to score as quick as we can. Of course this can be done a lot easier facing the man to man defense."

The Tiger boss said Northeast's men are now in the heart of the 1981-82 campaign. The Tigers will face Itawamba tonight at the Indian dome in Fulton and Monday night will travel to Northwest Junior College in Senatobia to face the arch-rival Rangers who will indeed be after some revenge from an earlier defeat at the hands of the Tigers.

Coach Mathis stated that he wanted the Tigers to have a good record going into the District playoffs which get underway in mid-February.

The Tigers are one of the top teams now in the North division and both these next two games could be determining factors on the outcome of the playoff sites.

Strict 'Lee' Speaking

By LEE GENTRY
Sports Editor

These low scoring games are for the birds....

Now I like a good defensive struggle now and then but the way some teams have been playing recently it look's as though the defensive games are taking over in some cases.

Mississippi State and Georgia played to a 26-20 final a few nights ago with Georgia winning and then Delta State played two full halves and won over Martin last Saturday night by an amazing score of 15-14.

I'm glad I'm a photographer and don't have to pay to see a game like that. This however, is just one person's opinion against another. Some folks may like these type games but when I go to a basketball game I like to see the ball put in the basket.

The reason these games are played like this is simple. A coach, knowing that their opponent is a high scoring run and gun team, feels like he can have a better chance to win if he slows the game down. Well slowing it down is one thing, but stalling (or freezing as it is more commonly called) the ball for a lengthy period (such as 10 minutes or more) to me is just not the way the game is suppose to be played.

I'm sure if I told a coach this that he would tell me to write my column and he would win the game any way he could. There isn't a rule prohibiting this and I don't guess there should be but I just think a team owes it's fans a little more respect than to make them sit through a game like that.

15-14 ... I bet the fans went to sleep on that one.....

TALKING ABOUT DISCRIMINATION.....

In a recent story received from United Press International, a story came out involving the Cincinnati Cheerleaders and their transportation to next Sunday's Super Bowl.

According to the UPI story, the Bengal organization refused to pay for plane fare for the 30 girls who have been with the team throughout the season.

Well folks the girls are going anyway... By Bus... The management said "No bus, no Super Bowl. Now that's what I call discrimination folks. To top all this off, a few local rich folks agreed to pay for the girl's plane fare and the Cincinnati management even turned this down saying no charity accepted period....

The trip takes some five hours each way and by plane would only be a hop-skip and a jump which would be a lot easier.

But this is the management's position so I'll just have to volunteer to drive all 30 of them in my 747 that I bought last week. We might even make two trips.....

PREDICTION

I have broke even on my last two Superbowl Predictions and I hope that this year will be better than last. I didn't think there was any possible way for Oakland to beat Philadelphia last year but two years ago I hit the point spread right on the nose.

It's time for this year's pick and I really am bumfuzzled....

With all that's going for Cincinnati they would appear to be maybe a slight favorite with their momentum. But San Francisco looks so strong and if the 49'ers defense can handle Ken Anderson they have a chance. 49'ers by a slim 3 point margin. San Francisco 30 - Cincinnati 27.

Till next time.....

District Sites To Be Set

A meeting involving the sites and pairings of the District 1 Basketball Tournaments was scheduled yesterday involving our Prentiss County teams. The meeting was originally scheduled for last week but cancelled due to the recent surge of bad weather. Results of the meeting was not available at presstime but will be published in next week's paper.

All six of our Prentiss County teams are involved in this year's District events and this year some new changes have occurred involving our local teams.

Booneville's Blue Devils and Devilettes will be the lone representatives in the Class A division while this year for the first time both New Site's Royals and Royallettes along with Thrasher's Rebels and Rebelettes have advanced to the BB Classification instead of their B bracket previously used.

Baldwyn's Bearcats and Lady Bearcats will also remain in the BB District 1 classification.

