Barber Shop Break-In Suspect Arrested

The Booneville Police Department has a suspect in custody in connection with a break-in last week at a downtown barber shop.

Earl J. Owens, 29, of Jonesboro, Ark., is currently in the city jail, charged with breaking and entering in connection with the Saturday night (April 24) break-in of Davis Barber Shop, according to Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert.

Lambert said that when it was determined that Owens was a suspect in the case, he had already gone back to Arkansas. Lambert said he called the sheriff in Jonesboro who picked Owens up and held him for the Booneville Police Department.

Lambert went to Jonesboro Monday to bring Owens back to Booneville to face charges.

A passer-by discovered the break-in at Davis Barber Shop when he notice the door ajar on Sunday. Intruders apparently entered the shop by breaking through an old skylight on the roof of the building.

The only item discovered missing was a Gibson banjo. Authorities said they believe the intruders were frightened off before they could take anything else.

The meal, which is free to the public, will include entertainment by local gospel, bluegrass and country musicians, a committee spokesman said.

Senator Stennis will be on hand through out the evening to meet with area constituents and to discuss the concerns of fellow Mississippians.

"Supporters of the state's senior senator are encouraged to make plans to be part of this special occasion," a committee spokesman said.

Tornado Season Is Not Over Yet

Prentiss County Civil Defense Director Bill Prather warned Tuesday night at the city board meeting that the tornado season is still here.

"People still need to be on the alert when bulletins come out," he said.

Prather said there have been three recent tornado watches and one severe weather notice in the county. There was also one possible tornado last week which caused Wheeler School to go into its tornado drill.

Missing Statue Finds Its Way Home

Early in January of this year, someone removed the Statue of the Infant Jesus of Prague from the outside of the Catholic church in Booneville. Now the statue is once again on its resting place outside the church.

"As proof that conscience still exists, the statue was quietly returned a week and a half ago," Priest Charles Flood said this week. "Thanks to all who showed a caring attitude. We all thank the Lord for inspiring the taker to become a returner."

At the time the statue was taken, church members asked that it be returned since it had no intrinsic monetary value, but did have sentimental value because one of the church members had made the statue.

CETA Youth Program Receives Funding

Mississippi State Job Service officials have announced that the CETA Summer Youth Employment Program has been funded again this year.

Corinth Center Manager Charles Smith said Prentiss County has a tentative allotment of 66 slots in which economically disadvantaged youth ages 14 through 21 will be able to work at various city, county, and school worksites throughout the area again this summer.

"The CETA Summer Youth Program will be similar to last year's program," Smith said. "The program will begin June 14, 1982, and end on August 6, 1982. Participants will be allowed to work a maximum of 32 hours per week and will be paid minimum wage. Recruitment and selection will be from all segments of the economically disadvantaged youth population and priority will be given to those youths who have not previously been in the Summer Youth Employment Program, with all other factors being considered."

"Application forms for the program have been distributed to local schools and are also available at all Job Service offices. Youth will be selected for the program by a special committee of at least six county residents. Those most in need will be selected and all will be expected to work and earn their wages," Smith said.

"Work and job safety will be stressed and those youth not willing to work will be dismissed," Smith said.

Further information may be obtained at the local Job Service Office.

State R&D Center Study Indicates Annexation Not Feasible At This Time

The Mississippi Research and Development Center in Jackson has advised the City of Booneville that it would probably be too expensive for the city to expand its corporate limits at this time.

Mayor Charles Crabb had earlier asked the R&D Center to conduct a study on the feasibility of annexing additional areas into the city limits.

As a result of this study, it was the opinion of the R&D Center that Booneville should complete water and sewerage improvements necessary to satisfy federal water pollution and water quality requirements before annexing additional areas located outside the existing city sewerage system service area.

The area being considered for annexation lies in all directions from the city and consists of a total of about 18 square miles. This area contains approximately 1,900 persons and has about 45 commercial and industrial buildings.

According to the R&D study, Booneville currently has about $1.8 million in water and sewer revenue bonds outstanding, with $800,000 to be paid out in the year 1998 and the remaining $1 million scheduled for retirement in the year 2013.

The Center estimates that in order to meet water pollution requirements almost $4.5 million (1979 dollars) will be needed for improvements to the city sewerage system. Of this amount, the city must provide 25 percent or $1,166,395.

In addition, approximately $300,000 is needed to correct deficiencies in the city's water treatment plant, resulting in a total of $1,466,395 of local funds required to satisfy federal water pollution and water quality standards within the existing city sewerage system service area.

According to Willard B. Inman of the R&D Center, the possibility of an additional $1,466,395 in water and sewer revenue bonds at increased interest rates (12-13 percent) would result in significant increases in water and sewer service fees with the possibility of some portion of the amount needed not being sellable on the bond market.

If the area in question were to be annexed, additional costs would be incurred by the city for sewer collector lines, street improvements, and other city services. In addition, Inman said, portions of five private water associations would probably have to be purchased and upgraded to meet city fire protection standards.

"Reductions in federal grant and loan funds available from sources such as the Environmental Protection Agency, the Appalachian Regional Commission and the Farmers Home Administration, combined with high loan interest rates will further compound the problem of completing water and sewerage improvements for both immediate and future needs," Inman said.

THINGS ARE PICKING-UP, LITTER-ALY - Thrasher High School set aside last Friday to hold a clean-up, brighten-up campaign in the Thrasher community. Sponsored by the Thrasher 4-H clubs, the Beta Club, the student council and the high school student body, this was part of a countywide clean-up campaign during the month of April. The 4-H clubs were in charge of cleaning up the roadside from Highway 45 to the school (photo above), collecting 13 60-gallon oil drums of cans, bottles, paper and other articles. The Beta Club assumed responsibility of roadside clean-up for a half-mile radius around the school. The student council and the rest of the student body cleaned up school grounds, buildings and the surrounding area. The faculty provided transportation and supervision.

City Board Addresses Cable TV Problems

The Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen voted Tuesday night to require the local cable TV system to provide service to every citizen within the corporate limits of Booneville and that the same installation and monthly rates apply to all.

Mayor Charles Crabb said Police Chief Bobby Lambert had told him the cable system had estimated that it would cost $4,900 to run a line down the street where he lives to service seven people on that street.

The cable system wanted these seven people to pay this expense of running the cable to their homes before it would provide the service, Crabb said.

"I feel they should be able to furnish service to anyone in the city limits without extra cost," he said.

It was suggested that the mayor set up a meeting with Skip Pratt, manager of the local cable system which is owned by Heritage Communications Inc. of Des Moines, Iowa.

At this meeting, the mayor and aldermen also plan to discuss why there can't be additional channels added to the system, possibly doing away with the duplication of some networks that now exists.

The board also voted to seek to renegotiate the city's contract with Heritage to see if the city can't get a high percentage of the income from the cable TV service, more in line with surrounding communities.

The mayor said there have been a number of complaints about the cable TV service. He said that anyone not getting good service should write a letter to the mayor and board of aldermen explaining the problem.

Federal Grant Approved For County Bridges

State Aid Engineer William P. Stevenson has notified the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors of the approval of a federal grant for Prentiss County to be used in replacing three bridges on a county road near the Booneville-Baldwyn Airport.

The plans, specifications and estimates for the project were reviewed and approved by the Mississippi State Highway Department in Jackson last month and the Board of Supervisors were authorized to advertise the project for bids.

Bids will be opened at 10 a.m. Tuesday, May 18, at the Prentiss County Courthouse.

J. P. Davis, president of the Board of Supervisors, said this week that the project will consist of replacing two bridges - one wooden structure and one steel - with concrete structures.

A third bridge will be replaced with a culvert. All three are located on a gravel section of Old Highway 45 between Booneville and the airport.

The project is estimated to cost $282,394.14. The federal grant, which Davis said is part of a federal bridge replacement program, will fund 80 percent of the project, with the remainder to be taken from local funds.

Davis said that even if the bids go higher than the cost estimate, the federal grant will still pay 80 percent.

Once a bid has been accepted by the Board of Supervisors, it will have to be sent to Jackson for approval by the Division of State Aid Road Construction. Davis said he expects work on the project to begin within 30 days of final approval.

Davis credited Rep. Tim Ford and Gov. William Winter for helping the county to obtain the federal grant for this project.

Bell District Manager Indicates

Competition Causes Rate Increase

By KEN CHRISTIAN
EDITOR

Legal actions on behalf of companies who wish to compete with South Central Bell in the communications business are at least part of the reason for the telephone company's proposed rate increase which is scheduled to go into effect Friday, Tom Bailey, Tupelo District Manager of South Central Bell, indicated Tuesday.

Speaking to the Booneville Rotary Club, Bailey said that as a result of lawsuits and Congressional actions on behalf of these other companies, Bell's parent company, AT&T, is having to split its long distance operations and its local service into two separate, independent companies, each of which will have to be totally self-supporting financially.

Since Bell has used long distance toll rates to subsidize local rates for many years, this means local rates will have to increase if that company is to be self-supporting.

"Over the next several years, there's no question that in order to meet the cost and to do what these rulings dictate, we've got to put the rates where the costs are," Bailey said. "Every item of equipment that we provide has got to be compensatory - has got to contribute its fair share (of the expense). This is going to be upsetting. . . and this is not the end of it."

'This is going to be upsetting. . .
And this is not the end of it. . .'

- Tom Bailey,
Bell District Mgr.

