Union Election Is Today, Not Last Week

There will be an election at Schweiger Industries today to determine whether or not workers at the plant will endorse the Upholstery Workers' Union.

The headline in a story about the election in last week's Banner-Independent incorrectly stated that the election was to have been last Thursday. However, the date listed in the story itself was correct.

An election for the Teamsters Union earlier this year at the same Booneville furniture manufacturing company was defeated by voters at the plant.

Three Arrested For Factory Break-In

Three Prentiss County men have been arrested in connection with a break-in that occurred two weeks ago at Jordan Industries in Booneville, according to the Booneville Police Department.

Arrested Monday, July 26, and charged with breaking and entering were James McGee, 23, Willie McGee, 20, and George Burress, 19, all of Prentiss County.

The break-in occurred sometime during the weekend of July 24. A cigarette machine and seven vending machines were broken into.

A $10,000 bond was set for each of the three men charged in connection with the break-in. Both McGees were released from jail Thursday of last week on bond. Burress remained in the city jail as of Monday.

Prentiss Countian Found Innocent

A former Prentiss County man was found innocent by a federal grand jury in Aberdeen Monday of a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle and concealing and disposing of the vehicle.

A jury of eight women and four men deliberated about three hours Monday before acquitting David Winfield, 23, of Jackson, Al Morton, assistant U.S. Attorney said Wednesday morning.

Winfield was indicted by a federal grand jury earlier this year. The first count of the indictment charged that on Nov. 18, 1981, he transported a stolen 1977 Chevrolet pickup from Memphis to Lee County. The second count charged he concealed and disposed of the pickup, knowing the vehicle to have been stolen.

Seven witnesses testified during the trial Monday. U.S. District Judge L.T. Senter Jr. presided.

Winfield was represented by Booneville attorney Joe Ray Langston.

TVA Director To Talk With Public

Tennessee Valley Authority Director S. David Freeman will answer telephone calls from the public on the agency's toll-free Citizen Action Line from 1 to 2 p.m. today.

TVA began the Citizen Action Line in October 1978 so that the public could obtain answers to questions about TVA activities and offer comments and suggestions on agency programs. Calls are normally answered by specially trained information coordinators, but TVA management personnel frequently take calls as one way of keeping in contact with public comments and concerns about TVA.

The TVA board of directors currently have under advisement a 4.4 percent rate increase recommended two weeks ago by the TVA staff.

The TVA Citizen Action toll-free number for residents of Mississippi is 1-800-251-9242.

Against Tax Assessor

Hearing Date Set For Lawsuit

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

A lawsuit filed by the Prentiss County Board of Education against Tax Assessor-Collector Danny Childers is scheduled to be heard at 10 a.m. Friday, Aug. 13, in Prentiss County Chancery Court.

The suit was filed in the local Chancery Court on March 11 of this year by the county school board's attorney, Roy O. Parker of Tupelo. The hearing date was set July 28 by Chancellor Fred P. Wright.

The legal action on the part of the county school board stems from the separation in 1980 of the Booneville schools from the Prentiss County School District and involves funds which the school board says should have been collected by Childers from city property owners in 1980.

The county school board claims that, according to state law, any taxable real property must be made a part of a school district prior to June 1 of any year for that district to be entitled to the taxes for that year.

Since the Booneville Municipal Separate School District did not take effect until July 1, 1980, the county school board claims they are entitled to the school taxes that should have been collected from city residents that year.

The suit says that as tax collector and assessor, Childers "failed and refused to collect the taxes as provided by law and he has thereby deprived Plaintiffs of property to which they are entitled."

The county school board claims that Childers' owes them $137,408 in uncollected taxes. Childers' bonding company, United States Fidelity & Guaranty, has also been named as a defendant in the case.

The suit asks the court to (1) enjoin Childers to "assess, collect and pay over the monies due and owing to the Prentiss County Board of Education for 1980"; (2) render judgement against United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company for the sum of $106,000; (3) render judgement against Childers for the total amount of taxes due the Prentiss County Board of Education; and (4) tax all costs of the case against both defendants.

In answer to the school board's suit, Childers attorney, Thomas Keenum of Booneville, maintains that the county school board has no legal standing to bring the suit because of a state law which says no arm or agency of the state government shall bring or defend a suit against another such arm or agency without prior written approval of the Attorney General.

In his answer, Childers

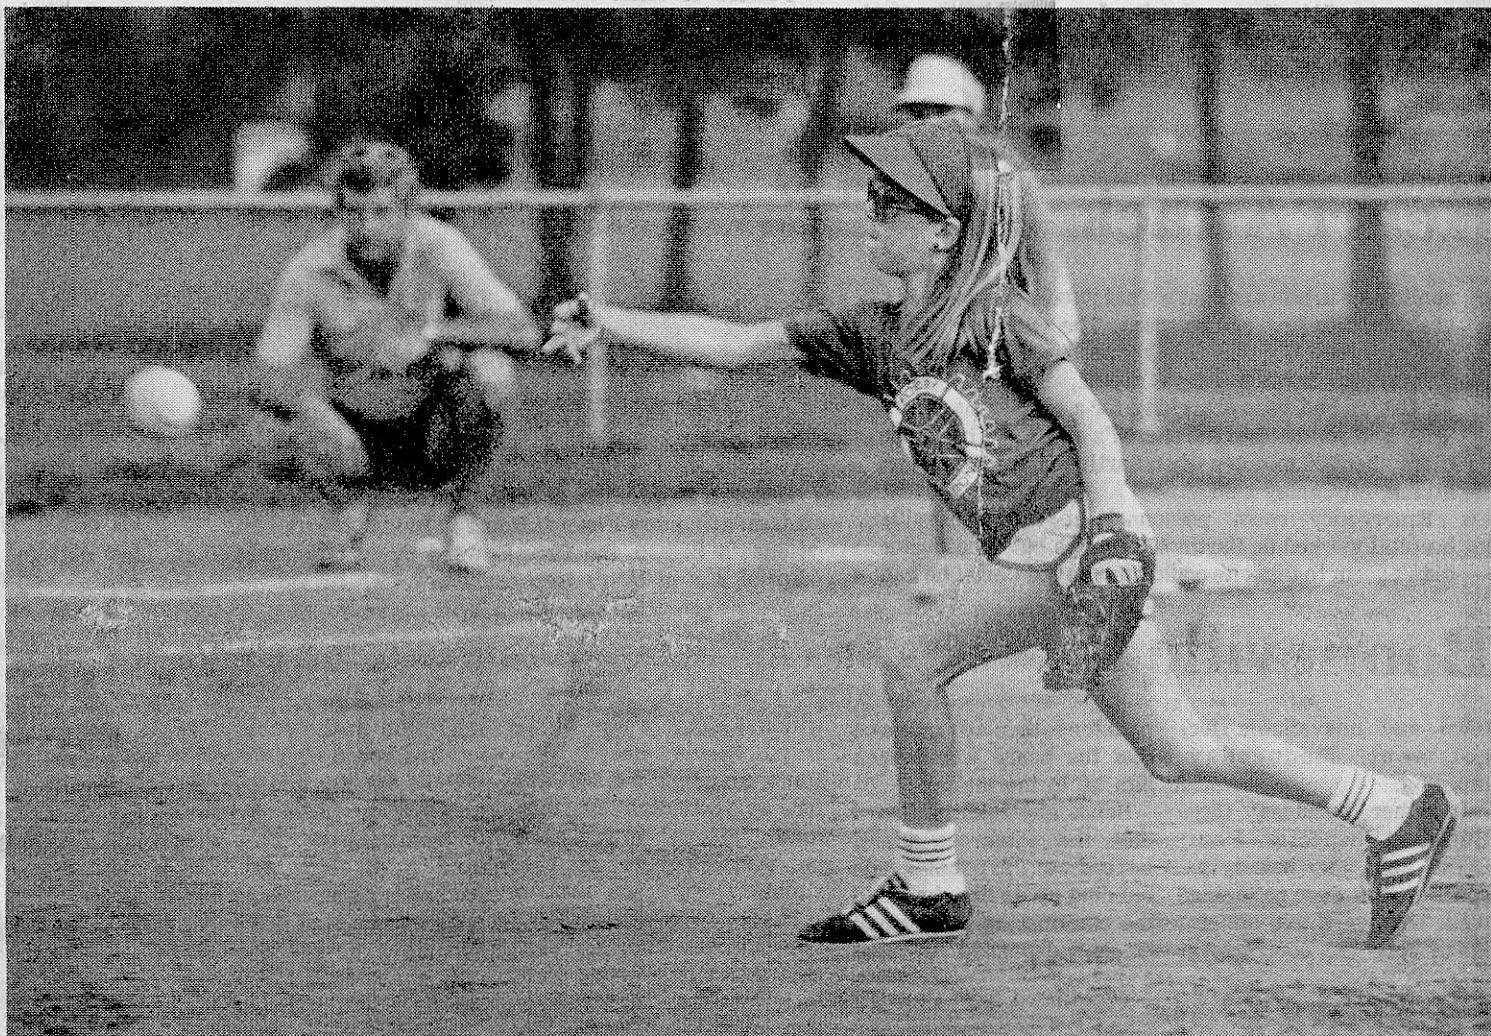

also maintains that county school officials knew he was not required to tax property within the newly-formed city school district.

Childers says that in an assessment made on Sept. 2, 1980, the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors specifically excluded the assessed evaluation of property of separate school districts.

On that same day, Childers claims, county superintendent of Education Lex Cain, one of the plain-

Comments Requested On Phone Rate Increase

Several Prentiss Countians plan to turn the tables on South Central Bell and "reach out and touch" the Public Service Commission when they meet to consider the telephone company's recent increase in local service rates.

