Weatherization Loans

Limited To $1,200

Residential electric heating and air-conditioning customers of Prentiss County Electric Power Association are now eligible for $1,200 interest-free loans to help weatherize their homes, according to James W. Abernethy, PCEPA manager. The loans are available under the Home Insulation Program sponsored jointly by the power association and TVA.

"The $1,200 maximum loan provision went into effect April 1. The maximum was previously $2,000," Abernethy said. "Most customers will not be affected by the new maximum loan amount since loans made under the program have averaged about $1,100."

Loans are available for adding insulation, attic ventilation, weatherstripping, caulking, and storm windows.

Improvements recommended by TVA-trained energy advisors for customers who heat or cool with electricity qualify for loans. Interested consumers should first request a free home energy survey.

"All consumers who are home owners are eligible for a free survey," Abernethy said.

April 16 Declared

Spring Clean-up Day

City and county officials have declared Friday, April 16, as official Prentiss County Spring Clean-Up Day, according to Mrs. Claire T. Ross, project chairman for the Prentiss County Development Association.

Supervisors will be working on their own special pet clean-up projects in their districts, she said. "They hope individuals in their own districts will be out working that day with cleaning."

"On an entire community basis, the Prentiss County Development Association Committee on Community Appearance has worked long and hard on a battle plan for the county war on ugliness," Mrs. Ross said.

Community leaders involved in planning Spring Clean-Up day include, in the Booneville community: Mayor Charles Crabb, Bill White, Helen White, Louise Peeler, Doug Mansell, Margie Franks and Mrs. Ross; the Sunflower community: Versie Jones and Luzene Triplett; the Thrasher community: Ed McCoy, James Chase, Wanda Robinson and Ed McWhirter;

In the Baldwin community: Alice Enis, Delilah Hensley and Janet Sparks; the Blackland community: Brenda Saylor, Gladys Saylor and J.P. Davis; the Marietta Community: Gracie DePoyster and Eunice Sherrill; the New Site Community: Kay Crowe and Larry Morgan; in the Rienzi community: Geraldine Sweeney; the Jumpertown community: Tina Moore, Jimmy Moore and Gary Bridges; the Snowdown community: Evelyn White and Carolyn McCombs; the Big V community: H.B. Lindsey Jr.; and the Hill's Chapel community: Josie Smith.

A monetary award will be given to the participating community with the outstanding project. Also, all schools, city and county, who wish to participate will be given a monetary or compensation award to be used in their chosen community Appearance project, Mrs. Ross said.

Schools and communities desiring to participate must call the PCDA office at 728-3505 or the Extension office at 728-5631.

Littering Ordinance

To Be Enforced

In conjunction with the clean-up, fix-up campaign during April, the city of Booneville plans to strictly enforce the city's littering ordinance, Mayor Charles Crabb said during Tuesday night's city board meeting.

He said that upon conviction of littering in the city the fine is $57 for the first offense.

"We're going to clean up debris around town and the littering ordinance will be strictly enforced," the mayor said.

The city has also donated $100 to be used as an incentive in the community appearance project being coordinated by Mrs. Claire T. Ross, the county Extension office and the Prentiss County Development Association.

At Annual Charity Ball

Outstanding Citizen Named For 1982

Mrs. Ruth Galloway was named Prentiss County's Outstanding Citizen for 1982 by the Booneville Junior Auxiliary at its fourth annual Charity Ball Friday night at the Booneville

Community Center.

A Booneville resident for more than 30 years, Mrs. Galloway is the wife of Booneville physician Dr. S.C. Galloway, and the mother of Sam Galloway, Bob Galloway and Cissy (Mrs. Phil) Worley.

Mrs. Galloway, who graduated from Ripley High School as valedictorian, received her B.S. degree in education from Delta State University as that school's first honor student.

She worked in the Mississippi Vocational Rehabilitation Office at Delta State and at Illinois Central Hospital in Chicago while her husband completed his medical training.

After settling in Booneville, Mrs. Galloway became an avid supporter of her family's interest and an active participant in her community's improvement.

Her spirit of volunteerism centered upon five major areas of concern: her church, the schools, the Girl Scouts, civic organizations and the library.

In the Booneville Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Galloway taught Sunday School and directed vacation church school. She has served many years as president, secretary of Women of the Church, and as church historian.

In the Presbytery of St. Andrews, she served as district chairman and recording secretary of Women of the Church.

After teaching two years at New Site High School, Mrs. Galloway participated in local school affairs first as a room mother, then as the only woman on the first board of trustees of the initial Booneville Municipal School District, and then as president of the elementary school PTA.

Mrs. Galloway's dedication to the Girl Scouts is evidenced by her nine-year term as Girl Scout Troop Leader and by the 15-year service pin presented to her at the 1980 annual Prairie Girl Scout Council Banquet.

Participation in civic endeavors has been a top priority for Mrs. Galloway. She has been president of the Northeast Medical Auxiliary and a member of the Booneville Historical Society.

As a charter member, recording secretary and associate member of the Booneville Junior Auxiliary, she worked on such projects as being a volunteer to East Circle senior citizens, a case worker for a young, underprivileged open-heart surgery patient, and as Special Olympics trainer.

She has actively participated in fund drives for the American Cancer Society and the March of Dimes.

Having held every office in the Booneville Woman's Club, she is now a board member of the Mississippi Federation of Woman's

Aldermen Approve Proposal For Booneville Map

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

In their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, the Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen listened to a request to establish a local mission for the needy, approved the development of a city map, voted to investigate the possibility of obtaining a ditch cleaning machine for the street department, changed the name of a city street, approved paying half the expense of moving a TVA transmission line, stressed enforcement of the city's littering laws, hired two employees, and passed two resolutions, prior to adjourning to an executive session.

Jarvis Merritt of the Freedom Hall Mission of Ripley appeared before the board to request permission to establish a similar mission in Booneville.

Merritt said the mission would provide second hand clothing and some powdered foods to the needy at a minimum of cost, just enough to cover overhead expenses. No one at the mission would be on a salary he said.

The mission would be a non-denominational organization and would be self-financed with no solicitation of funds, he said.

Mayor Charles Crabb told Merritt that, to his knowledge, there is no city ordinance prohibiting a mission of this type in the city. However, he did point out that there is an ordinance against soliciting funds for such an organization.

DOUG MANSELL of the Prentiss County Development Association appeared before the board to ask their approval and financial support in the printing of a city map for Booneville. Mansell pointed out that his office receives numerous requests throughout the year for a map of Booneville and that there is not an up-to-date map of the city available.

Six Vehicles Involved

Friday Night Chase Ends In Crash

A high-speed chase Friday night of last week resulted in the damage of six vehicles, including a Booneville police car.

The chase began around 9:03 p.m. when Officer Jerry Barnes attempted to stop Larry Carpenter, 35, of Booneville, for reckless driving.

Carpenter then reportedly ran a stop sign at Jacinto Bypass. According to officers, he then proceeded by Lambert's Auction, turned right on the Mize Road and drove about 1/2 mile when the 1963 Dodge pick-up truck he was driving hit the ditch and he lost control of it.

When he regained control of the truck he was headed west on Mize Road. Officers reported he then rammed the back of a car parked at Lambert's Auction and the impact was so hard that the car hit five other cars, including a patrol car.

In all, four police cars were involved in the chase which lasted about 9 minutes. Policemen involved in the chase were Barnes, Tony Childers, Willie Anderson, Sam McGee, Chief Bobby Lambert, and Prentiss County Deputy Joe Shackelford.

For Congressional Seat

Former News Personality In Race

A former Memphis TV newswoman has announced plans to challenge veteran Congressman Jamie Whitten for his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Fran Fawcett, a resident of Oxford and a former news anchorwoman for WHBQ-TV in Memphis, will run as a Republican against Whitten later this year in the First District race.

