Local Man Pleads Guilty To Charge

A Prentiss County man pleaded guilty to concealing and disposing of a stolen motor vehicle in federal court in Aberdeen Monday before U.S. District Judge L.T. Senter Jr.

Judge Senter sentenced Robbie Storey, 20, of Route 1, Rienzi, to the Youth Corrections Act. The maximum sentence Storey could receive would be up to four years. He would be eligible for release any time at the discretion of the parole commission.

Storey is currently serving a two-year jail sentence in Alabama for theft in the first degree. The federal sentence will run concurrently with the Alabama sentence.

In April Storey was indicted by a federal grand jury of interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle, a 1972 Pontiac Grand Prix, from Florence, Ala., to Prentiss County. The second count charged he concealed and disposed of the vehicle, knowing it to have been stolen.

When Storey pleaded guilty to the second count Monday, the first count was dropped.

Storey will remain in custody in Aberdeen until he is returned to Alabama authorities.

One Man Charged With Shoplifting

Booneville City Police apprehended an Alcorn County man in a vacant lot near Wal-Mart about 6:30 Thursday night of last week when the man ran away on foot after being caught shoplifting cameras at Wal-Mart.

Jerry Morrison, 24, of Corinth was arrested by Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert and officer Gurley Williams and charged with shoplifting and failure to obey an officer.

After Morrison was arrested, he reportedly confessed to the shoplifting charge and told officers where he had hidden two cameras during the chase. Chief Lambert said the cameras were both valued at about $500.

A second subject eluded officers. Morrison was released from jail Monday night on $5,000 bond.

Authorities Recover Stolen Motorcycle

A Kawasaki motorcycle stolen from the residence of Dr. Webster Cleveland Jr. of 101 Wildwood Dr. on May 7 was recovered by city and county lawmen and state investigators at a residence in the Kossuth community Monday night.

Arrests are pending following further investigation, said Carl Sartin, investigator for the Prentiss County Sheriff's Department.

A Yamaha motorcycle valued at $800 was also stolen from the Cleveland residence on May 7. The Kawasaki motorcycle was valued at $1,000. On May 6, the Cleavelands reported the theft of a push lawn mower valued at $180 and a radio valued at $280.

Board Approves NEMJC Faculty

During the regular monthly meeting of the Northeast Mississippi Junior College Board of Trustees Tuesday afternoon of last week, faculty recommendations were approved, bids were ratified, and permission was given to advertise for bids on school supplies.

NE President Harold T. White said over 100 faculty members were approved by the board as instructors for the fall semester. Only one new instructor was included in the list. Rhonda Massey of Marietta will be a new instructor in associate degree nursing.

Four instructors will be leaving—Carla Biggs, an instructor in associate degree nursing; Peggy Baggett, an instructor in education and psychology; Everett Sandifer, an instructor in drafting and design; and Aileen Hoover, an instructor in social science who is retiring.

At the last board meeting the board voted to dispose of the propane gas tanks. However, for the time being, White said, the tanks will not be sold because the quoted price of $1,800 was too low.

The board accepted bids on the following: Printing of student handbooks—News Publishing of Waynesboro, Miss., submitted a low bid of $1,995. There were five other bids submitted.

Printing of housing admission forms: Outlaw Press of Baldwin submitted a low bid of $302.50. Seven other bids were submitted.

Band equipment: Algy Dance Costumes of Hollandale, Fla., submitted a low bid of $1,590 for 20 dancer costumes.

Band uniforms: DeMoulin Brothers of Greenville, Ill., submitted a low bid of $4,432.50. There was one other bidder.

Reroofing of gymnasium—S&S Construction Co. of Corinth submitted a low bid of $80,000. Reroofing is to begin immediately and is scheduled to be completed in 100 days, White said.

Carpentry supplies for Yellow Creek: Four Star Building Supply of Iuka submitted a low bid of $1,521.75. There were three other bidders.

Welding supplies for Yellow Creek Center: S&W Welding of Tupelo submitted a low bid of $1,093.

The board received permission to advertise for bids on various school supplies, including athletic equipment, printing materials, and equipment for developmental studies.

Hospital Receives Accreditation, Final Approval

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

National Hospital Week held a special significance for the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville this year. Not only did the local hospital receive notification that final approval of the certificate of need permitting the lease of the hospital by Baptist Memorial of Memphis was imminent, but the hospital was also notified that it has received a 3-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH).

Hospital administrator John Tompkins announced at the hospital's annual employee picnic Friday afternoon that the Mississippi Health Care Commission in Jackson had notified him that, barring any problems over the weekend, the certificate of need granting the lease of Northeast Mississippi Hospital by Baptist Hospital in Memphis would be issued Monday. Monday morning Tompkins was notified that the certificate of need has been issued, effective May 15.

WITH THE LOCAL hospital finding it more and more difficult to make financial ends meet, Baptist Hospital in Memphis and Northeast Mississippi Hospital in Booneville first tentatively agreed to the lease plan in November 1981.

In January of this year, Baptist announced a $5.1 million renovation and building project which would replace the present A and B wings of the hospital with a new, modern, two-story wing located where B-wing currently stands. This project would also renovate practically every department in the hospital.

Originally, work on the project was anticipated to begin last month (April). However, before the lease agreement between the two hospitals could be finalized, approval had to be obtained from the Mississippi Health Care Commission granting the proposal. That approval took longer than anticipated, Tompkins said, causing a delay in the construction plans.

Another certificate of need permitting the renovation work will also have to be approved by the Health Care Commission before the project can begin. This application could not be filed until the certificate of need granting the lease was approved.

Tompkins said architects and others are currently working on the application for the certificate of need for the renovation project and he expects it to be filed in September. He anticipates that, barring no unforeseen obstacles, it will take about 90 days for that certificate of need to be approved. Shortly thereafter the construction program will begin, he said.

ACCREDITATION OF THE hospital by JCAH is professional recognition that the hospital strives to provide high quality health care.

The JCAH accreditation process is strictly voluntary on the part of the hospital. And, although JCAH accreditation does not guarantee perfection at the hospital, it does indicate that the hospital is in substantial compliance with standards developed by leaders in the health care field.

"The decision to seek accreditation reflects our sincere commitment to evaluate and improve our services, as well as our dedication to maintain a high level of care," Tompkins said.

JCAH is governed by representatives of five nationwide health care organizations: the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Dental Association, the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

Bids Opened For Bridge Replacement Project

When the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors opened bids Tuesday morning for a bridge construction project in the Third District, there was almost $80,000 difference between the highest and lowest bidders.

Go-By Construction Company of Ripley submitted the low bid of $235,909.34 for the project which is to replace three bridges on a gravel section of Old Highway 45 between Booneville and the Booneville-Baldwyn Airport.

The high bidder was Hayes Construction Company at $314,930.70, a difference of $79,021.36 when compared with the low bid.

A total of 10 bids were received and opened by the supervisors Tuesday morning. In addition to Go-By and Hayes, the following bids were received:

Hill Brothers, $242,772.02; Raymond C. Stack, $244,145.02; United Builders Inc., $245,693.49; Tippah Construction, $246,789.15; Wright Brothers, $248,999.99; Worsham Brothers, $258,039.93; Lewis Construction Company, $268,350.00; and Concrete Builders, $307,783.02.

The project was originally estimated by engineers at a cost of $282,394.14. This was $46,484.80 more than the low bid received.

Funds from a federal bridge replacement program will pay 80 percent of the cost of the project. The board of supervisors last week sold $125,000 in Third District bonds to Farmers & Merchants Bank of Baldwin to cover the remaining 20 percent of the cost, plus additional expenses in the Third District.

Pen Friends Meet After 37 Years

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

After writing letters to each other for 37 years a Booneville woman and her English pen friend finally met in person.

Mrs. Joe (Mary) Childers of Booneville said she immediately recognized her English pen friend Olga Sumner and her husband Geoff when they arrived at a Memphis airport.

"I'd not seen a snapshot of them in years but I knew them immediately," Mrs. Childers recalled, "and I knew that fella with her had to be Geoff. He was so English looking!"

