Flood Damage Heavy In County

The amount of damage to crop land, channel banks, and roads and bridges in Prentiss County following heavy rains during the holidays amounts to about $765,000, according to Civil Defense Director William Prather.

According to figures compiled by Soil Conservationist Tony Thompson crop land damage was $90,000, and damage to farm channel banks was $500,000, Prather said.

Flood damage to the roads and bridges in Districts 1, 3, 4 and 5 is approximately $175,000, he said. Damage in District 1 was $25,000; District 3, $40,000; District 4, $30,000; and District 5, $80,000.

There was minor damage in District 2, he said. However, Prather noted that the district doesn't have the amount of bridges as do the other districts.

Flood damage figures in the districts do not include damage to abutments on farm roads. The supervisors will survey that at a later date, Prather said.

Prather will submit these figures to the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency to request financial assistance for Prentiss County.

In 1980 the county had over half a million dollars worth of damage from flooding but received no financial assistance, he said.

However, since so many counties in the state also received flood damage during the holidays, it may be easier for Prentiss County to receive financial assistance, Prather said.

More Candidates Qualify For Local Offices

Eleven additional candidates have qualified in Prentiss County to run for various political offices since Wednesday of last week. In all there are 30 candidates who have qualified to seek election.

Farrell Brumley has qualified as the fourth candidate to run for sheriff.

Three men have qualified to run for Justice Court Judge North - Dexter C. Cadle, Q.D. Pollard and Willie Anderson. Cadle and Anderson are currently serving as justice court judges.

Bennie M. Eaton is the fourth candidate to qualify to run for Justice Court Judge South.

Jimmy Ramey is challenging incumbent H.B. Lindsey Jr. for the position of 4th district supervisor.

Charles (Chuck) Eldridge has qualified to run as coroner and ranger.

John R. White is the only candidate who has qualified for Senator post 5.

Joe G. Oswalt has qualified to run for 3rd district constable. David O. Livingston is the second man to qualify to run for 4th district constable. Incumbent Cleston McGaughey is seeking re-election as 5th district constable.

No one had qualified to run for the positions of superintendent of education, county surveyor or 2nd district constable as of Wednesday morning.

Voters Must Register In Both City And County

Booneville's special school bond issue election last month brought out one important fact: Many citizens who are otherwise eligible to vote in city, county and general elections have not registered and are therefore ineligible.

State and county elections will be held later this year, with primaries in August and the general election in November. Voters must be registered 30 days prior to any election date to be eligible to vote in that election. To prepare for future elections, local officials are encouraging every citizen 18 years of age and older to register during January, if they have not already done so.

To vote in state, county and national elections, Prentiss County residents must be registered with the Circuit Clerk at the Prentiss County Courthouse.

To participate in city elections, those who live inside the city limits of Booneville must also register with the City Clerk at City Hall. Residents within the Booneville city limits must be registered with both the city and the county to vote in city elections.

The City Clerk's office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Circuit Clerk's office is open from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 8 a.m. to noon on Wednesday and Saturday.

Officials are encouraging those who have not already done so to register now so that they can participate in local government.

Local, State Cooperation Provides Computers To Train Area Students

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

It began last summer. The Vocational Division of the State Department of Education had decided that, if the people of the state of Mississippi are to compete for the high-skilled, high-technology jobs now appearing in the job market, then the state's educational system is going to have to provide additional training for those jobs.

One way to do this, they decided, was to offer a basic computer training course in the business department of each secondary-level vocational complex in the state.

A program was initiated and funding provided to furnish one Radio Shack TRS-80 Model III Microcomputer for each complex. Teachers from the various centers attended training sessions in Jackson during the 1982 summer school break.

Upon returning to Prentiss County, Laura Cartwright and Willie Frances Rutherford of the Prentiss

County Vocational School began to see possibilities for a more intense computer training program here. Mrs. Cartwright heads the Cooperative Vocational Office Training program and Mrs. Rutherford the Intensive Business Training program.

What really sparked a fire under these two teachers was when approximately 40 people interested in computer training showed up during registration for night classes the first semester.

Forty people to one computer is not a good ratio, the two teachers decided. It would not allow for much "hands-on" experience. So, they began looking into the possibility of obtaining more computers for the school.

Various requests to the state vocational department met with the same results. The vocational leaders were glad the program had sparked so much interest, but there were just no funds available to provide additional computers.

Although they were disappointed, Mrs. Cartwright and Mrs. Rutherford did not lose their enthusiasm for the program. They simply decided to take a different approach. They would raise money locally to purchase the computers themselves.

That would be no easy task. Although relatively inexpensive by computer standards, the TRS-80 computers still cost in excess of $2,000 each.

The plan to raise the money locally impressed the Vocational people in Jackson, and, possibly thinking Mrs. Cartwright and Mrs. Rutherford would not have much luck in raising the money, they made a promise: For every computer the Prentiss County Vocational School could purchase with local money, the state would match it by providing another one.

To make a long story short - they did it. The Prentiss County Vocational School's sixth computer was purchased last week.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Cartwright and Mrs.

Northeast Receives Federal Grant

Northeast Mississippi Junior College has been awarded a Title III federal grant totalling $124,266 for one fiscal year, President Harold T. White announced this week.

The funding was made available as the direct result of an application filed by the college for a non-renewable development grant award for a period of four to seven years, he explained.

The total project period funded by Title III is 60 months. Dr. James L. Rhodes, the school's Title III director and project coordinator added.

Because of the extent of the grant period, the award can mean more than $700,000 to Northeast over the next five years.

As amended in 1980, Title

III of the Higher Education Act provides federal financial assistance to help eligible institutions of higher education solve problems that threaten their ability to survive and to help stabilize their management and fiscal operations so they may achieve self-sufficiency.

This financial assistance can be provided through only one of three different programs funded by Title III during any fiscal year, Rhodes said. The available programs include the Strengthening Program, the Special Needs Program and the Challenge Grant Program.

NEMJC Tuition To Remain Same

The Northeast Junior College Board of trustees voted Tuesday at their January meeting not to increase the student fees for 1983-84, according to NE President Harold T. White.

This means it will still cost $240 per semester for a student to attend college if he lives at home and commutes to college, White said.

Bus transportation for students will also remain at $75 per semester, White said.

However, dormitory rent was increased $10 per semester, he said. Currently it costs students staying in Wood and Yarbber Halls $225 per semester. The dorm rent will be $235 per semester in 1983-84.

In Murphy and White Hall the dorm rent will increase from $180 to $190 per semester and in the East and West dormitories the rent will go from $160 to $170 per semester, he said.

Student identification cards will increase $1. They will cost $3 during the 1983-84 term. A returned check cost will be $10 instead of $5, White said.

"While the institution has experienced cutbacks in funding on the federal and state levels it was felt that the students should not have to accept responsibility for making up this deficit," White said Tuesday afternoon.

Shook Pleads

'Nolo Contendere'

A Prentiss County man who was to stand trial for a second time in justice court on charges of DUI and reckless driving pleaded nolo contendere Wednesday morning, but plans to take the case to a higher court.

The charges were brought against Jerry Shook, 29, of Jumptown on Oct. 8 by Prentiss County Deputy Joe Shackelford.

Shook first contested the charges in Justice Court in December. In that trial, Shook claimed he was beaten by Deputy Shackelford. Shackelford claimed he only acted in self-defense when Shook fought him while resisting arrest. A jury of three men and three women failed to agree on a verdict, resulting in a mistrial.

A plea of nolo contendere means the defendant is not contesting the case in that court. However, Shook's attorney, Jim Pannell of Ripley, said the case will be appealed to circuit court.

"We didn't want to fight the case today," Pannell said, "but we will pursue it vigorously in circuit court."

Additional charges against Shook of resisting arrest were dismissed, according to Assistant District Attorney Rowland Geddie. Geddie and County Attorney John Hatcher were prosecutors in the case.

However, in October the Prentiss County Grand Jury indicted Shook on a charge of simple assault on a law officer stemming from the Oct. 8 incident with Shackelford. He still faces prosecution on that charge in Prentiss County Circuit Court.

Miss Ollie And Miss Victoria

She Has Served Pharr Flats For 46 Years

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Victoria Pharr's Grocery is a landmark in Prentiss County. Miss Victoria, 84, opened the white frame, green shingled store almost 46 years ago.

Located about 18 miles from Booneville and about five miles east of Marietta in Pharr Flats, the store is just a little more than a stone's throw from the new Natchez Trace.

Miss Victoria still runs the store herself. The store is open every day except Sunday from 7:30 a.m. until 4:15 p.m. In the summer she opens earlier and closes later to accommodate customers.

The store is closed from 12:15 to 2 p.m. while Miss Victoria goes home for a leisurely lunch. Miss Victoria's home is by the store.

She lives with her sister, Ollie, and her brother, Lee.

After lunch, Ollie returns with Miss Victoria and spends the remainder of the afternoon with her in the store.

The only holiday the store is closed is Christmas - but even then Miss Victoria opens the store from 9 a.m. until noon on Christmas Day.

The weather has kept her from opening the store only once during the past 46 years and that was after a 7-inch snowfall. However, her brother opened the store in case there was an emergency.

Miss Victoria was born in Tishomingo county but has lived in the Marietta area since she was five years old.

Before she opened the store in 1937 she taught school for 19 years in Prentiss, Tishomingo and Itawamba counties. The schools she taught at in Prentiss County included New Hope, Osborne Creek, Marietta, New Site and Pleasant Valley.

One of her many pupils was Booneville Mayor Charles Crabb. Miss Victoria remembers when Crabb was in the third grade at New Site that "he was Strengthening Program which assists eligible institutions of higher education to become self-sufficient by providing funds to improve their academic quality and strengthen their planning, management and fiscal capabilities.

In keeping with the major thrust of the application (to become a self-sufficient institution), the major problems or deficiencies that presently inhibit the institution from reaching its goals were identified. These problems included declining enrollments, scarce resources, management, fiscal operations, long-range planning and development. "Once the problems were identified, we determined that the project proposal should be two-fold to include a plan for strengthening basic skills through instruction and the development of financial aid and career planning services," Rhodes said.

The basic skills activity is designed to decrease significantly the attrition rate of first-year students and increase the success completion rate of transfer and career courses. The college will offer basic skills courses to all students scoring 14 or below on the American College Test (ACT) in English, mathematics and reading.

The design of the second activity encompasses and permits the functional operation of a Guidance and Counseling Center to assist students with career decision and personal goals. Components of this activity include testing, career and personal counseling, planning and development of professional-technical programs, and career information and placement. Successful completion of this portion of the project will increase the number of minority, women, handicapped and non-traditional students entering career programs. These students have traditionally been underrepresented, a college spokesman said.

Computers

Rutherford, individuals and businesses in Booneville and Prentiss County donated enough money to furnish three computers. The state department then followed through on their promise and provided two machines in addition to the one they had already provided.

Those who contributed money locally for the computers include Bill Morgan (Morgan Moving Company); the Booneville Banking Association (Peoples Bank and Trust Co., Bank of Mississippi, First Citizens National Bank); Jimmy Murphy; Don Murphy; Jones and Jones CPA's; E.O. Roden; attorneys Thomas Keenum, Donald Franks, Eugene Gifford, Joe Ray Langston and Bubba Lott; Blue Bell

Manufacturing Company; the Booneville B&PW Club; Emmons Turner, and Mrs. Louise Peeler.

But, if you think that's the end of the story, you don't know Mrs. Cartwright and Mrs. Rutherford. They have a meeting Friday with another prospective donor who just may be persuaded to provide a few more computers to be used for training Prentiss Countians to meet the job market demands of today -- and tomorrow.

mischievous but he wasn't mean." Overall, she says "he was a pretty good boy."

Her sister, Ollie, was also a school teacher. She retired in 1965. Miss Victoria was the first woman in Prentiss County to seek election to a political office -- that of circuit clerk.

Although she lead the primaries both times in 1927 and 1931 she was defeated in the run-offs. "At that time people weren't ready to put a woman in the courthouse," she recalls.

