Four Charged In Gun Theft Ring

The Prentiss County Sheriff's Department has arrested four local men whom they believe have been operating a gun theft ring in Prentiss County, according to Prentiss County Deputy Doug Hendrix.

The four men who have been arrested in connection with recent break-ins that have been occurring in the county are Barron McKinney, 17, of Route 2, Booneville, Michael White, 18, of 216 First St., Booneville, Danny W Hamm, 22, of 102 Section St., Booneville, and Norman Wolfe, 47, of Route 3, Booneville.

McKinney, who has been certified to stand trial as an adult, is charged with two counts of breaking and entering. White is charged with receiving stolen property and five counts of breaking and entering. Hamm is also charged with five counts of breaking and entering. Wolfe is charged with receiving stolen property, Hendrix said.

The sheriff's department recovered 10 guns last week at pawn shops and a sporting goods store in Hardeman County, Tenn. The guns had been stolen from local residences, Hendrix said.

Deputies have recovered nine guns in Tippah County from various individuals who had purchased the stolen guns, Hendrix said. The sheriff's department is continuing the investigation and expects to locate more stolen guns, he said.

The guns that have been recovered were stolen from the residences of Ronnie Woodruff, Stanley Young, Bobby Bullard, Ricky Lambert, Irma Clayton, Freed Lee and Jimmy Wilson, Hendrix said.

McKinney is out of jail on $20,000 bond. Wolfe is free on $5,000 bond. Bond for Hamm had not been set as of Tuesday. White remained in jail on $25,000 bond as of Tuesday.

Miskelly Trial Now Underway

The murder trial of Mike Miskelly, 18, of Falkner, who is charged with the death of his classmate Steve Brown, began Tuesday in Benton County Circuit Court in Ashland.

A jury of eight men and six women, including two alternate jurors, was selected Tuesday, only one day before the second anniversary of Brown's disappearance.

The murder case is expected to last until Friday.

Miskelly pleaded innocent to the murder charge Jan. 26. He was indicted on the murder charge on Jan. 13.

Brown's disappearance two years ago prompted one of Northeast Mississippi's most massive manhunts. An Alcorn County deer hunter discovered the remains of the 15-year-old Brown in a wooded area in Benton County last December.

Second Attempt

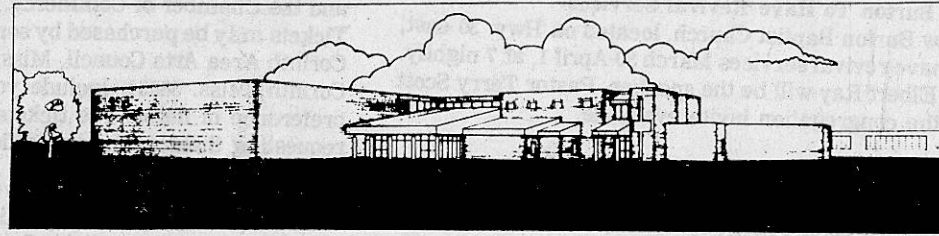

School Bond Election Is Saturday

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

City residents will go to the polls Saturday to once again vote for or against the sale of bonds for the construction of a new high school.

A second special election has been called to decide whether or not the city will sell $2,225,000 in bonds to build a new high school and to renovate the existing Anderson and Middle school buildings.

According to figures supplied by the city, if the bond issue passes, the average city landowner's taxes would increase approximately $6 per month (based on an average property assessment of $3,500-$4,000).

Architect's Rendering Of Proposed High School

For the bond issue to pass, 60 percent of the qualified voters who cast ballots Saturday must vote in favor of the bond issue. Only those residents who are registered to vote in both the city and the county are eligible to vote in the election.

All voters will cast their ballots downstairs at the City Hall. Polls will remain open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The majority of those voting in a similar election on Dec. 7 were in favor of the school bond issue at that time. However the vote fell 124 votes short of the needed 60 percent.

In the earlier election, 679 votes were cast in favor of the bond issue, 654 against, and four votes were rejected. Slightly less than 51 percent approved the sale.

Approximately 43.5 percent of the city's 3,076 registered voters cast ballots at that time, a larger turnout than city officials had anticipated.

It was the feeling of many that a last-minute campaign blitz by those opposing the bond issue contributed heavily to the defeat of the first school bond election. A similar campaign is now underway again.

IF CITY residents approve the school bond sale, the school district plans to close the Booneville Elementary School and the current Booneville High School.

A new two-story structure will be added to the front of the Middle School to house grades 9-12. Anderson Junior High will be renovated to house kindergarten classes and grades 1-3.

The Middle School will be renovated to house grades 5-8 and four new classrooms will be added at the Middle School for grade 4.

The district's long range plan, recently approved by the Educational Finance Commission in Jackson, calls for the Booneville school system to eventually go to a school park concept. All students will then be housed in facilities at the Middle School site.

School officials say this will make more efficient use of the facilities, letting a common lunchroom, gymnasium, auditorium and other facilities serve all students.

However, they point out that it will probably be 15-20 years before Anderson school is closed and grades K-3 are moved to the Middle School.

IN THE FIRST election, the proposed bond sale was for $2,035,000. Since then, an

Hospital Renovation Given Final Approval

The Mississippi Health Care Commission has given final approval to a $5.9 million expansion and renovation project at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville.

The Commission granted tentative approval of the project on Feb. 17. Before final approval could be issued, an automatic 30-day waiting period was required so that requests for a public hearing on the proposal could be granted.

Thomas J. Brooks III, executive director of the Mississippi Health Care Commission, notified Baptist Memorial Hospital administrator John Tompkins Tuesday that the Commission received no requests for such a hearing.

The Certificate of Need was issued on March 20. Tompkins received it in the mail Tuesday.

The expansion and renovation project calls for the demolition of the old A and B wings at the Booneville hospital. To replace the beds lost from these two wings, a new three-floor structure will be added to the front of the present facility, between the present building and U.S. 45.

The new structure will include the replacement of 66 beds. In the process, the hospital will lose 15 beds from its present total of 136, giving it a new total of 121 beds.

In addition to the new construction, most of what will remain of the old structure will be renovated.

Tompkins said this week that the hospital hopes to have groundbreaking ceremonies in early June with work beginning later that month. Completion of the project is expected to take 2½ to 3 years.

Projected cost for the project is $5,929,554.

Up, Up And Away

For the third year in a row, students at Hill's Chapel School celebrated the beginning of spring by releasing helium-filled balloons, each of which carried the name and address of a student from the school. Sponsored each year by the fifth grade class, the balloon release is conducted nationally by the Weekly Reader. The purpose of the program is to establish 'Writing Pals' between the sender of the balloon and the finder. Weekly Reader provides a $500 prize to the school which reports an answer from the greatest distance. (Photo by Tim Rowland)

Mailman Makes Rounds With 'Help' From His Friends

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

When city carrier Beebe McCuiston delivers the mail in Foster Park he is usually accompanied on his rounds by several of the Foster Park residents, such as Lucy, Herbie, Clementine, Sprocket and Chance.

Although they seldom, if ever, get any letters (they had rather chase squirrels than write), they eagerly await Beebe's arrival every morning.

Lucy, part basset hound and beagle, is owned by Bill Ward. Herbie, is a shiny black "All-American" dog belonging to Doc Gullett. Clementine, a basset hound, is owned by Naz Rhodes.

Sprocket, a black and white border collie, belongs to Forrest Michael. Chance, a malamute, is owned by Kenneth Smith. Although Chance lives on S. Fifth Street behind Booneville High School, she often joins her friends in Foster Park when they "help" Beebe deliver the mail.

Around 11 a.m. the dogs begin listening for Beebe's jeep. As soon as they hear it they begin barking. When the jeep gets closer they chase it, giving the impression they would bite the driver as soon as he steps out.

That is definitely not the case. When Beebe climbs out of the jeep to begin his rounds in Foster Park, the dogs clamor around him to be petted.