Wheeler's Eagles, last year's defending District champs, and the Eaglettes along with Jumpertown's Cardinals and Cardinalettes will be the two county representatives in the District 1 Class B Tournament.

The District event is a stepping stone (a big one) on the way to a trip to the State Tourney at Jackson.

A team must reach the finals of the District event to advance to North Half Tournament the following week

National Guard Seeks New Members

If you are a college student and would like a part-time job, you might want to look into joining the Booneville National Guard.

According to Company Commander T.K. Moffett of Tupelo, the benefits offered college students - and non-students - are pretty good.

"Of course, the pay is pretty good," he said. "We drill two days a month, but you get paid four days' pay - the minimum would be $80 a weedend (once a month), the average would be at least $130 - $140."

In addition to the salary, the state of Mississippi will pay $400 per semester tuition assistance if a member of the guard wants to attend college.

There are 84 members in the local Guard unit now, but the company would like to increase that number to about 95.

"We're about 99 percent strength now," Moffett said. "But in a Guard unit, due to job conflicts, you can never get everybody to a drill at one time. We'd like to stay at about 110 percent strength and that way we would have a little flexibility."

The Guard is looking not only for college students, but for anyone who can qualify, the company commander said.

Those wishing to join the Guard with no prior service, must be between the ages of 17 and 35. Those with prior service can be older, but must have a year's active duty for each year that they are over the age of 37.

If a person with prior service joins the Guard, he can come back in at the same rank he held when discharged and will get credit toward retirement for the prior service, according to Sgt. Red Prentiss of the Booneville Guard unit.

An individual who wants to join and who has no prior service, must qualify both mentally and physically before they are accepted, Moffett said. He also said that if someone wishes to join just out of high school, they can take "split" basic training - half one summer and the other half the next.

The Booneville unit of the Guard has received high marks in recent training sessions. At the annual training last year an evaluator from Fort Polk told Moffett that the Booneville unit was as good as his full time unit at Fort Polk. "And we only train two days a month, while they train 30 days a month," Moffett said.

The Booneville Guard unit

received "one's" - "the highest rating you can get" - during the training session. The unit also has received the Draper Award for two years in a row and this year was one of only three units in the state to receive the First Army Excellence in Training Award (97 of these awards were presented through the nation).

In addition to the pay and tuition benefits, Guard members and their families receive other benefits. Members and their families are eligible for hospital and medical benefits; members can use PX facilities on any military installation in the country; and members have a state tax exemption of $5,000 on military income. If an individual stays in the Guard for 20 years, he is eligible for retirement at age 60, Moffett said. "He will begin receiving retirement benefits just as though he had spent 20 years on active duty, except that the retirement will be based on a point system," he said. "We've got a great unit," Moffett said. "We just want folks to know about us so we can start recruiting some good people."

"You won't find any better part-time employer anywhere than the Guard," he said. "And in Booneville, people who get in the Guard have the opportunity of not only getting all the things the Guard has to offer, but also of being a part of one of the best units in Mississippi."

For more information on the Guard, see Sgt. Red Prentiss at the National Guard Armory on Third Street. His office hours are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Do They Pay

the Tax Commission. No cross-check is made to see if the figures jibe, according to these sources.

Some who have done preliminary studies of the two reports believe there could be colossal discrepancies between the volume of oil and gas being produced and how much of it is being taxed.

Right now, the Oil and Gas Board staff is caught in the dilemma of being called upon to provide much better information and regulation of the producing industry, and, ironically, having its budget reduced by the State Budget Commission, even though none of its funds come out of the state general fund.

Oil and gas producers pay a maintenance charge to support the Oil and Gas Board which has remained unchanged for many years, now amounting to less than 1 cent on a barrel of oil which sells for around $32, and less than one-half cent per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas which is selling as high as $8.25. Time for a change?