In a statement last week, Ms. Fawcett blamed "40 years of inept congress" for the nation's woes. Whitten, a Democrat, has served as the first District Representative for 42 years.

Ms. Fawcett said she is seeking the office because "it's the duty of every American to take an active part in the government of this great nation. If we don't do our duty, how are we going to have a nation of people, by the people, and for the people?"

"American is at a turning point," she said. "We can continue with the tax, tax, tax and spend, spend, spend spree of Congress - a spree that has given my generation a trillion-dollar debt, raging unemployment and the inability to buy homes - or we can take

Local Men Plead Innocent In Oxford

Two Prentiss County men, and a former Prentiss Countian, who were recently indicted by a federal grand jury, all pleaded innocent to the charges Tuesday afternoon when they appeared for arraignment in Oxford before U.S. Magistrate Norman Gillespie.

Nicky Lauderdale, 36, John Phillip Berryhill, 20, both of Route 3, Rienzi, and David Winfield, 23, of Jackson, all pleaded innocent to separate charges of interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicles and concealing and disposing of stolen motor vehicles.

It was incorrectly reported last week that Lauderdale and Berryhill were arraigned Tuesday of last week.

The first count of the indictment returned against Winfield charges that on Nov. 18, 1981, he transported a stolen 1977 Chevrolet pick-up from Memphis to Lee County. The second count charges he concealed and disposed of the pick-up, knowing the vehicle to have been stolen.

Court date for the cases has been tentatively scheduled for May 17, in Aberdeen with U.S. District Judge L.T. Senter Jr. presiding.

Lauderdale was represented by Booneville attorneys George Via and Tommy Comer. Berryhill was represented by a court appointed attorney from Oxford. Winfield was represented by Booneville attorney Joe Ray Langston.

Lauderdale and Berryhill are both free on $2,500 bond. Winfield is free on $5,000 bond.

Phone Company Seeks Rate Increase

Effective May 7, local South Central Bell telephone customers can expect to see an increase in their monthly rates if the Public Service Commission approves a request from the phone company to approve these additional revenues.

Approval of the request would mean the charge for residential one-party telephone service with one regular set would increase about $7.20 per month. A one-party business telephone customer with one regular set would pay an additional $15.55 per month.

South Central Bell this week asked the Public Service Commission to approve the additional revenues "to cover the steadily increasing cost of providing telephone service in Mississippi."

In addition to the price increase, the company also requested approval to change its method of billing for some of its services to allow South Central Bell "to more equitably provide service in an increasingly competitive telecommunications marketplace."

South Central Bell is proposing to restructure and reprice its intrastate Wide Area Telecommunication Service (WATS), as well as proposing an increase from 10 to 25 cents in the charge for local calls from coin telephones. The 10-cent rate has not changed in 30 years.

Higher charges for service connections are included, as well as increased rates for miscellaneous equipment provided primarily for business customers.

Also effective with this filing is a request that local service rates be separated into charges for sets and for exchange access lines. Previously, the rate for local service included both access to the telephone network and a telephone set.

J.N. McGOWEN, South Central Bell vice-president for Mississippi, stressed that the phone company's request for the rate increase has nothing to do with plans

Mrs. Galloway strongly supports Booneville's George E. Allen Library. As well as helping organize Friends of the Library, she has been a member of the Steering Committee and currently serves as chairman of the board of the institution.

"Mrs. Galloway's work with and interest in the youth, the senior citizens, the handicapped, her church, her community and the library will be of lasting benefit to Prentiss County," a spokesman for the Junior Auxiliary said.

Aldermen

The map Mansell suggested to the board would have a map of Booneville on one side, with a smaller county map, as well as maps of the industrial park and Northeast Junior College on the other side.

He told the board that if they would appropriate $450 toward the printing of the maps, he felt that he could obtain an additional $500 from outside sources. This would allow the printing of about 2,000 copies of the map initially. The work would be done by a local printer.

Alderman Wade Lambert spoke in favor of Mansell's proposal, saying he felt it "embarrassing not to have a city map."

The board voted approval of Mansell's proposal.

In other business, Alderman Lambert, who serves the board as street commissioner, proposed that the city investigate the possibility of purchasing a ditch cleaning machine.

Lambert said that at the present time it takes three men, a truck, a backhoe and a roadgrader to clean out a ditch. And since the Street department only has three employees, "when I'm ditching, I can't do anything else," Lambert said.

The ditching machine Lambert suggested the city purchase would attach to a tractor already owned by the city and would only require one man to operate. The alderman said it works similar to a bush hog.

The machine would cost approximately $8,900, but Lambert said with the machine the city would be able to clean all the ditches every year, which should help with drainage problems.

The board voted to let Lambert further check out the machine, and told him to get specifications to the City Attorney who would then prepare the bid notices.

Acting on a petition from Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lambert of Ruby Street, the board voted to change the street name from Ruby Street to Wiskey River Drive. The change will become final only after the board checks with all the residents of the street to see that there are no objections, Mayor Crabb pointed out.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I read your article about churches sending money out of their treasuries to colleges. When I talked to my preacher about this, he claimed he didn't believe it was right to do this, but said when they (the church) send money to help educate a preacher this made it right. I could not see the difference, who is right?

ANSWER: You are right and your preacher is wrong. It is not the function of the church to educate anyone including preachers. If a preacher desires an education he needs to work for it just as most of us had to do. When I went to college it is true that I took some Bible courses, but I also took math, english and science. Some argue that because a boy is going to become a preacher that the church has the right to pay for his education. IF this be true why couldn't they pay for the education of boys who might some day be ELDERS or DEACONS in the church. Again, people get confused over the function of the individual and the church. It is not the function of the church to educate anyone. The church is to teach the Bible by the preaching of the gospel, but not through a human institution. When will we get back to doing things as the Bible teaches?

The Governor's Colloquium on Science, Engineering and Technology will be held April 15 in Jackson. Sponsored by Gov. William Winter and the Mississippi Academy of Sciences, the colloquium will include the state's leading high school, junior college, college and university students and student leaders. For their superior academic achievements, Nathan Ward Baldwin of Booneville High School and Joseph Berryhill of Jumpertown High School have been named Governor's Scholars and will be eligible to participate in the colloquium. The Governor's Scholar program was initiated to recognize scholastic achievement among high school students and to emphasize the importance of academic excellence. Anthony Sims of Booneville, a student at Northeast Junior College, has also been invited by Gov. Winter to participate in the daylong colloquium. The theme of this year's program is "What Should the Mississippi Worker Look Like in the 1980's and Beyond?"

At Thrasher High School

Star Student, Teacher Selected

Dennis Gregory Stutts, a senior at Thrasher High School, has been selected as the school's STAR Student, according to the Mississippi Economic Council. STAR Students are selected on the basis of academic excellence. Scholastic averages and scores on the American College Test are considered in designation of a school's STAR Student. The Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition Program encourages and promotes academic achievement among Mississippi's high school students, explained Bob Pittman, president of MEC. "Top scholars are being designated as STAR Students in more than 300 participating schools in Mississippi," he said. "From these STAR Students, area winners will be selected, and the Council will award scholarships to the state's top STAR Students."

Each STAR Student is asked to designate a STAR Teacher, a teacher who has made the greatest contribution to the student's scholastic achievement. Designated as STAR Teacher was Mrs. Patsy H. Johnson. Both the STAR Student and the STAR Teacher will receive certificates from the Council, in addition to being eligible for competition for scholarship awards. Greg is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Robertson of Route 4, New Albany. After graduation, he plans to attend Northeast Mississippi Junior College, majoring in veterinary science. He has been very active during his four years in high school. He was one of 16 students selected from Mississippi to go to the Natural Resource Conference in Fontana, N.C. He was also chosen to represent all of Fontana's delegates at the annual meeting of the TVA Test Demonstration Farm Families in Huntsville, Ala. He has been very active in 4-H and is currently serving as local 4-H president. He is class news editor for the school newspaper, Library Club recreation leader, Science Club president, County Science Fair coordinator, FFA Club member, and State Land Judging Team member. 'Talk O' The Town'

Street Opinion Poll

QUESTION: Do you think registration for the draft should be mandatory or voluntary?

