Two Men Bound Over To Grand Jury

At a preliminary hearing Monday afternoon in city court, two men were bound over to the action of the Prentiss County Grand Jury on grand larceny charges.

Jeffrey Lee Friar, 37, of Route 2, Booneville, and Steve Foster, 28, of Route 2, Baldwyn, were arrested May 29 in connection with the theft of a lawn edger, a lawn mower, and a stereo from three different residences in the city.

A juvenile believed to be involved in the same case was turned over to juvenile authorities, said Booneville Police Chief Bobby Lambert.

Bond for both men was set at $5,000 each. Friar and Foster remained in the city jail as of Tuesday.

Meeting Called To Discuss Volunteer FD

A meeting has been called for Monday night, June 14, at the Jumpertown Town Hall concerning the Jumpertown Volunteer Fire Department, according to Mayor C.D. Windham.

"The meeting is being called in an effort to try to improve our volunteer fire department," Windham said.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. "Those interested please come," the mayor said.

City Traffic Laws To Be Enforced

The City of Booneville will strictly enforce speed limits and traffic laws this summer, police commissioner Charles Steen said Wednesday.

The Booneville Police Department plans to use radar-equipped patrol cars at various areas around town and will also pay particular attention to those not obeying stop signs and other traffic laws.

With the beginning of Little League and softball seasons, the police department will keep an eye on the city park in particular, Steen said.

County Jail Falls Short Of Standards

The Prentiss County jail does not meet a federal judge's standards for housing state inmates, the State Attorney General's Office indicated last week.

Only five county jails in Northeast Mississippi appear to have met the standards. The Attorney General's Office, in a recommendation to U.S. District Judge William Keady, has suggested jails in Clay, Lafayette, Lee, Monroe, and Tippah counties have adequate housing and health standards to house state prisoners, said Lloyd Arnold of the Attorney General's Office.

County jails not recommended include Alcorn, Calhoun, Chickasaw, Itawamba, Pontotoc, Prentiss, Tishomingo and Union.

June 1 was the deadline Keady had imposed earlier for county jails to be brought up to his court-ordered standards. Inmates in county jails not meeting the guidelines were moved to Parchman.