And if they can't do it with facts and figures, they hope to do it with emotions.

One way they plan to do that is to go to the PSC meeting -- scheduled in Jackson for Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1 -- armed with as many statements as possible from Prentiss Countians expressing their views of the phone company's rate increase.

PLANNING TO attend the meeting to speak on behalf of Prentiss Countians are Stewart Vail, Prentiss County Development Association Executive Director Doug Mansell, Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb, and State Representative Billy McCoy.

Vail has been named by the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors to represent them at the hearing, and Mansell will appear as a representative of PCDA.

These four, along with Board of Supervisors President J.P. Davis, met in Booneville Friday to discuss strategy for their appearance at the meeting. They are asking for all Prentiss Countians to submit written statements giving their feelings on the rate increase.

"We wanted to meet," Vail said, "to discuss the situation because I felt that, as an appointed representative of the Board of Supervisors, I needed some input from the people over the county."

"We wanted some way to get across to the people that we need to hear from them," he said. "We want statements we can take to the PSC to show the true feelings of the people on this matter."

VAIL SAID the PSC has retained experts to gather

Union Organizers Arrested For Obstructing Traffic At Local Plant

Two men, apparently involved in efforts to organize a union, were arrested by the Booneville Police Department last week in front of a local industry and charged with obstructing traffic and with disorderly conduct for failure to obey a law officer.

The two men, who were handing out literature to employees of Schweiger Industries, had traffic backed up on American Avenue all the way from Old Highway 45 to Schweiger's parking lot, according to Police Chief Bobby Lambert.

Chief Lambert said he had warned the men twice to stop creating traffic problems.

Michael J. Walch and Robert Beck, neither of whom are local residents, were arrested July 28. Each was released on $1,000 bond the same day.

Walch and Beck were apparently handing out literature in support of the Upholstery Workers' Union which has petitioned for an election at Schweiger. However, Chief Lambert said he did not know what was contained in the literature being distributed by the two men.

Booneville Declines Gas Franchise

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff reporter

During Tuesday night's regularly scheduled board meeting, the Booneville Board of Mayor and alderman said they have declined the gas franchise to the city of Jumpertown.

Jumpertown residents okayed an ordinance July 20 granting a franchise to the Prentiss County Electric Power Association and the city of Booneville which supplies electricity and natural gas to the citizens of Jumpertown.

Both the power company and the city say they had the right to operate and sell within the town before Jumpertown was incorporated.

Booneville City Attorney Gene Gifford said, "Booneville is not fighting Jumpertown. We're cooperating. They can't grant us something we already have."

"Under the ordinance they adopted, if we don't want the franchise, we just have to say we don't want it,"

Gifford said. The city had declined it twice, he said.

Concerning the situation, Jumpertown Mayor C.D. Windham said Wednesday morning, "I have nothing to say because I don't fully understand lawyer terms."

Jumpertown Board attorney Tommy Cadle was out-of-

Prior to Sartin's heart attack, he and Sheriff McCauley had been searching for a marijuana patch. They had returned to the sheriff's office and had been there about 20 minutes when Sartin suffered the heart attack, McCauley said.

Emergency room personnel at the Booneville hospital worked on Sartin 40 minutes but "the doctor didn't seem to think he could have saved Cari if he had

In other business, City Building inspector Paul Bonds told the board inspection fees were not being paid. The board told him to make sure the contractors paid the fees in advance and that the board would back him up in the matter.

Bonds also told the Board that the Plumrose plant, instead of expanding its building up as they had told the commission they would do, had expanded its plant within 50-feet of the highway. Bonds noted the Plumrose plant did not ask for an exception in this matter. Mayor Crabb said he was unaware of the situation.

The board voted to receive two bids under the emergency purchasing plan to buy an air conditioning-heating system for the George E. Allen Library. Estimated cost of the system will be between $20,000 and $25,000, the mayor said. Some $7,000 was spent on the system last year and "we still don't have anything," the mayor said.

The board voted to purchase the air conditioning-heating system on the emergency purchasing plan in order to protect the microfilm at the library.

The board also voted to involve the city in a plan to organize a Little League football program. They will hire a director for the football program which will begin this fall and last 2½ to 3 months. The city also said they would look into using the field at the Booneville Grammar School. The board approved a plan for flag football for 7-9 year-olds and contact football for 10-12 year-olds.

Patience Makes Squirrel A Pet

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

It took a lot of patience, but Wayne Green of Booneville has made friends with a wild squirrel that lives in a tree near Green's home on Oak Drive.

In May Green began hanging pecans on a tree in his front yard for the gray squirrel. In about two weeks he had coaxed the squirrel to take pecans from his hand. Now the squirrel actually climbs Green's leg and perches on his arm to eat pecans.

Green says anyone can feed the squirrel as long as the squirrel sees they won't harm him. His wife, Joyce, and 9-year-old son, Daniel, and a neighbor across the street, Tommy Wren, have fed the squirrel, which so far remains unnamed. Sometimes the squirrel appears in the yard four days in a row, and other times it will be a week before they see him. There used to be two other squirrels in the yard, but Green says when he began feeding his squirrel that the squirrel ran the other two away.

The squirrel, which was full grown when Green began feeding him, will not eat peanuts or biscuits, but he's eaten as many as seven pecans at one feeding. The squirrel allows Green to hold him from 5-10 minutes but he doesn't like to be petted, Green said.

Green admits the squirrel's claws are sharp, but he says he doesn't mind, because he likes to see how people react when they see the squirrel climb up his leg to eat pecans.

Sometimes if Green is not outside, the squirrel will jump on the window sill, stand on his hind legs with his front legs crossed and peer in through the living room window.

About two weeks ago the squirrel accidentally bit Green. "It was as much my fault as it was his. He was biting at a pecan in by shirt pocket and as I pushed the pecan up for him, he bit my finger," Green said.

Once Green noticed the squirrel would eat the top of mushrooms. So Green gave the squirrel a top of a white and pink mushroom. "It must have had narcotics or something in it, because after he ate it he really fussed and cut up." After eating that particular mushroom, Green said the squirrel stretched out on a tree limb for about 45 minutes.

After Green feeds him, the squirrel will usually climb a tree and stretch out on a limb and stay there until Green goes inside the house. Then the squirrel leaves.

Green, who works at Tri-State Insulation, is himself a squirrel hunter. But, he grins, "I don't plan to make squirrel dumplings out of this squirrel!"

Paving Contract Let

A contract to overlay Highway 4 from Hobo Station in Prentiss County to State Highway 25 in Tishomingo County has been awarded to the William Russell Bonds Construction Company of Burnsville, according to an announcement this week from Northern District Highway Commissioner Bobby Richardson.

Richardson said the contract on the Highway 4 project totals $887,000. Work should begin in about 30 days.

"Motorists should drive with caution in the area of construction on this project, as well as others," he said.

The completion date of the project will depend on the weather and the work schedule of Bonds Construction Company, Richardson said.

AMAZING BUT TRUE—It's hard to believe that the squirrel Wayne Green of Booneville is holding is a wild squirrel—but it is. At first Green began holding the pecans in his hand to feed the squirrel. Now the squirrel climbs up Green's leg and perches on his arm to eat pecans.

In Economic Development

Improved Education Is The Missing Link

The State of Mississippi has an image problem. And before it is going to be successful at attracting new, high skill technology jobs into the state, it is going to have to change the way industries perceive the state's educational system, a spokesman for Gov. William Winter's office told the Booneville Rotary Club Tuesday.

"The Governor really believes that the way off the bottom is for economic development in the state of Mississippi. And the things that we need to do to get our economic development going are mostly educational," James E. "Buddy" Jemison, assistant coordinator of the Governor's Office of Federal and State Programs, told the Booneville Rotarians. "Mississippi is competitive with any state in the Southeast as far as tax incentives for industry and building industrial parks," he said. "We've built a nest for them; we've got tax advantages for them to come here, and they still won't come."

"The way people (in other states) perceive us, is that we have a poor educational system in the state," Jemison said. "We're perceived very poorly nationally."

For every 100 students who graduate from high school in Mississippi, 59 do not, he said. And only about half of the people in the state have a high school education.

"And that's translating into a lot of things," he added. "We're lowest in per capita income in the whole United States. But what the Governor's really concerned about is that we're falling further behind."

In 1978, Mississippi's per capita income was 81 percent of the national average. In 1980 it was only 78 percent. "So we've fallen three percent behind in three years," Jemison said.

In the 1970 Census, Mississippi was $200 behind Arkansas in per capita income. "In the latest Census, we were $700 behind Arkansas, we'd fallen $500 further behind."

"In 1970, we were almost $600 behind Louisiana," he said. "In the 1980 Census we were $1,800 behind Louisiana; we'd fallen $1,200 more behind in per capita income."

"There are a lot of things that we need to do about education in this state," Jemison said. "Right now the Governor's office is looking at a number of things."

"We're looking at some different, innovative means of changing the system of financing education in the state," he said.

"Right now, to get out of high school in Mississippi, you have to have one unit of mathematics and one unit of basic science. Jobs that are coming in the next 20 years are going to require a lot better education in basic science," the Governor's representative said. "The jobs that are coming are going to be high technology jobs."

Jemison said Mississippi is currently competing with third world nations, such as Taiwan, Formosa, and some of the African nations, for low skill level jobs.

"And we're losing out," he said. "We've got to move our people forward and get into high technology jobs."

