Booneville Woman Named To Board

Mrs. Nelwyn Murphy of Booneville was recently appointed by the Prentiss County Board of Supervisors as the Prentiss County representative on the Northeast Regional Library board of trustees.

She is replacing Mrs. Emmons Turner Jr. who has served in that capacity since 1958.

Mrs. Murphy will serve with trustees from each of the other four counties - Alcorn, Benton, Tishomingo and Tishomingo - which comprise the Northeast Regional Library System.

The trustees meet monthly to conduct the business of the system, make plans, and assist in supervising the 15 libraries in the regional organization. Mrs. Betty Conaway is the director of the system which is headquartered in the Corinth library building.

Mrs. Murphy formerly was a member of the faculty of Booneville city schools, principal of the elementary school, served three terms as county superintendent of education and is now associated with Murphy's International.

She is active in the First United Methodist Church and the Pilot Club, having served in most offices of the local club and as district coordinator of the Louisiana-Mississippi district off Pilot International. She has also served on the board of trustees of Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

Football Season Begins

The 1983 football season kicks off tonight with Booneville playing at Falkner. Thrasher travels to Blue Mountain tomorrow night and Northeast meets Gulf Coast Junior College Saturday night in Keenum Stadium.

For a preview of the upcoming football season, see the special football tab inside today's Banner-Independent.

Police Officer Resigns Following Suspension

Police Officer William (Willie) Anderson has resigned from the Booneville Police Department after being suspended from duty for failure to show up for work.

According to Police Commissioner Charles Steen, Anderson did not report for duty as scheduled one night last week and was suspended from duty until the city board meets next Tuesday night.

However, Steen said Anderson came in and resigned from the Police Department before the board could meet on the matter. He also signed papers to withdraw his pension from the police department.

This reportedly was not the first time that Anderson had failed to report for work without calling in.

Anderson also serves as Justice Court Judge of the 5th district. He was defeated by Dexter Cadle in last week's runoff election for the new post of Justice Court Judge of the Northern District.

Class Hours Shortened Due To Extreme Heat

The Prentiss County Schools and the Booneville Separate Schools are operating on an abbreviated schedule this week because of the hot weather.

Classes at the county schools this week have been held from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Classes at Booneville City Schools this week have started at 7:30 a.m. and have dismissed at 1 p.m.

County Superintendent of Education Lex Cain said Monday that the county schools would try to resume their regular schedule next week.

Booneville City School Superintendent Robert Griffin said Wednesday morning that the decision would be made by tomorrow whether or not classes would resume on a regular schedule next week. "We're going to wait as late as we can to make a decision," he said. "If the weather is as hot as it's been, it's my guess that we will continue on the short schedule," he said.

Candidate Qualifies As Independent

Johnny Mock has filed qualifying papers as an Independent candidate to seek the office of 5th District Constable.

Thus far he is the only candidate to qualify as an Independent.

Friday, Sept. 9, is the last date for Independent candidates to qualify.

Local Offices To Close Monday

The Prentiss County Courthouse, Booneville City Hall, and the Booneville Post Office will all be closed Monday, Sept. 5, in observance of the Labor Day holiday.

The Banner-Independent office will be open Monday.

Negligence Charged

$1½ Million Suit Filed Against Sheriff

By KEN CHRISTIAN
Editor

A half-million-dollar lawsuit was filed against Prentiss County Sheriff John McCauley last week in the local circuit court by the family of Jerry Wayne Lewis, who was shot and killed during a family argument on Aug. 4.

The lawsuit was filed by Lewis' wife, Mildred, on behalf of herself and the deceased's three children, all minors.

The suit claims that Lewis' death "was caused or contributed to by the negligent acts and omissions of the defendant and his employees for failing to fulfill the duties of his office as Sheriff of Prentiss County...; for his failure to discharge his duties to avoid and avert such breaches of the peace and assaults which had been repeatedly reported to him; for the defendant's failure to properly supervise and direct his deputies and other employees...; and for his failure to exercise that degree of care and caution which a reasonable and prudent person would have exercised under the same or similar circumstances."

According to the suit, on or about Aug. 3, numerous members of Lewis' family repeatedly telephoned and made personal reports to the sheriff and his employees regarding drinking, fighting, threats, and other breaches of the peace which were taking place between two of the deceased's brothers who lived in his immediate neighborhood.

Lewis and his family reportedly made repeated efforts to summon the sheriff and his deputies to arrest the brothers "to avoid further breaches of the peace which were being threatened by them."

According to the suit,

Sheriff McCauley and his deputies "continually refused and neglected to answer the complaint and pleas of help lodged by the deceased and his family members for a period in excess of 18 hours."

On the afternoon of Aug. 4, the disturbance ultimately resulted in the shooting death of Jerry Wayne Lewis by one of his brothers who had been involved in the disturbance.

Mrs. Lewis claims in the lawsuit that, as a result of the negligent acts and omissions of the sheriff and his employees, she suffered the wrongful death of her husband. The suit, on behalf of Mrs. Lewis and her children, asks that the sheriff be responsible for all damages as a result "of the wrongful death of Jerry Wayne Lewis, including the loss of pecuniary value for his life, loss of consortium, companionship, paternal guidance, love and affection."

The suit also maintains that Lewis survived for a period of time after he was shot and that he "suffered great pain and anguish, both physical and mental."

The suit asks for damages for the pain and suffering and for the expenses of burial, including funeral expenses. This amounts to $250,000 for actual damages and $250,000 for punitive damages, for a total of $500,000. The suit also asks that the sheriff be responsible for all legal costs involved in the case.

According to the suit, the acts and omissions of the sheriff in this case "evidenced a willful and reckless disregard for the lives and safety of the public, including the deceased."

Prentiss County Coroner James Horn served the summons against McCauley Monday night.

Shot In Head

Body Of 16-Year-Old Found Near Cairo

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Results are not complete yet from an autopsy performed Tuesday night on a 16-year-old Cairo boy who was found dead early Monday on a gravel road by a school bus driver about a half mile from the boy's home.

Jackie Wayne Johnson, 16, of Route 6, Booneville, had been shot once in the head. A .38 caliber pistol was recovered near the body, according to Prentiss County Deputy John Moore.

A substitute school bus driver at Hill's Chapel, R.B. Caviness, discovered the body on a gravel road about five miles southwest of the Cairo Store.

Investigators are unsure whether foul play was involved in the shooting.

Prentiss County Coroner James Horn said Wednesday morning there was a possibility the shot was self-inflicted.

An autopsy was performed on Johnson Tuesday night at Magnolia Hospital in Corinth. However, it will be possibly three more days before the cause of death is known because evidence has been sent to the state crime lab, Horn said.

Johnson had been noticed missing earlier Monday morning by family members who went to wake him for school and discovered he was gone, Deputy Moore said.

Johnson was enrolled as a 10th grader at New Site High School.

Funeral services will be held today, Thursday, Sept. 1, at 2 p.m. at McMillan Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be in Shady Grove Cemetery.

He was a Baptist.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Betty Johnson of Booneville; two brothers, Darrell Carver of Georgia and Donnie Carver of Booneville; five sisters, Sharon Moss of Illinois, Dorothy Carver of Dalton, Ga., Peggy Sue Wisniewski, Linda Carver and Sandra Johnson, all of Booneville.

McMillan Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Power Rates To Revert

TVA power consumers next Oct. 2 will begin paying about the same for power as they paid last October - and about half of them will pay slightly less - under a recommendation by manager of Power Hugh G. Parris approved by the TVA Board Wednesday.

The action was taken during the annual rate review by the TVA Board in Knoxville.

From April through September consumers have been paying about 5.8 percent less under a 6-month temporary rate reduction,

A Friend To Lean On

Vicki Counce and Tammy Boyer, Northeast Junior College Tiger Dancers, use each other as a prop after performing a routine in the summer heat on the Prentiss County Courthouse lawn recently. It's traditional for the Tiger Band and auxiliary units to march through downtown Booneville and perform on the courthouse lawn as band camp ends just prior to the beginning of the school year.

Compulsory Attendance To Be Enforced In County

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Children aged 6 and 7 in Prentiss County, as well as the entire state, are required to attend school this fall under the state's new Compulsory Attendance Law.

Parents of children of these ages who are not able to attend because of medical problems must present sufficient documentation such as a physician's statement. Other children aged 6 and 7 must be enrolled in a public, private, or a home instruction program.

A certificate of enrollment must be filed with the clerk of the youth court in the county of residence by Sept. 15 for all children enrolled in non-public schools and who have attained age 6 but not age 8 on or before Sept. 1.

Enrollment certification forms are available from the Prentiss County school attendance counselor.

"All parents who have not enrolled their children or whose children are unlawfully absent will come to the attention of the attendance officers hired throughout the state," according to Budd Hughes, executive director of the Governor's Commission for Children and Youth (GC-CY).

Parents of children enrolled in special education classes outside traditional schools, also must get certificate of enrollment forms.

Effective Today

New Publisher Named For Banner-Independent

Editor Ken Christian has been named publisher of The Banner-Independent, effective today, Sept. 1.

At the same time, former publisher Paul Miller was named publisher of The State Gazette, a five-day-per-week newspaper in Dyersburg, Tenn.

Jack Harrison, president of the New York Times Regional Newspaper Group, flew in Monday morning from Atlanta to make the announcements in Booneville and in Dyersburg.

Both The Banner-Independent and The State Gazette are owned by the New York Times company, whose regional headquarters are located in Atlanta.

A native of Alabama, Miller has 32 years of experience in the newspaper industry.

Prior to coming to Booneville, he served for a number of years as advertising director and salesman at the Florence, Ala., Times-Daily. He has also served as advertising director at newspapers in Yazoo City and in Morristown, Tenn.

Miller has been publisher of The Banner-Independent for the past five-plus years.

Christian, a native of Booneville, began his newspaper career as a photographer at The Banner-Independent. He moved on to become a photographer and writer and to do ad makeup at the Prentiss County Home News, a newspaper which ceased publication here in 1977.

Christian also worked as a staff photographer and reporter for The Daily Corinthian prior to being named editor of The Banner-Independent in October 1979.

"We are pleased to be able to name a local person to serve as publisher of The Banner-Independent," Harrison said in announcing Christian's appointment.

"Paul Miller will be missed by the newspaper's staff and by the community as a whole," Christian said of Miller's new assignment. "Although we here at the newspaper will miss Paul's guidance and his friendship, we are very pleased to see his advancement within the company. The promotion could not have gone to a more deserving person."

Compulsory

Marietta has been hired as school attendance counselor for Prentiss County and the separate school districts of Booneville and Baldwyn.

"My main objective is helping parents get their child in school and keeping him there," Mrs. Odle said.

When a child not attending school is reported to Mrs. Odle she then contacts the child's parents. Some parents may be unaware of the new Compulsory Attendance Law.

After a child has not been enrolled within 15 calendar days of the first school day, she will then provide a written notice to the parents that they are coming close to non-compliance with the Compulsory School Attendance Law.

After 30 days, if the child is still not attending school, Mrs. Odle must file a petition in youth court charging the parents with educational neglect. The matter is then in the hands of the youth court judge and the prosecutor.

If a parent or guardian of a 6 or 7 year old child not in compliance with the law is guilty of educational neglect, and, is convicted, he or she could be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for up to one year or both.

"I see myself as an advocate for parents," Mrs. Odle said. "I'll exhaust all efforts to help parents get their child in school. I will attempt to secure social services if they are needed to enable the child to attend school," she said.

"It will only be after all else fails that I would file a petition charging parents with educational neglect," she said.

Another instance of prosecution is if a 6 or 7 year old has 10 unexcused absences from school. After 20, absences, prosecution would take place.

However, Mrs. Odle has requested the school principals to tell her after a child has five unexcused absences so she can begin working to solve the problem sooner.

"After the parents enroll their child, they have to keep him in school," Mrs. Odle said.

Thus far, a seven-year-old in the Jumpertown area has been reported to Mrs. Odle as not being enrolled in school.

The school principals and superintendents of education will contact Mrs. Odle concerning children not enrolled in school. However, if others have such information, Mrs. Odle asks that they also contact her.

Another of her duties is to provide counseling for all school age children in order to encourage them to attend school.

Booneville Schools Superintendent Robert Griffin said the Compulsory Attendance Law can be a good thing if properly administered and carried out.

He noted that besides medical reasons, there may be some extenuating circumstances where a child wouldn't be required to attend school -- such as if a kindergarten teacher feels a child isn't mature enough.

"The program will help where parents are indifferent," he noted.

"We wouldn't have the illiteracy we have today if compulsory school attendance had been enforced many years ago."

The new law is being implemented on a staggered basis. Each school year after 1983-84, one year of age will be added to the age of pupils required to attend school. In the 1989-90 school year, every child six years of age through age 13 will be required to attend school.