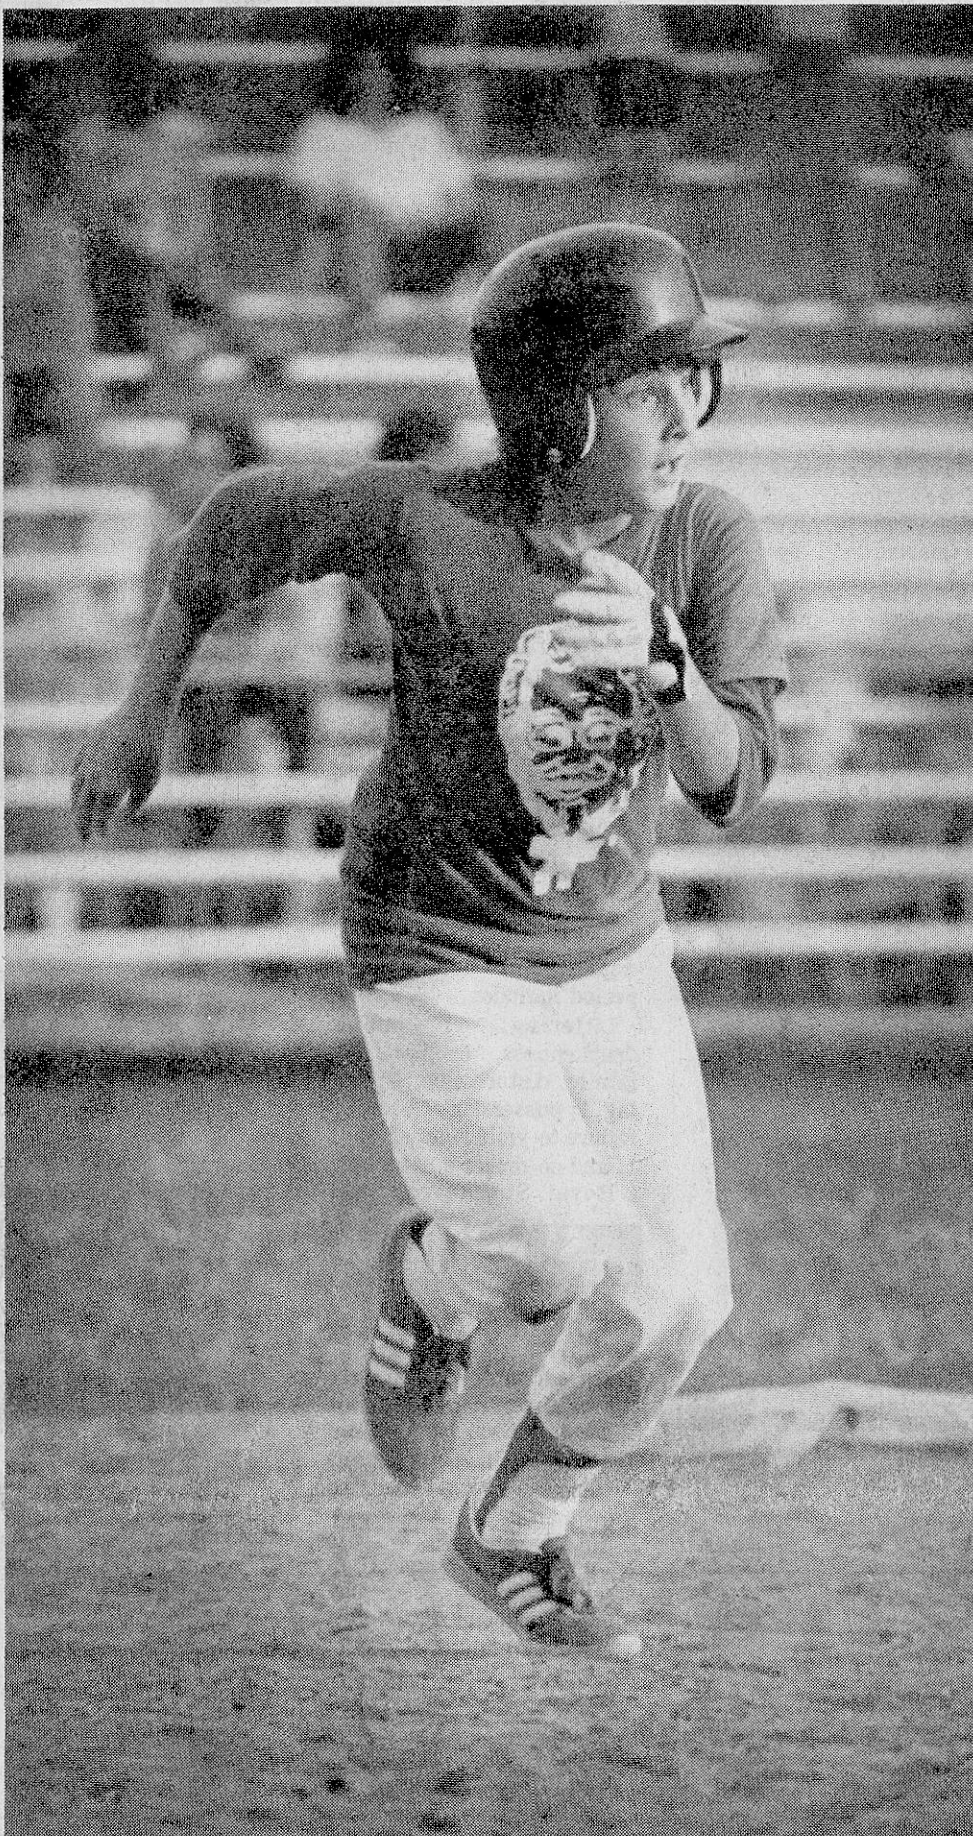

GED Fees Increase

The testing fee for the General Educational Development (GED) Test will undergo a statewide increase effective July 1, 1982, according to William C. Box, state administrator of the GED testing program. New costs will be $12 for the entire examination and $3 per individual test for retesting purposes.

Due to an increase in rental and administrative costs and other charges, all testing centers statewide, including Northeast Mississippi Junior College, will use this schedule of fees beginning July 1.

The GED test provides individuals an opportunity to qualify for the Certificate of High School Equivalence or the Certificate of Tenth Grade Equivalence. The equivalence certificate is accepted as a high school diploma by employers and institutions of higher education.

The test is given on the NEMJC campus during normal working hours of the college and on selected weekends.

New City Judge Promises To Be Strict

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Booneville's new city judge, Billy Sartin, says Booneville needs a strict city judge and that is exactly what he's going to be.

"I'm going to be strict. I'm strictly for law and order. If a man is found guilty in my court he will serve the sentence out, pay the fine, or work in the city work program. What I decide in court will be enforced," he said.

Fines collected over a two-week period totalled $2,416. During the past Saturday, Sunday and Monday $1,600 was collected in fines. City Clerk June Hutcheson called the $1,600 fine collection "a pretty good collection for a three-day period - more than it's been for the last couple of months."

Sartin said the first thing he did in his capacity as city judge was rework the amount charged for fines.

"The fines the city was charging were below minimum - below what the state statute said was a minimum fee - so all the fines were raised to minimum or above," he said.

For instance the fine for public drunkenness was raised from $45 to $62; a speeding fine was raised from $18 to $32; a DUI fine was raised from $236 to $241; and the fine for driving without a license was raised from $16 to $32.

Monday afternoon was Sartin's first day to hold city court.

"It went better than I expected," said Sartin, who also serves as a Prentiss County Justice Court Judge, and owns East Side Parts. "But that court was a lot different from the one we hold in the county - the bookkeeping system is different. You can hold court in 1,000 different places and if it's not like where you're used to holding court there are going to be things a little different.

"The main thing a judge has to do is listen to all sides, get the evidence and make the decision," Sartin said. "I'm going to do the best I can and judge every case on its own merit and be as fair as I can."

Sartin, who replaced

Booneville attorney John Ferrell as city judge took the position on a three-month trial basis.

"I had some hesitation about excepting the position. I told the board of aldermen I'd take it on a three months temporary basis. At the end of three months if I didn't like it, I'd quit or if they didn't like what I was doing they'd tell me to quit."

"I believe I'm going to like it," he said.

City Board Decides

Justice Judge Can Serve Dual Role

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

Prentiss County Fifth District Justice Court Judge William (Willie) Anderson will be allowed to keep his position as a patrolman with the Booneville Police Department, the Booneville board of mayor and aldermen decided this week.

The board's decision came after receiving a report from City Attorney Eugene Gifford which concluded that "continued employment of William Anderson does not constitute a conflict of interest that would mandate his dismissal."

Anderson was elected Justice Court Judge in 1979. At that time he was already a member of the police force and has continued to serve in both capacities since.

In April, the city of Booneville received an opinion from Attorney General Bill Allain's office which stated that "the position of city policeman and justice of the peace (Justice Court Judge) are incompatible." The opinion was issued at the request of the City Attorney.

In a report to the city board this week, Gifford said he had been concerned about the wording of the opinion. "The particular legal problem that is presented is whether the word 'incompatible' is synonymous with 'conflict of interest,'" he said.

For clarification and further information, Gifford said that on June 8 he called S.E. Birdsong Jr., the assistant attorney general who had issued the original opinion.

Gifford reported to the board that Birdsong told him holding both positions is 'incompatible,' but that this does not constitute a 'conflict of interest.'

"The particular problem that is addressed with reference to one individual holding the dual capacities is the possibility that a question of bias could be raised by a litigant when Judge Anderson is hearing a case," Gifford said. "However, it was the opinion of Mr. Birdsong that even if this problem should surface, that it would not in any way involve the city."

"In other words," Gifford said, "if a problem should arise with reference to bias, it will be a question for Judge Anderson in his judicial capacity to resolve."

Birdsong also told Gifford that there is no prohibition against a person serving in the dual capacity of Justice Court Judge and city policeman. Birdsong said that, in his opinion, the continued employment of Anderson while serving as Justice Court Judge does not constitute any greater hazard than that of any other regularly employed policeman by the city of Booneville.

Jumpertown Mayor Supports Proposal To Hire Town Marshall

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Jumpertown Mayor C.D. Windham says he believes the town needs a town marshal. The main objective of employing a town marshal would be as a night patrolman, he said.

"I really do believe we need a marshal," he said Wednesday morning. "I've been in favor of it all along but when you talk about taxation it brings about a bunch of comments and criticism. But if we try to maintain a town out here then we're going to have to have some form of revenue to do it," he said.

The mayor said he did not know how much extra tax would be levied if a town marshal was hired because the board doesn't know the assessed evaluation of the property within the city limits.

