Candidates To Speak At Thrasher Saturday

Prentiss County's first official candidate speaking will be this Saturday, June 25, at 1 p.m. at Thrasher School. The 17 candidates seeking election as sheriff of Prentiss County are scheduled to begin speaking at 1 p.m.

They will be followed by candidates for superintendent of education, chancery clerk, tax assessor and collector, circuit clerk, county attorney, coroner ranger, justice court judge northern district, supervisor, and constable.

County and district candidates will be allowed five minutes to speak.

State candidates will be allowed 10 minutes each with no interruptions into the slate of county candidates that are speaking. No more than three state candidates may speak consecutively.

WBIP will furnish the public address system. A fee will be charged each candidate wishing to speak over the air.

The second candidate speaking will be held at Jumpertown on July 2, at 1 p.m. At this speaking the candidates for constable will speak first and the candidates for sheriff will speak last.

There will be one scheduled speaking per county district plus the traditional July 4 picnic at Baldwin and the county-wide rally held at the Booneville City Park.

Criminal Cases Set For Circuit Court

The second week of the June term of Prentiss County Circuit Court is scheduled to begin Monday, June 27, with Circuit Court Judge Fred Wicker presiding.

Some eight civil cases were scheduled to be heard this week during the first week of court.

Among the 31 cases scheduled to be heard include an arson case which is scheduled for Thursday, June 30. Roe Daniel "Pete" Murphy of Lee County and O'neal Turner of Pontotoc face a charge of arson stemming from an April 1, 1982, fire which destroyed the home of Henry and Linda Lawson of Jumpertown. The two men, along with Mrs. Lawson, also face trial on a charge of conspiracy to commit arson in connection with the same incident.

Alvin Junior Nichols will face trial Tuesday on charges of manslaughter and aggravated assault. Also slated for trial Tuesday are Jerry King, Benjamin King and former Prentiss County deputy Jimmy King who are charged with burglary and larceny of a dwelling and grand larceny.

On Wednesday Jerry Shook faces trial on charges of simple assault on a law enforcement officer. Shelton R. Godsey is also scheduled for trial on Wednesday on four counts of aggravated assault.

Unemployment Rate Is 13 Percent

Prentiss County's unemployment rate edged up slightly at mid-May to 13.0 percent. It was 12.9 percent in April and 9.8 percent in May 1982.

This jobless rate represents 1,440 individuals unemployed of a labor force of 11,070.

According to Charles Smith, manager of the Mississippi State Employment Service in Corinth, the most recent statistics indicate the the civilian labor force experienced a rise of 200 from last month, but a decline of 60 from one year ago.

There were 9,630 Prentiss Countians employed at mid-month, compared to 9,470 in April and 10,040 in May, one year ago.

Manufacturing employment in the county was estimated to be 2,730, 50 above the previous estimate but 50 below that of one year ago. Nonmanufacturing jobs registered 3,630, compared to 3,580 in April and 3,680 in May 1982.

Corps Will Not Purchase Land

An error in a report published by the U.S. Corps of Engineers has concerned some people in Prentiss County who own property near the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

According to Sam Green of the Corps public affairs' office, Mobile District, the mistake was in a map in volume one of the Corps' "Draft Report and Environmental Impact Statement for the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Wildlife Mitigation Feasibility Study."

Green said that the map (figure 22, volume one) indicated that the Corps would buy private property along the waterway from Bay Springs north to U.S. 30, on both sides of the lake.

"That line (drawn to indicate which properties would be purchased) should never have been put in there," he said. "We don't plan to buy that property."

Green said the Corps has sent out supplemental, corrected maps to replace those published in the books.

Field Day

An unusually wet spring has prevented many Prentiss County farmers from getting into the fields on time. And some crops which were planted earlier, were damaged or totally destroyed by flooding in the county. To make up for lost time, workers on the Hatfield Farm at Thrasher were out in full force this week. In the top photo, the land is being prepared for the planting of soy beans. For Average Consumer

Electric Power Rates Are Going Down

Because of a change in the rate structure from Tennessee Valley Authority, customers of the Prentiss County Electric Power Association are soon going to see some changes in their electric power bills.

Although some individual members may see an increase in their bill, the average PCEPA member will see a reduction of approximately three percent, says PCEPA manager Ronny Rowland.

Based on 1982 sales data, this means PCEPA customers will, as a whole, pay $258,332 less per year for their electricity.

The rate changes will take effect beginning with meter readings taken after July 2, Rowland said.

According to Rowland, the Public Utilities Regulatory Policies Act (PURPA) passed by the U.S. Congress in 1980 required TVA to review their rate-making policies.

After 2½ years of public hearings and negotiations with power distributors and directly-served large industries, TVA decided on several new rate policies, which will be implemented on July 2, he said.

These changes are designed so that the various rates and charges will more accurately reflect current costs, will improve the relationship between the rate schedules, and will provide adequate revenues to distributors to cover their costs.

The changes are not intended to provide increases in revenues for TVA, Rowland said.

Since PCEPA purchases its electric power from TVA, the rate changes to be implemented by TVA will affect PCEPA members in several ways, Rowland said.

Three PCEPA rate schedules will be changed beginning next month: the residential rate schedule, the general rate schedule, and the outdoor lighting schedule.

The new residential rate will consist of three parts: the customer charge (which does not include any electricity), the first 2,000 kilowatt hours, and all above 2,000 kilowatt hours, which will be charged at a higher rate.

To offset a portion of what would otherwise be charged to the service charge, the PCEPA board shifted a portion of the benefits from the low-cost hydroelectric power to the customer charge, Rowland said. This amounts to $4 per month per customer, he said.

After the first 2,000 kilowatt hours of power are used, each additional kilowatt hour costs 0.656 cents more than did each kwh in the first 2,000.

The general power rate will also have three parts:

Bell Official Tells PCDA

Local Phone Rates May Double

South Central Bell district manager Tom Bailey told Booneville and Prentiss County leaders last week that charges for local telephone service will increase over the next year or so. However, he said, charges for long distance service will probably decrease.

Bailey met with directors of the Prentiss County Development Association during their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday of last week. Several other city and county leaders were also on hand as invited guests.

"Technological advances and competition in the industry fostered by federal regulators are causing changes in the prices for telephone service," Bailey said.

"On the other hand," he said, "the consent decree signed by AT&T and the Department of Justice is bringing about structural changes."

Bailey explained that beginning in 1984, South Central Bell will provide local service and AT&T will be a completely separate company providing both long distance service and telephones and other equipment. AT&T will

Principal Refuses NEJC Position

By ED WOODWARD

Despite rumors that he has resigned or is about to resign his position as Baldwin High School principal to accept a position at Northeast Junior College, C.L. "Red" Shelton says he intends to remain at Baldwin High School and will refuse the NEMJC appointment.

Shelton's appointment to the math and computer sciences department at NEMJC was approved at a meeting of the school's board on June 14. Baldwin Separate School District Superintendent Steve Clark had also said that he expected to receive the the principal's resignation within a few days.

But Monday morning, June 20, Shelton said, "I'm going to stay where I am."

"I have a job offer from Northeast and I have been thinking about it," he admitted.

"I had a little flare-up back in February, irregular heartbeat, but I'm in good health," he said in answer to a report that he wanted to leave his Baldwin High School post for health reasons.

"That may have been an underlying reason (for

Lions' Band To Train At Northeast

This Saturday some 142 high school band students are expected to converge on the Northeast Junior College campus.

These students are members of the 1983 Mississippi Lions' All-State Band and will be at Northeast next week to prepare for the international Lions' band championship to be held in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C.

Competing with Lions' bands from other states and countries, the Mississippi band has won the international championship for nine of the past 12 years, according to Northeast band director Ricky Bishop.

The Lions' Band is made up of the best high school band students in the state, he said. Liz Ferrell of Booneville is one of the students selected for that honor. She is sponsored by the Booneville Lions' Club.

According to Bishop, Lions' Band officials selected Northeast as the training site for this year's band after touring all available facilities.

"They decided Northeast had the best facilities and they chose Northeast because of that," he said.

NEMJC Computer Class Helps Teachers Keep Up

In order to keep up with advancing technology, some area math and science teachers are going back to school themselves this summer.

The first of five 20-hour computer programming courses to be offered to these teachers this summer at Northeast Junior College began last week. Each of the five classes can accommodate 22 people.

The purpose of the program at the junior college is to train math and science teachers in the basics of computer programming. These teachers are then expected to go back to their classrooms this fall and pass these new skills on to their students.

The program is a joint effort of the junior college and the Tennessee Valley Authority. TVA provided the funds to purchase 30 computers for the project and Northeast is providing the training and supervision.

Not only will the TVA-funded computers be used this summer at Northeast to train the teachers, but these same computers will be taken into the teachers' classrooms this fall for use by high school students.

Under the program, the computers will be divided into two groups of 15 each and loaned to the school systems within the five-county area served by Northeast.

The teachers will use them to instruct their students in the techniques they learned during the summer course at Northeast.

The training will be offered to students in grades 10-12. Each high school in the area should have the opportunity to use the computers for approximately 20 classroom hours.

The training program at Northeast is under the supervision of Mrs. Opal Melvin. Anthony Ferrara of Corinth is the instructor.

Carroll Marsalis, manager of high technology demonstrations from TVA's Knoxville office, was at Northeast last week when the first summer training session began.

Marsalis and Northeast president Harold T. White pointed out that in addition to producing electricity, TVA has a commitment to develop human resources.

According to Marsalis, the program at Northeast is the only such computer literacy program in the state involving TVA.

The TVA executive said high-tech training is "a major concern of ours."

Unless people in rural areas have some access to the training, he said, they will have trouble in getting jobs in the future.

According to Marsalis, a professor in Tennessee developed a computer program tailored for the training program at Northeast.

Phone Rates

compete with a number of equipment vendors and long distance providers, he said.

"Since customers are already connected through South Central Bell facilities, they'll 'access' long distance through our lines," Bailey said. "Customers will be able to choose which long distance company they want to use."

In the past local telephone companies received a portion of long distance revenue from AT&T to help pay for the local facilities through which long distance access was obtained.

These subsidies will end in 1984. The FCC has ruled that after that customers, through a monthly charge, will help pay part of the cost of providing access and that the long distance companies will also pay part of the cost.

Bailey explained that other factors are also putting pressure on the rates for local service, including the need to be competitive in the financial marketplace, the need for faster depreciation and the cumulative effects of inflation.

All together, these factors could cause local monthly rates to as much as double, he said.

The other side of the story is that long distance rates should come down.

"It looks like customers who use very little long distance will probably see the largest increases in their local bill, and heavy long distance users will see the smallest increases," Bailey said.

"In a competitive environment, prices move toward costs, and those customers who use services the most pay more of the costs of providing the services," he said.

Bailey said that in spite of the many changes underway, South Central Bell will continue to be as strongly committed to good service and community involvement as ever.

Principal

considering the move)," he admitted, "but I'm in good health, and I'm not going to accept the Northeast job. I'm going to stay here."

Although he says he will turn the job down, Shelton said that he had approached Northeast about a job in the past.

"I've had an application up there for several years," he said. "And three years ago I interviewed for a job there, and I turned it down. But I told them to keep my application on file."

"I've been aware that they were going to hire a computer science lab person since about nine months ago," he said. "So this wasn't an overnight thing. And when they decided they were, they got up up there for an interview and I told them, yes, I was interested."

In order to take the job, Shelton said he would have to go back to school himself. "And, at 39, that's not an intriguing prospect."

"I've been going to school all my life," he said. "I have a triple-A certificate now. So, to stay in my present job, I only have to take six hours every 10 years. But for the job at Northeast, I would have to take, I think they said, 18 hours, which is two full summers."

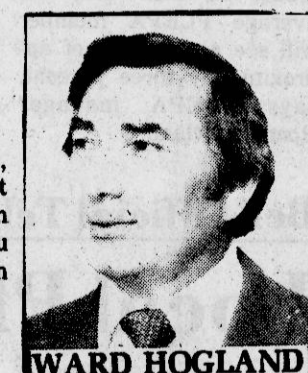

Shelton said he has no idea how rumors about his resignation began. "I've turned in no official resignation," he said.

"I definitely have not accepted a position at Northeast," he repeated. "And I am not going to accept it. I'm going to stay here for at least another year."

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, how do you feel about changing from one church to another? That is do you believe one should go from one church to another?

IWARD HOGLAND

ANSWER: The question you have asked is rather ambiguous. Actually, if one is a member of a church authorized in the Bible there would be no reason to change. However, I read in the Bible where many people changed because they had espoused a false religion. For example, three thousand learned the truth on the day of Pentecost and gave up their religion for the church of the Lord (see Acts 2:38-47). I also read about a woman called Lydia who changed her religion when Paul taught her the truth (see Acts 16:14-16). When the Ethiopian eunuch learned the truth he changed from the religion he had been practicing. Saul of Tarsus changed and later said, "He advanced in the Jews religion beyond many of his countrymen." (Gal 1:14). Some of the Thessalonians "Turned from idols to serving the living God." When a person is in a church which is scriptural in name, faith, organization, doctrine and practice he shouldn't change. However, if he is in a man made church he had better change before the judgment day because the Lord tells us that every plant which the Lord hath not planted shall be rooted up.