Her sister remembers one particular candidate speaking where a candidate named Cook told the audience that "everybody needed a 'Cook'."

Miss Victoria was the next speaker and she told the audience "That's true. Everybody needs a 'Cook,' but first you need a

'Pharr'."

When the votes were counted in the last campaign she entered, Miss Victoria lost the election by 33 votes.

During the year when singing conventions were so popular Miss Victoria attended them. She played the piano at the singing conventions and sang alto.

She is a member of Pleasant Valley Church of Christ where she has taught Sunday School classes for a number of years.

Her store has been broken into twice -- once about 10 years ago and the other time about three years ago. Each time the thieves were apprehended.

For the most part the store has remained relatively unchanged over the years.

It was first located about 200 feet from its present location. But it was moved back when the road from Marietta to Booneville was rebuilt in 1973. Miss Victoria said, because it was too close to the road. That was the same year she also stopped selling gas.

The store is lighted by one lightbulb hanging from the ceiling and sunlight spilling in from the windows. Several throw rugs are scattered across the wooden floor. A couple of chairs are placed in front of the butane heater which warms the store in the winter. There are also wooden drink cases for customers to sit on while they chat with the Pharrs.

Two white refrigerators contain icy, cold soft drinks. Shelves of canned goods line the walls -- staple groceries such as chicken noodle soup, pork and beans and various cans of vegetables. There's also fresh fruit and candy for customers to purchase. She even sells sacks of dogfood. "Used to folks didn't buy dogfood," she said. "Now I sell more of it than anything else."

Although she spends most of her time in the store, she doesn't have a TV in it.

"I don't have time for TV," she explains. "I like it but I don't like to be interrupted when I'm watching it and there's always somebody coming in."

During baseball season she does keep a radio in the store because she is a fan of big league baseball. She also enjoys working crossword puzzles in-between waiting on customers.

In deer season the store is often full of hunters who stop by for lunch. She knows most of her customers on a

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I am a member of the Church of Christ and am confused about whether money may be taken out of the church treasury for food and fun. The only answer I get when I ask this question is that the church is to take care of the whole man. Is this right?

ANSWER: There is no Bible authority for taking money out of the church treasury for food or fun. Actually, the Bible tells us that money from the church treasury is to be spent for two things; Preaching (see 2 Cor. 11:8; Phil. 4:15,16). Support of Poor saints (see 1 Cor. 16:1,2; Rom. 15:25,26; 2 Cor. 9:1). Churches who take money out of the church treasury for food and fun have "drifted" into this pattern over the years. Most of them would not have tolerated this a few years ago. As one old time preacher said, "Brethren we are drifting." Only in cases of charity may the church use funds to feed people (see the above scriptures). If the church is obligated to take care of the "whole man" as you were told then the church could build gymnasiums because man needs exercise. The church could build colleges because man needs education. The church could build and maintain hospitals because man needs medical care. You see where such reasoning would take the church?

An employee of Northeast since 1971, Drown assumed his present responsibilities in 1976. Under his leadership, the Northeast Counseling Center was given the Post Secondary Counseling Center Award in 1981.

A native of Tiptah County, he is a graduate of Ripley High School. He attended Northeast Junior College before transferring to Mississippi State University where he received his B.S. and M.S. degrees. In 1973, Drown also completed the Educational Specialist Degree at MSU.

Marriage Seminar To Be Presented By Local Baptists

"How to Make Good Marriages Better" is the theme of a seminar being sponsored by the Prentiss County Baptist Association Friday and Saturday in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Booneville.

The general public is invited and there will be no charge, a spokesman for the Baptist association said Tuesday.

Drs. Pat and Bill Bouchillon of Medina, Tenn., will lead the two-day seminar. She has a private practice in Family Counseling in Medina. He teaches at Union University, where he is dean of the School of Natural and Behavioral Sciences.

Mrs. Bouchillon received her doctorate from Baylor University. In addition to having taught elementary school, she has taught in three Baptist colleges.

Dr. Bouchillon received his doctorate from the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. He has served as a pastor in Mississippi, California, Nevada and Texas.

The Bouchillons work as a team in their presentations, working from a psychological base in a Christian perspective, according to the Baptist Association spokesman.

The Friday night session, beginning at 7, will be "The Person As a Marriage Partner." On Saturday morning, from 10-12, the seminar will focus on "Couples in Communication, Conflict, and Cooperation."

Saturday evening at 7, the Bouchillons will lead a session focusing on the importance of parenting skills, entitled "The Person As A Parent."

From 2-4 p.m. Saturday, the Bouchillons will be available for private conferences. To schedule a conference, contact Wayne Foropoulos at 728-2452.

A nursery will be provided.

Tuition

"Every effort is being made to reduce expenditures and to be conservative in spending so that the institution can continue to offer a quality educational program for its students without increasing fees.

"In making this decision special consideration was given to the students from moderate income families. In many cases these students do not qualify for student financial aid assistance, but the tight economy has placed a burden on the ability of their parents to finance college education," he said.

"Funding is expected to continue to be an important issue at the junior college level and every effort will be made at Northeast to meet the budget without adversely affecting the services offerred," he said.

In other business the board ratified bids which were accepted at the December meeting for lighting improvements in Seth Pounds Auditorium.

The ratified bids were from American Stage Lighting from New Rochelle, N.Y., for $1,211; Stage Lighting Distribution in New York, N.Y., for $1,266; and Stewart C. Irby Co. in Tupelo for $147.50.

The apparent low bidder on insurance coverage for the campus buildings and contents was Rogers Insurance Agency of New Albany who submitted a bid of $35,448.

Other bids for insurance coverage were submitted by Crawford Insurance Agency, Town and Country

Insurance, Insurance Inc., and Guyton Insurance.

The board accepted bids on printing of college catalogs. Gillilands of Arkansas City, Kan., submitted the low bid of $27.69 per page. Their bid for 5,000 copies was $5,779. Five other companies also submitted bids.

The board granted permission to advertise for bids for grade mailing forms.

Permission was also granted to receive funding from TVA to purchase equipment for a computer literacy project.

The board okayed a request to convert from the rental plan to a lease purchase plan of Xerox equipment. This will be a savings of $200 per month, White said.

VoTech Students To Sell PCDA Memberships

The Prentiss County Development Association's board of directors held a kick-off luncheon Monday in the Tiger Den at Northeast Junior College in preparation for their 1983 membership drive.

Also present at the luncheon were students from the Prentiss County Vocational School. These students will be assisting the PCDA in selling memberships this year.

The students and the PCDA directors will also be selling tickets to the annual PCDA banquet scheduled for later this month.

Insurance agent Pat Hunnley, a former Booneville resident and noted speaker, will be the guest speaker at the banquet.

As was done last year, PCDA memberships will be sold this year in three categories: individual, professional and business, and industrial. Various types of memberships are available under each of these at varying prices. Some memberships include a ticket to the banquet and some do not.

PCDA executive director Doug Mansell said that memberships will also be available at the three banks in Booneville.

For additional information, contact Mansell at the PCDA office across from the Prentiss County sheriff's office.

'Talk O' The Town' Street Opinion

QUESTION: Which of the county races do you think will be the most interesting to watch in this year's election?

CLARENCE DEATON of Route 1, Booneville: "The sheriff's race will be the most interesting to see in Prentiss County. But the supervisors' races are interesting, too, because they control how much money the sheriff has to spend."

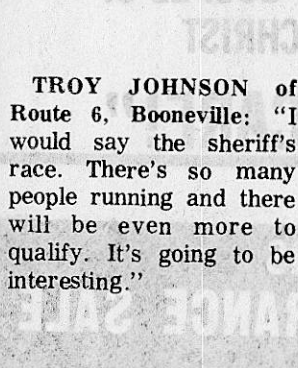

MILDRED LUSK of Route 1, Rienzi: "I imagine the sheriff's race and the county superintendent of education. Those races are always the talk of the people."

JO YOUNG of Route 3, Booneville: "The sheriff's race. It will be interesting because there's so many people running. That's always the most interesting race to me."

MRS. MITTIE ENGLISH of Route 3, Booneville: "The supervisor's race in the second district. That's always our main race to watch because we're interested in how the roads are kept up."

TROY JOHNSON of Route 6, Booneville: "I would say the sheriff's race. There's so many people running and there will be even more to qualify. It's going to be interesting."

MERLINE HENLEY of Wheeler Drive, Booneville: "The sheriff's race. There's so many that's running. The next race I'm interested in is the fourth district supervisor's race."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Don't Cry

This is going to disappoint a lot of people. I have decided not to run for sheriff.

Indeed it was a hard decision since so many people had come to me and offered their support to my campaign. Now that I have made my decision public, I'm sure the candidates for sheriff are relieved. I predict that in view of my announcement there will be more candidates qualify for sheriff.

For those who may not know why I've decided not to run for sheriff, it is because of several reasons.

First, I can never decide how to correctly spell "sheriff." Usually I spell it with two "R's." Most of the time I can't spell "thieves" correctly either.

I think one of a sheriff's major qualifications be that he can spell. That's what Prentiss County needs. A spelling sheriff who can spell thieves as well as catch them.

Another reason I won't seek the sheriff's post is my present job. Even when elected I would want to continue this job as staff reporter.

As sheriff I would be too busy to talk to me. If I didn't grant me an interview I would be mad and then I would probably write a story about me, the uncooperative sheriff.

Also pictures would be a problem. How would I make pictures of myself with the stolen cars I recovered and illegal beer and whiskey that I confiscated?

So without a doubt I have made the right decision.

Meanwhile, let's keep our fingers crossed that the sheriff's race will be conducted cleanly.

And that the word "sheriff" will be spelled correctly on all the candidates' cards.

Eyes On Mississippi

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. -- This is the year, some believe, when a political unknown, a new face, could come in and win the Mississippi governor's race.

That rarely has happened in the last half century. In fact, Mississippians seem to prefer their governors to go around the track two or three times before they can be elected.

But this year, it's an unusual situation. There's no clear front runner. . . no man (or woman) to beat. In fact, the main question at the moment is: who is going to wind up making the race?

Most of the best-known political names. . . the Allains, Dantins, Gandys, Bowns, Pittmans, Deatons, etc., have been put in almost every probable list by this writer and others. Some are not satisfied with any of those, and are still looking for a new face. . . somebody who has never been in the political arena.

To those, this column is dedicated.

Two total political unknowns, I find, are not only talking about making this year's race for governor, they are seriously making preparations to run, and put on major campaigns.

They are not your usual garden variety also-rans who put their names on the ballot for kicks, or for the exposure to help them professionally. Both of these unknowns are only strangers to the political arena, not to the fields outside of politics where they are rather well known.

One is Dr. William M. Bost, 59, of Starkville, former director of the state Agricultural Extension Service; and the other is Troy Majure Jr., 38, of Clinton, a successful veterinarian whose father was well known for years in state vocational education work.

They share the same aspiration -- to offer themselves for public service, and they believe the place to start is at the top. And they sense the opportunity for a newcomer in the political spectrum this particular year.

More significantly, both believe this year's gubernatorial contest will be decided by the rural voters, and there's where their main strength lies. So, if both make the race, they could be competing for very much the same base of support.

Bost, who started out as a county agent in Northeast Mississippi over 30 years ago, rose through the Cooperative Extension Service to the top post in 1962. Because of his close relations with county agents over the state, he figures he has a ready-made rural constituency.

Some thought he would become president at Mississippi State University several years back when the post came open, but the State College Board decided to go out of state to get Dr. James McComas.

So, in 1981, Bost took early retirement after 19 years as head of the Extension Service, with some future bid for public office in the back of his mind. Most of his followers thought he would take a shot at unseating Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Buck Ross, or wait until Ross stepped down.

However, last fall, Bost admits the urge to run for office "wouldn't go away" so he began looking at the governor's race. Incidentally, should he run, Bost would be the first candidate to hold a Ph.D. to seek the job in memory.

Majure, who has given up his veterinary medicine practice to devote full time to putting together a gubernatorial campaign, is negotiating for the services of Deloss Walker, the Memphis political adman and consultant who is well known in Mississippi politics.

