New High School Proposed For City; Bond Issue Election Set For Dec. 7

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

IF EVERYTHING goes the way Booneville officials hope, this year's sophomores could become the first class to graduate from a new Booneville High School.

Before that can happen, however, city officials must persuade city voters to approve a $2.2 million school bond issue in a special election scheduled for Dec. 7.

The Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen called for the special election in a recessed meeting Monday night. Their action came in response to a request from the board of trustees of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District.

According to the resolution adopted by the city board, the registered voters of the city of Booneville will decide on Dec. 7 whether or not the Booneville Municipal Separate School District can issue $2,035,000 in general obligation bonds to be used for "erecting, repairing, equipping, remodeling, and enlarging school buildings and related facilities, including gymnasiums, auditoriums, lunch rooms and libraries."

Three-fifths of the qualified electors voting in the election must approve the bond issue before the bonds can be sold.

THE PROPOSED new school was the topic of Monday night's Parent-

'A good educational facility does not necessarily make for a good educational program, but it certainly helps if the teachers don't get rained on.'

- Hale Aust

Teacher Organization (PTO) meeting in the BHS auditorium.

Hal Aust said at that meeting that, if the school bond issue passes, the board of trustees of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District plan to build the new high school near the present Booneville Middle School on George E. Allen Drive.

Aust is the chairman of a

Schools' Facility Advisory Study Committee appointed by the city school board last spring to make recommendations as to what steps should be taken to improve facilities in the city school district.

After consideration of various avenues available, the committee recommended to the city schools' board of trustees that they:

- Close the high school;
- Renovate Anderson School to house grades 1-4;
- Renovate the Middle School to house grades 5-8; and

- Build a new high school at the Middle School site.

The committee recommended that the present high school and grammar school be abandoned and that the property at those locations be sold and the money used to help pay for furnishing the remaining facilities and the new high school, Aust said.

If the bond issue passes, construction could begin in the late spring or early August, Aust said, with officials hoping to begin using the facility in the fall of 1984.

The $2.2 million bond issue covers only the renovation and construction, he said. It does not include any funds for furnishings for the facilities, nor any funds for facilities for athletic events.

Although the Booneville school system is entitled to some Educational Finance Commission funding, Aust said the EFC does not have any money at the present time to distribute for school construction.

THE LONG-TERM plan is to also eventually close Anderson School and house all school facilities at the Middle School location in what is called a "school park" concept, Aust said.

The school system could therefore include a number

Shooting Investigation Nears Completion

Lee County Sheriff Robert Herring said this week that the results of the investigation into the Oct. 29 fatal shooting of a Booneville man by a Baldwin police officer will be given to the grand jury in February. The grand jury will then decide whether any indictments should be returned.

Baldwin policeman Troy Agnew was suspended with pay the day of the early morning shooting which left 20-year-old James Shook of Booneville dead from a gunshot wound to the head.

Agnew and fellow officer Larry Newman stopped a car carrying Shook and two other Booneville men at 1:45 a.m. The shooting occurred after the car was stopped, officials reported. Shook was shot with a .357 magnum, Herring said. He died two hours later at the North Mississippi Medical Center in Tupelo.

Officials have refused to discuss exact details of the investigation into the shooting, but Herring said he has requested that the Highway Patrol review the investigation "so nobody will say we covered anything up."

A coroner's inquest to determine the exact cause of death was to have been held Monday afternoon or Tuesday.

'White's Folly' Becomes Reality At NEMJC

Before a crowd of some 400 key Mississippi leaders, faculty, staff and students Thursday, Northeast Junior College President Harold T. White recognized the efforts of many who have worked for the development of a quality educational program in the heart of Northeast Mississippi.

"Northeast continues to grow and to be successful in its attempts to serve the student body because of the works of many men and women who have given of their time and energies just as the men we honor today," White said.

The remarks were made during dedication ceremonies for two new dormitories on the Northeast campus. They were opened to residents at the beginning of the fall semester.

The girl's dormitory bears the name of Hoyt B. Wood of New Albany, while the men's facility is named for Bob Yarber of Belmont.

The completion of the dormitories, valued at $2.5 million, boosts total expenditures for physical improvements and equipment to the Booneville campus since 1965 to approximately $18 million. This cost reflects the addition of some 20 new buildings.

When Northeast opened its door in 1948, there were only three buildings: the administration building, known today as Stringer Hall, Estes Hall, which then housed all classes; and Seth Pounds Auditorium.

The physical expansion seen over the last several years is indicative of the yearly growth in student population.

"Enrollment statistics for that first semester in 1948 indicate a student body of 600," White said. "Today, we boast a record enrollment of some 2,300 full-time day students with another 2,000 served through our satellite programs in Corinth, Yellow Creek,

Prentiss Manufacturing To Dedicate New Facility

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

A dream that has been in the minds of officials at Prentiss Manufacturing Company for 10 years will come true Wednesday, Nov. 17, when a new $1.5 million corporate office and distribution center opens in the Booneville-Prentiss County Industrial Park.

"This has been one of the greatest dreams on the part of the officers of our company," said James Bethay, president and chairman of the board of the company.

The Prentiss Manufacturing building is the first new facility to be completed in the industrial park since the city and county completed a massive program last year to upgrade the park.

The Prentiss Manufacturing expansion was undertaken mainly to upgrade the working conditions for the corporate offices, warehouse and shipping department, Bethay said.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies and an open house for the new corporate office and distribution center will be Wednesday, Nov. 17, at 3:30 p.m. at the facility.

Local dignitaries will be present at the opening, as will the Booneville High School Band which will perform. Gov. William Winter has been invited to the opening, but he had not confirmed as of Monday whether or not he would be able to attend, Bethay said.

Workers at Prentiss Manufacturing will be dismissed from work at 10:30 a.m. next Wednesday in honor of the special day, he said.

"We have been looking forward to this day for some 10 years," Bethay said. "We like to attribute our success to our customers who give us business and we recognize the fact that we have good, hardworking and dedicated employees who produce the work for us."

"We also appreciate the community for giving us a good working environment and a free enterprise system," he said.

The new distribution center covers 100,000 square feet and the corporate offices cover 11,000 square feet. The distribution center will house finished products which will be shipped from there.

It will take two or three months to complete moving the stock from the Federal Compress building that Prentiss presently uses as a warehouse. The corporate offices will be moved to the new location during Thanksgiving week, Bethay said.