"I think the Compulsory School Attendance Law will be beneficial in years to come," according to Prentiss County School Superintendent of Education Lex Cain.

"In the future it will stop students from dropping out of school. Maybe as they get older they will realize the importance of air education."

Mrs. Odle will be available to speak to civic organizations and clubs about the Compulsory School Attendance Law.

She asks that anyone having information concerning a 6 or 7 year old not enrolled in school to call her at 728-5121.

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

QUESTION: Mr. Hogland, I have read in the Bible where God repents, and yet the Bible says God can do no wrong, how does one harmonize these statements?

ANSWER: Actually, it is all in understanding the meaning of the word "repent." Like many words in the Bible it has a different meaning when applied to God. When the Bible says God repented it simply means he changed his mind. In (Gen. 6:6,7) "It repented Jehovah" is explained by saying "It grieved him in his heart." The idea being that man's sins had grieved God, which would be the natural reaction of God. In (Tit. 1:2) we are told that "God cannot lie." We are also told in (Heb. 6:18) that it is impossible for God to lie. The reason for this is that it is impossible for God to sin. His divine nature makes it impossible for him to commit any kind of wrong. It is true the Bible says in a number of places that God repented (see Ex. 32:14; Nu. 23:19 and 1 Sam. 15:11). All of these texts tell us that God changed his mind with reference to certain things. When man repents he must not only change his mind but also turn his back on the sin he has committed. Repentance on the part of man involves a change of mind followed by a reformed life.

Director Of Planning & Development District Resigns As Result Of Audit

Charles Spearman, executive director of the Northeast Mississippi Planning and Development District in Booneville, has apparently resigned his position as a result of a federal audit that questioned the district's use of more than $46,000 in federal grants.

According to reports published in two area daily newspapers, Spearman offered his resignation to the district's board of directors on Aug. 12. He was immediately replaced by Mrs. Sadie Hardin, Spearman's executive assistant.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal and The Daily Corinthian reported last week that Spearman's resignation came just days after the district received a memorandum from the Appalachian Regional Commission that stated that he could not handle ARC grants nor manage employees who administer such grants.

If these -- and other -- conditions are not met, the district cannot receive further ARC grants, the memorandum states.

The memorandum came as the result of an audit of $46,618 in ARC grants awarded to the district since 1979. The memorandum claims that $35,895 of that amount was used incorrectly.

The audit was prompted by an anonymous letter sent to the ARC office in Washington, D.C., which contained copies of pages from a state audit conducted in 1981 of the duplicating department at Northeast Mississippi Junior College.

The ARC memorandum questions whether the district actually received paper-duplicating services for which it paid Northeast Junior College $4,700 from 1978 through January 1981.

According to the Memphis newspaper, the memorandum claims that Dr. James Rhodes, head of the college's duplicating department retained the $4,700 and then paid at least $2,300 in cash to Spearman. The ARC document also alleges Rhodes paid $1,200 to Spearman's charge account at a Sears store.

Apparently as a result of the state audit conducted in 1981, Spearman and Rhodes repaid the junior college $4,700.

According to The Commercial Appeal, planning and development district officials maintained that they did receive the paper-duplicating services and argued that the payments from Rhodes to Spearman were gifts from the junior college. The money from these gifts was used to purchase furniture and other items for the district, officials claimed.

The ARC memorandum says the district's explanations are "unconvincing, sometimes contradictory and serve to raise more questions than they answer." The willingness of Spearman and Rhodes to repay the junior college also discredits the explanation, it says.

The memorandum also reported that documentation was not available for travel expenses for which Spearman was paid $13,000. Other disallowed costs include excessive reimbursements for travel performed by unidentified officials, entertainment charges and purchases of unallowable supplies and gifts.

In February, the ARC announced it would withhold additional funds from the district until it was certain its funds would be safeguarded. The governor's office of federal-state programs, which distributes ARC and other federal grants in the state, announced a similar prohibition in March.

The ARC memorandum lists five conditions which the district must meet in order to have the ban on funds lifted.

These five conditions include the disassociation of Spearman from ARC grants and the repayment of the $15,227 in disallowed ARC funds.

The Commercial-Appeal quoted an unidentified district spokesman as saying the district has either already complied with the conditions or is preparing to comply.

However, before the district can receive further ARC funds, the governor's office of federal-state programs must also lift its ban. A spokesman for the state office said it will lift its ban if the district is willing to meet other conditions.

TVA

according to a TVA spokesman.

A typical residential consumer using 1,000 kilowatt-hours a month under the most widely used rate level (RS-8, RP-K) was paying $47.58 in October 1982 and is now paying $44.53 as a result of the temporary rate reduction expiring September 30. The consumers will pay $46.87 next October.

Another residential customer using 2,000 kilowatt-hours a month, a summer air-conditioning usage, was paying $95.08 last October, is now paying $86.06 and will be paying $90.74 for that amount of power next October.

Customers using between 800 and 3,500 kilowatt-hours a month will pay slightly less on and after Oct. 2 then they were paying last October. Based on customer billing data of 1982, that is 53 percent of the 2.8 million residential consumers in the TVA service area.

"I believe we have a tight grip on our power costs now, and we are making some progress," Parris told the Board. "And, unless we have some major unforeseen developments that affect our costs, we can keep power bills at these 1982 levels through October 1984.

Specifically, Parris said above-normal rainfall resulting in good hydro generation, better than expected performance from TVA's two nuclear plants, tighter management control of power costs, and lower interest rates than expected had combined to produce a revenue surplus of $152 million in 1983. He proposed to use the surplus to reduce power bills in 1984.

Parris said the $152 million and an additional $8 million remaining from a previous revenue credit can be combined and used to replace a similar 1983 revenue credit that will run out September 30.

A 5.8 percent temporary rate reduction, effective last April 2, is also expiring September 30, causing power rates to automatically go back next October 2 to the same level they were from October 1982 to February 1983.

Parris also reported the results of a new comparison of power rates in major cities in the Southeast and nationally.

One residential bill, the TVA bill of about $47 for 1,000 kilowatt-hours is the lowest in the Southeast and lowest among those surveyed nationally except for Portland, Oregon, at $38. Portland and the Northwest region still benefit from substantial low-cost hydropower.

On the survey of power rates for a medium-size industrial user, Parris reported that the TVA service area had become slightly more competitive since the previous industrial survey reported to the Board last February. TVA has dropped one level in the comparison, leaving only Charlotte, North Carolina, and Portland, Oregon, with lower rates in the survey.

Talk 'O The Town

Street Opinion

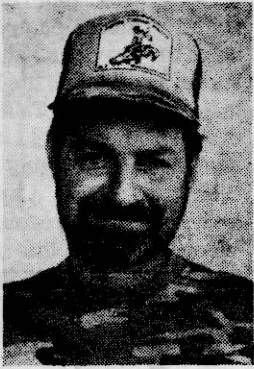

QUESTION: Do you think Evelyn Gandy failed to win the Democratic nomination for governor because she is a woman?

BRENDA CRABB of Route 5, Booneville: "Yes. I didn't vote for her because I think a man should be our leader. I believe the Bible says a man should be the head of the house and the leader."

DON JONES of Route 7, Booneville: "I really don't think that's the reason for her defeat but it probably had a lot to do with it. I think her defeat had to do with the racial statements she made several years ago. She had a lot of qualifications but people in this state aren't ready for a woman governor."

MATTIE STEVENS of Route 4, Booneville: "I think it had a lot to do with it. She got a lot of votes in the first primary but then lost in the runoff. A lot of the younger people don't vote and a lot of the older people had rather have a man in office because they have always had one."

JIMMY RAY DOWNS of Route 7, Booneville: "Yes. I believe Mississippi learned a lesson from the people of Chicago. They had a woman mayor for four years and they thought that was enough. People in Mississippi didn't even want to try a woman governor once."

RONNIE WENZEL of Route 5, Booneville: "Yes. She had the qualifications. She was the most qualified of the candidates running. But a lot of people told me that she couldn't handle Washington because she is a woman."

MRS. J.W. RICHARDSON of Route 3, Rienzi: "No, I don't think so. I just think more voters were for Bill Allain. But I think being governor is a man's job. I feel like a man can do a better job as governor than a woman."

Eyes On Mississippi

Evers' Candidacy For Governor Would Assure Demo Victory

By BILL MINOR
Syndicated Columnist

JACKSON, Miss. - Back in 1948, white supremacists had a dream: they would jam the nation's presidential electoral college machinery and force concessions from the Democratic or Republican Party to preserve the South's "way of life."

It did not succeed.

What a great irony it is 35 years later, a black man who made his reputation in the civil rights movement the white segregationists failed to stop, is talking about jamming Mississippi's obscure electoral college for electing governors.

The black man, of course, is Charles Evers, the unsinkable exponent of Machiavellian politics in the Magnolia State. Evers says he can use the state's electoral college machinery to get concessions from the white candidates for governor.

Once more, Evers comes forth and offers himself on behalf of the entire black race in Mississippi at the head of a gubernatorial crusade. He did that in 1971, but then it was something special because blacks had just attained the vote in substantial numbers.

Now the blush of enthusiasm for an Evers gubernatorial candidacy no longer exists in the black community.

Evers seems to think in terms of the 173,000 votes he got against Bill Waller back in 1971, or the 131,000 votes he got for United States senator in 1978.

His last two outings as a candidate have resulted in defeats - when he ran for the State Senate in 1979 and for re-election as Fayette mayor in 1981. In both cases, his black constituency abandoned him.

As an independent candidate in this November's general election pitting Democrat Bill Allain and Republican Leon Bramlett, Evers doesn't figure to get enough black votes to alter the outcome, in the estimation of this writer.

But the question Evers has raised about the electoral college, which goes into operation if no candidate for governor receives a majority of the popular and the "electoral" vote, deserves comment.

It's still unknown to most Mississippians that when they vote in August or November to elect a governor, they are not necessarily making the final decision on who is made governor.

Not until the Mississippi

House of Representatives sits as an "electoral college" after it convenes the following January is the governor officially elected under Mississippi's constitution.

This was a system the framers of Mississippi's 1890 constitution patterned after the electoral college for electing presidents. But the Mississippians had something else in mind in 1890. They wanted a mechanism which would prevent a black from ever becoming governor.

The state constitution gave each district in the Mississippi House the number of electoral votes it had seats in the House. There was no conception then that House districts would be made up parts of several counties, as exists today.

The electoral vote of each district would be cast for the gubernatorial candidate receiving the highest number of votes in the county or counties in the district. If no candidate wound up with a majority of the electoral votes, then the next phase of the electoral college machinery would go into operation.

Each representative would then be free to decide on his own between the two gubernatorial candidates who had the largest number of electoral votes.

The apportionment of the Legislature had been carefully rigged by the constitution writers so the balance of power would be in the white majority counties, leaving no doubt that if the House decided the gubernatorial outcome, a white would win.

The great irony today, 93 years after the Mississippi electoral college mechanism was put in place, is that nobody really knows how it would work if it were called upon to function.

One thing is certain, however. A Republican candidate for governor most assuredly would not win. The reason is 95 percent of the House members belong to the Democratic Party.

The only way a Republican could ever become governor of Mississippi would be by winning a majority of the popular vote, in a majority of the counties.

So Charles Evers' idea of throwing the election of governor into the House would do only one thing: assure the Democrat of winning.

Good old Charles doesn't seem to have enough clout any more to be a spoiler, much as he would like to be. At least, he keeps the rest of us on our toes.

Ag Affairs

Many Presidents Had Strong Agricultural Connections

By ED BLAKE
Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation

Because of the close ties between agriculture and U.S. public affairs, it is no wonder that 24 U.S. Presidents have had close personal associations with farm life in the history of this republic.

It is only natural that early U.S. Presidents would be especially close to agriculture since the first century of this nation's history was largely centered around the development of food production to support a growing country.

The first farmer-President was George Washington who was raised on a plantation in Virginia and had a lot more to do with farm life than cutting down a cherry tree in his youth.

Although Washington is famous as a soldier and statesman, historians generally agree that his first love was the development of his Mount Vernon farm overlooking the Potomac River.

There he developed a virtual experiment station and kept laborious records of different wheat varieties and compiled America's first crop reports based on survey information.

Washington believed that American farmers needed a race of mules and he looked into the matter to find that the best mules came from Andalusian asses, a Spanish race of such quality that the king of that country prohibited their export.

But Washington dropped diplomatic hints around the courts of Europe and in 1784 received two such animals as gifts from Charles III, the King of Spain. Washington began breeding the animals to a harem of 30 mares which he and his neighbors gathered together.