"I remember Olga asking me on the phone if I thought we would know each other. I said yes, but she insisted on telling me that she would be wearing a light blue suit," Mary laughed.

Olga said, "It's funny how you know people from writing. It seemed as if we knew each other, even though we had never met."

The Sumners said they only encountered one minor problem during their flight to Memphis. Their travel agent had them booked on a non-existent flight. Consequently they spent some extra hours in an airport waiting to board the right flight. Geoff said it was 24 hours to the dot when they left home until they reached Booneville. This is their first time to visit the United States.

The Sumners live in a village called Chipperfield located north of London. The nearest large town is Watford whose claim to fame is that singer Elton John is the chairman of the local soccer team.

There is some disagreement as to how long the two pen friends have actually been corresponding.

"I say we have been corresponding since we were 14-years-old but Mary's mother says we have been writing since we were 7-years-old. We're not quite sure but it must be 37 years," Olga said.

Whatever their exact age when the letter writing began, Mary said "We were just barely old enough to write!"

"It was the thing to do to have pen friends then" Olga said.

The correspondence began when Olga found Mary's address in a magazine. And since that first letter the two have been writing each other about once a month except recently.

"Mary must have written to us five or six times during the last two months about the trip," Geoff said.

It takes about a week, sometimes a little longer, for their letters to reach their destinations. Depending on the weight of the letter, it costs Mary about 40 cents postage and Olga around 50 pence postage.

Mary said, "I remember once Olga wrote and asked if I thought we would ever meet. She said 'time gets on' and I thought 'Yes, time is getting on,' so I asked them to come and they did!"

Although the two pen friends have been corresponding for 37 years, for some reason they had never telephoned each other until last year.

"Last summer during Prince Charles' wedding I go all excited and just called her up one day," Mary said. And since then they have phoned each other several times.

Since arriving in Booneville on May 2, the thing most often asked of the British couple (besides someone asking them to speak) has been their opinion of the Falkland Island crisis, the Summers said.

"I feel very strongly about the Falkland Island crisis. You've got to appreciate the feeling of the people that live there. My personal worry is that if they do that there it's an open thing for them to go somewhere else and do it. For the last 149 years it's been governed by the British. It's like somebody coming down and taking away New Mexico or moving into Texas and saying 'Alright, this is ours.' It's the same sort of thing," Geoff said.

They have also been asked if they attended the royal wedding last summer. They did.

"It was like a fairyland. I'd never seen a royal wedding before. We started speaking to an American family while we were watching the procession. This poor little girl couldn't see so Geoff put her on his shoulders so she could take pictures," Olga said.

The couple say they feel right at home in Booneville. "There is such peace here. It's like our home. We live in a village and we're used to peace. And when we came here we found it to be the same...it's very peaceful. We thought Americans would be all tearing about and tooting their horns. But it's quite different in this town," Olga said.

"They do love Booneville," Mary said. "We went to Jackson and they had a nice time. We went to Memphis and came back and they still liked Booneville better."

Olga and Geoff say one of the highlights of their trip was when Mayor Charles Crabb presented them the key to the city Wednesday of last week. The mayor also gave them an 'illuminated address' (certificate) Geoff said.

Geoff explained why he calls the certificate an 'illuminated address.' "A certificate could be a piece of paper saying 'I certify I've given you ten pounds' or a certificate is something you might get for coming in third in a swimming race. But this is something special to us from the mayor."

Geoff, who is a country music fan, said he also enjoyed meeting local radio announcer Happy Harold Campbell.

Two things in Booneville the couple said that amazes them is that the students all seem to have cars and the size of the houses.

"I always heard in America it was big cars and big houses and it's true!" Olga said.

Olga and Geoff have visited Tishomingo State Park, Graceland in Memphis and Elvis Presley's birthplace in Tupelo.

Olga said she is taking pebbles from Graceland and Elvis' birthplace in Tupelo back home as souvenirs. "Girls at home are just doting about Elvis. They would die just to see what we've seen," Geoff said.

They also drove to Oxford to visit Rowan Oak, William Faulkner's home. Although Rowan Oak was closed when they were there they did peep in the windows. On the way home they stopped to get something to drink and Geoff got a Mellow Yellow.

Mary told him he was really a Mississippi redneck now. "I didn't realize he wouldn't know what that meant so I had to explain it," Mary laughed.

The two couples have had fun comparing expressions. Many of the expressions are the same in both countries such as 'fresh as a daisy' or 'cat has your tongue.' However, 'taken with a grain of salt' is 'taken with a pinch of salt' in England, Geoff says.

"You've got an awful lot of expressions that I love," Geoff said. "The other night the doorbell rang and Joe said, 'I paid at the office.' I had never heard that."

While complimentary of American food, tea was another matter.

"They don't have very good tea here," Olga said and added she liked to have hot tea with milk every day.

When Geoff was asked if the British drink as much tea as depicted on television he replied, "Oh yes, more. There's always a pot of tea in the house."

They said there's no difference really between the two countries in food or dress or anything really. "You could transplant someone from here to our town and you really wouldn't know the difference until they spoke," Geoff said.

Olga's favorite television program she watches at home in Chipperfield is Little House on the Prairie. "It makes the children and myself cry every week when we see it because it's sad and every story is a good one," Olga said.

Geoff said the American TV program he likes the least is The Tonight Show starring Johnny Carson. However, Olga was more diplomatic and said some of the Tonight Shows were good.

Geoff is employed as a milk salesman - he delivers milk in glass bottles. He is a trained engineer who owned his own business 10 years ago but gave it up for health reasons. Olga is a nursing assistant.

They are the parents of two daughters, Cheryl, 20, and Gail, 16. They have a Golden Labrador retriever named Ollie. Their daughters miss them, Geoff joked, but Ollie is missing them the most.

The Summers plan to stay in the city of hospitality until May 22. Mary said as soon as she greeted Olga and Geoff at the airport, they were planning for her and Joe to visit them in England.

One day Mary hopes they will be able to visit the Summers in England. In the meantime, the two pen friends plan to continue writing more letters to each other.

Bids Opened

Before the work order on the bridge replacement project can be issued, both the board of supervisors and the State Aid Road Division must approve the bid.

J.P. Davis, president of the board of supervisors, signed the contract Tuesday, giving county approval. Floyd Kirk, State Aid district engineer, was at the courthouse for the bid openings and tentatively approved the low bid on behalf of the state. The contract will have to taken back to Jackson for final signatures, Davis said Wednesday.

Once the signatures are finalized, Davis said, a work order will be issued. He said the contractor told him Tuesday that work on the project will begin immediately thereafter.

Once the bridge replacement project is completed, the supervisors hope to be able to obtain financial funding to have the road paved, providing better access to the airport for county residents.

More Than Heart Diseases

Hearing, Speech Impairments Top List

Editor's note -- The following information is provided by the Northeast Mississippi Speech and Hearing Association. It is the hope of the association that this fact bulletin will enlighten the people of our city and county of the affect that communicative disorders has on our public.

Communicative disorders constitute our nation's number one handicapping disability. Studies indicate that more people suffer from hearing, speech, and language impairments than from heart disease, epilepsy, paralysis, cerebral palsy, tuberculosis, and multiple sclerosis combined.

In Booneville alone, an estimated 700 persons are affected by speech and hearing problems. One out of every 15 persons suffer from an uncorrected hearing handicap. In almost one-third of hard-of-hearing children, the causes can be traced to something which happened before or during birth.

Some of the causes include German measles contracted during the first weeks of pregnancy, influenza, shingles, other virus diseases, and certain drugs.

Mumps is the most common cause of unilateral deafness in the United States.

Permanent hearing loss can result from loud noises such as rock music, lawn mowers, power tools, cap guns, factory machinery, jet planes, and some kitchen appliances.

Approximately 1,200 persons in Prentiss County have speech and language problems. About one-fourth of those with speech and language problems are between the ages of 5-21.