Construction of the facility was financed by the sale of $1.5 million of industrial revenue bonds to Mercantile Trust of St. Louis, Mo. Prentiss Manufacturing will pay an interest rate of 65 percent of the prime rate on the bonds. The loan is to be paid off in 10 years, Bethay said.

The expansion is expected to create about 50 new jobs. Some people have already been hired, Bethay said.

Prentiss, which employs 675 people, is the county's largest single employer. Plants No. 1 and No. 2 are located at 402 Adams Street, the third plant is located in Jumpertown and Prentiss No. 4 is located at 100 Parker Ave. in the Industrial Park. The company produces men's heavy weight flannel shirts, workshirts, field shirts and western shirts. Their products are sold in all 50 states and are exported to Europe and South America.

Some of the companies who sell Prentiss shirts are Sears and Pennys. The shirts are sold locally at Shirts 'N' Stuff, Wal-Mart and Fred's.

The future goal of the company is to house plants No. 1 and No. 2 in the industrial park, Bethay said.

"We hope, after the bond issue is paid off, to build a sewing room and cutting department there and move from these crowded conditions," he said.

High School

of centralized facilities -- including a gymnasium, an auditorium a library, and a cafeteria -- to be shared by all grades, he said. There is plenty of room for all these facilities at the Middle School site, Aust said. The city has a clear title to some 31.14 acres of property there, he said. In conjunction with the proposed construction of a new high school, the city board of aldermen plan to construct a football field -- and possibly a track -- at the Booneville City Park. However, this proposal is separate from and not included in the $2.2 million bond issue. Aust said the issue of a football field and other such facilities had hindered the committee members in working out their recommendations for the school board. "But the City took care of that," he said, referring to the plans to build the field at the city park without using school funds. PRIOR to making its recommendation to the city schools' board of trustees, the advisory committee toured all the Booneville schools to determine their exact condition. Some of the members expressed shock at the conditions they encountered.

"I don't think you realize what your children are going to school in," Aust said Monday night. "The grammar school in particular is deplorable." "A good educational facility does not necessarily make for a good educational program," he said. "But it certainly helps if the teachers don't get rained on."

In announcing the recommendation that the high school and grammar school be abandoned, Aust said Anderson School and the Middle School "are the only two decent facilities in the system."

Although the advisory committee was originally to disband after making its recommendation, Aust said the school board asked the committee members to stay on and help in building support in the community for the passage of the school bond issue.

evening college, adult education and continuing education programs." In addition to the yearly demand for qualified faculty and staff members, the increased enrollment has placed a high demand for student housing, the veteran president of 18 years said. The completion of the new living facilities has paved the way for a 64 percent increase in student housing at Northeast. Presently some 600 students are taking advantage of the on-campus housing, White added. "Often referred to as 'White's folly,' the idea of providing dormitory housing was seen as inconceivable to some within only the last 15 years," Tye Carpenter, president of the SGA said in response to White's remarks. "But because of the support of people like Mr. Wood and Mr. Yarber and the administration's keen awareness to the students, the dormitories have become a much needed reality." The identical three-story, air-conditioned buildings feature a walk-up type setting with exterior balconies. Both facilities contain 60 units designed to accommodate two students each. The rooms are fully carpeted with private baths. Wood, a former member of the board of trustees at Northeast, served as Union's county representative for 16 years, from 1964 to 1980. He is presently employed with the State Department of Audit.

Yarber, who serves as the board's vice-chairman is presently in his eighth year as representative to the school's governing body from Tishomingo County. He is a registered pharmacist and owns Yarber's Drug Company in Belmont.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I am 17 years old and single, but dating. My parents have always taught me not to do anything I'm not suppose to on a date or before I am married. Is it a sin to have sex before you are married? And if it is where is it found in the Bible? I will appreciate your help. Thank you very much. (from Booneville).

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: First, may I say that I appreciate this young person writing to ask this question. It is one which confuses many of our young people. The answer is yes, it is wrong to have pre-marital sex. The Bible says in 1 Cor. 6:18 "Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body." The word "fornicate" is from porneia which means illicit sexual intercourse. In Gal. 5:19 "fornication" is listed as one of the sins of the flesh which will keep one out of heaven. In 1 Thes. 4:3 we are told to "Abstain from fornication." God has provided that our sexual desires be released in what he calls marriage. Heb. 13:4 says, "Marriage is honorable in all, and the bed undefiled; but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge." I hope this answers your question and that you will study your Bible.

For When Your Family's Tastebuds Are Tired

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

With Christmas and Thanksgiving fast approaching it isn't too early to begin planning holiday menus. This week's cook, Maylene Brown of New Site, shares several recipes that can be used when your family's tastebuds become tired of the traditional turkey and dressing.

Mrs. Brown has worked for the past 12 years as an area nutritionist with Mississippi Action for Progress and supervises food services and nutritional education in 19 head start centers in a six county area.

Prior to her present job she was cafeteria manager at New Site High School for six years and substitute to the postmaster at New Site Post Office for three years.

Mrs. Brown, whose maiden name also happens to be Brown, is the mother of six children, Nan Palmer of Corinth, Becky Lambert of New Site, Nathan Brown of Starkville, Carroll Thomas Brown of Greenville, S.C., Trenton Brown of Tifton, Ga., and Daniel Brown of Eatonton, Ga.

Mrs. Brown's parents, Odus and Pearl Brown of Hills Chapel will celebrate their 67th wedding anniversary Nov. 24.

Mrs. Brown attends Little Brown Free Will Baptist Church, which is located not far from her farm.

Mrs. Brown raises chickens, ducks and several cows on her farm in New Site. She even has a beehive. Once after she had robbed the beehive for honey the bees were so angry they wouldn't let her work in the garden. "They're mean bees but they make good honey!" she says.

The holidays are a special time for the Brown family as everyone travels home for the holidays. Cooking meals for her large family, which also includes ten grandchildren, is no problem for Mrs. Brown because she takes great pleasure in cooking.

In addition to preparing the usual holiday foods, Mrs. Brown also makes a big pot of Macaroni Chili for her family. When the family is as stuffed as the turkey, this is a dish that's both nourishing and hearty on a cold winter's day. Although called "chili" it is milder than most chili recipes and tastes much like vegetable soup - only thicker.

Cinnamon Pudding is a festive dessert for the holidays that's also quick to prepare. The pudding can be baking in the oven while everyone eats supper and then dessert can be served hot with whipped cream or ice cream.