Mississippi is next to last in literacy, Jemison said, because the state doesn't have a compulsory education law. "There's nothing that forces parents to put their children in school."

Mississippi is also the only state in the United States that does not have a statewide system of public kindergartens, he said.

"About half the kids in the state are not getting any kind of preschool education and the other half are, and when you put them both together, the one's with no skills hold everybody back," he said.

"Those two programs between them (compulsory education and public kindergartens) would cost less than $30 million," Jemison said.

Gov. Winter proposes funding them through an economic trust fund funded by a proposed 3 percent increase in oil and gas severance tax.

That tax would yield about $67 million a year which would go into the education-industrial development trust fund. The principal of the trust fund would be loaned out to counties and cities to build industrial parks, to build homes at lower interest rates than are otherwise available, and to do a whole multitude of things, Jemison said.

Jemison asked the Rotarians for their support of Gov. Winter's education and economic development programs when they come before the state legislature.

'Talk O' The Town'

Street Opinion

QUESTION: What do you think of President Reagan's proposal for paying a flat 10 percent Federal Income Tax?

J.D. COLE of 201 McCarley Ave., Booneville: "I don't think it's fair, but I really haven't read up on it to really know."

MAXINE JOHNSON of 101 Oakmere Circle: "I have every confidence in President Reagan and I feel sure that he has researched this question thoroughly before making such a recommendation. Since I have not done such research I would have to support the President. I believe he is on the right track in trying to get our economy back on solid ground."

GEORGE OAKLEY of Booneville: "It would definitely simplify things. I think it would be better. It would eliminate tax loopholes that people use and probably, as far as tax money is concerned, the government's budget would end up being better off."

GEORGE MARTIN VIA of 200 State St., Booneville: "It would greatly simplify the tax returns. It would be fair for everybody from top to bottom. I'm all for it."

DOUG MANSELL of 202 George E. Allen Drive, Booneville: "I think it's an approach toward a more complete and equal tax. However, obviously there should be many more hours of deliberation before the determination is made."

EDDIE CAVENESS of 108 Foster Park, Booneville: "It would probably be a lot fairer to everyone. According to the provisions, exemptions and exceptions that are included in it."

PSC Slots Becoming Political Hot Seats

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss.—Anyone for Public Service Commissioner?

That job, it now seems likely, is going to become the hottest seat in state government for anyone who seeks it next year.

Reeling under the $300 million in rate increases for electricity and telephones which have been thrown at them the past few months, Mississippians are now looking at the government agencies which are supposed to protect them from exorbitant utility rates, and the Public Service Commission is finally getting the public attention it deserved long ago.

Mississippians, for some strange reason, never paid any attention to electing Public Service Commissioners in the past 30 years, probably because they weren't being hit with big utility rate increases, and probably because they didn't really know the PSC had anything to do with rates, anyway.

Mostly, they elected Good Ole Boys and let them stay there term after term. But that day is obviously over since the utility rate crunch over the past few months has developed into the most sizzling public issue in the state. Since the PSC passes on rates, it's now fair game.

People are seeking out anybody who can do something about it, or even will provide a sympathetic ear. That's the reason why Atty. Gen. Bill Allain, who has vowed to fight the utilities on every rate increase that has been implemented under bond, has become an overnight public hero to a great many Mississippians.

Certainly state legislators are feeling the heat from angry constituents to do something, no matter what, especially since the $98.3 million South Central Bell rate filing a month or so ago, and now Mississippi Power & Light Company's $94 million hike due to begin Sept. 1, with another $75 million coming soon for MP

& L's Grand Gulf Nuclear generating plant.

There's a chance, although it is not very likely, that the legislature will decide to do away with the present system of electing Public Service Commissioners because nobody around state government has any faith in the capacity of the PSC to effectively dissect rate filings of the big utility companies under the present setup.

Some have felt for years that Mississippi should do what most other states do, have an appointive utility regulatory agency which will be more responsive to professional assistance, rather than operating as a separate political kingdom.

In any case, the pressure on the legislature is such, that one thing seems certain: as soon as the lawmakers can, they will change the old law which allows utilities to install rate increases under bond before they are even considered by the PSC.

Gov. William Winter has been notably quiet about the furor over the whopping utility rate hikes, but he won't be able to straddle that fence much longer, capitol observers believe.

Should he call the lawmakers into special session in November, as expected, the governor will almost certainly have to submit changes in the rate increases under bond provision.

One of the leading advocates of such a move now is Southern District Commissioner Lynn Havens, who formerly served in the Mississippi House. As a legislator, Havens had not seen the need for wiping out the rate under bond authority for utilities when repeal measures were proposed several years ago.

But Havens, following the tradition of the late John Dale, his predecessor on the PSC, has been a thorn in the side of the utilities when they bring rate increases to the commission. Consequently, Havens' seat on the three-member PSC seems safe in next year's elections, even though he may be eyeing higher office later on.

The two oldtimers on the commission, Norman Johnson, who is rounding out 28 years as central district commissioner, and D.W. Snyder, the northern district commissioner since 1964, have long been regarded as pro-utility, usually teaming up to give the power and telephone companies most of what they want.

A published account in the mid-1970's revealed that Johnson and Snyder had been taken on an expensive duck hunting trip to Stuttgart, Ark., as the guests of the president of MP&L, and a top official of Bechtel Corp., the multi-national company which has recently been in the news. Bechtel was in charge of construction of MP&L's $2.1 billion nuclear plant at Grand Gulf.

There are persistent reports that neither the 61 year-old Johnson, who has been in ill health the past several years, nor Snyder, who will be 68 by election time next year, and also has had some health problems, will seek re-election in 1983.

But neither has publicly indicated he will voluntarily step down.

Should either or both run, they undoubtedly will be faced with strong opposition. Already in the northern district, two prospects for the job are Alcorn Sheriff Edwin Coleman, a handsome, personable politico in his mid-30's, and Mard Hazard, a former aide to Sen. Jim Eastland, and state Farmers Home Administration director in the Carter Administration. And there are others.

In the central district, Vicksburg Mayor Demery Grubbs has indicated interest in seeking the PSC post, and State Rep. Dick Livingston of Pulaski, who has been identified with consumer causes for several years, is almost a sure candidate.

A possible Republican entry in the central district race is City Commissioner Nielson Cochran of Jackson, brother of U.S. Sen. Thad Cochran.

You'll be hearing a lot more about the PSC, that's a certainty.

Farmers Blame Congress For High Interest Rates

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi
Farm Bureau Federation

Insisting that the United States government should be working to break the back of runaway federal spending, inflation, and high interest rates—and not agriculture—the nation's farmers drew the line recently on support of further cuts in agricultural appropriations until Congress and the President get a handle on excessive costs in other parts of the federal budget.

Hugh M. Arant, president of the Mississippi Farm

Bureau Federation, has revealed that the American Farm Bureau Federation's board of directors now opposes holding a tight budgetary line on farm programs while welfare programs representing almost half of the total budget deficits, remain virtually untouched.

The Mississippi farm leader reported that farmers all across the nation welcome progress made to reduce inflation and continue to support Administration goals toward sound economic policy, but still they are bitterly disappointed at failures by both the Administration and Congress to bring federal spending under control.

The farm organization sees crippling high interest rates as principally the result of bad judgment by Congress which has failed to balance income with spending and instead has advocated increased taxation and continued deficit financing to bail out a national fiasco.

Arant said that during eight years of congressional budget control processes, federal deficits have totalled almost half a trillion dollars.

And rather than moderating the disaster of such a trend, Congress will be spending a record breaking $741 billion during fiscal year 1982, an increase of $84 billion this year alone.

The Mississippi federation president said that while Congress debated budget options during the past four months they proceeded to approve increases in federal welfare payments to the tune of $15 billion. This increase does not include social security and represent an annual growth rate of nearly 30 percent.

"This is a far cry", Arant said, "from the voice of the people in 1980 who voted for less inflation, less government spending, less taxation, and lower federal deficits." He pointed out by contrast that today the nation's taxpayers find themselves faced with even more taxation, more government spending, and still higher government deficits.

"Farmers are getting sick and tired of doubletalk from Congress and the Administration on a sound program", Arant added, at a time that U.S. farm exports are going up against costly and unfair protectionism in Japan and among the European community of nations.

Arant implied that farmers are desperate for results and are no longer interested in more rhetoric.

With time running out for farm recovery in 1982—the third straight year of declining income—Arant predicted that the organization of over three million farm families across the nation would be working hard this fall for candidates in either party who take agriculture's dilemma seriously.

Rate Increase Necessary For Quality Phone Service

Dear Editor,

I would like to comment on your July 15 article reporting action taken by the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors to formally protest our increase in telephone rates.

Booneville businessman Stewart Vail was quoted as saying "... and here they (the phone company) are asking for even more, penalizing the elderly and those on fixed income."

In a related article, it was reported that the Board of Supervisors were taking this action because they are "concerned about the potential economic damage to be suffered by the citizens of this county if said increase is approved."

First, nobody denies that $98 million is a lot of money. And nobody denies that local rates increased substantially—especially when compared to the size of past increases.

But those increases are required to meet the increased cost of doing business since our last increase over two years ago. For example, inflation has increased 25 percent since then, yet the additional revenues we are asking for represent an increase of only 16 percent in our total revenues in Mississippi.

To put the size of our request into further perspective, we need to also consider that investors have been willing to make a $1.5 billion investment in the state to provide telephone service. Our plans call for an additional investment of over $400 million in the next two years. That also is a lot of money—being spent now and to be spent next year to maintain good service for existing customers and provide for future customer needs. Our investors expect a competitive return on this investment.

