Five Indictments Quashed In Court

Five indictments returned by the Prentiss County grand jury in February have been quashed, or set aside, because the foreman of the grand jury signed his name on the wrong page of the indictments, according to Circuit Court Judge Fred Wicker.

There are three sheets in an indictment, the orginal, and two copies. The foreman is required to endorse the indictment by placing his name on the original sheet, Wicker said.

However, in this instance, the foreman signed his name on the back of one of the copies and the original sheet was only signed by the district attorney, Wicker

This is the first time this has ever happened here and is unlikely it will ever happen again because these particuliar forms have been discarded, Wicker said. All signing will now be done on the front page of the indictment.

Prentiss County was the only county in the state still using this particuliar form, Wicker noted.

The following indictments were quashed: Rosie Marie Rogan, burglary and larceny; Barron Lee McKinney, burglary and larceny of an inhabited dwelling and aggravated assault; Terry Owens, forgery, receiving tolen property, and burglary and larceny of a dwelling and a building.

Most of the people who were indicted in February pleaded guilty to the charges, even though their inlictment could have been quashed, according to County Attorney John Hatcher.

The grand jury will be recalled on Sept. 12 at which time they will re-hear the cases which were quashed.

Attorney General's Staff To Visit

Members of Attorney General Bill Allain's staff will be in Prentiss County next week to hear complaints and answer questions.

Staff members from the attorney general's Consumer Protection Division and State-Local Division will be in Corinth, Booneville and Baldwyn July 11.

They will be at the Alcorn County Courthouse from 8 to 0 a.m., at the Prentiss County Courthouse in Booneville from 10:30 a.m. to noon, and at the city hall in Baldwyn from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Attorney General Allain said he is urging all citizens and public officials to meet with these staff members to voice consumer complaints and to ask questions pertaining to state and local government.

Two Convicted For Shoplifting

In the only trial that was heard last week during the une term of the Prentiss County Circuit Court, a jury found two women guilty of shoplifting at Wal-Mart.

The women, Mary Grove Stewart and Rebecca Groves, had appealed the case from city court. The jury deliberated about half an hour before eturning the guilty verdict. The women were each sentenced to serve 15 days in the city jail, pay a $200 fine and court costs and pay $25 in estitution to Wal-Mart.

Circuit Judge Fred Wicker presided.

Suit Against Tax Assessor Is Dismissed

By KEN CHRISTIAN Editor

A chancery court judge has dismissed a third lawsuit brought by the Prentiss County Board of Education and Supt. Lex Cain against Prentiss County Tax Assessor-Collector Danny Childers.

Following a May 13 hearing on a motion by Childers' attorneys, Chancellor George F. Adams dismissed the suit last week.

Supt. Cain said Wednesday that the county school board will probably appeal the judge's decision.

The county school board filed their latest suit against Childers last December. As in two previous suits, the school board claimed that in 1980 Childers failed to collect a portion of taxes for the county school system.

The Booneville Municipal Separate School District was created effective July 1, 1980. Beginning that year, taxes collected within the purposes were collected by the city of Booneville for the newly created separate school district.

The county school board claimed in their suit that Childers should have collected this money that first year and that it should have gone to the county school system, not the city

The amount of money involved is $137,408.

"It was never the duty of city limits of Booneville and Mr. Childers to collect this earmarked for school (money)," Adams ruled. "He had no responsibility to collect this tax, as the board of supervisors did not assess it for the year 1980-81."

In testimony during the May 13 hearing, Supt. Cain admitted that the budget the county school system submitted to the board of supervisors did not include tax money from within the city school system.

Cain said his original budget did include this money, but when -- as required by law -- the budget was sent to Jackson for approval, it was rejected by the state department of Supt. Cain testified that he was instructed by the state department of education to remove the city taxes from the county school budget. He said he did so and the revised budget was then approved by the state and finally submitted to the Prentiss County board of supervisors. The supervisors used this budget in establishing the county's tax millage rate.