SOUTH CENTRAL BELL has asked the Public Service Commission in Mississippi to approve a rate increase which would add about $7.20 to the monthly individual charge for residential one-party one-regular-set service. A one-party one-regular-set business customer would pay an additional $15.50 per month. These increases are just for local service; long distance rates would remain unchanged.

Bell has also asked for approval in increase rates for local calls at pay telephones from 10 to 25 cents per call.

Although there are indications the three Public Service Commissioners in the state are opposed to this rate increase and may not approve it, Bell is expected to implement the rates - except for the increase on pay telephones - as scheduled and appeal the Commission's decision if it should be unfavorable. If, after the appeals are exhausted, Bell is still denied the rate increase, the company would have to reimburse with interest those customers who had been overcharged.

BAILEY TOLD THE Rotarians Tuesday that Bell Telephone Company was put under government regulation when Congress passed the Communications Act in the 1930's.

"It was recognized that the telephone business would be provided more efficiently and would serve the public better if it were a regulated type of monopoly with an assigned area that you would work in. And you would have the peoples' representative assuring that you provided good service and reasonable rates and under conditions that the public would approve of," he said.

Since Bell was a monopoly, "all the money went into one pot," Bailey said, and "we could place our rates for service in which ever way we pleased that the regulators would approve of that would maximize the development of the telephone system."

Competition

Bell felt that it would serve the public better if local rates were kept as low as possible, by placing additional charges on long distance service and on telephone sets -- charges above what these services actually cost. "It was felt that this would enable more people to have service and therefore it would make everybody's telephone more valuable," Bailey said.

However, in the 1950s other organizations became interested in getting into the telephone business. This resulted in lawsuits and Congressional action, Bailey said.

In 1980, the Federal Communications Commission issued its final order in a case entitled The Second Computer Inquiry. That order put Bell Telephone out of the business of providing telephone sets to its customers. After Jan. 1 of next year, the phone company will no longer provide telephone sets. They will have to be purchased elsewhere by the customer and plugged into the Bell System line coming into the house or place of business. Bailey said he expects phones to be available at practically all stores by then.

IN JANUARY OF this year, Bell's parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph, entered into a consent decree with the Justice Department, ending a 7-year lawsuit brought by the Justice Department to break up the Bell System entirely. Under that agreement, the 22 Bell operating companies would be totally separated from AT&T.

"We (South Central Bell) would be a stand-alone company, just as Riepi or Fulton (phone companies) are," Bailey said.

AT&T will remain in the long distance service, but in providing its customers with service, South Central Bell must deal with AT&T, with Microwave Communications Inc., or any other company which wants to provide long distance service, Bailey said.

As a result of these recent legal actions, the three main categories of telephone service -- the long distance network, the local exchange service, and the telephone set itself -- will be split apart with each category of service in a different company.

"The regulators in Congress have recognized that these decisions will necessitate the charges for telephone services be placed on the equipment that causes those charges in the first place," Bailey said. He added that local service in Mississippi has always been greatly underpriced. "Long distance service has provided 54 cents out of every dollar that's been required to provide public telephone service," he said.

He said that he feels most people will be concerned that all the additional charges are going to be applied to local service.

"We're sympathetic," Bailey said of the effect the rates may have on some people, "and where there's a problem, I'll assure you that we'll do everything we can to work out a solution. We're working on many, many things. In fact, we've got Measured Service coming down the road, and if there's a need for it here in Booneville, we can have it in fairly short order here."

Mrs. Skinner And Nathan Baldwin Baldwin Named BHS Star Student

Nathan Baldwin, a senior at Booneville High School, has been selected as the school's STAR Student for this year, according to the Mississippi Economic Council.

STAR Students are selected on the basis of academic excellence. Scholastic averages and scores on the American College Test are considered in designation of a school's STAR Student.

The Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition Program encourages and promotes academic achievement among Mississippi's high school students, explained Bob Pittman, president of MEC.

"Top scholars are being designated as STAR Students in more than 300 participating schools in Mississippi," he said. "From these STAR Students, area winners will be selected, and the Council will award scholarships to the state's top STAR Students."

Each STAR Student is asked to designate a STAR Teacher, a teacher who has made the greatest contribution to the student's scholastic achievement. Nathan designated Mrs. Virginia H. Skinner as Star Teacher.

Nathan is the 17-year-old son of Gayle and Glenda Baldwin of Booneville.

He is currently serving as editor of the 1982 school annual. He has also been voted Most Intellectual and Most Likely to Succeed. Throughout his high school career he has received numerous other awards and recognitions.

Upon graduation, Nathan plans to attend Northeast Mississippi Junior College and the University of Mississippi Medical School. He is a member of the Baptist church.

Mrs. Skinner is a math teacher at Booneville High School with 17 years experience in Booneville, Baldwin, Kossuth and Hamilton.

She received her education at Northeast Junior College and Mississippi State University. She is a member of the First Baptist Church of Booneville.

Both the STAR Student and the STAR Teacher will receive certificates from the Council, in addition to being eligible for competition for scholarship awards.

The Division of Continuing Education at Northeast Junior College will offer a leisure learning class in interior decorating in Ripley, beginning May 18. Other class meetings will be June 1, 15, 29 and July 13. Registration fee is $12 per person.

Because the class is limited to 20, participants are being accepted through preregistration only. Interested persons may call James Williams on the Northeast campus at 728-7751, ext. 286, to pre-register or for additional information.

'Talk O' The Town'

Street Opinion Poll

QUESTION: Do you think the United States should be involved in the Falkland Island crisis?

TERRY "FUDD" FLOYD of New Albany: "It's like a mother with two children. You can't take sides but you have to punish them both to get them to stop."

THELMA THOMPSON of Route 2, Booneville: "No. I look at it this way—they got themselves into it—let them get out. We have enough problems here without worrying about those people over there."

MARY OWENS of Route 2, Booneville: "No, I don't. I think all governments are corrupt. They're all just in a mess. I think it's too late now to depend on governments for help because I don't think any of the governments can bring peace to the world."

"J.T. PHILLIPS of Route 2, Rlenzi: "No. I don't think we should be in foreign countries. We have enough problems at home."

FRANCES STEPHENSON of Route 6, Booneville: "Yes, I do. We need to stick up for what's right. They helped us and we need to help them."

HAROLD WILLIAMS of Route 1, Booneville: "Yes. I think the United States should aid Britain with supplies and war equipment but I don't know whether they should send troops there."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Reflections

By Ken Christian

Editor

Apathy must be contagious — there's so much of it around. Let's hope the same thing is true about the opposite.

There are some in the Prentiss County community who are definitely not apathetic about the proposed telephone rate increase. Although it may well be a losing battle from the beginning, they are at least trying to do something about it.

Stewart Vail, president of the Northeast Development Association (N.E.D.A.), has been one of the most vocal and active in fighting the rate increase.

Asking for (and receiving) their support, Vail has presented his views to the Prentiss County Development Association's board of directors; he has talked to South Central Bell officials and to members of the Public Service Commission; and he set up a meeting between N.E.D.A. members and Public Service Commissioner D.W. Snyder.

Two others who have been very active in opposing the rate increase are Mayor Charles Crabb and PCDA executive director Doug Mansell.

Mayor Crabb has attended several meetings recently in which he was very outspoken on his views of not only the rate increase, but also of the service the telephone company provides in Prentiss County.

For some time now the mayor and others have tried to get the phone company to do something about the fact that there are places in Prentiss County that cannot be dialed from Booneville without having to pay long distance rates.

Mansell has also been outspoken on the subject, recommending that the PCDA directors adopt a resolution opposing the rate increase and doing a lot of work behind the scenes, seeing that the word gets out about some of these meetings dealing with the rate increase.

It's good to see people care enough about something to really get involved and try to see that something is done about it. Let's just hope this attitude spills over into some other areas that also need improvements.

Eyes On Mississippi

He Provides Honesty, But Not Reform

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. — Well past the midpoint of his four year term, William Winter is yet to deliver on his major claim to the governor's seat, that "one man can make a difference." Consequently, many of his long-time followers are becoming keenly disappointed in his tenure.

His election had symbolized to many basic reforms on the governance of the state in providing a stronger executive and less influence and power of the legislative branch. So far, none of those basic reforms have taken place.

Instead, it has been a hum administration with a lot of nice, young men in pinstripe suits, button-down shirts and degrees from Harvard or some other highfalutin' institutions, scurrying around the place, but nothing meaningful is taking place to stop the drift of state government.

Sofar, Winter has not been able to, or has declined, to really grab the helm of the ship of state to put it in a definite new course. Oh yes, honesty and decency and sincerity are plentiful around the administration, and that means SOMETHING.

But is that all that could be expected from a man who for 30 years has been the knight in shining armor to the forces of progressivism in this state?

Where Winter is particularly getting criticism lately is over his failure to stand with two of his fellow elective state officials and the State Supreme Court in their confrontations with the legislative branch over the separation of powers in Mississippi government.

Atty. Gen. Bill Allain and Secretary of State Ed Pittman have become the most outspoken critics of the entrenched power of the legislature to come forth in the executive branch of the state. They are certainly not behaving as the Old Guard in the legislature expects elected state officials to behave: to come with hat in hand to the legislature, take what's given, and keep their mouths shut.

It was evident also in the fight over who would make the rules governing the procedure in the state's civil courts—the Supreme Court or the legislature, that the court stuck to its guns, and despite a barrage of sniping from the legislature, won the battle.

However, Winter, while being the chief officer in the executive branch, and traditionally a firm advocate of judicial independence, was not found at any time on the side of the attorney general, the secretary of state or the Supreme Court when the issues were joined.