Earlier there had been discussion that a marshal be employed full time and divide his time between patrolling and also overseeing the fire department as well, Mayor Windham said.

The mayor added that if a full time night patrolman is not hired, a citizen's group has volunteered to act in corporation with county and district law authorities to report anything suspicious.

"I believe everyone out here is becoming more involved since the incident at the Jumpertown Supermarket," the mayor said. "I'm in favor of law enforcement and always have been. I will stand behind any movement that we can get to bring this about in Jumpertown that will be proper and appropriate for the town," he said.

The Jumpertown board of mayor and aldermen will meet in a recessed meeting Tuesday, June 15, at 7 p.m. at Town Hall to discuss the situation, Mayor Windham said.

At the meeting Mayor Windham said he would recommend to the board that the town hire a night watchman or, if that is not feasible, okay the voluntary citizen's group.

LOAN RATE INCREASED FOR 1982 HONEY

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will offer loans to honey producers at an average rate of 60.4 cents per pounds on their 1982 production, 3 cents more than in 1981.

The loan level represents 60 percent of the April 1982 adjusted parity price of $1.0007 per pound.

Eligible producers may obtain loans on 1982-crop honey stored in bulk and other eligible containers, on or off farms. Farmers have until Jan. 31, 1983 to request loans that will mature April 30, 1983.

Loans and purchase rates for extracted table honey in 60-pound or larger containers are: 62.4 cents per pound for white or lighter, 59.4 cents for extra light amber, 56.4 cents for light amber and 54.4 cents per pound for other table and non-table honey.

Farmers who wish to sell honey to the Commodity Credit Corporation should contact ASCS before April 30, 1983. Honey producers are required to specify the approximate quantity they desire to sell. Honey sold to the CCC is used for domestic donation programs.

Honey loans provide interim financing for beekeepers to assist them in marketing their crop in an orderly manner. This provides market stability to producers and encourages maintenance of bee populations which are vital for pollination of important seed, fruit, and vegetable crops.

CCC LOAN INTEREST RATE DECREASED

Commodity and farm storage facility loans disbursed in June by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation will carry a 13.625 percent interest rate, according to CCC Executive Vice President Everett Rank.

The new rate, down from 14.125 percent, reflects the interest rate charged CCC by the U.S. Treasury in June, Rank said.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

WARD HOGLAND

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, when people get sick and die is this the will of GOD? Or in other words does God cause sickness and death?

ANSWER: This is not correct. Actually, all this is caused by the devil and not God. If you will note 2 Cor. 12:7-10 this text will tell you that Paul's thorn in the flesh was a "messenger of Satan" and not of the Lord. Paul said, "There was given me a thorn in the flesh, a messenger of Satan to buffet me, that I should not be exalted overmuch." Notice the thorn in the flesh was a "messenger of Satan." It is true that Paul besought the Lord three times to remove it but the Lord answered, "My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect in weakness." It must be observed that God does not promise in this life to remove sickness, sorrow or even a "Thorn in the flesh" but he does promise to send grace so that we can bear it. In Lk. 13:16, the Lord found a woman possessed of a spirit of infirmity for eighteen years, and so bowed together that she could in no wise lift herself up. Jesus said, "Ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, who satan hath bound, lo these eighteen years, to have been loosed from this bond?" Notice Satan bound her but the Lord loosed her. Keep in mind when Adam and Eve sinned in the garden that it was Satan who caused the fall. Then God willed that man must suffer death as a result of the work of Satan and man's failure to obey.

Youths Charged With Curfew Violation

Ten youths ranging from age 17 to 23, found out the hard way last Saturday night that law authorities mean to enforce the midnight curfew in Jumpertown.

When Sheriff John McCauley and deputies Carl Sartin and Doug Hendrix arrived in Jumpertown at 12:20 a.m. on June 6, they found 10 youths still lingering in front of the amusement center after it had closed some 20 minutes earlier.

The preceding Saturday night, May 30, Sheriff McCauley had warned youths in front of the amusement center after midnight that the town had a midnight curfew. (The Jumpertown Board of Mayor and Aldermen voted on the curfew at their Sept. 1, 1981 meeting.)

Sheriff McCauley said that on the night of May 30 he was running a roadblock at Jumpertown and when the amusement center closed at midnight some youths

"pulled out their lounge chairs, turned up the stereo loud enough to be heard for a mile, and acted like they were going to camp there."

Since there was only one police car, there was not enough room for all 10 to ride to Booneville. A girl, who said she was pregnant, rode in the police car, and the other nine -- along with Deputy Hendrix and Sheriff McCauley -- began walking toward Booneville.

The police car was driven alongside the group with blue lights flashing so other motorists could see them walking, McCauley said.

They had walked almost five miles, to the residence of Peak Geno, when they were met by more police cars.

After being taken to the sheriff's department and charged with curfew violation, juvenile papers were filled out for those under age and the others signed their own $25 bonds, the sheriff said.

"There are some fine people around Jumpertown and there are a few who try to give them a bad name. I'm going to eliminate that few any way the law will permit me to," Sheriff McCauley said. "I decided I had to do this when the supermarket at Jumpertown was burglarized and then burned," he said.

"I plan to see that Jumpertown obeys the law," he said, "and unless something happens Saturday night, I'll be there to see that it is."

Local Pharmacy Has New Owner

For the first time in more than 30 years, there is no Tigrett's Drug Store in Booneville.

Effective June 1, the store has been sold to C.L. Davidson and will be renamed Davidson Discount Pharmacy.

Tigrett's Drug Store first opened in downtown Booneville in 1950. It originally opened on College Street, where it remained for about a year before moving to the corner of Main and Church streets.

It remained there until 1963 when owner Jim Tigrett moved the pharmacy to its present location on First Street near the Medical Clinic.

In addition to its pharmaceutical supplies, the old downtown Tigrett's Drug Store is probably best remembered for its old-fashioned soda fountain. For many years it was the favorite after-school meeting place for many Prentiss County teenagers. Davidson, 24, the new owner of the store, is a native of Tupelo and a graduate of the University of Mississippi School of Pharmacology. He was employed as a pharmacist at Tigrett's Drug Store for about a year and a half prior to purchasing the business.

He and his wife, Dawn, are expecting their first child in August. They attend the First Baptist Church in Booneville.

"I appreciate the business of the people for all these years," Tigrett said last week in announcing the transaction. Although it will be operating under a new name, Tigrett said he will continue to work at the store on a part-time basis.