Difficulties with the way sounds are formed constitute the most numerous of speech disorders.

Better Speech and Hearing Month is an intensive annual effort sponsored by leading national hearing and speech organizations and other civic groups to inform people about communicative disorders and to encourage those who suspect a problem to seek assistance.

Contact persons in this area are James Googe, Educational Service Center, Prentiss County Schools, 728-4632, and Mrs. Imogene Eaker, Booneville City Schools, Booneville Middle School, 728-5465.

Hospital

TO RECEIVE ACCREDITATION by JCAH, the hospital first invited JCAH surveyors to visit the hospital and review its performance and service based on the Commission's standards.

JCAH survey teams consist of health care professionals suited to the needs of the institution being evaluated. One of these survey teams consulted with the Booneville hospital's professional and administrative staffs to discuss virtually every area of hospital operations.

After the on-site visit, these surveyors shared their findings with the Booneville hospital and then sent a report to JCAH's central office for review and analysis by trained experts.

After this review, recommendations were submitted for final consideration to the accreditation committee of JCAH's governing body, the board of commissioners. This committee of active, practicing health care professionals then granted accreditation of the hospital.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I am a little confused about whether the church has the authority to build gymnasiums and support colleges out of its treasury, would you answer this in the Bible question box?

ANSWER: Brother James W. Boyd, who preaches for the East Main Church in Tupelo answered this question in his bulletin dated Dec. 7, 1981. Since I agree with him I will give you his answer, here it is: "While we realize the truth eliminates the use of instruments in worship, candy on the Lord's table, and counting beads (none of which are specifically prohibited but there is no authority for them). Yet where is the authority for the church erecting gymnasiums, brethren having secret prayer partners, supporting colleges of secular learning out of the treasuries? Brethren do these things. When asked for their authority, they become silent. They just go on anyway. Wherein do they differ in attitude from the Christian church in doing such things? Is it unfair to ask? Those who do these things are asked once again, 'where is the authority?' And those who just continue to 'go along' with such things where is the defense? Is it impertinent to ask? After all, this 'do it anyway' philosophy is dividing the church again. I believe Bro. Boyd is correct and I hope this answers your question."

Stennis Says Congress Must Eliminate Federal Budget Deficits

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

Sen. John Stennis told supporters in Booneville Saturday night that drastic changes in the federal government are necessary if the nation's economy is to be brought back under control. Stennis, who at age 80 is seeking re-election to the U.S. Senate, was in Booneville to attend a fish fry sponsored by the Prentiss County Committee to Re-elect Stennis. An estimated 1,000 supporters from Prentiss and surrounding counties attended.

In the June 1 Democratic primary, Stennis will face state senator Charles Pittman of Grenada and broadcaster Colon Johnston of Carthage. Attorney Haley Barbour of Yazoo City and Northern District Highway Commissioner Bobby Richardson of Tupelo will face each other in the Republican primary. The general election will be Nov. 2.

Saying that he favors a very drastic change in the federal government to get deficit spending under control, Stennis said Saturday night that Congress should be denied the power to go into the big debts that are at the root of the nation's economic troubles.

The Senator said that, except in time of war,

Congress should not be allowed to make appropriations without knowing exactly where the money will come from.

Stennis also said a way must be found to get the high interest rates down. High interest rates produce more unemployment which in turn puts more of a financial burden on the government.

Every one percent increase in unemployment costs the federal government an additional $25-$26 billion in compensation benefits, he said.

However, the Senator pointed out that these problems will take some time to be resolved. "We can't throw on the brakes all at once," he said.

Cautioning the people to be patient, Stennis said, "Give the government time to straighten this thing out. We can't afford to lose faith in our government. . . the best form of government in the world."

At Saturday night's rally, Stennis also voiced his support of the Social Security program, saying that the money in that program does not belong to the federal government, but to the people. He said he is going to vote for the money to be set aside in a trust fund reserved for the people.

On the Falkland Island crisis, Stennis said, "I don't see that we would get involved. I don't see that being an all out war, a big war. But I believe we have to stay on England's side."

However, Stennis, who has served on the Armed Services Committee for 30 years, said he feels the United States must maintain nuclear superiority over the Soviet Union.

"I don't think they (nuclear weapons) will ever be used by any sane person," he said, "but I think it necessary to have them."

He assured the crowd that militarily "we are well fixed, well prepared, unequaled by any power or combination of powers. We have a chance to stay ahead which we must do."

"Some say we are second best," he said. "I don't believe that. We have to keep that superiority."

Mississippi's senior senator also predicted that the nation's energy crisis will be resolved in the future. "Our children and grandchildren are going to live in another era of great power," he said. "An era in which the standard of living will be even higher than ours was."

In closing, Stennis said that good government and well-managed affairs "don't come readily, don't come easy. It takes effort, planning, will-power, and courage."

"We must look also to the high power that rules finally over us for further light and further strength," he said.

Jones Tells Rotarians

Drug Use Must Be Controlled

Lieutenant Doug Jones, an investigator with the Tupelo Police Department told the Booneville Rotary Club Tuesday that money is the cause of the tremendous increase in illegal drug traffic and consumption.

"The drug problem is getting bigger every day because of money. Big money," Jones said. "But the money does not go to the people on the street.

"The people on the street merely survive," he said. "The real money--the big money--goes to the one or two at the top who never saw the drugs. And you would be surprised at how big some of these men are in their communities."

Jones' address dealt primarily with marijuana and its widespread use. He said marijuana has been used for many centuries, and a marijuana-like drug is even mentioned in the Bible.

"But its use has become so common today that on just about any search warrant--regardless of its purpose--we find marijuana on the premises. There is definitely a marijuana sub-culture in today's society."

"And this sub-culture has its own means of transportation and communication," he said. "Many of the drug users we pick up are almost untelligible to us but they can be understood by other users."

Jones said the contention that marijuana is no more harmful than alcohol is not true. Marijuana contains 121 elements, only two which have been identified. And there is no way of knowing what effect those unidentified elements can have on the human body.

"Alcohol is a drug and I am not defending its use," he said. "But at least we know the one harmful element in it and we know the body's organs it will harm. But there are just too many unknowns with marijuana."

Jones did mention a few recently-discovered good effects from the drug under controlled usage.

"It can be used by cancer patients to offset the nausea caused by chemo-therapy, and it is used in the treatment of glaucoma," he said. When asked what could be done to control illegal drugs, Jones said, "We must go back to basics. We must re-establish the family unit and greater discipline in the schools. We are giving our country away and one way we are doing it is by allowing widespread use of drugs--the so-called drugs of recreation."

"I think," he continued, "we have mis-directed drug education. We should educate parents to know what marijuana smells like and how a kid who is using it reacts. We must also argue with them--we must be able to convince them they are wrong when they say it is no worse than alcohol. It is."

Jones said catching the little man pushing the drugs in the street does little to slow down drug traffic. But he hopes some day he will be able to make a big difference by getting one of the top men.

"Some day," he said, "I am going to get me a Mr. Big."

State Tax Refunds Assured

State Treasurer Bill Cole has received approval of his request from the State Budget Commission to transfer $7.6 million from current collections to the Income Tax Refund Fund to insure that taxpayers receive their income tax refunds this fiscal year.

The 1982 legislature adopted legislation to allow the state treasurer to transfer from current tax collections sufficient funds to the State Tax Commission to make refunds to the taxpayers.

The state treasurer appeared before the Tuesday meeting of the Budget Commission last week to make a request for the implementation of the new law and the transfer of these funds.

"Everyone well remembers the problems the Tax Commission encountered last year in not having sufficient funds in the refund account to make refunds on a timely basis, which resulted in delays in the taxpayers receiving their refunds," Cole said.

"Taxpayers throughout the state were very much concerned about the delay in their refunds," he said.

'Talk O' The Town'

Street Opinion Poll

QUESTION: Do you think it is alright for a person to serve as both a Justice Court Judge and as a police officer?

ERNEST MAHAN of Route 6, Booneville: "Yes. I think it's a good idea. That way, they'll be out on the streets seeing what's going on and that way they wouldn't be turning criminals loose quite so often."