Walker had quite a bit of success here in the early 1970's after making his debut with Bill Waller's campaign. But after several losers, he was no longer in demand in Magnolia State politics. When Walker made a strong comeback by putting over Fob James in Alabama, his stock began to rise again.

Majure figures his roots in Mississippi agriculture through his father's career in vocational education and his own career as a veterinarian, will give him access to the rural vote. "When a veterinarian gets down with a sick cow in a muddy lot, he understands these people," says the tall (6 ft. 5 in.) earnest young man.

As anybody in politics knows, Walker doesn't come cheap, nor will running for governor with a first class campaign be cheap, but this doesn't seem to frighten Majure. He's already gotten a couple hundred thousand committed, he's telling friends, and he is willing to put a nice chunk of his own money into early going.

How does a pleasant, rosy cheeked young man with a good professional career get bitten by the political bug to the extent he thinks he can be elected governor? It evidently started a long time ago, when Majure for 13 years was head counselor for Boys' State and rubbed elbows with many of the state's political figures.

Add to that the experience of having been elected president of the student body at Mississippi State University in the early 1960's. Apparently that is becoming a launching pad for political ambitions these days.

Both Bost and Majure have a conservative philosophy, but they are not ready to talk about issues, nor criticize the current administration. However, each seems to believe there is a vacuum in state leadership, and the people are searching for a non-politician for a change.

So there you are, sports fans. There are people out there who don't make politics a career who are willing to run for what may be the worst job in the state.

Letters

She Ordered Towels But Never Received Them

Dear Editor,

My name is Mrs. W.L. Sanders. We are former residents of Booneville. We have always, as long as I remember, taken the Banner and we still do. I always look forward to getting my paper.

I had never ordered anything from an ad in the paper until July 6, 1982. From an ad in your paper on that date, I ordered some towels from J.J. Wholesale in Fulton, Miss.

I have written them several times, but as of this date, I have heard nothing from them. They cashed my check on July 13, 1982.

The amount of the check was $10.95. That may not be much money, but I just wanted you to know. Since I did not receive my towels or at least hear from them, I think it was a false ad and they didn't intend to send anyone towels.

Just thought you should know about this. I think I will get my money back. I plan to send the check they cashed to the Justice of the peace at Fulton.

Thank you.

(Although we do our best to screen advertisements which appear in the newspaper, The Banner-Independent has received several complaints about the J.J. Wholesale Company of Fulton. Legal authorities in Itawamba County have been informed and the U.S. Postal Service has been notified so that the possibility of mail fraud can be investigated.

If, after a reasonable time, you have not received something you ordered through an ad in The Banner-Independent -- or somewhere else -- we suggest you contact Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, MS 39205, phone 354-7130.

Post 123 Not Sponsoring Sale

Dear Editor,

American Legion Post 123 has endorsed and supported magazine sales in Prentiss County since the inception of the drive many years ago and, for the Post's participation, has received hospital beds, wheelchairs, crutches and walkers.

The Post then "loaned" this equipment to the needy on a first-come basis. This has worked quite well and we have, in this way, been of great service to those unable to obtain like help elsewhere.

Rumor has it that a magazine sales drive is being conducted in the county at this time. We, Post 123, wish to inform the public that our post does not condone or support any such drive, should there be one in progress, and we caution the general public to check the credentials of any such salesperson to determine proper sponsorship.

Post 123 has a new home on East Church Street, east and north of the Bank of Mississippi branch bank. Someone will be there a part of every day, Monday through Saturday, to inform the public of activities of Post 123.

Once again, American Legion Post 123 is not sponsoring nor supporting any magazine sales drive that may be in progress in Prentiss County at this time. W.C. Bridges

He Asks Support For Legislation

Dear Editor,

As director of a museum association that has provided programs and services to your readers, I would like to ask for their support for two bills (H 15 and H 62) in the state legislature.

Rep. Thomas Campbell of Yazoo City has asked the Legislature to approve two bills allowing communities and counties to financially support museums serving their citizens.

The bills allow local governments to determine the amount and method for supporting museums in their area.

I feel that these bills are worthy. Our museum association has tried to get federal and private money to help bring programs and services to all the people in Northeast Mississippi.

Each time we are asked: "What support do you get from local government?" "Do municipalities and counties you serve feel your efforts are worthwhile?" "How do they show it?"

Although only nine Northeast Mississippi are included in our service area by state charter, we have presented programs as far away as Oktibbeha, Monroe, Lafayette and Marshall counties. In our corner of the state, there is a great need for professional museum services.

This legislation will help your community preserve and celebrate your heritage and accomplishments in the arts and sciences through the medium of a museum.

Please contact your representatives and senator. Tell them that you feel the people of your area deserve and desire to support museum programs. Douglas Fleury

Anticipation

I've overheard several folks say they aren't looking forward to candidates stopping by and spending hours telling them their plans and making promises about what they will accomplish if elected.

Of course, not everyone feels this way. A great majority of people really enjoy all this politicking. . . as I do.

But in case you're one of those who think if a candidate hasn't spoken to you in the past four years he need not now -- I have written this poem for you.

Cut it out and tape it to your front door.

To Incumbents

Handshakes and slaps on the back --
It all gets on my nerves.
If you haven't talked to me
In the past four years --
Don't tell me now
How well you've served!

Legislative Report

By REP. BILLY MCCOY
District III
Prentiss and Alcorn
Counties

With the completion of the historic 1982 Special Session only a few days behind, the Mississippi Legislature began its regular 1983 session at noon on Jan. 4.

Having passed the Governor's Educational Reform Package during the special session, some legislature leaders are expressing hope that the regular session can adjourn at least one month early. However, this seems to be an annual hope that never comes to be and I do not expect this year to be any different.

We will most likely take the entire 90 days to complete consideration of all proposed legislation.

As usual, the highlight of the first week was the address by the Governor to a joint assembly of the House and Senate. Governor Winter's State of the State address Thursday was focused on the following proposals:

-- A nominal increase in the gas and oil severance tax to be deposited in a trust fund for future economic development.

-- Utility reforms, including elimination of the rate-under-bond procedure, by which utility companies put proposed rate hikes into effect before they have been approved and reforms to shorten the appeal process on rate increases over ten million dollars.

-- Construction of additional prison facilities at Parchman and in other areas of the State and programs that require non-violent and low-risk, offenders to make restitution to the victims of crime or perform community work services.

-- Stiffen drunk driving laws.

-- The creation of a Water Management Council to make recommendations to insure proper management of the State's ground water. -- Enactment of an open records law.

-- A statutory judicial nominating process.

Basically I support all of the Governor's proposals and think most of them will receive favorable consideration by the entire legislature.

However, I do not expect any hike in the gas and oil severance tax will be approved, and no doubt, needed penal reform legislation will face strong opposition.

The newly renovated Capitol Building is a beauty to behold. It truly should be a source of pride for every Mississippian. Your area Legislators invite you to come and visit with us at your pleasure.

Please feel free to contact me at any time. My Jackson Apartment phone number is 353-1060. The number at the House of Representatives is 948-7321.

My address in Jackson is: Representative Billy McCoy, Mississippi House of Representatives, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39205.

How About Oysters Rockefeller

You Can Serve Your Guests Something Special

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

The next time company comes serve them something other than the usual meat and potatoes. Serve a meal that includes Quail in Cream Sauce or Spinach Rockefeller.

People often think such recipes are difficult to prepare. Not so, says Nancy Cozort of Booneville. "Once you get into these recipes they are really easy to make," she says.

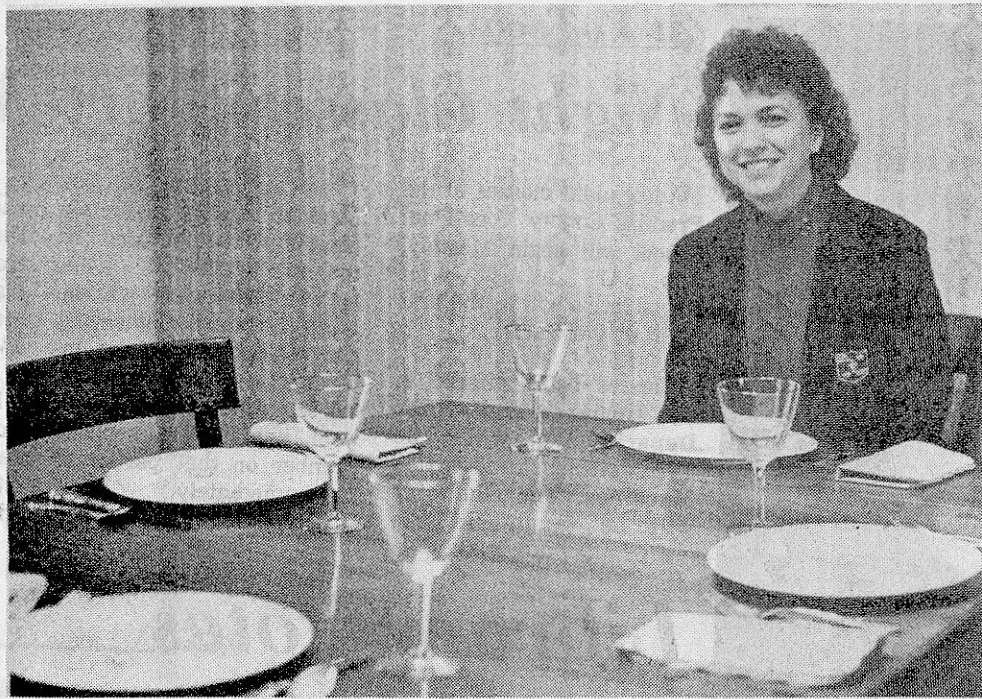

Nancy is office manager for the Mississippi group of Heritage Cablevision in Booneville. She is originally from Valdosta, Ga. She is a member of the Junior Auxiliary and a past president of the Booneville Pilot Club.

Her husband, Ray, teaches chemistry at Northeast Junior College.

When Nancy wants to serve her guests something special her menu includes Stuffed Mushrooms with dip, quail and wild rice, Spinach Rockefeller, and Saucy carrots.

Nancy buys the quail from William Dallison of Booneville who raises them commercially.

"Quail in Cream Sauce is a good, workable and easy recipe. It isn't difficult at all and it really makes a special meal," she says. A small box of wild rice will serve 5-6 people, she says.

Nancy Cozort Sets Table For Guests

Saucy Carrots

8 to 10 carrots
2 T. prepared mustard
¼ cup brown sugar
1 T. light corn syrup
2 T. butter
¼ t salt
Pare carrots and cut into one-inch chunks. Cover with salt water and cook until tender; drain. Meanwhile, put remaining ingredients in a saucepan in the order listed. Heat, stirring constantly until blended. Pour sauce over carrots and toss gently. Serve hot. (This sauce is sweet and sour and is very delicious). Serves 4.

Arkansas Spinach Rockefeller

1 box frozen chopped spinach
½ cup milk
½ cup sharp cheese, cubed juice of 1 lemon
6 green onions, chopped
2 T. butter
1 t Louisiana hot sauce
1 t salt
1 egg, beaten
4 T. Parmesan cheese
Cook spinach as directed on box, omitting salt; squeeze all liquid out. Put in saucepan with remaining ingredients, except egg and Parmesan cheese. Heat until cheese is melted; cool and mix with beaten egg. Pour in 1 quart casserole. Top with Parmesan cheese (I use fresh grated); heat in 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. This can be made ahead and refrigerated. Serves 4.

Stuffed Mushrooms

1 box mushrooms
½ roll garlic cheese
2 T. butter
¼ to ½ cup salami
1 T. onion
mushroom stems, chopped fine

bread crumbs

shake of tabasco
Saute mushroom caps in butter and remove to baking dish. Saute onion and stems in butter. It requires stems from approximately one half of the box of mushrooms. Add salami which has been ground in food processor or chopped really fine and cheese. Cook over low heat until cheese is melted. Stuff caps, sprinkle with bread crumbs. Heat in 375 degree oven until brown.