This may be the egg custard recipe you have been looking for because Mrs. Brown says she has never had this egg custard recipe to fail.

Instead of eating cranberry sauce, Mrs. Brown's family prefers having hot buttered spiced apples. The unusual ingredient in this recipe is red hot candy. For the recipe she uses approximately 2 cups water, 1½ cups sugar, ½ cup of red hot, 6 large apples quartered. Put a layer of apples in a baking dish, boil syrup (sugar, water, butter and red hot) until dissolved.

Pour over apples. Then bake until apples are done. This is delicious with turkey and dressing and other holiday foods, she says.

2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ozs.)
1 jar (8 ozs.) sweet mixed pickles, drained and chopped
In 6 qt. Dutch oven, brown beef in hot oil, stirring frequently, until it loses pink color.
Stir in tomatoes, tomato juice, onion, garlic, 1 tablespoon salt, chili powder, cumin seed, oregano, pepper and bay leaf. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer, covered, 1 hour. Stir occasionally.

Stir in kidney beans, bring back to boiling, reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 30 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Add cooked macaroni - which was cooked in 3 qts. boiling water.

Old Fashioned Egg Custard

2½ cups milk
4 eggs (slightly beaten)
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 unbaked 9 inch pie shell
Scald milk, blend eggs, sugar, salt and vanilla. Pour milk over all, slowly stirring, pour into pie shell. (pour over a spoon to keep from breaking the crust)
Have oven preheated to 475 degrees (that may seem too hot but it works). Bake for 5 minutes at this temperature. Reduce heat to 425 degrees - open oven door for only a minute to lower temperature. Bake exactly 10 minutes at 425 degrees. Remove - sprinkle with nutmeg. Set on rack to jell. Cool.

Pastry:
3 cups plain flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ cup water (cold) Mix.
Makes crust for three pies or 20 fried pies - (or brush with butter and bake).

Rolls (Maylene's Recipe)

1 qt. warm water
Add - 1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons salt
1/3 cup yeast (6 pkgs) let set 10 minutes
Add - 11 or 12 cups plain flour mixed with one cup powdered milk

Add - one cup soft oleo or shortening. Mix 5 minutes. Let set 20 minutes.

Punch down. Make into rolls - turn to cover in butter. Place on baking pan and bake at 400 degrees. Makes approximately 5 dozen rolls.

Baptist Hospital Leases Columbus Facility

A second hospital in Mississippi and a third one in Arkansas have become affiliated with the Baptist Memorial Health Care System, based in Memphis. Golden Triangle Regional Medical Center in Columbus has joined the Baptist Memorial Health Care System through a shared services agreement, and citizens of St. Francis County, Ark., have overwhelmingly approved leasing the 112-bed acute care Forrest Memorial Hospital, located in Forrest City, to Baptist Memorial Health Care System Inc.

A proposed ordinance prohibiting the affiliation agreement between Forrest Memorial and Baptist was defeated by a vote of 6,492 to 2,726 in the Nov. 2 election. The affiliation agreement had previously been approved by the St. Francis Quorum Court and Forrest Memorial's Board of Governors, but a challenge, eventually upheld by the Arkansas Supreme Court, called for citizens to vote on the issue.

The plan approved by the voters in St. Francis County calls for the construction by Baptist Memorial of a new hospital in the county.

Through the arrangement with Golden Triangle, the Columbus hospital also gains membership in Voluntary Hospitals of America, a Dallas-based cooperative that affords members participation in a variety of cost-saving and revenue-producing programs. Baptist Memorial is also one of the 46 members of the five-year-old organization.

Through its affiliation with Baptist Memorial, Golden Triangle receives access to the health care system's managerial and technical expertise as well as participation in several programs, including purchasing programs, data processing, human resources, nursing management, Medicare reimbursement and organizational consultation, Smith said.

Golden Triangle is the ninth institution to affiliate with the Memphis-based health care system which is owned by Southern Baptists in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee.

In addition to the 2,068-bed, three-unit Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, other facilities are in Ripley, Covington and Union City, Tenn.; Hardy, Forrest City and Corning, Ark.; and the one here in Booneville.

QUESTION: Are you happy with the outcome of the election on Nov. 2?"

ALTIE J. WALKER of 202 N. Bryant St., Booneville: "Yes. The ones I voted for were elected."

CHARLENE WILSON of Route 1, New Site: "Yes, I guess - although not all the people I voted for were elected but some of them were."

BRENDA BROWN of Route 3, Booneville: "Yes. I think the people elected will do a good job."

ENGA NOEL of Wheeler: "Not really. I would like to have seen Haley Barbour elected as the new senator. Stennis at age 81 is a little old to be senator for another term."

KAREN TAYLOR of Route 7, Booneville: "Yes. The people I voted for were elected."

JEWEL GROVES of 107 Seventh St., Booneville: "No, I really think it was time for a change in everything. All these other people have been in there so long it seems like it should be time we had different people elected who have new ideas so Mississippi can get off the bottom rung."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Ponderings

By Angela Smith

Staff Reporter

Next Wednesday will be a very special day for Prentiss Manufacturing Company, Booneville and Prentiss County. Ribbon cutting ceremonies and an open house for the new corporate office and distribution center for Prentiss will be held at 3:30 on Nov. 17.

"This has been one of our greatest dreams on the part of the officers of this company," said James H. Bethay, president and chairman of the board. "We've been looking forward to this for some 10 years."

Prentiss Manufacturing was opened in Booneville in the fall of 1947 by Bethay's father, Longino L. Bethay. In 35 years they have grown from 12 employees to 675 employees, the county's largest employer.

We might never have had a Prentiss Manufacturing had Blue Bell not purchased Mid South Manufacturing. The elder Bethay was the third officer, secretary-treasurer, at Mid South when the company was sold. The sale left him jobless.

L.L. Bethay chose to open a plant in Booneville because the Mid South Manufacturing branch here was the most productive plant that Mid South owned. And Bethay felt it would be the type of environment he wanted to start the factory in, according to his son, James.

The factory was first located in the Sutherland building on the second and third floor. (The building now houses Dickerson's Furniture). The steam used to press the shirts was piped across the alley from Lindsey's Cleaners.

By 1948 they had started building at the location on Adams Street. The road wasn't paved and it wasn't uncommon for people to get stuck on the gravel road, Bethay said.