In his ruling last week, Chancellor Adams said:

"After a hearing on the motion, the court is of the opinion that the proof is uncontradicted that the Prentiss County Tax Assessor and Collector, defendant Danny B. Childers, did not have submitted to him a levy for school tax property in the Booneville Separate School

Accident

Booneville pharmacist L.C. Wright is placed on a stretcher following an accid Tuesday afternoon at the intersection of U.S. 45 and George E. Allen Drive. According to the police accident report, witnesses said Wright was headed east on George E. Allen Drive when he ran a red light at the highway 45 crossing. His 1963 Chevy II was struck on the passenger's side by a large northbound Kraft Foods truck driven by Glenn I. Mitchell of Ozark, Mo. Rescuers worked for about seven minutes with the Jaws of Life to free Wright from the crumpled vehicle. Wright was taken to Baptist Memorial Hospital and transferred to North Missis Medical Center in Tupelo where he was listed Wednesday in serious condition with lacerations to the scalp and a broken rib. Neither Mitchell nor his passenger, Jim Hicks of Brighton, Mo., received any apparent injuries. Wright was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

For New Post Office

Postal Officials Re-Open Site Selection Process

By KEN CHRISTIAN Editor

Local residents who are displeased with the proposed location of a new post office in Booneville have until Aug. 5 to come up with a suitable alternate location.

Approximately 100 citizens -- most with businesses or offices in the downtown area -- met with U.S. Postal officials Tuesday morning at Northeast Junior College to protest the proposed location of a new post office being planned for Booneville.

Despite the fact that the meeting was not well publicized, so many people showed up that it had to be moved to a larger room to handle the crowd.

Most of those at the meeting said they want the new post office in Booneville. Their objection is to the location the postal alternate site proposals. service has tentatively selected -- along U.S. Highway 45.

The objectors claim it will be inconvenient and hazardous to postal patrons if the new building is located along the highway which is the major thoroughfare through Prentiss County.

After hearing the complaints, postal officials agreed to give local residents 30 days to submit

They said all property submitted will be considered, including the site already under consideration along U.S. 45. The best location will be selected from those submitted, they

Postal representatives attended the meetings were Booneville postmaster Jack Wright; his immediate superior Wayne Poole, section center manager and postmaster in Tupelo; William Deason, realty specialist from the Postal Service's real estate office in Memphis; and Earle Martin, general manager of the field real estate and buildings office in Memphis.

All of those who spoke out at Tuesday's meeting said they want the post office to remain in the downtown

"We'll be glad to stay in the downtown area if we can find a suitable site," Poole said. "We just wish you had gotten involved in this earlier."

"To this date, no one has come to me to discuss this situation -- other than at my invitation," postmaster Wright said during the

Booneville To File For Jobs Bill Grant

The Booneville Board of Mayor and Aldermen discussed mostly routine business during their regularly scheduled monthly meeting Tuesday night.

The board passed four resolutions one of which authorized the city to file an application to the state for a grant under its 1983 jobs bill (CDBG) program.

this grant money would be used to construct sidewalks on Church, Smith, Sunflower, N. Lake, Anderson and Mimosa streets.

If the project is funded, unemployed people from the city will be hired to construct the sidewalks, Mayor Charles Crabb said. Cost of the project is estimated to be

"For the year 1980-81 this ax levy was removed from the county tax rolls by a memorandum from the superintendent of education of the state of Mississippi to Mr. Lex Cain, superintendent of Prentiss County Board of Education, plaintiff Sherein.

"Mr. Cain then submitted an amended levy for approval which did not include the properties within the Booneville Separate School District. The board of supervisors of Prentiss County, Miss., then levied a millage for school purposes for the Prentiss County School District on property in the county.

"Mr. Childers collected and remitted to the proper authorities this tax.'

Adams' ruling leaves unanswered the question of which school district should have actually received the 1980 tax money.