Pharmacy Group To Meet At Ole Miss

The annual mid-winter meetings of the Mississippi State Pharmaceutical Association will be held Jan. 24 at the University of Mississippi and Feb. 7 at the University of Southern Mississippi. According to MSPHA president Ray Butler of Gulfport, the program will include a review of the clinical aspects of Cimetidine, a Medicaid update, and a report on nurse practitioners in rural practice. Legislative and regulatory concerns will also be discussed. The program has been approved by the State Board of Pharmacy for 4.5 hours of continuing education credit for pharmacists.

Among program participants are B.F. Simmons, director of the State Medicaid Commission, and

For Federal Taxes

Careful Record Evaluation Is Necessary

FROM MISSISSIPPI COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE

The Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 makes it more important than ever before for farmers and other business people to evaluate their records as soon as possible to make adjustments in their taxable income for tax year 1981.

The 5 percent reduction in tax rates that became law Oct. 1, 1981, and the reduction in tax rates scheduled for July 1, 1982, and July 1, 1983, make it possible for individuals to pay fewer dollars in taxes each year, with maximum benefits reached in 1984.

"Since this is true, most taxpayers will benefit if they will postpone taxes on income from 1981 to 1982 and then again at the end of 1982 and 1983," says Dr. Johnnie Sartor, leader, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Agricultural Economics Department.

The question now is; How can this be done legally? Dr. Sartor says farmers can postpone the sale of livestock, cotton, soybeans and other products until after Jan. 1, 1982. To reduce their taxable income for 1981 further, they may pay all bills before Jan. 1, 1982.

"Also, they may buy farm needs such as seed, feed, fertilizer, farm equipment, and other items for next year's crop," he adds. "By using one or more of these techniques, individuals can reduce their income taxes for 1981."

Individuals should not go too far in reducing their income for 1981, he cautions. For example, they should make sure that their income equals or exceeds their personal exemptions or standard deductions allowed.

Personal exemptions and deductions are allowed annually, and those not absorbed by current income are automatically lost.

"You cannot carry unused exemptions or deductions forward to the next tax year," he says. "Also, you should try to estimate the situation for 1982 to avoid carrying forward too much taxable income and throwing yourself into a higher tax bracket next year."

For farmers and other business people to make these year-end tax management adjustments, they must have good records. Dr. Sartor says good records are the greatest asset an individual may have in making tax management decisions and other adjustments in business.

"Let's look at what impact the new tax law will have on taxes paid on a joint return with a taxable income of $16,000. For tax year 1980 this couple would have paid $2,265 in taxes plus 24 percent of the taxable income over $16,000 up to taxable income of $20,200.

The tax law reduces that to $2,013 plus 22 percent over $16,000 for tax year 1982 and $1,846 plus 19 percent in 1983 and down to $1,741 plus 18 percent over $16,000 for tax year 1984 and later.

"This reduction in taxes is a pretty good incentive for individuals to do good year-end tax management to reduce their taxes," he points out.

Telethon Scheduled For Animal Rights

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

Where there's a heartbeat, that's apparently where the arena of the 80's will be for those involved in the latest version of the "social politics" movement.

In January 1982, a new twist to the 'rights' fight will commence over the United States as a small group of movie and TV stars join hands to stage the first 'animal rights' telethon to raise money for the effort in the United States.

The event reportedly has the popular support of such individuals as Loretta Switt, Brigitte Bardot, Jim Mason, Clive Hollands, Ed Asner, Angie Dickinson and Cindy Williams.

The money raiser will be patterned after the Muscular Dystrophy telethon and will be aired on TV cable systems covering 85 percent of the markets. Independent TV stations will take satellite feeds. The advisory committee includes the presidents and executive officers of the top 15 cable companies and advertising agencies.

The issue of animal rights, in the sense of being a blood relative to civil rights, is here. And Mississippians, whether breeders of quality livestock, producers of fryers or laying hens, or townspeople with their cats, dogs, and horses, may now get ready for some new pressures from outside forces.

This column, which stays in teletype communication with the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington and Chicago offices and a network of farm organization offices in all states, has sounded previous warnings concerning this movement and what it portends for Mississippians.