The dogs then follow him around Foster Park while he delivers the mail.

"These dogs are a lot of company," Beebe says. "You don't see many people out on the route all day long. Of course you're busy all the time, but it gets kind of lonesome. These dogs break the monotony of the mailroute."

The dogs began following Beebe last spring when some children in Foster Park began walking with Beebe as he delivered the mail. Lucy and Herbie, then puppies, went, too.

When the children weren't there, Lucy and Herbie continued to follow Beebe. Now it's become something of a ritual for the other dogs to accompany Beebe when he delivers the mail in Foster Park.

On Saturday the group is joined by Spot, owned by Howard Long. "Spot is a Saturday dog," Beebe says. "The only day he isn't tied is Saturday."

Lucy and Herbie accompany Beebe on his Foster Park round every day, rain or shine, sleet or snow. Lucy usually hunts squirrels during the jaunt, but Herbie stays right by his side.

If the weather is hot, Clementine the basset hound, will just "wag her tail and yawn at me," Beebe says. Sprocket and Chance prefer cooler weather, too, to make their "mail rounds."

"Lucy knows the route better than I do," he laughs. "She knows it so well she just goes on ahead of me."

It's obvious the dogs think the world of Beebe and vice versa.

"It seems like I have a rapport with them. I've always made friends with dogs. They know who loves them."

Beebe says he has often wondered if the dogs know when it's Sunday. "I guess Lucy thinks her watch is wrong," he grins.

When Beebe's substitute delivers the mail, the dogs chase his vehicle but they don't follow him when he gets out to deliver the mail.

Known as Beebe to all his friends, the mail carrier's real name is William C. McCuiston.

"When I was born, my brother, Junior, who was 18 months older than me, couldn't say baby. He would say 'beebe.' That's all I've ever been known as."

Beebe and his wife, Wanda, have one son, William Beebe, who attends the University of Florida.

Beebe has been a mailcarrier for 24 years. He has delivered mail on the city 1 route for 10 years.

"I've watched a lot of dogs and children grow up since I've been carrying the mail," he says.

"When you go around the route every day you get to know all the dogs and cats. I guess they know me better than the people know me because they're at home all the time."

"I love dogs, children and people. That's what makes the mailroute."

Beebe worries that someone might run over one of the dogs. When the dogs are walking with him, he is always careful to keep them out of traffic. "I'd hate for something to happen to them. It would be like losing a good friend," he said.

Lately when Beebe returns to the post office after completing his route, Lucy the basset hound, will be there waiting for him, sound asleep on the back ramp.

He has taken her home several times. The dog catcher even picked her up several weeks ago.

Postmaster Jack Wright kids Beebe that since Lucy beats him back to the post office by an hour that he is going to hire Lucy, Beebe laughs.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, what is the difference in the wine Christ made and the wine condemned in the Bible?

WARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: Obviously you understand that at least two kinds of wine are mentioned in the Bible. There are thirteen Hebrew and Greek words translated "wine." The Hebrew word most often used is yayin. Young's Analytical Concordance defines this as "What is pressed out, grape juice." It is used of alcoholic or fermented juice (Gen. 9:21) and also of non-fermented juice (Jer. 48:33). In the New Testament the word "wine" is from oinos, except for one time. The Bible tells us that Wine can be a blessing (see Isa. 65:8) or it can be a curse (see Prov. 20:1). There are two kinds of "wine" under consideration in the Bible the good and the bad. The CON-TEXT will point out the "good" or "bad" if you will notice. The word wine sometimes means grape juice. Any student of the Bible knows that Jesus did not make 55 gallons of "bad" wine and allow the people to drink all they wanted. Remember he set the perfect example!

These high school students will be honored on April 7 by the Mississippi Economic Council as the state's STAR students. (STAR stands for Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition.)

Elizabeth Leigh (Liz) Ferrell, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle W. Ferrell, has been selected STAR student at Booneville High School this year.

Mrs. Jackson teaches

English II and IV at Booneville High School. She has taught for a total of 27 years at schools in Booneville, Lambert, Falkner, Rienzi and Jumpertown.

Option To Purchase Telephone Is New South Central Bell Option

South Central Bell's Mississippi customers now have the option of purchasing the telephones and some other equipment they now rent.

"From mid-March through mid-April, the company will be sending every customer detailed information and an order blank in the envelope with their telephone bill," said Tom Bailey, Bell district manager.

"Customers who want to buy the phones they're now renting are simply asked to complete the order form and return it to us, and we'll take it from there," he said.

Customers who make one-time payments for Trimline and Princess telephones and who lease other types of equipment from the phone company will receive separate letters with information on the purchase prices for this equipment.

Bailey emphasized that the decision to buy the phone is up to the customer. Customers who do not want to buy their phones should take no action and their service will continue as it now is, he said.

South Central Bell has set up two special toll-free numbers for customers who would like information on buying their telephone equipment. Residential customers should call 1-800-626-1700; Business customers, 1-800-282-8883.

The following is a list of the equipment being offered for sale and the prices. The figure in parenthesis is the monthly rate now charged for the same item.

Standard rotary desk set ($1.50), $19.95; standard Touch-Tone desk set ($2.50)

$41.95; standard rotary wall phone ($1.50) $19.95; standard Touch-Tone wall set ($2.50) $41.95; Trimline rotary desk set ($3) $44.95; Trimline Touch-Tone desk set ($4) $54.95; Trimline rotary wall set ($4) $44.95; Trimline Touch-Tone wall set ($4) $54.95; Princess rotary set ($2.75) $39.95; Princess Touch-Tone set ($3.50) $49.95.

These prices are for the equipment customers now have in use in their homes or businesses and will be in effect until June 14. After that date prices will be $15 to $20 higher, Bailey said. Equipment now sold at the Service Center is also priced $15 to $20 higher, he said.

The company is also starting a new plan to help prevent set losses when customers disconnect service. With the new plan, customers will have the option of taking their sets with them if they are moving to another location served by South Central Bell, of returning their sets either by mail with company-provided materials or in person to an authorized drop-off point, or of keeping the sets and paying for them on their final bill.

When the final bill is paid, ownership of individual line sets is transferred to the customer.

Ownership of party line sets cannot be transferred because they are specially modified and cannot be sold to customers, Bailey said. If customers return the sets to a drop-off point, they will receive a credit of $6 for the first set returned and $2.50 for each additional set returned.

Curtis Grimes reported the theft of a 1981 Ford Currier pickup from Wright's Trucking Company on March 18.

A vacuum cleaner belonging to Travis Bullard of Route 1, Burnsville was reported stolen March 17.

Debra Spencer of Route 6, Booneville, reported the theft of an automobile tag on March 17.

Hospital

The expansion and renovation project was first announced in January 1982 after Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis exercised its option to lease the Booneville hospital for 25 years.

At that time, the estimated cost of the project was $5.1 million. Like the plan finally approved by the Commission, the original plan called for the demolition of A and B wings. But at that time, hospital officials planned to build the replacement structure on the B-wing site.

It was determined that putting the new structure at that location would bring it too close to the First Methodist Church's property line, so an alternative plan was developed.

Hospital officials had originally hoped to begin construction last June, but the work was delayed due to the change in plans and to the time necessary to obtain approval from the Health Care Commission.

additional $190,000 has been added to that figure so that the four additional classrooms can be constructed at the Middle School for grade 4.

School officials say this was necessary because the Mississippi Legislature passed a bill during their special session last December requiring public kindergartens in all school systems by 1986.

In order to have room for the additional students, four more classrooms were added to the original plan.

School officials said the additional $190,000 would not further increase the millage rate. It would still be 20 mills, the same as in the last election.

In a recent meeting to explain the proposed construction plan, city schools' superintendent Robert Griffin and Hale Aust, chairman of a parents' advisory committee, told city residents that, since the last election, the school board has had a structural engineer check the high school. It was determined that the building is structurally safe.