DEXTER TENNYSON of Wheeler: "Not really. That's holding two positions. I believe they would do a better job if they just had one job to do."

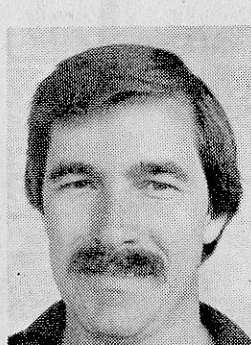

JOHN CAVINESS of Route 2, Booneville: "Yes, I do, as long as he doesn't try any cases he would have a conflict of interest in or as long as he doesn't use his police job to get people in court."

MANESS BARTLETT of Franks Drive, Booneville: "If the law says they can serve in both places, I see no objection to it. I personally think the legislature should look at situations like this and separate it if they think they should."

TOMMY McDUGAL of Route 6, Booneville: "I think it would be alright if he can put an equal amount of time in both jobs."

PHIL HUDDLESTON of Route 1, Booneville: "No, because he has a responsibility to fulfill his duty as a judge and I don't think he would be able to serve the public as fairly serving in two offices. I think he should serve full time in just one office."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Reflections

By Ken Christian

"The Banner-Independent does a reasonably good job of reporting what's happening in Prentiss County, at least what's happening in a good news sense. The Banner-Independent pages are totally devoid of anything smacking of doubt, criticism or controversy.

"The Banner-Independent progress edition said Prentiss County is the best place in the world to live. Maybe everything is fine in Booneville, but if that's so, it's unique this side of Eden's Garden."

THOSE WORDS OF criticism were directed at The Banner-Independent in 1979. They were written by the publisher of another newspaper and were presented, along with critiques of other newspapers, at a 1979 convention of newspaper publishers.

There have been some changes at The Banner-Independent since 1979. Only this week one of Prentiss County's elected officials, indicating that he thinks the newspaper concentrates too much on printing bad news, told me he thought it would be a good idea if the paper made a special effort one week to put out a "good news" newspaper -- an issue containing only good news.

And a couple of others have made similar suggestions. One of our state representatives indicated to me recently that he felt the newspaper should concentrate more on the good aspects of the county rather than the bad. And a letter to the editor in last week's paper made a similar point.

LET'S TAKE A serious look at that for a minute. What happens if a newspaper prints only good news and overlooks the bad aspects of the community? Nothing happens -- and that's the problem.

Just like every other community, Prentiss County has its share of problems. And the only way to solve those problems is to get them out into the open and discuss them. Unfortunately those problems that we ignore, hoping they will go away, usually come back to haunt us at a later date.

I recently saw a statement from the Daily Courier, a newspaper in Grants Pass, Ore. It read as follows:

"The true purpose of the Courier is to present the facts accurately. . . not to appease. If you get your dander up over one of our editorials, writers or the way in which we present our facts. . . GREAT! Because getting mad usually means that you are about to get involved. And involvement means the kind of action that improves our lifestyles and conditions, and our community.

"So get mad at us if you like. But we are still going to report the facts and keep you fully informed on politics, sports, consumer affairs and a hundred other issues of interest to you locally, nationally and from around the world."

I CANNOT AGREE with those who say that printing bad news in the paper could scare off an industry or business that might be considering a location in Prentiss County. The representatives of those industries are not stupid. If you tell them that there's nothing bad about the community, they are going to know that you are lying -- and they may even wonder what else you have lied to them about.

There is nothing wrong with emphasizing the good aspects of a community -- as long as you don't ignore the bad. And that's what we try to do here at the paper. (For those who say we do not point out the good aspects of the community, I suggest you look at our annual progress edition which appeared in February. It contained 42 pages of "good news" stories about Booneville and Prentiss County.)

Unfortunately, we as readers tend to remember the "bad news" stories more than we do the "good news" stories. And, usually, the ones who complain the most about the "bad news" stories are those whose job it is to try to correct the situation -- our elected officials.

WHEN SOMETHING GOOD happens for Prentiss County, The Banner-Independent goes out of its way to report it.

When Prentiss County received the Key Community Award from Gov. William Winter, it was a featured story on Page 1. When the Research and Development Center in Jackson said the Booneville-Prentiss County Industrial Park was one of the top 10 in the state, the story received a big spread on Page 1. When the Booneville Junior Auxiliary named Prentiss County's outstanding citizen for 1982, we ran a story and picture that covered almost half the front page.

We will not intentionally overlook good news to print bad news. We will not even go out looking for controversy. But when a controversy plops itself in our laps, we will not ignore it, either.

We do not create the news -- we only report it. And if a week ever comes when nothing bad has happened in Prentiss County, that's the week we will print only good news. But until that time comes, we have a responsibility to our readers to report all the news, the bad as well as the good.

JACKSON, Miss. -- I haven't seen any official statistics comparing the number of women serving in state legislatures and other elected offices to see how Mississippi stands in this regard, but the empirical data indicates the number of women holding elective office here must be among the lowest in the country.

Looking back, I can remember times years ago when quite a few women were serving in the Mississippi Legislature, and this was long before the dawning of the women's movement and the ERA.

The Mississippi Legislature (of course!) has not ratified the Equal Rights Amendment, or even given it a direct vote on the floor of either house, because many lawmakers argue that women in Mississippi have long ago been given more rights and recognition than in most states.

Ironically, the number of women elected to the legislature in this state has been declining over the years, quite the contrary to what is happening in other states in recent years. In fact, a good case could be made for the theory that being a woman is a political handicap in Mississippi.

Some of these realities about the status of women in the Mississippi political spectrum were brought to mind by a recent article in the Journal of Mississippi History about the women who have served in the Mississippi Legislature from 1924 through 1981.

In the 1952-56 term of the legislature, the number of women legislators reached an all-time high of seven, including both branches of the legislature. When the present four-year term of the legislature started in 1980, the female contingent was down to one, Rep. Betty Jane Long of Meridian.

Long was joined by another female in the House last year when Mary Ann Stevens of West won a special election by seven votes to fill a vacancy.

Long, incidentally, is now serving her seventh term in the Mississippi House, outranking all but a handful of men in seniority. However, she is yet to be named chairman of a House committee while males, much her junior, have risen to the top.

Most of the women who have held seats in the legislature over the years have been defeated for re-election, often after just serving one term.

One of the victims in the last legislative races, Mary Frances Terry of Vicksburg, had only served through one session after winning a specialelection in 1979. Mrs. Terry, the lone woman legislator to identify herself as a Republican while in office, evidently found that being both a woman and a Republican is a heavy burden to carry in Mississippi politics.

That was somewhat the experience of Jean Muirhead, who was defeated for re-election to the Senate back in 1971 when she decided to run as a Republican. Her defeat, incidentally, came at the hands of an almost illiterate former county constable who had a federal conviction on his record.

Muirhead, who had for years worked in the

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

Usually when people do good deeds they don't expect a pat on the back -- they simply chip in and help others because they want to.

Take for instance a group of men who learned during basketball season that no money had been budgeted for team meals when the Booneville Blue Devils' went to the state tournament in Jackson. What did the men do? They donated almost $200 to pay for the player's meals.

These were the same men who a few months earlier had donated $200 in an effort to show their sympathy to a family whose 9-year-old son was struck and killed by a car as he crossed the road to his mailbox.

The men are the employees at the Booneville Post Office. Their generosity is commendable. They have set an example of helping others that we should all follow.

Remember When

I wonder if anyone besides me remembered what happened in Thrasher six years ago last Sunday, May 16. That was the day the Thrasher High School seniors of 1976 graduated. I can't believe it has been six years since I graduated! It certainly doesn't feel like it's been six years. I have tried to think where the time has gone and I can't figure it out.

I remember when my class graduated we said we would have a class reunion in five years and possibly with in one year because we didn't want to lose touch with each other.

Somehow the first year quickly drifted away to that place wherever the years go and when the fifth year rolled around we were too busy, or so we said, to organize a reunion. And now the fifth year has melted into the sixth year.