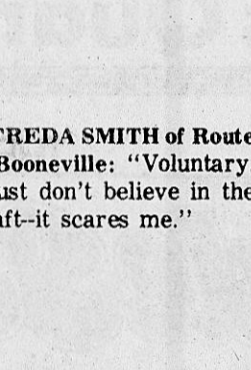

GABE GEORGE of Jacinto Road: "It should be required because if it's not required not that many people will sign up for it. The stronger the defense, the better the nation will be."

L.D. PENNA of Route 4, Booneville: "I think they should be required to register. It would help build up the nation. If registration is voluntary they won't volunteer. I know I didn't."

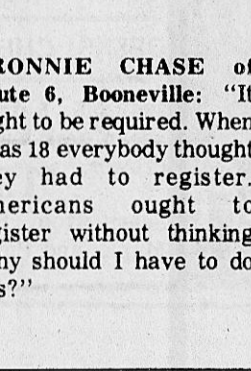

THOMAS PRENTICE of Plantersville: "It should be required because I think it helps every person to be a part of the armed forces. It's the best experience a young person can have to take care of himself."

FREDA SMITH of Route 6, Booneville: "Voluntary. I just don't believe in the draft—it scares me."

JAMES WELLS of 508 S. Lake St.: "I think it should be required because a lot of times if it's not required a lot of people won't register at all."

RONNIE CHASE of Route 6, Booneville: "It ought to be required. When I was 18 everybody thought they had to register. Americans ought to register without thinking 'Why should I have to do this?'"

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!!)

Reflections

By Ken Christian

Editor

The effectiveness of a city government depends largely upon its credibility with the citizens of that city.

If a city government chooses to flaunt the law and/or obey only those state and federal laws it chooses, then how can it expect the city's residents to respect and obey city ordinances passed by the local lawmakers?

While I admit I am not a lawyer and do not have a legal mind, it most definitely appears to me that the Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen chose not to obey a state law at their meeting Tuesday night. And, unfortunately this was not the first time they chose to ignore this same law.

During the 1981 session of the Mississippi Legislature, an amended open meetings law was passed. This law took effect on July 1, 1981, and gives in detail the requirements which must be fulfilled before a public body, such as the city board, can call an executive session. It also sets forth a list of matters which may be discussed in an executive session.

According to this law, only those topics listed may be discussed during the closed meeting.

Subsection (3) of Section 25-41-7 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 Annotated deals with some of the requirements set forth by this new open meetings law.

That subsection says, in part: "The reason for holding such an executive session shall be stated in an open meeting and the reason so stated shall be recorded in the minutes of the meeting."

The Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen went into executive session Tuesday night. They did not state the reason for doing so.

When I telephoned Mayor Charles Crabb Wednesday morning to ask what was discussed in the meeting, he refused to tell me. When I pointed out to him that it was my belief that state law requires the board to state the reason for the executive session, Crabb said, "You just get yourself a lawyer and take me to court if you want to."

This is mighty bold talk from a member of a governmental body which seems so afraid of a lawsuit from city personnel that they refuse to investigate allegations of wrongdoings by city employees.

AND ANOTHER THING that damages the credibility of this city body is the "creative" manner in which its official minutes are kept.

It's strange to me how I can sit through a city board meeting one month, and then when I hear the minutes of that meeting read at the next month's meeting they don't reflect what I witnessed.

For example: During the March meeting of the board of aldermen the controversy over the Booneville police officers accused of stealing some items from a downtown variety store was at its peak. Because of this, I attended the meeting with anticipation that some action might be taken in the matter. However, the only direct reference made was in the reading of the minutes from the February meeting.

Imagine my surprise Tuesday night at the April meeting when the minutes of that March meeting were read. They stated that City Attorney Gene Gifford had reported to the board of aldermen at the March meeting that he had contacted District Attorney John Young about the investigation into the incident involving the policemen.

I sat through the entire meeting - and for once the board did not go into an executive session - and I did not hear Gifford make such a report. And this was exactly the type of thing I was looking for in that meeting.

I did hear alderman Charles Steen ask Gifford at that meeting if he had talked to the District Attorney and Gifford said that he had. But this exchange took place on a more or less conversational level while some of the other aldermen were discussing another matter. And neither Gifford nor Steen indicated what the District Attorney had been contacted about.

To me, this does not constitute a "report to the board."

WHILE THESE TWO incidents may seem like nitpicking to some, they really strike at the heart of our form of government.

If the lawmakers, whether they be in city, state or federal government, do not respect the laws that are already on the books, how can they be expected to use good judgment in passing new laws and ordinances?

Eyes On Mississippi

Hederman Era Ends With Sale Of Jackson Papers

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.--It could have been an April Fool's Day Joke: the news that came out April 1 that the Hederman newspapers had been sold to the biggest newspaper chain in the country. But it wasn't.

This was one major development in Mississippi this reporter who has practiced his profession in this state the last three and a half decades, never expected to see...or comment upon.

The exit of the Hederman newspaper publishing family from the state's journalistic scene first must be viewed not as a story about a major business transfer. Far beyond that, it is a story of the passing of one of the most powerful, and certainly the most unique, political influences this chronicler has observed at close hand on the Mississippi scene.

No single family or commercial enterprise I know about affected the lives of Mississippians more especially during the critical years of the late 1950's and throughout the 1960's, than did the Hedermans.

Of course, their power had its main source of strength in the control of the state's two biggest newspapers, the Clarion Ledger and the Jackson Daily News. But it was the sort of power that goes far beyond traditional journalistic influence. It was more of a personal power, wielded as a family unit...a family backed by immense business and property holdings undergirded by strong fundamental religious beliefs.

Hodding Carter once described the Hedermans as being motivated by a "mixture of racism and fundamentalism" in the way they operated their newspapers.

Dr. James Silver, the outspoken Ole Miss history professor who was driven from the University and the state in the 1960's, said in his book, "Mississippi: the Closed Society," that the Hederman press was a prime enforcer of the orthodoxy of thought which was imposed upon Mississippians for many years.

There's the classic example of the bold headline, "Californian is Charged with Murder of Evers" which appeared on Page One of the Clarion Ledger when Byron de la Beckwith, the Greenwood fertilizer salesman, was arrested for the assassination of Mississippi black leader Medgar Evers in June, 1963.

Beckwith had, by accident of birth, spent the first few weeks of his lifetime in California, but the remainder of his 42 years in Mississippi.

While no Hederman is known to have had anything personally to do with the headline, or with many other unconscionable things written in the newspaper in those years, they hired persons who carried out newspaper policy.

Although the Hederman newspapers shrilly supported Gov. Ross Barnett during the Ole Miss crisis, they did not send any staff members to the University campus to report on the riot which took place following days of what author Walter Lord described in his definitive book on that period, "The Past That Would Not Die," as a "bombast of headlines, columns and wildly slanted news stories" in the two Jackson dailies.

One thing the Hedermans believed in was the prohibition of strong drink, and their newspapers did the best they could to prolong Mississippi's statewide "dry" laws long after such laws had been abandoned by every other state. When the legislature surprisingly in 1966 approved a local option law repealing prohibition and placed it before Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., three of the Hedermans marched up to Johnson's office and demanded that he veto it.

Despite his long-standing family ties with the Hedermans and a close commitment to their wishes on most issues, Johnson signed the bill in what some political observers believe to have been the most courageous act of his career.

The Hederman personal power in state administrations reached its zenith during the tenures of Ross Barnett and Paul Johnson Jr., both of whom they felt responsible for electing. Barnett appointed several Hedermans to state boards, and at one time during the Johnson administration, there were five members of the family serving on state boards.