However, they pointed out, it would cost at least $1/2 million to completely renovate the building. "And it would be a maximum of 15 years before it would have to be done over," they said.

They said the elementary school has not been tested for structural soundness. However, they pointed out that parts of the elementary school are much older than the high school and that the roof is in bad condition.

Griffin and Aust also said the school district has obtained an opinion from Attorney General Bill Allain stating that those city residents 65 and older would be exempt from school bond indebtedness on homestead exemptions. Those under 65 years of age would not be exempt, they said.

If the bond issue passes Saturday, school officials say they hope to have the new high school ready for occupancy by the fall of 1984.

Street Opinion

QUESTION: What kind of voter turnout do you think there will be Saturday for the second school bond election?

JESSICA AUST of 504 Wickwood Drive, Booneville: "I think a lot of people will turn out to vote for the bond issue. I'm a sophomore at Booneville High School and I think we're in desperate need of a new school. Repairs just won't work - they've tried that."

WILLODEAN NUNLEY of Route 3, Booneville: "I really don't know about the turnout but I don't think the bond issue will be voted in since they've tried it once and it failed. I don't think it will pass because it will raise taxes. People have all the taxes they can pay now."

CATHIE PITTS of 200 Magnolia Drive, Booneville: "I think they'll turn out better for it than the last time. I think more people see it can pass and they'll make an effort to vote. Also before a lot of people didn't know they had to register in the city to be eligible to vote. I hope the bond issue passes. The children need a new school."

RONNIE WENZEL of Route 5, Booneville: "It should be an outstanding turnout. The future of the children depends on it. I live in the county but if I could vote for it I would. It seems like Prentiss County people think more of a Double B basketball championship than a Class A education. That needs to be changed."

PHYLUS SHELLEY of Route 6, Booneville: "The turnout will probably be about like it was the last time. I think the bond issue should be voted for because we do need a better school."

SCOTT CLARK of 106 Whiskey River Drive, Booneville: "I think more people will turn out than before. There's more public awareness about the bond issue now."

(Editor's note: "Talk O' The Town" is not intended as a scientific poll of public opinion. Rather, it is simply intended to give Prentiss Countians an opportunity to voice their opinions on particular issues and topics. Maybe we'll ask you next!)

Eyes On Mississippi

Court Ruling Could Make Next Governor Stronger

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - The Legislature apparently has chosen to ignore Hinds County Circuit Judge Charles Barber's ruling on Jan. 27 stripping legislators from membership on nine state boards, as though it's all a bad dream that will go away.

Barber had specifically deferred implementation of his historic order until Jan. 1, 1984, so that the Legislature would have sufficient time to "cure... the constitutional and statutory infirmities." That clearly meant he expected the lawmakers to change the laws and take themselves off the boards at this legislative session.

So far no legislation reorganizing the nine boards and commissions has passed both branches, and there seems no likelihood that with the 1983 session grinding to a conclusion 10 days from now any will pass.

The hardened oldtimers in the Legislature evidently are taking a desperate gamble that the Barber ruling declaring that 36 legislators were violating the constitutional separation of powers will be overturned in the State Supreme Court.

All indications of that happening are to the contrary. Certainly, the Supreme Court has fresh memory of its own experience last year when the Legislature when the lawmakers challenged the court's right to adopt rules of civil procedure in lower courts.

Additionally, Justice James Robertson, recently named to the court by Gov. William Winter, is reputed to be a strong advocate of the position that the legislative branch has encroached upon the functions of the executive branch.

By failing to reconstruct the State Budget Commission, the most powerful of the bodies affected by the Barber ruling, the Legislature could create utter chaos in state government until the whole issue is finally settled in the state's highest court. That could possibly take until early next year.

Meantime, with a new state administration coming in next January, the question will be logically raised that the presently constituted Budget Commission, nine of its 11 members being legislators, should be barred from presiding over the preparation of the next fiscal budget.

The Senate had passed a bill providing for creation of a new State Department of Administration which would have turned over most of the Budget Commission functions to the governor, but it died in a House committee.

It would have also removed legislators from the Medicaid Commission, the Capitol Commission and the Central Data Processing Commission and put those agencies, which are also in the Barber ruling, under the governor's control.

Significantly, at least a dozen of the 36 legislators Barber's ruling removes from state boards are not planning to seek re-election this summer. The others who are running could be confronted with the constitutional provision cited by Barber that they had vacated their legislative seats immediately on accepting appointment to an executive board.

This opens to question the possibility the state could seek recovery of salaries and other emoluments paid to the lawmakers while they were technically not lawful members of the Legislature.

The irony of the rollback of the legislative incursion into the executive branch is that Atty. Gen. Bill Allain, the man who brought down the long-standing system, could become the first governor to benefit from the historic decision.

In the formal announcement of his candidacy last week, Allain was quick to point out that the removal of lawmakers from executive boards is going to make the next governor a "much stronger governor."

Perhaps the greatest weakness in the Mississippi governor's administrative powers now is the absence of an independent budgetary agency under his direct control to prepare an executive budget and oversee state expenditures.

In the present budgetary crisis, for example, Gov. Winter is at the mercy of the legislatively-dominated State Budget Commission because he does not have the tools to develop his own fiscal evaluation.

Some lawmakers have already indicated a reluctance to appropriate funds to give the governor any more than the minimum budgetary office when the time comes that legislators no longer control the Budget Commission.

That attitude could be even more intense if Allain should be elected, despite the fact that the outspoken attorney-general said he saw no problem working together with legislators.

Legislative Report

Much Work Must Be Done In Final Two Weeks

By Rep. BILLY MCCOY
District III
Prentiss & Alcorn Counties

With only two weeks remaining in the 1983 regular session the Mississippi Legislature has not given final passage to bills dealing with the most important issues it has faced from the beginning of the session.

The Utility Reform Act which will restrict the practice of utility companies increasing rates under bond is now being considered by a conference committee of both houses.

This important act would also allow direct appeal to the Supreme Court of Mississippi large rate increases and would provide the Public Service Commission an increase in its legal and technical staff. This staff increase is needed in order that the consumers of Mississippi will be represented by a legal and technical staff comparable to those of large public utilities.

There has been much delay in the final passage of the Governor's Prison Reform Act. The controversy is centered around the issue of locating additional prison facilities - should Parchman continue to be the only large prison facility of the state, or should facilities such as a receiving and classification unit, a womens unit, and a minimum security unit be built in other more populous and centrally located sections of the state?

Also at issue in the prison bill is the veto power of local officials concerning the location of state institutions within their respective counties.

Strong protests have come from citizens and public officials in several counties around Jackson which are being considered as possible locations for additional prison facilities.

From what I have learned as a member of the House Penitentiary Committee during the last four years, I am convinced that we should not continue to add to the inmate population at Parchman.

Very shortly this could be the largest penal institution on a single site location in the United States. Needless to say, it is very difficult to attract to a rural area, such as Parchman, the very large technical and professional staff needed to manage such a massive prison complex.

Also I am convinced that the Legislature should make the final decision as to where large and costly state institutions should be located.

The counties around Jackson have received tremendous benefits from its being our state capitol. They have been happy to have located within their boundaries state facilities that provide thousands of public jobs and attract to the several county capitol area hundreds of visitors from across the state and nation on a daily basis.

The Legislature should not allow these same counties to veto the placing within their borders of an institution which they deem to be of a less desirable nature.

In the end the Legislature should make the final decision as to where these facilities will best serve the interest of all the citizens.

Hopefully, the bill as passed will provide for several additional work centers around the state. Useful work by inmates on public projects such as roads, will be of benefit to both the taxpayers and the prison inmates.

For the most part no one gains when non-violent offenders are placed in large prison complexes with little, or no meaningful work to do,

Mississippi Is A Healthy Place—Sometimes

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation
Is Mississippi really a healthy place to live?