Now the road is paved. And Prentiss has four plants. Plants Number 1 and 2 located on Adams Street, the third plant is at Jumpertown and Number 4 on Parker Avenue in the Industrial Park.

And the dreams haven't stopped.

Within the next ten years, and possibly sooner, they hope to build a sewing room and cutting department by their new facility - thus moving plants 1 and 2 from Adams Street.

Emmons Turner Jr., vice-president (retired) is compiling the history of the company which will be on display at the new facility.

How Long Will Sen. Stennis Serve?

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - Now, the question is: who, after John Stennis?

At 81, John Cornelius Stennis has been elected, incredibly, to start a new six-year term in the United States Senate in 1983. Elected, perhaps, is not the proper word. Backed into it, might be more apropos.

There was never any question that Stennis was too old to be representing Mississippi in the Senate, but it was Haley Barbour's job to prove to the people he was a better alternative. He didn't, and the moving finger having writ, we move on to the next juncture in the political life of this state.

None but the most naive, or those who practice self-deception, could believe that Stennis will serve to the end of his next term, when he would be in his 88th year. Some who know the history of the Stennis family say several Stennises have been known to live until they were in their 90s.

But it is unrealistic in the extreme to compare John Stennis' physical body to anyone who has lived through a normal life. What happened to Stennis in January 1973 when a bullet was fired into his abdomen by a mugger on a Washington street was enough to end the life of most men in their 70s. Stennis, by some miracle, survived.

It is believed by some intimates of Stennis that the courtly old Senator made a vow during his remarkable recovery that he would offer himself for public service in Mississippi as long as he was able.

Just a little over a year before his shooting, Stennis intimated to this writer he would not "make the mistake" as he put it then, of staying on too long in the Senate as had some of his colleagues, among them Carl Hayden of Arizona, who was then 80.

But providence took a hand in Stennis' personal and political destiny, and now Mississippi is sending back to Washington the oldest man ever elected to that body in this nation's history.

That Stennis ran, or had to run, in order for the Democratic Party in Mississippi to hold on to one of the state's two Senate seats, is a sad commentary on the state of Democratic politics here.

There's no doubt in this writer's mind that Stennis was encouraged to run by leading Democrats, among them Gov. William Winter, back in 1980 because they feared nobody else would have a chance against Rep. Trent Lott, who was expected to be the Republican threat.

It's very likely that Stennis could not have beaten Lott because he would have lost his advantage of being the only candidate with Congressional experience which no doubt proved a great handicap to Barbour. Also, the age factor would have been even stronger in a Stennis-Lott matchup.

For the Democrats to have to put an old warhorse like Stennis back out on the track one more time points up the absence of capable and willing horses in the Democratic stable.

This is probably the result of the vacuum created by having the same two Democratic Senators in Washington for more than 30 years, which discouraged development of likely Democratic successors.

Within the next three years, it can reasonably be expected that Stennis will no longer be able to serve, or will be persuaded to yield his post. There is nothing to the wild rumor which continues to pop up that Stennis' only wanted to get re-elected, so by some musical chairs, William Winter would be handed the seat. It couldn't happen that way in the first place, and in the second place Stennis, I'm convinced, has no intention as of now stepping down.

The likelihood is that if a replacement for Stennis must be picked before his term ends, it will come after Winter has gone out of the governor's office in January 1984. Winter, of course, would be a prospective candidate for the seat, but he would have to weigh a lot of factors, among them the growing tradition in Mississippi against ever rewarding ex-governors with another elective office.

I'd put my money right now on U.S. Rep. Wayne Dowdy as the hottest Democratic prospect on the horizon to keep the Senate seat in Democratic hands. Dowdy, fresh from solidifying his political base in the Fourth Congressional District, seems to be the free-swinging, modern-day populist Democrat who is capable of pulling a sizable white "redneck" vote and almost a solid black vote, a powerful combination in Mississippi politics.

Doubtless, once Stennis is out of the picture, Lott would almost be compelled to pick up the Republican banner and run for the Senate seat, particularly since the prospects of his ever becoming Speaker of the House are more distant than ever.

Meantime, the hope is that Stennis, who has long isolated himself from the realities of poverty, racial conflict and social unrest in his state, has been brought closer to "where it's at" in Mississippi by having to campaign for the first time in 35 years, and will become more responsive as a legacy of his final years in the Senate.

Kerosene Heaters Are Still Dangerous

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

The more sophisticated look of today's kerosene or "coal oil" heaters may be quite an improvement over the tinny-looking, staid, stand-up models of the thirties and forties - but recent studies show that they may be nearly as dangerous, smelly and unhealthy as ever.

As the world scrambles to find alternate energy devices, the largely rejected-except-in-emergencies kerosene heater has come back. The instruments look good, the sales ployes sound even better - but, beware!

Unvented kerosene heaters slowly fill rooms or houses with four pollutants - carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, nitrogen dioxide, and sulfur dioxide. All of these gases can be harmful in sufficient concentrations, particularly for persons with certain health problems.

The first three of these pollutants are formed when any fuel is burned. And sulfur dioxide is given off when the fuel contains sulfur, which kerosene does.

Unfortunately not all kerosene is suitable for an unvented kerosene heater.

There are two varieties of kerosene - 1K, which is low in sulfur; and 2K which is much higher in sulfur.

Therefore the 1K variety is that which should be used in these heaters. The other type, or 2K, dramatically increases sulfur-dioxide emissions and, according to some fire-safety officials, gums up the wick in the heater itself. Soot also is discharged into the house.

As an aid to consumers, the trade association of kerosene-heater distributors has been working with the American Petroleum Institute and other organizations to tighten standards for kerosene and improve the quality of the kerosene on the market. But it will be some time before those efforts reap benefits.

Kerosene can be found at many service stations, heating-oil dealers, and country stores in scattered places, but - compared with a generation or so ago - this fuel oil is hard to find except in plastic bottles - colored and scented quite unlike the substance that used to be hand pumped into a one-gallon coal oil can before having a small Irish potato impaled over the spout to seal it in.

Today kerosene is expensive in its cute little containers compared to when it was a dirt cheap, bottom-of-the-line product muchly used as a solvent for cutting grease or paint as well as for heating.

Probably legions of Mississippians, middle aged and above, grew up like this writer taking winter baths in a thin-floored bathroom made comfortably warm by the offensive but necessary kerosene heater. Then came better things and kerosene heaters faded into antiquity.