That same kind of influence the newspaper publishing family also had in city hall, especially during the crucial early 1960's when the "freedom riders" began pouring into Jackson to attack segregated passenger waiting rooms, then later when mass arrests of black citizens marching for the right to vote became a daily experience. The mayor, Allen Thompson, hardly would make a move without conferring with several of the Hedermans.

From a journalistic standpoint, the Hederman newspapers get much better in recent years when Rea Hederman, a member of the younger generation, was allowed freedom to recruit professional staff members and to substantially improve the news product. The word was that the older Hedermans were never comfortable with the changes.

There were still, several bottom line issues which could not be touched. One of those untouchables was always Jim Eastland, the wily old senator who finally stepped down three years ago.

When Rea decided to make his life elsewhere, the Mississippi newspaper monolith evidently was irreparably shaken. And now there will no more be a Hederman press, but its awesome identity in determining social, moral and political values in this state shall never see an equal.

Letters

Appreciates Hospital Staff

(Editor's note: Baptist Memorial Hospital administrator John Tompkins brought the following letter to our attention. With the permission of the Gault family, we are reproducing it here.)

Administrator
Baptist Memorial Hospital
Highway 45
Booneville, MS 38829
Dear Sir:

On behalf of my family, I would like to express my appreciation and gratitude to the staff and personnel of the hospital.

During the recent illness and death of my father, J.B. Gault, we were shown nothing but concern and helpfulness from the nurses and the other staff at the hospital.

Since my brother and I are both from out of town, the visit, of course, put some extra tension on us and our families, but the extra assistance from your staff eased this to some degree.

We know that each person that worked with Dad put forth the extra effort to do his or her best to the very end. For this, we will always be grateful.

Please convey our gratitude to the hospital staff.

Sincerely,
The Family of J.B. Gault

Legislative Report

Many Important Bills Passed

By BILLY MCCOY
Representative
Prentiss and Alcorn
Counties

The 1982 session of the Mississippi Legislature ended Sunday, April 4, when the House of Representatives adjourned. Both the House and Senate had met almost continuously for the past three weeks with little time off -- even weekends.

No doubt there are many who feel the 1982 session left much undone, especially in the area of education. However, there were several far-reaching and most important measures passed by the legislature.

One of the most important was in education and came in the closing minutes of the session.

A concurrent resolution was adopted which will place a constitutional amendment on the ballot in November which, if approved by the voters, will provide for a revised state board of education.

This amendment would establish a nine-member appointed board and would provide that the state superintendent of education be appointed by the board.

Ponderings

Dogwood Blossoms

Even after the wind and rain Prentiss County has experienced lately, the dogwood trees are still beautiful. But it does seem that there aren't quite as many dogwoods blooming as last Easter.

As I look at dogwood trees blooming I like to think about the legend behind them.

The legend tells of a time when the tree grew much larger. Crosses for crucifixion were built from the wood. The last cross built from a dogwood tree that of Christ's. Since then the tree has become shorter and has gnarled, thin trunks.

The four petals of the dogwood blossom represent the points on the cross. At each petal is the brown stain of a nail scar. The green center of the blossom represents the crown of thorns which Christ wore when he was crucified.

Easter Possums

When it's time to dye those Easter eggs for the egg hunt, think about what the Easter Bunny and the Easter eggs represent.

Easter eggs are symbols of new life and resurrection. In some countries rolling colored eggs down slopes on Easter Monday remains a popular observance. Egg-rolling on the lawn of the White House is a tradition.

The hare, the symbol of fertility in ancient Egypt, is replaced by the Easter bunny here. It is the job of the Easter bunny to hide the eggs away for children to find. (Just think, if we didn't have rabbits in the U.S. we might have an Easter possum instead!)

It was not until the latter part of the 19th century, especially during the Civil War, that Easter customs were observed in the United States.

Then those soldiers who had died in the war were commemorated in the churches which were decorated with flowers on Easter Day.

The widespread belief that the sun danced for joy on Easter morning at dawn led to the custom of going to the hills at sunrise.

There is just one thing that bothers me. Which came first...the Easter bunny or the Easter egg?

A Letter To Santa

This week we received a letter to forward to Santa Claus from Tracy Eaton of Booneville. Before sending the letter to the North Pole I couldn't resist reading it. Tracy writes:

"Dear Santa, Hi! I'm going to be early this year. I don't get to go see you at the Tupelo Mall or at Sears in 1981. I will try to go see you at both places. I would type you out a letter but it's too slow and boring. Merry Christmas!" Then Tracy tells Santa her Christmas list.

Now that's what I like. Someone who plans ahead and doesn't put things off until the last minute.

Court Square Joke

A customer warned a used-car dealer: "Now, don't tell me this car was owned by a little old lady who used it only on Sundays." "Even better," the dealer replied. "It was owned by a physician who used it only for house calls."

home.

As I entered Kawaihoa Church, I was awed by the clean, simple beauty of the building as well as the sheer glory of the magnificent flowers which filled every available bit of space. The members of the University of Hawaii concert choir filled several long rows in the large church. Their faces were delightfully youthful, glowing and fresh - I could not even guess how many races were represented.

As my eyes went from face to face, I understood what made Hawaii such a special state - so many backgrounds, so many rich heritages.

When the time arrived for the choir to sing, the director stepped forward with his pitch pipe. He approached the girl on the end of the first row and blew the tone of the pitch pipe softly into her ear. At once the girl hummed the same true note into the ear of the girl next to her. In turn that young lady caught the tone and sounded it to her neighbor.

As choir member passed it to choir member, the sound of the note grew louder and clearer and more lovely to hear. I felt tears spring into my eyes.

When the music was over, the minister stepped forward and asked that we bow our heads for prayer. "Let us follow the example of the young people from the University Choir," he prayed. "Let us, each and everyone, allow God to sound a true note of Christianity into our ear and then let us pass this note on to the one next to us so that in time the note will be heard throughout the world."

Suddenly I was sure it was Easter! And you know - of course it's my imagination - but whenever I speak out for the Lord since that day, I seem to hear that clear note, growing as it is passed on.

Copied

Thought for the week: I have a short story for you this week. I hope you will enjoy it.

"Pass It On"

It was Easter. But this particular Sunday I was far away from my native New England, in Honolulu, Hawaii. I was uncertain as I walked slowly from my hotel to church. Would it really seem like Easter in a strange city and a strange church? I missed being Pat Gratton of WVON and Mike Barbara of Lee's Pharmacy toast with a glass of aloe.

(Woonsocket, R.I.) - "It started out with a friend telling me that she had gotten pain relief of arthritis by drinking 'Pure Aloe Gel,'" says Pat. "I mentioned it on my radio show because I found out Lee's Pharmacy was selling the pure aloe gel, from The General Aloe Corp. People started asking about it, then using it; now my show has turned into the 'ALOE HOUR'." Anna of Woonsocket said, "Pat I had pains in my back, and my husband had pains in his legs. We're on our 2nd bottle and we feel great. I feel so much livelier." Mrs. O.C. (known as Oreo Cookie) told Pat, "I'm on my 8th bottle. I have a slight case of colitis and I feel so much relief. I ran out of the product and went 3 weeks without it and I felt miserable. I also use the Aloe Lotion." Mrs. C.P. says, "I'm on my 2nd bottle. I couldn't put any weight on my right knee. Now I feel great. I take the product in a shot glass and it tastes like a lime rickey," laughed Mrs. C.P. "My left foot was so swollen from arthritis that the doctor was going to operate on a burr that formed; now the swelling is gone and I feel great. I also used to take a package of Alka Seltzer (18 tablets) a week. Now I take none. The Aloe helps me inside as well as outside." Directions for Aloe Vera Juice: 1 oz. AL-O-JEL™ added to 7 oz. water makes a delicious 8 oz. glass of aloe juice. 32 oz. bottle of AL-O-JEL™ makes two (2) gallons of 100% Aloe Juice. Products available at these locations:

of the parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, to spin off its local operating companies as called for in an antitrust case agreement between the Department of Justice and the Bell System.