By 1799, when he died, Washington was the owner of 58 mules, and this country was well on its way to a tremendous agricultural explosion brought about to no small degree by the mule resource.

By the 1930's Mississippi alone had a mule population estimated at 358,000.

The second U.S. President, John Adams, was the son of a Puritan farmer and his son, John Quincy Adams, became the sixth President.

Thomas Jefferson was the son of a Virginia farmer and established a successful, innovative plantation at Monticello. He invented a side-hill plow, and devised a moldboard that theoretically would turn the plowed earth. He improved other machinery on his farm and introduced rice from Italy. As President he espoused agrarian ideals.

James Madison was a farmer's son and operated his own farm at Montpelier, Va. Still another Virginian, James Monroe, operated Ash Lawn Plantation at Charlottesville.

Andrew Jackson, son of a South Carolina frontier farmer, established the Hermitage plantation near Nashville, TN.

Martin Van Buren's dad was a truck farmer and innkeeper in Kinderhook, N.Y.

William Henry Harrison was the son of another Virginia farmer and farmed also. His grandson, Benjamin Harrison, became the 23rd U.S. President.

James Knox Polk, the 11th President, was the son of a Duck River, TN, farmer.

Zachary Taylor too was the son of a farmer, of Orange county, Va., who moved to Kentucky when Taylor was but a year old. Taylor later became a farmer.

Millard Fillmore was the son of a frontier farmer in Cayuga county, N.Y., and James Buchanan was the son of a merchant-farmer in Cove Gap, Pa.

Every American schoolchild has learned of Abraham Lincoln's rural upbringing and rail-splitting exploits. He was born on a farm in Kentucky and moved to farms in Indiana and Illinois.

As President he strongly supported the agricultural reform of 1862 which resulted in the Homestead Act that opened great areas of farmland for development. He also supported legislation which provided Land Grant colleges and established USDA.

Ulysses S. Grant was the eldest son of a Point Pleasant, Ohio farmer, and James Garfield was the son of an Orange, Ohio farmer.

Teddy Roosevelt operated ranches in the Dakota territory and Calvin Coolidge's dad had a farm in Plymouth Notch, Vt.

Hubert Hoover was the son of a West Branch, Iowa, farmer-blacksmith.

Harry Truman, the oldest son of a Lamar, Mo., farmer and livestock dealer, grew up on a farm near Independence.

Lyndon Johnson was born on a farm at Stonewall, Tx.,

The Goal For Education

The beginning of another school year reminds us that decisions are being made in households across the state about attendance. It is unfortunate that decisions like this are being made... there should be no question about it. School opens - school-aged children go to school.

But that's not always the case in Mississippi. Several thousand six-year-olds fail to enroll in first grade classes each year, and only about half those reaching the fifth grade made it through the 12th grade.

This, then, is a message for all parents of school-aged children in Mississippi. You are denying your child the opportunity for economic advancement if you deny him or her the opportunity of an education.

The Mississippi Economic Council has a policy statement which says education for all citizens is indispensable. The Council also says "The ultimate educational goal is a citizen who is an asset to his family, community, state, and nation..."

The only way Mississippi can reach that goal is to have children enrolled in school and in regular attendance - grades 1 through 12.

While this is a message for parents, communities can begin now to encourage families to recognize and take advantage of opportunities for education.

Legal Questions And Answers

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some legal rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your rights.)

Q: What are the minimum requirements for marriage in Mississippi?

A: Before a marriage license can be issued the male must prove he is at least 17 years old, and the female must prove she is at least 15 years old.

But if a reason can be given to a judge of any Chancery, Circuit or County Court that a couple must be married, the age requirement may be waived. Also if the parents give their consent, an underage couple may be married.

Application for a marriage license must be in writing, and be on file three days before the couple receives a license. Thirty days before applying for the license, the couple must receive a medical certificate showing them to be free of syphilis.

Proof of age is required by showing a birth certificate, baptismal record, armed service discharge or other official document. If either person appears to be under the age of 21, and is without parental consent, the clerk will notify the mother, father, guardian or next of kin.

Q: Is there common law marriage in Mississippi?

A: No. Common law marriage in Mississippi was abolished in 1956. A Mississippi common law marriage is valid if it was consummated before 1956. If a couple entered into a common law marriage in another state where it was valid, then it is considered to be valid in Mississippi. Children of a common law marriage after 1956 are illegitimate.

Q: If married in another state, would the marriage be valid in Mississippi?

A: A marriage legally entered into is equally valid in Mississippi. Marriage in another country, if abiding by all natural laws, is valid. But Mississippi will not recognize marriage between brother and sister, or between father and daughter even if another state or country does. When Mississippians attempt to evade this statute by marrying elsewhere, the marriage is considered to be void.

Old Fashioned Foods Call For Second Helpings

By ANGELA SMITH
Staff Reporter

Biscuit pudding, peach cobbler, Salisbury steak, candied potatoes - those are just some of the delicious recipes Ruth Davis is known for preparing.

She refers to her cooking as "old fashioned." But those who eat her cooking simply call it "tasty" as they reach for second helpings.

A modest cook, Mrs. Davis says, "I like to cook old-fashioned, home cooking - vegetables and meats."

If practice is one way to become a good cook, that might explain why she is such an excellent cook. Having a large family has afforded her many opportunities to practice her culinary skill.

She and her husband, Clyde, are the parents of seven children, Martha, Elvis, Varda, Estelle, Larry, Mabel and Travis. They have 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The Davis' live in the New Candler community. They will have been married 44 years this month.

Mrs. Davis worked 23½ years at Brown Shoe Company before her retirement. She now does volunteer work at the Jacinto Senior Citizen Center.

The Davis' attend Jacinto Church of Christ where her Salisbury steak recipe is a popular dish at church suppers.

The following recipes are just a sample of the delicious foods Mrs. Davis treats family and friends to.

Salisbury Steak

Ground beef - 2 lbs.
4 eggs
1 large chopped onion
1 T. salt
black pepper
1 cup cornbread crumbs (bought or homemade) Mix together. Roll out in small ball. Put in skillet and brown. Place in baking dish. Put 2 or 3 cans cream of mushroom soup on top. Cook 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Teacakes

1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
½ stick margarine
2 T. bacon grease
¼ tsp. imitation vanilla flavoring
¼ cup buttermilk

Mix ingredients together. Knead. Roll out. Cut out teacakes with glass. Bake at 350 degrees til brown on bottom. Then turn teacakes. Put oven on broil and brown on top. Teacakes must be watched closely while baking, or they will burn.

Peach Cobbler

quart of canned peaches
1 stick margarine
2 cups sugar

Put ingredients in pan and boil for about 10-15 minutes till mixture is syrupy.

Next in pyrex dish put homemade biscuit crust followed by a layer of fruit. Place chips of butter on top. Put in oven and brown at 350 degrees til done. Remove cobbler from oven and put another layer of fruit and crust and repeat baking until brown.

Candied Potatoes

Peel sweet potatoes. Wash and cut in two inch block squares. Stew. Put in pyrex dish. Sprinkle with sugar and dot with butter. Place in oven on broil. When butter melts and turns slightly brown, candied potatoes are done.

Old Fashioned Biscuit Pudding

Crumble seven homemade biscuits

1 stick margarine

Place those ingredients in a pyrex dish. Cover with sweet milk. Then add two cups sugar and 1 T. imitation vanilla flavoring. Use potato masher to beat

Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Lenora Young's family. A word of consolation to the family is to trust the Lord and praise him for his will.

Happy birthday wishes go out to June Elizabeth McKinney, Linda Sue Edmonds, Antinotte McGaha. Here's hoping their day was a great one.

We would like to welcome the Rev. Edner to Beckley as the new pastor for the next conference year. We hope that he will find our city a delightful one and full of good, warm hospitality.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the Rev. Nathan Triplett's family. Funeral services were held on Monday.

School has started and homework is well underway.

As parents, let's work along with the teachers to help promote our children so that someday they will be well-educated and highly respected adults.

Peeler (holding a mock book which will be similar to the actual book), Bill White, Thomas Wallis; (standing, l-r) Martha White, Nancy Brock, local representative for the publisher, and D.L. Knowler, president of the publishing company. Not pictured is Walter Nunley.

Historical Association To Publish History Of County

Families researching their family history for the new Prentiss County History book may be surprised to learn that much of the information they need is right at home.

The Prentiss County Historical Association, who is compiling the book, offers the following tips on how to write family history.

Start the research at the present and work backward, finding out as much as possible about parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents. Check with other older family members. Often another family member will have the same family research.

Check family Bibles, newspaper clippings, military papers, insurance papers, diaries, letters, scrapbooks, back of pictures, baby books, family cemeteries and church records for information.

Also check the local courthouse for marriage licenses, wills and deeds. Check the library for census records.

To make the story more interesting, include unusual family happenings, interesting events, hardships and humorous incidents.

The committee advises that if people only have very little information, to still submit it, because it will be published.

Those wishing to have their family history included in the book should call the office at 728-4043 or one of the committee members by Thursday, Sept. 15, to reserve a place in the book.

"Remember, you have 2½ double spaced, typed pages and one single column picture (2½ inches wide) free," according to a committee member.

Baldwyn residents may call Thomas Wallis to avoid long distance calls. Other committee members who will be available to answer questions are Bill White, Louise Peeler, Eudora Kemp, Avannelle Cunningham, Kathryn Houston, H.H. Daws, Walter Nunley and Maria Pounds Gullett.

Free brochures explaining the project and giving sample family histories are located in the banks and libraries.

"This project is for the entire county, not just one town or section of the county. This book is the important link between past and future generations, and we hope everyone will participate," said a committee member.

OKRA

How long the Egyptians and Arabs may have been cultivating okra is not known, but in the 12th century an eminent physician from Spain found Egyptians eating peculiar pods with their meat and carried seeds back to his own country. Several centuries later okra was taken to England where it was dubbed "gumbo" and used in soups because of its thickening properties. Today okra is grown in many lands, especially South American and Southern United States.

rut and find something new with okra.

Nutritive value: 3½ ounces yield 29 calories; okra is a fair source of vitamins A and C.

Freezing Whole Okra

Wash, removing stems. Do not cut or break the pods. Blanch 3 to 4 minutes. Chill. Pack into containers, leaving ½-inch headspace. Seal and freeze.

Freezing Okra for Frying and Soups

Slice okra crosswise. Place on baking sheet in the oven at 350 degrees F. for about 20 minutes. Stir occasionally. Cool and pack in containers and freeze. Note: You may toss okra with cornmeal before placing in oven if you are planning to use within 3 months. Otherwise, toss with cornmeal when preparing and place back in oven to complete cooking before serving. Grease pan lightly.

Canning Okra

Can only tender pods. Wash; trim. Cook for 1 minute in boiling water. Cut into 1 inch lengths or leave pods whole. Glass jars - pack hot okra to ½ inch of top. Add ½ teaspoon salt to pints; 1 teaspoon to quarts. Cover with boiling water, leaving ½ inch space at top of jar. Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure (240 degrees F.) Pints - 25 minutes, Quarts - 40 minutes

Drying Okra

Preparation: Select young, tender pods. Wash. Trim off stems. Slice crosswise ¼ inch thick. Pretreatment: Choose one: Steam 4 to 5 minutes, or dip in boiling water 3 to 4 minutes. Drain.

Drying Times - Approximate (hours): Dehydrator: 2-3; Oven: 4-6; Sun: 8-12 Test for Dryness:

Storing

Store containers of dried okra in a dry, cool, and dark place. Low storage temperatures extend the shelf life of the dried product. Check okra occasionally to insure that moisture has not been reabsorbed. If moisture occurs, reheat the food to 150 degrees F for 15 minutes, then cool and reheat. If there is any sign of spoilage (off-color or mold growth), discard the food. Recommend storage time is 6 to 12 months.

Color Course Offered At NEMJC

Susan Bryant, a professionally trained fashion color consultant, will be teaching area residents how to be beautiful in living color through a leisure learning class offered by the Division of Continuing Education at Northeast Junior College in September.

According to Mrs. Bryant, the colors that a person wears have a tremendous impact upon the way they are perceived by others. Using the four seasons color analysis, she determines which colors are appropriate for the individual based upon hair color, eye color and the undertones in the individual's complexion.

In addition to receiving a swatch packet complete with the individual's appropriate colors, each participant will learn expert makeup application techniques and how to inexpensively create an exciting and personally styled wardrobe.

Bryant received her training in Sacramento, California and has given color consultations in Los Angeles and San Diego.

The three-session class will meet Monday's, beginning September 12, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., in Patterson Hall. Because the class is limited to only eight, would-be participants must pre-register prior to Sept. 8. Registration fee is $45 per person.

For additional information or to pre-register, contact the Division of Continuing Education at 728-7751, ext. 300.