Many comments have been made by people who understandably question why local rates are being raised by substantial percentages while long distance rates were not increased.

In past years we have raised long distance more than necessary to cover the costs of providing it to help keep basic rates low. But the federal regulators have ordered long distance competition—as well as competition for telephone sets, PBX's and other products and services.

Now that these services and equipment are competitive, they must be priced nearer the costs of providing them, which in turn forces us to price the basic service up nearer its costs. If long distance rates continue to carry an increasing subsidy for basic service, competitors will undersell, and that business as well as the subsidy will be lost.

We are acutely aware of the state of the economy and would much prefer to ask for an increase in better times. However, ours is not a stop-and-go business. We must provide service 24 hours a day, seven days a week. We cannot shut down our central offices and refuse to install telephones and still fulfill our obligation to serve.

The question of rate increase size and timing has generated many comments that our prices are beyond people's ability to pay. We can't argue that even the smallest increase would severely impact some people.

And we know that this current increase will require some to weigh their priorities very carefully. No one can decide for another person what is important or valuable—that's something each person must decide.

However, we think that telephone rates are still a very good bargain and that most of our customers will agree. Even with the requested increase, a residence customer in Booneville can buy 24 hours of unlimited local calling, including repair service, for less than the cost of a gallon of gasoline.

For those who need to lessen the impact of the increased rates, we do offer options—shared (party-line) service is cheaper than private line service, for example. Our business office will be glad to review with customers their individual services and offer other suggestions for controlling the amount of their bills.

Overall, the quality of telephone service in this state is as good as that found anywhere else in the country. It is important to Mississippi and its people that this high quality service be continued so that the state's economy can develop and its citizens can receive reliable communications service when and where they need it.

Yours very truly,
T.H. Bailey

Miss Melba Jo McCoy Weds Mr. Randy Gene Morgan

Miss Melba Jo McCoy and Randy Gene Morgan were united in marriage at the First Baptist Church of Booneville on June 5 at 6 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J.G. McCoy of Booneville and Mr. and Mrs. Terrill G. Morgan of Tupelo. The Rev. Dr. John Floyd, interim pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Jan Galloway and Mrs. Vicky Grisham, vocalists, and Miss Ann Rayburn, accompanist, presented nuptial music. Songs were "I Love Thee," "More," and "One Hand, One Heart."

Tim Estes and Danny Bailey were acolytes.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white Schiffl lace gown with a high wedding band collar of matching lace. The dress featured a rounded yoke of net with soft ruffled flounce around the shoulder, and long fitted sleeves of Schiffl lace. The natural waistline was enhanced with a touch of seed pearls on Schiffl lace. The flowing chapel length train was trimmed with two overlap rows of lace. The fingertip veil featured a Schiffl lace cap with tiny seed pearls and edged with matching lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and daisies.

Mrs. Terry McCoy of Memphis, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pam Manley of Booneville, Mrs. Pat Estes of Mooreville and Miss Debbie Morgan of Tupelo, sisters of the groom, and Miss Beth Chandler of West Point.

They wore gowns of yellow chiffon and jersey that had floor length skirts. They carried bouquets of yellow roses and daisies.

Miss Andrea Honeycutt served as flower girl and Chris Estes, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer.

The groom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Terry McCoy of Memphis, brother of the bride, Marty Ramage of Tupelo, Tony Gates of Blue Springs, and Robbie Lollar of Mooreville. Ushers were Bobby Manley of Booneville and Kelly Page of Tupelo.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McCoy wore a mauve chiffon formal length gown. The mother of the groom selected a formal-length navy gown. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Mrs. Roddy Jackson and Mrs. Eddie Davis directed the wedding.

The Reception

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained in the fellowship hall. Miss Carolyn Miller presided at the registry table.

Misses Lisa Prichard and Donna Griffin served the bride's cake, a three-tier cake with an arrangement of yellow roses on top. The table was also decorated with arrangements of yellow roses.

The groom's table held the traditional chocolate cake with frosted grapes. Mrs. Eddie Davis and Mrs. Freddie Akers presided.

Miss Donna Morris and Mrs. Michael Talbot served punch and Mrs. Tony Gates presided at the coffee table. Mrs. Jeff Ingram and Miss Willinda Daws served as floating hostesses.

Distributing yellow rice bags were Libby Miller and Rebecca Davis.

Showers and Parties

The Mental Health Association has made a gift to the library of a set of three filmstrips with accompanying cassettes entitled "Learning to Cope and to Grow." They are suited to use with several age groups but are aimed at the developing young adult.

"Facing Your Feelings," set 1, of this series consists of (1) Inferiority (2) Fear and anxiety, and (3) Anger. There is a teacher's manual for use with a class and there are six tests to be duplicated for class work.

The exercise groups at the library are eager to have new members and invite those interested to join them as the have time and interest.

There is no fee and no formal registration or recording of attendance or progress. Times are 8:00-9:00 a.m., Monday, Wednesday and Friday and others from 5:00-6:00 p.m. Although two different groups meet, one on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday and the other Tuesday and Thursday, schedules are very adaptable.

The playhouse is designed for children between the ages of 6 and 12. More than 30 children from the community attended this year. Each day they participated in crafts, games, songs, dances, and the study of the histories of Japan, Australia, England and Mexico.

An exhibit night was held Thursday to display the crafts made by the children during the week. The children also performed a traditional Japanese dance, the "Coal Miner's Dance."

Louise Coggin, Elaine Hatfield and Veda Southward assisted the children with their performance. Refreshments prepared by members of the local Junior Auxiliary were served to the guests.

Skipping Breakfast Reduces Concentration

By WANDA L. ROBINSON
4-H Program Assistant

That late-morning slump that comes to breakfast skippers is expensive. It's often avoidable.

For the four out of five American school children who go to school with inadequate breakfasts, the cost is reduced concentration levels during late morning classes which may result in poor grades and resentful attitudes toward the class work.

Among adult breakfast skippers or skippers, reduced energy levels in late morning hours may be responsible only for reduced efficiency for one to two hours before lunchtime. However, late morning hours are said to be a peak period for accidents, partially because half of the nation's adults either skip or skimp breakfast.

The steadily increasing tendency of American families to eat little or no breakfast is a matter of concern to nutritionists for two reasons: Nutrients omitted by skipping the early morning meals are often not included in later meals. In large enough amounts to balance out daily needs.

Also, people who eat an adequate breakfast have more energy, faster reactions, and less fatigue than those who do not.

Ideally, breakfast provides at least one-fourth of the day's calories and protein needs; but any food taken at the start of the day is better than no food at all. The recommended basic breakfast includes fruit, cereal or eggs, milk, and butter or margarine.

Nutritionists generally agree that either of two breakfast types start children or adults off to a good day: Those built around eggs and milk or those built around cereal and milk.

Traditionally, cereal breakfasts have been easier to prepare but harder to pay for than egg breakfasts. These days, unless the cereal is of the home cooked variety, cereal and milk breakfasts are not likely to be lower-cost than egg and milk breakfasts.

The economy edge that cereal and milk breakfasts once held over egg, toast and milk breakfasts has gone the way of newer convenience foods. Even with the egg price increase that came with our hot summer we can serve four people a breakfast of one egg, a cup of milk, and a piece of buttered toast for $1.45 to $1.75.

The same four people can be served prepared cereal (1 ounce each) and milk (1 cup each) for a few cents less if the cereal is corn flakes bought in an 18- or 24-ounce box. However, to serve four people granola cereal and milk would cost about $1.75, the same as the most expensive egg, milk, and toast breakfast.

Costs of breakfasts based on other prepared cereals fall between the costs of corn flakes and granola, make time-saving the only citrus fruits, melons, or tomatoes.

Numerous breakfast bars and instant breakfast mixes can be bought from grocery store cereal counters. Also, toaster pastries or frozen waffles heat up in the toaster for breakfast-on-the-run.

Most of these have a high sugar content. Mothers who are willing to have their children eat sugar for breakfast can provide less expensive breakfast treats than purchased ones.

By using one of the several breakfast cookie recipes developed by cereal companies, mothers can keep high-food value breakfast cookies on hand. Then, when mother is not on hand to prepare breakfast, children can easily serve themselves out-of-hand cereal breakfasts with a glass of milk.

For that matter, an old-fashioned oatmeal cookie with extra dry milk added would come as near to meeting breakfast needs as the new generation breakfast treats.

Fire Ant Treatment Available

By W.H. HADEN
County Agent

SUCCESSFUL GARDENING

If you have a fire ant problem around your home, the best way to get rid of them is by treating the mound. Mound treatment takes less chemical to kill the ants, so it's better for the environment and more economical.

Amdro fire ant bait is available from the county Extension office and is effective in controlling fire ants. Use five tablespoons of the material for each mound, scattered three to four feet around the mound. This is for non-crop or turf areas.

If you take care of your plants you can have fresh tomatoes until frost. That means keeping diseases and insect pests out.

One key to successful gardening is spraying for leaf diseases and insects. You also need to water when rain is scarce and fertilize plants every four to six weeks.

You should break off suckers on the plants as needed. When suckers are allowed to develop, the fruit is smaller. Keep the plants tied up so the vines won't touch the soil and rot the fruit.

Chemicals can take a lot of work out of weed control in the home lawn. For most weeds in bermudagrass and zoysiagrass lawns, the herbicide MSMA is a good choice.

The rates for using MSMA vary, but the mixture is about right when the turf just starts to yellow or a slight tip burn occurs on the grass. For tough weed problems like dallisgrass, bahiagrass and goosegrass, you need to repeat the treatment every 10 to 20 days.