Well - er, yes, but...

Not all the time. You see, Mississippi for some reason has suffered three times as many deaths from tornadoes as any of her neighboring states lately.

Mississippi over the past 20 years has recorded 293 deaths from tornadoes while Louisiana had 74; Arkansas, 96; Tennessee, 24; Alabama, 98; Georgia, 46; and Florida, 42.

A bum rap that - but that's not all. Tropical storms find the coastal regions bordering the Gulf and Atlantic Coasts as the most vulnerable of any areas of the U.S. - California's recent experiences notwithstanding. The same tropical storm zone also shows the greatest proneness to allergy problems.

If there wasn't another side to this health coin I might really wonder why my great grandfather Benjamin packed up his young family in 1906 and boarded the Mississippi River steamer PRINCE to commence a short voyage to Vicksburg on a physician's advice to seek a warmer climate than the one he left behind in Tennessee.

He was right. It is hotter in Mississippi - with an average of 99 days annually that the temperature reaches or exceeds 90 degrees. The sun shines here 61 percent of the time, and our winds average 7.8 miles per hour with most of that occurring as cold winter winds and less of it as cooling summer breezes.

Such is the bad news. Most of the rest is good, according to Dr. Robert Shakman's book, "Where You Live May Be Hazardous To Your Health."

And at least you shouldn't have to worry much about earthquakes - unless you live in the Mississippi delta where this state's earthquake risk factor switches from minor to moderate.

Agriculture plays a major role in keeping all around health factors for Mississippi on the plus side. The air is much cleaner here than most places when it comes to sulfur pollution and particulates, the latter being plain ol' dirt in the air. Central Mississippi records only 12 grams per cubic meter of sulfur dioxide in the air compared with a U.S. average of 80 grams - or 58 in Chicago and 15 in New Orleans. However, we don't do so hot on that "suspended particulate" business in the air. We score 105 compared to a national average of 75 - or 154 in Chicago and 79 in New Orleans.

Mississippians get zapped pretty good with the major allergens stemming from such sources as elm, oak and pecan trees in springtime, bermuda and johnson grasses throughout summer and fall, and burweed and ragweed among others mostly in the autumn.

Thunderstorms visit the Magnolia state about 62 days out of every year with threats to our well being through lightning strikes, trees blown over, downed power lines, and the like. And that's sorta scary.

But closing out on a happier note, Mississippians get along with Mississippians better than a lot of folks in other parts. Our personal crime incidents occur at the rate of 227 annually for each 100,000 population - compared with 397 as a national average, 671 in Chicago and 658 in the Crescent City.

Mississippians however are not quite as fortunate when it comes to the thieving bit, as we register 2,059 property crimes per 100,000 population compared with 2,241 in Chicago and 3,275 in New Orleans.

Still the sun shines on us Magnolia Staters 61 percent of the time and we can count on the dust being settled on 51 of those 365 days of the year.

March 26 Is An Important Day

Dear Editor,

I am a student at the Booneville Middle School. I am writing about the school bond issue.

March 26 will be an important day for Booneville.

I think we need a new high school because the present one is very old and in bad condition. The Anderson and Middle schools need repairs so they can be used for many more years.

The taxes will be higher, but I think it will be worth voting for. So vote "yes" on Saturday, March 26.

Sincerely,
Paul Saylor

Taxes Higher, But It's Worth It

Dear Editor,

As you probably already know, the school bond issue will be voted this coming Saturday, March 26.

If the bond issue is passed, renovation of the present middle school and the junior high school will be called for. The bond issue also calls for a new high school, which is badly needed.

The grades kindergarten through the third will be put at Anderson and the grades fourth through twelfth will be on the Middle School site.

The referendum will provide adequate facilities for activities appropriate for all students.

If the bond issue is passed, taxes will go up to pay back the money to build the school. Taxes will be higher for the next 20 years for people who live in Booneville.

But isn't it worth it? You will get better schools. You know taxes will probably get higher anyway and the high school will fall down by itself not long from now, so why shouldn't material be bought now for less money?

Sincerely,
Angela Burcham

Cooper To Speak At First Baptist

Owen Cooper, chairman of the Federal Farm Credit Administration Board of Directors, will speak at the men's breakfast at the First Baptist Church in Booneville on Sunday, March 27 at 7:30 a.m. and at the morning worship service at 11 a.m.

Cooper will speak to the men of the church at the men's breakfast concerning missions and the laymen's role.

At the morning worship service he will speak to the congregation concerning people's involvement in "today's world."

Cooper served for many years as president of Mississippi Chemical Corporation.

Presently he is a member of the General Council of the Baptist World Alliance, president of Pan American Union of Baptist Men, and Secretary of the Men's Department of the Baptist World Alliance.

He has served as past president of the Southern Baptist Convention and the Mississippi Baptist Convention, past chairman of the board of trustees of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and as vice-president of the Baptist World Alliance.

OWEN COOPER

He is married to Elizabeth Thompson of Madison, Ga. They have five children and nine grandchildren.

QUILTING -- One of Opal Deaton Ford's favorite hobbies is quilting. She works on a quilt nearly every day. She is currently making a double wedding ring quilt.

Quilting ... A Quilt Is A Gift Of Love

There aren't too many days that pass when Opal Deaton Ford of the Zion's Rest Community isn't busy working on a new quilt.

Mrs. Ford caught the "quilting bug" about six years ago from her friend, Lyzon Henderson of Memphis.

Since then she has made numerous quilts such as the improved nine patch, trip around the world, maple leaf and flower garden, just to name a few.

She is currently working on a double wedding ring quilt.

Many of her quilts feature red as a dominant color because that's one of her favorite colors. But mostly her quilts encompass the colors of a rainbow.

Her favorite quilt is a Christmas quilt which features Santa Claus and red and green poinsettias. She likes this quilt because not many people have a Santa quilt, she says.

She purchased the pattern for the Santa quilt from Claude Wilemon of Burton. Other quilt patterns have been purchased from Mrs. Julie Wilemon and Mrs. Mauveline Short, both of Baldwyn.

Although she has made many quilts, she doesn't sell them. Instead she makes them for her family which includes two daughters, Peggy Sue Williams of Gainsville, Fla., and Shirley Moreland of Marietta. She also has three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

She says one of the best parts about quilting is giving a quilt away to someone in her family. "I love to give them quilts," she smiles. And members of her family are always happy when they are presented a quilt because they are aware of the love Mrs. Ford puts into every quilt she makes.

"I love to quilt," Mrs. Ford says. "A lot of people think it's awfully hard - and it is, but I enjoy it."

Bank Receives Marketing Awards

The Peoples Bank & Trust Company has received two awards honoring the bank's marketing communications efforts.

In the Greater Jackson Advertising Club's annual Excellence in Advertising Competition, a statewide judging held in February, the Peoples Bank received two gold awards.

The awards were given for a testimonial television campaign featuring local bank customers and for a series of outdoor posters featuring the new Money Market accounts.

E.C. Neely III, president and chief executive officer said communicating with bank customers has become more and more important in these days of bank deregulation.

"The financial services industry is changing rapidly," says Neely. "New and better services are being developed at a faster pace than ever before. We feel it is vitally important to keep customers abreast of these changes so that they can make informed financial decisions."

Neely says he is particularly proud of the awards this year considering the stiff competition.

"You have to remember," says Neely, "that our advertising was pitted against all advertising in the state for these awards, not just advertising from other banks."

The advertising and public relations agency, Advertising & Marketing Inc., produced the award-winning advertising. Don Wilson serves as account executive for the Peoples Bank. Assistant vice-president Barbara Riley is director of marketing for the bank.

As part of the conference, Robert T. "Sonny" Davis, president of the National Leadership Institute of Austin, Texas, will present a leadership program to the conference delegates.

The conference is scheduled for March 24-26 at Pickwick Landing State Park.

Hospital. Let's remember her in prayer.

