Four Arrested In Area Break-Ins

Two adults and two juveniles, all from Prentiss County, have been arrested in connection with recent break-ins in the county, according to Prentiss County Deputy Sheriff Doug Hendrix.

Earl Owens, 30, Terry Owens, 20, both of Route 4, Booneville, and a 17-year-old juvenile were arrested Saturday and charged with two counts of grand larceny and one count of petty larceny.

The grand larceny charges are in connection with July break-ins at Sale Martin's residence in Frankstown and Tommy Strange's utility shed on Meadow Creek Road. Food and gasoline were taken from the Martin residence and 300 lbs. of beef was stolen from Strange's shed.

The Sheriff's Department received confidential information that these residences had been burglarized. Neither Martin nor Strange knew they had been victims of break-ins until deputies asked them to check for missing items.

The petty larceny charge stems from the theft of a battery from a combine belonging to Chip Nelson of Baldwyn.

The 17-year-old juvenile was released to the custody of his parents since it was his first offense, Hendrix said.

Terry Owens and another 17-year-old juvenile were also charged in connection with the July 28 break-in at Bob Christian's residence in Thrasher. Owens was charged with receiving stolen property. The juvenile was charged with grand larceny and released to the custody of his parents. However, Hendrix said he will probably be certified to face the charge as an adult.

Earl Owens was released Sunday night on $1,000 bond set by Justice Court Judge Leon Lauderdale. Terry Owens was released Tuesday night on two $10,000 bonds set by Justice Court Judges Gene Prentice and Lauderdale.

The weekend arrests were the result of a month-long investigation by the sheriff's department, Hendrix said.

Educational Forum Coordinator Named

Avenell Cunningham of Booneville has been selected to serve as Prentiss County coordinator of an Educational Forum Planning Committee in conjunction with an area forum addressing education and economic development in Mississippi.

The forum has been set for 7 p.m. Sept. 7 at the Oxford High School in Oxford. Sponsored by the Governor's Office and other concerned citizens, it is one of eight such meetings planned across the state during September and October.

"The forum will give area residents an opportunity to be heard on the direction education and economic development should take in our state," Gov. William Winter said. "I plan to make a maximum effort to pass legislation on these crucial issues and hope everyone will join me in this cause by attending the forum."

Winter plans to attend all eight of the forums in the state.

Topics to be discussed include educational finance, curriculum improvement, public kindergartens, compulsory school attendance, administrative efficiency, lay board of education proposals and teacher standards and pay.

Anyone interested in obtaining additional information or in serving on any of the forum planning committee groups, including transportation, publicity, PTA, civic clubs, churches and businesses, should contact Avenell Cunningham at 728-7714.

A Sopping Wet Smile!

Lorie Cartwright and friends take a snack break at the West Side Park Swimming Pool this week as they try to get in a little more swimming time before the summer ends. The swimming pool closes for the summer this Sunday. Could Lorie's big smile be because she knows the beginning of school is just around the corner? (Photo by Cliff Long)

Local Vocational Programs Receive Top State Honor

The Cooperative Vocational Office Training (VOT) and Intensive Business Training (IBT) programs at the Prentiss County Vocational School have jointly been named the state's most outstanding vocational program of the year at the secondary level.

The announcement was made during the Mississippi Vocational Conference of the Mississippi Association of Vocational Educators meeting at Mississippi State University last week. Instructors Laura W. Cartwright and Willie Frances Rutherford received certificates commemorating the honor.

Hinds Junior College received the same honor on the post-secondary level.

Housed in the Business and Office Department of the Prentiss County Vocational School, the VOT and IBT programs are taught cooperatively by Mrs. Cartwright, coordinator of the VOT program, and Mrs. Rutherford, instructor of the IBT program.

These programs of instruction began at the Prentiss County Vocational School on July 1, 1975. Average enrollment is 24 students, with 60 percent VOT and 40 percent IBT. The program has an outstanding record of placing about 70 percent of the students in their program field, with additional students going into post-secondary education.

The yearly cost of the program to the school systems is $1,000, not including teachers salaries.

The training program administered by Mrs. Cartwright and Mrs. Rutherford is in a constant flux of change. No two years are alike, nor is there a year's course of study that is the same.

Each summer Mrs. Cartwright and Mrs. Rutherford go over the program, adding, deleting and-or making any changes

Union Effort Defeated At Schweiger

For the second time this year, employees at a Booneville manufacturing firm have voted against unionization.

The United International Upholsterers Union of North America were defeated in an election last Thursday at Schweiger Industries in Booneville. In an election earlier this year, voters at the plant defeated a unionization effort by the Teamsters union.

In last Thursday's election, 128 votes were cast for the company and 28 for the union, according to plant manager L.J. Tucker. Three votes were challenged and two votes were void, he said.

The union has five working days to challenge the election. If no challenge is filed by today, the election results will be certified.

In order for a labor union vote to be held, 30 percent of the employees of the plant must sign a statement asking the union to act as their collective bargaining agency. Of the company's 245 workers, 184 were eligible to vote in last Thursday's election, company officials said.

The election at the Booneville furniture manufacturing plant was supervised by the National

Manslaughter Charge Expected In Pedestrian Death

A Baldwyn man who was the driver of a car that ran over two pedestrians Friday night on Airport Road--killing one and seriously injuring the other--will be charged with manslaughter, according to officials at the Prentiss County Sheriff's Department.

Alvin Nichols Jr., 33, of Route 2, Baldwyn, was headed east on Airport Road at about 10:30 p.m. Friday when he ran off the shoulder of the road and struck James Leach, 20, of Route 1, Booneville, and Ricky Chandler, 18, of Route 2, Baldwyn, according to Prentiss County deputies.

Leach was taken to Booneville hospital and then transferred to Magnolia Hospital in Corinth where he died of head injuries at about 5 a.m. Saturday.

Chandler was also transferred to Magnolia Hospital where he is listed in an improved condition, hospital officials said Tuesday. He received a broken leg and internal injuries in the accident.

According to the accident report, Nichols was headed east on Airport Road when his car ran off the road on the left side. The car travelled along the shoulder of the road approximately 160 feet and struck Leach and Chandler, who were standing on the shoulder of the road.

The car then travelled about 150 feet further and struck an unoccupied car belonging to Ollie McGaughy. McGaughy's car was also parked on the shoulder of the road. Nichols' car then crossed the road and went about 25 yards into a bean field, officers reported.

Nichols was also taken to the Booneville hospital where he remained in stable condition as of Tuesday.

Authorities said they are checking to see if alcohol was a contributing factor in the accident. Blood samples from Nichols were sent to the State Crime Lab in Batesville Monday to be analyzed.

No formal charges had been placed against Nichols as of early Wednesday morning.

Funeral arrangements for Leach were incomplete at presstime Wednesday. Lusk Funeral Home in Corinth is in charge of arrangements.

In Congressional Race

Election Is Tuesday

Those who voted in the June 1 U.S. Senate primary election will have to vote in the same party if they participate in next Tuesday's District 1 Congressional primaries, according to an opinion from Attorney General Bill Allain.

Anyone who voted in the Republican Party June 1 will not be eligible to change parties and vote in the Democratic Party this Tuesday. Likewise, anyone who voted in the Democratic Party in June will not be eligible to vote in the Republican party, only the Democratic.

The Congressional primaries were not held at the same time as the Senate primaries on June 1 due to a delay caused by a court ruling on redistricting congressional districts. This ruling had no effect on the Senate elections.

District 1 was the only district to pick up a candidate as a result of the redistricting changes. Previously unopposed in the Republican primary, Fran Fawcett of Oxford picked up in the areas that are deemed applicable. Plus, the two teachers themselves are continually taking additional training to pass on to their students as new equipment, supplies and teaching methods become available.

This summer the Business and Office Department added the school's first microcomputer. Mrs. Cartwright and Mrs.

Rutherford have attended seminars and worked individually with the computer this summer, getting prepared to incorporate the new technology into training programs at the school this fall.

There are many variations of teaching going on in these programs at the vo-tech. First and second year IBT and VOT students all work together. In addition to lectures by the teachers, instruction consists of teacher-student discussions as well as presentations by guests from different work areas.

Second year students also reinforce their skills by helping to teach first year students. There is a great deal of individualized instruction.

Also a part of the program, students enrolled in the VOT classes work part-time with local businesses to get first hand experience of today's business world.

Mrs. Cartwright received her B.A. degree in business education and her Master of Business Education from the University of Mississippi. She has also received an Education Specialist Degree in Business Education from Mississippi State University.

In addition to her training in business education, Mrs. Cartwright also has 12 years of experience as a secretary at Booneville High School.

Mrs. Rutherford received her B.A. in secretarial science from Union University in Jackson, Tenn., and her Masters of Business Education from the University of Mississippi. With 11 years of

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, is it in harmony with the scriptures to have women preachers?