Davidson said he plans no major changes in the operation of the business. The accounts will remain the same and all prescriptions will remain on file, he said.

"We will also continue to have someone available for emergency calls most of the time," he said.

ILLEGAL BEVERAGES CONFISCATED -- Members of the Booneville Police Department confiscated 95 cans of beer and one bottle of gin from a Booneville residence about 7 p.m. Monday after a man was reported to be drinking in his front yard at 106 Magnolia St. Erik Lissner, 25, a native of Denmark, was charged with possession of beer and liquor and released on $175 bond. Lissner told officers he only recently moved into this country and did not know it is illegal to have alcoholic beverages in Prentiss County. Making the arrest were (from left) Chief Bobby Lambert and officers Bob Jones and Bill Inghram.

Fuel Should Be No Problem During Summer

Mississippi motorists should have no problems obtaining fuel during the peak driving months of summer, according to a Mississippi Petroleum Council spokesman.

Council executive director Truman Hunt of Jackson said gasoline and other fuel supplies "are adequate and there should be no availability problems, barring unforeseen developments." The Mississippi Petroleum Council is a division of the American Petroleum Institute, a trade association of some 350 petroleum companies and 8,000 individuals involved in the industry nationwide.

"Currently, available gasoline reserves equal a 31-day supply, which is normal for this time of year," Hunt said. "Over the past decade, gasoline supplies during the same period have averaged between 30 and 37 days."

Hunt said there is ample unused refinery capacity which could be utilized "if petroleum product demand suddenly skyrockets." Additionally, refiners have on-hand more than 50 million barrels of stock -- primarily crude oil -- which would be available immediately.

Street Opinion

QUESTION: Would you be willing to pay an extra tax to support a night watchman in Jumpertown?

WILDA McMURRY of Jumpertown: "I would. If we had a nightwatchman here maybe we could get some sleep at night. It's like a convoy going up and down the street with so many cars going by and people throwing beer cans out right in the yard. A nightwatchman would cut down on theft if they wouldn't be partial to certain people that they catch."

DEBBIE BRADY of Jumpertown: "I would myself because I think it would stop some of the crime going on. I believe a nightwatchman would stop some of the violence at Jumper's store if it was rebuilt and it would stop some of the break-ins."

JOE MORGAN of Jumpertown: "Yes. A nightwatchman would give us protection and help a lot. If they're going to increase taxes they need to increase fire protection, too."

BOBBY G. MICHAEL of Jumpertown: "Yes. We need one. I know it would help. At night is when most of the things walk off."

O.S. MOORE SR. of Jumpertown: "Yes, if the tax isn't too much. We need something. I think a nightwatchman would help all concerned."

DONNY REESE of Jumpertown: "Yes. I think they need to watch after things so people's property won't be stolen."

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

Last week I wrote a story about Mark Fletcher, a 14-year-old from the Piney Grove Community, who was scheduled to have surgery in New York June 7 for an Arteriovenous Malformation (AVM).

Mildred Howell called me Wednesday morning after talking to Mark's mother, Carolyn Wildmon. She said Mark made it through the surgery fine although something unexpected did happen.

The surgery Mark was to have at the Neurological Institution in New York was supposed to seal off and harden the AVM. (An AVM is a cluster of blood vessels that thickened over his spinal cord.)

However, after doctors extensively examined the AVM they decided to remove it entirely - which they did. Mark spent a little over four hours in surgery.

As of Monday night Mark was not paralyzed and had use of both arms and legs. (His left arm had been paralyzed from the elbow down before the surgery.)

The doctors haven't told Mark when he will be coming home yet. But probably before he returns to Piney Grove he will have seen the Empire State Building. Mark wanted to see the Empire State Building, he told me last week, so he could tell his friend Danny Lawson about it.

A benefit basketball game for Mark was held at Thrasher gym last Saturday night. About $600 was raised and will be used to pay for his expenses.

If you'd like to send Mark a card, his address is Mark Fletcher, Room 605, Neurological Institute, 710 W. 168th St., New York, New York 10032.

You Don't Say

A few months ago I mentioned some of the little white lies people tell each other. Here are some more to add to the list:

I'll start my diet tomorrow; Give me your number and I'll have (whoever) call you right back; One size fits all; Every cloud has a silver lining;

This hurts me more than it hurts you; I just need five minutes of your time; You don't look a day over 30; Let's have lunch sometime; Money can't buy happiness.

Eyes On Mississippi

GOP Fights Racist Image In State

By BILL MINOR
Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. -- Republicans in Mississippi evidently are making a concerted effort now to dispel the image that the GOP is a "for whites only" party by carving out for blacks several choice pieces of Reagan Administration patronage and getting blacks more involved in party work.

The objective seems to be a calculated drive to wean middle class blacks away from the Democratic ranks by convincing them that the Republicans are truly caring about blacks.

Recently it had been reported here that Sen. Thad Cochran was pushing his black staffer in Jackson, Nehemiah Flowers, to get the appointment as state director of the Small Business Administration, one of the prime patronage jobs at the disposal of the president.

Significantly, since

President Carter had put the first black at the head of the SBA in Mississippi, Cochran felt it was politically wise that his replacement by Reagan Administration should be a black. However, there was, it had been reported in this column, opposition from within the ranks of black Republicans as well as a number of whites in the Hinds County GOP organization on grounds that Flowers lacked the qualifications to fill such a sensitive federal post.

The Hinds County Republicans were pushing Jack Spradling, a white long-time deputy director of SBA who had affiliated with the Republican Party several years back, and had enlisted the support of Rep. Trent Lott.

Flowers, it has been learned by this column, was rejected in Washington because he could not meet the minimum requirements for the SBA post, thus tossing a hot potato back into Cochran's lap.

Rather than go back to Spradling or one of several other whites with long experience in SBA, Cochran has evidently made a pragmatic decision to make no replacement of Carter appointee Sam Baker, the first black SBA head. Baker had been an SBA loan officer for a number of years and was a bank official when he got the SBA post in 1979.

Actually, Baker wanted to retire from the government back in April, but evidently he has been persuaded by Cochran to stay on. Even some white Republicans in the Hinds County organization say Baker is preferable to having Flowers in a job he could not handle, but they are still not pleased with having another Democratic holdover in a top federal job.

Meanwhile, Rep. Lott, who was put in somewhat of an embarrassing position a couple of weeks ago for having attended what amounted to a White at a private segregated school in his native Carroll County, has now raised his flag as a Reaganite who is deeply interested in bringing blacks into top federal jobs.