I received a letter from Mrs. Mary Ann Hayden. I hadn't heard from Mrs. Haden since '73' and thought this article she contacted me.

I hope this poem will bless someone as it blessed me.

Life without purpose is barren indeed

There can't be a harvest unless you plant seed

There can't be attainment unless there is a goal

And man's but a robot unless there's a soul

If we send no ships out no ships will come in

And unless there's a contest nobody can win ...

For games can't be won unless they are played

And prayers can't be answered unless they are prayed

So whatever is wrong with your life today

You'll find a solution if you kneel down and pray

Not just for pleasure enjoyment and health

Not just for honors and prestige and wealth

But pray for a purpose to make life worth living

And pray for the joy of unselfish giving

For great is your gladness and rich your reward

When you make your life's purpose the choice of the Lord.

EYE OPENERS
By
Dr. Walter C. Simpson

DUST IN THE EYE?

Few things are as annoying as getting a speck of dirt into the eye. Sometimes, the tears stimulated will wash out the speck. But if they don't, here's a first-aid procedure - down to the lower lid, where it can be removed easily. Blow your nose. This sometimes helps the speck make you feel better.

If you can see the foreign object on the eye's inner surface, you can use the corner of a moistened tissue to lift it out.

If you can't find the speck, hold the upper lashes while looking downward, and gently pull the upper lid away from you and down over the lower lid. This will usually "sweep" the speck

If you still can't find or remove the speck, STOP. Don't try more difficult procedures yourself. Cover the eye with a clean handkerchief or a dry sterile dressing, and consult an eye doctor.

A dessert plate with coffee was served during the social hour.

Mrs. Mary Robinson, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker.

Wallis discussed the life of John Henninger Reagan, Post Master General.

Reagan was born in the great Smoky Mountain area on Oct. 8, 1818. In 1838 he left the valley to seek a better life and it was 62 years before he saw his beloved Smokey Mountains again.

Reagan was elected judge of the 9th judicial district of Texas on Nov. 2, 1852. He was a political figure for many years, Wallis said.

Reagan also served as Post Master General of the Confederate States. His tenure of service was marked with distinction and Reagan died on March 3, 1905.

Following the discussion about Reagan, Wallis displayed three Confederate stamps which were viewed with much interest.

Processing Foods Alters Nutritional Value

By WANDA ROBINSON
4-H Program Assistant

Commercial processing of foods is necessary in some cases. Some believe that the selection of processed foods should be held to a minimum and that unprocessed foods should be increased in the diet. However, an understanding of the need for processing can change many minds.

Although it's now possible for people to have fresh fruit and vegetables throughout most of the year, the quantity of these foods is still limited. This restricts the regular use of many fresh foods. For people living in temperate zone climates, it is crucial that food preservation techniques be used if fruits and vegetables are to be available throughout the year.

Food preservation methods have been developed that allow the consumer a large and varied choice.

These methods provide nutrients to food that has a somewhat decreased nutritional value because of losses during processing. Losses occur whether the food is processed commercially or at home.

Nutrient losses also can occur in fresh foods during storage.

In addition to nutritional effects, food processing often alters flavor, texture, and appearance of food.

This can be desirable, especially if the processing method converts a fresh food unsuitable for consumption in the fresh state into one that is readily consumed by most people.

For example, potatoes are not eaten raw, but are processed into many desirable food products.

Commercial preservation of food does cause some reduction in the nutritional components. However, this will result in major losses of nutrients.

Some of the vitamins A, B, C and E are lost in the blanching process and the heat process. Minerals are stable in heat but can be lost by leaching in the blanching process.

Dried foods that aren't stored in air-tight packages also may lose vitamin C.

Under extreme processing, protein can change chemically to become less usable by the body. Amino acids, building blocks for food proteins, can be destroyed by excessive temperatures over prolonged periods.

Fats are not usually affected by normal methods of processing, but may become rancid if stored in the presence of air. Heat processing of cereal grains makes these foods more digestible and help the human body use the nutrients.

More sophisticated methods of food preservation are being investigated, and these will produce processes that retain even more of the nutrients originally present.

Consumers should become more concerned about improving retention of foods' nutritional value while preparing it at home or buying it through institutions and restaurants.

Retired Teachers Meet

The Retired Teachers Association met in the George E. Allen Library, Thursday, March 17, for their regular meeting.

The group was called to order by Mrs. Mary Dobbins, president.

After leading the pledge to the flag, Mrs. Dobbins expressed her appreciation to those attending and presented Joe Pack Arnold, Presbyterian minister, who delivered a devotional concerning changing times.

Minutes were read by Mrs. E.E. McCoy. Mrs. Louree Jones gave the treasurer's report.

Herbert Summer introduced the speaker, Johnny Browne, who spoke about Gov. William Winter's educational program.

He discussed the pros and cons and said that other states had begun to notice the bold steps Mississippians were taking to improve education. He concluded with a question and answer session.

Travis McCharen dismissed the group after which a covered dish luncheon was served.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS
Librarian
George E. Allen Library

New on the shelves of the George E. Allen Library is the very timely "People Power: What Communities Are Doing to Counter Inflation," produced by the Consumer Information Division. We also have in our vertical file the government pamphlet "Consumer's Resource Handbook." It is subtitled "A What-to-do, Where-to-go Manual for Resolving Consumer Problems," and contains a sample "complaint letter," and sources of help such as national, state and local agencies with their addresses.

However it makes no claim to being complete and the only Mississippi Better Business Bureau listed is at Jackson.

Not a new publication but new in our collection is "Warm Up for Little League Baseball," by Morris A. Shirts. Another book for the season is a hiking guide prepared by the National Geographic Society, "High Country Trail: Along the Continental Divide."

Three dealing with business are "Check In-Check Out," by Jeome Vallen, (a guide to motel management); "How to Buy and Enjoy a Small Farm," by George Laycock; and Fred Cook's, "The Great Energy Scam: Private Billions vs. Public Good."

Among the new biographies recently received is Ruth Bell Graham's "It's My Turn." Others include several suitable for high school term papers and a few of well known people of the sports world.

Soil Conservation News

By TINA LORENTZEN
Soil Conservationist
USDA - Soil Conservation Service
Booneville Field Office

Winter's clock has nearly wound down and now it's time to complete your plans for no-till acres this year.

First, plan which field or fields are suitable to be planted using the no-till method. Rolling as well as flat acres are candidates. Then, decide the number of acres that will be planted. If this is your first attempt with no-till, it would be wise to plant only a small acreage this first year to gain practical experience.

Next, a suitable field is one which is fairly free of weeds. Johnsongrass, bermudagrass, and a few other grasses are weeds that must be under control in a field slated for no-till. Also, decide in advance which herbicides to use in your pre-emergence and post-emergence program. It is critical to practice adequate week control for the success of your no-till crops.

What are your plans for equipment? Some conventional planters can be converted to no-till planters by adding coulters and changing the packing wheel. There are many companies that offer good no-till planters on the market. As another option, check with your local conservation district about leasing a planter. Before planting day, though, make necessary adjustments and repairs on the equipment.

Keep abreast of the latest findings on the continuing research of no-till. Farm magazines and newspapers, ag research publications, television, and the Soil Conservation Service are good sources of information. Make inquiries to those farmers who successfully use no-till in their management programs.

Financial assistance for no-till in the form of cost-sharing may still be available at the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service (ASCS) in Booneville.

By using organization and accurate data in planning no-till acres, one can build a solid foundation for a good crop. For more information, call or stop by the SCS office in Booneville and talk with us.

Idle Land Is Wasting Away

Land is a terrible thing to waste. But in Mississippi, it's a much too familiar practice.

According to State Forester Sid Moss, any land that is either idle or under-productive is "wasting."

Moss contends that an estimated eight million acres in the state fall into one or the other category.

These acreages are owned by private non-industrial landowners in tracts averaging about 50 acres, and they make up half the state's 16.5 million acres of commercial forestland.