"The earliest date at which the spin off could be accomplished is late 1983," McGowen said, "with the most likely dates being late 1983 and early 1984."

The major factors prompting the request for the repriced services are the combined effects of inflation and the significant changes taking place in the telecommunications industry, McGowen said.

If the phone company's proposal is approved, WATS would be restructured and repriced to allow what the company calls "a more cost-based rate structure."

The company is requesting no revenue increase for in-state long distance calls, but some rates will change slightly, some up and some down, as a result of a restructuring of the rates.

McGowen said the effect of the increases on a specific residence or business customer would vary according to the type and amount of service used.

"IT HAS BEEN over two years since we last proposed an increase in telephone rates," McGowen said. "For the vast majority of our customers, rates have not been adjusted during this time. However, our costs have risen sharply."

"Since telephone rates were last increased," he said, "the cost of new debt has risen by over 30 percent, postage expense has jumped over 30 percent and the cost of a telephone installation-repair vehicle has gone up 21 percent."

He said South Central Bell's earnings are currently below the minimum level authorized by the Public Service Commission in 1980 when it granted the company $20 million less than it requested at that time.

In the meantime, McGowen said, South Central Bell has continued to build new facilities and improve existing facilities to keep up with the demand for service.

He said the company will need to spend in excess of $400 million on new and improved telephone facilities during the next two years. With this added expenditure, the company's investment in its Mississippi operation would be approximately $2 billion.

McGowen said the level of earnings authorized by the Public Service Commission two years ago does not adequately cover the costs of doing business in today's economy.

"The proposed new rates would have the effect of producing $98.2 million in additional annual revenues, or $50.6 million after taxes, to cover the company's increasing costs of providing service," he said.

The Bell vice-president said that extensive changes in the regulatory environment are resulting in deregulation and increased competition in the communications industry.

"Technology, spurred by competition, is rapidly advancing," he said. "Competition is causing another change. In a competitive environment, rates move more closely toward the actual costs of providing service."

"With competition being established in the more profitable areas of our business, such as long distance, the subsidy from those services is being reduced, thereby forcing local service rates up nearer to costs of providing the service," McGowen said.

measures to stop this decline and decay and move into a bright future."

Ms. Fawcett is said to be the first woman to actively seek the First District post.

As of this time, Ms. Fawcett faces no primary opposition in the Republican party. T.K. Moffett, who lives in Tupelo and is the commander of the Booneville unit of the National Guard, announced last week that he will not run in this year's election, but will gather his resources to run for the First District post in 1984.

A Republican, Moffett unsuccessfully challenged Whitten in the last two campaigns.

The governor would appoint five members of the board, the lieutenant governor would appoint two members and the speaker of the house would appoint two members.

If approved by the Justice Department, House Bill 828 will make important changes in our election laws. This bill provides for the first primary to be held seven weeks before the general election with the second primary to follow three weeks after the first primary.

Another important constitutional amendment will be offered in November which will provide for classification of property for assessment purposes.

This amendment will allow no more than five percent of the lowest class be placed on the highest class. In other words, if automobiles and utilities are assessed at 30 percent of their appraised value then homes and farms could be no lower than 15 percent.

Significant changes were made in the truck weight laws. Tandem axle limits were raised from 34,000 pounds to 40,000 pounds and given a five percent tolerance.

The maximum 80,000 pounds gross weight will now be given a two percent tolerance where there was no tolerance under previous law. Fines for overweight loads will be cut in half.

The workmen's compensation laws were reenacted and revised and will provide additional benefits to eligible workers. Under the new law workers who are injured on the job will now be allowed to choose their own doctor.

Changes were made in the justice court laws which were passed last year. Beginning in 1984, most Northeast Mississippi counties will have only two justice court judges. Each will be elected in a separate district and will have countywide jurisdiction concerning court matters.

Most Northeast Mississippi justice court judges will earn from $10,000-$17,000 per year in salary depending on the population of the county.

Five new circuit judge positions were approved, but the salaries of circuit, chancery, and supreme court judges were not raised. Also the measures which would have raised the salaries of many top state officials were defeated.

House bill 475 will allow optometrists to use certain drugs in the eye for diagnostic purposes. They may use drugs to treat eye problems.

The Mississippi Housing Finance Corporation was given new authority to make housing loans available to Mississippi citizens. The $100 million provided for will become available when the national money market allows bonds to be sold at a rate which will permit an interest rate of no more than 13 percent to be charged on these home loans.

Retired state employees and teachers will receive an additional retirement increase in their 13th check.

I continue to be at your service during the summer and fall months. You may contact me by phone at 728-6434 or by writing Representative Billy McCoy, Route 3, Box 346, Rienzi, MS 38865.

Friday night's lighting storm brought about many fears. As I stood in my door watching the wind, it was like a whirlwind came because my swing on my porch started flipping over and tumbled off to the ground, and tree limbs fell, too. But I thank the Lord that no real harm came to my home or the surrounding area.

This Friday is known to us all as Good Friday, a day for planting and for many people a day for Easter shopping. But the real meaning is that it's the day Jesus died on the cross and on the third day he arose from the grave, just like he said he would.

That is the real meaning of Easter. It's not to go to church to see who's dressed the best, or who's wearing the most expensive suit or dress or whose child says the longest speech or makes the most mistakes. Instead the people of God should be thanking Jesus for his death and resurrection.

Last Thursday night fire destroyed the home of Miss Annie Evelyn Agnew. We're asking people of the community to do what they can to help her out. She has two little girls and maybe you have clothes and shoes that they can wear.

On April 11 there will be a gospel singing at the East Side Community Center at 3 p.m. featuring the Crowns of Harmony along with many other groups.

We would like to welcome Mrs. Johnnie Faye McNeal and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stamps from Gary, Ind., for the Easter week. We always enjoy them in the services.

On April 17, family portraits will be made. Contact a member of the Sunflower Development Club for a coupon.

Sunrise services will be conducted at Beckley Chapel and Synagogue M.B. Church. April 5 - 9 will be passion week at Beckley Chapel and Reuben. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday night services will be held at Reuben Chapel C.M.E. and services Tuesday and Thursday night will be held at Beckley.

Revival will start Wednesday night at Spring Hill M.B. Church. April 7 - 9. Wednesday night speaker will be the Rev. Shumpert. The speaker Thursday night will be the Rev. Leurs Ragins and Friday night services will conclude with the Rev. Willie Shinault as speaker.

The Spring Hill Easter program will begin April 11 at 2 p.m. The Holiness Church program will begin at 11:30 a.m.

There will be a program at Wolf Creek M.B. Church

April 18, at 3:30 p.m. sponsored by Choir No. 2. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Lewis McGee, pastor of New Salem Baptist Church, along with the choir.

Spaghetti plates will be sold at Mrs. Marcella McGee's house April 10. This will be sponsored by Choir No. 2 at Wolf Creek M.B. Church.

Till next week.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian

George E. Allen Library One of the most prolific of our American writers is Isaac Asimov. Biochemist, university professor, novelist, humorist, futurist, anthologist, he is thought to be the current world record holder in literary output.

The Allen Library has recently received his book, "Change!" Served up in Asimov's engaging style are his extrapolations on space, language, sex, aging, the environment, health, and the future.

Examples: -- Bobby repair will no longer depend on donor banks. By isolating and blocking certain cells that reproduce certain parts, cloning will supply spares and eliminate problems of endangered species;

-- Amplification of tiny electromagnetic fields of the brain cells with slight variations will allow communication through mental telepathy and without interference from other heads;

-- If a cosmic subway can be devised to travel through black holes, the universe may enjoy a Cosmic Empire;

-- Space tourism after colonization will drastically change travel and going to the moon will be more than radical because there is a two-week period between sunrise and sunset.