Instead, Winter, who has followed the course of appeasing the legislature on the theory a governor can get more by not offending the lawmakers, opted to accept the legislature's point of view.

Many Winter followers were surprised when Allain instituted his historic challenge of legislative "double dipping," the practice of lawmakers sitting on state boards while also serving in the legislative branch, that Winter did not join in support of the gutsy move by the attorney general. One of the reforms Winter had advocated during the years he was seeking the governor's office was to get legislators out of executive functions of the state.

Again, at the end of March, when the U.S. Justice Department came down with its rejection of the Congressional redistricting plan drawn by the legislature because it did not give blacks a better chance of electing one congressman, Winter had a clear choice between what Allain recommended doing and what the legislative Old Guard recommended.

Allain was against appealing the previously submitted plan, and instead advised that the state stood a better chance if the legislature, still with a couple of days left in session, sent up another plan with a black majority district along the lines proposed in last August's special session by Rep. Jim Simpson of Long Beach.

But the legislative Old Guard turned thumbs down on Allain's idea, and went for the appeal route. Winter opted to go with the legislators.

Now it is obvious that choice will mean a three-judge federal court convened by District Judge William C. Keady, the old nemesis of the legislature on reforms at Parchman Penitentiary, will now draw the state's congressional districts instead of the legislature.

If Winter's strategy of cozying up to the legislative leadership had paid off in terms of getting his major programs, such as statewide public kindergartens, through the legislature, some critics say, it would have been worthwhile.

But it has paid off. Instead, Winter has gotten virtually nothing of major consequence through the legislature, and, already a lame duck, he doesn't figure to get anything in his final shot next year.

Wants More For Young Readers

Dear Editor,

I understand that your paper is limited to its extent of articles, but I feel you should offer more interest to the younger readers.

I have talked with several people in Prentiss County, as well as several surrounding counties in the age group of 30 and under. The main interest seemed to reflect mainly on music. I feel you should offer perhaps some kind of series of articles in this line of thought for this generation.

The main asset to music is radio. And in view of the people I have spoken with, this asset is credited mainly to WQLT, 107 FM, Florence, Ala.

In return, the main asset to radio is the disc jockey that provides the music for the radio. This again was credited to WQLT. To quote: "The only D.J. that Q107 has... Bill Bailey."

I have done some research by centering my un-divided attention on this particular disc jockey, and to my amazement, everyone that I spoke to seemed to know Mr. Bailey by his "great personality over the air" (quote, unquote). He seems to be a credit to his profession as he plays music from past to present.

In view of this, we would like to know more about Bill Bailey and other disc jockeys like him. We want to know the "personal side" or the "other side" of these disc jockeys. What do they look like? What are they really like when they are not behind the microphone in that little box? Would Bill Bailey consider visiting Booneville and allow us to reminisce with him by, perhaps, doing us the honor of being M.C. of a sock-hop?

Z99's Andy Clemmur, Andy Parks, Rusty McDaniels, WBIP's Max Wilson — these were also all mentioned.

Please help us to know these disc jockeys better and give us a better understanding of these people we admire. Let us show them our admiration toward them and let them know how much we appreciate them and depend on them.

Any help you can offer us will be greatly appreciated. Thank you.

Ponderings

A day doesn't go by when newspapers and television fail to tell us bad news. Unfortunately there are times when the sadness is our own.

Although we all know that life comes with no guarantees there are times when a person with willpower combined with the grace of God can overcome what may appear to be unbeatable odds.

I recently read a story about one such man who lives in Silverdale, Wash. In essence, it is the story of a man who chose to fight his illness instead of give up.

At age 60, Joseph W. Mayerle survived an inoperable form of lung cancer with no formal medical treatment. His lung cancer still shows no signs of recurrence, something that has doctors puzzled.

In April 1959, surgeons removed a rib from Mayerle's chest, took one look at his cancerous lung, then stitched him back up. His disease had gone to far, they said, and they sent him home to die.

At home waiting for him were two daughter, Denise, 9, Wanda, 13, and his wife, Betty, who was expecting another child.

Mayerle, who worked as a security guard at a naval station, took the news as well as anyone could under those circumstances. But he did get terribly depressed at times, his wife recalled.

It was during that time that Mayerle read an article about former U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who died of starvation while suffering from cancer.

Already down to 105 pounds, Mayerle was determined not to go out that way. So he began eating everything he could stomach. By October, six months after doctors sent him home to die, his weight was up to 156.

Shortly before Thanksgiving, he told his wife, "I don't think I've got cancer anymore. I feel too good. I'm going back to those doctors."

The physicians had to take three x-rays before they could believe what they saw on the first one — Mayerle's "incurable" cancer had vanished.

Mayerle lived not only to see his third child born, but he recently entertained two grandchildren at his 60th birthday party.

The Camp Ground Looks Different

The Old Camp Ground Cemetery certainly does look different. So different in fact that I didn't even recognize it when I saw it Tuesday.

The area around the cemetery has been bulldozed and through, it too. I hate to think to about it, but probably some of the graves were bulldozed over, too. There was a time when people used sand rocks for grave markers. I saw two large sand rocks that the bulldozer had graded to the side. If there were two there are probably more.

It's a disgrace that the Camp Gound, one of the oldest cemeteries in Prentiss County, wound up in such a mess anyway. But when people don't care if trees and vines grow on their relatives graves, a cemetery is going to be in a big mess. And that's what happened to the Camp Ground. Apparently no one cared.

Now there are some people who are trying to get this old cemetery cleaned up. It will be a big job but it can be done. However, once the cemetery is cleaned up it will have to be looked after or it will grow up once again. A cyclone fence is supposed to be put around the cemetery once the cemetery is cleaned up.

Donations are already coming in to be used in the cleaning of the cemetery. As in anything else, more donations are needed. Donations can be mailed to Marie Parker, Route 1, Booneville, Miss. 38829 or to The Banner Independent, Box 269, Booneville.

Of course, workers are also needed. It may be a thankless task, not to mention a lot of backbreaking work, but cleaning the cemetery and keeping it clean will preserve it for future generations to see.

A Thought For Mother's Day

It used to be the custom to picture a Mother as white-haired and aproned busy in the kitchen with apple pies and other foods that smelled so good and tasted so good you'd remember them all your life.

Or sometimes she was envisioned in her rocking chair with bifocals and shawl, knitting or sewing. Today she's as likely to be out jogging after coming home from a grueling day at the office. She's as quick-thinking as a computer and as much at ease running her own business as washing dishes.

She rocks the cradle, rules the world and makes dirty little faces shine. She's always busy but she's always there to listen. Her work is never done. Being a mother is the most important work there is.

On Sunday, May 9, mothers across the land will be honored with gifts and visits from their children in observance of Mother's Day.

The custom started back in 1908 and was first held in Philadelphia, Pa., and Grafton, W. Va., on May 10. Six years later, the second Sunday of each May was proclaimed for public observance of the holiday.

Here's wishing a happy Mother's Day for all you Mother's out there. May the day be filled with love and togetherness for all families everywhere.

Best wishes are sent to William Walden who is hospitalized in a Memphis hospital at the time of this writing. We hope that he is feeling better soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Farr of Burnsville were supper guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cole and family. Following the meal they attended graduation ceremony of Hill's Chapel Headstart Center. The Farr's had 3 grandchildren who graduated this year, Randy Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cole, Amy Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Tommie Farr and Catherine Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Farr. Following the graduation program, the three graduates were honored with a cake and ice cream party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Farr. Joining in the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Farr and Robert of Burnsville, Mrs. Mell Medley and Carla of Iuka, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cole, Rickey and Rehnea, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Farr, Paul and Sherry and Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Farr, Jamie and Marsha.

Chris Wroten of Tupelo has been visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burns, while his mother has been hospitalized in Iuka.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the loved ones of Mrs. Hattie Bain who died over the weekend. May they receive comfort in the memories that her life has left behind.

Leslie Newcomb of Orlando, Fla., was home over the weekend on leave from the armed forces. He returned to Millington on Sunday afternoon for this return trip to Orlando. Edith Foster, Mary Young and Sue Newcomb accompanied him to Millington.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunaway and children visited with Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Dunaway and April in Saltillo on Sunday afternoon. Brock enjoyed riding the tractor and looking over the wheat fields. I think he had rather ride the tractor than visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Green enjoyed lunch with Mr. and Ms. Henry Green and boys on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Cromeans and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Green, Bradley and Garland enjoyed a trip to Ripley Trade Day on Sunday afternoon. Alice may get me for saying this but, "That sure was a long trip for 20 bars of soap and a bag of meat skins!" I'm sure the "getting out" for a while was worth much more than the expense of the trip.

Mrs. Vada Hill came home from the Tupelo hospital on Friday for a few days. We send best wishes to her.

Lucille Phillips visited in Marietta with Claudia Scoggins on Friday. She is feeling better after her sickness.

Mrs. Irene Hare has been released from a Memphis hospital and reportedly doing very well. But her husband Bill Hare is still hospitalized in Memphis with pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hare visited in Memphis on Sunday with Bill and also with Homer Hare who lives in a nursing home there.

Lucille Phillips was missed at church services on Sunday due to sickness. I hope that she is soon feeling better and able to be up and about.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Windham stopped by in Dallas, Texas, for a short visit with Harry and Betty Pennington. The Windhams were passing through on the truck route. I'm sure they all enjoyed the visit.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery are sent to Homer Williams, who is confined to the Tupelo hospital at the time of this writing.