(I hesitate to share this recipe because the amounts are definitely approximations. It is something that can be varied considerably to suit individual tastes.)
(I refrigerate extra stuffing for use at a later time - seems I never make the stuffing and mushrooms come out even!)

Oysters Rockefeller

1 pkg. frozen spinach
3-5 green onions
1 small rib celery, scraped
Parsley
1 stick butter, melted
¼ cup bread crumbs
1 T. Worcestershire sauce
salt and tabasco to taste oysters
rock salt
Parmesan cheese
Pure vegetables in blender. Mix with butter and handful of bread crumbs. Add Worcestershire, salt and tabasco. Place oysters on shells on bed or rock salt in pie pans and cover with sauce. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and remainder of bread crumbs. Bake, uncovered, at 450 degrees for 15 minutes, or until oysters begin to curl. Serve immediately. Sauce will freeze.

(Easy recipe - many cool evenings we have oysters Rockefeller while sitting in front of fireplace before dinner).

Spinach Balls

2 boxes frozen, chopped spinach
2-3 cups Pepperidge Farm herb stuffing mix
2 onions, chopped fine
6 eggs, beaten
¾ cups melted butter
½ cup Parmesan cheese (I

Homemaker Hints

Time To Trim Waistlines And Budgets

By WANDA L. ROBINSON
4-H Program Assistant

As the bells toll and another New Year rolls in, many resolutions have been percolating for a few days. In most households the two areas of extensive trimming will be the waistlines and food budgets. These two reductions do complement each other in some respects.

words of caution in waistline reduction. If you desire an extensive diet be sure to check with your physician before carrying out your plans. On the other hand, if your resolution calls for a "hold the line" on the waistline, or reduce from five to ten pounds, a few guidelines will be helpful. Calories do count in the "weighing game." They are units of heat energy that can be stored in the form of adipose (fat) tissue when they are in excess of your body's energy needs. By reducing the calorie intake of 500 calories below the normal daily intake over a period of seven days, you can subtract 3,500 calories a week. This number of calories is equivalent to the loss of one pound of body fat. When 35,000 calories are deleted from the food intake there is an anticipated 10-pound loss of body weight.

Budget your "calorie expense account." Check your daily meals to see that you have the basic 4 food groups included. Especially protein rich foods - milk, cheese, meat, poultry, fish and eggs. If you "nibble" between meals, be cautious in choosing foods for snack time. Crisp raw vegetables, like celery, radishes and carrots are wise choices because they contain few calories.

Strips of lean meat are good too. But remember to keep a record of "extras," and eat a good breakfast to avoid fatigue at work and temptation to overeat at noon.

Emphasize foods that are low in calories but high in important nutrients. Food may be naturally low in calories or may be processed in some way to reduce its calorie value.

The dietary food departments in our supermarkets have grown in variety and volume. The items in these departments are usually low-calorie, low-sodium, sugar restricted, or allergy foods. It is important to read the labels to know the food values as well as calorie value.

You'll want to consider cost, calories, and quality when you plan meals and shop for food. Since special dietary foods generally are produced and packed in smaller quantities which increase production and handling costs, they are higher in retail prices. You should figure out whether the calories saved in low-calorie dietary food are worth the extra cents spent. Low-calorie foods, not in the dietary food department, may be good buys. Some of the dietary products show little calorie difference from their non-dietetic counterparts. Examples are dietetic tomato juice, bread, and many canned vegetables. Pay attention to the lean meats, vegetables and fruits, lower in calorie content. You'll find, if you shop carefully you can get good buys on many of these.

It is strongly pointed out, that a hunger strike is not recommended to achieve a weight reduction. By eating small portions of all foods, cutting down on fat fried foods, eliminating whipped cream and rich desserts, and reducing the amount of oil dressings, the number of calories will diminish.

A key to the calorie dilemma is fats, oils and cream have more heat energy units than do carbohydrates and proteins of the same size. When selecting foods, choose lean meats, eggs, fish and poultry. Vegetables and fruits have the lowest amount of fat content per food group. If you must have desserts, try the fruit type.

This is a good month to include fruit desserts since orange juice, oranges and all citrus fruits are in plentiful supply now. By planning your meals around the foods in good supply you not only save some cents, but calories as well.

If you really want to control weight, choose a sensible, well-balanced diet and stay with it. Fad diets and gimmicks may let you loose weight but when you return to your old eating habits the weight returns.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian
George E. Allen Library

You will enjoy seeing an exhibit now in the Marion W. Smith Room at the Allen Library. It consists of 30 photographic prints by Tim Rowland, some in black and white and some in color.

It was originally used as a Senior Exhibition at the University of North Alabama where Tim graduated this past December with a major in photography and a minor in marketing and where he worked as a staff photographer.

Tim grew up in the Blackland community, graduated from Wheeler High School and attended Northeast Junior College. His photography varies in subject matter from portraits, scenery, and events to interpretation of the ordinary from an extraordinary viewpoint.

The Junior Auxiliary is offering a service to either new or established users of the library who find it hard or impossible to visit the library themselves. One of their members will pick up and return books or other materials for those who need this help.

The library has a small selection of large print books for the visually impaired. The Mississippi Library Commission will furnish federally funded equipment for those severely visually handicapped. Call the library, 728-6553, for information about either of these services.

On hand also are a few income tax forms for public use.

EYE OPENERS
By
Dr. Walter C. Simpson

BABY'S VISION IN HIS FIRST WEEKS

FROM BIRTH an infant's eyes are constantly changing, and they need the kind of stimulation in surroundings which parents can easily provide.

In the first weeks of life, keep a dim light on in the nursery after dark so that, when baby's awake, he or she will have something to look at. Move the crib around the room so that light will come from different directions. Or shift the infant's position in the crib so that light attracts baby's attention from different sides. The timely introduction of a rattle will help teach a child to follow sound with the eyes. The game of "pat-a-cake" teaches visual lessons, too.

During your baby's first months, modify the nursery environment to help visual skills develop.

Presented as a public service by Dr. Walter C. Simpson, Optometrist, 113 Main St., Booneville, Ms., phone 728-4853.

Local Cookie Sale Starts Friday

Some of the nation's most successful sales persons will be out in full force during the week of Jan. 14-22. During that week Prairie Council Girl Scouts will be taking cookie orders. Girl Scouts in Booneville will join in this sale which has become a Prairie Girl Scout Council tradition. Many of the old favorites will be on sale this year. Famous Foods of Virginia, Prairie Council's supplier for thirteen years, will again be the official baker of Girl Scout cookies. Seven varieties of cookies will be available: rich, chocolaty Thin Mints with oil of peppermint and other natural flavors; delicately light Shortbread cookies with a touch of brown sugar; family favorites — Chocolate and Vanilla Sandwich Cremes; creamy Peanut Butter Sandwich; light cookies topped with peanut butter and smothered in a chocolaty coating — Peanut Butter Patties; the new Nutty Chocolate Chip; and last year's favorite — the chewy, caramel and coconut confection, striped with chocolaty coating called Caramel deLites. All varieties are free of artificial preservatives and artificial colors. Only unbleached flour and 100 percent vegetable shortening are used in these pieces. Profit from the annual Girl Scout cookie sales helps support local troop activities as well as Council activities.

Girl Scout cookie sales have in the past been used exclusively to support Prairie -Witha near Van Vleet and Dorothy Carrett near Corinth. The cookie sales now make up a major percentage of Prairie Council's operating budget. The Girl Scout Council is also supported by United Way, community funds, and Council campaigns. If you are not called on by a Girl Scout, contact Wanda Prichard who is Booneville neighborhood cookie manager, for information on how to order GIRL SCOUT COOKIES.

The Invisible Pipeline Connection

Imagine 9000 miles of steel pipe between hundreds of natural gas fields and Gulf South distribution points.

Imagine it because you can't see it. It's buried underground, virtually invisible. But it represents a billion-dollar investment that has made natural gas a way of life in the Gulf South.

It's our pipeline connection.

But it doesn't connect our natural gas to you. We don't drill or produce oil or gas so everything we deliver we buy under contract from others.

We buy trillions of cubic feet of natural gas for our customers and we try to buy on the best possible terms, for the present and for the future. But the price of gas has risen steadily for the last 20 years and particularly over the last five.

It's the biggest problem we have because we're only the pipeline connection between those who sell and those who buy. Price concerns us as much as it does you.

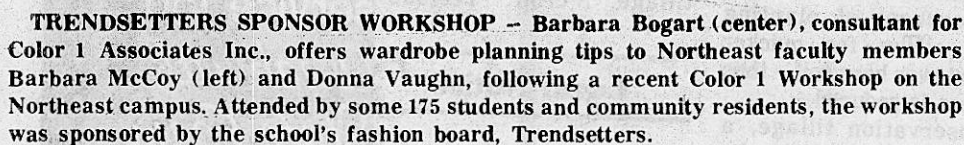

And as natural gas grows more valuable, the need for conservation grows more imperative. Conserve. The economic future of our region depends on natural gas. What we save today will be needed tomorrow.

Technology Improves Farm Production

By JAMES S. PARKMAN
Conservation Agronomist
USDA-Soil
Conservation Service

Production on thousands of Mississippi farms in 1982 surpassed even the most optimistic expectations. Weather, technical advances, plant breeding, and adoption of better cultural practices played a part in many of the record yields.

Technical advances have also played a major role in the adoption of conservation practices. From the first crude level developed to survey gradient terraces to the modern laser operated machines a steady stream of conservation equipment and materials have been developed.

Even the concept of gradient terraces with open outlets has been refined to conform to the modern farmers. Many terraces no longer inch around the hillsides to closely followed contour lines. Terraces of present day are designed parallel, on wider spacing with closed outlets. This configuration and design allows for more efficient use of large farm equipment.

Underground tile outlets are strategically located in draws to slowly carry runoff from collecting basins down the watershed to safe outlets. These innovative terraces can be constructed so as to allow the front and back slopes to be cropped. Development of flexible plastic corrugated pipe placed underground has allowed this system to reduce problems associated with grassed outlets and sediment is trapped to further improve water quality.

Recently industry has introduced the terracing plow. This plow, built much like the rice levee plow, allows farmers to construct terraces at a more rapid pace - thus reducing cost of installation.

Conservationist are also making use of computers. USDA's Soil Conservation Service is now using computers to design terrace systems and programs are being refined to design land forming for irrigation purposes. Cropping systems that reduce soil erosion, make better use of moisture, and maintain the soils productive capacity will soon be determined with the aid of computers.

As the 1980's approached agriculture began to look for ways to do more with less while maintaining profits. Farmers, researchers, and conservationists answered the call for help. Where few, less efficient drills were being used to solid seed crops, there are now at least 20 models. Researchers proved the narrow-row concept a good cultural practice and the industry responded by offering many different types of narrow-row planters. The narrow-row concept of planting crops allows for quicker canopy over bare soil - thus soil loss is reduced.

Conservation tillage, a method of planting crops by reducing trips across the field, was severely hindered from acceptance because of planters and weed control. Before the decade of the 80's began, there were over 100 different conservation tillage planters to choose from. These have been further refined to plant narrow-row, interseed legumes and grasses in existing pastures, and accomplish the whole planting operation in one trip.

Chemicals have been developed to aid in weed control where tillage previously controlled weeds. Special narrow-row cultivators and heavy mulch cultivators have been developed to conform to this new method of growing crops the conservation way.

The most recent development now being tested is a machine that produces an electric shock that stunts weed growth and does little harm to the cash crop. If industry and researchers can further refine this concept, the first no-till cultivator will have been produced.

Engineers quickly got into the act and their input quickly produced conservation tools to aid in deep tillage, crop residue shredding and spreading, and even concepts to reduce corrosion of overfall pipe.

What will the future hold? Continued efforts to further develop and refine those items mentioned will be needed. And certainly a renewed effort to encourage landowners to adopt the use of these items. Conservation is certainly being made easier for all of us.

Forestry News

By ROBERT THORNTON
County Forester

With the beginning of a new year, we need to pause a moment and review our accomplishments of the past year.