You can safely apply MSMA on newly established bermudagrass lawns after two or three mowings or when the root systems are active and extensive.

Mr. Jesse Cleveland Godwin, Sr. was born January 14, 1893, in Hardin County, Tennessee. He married Mrs. Belle Cunningham Godwin September 4, 1920. He was a dedicated family man, a notorious hard worker, a World War I veteran, and a member of the Booneville Church of Christ. He died July 27, 1982, at the age of 89.

This memorial was written by Mae Dean Lambert at the request of Mr. Godwin's youngest child, Margaret Goddard.

Down Life's Pathway

We jump up each morning in such a hurried pace—Many times we're too rushed to enjoy life—We have to run to perform duties in a modern race—Then suddenly there comes a tragic ring—Something has happened—Sickness? Death? Tearful eyes that sting! We begin to slow down and reminisce—Of all the wonderful years we enjoyed with our Daddy, Mr. Jess.

He was so loving, devoted, and dear—Remaining concerned and faithful to our Mother For a total of 62 years—Their married life had been happy as could be—Filled with enjoyment as they added 7 children, 19 grand, 13 great to the family tree—Their home was always open to others with various needs—Because our Daddy and Paw-Paw was One who shared unselfishly in his deeds. He had long made the Godwin brothers and sisters Laugh with glee—Because of his humor and wit—He was the clown of his family—He dutifully served in World War I As a soldier for our land—This was just one of the many characteristics That labeled him as a good and honest man—His education wasn't acquired from Schools of high for-mal-ty—But his natural gift of common sense Was equal to an earned degree—He was always interested in what was "going on"—He read the newspapers and watched TV After he was confined to home—He had friends who were farmers—The earth they did till—But Mr. Jess was known all around for his ability at the saw-mill—He enjoyed his garden—even up until This last spring—We now recall how happy it made Him to share produce it did bring—His bird dogs were another treat—He'd go on hunting expeditions and Outwalk younger men in the heat—Many will miss him because of death's call on July 27, 1982—We won't question God's will—But say, "89½ years of happiness Was spent because of you"—Yes, we hurry each day—as life passes on—But we'll now slow down and recall Memories, and rest assured Mr. Jess Is in a happy, eternal home—scheduled for today at the local furniture manufacturing plant.

Since the arrest, the two men have returned to passing out literature at the factory. However, to insure an orderly flow of traffic, police officers have been directing traffic at the plant, except for Monday afternoon when the officers were in city court.

"We aren't for either side," Chief Lambert said. "We're just trying to keep law and order and keep down any type of disturbance."

The case involving the two men is scheduled to be heard Monday, Aug. 9, in city court. Walch and Beck will be represented by attorney Charles Brett of Tupelo.

The case was not heard on Monday of this week because Brett was involved in setting a docket elsewhere, according to city attorney Eugene Gifford.

The charges faced by the two men are both misdemeanors.

If convicted of the disorderly conduct charge, the two men could face up to a maximum fine of $500 and/or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months. The obstructing traffic charge carries an identical penalty upon conviction.

and present factual information at the meeting. The commission can expect only emotions and a show of force from local representatives, he said.

"I have some figures that won't determine whether the increase is granted or not," McCoy said, "but they make an interesting comparison."

"For instance, the $573 million total revenue received by Bell in the state last year was equal to almost 20 percent of the state's total budget. This is both federal and state funds expended in this state for all education, transportation, law enforcement and health care."

"And," he continued, "it seems interesting for the people to see that one company that has almost a complete monopoly on one of the basic utility service areas collects 20 percent as much revenue as the entire state government."

"Also," he said, "based on the 6,000-plus phones in Prentiss County, and figuring an average of only an $8 increase -- and the average increase is somewhere between $8 and $10 -- the increase alone would amount to $500,000 per year. Our total county budget is around $2 million, and here we are with an increase in the phone rate -- just the increase -- that is more than 25 percent of our total county budget."

"And," Mansell said, "this is just to be allowed to call your neighbor across the street. The phone company really wants people in Prentiss County to 'reach out and touch someone' because when we do for more than six miles or so, it's long distance and we really pay. It's takes a long distance call to reach 25 percent of our PCDA board members just to tell them we are going to have a meeting."

McCOY SAID phone service is most important to the welfare and safety of the citizens, and everyone hopes quality service will be continued. But, he said, it is hard to believe such a monopolistic business should be guaranteed unreasonable profits when we are experiencing widespread economic stability.

"The county government and all the city governments are experiencing terribly hard times," he said. "And for us to have to cough up this kind of money in one service area is completely unreasonable."

Davis said he grew up in a rural area at a time when all the telephones were in the towns.

"And I'm scared, fellows," he said, "with these rate increases we're headed that way again. Pretty soon all of the phones will be gone from the rural areas and I guess that's what they want."

Soil Conservation News

Ponds, like any body of water, attract people. When the two come together, there always is chance of a drowning or boating accident.

Ponds are an asset to the environment and have many uses. During the past 30 years, landowners in the United States have built more than a million ponds as part of their soil and water conservation plans. More than 120,000 have been built in Mississippi, with SCS technical assistance available through soil and water conservation districts. 150 have been built in this county in the past 3 years.

Families and friends are attracted to ponds because they are nice places to picnic, swim, boat or fish. Primarily, they have been built as stockwater ponds or for other farm uses, but they are also important recreational assets to our county. But the small boy passing by who is attracted by the water may do almost anything. This is why keeping ponds safe is so important.

Here are some suggestions to make your pond safer:

—Before construction, find out about your liability. You may need to protect your self with insurance.

—During construction, remove trees, brush, and anything else that might hinder safe boating or swimming. Eliminate sudden dropoffs and deep holes in the swimming area.

—Once a pond is completed, mark the safe swimming areas and place warning signs at danger points. Tell swimmers not to swim alone, and post safety instructions for swimming and boating.

—Use boats that will float if swamped or capsized, and warn swimmers and boaters to stay out of ponds during storms and when spillways are flowing.

—Above all, recognize that farm ponds are hazards to small children.

Your farm or ranch pond can be a source of enjoyment as well as profit, but only if it is safe. For more information on farm ponds call or come by the Soil Conservation Service.

Winter Named ARC Head

The 13 member states of the Appalachian Commission have unanimously elected Gov. William Winter as states' cochairman of the ARC. Governor Winter will begin his one-year term as States' Cochairman on Jan. 1, 1983.

In accepting the office, Winter said, "The success of ARC programs has been too great to permit its demise. I will work for continued funding for the job creation and highway department programs of the ARC. When I testified along with Gov. Lamar Alexander of Tennessee on behalf of ARC before Congressional committees in Washington, D.C., this spring, I detected new interest on the part of Congress for perpetuating ARC. I do not intend to preside over the dismantling of this important program."

"This is a critical period for all of us concerned about the future of the Appalachian region," Winter continued. "I will work to get a five year finish-up program for ARC firmly established in the next year along with the creation of an Appalachian Development Foundation."

The ARC, which funds programs for economic development, highways, and health care in 20 Northeast Mississippi counties, has been targeted for eventual phase out by the Reagan Administration. The governors of the ARC states are seeking a five-year finish-up program for ARC.

The allocation voted by the Commission would provide the 13 Appalachian states with $83 million for non-highway programs and $215 million for highways and access roads for Fiscal Year 1983. These amounts are based on a request for $298 million which is still pending before Congress.

Major programs eligible for funding from the FY 1983 allocations include projects to create jobs and attract private investment in economic development, to complete the network of rural health care facilities, to provide clean drinking water and other basic facilities in 67 "distressed" counties, and to finish the most important remaining unimproved segments of the Appalachian Development Highway System.

In addition to serving as Cochairman of ARC, Gov. Winter is also chairman of the Southern Regional Education Board. He recently completed his tenure as chairman of the Southern Growth Policies Board.

Small Business Office To Open In Tupelo

An additional 3,000 individuals and small businesses throughout Mississippi will receive counseling and training from the state's Small Business Development Center during the 1982-83 year under a plan which calls for opening satellite offices in Tupelo, Meridian and Natchez.

The outreach offices are expected to begin operations within the year and will be staffed one-two days a week by a personnel from regional offices in Oxford, Jackson and Long Beach, according to Raleigh Byars, director of the Oxford sub-center.

"These particular areas have fast growing populations and economies," Byars said. "We feel additional coverage is needed to assist them in developing new businesses as well as in maintaining established ones."

During the first six months of this year more businesses have failed than in all of 1981, Byars reported. "We at the Small Business Development Center believe we can improve those odds."

In North Mississippi alone, over 100 businesses were advised during the Center's first eight months of operation as accounting, finance, government regulations, engineering, personnel, production and marketing, Byars said. With the opening of the Tupelo satellite, he expects that number to increase.

The SBDC began operation in February 1980 to help provide a wide range of management, training and technical services to Mississippi's small businesses. The center is a cooperative arrangement among all Mississippi institutions of higher learning, the private sector and the U.S. government.

North Mississippi businessmen within a 55-mile radius of Oxford who need assistance may call the Oxford subcenter toll-free, 1-234-2120. Other residents may call the Jackson office toll-free, 1-800-962-2346.

Kelley Scott of Booneville was among some 150 high school students from throughout the state enrolled in the 1982 session of Governor's School at Mississippi University for Women.

Governor's School, which concluded earlier this month, is a three-week residential honors program for gifted and talented students. The school is designed to provide rising high school juniors and seniors with academic, creative and leadership experiences. Participants were selected from nominations by school systems across Mississippi.