ANSWER: In 1 Tim. 2:11, Paul says, "Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection. But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence. For Adam was first formed, then Eve. And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived was in the transgression." You will note in the verse that "To teach and to usurp authority" form a double infinitive connected by the conjunction "nor". Both are modified by the phrase "over the man." This means that a woman cannot teach over the man or usurp authority over the man. When a woman becomes a public preacher she violates this passage. She is not only teaching over the man but usurping authority over him. A woman may teach other women and children but not as a public evangelist over the man. A woman may even teach a man if she does it in subjection. But there is no way she can do this and be a public evangelist. The word "teach" means to convey a thought or idea to someone else. A woman may do this if she does it in subjection. When one gets up as a teacher over a class, or in the pulpit over a mixed audience, they are teaching with authority and not in subjection.

Finishing Touches Added To New Jumpertown Bank

New Jumpertown Bank To Open Next Week

Banking in Jumpertown will become a reality next week when The Peoples Bank branch office opens its doors for business. Grand opening ceremonies are scheduled for Friday, Aug. 20.

The exact opening date is not known yet, but will probably be Tuesday or Wednesday, said Sam Milton, senior vice-president and manager of the Peoples Bank in Booneville.

"We'll certainly be open for business no later than Wednesday so folks can make deposits and cash checks," Milton said.

Milton said construction workers are putting the finishing touches on the branch office this week and that some final landscaping may be completed after the bank opens next week.

The branch office will initially employ two people. Mrs. Shirley Parham of Blackland will be the Jumpertown branch manager. Marilyn Windham of Jumpertown will be assistant branch manager.

State Representative Billy McCoy and State Senator Bill May along with Jumpertown and Booneville officials and banking employees will be among those on hand for ribbon cutting ceremonies on Friday, Aug. 20, at 11 a.m.

"We have an attractive branch office at Jumpertown and I think everyone will be pleased to have a facility that nice out there," Milton said. "We're looking to have the support of the people out there because that's what it's going to take."

Hours for the branch office will be 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. on Friday. The branch office will be closed on Saturday.

The New Peoples Bank branch is located across from the Jumpertown Town Hall. Cost of the project was in excess of $100,000.

"The greatest lesson I learned as a prisoner of war was that it is essential to life to believe in something bigger than yourself."

These were the words of former Vietnamese prisoner of war Smitty Harris in an address to the Booneville Rotary Club Tuesday.

Harris, a marketing and trust development officer for the First Citizens National Bank in Tupelo, spent eight years as a prisoner when his F-105 fighter plane was shot down over North Vietnam in April 1965.

Harris' was the lead plane on the run to the target when the engine was hit by anti-aircraft fire and he was forced to eject.

"Being in the lead plane, I wasn't worried about being hit," Harris said. "In the first place I was too busy, and at that stage of the war, the Vietnamese were notoriously poor gunners. If they were shooting at me they were more apt to hit the second or third plane behind me."

But Harris' plane was hit and he was forced to eject over a village, and when his parachute landed he was immediately surrounded by 30 to 40 people.

"They were mad," he said. "Most of them had sticks, but some had guns. Fortunately older heads prevailed and I was taken prisoner instead of being executed on the spot."

He was later blindfolded, and when the blindfold was removed, he was in a POW camp in Hanoi.

"They didn't torture us at first," he said. "There was constant interrogation on tactics, targets, capabilities, outfits. But no torture. Our captors spoke English very well, and they talked to us for hours about the glories of Communism and the evils of the United States."

Harris said the government had made a great effort to improve the literacy rate among the Vietnamese and had been rather successful. But he said the primary purpose of the training was to teach them Communism through songs, books, schools and movies.

Harris said the first major effort to exploit the American prisoners was made in July 1966 when they were taken from their camp to downtown Hanoi so they could see first hand how much Americans were hated by the Vietnamese people.

"We were to be used as objects of hate for the people, but the situation got out of hand," he said.

"Although we were heavily guarded by the military, the people were able to get to us and beat us."

"But worldwide publicity caused so much reaction that our conditions were improved slightly," he said.

"In 1969, our first real break came with the organized letter-writing campaign at home. Maybe you thought your letters didn't help, but they showed the North Vietnamese that a handful of prisoners in their country did matter to the American public. Those letters to the Hanoi delegation in Paris might never have been read. They are probably rotting in a warehouse, but they showed Hanoi that America cared and the beatings and torture stopped."

"Our second break came with the American raid on a prison camp to rescue the Americans," he said. "Due to flooding problems, the prisoners had been removed from that camp but the Vietnamese guards were killed with no American casualties."

Following the raid, all prisoners were returned to the "Hanoi Hilton" from the smaller camps throughout the countryside, Harris said. It was a morale booster because they were in larger groups and could communicate.

"They tried to prevent our communicating," he said. "but as soon as they broke one of our codes we devised another."

"After long periods of torture, we lost our will to defy them," he said. "They finally convinced us to write statements denouncing America, but we still wrote in jargon and double talk.

They made few efforts to use the statements because any American could tell we were forced to write them."

"But there was one exception," he said. "One of the prisoners was finally forced to write a statement in short, crisp sentences that could not contain double talk. He even named two pilots in his outfit who were anti-war activists and repeatedly refused to fly missions against North Vietnam. And his statements were widely used as Vietnamese propaganda."

And who were the two men he named?

Clark Kent and Dick Tracy.

MAYOR HONORED -- Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb (left) was recently selected as a laureate for the 1981 Industrial Development Volunteer of the Year Award by the Mississippi Industrial Development Council. According to a spokesman for the Council, Mayor Crabb was selected for his outstanding contribution to industrial and economic expansion in Mississippi. Fifteen laureates from across the state were honored July 20 at the Governor's Mansion, where Gov. William Winter (right) presented certificates to each. Marlin Ivey of Kosciusko was selected as Mississippi's Volunteer of the Year for 1981. Mrs. Crabb (center) was also on hand for the presentation of the award.

State Leaders Say

Lay Board Important To State Education

Business and education leaders joined together Monday in Jackson to announce support of a proposed lay state board of education, and called on voters to support the Nov. 2 general election proposal.

"Establishment of a lay state board of education could well be the single most important step that could happen for education in Mississippi," said Benton Cain, a Jackson businessman who is heading the effort.

"And because we know how vital education is for the building of a strong economy, this proposal may prove to be the key to economic growth, as well," Cain added.

Cain was speaking for a lay state board steering committee established by the Mississippi Economic Council. Several business and education organizations, whose participation was invited by the MEC steering committee, joined the news conference held at a Jackson hotel.

In addition to the Mississippi Economic Council, business organizations supporting the lay board proposal include the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, Delta Council, and Mississippi Manufacturers Association. In addition, many chambers of commerce have endorsed the proposal.

Education organizations expressing support were the Mississippi Professional Educators, Mississippi Parents-Teachers Association, Mississippi Association of School Superintendents, Mississippi Association of School Administrators, and the Council of Public Schools.

The 1982 Mississippi Legislature placed the referendum on the Nov. 2 ballot. The proposal would amend the state constitution by replacing the current ex officio state board of education with one appointed by elected state officials. The new board would consist of nine members; five would be appointed by the Governor, two appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, and two by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The members would be appointed to staggered terms, assuring that no governor--after the first appointments--would appoint a majority of the board during his four-year term.

Provisions are also made for geographical and professional representation, with one appointment to be filled by a school teacher and one to be filled by a school administrator. After the first appointments, members would serve terms of nine years.

The amendment also provides for an appointed state superintendent of education, with the new board responsible for the appointment. Presently, the state superintendent is elected. The appointment would be subject to the approval of the Senate, and the superintendent would serve at the pleasure of the board.

"We feel that this appointment would help remove the state's chief public school executive from the field of politics and encourage his or her selection on the basis of professional qualification rather than political influence," Cain said.

Cain noted that several studies--including one by the MEC--have reached the conclusion that Mississippi needs an expanded, lay state board of education as a means of improving education.

"We believe that with the business and education organizations represented here today, Mississippi voters can clearly see that business and education stand solidly behind this constitutional amendment," Cain said.

"We urge all voters to join with us and put the education of future generations of Mississippians in the hands of the people," he said.

MARIJUANA CONFISCATED -- Some 30 marijuana plants were confiscated Friday of last week between East Prentiss and the Moore's Mill area about a quarter of a mile off the Natchez Trace. Law authorities found the marijuana plants about three weeks ago. When no one returned to the plants, authorities pulled them up. So far no arrests have been made in the case. Shown with the plants are Sam Bridges (left), 4th district constable, and Billy Sartin, 4th district Justice Court Judge.

an opponent with the addition of Monroe County to the first district. Van East Jr., who was already running in the second district was placed in the first district with the redistricting change.

On the Democratic side, incumbent Jamie L. Whitten of Charleston will face Jim Richardson of Corinth.

Since only the one race is on Tuesday's ballot, voter turnout is expected to be low.