State law says "any taxable property which is located in any school district existing prior to June the first of any year shall be liable for all ad valorem taxes levied or imposed for and on behalf of such school district during such year." Adams said in his ruling that "on June 1, there was no Booneville Separate School District. The Booneville Separate School District was not created until July 1, 1980."

This is the first time the -judge has gone so far as to state this in court. He would go no further along those lines, however.

"The question here is not who is entitled to the tax on property in the separate school district for the year 1980-81," he said. "The question here is: Is the defendant liable for not collecting the tax?"

He ruled that Childers is not liable. The judge sustained Childers' motion to dismiss, with all costs assessed against Supt. Cain and the county school board.

The judge dismissed the suit "with prejudice." This means the suit cannot be filed again by the school board against Childers in Prentiss County Chancery

If the school board wishes to pursue the issue, they can, however, appeal the judge's ruling to a higher court. Once Childers' attorneys file the final decree in the case (probably some time this week), the school board will have 45 days in which to appeal the court's decision.

"We are studying it and considering it," Supt. Cain said Wednesday. "We've got 45 days to do so and we'll make a decision on it later

The school board met earlier this week, but did not make any decision because their attorney was out of town and could not meet with them

"I suppose we'll go on to the supreme court with it," Cain said, "because we don't feel like the judge gave us a very fair shake. . . and I don't feel like he followed the law. Had he followed the law, he would have given the decision to us."

"We will most likely go on to the supreme court with it, but we do want to talk with our lawyer further," he said

Two earlier lawsuits by the school board against Childers -- one in federal court in Aberdeen and the other in Prentiss County Chancery Court -- were also dismissed.

The first was dismissed in Aberdeen in March 1982 when Judge L.T. Senter Jr. ruled that his court did not have jurisdiction in the case.

In federal court in Aberdeen, Judge L.T. Senter Jr. ruled in March 1982 that his court did not have jurisdiction in the case. And, the other suit in Chancery Court was dismissed by Chancellor Adams last November on the grounds that the school board could not bring the suit against Childers as a public body. The judge also ruled that the school board had not invited the public to join the suit, something that was necessary before the school board members could file the suit as individual tax-

BIBLE QUESTION BÓX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I have heard that Noah was saved by staying out of the water, not going into it, therefore baptism is not essential to being saved from sin. Is this really ANSWER: The "water" of the flood has nothing to do with the "water" of baptism. One might as well argue that Shadrack, Meshach and Abednego were all cast into the "fire" and then, were saved-therefore we must all go to hell "fire" before we can go to heaven! One would make about as much sense as the other. Futhermore, if staying out of the water means salvation then what about the Lord? He was baptized by John! Does this mean he was lost? Then how about the 3,000 baptized on Pentecost were they all lost by getting into the water? The Bible plainly says, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." Now, one is either willing to accept this or he isn't. Peter said, in Acts 2:38, "Repent and be baptized everyone of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins." Paul was told to "arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins." Being baptized is not the only thing one must do to be saved, it is of several commands.

Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville has a new diagnostic aid.

This spring the hospital received a treadmill exerciser which is now being used to help diagnose heart problems in patients at the hospital.

According to Jim McAnally, technical director of Respiratory Therapy, the treadmill has already helped to determine heart problems in some patients - problems which had not appeared during other diagnostic tests, such as standard EKGs.

The treadmill itself is simply a moving belt on which the patient walks or runs in place. The speed of the belt is adjustable up to 10 miles per hour and it can be elevated at an incline of up to 25 degrees.

The treadmill is used in what is called Graded Exercise Testing. The patient is hooked up to an EKG machine and then placed on the treadmill. When the treadmill is started, the patient has to walk or run (depending on the speed setting), which gradually increases his

If changes show up in the EKG when the patient's heart is put under stress on the treadmill, the patient is referred to another hospital for a cardiac catheterization to determine if there is a blockage in the coronary arteries

A defibrillator is located near the testing area in the event of an emergency with a patient being tested.

McAnally said the treadmill is most often used with patients who are experiencing chest pains but register no abnormalities on standard tests.