Kerosene-fueled heaters are a cause for concern by a consumer group which sees the hazards of kerosene as something to be avoided. The group also cites the heater's open flame as posing a threat of fire. Further, this group cites the hazards involved in storing kerosene.

The resurgence in the use of kerosene heaters began in the late 1970's when a former airline pilot quit his flying job to promote and sell new, presumably safer kerosene heaters to homeowners searching for a cheaper way to keep the house warm. His brand today is the dominant brand on the market, accounting for roughly one-third of the three million kerosene heaters sold last year.

Most kerosene heaters today are better designed safety-wise to minimize or eliminate many of the fire hazards associated with earlier models. They are bottom-heavy so they don't tip over readily.

They have an automatic cutoff that is supposed to snuff out the flame if the heater is jarred or upset.

And their fule tanks are designed to minimize leaks or spills. But kerosene heaters as a class still present hazards not found on other forms of home heating, and homeowners should carefully consider their options before making a purchase.

Harold Cummings, safety director of the Mississippi

Farm Bureau Federation, urges homeowners who choose to buy kerosene heaters to purchase a unit that is approved by the Underwriters Laboratories, secure the proper form of kerosene for fuel, be sure that the area where it is used is properly ventilated, and read the instructions for the heater prior to use.

Hoover Addresses Local DAR

Aileen Ricks Hoover, author of "Meadow Creek Tales and After," was guest speaker Nov. 4 at the Hospitality Room at Northeast Mississippi Junior College when the Natchez Trace Chapter DAR held its regular meeting.

Mrs. Jim Davis, Mrs. Bill Milner, and Mrs. Jim Ward were hostesses. Fall flowers were used in a lovely mixed arrangement and cheesecake was served with coffee.

Miss Nancy Clarke Brewer presided. She and Mrs. Whit Abernathy led the DAR ritual and Mrs. Paul Dobbins led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

Mrs. Hoover began the review of her book by telling how she used notes taken during conversations between her daughter and her mother 10 years ago as the basis for it.

These notes were enlarged and recollections of her own experiences as a girl growing up in the Meadow Creek area were added.

The history of the Consolidated School System was included along with delightful accounts about people and the way they lived, worked, and played before the turn of the century and on through the thirties.

She concluded her nostalgic backward glance with original poetry from her book.

During the business session Mrs. Daily Mitchell was welcomed as a new member, minutes were read, and reports were given by Mrs. John Lorick and Mrs. Lewis Earl Perry on their recent trip to Natchez, where they served as hostesses at "Rosalie."

Mrs. Dobbins urged members to display flags on holidays during the month.

Let's Talk.

Talking. It's the best way to find out what's happening. To understand.

South Central Bell believes in talking things over. And there's never been a time when talking was more important. You may have heard about changes coming in the way you'll be getting your phone service. We want to talk with you about these changes. And answer some of the questions you may have been asking about South Central Bell.

Questions such as these:

Q. I've heard stories about "divestiture," and the telephone company splitting up. It's all very complicated. What's happening?

A. Simply put, AT&T has agreed to separate itself from the local operations of its 22 Bell operating telephone companies. So in the future, South Central Bell will no longer be affiliated with AT&T.

Q. If South Central Bell doesn't have AT&T behind it, won't the quality of my telephone service be affected?

A. You can expect the same dependable service you have now. And you'll have the same dedicated people standing behind it. You'll also have more options than ever before in terms of equipment, services and suppliers.

Q. What will happen to my local rates? Is it true they're going to skyrocket?

A. Your rates are not going to skyrocket. They may continue to go up, but not because of the separation from AT&T. Increases in our costs are the main reason. For example, inflation causes increases in the cost of services and goods we use to provide phone service. And new technology in telecommunications makes it necessary for us to replace some equipment faster than in the past. Local rates will have to go up to cover part of these increased costs.

Q. Will South Central Bell be allowed to charge whatever it wants for local calls?

A. No. Local rates will still be regulated by the state's public service commission. And at South Central Bell, we will continue to do everything we can to keep these rates as low as possible.

Q. Where will I get my telephone in the future? And who will fix it in case something goes wrong or it breaks?

A. At some time in the future, you will be able to get phones from an AT&T subsidiary, other phone suppliers or possibly South Central Bell. Repair of phone equipment likely will be provided by the company that supplies the equipment. South Central Bell will continue to maintain your local telephone lines.

You may have more questions about the changes at South Central Bell. And we want to make it easy for you to get answers.

So give us a call toll free at 1 800 555-5000*, 10 a.m. - 11 p.m., Central Time, Monday through Friday. We're ready to talk.

Or send in this coupon. You'll get an answer. And a free booklet, "Let's Talk About Change."

Committee Member Elections Scheduled Nov. 26

By C.E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

COMMUNITY COMMITTEE ELECTIONS UPCOMING

The mail election for ASC community committee members is being held this month. Ballots will be mailed Nov. 26 to all persons eligible to vote in the committee election.

This is an election where farmers are elected by other farmers in the community. The final date for mailing voted ballots, or for bringing them to the county ASCS office is Dec. 6.

Ballots will be counted on Dec. 8 in the county ASCS Office, 105 College Street, Booneville, at 9:30 a.m. The counting process is open to the public.

Three regular members and two alternates will be elected in each of the five communities in Prentiss county.

On Dec. 16 the newly elected community committee members will hold a county convention to nominate and elect one county committee member and two alternates. The newly-elected county committee member will serve for three years, the alternates for one year.

One of the main functions of community committee members is to elect members of the ASC county committee. They also assist the county committee throughout the year in the administration of federal farm programs locally.

In Prentiss county, the principal farm programs are cotton, wheat, corn, grain sorghum and agricultural conservation programs.

Any farmer who is eligible to take part in any ASCS program is eligible to vote in the mail election. Voting eligibility is determined without regard to race, sex, color, religion, or national origin.

A list of known voters is on file in the county ASCS office and is open for public inspection.

STRONG 1983 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM PARTICIPATION VITAL

The current situation of large supplies and weak prices for feed grains could be turned around next year if the 1983 feed grain program goal of a 9-million-acre reduction in corn acreage is reached.

This will only be achieved, however, through strong program participation. Farmers who want to help solve the supply problem need to participate in the acreage reduction and paid land diversion program.