Scouts Honor Fathers At Banquet

Three Girl Scout troops from the Booneville area held their second annual Father-Daughter Banquet at the Hill's Chapel Cafeteria on Saturday, April 17, at 7 p.m.

"Hee Haw" was the theme for Junior Troop 111 and Brownie Troops 334 and 308. Those attending dressed in the casual "Hee Haw" style.

Following the welcome by Gwen Armstrong of Junior Troop 111, the grace, "God Our Father," was sung by the scouts. Troop 111 held a Flag Ceremony to begin the program following the meal.

"Knock-Knock" jokes abounded from all three troops. Troop 334 provided "Lisa and her talking weatherman." Troop 111 entertained with a gossip section of the program. "Elvira" was sung by the "Hill's Chapel Girls" from Troop 308.

Following the lighter side of the evening, cookie awards and other achievement awards were presented.

Glenda McKinney and Shirley Cole presented Junior Troop 111 with the Child Care badge as well as cookie awards. High salesperson for the troop was Shonda Woodruff, who received a $50 savings bond as well as cookie patches and a sun visor.

Kristi Jacobs also sold 100 plus boxes of cookies for the troop. Deborah Smith was recognized as the only perfect attendance scout in the troop.

Brownie Troop 334 awards were presented by Josie Smith and Carolyn McCombs. High salesperson for the troop was Jennifer Dunaway who sold 200 plus boxes. She received a $50 savings bond, visor and badges.

All members of troop 334 were presented Brownie patches for their combined efforts this year in scouting.

Awards for Brownie Troop 308 were presented by Carolyn Smith and Diane McAnally. High salesperson for the troop was Pam Mooney who sold 100 plus boxes. She received a sun visor and cookie patches.

Home Economist's Report

Plan Desserts To Fit Your Meals

By CLAIRE T. ROSS
Extension Home Economist

Desserts are an accepted part of modern meals. Be sure you plan desserts to fit the type of meal. Whether it will be fancy or plain depends on your talents as a cook and on the type and occasion of the meal.

If the meal is a light one, you may wish to serve a heavy dessert. If the main course is a heavy one, plan on a light, simple dessert.

Will the dessert be quick or will it take lots of time to prepare? This will depend on the time you have to spend in preparation.

Desserts offer an excellent opportunity for improving the diet of any poor eaters you may have in your family. A little thought and planning can make your desserts nutritious and appealing. Milk, eggs and fruits are all nutritious and make delicious desserts. Use these often in giving your meals a nutritious, happy ending.

Time-saving desserts are an important consideration to most homemakers today. When you know you won't have time to prepare a dessert, you can plan to prepare it hours or days in advance.

Or you may want to choose any of a number of commercially prepared desserts. With imagination you can improve on these desserts so they will be more nutritious and also have a home-like touch. Remember the price of these desserts is high because you pay for the food and the services that went into preparing it for the market.

Fresh fruits are economical and at their flavorful best when served in season. They may be served with many varieties of cheese to make a tasty dessert. Fresh fruit cup takes a little more time to prepare because the fruit is cut into bite size and may be peeled. A combination of several fruits is good; or try the juice of one fruit over another, such as orange juice over bananas or pureed berries over pears.

Most of us could use extra amounts of milk and eggs in our diets. Custards provide a good way to meet this need. This dessert comes in two forms - baked custard and soft custard which is sometimes called boiled custard.

For most custards 1 egg to 1 cup of milk is a satisfactory proportion. This makes a thick soft custard or a delicate baked custard. To make a custard that will hold its shape when turned from individuals molds, use 1-1/2 to 2 eggs to 1 cup of milk.

A smooth, fine-grained custard can be made by using 2 egg yolks for each cup of milk. Too much heat or overcooking causes a custard to curdle or get watery.

Night services used old fashioned lamps and included singing and preaching.

"The church worshiped the Lord in the old fashioned way," one member said in describing the day.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian
George E. Allen Library

Among recent acquisitions to the Allen Library collection are a number of "how-to" books - some of them practical, some tongue-in-cheek.

Doug Todd is the public relations director for the Dallas Cowboys. He and some of his friends made collecting titles and lyrics of country and western songs several years ago a hobby. He's put some of them together into a thin paperback entitled "How to Talk Country." It is an arrangement of lines from country music under such categories as lovin', cheatin', weepin', and just gettin' by.

"How to Make More Money with Your Garage Sale" was written by Ryan Petty, an attorney and energy policy consultant in Austin, Texas. He says that not everyone can afford substantial fees for personal service, and those who can should do so only when the advice will make or save more than it costs.

Selling his book at a large number of "clients" makes it possible for them to split the costs of his services from knowledge gleaned in attending over 2,500 garage sales in 7½ years.

You will decide how much of this quotation is intended seriously: "The fact that books can be published and distributed freely, makes available to all of us information which would otherwise be, effectively lost. Book publishing is, as a practical matter, the only way I could have delivered this information to you at a price you could have reasonably afforded to pay."

The book offers advice on preparation, advertisement,

Clyde Goddard.

The altar of the church was flanked by palms and spiraled candleabra. An arrangement of pink and white azaleas formed the focal point above the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Joey Wilhite, wore a white T-length georgette dress.

Miss Nell Rye served as maid of honor. She wore a dusty rose crepe dress.

Joey Trimble served as bestman. Jim Goddard, brother of the groom, served as an usher.

The couple are residing in Booneville where the groom is associated with Goddard's Jewelry.

Annette Brimingham, Lorraine Cole Gann (Cum Laude), and Beverly Smith Johnson, all of whom will receive bachelor of science degrees.

Michael Dean Hill of Baldwin is a candidate for a master of business administration degree from UNA.

pricing, "How Not to Act at Your Garage Sale"; check-lists for a garage sale, and a check-list of collectibles that you should not sell - all within 89 pages of a paperback.

Still another new paperback is "132 Ways to Earn a Living without Working (for Someone Else)," by Ed Rosenthal and Ron Lichty. They really do list 132 ways and books on them.

Here is a quotation from the foreword: "This book is not a get-rich-quick book. It is for people who do not have a high overhead and who understand that it is not only how much you make, but how you spend your money and your time, which determine quality of life... Americans tend to equate living expensively with living well - - - wasting the most precious commodity they own - one they can't buy: time"

And then there's a new satire by Jocelyn Reichel, "Old Age Is Not for Sissies."

DID CHRIST BUILD MANY CHURCHES??

Is Jesus founder of all the different churches?

Christ's true church is important. It was purchased with His blood, Acts 20:28. He loves it as His bride, Eph. 5:22-32. Christ will save His church, Eph. 5:23. Will he accept all the different churches? If not, which will He accept? The Bible mentions only one church! Jesus said, "I will build my church," Matt. 16:18. He added the saved to "the church" Acts 2:47. There is one body, Eph. 4:4, which is the church, Eph. 1:22. Early Christians were all members of the same church. Christ founded the ONE church. The saved are all added to ONE church, 1 Cor. 12:13, Acts 2:47. Jesus saves ONE church, Eph. 5:23. To be saved, you must be a member of that church! Of all others, Jesus said, "Every plant which my heavenly Father planted not shall be rooted up," Matt. 15:13.

Which church will Christ accept?

All will agree that the church found in the Bible is most acceptable. Since He has only one church, the church which is identical to the one in the Bible is His true church. It must have begun in Jerusalem in 33 A.D. Its founder must be Christ. Jesus can be its only head, Eph. 1:22. Its organization can be no larger than the local group. Elders will oversee only the group they are members of, Acts 20:28. Its only creed must be the New Testament. Its name will be that of the church of the Bible. It must worship as the first church did: prayers, the Lord's Supper each Lord's Day (Acts 20:7), free-will offerings by its members each Lord's Day (11 Cor. 9:7), study of the Bible and acappella congregational singing (Eph. 5:18-19). Its message of salvation will be that of the apostles: faith in Christ, repentance, confession of faith, and immersion in water (baptism) for forgiveness of sins, Rom. 6:3-4, Acts 2:38.

Is there such a church that Christ will accept, today?

The churches of Christ in your community are striving to be no more and no less than the church of the Bible. (Rom. 16:16)

LOW-VISION AIDS

Many older persons with vision problems can discover a vastly improved visual world. How? Simply by having an examination and getting stronger eyeglass lenses or bifocals.

But not everyone can attain better vision so easily. Some senior citizens, especially those with degenerative diseases such as those affecting the macula or the optic nerve, may require more powerful devices called low-vision aids. These may be prescribed in the form of conventional eyeglasses to be worn on the nose, or they may be mounted so that they can be held in the hand or placed over reading material.

High-intensity reading lamps have been found to be helpful to many low-vision patients, too. For information on special low-vision aids, consult your eye specialist.