In the past year we assisted 179 landowners with technical assistance, and advice. During the past year, we wrote 24 management plans for 1,721 acres for private landowners in Prentiss County.

There were 105 wildfires, burning 672 acres. This was an increase from the past year.

To help this problem we have talked to more people and let them know the consequences of wildfires burning. When forests burn, everyone loses.

In the reforestation program, we replanted 1,120 acres converting unproductive land to a more productive and economical species. We did timber stand improvement work on 1,106 acres and prescribed burned 1,007 acres.

While these acres seem impressive, there are 132,500 forested acres in Prentiss County with work being done on only 1 percent of the forest land.

There are many acres that need to be converted or have some type of improvement work done. Most landowners are not aware of the share programs available and of the many services your county forester can provide often at little or no cost.

If we can help or be of any assistance come by our office at 103 College Street or call 728-6883.

Jumpertown Manager Brent Mauney Shouts For The Cardinals

All Tournament Photos By Tim Rowland

County Champions

It Was No Easy Climb To The Top For Jumpertown

The Jumpertown Cardinals are alive and doing well. By capturing the Prentiss County Tournament, the Cardinals reached the top of the mountain, but it wasn't an easy climb.

Four years ago, when Guyton Wilkerson took up coaching residency in the westside hamlet, a once-proud program had fallen on hard times. Slowly, but surely, Wilkerson worked to rebuild the fortunes.

In the first year, Jumpertown won less than a handful of games. The next season, Jumpertown won less than ten games, but the laughter began to die down in roundball circles.

Last year, the Cardinals began to break through. After a rough start, Jumpertown came on to win 17 of their last 22 games and earned a coveted berth in the North Half. Suddenly, Jumpertown was no laughing matter anymore.

This year, Jumpertown has lived up to their advance billing. Still, the local skeptics were out in force, just waiting to see if the Cardinals were really that good, despite a 21-4 mark coming into the county tournament.

As has been the case for most of the year, The Cardinals did it the hard way. In their opener with a still-improving Thrasher club, the Cards trailed 45-38 with less than seven minutes to go.

To compound the troubles, Jumpertown had missed six one-and-one free throws along with shooting less than 50 percent from the field. Thrasher's bid for the finals was looking better with each passing minute.

Then, when things looked the toughest, Jumpertown broke loose. Using their full-court press to pick up the tempo of the game, the Cardinals began to get control. "It was like they switched into another gear," commented one official working the contest.

Jumpertown outscored a good Thrasher team by a 20-11 count in the final seven minutes. Despite hitting less than 50 percent from the free throw line up to that point, the Cardinals hit five of their last six charity tosses when the money was on the table.

"They worry me to death," grinned Wilkerson, who has seen his team grow up through the past four years. "But, they've been able to do it all year. I didn't feel like we were out of the game, even when we were down seven points."

Seven points was the exact margin Booneville held over the Cardinals midway through the third quarter in the title match. The Blue Devils, bidding for the Cinderella award of the tournament, appeared they would win their third game in the fracas.

Sure enough, the Cards switched into high gear again. The margin was trimmed to one point, but the Devils hung on tenaciously. With less than four minutes to play, Booneville had a 50-49 upper hand.

That's when Jumpertown hit Booneville with a 13-5 blitz to capture the title. "It wasn't easy," retorted Wilkerson in the aftermath of the game. However, nothing has come easy for Jumpertown this year anyway.

To Booneville's everlasting credit, the Blue Devils gave the packed houses a thrill show over the course of the tournament. There weren't many observers who could have predicted that Randle Downs' club would come within a heartbeat of winning the affair.

The Blue Devils hit 11-12 free throws in the final period of their opener against New Site to get by the Royals. No other club came close to that kind of performance from the free throw line throughout the tournament.

On the following night, Booneville managed just one field goal in the first five minutes against Wheeler. The Blue Devils trailed a young Eagle club by double figures more than once during the game. In fact, the Devils were left for dead on more than one occasion.

Somehow, Booneville prevailed. Playing their third game in as many nights, the Devils came close to making a clean sweep of their county rivals. Anybody that can beat New Site, Wheeler, and Jumpertown on consecutive nights deserves to win a title.

But the night and the tournament belonged to the boys from as far back as Jumpertown was forced to.

"We needed it and it was a team effort," praised Wilkerson. "We had been struggling a little bit and I think the victories helped to restore some of our confidence."

"We've had good balance for most of the year," continued Wilkerson. "All of our starters are capable of scoring and they compliment each other's ability."

To illustrate Wilkerson's thought, Jumpertown placed three starters in double figures each night. The leading scorer, Perry Perrin, had 21 and 22 points. Fine shooting wing, Ricky Burress, had 12 points both nights.

Out front, charismatic point guard Kevin Simmons handed out 12 assists against Thrasher, then hit for 16 markers against Booneville. The Cardinal captain, Billy Prentiss hit for 13 points and 10 boards against Thrasher, then passed off for seven assists against Booneville.

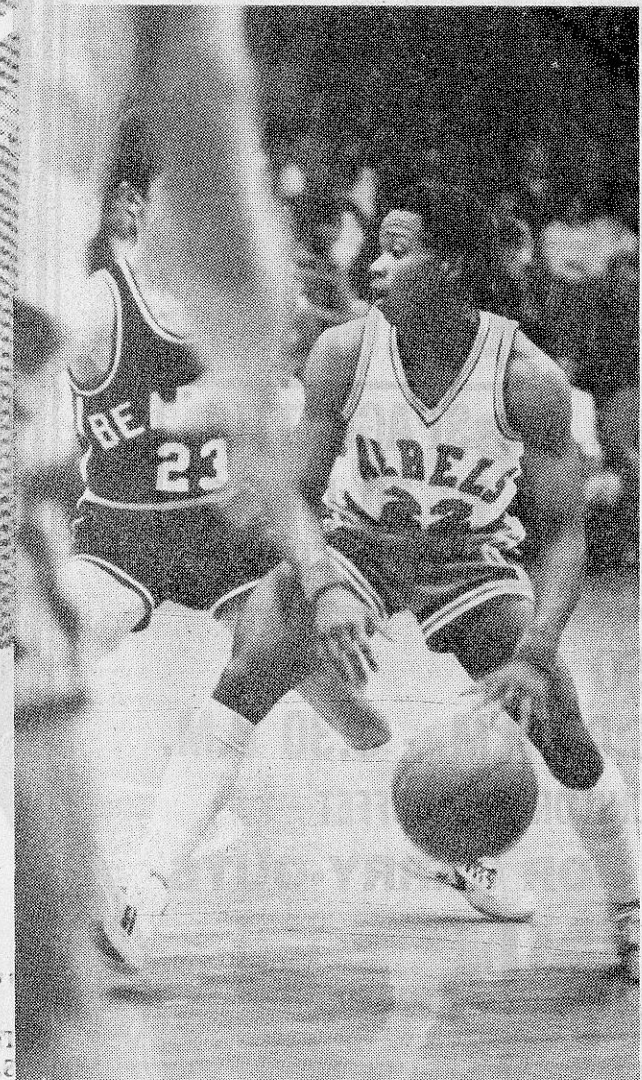

Inside, low post Bently Green hit the go-ahead basket against Thrasher, then hit a clutch bucket against Booneville. Sixth man Glen Wilson, improving with each game, hit the winning free throw with :16 left to topple Thrasher. Charlie Durham, another key Cardinal backup, was hampered by injury but the Cardinals still managed to win.

One fan, shaking his head after the final, explained, "They don't overpower you. They aren't awesome, either. But when you look up at the scoreboard at the end, they manage to be ahead. You shake your head and you wonder what happened."

That's an apt description of the winner of the Prentiss County Tournament. Now 23-4 for the season, the Cardinals will continue their tough January schedule with a Friday night visit to Wheeler, a team itching for revenge.

"We just want to improve and get better," repeated Wilkerson. "I don't care as much about the record as I do about improving. You will lose some games against the good teams we are playing. But, the main thing is to get better."

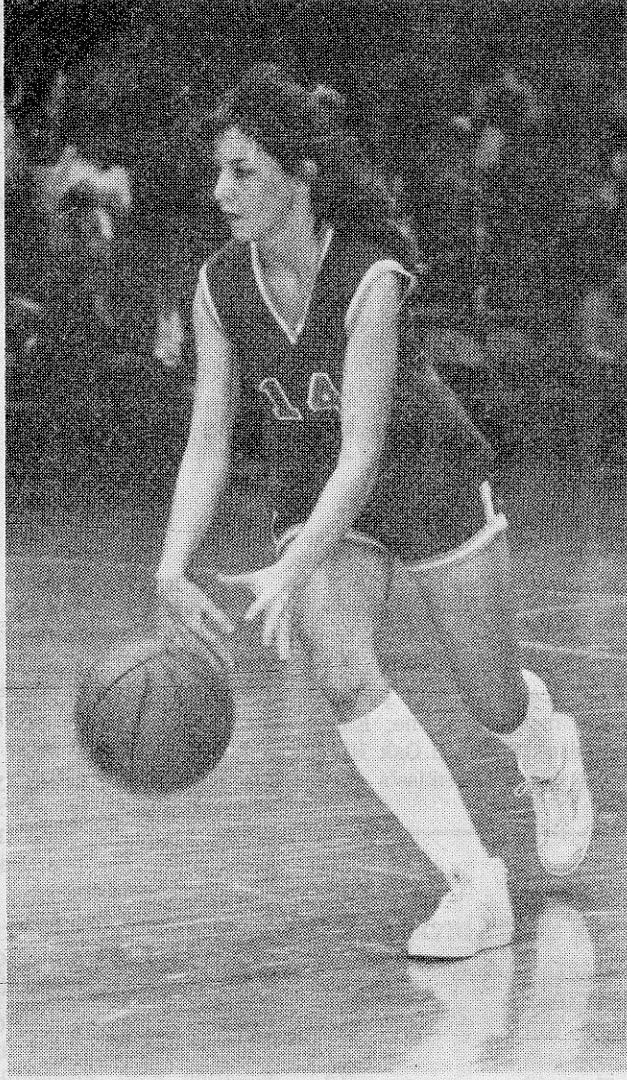

Over the course of the past four years, nobody can doubt that the Cardinals have done just that.

Cardinals, Devilettes Take Tournament Championships

By CLIFF LONG
Sports Writer

Jumpertown's Cardinals and Baldwin's Lady Bearcats emerged as Prentiss County's best last week in the annual confrontation of all the county teams.

Baldwyn met Booneville's Devilettes in the girls' finals. The Devilettes were undefeated before their Saturday night meeting, but the Lady Bearcats carted off a 33-31 victory. Tina Bender paced the Lady Bearcats with 11 points, while Kushing Sorrell had 17 for Booneville.

Perry Perrin had 22 points to lead Jumpertown to a 62-55 victory over the Booneville Blue Devils. Booneville was ahead late in the fourth quarter, but Jumpertown's press, which was present throughout the game, began to "hurt Booneville," said Jumpertown head coach Guyton Wilkerson.

Wilkerson said part of his game plan was to make Booneville pick up the tempo of the game. He said as the game neared its end "Perrin and (Kevin) Simmons saw they were going to have to get to work." And work they did. Along with Perrin's 22, Simmons hit 17 and Ricky Burris 12, including a key shot on the third quarter buzzer that was a shift in momentum for the Cardinals. The score cut Booneville's lead to one point and Jumpertown's press took it from there.

Larry Mackin had a hot hand for Booneville as he contributed 21 to the Devil cause. Bernard Anderson also managed to hit from everywhere by canning 19 points.

After a first-round bye, the Lady Bearcats defeated New Site's Lady Royals 52-28. Tina Bender was Baldwin's leading scorer with 12 points, while Melissa Harvell had 10. Chris Frost and Pat Sims had 8 apiece for New Site.

Booneville advanced to Saturday's game after a convincing 80-36 win over the Eaglettes. Kushing Sorrell paced the Devilettes with 33 points, while Sovena Harris had 18 and Michele Young 13. Sharin Ragin led Wheeler with 14 points and Tangie Miller had 10.