The Banner-Independent's first place awards were for Best Front Page and for Best Pictorial Series in One Issue. A selection of front pages were submitted for judging in that category. The winning pictorial series consisted of photos taken by Ken Christian at a pep rally at Booneville High School this past fall.

Those entries from editions published between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1982, were eligible for the contest.

At Brice's Crossroads
Civil War Reenactment Is Sunday

By ED WOODWARD

Approximately 350 people are expected to participate in a reenactment of the Battle of Brice's Crossroads at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the battle site about six miles west of Baldwyn.

The Civil War skirmish that occurred there has been known alternately over the years as the Battle of Guntown, the Battle of Tishomingo Creek, and finally the Battle of Brice's Crossroads.

In early May 1864, Union General William T. Sherman was preparing to begin his march on Atlanta. But he was concerned about the safety of his supply lines. Confederate General Nathan Bedford Forrest was known to be in Tupelo under Gen. Stephen D. Lee's command.

In late May, as Sherman and his 100,000-man army drew nearer to Atlanta, the safety of his communication lines became ever more important. He knew he must find some way to keep Gen. Forrest occupied.

Earlier in the month Sherman had ordered Sturgis to find and defeat Forrest. But, after going as far as Ripley, Sturgis had returned to Memphis, explaining that he had missed Forrest by two days.

Sherman's response was to telegraph Sturgis' commander, Gen. Washburn, and tell him to send Sturgis back into Mississippi with 6,000 men to destroy Forrest and his forces.

Obviously having a great deal of respect for Forrest, Washburn instead sent 8,300 men with Sturgis -- 3,300 cavalry and 5,000 infantry with 22 pieces of artillery and adequate supplies for 20 days.

On the same day, Forrest left Tupelo with a 2,500 man force on his way into middle Tennessee to do exactly what Sherman had feared, attack his supply lines.

Forrest was bivouacked at Russellville, Ala., when he received orders from Lee to return to Tupelo. He arrived in Tupelo on June 5 and immediately headed north with 3,200 men to intercept Sturgis.

Ignoring orthodox military strategy, Forrest divided his forces three ways, leaving part at Baldwyn, moving on to Booneville with the rest, then sending part of them to Rienzi.

On the afternoon of June 9, Forrest received word from his scouts that Sturgis was at Stubbs' farm, 12 miles east of Ripley and nine miles from Brice's Crossroads.

On the morning of June 10, Forrest's army began to move toward Brice's Crossroads from three directions, intending to meet the unsuspecting Sturgis at that point.

Leaving Stubbs' farm at 5:30 a.m. on June 10, Sturgis' men moved toward Tupelo on roads muddy and almost impassable from nine days of rain. They reached Brice's Crossroads at 9:30 a.m. and Sturgis sent his scouts east toward Baldwyn.

According to Baldwyn author and historian Claude Gentry, Sturgis' scouts encountered Forrest's scouts where the first commemorative marker is now located, four miles west of Baldwyn.

"The first shots of the battle were fired right there," he said. "And the Yankees retreated to the site of the next marker. They had another little skirmish there."

The third marker is the actual battle line, Gentry said.

"It was the Confederate line," he said. "And the battle started here, about three hours after the scouts had their first skirmish."

"The Yankees were about half a mile to the west," he continues. "And the Confederate troops were spread out for about a quarter mile north and a mile or so south, across the Guntown Road."

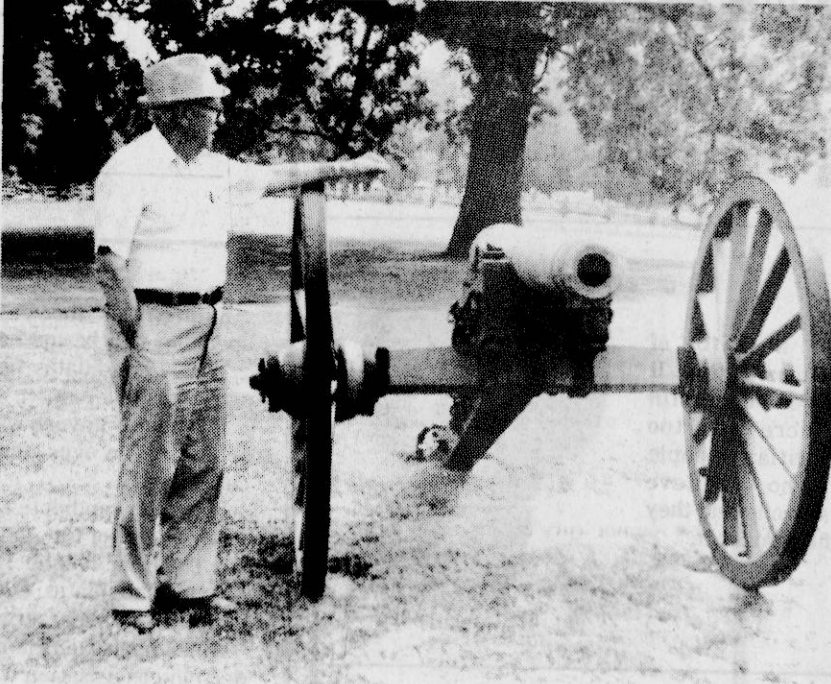

"The fourth marker," he said, "is the Yankee line."

The fifth marker is where the second line was located, Gentry said.

"This was Forrest's line," he said. "The Yankees were another quarter mile to the west and they fell back again to the Crossroads."

"There was a big two-story building, a home, there," he said. "And when Sturgis got there, he put a line of cannon all around it. He fired the cannon over his men into the advancing Rebels."

"But the Rebels pushed him on back and captured all of his guns, killed a lot of men. . . the Yankee casualties were five times

BATTLE SITE -- Baldwyn historian Claude Gentry surveys the site where Union General Samuel D. Sturgis was defeated by Confederate General Nathan Bedford Forrest on June 10, 1864. The Daylilies In Her Yard
Reveal Her Love Of Flowers

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

The daylilies are blooming in Delma McKinney's flower garden.

Mrs. McKinney's flower garden covers over half an acre by her home in the New Hope community.

Her 288 daylilies consist of soft pinks, rich reds, sunny yellows, delicate lavenders and even black. Then there are also the "native" orange lilies.

In addition, her fenced in flower garden has bachelor buttons, standing cypress, gladiolas, old fashioned petunias, phlox, thrift, periwinkles, dahlias, princess feathers and about 400 irises.

Her favorites are the daylilies and irises.

Red, blue, white and pink bachelor buttons bloom along the outside of the fence near the gravel road by her home. There are also zinnia and marigold plants there that will soon be blooming.

Her flower garden is fenced in, not to keep people out (for she enjoys visitors touring her flower garden), but to keep the chickens and guinea hens out.

When she isn't working in the garden or truck patches or milking the two cows she and her husband, Houston, own, she can usually be found working in their flower garden. (Her husband plows the garden and truck patches with a mule).

"When you love flowers, you don't care to work in them," Mrs. McKinney says. "My grandmother, Mary Moorman, was a flower lover. And I guess I am, too."

She began her flower garden about 15 years ago with just a small patch of daylilies and then added to them every year.

The daylilies begin blooming around the early part of June and will continue to bloom until the last of July.

Although an individual bloom lasts only one day, hence the name "daylily," there will be a cluster of blooms to gradually open and bloom, Mrs. McKinney said.

Through ordering daylilies from ads in farm papers, Mrs. McKinney has even gained "flower friends." She has corresponded with Mrs. H.C. Montgomery of Bogue Chitto for 10 years and with Dorothy Dickerson of Oklahoma for three years.

Since Mrs. McKinney's daughter, Sarah Ann Hill of Tishomingo, also likes flowers, they order different varieties and swap them.

Mrs. McKinney and her husband have been married for 40 years and have lived at their home in the New Hope community for 39 years. They also have two sons, William L., and Wayne, both of Booneville, and seven grandchildren. They attend the Hill's Chapel Church of Christ.

It's a mistaken notion to think all of Mrs. McKinney's flowers are in her flower garden. Another indication of her green thumb is a table in her living room laden with 90 multi-colored African violets.

Having so many flowers takes a lot of work. "But I enjoy it, so it's no problem," she says.

THE DAYLILIES ARE BLOOMING -- Mrs. Houston McKinney of the New Hope community has a flower garden where over 200 daylilies are blooming in addition to the "native" orange daylilies.

This is not the first time Northeast has provided training facilities for the Lions' Band. "They did this here back in 1970," Bishop said.

The band students will stay in dorms at Northeast while they are attending the training sessions on the campus. They will attend sessions in Bonner Arnold Coliseum and will practice marching on Cunningham Boulevard, Bishop said.

"We hope to get it fixed so they can do an endurance march down George E. Allen Drive three or four times," he added.

The week-long training session will conclude with a concert and floor show at 7 p.m. Friday, July 1, in Bonner Arnold Coliseum. This finale is open to the public.

QUESTION: Do you think an attempt to legalize alcoholic beverages in Prentiss County will be successful?

SUZETTE McGAHA of Route 1, Rienzi: "No. It wouldn't be successful because there are too many Christian people around who believe drinking is wrong and they would fight against it."

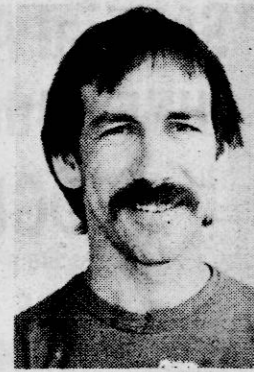

EDITH GODDARD of Route 4, Booneville: "I don't really think so. I'm a Christian and I'm against alcoholic beverages. I know people can go across the county lines and get alcoholic beverages, but I'm not really for it."

ROBERT L. STOREY of Route 2, Rienzi: "No. There's too many teenagers who wouldn't get alcoholic beverages if it wasn't legalized here. I think we would be 100 percent better off without it."

HOWARD DODDS of Route 5, Booneville: "I don't think so. They've tried it too many times before and too many of the church people came out against it."

BILLY BROOKS of Walden Road, Booneville: "We could use the tax money. The roads and streets aren't that good around Prentiss County. But I don't know if the attempt to legalize alcoholic beverages here would be successful or not."

RAY HARPER of Route 2, Rienzi: "I doubt it with as many people as there are against alcoholic beverages. But it needs to be legalized. People go out of town and bring alcoholic beverages in anyway. They're going to get alcoholic beverages one way or other."

Ponderings

Saturday is the day. The first official candidate speaking will be held at Thrasher School.

The 17 candidates for sheriff are scheduled to begin speaking at 1 p.m.

I wonder if anyone will be running a concession stand selling rotten eggs, tomatoes and cabbage to throw at candidates.

Since the candidate speaking will be at Thrasher this week, many of the candidates have been politicking in the Thrasher neighborhood.

Some candidates even left their cards in the shirt pocket of the scarecrow in our garden.

A neighbor even claims he saw a candidate for sheriff deep in conversation with our scarecrow. The neighbor said he figured the candidate thought the scarecrow was me.

I hope it doesn't rain Saturday. Of course, if it does, then we can say unequivocally that "the candidates are all wet."

If it does rain the candidates can mud wrestle. That might be more fun than their speeches anyway.

Some people have been trying to talk me into keeping a count of how many lies are told at the candidate speaking Saturday. But I don't think I can count that high.

Now we weren't spying exactly, but Tuesday at 5 p.m. several of us did happen to be looking out the office window at the Banner when Faye Drewry, who works across the street at City Hall, left to go home.

It seems that someone, probably someone who works at city hall, put a dead snake directly by her car on the driver's side.

Faye was very calm when she saw the snake. She only jumped about two feet.

Kay Parr, our advertising director, is taking two week's vacation. She told me to be sure and write about her in my column this week.

She said, "Be sure you tell everyone how much you miss me and how quiet it is without me around."

Now don't tell her I said this, but I really do miss her. Since Kay is not here, I'm the shortest employee at the Banner. That means I'm getting all the "short" jokes in her absence.

But perhaps the ones most melancholy over Kay's absence are the birds that congregate in the trees in the Banner parking lot.

Their favorite target, Kay's blue cadillac, isn't parked in the parking lot.

Eyes On Mississippi

The 'Winter Ticket' Does Not Exist

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. -- Unjustifiably, Gov. William Winter is being accused by some politicians running this summer of fielding a "Winter ticket" in this year's elections to perpetuate his influence in state government.

Ticketing in Democratic primaries has always been anathema in Mississippi politics, unlike a number of other states. Just the suggestion of a "ticket" has sometimes been fatal to the affected politicians, even when they didn't intend to run as an entry.

That's what hurt Maurice Dantin and Jim Herring when the former was running for governor in 1975 and the latter for lieutenant governor and they both had the same media and campaign consultant.

The accusation that an outgoing governor is trying to name his successor is lethal in Mississippi, if there is any validity to it at all.

Any Mississippians still around who can remember the 1959 gubernatorial race will recall that Carroll Gartin, probably the last lieutenant governor to be closely identified with the governor with whom he served, was promptly labelled J.P. Coleman's "Little Boy Blue" by Ross Barnett in the Gartin-Barnett runoff.