Lott let it be known this past week he had pushed through the White House the selection of Walter Scott, a 45-year-old black who has been active in GOP ranks in Jackson, as state program specialist for ACTION, a federal umbrella group including the Peace Corps, VISTA, and a number of other federal programs.

Scott had been the only visible black campaign worker for Ronald Reagan in the 1980 presidential campaign and he apparently won undying loyalty from Lott, who had headed up the Reagan presidential effort in Mississippi.

Since then, Scott has become a very effective black recruiter for the GOP and has gained national attention from the arranged a dinner and brought down a ranking black figure in the Reagan Administration to speak. Some 200 blacks and several dozen white Republicans showed up for the affair, considered a remarkable breakthrough for broadening the state GOP's racial base.

Liles Williams, the Jackson electrical company executive who lost in a narrow upset last year to Democratic Rep. Wayne Dowdy in the Fourth Congressional district special election, has launched an all-out assault to whip Dowdy this time (whenever the election will be) by making an overt bid for black voters, who he practically ignored in his previous race.

Last time, Dowdy had edged Williams with an unexpectedly large turnout of black votes. In their rematch, Williams is trying to dislodge as much of Dowdy's black support as he can, especially among middle class and professional blacks.

Evidently his efforts are meeting with some success because at a recent fund raiser for Williams, some 40 blacks showed up and contributed to his campaign, quite a reverse from the popular notion that blacks are always on the receiving end of money in political races.

Williams has organized down to the precinct level in black residential areas, recruiting black volunteers as precinct workers throughout most of the district.

Doubtless, Haley Barbour, the GOP's Senatorial nominee, will be pursuing black support in his race with Sen. John Stennis, knowing that blacks are at best lukewarm toward the senior Senator even with his belated backing of the Voting Rights Act extension.

Letters

Alabama Disc Jockey Responds To Letter

Dear Editor,

I am writing to you in reply to the letter written to you by Lynn Barber of Booneville. First of all, I would like to thank her for her nice letter about me and the fact that she wanted to know more about me and other disc jockeys in the area. In answer to her questions, I will let her know a little bit about myself.

First of all, I am a native of Atlanta, Ga. I have been in radio for 12 years, two of which have been spent at WQLT, where I am still currently employed. In the past 12 years of radio, I have had countless opportunities to meet many famous celebrities. But the kind of people I like to meet are the faithful listeners.

One of the most exciting events of my life was when I was fired from a radio station just for an interview I did with David Clayton Thomas of Blood, Sweat and Tears about their new song, 'Nuclear Blues.' Local newspapers, as well as national magazines such as Billboard, covered the story. That was one time I really enjoyed being fired because it helped me in the radio business.

Being a disc jockey is like anything else. It has its good times and its bad times. And, of course, anytime you are dealing with the public, there is always constructive criticism. And, believe me, I get a lot of it.

IN REPLY TO another comment by Mrs. Barber, I am not the only disc jockey at Q107-WQLT. A radio station is like any other business. It takes a staff, people working together, to keep a business running.

First of all, we have a vice-president and general manager, Charles Manson, who does a fine job of keeping things under control and always coming up with new ideas.

Next on the list is our sales department. They keep our paychecks coming in. You see, without commercials, disc jockeys wouldn't get paid.

Next on the list is Randy Paul, production director and morning man for WQLT. He sees that the commercials get on the air.

Next is Rick Casey, who is in charge of all the music you hear on WQLT. He is also assistant program director, which takes some of the load off of the program director, who is Rick Shayne. Shayne is also the operations manager. His responsibility is to see that WQLT provides the best in programming.

Then there is Charlie Ross, who is afternoon disc jockey and promotions director. He is responsible for all the contests that are aired on QLT. Also, there is John Barrals, who is on the air from 6-9 p.m. And we have Jeff Scott, our 2-6 a.m. morning man.

We also have two other personalities who make up our news department: Al Whitaker, news director, and Sharonda Allen, news reporter.

So you see, I am not alone. It takes every single one of the people listed above, working as a team, to bring you the best in programming, news, music, entertainment, and information.

Speaking for the entire staff, WQLT loves you, Mississippi.

Sincerely,
Bill Bailey

Couple Voice Support

(Editor's note: Mr. and Mrs. Gatha Jumper of Jumpertown recently lost their family business, a grocery store, to a fire, which is believed to have been deliberately set. In a story in last week's Banner-Independent, Mr. and Mrs. Jumper spoke out against the 'criminal element' in Jumpertown.)

Dear Editor,

The following is an open letter to Mr. and Mrs. Gatha Jumper:

Mrs. Scott and I want you to know how sorry we are over what has happened to you folks - and to offer any help we are able.

We totally agree that unless people stand for something they will end up standing for anything - and that is not living, that is just existing.

We are newcomers to Jumpertown, but we feel very much a part of the community and want to go on record as supporting any effort that may be made to deal with this problem. For example, we will be happy to pay our fair share of the cost of employing a watchman.

If unwilling to bear the expense of a watchman, perhaps the men of the town will want to get together and arrange two-man all night patrols. If that is the decision, I will be happy to take part personally as well as contribute to the cost of necessary equipment, such as a two-way radio.

Jumpertown is an attractive community and the people I have met here are respectable and law abiding. It would be a shame to allow those who do not respect themselves or the community to ruin it for everyone else.

Sincerely yours,
Frank Scott

Specialist Lessens 'Sender-Receiver' Gap

From TIMBER HILLS
MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

The communications specialist is a new arrival on the American scene. He's hired by large corporations, government agencies and foundations to make sure that their message to the public gets across accurately, interestingly, and completely. There are now several universities in the United States that offer doctoral programs in communications.

The communications specialist is different from the public relations man (and his predecessor the press agent) in that he has made a science of the whole process of communication. His speciality is to try to find out why some messages are understood and some are misunderstood, how to clarify ideas to produce certain specific reactions, and how to lessen the communications gap between the "sender" and the "receiver" of important written or verbal information.

All this may sound very technical, but counselors have been communications specialists for a long time. One of the most frequent problems between warring couples in a marriage or between parents and children is that "messages" are misunderstood. "I don't seem to get across to him," a puzzled wife may tell the counselors. "She never listens to what I say anyhow," a disgruntled husband may complain.

Counselors find that very often married couples talk past each other. The husband who tells of his "hard day at the office" may want sympathy or appreciation from his wife. She may hear his message as an indication that he is not getting along with his boss, and might get fired. So she reacts with anxiety instead.