4-H Program
Assistant

Brenda Gayle Williams of Booneville recently returned home from Washington, D.C., after attending Citizenship-Washington Focus - a week long experience in citizenship and leadership training at the National 4-H Center.

Miss Williams was one of 98 4-H members from Mississippi and nine other states participating. The program is designed to help young people understand the structure and function of our system of government, the heritage of our country and the importance of active participation as citizens.

Using the nation's capital as a "classroom," the program included a day on Capitol Hill to meet with members of Congress and see government in action. "I was able to meet with Congressman Whitten and Senators Stennis and Cochran. To my surprise they were all former 4-H members, except for Stennis, but all three expressed their support of 4-H activities." Field trips to historical and cultural sites as well as to federal agencies and community organizations were among the most informative and exciting parts of the week, according to Miss Williams. "One of the most exciting was the nightview of Washington, D.C. The Capitol Building and the Lincoln Memorial were the most memorable, with the Washington Monument running close behind.

In workshop sessions at the National 4-H Center, the young people discussed contemporary issues and concerns, and ways in which skills and knowledge gained during the week could be applied to the 4-H program here.

"One of my favorite workshops was the session on Public Speaking taught by a lady who was celebrating her 90th birthday that week. I hope to hold my own public speaking workshops using what I learned from CWF." One of the best parts of the experience was being able to share ideas with other 4-H members from across the country. "We were the only southern state at CWF and we enjoyed sharing with states, such as Minn., and New York how we live in the south."

Citizenship-Washington Focus is conducted by National 4-H Council in support of the 4-H program of the Cooperative Extension Service of the state landgrant universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Program and staff fellowship support for the summer program was provided by the Auxiliary to the American Optometric Assoc.; Conoco, Inc.; Dot Emerson Commemorative Fund; Dresser Foundation, Inc.; Educational Communication, Inc.; Getty Oil Company; The Hallmark Education Foundation; and Streling Drug, Inc.

Miss Williams was selected to attend on the basis of her 4-H participation and her citizenship and community service. "I received half of my funding from our county Extension office and we sold chicken dinners to make up for the rest."

More information on 4-H can be obtained by writing or calling Brenda Williams, Route 1 Booneville, MS or Prentiss County Extension office at 728-5631.

Timberline

By ROBERT THORNTON
County Forester

"Those forestry boys have it made - they just hang around those fire towers all day waiting for a fire. When we have a long wet spell, the woods aren't going to burn, so they can really take it easy."

Right? WRONG!

Years ago this statement may have contained an element of truth. Forestry Commission fire fighters worked around the clock, with no scheduled time off, fighting the plague of wildfires that thwarted early attempts at forest management in the State. Rainy days were hard-earned days of rest.

Due to the strong fire prevention education program conducted by the Forestry Commission, the public's apathy toward wildfires slowly turned to one of concern, and the fire problem began to lessen. Although wildfires have yet to be completely eliminated, the lower annual occurrence has allowed the Commission to branch out into more productive forest resource management activities.

The 1980's were a time of slow transition, but the decade of the "70's" brought unprecedented change. The booming economy forced timber prices to record levels and increased landowner demand for timber marking and sales assistance.

The inauguration of government cost-share programs early in the decade multiplied the demand for a wide variety of services; management plan preparation; site preparation; cull tree removal and planting, to name a few. (Statewide about 350,000 acres have been made more productive through these incentive programs since 1976).

The Commission met the challenge with a larger, better trained and better equipped work force. The old one-track fire-fighting organization died. From the ashes of its demise arose a new multi-faceted forest management agency that has come to be rated among the best in the Nation.

The Prentiss County contingent of the Forest Commission has done its share of the work. Let's look at some of its average yearly accomplishments. Enough firelanes have been plowed to reach from Booneville to Corinth. Enough timber has been marked for harvest to build 2 six-room houses, and enough pulpwood to make 210,000 large grocery bags, 42,000 copies of this newspaper and 135,000 Viscoe women's dresses.

Sound forest management is not a haphazard undertaking; it requires education, training, experience, sound judgment, and hard work. Our Prentiss County employees of the Mississippi Forestry Commission have proven, by performance, that they have these attributes. By using this available talent, local landowners have the opportunity to increase their timber production many fold. Give us a call and let us put that talent to work on your timberland.

COOL SEASON LEGUMES

With nitrogen fertilizer increasing in cost, many pasture producers are considering grass-legume mixtures for grazing, rather than grass alone. Legumes not only can fix nitrogen but also are highly digestible and high in crude protein.

Inoculate Seed
Legumes, if properly inoculated, can supply up to 200 pounds actual nitrogen per acre per year, depending upon the type of legume and density of stand.

Potential Nitrogen Production From Legumes
Legume White Clover, Lbs. N-Acre 200
Legume Red Clover, Lbs. N-Acre 110

Legume Crimson Clover, Lbs. N-Acre 100
Legume Arrowleaf Clover, Lbs. N-Acre 100
Legume Sub Clover, Lbs. N-Acre 94

Legume Ball Clover, Lbs. N-Acre 80
Legume W.W. Peas, Lbs. N-Acre 80
Legume Vetch, Lbs. N-Acre 60

Inoculation puts the correct strain of bacteria on the legume seed before planting. Types of cool season forage legumes are: White Clover, Red Clover, Crimson Clover, Arrowleaf Clover, Subterranean (Sub) Clover, Ball Clover, and Wild Winter Peas and Vetch.

Renovation and Clover Establishment
White Clover Establishment

Soil Conservation News

By DON JONES
Soil Conservation
Booneville Field Office

For the past 35 years, one of the most popular programs of the Soil Conservation Service has been site selection and the design for farm ponds.

Over 2,000 farm ponds have been constructed in Prentiss County primarily for livestock water, but also are used for sport fishing.

During recent years, many ponds have been constructed and stocked with fish for family recreation. Channel catfish has become by far the most popular stocking specie because of its quick growth and delicious taste.

Small ponds, even less than one-fourth of an acre, can be managed to produce a sufficient quantity of catfish to provide a source of food and recreation for the family.

Stock channel catfish in ponds that are well protected from floodwater since catfish easily escape through spillway flows. Stock from 1,500 to 2,000 channel catfish (at least 4 to 5 inches long) per acre in early spring.

Begin feeding a fish food to the catfish as soon as stocked, continuing through November. Stop feeding when the water is cold and feed again when the water warms up in the spring. Anyone interested in construction or management of farm ponds for fishing should request assistance from the Soil Conservation Service office in Booneville or phone us at 728-3544.

Farm Safety Week

President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed the week of Sept. 18-24 as the 40th annual National Farm Safety Week, co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In his proclamation, the President said many of the world's people depend on American agriculture to fill their food and fiber needs. Yet, the efficiency of American agriculture and the quality of life for those who work on the land are impaired by a high accident rate.

Many farm and ranch families, both owners and workers, suffer great personal sorrow and economic loss each year because of serious injuries or fatal accidents. It is particularly unfortunate that farm children and teenagers often are the victims of these accidents.

Although great progress has been made in improving safety on farms, President Reagan said much work remains to be done. He said it is important that community leaders and public officials continue to contribute their time and effort to promoting accident prevention programs. But real progress in safety must start with the individual.

Most farm accidents can be prevented if safe work methods are followed and appropriate protective equipment used. If our farmers and ranchers develop strong safety habits while at work, in the home, in recreational pursuits, and while driving on the road, our safety record will improve further.

The president's message reaffirms the need for continued efforts to reduce accidents and illnesses in the agricultural community.

This year, the observance focuses on the protection and safety training of rural children. We must protect our youngsters from harm, then as they develop, teach them how to perform all their activities safely. If you can make safety part and parcel of a young person's life, he or she is bound to become a safer worker, driver and home manager.

Farm Safety Week was founded in 1944 to fight accidents impairing wartime food and fiber production. It is supported by many organizations that serve agriculture.

Support Level For 1983 Peanuts

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently adjusted price support levels - by type, quality and location - for the 1983 peanut crop based on the previously announced national levels of $550 per short ton for quota peanuts and $185 per ton for additional peanuts.

According to Everett Rank, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the quota support level by type, for an average grade ton of 1983-crop peanuts will be: $554.71 for Virginia-type peanuts; $553.77 for runner-type peanuts; $528.86 for Spanish-type peanuts; $544.71 for Valencia-type peanuts from the Southwest area which are suitable for cleaning and roasting and $528.86 for other Valencias.

Rank said the method of computing differentials, the schedule of premiums, discounts, quality and location adjustments for this year's crop are the same as for the 1982-crop. The actual support levels for an individual lot of peanuts will depend on the percent of the various sizes of kernels in each ton of nuts and other factors.

For each percent of sound mature kernels and sound split kernels, the support level per ton is: Virginia-type peanuts, $7.91; runner-type peanuts, $7.75; Spanish-type peanuts, $7.794; Valencia-type peanuts in the Southwest area suitable for cleaning and roasting, $48.184; and for other Valencias, $7.794.

The loan value for additional peanuts is 33.64 percent of the applicable quota rate, Rank said. This factor represents the ratio of the $185 per ton national support level for additional peanuts to the $550 per ton national support level for quota peanuts.

Milk Deduction Increases

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block recently announced the U.S. Department of Agriculture will increase the deduction from proceeds of sale of all milk sold commercially Sept. 1 through Sept. 30, 1984, by 50 cents to a total of $1 per hundredweight. Deductions will be remitted to USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation to help offset the cost of the milk support program, he said.

Producers who reduce their commercial milk marketings for Sept. 1, 1983, through Sept. 30, 1984 (the last month of the 1983-84 marketing year and the whole 1983-84 marketing year) by 8.4 percent from the average of the two marketing years that began Oct. 1, 1980, will receive refunds of the second 50 cent deduction.

Block also announced that the price support level for manufacturing grade milk (3.67 percent average fat content) will continue at $13.10 per hundredweight for the marketing year beginning Oct. 1, the minimum level of support authorized by law.

Both the deductions and the minimum support price level are authorized by last year's amendment to the Agriculture Act of 1949. These actions have been taken to reduce milk production and to reduce costs of the dairy price support program, according to Block. CCC is authorized to deduct 50 cents if the government expects to purchase annually in excess of 5 billion pounds (milk equivalent) of dairy products. An additional 50-cent deduction is authorized if government dairy purchases annually are expected to exceed 7.5 billion pounds and there is a refund program in place. CCC expects to purchase more than 16 billion pounds of dairy products in the year ending Sept. 30, and more than 11 billion pounds during the 1983-84 marketing year.

Pre-Season Workouts

I'VE GOT IT!! - Northeast Tiger football players try for the ball during a scrimmage during pre-season workouts recently at the junior college. The Tigers kick off the season

7:30 Saturday night at home against Gulf Coast Junior College.

New Coach Will Show Few Changes At Northeast

Though there will be no great changes in philosophy, NEMJC football fans will see a slight change in strategy as first-year head coach David Carnell directs the Tigers in 1983. Having played and coached most of his career under former Tiger coach Bill Ward, who is now athletic director at Northeast, Carnell said he doesn't plan to make any major changes in the way the team is run. He will, however, make a few changes in the plays the team runs and how it runs them. Carnell said he hopes to see the team do well in the passing game, as well as in the pitch out on the option. "We plan to option the ball, pitch it around a little, and we're going to put the ball in the air," Carnell said. "But we will throw the ball more than we have in the past." Sophomore David DeGroat, who started four games in the last part of 1982, will lead the Tiger offense at quarterback. A consistent player, 6-2, 190-lb.

DeGroat lacks speed but has a good arm and can throw well when protected. Backups for DeGroat are 5-8, 150 lb. sophomore Teddy Hinton and freshmen Lamar Keith (5-11, 165) and Gene Stovall (5-11, 180). A talented group of receivers also helps bolster Carnell's confidence in the team's air attack. Philip Hollingsworth (6-3, 202), Greg Williams (6-1, 195), Lonnie Smith (5-11, 170), David Goode (6-0, 170), Darell Rogers (5-11, 175), Metry McGaughy (5-9, 165) and Ray Holloway (5-10, 165), are all now capable of producing the big plays that may have saved a few last minute losses for the Tigers last year. Completing the backfield for Northeast are 5-10, 180 lb. fullback Jeff Dilworth and tailback Ricky Johnson, at 5-9, 175 lbs. Returning offensive linemen for the Tigers are center Mike Worthy at 6-2, 240 lbs. and guard Keith Conlee (6-0, 195). Defensively, the Tigers are on solid ground with

High School Grid Season Opens

By SCOTT McKINNEY Sports Writer

All area high school football teams have completed or will complete last minute workouts in preparation for the start of the pigskin season which begins tomorrow night for most teams. A few teams will play their first game tonight.