Moss points out that the task of bringing these acreages up to full production is a top priority of the Mississippi Forestry Commission and a primary challenge facing the state.

The State Forester cites the following major forestry needs in Mississippi:

- 1) Reforestation of 855,600 poorly stocked acres;
- 2) Timber stand improvement practices on 1.4 million acres.
- 3) Reforestation after earlier harvests on 3.1 million acres and,
- 4) Conversion from poor quality hardwoods to pine on 2.9 million acres.

It costs the landowner, who pays by forfeiting future income, Moss said. Taxes are also a continual drain on the owner's pocketbook. Idle or under-productive land is less valuable if the owner wants to sell.

The landowner additionally loses out on the opportunity to receive a premium price for timber that would have been ready to sell in greatly expanded wood markets expected by the turn of the century.

The forest industry loses, too, the way Moss has it figured. The cost of assembling a given amount of raw material is higher because a larger area must be covered due to poor productivity (less wood volume per acre) of woodlands.

"Generally speaking," Moss adds, "quality raw materials from unmanaged lands can't compete with good sound material from vigorous, managed stands, either."

And lastly, declares the State Forester, society as a whole loses; through fewer jobs, a lower tax base, less community stability, higher prices, and dependence on high-cost imports.

Moss asks owners of idle acres or under-productive woodlands to contact their local County Forester for assistance in initiating practices aimed at increasing productivity.

Don't Get Out The Leftovers

For These Left Over Recipes

This week's recipes are what the Banner Bunch refers to as "leftovers." Now don't misunderstand. These aren't recipes for leftovers. Rather they are recipes we didn't have room to use that were given to us by some of the "cooks of the week." Hence "leftovers." Many of the recipes came from Eloise Maddox of Booneville. The recipe for lasagna came from Peggy English of Jumpertown.

Booneville Happenings

By MRS. GORDON MCGEE
Correspondent

I enjoyed the article last week the staff reporter wrote of Mrs. Dora Sanders' 100 years.

For years we looked forward to her visits. The last visit I remember her making in our store (McGee's Grocery) was about 8 years ago. She was 92 then and was going fishing that day. We were complimenting her in being so active and too she was a bundle of sunshine.

She said, "I enjoy living - large part of my life has been up-hill but God has been with me all the way up that hill." We hope Mrs. Sanders has many more happy years.

The North Mississippi Conference United Methodist Women Spiritual Growth Retreat was held at Camp Lake Stephens on March 18-19. Joe Edward Morris, PhD. graduate of the University of Miss., Emory University, and Millsaps College, was the guest speaker.

You missed a good lunch and devotion if you didn't join "Friends United" at First United Methodist Church on their regular meeting day. First and third Monday 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Weida Jumper has returned from Nashville where she had a nice long visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ron Baker and her family.

The Bible Study group of First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Taylor Smith March 15 with 13 members present. Mrs. Frances Abernethy, circle leader presided. Lexie McGee led the opening prayer. Mrs. Marion Duncan brought the continued study on the life of Peter. Which was interesting and challenging us to keep our priorities in order. The hostess served a delicious dish of chocolate pie and coffee.

Mrs. Bettye Harber Upton, Jim and John Upton were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. O.C. Harber.

Visitors of Mrs. Lillian Moore last week were Robert, who is the Dean of Students at the University of Arkansas, his daughter, Mrs. Herman Curtiss, and their children, Joann and Billy from Duncan, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. O.L. Burcham (Mrs. L. Ligon's brother) of Memphis have been here for a week visit with the L.L. Liggins. They all visited as many of the kissing cousins, aunts and uncles as they could and enjoyed them all.

Before the Burchams returned home friends gathered in the home of the Liggins and had a great time of fellowship.

Tony Finch and Mitze Johnson, two young people from First United Methodist, entertained the Tuesday Rotary Club. These are two outstanding young soloists, belonging both to the Youth Choir and the "Day Break Ensemble."

The Music Department of the University of Mississippi presents Carla Bonds in voice recital Thursday, March 24 at 8 p.m. in Meek Auditorium. There will be a reception after the recital hosted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Carr, T.J. and Laura from Meridian visited their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Robinson and Dana Hayes, Wednesday through Sunday March 16-20. They all reported a good time.

On March 30, Wednesday night at First Baptist Church there will be a special communion service at 6:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Wingo went to Blytheville, Ark., Friday March 11 to visit Mrs. Wingo's cousin, Mrs. Mildred McHaffey. While there they enjoyed seeing Mrs. Wingo's aunt, Mrs. Dolly Smart (Mildred's mother) from Oakland, Calif. The Wingos returned home Saturday.

The Rev. and Mrs. C.L. Potts are visiting in Granbury, Texas, with their daughter and son-in-law. The First Methodist welcomed the Rev. and Mrs. Danny Rowland from the Methodist Conference office. It was a delight to have Danny bring the morning worship on March 13 in the absence of the pastor. Parents Mrs. Eugene Rowland and Mr. and Mrs. Layne Dees from the Blackland community and little Marla (granddaughter) were also present.

Dr. John Mattox was at the organ in the absence of Dr. Dan Warmbrod who is on spring holidays from Northeast Junior College. Dr. Mattox teaches in the Science Dept. NEMJC and is organist at Kossuth Baptist Church.

It's so good to see O.C. Harber able to be visiting in the restaurant "The Different Drummer" and the Dress Shop.

Mrs. Valcours Smith is visiting Mrs. Vera Walters, her niece and her sister, Mrs. Ellen Ritter in Amory. Prayer is requested for Juanita Kizer who is seriously ill in the Corinth hospital.

Bro. and Mrs. Bill Duncan, Mark and David spent last Thursday and Friday, March 17-18 with their son John on his college campus in Monroe, La.

Mrs. Thelma Rogers is improving after having surgery in Knoxville. She is at her daughters, Mrs. Joe Phoffett, 813 Kevin Rd., Knoxville, Tn. 37923.

On March 27, the Baptist Men's Breakfast will be at 7:30 a.m. in the First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall with Owen Cooper (former Southern Baptist Convention President, layman from Yazoo City, a great mission leader) as the guest speaker.

Mr. Cooper will speak to the congregation on Palm Sunday.

Mrs. Maxine Martin had a pleasant visit with Mrs. A.L. Bryant last Thursday.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Brown is in the Baptist Memorial Hospital here with pneumonia. It is our prayer that she will be able to return home soon.

We extend our prayers for those who are in hospitals: Booneville, the Rev. Dewey Wallis, John Mason, Mrs. Carrie Howell, Louise Loveless, Magnolia Hospital, Corinth; Bryan Rowland, Baptist Hospital Memphis, Robert McMillan, Home, John Morrow and Box Cox.

On April 1, Good Friday, service will be 10:00 noon to 12:35 p.m. at First Baptist Church. The churches of the city are invited, says Dr. Bill Duncan.

April 3 - Easter Sunrise Service at 6:30 a.m. at the Northeast Junior College Gymnasium sponsored by the ministerial association.

March 20 Sunday afternoon Mrs. P.A. Walden, Mauveline, Mrs. Nell Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McGee attended the 65th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Melson at Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

Bro. McIntire carried us on a tour of the church. The new kitchen, Sunday School rooms, all of the building and grounds were so nice as were the tennis and softball courts. It was quite a change from the days when we used to go to church there as teenagers when Bro. T.P. Randolph was pastor. In revivals they had a packed house (In the 1920's) It's always been great to go to Mt. Olive.

Maundy Thursday or Holy Thursday will be celebrated at the First United Methodist Church in Booneville. All Prentiss County Methodist Churches will gather for a joint communion service on March 31, at 7 p.m.

Last Monday Mrs. Marion Duncan and Mrs. Eleanor Tidwell went to Vicksburg and attended the WMU Convention at The First Baptist Church March 21-22. Mrs. Duncan is the WMU Director of District 8. They returned home on Wednesday.