The wife who tells her husband about being elected to the PTO presidency may want a pat on the back for getting over being shy. If instead she gets a blast for bragging, the couple may be in the middle of a serious fight before they even realize there has been a disagreement.

There are other ways that communications between people can go astray. For instance, often a person is so intent on what he is going to say next that he does not listen to what the other person is saying right now. It's a good idea to think several moves ahead in a chess game, but in a conversation it's usually more important to listen to what's going on right now.

Then there's the couple who can never get anything settled because every attempt at problem-solving ends in a diversionary argument. It goes something like this. "I need the car tomorrow, because I have to shop for weekend groceries." "But you had the car yesterday...you were stupid not to shop then." "I am not stupid." The conversation about who should have the car has shifted gears into whether or not she is stupid instead of who gets the car.

Timber Hills counselors seek to help people understand their own difficulties in making themselves understood and in listening to the other fellow's ideas. That is one of the largest contributions that counselors can make to better communications between individuals...and they were doing it a long time before the first School of Communications was conferring its first PhD.

Timber Hills Mental Health Center offers a variety of workshops in areas such as couples communication, parenting, stress management and assertiveness training. For information about services available phone 728-3174 or visit the offices on the Highway 30 Bypass in Booneville. After-hours and on weekends phone 1-286-9209 toll free for emergency counseling services.

Home Economist's Notes

By CLAIRE T. ROSS
Home Economist

For centuries, meals have been the focal event to honor great people. So it is with Fathers Day — Beef for Fathers Day is an annual occasion promoted by the American National and Mississippi CowBelles (the Women's Auxiliary to the Cattlemen's Association).

Beef is an all time favorite and a good choice for Fathers Day. If your menu includes a roast you'll need to allow approximately ½ pound per person if it's one with some bone.

If you choose a boneless roast you can count on about four servings per pound. Check the specials where you shop and plan menu around the roast, offering the best buy.

Roasts from the more tender section such as the rib or loin, will cook tender and juicy on the grill or dry roast in the oven. The more tender roasts will be the more expensive and offer essentially the same nutritive value. These less tender roasts require moist heat cooking or marinating in a tenderizer before cooking.

Compare the cost per serving and the cost per pound to determine the best buy. You can afford to spend a higher price per pound for cuts with no waste than for those with much bone, fat and gristle. For a special occasion like Fathers Day, you may want to choose a cut that is little more expensive than everyday budgets would afford.

Vegetable choices to accompany your roast can start with potatoes — to satisfy the "meat and potatoes" appetite. Small new potatoes are nice to place around the roast. You could add a few carrots cooked with the potatoes for extra color and nutritive value. Supplies and prices of both vegetables are attractive.

If you prefer baked potatoes, save energy by baking them in your microwave. Give them added interest by baking them twice. After the first baking, slice off ½ of the potato lengthwise. Scoop out the pulp leaving the potato "shells" intact.

Mash the pulp with your potato masher or mixer and season according to your imagination. Use sour cream, shredded cheese, chives, green onion, crumbled bacon, prepared horseradish sauce, or simply butter and seasonings.

Add a little milk if needed for a smooth consistency. Then re-stuff the potato shells and bake until heated through (about 20 minutes).

BEEF ROTISSERIE ROAST

3-½ to 8-pound boneless beef tip, cross rib or chuck eye roast, tied insert rotisserie rod through center of roast and test for balance by rotating rod in palm of hands. Tighten spit forks so roast turns with rod. Insert roast meat thermometer so the tip is centered in the roast and does not rest in fat or on rod, and so it will clear the cooking unit and drip pan.

Roast over ash-covered coals (at low to moderate temperature) to desired degree of doneness: 140 degree F. for rare; 160 degree F. for medium.

Allow 35 to 40 minutes per pound for a roast weighing 3-½ to 5 pounds; 30 to 35 minutes per pound for a roast weighing 5 to 8 pounds.

For easier carving, allow roast to "set" in a warm place 15 to 20 minutes after removal from the rotisserie.

Since roast usually continues to cook during this time, it is best to remove roast when about 5 degrees F. Below the temperature desired.

HOMESPUN ROUND STEAK

2-½ to 3 pounds beef round steak, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons cooking fat
1 beef bouillon cube
1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes
¼ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
2 cups sliced carrots
2 cups sliced celery
Cut round steak in 6 to 8 serving-size pieces. Mix together flour, salt, and pepper; dredge meat. Brown in cooking fat in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Crush and add bouillon cube.

Add tomatoes, onion, basil and garlic powder. Cover, tightly and cook slowly 1-½ hours or until meat is tender. Cook sliced carrots and celery in small quantity of boiling water until tender but crisp.

Place round steak and vegetables on warm platter. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired, to 8 servings.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

from the office of:
JOHN R. WHITE, O.D.

THE THREE-IN-ONE LENS

Some people have serious problems in seeing things clearly at any distance: closeup, nearby, or far away.

If it's astigmatism, a single-vision lens can solve the problem. The defect is in the shape of the cornea, "the window of the eye." The uneven shape causes two points of focus instead of one which results in blurred vision. This is just one vision problem.

But when someone has three vision problems or needs correction in three different areas he may want to consider a trifocal lens. For example, consider a bookkeeper with this kind of problem. He makes entries or checks figures on the records in front of him, he also may be working with a desk computer or adding machine a short distance away. And he has to be able to see across the room, of course, when someone wants his attention.

Most people can get along well with single lens or bifocals at work or at home. But if they need trifocals to do specialized work in comfort and without eye strain it's good to know they're available.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office.

At First Baptist Church

Armstrong, Henley United In April Ceremony

Miss Melissa Lynn Armstrong and Danny Howard Henley were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Booneville on April 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Vardaman Henley, all of Booneville.

The Rev. John Floyd, interim pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Dianne Hannon, organist, and Doug Holland, pianist, presented the wedding music. Mrs. Paula Estes of Tupelo, aunt of the bride, and Holland sang "Endless Love." Mrs. Estes also sang "More" and Holland sang "The Wedding Song."

Ricky Flemming of Tupelo, cousin of the groom, and John Floyd of Booneville, served as acolytes.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory sheer organza gown featuring a Queen Anne neckline, an empire waist and bishop sleeves of chantilly lace. The gown was trimmed in chantilly lace and had a multi-ruffled hemline with an attached chapel train.

The bride wore a single strand of pearls which belonged to her mother. She carried a bouquet of roses, stephanotis and lily-of-the-valley centered on a white Bible which was also carried by her mother in her wedding.