A lot of things have changed in Mississippi politics since then, but nobody is willing to test the theory that a "ticket" can survive the fickle state electorate.

This time, Winter is enjoying unusually high popularity in the polls for an outgoing Mississippi governor. Probably less than any other time in the past several decades, any identity at all with an outgoing administration should be a plus, rather than a minus.

But, be that as it may, Winter has not picked a slate of candidates to run this year, as the charge is being made by some rather low-voltage campaigners for state office.

At present the primary source of the "Winter ticket" allegation is Bill Gilbert, a candidate for state treasurer, who is running against Bill Cole, the incumbent treasurer and once a senior aide to Winter in the governor's office.

Gilbert's background in politics includes close campaign ties to John Arthur Eaves, supposedly a strong contender in the 1979 governor's race who was knocked out of the runoff by Winter, and also ties to the Cliff Finch administration.

Gilbert has had a reported 100,000 campaign cards printed which lists on the back the purported Winter "ticket" of Mike Sturdivant for governor, Niles McNeel for attorney general, Dick Molpus for Secretary of State, Ray Mabus for state auditor and Cole for treasurer.

Not content to push the "ticket" idea by himself, Gilbert is encouraging candidates in other statewide races to pick up the idea and use it in their campaigns.

So far he is picked up one soul brother in Billy Davis, the Laurel farmer, who is talking about "Governor Winter's newly developed political machine," whenever he makes a public appearance for his gubernatorial bid.

The big question in the campaign that is just really beginning is whether or not Atty. Gen. Bill Allain and Secretary of State Ed Pittman, both of whom are known in Capital political circles to have been at odds with Winter for the past two years, are going to pick up on the "ticket" theme.

Allain, seeking the governor's office, and Pittman the attorney general's office, both may be thrown into a situation of bringing a new "issue" into their campaigns before very long, and they may choose to make Winter that "issue."

Allain is battling to hold off Sturdivant in order to mke the runoff with Evelyn Gandy. Pittman because of his name recognition stands to make the runoff, with McNeel his likely opponent.

Their problem, however, would be giving any validity to a charge that Sturdivant or McNeel are tied politically to Winter. Sturdivant made the decision on his own to run for governor, even before Winter, whom he admires and respects, knew about it. McNeel's inclusion on such a "ticket" is the most incredible part of the whole idea.

Of course, Molpus and Mabus cannot avoid the fact they were intimately connected with Winter administration as leading gubernatorial assistants until their recent resignations, nor or they trying to avoid it. In Molpus' case, his experience handling vast millions of federal dollars for Winter is his chief claim to now be entrusted as secretary of state.

Cole has been in the treasurer's office the past three years, and his role in the Winter administration early-on now seems rather dim. He has developed his own agenda before the Legislature and enjoyed relatively more success than his former boss, Winter.

Still, the "ticket" theme is a new dimension that may very well become an issue in this year's races, whether it really is or not.

Many Traffic Fatalities Caused By Rural Roads

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi
Farm Bureau

With summertime about here more and more Mississippians and our visitors will be exploring numerous backroads of this state. A lot of folks for very good reason don't often venture down gravel, sand, and dirt roads until the hot sun dries them out to remove the threat of getting stuck in a wet place.

Unfortunately, a lot of lives are lost on these less traveled rural roads each year because drivers are not familiar with them in this interstate era.

Because of engineered safety features, modern super highways have experienced an excellent safety record in the past decade. They account for less than nine percent of all fatal motor vehicle accidents today, while two out of every three fatal traffic accidents now happen on rural roads.

This statistic becomes more ominous when it is realized that fewer than half of the vehicle miles traveled by most motorists are on rural roads.

What makes these highly scenic, interesting roadways so dangerous is the fact that most of them have irregular surfaces - often with sharp curves and narrow lanes. Also, oftentimes high weeds or shrubby roadside growth obscure the few signs that have survived vandalism.

If a driver is on an unfamiliar road he or she might suddenly come upon such hazards as bridges under repair, work crews blocking all or part of the road, livestock that has escaped from a pasture to roam a road at will, slow moving vehicles, or loose gravel or 'washboard' road surfaces that can suddenly bounce a car right into a ditch.

High speeds on rural roads are especially dangerous, so speeds should be reduced immediately upon entering these secondary roads. Keep a sharp eye out for debris on the road, potholes or washouts, and even for the center furrow of gravel, sand and dirt left by a road grader after its first pass.

Paved surfaces tend to become polished with age and use, and a little rain can make them dangerously slick in the event some situation develops which makes it necessary to brake the vehicle quickly.

Some drivers who are familiar with their local roadways occasionally choose to drive in the center of the road, and become careless about changing to their proper lane until at the last moment when rounding a curve or topping a hill. Some even gamble that no one is coming and go blindly over a hill or around a curve in the middle of the road. That is liking playing Russian roulette with your vehicle.

Most rural roads were not designed as such, but just grew with time as the accepted route between farmsteads, and often followed the topographical contours that were easiest to follow. Hence hilly roads wiggled more in their ascent and decent, and few were banked to restrain centrifugal forces.

Being caught on a dirt or poor quality road after a heavy rain is especially a challenge to drivers. Muddy and slick dirt roads are a test for the best drivers under the best of circumstances. Muddy, slick roads in hilly terrain can be next to impossible for the most experienced drivers.

When driving muddy roads operators should slow their speed to a creep, and follow ruts that may be in their lane provided they are not too deep. If the ruts become too deep, like on a logging road, the best advice is to back out and take another road.

If you do slide into a ditch or if your vehicle is disabled in a lane of traffic, put up some kind of warning for other vehicles so they may slow down before rounding a curve at full speed to find suddenly a disabled vehicle blocking their lane.

Country driving can be a most rewarding experience because of the close relationship afforded with nature and the intimate features of a locality. But if the rules are not observed, it can very easily become a real disaster.

More For Phone Than Electricity?

Dear Editor,

Your article about South Central Bell predicting another request for a rate increase was very interesting, particularly since I had just mailed a check to South Central Bell and another to Prentiss County Electric Co-Op.

For $31.98 the electric company provided us with power for a month. We lighted our home, cooked our meals, heated our water, played our stereo, ran the fan for the central heating system part of the month and the air conditioning system the rest of the time -- and we keep our house very cool 24 hours a day, seven days a week -- all for this amount.

Oh yes, the electric company also washed our clothes, cooled a 22 ft. refrigerator-freezer -- and many other things.

For 32.02 -- 4 cents more than the electric company -- the phone company allowed us to plug OUR phone into their line for a month. During that month we probably had four or five local calls plus a few incoming long distance calls.

I just don't see how the electric company can give so much for so little -- while the phone company gives so little for so much. Just a different set of folks, I guess.

Or does the phone company just have better political connections?

One thing for sure, one more rate increase and they won't have OUR connection any longer.

Sincerely,
Frank Scott

Party Foods

Simple Dishes Steal The Show

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Party foods need not be elaborate to steal the show. In fact, often the simpler the foods the better.

"When serving party foods, people should keep things as simple as they can," says Christi Antillon of Baldwin.

Mrs. Antillon, a reading instructor at Northeast Junior College, is a pro at preparing party foods.

She and her husband, Carlos, who has owned Arnold's Restaurant in Baldwin for the past four years, also operate a catering service.

Her husband handles the preparation of the main meal when they cater parties but Mrs. Antillon prepares most of the party food -- usually in the spacious kitchen in their home on Quail Ridge Road.

"I've always cooked and dressed food up," Mrs. Antillon said. "The thing I like to do is decorate food. I really enjoy doing that."

She learned how to prepare party foods from reading cookbooks (buying cookbooks is her weakness) and also from her mother, Erma Jean Hamblin who works at Farmers & Merchants Bank in Baldwin.

My mother used to bake for the public and she always made foods look so pretty. I learned a lot from her, and also my husband," Mrs. Antillon says.

In addition to keeping foods as simple as possible, Mrs. Antillon advises those people gearing up for parties to have everything ready in advance.

When entertaining 8-10 guests, she suggests serving only one type of hot hors d'oeuvre - this way the hostess can spend her time with the guests and not be hidden in the kitchen preparing food.

Also Mrs. Antillon suggests making sandwiches which are easy and inexpensive party foods to serve. Sandwiches can be dressed up by cutting them into squares, triangles, ribbons or in other unusual shapes.

Usually when she prepares party foods, she will use some type of food as the centerpiece, such as the vegetable wreath (recipe follows).

Other recipes which are good to serve at parties are stuffed mushrooms and stuffed brussel sprouts. And for the children, there's a recipe for Cyclops Cookies. This is a recipe that Mrs. Antillon's three year old daughter, Angie, helps her prepare.

Vegetable Wreath
2 or 3 carrots
1 turnip
15 radishes
1 bunch celery
1 bunch green onions
1 bunch broccoli
1 head cauliflower
1 pint cherry tomatoes
4 to 5 bunches fresh parsley plastic, foam circle
florist's picks

Wash vegetables and drain well. Slice carrots and turnips into 1/4 inch slices. Cut about three fourths of slices into flower shapes, using a canape' cutter. Cut remaining slices into 1/4 inch circles. Match carrot flowers to turnip circles, and turnip flowers to carrot circles.

Place flowers in a bowl of ice water and refrigerate until needed. Slice petals in radishes with a sharp paring knife. Place in a bowl of ice water and refrigerate for petals to open. Cut celery stalks into 2 inch pieces. Cut several slits at both ends of each piece, place in ice water and refrigerate for ends to curl.

Trim both ends of green onions, leaving about 2 inches of green tops. Use a sharp knife, cut through length of green tops in several places. Place in ice water for ends to curl.

Trim flowerets from broccoli and cauliflower. Place broccoli and cauliflower flowerets and cherry tomatoes in separate plastic bag and refrigerate until ready to assemble wreath.

Wash parsley thoroughly and drain well. Trim stem ends from parsley. Attach parsley to the plastic foam circle, using florist's picks and over-lapping sprigs to cover circle completely. Skewer vegetables with toothpicks and stick them into wreath - serve your favorite vegetable dip from a bowl placed in center of wreath.

few drops of desired food coloring
Combine all ingredients in large bowl. Beat at high speed until well blended. Knead until smooth. Shape mints in rubber candy molds, and place on paper towel -- Covered baking sheets - Cover with another paper towel, and let stand over-night to harden. 8 1/2 to 9 doz mints.

Party Mints 1/2 cup margarine, (softened) 1 box powdered sugar 2 tablespoons evaporated milk 4 or 5 drops of peppermint flavoring	Hot Appetizer Stuffed Mushrooms 1/2 lb. medium mushrooms (30 to 35) 1 lb. sausage 1 c. grated cheese (sharp cheddar)

Don't Forget Sugar And Oleo
The recipe for quick and easy peach cobbler in last week's paper calls for 1/2 stick margarine and 1 1/2 cups sugar in addition to the other ingredients listed.

Dash garlic
Dash pepper
Wipe mushrooms with a damp cloth. Remove and finely chop, mushroom stems. In a small skillet, cook and stir sausage until brown. Add chopped mushroom stems, garlic and pepper. Stir in cheese until melted. Arrange mushrooms on an ungreased baking sheet. Stuff with filling. Bake at 350 degrees until meat mixture is hot, (5 to 10 minutes.) Stuffing may be made up early in day or day before and stored in refrigerator until needed.

Ham Filling
2 cups ground ham
1-3 c. mayonaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon drained sweetpickle relish makes 1 1/2 cups of sandwich spread.

Cream Cheese Filling
1 (3 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
1 Tablespoon milk
2 Tablespoons chopped walnuts
2 Tablespoons chopped dates or 2 Tablespoons of crumbled cooked bacon may be substituted for walnuts. Makes about 1-3 C. filling Sandwiches can be cut into squares, triangles, ribbons, rolled on for unusual designs, use hors d'oeuvre or cookie cutters with fluted or scalloped edges.

Cold Appetizer
Stuffed Brussels Sprouts
1 1/2 to 2 lbs. brussels sprouts
1 Cup Italian salad dressing
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
1 (2oz.) pkg. blue cheese, crumbled
1/2 teaspoon salt.

In a medium saucepan, pour lightly salted water to cover brussels sprouts. Cook over medium heat until crisp - tender; drain. (Do not overcook). With a small melon ball cutter or knife, remove center core from each cooked sprout. Reserve centers for another use. Place shells cut-side down on paper towels to drain, about 15 minutes.

Place drained sproutes in a medium bowl; pour salad dressing evenly over each sprout. Cover and refrigerate 6 hours or overnight; drain. In a small bowl, combine cottage cheese, grated onion, blue cheese and salt. Spoon cheese mixture evenly into drained sprouts. Makes about 40 appetizers.

Cookies for Kids
Cyclops Cookies
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 egg

WHAT IS LOW VISION?

Low vision is the general term used to describe several levels of very limited sight which interferes with a person's daily routine activities.

The major category of low vision, however, consists of people who are PARTIALLY SIGHTED. This means that their visual acuity when corrected is between 20/70 and 20/200.

One extreme of low vision is LEGAL BLINDNESS. Everyone has heard the expression but not everyone knows what it means. Legal blindness is defined as visual acuity that cannot be corrected to better than 20/200 and-or a restricted field of vision less than 20 degrees. In the former instance, a person, even with lenses, cannot see at 20 feet what a person with normal vision can see at 200 feet.