In boy's action Jumpertown, after a first-round bye, had a tough match against Thrasher's Rebels. The Cardinals edged Thrasher 58-56. Wilkerson said his team was intimidated by Thrasher at the start of the game. Thrasher's Calvin Davis, with 19 points on the night, proved to be an intimidating figure as he sparked numerous picture-book fast breaks, but Jumpertown began to move late in the game.

Perry Perrin led all scorers with 21 points, while Ricky Burris had 14 and Billy Prentiss, who recorded a fine defensive performance, scored 13 points.

Paul McCutchen also hit in double figures for Thrasher with 10 points.

The Booneville Blue Devils had the longest road to the finals. On Thursday night the Blue Devils faced New Site. Booneville topped the Royals by a 44-38 margin.

Booneville stretched out to a 21-12 lead at the half and managed to maintain the lead throughout the game.

Victor Gardner led Booneville's way with 14 and point guard Bernard Anderson contributed 10. Mark Barnes had 12 and Scott Moore 10 for New Site.

Booneville faced Wheeler on Friday night. The Blue Devils edged the Eagles, 42-39. Wheeler had a bye in the first round of action.

The Eagles jumped out to a 26-18 halftime lead, but good playing on both sides of the floor gave Booneville the win.

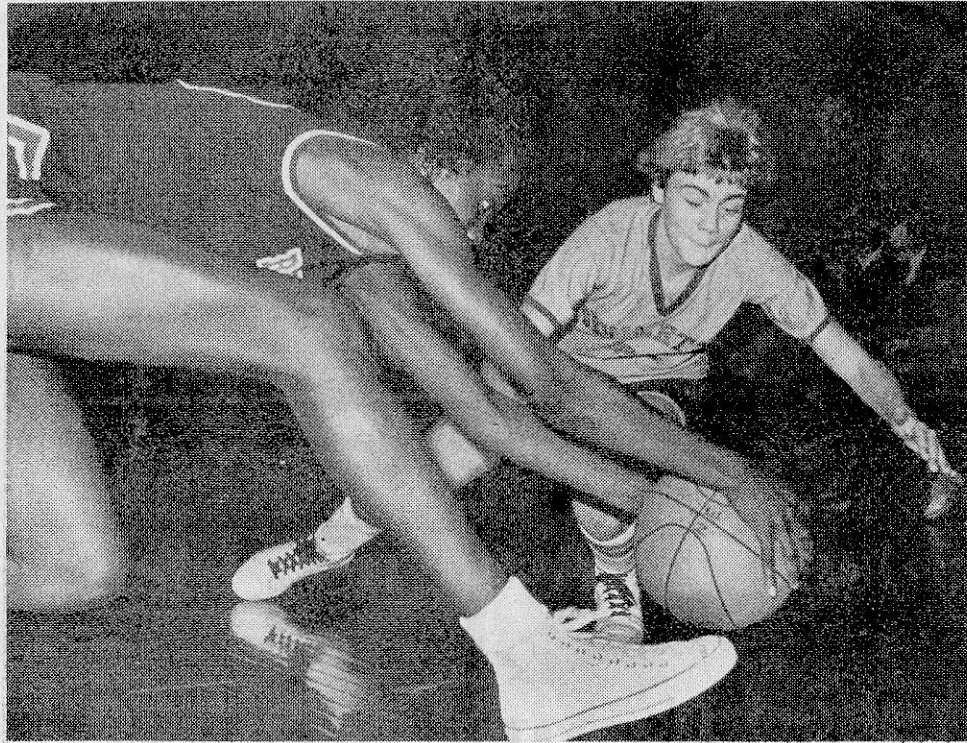

Larry Mackin hit 14 for Booneville and Victor Gardner 12 for Booneville. Mike Chandler led Wheeler scorers with 14 points on the night.

In other early round action, Wheeler's Eaglettes defeated Jumpertown's Lady Cardinals and Thrasher's Rebels defeated Baldwin's Bearcats on Wednesday night.

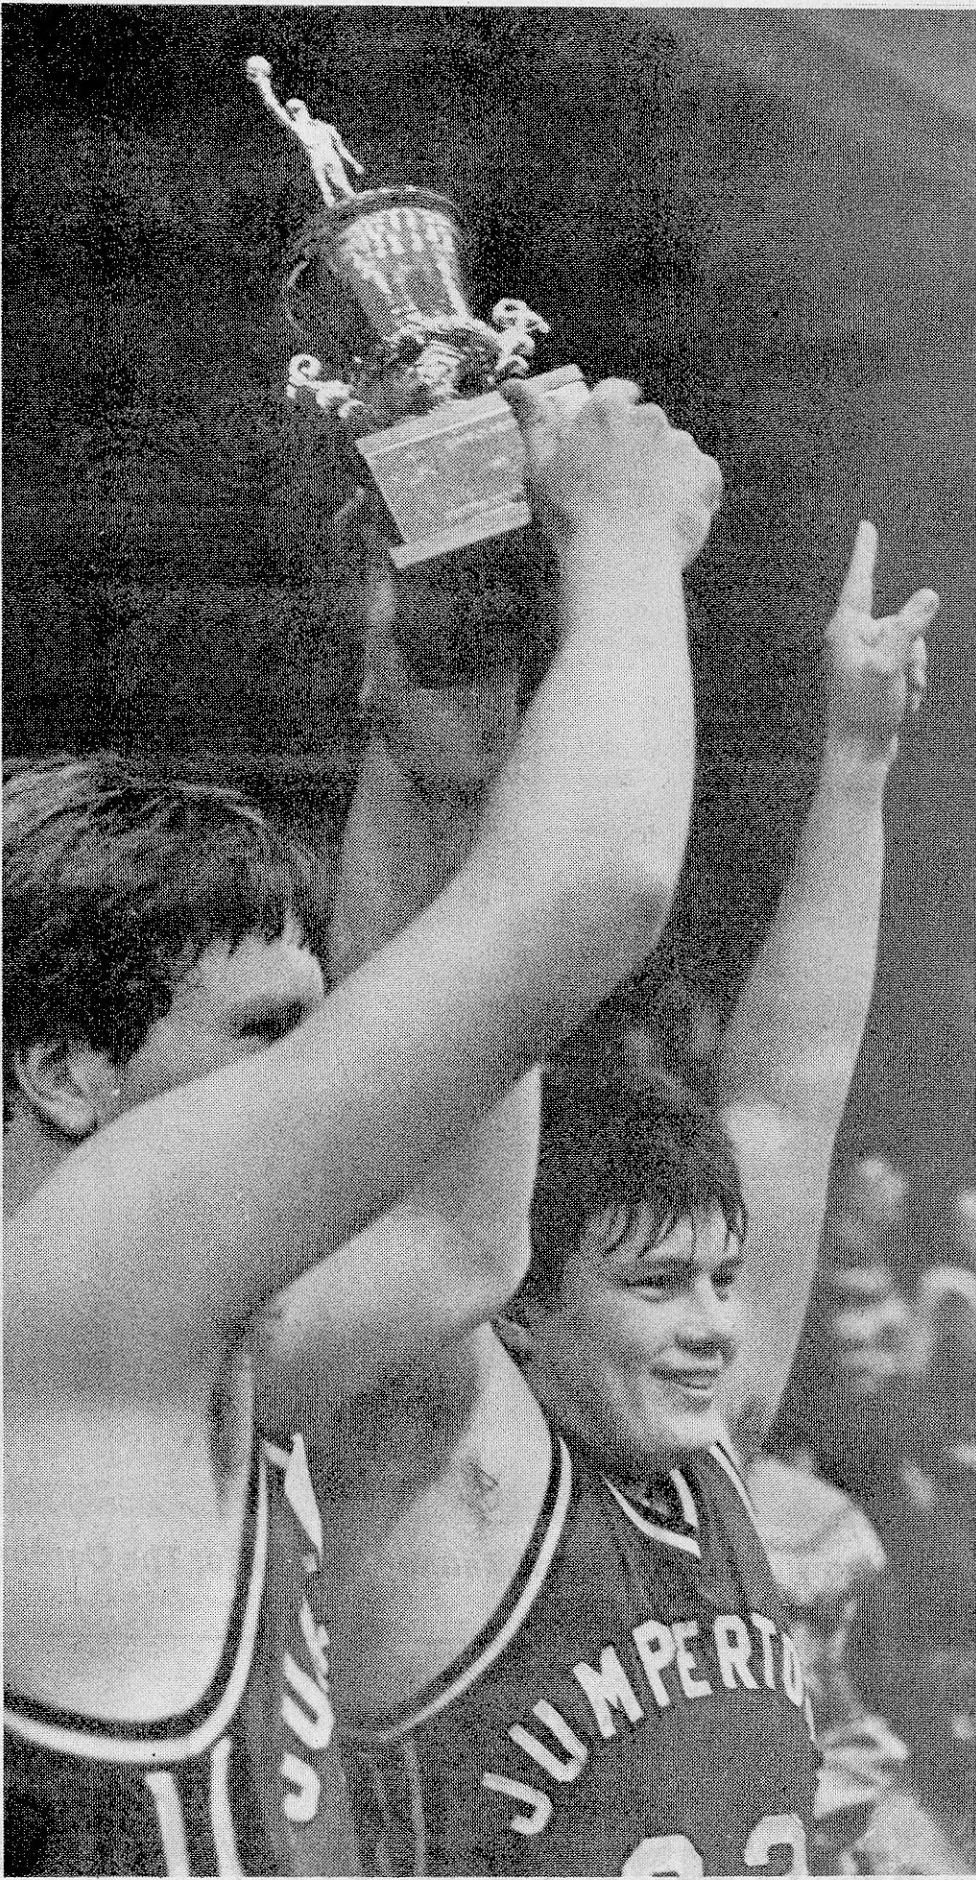

On Thursday night New Site's Lady Royals defeated Thrasher's Lady Rebels, 33-29. Chris Frost had 8 for New Site, while Lisa Garner and Jessica Goddard had 8 each for Thrasher.

In the closest game of the tournament (probably the closest in any Prentiss County Tourney) New Site topped Thrasher in a first-round B-team game. The score was 44-43, the final coming in the eighth overtime.

The Wheeler Eagles took the B-team crown with a win over New Site on Saturday night.

Symposium Will Highlight Mississippians' Accomplishments

Is there a significant correlation between environment and mastery? The answer to this and more specific value questions will be explored during the program Mississippi Models: The Scientist-Technologist, the Political Observer and the Literary Scholar to be presented in three parts at Northeast Junior College during the upcoming semester.

The program, sponsored by the school's honor society Phi Theta Kappa and the North Mississippi Environmental Education Consortium, was funded by a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities. Cora Norman, executive director of MCH, announced the committee's decision to fund the project in mid-December, a college spokesman said.

The initial concept of the symposium, explained Jim Lamb, faculty adviser to Phi Theta Kappa, is to unearth the elements that are responsible for the development of masters in the humanities who are native Mississippians.

Repeatedly Mississippi has been listed at the bottom in economic development, education, per capita income, technology... the list goes on. However, history has proclaimed the names of Mississippians who rank nationally in the fields of art, literature, music, philosophy, business, science, technology and politics.

Based upon this premise, the symposium's goals are four-fold, Lamb said.

"We hope to expose Northeast Mississippians to achievements of accomplished fellow Mississippians, to promote pride in Mississippi masters through presentations by Mississippians who have made outstanding contributions to humanity through their respective achievements in the topic areas, to emphasize the worth and value of these achievements for the purpose of stimulating others to make more intense efforts to contribute to society and to provide interaction of the audience and presentors through a discussion of the value questions inherent," he said.

The first of the series Mississippi Models: The Scientist/Technologist will be presented 6:30-9:30 p.m., Jan. 18, in Seth Pounds Auditorium. Jerry Bostick, a native of Golden, Miss., is the featured speaker.