When the patient is being monitored while on the treadmill, most problems will usually show up on the EKG. McAnally said.

The treadmill has been in use at the local hospital only since April. McAnally said last week the hospital has already seen problems show up during the treadmill test that had not appeared on other tests at the hospital.

The treadmill also has possibilities for use as an aid in rehabilitation therapy as well as a diagnostic aid. However, at the present time, it will be used only for diagnostic purposes at the local hospital, McAnally

He said the hospital hopes to add the needed additional equipment within the next six months so that the treadmill can be used for therapeutic purposes.

McAnally said that, with still other additional equipment, the treadmill can also be used in pulmonary stress testing to help diagnose breathing problems. The hospital hopes to eventually add that equipment, also, he said.

Another use of the treadmill is during physical exams of those who plan to start a jogging or other strenuous physical exercise program. Before beginning an exercise program, the patient can be monitored on the treadmill to see if any problems are likely to

However, such a test can be given only after it is ordered by one of the hospital's staff physicians, McAnally said. And, the patient must also sign a form releasing the hospital of liability, he said.

Now that the treadmill is available here, heart stress testing can be done locally. In the past, patients had to be sent to Tupelo or elsewhere for such tests, McAnally said.

Dr. David Chase is the staff physician who works with patients being monitored on the treadmill.

to submit property they owner of the next most would be willing to sell for the purpose of building a new post office. Postal officials said Tuesday only eight locations were submitted -- three downtown and five along U.S. 45. The three sites downtown were not large enough to meet the postal service's needs and were priced too high, they said. Postmaster Wright said he allowed four of the eight sites to be submitted after the March 31 deadline. He said he did this because he had heard rumors about a petition being circulated against locating the post office on the highway.

Deason said the owner of the site which was tentatively selected for the new location wanted $100,000 less. for his property than did the suitable site. The asking price was $101,000, he said.

expected to cost $800,000 to $900,000 to construct. Martin told the audience that the upper limit the postal service will pay for the land is 25 percent of the total construction cost.

"But we will never pay over the appraised fair market value," he added.

Local attorney Donald Franks spoke for many in the audience Tuesday when he told the postal officials that the people who use the post office should have some input as to where it is located.

"I'm more opposed to the methods you used to select the new post office site than I am to the location selected," he said.

Citizens at the meeting said they had been led to believe that the post office would be built on Highway 45 The new post office is regardless of what sites were submitted. That is why some suitable downtown locations were not submitted, it was said.

It was also pointed out that the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors had offered a trade of properties to the post service -- the property on which the farmer's market is located for the old post office and property.

To be considered as a possible site for the post office, property must lie within an area bounded on the north by West Chambers Street, on the south by Stanley, Lafayette and East Church streets, on the east by North College Street, North Street and North Smith Street, and on the west by Second Street (Highway 45).

The lot desired should measure approximately 200 feet by 250 feet, or 50,000 sq.

Some people told me "You better not go to the candidate speaking at Jumpertown. The candidates are out to get you after that column you wrote last week about the speaking at Thrasher."

But did that stop me? Of course not. I went anyway. But is was hot wearing a paper sack on my head. Several of the candidates recognized me anyway.

They even suggested that I wear a paper sack all the I will have to say that the candidate speaking at Jumpertown last Saturday did seem different than the first one which was held at Thrasher. The speaking at Thrasher began at 1 p.m. Jumpertown's speaking started at 4:30. The weather was cooler later in the afternoon and that seemed to help a lot. At least the audience and the candidates acted like they had some life in them.

I noticed most of the people in the audience were really listening to the candidate's speeches - especially when the candidates for sheriff made their speeches. The candidates for sheriff spoke last. When their time came, the audience gave them their full attention. The speaking concluded around 8:15. This speaking lasted longer than the one at Thrasher because there were several state candidates on hand to speak. There were several people from Jumpertown who really came prepared for the speaking. They knew it was going to get "deep" during the candidate's speeches, so they wore their boots.