Low vision is often the result of injury, birth defects, aging or disease. Many of the cases caused by disease can be prevented when its symptoms are detected early enough.

For answers to your specific questions regarding vision, Dr. White invites you to call his Booneville office.

Bonds Addresses

Booneville Pilot Club

The guest speaker for the Pilot Club of Booneville for Hospitality Month was R.J. "Piggy" Bonds with Radio Station WBIP.

He was introduced by Mrs. Vickie Walendzik, Internal Affairs Coordinator, who cited some of his many accomplishments. He prefaced his talk with stating that he had been recognized by Paul Harvey for having his unusual nickname. His topic was "Satellites, Radio, World's Fair, and You."

Among his remarks was the fact that Booneville is the second city in Mississippi to receive signals from out of the state, that WBIP is currently receiving from Tupelo via microwave, and in the near future will again have their own satellite which will bring signals 25,000 miles out of space.

He stated that Radio Station WBIP had been recognized as the Most Outstanding for 1982 at Broadcasters Convention in Biloxi last June. He said that Pilots were leaders with other civic clubs in town in working with the radio station in rendering outstanding community service. He said that he felt our highway system is now keeping many people from coming to and through our state and that it is their loss because they do not get to recognize Booneville and the people of Booneville for being the hospitable place it is.

He said that the World's Fair will open in New Orleans in April of 1984, that Mississippi will have a display there, and that people will be coming through our state enroute to it. He ended his presentation with stating that Booneville is a great place.

The dish dinner was prepared by half of the club members for the June 16 meeting at the George E. Allen Library. Magnolias from the yard of Mrs. Eileen Fulper, Outreach Coordinator, decorated the tables.

The meeting was called to order and the welcome was extended by President Mrs. Anne Prichard. Mrs. Mary Gault Nabers, Assistant Projects Coordinator, gave the invocation. Dr. Neola Cleveland, Outreach Assistant, led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States in the absence of Projects Coordinator Mrs. Robbie McDaniel.

Mrs. Eudora Kemp, Immediate Past President, recognized Neola Cleveland as Pilot of the Month. She listed some of her achievements and presented her with a gift.

Mrs. Billie Morgan, Membership Area Leader, presented names to be drawn for secret Pilot Pals. Door prizes were distributed by Mrs. Fulper, Mrs. Cleveland, and Earline Woods, Internal Affairs Assistant. The meeting was adjourned with the repeating of the Pilot Motto.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

A Meditation From The Upper Room

By M. Murray Macleod

One evening at family worship we had reached verse 21 of Revelation 21 when our seven-year-old son asked, "Daddy, what does that mean, 'There shall be no night there'?" Before I could attempt an answer he supplied one himself, saying, "I think I know what it means: Where Jesus is, it's always bright."

Surely, that is a child's vivid version of our Savior's majestic claim: "I am the light of the world." We can also say with John, "The true light that gives light to everyone was coming into the world." This is the glory of the Incarnation.

This is also true of the believer's experience. In the darkest hour, the saving advent of the Lord Jesus brings light and victory! This was so with Peter, the night before his proposed execution, when "... a light shined in the prison."

When Saul was converted, he said, "I saw in the way a light from heaven, above the brightness of the sun." All who love Jesus can say, "God ... hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

PRAYER: Grant us grace, dear Jesus Christ, that we may never walk in darkness but ever have Your light of life. Amen.

ASCS Office Can Answer PIK Program Questions

By C. E. CALVERT
County Executive Director

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block today said it will be necessary to require wheat producers who do not have sufficient quantities of wheat pledged as price support loan collateral to meet their payment-in-kind requirements to obtain loans on their 1983-crop production.

Producers who have no 1983-crop wheat planted for harvest or who do not have sufficient wheat planted for harvest to meet their PIK requirements will receive payment-in-kind from other wheat in Commodity Credit Corporation inventory, he said.

Block said all producers who signed a contract to participate in the 1983 PIK program agreed to obtain a loan on their 1983 production for PIK purposes to satisfy program needs if required by CCC. USDA decided to exercise this after determining there is an insufficient quantity of wheat currently available to CCC to meet PIK needs, he said.

CCC has developed special provisions to permit producers to use their 1983 wheat production for PIK purposes even though they do not have warehouse or on-farm storage available, Block said. The producer must certify to the local county office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service that the required quantity was harvested from an eligible farm and has not been sold prior to the certification.

The producer can obtain the loan, redeem the loan collateral and sell it to CCC. The producer then will be eligible to immediately receive the payment-in-kind from CCC inventory. However, these producers will not receive the proceeds of the sale of the wheat to CCC until their PIK availability date, Block said.

Producers with eligible 1983 crop wheat stored in an approved structure on the farm or in a warehouse covered by a uniform grain storage agreement may receive a regular price support loan for the wheat and earn storage payments for up to five months beginning on the PIK availability date.

FARMERS ASSURED OF QUICK RESPONSE TO PIK QUESTIONS

Everett Rank, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, encouraged farmers who signed up for the 1983 payment-in-kind program to take any unanswered questions about the program to their local ASCS offices for the quickest possible answers.

Rank said he has directed that response procedures be streamlined between the agency's county, state and Washington personnel.

"For example, we will attempt to answer a farmer's questions by telephone immediately, then follow up with a written answer when necessary," Rank said. "Most of the questions will be answered immediately by ASCS state and county personnel. However, when necessary the field offices have been instructed to phone Washington to keep the response time to a minimum."

Ranks said USDA realizes that because of the massive sign-up, and because PIK is a new program, many participants desire clarifications or have questions on program procedures.

Mr. and Mrs. Arron Stone of Meridian were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Triplett. Mrs. Stone is the twin sister to Mr. Triplett. Bryan Rowland is like a bird out of a cage - out of his body cast and into a body brace for which he will wear for some time. He looks great and is making a remarkable recovery.

Last Tuesday Molly Crabb had an unexpected caller - Mrs. Katie Shackelford Greene and her sister, Willie Mae. Mrs. Lora Eaton visited her also.

Mr. and Mrs. David Moore and family visited with friends in Laurel for several days last week before going on to Meridian for the O.W. Smith reunion.

Tuesday night, June 14, the Night Current Mission group 9 to MU met at the First Baptist Church for their regular Royal Service Program. Seven women taking part, Gladys Summers, Emily Rutherford, Mae Bennett, Wanda Triplett, Edna Wingo, Ruby Brown and Avery Lester. They discussed at length the way International - Young people and adults should have sound knowledge of the scriptures to be able to recognize a cult and how they operate under the guise of Christianity.

Mrs. Ethel Livingston has had the misfortune of falling and breaking her hip and is in the Tupelo Medical Center. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

June 8, Mrs. Minnie Campbell celebrated her 78th birthday. Her guests for the day were Mrs. Ethel Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Boman Wright, Mrs. Betty Moore baked a beautiful birthday cake and a good dinner was served and a great time of fellowship. We hope better health is on the way for Mrs. Minnie and that she has many more happy birthdays.

Callaway Gardens. They reported a wonderful time.

June 13-17, Monday through Friday, the First Baptist Church had a good Bible school with a good attendance. Every day was filled with learning, inspiration and fun.

The Home Extension Club met in the Magnolia Room at the Different Drummer last Wednesday afternoon with 12 members present. Lori Smith was the guest speaker and gave a demonstration in calligraphy which is the art of beautiful handwriting and most people can do it she says for it relies chiefly on the personal expression and imagination of the writer. There are endless uses for this kind of writing, greeting cards, announcements, invitations, transcribing your own writing for pleasure and for gift giving. She said that patience and practice will help you master the skills, then with creativity and imagination there is no limit to what you can do. Mrs. Marjorie Waters and Mrs. Bernice Hill were the hostesses for this meeting.

Congratulations are in order for these newly weds.: Bronzana Morgan and Mark Prichard, Amy Houston and Tony Pharr, Cherri Windham and Gary Morgan. One wish for them is a long life of health and happiness.

The Day Bible Study group of WU met last Tuesday, June 14 in the home of Mrs. H.N. Tutor. Mrs. Curlee bought a most interesting study from Acts on the "Life Changer" Barnabos. The hostess served a delicious plate of home baked pound cake and punch.

the customer charge (which includes no electricity), the demand charge for each kilowatts above 50, and four blocks of kilowatt hours at declining rates. This category includes most businesses.

Those customers in this category who use less than 800 kwh will see an increase in their bill because of a customer charge increase from $3.10 to $7, Rowland said.

Those customers who contract for service on a seasonal basis will also see an increase in their bills because of the increased cost to provide this special service, he said.

PCEPA customers who rent outdoor lights from the power company will also see a slight increase.

There are two changes in this category: a monthly facility charge designed to recover all non-energy-related distribution costs, and a monthly energy charge based on the rated kwh requirements for each type and size of fixture.

Rowland said this approach allows the rate to more accurately track the cost of service.

Those lights which now cost PCEPA members $4 and $5 per month will increase to $5 and $6.50, respectively.

The PCEPA board approved the new local rates during their May meeting. "We are extremely proud that the members of PCEPA can buy their electricity cheaper than anyone in the entire state of Mississippi," Rowland said.

"The people who helped form this power association back in 1935 can certainly be proud of this organization when they look at these lower rates which we enjoy in comparison to those of the surrounding power systems."

Rowland listed three factors which he says contributed to the rate decrease: "good management through the previous managers and the 13 directors, dedicated and hard working employees, and good members who support the association."

came over the hill after them, Gentry said, Sturgis' wagon drivers panicked and made a dive for the bridge.

"Two wagons tried to cross it at the same time, locked wheels, and blocked the Yankees' only route of escape," Gentry explained. "A lot of them drowned. Some of them made it across. And a lot of them were killed or captured. And Forrest captured 200 wagons," he said.

Gentry said it was a mistake for Sturgis to bring the wagons across the bridge in the first place. He said the Union officer should have left them on the other side.

"He probably still wouldn't have won the battle, but he wouldn't have lost all his men and supplies," Gentry said.

"But I think he was over confident. He thought he would whip Forrest and go on to Tupelo. His big mistake was being too sure of himself."

According to Gentry, the reenactment of the battle this weekend will be held in the pasture across the road from the actual battlefield.

The reenactment will begin at approximately 1:30 p.m. Sunday but participants should begin arriving and setting up camp Friday afternoon.

Festivities begin officially Saturday at the site of Forrest's command headquarters at old Carrollville, now the location of the Anne Spencer Cox home northwest of Baldwin. Several demonstrations are expected to be set up there.

BOBBY W. WALLIS
ANNOUNCES FOR JUSTICE COURT JUDGE OF SOUTHERN DISTRICT

To you the people of the Southern Districts of Prentiss county, I am Bobby W. Wallis and would like to announce my candidacy for Justice Court Judge. I am 41 years of age. I am married to the former Linda Maddox and we have three sons, Bobby Jr., age 13, Michael, age 8, and Brian, age 5. I am the son of Mescal Wallis and Jettie Hendrix Wallis of Baldwin, Mississippi. I have been a resident of the Geeville Community most of my life. I attended Baldwin High School and Northeast Mississippi Junior College. I was a used car dealer in Baldwin and Booneville for approximately ten years. For the past four years I have been working out of town and out of state with Daniels Construction Company of Greenville, South Carolina. Being a supervisor with this company has given me a lot of experience in working with other people and helping to solve their problems.

Considering all the places I have been, there is no place I like better than Northeast Mississippi, namely, Prentiss County. Therefore, I would like to limit my work to this area. So I am asking you, the people of the Southern Districts of Prentiss County, for your support. If elected, I will be your friend and your Judge 24 hours a day. I enjoy working with people and everyone of you will be treated with courtesy and respect. There will be no discrimination. I grew up with many of you and I know there are many problems in our County, but we will all have to work together to solve them. I will see as many of you as I can, but it will be impossible to see everyone. Therefore, at this time I am asking you for your support in the August 2 Primary; it will be deeply appreciated. When you vote, mark "X" for Bobby W. Wallis.

Library Notes

By LEE DAVIS Librarian George E. Allen Library

The healthful lifestyle — or lifestyles — is the subject of an ever increasing amount of written material. Five new such books have been recently added to the George E. Allen library collection.

"The Harvard Medical School Health Letter Book" tries to provide a clear look in everyday language at late discoveries and recent information about health maintenance, disease, and treatment. Interviews with leading authorities on a variety of controversial issues are featured. All material has been carefully reviewed by members of the Harvard Medical School faculty.

"Jane Brody's New Your Times' Guide to Personal Health" has fifteen dections which treat both health problems and their avoidance. The book is based on the author's column, "Personal Health," which has been appearing in the "New York Times" since 1976.

"New Choices, New Chances: A Woman's Guide to Conquering Cancer" is the work of Rita Watson and Robert Wallach and it presents a hopeful outlook.

Another book that outlines recent advancements but is aimed at helping the layman understand his problems and his choices is "Cateracts." by Robert Leflar and Helen Lillie. It is a consumer's guide written under the auspices of the Public Citizens Health Research Group.