With full participation, USDA estimates that corn production will be reduced about 600 million bushels from the 1982 crop level. With a resulting drop in year-end stocks for 1983-84, this should act to bolster prices.

The 1983 program offers farmers a higher target price and loan rate for their corn than the 1982 program. It also provides land diversion payments and deficiency payments, payable in advance.

The 1983 target price for corn is $2.86 per bushel and the loan rate is $2.65 a bushel. The land diversion payment rate is $1.50 per bushel and the estimated deficiency payment rate is 21 cents per bushel. Half of these payment rates will be used in computing advance payments.

The program is voluntary. However, only those farmers who participate will be eligible for target price protection, loans and program payments. Farmers are encouraged to take advantage of the 1983 feed grain program to help improve corn prices. The signup period began on Oct. 1.

UPLAND COTTON DIVERSION PAYMENTS AUTHORIZED

Upland cotton producers who sign up for the 1983 cotton program and voluntarily divert an acreage of cropland in addition to the acreage reduction requirement, will receive a payment.

The payment will be 25 cents per pound times the farm payment yield times the acres diverted. Producers may receive one-half the payment at signup. The number of acres eligible for payment will depend on the level of diversion selected by the producer up to the maximum of 5 percent of the base.

Acres eligible for diversion payments cannot exceed 6.67 percent of the 1983 cotton planted acreage.

Cotton diversion payments were authorized to reduce the level of cotton stocks in an effort to improve prices.

Even though 1982 production is currently estimated at only 11.3 million bales - 28 percent below 1981 -- continuing weak demand will likely hold cotton use down this season, according to USDA officials. Consequently, stocks next Aug. 1 may still total around 6½ million bales, well above the 3.5 to 4 million bales carryover generally considered desirable. This situation is keeping cotton prices depressed ASCS officials said.

Farmers participating in the 20 percent acreage reduction program can qualify for commodity loans and deficiency payments that give them price and income protection. They may also qualify for a 50 percent advance deficiency payment when they sign up.

County Agent's Report

Cost Cutting Is Important To Farmers

By W.H. HADEN
County Agent

COST CUTTING ESSENTIAL

Good farmers are always looking for ways to cut costs and become more efficient. That's even more evident this year as farmers search for ways to make up for low crop prices.

Farmers who have both row crops and cattle can save by letting cattle eat crop residues left in the field after harvest. This is a good arrangement for some cattlemen because cattle can consume a lot of roughage. Even where cattle have plenty of lush winter grazing, they seem to crave some rough fiber material.

Most crop residues available for cattle are usually high in fiber, but low in protein and energy. That means the cattle may need supplement with minerals and other higher quality feed. The quality of the residue as feed drops fairly rapidly as it stays in the field.

Many pastures also contain some "frosted" grass which the cattle can use as feed. Cattle always eat a lot of frosted grass if it is available in late fall or early winter.

Farmers should use special caution with feeding certain types of frosted materials such as sorghum. Frost ruptures the plant cells which releases an acid that may cause cyanide poisoning in cattle. The poisoning potential varies among forages. Grain sorghum has the most potential followed by Johnsongrass, sorghum-sudan and sundangrass. The affected plants can be fed safely if fermented as silage or cured as hay. They also are safe for cattle to graze after the plants are dry.

HEATERS REQUIRE CAUTION

Anyone who uses portable kerosene heaters to warm homes may be endangering their health and safety if they aren't extremely careful in operating the appliances.

In addition to posing a severe threat of fire, portable kerosene heaters lower the quality of the air in the home. Manufacturers recommend leaving a window or door open at least an inch when the heaters are in use.

Many individuals often disregard this suggestion. When that happens and the heater is operated in an unventilated area, dangerous levels of carbon monoxide can develop. You can't see or smell the deadly gas.

Simply getting out of the room and into fresh air isn't always enough to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning. It's possible for a person to die of suffocation even after being removed from the room where the poisoning happened.

Some early symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning are dizziness, drowsiness, headache, nausea and-or vomiting. If you do use a kerosene heater, use these precautions.

Never leave children unattended with a burning heater. Use only clear white kerosene. Lower grades will clog the heater and make excessive smoke.

Open the door or window at least an inch. Even through you may not experience carbon monoxide symptoms, the accumulation of even small doses can be dangerous over a period of several weeks. Keep the heater away from curtains and drapes and don't use sprays in the room.

New Drug Is Helpful In Treatment Of Acute Acne

Editor's note: The author of the following article is a fourth year pharmacy student at the University of Mississippi and is a native of Marietta.

By MARLA S. DEVAUGHN

In late August of this year, a new prescription medication called Accutane reached local pharmacies. Accutane was developed by Hoffmann-LeRoche laboratories for the treatment of acne. This new drug promises dramatic improvement for the 2½ million Americans who suffer from severe cystic acne.

Accutane's generic name is isotretinoin, but it is referred to by its chemical name 13-cis-retinoic acid. It is a derivative of vitamin A, but it should not be confused with regular vitamin A. Most researchers warn against self-medication with vitamin A because of its toxicity in large doses.

Accutane is available in 10 and 40 mg. capsules. The exact amount prescribed is based on the individual's weight and the severity of the condition.

After two or more weeks of treatment, the dose can be adjusted according to the response of the condition and the appearance of side effects. The recommended course of treatment is for 15-20 weeks or until a total cyst count is reduced by more than 70 percent.

Accutane is very effective for severe cystic acne, which usually occurs more in men than in women. The breakouts can produce extensive scarring which occurs not only on the face, but also on the back and chest.

Accutane has four effects: It loosens the cells that plug the skin follicles. It reduces the number of breakouts and their redness and tenderness. It shrinks oil glands by 80-90 percent and also decreases oil production by as much as 90 percent in some patients. This drug does not directly kill bacteria, but it removes the oil which the bacteria needs for growth.

Clinical trials of Accutane began in the mid-1970's and have been carried out by a number of institutions. In all of these studies there has been an unprecedented remission with a single course of therapy.

One of the first studies to be completed was done by the National Institute of Health. In this study, accutane was given to 14 men and women whose acne had resisted antibiotics and other forms of therapy.

After four months of treatment, in 13 of the 14 patients the cysts cleared completely, and after treatment stopped these conditions remained in remission.

It is important to remember that this medication is for severe cystic acne. For more information, contact your pharmacist or physician.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Morning Walk

I walk alone on a trail of God-made beauty. It's a day in autumn, with the cold of an early frost in the air. The morning sun glistens through the trees as if magic has fringed the leaves, changing the colors to rays of beauty a painter would envy.