Mrs. Gary Childers served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Angela Armstrong, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Tammy Parr, Miss Brenda Wildmon, Miss Paula Rinehart, all of Booneville.

They wore gowns of suede rose. The bodices featured sheer embroidered net and dropped shouldered yokes with high necklines and chantilly lace butterfly sleeves. The skirts, of lustre glo knit, flared from natural waistlines banded with embroidery.

Little Misses Laura Trimble and Valerie Jones, nieces of the groom, served as flower girls. They carried baskets filled with rose petals.

David Spain of Booneville served as best man. Groomsmen were William Tracy Armstrong Jr., brother of the bride, and David Michael, nephew of the groom.

Davy and Jason Estes, cousins of the bride, served as ring bearers.

Scott Davis, Jennifer Rowland, Adam Wilcox and Stephanie West presented programs as the guests entered the church.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Armstrong chose a powder blue chiffon formal-length gown. The mother of the groom selected a formal-length mint green gown. Both mothers wore corsages of ivory roses.

Mrs. David Estes of Plantersville, maternal grandmother, wore a pale green dress with matching jacket. Mrs. William N. Armstrong of Tupelo, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a lavender street-length dress. They also wore corsages of ivory roses.

The Reception

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steen and Mrs. Kay Parr greeted the guests.

Miss Carla Bonds presided at the registry table.

The bride's table was centered with an ivory, three tiered wedding cake. The anniversary tier held a small arrangement of pink roses. A five branch silver candelabra holding pink and ivory roses completed this setting. Mrs. Steve Estes, with Mrs. Robert Floyd and Mrs. David Moore assisting, served the bride's cake.

The groom's table held the traditional chocolate cake frosted with grapes. Mrs. Billy Trimble and Mrs. David Michaels, sisters of the groom, presided.

Mrs. James Bethay and Mrs. C.J. Roper served punch. Mrs. Dot Langston presided at the coffee table. Mrs. Paul Ellzey and Mrs. Richard Coggin served hors d'oeuvres from a table covered with ivory satin. Mrs. Larry James presided at the rice bag table. 'Skate-For-Heart' Scheduled For June 27

A Skate-for-Heart event will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, June 27, at the Dixieland Skate Center in Booneville to raise money for the Mississippi Heart Association.

Anyone can participate. Everyone skating is asked to obtain as many donations as possible to be eligible for all prizes being given away during the event.

There will be no admission charge for participation, but a minimum donation of $3 to the Mississippi Heart Association will be required.

All donations must be turned in the afternoon of the event. Pledge sheets are available from Bobby Hodge, Ann Floyd or Helen Jones at the Peoples Bank in Booneville.

"Get your sheets early and start to work now so you may be a winner," said Helen Jones, president of the Prentiss County Heart Association.

Anyone who turns in a donation of $25 or more will receive a T-shirt. For $75 in donations, a T-shirt and a gym bag will be given. And for $150 or more, participants will receive a T-shirt, a gym bag and a jacket.

The non-competitive skating event is targeted at new skaters, as well as veterans, to promote skating as one form of family exercise that can be fun and beneficial for lifelong physical conditioning.

TAKING IT TO HEART -- Displaying prizes to be given to participants in the Skate-for-Heart to be held in Booneville on June 27 are (from left) Bobby Hodge, Heart Fund chairman; Helen Jones, local Heart Association president; and Ann Floyd, secretary-treasurer of the association. Those participating in the event who raise $25 or more for the Heart Association will receive a T-shirt; $75 or more will qualify for a T-shirt and a gym bag; and $150 or more will get a T-shirt, a gym bag and a jacket.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
LIBRARIAN
George E. Allen Library

Need a little help to get college-bound?

A thin little volume by Robert Leider will show you how to develop search strategy both for financing and meeting testing requirements. The title is "Your Own Financial Aid Factory: the Guide to Locating College Money".

These include grants and scholarships, loans, and employment opportunities.

They are not give-aways, but are intended for the serious and hard working student who has something to offer in return.

Eligibility depends on many factors you and your parents may find some happy surprises in this book.

Two more interesting "how-to" books to save money and appeal to your creativity are "Make Your Own Camping Equipment" and "Custom - Make Your Own Shoes and Handbags".

Perhaps the chief reason for doing either of these things may be to get exactly what you want.

Robert Summer gives detailed techniques and suppliers of materials for making packs, sleeping bags, clothing, and even tents, in his book.

Mary Wales Loomis shows the reader how to make lasts from casting the feet for a perfect fit.

Each step in designing and constructing your own shoes is explained and illustrated. Pictures of her own products will either inspire you - or make you envious.

PILOTS INSTALL OFFICERS -- Booneville Pilot Club officers for 1982-83 are (l-r) Eudora Kemp, president; Gladys Moore, first vice-president; Nelwyn Murphy, second vice-president; Vickie Walendzik, treasurer; Neola

Cleveland, corresponding secretary; and Robbie McDaniel, out-going president. Not pictured is Avenell Cunningham, recording secretary.

Pilot Club Of Booneville Installs Officers For 1982-83

At the May program meeting, at the George E. Allen Library, Eudora Kemp was installed as president of the Pilot Club of Booneville. Other officers installed were Gladys Moore, first vice-president; Nelwyn Murphy, second vice-president; Avenell Cunningham, recording secretary; Neola Cleveland, corresponding secretary; and Vickie Walendzik, treasurer. Directors are Robbie McDaniel, Bertha Yarber, and Louise Peeler.

Combining the 1982-83 Pilot International theme of "Success Is Involvement" with the theme of the Louisiana-Mississippi district, "Reach for the Stars," Nelwyn Murphy, installing officer, charged the new officers with the responsibility of making 1982-83 the best year ever for the Pilot Club of Booneville.

Amid a backdrop of stars and streamers, Mrs. Murphy instructed each officer in the duties of her office. As each officer accepted her candle, which symbolized leadership, she lit her candle and promised to help light the "way to the stars."

Mrs. Murphy then asked the coordinators of each division to stand before a large star representing her division, and then with their area leaders each taking a streamer attached to a star, each leader and coordinator accepted the challenge to light up the area around our town and to truly offer friendship and service.

Robbie McDaniel, out-going president, presented new president Eudora with the president's pen and in turn received the past-president's pen from Eudora. The new president called both Mrs. McDaniel and Mrs. Murphy ABCD leaders, able, busy, capable, and diligent, and then she presented Robbie McDaniel with a gift in appreciation for the excellent example she had set in leadership.