The animal sympathy movement will be pushing hard through both the publicity media and teaching curriculum to reach small children especially urging them to be sensitive to the welfare of animals and their products which are used for food and clothing.

This writer has examined the first edition of a humane education curriculum guide entitled "People and Animals" which acknowledges that prior to publication the guide was field tested by 350 teachers in 17 states and Ontario, Canada.

An opening paragraph of the teaching guide sets a tone for the emphasis as it states: "It is important that students recognize these relationships and how they affect both animals and humans. In addition, students who understand that they, as humans, are also animals and share many common characteristics with other members of the animal kingdom, will be more sensitive to the rights of animals and will consequently be capable of making more responsible decisions concerning their personal relationships with animals."

The matter of so-called 'rights' for animals gets recommended special attention in social studies and language arts classes. Teachers are told to read the first line of "inalienable" and discuss such rights for animals. Among the learning activities for language arts classes are students essays giving supporting reasons for their argument on the subject. "Do animals have rights?"

An inherent problem with the effort, as far as farmers and others with close dealings with animals is concerned, is that while attempting to intercede on behalf of animals for animal welfare, these animal activists are using a scattergun approach with the insinuation that current animal and fowl husbandry practices are inherently and morally wrong in that they interfere with the free choices of the animal kingdom.

Social emotions are allowed to pre-empt both religious and scientific values, and oddly enough, the effort somehow along the way has come up short in horse sense with an implication to this writer that the effort is not as democratic as it should have been.

Get a $2000 tax deduction every year and retire like a millionaire.

How your IRA Tax Shelter can grow into a small fortune (or a big one).

Start at this age and contribute the maximum each year until you're 65.	An individual contributing $2,000 a year could have this amount by age 65.	A couple with one spouse working contributing $2,250 a year could have this amount by age 65.	A working couple contributing $4,000 a year could have this amount by age 65.
Age 25	$1,718,284	$1,933,070	$3,436,568
Age 30	$ 966,926	$1,087,791	$1,933,852
Age 35	$ 540,585	$ 608,158	$1,081,170
Age 40	$ 298,667	$ 336,001	$ 597,334
Age 45	$ 161,397	$ 181,572	$ 322,794
Age 50	$ 83,506	$ 93,944	$ 167,012
Age 55	$ 39,309	$ 44,222	$ 78,618
Age 60	$ 14,230	$ 16,009	$ 28,460

Amounts are based on an average of 12% simple interest annually with deposits made on January 1 of each year. This chart is not meant to be a statement of actual interest rates available or guaranteed end financial results.

All you do is stash away up to $2,000 a year in a First Bank IRA Tax Shelter account.

You can deduct every penny of that money from your Federal income taxes. In a 50% tax bracket, that could save you $1,000 a year on taxes; $600 in a 30% bracket. And you'll earn high interest so by the time you retire, you'll have accumulated quite a nest egg.

In fact, if you start putting in $2,000 a year when you're 29 and you earn an average of 12% a year interest, you'll have somewhere around a million when you retire at 65. For a working couple, it could be two million.

Almost everybody's eligible for an IRA Tax Shelter.

Thanks to recent changes in federal laws, you can now get an IRA Tax Shelter no matter what other retirement or profit-sharing plans you may have where you work. The only requirement is that you earn the money you contribute to an IRA.

If you and your spouse both work, you can put in up to $4,000 a year from your joint income. For couples with one spouse working, it's $2,250. And for individuals, it's $2,000.

Even contribute monthly at First Bank.

You can put your money in a 1982 IRA Tax Shelter in one lump sum any time between January 4, 1982, and April 15, 1983. But, of course, the sooner you put your money in, the sooner you start earning the high interest.

Or at First Bank, you can put in a little every month. If you start in January, you only need to contribute $166 a month for the maximum tax deduction by the end of the year. For working couples, it's $333 per month. And for couples with one spouse working, it's $187.