Dead leaves restle with the steps of man to make a joyous noise, and a crow in the distance calls a warning to his neighbors that an intruder is near.

Tomorrow I may not walk this path, but I shall carry a memory of the beauty in my heart, and sit and think of it when I need to nourish my soul.

Swinney Named Pre-Season All Conference

James Swinney, a former basketball standout at Thrasher High School, is one of two Delta State University Statesmen listed on the pre-season All-Gulf South Conference 1982-83 team selected by the league's coaches.

JAMES SWINNEY

The Statesmen were picked in a fifth place tie with the University of North Alabama in the same poll. Jacksonville State was listed as the No. 1 team in the poll, followed by Livingston (last year's champion), Troy State, Valdosta, DSU and UNA, Tennessee-Martin and Mississippi College.

Swinney, a 6-3, 175-pound sophomore guard, and Anthony Ross, a 6-7, 200-pound senior from Madison, Ga., were both named to the pre-season team.

Swinney was the team's third leading scorer as a freshman last season, averaging 9.3 points per game. His 86.3 percent mark from the free throw line ranked him ninth in the NCAA Division II in 1982. Ross averaged 5.2 points per game and 4.7 rebounds as a junior for coach Mel Hankinson's Statesmen last fall. He transferred to DSU from Georgia Military College prior to the 1981-82 season.

"I am extremely pleased with the selection of James and Anthony to the pre-season team," Hankinson said. "They both were very valuable to our team last year and the two will be counted on this season."

Delta State has a very young team this season, with two freshmen, two sophomores and a senior in the starting lineup. The Statesmen begin regular season play at home in Cleveland on Nov. 20 against Arkansas Baptist College.

Lose To Corinth 31-10

Blue Devils Drop Season Finale

By CLIFF LONG
Sports Writer

The Booneville Blue Devils closed out their 1982 football season Friday night with a loss to the Corinth Warriors. The Blue Devils brought their closing record to 6-3-1, a record that head coach Doc Gullett admitted he never expected.

At the conclusion of the game he said, "If you had told me at the first of the season that we would be 6-3-1, I would have never believed you."

Booneville did, however, have a disappointing last season stretch, losing three of their last four games.

The Blue Devils lost a very important district match to New Albany, then came back with a homecoming victory over Nettleton. With their last two games on the road, the Blue Devils dropped a game to Pontotoc, then last week, Corinth's Warriors dropped Booneville, 31-10.

The Warriors compiled 184 yards total offense, compared to the Devils' 136.

Warrior quarterback John Darnell threw for 84 yards on the night. This included a 24-yard pass to Kerry Massey for a touchdown and a 23-yard pass to Britt Richards, also for a score.

Corinth's leading rusher was Gabriel Lesey. Gaining 65 yards on the night, he scored the Warrior's final touchdown on a 60-yard run late in the fourth quarter.

Booneville quarterback Bernard Anderson compiled 72 yards passing, but was sacked numerous times for losses.

Greg Oakley rushed for 32 yards, leading all other Booneville rushers.

Larry Mackin was forced to punt six times in the ball game. His average on the night was 38.6 yards.

Booneville scored for the first time in the second quarter when kicker Rod Coggin was called on for a 23-yard field goal attempt. Coggin split the uprights for a successful kick.

With the Warriors leading 14-3 in the third quarter, Bernard Anderson connected for a 20-yard touchdown pass to split end Carlos Hastings.

This score tightened the game to 14-10, but Corinth broke away in the fourth quarter with three consecutive scoring efforts.

The Blue Devils will put up their cleats until next year and take down their sneakers for the opening roundball match of the season at Booneville High School Friday night against Saltillo.

Venison Is Low

In Calories

A deer hunter who may be running out of justification for all the expense involved in bringing home a trophy buck may want to pick up some information provided by Dr. Ross "Skip" Shelton.

Shelton said venison contains 42 grams of protein per ounce while an equal portion of beef has only 37 grams of protein and pork only 31. The calorie count also favors the venison. An ounce of pork has more than 86 calories and beef has 75 to the ounce while venison has only about 35 calories.

He said venison also tops other meats in amounts of phosphorous, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin.

In Grid Guessing Game

Miller Ties

Saylors For Lead

An off-week by Prognosticator Chart leader Manfred Saylors gave Leighton Miller and Doug Jumper a chance to catch up this week. Saylors has been out front for the past few weeks.

This past week Miller, Jumper and guest picker Bob Griffin all correctly picked 12 of the 14 games for 85.7 percent. Saylors missed two more games than they did, picking 10 of the 14 for 71.4 percent.

Last week's other guest picker, Mac Curlee, got 11 of the 14 for 78.6 percent.

As a result of Saylors' dropping two games to Miller and Jumper, Saylors and Miller are now tied for top honors on the picking chart. Each have correctly picked 107 of a total of 139 games for 77 percent for the season.

Jumper is now only two games behind Saylors and Miller, having picked 105 of 139 for 75.5 percent.

The Banner-Independent's Prognosticator Chart will take a short hiatus from the sports pages, but the rivalry between Saylors, Miller and Jumper will continue again once the bowl games get underway at the end of the season.

While you're waiting for rates to go back up, get 8% by the week.

Money market rates have been going down over the past few weeks, leaving many investors in a quandary. Where will they bottom out? When will they start back up? Is it better to capture a rate before they slip lower, or stay short and wait for the trip back up?

While you're waiting to commit yourself, there's a lot of money on the sidelines.

We have the ideal place for your sideline money. The 7-Day Investment Account. That's right, an insured deposit that pays the 91-Day Treasury Bill rate, less  $\frac{1}{4}\%$ , for a term of only seven days. And interest is compounded daily. Every Tuesday, the rate is set for the next seven days. And every Tuesday, you can either get your money, without any penalty, or we'll automatically reinvest it for seven more days at the current rate. The penalty for early withdrawal is a minimum of one-half week's interest, up to loss of all interest since the previous Tuesday. You can make additional deposits anytime. Any additions will come due the first Tuesday after the seventh day. The minimum investment is \$20,000.

If your investment strategy calls for you to stay short, park your sideline money at a good rate for a week at a time. In today's market, it might even be the best place for all your money market investments.

Get money market rates by the week. It makes waiting for the interest elevator easier.