WHAT IS "SCREENING?"

The National Society For The Prevention Of Blindness has this important message for parents:

A very young child does not know how well he sees and cannot TELL you whether or not he can see the world around him clearly. Early detection of any vision problem is important and can lead to correction of it.

Under the supervision of the NSPB and its state affiliates, many thousands of pre-school children are screened annually for any type of astigmatism. But such screenings are in no way eye tests or examinations. Their purpose is to DETECT signs of possible problems. Each year, the program refers thousands of children for PROFESSIONAL eye examination.

Because most of America's 25,000,000 pre-school children are not being reached by the screening program, their parents should see to it that their children's eyes are examined by a vision specialist.

Presented as a public service by Dr. Walter C. Simpson, Optometrist, 113 Main St., Booneville, Ms., phone 728-4853.

QUESTION: Would you support Little League Football for ages 7-12 in Booneville?

EDDIE TROUT of 1201 N. Lake St., Booneville: "Yes. It's good for the youngsters and gives them something to do to keep out of trouble."

RAY MOORE of 601 College St., Booneville: "Yes. I believe it's good to have something in Booneville for kids to do. It will keep them off the streets and give them something to do instead of getting in trouble."

CAROLYN McCOY of Route 5, Booneville: "I don't like football myself--it's a rough sport. But I think if they have a coach who will watch out for their safety and the parents take an interest in the program that it should be supported."

JIM SPOONER of 111 Smith Drive, Booneville: "No. I'd be afraid of the physical injuries. I think children 7-12 are just a little too young physically to be playing football."

CHARLIE KENNEDY of 107 Third St., Booneville: "Yes. I think the kids would benefit from it and it would give them a chance to learn the aspects of the game."

MARIA HORN of 101 Bridge St., Booneville: "I don't have children old enough to be in it but I think it's a good idea. I think structured activity where they are supervised is good for them."

Reflections

By Ken Christian

Editor

AFTER A LONG, hot summer, the Little League and softball seasons at the city park are finally winding down as the time for school to begin draws ever nearer.

For the most part, the sports programs at the local parks have been better than ever this summer. With more than 300 people involved in the programs this summer at the West Side City Park, park program director Rickey Gillentine has done an outstanding job of keeping everything on an even keel.

Umpires Ronnie Johnson, Bryan Barron, Jimmy Johnson, Donald Gann, Billy Hale and Gary Johnson are also to be commended, not only for the quality of their officiating, but also for keeping their cool when confronted with parents, coaches and-or players who disagreed with a call.

Seldom seen, but often heard, Mark McCreary also did a good job not only of keeping scores for the Little League and Tee-Ball teams, but also of announcing the games and of prodding the teams into action to keep the games as close to schedule as possible.

Likewise, Cathy Chaffin did an excellent job in keeping score and announcing the City League and Church League softball games. Without the cooperation of Cathy and Mark, it would have been impossible to get the scores of the games in the paper each week.

And, of course the players and coaches who worked so hard all summer are to be commended, as are most of the parents.

CONDITIONS AT THE park this summer were a pleasant contrast to last summer when things got so bad on one occasion that a parent actually attacked a coach with a baseball bat--over a ballgame, of all things!

With only a few minor exceptions, parents, coaches, players and fans are all to be commended for the responsible way they used the park's facilities this year.

There was only one group who marred the season--and, thankfully, they only caused a slight blemish. This was a small group of "poor losers" (composed mainly of parents). When their team lost, they were the first to blame it on the umpires or the coaches or anyone else. This is a prime example of poor sportsmanship--and not a very good role model for those playing on the teams.

To give an example: after one team lost a close game and was eliminated from the tournament last week, I overheard the mother of one of the players on the losing team say over and over--loudly--that it was OK that the team lost because "you had to play more than just the other team; you had to play the umpires, too!"

The true test of good sportsmanship is how a person handles a loss. It's easy to be gracious to the other team and display good sportsmanship when you win. But, when you lose, it takes guts to congratulate the other team--and really mean it!

Often blamed, but rarely actually at fault, umpires and other officials have been accused of losing practically every game that has ever been played--depending, of course, upon whether the team in question won or lost.

Eyes On Mississippi

Why Hide The Public's Business?

By BILL MINOR

JACKSON, Miss.--Openness in government still has a long way to go before becoming firmly rooted in the state's political system from the highest level to the lowest, it is quite evident.

Unfortunately, there was no tradition in Mississippi for openness in the decision making process, and the peoples' right to know what is going on within public bodies. As a consequence, governing and policy making bodies are still finding it hard to adjust to the state's first open meetings law passed in 1975.

The State Legislature is yet to accept the need for enacting an open records law as a vital adjunct to the peoples' right to know, and the result is Mississippi is now the only one of the 50 states which does not have a law guaranteeing access to public records.

For the third successive year, a bill to open records in Mississippi make good headway during the 1982 session, but died in a disagreement among lawmakers over the details after passing both branches.

A new move is slated to be made when the legislators again convene, possibly in the expected November special session, to put through an acceptable open records bill. The Mississippi Press Association

A new move is slated to be made when the legislators again convene, possibly in the expected November special session, to put through an acceptable open records bill. The Mississippi Press Association, Common Cause, and the newly organized Mississippi First Inc. have all given high priority to enactment of open records legislation.

Many believe if it had not been for greater public interest in activities of governmental bodies created by Watergate, the Mississippi Legislature would not have finally passed an open meetings bill back in 1975. Several other things helped, also. That year many legislative committees were finally opened to reporters, a move inspired by then Lt. Gov. William Winter. Gov. Bill Waller also gave strong backing to open meetings.

Longtime open meetings advocates felt the 1975 bill contained more clouds than it did sunshine, permitting public bodies to go into executive sessions without stating any reason, but it was considered important to at least establish a statement of intent in the law that meetings should be conducted in public session.

Last year, the Legislature surprisingly voted to close some of the loopholes in the original law, spelling out limitations on what matters could be discussed in executive session, and declaring for the first time that no binding action could be taken by a public body in closed session.

How many public bodies around the state have been abiding by the open meetings law, and its 1981 amendments, is believed directly proportionate to the alertness and insistence of local newspapers and broadcast media that the law must be followed.

Recently, the Vicksburg Evening Post decided to go to court after the city's planning commission barred the newspaper's reporter from covering a meeting at which a study relating to city expansion was discussed with an attorney. The city commission said it was justified in closing the meeting under the 1981 amendment to the law relating to discussion of possible litigation.

But Chancellor Willard

McIlwain (ironically, a member of the State Senate back in 1975) held against the city and for the Evening Post, declaring that the planning commission sought to use the exemption as a loophole to circumvent the "Sunshine" law.

McIlwain also held, however, that the records of the planning commission are not covered by the open meetings law, and that he had no authority to order them made public, thereby pointing up the absence of a state open records law.

Since the City of Vicksburg has decided to contest the case further before the State Supreme Court, the Evening Post suit will evidently set the stage for the first legal test of the open meetings law and its 1981 amendments.

Newspapers and others representing the public's interest in keeping citizens informed about their government find one handicap in the open meetings law is its failure to require public bodies to give adequate advance notice of meetings.

The other day, the Sun, Biloxi-Gulfport, took the City of Gulfport to task for having held 29 special meetings of the City Council this year, often called with only an hour's notice. While the press was usually informed, the public wasn't, making difficult citizen involvement.

Another big problem with the Mississippi law is lack of definition as to what constitutes a "meeting" of a public body. Unlike the better Sunshine laws of other states, the Mississippi law allows several members of boards to get together informally without being in violation of the law.

The bastions of secrecy in Mississippi are still doing pretty well for themselves.

State Is Blessed With Adequate Water

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi
Farm Bureau Federation

There's no better time to offer a tribute to humidity than these current hot, muggy days of mid-summer when the least of exercise causes perspiration to flow and we are wont to long for less humid climes.

Humidity, uncomfortable as it may be at present in the Mississippi air, nevertheless is an accurate indicator of this state's enviable position in a geographic zone on earth where the water supply is among the world's best.

In an era of expanding populations, lowering water tables, shrinking irrigation water reserves, and saline residues in some irrigated fields, Mississippi has scarcely an equal when it comes to being in the right place at the right time in order to profit in the future from this key resource.

Mississippi receives an average annual rainfall of 50 or more inches while the U.S. average is only about 30, and some western states do well to get only ten inches of annual rainfall. Consider this the next time you tend to grumble about the humidity. But consider more.

Worldwide, 97 percent of the surface water is salty and unfit to drink or use on crops. Of the remaining readily usable three percent, three-fourths of it is frozen beyond use in glaciers and ice caps. If the frozen freshwater were to thaw, it would be equivalent to the volume of water flowing in all the world's rivers for a period of 1,000 years, according to scientists.

Still aggravated over mugginess?