DESIGNATED CONSERVING USE ACREAGE REQUIREMENTS IN SKIP ROW PATTERN

A number of farmers have indicated that they are giving consideration to planting all or a part of their 1983 row crops in a skip row pattern. Idle strips must meet certain width requirements in order to be counted as conserving use acreage.

In order to qualify as conserving use, strips must be not less than the greater of 160 inches from plant to plant or the width of 4 normal rows in the field. Example: cotton planted on 38-inch rows with two rows planted and four rows skipped, would be 190 inches of idle strip from plant to plant.

Those planning to designate idle areas in a skip row pattern should contact their County ASCS Office if they have any questions concerning width requirements.

Those planning to designate idle areas in a skip row pattern should contact their County ASCS Office if they have any questions concerning width requirements.

REPORTING AND DISPOSITION DATE EXTENDED FOR FALL SEEDED CROPS

The crop reporting date and disposition date has been extended for fall seeded grains - wheat, oats, and barley. This date has been extended to May 11, for producers in Prentiss County.

This date was extended by the state committee for counties in the northern part of the state. This action was in accordance with guidelines furnished by the Washington office.

PIK PROGRAM PROVISIONS REVIEWED

The signup period ended March 11 for the Payment-in-Kind program - a land diversion program designed to bring wheat, feed grains, cotton and rice supplies more in line with demand.

The PIK program offers farmers an amount of commodity for reducing acreage by a larger amount than called for under previously announced acreage reduction programs.

With the ending of signup, comes the beginning of other major PIK program activities. Farmers who signed up contracted to receive specific bushels or pounds of the commodity they would have produced on PIK acres. These commodities will come from the grain reserve, regular loan or Commodity Credit Corporation stocks.

Farmers entering the program with outstanding reserve or regular price support loans will draw their PIK entitlement from these loan stocks. They cannot forfeit or redeem their commodities under loan and then draw additional commodities from CCC stocks.

Loans which mature before farmers receive their payments-in-kind will be extended and storage will be paid from maturity until receipt of the PIK.

Producers who signed up also indicated the percentage of their established base that they wish to divert under PIK. This amount ranged between 10 and 30 percent of their base and cannot be changed from the percentage indicated at signup.

Payments-in-kind will become available during the normal harvest period. In order to give the farmer marketing flexibility, the CCC will pay storage costs from the availability date of payment-in-kind to redemption of the commodity not to exceed five months from the availability date.

FARMERS ARE REMINDED OF CONSERVATION USE REQUIREMENT

Farmers who are participating in payment-in-kind or other 1983 land diversion and acreage reduction programs are reminded that conservation use acres must be eligible cropland which meets certain requirements.

Farm program participants agree to devote cropland taken out of production to approved conservation practices to protect the land from soil and water erosion.

Conservation use acres must have been devoted to row crops or small grains in two of the last three years except for a summer fallow farm in which case the cropping requirement is for only one of the previous two years.

The land may not be harvested, and grazing is not permitted between May thru Oct. 31. Haying and grazing will be permitted only on winter wheat planted before the announcement of the payment-in-kind program.

Under summer fallow rules, PIK acreage will have to be acreage that would have been planted in 1983.

Approved conservation uses include annual, biennial, or perennial grasses and legumes, volunteer stands other than weeds, small grains and crop residue from use of no till, or minimum till practices.

Farm program participants are required to establish such practices as soon as possible after the normal planting period for spring crops.

The 1983 programs also permit a farmer to establish permanent conservation practices, such as tree planting, on land taken out of production. Permanent conservation practices may be cost-shared under the Agricultural Conservation Program.

We encourage farmers to seriously consider tree planting as a permanent practice to reduce annual soil loss on eroding cropland.

when the land is pre-measured. After planting, they are required to report their crop acreage to ASCS.

We have begun accepting pre-measurement service requests. The service cost is $20.20 for 0 to 15 acres and includes measuring, referencing and marking fields with stakes prior to planting. Costs for measuring over 15 acres are available at the county office.

Only those acres pre-measured by our office will be guaranteed.

Other producer services include measuring total cropland, field or subdivisions to be planted and land acres for other purposes. Fees vary, depending on the type of service rendered.

In order for us to fulfill all requests on a timely basis, prior to spring planting, farmers are urged to request pre-measurement early.

NEMJC's Carnell Signs 18 To Scholarships

By CLIFF LONG
Sports Writer

Northeast Tiger head football coach David Carnell has been busy since getting his new position at the end of last season.

Carnell, who replaced Bill Ward as head coach, has recruited at high schools throughout the five-county area and outside of the state.

Eighteen young men from the five-county area have signed their names to scholarships to commit themselves to the Tigers for the upcoming 1983 season. The Tigers, who finished last season with a 4-6 record, have 28 returnees from last season. However, the incoming freshmen are sure to play a large part in next year's program.

Booneville's seniors top the signing list in quantity. Seven former Blue Devils will wear the Tiger black and gold.

Booneville signees include Mark McCreary, 6-0, 192-lb. linebacker; Larry Mackin, 6-1, 185-lb. end; Ray Holloway, 5-8, 167-lb. wide receiver, Tony Brooks, 5-9, 170-lb. running back; Tommy Burress, 6-2, 195-lb. lineman; Mark Rinehart, 5-11, 160-lb. linebacker; and Jody Presley, 256-lb. lineman.

Carnell has especially tried to strengthen his team in the trenches. Linemen signees include Baldwin's Roger Garner, 6-1, 210 lbs., Kossuth's Keith Mitchell at 6-2, 210 lbs., and Corinth's Andy Brown, 6-2, 190 lbs.

Running backs Rodney Frazier, 6-1, 175 lbs., Tishomingo; Buddy Turner, 6-1, 196 lbs., Kossuth; Eric Johnson, 5-10, 195 lbs. and James Johnson, 5-10, 195 lbs., Blue Mountain, and Steve Howard, 5-10, 160 lbs., Corinth, have also signed.

New Albany's Charles Blake, 5-11, 190 lbs., and Corinth's Britt Richards, 5-10, 155 lbs., are the receivers Carnell expects to catch the ball next year.

Carnell has signed one quarterback, Biggersville's Ricky Patterson, 5-8, 150 lbs. Spring training for the Tigers was wet, allowing them only 14 days of on-the-field practice and forcing them to cancel their scrimmage with IJC.

Thrasher Tournament Will Benefit Football Program

The athletic department at Thrasher High School will sponsor an Independent Basketball Tournament April 4-8 to raise money to help out the fledgling football program at the school.

According to Thrasher basketball coach Jackie Rowsey, the tournament is open to any independent team. The only restriction is that no more than two college players can be on any one team, he said.

The tournament will be a double elimination match. Three place trophies will be presented.

Entry fee for participation in the tournament is $30.

Rowsey said there will be a meeting Thursday night,

March 31, to draw up brackets for the tournament.

Proceeds from the tournament will be used to buy football equipment for Thrasher school. Next year Thrasher will, for the first time, participate in high school football competition.

Thrasher, a class I-BB school, has scheduled 10 games for this fall. Coach Willie Jackson, a veteran of the Booneville football program, has been building the program at Thrasher for the past two years.

Spring drills are currently underway. An intrasquad game is planned for April 14.

For more information on the basketball tournament, contact the athletic department at Thrasher High School.

VOTE FOR BOND ISSUE

SATURDAY, MARCH 26, 1983

Here Are The Reasons Why . . .

WHY IMPROVE SCHOOL FACILITIES?

WHY A BOND ISSUE?

Sponsored by Citizens for School Improvement

1. TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF EDUCATION AVAILABLE TO THE STUDENTS OF THE BOONEVILLE MUNICIPAL SEPARATE SCHOOL DISTRICT FOR YEARS TO COME.