Gov. William Winter, who established the program at The W last year, was guest speaker at the "Governor's Banquet." He challenged the young scholars to share knowledge gained at the Governor's School with their peers.

YOUTH REVIVAL - Young people attending an areawide youth revival stand for a group photo (above) Wednesday night, July 21, at Calvary Baptist Church in Booneville. Other churches actively participating were Gaston Baptist Church, Fairview Baptist Church, Crestwood Baptist Church and Antioch Baptist Church. Michael D. Johnson was the evangelist. R.J. Bostick is pastor of the host church. In the photo at right, the youth choir performs under the direction of Tony Wilkerson.

Area Baptist Churches Hold Youth Revival

"This meeting was very special because of the concern, compassion and effort put forward by all who participated in the services. Adults and youth alike shared throughout the week. The pastoral support was recognized as a quality of this meeting. The youth have received the motivation and dynamics of the power of God. This may be the beginning point of a great awakening that God can and will send revival to this city and county."

- Michael D. Johnson, Evangelist

"There are so many things offered to our youth today that are contrary to basic moral principals and contrary to Biblical teaching. The Christian community must make available a suitable alternative. I feel there is a definite need in Prentiss County for Christian activity among youth that will allow them to grow up in Christ and, in doing so, they will provide strength for the future. We have one of the greatest natural resources at our disposal - our youth. . . Resources are no good unless they are developed. It is our responsibility."

- Tony Wilkerson, Youth Minister, Gaston Baptist Church

"As pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, I am delighted to have been a part of this revival meeting. To see the participation from other pastors and their church people was most encouraging. God blessed each evening with an increase in attendance in each service and with good singing and preaching."

- R.J. Bostick, Pastor, Calvary Baptist Church

Survey Shows

Division Remains On Political Issues

Blacks and whites in Mississippi remain deeply divided on a number of political issues and blacks are significantly more disillusioned with state government and public officials than whites, a statewide telephone-opinion poll has found.

The poll, sponsored by the political science department at Mississippi State University, found that blacks support social welfare spending much more than whites.

Eighty-three percent of the blacks surveyed support increased state spending to deal with poverty and 84 percent support increased state spending on health care, compared with 36 percent and 51 percent, respectively, for whites.

Survey director Stephen Shaffer said that while whites are split on whether taxes should be increased or spending cut to balance the state budget, blacks prefer increased taxes by a two-to-one margin.

"Blacks are also more liberal than whites on national issues," Shaffer said. "Only 14 percent of blacks feel that less should be spent on federal domestic programs like health and welfare, compared with 53 percent of whites."

"Sixty-six percent of whites feel that more should be spent on national defense, compared to only 23 percent of blacks. Majorities of blacks oppose resuming the draft and ending court-ordered busing, while majorities of whites support the draft and oppose forced busing. In addition, 71 percent of blacks support strikes by public employees, while 56 percent of whites oppose such strikes."

"Twenty-six percent of blacks rate Mississippi as an excellent place to live, compared with 41 percent of whites," the assistant professor said. "Blacks are somewhat less supportive of the state Legislature and the governor than are whites, and they are significantly more disillusioned with both of the state's United States senators."

Shaffer said 75 percent of whites rate Sen. John C. Stennis' job performance approvingly, compared with only 56 percent of blacks. Sen. Thad Cochran is rated favorably by 70 percent of whites, compared with a slight majority of 52 percent of blacks.

As the blacks' disillusionment with state government, Shaffer said only 39 percent rate the quality of government in Mississippi "favorably or good," compared to 50 percent of whites.

When asked how Mississippi public officials treat the races, Shaffer said 48 percent of blacks "feel that whites are treated better than blacks are and 51 percent believe they are treated equally."

"Most whites--66 percent--feel that the races are treated equally, with 23 percent feeling that blacks are treated better than whites are and only 11 percent feeling that blacks are treated worse than whites," he added.

Shaffer said a major reason for black disillusionment with the state "is high unemployment and low salaries."

"Thirty-one percent of blacks felt that unemployment was the major problem facing the state, compared with only 15 percent of whites. Among blacks who felt that whites were treated better than they were, 31 percent mentioned greater unemployment among blacks as a reason, and 20 percent mentioned forms of racial discrimination in employment situations."

Inflation, which hits lower income people especially hard, was also a greater concern to blacks than whites, the survey found.

In addition, Shaffer said many blacks feel discriminated against by the state's political system and public policies.

"About half of the greater disillusionment of blacks than whites is because of the state structure, which is regressive in depending heavily on the sales tax that especially disadvantages poorer people," Shaffer said.

The survey included telephone interviews with 616 Mississippi residents between Oct. 19 and Nov. 19.

EYES IN ERROR: ASTIGMATISM

If you have a vision problem you have a lot of company. An estimated one out of every two people in the U.S. have eye problems. One of the more common problems is astigmatism.

Astigmatism is caused by an imperfectly shaped cornea which is the window of the eye through which light passes to the lens, where the image is focused. If the cornea is out of shape the image will be blurred. Instead of rays of light coming together at one point, they come together at two points which creates two separate images instead of one.

The kind of astigmatism you have depends on where the points of focus are located. It can be near-sighted or farsighted astigmatism. Or, it can be a combination of both.

If you've noticed a blurring of vision when looking at objects close up or far away you may have an astigmatism. Corrective eyeglasses or contact lenses can take the blur away and make your vision clear again. All it takes is an examination by your optometrist to find out how.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office.

Maintaining Your Mental Health

Everybody Needs Help Sometimes

By BARBARA SHACKELFORD
TIMBER HILLS
MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

No family escapes trouble. At some time, every family faces a relative's death, a child's school failure, a parent's job loss. In the words of Mark Twain, no one can breeze through all of life's problems with the calm of a Christian holding four aces.

Almost everybody needs help at one time or another. The right help can make the difference between a healthy or a crippled life.

A first step in helping someone deal with stress is to recognize the signs. You might hear: "I can't keep my mind on my work," "I can't relax," "I can't sleep," "I feel miserable, and I don't know why." These are signs of stress.

There are others. Have you heard someone bang on the door, felt an overpowering tiredness, noticed a child withdrawing from the family?

Are family members picking fights with each other more often than usual? Does your home seem always to be upset?

These, too, are signs of stress. Too much stress in a short time can bring on the blues. These take many forms, and all of them hurt. When low feelings last over several weeks, be concerned. These blues can be called depression.

There are good and bad ways to deal with depression. Don't talk about "bucking up" or "snapping out of it." This denies the seriousness of someone's feelings.

Instead, let him express his feelings. It's normal to stay that way for weeks at a time.

If you have a problem that gets you down, talk your feelings over with someone. And don't keep a problem from the children. They will know something is wrong anyway.

If it's something the whole family could help with, explore the situation together. Include each person in any decisions that affect him or her.

Children learn from you. If you face a problem honestly, so will they. Children only go to pieces when you do.

For more information about depression or other mental health issues, call the local Timber Hills office at 728-3174 or visit the office on the Highway 30 By-pass in Booneville.

State Education
Forums Scheduled

Eight forums addressing education and economic development in Mississippi will be held across the state during September and October, Gov. William Winter announced this week.

The forums, sponsored by the governor's office and concerned citizens, are slated for Sept. 7 at Oxford High School, Sept. 9 at Vicksburg Junior High School, Sept. 13 at Joe Cook Junior High School in Columbus, Sept. 14 at the Washington County Convention Center in Greenville, Sept. 21 at Siwell Junior High School in Jackson, Sept. 23 at R.H. Watkins High School in Laurel, Oct. 12 at Meridian High School and Oct. 19 at Mississippi College in Pascagoula. Each forum is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Topics to be discussed at the forums include educational finance, curriculum improvement, public kindergartens, compulsory school attendance, administrative efficiency, lay board of education proposals and teacher standards and pay.

"The forums will give the citizens of Mississippi an opportunity to be heard on the direction education and economic development should take in our state," said Winter. "I plan to make a maximum effort to pass legislation on these curial issues and hope everyone will join me in this cause by attending the forums."

For additional information concerning education and-or the forums, call the Governor's Service line (toll free) at 1-800-222-7622.

"Mississippi cannot progress economically until we progress educationally," Winter said. "It is in the interest of every person in this state to support measures which will ensure that our young people receive a quality education."

"With well-educated citizens, we can attract industry as well as reduce crime, unemployment and our welfare burden," he said. "It's time Mississippi gave itself a chance."

Winter, who plans to attend each forum, said they will not be designed to promote any one issue, but to address every aspect concerning public education and to allow for citizen input

Loan Activity Is Heavy On 1981 Crops

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

LOAN ACTIVITY HEAVY
ON 1981 CROPS

The Commodity Loan Program administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), is one of the protective measures offered to farmers. These are nonrecourse type loans in which producers pledge the commodity as loan collateral.

Upon loan maturity, the loan can be repaid plus interest or at the producers option the commodity can be forfeited as full loan repayment. Activity throughout the State of Mississippi was unusually heavy on most 1981 crops. This was due to generally depressed prices.

Soybeans was the crop which produced the most loan activity statewide with nearly 7 million bushels of the 1981 crop being pledged for loan. Here in Prentiss County 168,790 bushels of soybeans were placed under loan.

Statewide figures indicate loan activity for other crops as follows: over 289,000 bales of cotton were placed under loan, over 2 1/4 million bushels of wheat, over 862,000 hundredweight of rice, over 40,000 hundredweight of grain sorghum, nearly 77,000 bushels of corn, and over 211,000 pounds of honey.

In Prentiss County, 2,011 bales of cotton, 35,814 bushels of wheat, and 1,188 pounds of honey were placed under loan.