That reminds me. One candidate told me how to get rid of those pesky rabbits who are always eating the vegetable plants in the garden.

Here's what you do. Place some large rocks in the garden by the plants the rabbits like to nibble. Then sprinkle black pepper on the rocks.

When the rabbit sniffs the pepper, he'll sneeze - thus hitting his little rabbit head on the rocks resulting in instant death.

If a candidate tells this joke at the speaking at Wheeler Saturday, be kind. Pretend you haven't heard it. Invasion Of The Crawdads

An anonymous benefactor gave The Banner-

Independent employees some boiled crawdads to eat on the 4th of July since we had to work that day.

Since I have a pet crawdad I could not bring myself to eat one. Although Norma doesn't have a pet crawdad, she couldn't bring herself to eat one either.

The only Banner employee who did eat one was the editor. He'll eat anything once.

So we found ourselves with all these nicely boiled crawdads in our refrigerator. We began thinking. It would be a shame to waste them. Then it dawned on us.

The Banner's advertising director, Kay Parr, will return from her vacation Thursday. We have a surprise

When she opens her desk drawer she's going to be greeted by a crawdad.

When she goes to get in her blue cadillac, she's going to find crawdads all over her car. Kay's going to think the crawdads are out to get her.

But this will just be our way of letting her know that we really missed her. I wonder if she missed us.

Two Sides Of A Mississippi Governor

By BILL MINOR Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - The whole picture is now complete as to what Ross Barnett was saying to President John Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy during the James Meredith-Ole Miss Crisis, which was considerably in contrast to what he was telling Mississippians.

Even after 20 years, and after much of what took place behind the scenes having leaked out in bits and pieces over the years, the serio-comic nature of the Barnett dealings with the Kennedys is still fascinating

But the release of the late President Kennedy's tapes to the public a week or so ago, including seven conversations with Barnett, an entirely new dimension is added to what went on behind the scenes in the tugof-war between federal and state power over the admission of Meredith to the all-white university.

I have listened to all the tapes in the Barnett-JFK group, and read the transcripts prepared by the Kennedy Library staff to make understandable some of the hard-to-hear portions that were taken on dictabelt.

To actually hear the voices of Kennedy and truth: that a Mississippi Barnett makes words written on paper more meaningful, especially to anyone who can recall the incredible amount of emotionalism that existed here in Mississippi at the

The conversations show Barnett as a stonewalling politician without compare, proposing deals with the President of the United States much as Barnett was accustomed to doing as a damage suit lawyer prior to his governship.

They show also that Barnett was not above telling the President of the United States a gross unhighway patrolman had died after being shot when the rioting broke out around the Lyceum where some 400 federal marshals had taken up position. In fact, no state trooper died. One patrolman was injured when he was struck League code of honor by a tear gas cannister fired by a marshal. Meanwhile, during the night of rioting, more than 60 federal marshals were wounded and required medical attention. Throughout the taped conversations, all of which

Attorney Says It Is Illegal To Destroy Posters

Dear Editor:

As county attorney I have received complaints from a number of candidates regarding destruction, defacing and pulling down of candidates' signs.

I would appreciate it if you would publish the following information regarding this matter.

Under three statutes of the Mississippi Code it is illegal to destroy signs:

'Destruction of Signs. Any person who shall willfully destroy, deface or pull down any milepost, signboard (emphasis added), or index board or road number or railroad crossing sign or flasher signal or other traffic control device, shall, on conviction thereof be liable for the actual cost of replacing or repairing such sign, and shall be fined not more than $500, or be imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months, or be punished by both such fine and imprisonment." --

County distribution of transfer payments, the second leading source of income in Mississippi, varies in relation to population, age of residents, and income, according to an Economic Brief published 'recently by the Mississippi Research and Development Center.

This latest study examines transfer payments by individual counties in the the leading source of income in 43 of the state's 82 counties, according to the 1980 data.