Consider our human dependency on fresh water. The body is 65 percent water and requires a daily input of 2½ gallons just for survival. If a human goes more than a week without water he dies a most painful death.

Modern civilization leans heavily on fresh water supplies. A loaf of bread requires 115 gallons for the production of wheat that was converted into flour. Even the Sunday newspaper required 150 gallons of water just to process wood pulp into newsprint required for one copy of the Sunday special. Moreover, it takes 270 tons of water to make a ton of steel, and ten gallons to refine just one gallon of gasoline--or beer.

Industries utilize the largest share, 52 percent, of the nation's fresh water supply. Agricultural irrigation accounts for 41 percent. But before it got used at all, 70 percent of the rain, sleet and snow evaporated back into the air as humidity without anyone getting a shot at or of it.

A one-acre cornfield creates 4,000 gallons of evaporated moisture or humidity daily as nature recycles her most precious resource.

In areas where fresh water is critically scarce, civilizations have compromised with conditions. Many Texas communities water lawns today with treated sewage water, and the Extension Service in Massachusetts already has published guidelines for utilizing this "grey water" as it is called. In Santee, California, people already are swimming and fishing in lakes of purified sewage water. Yeck, you say?

In the western U.S., irrigation water already is far less in supply than demand. And below the border there, Mexico's relations with the U.S. suffer continually as Mexicans gripe that U.S. farmers and industrialists are hogging the flow of the Colorado River, reducing it to but a comparative trickle below the border. Thus, water sovereignty is here to stay as a problem to foment more strife in the future.

Modern desalting plants are in operation in hundreds of arid, seaside locations in the world today, yet the cost of processing saltwater is about three times higher than direct pumping of freshwater from surface or ground water sources when these are available.

Our sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Vadie Hill who was buried at Martin Hill last Sunday. She was a very dear person and will be greatly missed. Mrs. Cleo Wright is a patient in the Tupelo hospital recovering from a broken hip. We hope she will be well real soon.

Mrs. Louise Talley of Mooresville and Mrs. Shirley Kingsley of Marietta, Ga., visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kingsley last Sunday.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:

"Where There Is Love" Where there is love the heart is light, Where there is love the day is bright, Where there is love there is a song

To help when things are going wrong.

Where there is love there is a smile

To make all things seem more worthwhile, Where there is love there's quiet peace.

A tranquil place where turmoil ceases. Love changes darkness into light

And makes the heart take "wingless flight."

Summer has almost ended and school bells are beginning to ring everywhere. Most of the children as well as teachers are ready once again for another school term to begin after such an exciting summer.

We're glad to report that not many accidents happened this summer and that's a blessing. Many people had the opportunity to visit other states, the World's Fair, Libertyland and Opryland. Some just went swimming and fishing but it was fun.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dean. They are the parents of a 5 lb. baby girl. Mrs. Dean had some complications at first but we're so glad to know they're doing fine now.

Miss Mary Grove was honored with a shower on Saturday evening by many of her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Huston McKinney were married on Saturday evening in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson. It was a very beautiful and colorful wedding. As they move to Daytona, Ohio, we want them to know we wish them a happy and successful marriage.

We had many visitors in town for the weekend and we want to welcome them all to Booneville.

On Saturday morning we received sad news about an accident. Our prayers are extended to the Chandler family. We pray that Ricky will recover in the process of time. He is a patient in Magnolia hospital in Corinth. We're asking all friends to remember him and his mother in prayer. James Andrew (Too-duddy) Leech, lost his life that night in the accident. A very special prayer is extended to his family--especially his mother. Jesus is acquainted with all our grief and sorrow and when the load gets too heavy for us we can carry them to Him and He'll carry us through no matter how dark the way seems.

There is never a day so dark and dreary that God can't make it bright. There is never a night so black and void that God can't send light. So take to Him those hopeless things that are tearing you apart. The heart that puts its trust in God finds help to meet the task.

Mrs. Nettie Keeton was a patient in North Mississippi Medical Center where she had surgery on her eye. She is reported doing much better.

In the latter part of the 1800's, Jim Cole had four sons. Jim, George, Milegahan, John Thomas. A group of the descendants of these sons met at the Booneville community center July 31 to make new acquaintances, renew friendships, and enjoy a meal. Three of the four families were represented. The second generation Jim Cole is now known as "Big Jim." "Big Jim" and wife Ada Simmons Cole are the parents of James William or "Little" Jim as he is known. Representatives of this family at the Cole reunion were Jerry and Ona Cole, Marty Sartin of Jackson, Tenn., Aaron and Ann Cole and children, Ray Cole and Allen, and W.O. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Cole of Booneville. Representing the family of George Cole were Bill and Verlon Padgett and Wesley Padgett of Booneville. John Thomas and Hester Jane (Barnett) Cole had nine children. Three of these nine children were represented at the gathering. Hughey Randolph Cole was the son of John and Jane. He was the husband of Myrtie (Lovell) Cole and Minnie (Barnes) (Hopkins) Cole. Representatives from this group were Herlon C. Taylor, Morris Taylor, Don Taylor, Lisa and Tammy. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Taylor and Brandon, Debbie and Cathy Taylor, Randy Taylor and Butch Taylor, all from Louisiana. From Booneville were Lucille Hare, Estelle Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Windham, Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cole and family, Inez Cole, Connie Cole and Eric, Jane Jacobs, Kary Jo and Trent, Roma Gaye Robinson, Kenny and Cheryl, Mrs. Lorraine Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Melton Cole, Chastity Cole, Don and Jackie King, Amy and Christy, Terry and Linda Cole, Skeit and Scott, Brenda King and Tonya, Johnny and Patsy Johnson and G.W. Michael and Rita Hooper and Michael Lee. Bell was the daughter of John and Jane Cole. She married Charlie Harris. Representing the family of Bill Harris were Guston and Velma Harris, Lorene Johnston and Stephanie, Charlie and Alva Harris, all of Corinth. Another son of John and Jane Cole was James Huston better known by his nickname "Jim Boss." His wife was Lee Retter (Veteto) Cole. The descendants of Jim Boss at the recent reunion included Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wright of Joliet, Ill., Hazel Murphy of Memphis, Tenn., Rema Nishiya Priem and children, Ken and Yumi Nishiya of Maryland. From the Booneville area were Kellous and Mae Trimble, Mr. and Mrs. David Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Riddle, Tracy and Glen, Alice Green, Bradley and Garland, Terry Trimble, Ernestine Trimble, Darlene Chittom, Heather and Hope, Ronnie and Judy Jourdan, Kristie and Shane and Rema McSorley and Jeff. Also present were Myrtie Cole, Lenora Slack, Mary Lee Young, Melissa Newcomb, Marie Burns, Mike and Blinda Dunaway, Jennifer and Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Foster, Marie Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole, Audra Dean James, John and Kathleen Larsen and

Kari, all of Booneville and Lucian and Sandra Puckett, Mike, Dionne, Jason and Lawayne of Iuka. Mrs. Myrtie Cole at age 82 was the oldest person present and Michael Lee Hooper, age 13 months was the youngest. Michael is the great grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cole. Everyone had a good time and agreed to meet same time, same place next year. If you missed this one, be making plans to attend next year. If you got a bit confused keeping up with the small bit of genealogy in the Cole reunion, you should try to trace the family tree. I have begun climbing the tree and find that it's a lot of work but well worth the effort. I have a question that I hope someone out there can help me with. Who was the wife of Jim Cole? I have information that her maiden name was Wade. She was the mother of "Big Jim," George, John Thomas and Milegahan. Also I'm wondering if Milegahan is correct. Does anyone know? Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wright returned home to Joliet, Ill., on Friday. They had spent several days at their residence here. Joining them for a cookout were Slim Thompson, James Lee Thompson, Donnie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Stone and boys. Leslie and Betty attended the Wright family reunion at Tishomingo State Park recently. Around 125 people

OLDEST AND YOUNGEST-Myrtle Cole, 82, and Michael Lee Hooper, 13 months, were the oldest and youngest persons present at the July 31 reunion of the descendants of Jim Cole.

New Cadet Class

Begins Aug. 24

The 1982 Mississippi Highway Patrol's cadet training class will begin Aug. 24, Commissioner Sidney Berry and Chief Donald Butler announced today.

The school, originally scheduled to start July 20, was delayed under terms of a court order agreed to by the Department of Public Safety and lawyers for plaintiffs in the Morrow vs. Dillard lawsuit.

Legal counsel for the plaintiffs had objected to the racial composition of the class and complained that black applicants were discriminated against in the cadet selection process.

The highway patrol cadet class set to begin Aug. 24 will consist of 41 whites and 29 blacks. At the time of the court order, 47 whites and 23 blacks were enrolled for the training program.

"The court order instructed us to reevaluate applications made by 37 blacks that were rejected during the original selection process," Commissioner Berry said. "We have done this."

"Under the court order, an effort was made to develop a class of 35 blacks and 35 whites. Six of the 37 rejected applicants met the qualifications to be highway patrol cadets," the commissioner said.