Many producers have found markets for pledged commodities and have paid their loans. Nevertheless, a large volume of commodities is being forfeited, which means that the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) will take title.

The price support program has not been used this extensively for several years. However, this year many farmers have found these loans to be essential to their survival.

Producers, or others, who are interested in getting detailed information on the commodity loan program should contact their local ASCS office.

USDA REQUESTS
COMMENTS ON 1983 FEED
GRAIN PROGRAM

Secretary of Agriculture, John R. Block, has asked the public to comment by Aug. 26 on provisions of the 1983 feed grain program, the details of which must be announced by Nov. 15.

Block said he plans to announce the 1983 feed grain program well in advance of the Nov. 15 statutory deadline.

Block said the U.S. Department of Agriculture would like to receive as many comments as possible so it will have a broad range of public opinion about the program. He said he will study the public's recommendations, as well as the most current data on U.S. and world crop conditions and crop supply and demand before he makes final decisions.

Specifically, USDA would like to receive comments on:

- loan and purchase prices, target prices and the national program acreage;
- whether to establish either an acreage reduction of set-aside program, and, if USDA establishes reductions for corn, oats, barley or sorghum, the levels of such reductions;

- provisions governing acreage devoted to conservation use;
- whether to establish a land diversion program and if such a program is established, a payment for the diversion;
- offsetting and cross compliance requirements under acreage reduction programs;
- methods for determining 1983 crop acreage bases;
- whether barley should be included for payment purposes; and
- if malting barley is included in the 1983 program, whether it should be exempted from an acreage reduction program.

Block also asked for opinions on provisions for a farmer-owned grain reserve, commodity eligibility, premiums and discounts, the establishment of county loan rates and all other provisions necessary to carry out a loan and purchase program for feed grains.

Details of program options USDA is considering are scheduled to appear in the July 27 Federal Register. Comments should be sent to Howard C. Williams, director, analysis division, USDA-ASCS, room 3741-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013. The comments will be available for public inspection in room 3741 of USDA's South Building during regular business hours.

Parents Meet To Organize Football Little League

More than 30 parents and supporters of the new Little League football program met at the Booneville West Side Park Sunday to discuss organization of the league.

Doug Mansell, chairman of the organizing committee, explained the program to parents and answered questions about the program.

"We want a program that is fun for the boys," Mansell said. "Every boy who attends the majority of the practice sessions will be given the opportunity to play at least one quarter in each game."

He said no all-star team will be selected, and records will be published alphabetically rather than in the order of their won-lost records.

There will be two divisions in the league determined by age. Boys in the 7-9 age group will play "flag" ball which observes the same basic rules as the older group, except the ball carrier is not tackled.

The 10-12 year-old division will follow the same basic rules used statewide. Many of the rules are designed to reduce the possibility of injury, such as no kickoffs, free kicks on fourth down, and when the receiver catches the punt he cannot advance it.

Mansell said several special "Prentiss County" rules will also be added.

"For instance," Mansell said, "we will have two-point conversions on a kick, and we will have field goal attempts. The difference is that both are free kicks and if the kick goes between the goal posts, regardless of how high or low, they are good."

"This should help produce future kickers for the high school teams," he said.

The teams will also have cheerleaders. Girls in grades two through six are eligible to be cheerleaders, and will be coached by local high school cheerleaders.

Registration for the players has been scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 7 and Saturday, Aug. 14 at 10 a.m. at the West Side Park. Boys who are unable to register on these days may register at the Prentiss County Development Association office or at the Sportin' goods Store on Highway 45.

To register a boy will need to bring his birth certificate and $15. To be eligible he must have completed the first grade and not have started in the seventh grade.

Uniforms, except for shoes, will be furnished. Each player will furnish his own tennis shoes.

We want to emphasize that all boys in the county are eligible to participate," Mansell said. "And that includes those who live in the Baldwin School District."

Williams And Palmer Win Pascal Box Golf Tournament

Local golfer Greg Williams and his partner, Pat Palmer of Corinth, put together a 17-under-par total of 125 to take top honors in the Pascal Box Honorary Two-Man Scramble this weekend at the Booneville Golf and Country Club.

Defending champions Leck Counce of Corinth and Don Hershfeld of Tupelo had a four-stroke lead Saturday, but dropped to a 68 Sunday to finish at third with a 129 total.

With rounds of 65-60, Williams and Palmer were three shots ahead of the second place team of Bob Davis and Dennis Bumbas of Corinth who finished with a 128.

Williams and another partner, Chris Mills of Tupelo, won the tournament two years ago with a 124 total.

Hal Anderson and Lou Perkins of Corinth won the first flight with a 135. Stan Wright of Booneville and Rick Hamilton of Ripley were one stroke behind at 136.

Manfred Saylors of Booneville and Ladd Dillworth of Tupelo took the honors in the second flight, finishing with a 136. They were followed by John Ferrell of Booneville and John Young of Corinth at 137.

Third flight honors went to Gary Cartwright of Booneville and Hal Fulton of Ripley who finished at 139. John Schiller and Andy Anderson of Booneville were next at 141.

Winning the fourth flight with a 141 were Charles Wilemon and Sonny Graves of Ripley. James Bethay of Booneville and Lawrence Meeks of Corinth finished second with a 142.

Jim Rosen and Buddy Copeland of Corinth won the fifth flight with a 141. Bubba Lott and David West of Booneville were second with a 148.

Ben Smith and Eddie Caveness of Booneville took the sixth flight with a 148. John Haynes and Jim Nanney of Baldwin were next at 149.

In the seventh flight, Jack Kendrick and Bob Ricks of Booneville had a 150.

TWO-MAN SCRAMBLE CHAMPS -- Tournament chairman Jack Haley (left) and Miss Hospitality Nancy Barger were on hand Sunday afternoon to present the top trophies to Greg Williams of Booneville and Pat Palmer of Corinth in the Booneville Golf and Country Club's annual Pascal Box Honorary Two-Man Scramble Golf Tournament. Action Is Exciting In Softball, LL Tournaments

By CLIFF LONG
Sports Writer

From the time action began early Monday night until it ended late Tuesday night, excitement was tremendous down to the last out.

The action took place during the combination championship tournament at the West Side Park. Participants include girls' softball teams, ages 9-12, and all Little League baseball teams.

A few upsets were recorded as the first round games came to an end. The remaining teams are looking ahead to this weekend for the finals.

MONDAY NIGHT

A big upset started the tournament as the winless Marathon Cheese girls (formerly 0-9) won their opening game against league champion Rotary.

Lee Carol Jackson crossed the plate in the bottom of the fifth inning thanks to Tanya Finch's single into right field. This broke the tie and won it for Marathon, 10-9.

Kim Cole hit a homerun for Rotary earlier in the game.

In the opening Little League game, Sonic defeated Kentucky Fried Chicken, 8-2. David Downs and Jodye Hyde both had round-trippers for Kentucky Fried, but it wasn't enough as Sonic pitcher Tracy Fugitt held Kentucky to only two runs.

triples and lead-off batter Kaye Phillips hit a homerun for H&W, but it wasn't enough as Debbie Crawford of Sunflower broke the 3-3 tie with her winning run batted in.

Sunflower won the game 4-3 and will battle Marathon Cheese tonight at 6 p.m. in the second round. H&W will be matched against Rotary at 7 p.m. in the losers' bracket of the double elimination tournament.

In the first Little League game Tuesday night, People's Bank, which was second place in the league and had a first round bye, was matched against Cox's Best Way in the second round.

In the second close game of the night, People's Bank pulled it out over Cox's, 3-2. Mike Coats of People's Bank held Cox's to only two runs as Alan Wilson hit the game-winning single that scored the third run in the bottom of the fifth inning.

Sonic advanced further in the tournament as they shut out Kellwood, 11-0.

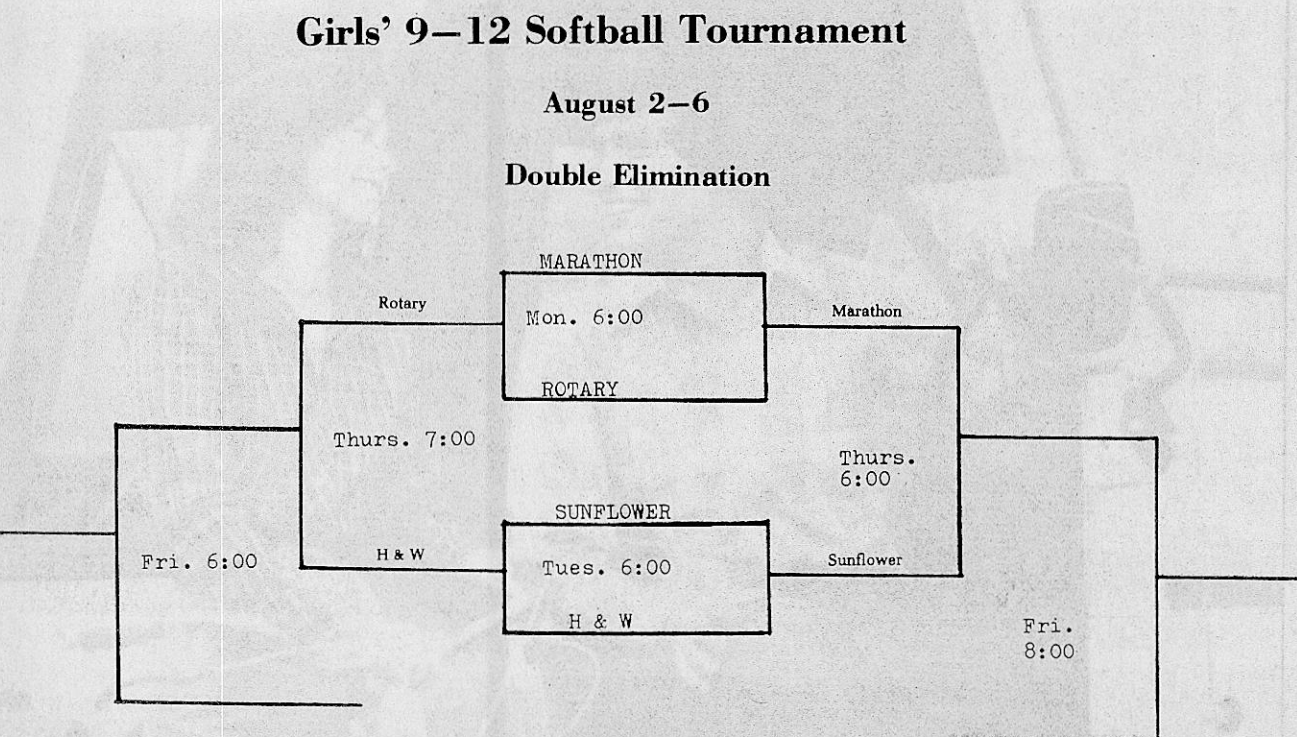

Everyone in Sonic's line-up scored at least once in the ballgame.