Rabies May Increase In State

"We've been lucky," says Dr. Clyde Taylor, a veterinarian with the Extension service. "And vaccination is one reason we haven't had it."

To prolong that "luck," the Mississippi Legislature this year passed a law which will go into effect July 1, requiring the vaccination of cats against rabies. A similar requirement for dogs has been on the books. for years.

The common conception that dogs are the only pet carriers of rabies is wrong, says the Extension service. Rabid cats are now more common than rabid dogs.

Another misconception is that vaccinated animals cannot be rabid. Dr. Michael Burridge, epidemiologist at the University of Florida, points out that two of the last three human rabies deaths in the United States were caused by bites from vaccinated dogs.

The fact that there is a relatively high incidence of rabies in the surrounding states indicates that there will almost inevitably be an' increase in the cases in Mississippi.

"This evidence, along with the explosive outbreak among raccoons in the mid-Atlantic area during the past two years, suggests that Mississippi may soon experience a similar spread of the rabies virus in wildlife species," says Dr. W.E. Reicken Jr., epidemiologist for the state of Mississippi.

Rabies is not yet common in Mississippi, but the threat of it is very real. Reicken, service personnel and advisors warn Mississippians of the danger of handling wild animals, keeping them as pets, or moving them into the state from other areas.

SEAFOOD DELIGHTS - Fried shrimp and oysters are family favorites at Becky Greenway's home. Mrs. Greenway dips the oysters and shrimp in a mixture of evaporated milk, water, egg, flour, salt and pepper, before frying them until they are golden brown.

By ANGELA SMITH Staff Reporter

Brighten up your summer by adding such sizzling dishes as Mexican Chicken of Enchilada Casserole to the menu.

If Mexican food is too spicy for your palate, substitute some seafood dishes such as Seafood Delight or Shrimp Creole.

Both seafoods and Mexican foods are favorites of Becky Greenway of Booneville.

Mrs. Greenway, who once lived on the Gulf Coast, is especially fond of seafoods. She has found that a simple batter made of evaporated milk diluted with water, egg, and flour, is one of the best recipes for frying shrimp or oysters.

Another of her favorite seafood recipes if Seafood Delight. "This recipe really is a delight,"she says. This recipe's ingredients feature crab and boiled shrimp.

If recipes from south of the border are right down your alley, then you'll want to try Mrs. Greenway's recipe for Mexican Chicken and Enchilada Casserole.

She uses mild enchalida sauce when she prepares enchilada casserole. Leftovers can be frozen and

The veteran prosecuting attorney cited his record in Pontotoc County on convictions and his relationship with law enforcement officials in kicking off his race. "It's time for a change," Roberts declared. "I'm pledging to bring an active prosecutor role to the office of District Attorney. I will put into effect an organized effort against organized crime. I'll make your district attorney's office efficient and respon-Mr. Roberts established his own law practice in Pontotoc following his graduation from the University of Mississippi Law School in 1971 and is the senior partner in the firm of Roberts and Tutor. He is a graduate of Millsaps College and holds a Master's Degree in Business Administration from Mississippi State University in addition to his law degree from Ole Miss. He worked his way through Millsaps, Mississippi State and Jimmy Roberts has been involved since early in his childhood and believes public service is a high calling and citizen responsibility. He was twice elected County Attorney without opposition and is the senior prosecuting attorney in the First District, including all members of the present District Attorney's staff. He was active in student, athletic and academic functions in school, was a member of the football team at Millsaps, and was selected for many offices and honors at State and Ole Miss, including being president of the Law School Student Body and being selected to Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership society. He is a member of the Millsaps, Missippi State and Ole Miss Alumni associations.

In his public service experience he has prosecuted tough cases of all kinds including capital murder. He has served as Youth Court Prosecutor. He serves as attorney for many school districts, public agencies and power associations, including the Regional Emergency Medical Service.

Roberts is a member of all the York Rite Masonic bodies in Pontotoc County, is a Shriner and a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason, Corinth Consistory. He is a member of First United Methodist Church of Pontotoc where he is active in various organizations and has held several offices.