"The Nine American Lifestyles," by Arnold Mitchell is not a health book as such. More concerned with sociology and psychology but including the field of business, it reports and extends the conclusions of a study made by the Stanford Reasearch Institute. The good word is that they, too, see a hopeful future.

Band Clinic Set At Northeast

Band members from Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee will converge on the Northeast Junior College campus Sunday, July 10, for the college's annual summer band clinic.

The clinic is designed to give junior and senior high school band members an opportunity to improve on their overall performance.

This year's camp will include instruction on all aspects of band performance, Northeast band director and camp coordinator Rickey Bishop said. We will offer instruction in both individual and group sessions for marching, concert and jazz bands."

In addition, instruction will be offered on all band instruments as well as for drum majors, flags, rifles and majorettes.

Willard Taylor of Ripley, Bob Taylor of Amory and Ronnie Smith of Corinth will coordinate the instruction for the three band groups, while auxiliary units will be directed by junior and senior college band members.

Daily classes will be offered in music fundamentals, music appreciation, history of the marching band, concert and marching percussion sectionals, and marching band and jazz bands.

Private lessons will also be available upon request for these instruments: flute; clarinet, double reeds, saxophone; trumpet, French horn; trombone; euphonium, tuba; and percussion.

Total cost for instruction, meals and lodging is $100 per person. Commuting campers can pay $60 for instruction and the noon meals. An additional $10 will be charged for students desiring private lessons.

For additional information, contact the band department at 728-7751, ext. 257.

RALPH MARTIN ANNOUNCES FOR SHERIFF OF PRENTISS COUNTY

With more people seeking this office than ever before in Prentiss County, I would feel doubly honored to receive your vote and influence.

I did not enter this race lightly, for I think it is a very serious and important office. With four years of experience, I know the duties and the demands of the office and am aware of the danger and hard work that goes with it. I also know from experience that I like law enforcement, and I believe it is the field in which I can best serve my fellow man.

I am an average Prentiss Countian, devoted to my family, my church, and my country. I am a combat veteran of World War II. In private as well as in public, I have always led a sober, upright, and honest life.

I know you get "fed up" with promises and perhaps you get a little tired of candidates; but I would like for you to know that if elected, I will uphold ALL the laws and will spend extra time working to control illegal drugs and stealing of all kinds — and extra time on whatever else needs attention at a given time.

I have the maturity, the training, and the experience to carry out the duties in a fair and impartial way. You can trust Ralph Martin.

Please remember that I am trying to see everyone during this campaign; but try as hard as I can, I am going to miss some of you. You may be certain, however, that I have been in your community trying to learn about the needs and problems throughout the county.

I sincerely solicit your vote and influence. In return you can count on Ralph Martin to serve the best interests of Prentiss County.

PAID POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

TO THE CONCERNED PUBLIC,

On this past Monday night, I attended a public meeting held for the purpose of organizing to legalize alcohol in Prentiss County. The following is a list of ideas which were acceptable to most of those present to be used to persuade others to sign the petition which is now being distributed, or to vote for the referendum when or if it comes before the voting public. I will present these as fairly as possible, and will then explain my opposition to these ideas in the same order.

1. You are not supporting alcohol if you sign this petition. You are only giving others the right to vote on the issue. We should have the right to vote on this and it is being denied.
2. The city can regulate the hours, places, and conditions under which alcohol can be sold. There will not be bars all over the county. Liquor can only be sold in a municipality. (They are opting for two referendums; a beer referendum in the city, and a liquor referendum in the county.)
3. This will keep all the money spent on alcohol by Prentiss Countians in Prentiss County. You will not be losing money to McNairy County, Tennessee or to Lee County.
4. This will decrease traffic between Booneville and other sale points and thus prevent numerous accidents by drunk drivers.
5. The county's and city's revenue will increase substantially. It will be an economic windfall. Instead of a bond issue for schools, the taxes gained from alcohol will help our school systems.
6. Right now, kids can get liquor from a bootlegger — with legality, alcohol can be regulated.
7. Public drunkenness will decrease. A good bartender will keep you from getting drunk.

I have the following replies to these ideas. The numbers correspond.

1. If you do not support alcohol, why would you sign a petition that could bring about something your conscience obviously tells you is wrong. Refusing to sign a petition is not an infringement of their right to vote. It is an exercise of your right to not support something in which you do not believe; namely, the encroachment of alcohol-related problems increasing in our city and county.
2. It is certainly a generous gesture by these who want the entire county to decide that our city sells liquor. The city will need extra revenue to perform regulation. Will this extra revenue come from alcohol? If so, then what about the help for the schools? And what about the increase in law enforcement? Statistics bear out that for every dollar produced by alcohol, three more are needed to take care of increased law enforcement, higher hospital costs, raised insurance rates, job loss time, damage to property, and other related problems. This says nothing about the damage done to homes, child abuse, and personal loss of respect.
3. We don't need Judas' blood money. It will not be worth it when increased traffic fatalities, hit and run victims, drunken murders, and alcohol-related crimes catch up with your home. Twenty-two members of my church visited Parchman Prison last week. As we toured the prison, we were told that a staggering 80 percent of the inmates were there on alcohol and drug related crimes. We have enough of this without increasing it.
4. It will increase police checks for "probable cause" due to increase in drunkenness. What about the person who gets drunk and decides to go for a joyride?
5. Three extra dollars will be needed for every dollar of revenue from alcohol. Our school systems will never see the money. Our police and sheriff's departments will see it and it won't be enough.
6. Bootleggers will not be slowed down. They will only get less attention from law enforcement officials.
7. This surely must have been a joke. Sadly, though, I think it was not. Bartenders are not morally or legally responsible for their customers. The customer is responsible for himself.

Of interest to those opposed to alcohol in Prentiss County, these petitioners are counting on the opposition to be uninformed and unconcerned. This was stated in the meeting: "We're counting on those who don't want it not coming out to vote. We're pretty sure it will pass this time." Frankly, I'm quite sure that there are people who are interested and concerned. If you are reading this, you are no longer uninformed. I believe there are enough concerned Prentiss Countians to put a stop to this societal cancer and keep it in remission.

Sincerely,
Rev. Wayne A. Foropoulos, Pastor
East Booneville Baptist Church

JOHN WHITE

ANNOUNCES SENATORIAL CANDIDACY

John White informed The Banner-Independent this week of his formal announcement as a candidate for Senator of the fifth Senatorial District of the State of Mississippi. The district encompasses all of Itawamba County and all of Prentiss County plus Belmont, Golden and Cotton Springs in Tishomingo County.

"It is time for this district to be recognized for the potential it has and it is time for our people to be represented with integrity, leadership and accountability," White said.

White, 46, is married to the former Ann Hoover and is the father of three children. He qualified to seek the office in early January. In making the announcement White made the following statement:

"First, I want to thank the people of the fifth Senatorial District for the tremendous vote of confidence you gave me four years ago and for all of the encouragement you have offered already this year. I have spent the past two and a half years visiting with people all over this district and I am convinced voters are ready for a change. Folks seem to be tired of excuses and are ready for action," White said.

White said that people have expressed tremendous displeasure at the irresponsibility of the present legislature in its failure to address the really important issues. "Voters are concerned about over taxation, they are concerned about high unemployment in the state and they are concerned that the State of Mississippi is literally broke," he said.

White stated that he intends to make an extensive campaign and hopes to be able to talk to each and every voter prior to election day. He is a past president of the Mississippi Optometric Association and a past member of the Statewide Health Coordinating Council. White said he is thoroughly familiar with the legislative process and feels he can restore respect to the Senate seat occupied by the fifth district.

Paid Political Announcement

James W. Wilson, Jr.

Announces Candidacy FOR JUSTICE COURT JUDGE FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF PRENTISS COUNTY

To The Voters Of Prentiss County:

I respectfully request that you consider my candidacy for Justice Court Judge for the Southern District of Prentiss County, Mississippi. Having lived in Prentiss County all my life, it has become my desire to serve its people and insure that this County continues to be a good place to live in. I cannot see everyone personally but I will make every effort to do so; and I use this announcement to let you know something about me and tell you the way I feel about this elected office.

I am 40 years of age and the father of three teenage boys. I am the son of Irene Wilson and the late "Big Jack" Wilson of the Wheeler Community. I attended Wheeler High School and am now a representative of Bankers Life and Casualty Company.

I have previously served as Justice Court Judge in our County and have attended all the required schools for Justice Court Judges. I feel that this experience would be of great benefit in serving the people and being familiar with the laws and procedures necessary to the office of Justice Court Judge. The people deserve to have qualified people in charge of the Courts and knowing what is going on. If elected, I have the qualifications to hold Court; and I also intend to continue to meet all educational requirements of this office to upgrade the Courts and to keep up with the latest laws and developments in the court system.

Foremost, it is my desire to treat everyone fairly and impartially to insure that justice is done and that everyone's rights are protected. Being the father of three teenage boys and understanding their youthfulness, I will not let our young people taken advantage of simply because of their young age. It has always been a concern of mine that many poor people are mistreated in our Courts because of their circumstances. I will endeavor to insure that their rights are protected and that justice is afforded them.

In proper cases when they need attorneys and cannot afford one, I will appoint them an attorney so that they will be properly represented. I will also endeavor to promptly handle all cases before me so that each persons case can be heard and determined in an efficient and orderly manner. I am also very much concerned about the victims of crimes and will conduct Court in a manner that will insure that their rights are protected as well as those of the accused.

Having been a Judge before, I feel that in order to serve the people in a proper manner, a Judge has to be available at all times to hear complaints, to issue warrants, to serve papers and to carry on other business of the office. Delays in our Court system can be costly to people and can oftentimes work a hardship on the persons involved. My concern is to see that the Court is available to everyone and that each case will be handled quickly and efficiently in order to protect each persons rights and so that law and order will prevail in each case. Papers must be served in order to have Court and I will see that this is done. Warrants must be issued to have people arrested and I will be available to sign them day or night. Victims of crime must have cases handled quickly so that their rights will be protected also; and I will hold Court whenever necessary to insure this. A great deal of paper work has to be done in this office to have an orderly Court system and insure that each persons case is handled properly; and I intend to be available to complete this and through my past experience and education do it in the proper way.

The people of Prentiss County have been good to my family and me and I want to continue to live here and make this an even better County for all our citizens. Please permit me through your vote and support to serve you as Justice Court Judge for the Southern District of Prentiss County, Mississippi. I will at all times make this office one for the people of this County, one that they can respect and one where they can receive fair and impartial justice.

Thank you,
James W. Wilson, Jr.

Timber Demand, Prices Expected To Increase

By ROBERT THORNTON
COUNTY FORESTER

Things are looking up! The recession has eased considerably, interest rates are down, and housing starts are up. This means one thing to timberland owners: increased demand and higher prices for timber, especially pine.

During the last business boom much sawtimber was sold in this area. If you examined those sales contracts, you would notice that the majority of them had one thing in common -- they specified "all merchantable timber" for sale.

When talking to these landowners, it quickly becomes apparent that they sell timber in this fashion because of two myths near and dear to the hearts of many Mississippi landowners -- "I may as well sell it all, the loggers are going to tear down what's left" and "My father clear cut it forty years ago, and it grew back."

Let's examine these fallacies.

Does modern logging equipment destroy the remaining timber? No! Equipment doesn't destroy anything, but often inept operators do. We at the Forestry Commission sell timber from thousands of acres of public land each year. Most is selectively thinned, and logged with large equipment; yet damage to standing timber and the site is minimal!

How do we achieve the seemingly impossible? By the use of a simple legal instrument -- the timber sale contract. Our contracts contain sections plainly prohibiting unnecessary damage; and such damage is described. Penalties for violations are plainly stated and we reserve the right to stop the logging operation until destructive conditions are corrected.

By using a similar contract -- and diligently enforcing its performance provisions -- any landowner can secure a quality logging job. A sample contract may be obtained from any Forestry Commission County Forester's Office.

What about the second fallacy?

Maybe you are cutting the same timber your father cut forty years ago, but consider a few things. When he clearcut a generation ago, technology wasn't what it is now. Mills used larger trees, and many small ones were left as growing stock. Smaller material can now be utilized, so the clearcut is much more complete. Consequently, only unusable species or cull trees are left as growing stock.

One cutting every forty years? Not a good idea at all! A well managed stand of timber can be systematically thinned several times during such a length of time to yield a periodic income. On top of that, the total income is much higher, the quality of timber is much better, the land is never out of production, and the landowner is not faced with expensive re-establishment cost.

Before you make a disastrous "all merchantable timber" sale, consider this: If you make a mistake, you'll have to live with it for many years! Why base such an important decision on something someone else said, or "the way Grandpa did it," when advice is as near as your telephone. Use it to call the Mississippi Forestry Commission. We'll help.

UTILIZATION FOR LOWGRADE HARDWOODS

On July 20-21, the Mississippi Forestry Association, in conjunction with the Mississippi Forestry Commission and other government agencies, will hold a two-day seminar on "The utilization of Low-Grade Hardwoods in Mississippi," at the Coliseum Ramada Inn, Jackson, MS.