Kellwood was eliminated from the tournament as this was their second loss.

Another big upset came when Kentucky Fried Chicken defeated Cox's Best Way, 6-4, in a game where the loser was eliminated. Both teams had one loss prior to this game.

Brad Smith of Kentucky Fried hit a double and scored twice in the game. Cox's was eliminated, but with a good season behind them.

Semi-final games are scheduled tonight and finals will be tomorrow night. Games start at 6 p.m. and end around 10:30 both nights. For softball and baseball action that can't be beat, come to the park tonight and enjoy yourself.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of Jesse Cleveland Godwin, Sr. is humbly grateful for every act of kindness shown during the illness and death of our beloved husband, father, and grandfather.

We especially want to thank Dr. Galloway, Dr. Cleveland, and all the nurses and workers of the Intensive Care Unit at the Booneville Baptist Memorial Hospital for their concern, care, and close attendance upon our loved one.

To Brother Charles Leonard, minister, we owe much gratitude for visits, prayers, and officiating at the funeral services; and to the directors and employees of McMillan's Funeral Home, much appreciation for all your services and courtesy.

CARD OF THANKS

With gratitude, I want to thank our many friends and relatives for the kindness and sympathy shown to me during the illness and death of my husband, K.L. "Doc" Garner. For your prayers, visits, food, cards and contributions. A special thanks to the Rev. Luther Gibson and McMillan Funeral Home.

Soil Conservation Report

Overseeding With Legumes Improves Permanent Pastures

By: David Summers
Soil Conservationist
USDA-Soil
Conservation Service
Booneville
Field Office

With the cost of nitrogen fertilizer increasing, many cattlemen are looking at overseeding permanent pastures with legumes. Legumes are capable of producing up to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre each year while at the same time increasing the total digestibility and crude protein of the grazed forages.

There are four primary clovers that are best suited for Prentiss County. These are white clover, red clover, crimson clover and sub clover.

White clover is a perennial that does well on most soils in Prentiss County. It should be overseeded at the rate of four pounds of seed per acre between September 1 and October 15. White clover will produce up to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre per year.

Red clover is a biennial that will volunteer from seed if allowed to seed the second year. Red clover does well on most heavy to medium textured soils, and will produce up to 110 pounds of nitrogen per acre per year. It should be overseeded at the rate of 10 to 12 pounds of seed per acre between September 1 and October 15.

Crimson clover is an annual that does well on a wide variety of soil and will reseed if grazing is restricted from April 15 to May 1, depending on the flowering date. Crimson clover, if properly inoculated, will produce up to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre per year. Overseed crimson clover at the rate of 30 pounds of seed per acre between September 1 and October 1.

Sub clover is an annual clover that is relatively new to cattlemen in Mississippi. Sub clover, unlike other clovers, has the ability to tolerate close grazing and still reseed. It also has the potential to produce up to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre per year. Sub clover should be overseeded at the rate of 20 pounds of seed per acre.

If you decide to overseed your permanent pasture with one of these clovers this fall you should apply lime, if needed, until the soil pH reaches 6.0, graze or clip closely in early September, apply 200-400 pounds of 0-20-20 plus Boron, disk lightly and harrow, sow the recommended seeding rate for the clover species you chose, and cultipack. Remember to inoculate all clover seeds with the proper inoculant before planting.

By LADY BLUE SURF

Congratulations to Sunshine on the marriage of her son, Timothy Mark Hughes to Velda Anita Cole on May 28. May you enjoy a long and wonderful life together. He is the grandson of Texas Ruby.

Happy birthday to Magic Genie on Aug. 1, Fig Leaf, Lady Double R and Kawack on Aug. 2, and Little Bo Peep on Aug. 3. Hope each of you enjoy a nice day and enjoy many, many more.

Not very many members showed up at Dixieland

Skating Rink for the fun, but those who did really had a good time. Even Chipmunk and Little Blue Wave braved a pair of skates. Lady Birchunter learned to get all the way around the rink several times. Blue Surf really enjoyed it until someone had the Limbo set up and he was out of the running.

Our social will be held on Aug. 14, at 7:30 p.m. at Westside Community Center in city park. Bobby Strange will cook the fish for the fish fry. The fish will be furnished by Rienzi Kingfish. Admission will be $1 per person. Contact White Girl or Lady Buffalo and tell them how much you can eat of fish or chicken. Ladies will be making the slaw and furnishing tea, cokes, lemonade, etc. Turn your names in by Sunday afternoon Aug. 8, because that is the deadline to let them know how much to prepare.

Hauler is having to gum it now that he's without most of his teeth. Blue Lady and Little White Girl's Mom had a wreck going to work, but other than some bruises they are okay. Lady Sidekick has been visiting with relatives in Alabama this week. Lots of club members are enjoying a weekend away from home at the river and camping.

Remember Aug. 17 is the final election for officers for 1982-83. It will be at 7:30 p.m. at Westside Community Center. Make your plans to attend this very important meeting.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

Engineers, Data Processors Are State's Highest Paid Employees

Industrial engineers, earning an average of $11.76 per hour, are the highest paid employees in the state in occupations common to all responding industries, according to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission's 1982 Salary Survey.

Second on the list are data processing system analysts, who earn an average of $9.85 per hour, followed by office managers earning an average of $8.87 per hour.

Industrial engineers and data processing system analysts have been tops on the scale for the past two years.

The lowest paid workers employed in occupations common to all industries are janitors, who earn an average of $3.87 per hour. File clerks are next, earning an average of $4.16 per hour, followed by telephone operators and receptionists, earning an average of $4.45 and $4.51 an hour, respectively.

These four occupations were also the lowest paid workers in both 1980 and 1981 surveys.

In occupations peculiar to specific industries, of all jobs included in the survey geologists were at the top of the ladder salary-wise, earning an average of $21.16 per hour.

Next on the list were portfolio managers in the financial establishment industry, earning $21.05 per hour, followed by real estate brokers in the insurance and real estate industry ($20.45 per hour) and sales representatives in the chemical and allied products industry ($18.25 per hour).

At the opposite end of the scale for occupations peculiar to a specific industry, waiters and waitresses earn the lowest at an average of $2.66 per hour, excluding their income from tips.

Bellhops are also among the lowest paid workers in the state, earning an average of $3.17 per hour, excluding tips. Fish cleaners ($3.35 per hour) and laundry folders ($3.41 per hour) are also on the bottom of the list.

The data presented in the report was compiled on a statewide basis from January to April of this year. Employers were asked to complete forms detailing the number of their employees in each occupation, the average work week of the employees, and the salary received.

The 1982 MESC Salary Survey has been released for use by Chambers of Commerce, industrial development groups, employers and personnel managers. Copies of the survey may be obtained from the Mississippi State Employment Service (Job Service). Specialized individual surveys for a particular group of counties in the state may also be available on request through local Job Service offices.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

God Intervenes

By C. D. Edge

Almighty God made us and He has the divine right to move into our lives and our plans at His discretion. We that are Christians are told in Rom. 9:28 that we are CALLED ACCORDING TO HIS PURPOSE. He has the right and He does intervene into our lives. Just when many think that they have everything planned out according to their own wants and wishes then HE INTERVENES.

This is His way of getting our attention. His way of taking our eyes off the world and causing us to look to

Him. The Bible says in Psalms 16:11 THOU WILT SHEW ME THE PATH OF LIFE, then in Psalms 37:23 we are told that OUR STEPS ARE ORDERED BY THE LORD.

Now, some people get mad at God because He intervenes-BUT HE HAS THE RIGHT AND HE KNOWS WHAT'S BEST. His intervention may be the calling home of a loved one or it may be a separation or a parting that is temporary or forever. God can and will use different methods to conduct His will. The Bible is full of the accounts of lives altered and even ended to comply with God's will. He certainly uses these changes today to stop us and to turn us back to Him. We forget our commitments and promises to Him, but He does not. He is LORD and He will use radical surgery to draw our lives closer to His will. There is no luck, no element of chance with Christians. Our Lord directs our lives; He has that right.

John 1:3-ALL THINGS WERE MADE BY HIM; AND WITHOUT HIM WAS NOT ANYTHING MADE THAT WAS MADE.