Asimov is a science fiction writer -- but also a highly respected mathematician and scientist. He began a column for "American Way Magazine" called "Change" in 1974 and this despite the fact that it was the inflight magazine of American Airlines and he fears flying so much that he avoids it!

He says: "I must warn you that none of the futures described in this book are inevitable—I do not predict the inevitable, but the possible, the conceivable. "The actual future will be what circumstance, the human will, and the human intelligence make it, and we can only hope that all conspire to produce something good."

THE 4-H BEEF PROJECT FOR 4-H YOUTH

I. Project Explanation

In the Mississippi 4-H Beef Project we have two areas in which a boy or girl may participate. These two phases of the beef project are: (1) Steer and (2) Beef Breeding.

It is impossible, however, for a 4-H'er to participate in both phases of this project simultaneously. This, of course, will depend on the experience of the 4-H'er with this project and the resources available to him.

With each phase of the project there are basically two shows each year in which members may exhibit their animals. These shows are the Mississippi State Fair in the fall and the State Round-up in the spring.

To aid in the selection of the best calf best suited for you and your project, you may need to decide which of these two shows you want to put emphasis on.

II. Selection

In selecting the right calf for your project you may want to consider these factors:

- (1) facilities you have available,
- (2) experience in this project,
- (3) cost involved,
- (4) equipment you may need,
- (5) length of project (including starting and ending dates),
- (6) time required,
- (7) breeds and availability of them,
- (8) age of animal,
- (9) sex

of animal, (10) plans for animal after project ends, (11) show rules regarding your project, (12) disposition of calf, (13) your age and size, and (14) awards available.

III. Management

After you have chosen the phase of the beef project you want to participate in, selected your calf and brought him home, you have completed only about 40 percent of this project. The remaining 60 percent is primarily management.

First of all try to feed your calf with another one if possible. Calves have a tendency to get along better if they are not kept by themselves. You must handle your calf carefully the first couple of weeks. This will give him an opportunity to get used to his new home and into a daily routine. Keeping your calf healthy is a vital part of management.

You should worm your calf with either thiabendazole or tramisol the first week.

This can be done in various ways, such as in the feed, with a liquid, or with a bolus. This treatment needs to be repeated 10 to 14 days later and then worm every 60 to 90 days.

If you are feeding a steer calf you may want to vaccinate him for leptospirosis, IBR, P13, blackleg, malignant edema and BVD. Breeding animals can also be vaccinated for these, but usually are only vaccinated for leptospirosis, blackleg and malignant edema.

If you raise your own breeding animal to show, you should vaccinate heifer calves for Bangs when they are between four and 12 months of age.

One of the most difficult things that you may have to do in this project is teach your calf to lead. This, however, can be a time when you and your calf learn each other. If you have intentions of handling your calf in the show ring, you first have to be able to handle him at home.

Needless to say, the smaller the calf the easier it will be to halter break him. When you first get your calf home is the time to get this done. Put a halter on him and lead him to a good strong post for several hours each day. Then you can begin working with him gradually until he learns what you want him to do.

Local Men Attend Dairy Meeting

Gerald Tennison of Booneville, and T.C. Mauney Jr. of Baldwin represented local dairymen at the 13th annual meeting of Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) in Milwaukee recently.

AMPI is made up of 33,000 dairy farm families in 20 states. Owned and operated by its members, the cooperative markets fluid milk to dairy processors and manufacturers from Canada to the Mexican border.

The AMPI annual meeting began Thursday, March 26, with three Regional meetings and continued on Friday and Saturday, March 27 and 28, with the corporate delegate sessions. A total of 2,500 people, including officers, board representatives, delegates, members and guests are attending.

One-third of AMPI's total production, or 5.2 billion pounds, was produced by the 5,000 dairymen in 11 South Central states that make up the cooperative's Southern Region. This is approximately four percent of the U.S. milk supply.

AMPI-Southern Region 1981 sales amounted to $920 million.

Lee Wolf of Gainesville, Texas, was elected to succeed D.C. Jones of Los Lunas, N.M., as Southern Region Board President.

The new Southern Region Board elected to serve with Wolf are Bill Thornton of Carlisle, Ark., first vice-president; Martin Theodore of Tyler, Texas, second vice-president; Norman Barker of Pratt, Kan., secretary; Louis Hinder of Canyon, Texas, treasurer; and members Lyndon Wahl, president of the Oklahoma Division and T.C. Mauney, president of the Mid-South Division.

Jobe Attends Conference

Ernest D. Jobe of the Northeast Mississippi Junior College in Booneville, was one of 23 community college instructors from across the nation who participated in the March 28-30 conference on "Understanding Community Economic Development" held at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio.

The conference was conducted by the Ohio Council on Economic Education through a grant from the Armo Foundation.

The three-day session was designed as a training session for community college instructors who will develop and offer courses on local economic development at their respective community colleges during 1982-83.

The local courses will be designed to enable students to understand the role of business in the community, how communities may attract industry and how communities might go about retaining existing local industry.

Conference speakers included John Galbreath, chairman of the board and principle owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Dr. Herbert Neil Jr., vice-president of Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, James Duerk, Ohio Director of Community and Economic Development, and Dr. Kalman Goldberg, director of the Center for Economic Education at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill.

Donald Fell, executive director of the Ohio Council on Economic Education, served as project director.

With 4-2 Record

Blue Devil Baseballers Off To Fast Start

Booneville High School's baseball squad is off to a fast start for the 1982 spring session.

The local squad, under coaches Riley Presley and Ken Shackelford, have posted a 4-2 overall record to date and are tabbed as one of the top teams in the Northern part of the state.

The Devils are aiming at one of, it not the, best records in the history of the school and if all indications are correct it looks as though this year just might be the year of the Devils for their baseball program.

Some of the Devils wins this season have been very impressive performances. Their first victory, a 11-8 victory over Walnut, was indeed a fine start.

Following that win, the Booneville nine went to work. The local sluggers followed with a 9-5 victory over a tough Tishomingo squad and then playing arch-rival Kossuth's Aggies, the Devils came away with a 22-4 romping that was one of Booneville's best showing since way back when.

The Devils still had some winning to do. Battling New Albany's Bulldogs, a school known for their baseball program, the Booneville squad took an easy 13-4 win which was yet another standout performance.

The Devils have combined their talent on both the pitching side as well as in the hitting department.

Local hurler Rod Coggin has posted a 2-1 record while Mark McCreary has notched one victory without a loss and John Purvis has evened his record at 1-1 for the young season thusfar.

Greg Oakley leads in the homerun department with a pair while Ray Holloway has sent one over the fence.

The local squad have played only one game on their home field but this week have a host of games scheduled at the Booneville West Side City Park.

The Devils were scheduled against Baldwyn last Friday and then Iuka Tuesday but both games were cancelled due to encllement weather. The Iuka game was rescheduled for Wednesday afternoon but results of that game were not available at presstime due to our early schedule.

The Devils baseballers will play here this afternoon (weather permitting) against Alcorn Central and then again Friday (tomorrow) against Saltillo and then Monday the local troop will host Ripley's Tigers at the Booneville West Side Park.

The Devils are entwined in a 15 game schedule which will end April 29th with District and Tombigbee action to follow.

Local Softball Meeting Set

There will be a City League Softball meeting at the City Park on Saturday morning April 17, at 9:00. This meeting is for any men's or ladies softball teams who wish to enter in the 1982 Booneville City League Softball Program.

The entry fee for this year will be $150.00 per team. Special plans are being made for a spectacular season of fun and excitement. Everyone interested should make immediate plans to sign up. For information concerning this year's program contact Ricky Gillentine at 728-5667.

CARDS OF THANKS

We, the family members of J.B. Gault, would like to express our sincere gratitude to all who expressed love and concern during the recent illness and death of our husband and father.