- Better quality and quantity of instructional program: Science Laboratories, Choral Music, Band Program, Art, Physical Education;
- Improved efficiency in coordination of instructional program;
- Savings in heating, cooling, lighting (utilities), and maintenance costs;
- Centralized facilities will make more programs available to more students without duplication;
- Student achievement increases in a modern, comfortable, well equipped building.

2. TO PROVIDE A HIGHER QUALITY EDUCATIONAL BUILDING WITH LESS OPERATING COST.

- Lower utility cost through energy efficient designs;
- Improved atmosphere for learning by design, comfort, and pride;
- Estimated savings in energy consumption of 50% with more comfort;
- Maintenance and repair cost reduced drastically for years to come.

3. TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LOW BOND INTEREST AND LOW CONSTRUCTION COST.

- Lowest bond interest rate in several years thereby reducing total cost to taxpayers;
- Take advantage of competitive bids on construction projects while building industry has less projects for which to compete;
- Due to history of inflation building cost will probably never be lower. Now is the time to build for the lowest cost for the most building;
- Reduce operating and administrative cost through reduction in number of facilities operated and maintained.

Don't do your taxes without your $2,000 deduction.

Quick, before you file your 1982 federal income taxes. Stash away up to $2,000 in a First Bank IRA Tax Shelter, and you can deduct every penny. In a 50% tax bracket, that could save you $1,000 on taxes, $600 in a 30% bracket. Plus, you don't pay taxes on the interest until you withdraw your money.

Working couples can put in up to $4,000 from their joint income, and save twice as much. For couples with one spouse working, the maximum contribution is $2,250.

Save thousands on taxes.

The big tax break is why a First Bank IRA is better than almost any other investment. Other investments may pay you as much or more interest. But they don't give you the tax break which, over the years, can save you thousands and thousands in taxes. See the chart to get an idea of how much. You'll be amazed.

Almost everybody's eligible.

You can contribute to a First Bank IRA Tax Shelter even if you have retirement or profit-sharing plans at work. The only requirement is that you earn the money you contribute.

Hurry for '82 deduction.

To take the IRA deduction on your '82 taxes, you must make your contribution before April 15, 1983. You do not have to put in the full $2,000. Stash away any amount up to your maximum — $500, $1,000, whatever.

Your First Bank IRA Tax Shelter money is absolutely safe because it's insured to $100,000 by the F.D.I.C.

Contribute monthly for '83.

Tough to come up with a big lump sum? At First Bank, you can contribute to your IRA Tax Shelter monthly. And now's the time to start for 1983. Start in January, and you'll only need $166 a month for $2,000 by the end of the year. Or you can put in less every month. We can automatically withdraw your monthly IRA payment from your First Bank checking account.

Don't let a big tax deduction slip through your fingers. Visit any First Bank location now to make your '82 contribution, and to start your automatic monthly contributions for '83. You can save a bundle on taxes.

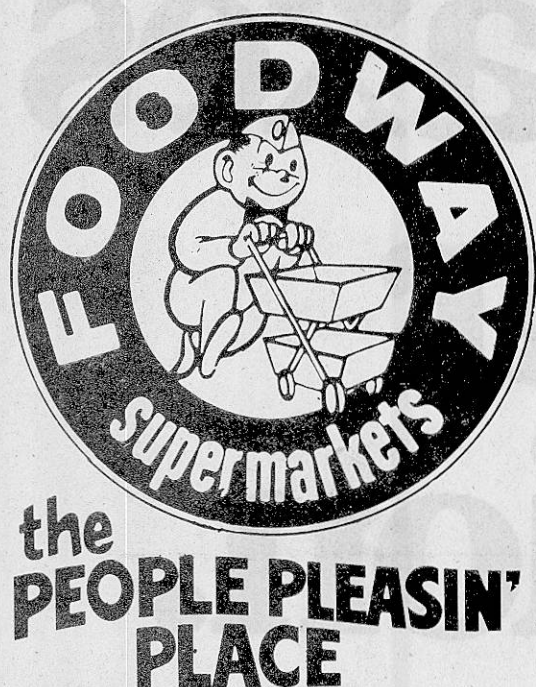

Tax break and a small fortune for retirement.

Start at this age and contribute the maximum each year until you are 65.	Total contributions at $2000 every year to age 65.	An individual contributing $2000 a year could have this amount by age 65.	Amount of Taxes deferred on interest earned by age 65 in 30% bracket.	Total tax deductions in 30% bracket.

* Based on an assumed interest rate of 9% a year. The actual amount accumulated will be determined by how much you contribute and existing interest rates between now and age 65.
Penalties for early withdrawal are forfeiture of an amount equal to six months' interest and 10% tax in addition to regular income tax on amount withdrawn.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK By Charles L. Potts

Lord...Death Brings Such Loneliness

It happened near Fort Lupton, Colo. It was really a beautiful day when Jim began plowing his several hundred acre field. His wife, Jan had gone to town, a distance of several miles, to shop with a friend. The sitter kept their two children, a boy six and his older sister of nine. The sitter was sixteen. When Jim came in for lunch he greeted the children. Soon they left with the sitter for a trip to the drug store. As they left, Jim finished his lunch and pushed the easy chair back for a quick wink. He heard the train, the whistle, and the crash. He ran out and to the wreckage barefoot. The car was demolished and the sitter dead. As people gathered they did not know him to be the father as he sought to revive his son with CPR. The ambulance came and he ran to find his daughter, who had been thrown out on impact. Both children died enroute to the hospital. When the mother arrived the wreckage had been cleared. Neither Jim nor Jan saw either of their children again for the funeral director took them for cremation on approval of the parents. Note things that began to occur. Friends were helpful at first but backed off soon. Jim said he did not feel crazy but folks expected him to behave as if nothing had happened. He

Rom. 8:38-39 "... neither death nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present ... will be able to separate us from the love of God ... " Lynch, Dr. Jas. C., The Broken Heart, Extractions From Book By C. L. Potts said that he desperately yearned for a friend. He was desperate for someone to talk with. Men are taught not to cry in public and he refused to break the taboo. Jan could not go grocery shopping for three weeks and when she did -- she cried -- for the children had always gone with her. Jan soon found a group to talk with and her feelings were legitimized through mutual acceptance. Jim went down in health and now two years later has a life threatening disease. Normally healthy, stress now has a grip on him. He was not able to cope with the grief. He kept it bottled up. Now he has cancer. One doctor said that stress had combined with other forces to break down his immunization system. Another note. Jan had tied tubes reversed. Hope for another family revived Jim to the point that cancer disappeared. Eighteen months later and no hopes now of another child, he relapsed and died soon of cancer. It was tragic that they did not SEE the dead children. Tragic that no funeral was held -- only a brief memorial at the house with a few friends. It was tragic that the extended family, stoic and Germanic background said in essence to Jim and Jan, "It's up to you to bear it." "Oh, God... death brings loneliness... help us not to desert each other... we know you stand with us."

TERRY FLOYD of New

"It's like a moth to a flame. You take sides but you punish them both to stop."

MARY OWENS of Booneville: "No, I think all governments are corrupt. They're all a mess. I think it's now to depend on governments for help because I don't think any of the governments can bring peace to the world."

How In The World Do You Keep Up With What's Going On In Prentiss County?

Wanda, 12, and his wife, Betty, who was expecting another child. Mayerle, who worked as a security guard at a naval station, took the news as well as anyone could under those circumstances. But he did get terribly depressed at times, his wife recalled. It was during that time that Mayerle read an article about former U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, executive director Doug Mansell. Mayerle has attended several meetings recently in which he was very outspoken on his views of not only the rate increase, but also of the service the telephone company provides in Prentiss County. At the time now the mayor and others have tried to get the company to do something about the fact that in Prentiss County that cannot be dialed without having to pay long distance rates. Outspoken on the subject, PCDA directors adopt a rate increase and doing a lot of things that the word gets out about dealing with the rate increase. Enough about something to see that something is done. The rate increase spills over into some movements.