To make it more convenient, we can automatically withdraw your monthly payment from your First Bank checking account.

Start now for high interest all year.

With the First Bank IRA Tax Shelter, you always earn a competitive interest rate, because the rate is tied to the rate for Money Market CD's, and it will vary quarterly. When interest rates soar—like they did this year—your rate does too. And vice versa. But no matter what happens, you're assured of earning money market rates. And over the long haul, the tax benefits make it your best investment.

You can begin withdrawing your IRA Tax Shelter money when you're age 59½, and you must start by age 70½. Then you'll pay taxes on the amount you withdraw, but when you retire you'll probably pay taxes at a lesser rate. There is a substantial penalty for withdrawal before age 59½.

Your IRA Tax Shelter money is completely safe because it's invested in 18-month Savings Certificates and it's insured up to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

If you want to cut your taxes. If you want to make sure your retirement is secure. Or if you'd just like to become a millionaire, our IRA Tax Shelter is for you. Call or visit any First Bank location.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Larry E. Hill

Cost Of Living

HAGGAI 1:6 "He that earneth wages earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes."

The burden of Haggai's prophecy was to protest against the Godlessness of his people, who after their own restoration had allowed the temple to remain in ruins. "Woe unto the people!" was his cry, "Woe unto the people who put themselves before God." The anger of the prophet blazed out in righteous indignation as he contrasted his countryman's concern for themselves with their contempt for God. They were building their own houses and dwelling at ease in them, while the house of the lord stood in ruins. And with terrible effect he uses the very selfishness of his people as the rod with which to smite them. What had they gained by seeking self at the expense of God. Nothing had prospered with them. Instead of cheating God they had only been cheating themselves! The cost of living had gone up. Food, drink, and clothing had reached exorbitant prices. The people were everywhere suffering from hunger and privation. Money had lost its purchasing power. And in this suggestive phrase he describes how, through the dearth of necessities, wages were parted with at once, just as if they had been put into a bag with holes.

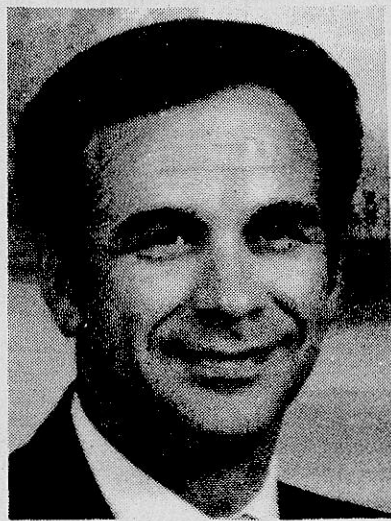

Is it not an exact parallel to the economic situation of recent years? Things will never be right, we say, until we can control supply and demand and put an end to the present disproportion. But when we have said that, have we said all? No. that old-world prophet would say no! Why? God would say "Because my house still lies in ruins while each of you take pleasure in his own house." The meager crops, the high prices, the poor wages; there is a reason for it all, and it is a religious reason. "I was punishing you with blight and mildew and hail, says the Eternal." Yes, God was punishing his people. It was no use trying to turn their back on God. God has us at every point. If God made the world, he has the unquestioned right to order and control it.

That old-world prophet was no fanatic or fool when he traced all the troubles of his countrymen to their neglect of God. It was true in old testament times, and it is true today. The present distress can be attributed to nothing so much as to our neglect of God, and our contempt for the things of God.

Though it would appear that national adversity is the inevitable outcome of a wrong attitude to God, national prosperity on the other hand, can be attained through a right relationship with God. Out social reformers have filled our ears with their clamor for improved conditions - but have had little to say about improved characters.

We must open our eyes to the fact, without God nothing is good. Let us seek first the kingdom of God and all the other things will be added.

School Transportation
Must Be Re-Examined

The state's public school system is vitally dependent on its transportation programs, but the programs must be carefully examined to guarantee their continued existence, according to a Mississippi Economic Council study.