Jeff Green Wins Scholarship

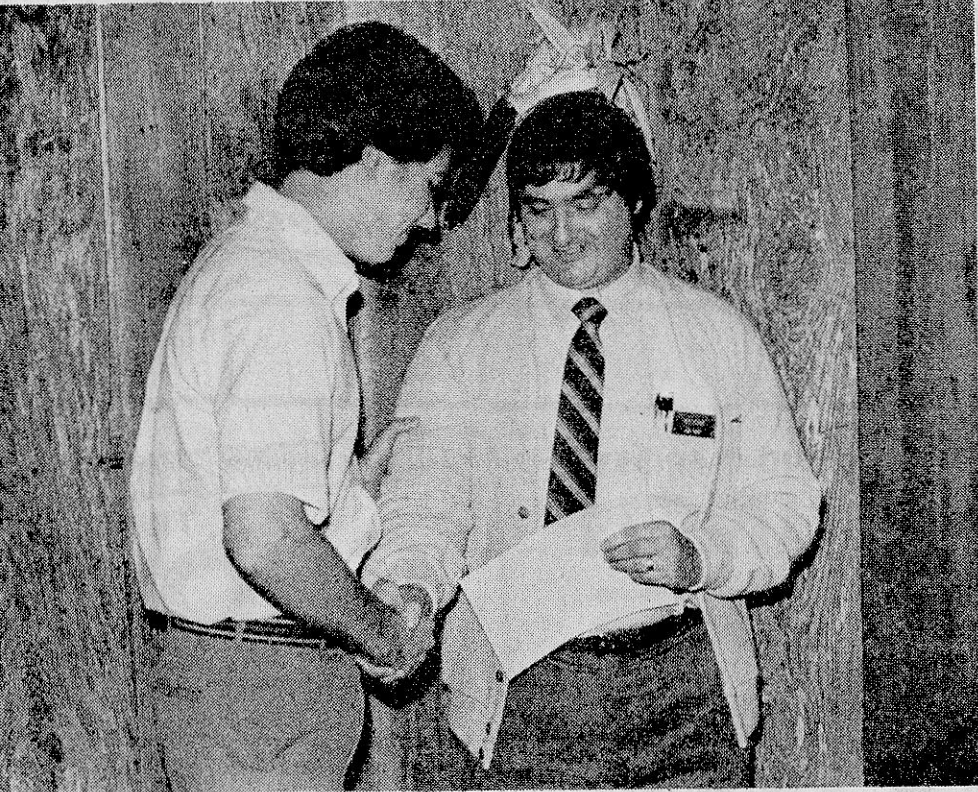

Jeff Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Green of Booneville, is the winner of the annual $1,000.00 scholarship awarded by the Wal-Mart Foundation.

Jeff is a Booneville High School senior and plans to attend Northeast Mississippi Junior College this fall.

Other finalists in the scholarship competition were Louis Stell Jr., who was awarded a $50 gift certificate, and Chris Williams, winner of a $25 gift certificate.

The awards were presented Thursday at a luncheon held at the Campus Country Restaurant. Attending the luncheon were the youths' parents, community leaders and citizens, and high school representatives. Presentation of the awards was made by Roy Flake, local Wal-Mart store manager, and Fritz Steiger, director of the Wal-Mart scholarship program.

Awarding of the scholarship was based on high school grade point average, college aptitude test scores, extracurricular and work activities, and the student's financial need. Also included was an interview of the three finalists to determine the scholarship recipient.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER-Wal-Mart store manager, Roy Flake, (right) presents a certificate to Jeff Green, winner of this year's $1,000 scholarship from the Wal-Mart Foundation. Jeff competed with other Booneville High School seniors for the scholarship. Next year, Prentiss County seniors will also compete for the annual scholarship.

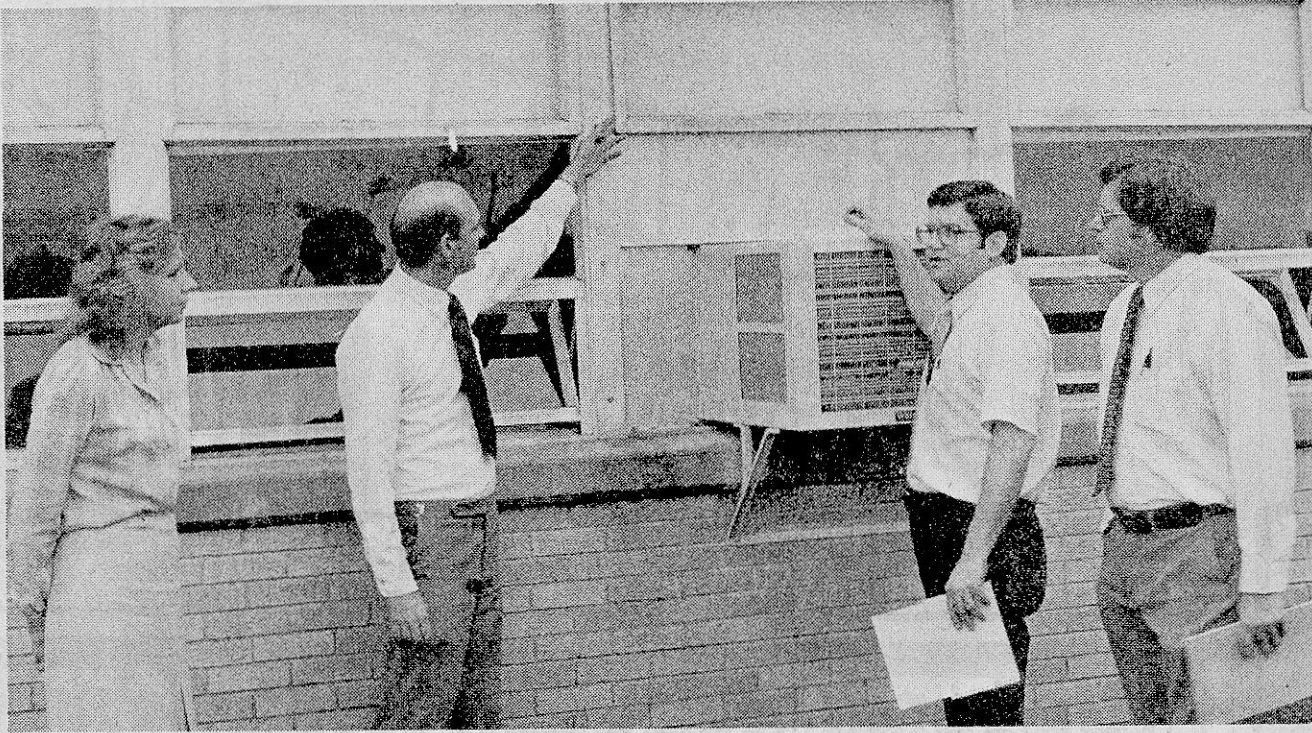

Store manager Roy Flake said, "The Wal-Mart Foundation Committee recently voted to expand the program to include schools in the advertising area of each store for the year 1983."

This year alone, Wal-Mart

Stores, Inc., headquartered in Bentonville, Ark., awarded over 330 scholarships to high school seniors throughout its 13-state trade area totaling more than $330,000. Next year, nearly 500 scholarships will be awarded.

"And next year, graduating seniors from Prentiss County high schools will also be competing for the scholarship to be awarded locally," Flake said.

All who had their family portrait made are to go back to view proofs on Friday, May 7, at the time specified.

The time of year has come again for the Miss Black Teen Contest. I highly encourage our young to get involved in something worthwhile.

There are so many involvements in the world. Anyone can be an alcoholic or a drug addict, but it takes a person with a strong-will power to be well-educated. So young people, get involved with Jesus first and have a good standard and have the mind to want to be somebody.

Happy birthday wishes go out to Richard Holmes and Mrs. Ruby Rogers.

On Sunday, May 16, there will be a gospel singing featuring the Faithfulaires of Jackson, Tenn., at 3:30 p.m.

On Friday, May 7, beginning at noon there will be dinner plates sold at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edmond. There will be a choice of 3 meats and 4 vegetables. Plates will be $2. If you want to buy a ticket in advance see Robert Edmond or call 728-8540. They will also have carry out service.

Sunday, May 9, at 3:30 p.m. we will be climaxing our Queen for Mother's Day drive. Guest speaker for the evening will be Sis. Annie Crawford from Miracle Revival Center in Amory. The contestants are Mrs.

Gennette McGee and Mrs. Virginia Miller.

Before I close I would like to pay tribute to my late mother, Emma Dee McGee. The thoughts of how she cared for and loved us, the times she did without so we could have the things we needed, and how she toiled and sweated for her children, still linger in my memory. I will never forget my mother.

This Mother's Day give your special mother a card or your love. Remember the angel of the Lord told Mary, the mother of Jesus, "Blessed art thou among women." A mother is special.

We want to welcome William Bill Daniel home after being away so long. Till next week...

GRAIN SORGHUM
Producers with 1982-crop corn and grain sorghum commodity loans now have the option to extend their loans for an additional six months, Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block said today.

"This option is being offered because prices for these commodities are currently low," Block said. All producers with outstanding loans on these commodities are eligible, he said.

All producers with outstanding loans on these commodities are eligible, he said.

Extended 1981-crop loans will continue to bear interest at the rate applicable to the loan. Interest on 1981-crop loans is calculated to reflect the U.S. Department of Agriculture's cost of borrowing money from the U.S. Treasury.

Producers wishing to extend their loans should contact their county office of USDA's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, Block said.

COTTON RESERVE
The U.S. Department of Agriculture has rejected a plan for a farmer-owned reserve program for cotton, because, according to Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block, such a program would be against the long-term interests of cotton farmers and the cotton industry.

Black said USDA recently analyzed the costs and effects of a cotton reserve program in response to a request by a group of Texas High Plains cotton producers to start a reserve for the 1981 and 1982 upland cotton crops.

Analyses showed that:

-- A reserve program might lead to stringent acreage controls in the future.

-- Despite acreage reduction, excessive supplies could still overhang the market.

-- When the U.S. government acquired cotton supplies from programs in the 1960's, it ultimately had to sell cotton in direct competition with producers.