Booneville High School head football coach Wayne Jones said that his Devil team is looking forward to playing the first game, which is tonight at Falkner. "We've had good workouts this fall and we don't have any injuries that will hurt the team," Jones said. The kick-off for the Booneville-Falkner game is set for 7:30 at Falkner. Hubert Tucker, head coach at Baldwin High School, isn't really that excited or anxious about the Bearcat's home opener against Saltillo tonight. Tucker has been in the coaching business so long that each season seems the same. Baldwin and Saltillo kick-off at Latimer Park in Baldwin tonight at 7:30. Thrasher will kick-off it's inaugural season at Blue Mountain Friday night as coach Willie T. Jackson starts his reign as the Thrasher mentor. Speed will be a key factor in the upcoming season for the Rebels as they do battle in the Class BB race.

Dove Season Opens

The opening of Mississippi's first of three dove seasons is just around the corner. Saturday marks the beginning of the fall hunting season.

State dove shooters will have 70 days of hunting this year divided into three seasons. The first one will continue through Oct. 2. The second season begins Oct. 15 and ends Nov. 6, and the third season opens Dec. 24 and closes Jan. 9.

During each season the entire state will be open for dove hunting. There will be no zone lines.

State conservation enforcement officials are reminding hunters that doves are migratory birds. Shotgunners must be plugged and incapable of holding more than three shells at one loading. As in past years, dove hunting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset. The bag limit is 12 and the possession limit is 24, with no possession limit on opening day of any season. Resident hunters 16 through 65, unless otherwise exempt, and all non-resident hunters must have a valid hunting license on their person before going afield after doves. A resident small game hunting license cost $6. The least expensive non-resident license for hunting dove is the seven-day small game hunting license for $20. Contact the Department of Wildlife Conservation in Jackson or a local conservation officer for specific license requirements.

Writer Picks State

And Ole Miss

In Nation's Top 20

By SCOTT McKINNEY Sports Writer

It seems that anyone and everyone that has anything to do with the world of sports names their "Top 20" college football teams. And many fans at home do the same as they play the role of the armchair quarterback. I began to realize that I haven't listed my "top 20" teams this season and it came to my attention that several reliable sources might need my list as a possible background for the year in advance. So, I decided to list the top 20 college teams according to my stats. (Note: These predictions in no way are intended to be those of The Banner-Independent. These are strictly those of myself!)

- No. 1 - Michigan
The Panthers are on the Prowl in '83!
- No. 2 - Nebraska
Mike Rozier leads the Cornhuskers.
- No. 3 - Arizona
The Wildcats will be on the loose!
- No. 4 - Auburn
The Tigers also lead the SEC.
- No. 5 - Texas
The Longhorns will take the Southwest.
- No. 6 - Florida State
Tailback Greg Allen. . . Possible Heisman?
- No. 7 - Oklahoma
Marcus. What else can you say?
- No. 8 - North Carolina
Kevin Bryant's gone, but the Tarheels will survive.
- No. 9 - USC
The Trojans take hold on the West.
- No. 10 - Notre Dame
Blair Keil will lead the Irishmen.
- No. 11 - Penn State
The Nittany Lions roar in '83.
- No. 12 - LSU
Jerry Stovals leads the Benjals.
- No. 13 - Ohio State
The Cinderella in the East.
- No. 14 - Georgia
No Herschel, but plenty of other "top dawgs."
- No. 15 - Alabama
Long live the Bear and Rooollll Tide!
- No. 16 - Iowa
The Hawkeyes keep an eye on things.
- No. 17 - UCLA
you can't bruise the Bruins!
- No. 18 - Mississippi State
John Bond patrols the South.
- No. 19 - Texas Tech
Don't count out the Red Raiders!
- No. 20 - Ole Miss
I can't forget all those loyal Rebel fans!

New Aquatic Center Opens At Northeast

Northeast Junior College's new aquatic center opened this past week, just as school began for the fall semester. The Gaye Roden Carr Athletic Aquatic Center features an olympic-size swimming pool that assistant director of student activities Rickey Gillentine is really proud of. "The pool is really going to be a help for us and for the students," he said. "It'll give them a greater variety to choose from in intramurals." The aquatic center will also house future aquatic classes. Classrooms were included at the center to accommodate this program. The new facility also features two deluxe dressing rooms and a concession area for the students. Gillentine added that the pool can be heated so that its use can be continued into the winter months. "Since it is heated, we'll probably keep it open until about the middle of October," he said. Admission to the new facility is limited to only

Northeast students and faculty.

The aquatic center was constructed at the junior college as the result of donations from family and friends of the late Gaye Roden Carr of Booneville.

Collier Is Hard To Replace

By RONNIE CALDWELL

Keith Daniels might possess the toughest job in the state of Mississippi, but don't try to convince him of that fact.

The Southern Mississippi assistant football coach in charge of quarterbacks spent his first year at the Golden Eagle job in relative luxury. Daniels directed a quarterback by the name of Reggie Collier, the same player who captured All-America honors and struck fear in the hearts of defensive coaches and players.

But, Collier has graduated to the United States Football League and his former quarterback coach is faced with the task of finding a replacement.

"It is so difficult to replace a quarterback like Reggie that honestly I don't know if it can be done," said Daniels. "He was such an exceptional athlete and leader for us. Hopefully, we can replace him this season by finding someone to handle the quarterback responsibilities. We don't expect to find that exceptional an athlete, however."

The most likely successor to Collier's vacated post is last year's backup signal-caller Robert Duckworth. The 5-11, 185-pound junior-to-be is not as fast as Collier, but Daniels still has confidence in his abilities.

"Duckworth is four inches shorter and two-tenths of a second slower than Reggie, but he had a great spring and he is an excellent option quarterback."

Another possible contender for the quarterback position is red-shirted freshman Andrew Anderson, a native of Birmingham, Ala. Daniels was disappointed in the freshman's spring practice, but he sees potential playing ability. "Anderson did not have a good spring practice, but he did play well in the spring game," explained Daniels. "I think that he is a better passer than he is a runner because he passed primarily in high school. But, he is a better option quarterback than when he came to Southern Mississippi."

While Daniels has confidence in those candidates and sees promise in freshman Tommy Compton of Mobile, Ala., he does not have the same feeling that he had last season.

For a quarterback coach, replacing the talented Collier will be a difficult assignment. Daniels contends that he as well as the returning quarterbacks will be up to the task.

Writer Selects All-State College Football Team

By RONNIE CALDWELL
Mississippi
Sports Page

There is hardly a grocery or convenience store around these days that is not filled with racks and racks of magazines predicting some all-something football team.

There are obviously dozens of preseason All-America squads along with countless all-region or all-conference teams. For whatever reason, millions of sports fans must be purchasing these publications because prior to each new season there seem to be more and more.

If anyone has witnessed the madness surrounding Mississippi State-Ole Miss rivalries or Southern Mississippi-Mississippi State battles or Ole Miss-USM wars, then they must know that Mississippians are as rabid football fans as anywhere in the nation. Therefore, it seems perfectly logical that an All-Mississippi preseason team be selected.

For starters, a coach should be chosen. Billy Brewer of Ole Miss gets this year's nod. After all, this is his first season as a head coach in the Magnolia State and hasn't irritated fans with a poor coaching decision. He hasn't made any strategic decision because the Rebels haven't played a game, but many coaches can tell you that neutral is often a blessing in that profession.

The focus of any football team is the quarterback and there are many talented ones in the state this season. First-team preseason honors go, however, to MSU signal-caller John Bond because of his senior leadership and dynamic running abilities.

Being the selector of this particular team, I will have the luxury of choosing three running backs and two-thirds of that backfield will come from USM. Clemon Terrell and Sam DeJarnette get the call along with Lamar Windham of Mississippi State.

This squad's two wide receivers could also be found on the national teams in those grocery stores. James Harbour of Ole Miss and Danny Knight of MSU both have blinding speed and great pass-catching moves. The tightend post is tougher because new people are being tried at MSU, USM and Ole Miss. The sleeper of the year could be freshman Todd Irvin at Ole Miss.

USM returns all five offensive line starters and any of them could be on the All-Mississippi franchise. Golden Eagle candidates are center Steve Carmody, guards Randy Campbell and Fred Richards and tackles Dwayne Massey and Glen Howe. Ole Miss' guard John Allen is a first-teamer as well.

Only placekicker Steve Clark of USM is a sure-bet for the team from the kicking game. He earned the spot the last two seasons by hitting 64 to 67 extra points and 25 to 34 field goals. USM, Ole Miss and MSU are all replacing their punters this fall, but the Rebels have the best two prospects combined in freshmen Bill Smith and leftie Kevin Hurt.

You might want to match the All-Mississippi defense against anybody walking on a football field. It's that tough. Rebel defensive end Freddie Joe Nunn fills one side. He earned the distinction last season by spotting USM quarterback Reggie Collier 15 yards before catching him from behind.

The other defensive end slot goes to Matthew Lovelady of Ole Miss while the massive interior consists of Rebel tackle Andre Townsend and Golden Eagles Richard Byrd and Jerald Baylis. MSU might have the country's best one-two linebacking pair in converted end Billy Jackson and Clay Peacher.

Speed is the key in the All-Mississippi defensive backfield and both Ole Miss and Mississippi State have plenty to go around. The Bulldogs supply Kenneth Johnson and Gary Lambert while the Rebels have Lee Davis back from last year's injury along with Barry Wilburn and Joe Hall.

It's just a shame that this All-Mississippi squad can't line up and butt heads with other state's stars. These players, along with countless others that weren't mentioned, prove that Mississippi has a truckload of football talent.

A family reunion was held recently honoring Mary Lizzie Runions, Elzie Jones and Lois Martin of the Brimingham family. Lois Martin was greatly missed due to be hospitalized at the time. Family members gathered in the home of Mary Lizzie Runions for a gospel singing on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon with lunch served on Sunday at noon.

Several families from out of town joined the local members with around 100 attending.

Those from out of town included Mr. and Mrs.

Buddy Moore, Allen and Ashley of Byhalia, Mr. and Mrs. Eulas Saylor, Dujuna and Dureca Fraser of Corinth, Melissa Hatley of

Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Case of Corinth, J.B. Brimingham of Rienzi,

Lorene Tennison and Sandy of Tishomingo, and Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Ivey of West

Point; From Arkansas were Mr. and Mrs. Garlan Pulley and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Oaks, and Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Morgan. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Manness and children. Mr.

and Mrs. Jim Smith and Johnny Norman all of Henderson, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunaway, Jennifer and Brock recently enjoyed a vacation trip through the Great Smoky Mountain National Park. They visited in Goldsboro, N.C., with Mrs. Eunice Goad and in Buford, Ga., with Mr. and Mrs. Foy Dunaway. Ashley Brown of Verona spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunaway and family and her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. David Wayne Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Cromeans, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Riddle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff McSorley, Peggy Griffin and Gena, Mark Taylor and Jeff Stricklen.

A fish fry was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Green on Saturday night to celebrate the birthdays of Travis Riddle and Rema McSorley. Joining in the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. David Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. David Wayne Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Cromeans, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Riddle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff McSorley, Peggy Griffin and Gena, Mark Taylor and Jeff Stricklen.

Myrtle Cole wasn't feeling well over the weekend and was absent from worship services. Everyone hopes she is feeling better.

Everyone was glad to have Milton Mathis and family back for worship services at Carter's Chapel on Sunday.

A gospel meeting is going on this week at New Bethel

Church of Christ near New Site. Services are held nightly at 7:30 with Bro. Haskell Sparks bringing the message. Everyone is invited to attend.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dunaway for the evening meal on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunaway, Lisa and Shana of Saltillo and Cindy Brown and Ashley of Verona.

Wishes for a happy birthday this week are sent out to Randy Cole, Troy Scott, Patrick Carpenter, Brian Williams, Eva Carr, Kay Johnson, Aubra Harling, Adra Sappington, Renea Bryant, Carolyn Smith, Tatia McLaughlin and James White.

Booneville Schools Test Results Are Favorable

Some 286 students from grades four, six, and eight, of the Booneville Municipal Separate School District were administered the California Achievement Test and the Short Form Test of Academic Aptitude during April.

These tests were administered as part of the Mississippi Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) mandated by the legislature and coordinated by the Mississippi State Department of Education. The major purpose of this evaluation program is to determine the extent of each student's development, relative to his or her potential, within the framework of the school's educational objectives.

The Booneville Separate School District reports that achievement was significantly higher than what would be anticipated in all subtests in grades four and eight. In grade six achievement was significantly higher in all subtests except Reading Vocabulary and Total Reading. In these subtests, achievement is at about the level which would be anticipated.