The staff of the Baptist Memorial Hospital, Booneville; the staff of the Medical Center; Dr. S.C. Galloway, family physician; the Personnel at McMillan Funeral Home; Dr. John Floyd and Rev. Neil Moore; and numerous friends who stayed with us - will remain in our memories for years to come. Words are so inadequate to express all that we feel for you at this time.

All we can say is "Thank You", and that does not begin to express our feelings. We all do appreciate everything you all did for our husband-father and for us.

The Family of J.B. Gault

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this method of expressing my deepest appreciation for the many kindnesses of floral tributes, food, cards, phone calls, visits, and Heart Fund Memorials during the time after my husband's sudden death.

I particularly wish to thank Mr. Vest Coats for his efforts at administering CPR.

I offer my heartfelt thanks to Bro. Excal Burleson for his presence, his many consoling words, and meaningful message.

Also, to Concord Baptist Church, Oak Hill Baptist Church, Oak Ridge Church of Christ, Christ Methodist Church, Booneville Church of Christ, Mt. Olive Baptist Church as well as Scenic Hills Baptist Church and Merton Avenue Baptist Church in Memphis, and McMillan's Funeral Home.

In my time of deepest sorrow, I still have many blessings. God be with you.

County Schools Seek And Evaluate Disabled Children

The Prentiss County School District is again participating in an ongoing statewide effort to identify, locate and evaluate children throughout the age of 21 who are physically, mentally, communicatively and/or emotionally handicapped. "Early identification of children in need of special educational experiences is most important to each child," said Lex Cain, Prentiss County Superintendent of Education.

The information gathered in this program will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward the goal of providing a free appropriate public education to all handicapped children, he said.

"Information which could identify an individual child will be maintained by this school district and will be provided to other agencies only in accord with the Family Rights and Privacy Act," the superintendent said.

Parents are guaranteed the right to inspect any such information about their children and to challenge its accuracy. Access to this information is forbidden to any unauthorized person without the parents' informed consent.

For further information about the Child Find program at the Prentiss County School District, contact Prentiss County's Child Finder, James Gooze, at 728-4632 or write him at the Educational Service Center, P.O. Box 779, Booneville, MS 38829.

Higher Education Seminar Scheduled In Tupelo April 13

The third in a series of seminars to build public support for improving higher education in Mississippi will be held in Tupelo Tuesday, April 13.

The series is being sponsored by the Board of Trustees for Institutions of Higher Learning, with the cooperation of presidents and information officers from each of the eight universities. The Tupelo meeting will be hosted by the University of Mississippi and Mississippi University for Women.

The Mission Statements, adopted by the Board in November, 1981, seek to improve quality and reduce any unnecessary duplication by assigning specific missions and areas of leadership for the state's eight universities.

Among possibly 100 persons expected for the seminars are counselors and others who work with college-bound students, officials of public and private junior colleges, admissions representatives and delegates from the Mississippi Personnel and Guidance Association.

The public is invited. For more information, call Doris Fredrick at (601) 844-4111.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

from the office of:
JOHN R. WHITE, O.D.

CLASSROOM EYES

It's a great feeling for a mother when her child goes off to school. And it's a great feeling for the child too unless he has a vision problem. If he has trouble learning to read or seeing things on the blackboard he's going to be unhappy. And so will his parents if he fails in his schoolwork.

Sometimes teachers think an inattentive child is daydreaming. If he paid more attention to them he'd be doing a lot better in his schoolwork. But maybe he's daydreaming because he can't see well. The teacher works hard to explain things on the blackboard. But if Johnny can't see it how can he learn?

There are many signs of poor vision. Holding a book too close, difficulty in learning words or skipping words when reading aloud are some of them. Reading too slowly, tilting the head to look at something or squinting are others.

An eye examination is the only way to find out. Every child needs to be able to see well to learn. Your optometrist can help.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office

SS Disability Payments Subject To Periodic Checks

If you receive Social Security disability checks, you should be aware that your claim will be reviewed from time to time to make sure you meet all requirements for benefits, according to Hugh Tigrett, Social Security District manager.

In the past, only certain disability claims were reexamined. For example, a review was made if the beneficiary's condition was very likely to improve or if he or she returned to work.

Now, everyone's claim must be reviewed periodically, generally at least once every three years unless the Social Security Administration determines a shorter or longer review period is justified.

It should be recognized that many advances in medical science and rehabilitation techniques have been made since 1957 when the first disability payments were made. Some of the examples are:

-- Surgery and new rehabilitative aids and devices have significantly improved mobility and enhanced capacity to work for individuals with orthopedic and neurological impairments.

-- Coronary bypass surgery, pacemakers, and new medications have enabled many people with cardiovascular impairments to lead more active lives.

-- Psychotherapeutic drugs often result in dramatic improvement when given to those with certain psychiatric disorders.

-- Significant progress has been made against Hodgkin's Disease and other forms of cancer.

-- Kidney dialysis enables many people to hold productive jobs.

-- Microsurgery, prosthetic surgery, organ transplants, new drugs, and new methods of treatment enable additional people to overcome their handicaps.

When your case is reviewed, you and your doctor will be asked for current information and evidence on how your impairment affects your ability to work, Tigrett said. In addition, you may be asked to take a special examination or test at Government expense. It is important that you cooperate fully when contacted.

After the review, you will be notified, in writing, of the decision made in your case. If you still meet all requirements, your checks will continue. If it appears that you are no longer disabled, you first will be given 10 days to submit additional evidence or request more time.

If the final determination establishes that you no longer meet all requirements, payment will be made for the month your disability ended and two additional months. You will be informed of your right to appeal any decision made in your case.

If you have any questions about the review of your disability claim, you may contact the Social Security Office. The people there will be glad to help you, Tigrett said.

Timberline

By JOHN STUART
County Forester

Of all forest pests perhaps the most annoying is the beaver. Mississippi's forests were devoid of this native rodent for many years due to extensive trapping in the past. The animal was reintroduced in the late 1940's. Declining prices for wild fur lessened interest in trapping and overpopulations of beavers developed.

The beaver causes damage in two ways: they dam streams and flood valuable farm land and they gnaw the bark of trees, which kills the timber immediately or causes insect and disease problems later.

Recent control efforts have failed to abate the problem: the beaver population has increased 300 percent in the last 10 years. There are 8,000,000 acres in the Southeastern U.S. subject to natural periodic flooding, and beaver damage in these areas range from $40 to $140 per acre. Beaver related flooding annually causes an estimated 2.5 million dollars worth of damage in 'LITTLE MISS' WINNER -- Brandy Chisholm, 5-year-old daughter of Danny and Joyce Chisholm of Baldwin, won the 6-10 year old division of the Little Miss Prentiss County Contest held March 21. She will compete in the Little Miss Mississippi Contest in Jackson in July. Her grandparents are Gladys Gardner and Ada Lee Chisholm of Baldwin.

Mississippi.

Scientists at Mississippi State University have been researching the beaver problem to find new methods of control and beaver pond management. In order to disseminate this information to landowners with beaver problems, a number of conservation and farm-oriented agencies have sponsored beaver control meetings in the month of March.

On March 9 a meeting at Lucedale drew 70-80 interested landowners and agency people. The next day a similar session at Philadelphia drew 100 participants. Additional sessions will be conducted in other areas of the State where interest in beaver control is high.

Speakers and topics presented at the March 9 and 10 sessions included: Beaver Biology, Research and Impact - Dr. Dale Arner, Head Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, Miss. State University; Beaver Management - Dr. Ed Hill, Assistant - Leader, Fish and Wildlife Research Unit, Miss. State University; Legal Aspects of Beaver Control - Bill Hamrick, Fur Biologist, Miss. Department of Wildlife Conservation; Beaver Marketing - L.L. Mullins, Miss. Beaver Cooperative. Dr. Hill conducted the on-site demonstrations.