"Six white cadets who had been selected for the 1982 training program must delay their training," Chief Butler said. "More than enough white cadets volunteered to wait until the next class which will begin in 1983."

The highway patrol chief said that the process of reviewing cadet selection procedures is underway, as directed in the court order. He said any part of the procedure that discriminates against black applicants will be eliminated.

"We have a cadet class that shows promise... that has many outstanding candidates. We are looking for a good school."

"Nothing about this most recent court order means standards for highway patrol recruits have been lowered," Butler said.

"We agreed to the text of the court order with the understanding that anyone applying to serve as a highway patrol cadet would still meet the department's standards of excellence before being admitted to the school."

"The department will require any recruit that enters the class to meet the department's usual high standards before he is graduated and commissioned," Butler said.

Maintaining Your Mental Health

Life Just Isn't Interesting Any More

By BARBARA SHACKELFORD
Timber Hills Mental Health Services

Frank Jones can't keep his mind on his job. He's worried about his wife, Judy. She just came home from the hospital after their baby died. She blames herself. Life doesn't look interesting to her any more.

She doesn't seem to care about him, their two small children or anything else. Frank's mother is staying with the family for awhile. She keeps reassuring him, saying, "Judy will be all right. She'll snap back soon."

But Frank is beginning to wonder. Yesterday Judy told him she wished she were dead. He's afraid she meant it.

Frank should be worried. Judy is giving him all the signs of a person with a serious case of the blues. She needs help quickly. Anyone who talks of suicide should be taken seriously.

What are the warning signs? Watch out when someone loses interest in living. A person who is too tired to get out of bed for a meal or too tired to take off a coat when he's hot is depressed. When someone loses interest in sex, can't laugh, won't eat or can't sleep, he's depressed. A loss of interest in the future is another sign.

If these signs last more than three weeks, the trouble can be serious. What should you do? The first thing is to give the person your full support. Let him know you care. Then get him to a doctor.

Also important, keep him busy. Physical activity is a great help, but you'll have to start out with very simple things. Otherwise, you can add to his or her feelings of failure. For example, making a bed can become too big a job to do all at once. You might have to divide it into smaller jobs, like stripping the bed, getting fresh sheets from a closet, stuffing the pillows into the cases.

Finally, how will you know when the person is returning to normal? There are a few things to look for. When the person's appetite returns, when he begins to sleep normally again, when he takes an interest in his family, the person is getting better.

Another good sign is his being critical or cranky. This means the person is no longer blaming everything on himself -- a good sign.

For more information about depression and other mental issues, call the local Timber Hills office at 728-3174 or visit the office on the Highway 30 By-Pass in Booneville.

Russian Art To Be On Display At Ole Miss

When Russian troops invaded the remote Asian country of Afghanistan in December 1979 it turned out to be more than just a minor skirmish involving those two countries. A national U.S. boycott of the Moscow Olympics was soon announced and much later, a long-planned privately-sponsored art exchange between the Southern Graphics Council (SGC) and the Soviet Union was cancelled.

Although the Americans did not participate in the 1980 Moscow Olympics, the exhibit of Russian art has finally become a reality and is on display through Sept. 12 at The University of Mississippi Museums in Oxford.

The exhibit of Soviet and American prints, "Comparisons and Contrasts: Recent Russian and American Prints," has undergone, however, dramatic changes during its political crisis, and Dr. Tom Dewey II, associate professor of art at Ole Miss and one of the coordinators of the project, has learned some harsh lessons about the realities of international politics.

"When we began the project in 1978, we wanted this to be purely a cultural exchange without reference to or interest in politics," Dewey explained. "We wanted it to end as the best kind of non-political gesture-free and open-minded dialogue."

"Initially, this project was conceived by Bernard Solomon, associate professor of art at Georgia Southern, to give Soviet and American artists and their publics as broad a view as possible of the contemporary graphics of these two nations and to break down old stereotypes concerning the nature of Soviet art," said Dewey. "It was the first time a group of American artists had requested to see work by specific counterparts in the Soviet Union."

Before beginning negotiations, Solomon and Dewey received endorsements of their respective art departments and universities for the Project. They contacted the proper governmental agencies, but began personal negotiations with the Soviet government through Elena Kornetchuk, president of Russian Images, a Pittsburgh gallery specializing in 20th century Russian art.

"We did notify the U.S. Information Agency and the State Department about our intentions and kept them posted but they weren't ever especially hopeful that such an exchange could be arranged. They didn't try to discourage or prevent the project, however," Dewey said.

Their negotiations with officials at the Russian Embassy began in 1978. "The Embassy expressed interest but the staff took a long time to make a decision. They had to forward everything to the Ministry of Culture in Moscow and then we had to wait an average of 60-90 days for a reply," Dewey recalls. "We were assured that this wasn't uncommon. It wasn't necessarily that they were trying to make us sweat but that individuals in their bureaucracy didn't want to make mistakes in the eyes of their superiors. There was never any direct contact with the artists."

The show now has three parts: the American prints originally selected to travel to the Soviet Union, the Soviet prints which were to come to the U.S. (reproduced and discussed in the catalogue) and the newly-chosen prints from Dodge's collection.

Only five of the Soviet artists in the new combined exhibit were included in the original showing and only one of the prints in the revised exhibit was also in the first planned show. That one print, "Morning Ways," was also the one chosen by designer Roger Steele for the cover of the original exhibit's catalogue.

"Many of the Soviet artists in the new show are considered dissidents. This means they are not members of the Artists Union, which is completely controlled by the government. Failure to belong automatically puts an artist at odds with the State," Dewey explained. "While dissidents are not necessarily openly critical of the government, they are considerably freer in their work and technique. The works of the artists in the first show, were more bland, but weren't nearly as ambitious in technique and subject as those selected from the Dodge Collection. We think the new and improved show is one that really lives up to its name." After all the headaches, would Dewey get involved in another international art exchange, even completing arrangements for the original show if that should come to pass? Absolutely. "I'll always take risks," he asserts, "I'll just be less naive. The best art takes risks. More art exhibitions should do the same."

The arrangements proceeded slowly, but smoothly, until December 1979. Works by Russian and American artists had been selected and an exhibition catalog had been written and printed. But the invasion of Afghanistan halted all plans. There were many delays, but no immediate cancellation.

Finally, on Feb. 18, 1981, Solomon had to send a letter to the Soviet Ministry of Culture confirming the indefinite postponement of the exchange.

However, after three years of non-stop work and with a catalogue printed, American works selected, posters designed and an exhibition schedule already committed, Dewey and Solomon were loathe to let everything go down the drain.

Despite two lost grants and some resulting cancellations of exhibition sites, the two decided to keep the project going. At that point, the two art professors met Dr. Norton Dodge through Ms. Kornetchuk in Pittsburgh.

Dr. Dodge, an economist specializing in Soviet economics and a faculty member at St. Mary's College in Maryland, also has an extensive collection of paintings, prints and drawings of 20th century Russian art. In May 1981 Dewey visited Dodge's Maryland plantation home and selected 60 contemporary prints, from which he curated 41 new Russian prints for "Comparisons and Contrasts." Five months later the revised exhibit began a two-year tour under SGC auspices.

4-H Club Officers Responsible For Tone Of Entire Club

By Edward L. McWhirter
Extension 4-H-Youth Agent

TWENTY HINTS FOR 4-H CLUB OFFICERS

Four-H officers can be the most important people in a 4-H Club. They set the tone for a club that carries through to the newest member.

In general terms, the duties of a club officer are: (1) to guide and encourage fellow members, (2) to help plan club activities, and (3) to attend all meetings and help fellow members (or leaders).

How to be a successful club officer:

Respect the feeling of others. Their help is not only desirable but it's vital for the club's future.

A word of praise or thanks goes a long way.

Greet everybody (by name, if possible) whether they are members or guests.

If you're being introduced to someone, repeat his name. You'll be sure to remember the next time you meet him.

Be a good listener. You may solve problems before they get started and people will appreciate your interest.

Take all the opportunities you get to represent your club at meetings of other clubs or other organizations.

Be sincere in your actions and sympathetic toward the problems of your club members.

Maintain your enthusiasm. Don't be disheartened by disappointments.

Ask "Will you?" instead of ordering fellow members around.

Keep your temper. If you lose it, you've lost control of the situation.

Encourage and invite suggestions from members. Encouraging personal interest in the club makes everyone feel responsible for the club's success.

Encourage pride in the club. You are the best advertisement for 4-H.

Keep the public aware of your club's activities.

Discourage complaints and gossip by encouraging members to air their views at club meetings.

Be on time for meetings and try your best to attend all of them.

Give special attention to new members. Make sure they meet people and are encouraged to take part.

Plan the club program well in advance and in detail. Give every member a part to play in carrying it out.

Keep meetings short and bright.