-- Although a reserve might increase cotton prices for a short time, it would also increase production expand stocks and lower domestic and export use.

"We are working hard to expand foreign markets for U.S. cotton, and a reserve program would jeopardize these efforts," said Block. "Because markets lost to foreign competition are hard to regain, the idea of a cotton reserve seems to have little support in most sectors of the cotton belt. In fact, the idea of a cotton reserve faces increasing opposition from farm organizations and the cotton industry."

State Reforestation Program Increases record high year of 1960 when 171,000 trees were planted, mostly under the old Federal Soil Bank program.

State Forester Dick Allen was understandably pleased with the new State tree planting record.

"I think it reflects the surging interest in tree growing and general support for forestry that is sweeping Mississippi these days. The message is finally getting through to landowners that there is an economic bonanza ahead for those who get their timberlands into full productivity now," said the State Forester.

Allen said despite the current flurry of reforestation activity there is an urgency to do even more of it each year if future demands on our forests are to be met.

"We are still playing catch-up as far as regeneration of our cutover and underproductive timberland is concerned. There is a tremendous backlog - several million acres - of privately owned timberland that has been harvested in years past with no follow-up program to assure that it grows back in useful species of trees," he said.

Allen praised the hard work of Forestry Commission employees and the outstanding support the Agency has been receiving for its program from other conservation agencies and organizations, the State Legislature, Governor William Winter and the general public.

"This new high in reforestation activity is the result of a tremendous outpouring of support from all these areas," said Allen, "and Mississippians are going to really benefit in the years ahead as these trees grow and are finally harvested."

SPECTATOR VISION

Only a few can make the big leagues in any sport. But as a spectator you can enjoy the drama and excitement of sports competition if you have good vision. And if you don't you can get corrective glasses or contact lenses to make sure you're not missing a thing.

Give yourself a test to make sure. Can you see the player's faces? Can you see the scoreboard? Do you notice any eye fatigue or eye strain when watching a sporting event - even when you're as close as your television screen can bring you? Do you miss key plays and have to wait for the sports announcer to tell you what you've missed?

These are all signs that you need an eye exam. Maybe you've never had any difficulty in seeing anything you wanted to see. But our eyes change with time. Sometimes the focussing muscles are not as strong as they used to be. When you're watching something at a distance for a long period of time maybe you notice some eye discomfort. Even a slight degree of distortion can cause problems.

An eye examination is the best solution.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office

Thought For the Week: "Plant These in Your Garden"

First plant 5 rows of P's Prayers, Promptness, Politeness, Perseverance and Purity.

Next plant 3 rows of squash.

Squash gossip, squash criticism, squash indifference.

Then 5 rows of Lettuce, let us be faithful,

Let us be unselfish, let us be loyal,

Let us be truthful and love one another.

No garden is complete without turnips.

Turn up for church,

Turn up with a smile,

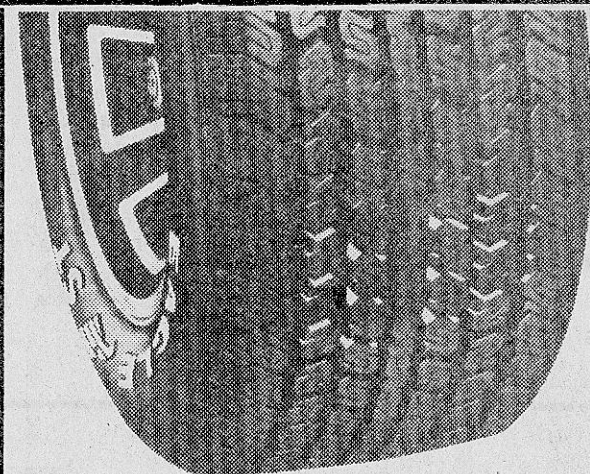

Turn up with a new idea,

Turn up with a determination to serve the Lord.

Copied—Thanks Grace Moore for this good thought.

Bellard To Speak At Baldwyn All-Sports Banquet

Mississippi State University head football coach Emory Bellard will serve as special guest speaker for the Annual Baldwyn High School Sports Awards Banquet which is set for Friday night May 7th at 7 p.m. at the Baldwyn High School Cafetorium.

The Banquet is an annual event each year to recognize the athletes for their accomplishments for the past school year in all phases of the sports program.

The highlight of the Banquet will be the presentation of the awards including the famed "Bearcat" Award which is given to the top quality athlete for his performance both on and off the field or court.

Bellard's performance will indeed be a great addition to this year's banquet. The Mississippi State mentor is known far and near for his speaking engagements and is always one of the highlights of functions of this type.

Having guided Mississippi State to its first back-to-back bowl appearances in school history, Coach Emory Bellard has accomplished one of the great turnarounds in history at a Southeastern Conference university.

The Bulldogs' mentor has taken a team which had enjoyed just three winning seasons from 1964-79 to the pinnacle of national respectability and to SEC finishes of second in 1980 and third in 1981 behind bowl-bound Georgia and Alabama.

In 1981 State attained its highest rating ever in football, seventh place, just days before falling 13-10 to Alabama at Bryant-Denny Stadium in Tuscaloosa where the Tide owns a 55-game winning streak since 1963.

Coach Bellard enters the College Hall of Fame Bowl with a composite record of 67-42 during his 10 seasons as a college head coach, and the last 31 teams with which he has been associated own an astounding, combined record of 257 wins, 88 losses, and four ties for a .744 winning percentage!

Emory Dilworth Bellard directed Mississippi State to a 9-3 record for MSU since the 1940 team went 10-0-1, including a 14-7 Orange Bowl victory over Georgetown University.

The former highly-successful Texas A&M coach was introduced as the school's 28th head football coach Feb. 12, 1979.

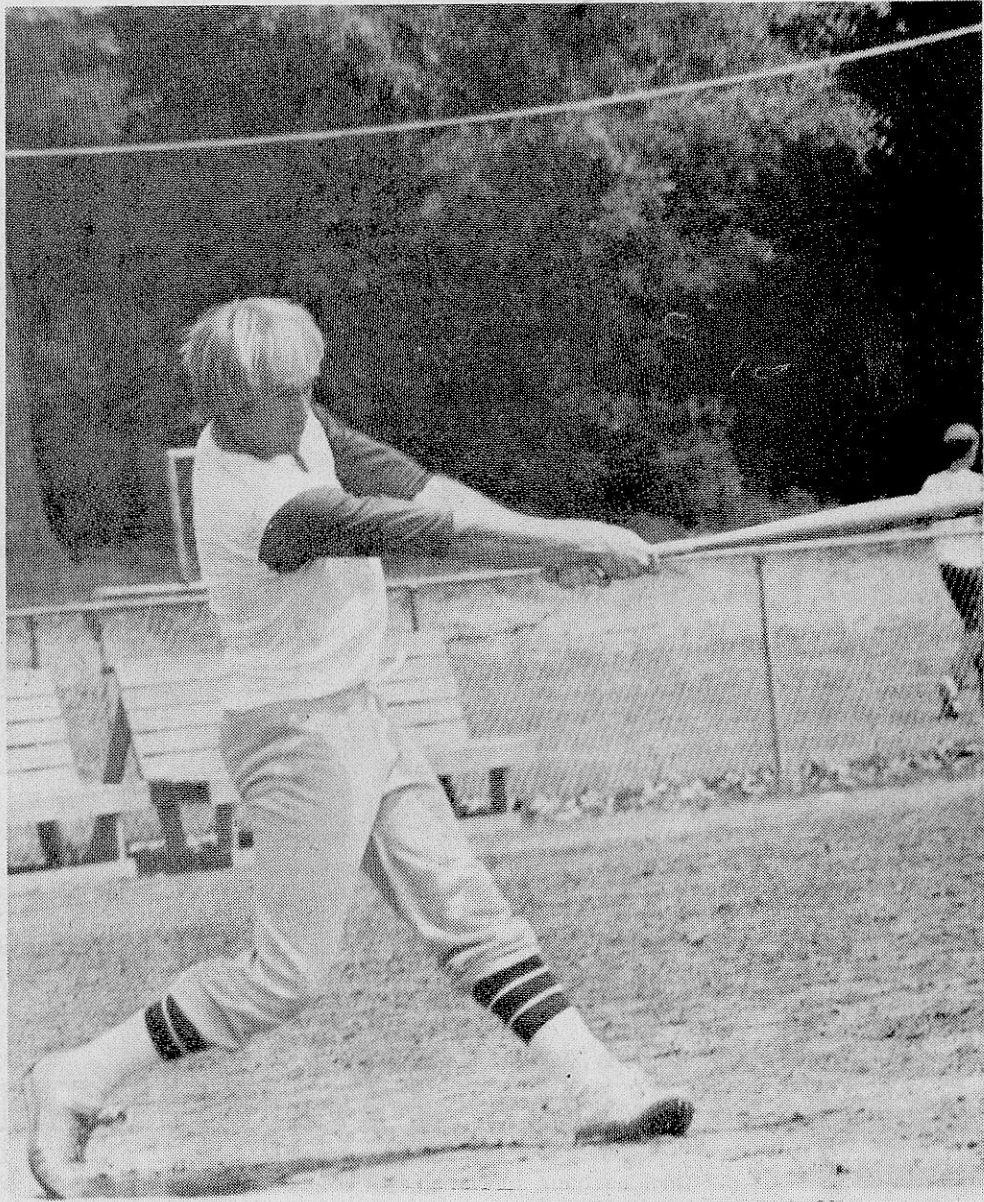

In the period of less than three years the 53-year-old Bellard has turned the Bulldog football program into one of the nation's best.