The test scores that follow are the mean scores for the pupils tested in the Booneville Municipal Separate School District. These are scale scores. Scale scores are produced from a single, equal-interval scale of scores across all grades with use with the MEAP test instrument. The scale is expressed in three digit numbers ranging from 100 to 900.

MN Obtained: This is the average achievement test score. An obtained score is reported for the eight subtest areas plus the total and reflects the mean (or average) score made by the pupils. National norms are used.

MN Anticipated: This is the average achievement score which would be anticipated on the basis of performance on an academic aptitude test. National norms are used for predicting anticipated achievement.

SIGNIF. DIFF: This is determined through a statistical formula of whether the amount of difference between obtained and anticipated scores is likely due to chance or is a true difference. The degree of difference necessary to be significant varies among subtests because of differences in the number of items on each test and the degree of difficulty for accurately measuring some skills.

+ : Plus symbol indicates that achievement is significantly higher than what would be anticipated.

0 : Zero numeral indicates that achievement is at about the level which would be anticipated.

- : Minus symbol indicates achievement is significantly lower than what would be anticipated.

Mrs. Jones Completes Historic Tour

Mrs. Kermit Jones of Booneville recently returned from a tour of Colonial Virginia and Washington, D.C.

The tour, a part of the Lifelong Learning Program at Freed-Hardeman College in Henderson, Tenn., attracted participants from five states. The group visited Monticello, the University of Virginia, Williamsburg, Jamestown, Yorktown, Richmond, and Washington, D.C.

Dr. J.D. Thomas, vice-president for academic affairs at the college, lectured en route. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox served as host and hostess for the tour and Dr. Thomas was the director.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

WHY ME!

By Joe P. Arnold

Have you ever wondered, "Why me?" Something tragic or just rotten happens to us and we feel like the only person in the world any awful thing befell. Self-pity can be dangerous because it may lead to more pain, loss of control, even suicide.

One of life's most difficult assignments is acceptance. Learning that I am powerless to change people, places, and things to suit me is just about impossible without God's help. Funny how we spend so much time, money, and energy trying to change other people, yet God accepts us just as we are - and loves us in spite of us!

cluded those owned by Charles Johnson, Charlie and Elmer Rowland, Joe Wayne Garner, Buddy Smith, and Omar Lambert. Following the tour, a catfish supper was held at Booneville City Park. (Photos by Angela Smith)

Rienzi News

By VIOLA PRESLEY
Correspondent

Guests this week in the home of Mrs. Hubert Doty were Mrs. Florence Moody, Corinth; Mrs. Marita Lambert and Harrell Doty, Memphis and Mrs. Nell Beck of Jacinto.

A group of young people from Rienzi and Corinth enjoyed a delightful end-of-the summer holiday at Opryland in Nashville this week. Those making the trip were Robin Johnsey and Louis Isom; Patti Leonard and Terry Ross; Josie Hughes and Wally Davis.

A large number of relatives and friends from our community were in Booneville Sunday to attend funeral services for Clifford Rinehart. Then on Monday they also attended services for Mrs. Cecil Lauderdale. Both services at McMillan Funeral Chapel. Sympathy is extended to all the relatives in their time of sorrow.

Among those from our area in Corinth Monday night to be with the family of Mrs. Onie Morgan Miller at Coleman East were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Kuykendall and Mr. and Mrs. Knox Mills. Many thoughts of love and prayers are with Mrs. Miller's family.

Mrs. Ada Ruth Maresko and Mrs. Irene McLennon of Lake Station, Indiana spent two weeks here with Mrs. Frances Bullard. On Friday night Mrs. Bullard and her guests were honored with a fish supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bullard. On the weekend the visitors extended their vacation by driving to West Palm Beach, Florida for a two week stop with relatives.

Several of our young people are getting settled in college for the opening term of school. Going to NEMJC in Booneville are Todd Cox, Robin Johnsey, Josie Hughes and Ronnie Kuykendall. At the University of Mississippi is Mike Kuykendall.

Visitors at the evening services of the Rienzi Baptist Church, being given a very hearty welcome were Bro. and Mrs. Joe Holcomb; their daughter, Debbie, her husband and their two sons; Leigh and Joey Holcomb and Mike Dutchen from Grace Memorial Baptist Church, near Pontotoc and Mr. and Mrs. K.B. Robinson of Jumpertown.

Friends of Jamie Marecle regret to know she has been sick this week and unable to attend school. Being a first grader this was a great disappointment to Jamie.

The Larry Crow family of Corinth were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Crow.

Frank Eldridge came home this week from Baptist Memorial Hospital in Booneville following a two week stay.

Richmond Brackeen of El Paso, Texas, is spending a summer vacation here with Mrs. Ethel Brackeen and other relatives of the Brackeen family.

Wilaway came home from the hospital and is steadily improving. We hope all our members are feeling better and surviving the heat.

New officers for 1983-84 are president, Blue Surf; vice-president, Double R; secretary, Lady Birdhunter; treasurer, Lady Buffalo; boardmembers, chairman, Telephone Man, Hauler, Termite, Lady Sidekick and Big Q; sgt. of arms, Little Wrecker. Let's all join hands and work together on every issue and make this a year to remember.

Our sympathy is extended to Lady Snowflake during the death of her father, Carlos Newborn.

Double R, Lady Double R and Tobacco Lady have been visiting family in South Carolina.

We ask that all club members review Article II which follows: Section A: To be a club member in good standing, a member must attend at least one meeting in three months and have paid up dues. Members not attending meetings as stated become inactive and shall lose voting privileges and be unable to hold an office in the company.

Should a member not attend meetings as stated, he must attend three meetings consecutively before becoming a member in good standing again. Any member becoming six months delinquent in payment of dues or attending less than one monthly meeting in six months shall be dropped from membership without notice unless authorized by the membership of the company.

Should said member desire to be reinstated, he will pay all back dues and assessments and be voted upon by the company. If a member is dropped or resigns from the company for one year, he must make a new application. A person who drops out has thirty days to be admitted back into the club without being voted on by the club.

Belated happy birthday wishes to Lady Edd on Aug. 27, to Brass Monkey on Aug. 29, and Gator on Aug. 31. Hope each of you had a nice day and enjoy many more.

We appreciate all the men helping load and carry the hospital beds and tables. We want to thank the Baptist Memorial Hospital here for donating these items to our club.

Little Miss Buffalo has been a patient in the Baptist Memorial Hospital with a virus. White Girl is still having back trouble. We hope everyone is doing much better.

Due to the holiday weekend, there will be no social and no roll call Sunday night. Roll call will be held at 8:30 p.m. on Sept. 11 by Blue Surf.

Happy anniversary to Telephone Man and Telephone Lady on Sunday, Sept. 4. Hope you each have a nice day and enjoy many more happy years together. Hope everyone has a safe and happy holiday weekend. Watch out for all those school children now that they are on the road again.

Any club member wishing to go to the Country Squire Restaurant to eat on Saturday, Sept. 10, at 8 p.m. should contact White Girl by Sept. 8. Each member will be required to pay for his own meal. Any one is welcome to attend this get-together for the CB Club.

Until next week, stay well, be happy and attend the church of your choice.

Lindley Commissioned

James M. Lindley, son of M.G. Lindley of 10431 Courthouse Drive, Fairfax, Va., and Thomas T. Lindley of Rural Route 1, Baldwin, has been commissioned an Army second lieutenant upon completion of advanced ROTC training at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The six-week advanced camp provided the newly commissioned officer with a chance to practice the military skills learned in college. The training is designed to develop leadership capabilities in a field training environment.

Lindley was a student at Georgetown University, Washington.

Conformity Is Comfortable, But

Gifted Children May Need Special Handling

By DARLA FERRIS MILLER
The University of Mississippi

The following article was the result of a project funded by the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association.

Guiding a child painlessly to adulthood is difficult, maybe impossible. It is even more complex if that child is not an ordinary, garden-variety kid.

Every parent wants his child to be unique - to stand head and shoulders above the crowd. Every child, however, strains to look, dress, act, and be just like his peers.

Even though special attention is tempting and exotic, conformity is always more comfortable and secure. Thus, it is understandable that the suburban parents of a skinny little 5-year-old girl were both drunk with pride and giddy with apprehension when the child's kindergarten teacher told them their daughter was "gifted."

The teacher said that since Shelley had taught herself to read so well (on a sixth-grade level, according to tests), she would be sent to the library each day for an hour of individualized work.

A few weeks later the teacher called and confessed that the special library time had been abandoned because Shelley seemed so unhappy about being "sent away" from her classmates.

Shelley quickly learned to do a better job of hiding her "differentness." She slipped through the next six years making mediocre grades, giggling at all night slumber parties, talking on the phone for hours, and secretly devouring three-inch-thick tomes on herpetology and paleo-anthropology.

Sometimes she let down her guard a bit. Once, she spent the better part of two weekends sitting at the kitchen table writing and rewriting the ultimate 20-page discourse on reptilian evolution. Her teacher marked it C+.

The parents made an appointment with the teacher and asked him why he thought the paper was "average" work for a twelve-year-old. "Well," he said, shuffling his feet and staring at the floor, "you know, most of the kids made something for their project. And, besides, just look at this! She undoubtedly copied it out of some book."

Dealing with a "special"

child is sometimes as hard for teachers as it is for parents. Gifted children often fail to reach their full potential because of their desire to fit in and "be a regular kid." They also have trouble learning good study habits because it is too easy to pass normal courses without any effort.

A gifted child is an exceptional child in the same way a learning-disabled child is exceptional. They both need specially trained teachers and a different academic pace if they are to develop to the best of their ability. Because children are truly or most important natural resource, we cannot afford to lose any child to frustration, apathy, and failure.

We especially cannot afford to lose our children who have high potential. Giftedness is an indication of great possibilities, but it is not a guarantee of anything.

Luckily, Shelly's seventh-grade counselor recommended that she apply to Duke University's Talent Identification Program (TIP). Each year TIP arranges for thousands of gifted seventh graders to take a standardized college entrance exam -- the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Children who score very competitively with graduating, college-bound high school seniors are given academic counseling, information about appropriate programs, and in some instances are invited to a summer, residential period of study on the Duke campus.

Shelley entered a room full of graduating seniors in the SAT testing center and walked stiff-legged to an empty desk. The stares and whispers made her cheeks burn and her head spin. Somehow, she made it through the test.

In the spring, a letter arrived congratulating her on her "outstanding achievement" and inviting her to the Summer Residential Program for Verbally and Mathematically Precocious Youths.

She bristled, "I have to go to school all year. Why would I want to mess up my summer too?" She stayed home.

Early in her eighth-grade year, in a new school, Shelley's parents received a form from her counselor requesting permission for "diagnostic testing and appropriate placement consistent with Shelley's special needs." That night Shelley sat in the middle of her bed, blubbering and dabbing her eyes, a box of Kleenex on her lap and a snowstorm of used tissues around her. "Why can't everyone just leave me alone?"

She survived testing once again, and found that her new Creative Enrichment Class was the highlight of her school day. When the next invitation to Duke's summer program arrived, she decided to go. Then she began to waiver.

Shelley had almost backed out when a friend from her new Creative Enrichment Class returned from a science camp at another university, with a big spotted rat she had trained to run through a maze. Shelley was so impressed that she immediately began packing her suitcases.

Shelley's parents agonized over her decision to accept. They wondered how they could put a 76-pound girl on a plane by herself to a dormitory room at a faraway university. That kind of thing is hard enough to do with an eighteen-year-old.

They left home in the cool, eerie darkness just before dawn. Silently, Shelley and her mother headed up a winding farm road toward the Memphis airport.

The mother spoke first, "Did you remember your allergy pills?"

"Yes."

"You can call me collect as often as you like."

"Every day?"

"If you want to."

"What if I flunk out?"

"You won't flunk out."

"What if I want to come home?"

"Shelley, you said you wanted to go . . . If you decide you can't handle it, all you have to do is call us. You can be on a plane home in a few hours."

Shelley just stared out the window.

As she stood in line to board the plane, her teddy bear mashed under her arm, sandwiched between six-foot men carrying briefcases, she looked more like Peter Pan walking the plank than a eighth-grade "precocious youth" heading for Duke University.

The mother watched the sky for a long time after the tiny speck of the plane had disappeared. She imagined the plane crashing just beyond her sight. She suddenly felt horrified that she had put her daughter on that plane.

Aimlessly, the mother browsed in a nearby shopping mall for several hours before facing the long drive home. It dawned on her that no one was at home to answer the phone if Shelley called. She ran across the parking lot to her car.

Shelley did not call. In fact, she did not call all week. Shelley's mother looked up the "emergency only" number listed in the student handbook but she did not call it.

Saturday night the phone rang. "Shelley, is that you?"