COUNTY HUNTER
SAFETY
ESSAY WINNERS:

Sharon Cagle, 9th grade student at Wheeler school is the Senior winner of the Hunter Safety Essay Contest. Terry Frasier was the Hunter Safety Instructor.

Jonathan Davis, 7th grade student at Anderson Jr. High, is the Junior winner. Wanda Robinson was the Hunter Safety Instructor.

Topic of the Essay was "WHAT I SHOULD DO TO PRESERVE THE SPORT OF HUNTING." All entries will be mailed to Marlin Hunter Safety Essay Contest.

The 4-H office would like to express its appreciation for the essays turned in by the students.

Sharon Cagle - Hunter Safety Essay:

The best thing I can do to preserve the sport of hunting is to abide by the rules by honoring the daily bag limit, the season dates, and the shooting hours. I should study the rules in my area. I should also become familiar with what the male and female of each species of game birds look like. I can learn all these rules, but unless I abide by them it will do no good. I must remember to always honor the Conservation Pledge: "I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my country -- its soil and minerals. Its forests, waters and wildlife."

Jonathan Davis - Hunter Safety Essay:

Hunting is the sport of capturing or killing wild animals. This sport is rapidly declining because some people do not obey the laws. In order to help preserve this sport there are certain things that I must do. By doing these things, maybe hunters around me will become more interested and will also help in preserving the sport.

I must be considerate of the rights of the landowner by getting permission from him or her. I must obey all game laws by not shooting or trapping over the limit. I should be careful that I shoot only game animals. When hunting with someone, I should be careful not to shoot the other person or toward houses and roads. I think it would be good if I joined a hunting club that engages in teaching hunters rules. These rules will help me observe the laws of hunting.

These are only a few things I can do, but maybe they will help to preserve hunting because I enjoy it most as a sport.

Soil Survey Results Available At Soil Conservation Office

OUR SOIL—OUR STRENGTH

How well do you know the soil on your property? Many people spend an entire lifetime on the land producing wood products, cotton, corn, and soybeans, and still know very little about the soil upon which they are dependent. The knowledge that a landowner has of the soil on his property, often makes the difference in success or failure of his farming operation.

Soils are as variable as people. They have different characteristics and different capabilities. Soils may be described as shallow, medium, or heavy textured. The drainage might be classed as poor, fair, well, or excessively loamy or a combination of these types. Slop and degree of erosion contributes to the type soil present on the land. All of the above factors help to determine the capability of any given soil.

Placement of crops on the right soil is very important. Grasses, trees, and row crops must be adapted to the soil upon which they are planted. A shallow, poorly drained soil will not support a deep-rooted plant. Shallow-rooted crops should be placed on shallow soils. However, some plants are more tolerant than others on an off-site location.

An adapted tree species on a good soil may grow 100 feet or more. The same tree on another soil may grow only 40 to 60 feet tall. Some tree species have a higher suitability index on deep soil than on shallow.

The soil is an essential part of the basic resource material that helps the economic opportunities of all people.

Soil surveys have been completed for all of Prentiss County. Interested landowners may obtain a free copy of the survey report at the Soil Conservation Service office, 107 College Street, Booneville.

Your Rights Under The Law . . .

Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some legal rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your rights.

Q: What is a peace officer, and what are his duties?

A: A peace officer's job is to help preserve community law and order. He may be known to you as a deputy sheriff, a police officer, a marshal or a constable.

The courts have given peace officers the authority to approach any person in a public place to request information as long as the officer has sufficient reason to justify his action.

He may arrest you with or without an arrest warrant. With an arrest warrant, the officer must tell you the reason for the arrest unless you are actually committing the offense or crime or are being chased.

You are protected from answering any questions asked by a peace officer by the Constitutions of the United States and Mississippi.

Q: Can an officer search me or my home at any time?

A: When you are lawfully arrested, the peace officer may search you as well as your immediate surroundings, your handbag and-or any articles you may be carrying. If the officer feels he may be in danger, he may "pat down" your outer clothing for weapons or other instruments that could cause him injury.

An officer may also search your home if he has a search warrant specifically describing the place to be searched. Before entering the place to be searched, the officer must show the warrant and give notice of his authority and purpose.

However, the officer may "break in" and search a place without notice if the property being looked for could be easily disposed of or destroyed, or if the officer feels the possibility of danger to himself while serving notice. The officer may also "break in" if he is refused admittance or if no one answers the door, and he has reason to believe no one is in the building.

Q: What are my rights if arrested?

A: You have the right to an attorney to be present during all questioning. Before your statement is admissible as evidence at trial, the officer must show that any statement resulting from questioning was obtained after you had intelligently, knowingly and voluntarily waived your right to remain silent.

Whether you are questioned or not, you may telephone an attorney, relative or friend to notify him of your arrest.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Larry E. Hill

The Fig Tree

Matthew 24:32-34

The entire twenty fourth chapter of Matthew gives us a picture of the world at the time of Christ's return to earth. Likewise, it gives us prophetic signs in orderly sequence that will unfold with rapidity in the era of the coming of Christ. The fulfillment of these signs are amazingly accurate and in these last days they are coming to pass before our very eyes. The subject in this chapter deals with the events of the last days that proceed the coming of the Lord and the end of the world. God being a merciful God would not have men taken unawares without ample warning, so He has given many signs of His impending coming. So as the "fig tree" putteth forth its leaves, men know that summer is nigh, even so likewise, when ye shall see all this know it is near, "even at the door." We are told by Jesus to watch and pray so that this day will not come upon us as a thief. Because of God's alert, man is altogether without excuse. The rapture of the saints of God is the greatest day in the history of the world.

It was for this day that the world was created and man placed in the garden. It was for this day that the law was given and the prophets sent forth unto their mission. Again, it was for this day that John the Baptist was born of the Holy Ghost and sent forth as a 'voice crying in the wilderness' to introduce the Savior to the world. God projected His coming in all of His provisions in the New Testament dispensation.

Finally, it has well been said, that Israel is God's time clock. If one would watch the prophetic fulfillments pertaining to Israel, he could very well know the hour in which we now live. Israel today is as the budding of the fig tree.

Another prominent sign of the coming of the Lord is the awakening of Israel out of her sleep. Before our very eyes we see the blessings of God upon Israel and as we do, we see the Gentile dispensation rapidly closing.

Be ready for His coming - Jesus will soon appear, for the signs bear witness as the fig tree "speaketh."