Bellard, a native of Luling, Texas, grew up in Port Aransas and was a three-sport letterman athlete at Aransas Pass High.

He succeeded Bob Tyler, who led State to a 6-5 record in 1978, his final season. Bellard's 1979 club finished with a 3-8 record, losing the final five games after key injuries sidelined linebacker Johnnie Cooks, running backs James Jones and Len Copeland, along with several other key performers.

Shrine Tourney Championships

Sell-Rite Boone. Paper Company Win

Sell Rite's Ladies and the Booneville Paper Company men's team took first place trophies here Saturday night in the finals of the Second Annual Shrine Softball Classic played at the Booneville West Side City Park.

In men's action the Booneville Paper Company squad, who were one of the pre tourney favorites, claimed the first place spot with a late Saturday night victory over Morris Crum 18-13.

The Booneville Paper Company, during the three day tournament, defeated Schweiger 9-3, defeated The Free Birds number 1 16-7 and then Morris Crum again 15-10.

Free Birds number 1 took the third place trophy for the event.

In ladies action Sell Rite's ladies, also one of the pre tourney favorites, took a 2-0 victory over The Sporting Good's Store in Saturday's finals which got under at 6:30.

Only three ladies teams were entwined in the tournament with Sell Rite taking the first place trophy while Sporting Goods finished second and Dr. Pepper of Corinth took the third place trophy.

The Annual tournament was again successful according to Tournament chairman and Shrine Club president Bill Ward. Several fans attended the three day event and the local club made somewhere near $1000 on the tournament which will benefit burned and cripple children in the area.

Ward said all shriners in the tournament really enjoyed working in the event and added that they were all looking forward to next year's tournament.

Kathy Arnold Places 2nd In St. Tourney

JACKSON — Booneville's Kathy Arnold finished second in the State here last week in the State High School Tennis Tournament held in Jackson.

The local netter lost her finals match to the Mendanhall performer 6-4, 6-1 to finish in the second place position in Class A.

In other matches Kathy soundly defeated her opponents winning her first match over Stone County 6-3, 6-2 while also defeating her second opponents in split sets 1-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Her next foe went down to defeat as Kathy won over Saint Josephs 3-1, 6-3, 6-1 to round out her competition.

The other Booneville representatives in the State Tournament the doubles team of Wendy Williams and Suzanne Sims fell in the quarter finals losing 7-5, 6-4 after winning their opening match on Thursday.

All three performers have had outstanding seasons with Arnold having the exceptional year going into the State event with a perfect undefeated record.

The local netter is now known across the State as one of the top performers in her age group and certainly made a fine showing in this year's State Tournament.

keeping you in touch

By T. H. Bailey

Telephone lines will be buzzing May 9 as people all across the country reach out with a phone call to wish Mom a happy Mother's Day.

Mother's Day has become the busiest day of the year for long distance telephone calls. As a result, you may find the phone circuits tied up when you try to call. If that happens, wait a few minutes and try again.

The best way to avoid busy phone circuits is to call early. Long distance rates are low all weekend — from 11 p.m. Friday until 5 p.m. Sunday. And remember, you always save when you dial your calls direct, the One-Plus way.

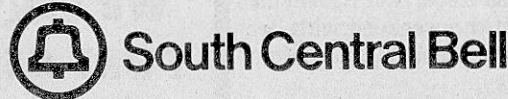

Many Mississippians are making plans for summer trips and vacations.

You can save vacation money by using the telephone as a traveling tool. Call ahead for reservations. Many hotels list toll-free telephone numbers for lodging information and reservations in the Yellow Pages.

You can also call Chambers of Commerce for information about the communities you plan to visit. Advance knowledge of tours and special events will help you organize your trip so that you don't waste precious vacation time.

You don't have to pay for a wrong number when you dial a long distance call. Just hang up, dial the operator and explain what happened. You'll get credit for the call.

*One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed calls, operator-handled calls, coin telephone calls, calls from a hotel or motel, or calls to Alaska or Hawaii.

Someone's waiting.
Reach out with long distance.

Applications Coming In For NE Summer Camps

Northeast athletic director said this week that applications were beginning to come in now for this summer's sports camps that will be held on the Northeast Campus.

The 1982 summer session starts this year beginning June 6 - 11 with the senior high boys camp and coach Mathis stated that he hoped for a large turnout for this year's camp.

Mathis said that he hoped all area roundballers took advantage of this camp since the camp molds athletic ability as well as moral attitudes for future athletic performances.

The primary purpose of the camp is to teach skills in fundamentally sound basketball and to improve the finer points of the game. With these goals in mind, Northeast strives to develop the future athletes ideas in sportsmanship, leadership and citizenship.

The senior boys camp will officially kickoff the first camp session while a week later June 13-18 comes the Senior High Girls Camp.

The juniors get their turn at it the next week with the Junior High Boys Camp set for June 20 - 25 and then the following week the junior High Girls Camp is set for June 27th through July 2nd.

The cost of the camp is $100.00 for overnight campers while commuters will pay $80.

Devils Fall In District Baseball Action

Booneville's Blue Devils dropped out of contention for State Laurel's last week in District competition.

The Devils lost on Friday 8-2 to a tough Ripley Tiger team while on Saturday Booneville dropped a 12-4 decision to Iuka to drop out of contention.

The Devil nine won over

Alcorn Central in earlier action winning 11-8. Mark McCreary took the win in that game.

In Friday's action Rod Coggin was charged with the Booneville loss.

In Saturday's key matchup McCreary was charged with the Booneville loss here giving up seven hits while the Devils charged a seven hit attack of their own.

A key statistic in the game was that Booneville left 12 men on base which proved to be the Devils downfall.

The loss indeed dropped the Devils out of contention for any type State birth but the men with the horns, who have had one of their best records in recent years, are still involved in the Tombigbee Conference Playoffs which get under next week.

In other games Booneville was scheduled in Tuesday action and will be at home today (Thursday) at the Booneville West Side City Park against Saltillo with their last home game of the year.

On Monday of next week the Devils will play in the Tombigbee Conference Tournament at Baldwyn.

At presstime Booneville posted a 9-6 overall record, their best in recent years.

Your hard-working money just negotiated higher interest and shorter working hours.

Money Market Rates. Only 91 days 'til payday.

Now you don't have to tie-up your money forever to earn big money market interest. With a new First Bank 91-Day Certificate of Deposit, you lock up big money market rates for 91 days. Then you can withdraw your money and interest without penalty at maturity, or you can re-up for another 91-day stint. That's all there is to it.

A First Bank 91-day Certificate is great if you have money to invest, but want to stay "short." You earn high interest now, but you don't tie up your money very long. The minimum investment is $7,500. The penalty for early withdrawal is the interest earned prior to withdrawal.

First Bank also has excellent longer term investments; a 6-month money market Certificate with a minimum investment of $10,000; a 2½ year Certificate of Deposit with a minimum of only $1,000; and our All-Saver's Certificate that lets you earn up to $1,000 ($2,000 for couples) tax-free.

SOYBEANS BEHIND WHEAT?
A lot of Prentiss County farmers are looking at doublecropping wheat and soybeans as a way to increase income and get more use from their land.

Growing two crops year-round on the same soil also cuts down on soil erosion problems in the fall, spring and winter.

If you do plant soybeans behind wheat, be prepared for the likelihood of lower soybean yields. The yield drop is usually 15 to 30 percent, although the range may be from no yield loss to complete crop failure.

The main reasons for this yield loss are a later planting date and less soil moisture as opposed to single-crop beans. If you can do anything to help early planting behind wheat, do it. It will help the potential yield.

As better planting equipment, better weed control chemicals and more knowledge is available, the potential yield losses of doublecropping can be kept much lower than just a few years ago.

No single method of doublecropping has been proven superior to others.

Look at several approaches taking into account soil type, type of weeds and planting equipment. If you can irrigate, it makes doublecropping less risky. Doublecropping takes more management in planting, fertilizing and controlling weeds.

TEST HOMEGROWN SEED
From talking to seed handlers, soybean seed seem to be moving a little more slowly in the county than usual. Farmers are either planning to use their own seed, or they want them all at one time when money is available.

there is nothing wrong with non-certified or homegrown seed, provided they are selected based on germination, vigor and purity. They do need to be tested and cleaned.

This adds to the costs and it may not save you money in the long run. Certified seed have been grown, harvested, cleaned and tested under controlled conditions.

In comparing seed costs, consider germination and purity. Also notice that many of the company-owned varieties are sold in 50-pound bags rather than a 60 pound "bushel." That makes a difference in the actual cost per pound of seed.

Carter To Receive Law Degree

William Bennett Carter, son of Mrs. Blanche Carter and the late Malcolm Carter of Booneville, is one of 90 students who are candidates for law degrees to be presented May 17 during graduation exercises at The University of Mississippi.

The degrees will be presented during the 10 a.m. ceremonies in Fulton Chapel.

The Hon. Thad Cochran, Republican Senator from Mississippi, will be the guest speaker. Chancellors Anthony T. Farese and C. Glenn Fant Jr. of the 18th Chancery Court District will admit students to the State Bar.

Robert Womack, clerk of the Mississippi Supreme Court, will admit students to practice in the State Supreme Court and the Hon. Norman Gillespie, clerk of the Federal Court for the Northern District, will admit students to practice before the district court.