"Hi, Mom."

"Shelley, I can barely hear you."

"Hey everybody, be quiet! I'm talking to my mom!"

"Shelley, are you okay?"

"Sure, the course is unbelievably hard. We have to write reams every day, but I love it. Mom, I've got to go now, our pizza just arrived!"

"Please call me if you need anything."

"Mom, can I come back again next summer?"

STATEMENT OF W. V. HORN
(Sheriff-Elect of Prentiss County, Mississippi)

To the voters of Prentiss County:

I am indeed grateful for the vote of confidence I was given on August 23 choosing me as your Sheriff for the next four years over such a worthy opponent as Wallace Davis. It is certainly an honor and a privilege to be chosen out of a field of 17 candidates to be your Sheriff, and as I stated before, I will do everything within my power to run the Sheriff's Department during the next four years in such a manner to not only serve the people of this County, but to have the type law enforcement that you can be proud of.

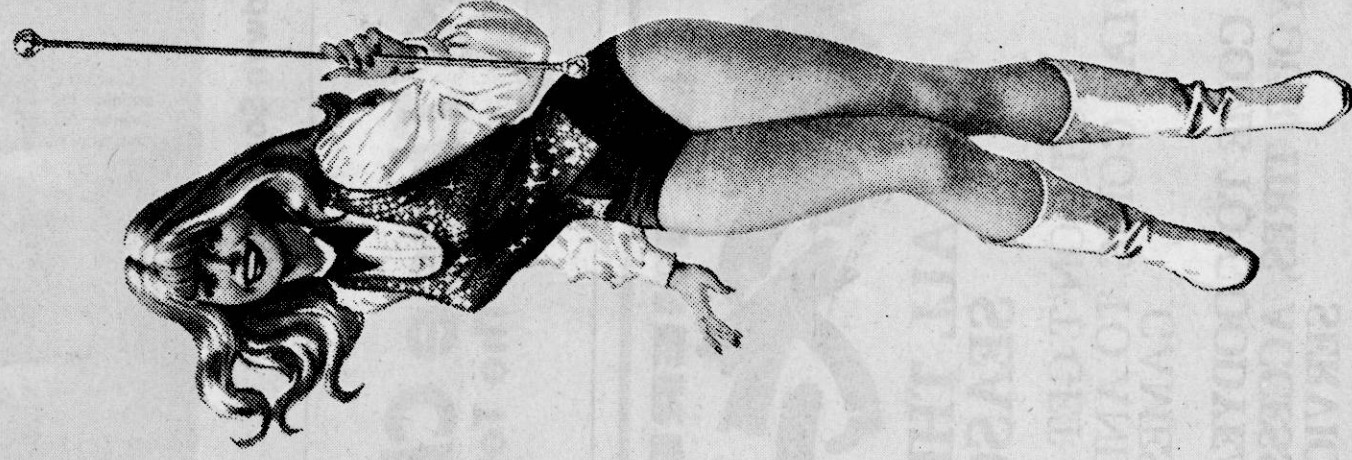

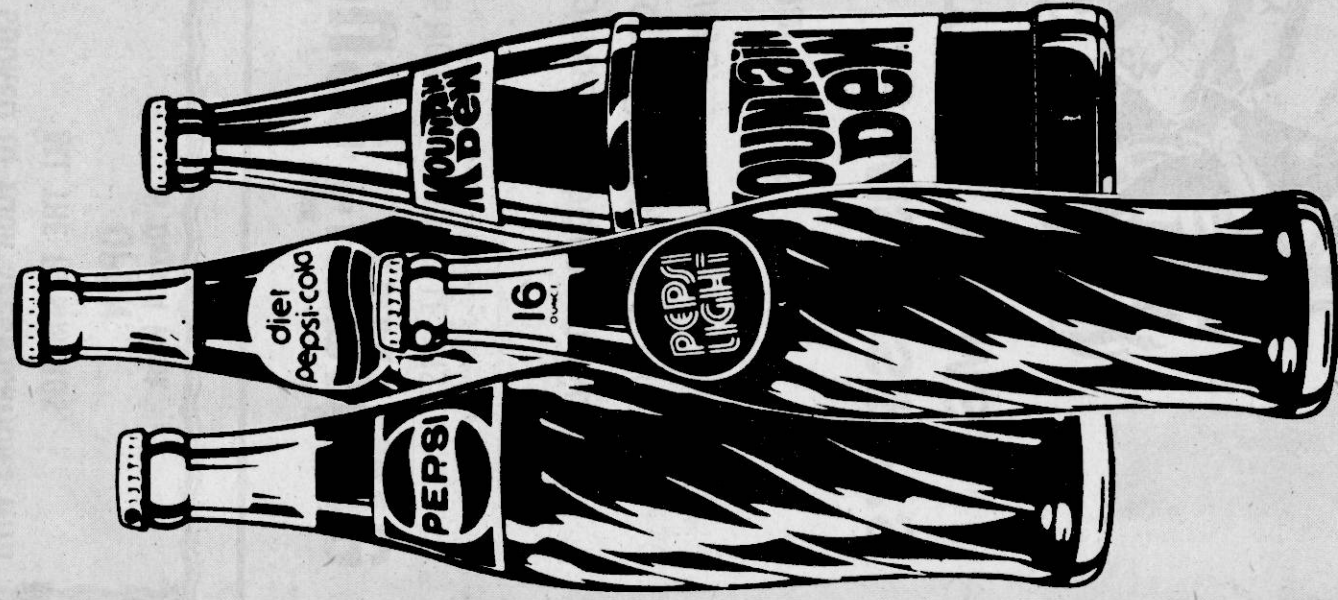

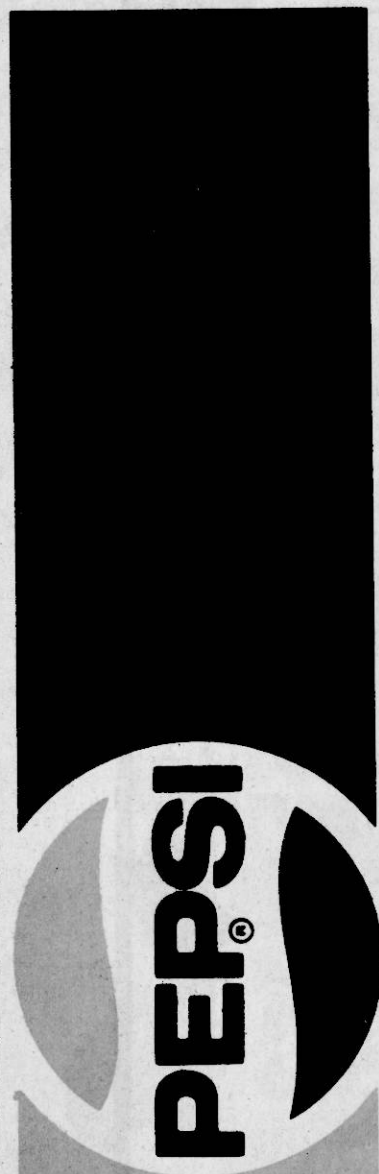

The only way a Sheriff can do a good job is to have the support and help of all the citizens of this County. I earnestly solicit that support. By working together, our goals can be reached. I plan, as I stated during the campaign, to set up community watch in every community in this County.

It is my firm belief that by all the good citizens working together, the criminal element can be controlled and removed from our County. Again, let me say thank you for the vote of confidence that you have given me and I will work to the best of my ability to insure that your decision has been a good decision.

THANK YOU.

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

Eighteen is a dismal number for coach Wayne Jones and his Booneville Blue Devils this season. Booneville lost 18 seniors from last year's 6-3-1 team. However, an exciting group of young and fast players are on hand in the Devil camp to lead the team into District 1, Class A competition.

Coach Jones, in his first year as Devil head mentor, brings in a glorious background in football, highlighted by his record breaking performances as a runningback at Mississippi State in the early seventies. Along with his assistant coaches, Riley Presley and Ken Shackelford, the Devil coach expects an exciting new season.

The fact that Booneville did lose 18 seniors via the graduation route hasn't bothered Jones or his team. "I hate we lost so many from last year, but have to look ahead," Jones said. "Competition is going to be tough this year. All the three must stay healthy if Booneville plans on winning the District title. Roger Spencer, a 5-7, 155-pound senior, will be counted on heavily in the offensive backfield this season. Senior receivers Mark Walden (5-11, 150) and Tom Cook (6-2, 265) are a couple more of the Devil's "small" linemen that will contribute a great deal to the team.

teams in our district will have a shot," he added. Jones said he feels that Ripley will be some of the players teams the Devils play.

Last season, the Devils matched good size with good speed and produced a winning season. This fall Booneville will use more speed, with the offensive and defensive lines being smaller.

One of the "small" linemen for BHS this fall is Greg Shook, a 6-5, 230-pound senior, who will be counted on heavily by the Devils. Anthony Shinault, a 6-2, 225-pound senior, and senior Tom Cook (6-2, 265) are a couple more of the Devil's "small" linemen that will contribute a great deal to the team.

Carlos Hastings (6-0, 190) will return as the top runner for their positions. Morgan Blasingame, 5-8, 140-pound senior, will contribute to the receiving program in a vital way. All-District Quarterback Bernard Anderson will be missing from this year's team due to graduation, but junior Michael Blalock (5-11, 150) will lead the Devils in the kicking game for the Devils.

Speed will be the name of the game for Booneville's offensive backfield this fall as several top, young players return. Gary Pippin, a 5-10, 170-pound senior, will be an added help to this year's team, providing the needed senior leadership. Junior's Robby Rogers (6-0, 185), Kevin Eubank (6-1, 170), Dal Stell (5-7, 140), and Alan Tollison (5-11, 160) will be strong, tough players in the lineman's slots, as Booneville prepares for its opener at Falkner.

Freshman Jimbo Goddard (5-11, 180) could step in and provide some needed backup at fullback. Junior's Robby Rogers (6-0, 185), Kevin Eubank (6-1, 170), Dal Stell (5-7, 140), and Alan Tollison (5-11, 160) will be strong, tough players in the lineman's slots, as Booneville prepares for its opener at Falkner.

Baldwyn Bearcats

Quickness Should Overcome Lack Of Size

By SCOTT MCKINNEY
Sports Writer

Coach Hubert Tucker and his Baldwyn Bearcats will rely on speed and agility in the race in District One, Class BB since they have lost most of their size from last year's team.

Baldwyn finished last season with a third place slot in the district race behind the powerful and strong offensive and defensive lines led by Clark Richey, who is currently playing at Ole Miss, and Roger Garner, who will dress up with the Northeast Tigers this fall.

The Bearcats lost all but one lineman from last year's team and that has caused Bearcat coach Hubert Tucker to re-evaluate this year's situation.

"Last season, we had a good, strong line, but our backfield was young and inexperienced. This year, we've got an experienced backfield with a small, young line," Tucker said.

Tucker feels that Okolona, Belmont, and Biggersville are the teams to beat in Baldwyn's district. "All the teams in our district didn't lose many players and they'll be strong again this year," he said. "Thrasher might surprise a few folks in their first year," he added.

Tucker said he was really glad to see Thrasher becoming involved with football. He said they started the program in the right manner and he expects them to be competitive right in the beginning.

This fall, Baldwyn will stack up with a smaller team, but quickness should make up the difference. Tucker said the running game would set up the Bearcat passing.

Baldwyn returns All-District quarterback Gregg Tucker (5'11", 155) to lead the offensive attack. Young Tucker will be a junior this fall. Seniors Jimmy Tyes (5'9", 175) and Anthony Price (6'1", 175) are experienced running backs and will be the major source of the Bearcat offense. Both are All-District selections and Price is a four-year starter. The Wide-Receiver position is locked up as Stan Scott, a 5-9, 145-pound sophomore, returns as the top runner. Senior runningback Pat Welch (5'9", 150) are all seniors expected to give Price and Tyes a needed rest Baldwyn that little extra.

Northeast Tigers

New NE Coach Has High Hopes

By CLIFF LONG
NEMJC Sports Information

The 1983 Tigers, headed by new coach David Carnell, have hopes of building an offense to take on the likes of Gulf Coast Junior College, this year's opener and one of the toughest teams our Tigers will face.

Defensively Carnell figures to fare pretty well, with many lettermen coming back on the defensive side of the field. Moving the ball could be another story unless Carnell's new theories pan out against some tough opponents.

Carnell said he plans to "option the ball, pitch it around a little, and we're going to put the ball in the air."

This year we can expect to see any of four Tiger QB's in the starting position, with only a slight edge to one because of his on-field experience last year.

David DeGroat, a starter during the latter part of last season is consistent, but lacking in speed, and can throw the ball well when protected.