Be familiar with the purpose and objectives of your club. Do you know why you're a member? Could you explain it to someone else?

Handle all of your correspondence as soon as possible to keep your organization running smoothly.

WHAT 4-H MEANS TO ME

Four-H members are often asked to make oral or written statements about what 4-H means to them. A state 4-H Awareness Team member from Lauderdale County has written a typical statement.

Four-H to me has been the best organization I have ever been involved in. In the years that I have been in 4-H, it has been both a fun and learning experience. To me there is nothing that I have enjoyed more than the fun I've had in 4-H. The fun

I've had at club and county meetings, trips, contests, and other 4-H activities with many friends I have made through 4-H will remain with me throughout life.

I also think one can learn many new things through 4-H. For I believe it has helped expand my knowledge of many things in my project, as well as other areas. Most of all, 4-H has helped me to decide on what kind of a career I would like to go into.

Last of all, I would like to say even though it takes a positive attitude and a little work, 4-H is well worth it and is something you will cherish the rest of your life.

4-H JUNIOR, TEEN, AND ADULT LEADER TRAINING

A leader training program, designed to orient the new leaders and help the old leaders, is being planned.

Two are scheduled, August 11, 12, and 13 for 1:00 p.m. or 6:00 p.m. or August 11, 19, and 26 at 1:00 p.m. or 6:00 p.m.

An extremely good program is planned to help you with club work.

Hints For The Homemaker

You Can Control Inflation By Cutting Household Costs

By WANDA L. ROBINSON
4-H Program Assistant

SAVE ON ENERGY IN THE HOME, ON CLOTHING, AND FOOD

Cutting costs is a high priority for most families these days. Some strategies can relieve inflation if you will practice them.

As you read through the following suggested ways to save money, mark those that appeal to you and those you want to start practicing.

Here are some general ways to save:

--Learn to do things yourself

--Do-it-yourself repairs, make a garden, make gifts

--Reuse, recycle, rebuild, refinish

--Stop wasteful spending; study bargains; hang clothes to dry; avoid extra trips to town

--Plan inexpensive entertainment-vacations; picnics, use recreational facilities close at home

--Reduce expenses by lowering or raising the thermostat for heating or cooling

--Pay cash instead of using credit

--Have an expert check the insulation in your house to make sure it is adequate. If not, insulate where needed. You can do open areas, such as the attic, yourself. It will save heating and cooling costs.

--Turn off air conditioning, and open the windows in moderate weather.

--Lower your thermostat setting in cold weather, and wear warm clothes in the house.

--Take care of home repairs as soon as the need arises. Delays can make matters worse.

--Close rooms, and turn off the heat to rooms that you are not using.

--Choose equipment with a higher energy efficiency ration (EER). Check the label for EER.

--Move to a smaller house if the one you have is bigger than you really need.

--Take better care of your possessions; appliances, clothing and shoes.

--Keep your car in good running condition, it's safer and cheaper.

--Walk more; drive less. You'll save gas and improve your health.

--Learn how to do some of your own car maintenance chores. Change oil, air filters, and oil filters.

--Use self-service gasoline pumps--anyone can do it! Don't forget to check the oil and water levels regularly, too.

--Form a car pool to go to work, professional meetings, and even shopping trips.

--Ask yourself, "Is this trip really necessary?"

--List "things to do" and "things to buy." Forgetting is costly.

--Buy clothes of a design that will stay in style.

--Buy wash and wear. Try not to buy garments that have to be dry cleaned.

--Use fewer paper products.

--Strive for a simpler lifestyle. This means owning fewer possessions and having less to maintain and clean. Buy less clutter and junk.

--Be creative; use what you have to advantage.

--Entertain at home, simply.

--Learn to refinish furniture.

--Learn to paint, wallpaper.

--Have a garage sale.

--Plan one meatless day a week.

--Eat less expensive foods; drink less expensive beverages.

--Shop at discount stores for children's clothing.

--Recycle clothing for children.

All Soybean Producers Are Eligible For Crop Loans

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

ASCS ISSUES PRELIMINARY LOAN- AND PURCHASE RATE FOR 1982-CROP SOYBEANS

A preliminary loan and purchase rate of $5.02 per bushel for 1982-crop soybeans has been announced. This is the minimum rate permitted by law. The loan rate is set by law at 75 percent of the simple average price received by farmers during the past five years, excluding the high and low years. That law also requires ASCS to issue a preliminary loan and purchase rate not earlier than 30 days before Sept. 1, the beginning of the soybeans marketing year.

ASCS in Washington will issue a final 1982 soybean loan and purchase rate no later than Oct. 1, by which time ASCS will have final figures on prices received by farmers for the 1981 crop.

All producers of 1982-crop soybeans will be eligible for loans and purchases since ASCS does not require participation in production adjustment programs as a condition of eligibility for soybean farmers.

Soybeans are ineligible for any reserve program or for storage payments.

CCC LOAN INTEREST RATE INCREASED TO 14 PERCENT

Commodity and farm storage loans disbursed in August by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation will carry a 14 percent interest rate.

The new rate, up from 13.5 percent, reflects the interest rate charged CCC by the U.S. Treasury in August.

USDA ANNOUNCES SUPPORT LEVEL, BY TYPE, FOR 1982 PEANUTS

The local office of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service (ASCS) has received notice that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has set price support levels--by type, quality and location--for the 1982 peanut crop. Price support levels are based on the national average price support level of $550 per short ton.

The price support levels are $544.39 for Virginias; $553.82 for Runners; $535.42 for Spanish; $544.39 for Virginias from the Southwest suitable for cleaning and roasting and $535.43 for other Virginias.

The method of computing differentials, the schedule of premiums and discounts and quality and location adjustments for this year's crop are the same as for the 1981 crop. The actual support levels depend on the percent of the various sizes of kernels in each ton of nuts.

For each percent of sound mature kernels and sound split kernels, the support level per ton is: Virginia, $7.976; Runner, $7.82; Spanish, $7.859; Valencia in the Southwest suitable for cleaning and roasting, $8.209; and other Valencia types in all areas, $7.859.

The percentage factor used in calculating the loan value for additional peanuts will be 36.36 percent of the applicable quota rate. This is the ratio of the $200 per ton national support level for additional peanuts to the $550 per ton national support level for quota peanuts.

New Honors Program Now Being Offered

For the academically talented student who desire more demanding and intensive coursework, Northeast Mississippi Junior College has finalized plans for a newly developed honors program to be offered in the upcoming fall semester.

According to Connie Drown, Northeast director of counseling and chairman of the committee established to organize the program, honors courses in English composition and American history will be offered to any student with a minimum ACT score of 25.

Under such a program, students with high levels of academic achievement are given the opportunity for more in-depth study in a classroom where the instruction is less formal,

Drown said. They are allowed to "research, reason and discuss diverse topics" as related to the particular discipline being studied, he continued.

Currently, a total of 12 academic hours of honors subjects will be offered—six hours in the fall of the specified English and history courses followed by the continuation of the sequential courses for an additional six hours in the spring.

If successful, the honors program will be expanded yearly to include other subjects. The goal, Drown said, is to provide a variety of honors classes which will result in students being automatically admitted to senior college programs of the same nature.

Also a member of the honors program committee, Joe M. Childers, dean of the college, said the courses were to be taught by different instructors each semester on a rotating basis. No instructor will be used who does not volunteer, he added.

For further details concerning the honors program, contact Connie Drown at 728-7751, ext. 235.

Hotdogs, And Bologna Are Popular Foods

From The Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Maligned though they may be, processed meats including such items as hot dogs and bologna have carved out a strong role in the American diet.

"Despite the aspersions hurled at processed meats from consumer advocates and other sources, there is one undeniable fact," said Ann Rushing, a marketing specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Processed meats are extremely popular."

"It would be foolhardy to suggest that the role of processed meats is a relatively unimportant segment of the red meat industry," Mrs. Rushing said. "About 35 percent of all red meat produced is processed."

Mrs. Rushing said processed meats include products such as hot dogs, bologna, luncheon meats other than bologna, bacon, ham and sausage.

The size and scope of the processed meat industry can most easily be appreciated by looking at the tonnage of beef, pork and lamb used in processed meats, she said.

In 1980 for example, 12.1 billion pounds of U.S. produced red meats were processed. Of this figure, 75.9 percent was pork, 23.7 percent beef and 4 percent lamb.

Processing accounts for about 65 percent of all U.S. produced pork, 12-14 percent of beef and 13-15 percent of lamb," Mrs. Rushing said. "Although it is evident that processing is vitally important to the pork industry, it should be noted that tonnage figures for both processed beef and lamb are significant and growing."

Mrs. Rushing said a recent study conducted for the American Meat Institute found that in any given two-week period, 93 percent of primary food shoppers eat or serve processed meats an average of 12.6 times. She said this can be compared to 97 percent of primary shoppers who eat or serve fresh meat an average of only 7.8 times in a given two-week period.