From time to time I see some of my classmates when I'm working on street opinion. Although it's only been six years, I see changes in them. I think I will always remember them the way they looked in high school. (And since I've gained 15 pounds since graduation I hope they will show me the same kindness!)

We were called the bicentennial class. We thought we were really something special. And we were...just as every senior class is.

I often see other Thrasher graduates -- those both older and younger than myself -- and they all express similar feelings -- their class was THE special class. I expect that is the feeling of every high school senior.

I remember a few summers ago I revisited Thrasher High School only to discover very little was the same as I remembered it.

As I stood in the high school hallway and looked at the pictures of the many classes that had graduated, I saw with dismay that the 1976 senior class picture was placed on the top row of pictures. I had formerly thought pictures placed on the top row were the "old has-been graduates." My thinking quickly changed.

There are some of my classmates whom I haven't seen since graduation day. I often wonder where they are, what they are doing, and if their lives are turning out as they planned.

There are two things that 1982 graduates can count on -- time is going to fly by after graduation day and if they want to accomplish anything they will have to work toward goals.

As for my immediate goal, I'm starting a diet...just in case my class does decide to have a reunion!

historian; Mary Grace Brown, treasurer; Neola Cleveland, president; Carolyn Downs, recording secretary; and Anna Browne, corresponding secretary. Not pictured is Barbara Hughes, vice-president.

Booneville Woman's Club Meets

Twenty-seven members and one guest attended the final 1981-82 meeting of the Booneville Woman's Club which was held in the Marion W. Smith Room of the George Ed Allen Library, Thursday, May 13, at 3 p.m.

Mrs. J. Curlee Ross, President, presided and welcomed two new members, Mrs. George Oakley and Mrs. Travis Cartwright, into the Club.

The club room was transformed into a miniature summer flower garden consisting of various flowers of many different colors and sizes. The 1982-83 club officers were installed by Mrs. Charles Brown in this setting.

Mrs. Brown began the ceremony by paying tribute to the retiring officers. She then compared the membership of the Woman's Club to a garden filled with varied flowers. As she presented a challenge to each new officer she compared the duties of the officer with those of particular flowers.

Mrs. Brown, herself, the new treasurer, was presented ivy, the symbol of being ever faithful. Mrs. L.W. Peeler, historian, was given chrysanthemums to represent friendship and courage. The chrysanthemum was described as a late bloomer, and the history of the club could not be completed until the end of the next club year.

Mrs. J.W. Browne, corresponding secretary, was given the summer daisy to signify consistency. Mrs. Stanley Downs, recording secretary, received a geranium as a symbol of tenderness and tact. Emphasis was placed upon the need for keeping exact records.

The marigold was presented to Mrs. Bill White, who substituted for Mrs. Hal Hughes, vice-president, who was absent. This flower represented sunshine.

Miss Triplett Is Band Winner

Miss Triplett, who attends Booneville High School, was nominated for the award by Mrs. Sherry Vernon, Booneville High School band director.

Miss Triplett is the granddaughter of the Rev. N.T. Triplett and the late Mrs. Mary Triplett of Booneville and Mr. and Mrs. James Tucker of Planterville, Miss.

The Academy recognizes less than 5 percent of all American high school students. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, leadership qualities, responsibility, attitude and cooperative spirit, and dependability.

grace, and devotion.

Mrs. Webster Cleveland, Jr., president, received the red rose which is known for loyalty, love, beauty and fragrance. Mrs. Brown stated that the red rose cannot be matched by other flowers. It is known as the queen of the flower garden.

Mrs. Cleveland very graciously accepted the rose as the symbol of the role of the presidency and named several members to serve on three committees.

Serving on the program committee will be Mrs. Hughes, chairman, Mrs. Sam Galloway, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Hamilton Mathis, Mrs. John Mahaffy, and Mrs. Sam Milton.

Named to work on the Summer Reading Program at the library were Mrs. Woodrow Davis, Mrs. Emmons Turner, Mrs. W. Taylor Smith, Mrs. Mathis, Mrs. Oakley, Mrs. William Hatfield, and Mrs. Travis Cartwright. Mrs. Turner, Mrs. White and Mrs. Richard Coggin will assist Mrs. Ross with the Prentiss County mini-fair.

Prior to the installation service Mrs. Galloway, the retiring historian, read the history of the club which was written in poetry.

Mrs. Phil Worley, a guest and a member of the Junior Woman's Federated Club, invited the club members to attend the Taster's Luncheon at the Community Center on June 11.

Plans were made for the club's participation in the Miss Hospitality Pageant, May 28. Mrs. C.W. Yarber, Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. White and Mrs. Coggin will serve as hostesses at the reception.

Mrs. Ross announced that the Club had received two awards at the MFWC State Convention - a Care award and a Certificate of Recognition as an Honor Roll Club for doing outstanding work in MFWC.

Salad and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. W. Taylor Smith, Mrs. William Hatfield and Mrs. Bob Cox.

Area Brownies Gather In Booneville To Celebrate 70th Anniversary Of Girl Scouts

Brownies Celebrate Scouting Birthday

More than 125 Brownie Girl Scouts from Booneville, Ripley, Kossuth, and Corinth celebrated the 70th birthday of Girl Scouts with an all-day party at the Girl Scout Hut in Booneville on Saturday, May 15.

Booneville Brownie leader Jane Cole had transformed the area around the Scout Hut with balloons, streamers, posters, and a clown into a party setting. Real clowns were there too (Carolyn Smith and Zula McAnally, Booneville, and Ann Castle, Ripley).

Events of the day included a sponge toss, directed by Booneville Brownie leaders Josie Smith and Carolyn McCombs; the releasing of helium-filled balloons bearing the name and address of each Brownie, directed by Booneville Brownie leaders Carolyn Smith and Zula McAnally; a waterballoon relay, directed by Cadette Troops 162 and 16 of Ripley; and a Brownie Scout song session led by Ann Castle of Ripley.

Each Brownie and adult present had the privilege of being personalized by artists Diane Guin and Oneta Cole of Booneville, Kathy Smith of Oxford, and Bobby Nunnally of Ripley, who painted rainbows, daisies, strawberries, balloons, or cotton bolls on cheeks or foreheads - making the group very colorful.

The day was climaxed around a large birthday cake made by Jane Cole, where the girls were served ice cream with cupcakes which had been baked by Carol Taylor of Ripley.

The event was coordinated by Darlene Watkins of Corinth, Carolyn Taylor of Ripley, and Opal Anderson of Booneville. Joy Lambie of Corinth coordinated the Booneville party with one in progress simultaneously at Iuka. Elna Clark, Tupelo, Field Adviser for these counties, attended both parties.

Songwriters' Workshop Scheduled At Northeast

Learn from the professionals how to turn your original lyrics into songs during a songwriting workshop sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education at Northeast Junior College.

Class meetings will be 6:30 p.m., in Patterson Hall on the Northeast campus May 25, June 1, 8, 15. Registration fee is $25 per person, payable at the first class meeting.

Local artists, Nina Taylor and Mike Cunningham will instruct the four sessions.

They have been active in songwriting, publishing and promoting their works for the past five years.

Both Taylor and Cunningham hold memberships in the Country Music Association, Nashville Songwriter's Association and the Mississippi Music Association.

Special emphasis will be given to the "how to's of songwriting," Taylor said. "How to turn poems into songs, how to make song lyrics and music more commercial, how to obtain a copyright and how to get original material published."

For additional information, interested persons may call James Williams with the Division of Continuing Education at 728-7751, ext. 286, or Mrs. Taylor at 728-8659.

"Operations and hospital rooms cost a lot more than you think"

PLEASE
Drive Carefully

Now that school is out, the kids are all about. Be alert! Watch out for them. They'll be near the playgrounds, in yards and on the streets. They'll be on bikes, and skates or chasing balls into the paths of cars. GIVE THEM THE RIGHT OF WAY. They probably won't be cautious... but you should be.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian
George E. Allen Library

In the past several years the library's summer reading program has begun in June. Some of our patrons have inquired about this year's plans. The schedule has been changed to avoid some conflicts. Each Tuesday in July, at 10:30 a.m., there will be activities for a group from 7 to 14 years old and another story time and activity hour for the 3-6 year olds.