Other quarterbacks are sophomore Teddy Hinton and freshmen Lamar Keith and Gene Stovall.

Completing the backfield for the Tigers will be fullback Jeff Diworth and tailback Ricky Johnson.

Both players must have versatility in order to gain yardage on pitches, block for the passer, and catch the ball out of the backfield.

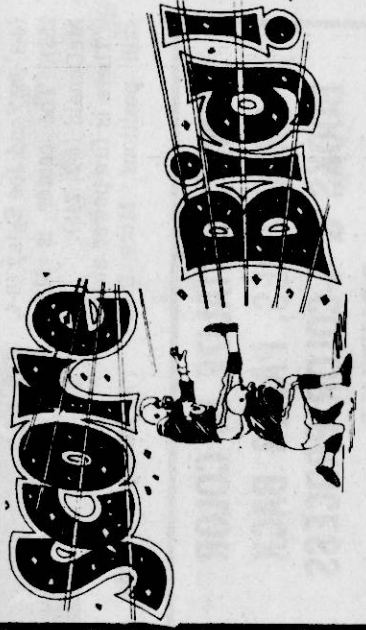

Carnell has a good crop of receivers which include Philip Hollingsworth, Greg Williams, Lonnie Smith, David Goode, Darrell Rogers, Merry McGaughy, and Ray Holloway.

On defense an array of returnees will give experience to the defensive line and pass coverage.

"The one's that played last year should really help us this season," Carnell said. These players include David Spight, Pat Pate, John Rhodes, John Walthrop, Terry Taylor, Jack Duffy, James Jones, Scott Mills, Rusty Barnes, Eddie Murphy and Barry Drewry.

Along with assistants Billy Southward and James Williams, Carnell will try to direct his 1983 Tiger team to victory through a 10-game schedule of consistently tough teams.

Carnell hopes for an improvement over last year's tough 4-6 season.

Bulldogs

Ga. returns as MSU's No. 1 quarterback this fall. Bond is MSU's career total offense leader with 4,983 yards in three seasons, and the 6th leading rusher in State history with 1,668 yards.

Bond seems to have been having trouble with the Bulldog fans but the air has cleared at the MSU camp.

This may not be an easy autumn for Bond. The Bulldogs lost most of the offensive linemen and are starting over with what they hope are capable replacements.

Starting tackles will come from Ken Letkam (6-3, 240), Danny Sanders (6-1, 240) and Darrell Moore (6-2, 225). Guards are Don Seamaro (6-3, 245) and Joe Estay (6-4, 255). The center is Mike McDonald (6-2, 245).

There is fire-power at the skill positions. More than

Al Rickey Edwards

Split end Danny Knight (6-0, 205) is a star receiver. He caught 37 passes last season for 924 yards and 7 touchdowns. He averaged 25 yards per reception, tops in the SEC. The tight end is Corwyn Aldridge (6-5, 220).

Bellard has made some changes to shore up his defense. End Billy Jackson (6-1, 220) has been switched to middle linebacker. Jackson is considered a key to Mississippi State success. When he was at full speed linebackers are veteran Clay Preacher (6-2, 200) and Calvin Zanders (5-10, 185). Defensive backs include Kenneth Johnson (6-1, 185), Cookie Jackson (6-0, 180), Gary Lambert (6-0, 180), and Tom Nichols (6-0, 185).

Young Offensive Line Holds Key To Success

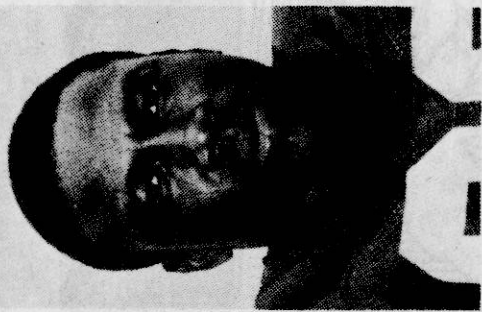

Since Emory Ballard assumed the head coaching duties at Mississippi State in 1979, he has turned the Bulldog football program into one of the nation's best.

offense, for which he was awarded the Gold Cup by the Academy of American Football in 1975.

In 1972, he became head coach at Texas A&M where he compiled a 48-27 record over the next six and a half seasons. He had built a national powerhouse there, guiding the Aggies to a tie for the Southwest Conference title and three bowl appearances.

After an initial 38 campaign at MSU, Ballard again put his master mind to work. The result was the wingbone offense, a multiple formation, triple option concept devised to take advantage of MSU personnel.

The '80 Bulldogs' 9-3 record was proof of its success. State was second place in the SEC that year. It's only loss was to Florida, Bowl victory. John Bond, a 6-4, 210 pound senior from Valdosta, (See Bulldogs, Page 21)

DSU Is Bigger, Faster, More Positive Minded

The Delta State University Statesmen returned 26 lettermen from last year's team that finished with a 6-4 record and tied for fourth place in the Gulf South Conference as they head into their second season under the direction of Coach Jim "Red" Parker.

Parker guided Delta State to a 3-4 mark in the Gulf South Conference to pull the Statesmen from the cellar of the league over the past two seasons into the fourth place tie.

Parker said his team accomplished two of its spring practice goals: improving everything about the running game and establishing consistency of better and perhaps broke the passing. "We took much better care of the ball, our backs ran much together, our linemen blocked better and our quarterbacks were improved in all areas," he said.

DSU will operate from the veer formation again in '83. "We certainly will be greatly disappointed if our offensive football is not markedly better in all areas," Parker said. "We are bigger, perhaps faster, and definitely more positive minded."

Defensively, the Delta mentor said the general feeling after spring practice was that the team tackled better and perhaps broke better on the ball. "We are still far from happy with our basic defensive pass rush. We will definitely be better in team and individual discipline and we will pursue the football with greater desire."

The Statesmen will play a "50" type defense. DSU returns with the same two quarterbacks who played the entire '82 season. Scott Butler, 6-2, 215 junior, is the returning starter, and he is coming off a good spring. He completed 116 passes for 1,649 yards and 8 TD's last year.

Jim Kennamer, a 6-0, 200-pound senior, saw limited action. (See DSU, Page 14)

Bellard Says State Has 'Reason For Optimism'

Mississippi Sports Page

The Mississippi State Bulldogs will be a better defensive football team when the season opener rolls around on Sept. 3 in Starkville against the Tulane Green Wave, according to head coach Emory Bellard. Last season the Bulldogs were the Southeastern Conference total offense champions at MSU racked up an amazing 4,642 net yards. But, the defense allowed over 22 points per game on the average as well as over 382 yards per outing. Bellard thinks that 1983 will be better times for the Bulldogs' blitzing defense. "We should have a better defensive team this year than we had last year. That's not to say that we will completely shut out a lot of people, but we should hold them down a lot better."

explained Bellard, now in his fifth year at MSU. Bellard knows that two keys for the Bulldogs' defensive improvement will be the play of some young, inexperienced defenders as well as a better pass defense. MSU lost seven defensive starters from last season, including 21 let-termen, but Bellard remains optimistic. "A lot of our success defensively will be how well the younger players come through for us," said Bellard. "Our defense has looked very good so far in fall practices, however."

MSU will receive an early test for their pass defense as the Tulane Green Wave under new head coach Wally English will invade Starkville with footballs flying through the air. "We don't know exactly what Tulane will do offensively because they have a new coaching staff this season," said Bellard. "But, based on coach English's past record, we expect Tulane to throw the football quite a bit."

Last season MSU was susceptible to the pass as opponents accumulated almost 144 yards per game through the air. This season an experienced defensive backfield returns to help turn that performance around. Three seniors and one junior will start in the Bulldog secondary as Cooke Jackson, Kenneth Johnson, Gary Lambert and Tom Nichols will begin the season. "Gary Lambert is very similar to Greg Williams (a Bulldog in 1980-81) of the Washington Redskins except Gray has a little more foot speed," said Bellard. "Tom Nichols has started for us at free safety and has a great deal of potential this fall."

Auburn, Georgia Favored To Cop SEC Title

The 1983 Southeastern Conference football season shapes up as a wide open race with Auburn, Georgia, and Alabama as the early frontrunners. The U.S.U. Tigers and the Florida Gators also have the talent to make a run at the top.

Wayne Pierce (6-2, 244) will start at center. Fredrick Thomas "Big Hub" Hubbard (6-1, 210) and Lee Cole Nunn (6-5, 231) and Matthew Loveady (6-3, 226) will start at the ends, while Andre Williams (6-4, 282) and Bob Blakenore (6-2, 228) will fill the tackle positions. Arnold Seymour (6-0, 270) will start at nose guard. Two tough starters are established at linebacker, Thomas "Big Hub" Hubbard (6-1, 210) and Lee Cole Nunn (6-5, 231). The secondary features Lee "Hammer" Davis (6-0, 200), Barry Perkins (6-3, 188), Joe Hall (6-1, 202), and Eric Pruitt (6-0, 184). Kevin Hurt is the probable punter, while P.J. Stevens will kick field goals.

Alabama in Birmingham. Vince Dooley's Her-schell's Georgia Bulldogs have not lost an SEC game in three years, while Ray Perkins' first Alabama team could pass its way to the SEC title.

The LSU Tigers should ride sensational tailbacks Danton Hilliard and Garry James to a fourth place finish with an outside chance at the top. Quarterback Wayne Peace and All-American linebacker Wilber Marshall should help carry the Florida Gators in the exciting SEC race.

Short Magazine recently shocked all football fans when they picked Tennessee as the top team in the nation. However, Coach Johnny George McIntyre has turned the Commodore ship around and is headed for dry ground, and a possible shot at the SEC title, but the loss of quarterback Whit Taylor may send the seamen back to sea.

The SEC will be going into its 51st year this fall with all ten teams competing for what illusive slot in the Vanderbilt's top mentor Sugar Bowl on January 1st. The SEC was considered by most as the top conference in 1982 SEC fans say wait until '83!

Rebels To Feature A Wide Open Offense

When Billy Brewer was Louisiana Tech, Brewer has selected as Ole Miss' 31st head football coach just prior to Christmas, it allowed him to reach two goals he had set for himself many years ago.

As an 11th grade quarterback at S.D. Lee High School in Columbus, Miss., Billy had a burning desire to play football at Ole Miss. That goal wasn't enough. He also wanted to one day coach at Ole Miss.

The first goal was realized quickly as he signed with Coach Johnny Vaught's Rebels after graduation from S.D. Lee. He went on to earn three letters at Ole Miss and played on three of Vaught's greatest teams, including the 1959 squad which earned "Team of the Decade" honors after going 9-1 and winning the SEC.

Finally, after successful rebuilding stops at Southeastern Louisiana and Brentwood, Tenn., returns as Rebels No. 1 quarterback, while senior Kelly Powell (6-2, 204) will alternate with Ole Miss lost all of its starting running backs from last year as Kinny Hooper and Andre Thomas have graduated. However, senior Buford McGee (6-0, 211) will step in at the tailback slot and is expected to have a great year. Arthur Humphrey (5-11, 204) should take over as the No. 1 fullback. Receiving could be an interesting position for the wide open Ole Miss team this fall as they return Tim Moffet (6-2, 187) and James "Pearl" Harbour (6-1, 200) at the split ends, while Michael Smith (6-4, 228) will be a factor at tight end. Freshman Todd Irvin (6-6, 250) will find a home. Offensive tackles will

Discipline Is The Key At Ole Miss

By RONNIE CALDWELL
Mississippi
Sports Page

Members of the Ole Miss Rebels' football team think that a key word has been missing for the past few seasons and they are certain that first-year head coach Billy Brewer will bring it back to Oxford. That word is surprisingly - discipline.

Ole Miss quarterback Kelly Powell, a 6-2 senior from Bay Minette, Ala., said that last year's Rebel football team lacked the discipline necessary to win in major college sports.

"Last year was very frustrating," explained Powell, who is in the running with Kent Austin for the starting quarterback job this fall. "With the talent we had there was no excuse for not going to some kind of bowl. This year's team is already more disciplined and that is the main thing for a college football team."

Powell pointed to his new head coach as the primary reason for the tightening of the Rebel ship. "The attitude here has really changed since the new coaching staff came in and you can see it on and off the field and in in the weight room. I think people are going to see a new Rebel football team this season."

During the sweltering days of summer, some members of the team enrolled in summer school exhibited that new-found discipline in the Rebel weight room adjacent to Vaught-Hemingway Stadium. Ole Miss strength and conditioning coach Johnny Parker is amazed with the results of the players' dedication this year.

"These players have worked so hard that it is obvious they have something to prove," explained Parker, who recently returned from a strength and conditioning workshop in Moscow, Russia. "The players' hard work should pay dividends this fall on the field. Improving strength is very important to an athlete."