In 1971 Jim Roberts was named Outstanding Young Man of Pontotoc County. He is a former president of the Pontotoc Rotary Club, has served as chairman of the Cancer Society Campaign, the Heart Fund and currently is chairman of the Northeast Mental Health Commission

He is active in professional bar activities on county, district, state and national levels, including holding membership in various prosecuting attorney's groups. Jim Roberts is 38 years old.

"I have a rather old fashioned feeling about crime," he said. "I simply want to put those who commit crime behind bars." "I intend to make the D.A. 'S office one close to the people and receptive to the courts. I'll be on the job where your sheriff, police, chief or any other law enforcement officer can find me if he or she needs me during an investigation. I'll surround myself with the most capable assistants possible and the best qualified investigators I can find. "I'll be your prosecutor. I'll prepare the prosecution and you'll see me in court. This would be done by utilizing the five-cent a gallon federal tax which went on our gas on April 1. 1983 and which is now expected to bring $120 million into our highway program each year.

By continuing this tax after it is scheduled to be repealed we can adequately finance needed construction, maintenance and repairs and pay as we go.

POLITICS

"For too long your highway department has been embroiled in politics. First, your commissioner has sought other jobs and been more interested in his politics in another district than in building roads in our district.

Longtime, dedicated highway department employees say there is little interest in highway business and that jobs are often at the sake of politics. I'll immediately put into effect a program of cooperation and establish an atmosphere where we can serve the taxpayers as they deserve.

CLEANER HIGHWAYS

I have long advocated a program where we use persons convicted of minor offenses for public service work. Instead of slapping an offender on the wrists and sending them back on the streets, I propose to use them, at the discretion of the courts, for clean-up details where they can work on Saturdays or holidays, pick up trash, beer cans and junk. We'll have prettier highways and better people. I'm not talking about hardened criminals . . . I'm talking about those who have committed a relatively minor offense and who can be rehabilitated.

CITIZEN INVOLVEMENT

Your Highway Commissioner is not above the people. He needs to remain in touch. I'll hold public meetings in your hometowns. I'll be on the job and ready to meet with anyone about highway business. I'll listen to your needs and be on the job to serve you. I need your help. We're winning this election for the people and better highways.

USDA EXERCISES PIK OPTION FOR 1983-CROP UPLAND COTTON

Farmers who do not have enough upland cotton under government loan to cover the amount they will receive under the payment-in-kind program will be required to obtain loans on their 1983 production. Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block

Farmers who did not plant upland cotton in 1983 or who have not planted enough to cover the amount they are scheduled to receive under PIK will instead receive payment-in-kind cotton determining there is an presently in government inventory, he said.

Under PIK, the U.S. Department of Agriculture makes in-kind payments to upland cotton farmers who reduce their plantings to specified levels. Cotton farmers who agreed to reduce their 1983 planting will receive an amount of upland cotton up to 80 percent of the amount they would have produced on the PIK acreage.

Block said all producers who signed a contract to participate in the 1983 PIK program agreed to obtain a loan on their 1983 production for PIK purposes to satisfy program needs, if required by CCC. USDA decided to exercise this option after insufficient quantity of upland cotton currently available to USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation to meet PIK needs, he said.

> FARMERS ADVISED TO REPORT CROP PLANTINGS

Farmers are reminded that July 15 is the final date for certifying 1983 planted acreages of spring seeded crops to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

crops are cotton, rice, corn, and grain sorghum. Certifications are also being taken on soybeans this year. Although soybeans is not a program crop this year under the ARP and PIK program, it is important for all farmers to report their soybean acreages. This planted acreage record will be important to farmers in event a program for soybeans is put into effect in the future.

To the voters of the south half of Prentiss County:

am Charles L. Childers, asking for your support for Justice Court judge.

am 36 years old, the son of Mrs. Lillian Childers and the late Millard A. Childers. I am married to the former Patricia Taylor, daughter of Mathel and Lorene Taylor of Marietta. We have four teenage children.