In Prentiss County, of the approximately 122,000 acres of timberland owned by the private landowner almost 35,000 acres or 30 percent of the forested acres is in need of some type of stand improvement. The vast majority of this ownership is land where the timber has been harvested and has grown back into cull, low-grade hardwoods. Last year the Mississippi Forestry Commission did stand improvement on 710 acres more or less the 0.5 percent of the forested acres. With current economic conditions, landowners cannot afford acres to lie idle and unproductive. By converting these acres or doing some type of stand improvement, a landowner can earn up to $40.00-acre per year based on current market conditions. The expectations is that timber prices will increase at a faster rate in the future.

There are several programs available to assist the landowner in regenerating idle acres. These programs often pay up to 50 percent of the cost of Tree Stand Improvement Work. These programs are administered through the Mississippi Forestry Commission. There are other programs of assistance available often at little or no cost to the landowner. Any landowner interested in attending the seminar or would like to have some improvement work done can contact the Mississippi Forestry Commission at 103 West College Street or Call 728-6835.

Pond Management Vital To Production

By CHARLES E. COWAN
Soil Conservation
Technician
Soil Conservation Service, USDA
Booneville Field Office

To produce good fishing in a farm pond, it is very important that a proper stocking and management program be followed.

You cannot stock a fishpond successfully if wild fish are present. Before stocking with hatchery fish, remove all wild fish such as green sunfish and bullheads.

Use three pounds of powder or three pints of liquid containing five percent Rotenone for each acre foot of water to completely eradicate wild fish. Double these amounts in cold weather to be sure of killing green sunfish and bullheads.

The best time to use Rotenone is at the end of the spawning season -- late September or early October. Most states have laws that govern the use of Rotenone. Therefore, you may need a permit from your state fish and wildlife agency.

Don't stock fish caught from other ponds, lakes, or streams. They may upset the stocking ration by spawning before hatchery fish arrive. You also are likely to introduce disease or parasites into your pond.

Most warm-water ponds are stocked with largemouth bass, bluegill-redear bream and channel catfish. The stocking rates established for these species by research for southern ponds in the early 1940's are still satisfactory. Stock 50 bass, 500 bluegill-redear and 50 channel catfish per acre in ponds of average natural fertility. Stock from 100 to 150 bass, 1,000 to 1,500 bluegill-redear and 100 channel catfish per acre in water that will be maintained at high fertility levels.

It is a serious mistake and a waste of hatchery fish to stock at the higher rate if you do not fertilize the pond adequately year after year.

The Soil Conservation Service is responsible for processing applications for fishpond stocking through the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's national fish hatcheries. Only new ponds that have been renovated and will be used for non-commercial purposes are eligible for stocking of free fish.

For assistance in stocking your fishpond, contact the Soil Conservation Service office at 107 College Street, Booneville, or phone 728-3544.

WHAT IS HE RUNNING FOR?

He is running for Highway Commissioner in the Northern District of Mississippi.

WHY IS HE RUNNING?

There is a great need for a change in leadership in the Northern District and Harmon Robinson can provide the leadership to get the job done.

WHY SHOULD HE BE ELECTED?

1. In his years of elected public office, he has "Proven" himself to be a real "Servant" of the people.
2. Since he is a former State Senator he knows what it is like to work with the Legislature in order to obtain Highway funds.
3. As a Tax Assessor and Chancery Clerk, he successfully managed staffs, and worked harmoniously with people from all different backgrounds.
4. All of Robinson's 5 children and 9 grandchildren reside in North Mississippi. He has a personal stake in the future of our State.

IS HE THE KIND OF MAN THAT I WOULD BE PROUD OF IN THIS IMPORTANT STATE OFFICE?

If you ask the people of Clay County who have known him all of his life, they will tell you that he is a good, honorable, and capable man whose word is his bond.

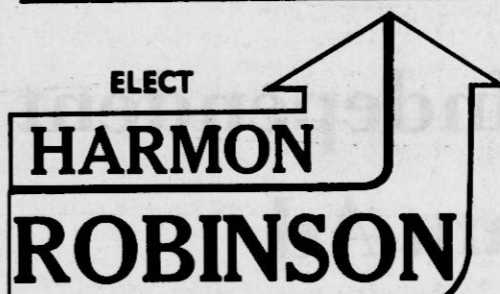

SHOULD HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT EMPLOYEES WORRY ABOUT LOSING THEIR JOBS?

Absolutely not! Just because there is a change in command and leadership in a "New Direction," does not mean that the crew will not be the same.

WILL HE FAVOR ONE AREA OF THE DISTRICT OVER OTHERS?

He is committed to helping every area of North Mississippi reach it's fullest potential, not only now, but in the years to come.

JOIN WITH US. WE ARE A RAPIDLY GROWING NUMBER OF PEOPLE WHO HAVE DECIDED THAT HARMON ROBINSON SHOULD BE THE NEXT HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI

COUNTRY ROADS - Northeast Junior College officials (from left) President Harold T. White, W.T. Rutledge, chairman of the music department, and Dean Joe M. Childers examine a few of the stringed instruments which will be featured in the new country-western music curriculum to be offered by the two-year community college this fall.

Country-Western Course To Be Offered At Northeast

After two years of serious consideration and long-range planning, Northeast Mississippi Junior College is about to embark on a country-western adventure.

Harold T. White, President of the two-year community college, has announced plans to begin a country-western music school at the beginning of the fall semester.

"We're quite enthusiastic and believe that the program will be very successful," he said. "To my knowledge, it is the only such program in a community college east of the Mississippi."

From concept to initiation, the country-western program has seemed only natural. "Country western music has played a big part in the American heritage and has deep roots in the Magnolia state," White said.

"Some of the nation's better known recording stars — Tammy Wynette, Conway Twitty, Charley Pride, Jim Weatherly, Jimmie Rodgers, and Elvis Presley, to name a few — hail from Mississippi."

The continued growth of the country music industry and its demand for entertainers as well as business management personnel warrant the need for such an educational program for would-be entertainers, songwriters, business managers and promoters, the veteran administrator said.

"This dimension will add to an already comprehensive curriculum at Northeast," Dean Joe M. Childers explained. "It offers an additional option for music majors."

The proposed two-year curriculum calls for 63 college hours, with approximately 2/3 to 3/4 of that number being transferable to a senior college or university, provided the student wishes to continue his education in another area.

The remaining credit is institutional. Graduated of the program will receive an Associate of Arts degree.

"We anticipate a great demand, but for the first year, we will accommodate only a limited enrollment."

W.T. Rutledge, chairman of the music department said. Because of the program it is necessary to employ additional faculty members.

"Country western musicians have agreed to teach the new instrumental offerings," Rutledge said. Plans for the first year include instruction on string instruments — the fiddle, guitar and banjo — as well as the country western style of keyboard, he added.

Another innovation of the program is the development of a country-western ensemble which will further train the students in the area of performance.

"We hope to see the instrumental and vocal group performing on a regular basis," Rutledge said.

"Throughout the planning stages, the country-western curriculum has gained the support of the local community," White said. "In the future, we hope to see strong ties develop between Northeast and the country-western music industry in Nashville."

Googe Joins Race For Attorney General

Roger Googe has authorized this paper to announce his candidacy for the office of Attorney General of the State of Mississippi.

Googe was born and raised in the Charleston area, Tallahatchie County. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul R. Googe of Charleston.

Roger is also the grandson of the late Jack D. Googe, one-time tax assessor and one-time sheriff of Prentiss County.

For over a decade he has worked for Mississippi as Assistant Attorney General and is aware of the legal problems and the concerns of the people of this state.

As head of the Federal Litigation Division of the Attorney General's office for the past six years, he has dealt with the complicated legal problems that face this state on a daily basis. "I know the problems, I have been there," Googe added.

"As your Attorney General, I will work to create a legal climate that will help in securing the jobs that are so desperately needed in Mississippi," Googe said. "This would involve working closely with the Governor, legislature, and other state agencies to create a favorable business climate that would attract industry."

During the past session of the legislature, a new law was passed governing utility rates. In order to assure that the rights of the consumers are protected, this new law must be monitored closely. Progress has been made in this area of consumer protection and we must not lose what has been gained, Googe said. "We must continue to move forward."

"During the years that I have been in this office, I have fought against corruption and waste in government. This I will continue," he said. "Those who have been placed in a position of public trust have one of the highest duties that can be given in a free society. They are not, however, above the law. The who violate that duty and trust must and will suffer the consequences. Corruption in government will not be tolerated."

Attorney General Candidate

"I am greatly concerned about the problem of drug abuse among our young people. A child under the influence of drugs cannot receive a proper education," he continued.

"As your Attorney General, I will commit all the resources of this office toward the fight against drugs. I will work with the local officials in prosecuting the 'pushers', and I will work with the legislature and other state institutions in establishing rehabilitation programs for those who have fallen victim to addiction. We must provide help to those who need and want help."

Googe said the office of Attorney General is an office that requires dedication, experience, and genuine concern for the people. "I have dedicated the past 12 years of my career to helping solve the legal problems that have confronted us. I have the experience. I am ready."

"My family and I ask for your prayer and support in any race for Attorney General," Googe concluded.

Danny B. Childers SEEKS RE-ELECTION AS TAX ASSESSOR-COLLECTOR OF PRENTISS COUNTY

May I first take this opportunity to thank the voters of Prentiss County for allowing me to serve as your tax assessor-collector. Since this was my first venture into politics, I have had a very challenging and exciting tenure.

During the campaign of 1979, while traveling the county and talking with many of you, I did my best to find out just what kind of manager you wanted for this office. It was apparent you wanted someone to be concerned with your needs as well as our county.

During the past three and one half years, many changes have taken place in your tax office. May I take this means to call your attention to some of the more important ones that took affect: the appearance of your office has changed as many of you have made favorable comments. We now have a neat, courteous, and efficient office staff, who are eager to serve you. The mail-out system for your auto license plates has been reinstated, which for those that may not have time to come by the office is most helpful. During the past two years, we have handled many tax statements through the mail as well as many other important transactions. Many requests were made for this office to remain open during the lunch hours for those who may not have the opportunity to transact their business at other times. This we do.

Now for the first time in the history of Prentiss County, we have an investment program whereas your tax dollars are not lying idle. In January of 1980, I started investing your tax dollars whereby they drew daily interest, and this has been most helpful in the upkeep of our county. Please keep in mind that this investment program will be discussed in more detail during the campaign.

Since my taking office, it has been my desire to manage your tax office in a business-like manner. In order for me to become a better manager, it was necessary for me to attend many state sponsored courses. Many of these courses had to do with changing laws on all phases of this office. Some of these were on appraising properties of all kinds; and by completing those courses, I have been certified by the state tax commission as an appraiser.

Please consider my qualifications and the efforts that have been made to improve the services in your office, when it comes time to select your next tax assessor-collector for Prentiss County.

My family and I are most gratified at the trust you have placed in me during the past; and if re-elected, my goal will continue to be worthy of that trust.

SINCERELY,

Danny B. Childers

PAID POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

TO THE PEOPLE OF PRENTISS COUNTY

I am taking this opportunity to reach as many people in Prentiss County as possible. I would like to thank the people who voted for me in the last election and remind all of you that I need your support and confidence now. No one can fill the office of sheriff without the people's support.

The sheriff's office belongs to the people and to serve the people the office must be responsive to the needs of the people. Whether we like it or not, the sheriff's office has become a symbol of what is right and wrong in our society. We have the same problems in law enforcement that we did before and if a person goes into the sheriff's office without a consistent approach to those problems, he will create more problems than he solves.

Eight years ago the people of Prentiss County elected me to build a coroner's office in this county second to none in the state. I take a lot of pride in telling you that was accomplished through the use of local and state facilities that were available and ready to help when called upon. Any and all unusual deaths in this county were investigated and because of these investigations, some legal actions were taken.

Now I am asking for your consideration and support again. I have aged both in years and in experience. Eight years ago I made you three promises only, and those same three promises still hold in building you a sheriff's department second to none.

First, I will be available 24 hours a day to sort out facts in every case and to make a judgment purely on the facts, no matter who the parties involved are. Second, every call will be answered, no matter what the hour day or night. If assistance is needed it will be my desire that every citizen feel it is only a phone call away. Lastly, my office will conduct investigations that will stand on their own merit in any court at any time.

This year I would like to add one other promise: I will continue to never forget the people that I am directly responsible to and work hard to be what they deserve in a public servant. These people are the law abiding citizens of Prentiss County.

One of my worst fears is that the people of the county may adopt an "I don't care" attitude about law enforcement and their own rights.

You do have rights as well as obligations and your rights should be upheld to the fullest. Many people feel that laws are made to protect the criminal and in some cases this does seem so. However, if evidence is gathered properly and cautiously, these laws can be valuable tools in bringing the criminals to justice.

My office will work 24 hours a day to see that every citizen and his property have the protection that he is guaranteed. There are steps that can be taken to discourage crime in Prentiss County. Our county is not now, nor has it been for some years, the most secure place to live, raise children or do business and the figures from documented sources say the future looks even darker. I would be foolish to tell you that circumstances are going to be eased overnight, but I will and emphatically do tell you that results that are positive are possible.

To the parents of the county: the sheriff's office would become a place of consultation for you. If there is an obvious problem brewing with your children I would want you to feel that you could talk to me in confidence and privacy. I would work to get more parents involved with the office so that together we might work out problems and not let a juvenile judge do it for us. Here again, prevention is the key. I would become more educated on drugs to the point that I might talk sensibly to our youth. I would strive to make them aware of physical as well as the legal aspects of the problem.