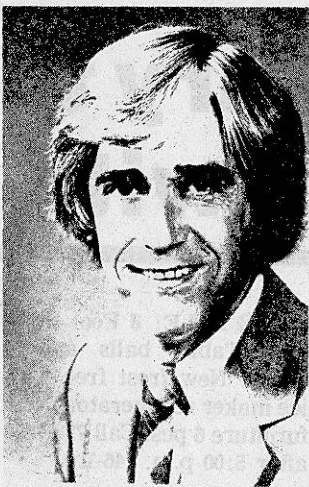

An employee of NASA since 1962, Bostick is currently Deputy Manager of NASA's Space Shuttle Program. His previous assignments have included manager of Space Transportation Operations, manager of Space Shuttle Payload Deployment and Retrieval Systems and Chief of Technical Planning at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas.

He served two years at NASA Headquarters in Washington, D.C., as assistant executive secretary to the NASA administrator and was a flight controller in the Mission Control Center during the Mercury, Gemini, Apollo and Skylab programs. Among his many awards, Bostick is recipient of the NASA Exceptional Service Medal.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O.E. Bostick of Golden.

The Political Observer segment of the program will be led by syndicated columnist Bill Minor Feb. 15, while Dr. Peggy Prenshaw, assistant dean of Graduate School and associate professor of English at the University of Southern Mississippi, will address the questions of Mississippi literature April 26.

JERRY BOSTICK

In addition to the principal speaker, each of the programs will feature responding scholars, Lamb said. The target audience, he indicated, will include all segments of the Northeast Mississippi population.

"To achieve our goals, we hope to reach business personnel, industrialists, medical professionals, agriculturalists, blue collar workers, retired citizens, educators and students from the Northeast Mississippi area," he said.

The programs are free to the public. For additional information, contact Lamb on the Northeast Junior College campus at 728-7751, ext. 258.

Engineers To Supply 130,000 Seedlings

Last month the Nashville District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers contracted with the Mississippi Forestry Commission to plant almost 130,000 hardwood seedlings on a total of 220 acres of land along the Divide Section of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

This planting is part of an overall effort by the Corps of Engineers and the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation to establish a wildlife management area on some 19,000 acres of land in the Divide Section.

clade shagbark hickory, serviceberry, autumn olive, american holly, bicolor lespedeza, black gum, sawtooth oak, white oak, southern red oak, coralberry, chinese chestnut, dogwood, willow oak, water oak, pecan, and black walnut.

Also as part of the efforts to establish the Divide Section Wildlife Management Area, the Nashville District has contracted with Mississippi State University to perform a wildlife utilization study. The study will monitor the success and results of the planting program and suggest changes to maximize wildlife benefits to the area.

Waterfowl hasn't been forgotten by the Corps and the State Wildlife managers. The Mississippi State University Study is experimenting with establishing waterfowl food plants in ponds along the waterway. Also 30 nesting boxes have been installed to improve wood duck habitat and 50 more have been ordered for installation in 1983.

Finally, the Nashville District plans to construct two waterfowl holding ponds in Bay Springs Lake in early 1983. Although these areas will be operated as refuges they will improve the entire area for waterfowl and should result in excellent opportunities for hunting in the vicinity.

FTC Rules Protect Consumers

During the post-holiday months of January and February, the Federal Trade Commission receives more letters about mail order problems than at any other time of the year, according to Attorney General Bill Allain.

Most consumers who complain are unaware of a rule that gives them certain protections when shopping by mail - the Mail Order Merchandise Rule.

This Federal Trade Commission rule requires the seller to send your mail ordered goods within 30 days or when promised, or to give you the option of getting a prompt refund.

The rule requires that the seller mail the purchaser an "option notice" if the promised shipping date can't be met. This notice includes the new shipping date and a postage-free method for you to cancel your order for a complete refund or to agree to the new shipping date.

If the company cannot meet the new shipping date, it must send a second option notice. The order will automatically be cancelled unless the purchaser signs the second notice and returns it to the company.

If the purchaser exercises his option to request a refund, the seller must mail the refund within seven business days if the order was paid by cash, check or money order. If the sale was by credit, the seller must mail the papers to adjust the account within one billing cycle.

Under the Mail Order Rule, if not delivery period is promised, the seller must ship the merchandise no more than 30 days after the complete order is received, or he must send out the option notice.

Items not covered by the Mail Order Rule are photo-finishing, magazine subscriptions (except for the first issue), COD orders, seeds and plants, or credit orders where the purchaser's account is not charged before the goods are shipped.

If an order arrives, but it is damaged, the purchaser should immediately notify the seller and-or the company that delivered the product.

Instructions on how to handle damaged merchandise are often included with orders. If there are no instructions, the purchaser should write the company and explain the situation. Information in the letter should include the account number and the order number. A copy of the letter should be retained for the purchaser's files.

For problems with mail orders, the purchaser should first contact the seller and try to resolve the problem. If that does not work, he should contact the Consumer Protection Division of the Mississippi Attorney General's Office, P.O. Box 220, Jackson, MS 39205.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to take this time to express my deep appreciation, and of all our family, for all the help, kindness and love, in any way, bestowed upon my precious loved one, my dear husband, Irvin Phelps. I would never be able to find words and I do not know all addresses. But we know, and God knows, every single deed of kindness.

The community wreath was so beautiful and all the flowers. We are so thankful for the donations to the heart fund, cancer fund, donations to the L.H.M.M., and money gifts, in lieu of flowers. What more can I say, than, God bless you.

I thank Doctor Cartwright for doing all he could, and for Doctor David Chase doing what he could. To all the nurses, aids and attendants, and any who helped in any way to make him more comfortable. Those who worked on his diet were always so kind, here, and in Tupelo.

Doctors Schreiter, Hill, Montgomery, Spencer, Nichols and other technicians, all nurses and others who helped in Tupelo, were the heights of kindness, as well as here in our home hospital. It's an experience etched so deeply in my heart. I will always remember it.

My thanks for the food, even some lovely meals prepared in full. We thank the McMillan staff for serving us from the time of death until the interment.

We thank Brother Alex Wayne for his wonderful words of comfort. Also I feel it proper to thank our fine police department for the help and protection they gave concerning the destruction to our home, during my loved one's dying days. The house did not matter deep down, but his death was so sad. Another thanks is to God, that he never knew it.

So for all things, for my family and me, I give my thanks, my love, and "God be with you," to all.

Mary Phelps

Legal Notice

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS OF PRENTISS COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC

Notice is hereby given that suit has been brought against Danny B. Childers, Prentiss County, Tax Assessor and Tax Collector for failing to collect the taxes due the Prentiss County Board of Education from the City of Booneville, Mississippi property holders and his failure to collect said taxes in the sum of One Hundred Thirty-Seven Thousand Four Hundred Eight Dollars ($137,408.00) has denied this amount of money to the Prentiss County school children. The Prentiss County Board of Education had to pay all of the expenses for the entire school year of 1979-1980 but the Booneville Separate School District which was not created until July 1, 1980, received the taxes on the property in the City of Booneville, Mississippi when the Prentiss County School System should have received said taxes. The Prentiss County Board of Education attempted to get District Attorney John Young to bring a Writ of Mandamus against Danny B. Childers requiring him to collect the taxes due the Prentiss County Board of Education for the 1979-1980 fiscal year, but District Attorney John Young failed and neglected to do his duty in this regard; therefore, it has become necessary for the taxpayers of Prentiss County, Mississippi to sue Danny B. Childers and require him to collect and pay over the taxes due the Prentiss County Schools for the 1979-1980 school year. The following taxpayers of Prentiss County, Mississippi have brought suit against Danny B. Childers and his bonding company, United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company for the payment of said taxes in the amount of One Hundred Thirty-Seven Thousand Four Hundred Eight Dollars ($137,408.00): Edwin Brown, Larry Cosby, Gene Gray, Bill Wimberly, Harold Woodruff, and Lex Cain. The above taxpayers invite all other taxpayers in Prentiss County, Mississippi to join in this case as a Plaintiff and also invite the general public of Prentiss County, Mississippi to join in this case as a Plaintiff in order to see that the money which rightfully belongs to the Prentiss County school children is paid over to the Prentiss County Board of Education for the use and benefit of the Prentiss County school children.

This suit is styled and numbered as follows:

IN THE CHANCERY COURT OF PRENTISS COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
PRENTISS COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION, EDWIN BROWN, LARRY COSBY, GENE GRAY, BILL WIMBERLY, HAROLD WOODRUFF, AND LEX CAIN, PLAINTIFFS
VS. CIVIL ACTION NO. 13,562
DANNY B. CHILDERS AND UNITED STATES FIDELITY AND GUARANTY COMPANY DEFENDANTS

ANNUAL REPORT

QUALITY HEALTH CARE:
A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE

People serving people. Doesn't that sound familiar? It should. That's been the emphasis of Baptist Memorial Hospital since Southern Baptists in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee started the institution 70 years ago.

BAPTIST MEMORIAL
HEALTH CARE SYSTEM, INC.
AFFILIATES

Facilities	Beds
① Baptist Memorial Hospital-Medical Center 899 Madison Avenue, Memphis	1,500
② Baptist Memorial Hospital-East 6019 Walnut Grove Road, Memphis	417
③ Baptist Memorial Hospital-Regional Rehabilitation Center 1025 E. H. Crump Boulevard, Memphis	151
④ Baptist Memorial Hospital-Lauderdale Ripley, Tennessee	64
⑤ Baptist Memorial Hospital-Tipton Covington, Tennessee	70

⑩ Baptist Memorial Hospital-Union City Union City, Tennessee	173
⑪ Baptist Memorial Hospital-Forrest City Forrest City, Arkansas	112
⑫ Golden Triangle Regional Medical Center Columbus, Mississippi	276

That principle springs from the Southern Baptist concept of Christian ministry. And it's one of the reasons Baptist Memorial and quality health care have become synonymous in the South.

That insistence upon the personal touch is now the watchword of Baptist Memorial Health Care System, Inc., new parent of Baptist Memorial Hospital and nine other health care institutions in the Mid-South.

The health care system was organized in December 1981 to ensure quality health care for the Mid-South at the lowest possible cost and nearest the homes of the patients. Rapid changes are occurring in the health care field. One of the major changes is the disappearance of the freestanding community hospital.

Within the next 10 years at least 90 percent of the community hospitals in the United States will affiliate with health care systems, experts predict.

Faced with deteriorating facilities, growing medical technology, lean medical staffs and limited capital, owners of community hospitals are facing three choices: increased taxes, affiliation or closing the institution.

County governments are choosing affiliation.

Affiliation with a non-profit health care system can help the community several ways.

Free from the threat of increased taxes, the community stands to receive better health care while continuing to make input into how the affiliate hospital is operated.

AMONG BEST IN SOUTH

Baptist Memorial Hospital, Memphis, is one of the 13 best hospitals in the South.

That's the way Ladies Home Journal, a nationally circulated publication, evaluated Baptist Memorial in its November 1982 issue.

Charles Seabrook, medical writer for the Atlanta Journal, developed the list after talking with leading physicians, hospital administrators, state hospital associations, medical school faculty members, health educators and other medical writers.

While describing Baptist Memorial as the largest private general care hospital in the United States, the article said "this is one case in which you can say that 'largeness' does contribute to excellence. Its main strength is community health care, especially providing the most up-to-date therapies for cancer and cardiovascular disease."

Other hospitals cited are in Nashville, Birmingham, Durham, Miami, Dallas, Atlanta, Richmond and Houston.

The health care system provides for capitalization, upgrading or replacing facilities, adding new medical equipment and recruiting more medical staff. Its contributions also include bulk purchasing economies, modern clinical services and management expertise.

During the last twelve months five hospitals in three states chose affiliation with Baptist Memorial.

They are Baptist Memorial Hospital-Booneville, Miss. with 136 beds; Baptist Memorial Hospital-Union City, Tenn. with 173 beds; Baptist Memorial Hospital-Eastern Ozarks, Hardy, Ark., with 40 beds; Baptist Memorial Hospital-Forrest City, Ark., with 112 beds, and Golden Triangle Regional Medical Center, Columbus, Miss., with 276 beds.