I am a Vietnam War Veteran and have 10 years experience in law enforcement. I am graducate of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers Training Academy . I have experiences in city, county and state law enforcement. I was chosen outstanding young Law Enforcement Officer by the Booneville Jaycees in 1977, an award that I am very proud of. Also, I was chosen outstanding Young Man of America in 1982.

As the father of four teenagers I will work closely with our youth and treat them as would like for my own children to be treated.

I feel that my experience in the field as an arresting officer will greatly benefit me is your judge. And, with all due respect to my honorable apponents, I feel the insight that I have gained as an officer of the law will be a great asset to this position because it will enable me to evaluate all situtations from every angle.

All cases in my court will be tried fairly and impartially, based on the evidence presented. I will assume full responsibility for my decesions and actions on each case.

I intend to be a full-time Justice Court Judge and available to the people of Prentiss County 24 hours a day, seven days a week with no outside interest taking precedence over this important position.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated and your support will not be forgotten after the August Primary.

Can I make money growing trees? Many landowners ask this question. Perhaps you have also.

Forests cover more than half of Prentiss County. Some of this large acreage is intensively managed for one or more uses - timber, recreation, wildlife. Even more is not managed. This low productivity is particularly true in private nonindustrial woodlands. The nation depends upon the land to meet the increasing need for wood. Low forest productivity also means independent forest owners are losing the opportunity for greater income. What's best for you? There are many factors to consider. Even if income from timber is not the major objective, forestry can be a profitable investment and at the same time it improves other values such as water, wildlife and recreation.

The demand for forest products is expected to double by the year 2030 because of a growing population, and growing per capita use of wood and paper products. The country is looking to the fast-growing woodlands of the South to meet that growth. This means great opportunity for managing their timberland

Timber growth exceeds harvest today in the South, but there are concerns. There is a steady loss of pine forests as many landowners harvest timber and make no provision for reforestation. Growing cities, farm crops, and other uses steadily reduce the forest base. We must grow more wood on fewer acres. This calls for better timber management. Although stumpage prices (the price paid for standing trees) are at an all-time high in most of the state, some investment firms feel southern pine stumpage prices will continue to increase. Price increases as much as four percent above inflation are projected by some analysts.

There are risks in growing trees as a crop: fire, insects, diseases. Fire protection, landowners who are however, is better than it has ever been. Currently there is no insurance to protect against all the possible losses. There is growing public recognition goals. of the need to encourage management of private timberland, and legislators are discussing ways to offset these kinds of losses.

Investing in forestry is a complex business. When all factors are considered. forest management is an attractive investment for many landowners. Each must make his own decision, own ability and his own

Many tree injuries are caused by well-meaning people who don't realize that the seemingly minor damage they are inflicting can eventually lead to decline or even death for a tree. This is because minor wounds can lead to insect and disease attack that can harm the cambium (growth layer) lying immediately beneath the bark. Simple precautions can pervent these types of injuries. Usually all it takes is for people to be aware of harmful pracitices. Keep in mind:

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

A Meditation From The Upper Room

By Esther M. Bailey

A "time out" is a device used in many sports. Playing stops and players are allowed a few seconds to rest, plan new strategy, and gather physical strength to play more effectively. In our family we use a "time out" when we are about to lose control of our tempers. A short retreat to a quiet room in solitude does wonders for agitated dispositions.

Jesus gave us the perfect example of time out as He retreated to be with God. When He prayed and meditated alone on the hillside, Jesus put His daily worries aside, asking God for new power for living.

How often we become so preoccupied with our daily routines that we ignore those special private moments! Taking time out is one means of finding the peace that is vital in our fast-paced world to replenish our inner strength.

PRAYER: God of peace, thank You for times of aloneness and solitude. Fill us with new strength for living the Christian life as we pause to be with You. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Aloneness and solitude are valuable as a time to receive energy from God.