"Some 81 percent of the state's public school students are being transported to their classrooms by school bus at an annual expenditure of some $44 million in state and local funds," said MEC Chairman W.W. Gresham Jr., and Indianola businessman.

He said the state's public school transportation program is funded under the state's Minimum Education Program. Local school districts are provided a state transportation subsidy based on population density, with the districts providing additional funding as needed.

"While the Minimum Education Program has served school transportation well, increasing costs and policy changes have created substantial strains on state and local sources of revenue for transportation," Gresham said.

The study cited prohibitive costs of new vehicles, increasing fuel prices, and the addition of new and expanded services as adding to school transportation costs.

Gresham said that, as a result of its study, the Council has made seven recommendations to strengthen the effectiveness of the program.

Talking Pictures for Booneville

"Booneville and Prentiss County citizens will be pleased to learn that The Princess Theatre will start talking pictures next Monday night.

"Mr. McCuiston, the proprietor, who has always believed that the best is none too good for his patrons, recently purchased one of the best talking picture equipments on the market and will be prepared to give the people of this section the latest productions at his usual prices."

Chicken Thieves Are Active

"From reports it seems that Booneville and vicinity is overrun with a bunch of chicken thieves.

"Every night there are new victims and the rate this stealing is going on, there soon will not be enough chickens left in and around Booneville to amount to anything.

"It is an evident fact that some sort of dope is being used to put the chickens to sleep, as there has been no noise heard any place, where these chickens have been taken.

"Every chicken should be marked so as to be easily and correctly identified if found."

Local Attorney Receives Recognition

"Special recognition came to Clarence Chase, local attorney, when his book, 'Search, Seizure, Arrest in Mississippi,' was chosen for review in the 'Recent Books' section of the December issue of the Mississippi Law Journal.

"Mr. Chase was born and reared in Prentiss County and was educated in the public schools of the county. Admitted to the Bar in Tennessee, he practiced in the city of Memphis until his return to his native locality in 1947. He is a member of the Prentiss County Bar Association."

Who's Who At NEMJC

"In the recent Who's Who Contest, Taft Little of Glendale was selected as Mr. NEMJC and Miss Dianne Burnett was chosen Miss NEMJC. Both are members of the Sophomore Class and were selected by the student body."

New President

"M. Paul Haynes is the newly elected president of the Baldwin Chamber of Commerce. Other officers in the coming year will be Horace Caver, vice-president, and Grady Nanney, secretary-treasurer. C.V. Grisham is the retiring president.

Auto Thefts Increasing

"Car thieves operating in Prentiss County are a major headache for Sheriff Ralph Martin and his deputies, and Martin says that the problem seems to have gotten worse in the last several months.

"I wish I knew where to stop it and where they'll hit next," the sheriff said of the thefts. "I believe it's local people and I'm hoping to find the place where they cut them up."

Prentiss County's First

"Kevin Lynn Woodruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Woodruff of Burton, was the first baby born in Northeast Mississippi Hospital in 1977. Kevin made his debut at 1:03 a.m. on New Year's Day and checked in at 7 lbs., 3 oz.

A 'Whole-Hog' Accident

"Driver Thomas Gallaher of Waynesboro, Tenn., escaped serious injury Monday when his truck, loaded with 115 live hogs, overturned as it rounded a curve on Highway 30 near the Big V community.

"Gallaher, enroute from Waynesboro to West Point, Miss., said he was not carrying a full load and the hogs shifted to one side as he came out of the curve.

"I knew it was gone when I looked in the rearview mirror and saw the rear wheels come off the ground," he said.

"The accident, which occurred about 11:30 a.m., trapped most of the hogs inside the truck for some time until help could arrive to transfer them to another vehicle. Gallaher said a few of the hogs managed to escape and run away shortly after the crash.

"Gallaher, who was thrown through the windshield of the truck by the impact of the crash, received only minor injuries."