These hospitals joined institutions already in the system such as the three units of Baptist Memorial and Trezevant Manor in Memphis; Baptist Memorial Hospital-Lauderdale, Ripley, Tenn.; Baptist Memorial erized Axial Tomography (CAT) scanners for taking pictures of cross sections of the head and body while the Medical Center unit also added a digital subtraction angiography (DSA) unit to improve tests for diseases that may lead to heart attack, stroke or hypertension.

The system introduced an emergency aid program to the Mid-South through Baptist Memorial-Tipton with the inauguration of Lifeline, permitting the elderly and handicapped to live independently with dignity and security.

A regional emergency medical service began operations in Obion and Tipton counties with plans to offer the centralized ambulance service to other West Tennessee counties.

At Baptist Memorial's Regional Rehabilitation Center, hundreds of crippled children from Tennessee and Mississippi began receiving medical assistance monthly at 33 clinics.

"We are looking far beyond 1983 in health care. We're making improvements which will ensure quality health care for the Mid-South into the 21st century. But we want to continue to do it in a warm personal way. With people serving people."

Joseph H. Powell, President

Hospital-Tipton, Covington, Tenn.; and Corning Community Hospital, Corning, Ark.

Quality health care accompanies affiliation, in the cases of Baptist Memorial.

The Ripley, Booneville and Corning institutions were accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) during their first full year in the system.

And Baptist Memorial, Memphis, Baptist Memorial Hospital-Forrest City, Baptist Memorial-Union City and Golden Triangle brought accreditation with them into the system.

The JCAH requires hospitals to meet 118 rigid standards in 24 categories to receive accreditation.

The quality synonymous with BMH also extends to buildings, with new construction under way at Baptist Memorial-Eastern Ozarks, major renovation at Baptist Memorial-Booneville, a new 70-bed facility at Baptist Memorial-Lauderdale and a new medical office building at Baptist Memorial-Tipton.

And new structures are in the planning stages at Forrest Memorial and Baptist Memorial-East in Memphis.

A new School of Nursing campus at Baptist Memorial-Medical Center, scheduled for completion late this year, will provide nurses to staff these enlarging health care efforts.

Besides the new buildings, the health care system installed expensive equipment and programs, all designed to improve health care.

Baptist Memorial-Medical Center and East each received new Comput-

To safeguard hearing in the business world, the system introduced a hearing conservation program for 18 industries in West Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri. The program, which includes lectures to employees on the ear, ear protection devices and administration of noise and hearing screening tests, is the first step in a total health care package for industry.

As the nation's largest private hospital with 2,068 beds and 90 bassinets, Baptist Memorial, Memphis, admitted 61,778 patients in 1982, provided emergency services to 41,042 and performed 4,496,307 laboratory procedures.

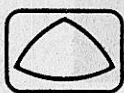

Surgical procedures totalled 30,654; x-ray examinations, 190,878; and births, 5,261.

During the year Dr. Frank S. Groner, president emeritus of Baptist Memorial, received the prestigious Award of Merit of the American Protestant Hospital Association for his outstanding contributions to and demonstration of unusual leadership in the field of church-related health care delivery.

While guaranteeing a bright future in quality health care for the Mid-South with new facilities, modern equipment and innovative programs, the system didn't forget the indigent.

At Baptist Memorial Hospital alone, more than $8,855,000 was spent on charity care.

Looking toward the future, the Baptist Memorial system will continue to respond to the requests for improved health care in communities throughout the Mid-South.

To Honor Teachers

Cochran Sponsors Special Bill

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) is co-sponsoring legislation that would give special recognition to America's teachers.

"We owe a debt of gratitude to this special group of dedicated individuals. We entrust our children to our teachers, knowing we can rely on them to help prepare our young people for the future. This is a fitting tribute," Cochran said.

The resolution Cochran is co-sponsoring would set aside April 13, 1983, as National Teacher Appreciation Day.

Cochran said the special recognition is especially appropriate at a time when the nation's teachers are being called on to restructure our educational system to meet the technological demands of the market place. "Although we have always placed tremendous responsibilities on our teachers, we're expecting even greater service from them as they prepare our young people for the new technologies," the Senator commented.

Cochran noted there has been an increasing emphasis on teacher training and re-education programs from within the education community. He commended teachers for their efforts to continually upgrade the requirements of their profession.

"The teaching profession is one that requires careful preparation, and should be one of the most recognized," Cochran said. "I hope my colleagues in the Congress will join with me in this most appropriate tribute."

State Must Provide Management For Offshore Development

If Mississippi is to receive full benefits of its offshore mineral resources, the state will have to provide more consistent management of its development program, the Mississippi Economic Council said.

The Council made the statement following a study of Mississippi's offshore development program. The report was made for the Council by its Committee on Resource Development. Jackson CPA Walter Denny headed the study committee. Columbus manufacturing executive Larry Tyner chairs the Resource Development Committee.

The study included an historical review of the state's offshore leasing activities dating back to 1952. In addition, the report reviewed the state's initial offshore leasing sale last July.

Noting that oil industry interest in the Mississippi Sound has been relatively small, the report said that the state, because it does not have the offshore resources of other coastal states, will have to use more initiative in its efforts to attract drilling activity in state waters.

Over the last several years, the report said, the state has not provided the management of its offshore development program. The state is, however, beginning to provide that long-needed management, the report added.

"As state administrations and legislatures have passed from year to year, there has been a lack of continuity in offshore development management," the study said. "Thus, as Louisiana reaped increasing amounts of royalty income and Alabama moved ahead with offshore development in nearby Mobile Bay, Mississippi stood virtually still," MEC said.

And last year when the state finally did attempt to secure drilling proposals in state waters, state authorities perhaps erred in rejecting most of the bids for offshore drilling projects, the MEC said.

"It appears that the state was more concerned with the level of bonus money accompanying the bids last July. This is perhaps understandable in view of large bonuses received by neighboring states," the report said. "Nonetheless, this near-term lack of bonus money should not have served as an obstruction in pursuing the broader objective of increased exploration potential. For through increased exploration, the opportunities for major discoveries and state royalties are enhanced," the report said. "For these reasons, it is felt that the state probably should not have rejected the six lower bids."

But even when considering the state leasing actions last July, one should keep Mississippi's offshore activities in proper perspective, the MEC said. With more favorable market conditions, the state could one day receive major revenues from its offshore areas with a major discovery. And the state is showing signs of improving management of these resources.

"Improved management is evidenced by the state's decision to launch the offshore development program and to conduct the geophysical studies that are required to enhance this development phase."

"Further, it is hoped that the state at the first possible opportunity will readvertise for bids on some of its offshore tracts to increase the opportunities for finding significant oil and gas deposits and thereby providing the state with funds for the economic improvements it must make for its citizens," the report concluded.

Ag Census Deadline Is Feb. 15

The 1982 Census of Agriculture gets underway this week with the mailing of report forms to farmers and ranchers in the 50 states, according to the Commerce Department's Census Bureau.

Farmers and ranchers are being asked to report on their agricultural operations during 1982 and to return the form by Feb. 15. The 1982 census is the nation's 22nd agriculture census in a series that started in 1840.

For the first time in a mail agriculture census report forms will reflect regional cropping patterns to make reporting easier.

Farm and ranch operators will be asked to report the acreage in their operations, form of ownership, type of organization, location of the place, use made of the land, and when their operations began.

Other questions will cover livestock and poultry inventories and sales, amount of government crop loans, crop acreage, amount harvested, and value of crops and livestock sold.

About 20 percent of farmers and ranchers will receive a form with an additional page which has inquiries on: selected production expenses, market value of land and buildings, machinery and equipment inventory and value, interest expenses and expenditures for petroleum and other energy sources.

Assistance in completing census forms is available locally from offices of the Cooperative Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, Vocational Agriculture Teachers, Production Credit Associations, and Farmers Home Administration.

A file copy of the report form is provided which operators can complete and keep for their own records.

A time extension can be granted farmers who request it. Census results will be granted farmers who request it. Census results will be published for each state, and the nation. The first preliminary data will be released beginning in the fall of 1983.

The law which requires farmers and ranchers to report in the census also protects the privacy of their reports. Census report forms are confidential by law and they may be seen only by sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical purposes. Even other government agencies cannot obtain or use the individual reports, and copies retained by the farmers are immune from the legal process.

Each report form will have a census file number (CFN) printed on the address label. If a report is not received for each file number, the Census Bureau will send out follow-up letters to all who have not responded.

Farmers and ranchers who have not received a form should request one from the Bureau of the Census, 1201 East 10th Street, Jeffersonville, Indiana 47133.

Some of the ways to do business with us are changing.

But we're still as close as your phone.

The telephone industry is changing—reorganizing. That means more options for you. And some changes in the way you do business with us. If you've done business with us lately, you may have gone to one of our retail outlets. Now, if you need help with phone service, call us first.

Call a South Central Bell service representative if you want to:

- order new phone service.
- change your existing service.
- disconnect your service.
- ask a question about your bill.
- exchange or return sets purchased or leased from South Central Bell. (We cannot exchange or take back sets purchased or leased from other suppliers.)

Call South Central Bell's repair service if you have trouble with your service or with a phone set that is leased from South Central Bell. (For service or repair of phone sets that you own—whether they came from South Central Bell or another supplier—you should follow the warranty instructions or other maintenance arrangement made at the time of purchase.)

You'll find the phone numbers for your service representative and repair service in the front of the South Central Bell phone book. When you call us, in many cases we'll be able to complete your business or solve your problem while you're on the phone. In other cases, we may offer to mail equipment or parts to you. Or you may be referred to a phone company service center to complete your transaction. If so, we'll tell you where the nearest one is and when it's open.

Some things won't change. During 1983 South Central Bell will still provide you with dependable local and long distance phone service. We'll continue to be responsible for phones that residence and business customers now lease from us. And we'll continue to lease telephones (and to sell some selected phones) as long as they're available from inventory. (With regulatory approval, we do plan to offer single-line residence and business customers the option of buying telephones that are now leased from us.)

There'll be more changes in the telephone industry in the coming year or so as South Central Bell and other Bell operating companies are separated from AT&T and reorganized into regional companies. This change in organization, to take place in 1984, will affect significantly how you get and use telecommunications services.

But no matter how things change, South Central Bell is committed to seeing that certain things remain the same. We'll still have good, dependable people and the same goal: providing you with the best, most advanced telephone service at reasonable rates.

We'll keep you informed. But in the meantime, if you have any questions about the changes in the industry or about how to do business with us now, call 1 800 555-5000, toll free, 10 a.m.-11 p.m., Central Time, Monday through Friday. Or write for a free brochure, "Let's Talk About Change."

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles L. Potts

Lord... Give Us A Clean Sheet

II Cor. 5:17B "... All Things Are Become New."

... Let's go to that land again. Oh, you know, the land of beginning again. Let's begin with that familiar and heart-pulling line. ... "I WISH THERE WERE SOME WONDERFUL PLACE. ... CALLED THE LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN. ... " The best among us have reason to fall on our knees and thank God there IS such a place! Were there not such a place of forgiving and forgetting. ... not many of us would be where we are. There is still another line in that same little poem "... WHERE ALL OUR MISTAKES, AND POOR HEARTACHES CAN BE DROPPED. ... LIKE A SHABBY OLD COAT AT THE DOOR. ... AND NEVER BE PUT ON AGAIN." This can happen too! It is part of the miracle of salvation. Because we are human. ... we all make mistakes. Most of them are mistakes of the mind, but now and then there is a mistake that involves the heart. Here is where the bitter tears are shed. Here is where remorse bites deepest. Here is where the glad bells of pardon sound out the greatest. We are more than 600 strong in our Church family. In such a crowd there surely are some with "poor heartaches," and all of us have suffered them at one time or another. Death, sickness, disappointment, failure. ... you name your own. ... we all wear the scars of them. Heartache seems to draw people into a closer circle. ... we become brothers and sisters in our suffering. We all know common bond that occurs in an intensive care waiting room. ... may God let it happen to us in His Church as we join common hands of humanity in God's grace as we say goodbye to '82. ... and focus on '83 in faith. Heaven's blessings upon you and strength for the journey.