This means we will begin on July 6 and have our concluding awards, certificates and special planned activities on Aug. 3. "Magic" in its many forms will be the central theme. More reminders will appear closer to the dates mentioned, but we hope many will reserve these dates for summer reading fun.

Is your family planning a vacation in the Smokies? A new arrival in our collection, pleasing to anyone but written for the teens, is "Great Smoky Mountains National Park" by Radlauer. There is also one by the same author on "Grand Canyon National Park" if you're venturing more distantly - or traveling by armchair and books. "Mammoth Cave National Park" might make your day in this world's longest cave more rewarding by providing historical background, and pictures and explanations of the formations. Had you supposed blacksmithing to be entirely a thing of the past? A 1981 edition entitled "The Complete Guide to Blacksmithing" discusses horseshoeing, carriage and wagon building and ornamenting. If you need a summer project or a hobby, it is very likely that a do-it-yourself book is waiting to inspire and direct you.

Booneville Happenings

By JESSIE PRESLEY
Correspondent

Mr. and Mrs. James Barnett of Memphis visited relatives in Booneville on Monday.

David and Lisa Horn of Tupelo were overnight guests of the Larry Dillards last weekend.

Mrs. Eva Lou Nabers spent a few days last week in New Albany with Mrs. Sam Gardner and Mrs. Keith Wroten. We were sorry to learn that Mrs. Gardner has suffered a stroke. We send her best wishes for a complete recovery.

Mrs. Zera Haden and Aeda of Memphis were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bilbo Moore and Mary. Mrs. Hula Strange, Mrs. Maxine Kirk, Mrs. Bernice Kirk and Mrs. Elsie Butler visited in Booneville Sunday. While here they attended the morning services at Calvary Baptist Church and had a short visit with Mrs. Gladys Hart.

The Senior Citizens Fellowship of Prentiss County met at Pleasant Grove Church on April 22 for their monthly meeting. Director Troy Inman presided. Host-Pastor Doyle Barrell gave the devotional. "Sharetime" used as the theme, "Hester's School" and "Memories of a First Grader." One of the early teachers at Hester was Mrs. Clara Faye (Sartin) Parker. Rodney Counce told of his father donating the land on which Pleasant Grove Church is built.

Bro. Wayne Faropoulos of East Booneville brought a message on "Victory over Temptation." Hostesses for the delicious noon meal were: Pauline Counce, Olivia Edge, Peggy Godwin, Marie Moore, Blanche Ramey and Jaunita York. Birthdays were celebrated by Carrie Copeland, Avis Ryan, Charlene Johnson, Edna Nolen and Ila Ledbetter.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Gifford Sr., visited their son Wayne and family in Dallas, Texas, last week. Upon arrival they were greeted by their granddaughter Mabelle, who has just returned home for her summer vacation from Teck University at Lubbock, Texas, where she is studying "Interior Design." The family enjoyed an outing on Saturday by visiting the famous East Texas Oil Museum in Kilgore, Texas, and the beautiful world famous Rose Garden in Tyler, Texas.

The 60 Plus Club of Calvary Baptist Church was entertained Sunday with a luncheon by the "Friends" Sunday School Class of the church. Twenty people enjoyed the occasion. Mrs. Helen Bostick is the teacher. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Nanley and son Benny spent last week in Knoxville, Tenn., attending the World Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. L.H. (Billy)

Bonds were in Nashville last weekend visiting, Mr. and Mrs. James (Jim) Bonds, Valerie and Matthew. They attended the Grand Ole Opry on Saturday night. On Sunday they visited the Hall of Fame Wax Museum and the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum.

Mrs. Eunice Hewlett was delighted to have several members of her family for a get together last Sunday. Those visiting her were her oldest sister, Mrs. Lexie Smith and family, Clinton and Sherri Smith and two children, Jason and Amy; Verda Mae and Eugene Smith and daughter DeLana of Harrison, Ark., DeLana attends the University of Arkansas; Russell and Estoria Petty. After dinner they went to a Flea Market.

Last Thursday May 13, the Senior Citizens of the Center of Mimosa Drive enjoyed a fish fry at the Chef Cafe on 201 E. Market Street. The food was delicious and the fellowship was great. Thirty-eight people enjoyed the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Barnett and children of Memphis spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Theola Barnett and other relatives.

Orvil Smith of Wheeler passed away last Saturday at his home. We extend our deepest sympathy to this family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis of Chattanooga, Tenn., visited Mrs. Eva Lou Nabers one day last week. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shackelford spent Sunday in Kosciusko with Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hart. Grace O'Keefe and daughter recently visited Mrs. Lila Fulghum.

A good thought: A Texas judge has compiled some interesting statistics about church attendance and its impact on society.

1. When both parents are faithful in church attendance, 93 percent of their children remain faithful to the Lord.

2. When only one parent is active and faithful, 74 percent of the children continue to be faithful.

3. When parents are only reasonably active in the work of their church, 53 percent of the young people maintain their faithfulness.

4. When parents only attend Bible classes occasionally the children remain faithful in only 6 percent of the cases.

Parents, do you see the lesson? What are the odds that your children will remain true to God or even become Christians?

Is it worth the gamble? How sad to gamble and lose the souls of your children. A loss in Las Vegas can always be made up ... but the loss of one's soul is eternal. Give it some thought and prayer. Then start this week attending worship services and Sunday School with your family.

EYE OPENER

By Dr. Walter C. Simpson

YOUR EYE EXAMINATION

When an eye specialist examines your eyes, he performs what is called a "refraction" test. This test is based upon pure mathematics, measuring your eyes' ability to see clearly.

But, according to the American Optometric Association, the prescription of lenses for adequate vision is not based solely on the refraction test. Before the vision expert prescribes lenses for you, he or she will also consider:

What if each of your eyes sees perfectly by itself but not when they are used together? Can both of your eyes POINT, as well as FOCUS, at critical distances? Do you have depth perception, so that you can judge distance and space relationships? How is your peripheral vision—the ability to see to the side when looking straight ahead? and how about your color vision?

Presented as a public service by Dr. Walter C. Simpson, Optometrist, 113 Main St., Booneville, Ms., phone 728-4853.

Cooking For Two Is Fine Art

By CLAIRE T. ROSS
Home Economist

The romantic strains of "Tea for Two" fade a little when you're faced with the reality of preparing not just tea for two but three regular meals a day.

Whether the scent of orange blossoms is still fresh in your memory or you're wistful parents who suddenly find yourselves alone after the last of your grown family has departed, cooking for two does present problems.

Shopping and preparing meals for two, or yourself alone, is far less work than feeding a crowd. That's an advantage.

On the other hand, managing food on a small scale has its problems, particularly for the person who finds food chores a burden, or who maybe just isn't hungry. Yet eating fairly regular meals, properly served, is a habit far too important to lose.

The eternal what-to-serve problem is further complicated by the leftovers which have a way of accumulating in spite of all your careful planning. In the case of the working wife, even though she may have only two regular meals a day to consider, the shortage of time for shopping and for meal preparation adds to the difficulties. But happily, there is a solution!

As with all meal preparation, advance planning is the first step. Don't wait until 4 o'clock to decide what to have for dinner at 6:30. Before you do your weekend shopping, take a pencil and paper and map out your menus for the week ahead, making them flexible enough to change if desired. Settle definitely on your main course and the rest of the meal will fall into line.

Cooking for two can be fun and economical if you plan carefully.

We have an information sheet with ideas for Economical Meals for Senior Citizens with a few good sounding recipes thrown in for good measure. If you would like a copy, call me at 728-5631.

Survey To Show Changes In Energy Attitudes

"Have you added any insulation to your home in the past year" and "How frequently do you tune your car engine" are two questions which will be addressed to 1000 Mississippians in the next few weeks.