Sponsoring agencies were: Mississippi Farm

Bureau Federation; Miss. State University School of Forest Resources; Mississippi Forestry Commission; Miss. Cooperative Extension Service; Miss. Department of Wildlife Conservation; USDA Soil Conservation Service; Miss. Beaver Cooperative and Miss. Trappers Asso.

"I'm only 32.
Why worry about retirement now?"

Because every year you wait, you're losing money. And a tax deduction, too.

With an Individual Retirement Account from The People Place, your deposits are tax-deductible. And the interest you earn is tax-free until you withdraw it at retirement—as early as age 59½. By then, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket anyway.

You can open an IRA at The People Place even if you already have a pension plan where you work. And you can deposit up to $2,000 a year for individuals, $4,000 a year if both you and your spouse work.

Say you start depositing $2,000 a year into your IRA at 30. By age 65, you'll have put a tax-deductible $70,000 in the bank. Tax-deferred interest mounts up so fast that, assuming a 12% interest rate compounded quarterly, your $70,000 will have turned into $1,106,452.

Even if you deposit just $25 a month in your IRA, you'll still have a handsome sum of $165,967.91 at retirement. And a tax deduction every year until then.

Find out more about IRAs. Ask the people who know. At The People Place.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of funds from an IRA. Also, the Internal Revenue Service imposes a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn, and the amount withdrawn must be included in taxable income.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Strength In The Knowledge Of God

By Bro. Austin Shook

Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distress for Christ's sake: for when I am weak then am I strong.

Spiritual strength must be distinguished from physical power, as in the case of Sampson who had very little strength of soul.

Intellectual energy can solve mysteries of thought, and construct lofty arguments, but it cannot resist temptation and accomplish spiritual work and strength of human will.

Spiritual strength is a great strength of the inner nature and helps resist evil and implies self-control.

I Cor. 9:27

But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: less that by any means when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway.

Spiritual strength gives power to resist external influence of fashion, and seduction of terror. It also gives energy for doing spiritual work and overcoming the evilness of the world and extending the good.

For reaching the conscience of men, convicting them of sin and persuading them to be reconciled to God.

Spiritual strength is seen in moral courage, patience, zeal and in persevering activity in God's service.

The source of this strength is derived from God. It is not acquired by our efforts, nor attained by any worldly means, but is given to us by our natural weakness when we are most conscious and distrustful of ourselves. It comes in response to our prayer.

If we really seek to know God He will give us knowledge which is a condition for the receiving of spiritual strength which is so necessary for our lives today.

ASCS News

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director
APRIL 16 IMPORTANT DATE FOR FARMERS
April 16 is an important date for farmers here in Prentiss County.

This is an important date for wheat farmers because it is the final date for certifying wheat planted acreage. This date was originally set for April 15, but was moved to April 16 to agree with final date for the program signup. We advise all farmers who have wheat planted to certify the acreage.

If a report is not filed, the program crop acreage will be zero. If a wheat or oat base is established on the farm and the crop was not planted for harvest in 1982, a zero acreage should be certified by April 15 in order to protect the base for future years.

Furthermore, failure to report will cause the farm to be ineligible for benefits such as deficiency payments and for participation in the reserve program.

April 16 is the final date for wheat, cotton, rice, and feed grain farmers to sign up to participate in the 1982 farm programs. Program benefits include price support eligibility, deficiency payments, and eligibility for the reserve program.

Farmers really have nothing to lose by signing up because the signup is not binding until the crops are planted and a report of acreage is filed.

Farmers who have questions about wheat certifications, the program signup or other program matters should contract the local ASCS Office.

CONTRACTS NEEDED FOR CRUSHING, EXPORTING ADDITIONAL PEANUTS
Additional peanuts produced for crushing or exporting must be contracted by April 14.

Additional peanuts are those marketed from a farm for which a poundage quota has been established and which are in excess of the poundage quota, and also those marketed from a farm for which no farm poundage quota has been established.

This production must be either placed under an approved contract with a handler or be placed under price support loan, at the $200.00 per ton loan rate. If the additional peanuts are marketed, or considered marketed, in any other way except as green peanuts, they will be designated as quota marketings and subject to a 38.5 cent per pound penalty.

The peanut price support program no longer limits the number of acres of peanuts that can be planted. This means that any person can grow peanuts anywhere in the country and market the peanuts for other than domestic edible use. Under previous programs, production was limited to farmers with an allotment. A handler may contract with a farmer to buy additional peanuts for crushing or export, or both. However, all contract forms (CCC-1005) must be submitted to the county ASCS office for approval by April 14.

All peanut growers are required to certify their planted acres to the county ASCS office and have peanut marketing cards issued before they can sell peanuts. The cards reflect the number of pounds of peanuts that can be marketed for domestic edible uses or marketed as contract additional peanuts for export or crush. Peanuts marketed in excess of the contracted quantity are considered marketings of quota peanuts.

FEDERAL CROP INSURANCE PROVISION ANNOUNCED
"The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), both agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, are providing cooperative as well as individual services to farm producers," says Everett W. LeJeune, Field Operations Office Director for FCIC.

ASCS has announced an April 16 deadline for signup in the 1982 acreage reduction programs for Cotton, Rice, Feed Grains, and Wheat. Producers who have already reported planted acreage for all-Risk Crop Insurance can revise their acreage report by April 16 if they participate in the ASCS Acreage reduction program.

According to the provisions of the new Farm Bill, ASCS disaster payments will not be available on acreage eligible for All-Risk Crop Insurance (including All-Risk Insurance issued by a private insurance company and reinsured by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation).

All Risk Crop Insurance may now be available through an individual agreement with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation on cropland that was previously considered uninsurable. The request for coverage should be made through the local agent or service office before the sales closing date for that crop. The sales closing date for Soybeans, Cotton, Rice, and Grain Sorghum is April 15.

In addition, FCIC has initiated and Individual Yield Coverage (IYC) program, which ultimately will permit policyholders to purchase insurance coverage based solely on their production records. An IYC participant must have verifiable acreage and yield records for at least the three most recent consecutively-planted crop years. Recorded yields may be used for up to 10 years, if available.

LeJeune further states, "Those producers who were insured on a spring-planted crop for the 1981 crop year, but canceled their insurance, may reinstate their All-Risk coverage and maintain any premium discount they may have earned for good experience if they do so before April 15, 1982."

Hard To Find Jobs, But

Older Workers Good Producers

Nearly 40 million working Americans are middle-aged or older people, according to Charles Smith, manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service.

Smith said these are men and women holding top positions in industry and government, and they are workers producing a wide variety of goods and services.

As a group, they have no serious problems - so long as they are regularly employed. Yet workers over 40 who lose their jobs commonly have great trouble finding new ones, and the search is increasingly difficult as they grow older.

Employer reluctance to hire these workers persists despite a wealth of evidence that age discrimination makes no sense at all, Smith said. Well-documented research findings show that, by every common measure of job performance, older men and women are good workers.

For example, a survey of several thousand clerical workers showed that older employees had a steadier rate of output than did younger ones, he said. Again, a study using precise productivity measures found that older semiskilled operatives were just as productive as younger ones. And a survey of nearly 18,000 workers reported that the number of workdays lost for all reasons decreased with age.

Smith also said that the costs of age discrimination are high. Besides personal hardship, they include disproportionate public expenditures on unemployment insurance for older workers.

A less obvious cost is the productivity loss associated with neglect of older workers' skills and experience. It is a loss the Nation can ill afford just now, when high productivity is essential to meeting competition by foreign products, justifying wage raises, and achieving a healthy economy.

"To focus attention on this problem, National Employ the Older Worker Week is being observed March 14-20," Smith said. "It is a good time for each of us to examine our attitudes toward older workers."

"It is a time too for employers to consider practices," he said. "Hiring on the basis of ability, not age, is a matter of basic fairness. It is also good business."