On theft: I feel that this is the most serious problem we face in Prentiss County. There are a couple of basic steps that can be taken to combat theft. First, the county will be patrolled night and day seven days a week. Second, anyone leaving their home for an extended period of time could advise the sheriff's office and special precautions could be taken. Sheriff's office manpower will be used efficiently and professionally.

To the older generation, let me say that there is no group that I have deeper feelings and respect for. It would be a privilege for me to draw from the vast knowledge that you have gained from life's experiences. My office will always be open for suggestions from you.

The promises I have made are basic. It comes down to hard work and level headed judgment. I am old enough to listen and young enough to understand.

Lee Stewart Is Named Coach

By CLIFF LONG
Sports Writer

Booneville High School principal Mac Curlee announced Monday that the board of trustees of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District has named Lee Stewart as BHS' head basketball coach.

The board met last Thursday night to decide on the replacement of former coach Randle Downs, who resigned at the end of the school year to go to Hatley

High School.

Stewart is a graduate of Northeast Junior College, Mississippi State University, and has his masters of education from Mississippi State. He has been employed with the Booneville School System since 1972, first at Anderson Junior High and then as principal at the Elementary School for the past three years.

Stewart's previous coaching experience includes a year as head coach at Blue Mountain High School just before he went into the service.

Then he coached for two years at Marietta High School, which he calls "quite an experience."

Stewart coached for eight years at Anderson where he had consistently good teams every year and won three Five-County championships. In 1978 Stewart's girls' team won the Five-County tournament while his boys lost in the finals after a 22-0 regular season.

Stewart said he is anxious to meet this oncoming "challenge" and will begin tonight with a meeting of all interested young men.

"We're going to look for kids who will make a commitment to the program," said Stewart who will be practicing his players "at least twice a week" throughout the summer.

Stewart said he is pleased with the 1983-84 schedule even though there is "some good competition."

He believes his toughest challenge this year will be motivation.

Stewart said that once a player is well motivated, then he can better carry out his responsibilities. He believes the motivation factor is what makes the good coach.

Next year he wants to "earn support" from the basketball fans.

"Winning is the food we live on...everybody wants to win."

Stewart said he wants to become competitive first, beginning with the initial practices, then after his team becomes competitive the winning can be there.

Stewart stressed that any and all boys from grades 9-12 that want to play should be at a meeting set for tonight at the high school gym.

Rotary, Marietta Tied For Lead

Rotary and Marietta are tied at the top of the heap in T-Ball action at the Booneville West Side Park. Both teams are undefeated after three games.

In last week's action, the Civitans beat the Jaycees and Rotary defeated the Bank of Mississippi on Tuesday night, while Marietta defeated New Orleans Fried Chicken Thursday night.

On the other side of the park, H&W remains the only undefeated team in Little Girls' Softball.

In action last Tuesday night, H&W defeated Otasco, who has yet to score a win in three outings.

On Thursday night, Rotary defeated Sunflower. Rotary now stands at 2-1 and Sunflower is 1-2 for the season.

In older girls' softball, two teams from the West Side City Park are being sponsored, /Prentiss Manufacturing and Colleague.

Prentiss had a busy schedule last week. In an early week doubleheader, Prentiss beat an out of town team but couldn't call up the energy to beat rival Colleague in the nightcap.

On Thursday, June 16, Prentiss again played two against two East Side Park teams, the Ducks and the Hens.

Prentiss lost to both teams.

Colleague participated in an independent tournament at Blackland over the weekend. After some tough early-round battles, Colleague lost in the semifinals to The J Team of Jumpertown late Saturday night on a wet field.

Mississippi on the move...

“Mississippi is at a crossroads. We have taken bold steps to improve education and attract new jobs. But now we have to make those programs work . . . to produce real jobs and quality schools.

Politics as usual won't do. We need a Governor who has actually created jobs and worked for better schools.

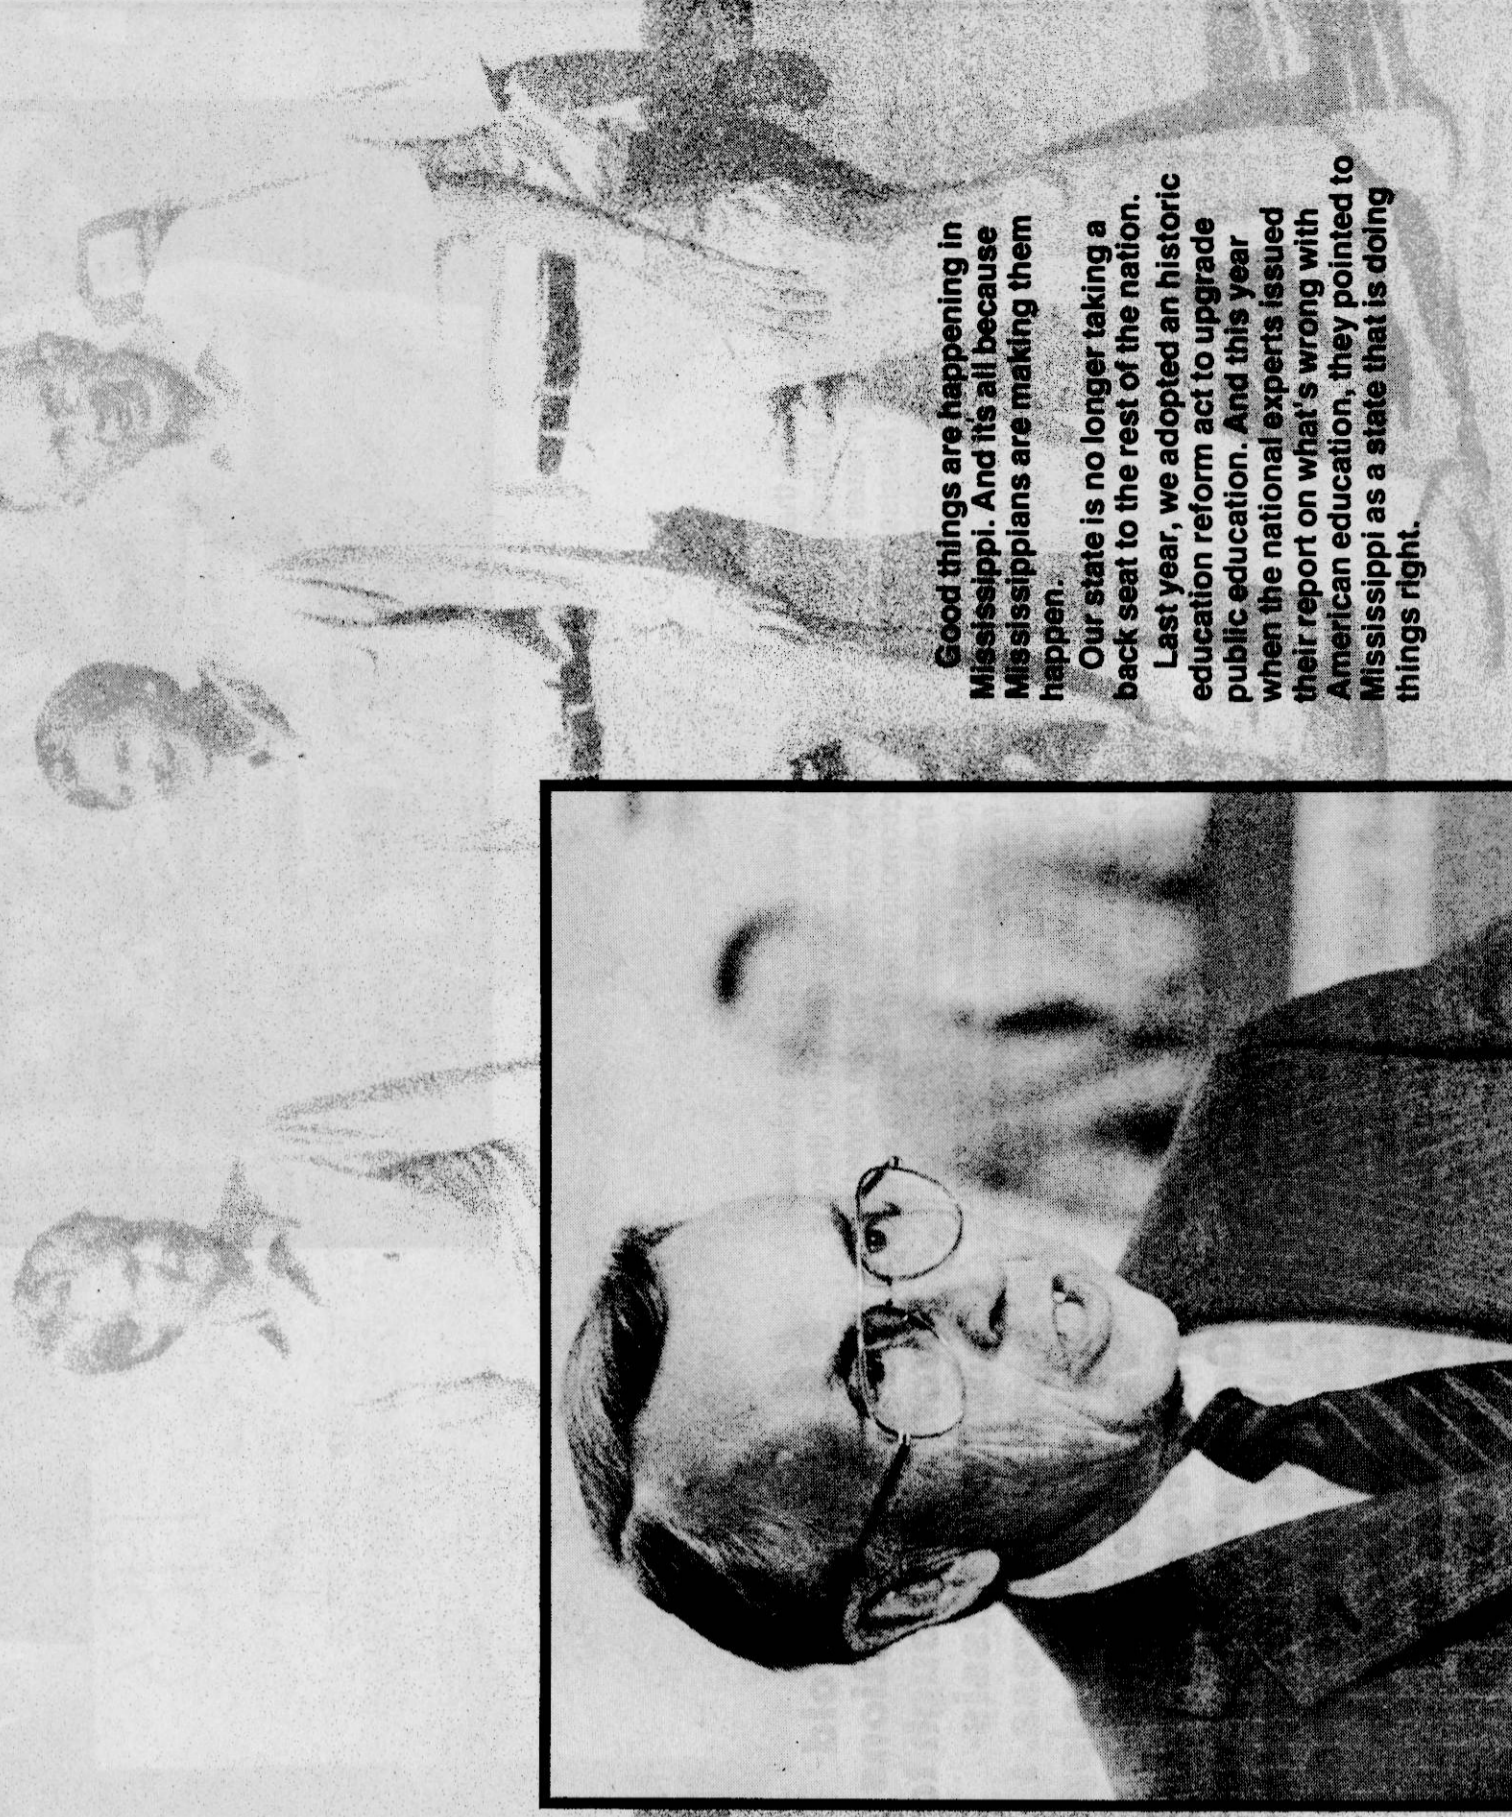

The only issue in this election is who has the plan, the experience and the ability to continue our progress in education and jobs. That's what my campaign is all about . . . keeping Mississippi on the move.”

Mississippi on the move...

Good things are happening in Mississippi. And it's all because Mississippians are making them happen.

Our state is no longer taking a back seat to the rest of the nation.

Last year, we adopted an historic education reform act to upgrade public education. And this year when the national experts issued their report on what's wrong with American education, they pointed to Mississippi as a state that is doing things right.

But our progress is more than education. In our programs to create jobs, in our regulation of utility rates and in our fight against crime, Mississippians are making changes—big changes—designed to build a better future and a better state.