The questions are part of a survey to see how actions and attitudes about energy have changed. The Mississippi Department of Energy and Transportation will be seeking this information from randomly selected individuals in brief telephone interviews.

MDET will compare answers with results from a similar survey performed last year. That survey showed that almost 19 percent of those question had added insulation to their homes the year before.

Other results were:
-- Only 14 percent have insulated their hot water heaters (This action can pay for itself in energy savings in about 1 1/2 years)

-- Only 33 percent have lowered the thermostats on hot water heaters

-- 94 percent of those surveyed drive to work - 7 in 10 ride to work alone

-- Only 60 percent of car owners know that engine tune-ups save fuel -- College educated respondents took more steps to save energy at home than did those with lesser education.

The Project STEP language arts class at Anderson Junior High School recently had a photography contest at their school.

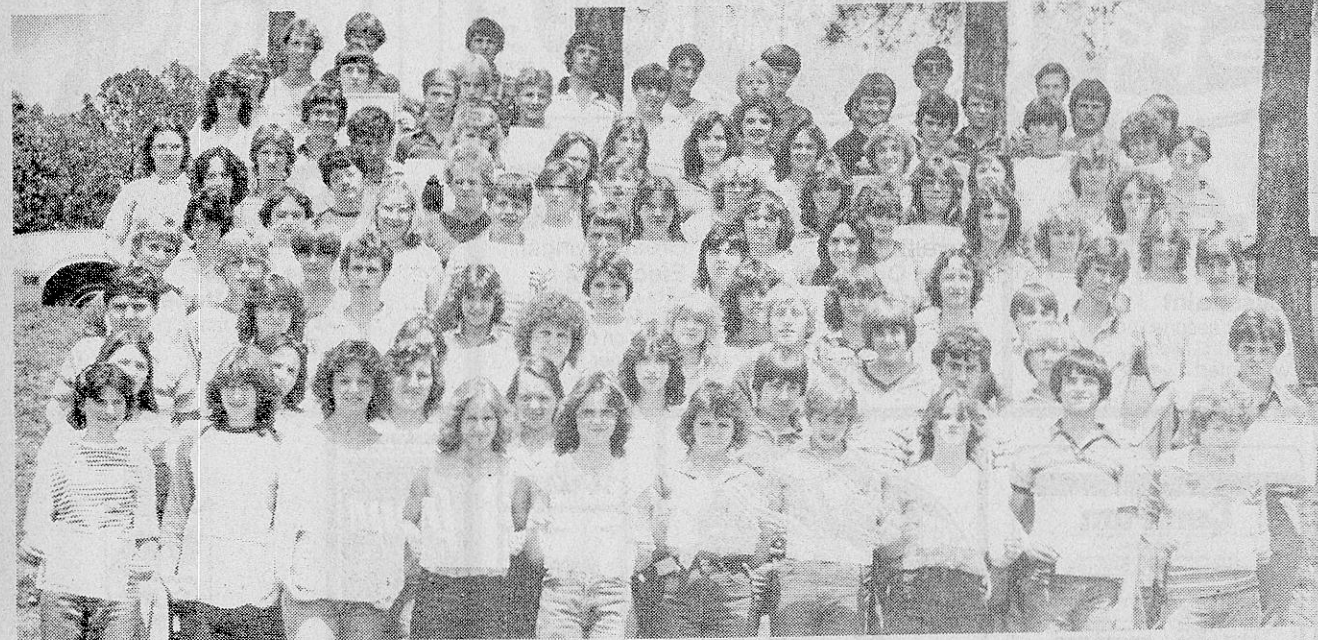

Students in the STEP class have been involved in the study of photography for the past two years. They use a darkroom which was established adjacent to their classroom to develop film and black and white prints.

The students have learned techniques of developing and have received tips on photography from George McGreger, Lee Gentry and Ken Christian.

The photography contest was an outgrowth of their study.

There were three categories in the contest, Animals, Expressions and Nature. Winners were:

Animals: Kimi Drown, 1st; Lee Waddle, 2nd; Kimi Drown, 3rd; and Lee Waddle, honorable mention.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE — The students shown above were awarded certificates of recognition for perfect attendance during the school year last week during New Site

High School's awards day. Principal Larry Morgan said 35 percent of the school's enrollment had 100 percent attendance for the school year.

stenographic pool around the legislature and later earned a law degree by studying at night, stunned her male colleagues in the legislature in 1968 by unobtrusively slipping an amendment into an innocuous bill that allowed women to finally serve on state court juries.

Another noted performance by a woman lawmaker was back in 1950, when Zelma Price, then a representative from Washington County, was borne on a stretcher into the State Capitol in order to cast the deciding vote that established the state's first four-year medical school in Jackson.

The tough-talking Mrs. Price, widely liked and respected by male lawmakers with whom she debated, authored the bill which created the first youth courts in the state. Later she left the legislature to become a youth court judge. Evelyn Gandy, herself once a state legislator from Forrest County who was defeated after one term, has become the consummate "token" female around state government, reaching the heights of becoming the state's first female lieutenant governor. But when she sought the governor's office in 1979, she found a big roadblock thrown in her way because she was a woman.

Once again Gandy's planning to try and take the "for men only" sign off the governor's job, but again there are many skeptics who say Mississippi will not elect a woman governor.

Perhaps the biggest tragedy for women is that there is no other female on the horizon besides Gandy who seems to have a chance of cracking the male-dominated state officialdom.

Your hard-working money just negotiated higher interest and shorter working hours.

Money Market Rates. Only 91 days 'til payday.

Now you don't have to tie-up your money forever to earn big money market interest. With a new First Bank 91-Day Certificate of Deposit, you lock up big money market rates for 91 days. Then you can withdraw your money and interest without penalty at maturity, or you can re-up for another 91-day stint. That's all there is to it.

A First Bank 91-day Certificate is great if you have money to invest, but want to stay "short." You earn high interest now, but you don't tie up your money very long. The minimum investment is $7,500. The penalty for early withdrawal is the interest earned prior to withdrawal.

First Bank also has excellent longer term investments; a 6-month money market Certificate with a minimum investment of $10,000; a 2½ year Certificate of Deposit with a minimum of only $1,000; and our All-Saver's Certificate that lets you earn up to $1,000 ($2,000 for couples) tax-free.

Call us at 842-7072 for current interest rates for all First Bank investments. Or visit any First Bank location to get your 91-Day Certificate of Deposit. It's the shortest term money market rate certificate we've ever offered.

Maintaining Your Mental Health

'Too Young To Be In Love'

From TIMBER HILLS
MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

The first line of a song which was very popular a few years ago was: "They say that we're too young to be in love." It went on to explain that the teen-ager who was crooning the lyrics obviously knew better than "they"...adults, parents, teachers and other insensitive types over 20. The ballad remained on the "Top Ten" list for months...indicating that quite a lot of youngsters were apparently impressed with the sentiment.

Teen-agers may think that they are in love, but usually the whole idea upsets parents, particularly when the romance becomes serious enough to produce talk of imminent marriage. Some parents whose children insist that they really are determined, come to see a counselor at Timber Hills. Usually they try to persuade the counselor to persuade the youngster that marriage would be a terrible idea. The parents are also usually quite disappointed that the counselor won't turn right around and tell the teenagers that they should immediately stop what they are doing since they are headed for disaster.

The whole question of teen-age marriage is an involved emotional problem, rather than a subject for debate. Actually, if it came right down to a debate, statistics do indicate that teen-age marriages have a much less favorable chance of lasting than do marriages contracted somewhat later in life. People who have married before they completed high school have a much higher divorce rate than those who graduated. College graduates have an even lower statistical chance of being separated or divorced. But all of that is really not the question. The question is: are Johnny and Janie ready to get married...not are 99 other couples.

Why does Janie want to get married now, at 16, rather than waiting two or three years? Why does Johnny feel that he simply can't wait until after he has finished college?

The reasons are usually varied and complex, and often a counselor is better equipped to untangle all the complicated feelings than a family member who is deeply involved and finds it difficult to deal with the problem objectively.