Soil Conservation News

From The Soil Conservation Service, USDA
Booneville Field Office

Current estimates of soil losses in Prentiss County are alarming at best. Many, however look too closely at the actual losses and discount the theory that conservation is needed now.

Reviewing the actual losses (17 tons per acre per year on cropland acres) reveals that it would take from 10 to 15 years to lose an inch of topsoil. To short term thinkers the loss is insignificant. However, the actual loss is only the tip of the iceberg.

Eddie Carnathan, Resource Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in North Mississippi, believes we should consider the losses to be substantial.

"We all need to look at these losses a little closer and evaluate them with a different rule-of-thumb," he says. Carnathan emphasizes that we must consider the losses of future crops yields, the losses of nutrients and other crop inputs, the increase in crop inputs due to soil losses over a prolonged period, and the public cost of managing the resulting soil sediment.

A study conducted in 1975 by a group of professional agricultural researchers and scientists revealed a staggering cost of 158 million dollars to dredge Mississippi's channels, repair floodplain and reservoir damage, and treat water due to sediment. The 1982 cost would be enormous considering inflation.

"Do we really know what the losses are when losing an inch of topsoil?" asks Carnathan. "Research reveals we are losing the icing off the cake so to speak," continued Carnathan.

Samples of sediment collected from a field study revealed that the resulting sediment had more organic matter and more N, P, and K than the original field samples. Soil tests taken recently on eroded fields in North Mississippi showed low organic matter (12-90 percent), low sulfur, acidic conditions, poor structure and low to very low in P and K.

"These results are astounding and possibly point to some reasons why yields in the 1970's did not show drastic increases as they have in the past," Carnathan said.

"In 1974, a professional agricultural organization study revealed it would take 1.2 billion dollars annually to replace the nutrients lost due to soil loss," he said. "We all must rethink our position on soil losses and begin realizing the statement 'pay now or pay later' relates to soil losses in Mississippi."

Farmers in Prentiss County can receive assistance in planning conservation cropping systems that prevent excessive soil loss from erosion. To receive this free help, contact the Soil Conservation Service at 107 College Street or phone 718-3544.

Allain Warns About False Billings

Attorney General Bill Allain says that more and more companies are receiving invoices in the mail indicating someone in the company has authorized the purchase of various goods or services when you actually have never heard of the company.

These routine-looking invoices are often sent to you by a con artist who hopes for an automatic payment.

Allain says that Mississippi businesses are cheated out of thousands of dollars annually by swindlers who use the mails to send false bills or invoices.

While there are many variations of this scheme, here are some tips to remember:

-- Alert employees to watch for the receipt of invoices for unusual or unknown suppliers seeking payment.

-- Keep business records to determine if merchandise or services were authorized, ordered, and delivered before they approve payment.

-- If the invoice's validity remains questionable, refuse to make the payment. -- Contact the invoice's sender for verification or confirmation of the goods and services allegedly supplied the business. Watch out for evasive responses to your questions.

The successfulness of these schemes results from a firm's desire to support worthwhile causes, and second, many firms failed to verify the existence of a bona fide obligation, especially if the amount was considered small. But the submission of a small amount from enough companies and organizations adds up to big money for these fraudulent operators.

Despite an increased awareness within the business community of the tactics employed by false billing promoters, a portion of these invoices continues to frustrate and defeat the accounting safeguards of victimized firms.

For additional information contact your Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, Miss. 39205.

Rhonda Nabers On Mission

Rhonda Kay Nabers has been appointed one of 65 student summer missionaries by the Mississippi Baptist Student Union. She will serve a 10-week term at the Baptist Children's Village in Mississippi. She is a student at Northeast Mississippi Junior College and is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Houston M. Nabers of Booneville. Each year Baptist students from 26 Mississippi colleges and universities appointed a group of students from their number to serve alongside career Southern Baptist missionaries in home and foreign fields. Students from the 26 campuses raise the entire amount of money needed for support of the student missionaries. This year their goal is $60,000.

Maintaining Your Mental Health
'But I Bet I Have Fewer Cavities'
From
TIMBER HILLS
MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

In a recent TV commercial for toothpaste a teen-ager is rushing out of the front door because he is late for a ballgame. His mother stops him at the door and points out that he can't leave the house until he has brushed his teeth. He gives her a very dirty look and reluctantly heads for the bathroom.

In the next scene he is discussing his plight with a pal. "My mother always makes me late..." he complains. "Yeah, she is always after you to brush your teeth," the pal commiserates. "But I bet I have fewer cavities than you do," the first boy announces proudly. What he is really supposed to mean is "My mother cares enough about me to make me brush my teeth...yours probably doesn't." This is also supposed to make other mothers feel guilty about not insisting on more toothbrushing (and a large consumption of toothpaste) for their children.

Family counselors wouldn't know whether this commercial will sell toothpaste...but as a dramatization of effective parent-child relationships it leaves something to be desired. A mother who nags her teen-age son to the extent of consistently making him late for everything may be in for more serious difficulties than cavities.

There's a delicate balance between giving a youngster increased freedom to make his own decisions and regulate his own conduct as he gets older, and allowing him to get away with murder. Teen-agers obviously need to be allowed to make up their own minds about many things (including tooth-brushing). On the other hand they need limits and rules.

Often it is hard for a parent to decide when the time has come to lay down the law. Almost all of us, as teen-agers have said to ourselves, when faced with an early curfew or a limitation on the use of the family car: "I'll never treat my children like that." Then, suddenly, 20 years later, they are faced with the situation where "treating them like that" seems like the only sensible thing to do.

Teen-agers whose parents give them limitless freedom have sometimes told counselors that they felt their parents didn't care about them...or they would have stopped them from doing something really stupid or destructive. On the other hand, teen-agers have told counselors that they are never allowed to make a decision of their own. These youngsters feel that their parents don't trust them, and consequently, they may cease to trust themselves.

Often a counselor can help to re-establish communications between parents and children. The counselor might help the parent to discover why, on one hand it may be so difficult to set limits and stick to them, and on the other why he has to be so rigid in his rules that he is in a constant hassle with his adolescent child.

The counselor might also help the teen-ager to think through whether he really wants to do the things his parents object to (get married at 15, quit school and move to San Francisco or go drag-racing with Joe who already has had two serious accidents). In any case it is often reassuring for parents to discover that their teen-ager is just behaving like a normal teen-ager, who has to test the limits of his parent's firmness and understanding. And it is also reassuring for the adolescent to discover that the parents are behaving like parents.

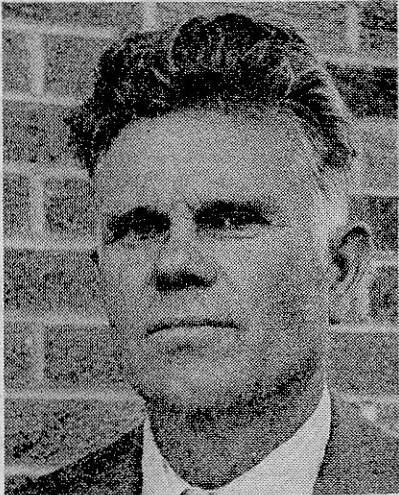

Timber Hills Mental Health Center offers a variety of workshops in areas such as parenting, stress management, couples communication and assertiveness training. For information about services available, phone 728-3174 or visit the offices on the Highway 30 Bypass in Booneville.

After-hours and on weekends phone 1-286-9209 toll free for emergency counseling services.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK By Tulon L. Jackson

Give Your Heart And Lives To Jesus Christ.

St. Luke 13:3, 5...I Tell You, Nay; But, Except Ye Repent, Ye Shall All Likewise Perish.

Tulon L. Jackson, Minister
Northeast Mississippi Church
Of God And Christ

In Acts 17:30 we are told that God commandeth all men everywhere to repent. It seems to be popular today for people to be called by some added or given name of some denomination to which they have joined themselves to, but you must beware lest you climb up some other way except by Jesus Christ - St. John 10:1 to 17. Also in St. Mark 8:34 Jesus said whosoever will come after, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me. Again in St. Mark 1:15 Jesus said Repent ye, and believe the Gospel. Jesus is saying turn from the traditions and doctrines of men and follow Him for He is the Way, the truth, and the life. In Acts 26:20,21 Paul says the Jews went about to kill him because he shewed them that they should repent and turn to God and do works meet for repentance. Paul was saying you must come to an unconditional surrender and turn to or follow God in the manner or acceptable way that His will is for us. Jesus said in the Gospels that He came to call sinners to repentance.

For years my mind has been troubled many times to hear what should be learned preachers refer to Romans 10:9 during the time of an assembly and invite people to come forward to accept Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour, and then say to everyone you are saved, but does anyone have that authority but He who came to seek and to save the lost? Romans 10:10 reads, "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." Please don't overlook the word unto. As Jesus Christ has the power to save, for He is the Lord and Saviour, we are bound to His way of saving. Don't you agree? Look at St. Luke 24:45 to 50 - Then opened He their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures and He said repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations beginning at Jerusalem. He also made a promise to them that He fulfilled. See Acts 2:1 to 5. During the time of this great baptism of the Holy Ghost Peter proclaimed the gospel truth to the great multitude and when they heard it and were pricked in their heart - Acts 2:38 Peter told them at Jerusalem what Jesus said should be preached among all nations, even today. "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost or Baptism with the Holy Ghost or Life," Acts 11:14 to 19. This is the way the lord adds to the Church or His body, see I Cor. 12:13. Jesus Christ still adds to His church daily such as should be saved Acts 2:47.