It's not enough to make changes. That's just the start. We've got to follow through and make those changes work.

That's why this race for Governor is so important.

To continue our progress, we need a special kind of leader. Someone with ideas, but someone who knows how to carry them out. Someone with a background in business who can bring new jobs to Mississippi. Someone tough enough to continue our progress but someone with the compassion and understanding to listen along the way.

It's a lot to ask from one individual. And in this race for Governor, there is only one candidate whose record of real accomplishment is as big as our future in Mississippi.

His name is Mike Sturdivant and he's a farmer and businessman who's left a successful career to run for Governor of our state.

Mike Sturdivant is a man who gets things done. He's built a 40 million dollar company from scratch and created over 2,000 new jobs.

Mike Sturdivant is an innovator. As chairman of the Finance Committee of the State College Board, he rewrote the way our universities are financed. And on his local school board and the Southern Regional Education Board, he fought for new ideas to promote quality in our school systems.

Mike Sturdivant is no ordinary leader. He's served as chairman of the second largest hospital in the world, run a farm in Glendora, run several businesses, helped raised four sons and a daughter, served in state government and still found time to teach adult Sunday school in his hometown.

The next four years will require a special leader to continue our progress.

We can't afford less than Mike Sturdivant.

“The same old political solutions won't be enough to continue Mississippi's progress. I believe Mississippi wants something more from their next Governor. They want a leader with a plan for our future and a proven record in business and education.”

“Raising a family in the country is one of the special blessings in life. The lessons we can learn from work, from the church and from the family are the ones that really count. I believe the chance to learn those lessons in Glendora, Mississippi, has benefited all of the Sturdivants . . . especially me.”

Mike Sturdivant's commitment to helping others has taken many forms.

As a father he was a member of the executive committee of the Delta Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America and served on the West Tallahatchie School Board.

As an alumnus of Mississippi State University, Mike has been active in a number of projects, including serving as Chairman of the Centennial Drive to raise funds for a Fine Arts Center.

Despite his numerous activities for his businesses, his family and his community, Mike Sturdivant has always found time for his church.

The Sturdivants belong to the Glendora United Methodist Church, where Mike teaches the Adult Sunday School Class.

He is a founding director of North Mississippi Senior Services, a member of the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College, and has served as Chairman of Methodist Hospitals of Memphis, the second largest hospital system in the world.

But the most impressive story about Mike is the one you can hear from any Methodist Minister in North Mississippi. When he was appointed to the Board of Pensions, which supervises the pension fund for retired ministers, Mike Sturdivant saw problems right away. At his own expense he hired an investment expert to reorganize the fund and increase its return. The Methodist clergy are still benefiting today.

Mike Sturdivant is a fourth generation Mississippian and farmer. He and his wife, Ygondine, have raised four sons and a daughter on their farm outside of Glendora.

Glendora is a town of 200 people. The nearest community of any size is Webb, Mississippi. Mike Sturdivant knows about life in the country and the values of hard work and faith that country life can teach.

Anyone who knows the Sturdivants knows that Mike's greatest asset is his wife Ygondine. A native of Lambert, Mississippi, the former Ygondine Walker has worked as a schoolteacher and is a former "Miss Ole Miss."

The four Sturdivant sons are all working on the farm or helping on the campaign.

Mike, Jr., 32, lives in Sidon, Mississippi where he is a successful farmer. He's helping run the Glendora farm during the campaign.

Walker, 30, is a lawyer in Greenville. He has taken a leave from his practice to help manage Mike's campaign.

Sykes, 29, is a farmer in Glendora and Gaines, 25, has left his position with Mississippi Management, Inc. to work full time in the campaign.

Ygondine, 16, is a junior in high school.

Some people talk about better things to come. Mike Sturdivant makes them happen.

... and really, that's what being Governor is all about.

Mike P. Sturdivant was born in 1927 and was raised by his grandparents in Glendora, Mississippi. He's gone on to become a successful farmer, businessman, a tireless worker for better education, and a citizen involved in his church and his community.

After graduating from Clarksdale High School at age 16, Mike went on to finish a degree in agricultural engineering from Mississippi State University at age 19, and later attended Harvard Business School.

As a farmer and a businessman, Mike Sturdivant has shown what sound management can produce.

He began farming the 1000 acres he inherited from his grandfather. Today his operations have grown almost tenfold.

In 1956, Mike opened a Holiday Inn in Meridian, the 24th Holiday Inn built in America. This first venture grew into Mississippi Management, Inc., a nationally recognized firm which operates 13 hotels and employs over 1500 people.

According to the American Hotel and Motel Association in its magazine, Lodging, "Mississippi Management, Inc. has provided the innkeeping industry with a model for the development of people and the management of cash."

Mike Sturdivant's know-how and leadership have been recognized and sought after. He has served as President of the International Association of Holiday Inns and as Chairman of the Mississippi Private Industry Council, a state agency which supervises job training programs for Mississippians.

But business is just one area of Mike Sturdivant's commitment. Mike Sturdivant believes that education is the key to progress in Mississippi and he's turned that belief into action. As a member of the State College Board he served as chairman of the Finance Committee and rewrote the way our universities budget and spend their money. He has served as a member of his local school board and represented Mississippi on the Southern Regional Education Board.

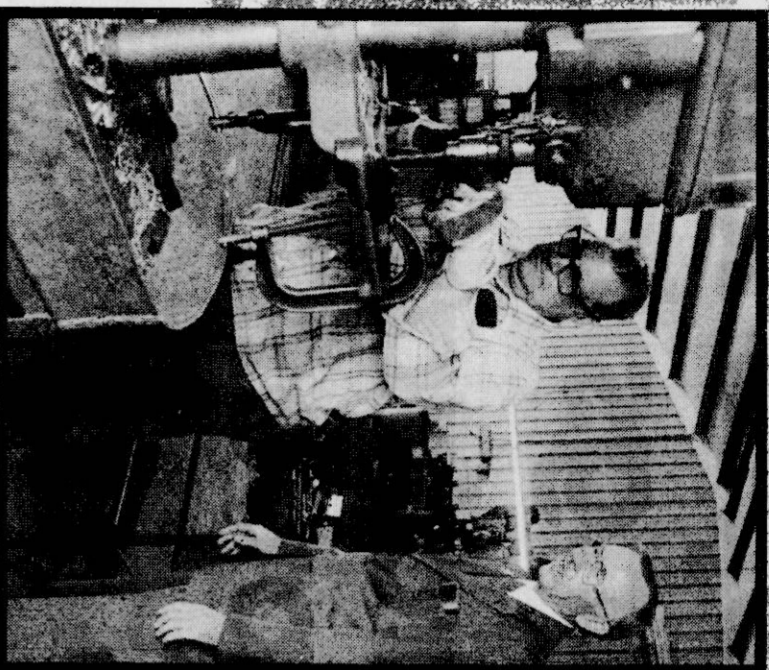

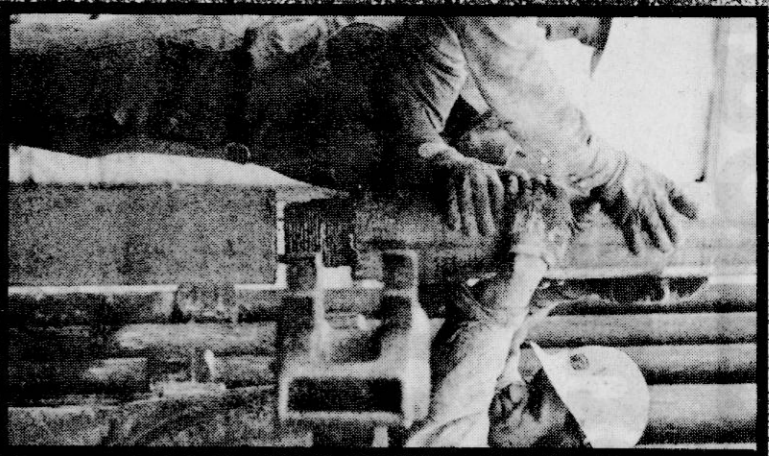

Despite his many activities in business and education, Mike Sturdivant has also found time to contribute to his church, his family and his community.

He has served as chairman of the Board of Managers of Methodist Hospitals of Memphis, the second largest hospital system in the world. He has served on the Board of Trustees of the North Mississippi Methodist Senior Services, the Board of Pensions of the North Mississippi Conference of the Methodist Church, and the Executive Committee of the Delta Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Mike is a veteran of the Korean War, where he served as an engineer in the 11th Engineer Combat Battalion.

Mike Sturdivant and his wife Ygondine reside in Glendora, Mississippi. They have five children: Mike, 32; Walker, 30; Sykes, 29; Gaines, 25; and Ygondine, 16. They are members of the Glendora United Methodist Church where Mike teaches the Adult Sunday School Class.

Better jobs and better education—the keys to progress in Mississippi

“If we’ve learned one thing as a businessman, it’s that you will never create jobs with talk.”

In this election, every candidate is talking about jobs, but only Mike Sturdivant offers a comprehensive job plan backed by thirty years of successful business experience.

As Mississippi, there are no easy answers to effective economic development. A good jobs program has at least 100 ingredients. We’ve got to have a Governor who knows every one of them.

A BUSINESSMAN’S PLAN

Mike Sturdivant doesn’t expect to be elected solely on his business record. He has written a plan which any businessman could write. It contains 100 specific proposals to upgrade and enhance Mississippi’s program to develop jobs. Here are a few highlights from Mike’s plan.

Agriculture: Our farmers need help and we can’t wait on the federal government to notice our problems. As Governor, I’ll work with our congressional delegation for an agricultural policy that controls supply and delivers the credit our farmers need to succeed.

Education: We will never be truly successful in attracting new jobs without a strong system of public education. I have a plan to continue our progress in this area.

Timber: Our Forest Resource Development Center is one of America’s model programs for land improvement and reforestation. We have to build on this program and work to attract high technology industries which depend upon servicing the timber industry.

Transportation: Our highway construction program is grinding to a halt at the same time that the railroads are closing lines all over the state. Our rural areas depend on good roads and rail lines. If we don’t move now, many of our counties will lose their chance for good industry. As Governor, I will fight needless railroad closings and use my business experience to get more highway construction out of our existing budget.

Tennessee-Tombigbee: With the opening of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, Mississippi will offer an exciting new incentive to new industries. As Governor, I’ll be personally involved in developing new industrial sites for this area.

Rural Development: Too often our rural areas have been overlooked in Mississippi’s effort to attract new jobs. I am from a small town and I know the importance of developing our small communities. As Governor, I will establish a separate program to work with those industries that prefer rural communities. Our small counties offer a strong work ethic and high productivity. We have to sell these assets to American industry.

Lower Utility Rates: Mississippi just adopted landmark legislation changing the way we regulate utility rates. As Governor, I will work to help our Public Service Commission hold down rates that penalize our working families and discourage new industry.

Public Service: Our Public Service Commission has a comprehensive plan to continue our progress in education. Here are a few highlights from Mike’s plan:

Of all of the good things happening in Mississippi, none is more important than the progress we are beginning in education.

With the passage of our Education Reform Act we made the entire nation sit up and take notice. As Governor, Mike Sturdivant will be actively involved in implementing this act and in going beyond its provisions to build the first rate system of public education Mississippi needs.

A PLAN FOR EDUCATION

Mike Sturdivant has a comprehensive plan to continue our progress in education. Here are a few highlights from Mike’s plan:

“If we are going to compete for tomorrow’s jobs we’ve got to start with a strong educational system today.”

Modern Management: Our schools have lost sight of their one objective: teaching our students. When we accredit schools we don’t ask about student achievement. We ask about the size of the classrooms, the teaching equipment and how many teachers have advanced degrees. Our Education Reform Act will change this by starting a new management program called performance based testing. This program uses standardized testing to assess each teacher and each school district on the job they are doing in the one area that really counts: student performance. As Governor, I’ll use my experience in management and education to make this program work.

Reading in the First Three Grades: It is the tragedy of our system that we have children who leave the third grade without basic reading and arithmetic skills. But under our Education Reform Act, Mississippi will open kindergartens and place a reading aide in the classroom to help our first, second and third-grade teachers. The combination can have a dramatic impact. It’s already working in Tupelo. As Governor, I will work to duplicate the Tupelo results statewide.

Fine-Tuning Our Program: In business I learned you never make big changes without some mistakes. As Governor, I will be personally involved in fine-tuning our education reforms by meeting with parents, teachers and concerned citizens to assess our progress and make needed adjustments.

Education Trust Fund: As Governor, I will work to establish a trust fund for revenues from royalties from Mississippi’s offshore oil and gas revenues. Interest from this fund will be reserved for special projects in education and economic development.

Social Promotions: The key to improving student performance is expecting more from our students and our schools. I will work to end the practice of social promotions and to keep our standards high.

Community Schools Program: One key to better schools is closer cooperation between our school systems and the communities they serve. I will seek legislation to promote closer cooperation between community and civic groups and their local schools by making school facilities available to civic groups and encouraging civic groups to “adopt-a-school.”

School Financing: I support the adoption of the recommendations of the Governor’s Blue Ribbon Committee Report on our minimum foundation program and will work for other legislation to provide financing for capital improvements in poor and needy school districts.