"A consumer expenditure study in a recent edition of Supermarket Business magazine also documents the popularity of processed meats," Mrs. Rushing said. "Although fresh meat accounted for the largest percent of supermarket food sales in 1980 (15.63 percent), processed meats accounted for the second largest percent of food sales in supermarkets (8.84 percent)."

"Processed meats, for example, are ideal for the microwave. Considering the number of working mothers today, processed meats are the answer for quick and easy meal preparation."

Regulatory Reform Saves Consumers Many Dollars

Sen. Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says regulatory reform savings the past year and a half have been worth billions of dollars to American consumers and the private sector.

"Many needless and unproductive federal regulations have been eliminated," the Senator commented, "and the results have been billions of dollars in savings to the American people."

Sen. Cochran said legislative action by Congress and a special regulatory reform task force headed by Vice-President George Bush have brought "positive results in achieving a better balance between federal regulatory activity and the public interest."

His comments came in a speech before the Mississippi Agricultural Chemicals Council, meeting in Biloxi.

"There is a reasonable balance that can be achieved, between the need to protect the public and our environment, and the necessity to make sound economic progress and development," he told the agricultural group.

He pointed out that regulatory reform is a cornerstone of the new economic recovery program, and that he co-sponsored the Regulatory Reform Act, S. 1080, already passed by the Senate and awaiting House approval.

Sen. Cochran said savings from regulatory reform, according to the Bush task force, amounted to from $15 billion to $18 billion on a one-time basis, and are expected to be about $5-6 billion annually.

He also gave the agricultural group an overview of recent action in Congress, including efforts to reduce federal spending, control the deficit and help bring interest rates and unemployment down.

The Senator noted the importance of agriculture to the American economy, with about 17 million persons employed as a result of farming and agriculture-related industry and business.

Little League

Brown Shoe Is Champion

After the dust had settled in last week's Little League Championship Tournament, there was little doubt as to who was champion. Brown Shoe finished the tournament - and the season - undefeated, making them the clear-cut league champs.

Thursday night's Little League action began with Brown Shoe and Peoples' Bank facing off at 8 p.m. Both teams had received a bye in the opening round on Monday night of last week. Brown Shoe beat Sonic 12-3 in the second round, while Peoples' Bank defeated Cox's Best Way, 3-2, to advance to round three.

When the two teams met Thursday night in round three, Peoples' Bank just wasn't able to pull it out. Brown Shoe won the 8 p.m. game, 6-1. Rick Nanney was the winning pitcher.

On the other side of the bracket, Kentucky Fried Chicken and Sonic faced off to see who would be eliminated and who would advance to the semi-finals. Both had lost one game in the tournament previously, which meant the losing team would be out of the double-elimination tournament.

In the game played at 9 p.m. Thursday, Kentucky Fried Chicken was victorious over Sonic, winning 4-3. Down 3-0 in the bottom of the fifth Kentucky Fried Chicken finally managed to get it all together and came from behind to win.

These same two teams were matched in the opening round of the tournament, but Kentucky Fried Chicken didn't fare as well that time. In the earlier game, Sonic came out on top, 8-2.

When Friday rolled around only three teams remained in the tournament - Kentucky Fried Chicken and Peoples' Bank, both with one loss, and the undefeated Brown Shoe Company.

In the opening game, Kentucky Fried Chicken squared off with Peoples' Bank to see who would face Brown Shoe for the league championship. Peoples' Bank was victorious, beating Kentucky Fried Chicken 6-4 and eliminating them from the tournament.

Closing the regular season at 2-13, Kentucky Fried Chicken made a commendable comeback in the tournament to win third place honors. Their coach, Scott McKinney, was hospitalized prior to their final game and thus unable to be present when his team won the third place trophy.

Played at 9 p.m. Friday, the final game of the Little League Championship Tournament pitted the regular season's number one team, Brown Shoe (13-0), against number two, Peoples' Bank (9-4), in a rematch of a game played the night before.

Brown Shoe again came out on top, beating Peoples' Bank by two runs, 4-2, and keeping their record for the season unblemished.

Brown Shoe was awarded the first place trophy and Peoples' Bank received the second place award.

Little League Football Registration Is Saturday

This Saturday is the last registration date for boys interested in participating in Little League football this fall at the Booneville West Side Park.

Approximately 40 boys signed up last Saturday and more are expected this weekend. The only fee to parents for their child to participate is $15. All equipment will be furnished except shoes, which players will have to provide themselves.

The program is open to all boys ages 7-12 in Prentiss County, including those who attend Booneville, Baldwin and Prentiss County schools.

Registration is set for 10 a.m. Saturday at the park. Parents are to bring their child's birth certificate and the $15 registration fee at that time.

No Regular Season Wins, But

Marathon Wins Tourney Championship

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

It was an amazing comeback. After closing regular season play without winning a single game, the Marathon Cheese Junior Girls' Softball team won the league championship tournament in a Saturday-morning playoff this weekend.

First, Marathon Cheese defeated Rotary in the opening game of the tournament Monday night last week and advanced to Thursday night's action.

On Tuesday night, the other two Junior Girls' Softball teams squared off as Sunflower took on H&W Industries. Sunflower won, advancing to play Marathon Cheese in the semi-finals of the double elimination tournament.

After a break in the action Wednesday night, Sunflower was successful in defeating Marathon Cheese in the 6 p.m. game Thursday. Sunflower scored two runs in the seventh inning on Jenny Weatherford's homerun, winning the game, 12-10.

At this point, Sunflower was the only team to remain undefeated in tournament action. Rotary, H&W Industries and Marathon Cheese had each suffered on loss.

In the 7 p.m. game Thursday, Rotary and H&W Industries battled to see who would take on Marathon

Cheese for a chance to advance to the finals against Sunflower. Rotary was victorious, beating H&W, 5-3, and eliminating them from the tournament.

In the 6 p.m. game Friday, Rotary and Marathon Cheese once again squared off. A grand-slam homerun by Lea Ann Hughes helped put Marathon Cheese in the winner's column once again as they defeated Rotary, 9-8, putting them out of tournament play.

Only two teams remained: Sunflower with no losses and Marathon Cheese with one loss. They were set to play at 8 p.m. Friday.

In order to be eliminated from the tournament, a team had to suffer two losses. If Sunflower beat Marathon Cheese the tournament was over, but if Marathon Cheese won the game, they would be tied with one loss each and would have to play again.

And that's exactly what happened. In a close game, Marathon Cheese beat Sunflower, 8-7, Friday night to tie them for first place. In the playoff Saturday morning, underdog Marathon Cheese won the tournament. Nicole Hutcherson crossed the plate on a single by Lea Ann Hughes in the bottom of the fifth to win the game, 4-3.

Sunflower received the second place trophy.

Stafford Signs With UNA

It appears Maurice Stafford has changed his mind.

Earlier this summer, basketball coach Charles Smith of Freed-Hardeman College in Henderson, Tenn., announced the signing of Stafford, a transfer student from Northeast Junior College in Booneville.

However, the announcement was somewhat premature. Stafford has now signed with the University of North Alabama in Florence, according to UNA head basketball coach Bill Jones.

At 6'3½", the 209-pound forward is the UNA Lions' newest cage signee.

Stafford, who prepped at Biggersville High School, was named the Most Valuable Player in the Mississippi Junior College ranks last season. He averaged 22.5 points and 8.3 rebounds in leading his team, the Northeast Tigers, to a 26-5 record.

"This signing of Maurice caps off what we feel was a great recruiting year," Jones said. "He is truly an outstanding basketball player and a fine young man. He has a tremendous amount of talent, and we expect him to come in and help us out this season."

Stafford had a tremendous season at Northeast. In addition to being named All-State for two consecutive years, he was also an All-Region 7 selection and an honorable mention All-American.

He was also selected MVP of the Mississippi Junior College All-Star game.

If you keep $1500 in savings at First Bank, don't forget to ask for free checking.

Most banks conveniently forget about your savings account. No matter how large your balance, they still charge you for checking.

Not at First Bank. If you keep $1500 or more in your savings account, you're one of our Super Savers and you won't be charged a cent for checking services.

And you can get Super-Saver free checking when you maintain a $1500 minimum balance in any one of three First Bank Savings Accounts.

Get free checking with a Regular Savings Account.*

If you like the option of withdrawing your money anytime, you'll like a Regular Savings Account. Interest is paid or compounded on the last day of June and the last day of December. And money deposited by the 10th of any month earns interest from the first. Super Saver free checking comes with a $1500 minimum balance.

Get free checking with a Silver Savings Account.*

You need $10 to qualify for a Silver Savings Account, and $1500 to qualify for Super Saver free checking. It pays slightly more interest than Regular Savings. And interest is compounded daily from deposit to withdrawal and posted quarterly. If your balance drops below $1500 you'll lose out on free checking but your account will earn interest down to $10.