Mrs. Kemp also gave Nelwyn Murphy gifts in appreciation for the excellent job she did as installing officer and for all the help she has been in the past.

All Pilots and guests enjoyed a dinner prepared and served by Pilot members.

Guests for the installation were Co-Pilots W.M. Murphy, W.V. Kemp, Jesse Campbell, Richard Kemp, and Eugenia Bennett of the Pilot Club of Ripley and her Co-Pilot, David Bennett.

The Pilot Club is an international classified service organization for executive and professional women. It has more than 20,000 members in the United States, Bermuda, Canada, England, France, Japan, the Bahamas, and Mexico.

Pilot also sponsors Anchor Clubs for high school girls and Compass Clubs for college students.

The major objective of individual Pilot Clubs is to promote active participation in civic-service projects of their choice.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

KEEP IT SIMPLE!

He Taught Them As One Having Authority, And Not As The Scribes. Matt. 7:29

Adapted From Our Daily Bread By H. V. Vander Lugt

Jesus used language so clear and simple that ordinary people enjoyed listening to Him. He made spiritual truth come alive through stories and illustrations from life that were easy to understand—like the one about the wise man who built his house upon a rock and the foolish man who built his on the sand. We would do well to follow our Lord's example when speaking to others about their spiritual welfare.

I was made personally aware of this recently during a telephone conversation with a man I had never met before. After identifying himself as a minister, he said, "Mr. Vander Lugt, a gentleman with whom I am dealing is on an extension phone, and I'd like you to tell him why he should believe in Christ. He says he's quite happy the way he is right now." I assumed that the inquirer was well-educated and wanted to argue. So I started to talk like a philosopher (which I'm not). Almost immediately the pastor interrupted me, "Whoa! That's not where this fellow is at. What about his sin and his need to be forgiven?" That brought me down to earth real fast!

Simplicity of speech in witnessing, teaching, and preaching cannot be overestimated. Most people won't respond to high-sounding talk. They want and need straight answers to the problems that stem from their sense of guilt and their feelings of emptiness. Some of them feel unloved. Many wonder about forgiveness. Multitudes are afraid of judgment after death. Nothing will help them but the gospel. And we should share it with genuine concern and in terms that are easily understood.

No-Till Soybean Contest Set In Mississippi

There is more incentive than ever this year for Mississippi growers to try no-till soybeans, according to the Soil Conservation Service.

The Mississippi No-Till Soybean Yield Contest is being held for the first time, sponsored by the Mississippi Soil & Water Conservation Districts and Chevron Chemical Company.

"We're hoping that the contest will help emphasize the need for no-till within the state," said George Yeates, State Resource Conservationist in Jackson, Mississippi.

The no-till contest is open to any grower in Mississippi, with a minimum of 20 non-irrigated acres as the entry requirement.

The statewide winner will enjoy four days and three nights for two in Bermuda prior to attending the American Soybean Association Convention in Nashville, Tenn., next year.

There will be three winners in each of the seven conservation districts within the state. First prize will be a 19-inch color Sony television set; the second place winners will receive a 12-inch color Sony television; and the third place winners will receive a 5-inch black and white Sony television with an AM-FM radio.

The rules for the contest are that the 1982 soybean crop must be planted into undisturbed crop residue, thus tillage operations are not allowed prior to planting time.

The soybean crop may be either full-season or double-cropped behind small grains.

"No-Till is the most effective farming method to use to control soil erosion and pollution of surface waters while still maintaining productivity of farm land," Yeates said. "This system can also be used on several crops, thus making the potential for no-till in Mississippi very high."

More marginal land in the form of pastures and woodlands have been converted to cropland in recent years, thus increasing erosion problems within the state.

With Mississippi ranking third highest in soil erosion problems in the nation, finding a way to control this is vital, noted Yeates.

Verification of field size and yield for the contest must be done by a Mississippi Soil & Water Conservation District representative.

Initial sign-ups by growers must be completed by July 1. Growers may obtain entry forms through their local Conservation District offices.

Chevron Chemical Company, which markets Ortho Paraquat, a contact herbicide commonly used to knock out weeds in no-till and double-cropping programs, is providing all contest prizes. Use of Paraquat is not mandatory for a grower to enter the contest. Winners will be chosen only on the basis of top yields.

She Finds Time For Songwriting ... And School

If success means moving from the champion poetry writer of your second grade class to the release of your very own composition on B.J. Thomas' new album, then at least one person has found it.

Since that day at East Corinth Elementary School in the 1950s when she won first place in a poetry contest, Nina Taylor, a 37-year-old student at Northeast Junior College and native of Kosciusko, has been writing her way to recognition in the music industry.

And recognition she has claimed. As if composing "Mr. Heartache Mender," used by B.J. Thomas in his concerts and on an album, isn't enough, Nina is founding president of the Mississippi Music Association, which finds and promotes musically-inclined Mississippians through vocal talent contests held state wide.

She is also the first ever to record at East Avalon Studio in Muscle Shoals, Ala., and has been under contract with Sweet Avalon Publishing Company since 1980.

Besides "Mr. Heartache Mender," Nina has written several other tunes including "Together We're A Song," now being considered for use by Kenny Rogers and Anne Murray, Ronnie Milsap and B.J. Thomas.

However, Nina doesn't take solitary credit for her success. Her associate, Mike Cunningham of Booneville, makes demos of the songs she writes at East Avalon Studio and does all the singing himself.

According to Nina, "When the words to a song came into my head, the music came with it. But, I had no way of expressing myself until I met Mike Cunningham, and he seemed immediately to pick up on my thoughts."

Nina, who considers her style to be somewhere between popular and country music, says she gets most of the ideas for her songs from her dreams. She gleans ideas for complete songs from them which, afterward, she writes down.

But education is important to Nina too. That is why she decided to come back to school at Northeast.

"To me, an education is more important than anything - even money," she said. So, today she couples her songwriting with the academic courses of an educational psychology major and takes care of her husband, Tommy, and son, Deon.

Now in college, she is learning to read and write music, both of which she could not do before entering Northeast, and dreams of someday having Kenny Rogers or Barbra Streisand, a personal favorite, record one of her songs.

But it is nice to know that for Nina Taylor some things haven't changed. When her 15-year-old son found out she had sold a song to B.J. Thomas, he may have seen her in a new light, but he still wanted to know, "When are we going to buy me a new motorcycle?"