For instance, is Janie or Johnny unhappy at home? If so, why? Does marriage seem like an ideal solution to a school problem? Does either or both feel that they have nothing really that belongs just to them...and that this is something no one can take away or intrude on?

Is either or both afraid that if they don't grab this chance no one else will either ask or accept them? Are they so deeply involved with each other sexually that they see no other way out? Do they really want to get married, or are they trying to tell their parents something (the cry for help we have mentioned before)? Or is the marriage perhaps really a wise and practical as well as a romantic plan?

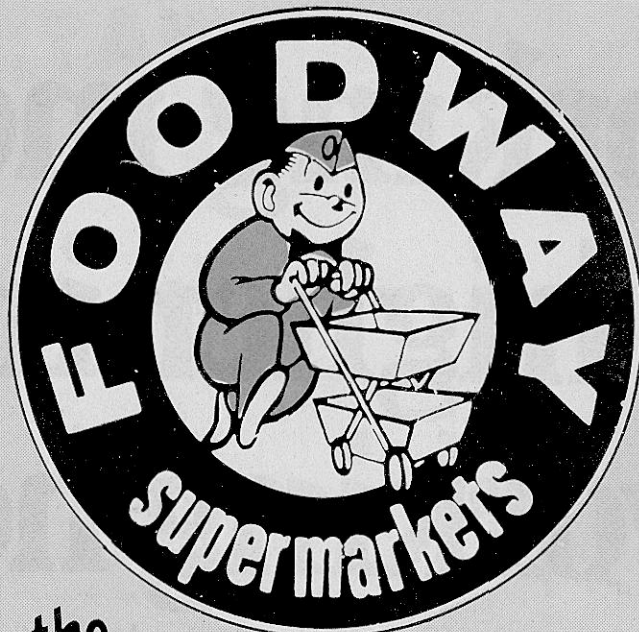

In any case, if young teen-agers seem seriously determined to get married, most counselors feel that professional help is indicated. If the proposed marriage is clearly headed for early disaster, or if no one is really sure what they want, the counselor will be able to help sort out the factors involved so they can make a sounder decision about the situation.

If the reasons for the marriage are solid and valid ones, the counselor may be able to help the youngsters think through the alternatives, and if they do decide that they should get married, to have a better knowledge of possible pit-falls that might be avoided.

It used to be that romantic young couples cited Romeo and Juliet, and adults could say "Look what happened to them!" The counselor will not issue warnings or ultimatums...but he may be able to help everyone decide whether or not they really are too young to be in love, and what they themselves want to do about it.

Timber Hills Mental Health Center offers a variety of workshops in areas such as parenting, stress management, couples communication and assertiveness training. For information about services available phone 728-3174 or visit the offices on the Highway 45 By-Pass in Booneville.

Forestry News

By JOHN STUART
County Forester

Trees not only produce a profusion of leaves and blossoms this time of year, they also seem to hatch a variety of crawly caterpillar critters.

Anyone with trees around the house is familiar with them. They seem to come in hoards from nowhere. There are three in particular that make their appearance each spring -- the buck moth caterpillar, forest tent caterpillar and fall webworm.

The first is probably the most prominent and well known because of its defense mechanism, a dark-colored coat of spines that can cause painful welts where they touch the skin.

The forest tent caterpillar is a long fuzzy crawler with light-colored key-hole-shaped spots down his back.

The fall webworm is a small light-colored hairy caterpillar normally found in dense webs formed on tree branches. These two are harmless to humans.

The fall webworm will be around until fall, as its name implies, but the other two will be gone, for the most part, by early summer.

All three feed on leaves, causing defoliation on several tree species, especially certain oaks. However, the defoliation is normally of a minor nature on large trees and is quickly repaired by new leaves in most cases.

Smaller trees can sometimes be completely defoliated and suffer growth setbacks, but mortality rarely, if ever, occurs.

Soil Conservation Report

By DON JONES
Soil Conservation Technician, USDA,
Soil Conservation Service
Booneville Field Office

Aquatic vegetation is found in most lakes and ponds and is beneficial to the natural ecosystem. It provides food and cover for aquatic organisms, produces oxygen and stabilize bottom sediments. But on the other hand, excessive algae growth can destroy the appearance of water as well as interfere with its intended uses.

One of the best ways and least expensive ways, to control algae and weeds is by water drawdowns. By this method the root system of most water weeds will be destroyed by drying out.

Fertilization of ponds to produce planktons which shades out rooted vegetation and increases fish production is very successful here in Mississippi. If fertilization is used, you should start in March and continue until frost. The type fertilizer used should be 18-18-4, 20-20-5, or an equivalent. Superphosphate (0-20-0), triple superphosphate (0-46-0) or liquid fertilizer (10-34-0) can also be used and are usually cheaper. These should be applied every 10 days until an algae bloom develops. Thereafter, apply as needed.

The use of chemicals is the most common and effective method for controlling nuisance weeds. Generally chemicals are more effective when weeds are growing rapidly and have not gone to seed. As a rule, apply chemicals early in the day under sunny conditions and when water temperature is above 60 degrees.

If you need more information on water weeds, their identification and treatment, contact the Soil Conservation Service in Booneville at 107 College Street or call 728-3544.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK By Larry E Hill

1 Peter 2:12 "Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation."

In Detroit, Michigan, are stretches of roadway upon which the public rarely, if ever, drive an automobile. These are strange roads, with sharply twisting corners, abrupt inclines and expanses of rough cobblestones. An observer, unaware of the purpose of these unusual miles of pavement, would also notice immediately that the cars being driven there were unfamiliar in design.

These are "proving grounds" for new automobiles.

Before a car is ever released to the public, it is placed in the hands of a skillful driver who will test its performance under every condition; braking, steering, acceleration, ride, etc. Here, potential problem areas are discovered so they can be corrected before Detroit puts the car on the market.

Similarly, there are proving grounds for every Christian. His performance in these areas directly affects his competence in broader scopes of influence. A person who cannot make it through the proving grounds should never fill pulpits as preachers, teach Sunday School classes or fill any position of leadership in a church. Christianity is not a happenstance, do-as-you-please type of life. Definite instructions guide us in every step on the road to becoming like Christ.

I. The Home is the first proving ground:

The home is the first institution God put in order on the earth. The only way anyone will ever be able to exercise his spiritual role of authority properly is to first be a Christian at home. It is the place to practice Christ-likeness on a constant, day in-and-day out basis.

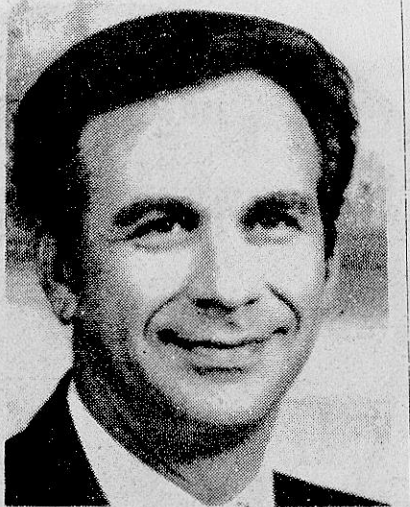

As someone has well said, "No other success can compensate for failure in the home."

II. Another obvious proving ground of Christianity is the church itself:

A local congregation torn by strife, bickering, arguing, debate and fault-finding gives the sinner all the reason he needs to swing off the whole matter of Christianity. Surface peace is not enough, for the observer can detect undercurrents of bitterness and disagreement. Let no man deceive himself into thinking he is perfectly Christ-like when he is not able to practice a Christian attitude in his home or in his church.

III. Last, but not least, the community is a proving ground:

A natural outgrowth of our Christian witness in the home and church is our witness in the community. For the sinner or anyone else to have confidence in what we believe and preach, we must have good report among the community. Our lives should always measure up to the word of God. No one can hide for very long behind a shield of good intentions. As the old saying goes, "You can fool a few part of the time, but you can't fool everyone all the time."