Get free checking with a Golden Savings Account.*

Golden Savings pays the highest interest you can earn on a First Bank Savings Account. Interest is paid or compounded quarterly at the end of March, June, September and December. Ten dollars can get you into Golden Savings and $1500 can make you a Super Saver. You can make deposits anytime. But the money must remain in your account for at least 90 days. Withdrawals can then be made during the first 10 days of any calendar quarter, or after 90 days written notice.

First Savers can get free checking, too.

As a First Saver, you pay yourself first. Your savings come right off the top of your paycheck. We automatically transfer the amount you want from checking to the savings account of your choice. Interest is compounded quarterly. And if your balance is at least $1500, you'll qualify as a Super Saver as well.

Super Saver free checking applies to First Bank Savings Accounts only. Not to certificates of deposit. Because the interest we pay on CD's is so high that we really can't afford to throw free checking into the deal.

Unfortunately our computers aren't bright enough to spot our checking customers who also maintain large savings balances. So if you already qualify as a Super Saver and want to cash in on free checking, please stop by any First Bank office and tell us.

Your checking account can earn savings account interest.

It's our First NOW account. It's a checking account that pays you $5\frac{1}{4}\%$ interest when you meet the minimum monthly balance requirements. If you keep \$1500 in checking or are a Super Saver and haven't converted to a First NOW account, talk to your First Banker. We think all the money you keep with us should earn interest.

Free checking with only a $500 minimum.

So far, none of the plans sound right for you? Don't worry, First Bank has even more ways you can get free checking—ways that have nothing to do with savings.

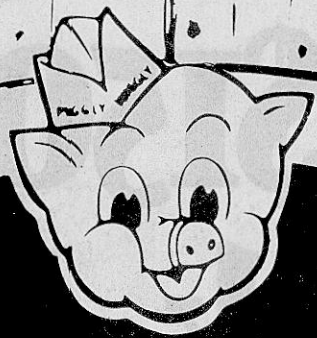

If your minimum monthly balance in our regular checking account is $500 or more, your checking is free. Or if you're a full-time student, ordained minister, a senior citizen over 65, or a full-time teacher, you can make special arrangements for free checking at any of our 15 locations.

At First Bank, remind us about the money you have on deposit. Maybe you can forget about checking service charges.

Mormon Youths Work Locally As Missionaries

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has two new missionaries in Prentiss County--Elder Howard Horne and Elder Bart Nelson. They arrived in Booneville the first of August.

Like many others of their faith, these young men are spending 18 months of their lives telling others about the Mormon religion.

Elder Horne is from Creston, British Columbia, Canada. He has spent one year in college majoring in engineering.

Elder Nelson is from Bountiful, Utah and has completed a year of college at Weaver State College. Both are 20-years-old and plan to return to college following their mission work.

While on their 18 month mission, the young men are being supported by their families. They said they will spend from 3-6 months here before being reassigned to another territory.

Prior to coming to Booneville, Elder Nelson served his mission in Arkadelphia, Ark., and Elder Horne served in Jonesboro, Ark.

Their work consists largely of going door to door asking people to take the time to listen to their message about the Mormon religion.

Members of the Mormon religion are eligible to volunteer for the 18 month missionary program after their 19th birthday. The application then has to be approved by the church before the applicant is given an assignment.

Elder Horne and Elder Nelson reside at 201 Massey St. in Booneville. For more information about the Mormon Church, they can be reached at 728-8248.

Mormon Missionaries-- Howard Horne, (left) and Bart Nelson arrived in Booneville the first of August to begin their mission work for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Prior to coming to Booneville, both served on missions in Arkansas.

In Jackson

Baptist Men's Rally Scheduled

John Cheyne, consultant for relief ministries at the southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, will be a guest speaker during the annual Mississippi Baptist Men's Rally, Aug. 20. Cheyne will talk about Baptist responses to world hunger.

The rally, which includes a banquet and a special conference, will take place at Parkway Baptist Church in Jackson, on West Capitol Street near the Jackson Zoo.

The banquet portion of the rally, which is sponsored by the Mississippi Baptist Brotherhood Department, begins at 5:30 p.m., and the conference portion begins at 7.

Tickets are required for the banquet, but not for the conference. Tickets to the banquet cost $5 per person and may be purchased from the Brotherhood Department, Box 530, Jackson, Miss., 39205, phone 968-3800. Only a limited number of tickets can be sold, so first come, first served.

Admission to the conference portion of the rally is free and seating is plentiful.

The banquet speaker will be Barry Landrum, pastor of Bossier City, First Baptist Church in Louisiana. He went there in 1977 from the pastorate of First Church, Greenville, Miss.

Musical guests for the banquet will be the Hometown Reunion, a Jackson-based barbershop quartet. Members of the group are Wayne Derrick, Howard Flowers, Charles Stacy, and Bill Lumpkin.

Carl Bates will be featured, along with Cheyne, during the service following the banquet. He is senior professor of pastoral ministries at Southern Seminary, Louisville, Ky. A former president of the Southern Baptist Convention, Bates went to the seminary from the pastorate of First Church, Charlotte, N.C. He is a graduate of Mississippi College and earned a master's degree in theology from Southern Seminary.

The three most important methods of desalting are: through evaporation and condensation utilizing either fuels or solar energy, through electrolysis, and through freezing.

So humidity notwithstanding, Mississippi is very fortunate--especially economically--to be bounded Sacred music artists R.L. and Beth Sigrest will join Bates and Cheyne during the service. They are based in Yazoo City and have appeared on most all of Southern Baptists' programs at one time or another.

More Mothers Are Now Working

The lifestyles of American families continue to change drastically with greater numbers of mothers going into the market-place to find jobs.

“More than half the nation’s children have mothers who work away from home,” says Dr. Julia Barnes, a family economics and management specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

“The most recent year-to-year increase in the number of children with working mothers occurred among those six years of age. Of all the mothers with children under 18, about 18.4 million or 58.1 percent were in the labor force in March, 1981.”

Barnes said mothers of preschool age children accounted for the majority (62.5 percent) of this increase.

“Regardless of the age of the youngest child, divorced mothers remain far more likely to be working or looking for work than married, widowed, separated or never-married mothers,” Barnes said.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Little, But Important

... because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities. Luke 19:17

Adapted from Our Daily Bread, By Paul R. Vangorder

How necessary it is to remind ourselves that success in life often depends upon little things. This is especially true in a day when so many people are afflicted with what we might call "the greatness syndrome."

The saintly Horatius Bonar, reflecting on this subject, realized that the little things can either make or break the Christian. He wrote, "A holy life is made up of a multitude of small things. It is the little things of the hour and not the great things of the age that fill up a life like that of the apostles Paul or John, or David Brainard, or Henry Martyn. Little words, not eloquent speeches or sermons; little deeds, not miracles or battles, or one great heroic effort or martyrdom, make up the true Christian life. It's the little constant sun-beam, not the lightning, the waters of Siloam that go softly in their meek mission of refreshment, not 'the waters of the rivers great and many' rushing down in torrent, noise, and force, that are the true symbols of a holy life."

Bonar then warned against the "little evils, little sins, little inconsistencies, little weaknesses, little foibles, little indulgences of self and of the flesh, little acts of indolence or indecision, or slovenliness or cowardice, little equivocations or aberrations from high integrity, little bits of covetousness, little indifferences to the feelings or wishes of others, little outbreaks of temper, or crossness, or selfishness or vanity."

May we be careful about "little things" so that the whole of life will be a mosaic pleasing to the Lord.

How In The World Do You Keep Up With What's Going On In Prentiss County?

executive director Doug Mansell.
Mayor Crabb has attended several meetings recently in which he was very outspoken on his views of not only the rate increase, but also of the service the telephone company provides in Prentiss County.
At the time now the mayor and others have tried to get the company to do something about the fact that in Prentiss County that cannot be dialed without having to pay long distance rates.
The PCDA directors adopt a rate increase and doing a lot of things that the word gets out about dealing with the rate governor's office was to get legislators out of executive functions of the state.

Again, at the end of March, when the U.S. Justice Department came down with its rejection of the Congressional redistricting plan drawn by the legislature because it did not give blacks a better chance of electing one congressman, Winter had a hard choice between what the legislature recommended and what the legislative old guard recommended.

Winter was again rejecting the previously adopted plan, and instead said that the state stood a better chance if the legislature, still with a vote of days left in session, sent up another plan with a black majority. Along the lines of what happened in last August's session by Rep. Jim Winter of Long Beach, the legislature would have turned thumbs down on Winter's idea, and went to the appeal route. Winter would go with the legislature.

It is obvious that Winter's strategy of going to the legislature to get his major goals such as statewide kindergartens, the legislature, says, it would be worthwhile.

Winter has paid off. Winter has gotten nothing of major importance through the legislature, and, already a week, he doesn't figure anything in his final year.
